The Senate met at 10 a.m. and was called to order by the Honorable JACKY ROSEN, a Senator from the State of Nevada.

PRAYER
The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray:
Eternal God, who sends the rain that satisfies the parched Earth, we honor Your Name. Today, give our lawmakers the wisdom to understand that You are their sure foundation. Inspire them to seek Your guidance as they strive to do Your will. Lead them by Your truth and teach them, for You are the God who saves them.

May their quest to fulfill Your purposes motivate them to bring You their requests and to wait patiently for Your response.

Lord, show them clearly what to do and which way to turn. Surround them with the shield of Your love.

We pray in Your marvelous Name.

Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE
The Presiding Officer led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

APPOINTMENT OF ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE
The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will please read a communication to the Senate from the President pro tempore (Mr. LEAHY).

The senior assistant legislative clerk read the following letter:

U.S. SENATE,
PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE,

To the Senate:
Under the provisions of rule I, paragraph 3, of the Standing Rules of the Senate, I hereby appoint the Honorable JACKY ROSEN, a Senator from the State of Nevada, to perform the duties of the Chair.

PATRICK J. LEAHY,
President pro tempore.

Ms. ROSEN thereupon assumed the Chair as Acting President pro tempore.

RESERVATION OF LEADER TIME
The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, the leadership time is reserved.

RECOGNITION OF THE MAJORITY LEADER
The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The majority leader is recognized.

MEASURES PLACED ON THE CALENDAR—S. 963 and H.R. 1868
Mr. SCHUMER. Madam President, first, I understand that there are two bills at the desk due for a second reading en bloc.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The leader is correct.

The clerk will read the bills by title for a second time.

The senior assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (S. 963) to authorize dedicated domestic terrorism offices within the Department of Homeland Security, the Department of Justice, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation to analyze and monitor domestic terrorist activity and require the Federal Government to take steps to prevent domestic terrorism, and for other purposes.

A bill (H.R. 1868) to prevent across-the-board direct spending cuts, and for other purposes.

Mr. SCHUMER. In order to place the bills on the calendar under the provisions of rule XIV, I would object to further proceeding en bloc.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Objection having been heard, the bills will be placed on the calendar.

BUSINESS BEFORE THE SENATE
Mr. SCHUMER. Madam President, despite unprecedented obstacles, the Senate has had an extremely productive first period of business.

It has been a little over 60 days since Democrats assumed the majority in the Senate and Joe Biden was sworn in as President. In that relatively short amount of time, the Senate has confirmed every available Cabinet Secretary—a group filled with a bevy of historic firsts—faster than under the prior two administrations.

Every single Cabinet nominee has received a bipartisan vote of approval here on the floor, a tribute to their character, their qualifications, and their caliber.

The Senate also conducted a fair and honest impeachment trial of the former President, resulting in the largest and most bipartisan conviction... vote in the history, in the history of Presidential impeachments.

And, of course, the Democratic majority in the Senate passed the most sweeping Federal recovery effort in decades, the American Rescue Plan.

Again, during unprecedented odyssey, not only did we get a late start on our work, a result of the runoff elections in Georgia, we have had to contend with the aftermath of an armed insurrection at the Capitol, an impeachment trial, and the difficulty of navigating an evenly divided Senate.

Let’s take a quick look at the scoreboard.

Economists project that the American Rescue Plan could double economic growth while cutting child poverty in half—the biggest anti-poverty effort in a generation.

We have made the single largest investment in American education and Native Tribes ever.

Experts have called the American Rescue Plan the most significant legislation for Black farmers since the Civil Rights Act.

The American Rescue Plan provides a lifeline to Main Street businesses from one end of the country to the other. Companies are already scaling back layoffs.

In less than 100 days, the Biden administration and Democratic majorities have helped deliver more than 100 million shots in people’s arms and 100 million checks in people’s pockets. As a result, the American people are more optimistic than at any time over the past year, and for the first time since the COVID-19 pandemic began, a clear majority of Americans believe our country is back on track.

Just this morning, the jobs report showed that applications for unemployment benefits fell by nearly 100,000 people—a sign that businesses are reopening and Americans are optimistic about getting back to work. After one of the most difficult years in American history, the country is finally turning the corner, and the Senate is off to a fantastic start.

Now looking forward, of course the job certainly isn’t done yet. Now that we have passed the American Rescue Plan, the Senate must continue to make progress on other issues facing the American people. When the Senate returns to session, our agenda will be no less ambitious than it was over the past few months.

We will focus on three areas: one, voting rights, civil rights; two, economic recovery and jobs, with an emphasis on climate change and building back better; and three, health and gun safety.

This Senate will once again be the forum where civil rights are debated and historic action is taken to secure them for all Americans.

Last week, the Judiciary Committee held the first-ever hearing on the Equality Act, landmark legislation that would enshrine as a matter of law that no American shall be denied justice based on their gender or sexual orientation.

In the coming work period, the Democratic majority will also seek to repeal a Trump administration rule that gives employers an unfair advantage over workers when settling discriminatory claims.

At the same time, the Judiciary and Rules Committees have started their work responding to the concerted, nationwide, despicable attack on voting rights. In one State after another, new restrictions on the franchise are taking aim at communities of color in ways we haven’t seen since the days of Jim Crow.

Yesterday, I attended the Rules Committee hearing on S. 1, the For the People Act, and I listened to my Republican colleagues try to defend these outrageous voter suppression laws. One member on the committee told us not to worry about them because many are just proposals and won’t become law. Later that day, the same day, the Montana State Senate advanced a bill to end same-day voter registration.

Another member on the committee defended limits to early voting on Sundays—a day when many African Americans go to church—by quoting the Bible and the Commandment to keep the Sabbath holy. I don’t know where to begin with that one, but I will start by reminding my colleagues of the separation between church and state that she talked about comes from the Old Testament, when the Sabbath was on Saturday.

This is getting beyond ridiculous. Across the country, the Republican Party seems to believe that the best strategy for winning elections is not to win more voters but to try to prevent the other side from voting. That is not America. That is not democracy. And this Senate will take action to protect the voting rights of tens of millions of Americans. The Senate will vote on the For the People Act.

We will also keep a laser focus on our economic recovery. In the coming months, the Senate will consider legislation to rebuild our infrastructure and fight climate change, boost research and development and domestic manufacturing, reform our broken immigration system, and grow the power of American workers. Finally, the Senate will address health and gun safety.

When the Senate gavels back into session, we will vote on Senator HIRONO’s COVID hate crimes bill, which my colleague GRACE MENG has sponsored in the House. It will give the Department of Justice and our local police departments crucial tools to fight the wave of racist violence we have seen against Asian Americans.

I have also committed to put a bill on expanded background checks on the floor of the Senate. On the health front, we will take aim against the former administration’s decision to roll back limits on methane emissions from oil and gas production—gases that pack a much greater punch than carbon dioxide when it comes to our climate. Senators HEINRICH, KING, and MARKEY have been working very hard on this issue. I applaud them. The Senate will take up a Congressional Review Act measure to terminate the Trump administration’s regulation of methane emissions to fight climate change.

The bottom line is this: The Senate of the 117th Congress has accomplished a lot in its first few months, but we have a lot of work left to do. The challenges our country still faces are immense, and there is no reason both sides cannot work together on issues that will affect our country and our children’s future. We won’t agree on everything, but we must agree that inaction is unacceptable. The Senate must help the country finish the job against COVID while continuing to build a more equal economy and a more just society.

I yield the floor.

LEGISLATIVE SESSION

PPP EXTENSION ACT OF 2021

MOTION TO PROCEED—Resumed

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The clerk will report the pending business.

Mr. MCCONNELL. Madam President, the senior assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

Motion to proceed to H.R. 1799, a bill to amend the Small Business Act and the CARES Act to extend the covered period for the paycheck protection program, and for other purposes.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, all postcloture time for the motion to proceed to H.R. 1799 has expired, and the motion to proceed is agreed to.

The clerk will report the bill by title.

PPP EXTENSION ACT OF 2021

The senior assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (H.R. 1799) to amend the Small Business Act and the CARES Act to extend the covered period for the paycheck protection program, and for other purposes.

RECOGNITION OF THE MINORITY LEADER

Mr. MCCONNEL. Madam President, the crisis on our southern border continues to escalate. CBP is tracking the largest surge in migrant apprehensions in years. Unaccompanied children are literally piling up in close quarters. It turns out when politicians spend a 2-year campaign advertising amnesty, people actually listen. As one senior CBP official said, there is “no end in sight.” “No end in sight.”

The administration still refuses to even admit there is a crisis, much less address it. We keep hearing strange mixed messaging from the White House...
podium like “now is not the time to come,” as if there will be a good time to break the law and come illegally, and the White House will let us all know when that time is, I assume. The Washington Post put it gently: “Advisers to the Meadows office said they were worried about what would happen if the administration were to simply end the program for those who had already been granted temporary protected status.” The executive order that established the program in 2015 is set to expire in June. Lesson: any new administration will follow through on its promises, even to those who support immigration, and that includes fixing our system.

Madam President, now one final matter. Senators will soon head home for the Easter recess. I’m looking forward to seeing our Easter eggs and baskets. But this year’s work will be more serious. We will be talking with Kentuckians about their concerns about the economy, workforce development, and education. In fact, we will be discussing the bipartisan legislation that was passed in the Senate last year, which included provisions for education, workforce development, and infrastructure. I am also going to be discussing the importance of bipartisanship and working together to achieve common goals. I am confident that we will be able to find common ground and make progress on these important issues.

ELECTION SECURITY

Madam President, now, on another matter. Yesterday, the Rules Committee held a hearing on the Democratic proposal to tilt our entire political system on a partisan basis. It would forcibly rewrite every state’s election laws in ways that defy common sense and are deeply unpopular with American voters. If it were to pass, it would mandate nearly unrestricted same-day registration. It would mandate big loopholes that would render voter ID almost meaningless. It would make every state legalize ballot harvesting, where paid operatives can turn in ballots for you. It would double down on the wrong direction that happened. We got an election they liked, and now they claim the exact same legislation they just does a few modest things to protect our system just the way it is. Utter nonsense—utter nonsense. This legislation has but one goal, just one. It has only ever had one goal, just one. That goal was the same in 2019 as it is today. And that goal is to let Washington Democrats rig the rules of democracy from top to bottom to hide that partisan project behind the smoke screen, the smoke screen of voting rights.
The point the Senator from Oklahoma makes is very valid, but let me get back to the original bill for the self-employed that used, as you said, a formula that didn’t work. In some cases, it was $50 or $80 that they got on the PPP, which was ridiculous because a self-employed person doesn’t have the same payroll expenses that a traditional small business has.

We based the PPP calculations on the payroll amount. That didn’t apply to the self-employed. So that is why the gross receipts are the right way to make those calculations, and that is what we want to do. That is what this administration did in its recalculation, but it made it prospectively only. It needs to be retroactive.

So I agree with the gentleman, but I cannot consent to agree to it today. And it is not going to delay the Senate consideration of it because the House is not in session for the next 2 weeks.

So the first time we can really get this done is the second week in April, and you have my commitment that we will work together to bring a provision made retroactive and to cover the legal structures that are used by some of our small businesses that are not currently covered under the current interpretation—I think legal, this is a legal issue that we have to resolve.

For all those reasons, I do object.

The Acting President pro tempore. The objection is heard.

The Senator from Oklahoma.

Mr. LANKFORD. Madam President, I do want to thank my friend from Maryland. This is an important issue. It does need to be resolved. It has not had enough attention on this. As he and I talked about it, and I talked about it in the days, and several others joined in, this deals with partnerships, whether it be ag. This deals with individuals.

So my friend from Kansas, he and I worked together on this to be able to combine a piece of legislation to make sure we are dealing with all types of businesses that will be affected, and I do hope to be able to get this through by unanimous consent in the days to come to reach out to the Small Business Administration and to see what they can to do to be able to communicate with those folks.

The Acting President pro tempore. The Senator from Kansas.

Mr. MARSHALL. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that I be allowed to complete my remarks.

The Acting President pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. MARSHALL. Madam President, I thank the gentleman, my neighbor from Oklahoma, for yielding. And I thank the gentleman from Maryland, our chairman of the Small Business Committee, for his cooperation.

The amendment we allow farmers and ranchers categorized as a partner-ship, including LLCs, S corps, to utilize gross income when calculating their PPP maximum loan amount.

It is no secret that our Nation’s farmers and ranchers have faced immense difficulties through the COVID-19 pandemic when we literally couldn’t pay people to come get our cattle and hogs. In December, we made changes to allow farmers to use gross income in calculating their PPP loan. Before it passed, the payments were based on farmers’ net income. This net income number is often low or negative because of the amount of depreciation farmers claim on equipment. These changes were helpful and provided assistance for much of the agriculture industry.
Unfortunately, certain farm and ranch partnerships, many of which are small family partnerships, were left out of changes made in the program in December. I believe Congress intended to include partnerships; however, the SBA, interpreting the statute, did not. They made it crystal clear, short of legislation, they would not include partnerships under this new interpretation.

My amendment, in a nutshell, would let farmers categorized as a partnership rather than not income for the PPP loan. I encourage all my colleagues to support this amendment and help our farmers during this difficult time.

I yield back to the gentleman from Oklahoma. Thank you.

Mr. CARDIN. Madam President.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Maryland.

Mr. CARDIN. I ask unanimous consent for the use of two minutes of debate, equally divided, before each vote in today's series.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from Louisiana.

Mr. KENNEDY. Madam President, this is the third time I have brought this amendment today.

Now, you either approve of the rioting that happened this summer at the Capitol or you don't. The riots this summer killed 47 people. There was well over $1 billion worth of damage.

No, 2, I can't help it if Speaker PELOSI has decided to go home, which prevents us from offering amendments to make this bill better. We all support extension of the PPP program, but this is not right, and it would be a lot more intellectually honest if my colleague, who opposed my amendment, said: Look, we just don't think that if you rioted you should be punished with respect to the PPP program, because that is what a “no” vote is saying.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Time has expired.

Mr. CARDIN. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent for 30 seconds to respond.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. CARDIN. The gentleman's amendment goes well beyond that. The gentleman's amendment goes back 2 years. It could have been a civil disturbance on a college campus if someone now has an 8th or 9th business totally unrelated to any economic crime. It is just something that should not be in this law, and I urge my colleagues to reject it.

Mr. KENNEDY. Madam President.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Louisiana.

Mr. KENNEDY. I would like to ask my colleague for 30 more seconds.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The clerk will report.

The bill clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Louisiana [Mr. KENNEDY] proposes an amendment numbered 1401.

Mr. KENNEDY. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that we dispense with the reading.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

It doesn’t matter whether it happened in Portland or Chicago or Atlanta or at any of our other wonderful communities throughout the United States. It is wrong, and we have all condemned it. It should be punished, and it certainly shouldn’t be rewarded.</td>

<td>My amendment is very simple. It says that if you were one of those rioters accused of civil disturbance, you have been convicted by a court of law of competent jurisdiction, and you have been adjudged to have committed a felony with respect to a riot or civil disorder in the past 2 years, then you cannot participate in the PPP program. We already have that law at the SBA for disaster loans. This would extend it to the PPP program.</td>

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Florida.

AMENDMENT NO. 1405

Mr. RUBIO. Mr. President, I call up my amendment No. 1405 and ask that it be reported without objection.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, the clerk will report the amendment by number.

The amendment is as follows

(Purpose: To establish appropriate limitations on the Administrator of the Small Business Administration establishing new priorities for processing lender applications.)

On page 2, between lines 15 and 16, insert the following:

(d) LIMITATION ON PRIORITIZATION.—During the period beginning on the date of enactment of this Act and ending on the last day of the covered period, as defined in section 7(a)(36)(A)(i) of the Small Business Act (15 U.S.C. 638(a)(36)(A)(i)), as amended by this Act, the Administrator of the Small Business Administration may not establish or enforce any priority for processing lender applications under paragraph (36) or (37) of section 7(a) of the Small Business Act (15 U.S.C. 638(a)), except for any priority reasonably necessary to carry out the set-asides established under section 323(d) of the Economic Aid to Hard-Hit Small Businesses, Nonprofits, and Venues Act (title III of division N of Public Law 116–290).

Mr. RUBIO. Mr. President, the very reason we even have to do an extension is that the new administration unfairly and unnecessarily restricted eligible businesses and nonprofits for applying. It has created confusion.

People haven’t been able to get in by the deadlines, and unless we put in more guardrails, there is little assurance that this is not going to continue. In particular, the one thing that would undermine this popular, bipartisan program is if people came to the conclusion that it was being used arbitrarily to give priority to politically favored groups.

So all this amendment does is prohibit the Small Business Administration from setting up any new set-asides beyond those that this Congress, on a bipartisan basis, already created last year when we passed this at the end of 2020.

What were those priorities? Smaller businesses, businesses in low-income areas, community financial institutions. All it says is, if you want to change those priorities, Congress has to do it, not the Small Business Administration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Maryland.

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the Rubio amendment.

The policy that Senator Rubio is objecting to is implemented by the Small Business Administration to help the underserved communities.

During that 14-day period, 400,000 small businesses with 20 employees or less were able, at long last, to get PPP help. And almost half were first-time borrowers under the PPP program, those that had been shut out in the past.

But, specifically, the Rubio amendment, if it were adopted—and it is wrong policy—would require the House to concur. The House is not in session for 2 weeks. That could take us beyond the 31st of March, and the program would end, costing hundreds of thousands of small businesses the opportunity that—some are now eligible for millions of dollars. And those that had been shut out in the past.

