

Jason Bair

*Director, International Affairs and Trade
U.S. Government Accountability Office*

Mr. Bair is a Director in GAO's International Affairs and Trade team. He leads GAO's work overseeing foreign affairs agencies including the Department of State and USAID. Key topics of that oversight include budget issues, diplomatic security, embassy construction, Foreign Service staffing, consular affairs and public diplomacy. He joined GAO in 2000 and in recent years has conducted audit work in countries including China, Pakistan, Argentina, the United Arab Emirates, and Kenya to meet with U.S. and foreign diplomats as well as nongovernmental and international organizations. His work has resulted in numerous improvements in the efficiency and sustainability of U.S. foreign assistance programs and has helped realize billions of dollars in financial savings. He received a bachelor's degree from American University in Communications, Law, Economics, and Government and holds a master's degree in public affairs from the University of Texas at Austin.
