

well-being of so many people in the developing world, including Sub-Saharan Africa, where the likelihood of food insecurity looms larger thanks to the pandemic.

Just how bad is it?

Swarms of hundreds of millions of locusts darken the sky, descend upon an area, stripping it entirely of its vegetation. Crops are just decimated in a matter of minutes and hours.

Unfortunately, due in part to this bad timing with a pandemic, we are witnessing the real possibility of famine in many countries of east Africa, where over 27 million people are now estimated to be suffering from acute food insecurity, which is defined as the sudden lack of food or the ability to produce or access minimum requirements of food.

I should note that in the case of one of the nations most impacted, Ethiopia, the political situation has simultaneously deteriorated, so that the country is now on the brink of civil war with the added crisis of refugees fleeing conflicted areas added to the mix of cascading calamities and compounding crises.

Indeed, the Food and Agriculture Organization, the FAO, estimates that this infestation of locusts will persist until at least March 2021 in both Ethiopia and Somalia.

Our bill would create an interagency working group comprised of representatives of the USAID, State, the NSC, the Department of Defense, and the Department of Agriculture to formulate a strategic plan to address this and future locust outbreaks, as well as other similarly destructive pests, such as fall armyworm, which wreaks tremendous havoc on crops annually.

The working group would also include a representative from our mission to the United Nations food agencies based in Rome, where our current ambassador, Kip Tom, is doing a stellar job interacting with both the World Food Programme and the Food and Agriculture Organization, as well as locust-impacted countries.

Ambassador Kip Tom has briefed me and others repeatedly. We have talked about best practices on the phone in Skype phone calls, and again, I want to single him out for the tremendous job that he has done in trying to mitigate this crisis.

The World Food Programme has also been a tremendous help, as it has been in so many other places around the world, under the extraordinary leadership of David Beasley.

□ 1345

Indeed, the international community has recognized the yeoman's work by awarding the World Food Program the Nobel Peace Prize.

Ambassador Tom has been pushing the FAO in particular to proactively address the problem and adopt the better use of technology. For example, use of apps on smartphones in Kenya advocated by the Ambassador has led to roughly 80 percent of the data collected on the location of desert locusts, thereby allowing for the targeted mobilization of aerial assets for locust eradication and control.

It is innovation such as this, and the adoption of best practices, which our interagency group will focus on identifying and implementing. Indeed, we also think that the working group will help ensure that our taxpayer dollars are spent in the most effective way possible. The United States Government has committed over $24 million to the USAID, and that has made a difference as well.

While the focus of our bill is on East Africa, other countries like Yemen, India, Pakistan, and Afghanistan are threatened by these spreading swarms as well. Indeed, Yemen has become a breeding ground for locusts crossing over into the Horn of Africa, compounding the problem caused by indigenous swarms in the countries of the Horn.

Again, Mr. Speaker, I urge strong support for the bill. And again, I thank our distinguished chairman for his leadership on this bill and so many others.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. ENGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, once again, I thank Mr. SMITH for his work on this legislation. Mr. SMITH, through the years, has done great work on so many issues. I think he is the only one on the Foreign Affairs Committee that has actually been there longer than I have. We have collaborated on a good many projects, bipartisan projects, through the years. I thank Mr. SMITH for being such a good member of the committee.

Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to support this legislation. It is very important. It is very important for our country. It is very important for the world. I urge all my colleagues to support it, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New York (Mr. ENGEL) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 7276, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

The title of the bill was amended so as to read: "A bill to establish an interagency working group to develop a comprehensive, strategic plan to control locust outbreaks in the East Africa region and address future outbreaks in order to avert mass scale food insecurity and potential political destabilization, and for other purposes."

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

HAITI DEVELOPMENT, ACCOUNTABILITY, AND INSTITUTIONAL TRANSPARENCY INITIATIVE ACT

Mr. ENGEL. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill

(H.R. 5586) to measure the progress of recovery and development efforts in Haiti and the strength of democracy and rule of law in the country, as amended.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 5586

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Haiti Development, Accountability, and Institutional Transparency Initiative Act".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress finds the following:

(1) On January 12, 2010, a massive earthquake struck near the Haitian capital city of Port-au-Prince, leaving an estimated 220,000 people dead, including 103 United States citizens, 101 United Nations personnel, and nearly 18 percent of the nation's civil service, as well as 300,000 injured, 115,000 homes destroyed, and 1,500,000 people displaced.

(2) The Post Disaster Needs Assessment conducted by the Government of Haiti, the United Nations, the World Bank, the Inter-American Development Bank, and others estimated that damage and economic losses from the January 12, 2010, earthquake totaled $7,804,000,000.