So all those reasons—and one last point: The Chamber of Commerce of the United States urges all of us to vote in favor of the underlying bill and oppose any amendment that would derail the expeditious approval of this measure.

Let’s follow the Chamber’s advice. Let’s vote down the Rubio amendment.

VOTE ON AMENDMENT NO. 1405

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the Rubio amendment.

Mr. RUBIO. Mr. President, I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk called the roll.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE
Mr. PAUL. The deficit has gone from $3 trillion last year; it will be $3.5 trillion this year.

In Washington, every day is a good day to spend money. Big spenders like to say the Federal Government is no different from a family budget. We have the Federal Reserve that can print money to buy our debt, but all that does is cause inflation. Even with inflation not spiking, we have lost 17 percent of the dollar over the last several years.

Who is responsible for the $30 trillion debt? Republicans? Democrats? The answer is yes and yes. Both parties are to blame. The vote I have called for is a litmus test for fiscal responsibility. Anyone who cares about the debt should vote to enforce the pay-go rule.

According to the CBO, the bill before us will increase the deficit by $15 billion in fiscal year 2021; therefore, I raise a point of order against the measure pursuant to section 404(a) of S. Con. Res. 13 of the 111th Congress.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Maryland.

MOTION TO WAIVE

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. President, I have been advised by the administration there is an excess of $50 billion available at the end of this month for the extension. So pursuant to section 904 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, the waiver provisions of applicable budget resolutions in section 4(g)(3) of the Statutory Pay-As-You-Go Act of 2010, I move to waive all applicable sections of those acts and applicable budget resolutions for purpose of the pending measure, and I ask for the yeas and nays.

Small businesses need additional support to continue paying their employees. In 2020, more than 5 million small employers received forgivable PPP loans, helping to sustain upwards of 50 million American jobs. This included more than 3.1 million additional forgivable PPP loans. The average loan size in Maine during this time was $80,000.

Recognizing the importance of this program for our Nation’s small employers, the bipartisan December 2020 COVID-relief law provided an additional $144 billion for low-interest Paycheck Protection Program and allow the hardest hit small employers to receive a second forgivable loan. The December law also made other improvements to the PPP, such as expanding forgivable overhead expenses to include supplier costs and investments in facility modifications and personal protective equipment needed to operate safely.

Since reopening in January, more than 3 million additional forgivable loans—totalling nearly $196 billion—have been approved for small businesses across the country. In Maine, more than 12,700 small employers have been approved for $797 million in forgivable loans since PPP’s reopening. In total, Maine small employers have been approved for upwards of $3 billion in forgivable loans since the program was created last year.

I have heard from numerous small employers about the impact this program has had on them and their employees. The PPP has helped the owners of Pottle Transportation in Hermon, Anglers Restaurants in Hampton, and the Harraseeket Inn in Freeport keep their businesses alive and their employees paid. Hodgdon, America’s oldest boat builder, was able to keep its family-owned East Boothbay business in operation with the help of two forgivable PPP loans. The owner of Channel X Radio in Aroostook County told me that two forgivable PPP loans kept his business going. The Boys & Girls Clubs of Southern Maine and the Y in Bangor have been able to provide childcare and other services to children due to support from the PPP.

With the ongoing distribution of COVID-19 vaccines and reopening of our Nation’s economy, I am hopeful that better times will soon be ahead. We are not there yet, which is why we need to extend the deadline to apply for new PPP loans. Extending the deadline would provide more time for the Small Business Administration to resolve error messages generated by its computer systems that prevented eligible small businesses from receiving approval for a PPP Loan. It would also give us more time to address the inequity facing certain sole proprietors who received their PPP loans before the Biden administration unexpectedly announced a change in the maximum loan amount calculation for these types of businesses.

By extending the PPP for another 2 months and then providing an additional 30 days after that time for the SBA to process applications that are still pending, the bill before us today would help our Nation’s small employ- ers retain access to forgivable PPP loans. This bill has been endorsed by more than 90 organizations, including the National Federation of Independent Business, U.S. Chamber of Commerce, American Hotel & Lodging Association, International Franchise Association, National Restaurant Association, the MBA, the MBA, and the Independent Community Bankers of America. I would ask unanimous consent that these letters of support be printed in the RECORD at the conclusion of my statement.

I urge my colleagues to support passage of this bill.

There being no objection, the mate- rial was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

CONSUMER BANKERS ASSOCIATION,
Hon. SUSAN COLLINS,
U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.
Hon. BEN CARDIN,
Chairman, U.S. Senate Committee on Small Business, Washington, DC.
Hon. JEANNE SHAHEEN,
U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.
DEAR SENATOR COLLINS, CHAIRMAN CARDIN, AND SENATOR SHAHEEN: On behalf of the Con- sumer Bankers Association (CBA), I write to express our support of S. 723, The PPP Ex- tension Act of 2021. I thank you for your con- tinued leadership as our nation rises to meet the challenges posed by the COVID-19 crisis. CBA commends the work of Congress, the Small Business Administration (SBA), and all the lenders across the country who to- gether worked dutifully to make the Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) reality and provide much needed relief to millions of small businesses.

Lenders remain committed to serve their small business customers and have engaged considerable resources to process PPP loan applications so they can ensure our nation’s small businesses have the support they need to endure these challenging economic times. Unfortunately, operational changes made by SBA during this current round of PPP lend- ing has slowed the funding of PPP loan applic- ations.

Within just weeks before the program sun- down, our members are working tirelessly to resolve complications with the processing and approval of PPP applications. Issues flagged during SBA’s processing of applica- tions, such as loan hold and error codes, con- tinue to be major hurdles for successful PPP funding. Despite lenders’ efforts to work with their customers and the SBA to quickly resolve them, these issues continue to sig- nificantly delay the funding of requests to businesses that have very pressing financial concerns. This, coupled with the recent changes by the SBA allowing Schedule C bor- rowers to qualify for more PPP relief, makes it imperative that more time is provided.

Extending the PPP and providing a window for lenders and the SBA to process received applications will ensure any small business that wants access to the program is able to do so. The PPP Extension Act of 2021 will provide the SBA, lenders, and small busi- nesses the critical time that is needed to properly implement recent alterations to the program and resolve any outstanding proc- essing issues, ultimately allowing small businesses to fully realize the benefits of the PPP.

Again, thank you for your time and consid- eration on these important matters. CBA and our members remain eager to work with Congress and the SBA to help small busi- nesses in these uncertain economic times.

Sincerely,

RICHARD HUNT,

Consumer Bankers Association.

DEAR SENATORS CARDIN, COLLINS AND SHA- HEEN, AND REPRESENTATIVES VELÁZQUEZ, LUETKEMEYER, BOURDEAUX AND KIM: The under- signed organizations are writing to thank you for your bicameral leadership and swift bipartisan action to provide much needed relief to Amer- ica’s small businesses through this economic emergency. We strongly support the PPP Ex- tension Act of 2021, which will extend the Small Business Administration’s (SBA) Pay- check Protection Program (PPP) application period beyond the March 31, 2021 sunset date. While we realize the Small Business Ad- ministration (SBA) is under tremendous time constraints and is struggling with in- ternal resource issues, our members are highly concerned by technical issues on major Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) processing issues, including hold/error codes and application rejections for Taxpayer Identification Number (‘‘TIN’’) issues or mismatches, in addition to many unresolved technical problems with the current PPP portal.

These delays and denials may put many applicants in danger of not making the March 31st authorization deadline.

Nearly one year into the COVID–19 pan- demic, the continued economic challenges of the small business sector are acute, espe- cially for those business limited by dramatic capacity restrictions and other critical health and safety protocols that have been put in place to pro- tect the public, consumers and workers from COVID-19. Thank you for extending the win- dow of opportunity for pandemic programs to effectively impact the affected small busi- ness sector, especially those traditionally under-invested and underserved groups that must also be given the chance to suc-ceed.

We stand ready to work with you during this critical moment, and thank you for con- sidering our views.

INDEPENDENT COMMUNITY BANKERS OF AMERICA,

HON. BEN CARDSIN,
Chairman, Committee on Small Business & Entrepreneurship, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

HON. SUSAN COLLINS,
U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

HON. JEANNE SHAHEEN,
U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN CARDSIN AND SENATORS COLLINS AND SHAHEEN:

On behalf of community banks across the country, with more than 50,000 locations, I write to thank you for introducing the PPP Extension Act of 2021 (S. 722). This legislation is needed to ensure that thousands of Paycheck Protection Program applications received by March 15 can continue to flow to eligible community banks and other non-profit employers—rather than be stranded by an abrupt shutdown of the Program and would so do using funds that have already been appropriated.

Community banks are doing everything in their power to complete and submit PPP applications by March 15. Unfortunately, they have no assurance that qualified applications submitted timely will be approved. The CARES Act states that applications must be approved after March 15, regardless of when they were submitted and the quality of the application. Unless a statutory change is made, thousands of applications will be rejected simply because the clock has run out.

This outcome would be especially unfair because of the thousands of applications that have already been rejected because they were flagged and put on hold by an automated program for possible waste, fraud, or abuse. These applications require community bankers in order to be cleared of holds and approved for funding. If they cannot be cleared by March 15, cash starved applicants and the people they employ will be denied access to funds they had anticipated and access to a second draw. Community bankers have solicited and received numerous applications for first draw loans in 2021. In many cases, they believe the future of government restrictions on their businesses as well as progress in controlling the COVID-19 pandemic. Unfortunately, the timing of decisions regarding a second or first draw PPP loan after passage of the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2021 has been short, particularly as Congress and the Administration have recently made additional changes to the program. For these reasons and given the high level of uncertainty over future economic conditions, it makes sense to extend the authorization of the PPP program through May 31, 2021 to give small businesses additional time to prepare for the needs of and apply for PPP. NFIB is also pleased that this legislation will provide an additional 30 days for SBA to process pending applications, which will help to ensure that small businesses are not unfairly harmed by PPP processing delays, and continue to pose a challenge to the program.
NFIB supports H.R. 1799, the PPP Extension Act of 2021 and will consider final passage of the legislation as an NFIB Key Vote for the 117th Congress.

Sincerely,
KEVIN KUHLMAN, Vice President, Federal Government Relations, NFIB.

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, I urge all of our colleagues to vote yes on this bill, which will provide a crucial 2-month extension for the Paycheck Protection Program.

This program has been a lifeline to countless small businesses and has saved more than 50 million jobs in this country.

I salute my colleagues Senator CARDIN and Senator SHAHEEN for their work on this extension, which was overwhelmingly passed by the House.

Let's talk about briefly what would happen if we do not act. If we do not act, there are approximately 190,000 loans still under review, which prevents any of these businesses from receiving a second PPP loan. These small businesses need this assistance now in order to pay their employees and stay afloat during the pandemic.

We cannot wait. The House has gone home. We cannot allow an interruption of this vital program that has made such a difference to our small businesses and their employees.

I urge all of my colleagues to support this 2-month extension, with an additional month for SBA to review the applications.

VOTE ON H.R. 1799

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill having been read the third time, the question is, Shall the bill pass?

Mr. CARDIN. I ask for the yeas and nays.

Further, if present and voting, the Senator from Nebraska (Mr. Sasse) would have voted “yea.”

There being no objection, the matter was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY,

Hon. Mark Brnovich,
Attorney General, State of Arizona,
Phoenix, AZ.

DEAR ATTORNEY GENERAL BRNOVICH: I write in reply to your March 16, 2021 letter regarding Treasury’s implementation of section 9901 of the American Rescue Plan Act (the “Act”), which provides funding to States, territories, Tribal governments, and localities to help them manage the economic consequences of COVID–19.

In the Act, Congress has provided funding to help States manage the public health and economic consequences of COVID–19 and it has given States considerable flexibility to use that money to address the diverse needs of their communities. At the same time, Congress placed limitations to ensure that

It imposes an ambiguous condition on Federal funding; it results in Federal conditions that don’t relate to the Federal interest for which the program was established; it violates separation of powers and fundamental democratic principles and effectively commandeers half of the States’ fiscal levers; and, ultimately, it is unconstitutionally coercive.

Treasury said last week that States can still cut their taxes; they just can’t use American Rescue Plan money to do it. But Governors and State legislatures are still confused.

One midwestern attorney general has asked a Federal judge to block the tax cut prohibition. Multiple tax professionals and outside groups say there are many questions still left unanswered.

We can stop this entire mess by adopting my amendment, the Let States Cut Taxes Act, an amendment to stop the Federal Government’s unconstitutional overreach on States’ rights.

Therefore, I ask that the Senator modify his request to include my amendment, which is at the desk, and that following disposition of the amendment, the Senate vote on my amendment with a 60 affirmative-vote threshold for adoption.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Does the Senator so modify his request?

The Senator from West Virginia.

Mr. MANCHIN. Mr. President, I reserve the right to object.

I have a statement to make.

Last week, my friend from Indiana and I were last down here discussing this issue.

There seemed to be a lot of confusion about the Treasury—or how the Treasury would interpret the net tax revenue provision. There seemed to be a fear that this language would prevent States from cutting any taxes whatsoever.

And the good news is that we received some guidance earlier this week from Secretary Yellen that should put those concerns to bed once and for all.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the RECORD the letter from Secretary Yellen.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY,

Hon. Mark Brnovich,
Attorney General, State of Arizona,
Phoenix, AZ.

DEAR ATTORNEY GENERAL BRNOVICH: I write in reply to your March 16, 2021 letter regarding Treasury’s implementation of section 9901 of the American Rescue Plan Act (the “Act”), which provides funding to States, territories, Tribal governments, and localities to help them manage the economic consequences of COVID–19.

In the Act, Congress has provided funding to help States manage the public health and economic consequences of COVID–19 and it has given States considerable flexibility to use that money to address the diverse needs of their communities. At the same time, Congress placed limitations to ensure that the money is used to achieve those purposes—including provisions stating that this funding may not be used to offset a reduction in net tax revenue resulting from certain changes in state law.

It is well established that Congress may place such reasonable conditions on how States may use federal funding. Courts include those sorts of reasonable funding conditions in legislation routinely, including with respect to funding for Medicaid, education, and veterans affairs. Here, the Act permits a broad array of federal funds, and accordingly includes restrictions to ensure that those funds are properly applied. Earlier COVID relief measures providing for the use of federal funding also included restrictions that barred States from spending those funds on certain purposes.

Nothing in the Act prevents States from enacting a broad variety of tax cuts. That is, the Act does not “deny States the ability to cut taxes in any manner whatever.” It simply provides that funding received under the Act may not be used to offset a reduction in net tax revenue resulting from certain changes in state law. It is, however, important to note that States choosing to use the federal funds to offset a reduction in net tax revenue do not thereby forfeit their entire allocation of funds appropriated under this statute. The limitation affects States’ ability to retain only those federal funds used to offset a reduction in net tax revenue resulting from certain changes in state law.

Treasury is crafting further guidance—including guidance to address more specifically the issues raised by your letter and the procedures Treasury will use for any future recoupment—that will provide additional information about how this provision will be administered. We will provide this guidance before a State must submit a certification under 60(d)(1). We also expect to engage in an ongoing dialogue throughout the program. These funds will provide transformative relief to States, territories, and Tribal governments, and our communities should be able to use the funds to recover from the economic fallout due to the pandemic, which is what Congress intended. I hope to work with your State, as well as others across the country, to ensure these funds can be used in ways that align with the goals of the statute without undue restrictions.

Sincerely,
JANET L. YELLEN.

Mr. MANCHIN. Mr. President, I will enter this letter into the Record, but I would like to read the key sentences. And to the Senator from Indiana, if I could read this letter to you and to make sure that—I don’t know how—I have spoken to my attorney general, who was one of the original cosigners, and I said: Mr. Attorney General, I want to explain this in English because it is very easy to understand. It says this:

Nothing in the Act prevents States from enacting a broad variety of tax cuts.

Do whatever you want.

That is, the Act does not “deny States the ability to cut taxes in any manner whatsoever.”

This comes from the Secretary of Treasury. It simply provides that funding received under the Act may not be used to offset a reduction . . .

That you choose, unless it is COVID related. It makes all the sense in the world. It has to be COVID related.

If States lower certain taxes but do not use funds under the Act to offset those cuts—for example, by replacing the lost revenue through other means—the limitation in the Act is not implicated.

They can do whatever they want to. If they can show other revenue to offset it, that is great. They just cannot use the Treasury’s money that the people have invested in their States for that purpose.

It also says this:

It is . . . important to note that the States choosing to use the Federal funds to offset a reduction in net tax revenue do not thereby forfeit their entire allocation of funds appropriated under this statute.

They have alluded to that, which is not accurate.

The limitation affects States’ ability to retain only those federal funds used to offset a reduction in net tax revenue resulting from certain changes in [the] state law.

That is that. That is not—and these are all supposed to be educated attorneys that are writing letters wanting explanations.

This is as common sense as it gets. It is a bipartisan guardrail to simply make sure the emergency funds make it to the people who need it most, and the States can do whatever they think they should do and could do.

As a former Governor, I would have been offended if I thought it was hampered. I am not. I have got to make good decisions here. I have other revenue coming in. I want to cut this tax. That is fine. I just can’t cut a tax to be popular and then say: OK. Mr. Senators here, please send us money so we can be popular back home but use your money to make us look good. That is about it in a nutshell.

So it is for those reasons, and many, many more.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard to the modification.

Is there objection to the original request?

Mr. BRAUN. Reserving the right to object, coming from the world of business, I have been damaged by Washington’s inability to fix problems in a timely, rational manner, and that has been over a stretch of many years before I got here.

