The House met at noon and was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. TRONE).

DESIGNATION OF THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE
The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Speaker:
I hereby appoint the Honorable DAVID J. TRONTO to act as Speaker pro tempore on this day.
NANCY PELOSI, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

PRAYER
The Chaplain, the Reverend Margaret Grun Kibben, offered the following prayer:
Holy God, create in us a pure heart. Fill us with new life and a steadfast spirit. As we acknowledge the sins of our past, do not cast us from Your presence, but grant us Your mercy. Holy spirit, inspire us to be one will with Your own. When we are inclined to cruelty and unkindness, summon us to unity with Your perfect will that we would endure the temptation to hurt or hate but pursue Your truth in the trials around us. Holy Redeemer, restore to us the joy of Your salvation. Give us confidence in Your deliverance, that we would breathe freely believing—knowing—we are wholly Yours to follow You, to glow with the light of Your love, and to live into the promise of Your eternity. Grant that our lives would be strengthened to go forth to serve You and Your creation. May this day we strengthen to go forth to serve You and Your creation. May this day we

PETITIONS, ETC.

Under clause 3 of rule XII, petitions and papers were laid on the clerk's desk and referred as follows:

PT-27. The SPEAKER presented a petition of the City of Durham, North Carolina, relative to Resolution 10205, calling upon President Biden and the U.S. Congress to Provide Additional Assistance to the Rental Housing Community; to the Committee on Financial Services.

PT-28. Also, a petition of the Attorney Generals of New York, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, et. al., relative to the group's Disapproval of Environmental Protection Agency Rules Rescinding Methane Regulation; to the Committee on Natural Resources.

PT-29. Also, a petition of the City of Hamilton, Texas, relative to Resolution No. 14-21, supporting the rights of persons and investors under the 2ND, 9TH, and 10TH Amendments to the United States Constitution and Under Article 1 of the Texas Constitution; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

PT-30. Also, a petition of the City of New York, New York, relative to Resolution No. 1419-A, calling on the United States Congress to pass, and the President to sign, legislation that would provide immigration relief for family members who derive lawful immigration status from a frontline worker who passed away due to COVID-19; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

PT-31. Also, a petition of the Caddo Parish Commission, Louisiana, relative to Resolution No. 31 of 2021, urging and requesting the United States Congress to pass the COVID-19 Hate Crimes Act of 2021, and otherwise providing with respect thereto; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

PT-32. Also, a petition of the City of Toledo, Ohio, relative to Resolution R-129-21, supporting H.J. Res. 17, removing the deadline for the ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment; and declaring an emergency; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

PT-33. Also, a petition of the City of Newburgh, New York, relative to Resolution No.: 89-2021, urging the United States Congress to Pass H.R. 2307 to enact a carbon dividend trust fund, jointly to the Committees on Ways and Means, Foreign Affairs, and Energy and Commerce.

PT-34. Also, a petition of the Ingham County Board of Commissioners, Michigan, relative to Resolution No. 21-182, supporting the Federal for the People Act which changes campaign finance laws to reduce the influence of money in politics; jointly to the Committees on House Administration, Intelligence (Permanent Select), the Judiciary, Oversight and Reform, Science, Space, and Technology, Education and Labor, Ways and Means, Financial Services, Ethics, Homeland Security, and Armed Services.
The Senate met at 10 a.m. and was called to order by the Honorable Raphael G. Warnock, a Senator from the State of Georgia.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Eternal God, You watch over those who seek to serve Your purposes. You surround them with Your favor, providing for all their needs and empowering them to become more than conquerors in fulfilling Your will.

May the reverential gratitude of our Senators fill them with hope for all the days to come. Teach them to live lives of complete honesty as they seek to stay on the pathway You have provided for their lives.

Lord, as You teach our lawmakers to live according to Your truth, rescue them from the forces that seek to bring pain and disgrace.

We pray in Your powerful Name. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The Presiding Officer led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

APPOINTMENT OF ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will please read a communication to the Senate from the President pro tempore (Mr. Leahy).

The senior assistant legislative clerk read the following letter:

To the Senate:

Under the provisions of rule I, paragraph 3, of the Standing Rules of the Senate, I hereby appoint the Honorable Raphael G. Warnock, a Senator from the State of Georgia, to perform the duties of the Chair.

Patrick J. Leahy, President pro tempore.

Mr. WARNOCK thereupon assumed the Chair as Acting President pro tempore.

RECOGNITION OF THE MAJORITY LEADER

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The majority leader is recognized.

MARJORIE TAYLOR GREENE

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, before I begin on the prepared remarks I have, I note that, this morning, MARJORIE TAYLOR GREENE, a Republican Congresswoman from Georgia, once again, compared preparations taken against COVID to the Holocaust. These are sickening, reprehensible comments, and she should stop this vile language immediately.

NOMINATION OF KRISTEN M. CLARKE

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, a year ago today, on another front equally important, George Floyd was murdered in broad daylight by a police officer sworn to protect and serve. Our country was forever changed by the stomach-churning video of Derek Chauvin killing Mr. Floyd.

It sparked a summer of protest unlike any we have seen in American history. Around the world, the name of George Floyd was chanted in Rome, Paris, and London, Amsterdam, Berlin, and Mexico City. As recently as this weekend, professional soccer players in the British Premier League knelt before the game in support of the global movement against racism touched off by George Floyd.

This was not only a fight for justice for one man and his family, whom I have had the privilege to meet with, but a fight against the discrimination that Black men and women suffer at the hands of state power not just here in America but around the globe. It is a fight that continues today.