(3) The international community, led by the United States and the United Nations, mounted an unprecedented humanitarian response to the earthquake in Haiti. Through 2018, more than $8 billion has been disbursed by donors. Since the 2010 earthquake, the United States Government has disbursed more than $4,000,000,000 in recovery and development funding.

(4) On October 4, 2016, Hurricane Matthew struck southwestern Haiti on the Tiburon Peninsula, causing widespread damage and flooding and leaving 1.4 million people in need of immediate assistance. Recovery efforts continue more than three years later.

(5) Prior to both the earthquake and hurricane, Haiti registered among the lowest socioeconomic indicators and had the second highest rate of income disparity in the world - conditions that have further complicated disaster recovery and resilience efforts.

(6) In June 2019 the World Food Program reported that Haiti has one of the highest levels of chronic food insecurity in the world, with more than half of its total population chronically food insecure and 22 percent of children chronically malnourished.

(7) In October 2010, an unprecedented outbreak of cholera in Haiti resulted in over 800,000 reported cases and over 9,000 deaths to date. The Pan American Health Organization reported in 2018 that the cholera incidence rate in Haiti is 25.5 cases per 100,000.

(8) With United States assistance, almost 14,000 jobs have been created since the 2010 earthquake, largely in the apparel industry at the Caracol Industrial Park (in partnership with the Inter-American Development Bank, the Haitian Government, and the private sector) in northern Haiti.

(9) According to the Haitian National Human Rights Defense Network, on November 13, 2018, at least 59 people were shot and killed in the Port-au-Prince neighborhood of La Saline. After months of investigations, no one has been held responsible for the La Saline massacre.

(10) Since 2018, tens of thousands of Haitians have participated in popular demonstrations demanding accountability over government management of Petrocaribe resources. In early 2019, the Haitian superior court of auditors released a series of reports implicating high-level government officials in the misappropriation of funds.

(11) From August 2018 through February 2019, local human rights organizations reported that 64 Haitian citizens were killed in protests.

(12) According to the Committee to Protect Journalists, five Haitian journalists were shot while covering protests in 2019 and one was killed. On September 23, 2019, Associated Press photojournalist Chery Dieu-Nalio was shot by Haitian Senator Jean Marie Ralph F  thi  re when the Senator fired multiple shots near a crowd outside of parliament.

(13) Economic growth in Haiti is projected to drop below 1.5 percent this year. Inflation is estimated to be 15 percent and the local currency has depreciated by 30 percent in the past year. The Haitian government and parliament have failed to pass a budget for two years, preventing the International Monetary Fund and other multilaterals from disbursing millions in international assistance.

(14) Midterm elections set for October 2019 did not take place, and since January 2020 President Mo  se has ruled by decree.

SEC. 8. DEFINITION.

In this Act the term "appropriate congressional committees" means—

(1) the Committee on Foreign Affairs and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives; and

(2) the Committee on Foreign Relations and the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from New York (Mr. ENGEL) and the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. ENGEL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include in the RECORD extraneous material on H.R. 5586.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

Mr. ENGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, let me start by thanking Mr. JEFFRIES for authoring this bipartisan bill. He has been a strong advocate for the Haitian people, and I thank him for his leadership on this issue.

There are many, many colleagues in this Congress who feel very strongly about the U.S. relationship with Haiti. I am certainly one of them, and I know Mr. SMITH is and, of course, Mr. JEFFRIES and many other people on our committee.

We have Haiti, which is not that far from the United States, and is really, I think, an obligation of the United States, helping the people of Haiti. There has been such misery and such problems there that they really need our help, our continued and sustained help.

Again, Mr. Speaker, I thank Mr. JEFFRIES for his leadership on this issue.

On January 12, 2010, a magnitude 7.0 earthquake struck Haiti, displacing 1.5 million people and killing more than 200,000.

Less than 2 months after the earthquake, I had the opportunity to visit Haiti and survey the damage. I stand here today with the same message my colleagues and I delivered to the Haitian people 10 years ago: The United States remains steadfast in its commitment to assist Haiti in its time of need.

Over the last decade, Congress has worked closely with the Haitian-American diaspora, the Haitian people, and the Haitian Government to support rebuilding and development efforts on the island, but Haiti still has a long way to go.

As we support efforts to reconstruct Haiti, we must learn from our mistakes over the past 10 years and devise innovative solutions to overcome the many remaining challenges.

At the same time, it is imperative that the Haitian Government address the growing and legitimate concerns about the country's deteriorating human rights situations, attacks against the press and peaceful protesters as well, and the lack of accountability for corrupt officials.

The Haiti Development, Accountability, and Institutional Transparency

Initiative Act will help move us toward these goals. It evaluates the effectiveness of U.S. recovery and development efforts in Haiti over the past 10 years. It also promotes new strategies to enhance the rule of law, encourage freedom of the press, combat government corruption, address the root causes of poverty, and improve developmental efforts.