I do, respectfully, disagree with my friend from West Virginia. We should fix this tax cut prohibition right now that was forced into the American Rescue Plan in the wee hours of the morning.

If we want to fix a commonsense problem, we are being told that our only choice is to hold Hoosier seniors hostage. This is the most deliberative body in the world; this cannot be the best the Senate has to offer.

We must get the Federal Government out of the way and stop complicating and confusing States. They should be allowed to do their jobs.

And, by the way, they do their jobs—balancing their budgets every year, living within their means. Most of the rest of the country accepts that as well.

Given the looming April 1 deadline for cuts to return to Medicare, I am not willing to let Hoosier seniors suffer. As a result, I will withdraw my amendment in the interest of seniors across Indiana.

I look forward to working with the two leaders after the recess to fix this issue. I will not object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Under the previous order, the Senate will proceed to the consideration of H.R. 1688, which the clerk will report.

The senior assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

(Purpose: To improve the bill)

Strike section 2(b)

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There will now be 2 minutes of debate, equally divided, prior to a vote in relation to amendment No. 144.

The Senator from Florida (Mr. SCOTT) proposes an amendment numbered 1411 to amendment No. 144

The amendment is as follows:

The bill before us today fixes a drafting error from legislation enacted last December. The unintentional error occurred accidentally against a longstanding rule under which California is able to use Medicaid funding to reimburse hospitals serving uninsured and Medicare patients.

Today’s bill fixes that drafting error. It makes no other changes to law and does not provide additional funds to California or any other State. CBO says that this provision has no budgetary effect. Because of the sheer number of Medi- caid and uninsured patients that receive care at California’s safety net hospitals, Congress, in 1997, granted the State additional flexibility. It can use Federal funds it receives to cover hospital expenses for those in need.

If the Scott amendment passes, hospital care for half of the children in California and the vulnerable populations most affected by COVID would be at risk.

Please vote no on this amendment.

AMENDMENT NO. 140

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There will be 2 minutes of debate on the Shaheen-Collins amendment.

The Senator from New Hampshire. Mrs. SHAHEEN. If we are quiet, we will be quick.

If the amendment (No. 141) is not adopted, the Senate will proceed to the consideration of the bipartisan Medicaid home and community-based services (HCBS) amendment.
I urge my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to come together and help ensure that our Nation’s hospitals, nursing homes, physicians, and other healthcare providers have the support they need to get through the COVID-19 pandemic.

This substitute amendment that Senator COLLINS and I are offering is a compromise that delays the Medicare payment cuts through December 31 and ensures that the cost of this delay is paid for.

I hope you will support it.

Senator COLLINS.

Ms. COLLINS, Mr. President, The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Maine.

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, I rise today to support the Shaheen-Collins substitute to prevent a cut in Medicare reimbursements for hospitals, nursing homes, home health agencies and other healthcare providers who continue to care for their patients in this era of COVID. Congress twice last year suspended the 2-percent Medicare sequester in bipartisan COVID relief packages, and I hope we can do so once again.

At a time when our country is relying so heavily on our healthcare providers to help get us back to normal, we cannot ignore the financial realities they face. Almost half—17 of 36—of Maine hospitals finished last year with a negative operating margin. According to the Northern Light Health in Maine, relief from the Medicare sequester amounts to $1 million per month.

The Shaheen-Collins amendment will extend the current sequester moratorium until the end of the year. This financial certainty is needed in these uncertain times.

I urge my colleagues to support the Shaheen-Collins substitute.

Thank you.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There are 2 minutes of debate.

Mrs. SHAHEEN. Mr. President, I rise today to urge my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to come together and help ensure that our Nation’s hospitals, nursing homes, physicians, and other healthcare providers have the financial support they need to get through the COVID-19 pandemic.

On March 25, 2020, this body came together and passed the CARES Act, by a 96-0 vote—exactly 1 year ago today.

The CARES Act helped to provide the resources needed to ramp up testing and vaccine development, so that small businesses would have support to continue to pay their workers, and provide much-needed financial relief for healthcare providers on the frontlines of this pandemic.

A year later, we can start to see the light at the end of the very long tunnel that is this public health crisis. More than 100 million doses of COVID-19 vaccines have been administered across the country. And we are starting to see job growth as more companies start hiring again.

However, with hundreds of millions of Americans still needing to be vaccinated and the threat of COVID-19 variants still looming, we need to continue to support our frontline healthcare providers and help keep them financially strong for the months ahead.

That is why Senator COLLINS and I came together to introduce the Medicare Sequestration Relief Act, a bill that would suspend the 2 percent Medicare payment cuts that are scheduled to hit healthcare providers starting on April 1.

As a result of the CARES Act and through subsequent relief measures, these payment cuts have been suspended through March 31, and they need to be extended again.

With American hospitals and nursing homes projecting tens of billions of dollars in additional financial losses this year due to the COVID-19 crisis, we need to continue to avert these Medicare payment cuts until we are further past the worst of the pandemic.

The substitute amendment that Senator COLLINS and I are offering today is a reasonable compromise. It delays the Medicare payment cuts through December 31. And it ensures that the cost of this delay is paid for, so that we do not increase the Federal budget deficit.

This week, I heard from Wentworth-Douglass Hospital in Dover, NH.

They highlighted that this legislation would result in $2.1 million in desperately needed additional revenue for the hospital.

The hospital’s chief financial officer, Peter Walcek told me: “These are real dollars supporting our organization’s recovery from tens of millions in lost revenue and added costs during the pandemic... By passing a continued moratorium through 2021, Wentworth-Douglass will be in a better place to care for those in need and respond to any future crises affecting the health of our community.”

I also heard about the importance of Medicare sequester relief for New Hampshire nursing homes. Patricia Ramsey, from the Edgewood Centre nursing facility in Portsmouth, NH, said “the Medicare sequestration suspension, although not a cure, will help us mitigate the added operating expenses and losses we continue to experience, especially with the exacerbated workforce shortage.”

I have heard stories like these from so many healthcare providers across New Hampshire, and I believe there are healthcare providers in each of our communities that would share similar stories.

We need to provide them with more financial support so that they can be there to care for patients, as we continue to make progress in combating this pandemic.

We cannot allow our hospitals and healthcare providers to go under as we fight through the worst public health crisis of our lifetimes.

I urge my colleagues to come together again, like we did in the CARES Act and support this legislation, when it comes up for a vote today.

Thank you.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Oregon.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President, 30 seconds worth.

First of all, we are protecting the linemen for senior citizens by delaying the sequester cut to Medicare. We would have extraordinary problems if this cut were to be allowed to take effect.

Second, we have defeated the Scott amendment, which, if adopted, would have set a horrible precedent by refusing to fix Congress’s mistake and forcing hospitals in one Senator’s State to take on draconian Medicaid cuts.

I urge an “aye” vote.

EQUAL PAY DAY
Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, our Nation is built on some fundamental ideas. One of those ideas is fairness. But there are millions of women across the country today who are doing the same job as their male colleagues and are being paid less.

That is why on this National Equal Pay Day, I stand with my fellow Senators to close the pay equity gap and ensure equal pay for equal work.

Fifty-eight years after the passage of the Equal Pay Act, women still only earn, on average, 82 cents for every dollar paid to men.

This wage gap is even worse for women of color. African-American women who work full time make only 63 cents for every dollar paid to White males.

Hispanic women make only 55 cents on the dollar. In nearly every industry in our country, women’s median earnings remain less than their male counterparts. There has been one profound change since the passage of the Equal Pay Act 58 years ago. Forty-one percent of women are now the primary—or only—breadwinner for their families.

In my own State of Illinois, women earn, on average, just 81 cents for every dollar earned by men.

African-American women in Illinois make just 63 cents for every dollar paid to White males. Hispanic women are paid even less—just 49 cents on the dollar.

This pay discrimination hurts working families. More than one-third of households led by women in Illinois live in poverty.

Over their lifetimes, this persistent pay equity gap will cost the average woman in my State nearly $500,000 in lost wages.

This is not right, and it is not fair. And it means women have to work that much harder to support their families and remain in dignity, and too many can’t achieve those goals no matter how long or hard they work.

The coronavirus pandemic has underscored just how deep and damaging pay inequality is in the United States.

Nearly 2 in 3 frontline workers are women. Yet they-nearly universally—are paid less than men in the same roles.

For example, 88 percent of registered nurses are women. Yet they make 93 cents for every dollar a male nurse makes.

Women who work as home health aides, personal care aides, or nursing assistants typically lose $250 per month, or $3,000 per year, because of the gender wage gap.

While our economy is slowing starting to recover as people become vaccinated and the virus is brought under control, economists warn that it may take many women to recover from the economic and career setbacks they have suffered during this pandemic.

Four times as many women as men left the workforce in September of 2020 alone. More than 860,000 women compared to 216,000 men.

From wage discrimination to the unavailability of childcare, women are not getting a fair deal. That means working families are not getting a fair deal. That must change.

This Senate should pass the Paycheck Fairness Act reintroduced by Senator MURRAY.

The Paycheck Fairness Act would build on the successes of the Lilly Ledbetter Fair Pay Act, which was the first bill signed into law by President Obama back in 2009.

The Lilly Ledbetter Act prohibits gender-based pay discrimination, but it is hard to enforce because many employers still maintain policies that punish employees who voluntarily share salary information with their co-workers.

Workers can’t demand equal pay if they don’t know that they are being underpaid.

The Paycheck Fairness Act would close loopholes that still permit retaliation against workers who disclose the pay rates.

It would prohibit employers from asking prospective employees about their salary history.

It would require that employers prove that pay disparities exist for legitimate, job-related reasons, not simply because they think that “women’s work” is worth less.

I am disappointed that Republican opposition has prevented the Senate from passing this bill, which is vital to eliminating the persistent pay discrimination against women.

I urge my colleagues across the aisle to commit to passing the Paycheck Fairness Act and working with us to close this gender wage gap once and for all.

DOMESTIC TERRORISM PREVENTION ACT
Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I’m re-introducing a piece of legislation that I first introduced in 2017: the Domestic Terrorism Prevention Act.

Back then, we knew there was an urgent need to address the crisis of hate and violent extremism in America.

In the years since, that crisis has only gotten worse, and Congress has failed to take meaningful steps to address it.

We can change that, and we can change it now.

Earlier this week, the Judiciary Committee held a hearing on gun violence in America.

It happened just one day after a mass shooting in Boulder, CO claimed 10 lives and just 1 week after a shooting spree at 3 Atlanta-area spas claimed 8 lives.

During the hearing, I mentioned how these tragedies—mass shootings, acts of terror, hate crimes—they occur with such frequency, that we can’t keep track.

Each life lost is added to our national tally of failure. A failure to save American lives.

And behind each number is a person.

We lost eight of them last week in the Atlanta area in a hateful act of violence.

Each of them had a name and a story.

Xiaojie Tan was a hard-working mother, wife, and business-owner.

Soon Chung Park was a mother and grandmother who loved to stay active. Her family was sure she was going to live to 100.

Hyun Jung Kim was a former elementary school teacher who had immigrated to the United States from South...
Korea. She dedicated her life to raising her two sons.

Delaina Ashley Yaun was a newlywed and a mother of two, one of whom was an 8-month-old baby. She and her husband were getting a couple's massage at the time of the shooting.

Young Ae Yue was a wife and mother of two sons who looked forward to sitting down for a traditional Korean dinner every Sunday night.

Paul Andre Michels was a loving husband and a U.S. Army veteran.

Daoyou Feng had recently started working at one of the massage parlors that was attacked. She was described by a friend as “kind and quiet.”

Sooncha Kim was a wife, mother, grandmother, and avid line dancer. She and her husband had been married for 50 years.

All of their lives were cut short by a lone gunman with hate in his heart.

How many more lives must we lose before we act?

How many more vigils, funerals must we hold?

How many more families must be devastated forever?

While the motives behind these horrific attacks are still being investigated, it is impossible to ignore that six of the victims in the Atlanta attack were Asian-American women.

It happened at a moment when violence against members of the Asian-American and Pacific Islander community has been on the rise.

Two of my colleagues in the Senate have shown tremendous courage in the wake of last week’s attack in Atlanta. I am proud to have Senator HIRONO and Senator Duckworth represent our home State of Illinois.

The two of them, rightfully, criticized the Federal Government for failing to protect members of the AAPI community from acts of hate and violent extremism.

And they have every reason to be angry.

A year ago, they warned us. "They—along with Vice President Harris, who was serving in the Senate at the time—introduced a resolution expressing alarm that people are, quote—living in fear and terror following the dramatic increase of threats and attacks on the Asian American and Pacific Islander community...."

They called on us, the Members of this body, to have a “singular focus” on protecting the safety of AAPI people, along with every American.

We failed to do that.

Since the pandemic began last March, nearly 3,800 hate incidents targeting members of the AAPI community have been reported.

Now these Americans are afraid to walk the streets of their own neighborhood.

It is one of many examples that highlight the dire need to transform the way we deal with domestic terrorism in this country.

Even before the pandemic began, a tide of hatred had begun sweeping over America.

In 2019, the FBI reported that hate crimes had increased to the highest level in more than a decade.

Another report, from the Center for the Study of Hate and Extremism, found that the number of hate-motivated aggravated assaults in America had increased by nearly 50 percent between 2013 and 2019.

Since hate crimes are historically underreported, we know that the increase is probably much greater.

Recently, the Department of Homeland Security warned that violent, white supremacy is now “the most persistent and lethal threat in the homeland.”

Violent extremism is a threat to all of us, whether it is a lone gunman in Atlanta or hordes of blood-thirsty extremists battering down the doors of this very chamber.

The Domestic Terrorism Prevention Act will enhance the Federal Government’s ability to prevent these acts of extremist violence.

It will establish offices to combat domestic terrorism at the Department of Justice, the FBI, and the Department of Homeland Security.

Those offices would regularly assess the threat of violent extremism so law enforcement can focus their limited resources on the most significant threats.

The Domestic Terrorism Prevention Act would also provide training and resources to assist State, local, and tribal law enforcement in addressing those threats.

I want to thank Majority Leader SCHUMER for working expeditiously to bring this bill to the floor.

I want to thank Senators HIRONO and DUCKWORTH for their leadership and for joining me in cosponsoring a version of this legislation that combines the Domestic Terrorism Prevention Act with their COVID–Hate Crimes Act.

This combined bill, which we have named the “Domestic Terrorism and Hate Crimes Prevention Act of 2021,” would both combat the broader threat of domestic terrorism and ensure that the Department of Justice is promptly addressing the particular threats facing the AAPI community.

Over the past week, in response to the attacks in Atlanta and Boulder, CO, I have heard Senators on both sides of the aisle make speeches about taking action to prevent acts of domestic terrorism.

Well, I can think of no better first step than voting in support of this legislation. To be clear, it is just one step. There is more we can and must do to combat domestic terrorism.

But we have been waiting 4 years too long to sign this bill into law.

Too many Americans have died.

Let’s work to save ourselves from another 4 years of unthinkable tragedies. I yield the floor.

Requests for authorization of such travel shall be status the purpose and, when completed, a full substantive and financial report shall be filed with the committee within 30 days. This report shall be furnished to all members of the committee and shall not be otherwise disseminated without authorization of the chairman and the ranking member. Except in extraordinary circumstances, staff travel shall not be approved unless the reporting requirements have been fulfilled for all prior travel, or the individual is the executive branch, foreign travel funded by non-U.S. Government sources is subject to the same approval and substantivity-reporting requirements as U.S. Government-funded travel. TRIBUTE TO JOE HACK

Mrs. FISCHER. Mr. President, every Senator depends on their staff to provide them with information and advice on the issues. Every Senator knows the importance of having good staff who can respond to their questions and concerns. Joe Hack is a shining example of how to deal with the Federal bureaucracy. And every Senator believes that their staff members are the most prepared, the most conscientious, and the most caring people in the U.S. Senate.

I know that my staff has been fortunate with the people who have joined my team to work for the great State of Nebraska. I have been extremely fortunate that Joe Hack has been a member of Team Fischer since my very first day as a U.S. Senator.

Joe officially joined my team as my communications director on that first day. He was not new to the Senate; he had first worked as a 10-year-old intern. On our first day in 2013, he immediately got to work with his new boss in getting out press releases, reaching out to State and national media, and helping me continue my practice of writing a weekly column for media back home.

Joe never missed a beat. He helped guide me through the traditions and inner workings of the Senate and through the tunnels of the Russell Building.

After 2 years, Joe Hack became my chief of staff, the youngest chief in the Senate at that time. Joe set the tone I wanted for my office: Be professional, take your job seriously, be honest, get along with your colleagues, always respond to constituents, gather all the information we need on an issue and then get more, and work hard. Joe's closing to every email and every staff meeting was, 'Work harder.' And he set the example for all of those.

Joe was involved in every major piece of legislation we have accomplished, from passing the first-ever paid family leave law to the FAST Act, our Internet of Things, broadband, infrastructure, and agriculture issues. He guided the Omaha VA clinic from inception to completion, and he will see the Lincoln VA clinic open and the Offutt Air Force Base runway completely rebuilt. He knew the importance of securing funding for Nebraska highway and water projects and for the continued growth of our university system. He was part of every success.

Joe knows Nebraska, and Nebraskans know Joe. He knew instinctively that the people of our State are why we do this work. We represent them. Joe has attended statewide dinners in our Capitol Rotunda, he has dined at the Buckhorn Bar, and has dined at Husker tailgates and games. He loves browsing at Cabela's and a good meal at Rosita's.