Here in the Senate, we will continue that fight when we vote to confirm the first woman—the first Black woman—to ever lead the Justice Department’s Civil Rights Division, which was created in 1957 as the civil rights movement began to uphold the constitutional rights of all Americans but particularly the most vulnerable. When it comes to justice in policing, the criminal justice system, and at the ballot box, the Civil Rights Division is often the tip of the spear: conducting investigations of police departments with patterns or practices of constitutional violations and defending the fundamental voting rights of every American citizen.

So, in a way, as we continue to pursue strong policing reform legislation, it is appropriate that we confirm Kristen Clarke—a proven civil rights leader—to the position of Assistant Attorney General, where she can continue the fight against bigotry in many ways. It is appropriate we do it today.

Though my Republican colleagues have tried to twist her words to make her sound like some radical, Ms. Clarke is, in reality, a hugely accomplished civil rights attorney who has earned the respect of all sides. Much like her future colleague at the Justice Department, Vanita Gupta, Kristen Clarke has been endorsed by a wide range of law enforcement groups. The truth is, Ms. Clarke will make an exceptional leader of the Civil Rights Division.

So, again, in a very significant way, as we continue to pursue strong policing reform legislation, the fight for racial justice by confirming Kristen Clarke on the anniversary of George Floyd’s murder is particularly poignant and appropriate.

Of course, Congress must also pursue strong legislation to end racial bias in... law enforcement. Senators Booker and Scott, as well as Representative Bass and others, have been working diligently behind the scenes to fashion such a bill on a bipartisan basis. That important work must continue as we strive to ensure George Floyd’s tragic death will not be in vain.

U.S. INNOVATION AND COMPETITION ACT

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, on another matter, the Senate continues to work on the U.S. Innovation and Competition legislation that will lay the foundation for the next century of American economic leadership. I have spoken a lot about the substance of this bill. So, this morning, I want to reinforce how bipartisan and inclusive this bill is. It is the product of at least a half a dozen Senate committees, meaning that nearly every single Member of the Senate has had fingerprints on this bill in one way or another.

The two pieces of legislation that form the core of the bill—the Endless Frontier Act and the Strategic Competition Act—passed out of committee on overwhelmingly bipartisan votes all the way through the Commerce Committee and 21 to 1 in the Foreign Relations Committee. That kind of bipartisanship—almost unanimous support in multiple Senate committees—is rare when it comes to legislation. It goes to show just how bipartisan this issue is and this legislation is as, literally, dozens of bipartisan amendments were added to the bill before it ever reached the floor.

Here on the floor, we are going to continue working through a series of amendments from both sides. With such a depth of cooperation and consensus between our two parties, there will be no reason we can’t wrap up this bill this week and achieve a strong result for our country. Leader McConnell should be welcoming this bipartisanship as we move forward on the bill.

WASHINGTON, D.C. ADMISSION ACT

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, on a final matter, later today, a group of Senators will come to the floor to highlight an important issue: DC statehood. The District of Columbia has more residents than Vermont and Wyoming and has nearly the same number as Delaware, Alaska, and several other States. They have the same obligations of citizenship. DC residents pay Federal taxes. They can be summoned for juries. They have served in every war since the Revolution, but they are all denied real representation here in Congress. DC statehood is an idea whose time has come. So I want to thank Senator CARPER for organizing a group of Senators to shine a spotlight on this issue today.

I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The clerk will call the roll.

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, the act has as much as stopped firing rockets at Israel’s cities and, for the moment, the fighting has stopped.

Israel’s response to Hamas’s terrorism was entirely justified. It was targeted, restrained, and extraordinary precise. So it was disappointing to see disproportionate blame heaped upon Israel, the victim, and disproportionate pressure put on Israel’s democratic, coalition government to speed ahead the cease-fire with the aggressors.

Israel’s actions appear to have helped restore some measure of deterrence and damaged Hamas’s ability to wage terror, but we have every reason to expect the terrorist commanders will seek to rebuild their arsenal with assistance from their sponsors in Tehran.

The Biden administration must not pursue Iran policies that make this process even easier. We should not let terrorism and missile sanctions just to leap back into discussions over the flawed Obama-era nuclear deal. Already, this administration removed terrorism sanctions on Iran’s Houthis proxies in Yemen, hoping to encourage negotiations. Instead, the Houthis have escalated their offensive, rejected diplomacy, and actually fired into Saudi Arabia. Likewise, giving Iran relief from sanctions will just yield more weapons to kill children.” Their base is energized. An open letter from hundreds of former Democratic Party and campaign staffers has urged President Biden to be harder on Israel. Apparently, a lot can change in just 2 years.

Helping Israel defend itself against terrorists shouldn’t be a divisive issue. The Senate should vote on Senator Sanders’ resolution and reject it overwhelmingly.

ANTI-SEMITISM

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, now on a related matter, the despicable, age-old specter of anti-Semitism continues to rear its head, even here in our country.

Last week, authorities from New York to Los Angeles were investigating assaults on Jewish people. According to press reports, in New York City, one Jewish man was knifed, and sprayed with chemicals by five or six men yelling anti-Semitic things. That happened, by the way, right in Times Square. A synagogue in Arizona was vandalized. So was another in Illinois. A Jewish family visiting South Florida had a car pull up next to them and multiple occupants begin screaming: “Free Palestine . . . die, Jew.” That is what he got for wearing his yarmulke in public.

The head of the Anti-Defamation League said: We are tracking acts of harassment, vandalism, and violence as well as a torrent of online abuse . . . it’s happening all around the world.

