RESOLUTION

Expressing the sense of the House of Representatives regarding United States arms transfers to Saudi Arabia.

Whereas the United States and the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia have traditionally had a close partnership based on mutual interests, information sharing, economic development, educational exchange, and other cooperation;

Whereas, on October 2, 2018, Saudi Government officials murdered and dismembered the body of United States resident and Washington Post columnist Jamal Khashoggi when he visited the Saudi Consulate in Istanbul, Turkey;

Whereas Khashoggi, himself a former Saudi official, had peacefully voiced criticism of recent decisions made by the Saudi Government, in particular those of Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman;

Whereas credible news media outlets have reported that the Central Intelligence Agency and other elements of the United States intelligence community have concluded that Mohammed bin Salman is responsible for ordering Khashoggi's assassination;

Whereas, in June 2019, United Nations Special Rapporteur on Extrajudicial, Summary or Arbitrary Killings, Agnes Callamard, issued a report concluding that Mr. Khashoggi's murder "constituted an extrajudicial killing for which the State of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia is responsible" and "determined that there is credible evidence, warranting further investigation of high-level Saudi Officials' individual liability, including the Crown Prince's";

Whereas Saudi Arabia has convicted eight unidentified individuals in the Khashoggi murder, five of whom were originally sentenced to death but whose sentences were commuted, and none of whom are Mohammed bin Salman or any other senior official, for their involvement in the murder;

Whereas section 1277 and section 5714 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2020 (Public Law 116–92) required the Director of National Intelligence to submit an unclassified report to Congress within 30 days identifying those complicit in or responsible for the death of Jamal Khashoggi, and as of January 2021 no such report has been submitted;

Whereas, in January 2021, Director of National Intelligence Avril Haines committed in testimony before the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence to follow the law with regard to requirements of section 1277 and section 5714 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2020 (Public Law 116–92);

Whereas other Saudi plots to allegedly assassinate or kidnap dissidents with an extrajudicial “Tiger Squad” have reportedly been uncovered in Canada and Norway, and Mohammed bin Salman’s lawyers are seeking immunity for the prince in a related case before the United States judiciary;

Whereas Saudi Arabia’s efforts to spy on dissidents and other individuals perceived as threats reportedly extends to the country’s use of Twitter employees as spies and the hacking of prominent private individuals’ cell phones in attempts to extort them;

Whereas a number of Saudi nationals alleged to have committed crimes in the United States have escaped justice by absconding to Saudi Arabia, reportedly with the help of the Saudi Government;

Whereas the Saudi Government had unjustly detained American citizens Bader al-Ibrahim and Salah al-Haidar on political charges before conditionally releasing them pending trial and convicted Walid Fitaihi for supposed crimes such as illegally obtaining United States citizenship before reducing his sentence and conditionally releasing him, subjected them to torture and solitary confinement, and banned their families from leaving the kingdom, including Fitaihi’s wife and six children who are United States citizens and Haidar’s mother, Aziza al-Yousef, a United States permanent resident and women’s rights activist who was conditionally released from unjust detention in 2019;

Whereas Saudi Arabia's Specialized Criminal Court, established in 2008, has been used as a tool of repression to try, convict, and punish journalists, human rights defenders, political activists, writers, religious clerics, and women's rights activists under dubious antiterrorism and allegiance laws;

Whereas activists Loujain al-Hathloul, Nassima al-Sada, Nouf Abdulaziz, Maya'a al-Zahrani, and Samar Badawi were among those unjustly arrested in Saudi Arabia in 2018 after advocating for women's right to drive and an end to the male guardianship system, and some reportedly have been subjected to harassment, assaults, and torture while in prison;

Whereas Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates have conducted more than 22,000 airstrikes since the start of the conflict in Yemen six years ago, and that conflict has caused the deaths of over 233,000 people from both direct hostilities and indirect causes such as hunger and lack of health services;

Whereas the United Kingdom's House of Commons determined that its country's Ministry of Defense had identified over 500 Saudi-led coalition airstrikes that violated international humanitarian law, including by targeting civilian sites and claiming civilian lives;

Whereas the risk posed by coalition airstrikes to Yemeni civilians will only continue until there is a negotiated settlement to the conflict in Yemen;

Whereas S.J.Res. 38, a joint resolution to block a proposed emergency sale of defense articles to Saudi Arabia and other countries, passed both the House and Senate with bipartisan support in the 116th Congress but was vetoed by the President;

Whereas the nuclear agreement entered into pursuant to section 123 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 (42 U.S.C. 2153) and signed between the United States and the United Arab Emirates in 2009 provides a model for reasonable safeguards on nuclear cooperation with a country in the region, including termination if the United Arab Emirates “engages in activities within its territory relating to enrichment of uranium or reprocessing of nuclear fuel”;

Whereas the United States and Saudi Arabia signed a memorandum of understanding concerning peaceful nuclear cooperation in 2008, but since that time, further negotiations have stalled, with no Section 123 Agreement having been presented to Congress; and

Whereas, in May 2018, Secretary of State Mike Pompeo stated in testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee with regard to Saudi Arabia, that “we want a gold-standard Section 123 Agreement from them, which would not permit them to enrich” uranium: Now, therefore, be it

13 dated Appropriations Act, against Saudi Govern-
14 ment officials for violations of human rights and cor-
15 ruption; and

16 (5) urges the Government of Saudi Arabia to
17 prioritize the protection of human rights for its citi-
18 zens and residents in order to fulfill its international
19 obligations and reach the kingdom's ambitious eco-