Joe has traveled the vastness of our State, understanding its diversity and standing in awe while viewing our skies, sunrises and sunsets, our clouds, and the majesty of our night stars. He fell in love with "The Good Life." A New Jersey guy became a Nebraskan.

Joe has been by my side since my very first day in the Senate, and now, he is moving on to new opportunities. He has been a mentor to many, my trusted policy and political adviser, and a leader whose admonition to "work harder" became our office mantra. Joe has smoothed the waters and lifted the spirits of many.

Joe Hack is a friend. He is family. I wish him only the best as he meets new challenges and faces new adventures in his life.

Thank you, Joe.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

TRIBUTE TO CELEA POITRA AND GAHGE WHITEMANRUNSHIM

Mr. DAINES. Mr. President, this week, I have the honor of recognizing Celea Poitra and Gahge Whitemanrunshim of Big Horn County for courageously stepping up to help others in the face of danger. They exhibit strong Montana values, and their dedication to helping others is admirable.

Celea and Gahge were in their grandmother's pickup truck heading to a downtown appointment on Saturday, February 27, 2021, when they witnessed devastating 30-vehicle pileup on the Yellowstone River Bridge outside Billings, MT. Dozens of vehicles crashed into each other on the icy interstate highway bridge. After their truck came to a stop, Celea and Gahge hopped into a vehicle with a mother and two kids hanging partially over the guardrail of the bridge. Celea and Gaheg did not hesitate to step in and help. However, the impact from other vehicles hitting the pile-up knocked both of them off of the bridge, and they fell to the ground about 60 feet below.

They sustained serious injuries when they fell and are recovering in Billings' hospital. Celea was treated for a broken back, lacerated kidney, and other injuries. She was in an intensive care unit and is expected to need multiple surgeries. Gahge suffered a fractured neck, punctured lung, and other injuries. Their grandmother and guardian, Joan, stated that it is very much in her children's nature to go out of their way to help someone.

It is my distinct honor to recognize Celea and Gahge for demonstrating such bravery to help others in need and I wish them only the best as they face new adventures in their lives.

REMEMBERING MARLENE BANE

Mr. PADILLLA. Mr. President, today I rise to recognize the life of Ms. Marlene Bane.

Marlene answered the highest calling of dedication to her country, her State, and her local community. Along with her husband, Assemblyman Tom Bane, she served under a unique niche in State government through a blend of intelligence, soft-spoken charm, organization, and, most of all, dear friends and relatives. She spent a lifetime engaged in political consulting and nonprofit projects such as lupus research and the Jewish Home for the Aging.

Marlene worked tirelessly to improve California and serve those most in need, and she was widely known and loved throughout L.A.’s Jewish community for her civic activism and support for Israel.

Marlene was renowned for mentoring an amazing number of our political leaders on how to serve constituents with the same commitment. Up until the last week of her life, she threw herself into the cause of supporting candidates. She believed in the commandment of Tikkun Olam, that she must do her part into the cause of supporting candidates. She believed in the commandment of Tikkun Olam, that she must not just see the good in those people who pass, knowing that a new day would dawn. It is undeniable that she left those who knew her better off for having known her.

REMEMBERING ANTONIO GONZALEZ

- Mr. PADILLA, Mr. President. I would like to include in the RECORD the following obituary for Mr. Antonio Gonzalez, written by his children.

The material follows:

Beloved Antonio Gonzalez made his transition on December 29, 2020. Born in Calera in the state of Zacatecas, Mexico on March 30, 1964, he was the eldest of four children born to Antonio Gonzalez and Antonia Del Villar. The Gonzalez family spent their early years living with Antonio’s maternal grandparents in a small town in Calera. Antonio shared fond memories of times spent on his grandfather’s abundant ranch. He described what seemed to him an endless landscape of rolling hills, trees, livestock and horses (his favorite).

Hard times fell on the young family around the time Antonio turned eight. A sudden regime change resulted in his dad losing his job, forcing them to set their sights “north in search for work and a better life. Their trek north ended in what was (at the time) a small dusty town just south of the California border. It was there, in Tecate, BC where he and his siblings Antonio (Tony) and Margarita and Maria de la Luz were raised and attended school. But, with a lack of good paying jobs, times remained tough in Tecate. Antonio’s family spent their future for the next generation.

He is survived by his wife, “Nina”, son David, daughter Sandra and son-in-law Joe, daughter Sandra and son-in-law James, son Christian and grandchildren Javier, Sinna and Julian. Siblings Antonio, Margarita and Maria de la Luz and many loving nieces and nephews. He was pre-deceded in death by his father Antonio Gonzalez and mother, Antonia Del Villar.

REMEMBERING JOE “PINOY” LOZANO

- Mr. PADILLA, Mr. President. I rise to recognize the life of Mr. Joe Lozano. Joe “Pino” Lozano was born on December 26, 1934, in Pacoloma, CA, as one of 10 children. Joe had every job you can imagine. He shined shoes and worked in the fields as a young boy. He joined the U.S. Marine Corp in 1954 and served during the Korean war as an infantryman.

After the service, he married the love of his life, Virginia. They were married for 60 years and had 6 children, 21 grandchildren, 26 great-grandchildren, and 1 great-great-grandchild. Joe was a community-oriented person. After his family, his community came first. He painted over graffiti, he helped beautify the streets, and he even mowed the grass on the center divider of his street when the city was too busy to do it.

Joe worked as a prop maker for the studios for many years. He had tons of stories, and he loved his job. He retired, went back to work, and only stopped again to care for his wife when she became ill. Since 2004, Joe worked with the annual San Fernando Valley Veterans Day Parade organizing committee so that Veterans could be honored on Veterans Day.

He will be missed by many.

RECOGNIZING VERMONT MEALS ON WHEELS

- Mr. SANDERS, Mr. President. I would like to take a moment to recognize Vermont’s Meals on Wheels Programs.

Each March, we celebrate March for Meals to draw attention to the incredible work of Meals on Wheel through-out the country, including in my home State of Vermont. All across our State, hundreds of volunteers regularly deliver freshly cooked, nutritious meals to thousands of older people in their homes, many of whom otherwise might not get one. This is particularly important in rural areas. Without this social interaction, seniors are more likely to have feelings of loneliness and depression, which puts them at higher risk for decline. Meals on Wheels serves as a social lifeline, a daily check-in for those who might not have someone to talk to.

In a typical year, Meals on Wheels volunteers do so much more than delivering meals. These volunteers provide critical social interaction for the people they visit, which goes a long way to combat the effects of isolation that many Vermonters face, especially in rural areas. Without this social interaction, seniors are more likely to have feelings of loneliness and depression, which puts them at higher risk for decline.

In addition to the many Meals on Wheels volunteers throughout Vermont, I also want to recognize and thank the caring and dedicated professionals who run Vermont’s Meals on Wheel Programs. From the chefs who prepare the nutritious meals with skill and care, to the program staff who ensure that everything runs smoothly, these Vermonters are the backbone of what makes Meals on Wheels the success that it is. In March, when so much of our State shut down due to the pandemic, these dedicated people immediately pivoted to expand Meals on Wheels and ensure that any older Vermonter who was isolated would get one. This was particularly important for all those who had previously relied on congregant meal programs, which were unsafe during the pandemic.

Together, every single Meals on Wheels volunteer and staff person forms an indispensable link in our social safety net and has my sincere appreciation for their remarkable work. As more and more Vermonters are now vaccinated and the State begins a careful reopening, following the science and ensuring the safety of all our people, I look forward to a day when I and my Vermont staff can once again visit the Meals on Wheels Program and meet the volunteers and recipients in person.

STATMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. KAIN (for himself and Mr. WARNER):

S. 1000. A bill to designate additions to the Rough Mountain Wilderness and the Rich Hole Wilderness of the George Washington National Forest, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry.

Mr. KAIN, President, this bill authorizes additions to two existing wilderness areas within the George Washington National Forest in Bath County, VA. This text represents years of negotiation and compromise among Virginia stakeholders who rely in different ways on the GW Forest.

In many parts of America, Federal land management is controversial. Some may view these lands as repositories for timber, energy, or minerals. Others may enjoy using recreational trails through them. Others may believe that they should be left to nature and not disturbed. The truth, of course, is that all of these uses are important; the conflict lies in agreeing on which lands are best suited to which purposes.

In the lead-up to the latest multiyear GW Forest Management Plan, various forest users came together to see if they could find reasonable compromises that would avoid years of unproductive disagreement and litigation. This group, known as the George Washington National Forest Stakeholder Collaborative, succeeded. Through hard work and consensus, the collaborative developed recommendations to the U.S. Forest Service for forest management and protection. Preservation advocates consented to timber harvest and other active forest restoration and management in certain areas, while forest products interests consented to wilderness and light management in other areas. Followings this fruitful collaboration, the Forest Service convened the Lower Cowpasture Restoration and Management Project, bringing the collaborative and other stakeholders to help develop management activities on this particular part of the forest in Bath County. Again, this collaborative succeeded, with everyone getting some of what they want and giving some ground.

The collaborative has now come together to support the wilderness additions in this bill, which designates 4,900 acres to be added to the Rich Hole Wilderness Area, and 1,000 acres to be added to the Rough Mountain Wilderness Area. I am proud to partner on this with my colleague Senator MARK WARNER, and we are following in the path blazed by Senator John Warner and Representative Rick Boucher, who led the original Virginia Wilderness Act in 1984. I am further proud that this bill passed unanimously in the Senate last Congress and as part of a package passed the House this Congress. I hope it will cross the finish line soon.

Taking care of our Nation’s public lands is good for the economy and good for the environment. Land disputes may often be contentious, but this example proves they don’t have to be. When everyone comes to the table and invests the necessary time, we can find common ground, I hope this will be a lesson for us in other tough policy challenges, and I encourage the Senate to support this bill.

S. 1022. A bill to create jobs in the United States by increasing United States exports to Africa by at least 200 percent in real dollar value within 10 years, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the text of the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 1022. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE. This Act may be cited as the “Increasing American Jobs Through Greater Exports to Africa Act of 2021”.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS; PURPOSE.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) Export growth helps United States business growth and create United States jobs. Ninety-eight percent of United States exports came from approximately 300,000 small- and medium-sized businesses supporting 4,000,000 United States jobs.

(2) In a February 5, 2021, message to an African Union Summit, President Joseph R. Biden re-affirmed the United States relationship with African countries as partners in the continent-wide spirit of entrepreneurship and innovation.

(3) Many countries have trade-distorting export promotion programs that aggressively subsidize exports to Africa and other countries around the world. In 2019, there were 115 known official export credit providers around the world, including export credit agencies in Africa, who had increased their credit assistance to Africa and other countries by 35 percent increase from 2015 to 2019. The increasing investment by foreign governments into export credit can threaten competitiveness of United States businesses abroad.

(4) Between 2008 and 2019, the People’s Republic of China alone provided more than $462,000,000,000 in loans to the developing world, and in 2019, the People’s Republic of China surpassed the United States as the leading trade partner of African countries. The Export-Import Bank of the United States reports the People’s Republic of China’s export finance activity is larger than all the other export credit agencies in the Group of 7 countries combined, making the People’s Republic of China the world’s largest official creditor with a portfolio more than twice the size of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund combined.

(b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this Act is to create jobs in the United States by expanding programs that will result in increasing United States exports to Africa by at least 200 percent in real dollar value within 10 years.

(D) the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives;

(4) the term ‘‘rural business investment company’’ has the meaning given the term in section 384A of the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act (7 U.S.C. 2009cc); and

(5) the term ‘‘Secretary’’ means the Secretary of Agriculture; and

(bb) otherwise unnecessary; and

(ii) take into consideration how rural business investment companies that have been given a license under section 384D(e) of the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act (7 U.S.C. 2009cc–3(e)) before the date of enactment of this section could qualify to receive that leverage.

(b) SBA REQUIREMENTS.—

(1) ESTABLISHMENT OF APPLICATION PROCESS.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator, in consultation with the Secretary, shall establish an application process for any business investment company to apply for leverage granted under section 321 of the Small Business Investment Act of 1958, as added by subsection (a) of this section.

Mr. BRAUN (for himself, Ms. E RNST, and Mr. T LLIS) submitted the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs:

S. Res. 136

Whereas noted economists from across the political spectrum have warned that the implementation of Modern Monetary Theory (referred to in this preamble as “MMT”) would pose a clear danger to the economy of the United States;

Whereas, in July 2019, Zach Moller, deputy director of the program at Third Way, wrote in a memo the problems associated with MMT, including that—

(1) “Under an MMT program, policymakers would need to respond to inflation by doing two of the most unpopular things ever: raising taxes and cutting spending. . . . We can easily imagine divided government’s paralysis to fight inflation: Republicans refusing to raise taxes and Democrats refusing to cut spending.”

(2) “MMT ‘ends our central non-political economic manager’ and ‘markets trust the Federal Reserve and, as a result, businesses and individuals have well-anchored inflation expectations.’ To solve the challenges higher interest rates create, including a possible interest financing spiral, MMT gener-“MMT assumes away politics” and puts “the onus of inflation control on Congress, the institution that lately seems worst-equipped to handle it. The Federal Reserve—which was, in time building extensive credibility in its commitment to fight inflation—would be largely sidelined.”;

“even MMT admits that deficits and debt matter”, stated Stephanie Kelton has stated: “I would never take the position that we ought to move forward, passing legislation with no offsets, to do Green New Deals or Medicare for All. In the end, MMT’s arguments largely boil down to a disagreement over how much room there is to borrow without accelerating inflation.”

It is “hard to pin MMT down on anything at all” due, in large part, to the fact that “prominent supporters of MMT have taken, at times, contradictory positions: When politicians make claims about paying for the Green New Deal through MMT, stay silent, and when economists criticize this view, claim you are being misunderstood.”;

Whereas the March 2019 report entitled “How Reliable is Modern Monetary Theory: A Case for a Policy Re-Politicization” by Scott Shepherd and Patrick Horan of the Mercatus Center at George Mason University found that—

(1) MMT theorists succeed in turning ordinary households and businesses—acutely constrained than an ordinary household or business—into taxpayers who are allowed to rely on the Treasury to cover expenditures;

(2) MMT recognizes—

(a) that the acceptance of Modern Monetary Theory would lead to higher deficits and higher inflation; and

(b) that the United States have the financial capacity to abandon Modern Monetary Theory in favor of mainstream fiscal and monetary frameworks.

SENATE RESOLUTION 137—SUPPORTING THE GOALS OF WORLD TUBERCULOSIS DAY TO RAISE AWARENESS ABOUT TUBERCULOSIS

Mr. BROWN (for himself and Mr. SULLIVAN) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations:

S. Res. 137

Whereas, in 2019, nearly 1/4 of the global population was infected with the tuberculosis bacterium (referred to in this preamble as “TB”);

Whereas the World Health Organization (referred to in this preamble as the “WHO”) estimates that 10,000,000 people developed TB in 2019, 8.2 percent of whom were also infected with the human immunodeficiency virus (referred to in this preamble as “HIV”);

Whereas, in 2019, TB killed an estimated 1,408,000 people, causing more deaths worldwide than any other single infectious agent;

Whereas, globally in 2019, an estimated 1,200,000 children developed TB, and in 2017, 290,000 children died of TB;

Whereas ½ of new TB infections in 2019 occurred in 8 countries: India, Indonesia, China, the Philippines, Pakistan, Nigeria, Bangladesh, and South Africa;

Whereas TB is a leading killer of people infected with HIV, and 208,000 people with HIV died of TB in 2019;

Whereas vulnerable populations also at high risk for developing TB include individuals who are pregnant and newborns;

Whereas, in 2018, TB was one of the 6 leading causes of death among adult women between the ages of 15 and 49 in low-income countries;

Whereas, in some settings, women with TB can face other barriers: social exclusion, ostracization by their families and communities;

Whereas the global TB epidemic and the spread of drug-resistant TB represent a persistent public health threat to the United States because the disease does not recognize borders;

Whereas antibiotic-resistant pathogens are a growing problem worldwide, and drug-resistant TB can occur when the drugs used to treat TB are mismanaged or not made consistently accessible;

Whereas studies have demonstrated direct person-to-person transmission of drug-resistant TB;

Whereas multi-drug-resistant TB (referred to in this preamble as “MDR–TB”) is caused by bacteria with resistance to rifampin and isoniazid, the 2 most potent treatments for TB infection;

Whereas, in 2019, according to the 2020 WHO Global Tuberculosis Report, an estimated 3.3 percent of all new TB cases and 18 percent of previously treated cases were MDR–TB or rifampin-resistant TB;

Whereas, in 2019, an estimated 655,000 people around the world developed MDR–TB or rifampin-resistant TB, yet only approximately 38 percent of those individuals were identified and treated;

Whereas extensively drug-resistant TB (referred to in this preamble as “XDR–TB”) is a rare type of TB that is resistant to nearly all medicines, and therefore can be very difficult and expensive to treat, especially among patients with HIV;

Whereas, in 2019, every WHO region reported XDR–TB cases;

Whereas, in 2019, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (referred to in this preamble as “CDC”) estimated that the average cost of treating a single patient with XDR–TB was $278,000, and the average cost of treating a patient with XDR–TB was even higher at $553,000, compared with $20,000 to treat a patient with drug-susceptible TB;

Whereas, between 2005 and 2007, according to an analysis by CDC, MDR–TB and XDR–TB cases in the United States collectively cost the health care system an estimated $53,000,000;

Whereas CDC estimates that costs resulting from all forms of TB in the United States totaled more than $608,000,000 in 2019;

Whereas, in a 2000 report, the Institute of Medicine found that a decrease in TB control funding and the spread of HIV and acquired immune deficiency syndrome (commonly referred to as “AIDS”) caused a resurgence of TB in the late 1980s and early 1990s; whereas a total of 200,000 TB cases were reported in the United States in 2019, representing all 50 States and the District of Columbia, and up to 13,000,000 people in the United States are estimated to be living with latent TB infection;

Whereas 75 percent of States have reported an increase in the proportion of complex cases of TB in recent years such as homelessness, HIV infection, drug resistance, substance abuse, refugee status, and other factors;

Whereas the rate of TB disease in African Americans is 8 times higher than the rate of disease in White, non-Hispanic Americans, and significant disparities among other minorities in the United States, including Asian Americans, Hispanic Americans, and Native Americans and Alaska Natives, with approximately 86 percent of all reported TB cases in the United States in 2019 occurring in racial or ethnic minorities;

Whereas smoking (1) greatly increases the risks of contracting TB and infection recurrence; and

(2) impairs therapeutic efficacy;

Whereas diabetes is a key risk factor for TB, and people with diabetes are more likely to develop and succumb to TB;

Whereas bedaquiline is an antibiotic that became an MDR–TB treatment of choice for survival from approximately 50 percent to as much as 80 percent, and through a public-private partnership, the United States Agency for International Development (referred to in this preamble as “USAID”) provided approximately 105,000 treatments in 110 eligible countries from 2015 through 2019;

Whereas Bacillus Calmette–Guerin, a TB vaccine that is known as “BCG”, provides some protection to infants and young children against serious forms of childhood TB but has had little epidemiologic impact on controlling TB worldwide;

Whereas there is a critical need for new drugs, diagnostics, and vaccines for controlling the global TB epidemic;

Whereas, in September 2018, the United Nations held the first high-level meeting on TB in which 120 countries, including the United States, signed a political declaration committing to accelerating the TB response, including by increasing funding for TB control programs and research and development efforts;

Whereas the enactment of the Tom Lantos and Henry J. Hyde United States Global Leadership Against HIV/AIDS, Tuberculosis, and Malaria Reauthorization Act of 2008 (Public Law 110–293; 122 Stat. 218), and the Comprehensive Tuberculosis Elimination Act of 2008 (Public Law 110–392; 122 Stat. 4195) led to a historic United States commitment to support the global eradication of TB, including an effort to treat 4,500,000 patients and 90,000 MDR-TB patients between 2009 and 2013 and to provide additional treatment through coordinated multi-drug regimens.