This garbage—this garbage didn’t begin a few weeks ago. It isn’t a response to geopolitics. This hatred long pre-dates the recent fighting between Israel and Hamas, and it hasn’t gone anywhere since the cease-fire.

This spring, in the shadow of this Capitol Building, a U.S. Capitol Police officer was killed in broad daylight by an unbalanced follower of the Nation of Islam, the extremist group led by the anti-Semite Louis Farrakhan.
This trash should be the easiest thing in the world for every person in a leadership position to call out. But perhaps—perhaps—because Israel has become a strangely controversial issue on the far left, the condemnations do not seem to be flowing quite as easily and unequivocally as they should.

Yesterday, a Democratic Congressman from Minnesota tweeted this:

I’ll say the quiet part out loud. It’s time for “progressives” to start condemning anti-Semitism and violent attacks on Jewish people with the same intention and vigor demonstrated in other areas of activism. The silence has been deafening.

I couldn’t say it better myself.

So Senator COTTON and I are introducing new legislation to fight anti-Semitism. Our bill will support State and local law enforcement and ensure the bigoted thugs who are attacking Jewish Americans face the full force of our justice system. I am proud to be cosponsoring this legislation, although I regret that in the year of 2021, it remains, unfortunately, necessary. I hope every one of our colleagues will join Senator COTTON and myself.

AFGHANISTAN

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, now on one final matter, the President’s decision to retreat from Afghanistan is not only irresponsible; it is dangerous, wishful thinking.

As discussions with the administration are making clear, this decision is not underpinned by a coherent plan to mitigate the geopolitical and humanitarian risks that our departure will create.

When we are gone, after we leave, there is every reason to believe al-Qaeda will regroup in its historic safe haven. Giving up the high ground while the enemy is still on the battlefield isn’t a strategic move. Neither is banking on conducting so-called “over the horizon” counterterrorism missions without presence on the ground. If we have learned anything in the fight against terrorists, it is the importance of reliable access and local partnerships. Give up the former, and we likely lose the latter.

The military currently flies both reconnaissance and strike missions against terrorists from within Afghanistan, and they are not easy to get to. Its immediate neighbors are Iran, Pakistan, and Russian-influenced Central Asian nations. They aren’t exactly likely to let us use significant counterterrorism units in their countries. So where are we going to base these forces? How will we maintain sorties from thousands of miles away? How many forces will be required to secure our Embassy? If a pro-Taliban mob threatens to overrun it, what will we do to protect it? Where will a quick-reaction force be based if not in Afghanistan? Will it be quick if its response time goes from minutes to hours? We learned from Benghazi the so-called tyranny of distance. If the Taliban takes Kabul, will the Biden administration recognize it as the legitimate government of Afghanistan? Will we shutter our Embassy and our aid programs?

The reality is, they don’t know. They can’t say. There is no plan.

It is not courageous to abandon our allies. That is a view many Democrats said they held when the last President considered withdrawing from Syria and Afghanistan. But now, as Afghans, especially women and girls, face even worse dangers, many Democrats have suddenly become much less vocal. The horrific—horrible—reports of the Taliban beginning to reimpose their version of sharia law are just a taste of the catastrophes facing our friends in Afghanistan who have borne the brunt of the fight. Human rights. Women’s rights. Counterterrorism refugee flows.

As far as I can tell, the administration has no plan.

But the world is watching—allies and adversaries. Democrats can dress up this decision in flowery language, but the world will see it for what it is: retreating from the fight, abandoning our partners.

This is the President’s decision. He chose precipitous withdrawal from Afghanistan. Unbelievably, he even chose the anniversary of September 11 as the deadline. As his team belatedly confronts him with the risks and the consequences of this decision, I hope the President will think again and reconsider.

RESERVATION OF LEADER TIME

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, the leadership time is reserved.

CONCLUSION OF MORNING BUSINESS

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Morning business is closed.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

EXECUTIVE CALENDAR

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, the Senate will proceed to executive session and resume consideration of the following nomination, which the clerk will report.

The senior assistant legislative clerk read the nomination of Chiquita Brooks-LaSure, of Virginia, to be Administrator of the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The majority whip is recognized, Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to speak as if in morning business.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

AFGHANISTAN

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, when I listened to the speech by Senator McCONNELL, the Republican leader, about Afghanistan, it transported me back in history to October of 2002, when I was a U.S. Senator representing the State of Illinois, just days away from a reelection campaign, and we faced a historic vote here in the U.S. Senate. The vote was to decide whether we would invade Iraq; whether the United States would give the President the authority to send American forces to Iraq. There were 23 votes against that invasion. I was 1 of them, 22 Democrats and 1 Republican.

I can remember that night so well. It was late, past midnight, when the vote was finally taken. But we had previously taken another vote, and although I had voted against the invasion of Iraq, I saw the invasion of Afghanistan as a different story. We believed that Osama bin Laden and al-Qaeda, responsible for 9/11, were in Afghanistan. And the story was—the story line, and I bought it completely.

I don’t tell people like Osama bin Laden that there is a price to pay for attacking America and killing 3,000 innocent people, who are we, and who will be the next attacker?

So I voted. I voted for the invasion of Afghanistan and believed that was the right thing to do at that moment in history. That vote passed unanimously here in the Senate. There was only one dissenting vote in the House of Representatives, Congresswoman BARBARA LEE of California. Virtually everyone else—everyone else—every political party—voted for the invasion of Afghanistan.

I will tell you, there was not a single Senator or Congressman who would have stood up that evening on that vote and announced “I am prepared to vote for the longest war in American history,” because that is what we ended up voting for.

It was our belief that if we came into Afghanistan, we could control this country as a haven for terrorism and we could help escort them into the 21st century.

