HONORING MARK MALCHOFF, FOUNDING MEMBER OF LAKE CHAMPLAIN SEA GRANT INSTITUTE, FOR HIS LONGTIME SERVICE TO THE NORTH COUNTRY COMMUNITY

HON. ELISE M. STEFANIK

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, August 25, 2020

Ms. STEFANIK. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Mark Malchoff, a founding member of the Lake Champlain Sea Grant Institute, for his 21 years of service to the North Country community, protecting and preserving our lakes and native aquatic life.

Founded in 1999, the Lake Champlain Sea Grant Institute aims to raise awareness to improve the environmental health of Lake Champlain, Lake George, and their respective watersheds, and encourage sustainable economic development. Throughout the 21-year partnership between State University of New York—Plattsburgh and the University of Vermont, grantees, like Mr. Malchoff, have espoused research excellence, public service, and a strong dedication to preserving the natural environment and resources these Lakes offer.

Mr. Malchoff has been a vital part of the program's success from the very beginning. He has worked as an Aquatic Resource Specialist for 21 years based at SUNY—Plattsburgh and is one of two original staff members to still be with the Institute. He has authored or co-authored 26 research publications which are cataloged by the National Sea Grant Library and advanced our understanding of the natural eco-system in and around Lake Champlain. His expertise has shaped groundbreaking research on many pressing issues in the environment including the transport of crude oil and the prevention of aquatic invasive species spread. He has also spent some time as an adjunct professor at SUNY—Plattsburgh, passing on his knowledge to the next generation and inspiring students to follow in his footsteps.

On behalf of New York's 21st District, I would like to thank Mr. Malchoff for his contributions to the community and congratulate him on reaching this important milestone. I wish him well in this next chapter of his life.

HON. MIKE KELLY

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, August 25, 2020

Mr. KELLY. Madam Speaker, on Saturday, August 22, 2020, I was unavoidably detained away from the House Chamber.

Had I been present, I would have voted: 'Nay' on Roll Call Number 179 for bill number H. RES. 1092 H.R. 8015 On Ordering the Previous Question; 'Nay' on Roll Call Number 180 for bill number H. RES. 1092 On Agreeing to the Resolution; 'Yay' on Roll Call Number 181 for bill number H.R. 8015 On Motion to Recommit with Instructions; and 'Nay' on Roll Call Number 182 for bill number H.R. 8015 “Delivering for America Act” On Passage.

For years, the U.S. Postal Service has faced serious financial problems that have been exacerbated by the coronavirus pandemic. Significant reforms are needed at USPS to put it on a sustainable path. Already this year, Congress has given USPS additional access to $10 billion worth of funding to cover operating expenses of which the Post Office has yet to use. Simply delivering another $25 billion—at substantial taxpayer cost—without operational changes is bad policy. Congress must stem the Postal Service's recurrent losses, which have totaled $83.1 billion since 2006, and reduce its unfunded pension and healthcare liabilities, which total more than $120 billion. Another government bailout for an agency that has a long history of fiscal mismanagement is not the right answer. The systemic challenges of USPS pose no threat to the November presidential election, however. The Postmaster General has assured Americans that “the Postal Service is ready today to handle whatever volume of election mail it receives this fall.” There is no obstacle to state Secretaries of State from sending ballots to voters who request them with enough time for them to be returned and counted. Rather than playing political games, we should work together to achieve what we all want, which is to count every vote and build a Postal Service that works for the 21st century.

HONORING THE LIFE OF CHIEF
JAMES “JEB” BEALERHON. JOHN KATKO

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, August 25, 2020

Mr. KATKO. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the life of Chief James “Jeb” Bealer, who tragically passed away on March 22, 2020. A loving husband, proud father and grandfather, and a 50-year member of the Howlett Hill Fire Department, Chief Bealer will be dearly missed.

After graduating from Marcellus Central Schools and SUNY Cobleskill, Chief Bealer went on to serve with the Howlett Hill Fire Department. Starting as an Assistant Secretary, he worked his way up the ranks and was eventually named Chief of the Department. An active member of the Howlett Hill Fire Department for 50 years, Chief Bealer was only the second person in the Department's history to reach this milestone. In addition to his work with the Howlett Hill Fire Department, he also gave his time to the Onondaga County Fire Chiefs Association, Onondaga County Fireman's Association, New York State Association of Fire Chiefs, Firemen's Association of New York, and Western Section Line Officers Association. Outside of his career in firefighting, for 35 years Chief Bealer worked for the Town of Onondaga Highway Department and most recently worked as a bus driver for West Genesee Central Schools.

Personally, Chief Bealer was dedicated to his family and friends. He was married to his wife Denise for 48 years, and together, they have four children and ten grandchildren. A role model to his family, Chief Bealer inspired his granddaughter to join the Howlett Hill Fire Department. Before his passing, he was set to present her with an award, celebrating her successful completion of fire training.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues in the House to join me in honoring the life and career of Chief James “Jeb” Bealer. A cherished member of our Central New York community, Chief Bealer will truly be missed. I ask my colleagues to keep him and his family in mind as we celebrate his life.