Whereas USAID—
(1) provides technical assistance to 55 countries and implements bilateral programs in 23 high-burden TB countries that—
(A) build capacity; and
(B) support the expansion of state-of-the-art TB-related technologies;
(2) supports the development of new diagnostic and treatment tools; and
(3) reaffirms the commitment to strengthen the leadership role of the United States in, and underscores its global response to, the fight to end the tuberculosis epidemic.

SENEGAL RESOLUTION 138—URGING THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT TO EXEMPT CERTAIN TECHNICAL MEASURES USED TO DETECT CHILD SEXUAL EXPLOITATION FROM EUROPEAN UNION EPRIVACY DIRECTIVE

Mr. COTTON (for himself, Mr. BOOZMAN, and Ms. Murkowski) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations:

Whereas ensuring the safety of children online is a global issue that nations must address together;
Whereas the online trafficking of child sexual abuse material is a pervasive problem that is growing at dramatic rates;
Whereas crucial tools in detecting CSAM and grooming online and protecting children using online platforms from child predators are hashing, PhotoDNA, and anti-grooming technologies that are voluntarily used by electronic service providers (referred to in this preamble as “ESPs”) to detect, report, and remove CSAM;
Whereas the use of hashing, PhotoDNA, and anti-grooming technology by ESPs has generated millions of reports annually to the CyberTipline of the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children;
Whereas the CyberTipline is a global hotline for reports related to child sexual exploitation that was authorized by Congress in 1998;
Whereas in 2019, more than 69,000,000 images, videos, and files related to child sexual abuse were reported to the CyberTipline with more than 3,000,000 of these images, videos, and files related to an offender or child victim in the European Union (referred to in this preamble as “EU”);
Whereas in a Communication to the European Parliament, dated July 24, 2020, the European Commission noted, “The EU has become the largest host of child sexual abuse material globally (from more than half in 2016 to more than two thirds in 2019)”; and
Whereas in 2018, an EU Directive extended the scope of prohibitions on processing personal data in the electronic communications sector to cover interpersonal communications, such as messenger services and e-mail; whereas this EU Directive caused ESPs to lose the legal basis to use hashing, PhotoDNA, and anti-grooming technologies to detect and report CSAM images and online entertainment of children to the CyberTipline;
Whereas this EU Directive took effect on December 21, 2020, without any derogation to exempt the voluntary practice of using these technologies to detect and remove CSAM and enticement of children for sexual abuse; and
Whereas the prohibition on the use of hashing, PhotoDNA, and anti-grooming technologies will have dire consequences for children in Europe and globally;

That the Senate—
(1) finds that hashing, PhotoDNA, and anti-grooming technologies are essential in deterring child sexual exploitation and protecting children from child sexual exploitation online, including known and new CSAM, and grooming of children globally; and
(2) urges the European Parliament to enact legislation that amends the EU Directive to allow electronic service providers to continue their current voluntary activities of using hashing, PhotoDNA, and anti-grooming technologies for the purpose of detecting child sexual exploitation.

SENATE RESOLUTION 139—RECOGNIZING THE IMPORTANCE OF THE BLUEBERRY INDUSTRY TO THE UNITED STATES AND DESIGNATING JULY 2021 AS “NATIONAL BLUEBERRY MONTH”

Ms. STABENOW (for herself, Mr. WARNOCK, Mr. PETERS, Mr. BOOKER, Mr. MENENDEZ, Ms. COLLINS, Ms. CANTWELL, Mr. KING, Mr. MERKLEY, Mrs. MURRAY, and Mr. WYDEN) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

Whereas blueberries are a native North American fruit, first managed and harvested as wild blueberries by the native Wabanaki; whereas wild blueberries continue to be managed and harvested in Maine by farmers including the Wabanaki, as a native, naturally occurring crop; whereas the pioneering work conducted in New Jersey in the early 1900s by Elizabeth White and Dr. Frederick Coville, a botanist at the Department of Agriculture, to domesticate wild lowbush blueberries resulted in the development of the hybrid for cultivated highbush blueberries; whereas because of these early efforts, highbush blueberries are large, sweet, juicy berries that can be commercially produced and shipped; whereas wild blueberries—
(1) are small and sweet; and
(2) are not planted, but still grow and are harvested where they have naturally occurred for thousands of years; whereas the blueberry industry in the United States is an important sector of...
United States agriculture with an annual economic impact of $470,000,000; Whereas highbush and wild blueberries have a total harvested area estimated at more than 150,000 acres and are produced in 48 States by nearly 13,185 farms; Whereas blueberry production in the United States has continually increased, with the blueberry industry becoming a major staple of the 21st century, to reach a harvest of 730,000,000 pounds in 2020; Whereas blueberries are low in fat and a source of fiber, vitamins, and minerals; Whereas blueberries are being studied to examine the role the berries may play in promoting good health in areas such as cardiovascular health, brain health, exercise, insulin response, and gut health; and Whereas blueberries are harvested in the United States from March through early September, with the harvest reaching its peak in July; Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) designates July 2021 as ‘‘National Blueberry Month’’;
(2) recognizes the contributions of blueberry growers in the United States and their families; and
(3) recognizes that purchasing blueberries grown in the United States supports farmers, jobs, communities, and the economy of the United States.

SENATE RESOLUTION 140—CONDEMNING THE HORRIFIC SHOOTINGS IN ATLANTA, GEORGIA, ON MARCH 16, 2021, AND REAFFIRMING THE COMMITMENT OF THE SENATE TO COMBATTING HATE, BIGOTRY, AND VIOLENCE AGAINST THE ASIAN-AMERICAN AND PACIFIC ISLANDER COMMUNITY

Mr. WARNOCK (for himself, Mr. DUCKWORTH, Mr. MARKES, Mr. BLUMENTHAL, Mr. CASEY, Mr. WYDEN, Mr. CARPER, Mr. VAN HOLLEN, Ms. HIRONO, Mr. WHITEHOUSE, Mr. SCHATZ, Mr. DURBIN, Mr. REED, Mr. SANDERS, Mr. Kaine, Mrs. FEINSTEIN, Ms. CANTWELL, Mr. MURPHY, Mr. BROWN, Mr. PADTIE, Mr. URMA, Mr. HASSAN, Mr. COONS, Mr. MENENDEZ, Mr. BOOKER, Ms. CORTEZ MASTO, Ms. BALDWIN, Ms. KLUBUCHAR, Ms. WARREN, Ms. ROSEN, Mr. MERKLEY, and Mr. OSWALD) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary;

S. RES. 140

Whereas, on March 16, 2021, a shooter murdered 8 people and injured 1 in the Atlanta, Georgia region in 3 separate shootings that took place at Asian-owned spas;
Whereas the people of the United States mourn the 8 innocent lives lost—7 of whom were women, 6 of whom were women of Asian descent, and several of whom were immigrants;
Whereas the victims included Xioajie “Emily” Tan, Daoyu Feng, Delaina Ashley Yaun, Paul Andre Michels, Yong Ae Yue, Soon Chung Junior School teacher and hardworking single mother who dedicated her life to raising her 5 sons; Whereas 69-year-old Suncha Kim was a wife, mother, and grandmother who enjoyed life dancing and had been married for more than 50 years; Whereas the Georgia shootings came in the midst of an alarming surge in anti-Asian hate crimes and incidents that have caused many Asian Americans across the United States to feel unsafe and isolated; Whereas the use of anti-Asian terminology and rhetoric to refer to COVID-19, such as the “Chinese virus”, “Wuhan virus”, and “Kung flu” perpetuates anti-Asian stigma that has resulted in Asian Americans being harassed, assaulted, and scapegoated for the COVID-19 pandemic; Whereas, in 2020, anti-Asian hate crimes increased by nearly 150 percent in major cities throughout the United States; Whereas, according to a recent report by Stop AAPI Hate, there were nearly 3,800 reported cases of anti-Asian discrimination related to COVID-19 between March 19, 2020 and February 23, 2021; Whereas 68 percent of reported incidents of anti-Asian hate targeted Asian-American women, a population that has been historically marginalized, sexualized, and fetishized; Whereas, on March 19, 2021, President Joe Biden and Vice President Kamala Harris met with leaders of the Asian-American community and reaffirmed their strong commitment to condemning and combating racism, xenophobia, and violence targeting the Asian-American community; and Whereas the people of the United States will always remember the victims of these shootings and stand in solidarity with those affected by this senseless tragedy: Now, therefore, be it

(1) condemns the heinous and inexcusable acts of gun violence that led to the tragic loss of 8 lives in Georgia on March 16, 2021;
(2) condemns any racism and sexism in the choice of the shooter to target Asian American-owned businesses and murder 6 women of Asian descent;
(3) honors the memory of the victims, offers heartfelt condolences to the families of the victims, and recognizes that the healing process will be long and difficult for the Asian American and Pacific Islander community and all communities impacted by this tragedy; and
(4) reaffirms the commitment of the United States Federal Government to combating hate, bigotry, and violence against Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders and to preventing tragedies like this from ever happening again.

SENATE RESOLUTION 141—RECOGNIZING THE CRITICAL IMPORTANCE OF ACCESS TO RELIABLE, CLEAN DRINKING WATER FOR NATIVE AMERICANS AND ALASKA NATIVES AND CONFIRMING THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT’S OBLIGATION TO ENSURE SUCH WATER ACCESS

Mr. BENNET (for himself, Mr. WYDEN, Ms. WARREN, Mrs. MURRAY, Mr. MERKLEY, Ms. CANTWELL, Mr. HINCH, Mr. KELLY, Mr. BOOKER, Mr. Tester, and Mr. SCHATZ) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs:

S. Res. 141

Whereas access to reliable, clean drinking water is an essential human need that is critical to the public health, well-being, educational attainment, and economic development of all communities in the United States;
Whereas many countries, along with the United Nations, have recognized the urgency of water access by passing laws or resolutions regarding the human right to water, including recognitions of these needs among indigenous peoples and establishing aggressive targets for achieving universal access to this basic service;
Whereas access to reliable, clean drinking water has long been a significant problem in many Tribal communities and in many Alaskan Native Villages, such that nearly half of all Native American households still do not have access to reliable water sources, clean drinking water, and are significantly more likely than White households to lack indoor plumbing;
Whereas reliable, clean drinking water may be unavailable to these households for a number of reasons, including because
(1) there is no piped water system connecting to the house;
(2) the water available to the household does not meet minimum protective standards;
(3) the water infrastructure is deteriorating or insufficient; and
(4) Indian Tribes face challenges in supporting the operation and maintenance needs of existing water infrastructure;
Whereas Federal programs administered through the Indian Health Service of the Department of Health and Human Services, the Environmental Protection Agency, and other Federal and State agencies have been unsuccessful in developing the infrastructure necessary to provide reliable, clean drinking water for some Tribal communities;
Whereas many Indian Tribes have significant unresolved claims for Federally reserved water rights, many of which have been unresolved for decades and which may not be resolved for many years to come, due in part to the complex and significant issues typically involved in water rights adjudications of Tribal communities;
Whereas the development of water infrastructure in Tribal communities has frequently been conditioned on the settlement of such Tribal reserved water rights, and has been prevented or delayed by continuing uncertainty over the status of Tribal water rights, by the years-long process of Tribal water rights settlements, or by continued conflict over the quantification of Tribal reserved water rights in State water rights adjudications;
Whereas the quantity of water that would be required to supply reliable, clean drinking water to provide for the basic needs of the...

residents of Tribal communities and in Alaskan Native Villages are typically only a small fraction of the total quantity of Tribal reserved water rights;

Whereas, the trust responsibility of the Federal Government to Tribal nations requires the Federal Government to ensure the survival and welfare of Indian Tribes and people, and the failure to provide basic water service cannot be reconciled with this trust responsibility;

Whereas the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act (25 U.S.C. 5301 et seq.) affirmed the trust responsibility of the Federal Government to support Tribal self-governance, self-determination, and, these goals cannot be fully realized without addressing inequities such as ensuring access to reliable, clean drinking water for every Tribal community;

Whereas the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic has had a disproportionate impact on Native American people due to factors including per capita economic disadvantages enjoyed by Tribal communities and in Alaskan Native Villages, racial inequity, lack of access to adequate health care, and lack of public health infrastructure, including access to running water; and

Whereas the COVID-19 pandemic has provided a stark reminder that access to reliable, clean drinking water to Tribal and Alaskan Native Villages is an essential human need, is critical to the health, well-being, and economic development of people living on such communities, and the Federal Government has a legal obligation to maintaining the public health of the entire United States;

Whereas the COVID-19 pandemic is due in part to the domestic requirements of Tribal members and Tribal communities is an inherent component of the Federal trust responsibility to Indian Tribes; and

(2) the Senate—

(A) calls upon the Federal Executive Branch to employ a "whole of government" approach to ensure the provision of reliable, clean drinking water to households in Tribal communities and in Alaskan Native Villages and to create an interagency task force consisting of high-level representatives from departments and agencies with authority to provide water infrastructure that will work to remove barriers, optimize funding, and make tangible progress in meeting this objective and report annually to Congress on such progress; and

(B) calls upon the Federal Executive Branch to work closely with Tribal and local jurisdictions to expedite the planning, design, development, and operation of such infrastructure from Tribal communities and in Alaskan Native Villages, nor should the provision of such basic human services be used to leverage the resolution of Tribal reserved water rights and adjudications;

Whereas subsequent emergency funding provisions, the American Rescue Plan, and the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act provide substantial funding to support the development of Tribal water infrastructure and create a pathway for Tribal communities to achieve reliable, clean drinking water.

Whereas the Governments and people of the United States and Japan share a commitment to free and open markets, high standards for the free flow of commerce and investment, the establishment of a transparent architecture for regional and global trade and development;

Whereas the United States and Japan are to be active partners in the new space race, bilateral partnerships, cooperation with like-minded countries, multilateral mechanisms including the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) forum, and enhanced private-sector engagement to assist countries in the Indo-Pacific and across the globe to catalyze investment in infrastructure, structure, and energy, and the digital economy to promote connectivity and economic growth;

Whereas the United States-Japan economic cooperation has also led to close collaboration in areas such as information technology and promoted shared values in research, including on COVID-19 response, the digital economy, national security, cybersecurity, artificial intelligence, space exploration, biosciences, collaborative 5G networks, and interoperable approaches for Open RAN (radio access network) technologies.