Well, after 20 years, after thousands of Americans gave their lives and thousands more were critically injured, after the spending of trillions of dollars in Afghanistan, we learned a bitter lesson. Our willingness was not enough. The people in Afghanistan have to be prepared to embrace change for it to happen.

We had to create an army in Afghanistan, a security force. It virtually didn’t exist. The warlords had their military, and they were for sale, usually, to the highest bidder. And we were trying to create a national security force. We were trying to create a nation, which was quite a challenge.

I am not going to dwell on what happened, the bitter disappointments. But when I hear Senators come to the floor saying, “Isn’t it a shame that we are leaving Afghanistan? They are going to descend into chaos and many, many problems,” my question to them is: So what would you have us do? Continue with the troops risking their lives in Afghanistan for another 20 years, for another trillion dollars?

Mr. President, this week we are going to consider a critically important bill that will help secure America’s role as a global leader in science and technology. The investments that the United States Innovation and Competition Act of 2021 makes in innovation will help ensure our prosperity and national security. It supports American research and development and will help to grow America’s industrial and manufacturing base by investing in clean energy, cybersecurity, and biotechnology.

I thought a few years ago, reflected on the fact that I served in the House and Senate, there have been moments, particularly important moments that didn’t receive the recognition they deserved, and one of them was a bipartisan effort by several legislators: John Porter, who was a Republican Congressman from Illinois; Senator Arlen Specter, a Republican Senator from Pennsylvania; and Senator Tom Harkin, a Democratic Senator from Iowa. Back in the day, they made a decision to try to double the research budget for the National Institutes of Health—quite an undertaking. I have seen a lot of things come and go with the Congress, and that I thought was as ambitious as it gets.

He said: Senator, if you could persuade Congress to give us 5 percent real growth every year—real growth over inflation—we will light up the scoreboard. These researchers will stay on the job. They won’t worry about whether there is going to be funding. And you are going to see some remarkable things occur.

I said I will set out to do that. I knew at the time that I needed help. So I turned to Patty Murray on the Democratic side, who has been our leader at the HP Committee on Appropriations. And we then turned to Senator Roy Blunt of Missouri, Republican leader of the subcommittee, as well as Lamar Alexander, our retired friend from the State of Tennessee.

So the four of us came together, and in a span of 5 or 6 years, we took the NIH budget from $30 billion to $40 billion, just at the right moment. We didn’t anticipate COVID-19, but here it came. Are we ready? Can we develop a vaccine in a timely fashion?

And, thank goodness we could, because of the investment that we had made as a Congress and the American people, as you said off. Not only did we save lives in the United States; we saved lives around the world, and we will continue to because of that good work.

I came to believe that that was critically important and went to the Department of Energy, sitting down with the Secretary, 5 or 6 years ago, and told him the story about our commitment to NIH. And I said: You know, I guess it is conceivable that we will do research that will lead to some treatment of Alzheimer’s and dementia. We know that it is picking up speed, unfortunately, because people are living longer.

He said: Do you have any idea what Agency of government is responsible for creating electronic means of monitoring this sort of change in our brains, the change that leads to Alzheimer’s?

I said: No, I don’t.

He said: Well, it is the Office of Science in the Department of Energy.

And I thought to myself: Duh, you should have known better. It isn’t just the NIH. There are Agencies all around our Federal Government that are doing research that complement one another. So I got the notion to take that NIH model of 5 percent real growth and start applying it to all the other research and innovation Agencies of our Federal Government.

This bill we are considering this week, this United States Innovation and Competition Act, acknowledges that and makes the investment in research. I will tell you, I can’t think of anything we can do that is more bipartisan and will be accepted by the American people than the knowledge that we are going to encourage and subsidize, if you will, scientists and researchers to move us forward in innovation and technology. future, as well, thanks to dedicated workers like those at the Stellantis plant in Belvidere, IL, who assemble the car known as the Jeep Cherokee.

Unfortunately, that plant had to shut down just a few weeks ago. Why? A global shortage of semiconductors. Earlier this month, Stellantis announced as many as 1,640 employees of the plant will be laid off in July because of the shortage. A similar story at Ford's Chicago assembly plant that has 5,800 workers—this plant was idled through April with shutdowns extending into May.

We are not seeing this only in Illinois. It has been estimated as many as 3.9 million fewer vehicles will be produced this year because of the semiconductor shortage. Last month, in the State of Kentucky—Kentucky—Ford announced the temporary shutdown of its Louisville plant, impacting more than 8,000 of its employees. And Ford's Louisville Assembly Plant, which employs nearly 4,000 workers, is expected to close through mid-July.

GM halted production lines in Tennessee and Kansas and at several other facilities this spring. The news of these layoffs and plant closures underscores the urgent need for Congress, on a bipartisan basis, to address this microchip shortage. And the good news is that we have a real opportunity to pass legislation that will offer help to these workers and families. These investments in the CHIPS Act will not only address our immediate market needs but help to ensure that manufacturers don't face shortages in the future.

This funding will help support jobs through the entire supply chain—from construction of new facilities to manufacturing and development of chips, to workers in the auto industry who depend on this supply.

This bill makes a strategic investment. Democrats help to counter the growing threat caused by the rapid development of China's economy. I hope my colleagues will join me in supporting these important provisions to boost our domestic supply chain and support American jobs. And we can defeat this measure. We can decide it is too much money, spending it at the wrong time. That is part of the second-place finish club, which you might find in the U.S. Senate. I don’t want to be a part of that. And we can use the brawn of American workers. I believe they are productive people and that our researchers can lead the world, as they have over and over again, if we trust them and we invest in them.

