

The Honorable Stephen G. Rademaker

Mr. Stephen G. Rademaker is Senior Of Counsel at Covington & Burling LLP. Among his accomplishments in public service, Mr. Rademaker had lead responsibility, as a U.S. House staffer, for drafting the legislation that created the U.S. Department of Homeland Security. Mr. Rademaker served as Chief Counsel of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs from 1993 to 2002, and later worked in the Senate, where he served as Policy Director for National Security Affairs and Senior Counsel for the Senate Majority Leader from 2006 to 2007.

Serving as an Assistant Secretary of State from 2002 through 2006, he headed at various times three bureaus of the State Department, including the Bureau of Arms Control and the Bureau of International Security and Nonproliferation. He directed the Proliferation Security Initiative, as well as nonproliferation policy toward Iran and North Korea, and led strategic dialogues with Russia, China, India, and Pakistan. He also headed U.S. delegations to numerous international conferences, including the 2005 Review Conference of the Parties to the Treaty on the Nonproliferation of Nuclear Weapons.

He has also held positions in the White House, the Peace Corps, and the U.S. International Trade Commission, among others.

Mr. Rademaker holds a B.A. with Highest Distinction, a J.D., and an M.A. in Foreign Affairs from the University of Virginia.