Whereas, following a year of delay due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Japan will host the Olympic and Paralympic Games this summer, bringing together athletes from around the world in a celebration of the resilience of the human spirit;

Whereas a robust and effective trilateral relationship between and among the United States, the ROK, and Japan is critical for joint security and interests in defending freedom and democracy, upholding human rights, championing women’s empowerment, combating climate change, promoting regional and global peace, security, and the rule of law in the Indo-Pacific and across the globe;

Whereas the United States and Japan are essential for ensuring maritime security and freedom of navigation, commerce, and overflight in the waters of the East China Sea;

Whereas the United States invests significant military resources and capabilities to meet the Alliance’s collective security challenges and through the U.S.-Japan Host Nation Support framework, the Government of Japan shares the costs of stationing United States forces in Japan; and

Whereas the United States and Japan, together with Australia and India, form a

(1) welcomes Prime Minister Yoshihide Suga to the United States;
(2) reaffirms the importance of the United States-Japan alliance for maintaining peace and security in the Indo-Pacific region and beyond; and
(3) supports strong cooperation between the United States and Japan in safeguarding maritime security and ensuring freedom of navigation, commerce, and overflight in the East and South China Seas;
(4) supports strong cooperation between the United States and Japan in safeguarding maritime security and ensuring freedom of navigation, commerce, and overflight in the East and South China Seas;
(5) affirms that the Senkaku Islands fall within the scope of Article V of the U.S.-Japan Treaty of Mutual Cooperation and Security, and remain opposed to any unilateral attempts to change the status quo in the East China Sea or undermine Japan's administration of these islands;
(6) acknowledges Japan's critical role as the sole East Asian member of the Quad, which commits to a shared vision for a free and inclusive Indo-Pacific region;
(7) stands in solidarity with Japan as it seeks justice and accountability for its abductees, and pledges the full support of the United States for Japan in seeking to resolve this issue;
(8) recognizes the support of the Government of Japan in addressing global challenges, including COVID-19 challenges, that threaten the peace and safety of people everywhere;

(11) supports deepening the economic and trade ties between the United States and Japan, including the empowerment of women, which is vital for the prosperity of both our nations, the Indo-Pacific region, and the world; and
(12) calls for continued cooperation between the Governments of the United States and Japan in the promotion of human rights.

SENATE RESOLUTION 143—TO HONOR AND RECOGNIZE THE PATRIOTISM AND SERVICE TO THE UNITED STATES PROVIDED BY VETERANS SERVICE ORGANIZATIONS DURING THE COVID-19 PANDEMIC

Ms. HASSAN (for herself, Mr. TILLIS, Ms. CARPER, Mr. CRAMER, Mr. BLUMENTHAL, Mr. CASSIDY, Mr. SANDERS, Mr. BOOZMAN, Mrs. BLACKBURN, Ms. HIRONO, Mr. BROWN, and Mr. TUBERVILLE) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Veterans' Affairs:

Whereas, throughout the United States, the coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic (referred to in this preamble as the "pandemic") has devastated veterans and their families;
Whereas the Department of Veterans Affairs (referred to in this preamble as the "VA") has tested or treated over 230,000 cases of COVID-19 and has recorded over 10,000 known deaths caused by COVID-19;
Whereas over 1,000,000 veterans lost their jobs because of the pandemic, with veteran unemployment reaching nearly 12 percent in April 2020;
Whereas many veterans have experienced feelings of isolation and loneliness caused by the public health restrictions needed to curb the spread of COVID-19;
Whereas, since their inception, Veterans Service Organizations (referred to in this preamble as "VSOs") have always supported and advocated on behalf of members of the Armed Forces, veterans, and their families;
Whereas VSOs have adapted to the unique challenges posed by the pandemic in order to continue to support veterans and advocate for the veteran community;
Whereas members of VSOs have fostered a sense of connection and community amid the pandemic by—
(1) calling, emailing, or writing to fellow veterans;
(2) delivering food and groceries to fellow veterans and their families; and
(3) hosting virtual and socially distanced events;
Whereas members of VSOs have conducted thousands of peer-wellness checks to combat the ongoing mental health crisis that has been exacerbated by the pandemic;
Whereas VSOs have continued to help veterans access healthcare during the pandemic by—
(1) assisting veterans with enrollment in VA healthcare plans;
(2) enabling access to telehealth; and
(3) providing thousands of rides to medical appointments;
Whereas VSOs have helped veterans find employment by—
(1) connecting veterans to employers;
(2) hosting virtual job fairs; and
(3) providing online job search resources;
Whereas representatives of VSOs have helped hundreds of thousands of veterans navigate a VA benefits claims process that has been changed by the pandemic;
Whereas VSOs are playing an essential role in encouraging all veterans to get vaccinated; and
Whereas members of VSOs are volunteering at vaccination sites across the United States and Japan, helping to vaccinate more than 10,000 known deaths caused by COVID-19; and
(1) calls for continued cooperation between the Governments of the United States and Japan in the promotion of human rights.

Whereas, the American Association of Poison Control Centers (referred to in this preamble as the "AAPCC") works with the 55 poison control centers in the United States to track—
Whereas, in 2019, as reported to the AAPCC, 92 percent of poison exposures reported to local poison control centers occurred in the home;
Whereas, in 2019, as reported to the AAPCC, 92 percent of poison exposures reported to local poison control centers occurred in the home;
Whereas local poison control centers save the people of the United States $1,800,000,000 in medical costs annually;
Whereas the AAPCC and poison control centers partner with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the Food and Drug Administration, and State, local, Tribal, and territorial health departments to monitor occurrences of environmental, biological, and emerging threats in communities across the United States, including food poisoning, bacterial and viral outbreaks, and other illnesses;
Whereas, in the United States, more than 300 children 19 years of age and younger are treated in emergency departments for poisoning every day, and more than 130 children 19 years of age and younger die as a result of being poisoned each year;
Whereas in 2019, more than 114,000 children 19 years of age and younger were treated in an emergency room due to unintended pediatric poisoning, and more than 90 percent of those incidents occurred in the home, most often with blood pressure medications, acet-aaminophen, laundry packets, bleach, or sedatives or anti-anxiety medication;
Whereas there was a 444 percent increase in pediatric magnet ingestion cases reported to United States poison control centers from 2018 to 2019 based on an analysis of the National Poison Data System (NPDS), demonstrating the significant risk of injury from high-powered magnet ingestions;
Whereas 70,237 cases of death due to drug overdose were reported in the United States in 2017, and the majority of those deaths approximately 68 percent, involved an opioid;
Whereas, in 2019, the most common medications that adults called the poison help line about were prescription and non-prescription pain relievers, household cleaning substances, cosmetics and personal care prodtucts, and antidepressants;
Whereas pain medications lead the list of the most common substances implicated in adult poison exposures, and are the single most frequent cause of pediatric fatalities reported to the AAPCC;
Whereas poison control centers issue guidance and provide support to individuals, including individuals who experience medication and dosing errors;
Whereas more than 60 percent of calls to the poison help line are from individuals 19 years of age or older, with more than half of those calls involving patients older than 50 years of age, and a common reason for those calls are misuses, including questions regarding drug interactions, incorrect dosing route, timing of doses, and double doses;
Whereas normal, curious children younger than 6 years of age are in stages of growth and development in which they are constantly exploring and investigating the world around them, and are often unable to read or recognize warning labels;
Whereas the AAPCC engages in community outreach by educating the public on poison safety and poisoning prevention, and provides educational resources, materials, and guidelines to educate the public on poisoning prevention;
Whereas individuals can reach a poison control center from anywhere in the United States by calling the poison help line at 1-800-222-1222;
Whereas, despite regulations of the Consumer Product Safety Commission requiring that a child-resistant package be designed or constructed to be significantly difficult for children under 5 years of age to open, or obtain a harmful amount of the contents, within a reasonable time, children can still open child-resistant packages; and
Whereas during National Poison Prevention

(B) health care providers to practice and promote poison safety and poisoning preven-

SENATE RESOLUTION 145—DESIGN-ATING THE FIRST WEEK OF APRIL 2021 AS “NATIONAL AS-BESTOS AWARENESS WEEK”
Mr. TESTER (for himself, Mr.
MERKLEY, Mr. WHITEHOUSE, Mr.
DAINES, Mr. CARPER, and Mr. DURBIN)
Mr. TESTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to introduce the Senate resolution which is attached to the name of Mr. MERKLEY.
Mr. Speaker, the resolution is as follows:
Whereas asbestos fibers are invisible and cannot be smelled or tasted;
Whereas the inhalation of airborne asbestos fibers can cause significant damage;
Whereas asbestos fibers can cause cancer (such as mesothelioma), asbestosis, and other health problems;
Whereas symptoms of asbestos-related dis-es can take between 10 and 50 years to present themselves;
Whereas the projected life expectancy for an individual diagnosed with mesothelioma is between 6 and 24 months;
Whereas little is known about late-stage treatment of asbestos-related diseases, and there is no cure for those diseases;

Whereas early detection of asbestos-related diseases may give some patients increased treatment options and may improve the prognoses of those patients;
Whereas, although the consumption of asbestos within the United States has been substantially reduced, the United States continues to consume tons of the fibrous mineral each year for use in certain prodts;”

Whereas thousands of people in the United States have died from asbestos-related dis-eses and thousands more die every year from those diseases;
Whereas in certain individuals continue to be exposed to asbestos, safety measures relating to the prevention of asbestos exposure have significantly reduced the incidence of asbestos-related diseases and can further reduce the incidence of those diseases;
Whereas thousands of workers in the United States face significant asbestos exposure, which has been a cause of occupational cancer;
Whereas a significant percentage of victims of asbestos-related diseases were exposed to asbestos on naval ships and in shipyards;
Whereas asbestos was used in the construction of a significant number of office buildings in the United States before 1978;
Whereas people in the small community of Libby, Montana, suffer from asbestos-related diseases, including mesothelioma, at a sigificantly higher rate than individuals in the United States as a whole; and Whereas the designation of a “National Asbestos Awareness Week” serves to raise public awareness about the prevalence of asbestos-related diseases and the dangers of asbestos exposure; Now, therefore, be it
Resolved, That the Senate—
(1) designates the first week of April 2021 as “National Asbestos Awareness Week”;
(2) expresses gratitude for the people who operate or support poison control centers in their local communities;
(3) expresses support for frontline workers supporting poison prevention during the COVID-19 pandemic;
(4) supports efforts and resources to provide poison prevention guidance or emergency assistance in response to poisonings; and
(5) encourages—
(A) that the people of the United States to educate their communities and families about poison safety and poisoning prevention; and
(B) health care providers to practice and promote poison safety and poisoning prevention.

SENATE RESOLUTION 146—DESIG-NATING APRIL 2021 AS “SECOND CHANCE MONTH”
Mr. PORTMAN (for himself and Ms.
KLOUTCHAR) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:
S. Res. 146
Whereas every individual is endowed with human dignity and value;
Whereas redemption and second chances are values of the United States;
Whereas millions of citizens of the United States have a criminal record;
Whereas hundreds of thousands of individuals return to their communities from Federal and State prisons every year;
Whereas individuals returning from Federal and State prisons have paid their debt for committing crimes but still face significant legal and societal barriers (referred to in this preamble as ‘‘collateral consequences’’);

Whereas collateral consequences for an individual returning from a Federal or State prison are often mandatory and take effect automatically; regardless of
(1) whether there is a nexus between the crime and public safety;
(2) the seriousness of the crime;
(3) the time that has passed since the individual committed the crime; or
(4) the efforts of the individual to make amends or earn back the trust of the public;
Whereas, for individuals returning to their communities from Federal and State prisses, the most significant predictor of successful reentry and has been shown to reduce futer legal involvement as well as the most important predictor of successful reentry;
Whereas the designation of April 2021 as a ‘‘Second Chance Month’’ will raise public awareness about the importance of second chances for individuals returning from Federal and State prisons;
Whereas an individual with a criminal record often has lower educational attainment than the general population and has significant difficulty acquiring admission to, and funding for, educational programs compared to the general population;
Whereas an individual who has been convicted of certain crimes is often barred from receiving the financial aid necessary to acquire additional skills and knowledge;
Whereas an individual with a criminal record—
(1) faces collateral consequences in securing a place to live; and
(2) is often barred from seeking access to public housing;
Whereas collateral consequences prevent millions of individuals in the United States from contributing fully to their families and communities;
Whereas collateral consequences can contribute to recidivism, which increases crime and victimization and decreases public safety;
Whereas collateral consequences have particularly impacted underserved communities of color and community rates of employment, housing stability, and recidivism;
Whereas the inability to find gainful employment and other collateral consequences of conviction inhibit the economic mobility of an individual with a criminal record, which can negatively impact the well-being of the children and families of the individual for generations;
Whereas COVID-19 pandemic and economic and public health consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic have made the pursuit of gainful employment and access to community supports more daunting for individuals with a criminal record;
Whereas the bipartisan First Step Act of 2018 (Public Law 115–391; 132 Stat. 5194) was signed into law on December 21, 2018, to increase opportunities for individuals incarcerated in Federal prisons to participate in meaningful recidivism reduction programs and programs for their second chance;
Whereas the programs authorized by the Second Chance Act of 2007 (Public Law 110–199; 122 Stat. 657)—
(1) have provided reentry services to more than 164,000 individuals in 49 States and the District of Columbia since the date of enactment of the Act; and
(2) were reauthorized by the First Step Act of 2018 (Public Law 115–391; 132 Stat. 5194);
Whereas the anniversary of the death of Charles Colson, who used his second chance following his incarceration for a Watergate-related crime to found Prison Fellowship, the largest program in the United States that provides outreach to prisoners, former prisoners, and their families, falls on April 21; and
Whereas the designation of April as “Second Chance Month” may contribute to—
(1) increased public awareness about—
(A) the impact of collateral consequences; and
(B) the need for closure for individuals with a criminal record who have paid their debt; and
(2) opportunities for individuals, employers, congregations, and communities to extend second chances to those individuals: Now, therefore, be it
Resolved, That the Senate—
(1) designates April 2021 as “Second Chance Month”;
(2) honors the work of communities, government institutions, nonprofit organizations, congregations, employers, and individuals to remove unnecessary legal and societal barriers that prevent individuals with criminal records from becoming productive members of society; and
(3) calls upon the people of the United States to observe “Second Chance Month” through actions and programs that—
(A) promote awareness of those unnecessary barriers and
(B) provide closure for individuals with a criminal record who have paid their debt.

SENATE RESOLUTION 147—RECOGNIZING THE NATIONAL DEBT AS A THREAT TO NATIONAL SECURITY
Mr. BRAUN (for himself, Mr. SCOTT of Florida, and Ms. ERNST) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Finance:

S. Res. 147
Whereas, in September 2020, the total public debt outstanding was more than $25,000,000,000,000, resulting in a total interest expense of more than $717,000,000,000 for fiscal year 2020;
Whereas, in September 2019, the total public debt as a percentage of gross domestic product was about 100 percent;
Whereas leaders of the Congressional Budget Office and the Government Accountability Office have testified that—
(1) the level of the public debt is unsustainable; and
(2) Congress must undertake extensive fiscal consolidation to combat that growth;
Whereas the last Federal budget surplus occurred in 2001;
Whereas, in fiscal year 2020, Federal tax receipts exceeded Federal outlays; Federal tax receipts totaled $6,652,000,000,000, leaving the Federal Government with a 1-year deficit of $3,132,000,000,000;
Whereas, since the last Federal budget surplus occurred in 2001, Congress—
(1) has failed to maintain a fiscally responsible budget; and
(2) has had to raise the debt ceiling repetitively;

Whereas, the Social Security and Medicare Boards of Trustees project that the Disability Insurance and Survivors Insurance Trust Funds will be depleted in 2026 and 2031, respectively;
Whereas heavy indebtedness increases the exposure of the Federal Government to interest rate risks;
Whereas the credit rating of the United States was reduced by Standard and Poor’s from AAA to AA+ on August 5, 2011, and has remained at that level ever since;

Whereas China and the European Union are developing alternative payment systems to weaken the dominant position of the United States dollar as a reserve currency;
Whereas rapidly increasing interest rates will squeeze all policy priorities of the United States, including defense policy and foreign policy priorities;
Whereas the National Security Strategy of the United States, as of the date of adoption of this resolution, notes the need to reduce the national debt through fiscal responsibility;
Whereas, on April 12, 2018, former Secretary of Defense James Mattis warned that “any Nation that can’t keep its fiscal house in order eventually cannot maintain its military power.”;
Whereas, on March 6, 2018, Director of National Intelligence Dan Coats warned: “Our continued plunge into debt is unsustainable and represents a dire future threat to our economy and to our national security”;
Whereas, on November 15, 2017, former Secretaries of Defense LeonPanetta, Ash Carter, and Chuck Hagel warned in the debt will, in the absence of a comprehensive budget that addresses both entitlements and revenues, force even deeper reductions in our national security assets”;
Whereas, on September 22, 2011, former Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff Michael Mullen warned: “I believe the single, biggest threat to our national security is debt.”; Now, therefore, be it
Resolved, That the Senate—
(1) recognizes that the national debt is a threat to the national security of the United States;
(2) realizes that persistent, structural deficits are unsustainable, irresponsible, and dangerous; and
(3) commits to addressing the looming fiscal crisis faced by the United States.

The legislative clerk read the nomination of Adewale O. Adeyemo, of California, to be Deputy Secretary of the Treasury.

Thereupon, the Senate proceeded to consider the nomination.

NOMINATION OF ADEWALE O. ADEYEMO

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President, the Senate is debating the nomination of Wally Adeyemo to serve as the next Deputy Treasury Secretary. I expect his nomination is going to pass with a big, bipartisan margin, but I want to take a few minutes to lay out a few reasons why every Senator ought to support this nominee.

First, you hear a lot these days about how Members of the Senate are looking for unity. Three weeks ago, the Finance Committee approved the Adeyemo nomination unanimously by voice vote, and you can’t get more unified than that.

That unanimous vote followed an excellent hearing, in which Mr. Adeyemo demonstrated his command of all the various issues the Treasury is confronting today. A severe jobs crisis. Worsening inequality. A dangerous shortage of domestic manufacturing in critical areas of our economy. Intense economic competition with China, including job rip-offs and trade cheating that have undermined American workers for too long. And many other big challenges.

Members understand that there will be policy disagreements with the other party, but Mr. Adeyemo made it clear that he wants to work on a bipartisan basis to confront these challenges. Members take him seriously on that and trust him because he has done it before at the Treasury as a member of the Obama administration.