I yield the floor.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Republican whip is recognized.

H.R. 1

Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, H.R. 1, the Democrats’ supposed election integrity bill, is filled with bad ideas: making the Federal Election Commission into a partisan body; effectively banning voter ID and gutting other safeguards against voter fraud; providing for taxpayer funding of political campaigns.

Nowhere is that more true than when it comes to the bill’s truly terrible provisions on voting.

Everyone remembers the IRS scandal during the Obama administration. Around 2013, it emerged that the Obama IRS had been unfairly singling out conservative organizations applying for tax-exempt status, slow-walking their applications and subjecting them to burdensome extra scrutiny. This had been going on for more than 2 years, and top IRS officials compounded the Agency’s misdeeds by providing misleading information to Congress.

Well, Americans should brace themselves, because if H.R. 1 is ever enacted, it would allow for the same kind of targeting that went on under the Obama administration, if not worse. To combat this, H.R. 1 repeals a Treasury Department rule finalized last year that was designed to help prevent the kind of abuse that went on under the Obama IRS.

Under the rule, many tax-exempt organizations are no longer required to turn over to the IRS the names and addresses of individuals who have made substantial donations. This is not information the IRS needs to know for tax purposes, and there is no reason the Agency should have information beyond what it needs to do its job. I am proud to be a cosponsor of Leader MCONNECT and Senator BRAUN’s bill which would permanently codify the Treasury rule and its protections against unnecessary disclosure. Providing the IRS with additional extraneous information opens up opportunities for the kind of abuses we saw during the Obama administration.

But stopping IRS abuse doesn’t seem to be a big priority for the Democrat Party. Indeed, there is reason to believe at least some Democrats would like the IRS to take a more aggressive role in Americans’ lives. And so H.R. 1 explicitly repeals the Treasury Department rule, but that is not all.

As if Democrats were determined to prove that they intend to weaponize the IRS. H.R. 1 and S. 1, which is the Senate version of the House bill, would allow the IRS to consider organizations' views when deciding whether or not to grant them tax-exempt status. Let me repeat that. H.R. 1 and S. 1 would allow the IRS to consider an organization’s views when deciding whether or not to grant that organization tax-exempt status.

It is difficult to think of a more outrageous and dangerous provision. This rule would allow any administration of either party to use the IRS to censor and suppress groups whose ideas the party in power opposes. If the administration is in a position to like the positions that your organization champions, say goodbye to your hopes for tax-exempt status. The Obama IRS scandals could look tame compared to the kind of political weaponization of the IRS that could occur under H.R. 1. This provision could have real political implications. Selectively granting tax-exempt status could be a means of winning political power.

And there is a group that can't get tax-exempt status may be a group that never gets off the ground for financial reasons and, thus, a group that never becomes a significant voice in opposition to policies of the reigning party.

Do you think this is a worst case scenario? Well, let’s remember that something like this already happened under the Obama administration. The IRS was weaponized once, and it can be weaponized again, especially if Democrats succeed in their efforts to eliminate safeguards against such abuse.

And, of course, if the President has his way, the IRS may soon be swimming in money that would substantially increase its ability to harass. If President Biden wants to provide the IRS with—get this—an additional $80 billion over 10 years. That would give the IRS a larger budget than the Department of Labor, the Department of Commerce, the Department of the Interior, the Centers for Disease Prevention, and other significant government Agencies. It would allow the IRS to hire nearly 87,000 new employees—87,000. All told, the Biden plan would double the number of IRS employees over the next decade.

Now, the reason President Biden gives for this massive increase in IRS funding is increased enforcement efforts in order to close the tax gap—that gap that exists between taxes owed and what Americans end up actually paying. But there is little reason to believe that the IRS will come anywhere close to recovering the amount of money the President claims it can recover, even with a massive infusion of funding and increased enforcement efforts. President Biden himself, of course, also claims that any increased enforcement will be targeted against wealthy Americans. In what is becoming a typical Democrat class-warfare rhetoric, the President states that ordinary Americans can’t possibly understand that some wealthy Americans dodge them. Of course, according to the IRS, our Nation has a relatively high and stable voluntary tax compliance rate, and tax compliance levels remain largely unchanged since at least the 1980s. And, in fact, failure to pay tax owed occurs among all kinds of taxpayers in every place along the income spectrum. But the White House isn’t letting those facts interfere with its class-warfare rhetoric.

What’s more, what guarantees will we have other than Democrats’ say-so at this point that this infusion of money will be restricted to combating tax evasion? As far as I can tell, there is nothing to prevent the new agents the IRS will hire from being retasked at some point to other priorities, like investigating the views of conservative organizations before deciding whether or not to grant them tax-exempt status.

Closing the tax gap is a serious goal that deserves serious discussion, and it is possible that a targeted IRS funding increase for that purpose would be worth considering. But $80 billion is a ridiculous number in the words of one of President Obama’s IRS chiefs: “I’m not sure you’d be able to efficiently use that much money.”

And any plus-up in funding for the IRS should be accompanied by serious reforms, as well as many protections—not fewer protections—against IRS politicization.

While the Obama IRS scandal represents one of the more egregious abuses of the Agency’s power, the IRS is well known for serial mismanagement and its inability to actually get through to the IRS with their questions.

The Washington Post reported in April that if you were calling the IRS this tax season, you had a 1-in-50—1-in-50—chance of actually getting to speak to a human being.