It is the duty of all of us here in Congress to stand with the Haitian people. Geographically, they are so close to the United States, and there are many Haitian Americans as well.

We need to stand with the Haitian people as they fight for a more prosperous and democratic Haiti, and I urge the Haitian Government to do all it can to engage with their citizens and truly listen to their concerns.

Mr. Speaker, I was pleased that the House Foreign Affairs Committee advanced this bipartisan bill unanimously, and I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting its passage in the House today.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 5586, the Haiti Development, Accountability, and Institutional Transparency Initiative Act, authored by Mr. JEFFRIES and ANN WAGNER.

Haiti remains the poorest country in the Western Hemisphere and continues to struggle under fragile public institutions. As we speak, Haiti is facing a constitutional crisis without a sitting parliament after failing to organize legislative elections in 2019. We continue to encourage the Government of Haiti to hold these elections as soon as possible.

Haiti continues to struggle with disaster recovery from the earthquake in 2010 and Hurricane Matthew in 2016, as well as civil unrest, increasing gang violence, and accusations of government corruption and human rights abuses.

Haiti remains the second largest recipient of U.S. assistance in the region, including over $128 million in foreign assistance appropriated by Congress in 2019 for economic development, democracy and rule of law, and critical support for the Haitian National Police.

This legislation prioritizes anticorruption efforts, press freedoms, and human rights, and it requires the Department of State to develop a strategy with benchmarks and indicators to measure the progress toward stated objectives for U.S. assistance.

This bill also requires an assessment of U.S. support for disaster resilience to ensure that our assistance is effectuating Haiti's recovery efforts and strengthening infrastructure against future disasters.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support it, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. ENGEL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. JEFFRIES), the author of this important bill, the chair of our Democratic Caucus, the gentleman from New York, even though it is Brooklyn.

Mr. JEFFRIES. Mr. Speaker, I thank my distinguished colleague, the chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, ELIOT ENGEL from the Boogie Down Bronx, for yielding me the time.

Mr. Speaker, I certainly want to take a moment of personal privilege just to thank Chairman ENGEL for his friendship, his support, and his extraordinary leadership year after year on behalf of the people of New York City and the Nation as a critically important member of the House Democratic Caucus and a tremendous, legendary public servant.

Today, we vote on H.R. 5586, the Haiti Development, Accountability, and Institutional Transparency Initiative Act, a bill to upgrade the U.S. foreign assistance strategy to Haiti.

Haiti was the first nation in the Caribbean to gain independence. It is the world's first Black-led republic, home to resilient and entrepreneurial people. Haiti has tremendous potential to thrive as a free, fair, and prosperous democracy.

I am proud to represent a vibrant community of Haitian Americans in Brooklyn and Queens, including Little Haiti in Brooklyn, which is a neighboring congressional district represented by Congresswoman YVETTE CLARKE.

As much of the diaspora has communicated to me, unfortunately, Haiti still faces severe challenges in its quest to achieve full prosperity for its people and the opportunity to live in a free, democratic society.

This January marked the 10-year anniversary of the catastrophic Haiti earthquake that killed and displaced hundreds of thousands of people.

Since 2010, Haiti has gone through additional hardships like Hurricane Matthew, fuel shortages, food insecurity, and now the coronavirus pandemic.

Many Haitians are frustrated by the corruption, poverty, and undemocratic practices on the island. Since 2018, mass demonstrations in Haiti protested the country's economic situation and the Haitian Government's apparent misappropriation of the Petrocaribe oil dollars.

Tens of thousands of protesters also demanded the resignation of the current President, who has been ruling by decree since January 2020.

H.R. 5586 directs the State Department and USAID to evaluate the effectiveness and shortcomings of U.S. foreign aid to Haiti over the past 10 years. The bill also directs these two agencies to devise new approaches to reduce poverty and promote good governance.

Mr. Speaker, once again, I thank Foreign Affairs Committee Chairman ELIOT ENGEL and Ranking Member MCCAUL, Western Hemisphere Subcommittee Chairman SIREN and Ranking Member ROONEY, Congresswoman

ANN WAGNER, and Democrats and Republicans on both sides of the aisle, as well as the organizations supporting this bipartisan bill.

The United States should always stand with our neighbor in the Western Hemisphere and the Haitian people as they fight for a self-governing, democratic, and prosperous nation.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. ENGEL. Mr. Speaker, I once again thank Mr. JEFFRIES for authoring this important legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to support this legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New York (Mr. ENGEL) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5586, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

The title of the bill was amended so as to read: "A bill To measure the progress of recovery and efforts to address corruption, rule of law, and media freedoms in Haiti."

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.