Second, the pandemic economic crisis is far from over, and it is essential that the Treasury Department has its leadership team in place. COVID cases and death rates are still tragically high. Jobless claims are still incredibly high—they spent an entire year above the previous peaks. So millions of families in Oregon and around the country are still walking an economic tightrope, and that is one of the key reasons why Senate Democrats passed the American Rescue Plan earlier this month.

The Treasury is right at the center of the enormous effort to implement that legislation. After months of challenging work. Getting relief payments out to tens of millions of Americans in a timely way. Saving millions of jobs at the State and local level, particularly teachers, firefighters and municipal workers. Launching a landmark expansion and reindexation of the child tax credit to cut child poverty in half. This is difficult work. It requires the kind of strong and committed leadership that Wally Adeyemo will bring to the Treasury Department.

I am also looking forward to working with him on the issue of shell companies. Late last year Congress passed landmark legislation to end the use of anonymous shell companies in the United States. Several members of the Finance Committee had spent years working to get that legislation passed. Now that it has become law, it is up to the Treasury Department to write strong rules and implement it. This is going to take a long time coming. So I am very much looking forward to working with Mr. Adeyemo once he is confirmed. He is as highly qualified as they come. He is also a history-making nominee because he will be the first African American Deputy Treasury Secretary.

I support his nomination 100 percent. He got 100 percent of the Finance Committee’s support a few weeks ago. I believe he will have strong bipartisan support from the Senate, and I urge all Members to vote to confirm this nomination.

Mr. SCOTT of Florida. Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the nomination of Wally Adeyemo for Deputy Secretary of the Treasury.

The U.S. Treasury Department plays a significant part in enforcing American foreign policy through economic sanctions. We know that sanctions work and that the strong application of sanctions, including Communist China, Iran, North Korea, Cuba, Venezuela, and Nicaragua, are essential to holding the brutal dictators and their enablers who hold power in these nations accountable.

Communist China is the biggest threat our Nation faces. Communist China is committing a genocide against the Uyghurs, strippingHong Kongers of their basic rights, and continues to threaten to take Taiwan by force. I am concerned that Mr. Adeyemo does not understand the risk Communist China poses to our national and economic security and to our allies. Communist China is not a strategic partner, where it is adversary and must be treated as such. Any U.S. official who thinks that Communist China can play a positive role in the world is mistaken.

I also also concerned that Mr. Adeyemo will not be strong when standing up to Castro’s Communist regime in Cuba. I cannot support anyone who will back a return to the failed Obama-Biden appeasement policies, which did nothing to help the Cuban people and allowed Havana to extend its reach and expand its control, giving power to other ruthless dictatorships in Latin America.

Currently, our Nation is on track to reach $30 trillion in debt. We have to get serious about Federal spending and the impacts it will have on our children and grandchildren. President Biden’s massive spending policies are already causing the cost of living in America to rise. I cannot support candidates who think the solution to America’s economic woes is more taxes and more regulations, not more individual opportunity. That is wrong and will only send us further into debt and our families further into despair. We need to focus on growing the economy and growing jobs in order to preserve the American dream.

For all these reasons, I oppose Mr. Adeyemo’s nomination and urge my colleagues to do the same.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is, Will the Senate advise and consent to the Adeyemo nomination? The nomination was confirmed.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The motion to reconsider is considered made and laid upon the table, and the President will be immediately notified of the Senate’s action.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Mississippi.

ALEXEI NAVALNY

Mr. WICKER. Madam President, I rise this afternoon to call attention to a courageous Russian hero who is in danger even as I speak. He is a man who has consistently stood up to Vladimir Putin and his thuggish cronies, on numerous occasions, placed his own life in jeopardy to bring the truth to light. The lawless thugs in the Kremlin often avoid saying his name in public, but here on the Senate floor, I am proud to stand in solidarity with Alexei Navalny.

It was just last August that Alexei Navalny, Russia’s foremost opposition leader, was poisoned with a deadly nerve agent. Millions of us remember seeing the video of his being stricken on an airplane and hearing his painful cries, the crew members unsure how to soothe his pain. Thanks to the quick diplomatic work of our friends in Germany, Mr. Navalny was evacuated to Berlin, where he received expert medical attention and, against all odds, recovered from this poisoning.

An ordinary man would have stayed safe and very far away from the Kremlin, but Alexei Navalny is no ordinary man. He is a Russian patriot who envisions a different kind of Russia, one where citizens have a say in government, where freedom blooms, and where the President does not siphon away funds intended for hospitals in order to build secret palaces or to enrich members of his kleptocracy.

So, 3 months ago, Mr. Navalny returned to Russia, knowing full well the dangers he would face. Immediately upon his arrival, he was arrested at the airport for a parole violation, which resulted from his hospitalization, which resulted from his poisoning. He now sits in one of the most notorious penal colonies in Russia, known for its psychological torture. He has been deemed a flight risk and is awakened eight times a night under the guise of monitoring his health. His lawyers were recently prevented from seeing him. Reports are that he is suffering from severe back pain and other health problems.
concerns and has received inadequate medical care.

This is a familiar sounding story, but one thing is clear: The Russian dictatorship is terrified of Alexei Navalny. He is a threat to them because he has exposed their unbridled corruption and urged the world to demand that the government respect their rights. Because of that, Alexei Navalny's life is in danger at this very moment.

The tens of thousands of demonstrators who turned out across Russia to support this called opposition leader send an unmistakable message to the Kremlin: You cannot suppress the voice of the people indefinitely.

Freedom-loving Americans and freedom-loving people around the world are, today, crying out for justice for Alexei Navalny. He endures the suffering of many before him—in Russia, people like Sergei Magnitsky and Boris Nemtsov and, abroad, people like Nelson Mandela and Mahatma Gandhi—whose public movements did not rot while they were in prison but, instead, helped to bring down oppressive governments.

At this point, I yield to the Senator from Colorado for a brief intervention before I turn this over with a thought or two.

Mr. BENNET. Madam President, I rise on behalf of Senator CARDIN, who is a Democrat from the State of Maryland and an original cosponsor of this bill with Senator WICKER, to say what he would have said if he had been here today, which is that Alexei Navalny is a Russian patriot, that he is a prisoner of conscience, and that we need to stand up to Russia's human rights violations.

Thank you.

Mr. WICKER. In reclaiming my time, I appreciate the work of my friend Senator CARDIN.

Senators Coons from Delaware was also here, but, unfortunately, he had to leave.

They also wanted to make it clear that, on a bipartisan basis, on both sides of the aisle, the U.S. Senate stands for freedom-loving people in Russia and for their spokesman, Alexei Navalny. We intend to shine the light with public opinion on the actions of the Russian kleptocracy and dictatorship with regard to prisoners and patriots like Alexei Navalny.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Ohio.

CONFIRMATION OF ADEWALE O. ADEYEMO

Mr. BROWN. Madam President, before we hear from Senator BOOKER and Senator BENNET and Senator WARNOCK on one of the best things this Senate has done in my career, that being the extension of the child tax credit and the earned income tax credit, I just want to say a few words about someone we just voted on at the Department of the Treasury who is so, so important, Adewale Adeyemo, who will be Janet Yellen's—one exemplary Treasury Secretary—Chief of Staff. He is a terrific public servant.

Senator Cortez Mastro, the Presiding Officer, and I were talking a few minutes ago about the importance of the Treasury Department in so many things, from the child tax credit, to the expansion bill, to so many things that we do that matter—getting the $1,400 checks out and making sure our tax system is fair.

Senator BENNET and I serve together with Senator Cortez Mastro and others on the Committee on Finance. What that means and what we are trying to do on that committee is to take away the 50-percent-off coupon from corporations that shut down production in Reno or in Boulder or in Cleveland or in Newark and move overseas. They get, essentially, a 50-percent-off coupon on their taxes. We need to close those loopholes. We need a Treasury Secretary, and we need Adewale Adeyemo, who will make a huge difference in our work there.

So I thank Senator SCHUMER and those on both sides of the aisle for finally confirming him today and getting him to work.

I yield to Senator BENNET, who, I think, is going to start or, maybe, Senator BOOKER.

Less than 2 weeks ago, President Biden signed the American Rescue Plan into law. He ushered in some of the most transformative economic policies to come out of Washington in generations.

By expanding access to and eligibility for the child tax credit and the earned income tax credit, the American Rescue Plan is going to lift 10 million kids above or closer to the poverty line and put money in the pockets of 17 million American workers across the country.

I want to start out by noting that both of those are high-income and middle-income families and workers potentially qualify for these credits, and they will be issued periodically via check and direct deposit. American workers should know this was a profound change that will benefit you.

American workers also have to know that they won't have to wait until next year. You won't have to start to see advanced payments of these credits 6, 7, 8 months down—you will see them as early as July. And because of the changes that we made, if you didn't previously qualify because you didn't have a high enough income, you could be eligible now.

I am so proud to be here today alongside Senator BROWN, Senator BENNET, Senator WARNOCK, the Presiding Officer, who are in large part responsible for this powerful lifeline to the American people and, critically, for our children.

Senator BENNET, Senator BROWN, Senator WARNOCK, thank you. You are champions who have been fighting in and out of the Senate and understand not just the economic urgency but the moral urgency to address poverty. And that is really what we are all here to talk about—the urgency of the crisis of poverty and specifically child poverty.

In America, this is unacceptable. In the wealthiest Nation on the planet Earth, the question of poverty is not a moral obscenity. America is our children, with one in six American kids living in poverty. It is nothing less than a moral obscenity that the richest Nation in the world should have the highest rates of child poverty in the developed world.

For adults, poverty has a technical definition. It is a federally defined guideline—an amount of annual income that you fall under that also takes into account how many people are in your household.

For kids, poverty is defined by what they experience every single day, by what happens to them. It is growing up being more likely to deal with food insecurity, not knowing where your next meal will come from when it will come. It is facing housing insecurity. A quarter of kids living in poverty will have gone through an eviction before they turn 18 years old.

Kids in poverty have worse health outcomes, worse educational outcomes, and are more likely to become en-trapped in our broken criminal justice system. And kids who grow up in poverty are more likely to be poor as adults.

As Jody Williams after study has shown how children who live in poverty have higher levels of stress hormones. The stress of poverty literally affects their brains. It inhibits brain development. It is violence against the brain of a child.

One child poverty expert described the stress hormones that are constantly released in kids growing up in poverty as similar to the feeling that an adult would get after a car crash—every single day. This is violence.

We know that when a child experiences poverty, there are lifelong psychological and physiological effects they carry with them. Study after study after study has borne this out.
For kids, poverty is literally dangerous for their development, dangerous for their health, and they could have permanent and lasting damage to their brains.

The cruelty of this crisis is that no parent would ever choose to condemn their child. Poor parents do not choose for their kids to experience the daily trauma of poverty. They do not choose to condemn their kids to a life of worse education outcomes, worse health outcomes, and worse futures.

What we must understand is that child poverty is not a choice that low-income parents make. It is a failure of our country to take collective responsibility for the well-being of American children. This is a moral sin. It is not a sin to be poor but a sin to tolerate such poverty in our communities.

Almost 2 weeks ago, Congress and President Biden made the choice to do something about this American sin, this unacceptable reality, this moral obscenity that has impacted so many children. They did something about it; we did something about it in the American Rescue Plan. And now we are calling on our—really, we are on our way for a year to cut child poverty in half. Half of children are not poor; 48 percent; for Hispanic children, by 45 percent; for Native American children, by 62 percent.

That is millions of kids across the country who will not face that violence of poverty. In New Jersey, that is 89,000 kids and their families who are not just going to be lifted out of poverty but will be given the opportunities and the freedoms that come with being able to build a life and a future beyond without the trauma that comes with poverty.

That is why we are together here this afternoon—because lifting kids out of poverty is not just about ending a crisis but about beginning a new American tradition of giving every child what every child should have in America as a birthright. It is about creating freedom and liberty from the oppression of poverty. We have the power to do this. We have the tools to do it, and we know it makes good economic sense to get kids and adults out of poverty.

I love what James Baldwin wrote. He said: “Anyone who has ever struggled with poverty knows how . . . expensive it is to be poor.” Well, that is also true for whether we are talking about children or not, child poverty is expensive for all of us, costing our country $1.1 trillion every year. But investing in ending poverty benefits us all. Every dollar spent on combating child poverty saves this Nation $7 down the road; $1 invested saves us $7 later. Other countries, our peers, have made these kinds of investments in children and families and have reaped rewards that we are denying ourselves.

Expanding the child tax credit and the earned income tax credit and making them permanent are proven, data-driven, evidence-based, result-apparent ways to respond to some of the most morally and economically urgent challenges of the United States of America. These are the kinds of investments in our people that will change life trajectories and have a ripple effect for generations yet to come.

If you give the child—a child firmer ground on which to grow, they will blossom and reap a harvest beyond our imagination. But if you punish them in the trauma, in the violence of poverty, you decimate not just their destinies but all of America.

I am so grateful to have champions that are here today alongside me in this effort. And, together, I know this is a crisis we are going to meet, and this crisis we can overcome. I am proud of the work we have done. Now we should make those changes to the earned income tax credit and the child tax credit permanent.

I am proud to pass the microphone and the moment on to a great champion of the child tax credit and the earned income tax credit, one of the original authors of the legislation that was pulled from our recovery plan, and that is the Senator from Ohio, Sherrod Brown.

Mr. BROWN. Thank you, Senator. The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. WARNOCK). The Senator from Ohio.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. President, thanks to Senator Booker, I will be very brief. I want to hear from Senator BENNET, and I know that the Presiding Officer is going to switch chairs and be out here speaking on this.

I am so grateful to the Presiding Officer, who won his election just in—on January 5. He was declared the winner—I don’t know. Georgia elections are a little different from those of us from other places, and as soon as he was named the winner of that election, he came here and has been in the Senate about 6 or 7 weeks now and is already a leader on this fight that Senator BOOKER talked about in the child tax credit and the earned income tax credit.

I have been here long enough to remember when the earned income tax credit was—people just didn’t know much about it, including our constituents.

I used to, when I was a Member of the House, I would ask accountants—CPAs and public accountants—to volunteer their time a couple of Saturdays a year or two weeks. We would go up for the earned income tax credit, and we encouraged people to sign up for the earned income tax credit, and people making $20,000 or $25,000 a year with kids would often get $2,000 or $3,000 in a tax refund, in real dollars back, because they benefited from the earned income tax credit.

So what Senator BENNET and I have worked on for a number of years is to continue to expand the earned income tax credit and now a big expansion of the child tax credit. Senator BENNET has worked on that expansion, and we worked together with Senator BOOKER and now Senator WARNOCK to make a huge difference.

When I voted from this chair on January—I am sorry, on March 6, we had been in session all night. We had voted time after time after time. It was a partisan vote.

I mean, partisanship is not what Senator BOOKER and now Senator WARNOCK and our colleagues say it is. Something that is partisan or nonpartisan is what the voters think, and the voters overwhelmingly support the earned income tax credit, the child tax credit, and the whole American Rescue Plan Act, and it will make such a huge difference in peoples’ lives.

But I remember after that vote—it was 1 o’clock in the afternoon. I was walking out of the building to drive back to Ohio. I drive every week or a young man drives with me every week back home. And a reporter stopped me and said: What do you think? I said: This is the best day of my political life because we—what we did, as Cory Booker said, we are cutting the child poverty rate in half.

In my State—and I don’t think Colorado or Georgia is much different. In my State, 92 percent of children in my State—92 percent of children will benefit from the child tax credit and their families often more than in the earned income tax credit. What is not to love about that?

That is why, like, 40 Democratic Senators are signing a letter to the President of the United States—we have done this for a year, this expansion to the child tax credit and the earned income tax credit. We should do it permanently, and that is what—that is the mission that the four of us Senators sitting in this room have, is to make sure this is permanent because we know there will likely be good economic growth next quarter, the quarter after, in large part, because of what we have done with this rescue act. There will be strong economic growth, but I do wonder if we make sure that growth is shared by people at the bottom.

And it so often isn’t. We have seen for 20 years—30 years we have seen executive compensation explode upward. We have seen profits up. We have seen worker productivity is up, but workers’ wages are flat. That is why, in the Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs Committee, we are working so hard to make sure that we provide more housing for people so that people have safe, affordable, accessible housing in this country because, too often, they don’t.

That committee is called the Senate Banking Committee around here. It is officially Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs, but for years it is all about banking and Wall Street and very little about housing and urban affairs. We are changing that. We are changing that, in part, because this body, under Senator BENNET’s leadership and others—this body is actually going to do the right thing, as Cory Booker said, and make sure that children have greater opportunities than they have had in the past. That is why I am thrilled to be a part of this effort.
I yield to my friend from Colorado, Senator BENNET.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Colorado is recognized.

Mr. BENNET. Mr. President, thank you very much for being a part of this effort, and I want to thank my colleague from Ohio for his extraordinary leadership from the very beginning on both of these bills. He led on the EITC bill, and I was very grateful to have the chance to be on that, and he was the child tax credit, and he was my partner from the very beginning on that, as was Senator BOOKER and Senator HARRIS, before she became Vice President Harris.

I have only been here for 11 years. Mr. President, and you have been here for a shorter time than that, and I never thought this day would come. I never thought we would see this day.