In May, the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration released a report on the 2021 filing season, which noted the IRS struggled to get new hires on the job partially because it is—and here, I am going to have to quote from this report—“difficult to find working copiers . . . to be able to prepare training packages for new hires.” That is right. And I wish those were the only Agency printer or copier problems, but they are not.

Let me quote from the inspector general’s report again.

Audit teams continue to perform onsite walkthroughs at the Ogden, Utah, and Kansas City, Missouri, Tax Processing Centers to meet with staff to discuss challenges they are facing as it relates to addressing the ongoing backlogs of inventory. A major concern that surfaced during these walkthroughs was a lack of working printers and copiers. IRS management estimated that, as of March 30, 2021, 69 or (42 percent) of 164 devices used by the Submission Processing functions are unusable and others are broken but still functioning. IRS employees stated that the only reason they could not use many of the devices is because they are out of ink or because the waste cartridge container is full.

That is from the inspector general’s report. I wish this were a joke, but that is straight out of the IG’s report.

Here the Administration might think that we don’t need to worry about the weaponization of the IRS because the Agency isn’t capable of work that sophisticated. But, as we know, that isn’t true. The IRS was successfully weaponized for political purposes during the Obama administration, and the same thing could happen again, especially if Democrats succeed in removing protections against IRS abuse.

As our Nation’s revenue-collecting Agency, the IRS is an Agency with immense power, and it is not a voluntary government program. Americans don’t get to choose whether or not they interact with the IRS. For that reason, it is vitally important that the IRS have safeguards in place as possible to prevent the IRS from abusing its power or being used for political purposes.

We have seen plenty of evidence that the IRS often doesn’t use the money or the resources it has in a responsible way. And any increase in money for the IRS—which it certainly should not be anywhere close to $80 billion—should be matched with significant reforms and increased accountability.

And H.R. 1, with its multitude of unwise and unconstitutional provisions even beyond the alarming provisions I have discussed today, must be stopped. Otherwise, the Biden legacy may be the weaponization of our IRS.

I yield the floor.

NOMINATION OF KRISTEN M. CLARKE

Mr. BOOKER. Mr. President, it is a real honor to be rising today to speak in advance of the vote on Kristen Clarke’s nomination to serve as the Attorney General of the Department of Justice.

If she is confirmed, Kristen Clarke will be tasked with overseeing the Justice Department’s work to protect the civil rights of all Americans. I have known Kristen Clarke for years. I have worked with her. I know her, and I can tell you that there can be no one better for this job.

To say that Kristen Clarke has an impressive resume is a gross understatement. She started her career at the Justice Department in the Civil Rights Division. She worked with the NAACP Legal Defense Fund. She led the Civil Rights Bureau for the State of New York. She has dedicated herself to the highest principles of our Nation—indeed, to the founding ideals of our country. She will stand up and affirm who we are as a people—a nation that believes in robust voting rights, a nation that believes in the equal dignity of all people, a nation that believes in protecting religious liberty. We need a champion now as much as ever. We need Kristen Clarke leading the Civil Rights Division at the Department of Justice.

And it is not just me saying that. It is just not Democrats saying that. There are over 70 bipartisan former State attorneys general. We see police leaders, law enforcement leaders endorsing her, prosecutors endorsing her, the Anti-Defamation League and 69 different local, State, and national Jewish organizations, all agreeing that Kristen Clarke is the right person to stand for us, to work for us, to fight for us, to champion for our precious civil rights at the Department of Justice.

So many different individuals from all across the political landscape, from different backgrounds, and so many organizations representing all of our diversity are speaking out in a chorus of conviction about not just how good
Kristen Clarke is but how urgent her nomination is because of who she has shown herself to be time and again: an unassailable, impressive career of service, service, service. She is and has been a servant leader for all of her career; a person of profound integrity; someone who is a true sacrifice, whose struggle in the pursuit of justice has already made this Nation better.

I will say something on a personal note in closing. I have worked with Kristen Clarke for years now on things that we have done together, like a bipartisan criminal justice reform bill.

I had the occasion years ago of meeting her when she was out in Washington with her son. He was a young guy, not that tall. Then, during her hearings in the Judiciary Committee, I saw her again present herself in an extraordinarily powerful manner, with grace and expertise, but I saw that young man now had grown up. He is a big guy. It could be a big deal for me to say that I saw myself in this young man because he is probably a lot smarter than I was when I was his age and clearly is a better athlete, even though I will say for the record that the older I get, the better I am in sports.

But I think about her career, and then I align it to what she has done in raising a young Black man in America. While I couldn’t project myself onto him, I thought, how about my children. My mom raised my brother and me in a nation that strove to be who we say we are, a nation of liberty and justice for all. But where she knew we were falling short, she didn’t raise us to be bitter; she raised us to be better. She raised us by setting an example, a bar to be better.

I think about her career, and now I align it to what she has done in raising a young Black man in America. While I couldn’t project myself onto him, I thought, how about my children. My mom raised my brother and me in a nation that strove to be who we say we are, a nation of liberty and justice for all. But where she knew we were falling short, she didn’t raise us to be bitter; she raised us to be better. She raised us by setting an example, a bar to be better.

I want you all to know that in Kristen Clarke, we have an extraordinary American, an extraordinary person, and a great mom. And I know what she has done with her life. She has lived perhaps with the greatest principle of all, which is for us in this generation to make a better way for the next, for us to make a more perfect Union, for us to understand that the arc of American history is indeed long but we must bend it more towards justice.

I tell my colleagues and urge you to confirm her to this sacerdotal and urgent position today because I am confident to the core of my being that she will not just make us proud, she will not just defend those who are having their rights trampled or their dignity marginalized, but that she will make a better way for an America that fulfills its promise, still not yet achieved, for us to be a nation with liberty and justice for all.

Thank you, Mr. President.
Elections Project alias, more than 99 percent of the Judicial Education Project’s 2018 revenue was a single, anonymous $7.8 million donation that came through, of course, DonorsTrust. There is no way to know who cut that check.

What does all this dark money finagling and front group subterfuge tell us? As a reporter for the Guardian observed, the Honest Elections Project, so-called, melds two goals of the right-wing dark money operation: One, pack the judicial judiciary, and two, bring voting rights cases before the packed courts. Rigging elections by keeping “some people” from voting is now a Republican priority, and if Trump judges will help, so much the better.

Just recently, we actually learned more about the covert voter suppression operation. The watchdog group Documented and the magazine Mother Jones uncovered a video of a presentation by the dark money group Heritage Action. As the presenter said in this video, the presenter brags about getting what she called “key provisions”—“key provisions”—into voter suppression legislation in dozens of states around the country.

She said, “And I am quoting here, ‘In some cases, we actually draft them for them’”—they actually draft the laws for the State legislatures—”or,” she said, “we have a sentinel”—a sentinel; what a creepy word—“a sentinel; what a creepy word.” Big donors love that grassroots, from-the-bottom-up type of vibe. Big donors love that grassroots, from-the-bottom-up type of vibe.

There is lots of dark money that fuels this covert op. Heritage Action says it plans to spend $24 million in eight battleground States to “create an echo chamber” of relentless lobbying for voter suppression bills. They say the hikes will be coordinating with known Koch network groups like the Susan B. Anthony List, Tea Party Patriots, and FreedomWorks.

This operation is the kind of stuff that we might want our intelligence services to do in enemy countries to create disruption and discord and provide secret influence. The idea that creepy billionaires are running covert operations in and against our own country, that ought to make you cry. Not only is this behavior morally corrupt, it may have broken rules. One State legislature has already floated an ethics probe into Heritage Action’s sentinel jamming phony bills through their chamber.

So here we are. Senate Republicans getting their hair on fire over Kristen Clarke and Vanita Gupta. These two women scare the daylights out of this dark money operation behind Republican voter suppression. Ms. Clarke knows the Voting Rights Act cold; she won voting rights cases against voter suppression laws all over the country. Put Jim Crow 2.0 up against a Department of Justice Civil Rights Division led by Kristen Clarke, and that dark money voter suppression operation has a problem. So the big dark money donors behind this covert operation will raise whatever ruckus they can—first, to try to stop Vanita Gupta, which won’t work—all in an effort to protect their dark money scheme to prevent some people from voting. You have to look behind the smokescreen sometimes to understand what is going on. It is not pretty, but it is the truth.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Kentucky.

Mr. PAUL. Mr. President, about 50 years ago William Proxmire rose in this esteemed body and told us about government waste. He called it the Golden Fleece Award. They were studying things like dating and love and what makes love, and we had these scientists teaching a lighthearted class like this. These are William Proxmire’s words from the early 1970s. He was a conservative Democrat.

He says:

I object to this [study on love] because no one—not even the National Science Foundation—can argue that falling in love is a science; not only because I’m sure that even if they spend $84 million or $84 billion they wouldn’t call that anyone would believe. I’m also against [this study on love] because I don’t want the answer.

I believe that 200 million other Americans want to leave some things in life a mystery, and right at the top of things we don’t need to know is why a man falls in love with a woman and vice versa.

Stirring words. The Golden Fleece Award—I remember as a kid everybody talked about it. It was in the newspapers. So what have we done to curb the wasteful appetite, the abuse of government that has happened at the National Science Foundation since 1972? Not a damn thing.

Here is one of my other favorites from William Proxmire’s days. The FAA was named for spending $57,000 on a study of the physical measurements of 432 airline stewardesses. These include how many inches from knee to knee, sitting and the length of the buttocks. Fifty-eight thousand dollars—this was your government money being put to good use.

So far forward, and we spend about $8 billion a year with the National Science Foundation. Is it getting any better? Are they doing a better job at overseeing their money? Well, I don’t know. This bill is going to increase their funding by 68 percent. There is $29 billion in this bill for the National Science Foundation. So if you think the American people deserve to know where their American money is being spent?

This was from their sister Agency, the NIH, but you know we can’t get started without talking about it. This is over $800,000 to study whether or not Japanese quail are more sexually promiscuous on cocaine. I am not making this up—$800,000 of taxpayer money to study whether or not Japanese quail are more sexually promiscuous on cocaine.

Do you think we could have just polled the audience? Do you think we could have just said: What do you think? Because that is sort of the answer to the question: Did your government spent 800 grand on that. And then when we pointed it out 5 years ago, did they do anything to reform it? No. They are here today to give the Agencies that are doing this research more money.

Another one that I think is quite revealing is this study that is about Panamanian male frog calls. You have about half a million dollars, and they wanted to know whether or not the males that they go to the black market.

Now, coming from a rural State like Kentucky, I can tell you the male mating call is different in the country than it is in the city. But nobody in Kentucky wants a half a million dollars spent on a Panamanian frog’s male mating call. This is not a good use of money.

So if someone told you your government was spending this money, would you think they were doing a good job? Would you think the Agency more if they were doing this or less? I think less.

In looking at the National Science Foundation’s spending, we also found that they spent $30,000 studying Ugandan gambling habits. Really? We are studying why people gamble in Uganda, why there is a black market in Uganda. Well, do you know what? I think we know the reason. When government opposes business and regulates business they go to the black market. If you make something illegal, you often get more of it. But we spent $30,000 traveling over to Uganda to study their gambling habits—utter waste of money. We should not reward these people with more money.