Before I came to the Senate, I was the superintendence of the Denver Public Schools. That is a large urban district in Colorado. Most of the kids are kids of color and most of the kids are kids living in poverty, and parents are working two and three jobs, many of them. So I have seen what happens when you can’t get their kids out of poverty. No matter what they do, no matter how hard they work, they are not paid enough to get their kids out of poverty. Over the last 11 years, I have had the great privilege of traveling the State of Colorado, and it is a diverse State. Politically, it is a diverse State. We have urban areas and rural areas, and we have got some of the most dynamic economic and business environments in the country, and therefore on the planet. And yet, if I had to summarize those townhalls, it is really easy. It is people who are coming and saying: Michael, we are working really hard, but no matter what, our child benefits like this child benefit, the credit for the child tax credit, and the credit for the child tax credit, and they don’t get enough to be able to stay in their jobs. If you can afford to pay for a little bit of childcare for a few hours in the afternoon, maybe that will make it a little bit easier for people to buy groceries and pay the rent at the end of the month, pay their mortgage, set up a savings fund for their kids’ college education.

That might sound like an obvious thing for us to want to do, but Washington, for years, has done exactly the opposite of what we are doing in this plan. Washington has passed one regressive tax cut after another saying they were cutting taxes for the middle class. That was a complete smoke-screen. Since 2000, they have cut—the amount of money was $5 trillion of taxes. Almost all of that has gone to the wealthiest people in the country, when we have been cutting taxes for the middle class that we have had since 1928. It doesn’t make any sense.

Can you imagine if the mayor of Atlanta went to his citizens and said: We are going to give a bunch of money from the Chinese. We are going to borrow more money than we ever have before. And you say: Well, that kind of worries me. What are you going to use that money for? Are you building infra-structure and roads and bridges? No. Are you going to invest in our schools? No. Our sewers? No. Mental health, something we need desperately across this country? No. Healthcare? No. What are you doing with the money? You are borrowing $5 trillion, what are you doing with the money?

We are going to give it to the two wealthiest neighborhoods in Atlanta and hope that somehow it is going to trickle down to everybody else. That is how you write a bill, which is the Trump tax bill, where 42 percent of the benefit of that bill—it was a $2 trillion bill—42 percent went to the top 5 percent of Americans, to the people who needed it least.

This is exactly the opposite of that. Sixty percent of our bill—I am not going to give you a lot of numbers, but 60 percent of our bill, the majority of our bill, goes to people making $50,000 or less. And as Senator BOOKER has said, we are cutting childhood poverty in half this year as a result of what we are doing, and 90 percent of American children are going to benefit from what we are doing. That is how I describe this bill, with the American Rescue Plan, we are cutting it in half. And we are saying, in the richest country in the world, it is unacceptable for us to have one of the highest poverty rates in our country. Other countries have cut their poverty rates in half, why can’t we? Well, today, we are.

We also have some of the worst economic mobility rates in the industrialized world as well, meaning it is hard to move up on the economic ladder. We used to say we are the land of opportunity. Unfortunately, there are a lot of other countries where people are able to get ahead by working hard. We want that to be our country again, and we want to give poor children a chance here. There is not a single child who chooses to be born poor.

The Senator from New Jersey quoted James Baldwin. He is one of my favorite authors, too, about how expensive it is to be poor.

The other thing that we have done in America is we have made it incredibly hard to be poor, incredibly hard to be poor. And that is one of the interesting things about this bill. In countries that have child benefits like this child benefit, they actually are helping the percentage of people in the workforce than not.

And everywhere I went this year—I went to all 64 counties of Colorado during the pandemic, whether it was the COVID recession, and the gaps between more affluent families and poorer families have only grown as a result.

And everywhere I went this year—I went to all 64 counties of Colorado during the pandemic, whether it was the COVID recession, and the gaps between more affluent families and poorer families have only grown as a result. Give us a little bit of hope.

That is what the American Rescue Plan is going to do. It is going to give people just a little bit of hope, make it a little bit easier for people to buy groceries and pay the rent at the end of the month, pay their mortgage, set up a savings fund for their kids’ college education.

That is not the problem. People are killing themselves. They are not getting paid. And so we say that you get the tax credit from dollar zero, which means, finally, millions of America’s poorest children who have been completely overlooked—not just overlooked—have been ignored—and the tax credit. So millions and millions and millions of children who were too poor to benefit from what was going on here while we were cutting taxes for the richest people in America are now getting a benefit from the tax credit, and it will make the biggest difference for them.

We are the wealthiest country in human history, and yet we have one of the largest, if not the largest, childhood poverty rates in America. As my colleague from New Jersey, Senator BOOKER, said—I lost my train of thought—wait until I get it back. I am so excited about what we are doing, I can’t believe it.

And Senator BOOKER said, the largest group of poor people in America are children. In other words, children have the highest percentage poverty rates in our country. How can that be? How can we accept that as a permanent state of things? Well, we are not. Because of Joe Biden’s bill, we are cutting it in half. And we are saying, in the richest country in the world, it is unacceptable for us to have one of the highest poverty rates. Other countries have cut their poverty rates in half, why can’t we? Well, today, we are.

We also have some of the worst economic mobility rates in the industrialized world as well, meaning it is hard to move up on the economic ladder. We used to say we are the land of opportunity. Unfortunately, there are a lot of other countries where people are able to get ahead by working hard. We want that to be our country again, and we want to give poor children a chance here. There is not a single child who chooses to be born poor.

The Senator from New Jersey quoted James Baldwin. He is one of my favorite authors, too, about how expensive it is to be poor.

The other thing that we have done in America is we have made it incredibly hard to be poor, incredibly hard to be poor. And that is one of the interesting things about this bill. In countries that have child benefits like this child benefit, they actually are helping the percentage of people in the workforce than not.

That is what the American Rescue Plan is going to do. It is going to give people just a little bit of hope, make it a little bit easier for people to buy groceries and pay the rent at the end of the month, pay their mortgage, set up a savings fund for their kids’ college education.
As I mentioned, nationwide over 90 percent of children are going to benefit. So, over many nights, late nights often, on this floor, I have come here with one complaint or another about how we have turned our back on America’s children. I have come here and I have said that what we are doing is not right. What we are doing is not right because we are treating America’s children like they are someone else’s children, not like they are America’s children. And you know what? In this bill, we treated America’s children like they are America’s children. That is the economy we have had for the last 50 years. Such an economy is just for the people at the very top.

That is the economy that when the economy grows, it benefits from this change. There are 300,000 kids from 25 down to 17, and we lift the cap on their streets. It is our job to make them a priority.

This is the biggest reduction in childhood poverty in the history of our country, and we need to make it permanent. If we sent a letter to President Biden saying that we are going to work with him to find a way to make this permanent.

My goal is to end childhood poverty in this country. That is where I really want to be. And I will let you know that really are not going to hold some child’s economic circumstances against them, but we are going to give every child in America the chance to run the 21st century. That is work we still have to do. It means making sure that people like they are earning a living; and then they were in poverty because we have seen out of Washington in generations.

I want to just mention a few words also about the other bill that Senator Brown led on the earned income tax credit, which triples that credit for low-income workers who don’t have kids. So these are workers who don’t have kids, who won’t benefit from what we are doing in the child tax credit but will benefit from what we are doing on the earned income tax credit.

Believe it or not, until now, until we passed this bill, Washington, DC, was actually taxing people into poverty. In other words, people were working; they were earning a living; and then they had to pay their taxes. And then they were in poverty because we were tripling the tax credit from about $500 to $1,500. That no longer will be true.

We also bring the minimum age down from 25 down to 17, and we lift the cap for some more people can benefit from this tax credit. In fact, 17 million people in this country are going to benefit from this change. There are 300,000 workers in my home State of Colorado. And these changes are going to transform lives. They are going to give folks a chance to breathe.

Just like all of you, I want an economy that when the economy grows, it grows for everybody. It doesn’t grow just for the people at the very top. That is the economy we have had for the last few years. Such an economy is a threat to democracy. You cannot have a democracy if you don’t have an economy where everybody feels like they get ahead. It won’t work. It has never worked in human history, and I think it would be unreasonable for us to expect it would work here.

It has created a lot of uncertainty and, in many places, a lot of anger about whether the American Dream will ever work for people, because I believe we will be able to dream again here, and we are going to need, as I said, an economy that works for everybody.

That means investing in our infrastructure. That means having an approach to competition that can drive it from the Chinese Government that doesn’t just leave us and our industries as collateral damage but creates thriving supply chains here, high-paying jobs here, and making sure that we own auto manufacturing here and other kind of manufacturing.

It means having an education system that can prepare people to do the jobs of the 21st century. That is work we still have to do. It means making sure that every high school kid or every single kid that graduates from high school knows they can earn not just a minimum wage but a living wage the day they walk out of their high school. That is what we need to do.

But, in the meantime, this tax cut for working people and for low-income people means that people are going to be able to put food on the table, save a little bit of money, get through this pandemic, make their lives a little bit better, and give their kids a little bit more hope.

I am really grateful. I am really grateful that we elected a President and a Vice President who is not treating America’s children like they are someone else’s children but treating them like they are our children. That is not only the right thing to do for them. That is the essential thing to do if this democracy is going to survive.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDENTING OFFICER (Mr. BENNET). The Senator from Georgia.

Mr. WARNOCK. Mr. President, I rise today to join my colleagues—Senator BROWN; Senator BOOKER; the Presiding Officer, Senator BENNET—in shining a bright light on the suffering of child poverty and what the Senate needs to do and can do to eliminate poverty permanently—child poverty across our country.

Somebody has said that children are the casualties of every age, and while this is a longstanding problem, the fight could not be more urgent as countless families work to pull themselves out of the economic misery caused by a once-in-a-century pandemic. This pain is felt all across our country.

But as we talk about the issue of child poverty, this is not theoretical. For me, it is personal. I grew up in public housing. I am one of 12 children in my family. I am No. 11 and the first college graduate. I stand here today as a U.S. Senator, but I am the product of good Federal public policy and good public schools. I know that what we do in this Chamber makes a difference in the lives of all of our children. My life’s journey is a testament to the promise of our country, the greatest country on Earth, when we make the necessary investments in our youth and enable them to thrive.

As a pastor, I speak to young people all the time, and I often go back to my hometown of Savannah, GA, and communities all across Georgia like the neighborhood I grew up in. In my efforts to inspire children who are struggling, I tell them that your parent’s income does not have to determine your outcome. It is not where you start; it is where you end up.

Now, that is what I say to them, and I believe it, because they need to be inspired to give it all that they have got. But the truth is, when I tell them that their parent’s income does not determine their outcome, that is not based simply on what they do, but on what we do. We need to make real through good public policy.

That is why I am so proud to work with my Senate colleagues and I was so happy to join this U.S. Senate at such a critical time in our country, and in a time when we have been inspired and moved by the people of Georgia who made a historic choice, our majority enabled us to pass the American Rescue Plan.

Over the past year, we have seen how the consequences of COVID-19 and the economic downturn that followed it have both illuminated and exacerbated so many of the longstanding disparities that have challenged Georgians, Americans, and people everywhere. We know that low-income families and children, especially children of color, have both been spared but have, in many ways, suffered more than most. Children are casualties at every age.

According to data from the Center for American Progress, we know that nearly one in five children in Georgia was living in poverty last year. Think about that: nearly one in five children in poverty in the middle of a pandemic. It is tough enough to live in poverty, but it is even tougher to live in poverty in the middle of a pandemic. What could be tougher than being a child in poverty in a pandemic?

Another 217,000 of those children live in what we could call extreme poverty in the United States—stock markets soaring and children struggling and no relationship between what is happening on Wall Street and what is happening on their streets. It is our job to make it true when I say to them that their parent’s income need not determine their outcome.

I don’t know about anyone else, but I think that these high rates of child poverty are unacceptable in the greatest, richest country on the planet.
Often, we tell our children to stay on the right road, to stay out of trouble, and we should—stay focused—but we ought to spread that net of responsibility.

The truth is, poverty is its own violence. It traumatizes the mind, oppresses the body, and bruises the human spirit, so that is why the American Rescue Plan is so necessary, so important, and so historic. I am glad that Senators BOOKER, BROWN, and BENNET—I feel a little left out here—I am just old enough to remember when they started talking about trick-ke-down economics. I know some communities where they have been waiting for decades for that trickle. It hadn’t trickled down; it is trickling up.

The right thing to do is often the smart thing to do. When we help these families, it is actually good economic policy. Because when you help poor families with children, they buy things like food, baby diapers, a coat for their kid, and it helps the American economy.

The right thing to do is the smart thing to do. If Congress can slash child poverty by 20% in a year, why wouldn’t we or shouldn’t we do it once and for all? And so I urge the Senate to stand up and do this work in this moral moment in America.

In just a few days, I will go home. I will stand up, and I will preach on Easter Sunday morning. This year, as it turns out, Easter is on April 4. It is the anniversary of Dr. King’s death. So I will be thinking about Dr. King as I preach this coming Easter because Dr. King spent his last birthday, January 15, 1968, in his office, at our church, among other things, planning the Poor People’s Campaign, trying to organize us and get us ready to stand up against poverty. He spent his birthday thinking about other people’s children because he understood that his children would not be OK until other people’s children were OK.

April 4 is his birthday. April 4 is also Easter this year. Let’s make these tax credits permanent and resurrect hope and possibility and promise for all of America’s children.

I yield the floor.

RECOGNIZING THE 200TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE INDEPENDENCE OF GREECE AND CELEBRATING DEMOCRACY IN GREECE AND THE UNITED STATES

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the consideration of Calendar No. 17, S. Res. 34.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the resolution by title.

The senior assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

A resolution (S. Res. 34) recognizing the 200th anniversary of the independence of Greece and celebrating democracy in Greece and the United States.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the resolution.

Mr. MENENDEZ. Mr. President, I come to the floor in honor of a historic occasion: the 200th anniversary of Greece’s independence. I am delighted to join the Greek-American community in New Jersey and across the United States in celebrating this bicentennial. The bonds of friendship between the United States and Greece are unbreakable, and as I stand here, in the center of American democracy, I am reminded of the strength of the shared democratic values on which our long partnership is based.

Greece has made incredible contributions to the world, not least of which is developing the ideals of democracy and rule of law that inspired our Founding Fathers to establish our American system of government. The very architecture of the Capitol building is a tribute to the foundational role Greece played in the shaping of our democracy and society. The democratic ideals developed in ancient Greece continue to motivate Americans and people around the world today.

The people of the United States in turn worked to support the people of Greece as they began their own struggle for independence 200 years ago.

American Philhellenic Committees, comprised of ordinary Americans, sprung up to support the Greek fight for freedom through fundraising and humanitarian assistance.

Members of Congress, including Daniel Webster, applauded the courage of an interesting and gallant people...contending against fearful odds... for the common privilege of human nature.” In a letter to Greek scholar Adamantios Koraes, whose work formed the intellectual basis for the Greek independence struggle, Thomas Jefferson demonstrated his support by writing that “no people sympathise more feelingly than ours with the sufferings of your countrymen, none offer more sincere and ardent prayers to heaven for their success.”

Several American Philhellenes traveled to Greece to assist the Greek people more directly. Dr. Samuel Gridley Howe, who later became a prominent voice in America’s fight to end slavery, served with bravery as a surgeon and a soldier. Jonathan Peckham Miller, another future noted abolitionist, also served in the Greek army. George Jarvis fought alongside the Greek people, as well as working to provide food, medicine, and clothing to those who needed it with the support of the American Philhellenic Committees.

The bonds between the peoples and governments of Greece and the United States have lasted throughout our country’s history and are stronger than ever today. Greece is an invaluable partner to the United States as a NATO member, as an EU member, and in promoting peace and stability in the Balkans and the Eastern Mediterranean region. Greece’s unwavering commitment to democracy and the rule of law makes it a truly reliable ally in the region and an increasingly critical one as we face the challenges of the 21st century.

I am proud that Congress demonstrated its support for further boosting U.S.-Greece cooperation and U.S. support for the Greece-Cyprus-Israel trilateral, with the passage of the Eastern Mediterranean Security and Energy Partnership Act a little over a year ago. Ensuring full implementation of this act is one of my priorities as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.

The past few years have seen critical developments in U.S.-Greece relations. I am grateful to the leadership of officials in both countries whose work has helped U.S.-Greece ties reach their strongest level ever, including Ambassador Geoff Pyatt, and I look forward to building on their fantastic efforts in the months and years to come.

This 200th anniversary of Greece’s independence truly is a time to celebrate: a time to celebrate Greece’s hard-won freedom; a time to celebrate the bonds between our peoples, and especially the many contributions Greek Americans have made to this country; and a time to celebrate our countries’ shared history and democratic values, which will be the basis of our countries’ cooperation for years to come.

This week, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee unanimously approved a resolution congratulating the people of Greece on the 200th anniversary of their independence. I be grateful to Senator BARRASSO for joining me in leading this resolution and to many Senate colleagues on both sides of the aisle who have cosponsored this resolution. With the passage of this resolution every year-and-through us, the American people-send a clear message of support for the Greek people and our countries’ enduring partnership.

Greece’s 200th independence anniversary serves not only as a reminder of our countries’ long friendship, but also as a time for us to look to build on that history and strengthen our partnership for generations to come. The Eastern Mediterranean region and the world face unprecedented challenges, and growing the U.S.-Greece relationship is more critical than ever for our shared security and stability. I look forward to working with the people of the United States and the Greek American community to make the vision of an even stronger U.S.-Greece relationship a reality.

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the resolution be agreed to, the preamble be considered made and laid upon the table with no intervening action or debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The resolution (S. Res. 34) was agreed to.

The preamble was agreed to.

The resolution, with its preamble, is printed in the RECORD of February 4, 2021, under “Submitted Resolutions.”