We spent about half a million on a video game. This is an app for your phone. I know we all need things to do when we should be working or at school. This is an app for schoolchildren. It teaches them sound-alarmism over climate change. So you can click on the app, and it will scare you to death that California is going to be underwater in 100 years—none of which is true, all of which is alarmism, and a half a million dollars spent by the government to alarm our schoolchildren is not a good idea.

This next study points out a problem with funding, in general, in our government. You give funds for something that ostensibly might be a good cause. So a couple of years ago, they gave money for autism—$700,000 for autism. And you think, well, autism, you know, even myself, as conservative as I am, I can probably say, well, that is something we ought to study, autism. Well, they subcontracted 700 grand of it to a bunch of egghead researchers to watch Neil Armstrong’s statement on the Moon. Do you remember the black-and-white photo? He is on the Moon, and he says, "[One small step for man]"? So we studied the preposition "a," and we spent 700 grand listening to the tape over and over and over again. And do you know what they determined? They just can’t decide. They are unsure, but they did recommend more money to study the problem further.

This is insulting to the American taxpayer. We should not be giving these people more money; we should be giving them dramatically less money.

But let’s get out one of the reforms that I have proposed for this Agency. One of the problems with the National Science Foundation is, if I want to do research on Japanese quail snorting cocaine, guess what, I can ask for this money. But if you or I are studying snorting cocaine in animals—I can ask them to be on my peer committee. I can choose the people on my peer committee. So if I want to study animals snorting cocaine, I pick other researchers who are actually studying animals snorting cocaine. Guess what. They tend to say yes. If they say yes, the scientist gets on the next peer Commission, and he says or she says yes for their snorting cocaine research.

This is crazy. We should not let these so-called scientists pick who is on their committee. Not only that, I think we ought to have a taxpayer advocate. Could we not just have someone with a good dose of common sense who says we should not spend a dime more on autism money, steal it, and spend it on a bunch of idiots listening to what Neil Armstrong said when he landed on the Moon? So that is part of the reform we should have.

One of my other all-time favorites from the National Science Foundation—this kind of goes back to William Proxmire and love and happiness—they wanted to know if you take a selfie of yourself while smiling and you look at it later in the day, will that make you happy?

Really? That is a half a million dollars. I don’t think we need a scientist to say that that is BS and that government, I think there is no reason to give these people money.

So these researchers took $700,000 to listen to that craggy old cassette recording and find out, did he say "man or did he say "man?" So we studied the preposition "a," and we spent 700 grand listening to the tape over and over again. And do you know what they determined? They just can’t decide. They are unsure, but they did recommend more money to study the problem further.

This is insulting to the American taxpayer. We should not be giving these people more money; we should be giving them dramatically less money.

The nomination was confirmed. The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. LTJAN). Under the previous order, the motion to reconsider is considered made and laid upon the table and the President will be immediately notified of the Senate’s action.

The majority whip.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, are we now moving to a cloture vote on Kristen Clarke?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. We have the cloture vote next.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that there be 2 minutes equally divided for debate in support and opposition to Ms. Clarke.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

NOMINATION OF KRISTEN M. CLARKE

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, it is significant that on this day, this anniversary of the death of George Floyd, that we are considering one of the key appointments in the Biden administration to be Assistant Attorney General for the Civil Rights Division.

I urge my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to consider the historic importance of this moment and to support this well-deserving and experienced person to serve our Nation in this capacity. I urge my colleagues to vote aye.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Ms. SINEMA). On this vote, the yeas are 51, the nays are 48.

The motion is agreed to.

EXECUTIVE CALENDAR

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the nomination.

The senior assistant bill clerk read the nomination of Kristen M. Clarke, of the District of Columbia, to be an Assistant Attorney General.

RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate stands in recess until 2:15 p.m.

Thereupon, the Senate, at 1:03 p.m., recessed until 2:15 p.m. and reassembled when called to order by the Presiding Officer (Ms. SINEMA).

EXECUTIVE CALENDAR—Resumed

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arkansas.

NOMINATION OF KRISTEN M. CLARKE

Mr. COTTON. Madam President, today the Senate will vote on Kristen Clarke’s nomination to head the Department of Justice’s Civil Rights Division—one of the most powerful positions at the Department of Justice. I will, of course, oppose her nomination.

We get a lot of partisan nominees around here. So that is not very surprising. But Ms. Clarke isn’t just partisan. She is extremely partisan. She called Senator MURKOWSKI “shameful.” She accused Senator MANCHIN of being dishonest. And you call us disunited. 200-200-sitting Senate-confirmed judges as “white male extremists.” If confirmed for this position, she will be entrusted with representing the U.S. Government in front of the most important judicial judges—not exactly a credible advocate for our people, if you ask me.

Ms. Clarke’s radicalism doesn’t stop with ad hominem insults. It thoroughly infects her professional judgment as well. Ms. Clarke has consistently demonstrated that she is more interested in attacking police and calling everybody a racist than finding the facts or reviewing the evidence.

When it comes to racially incendiary cases, she proudly fans the flames of division. Last year, she repeatedly—and appropriately—spread the falsehood that Jacob Blake, who had a knife and was actively resisting arrest, was, in fact, “unarmed” when he was shot by the police. In part because of falsehoods like that one, riots engulfed the city of Kenosha, WI.

She also claimed that Officer Darren Wilson, who shot and killed Michael Brown in Ferguson, MO, was only exonerated based on race. When I asked Ms. Clarke if she had reconsidered that unsubstantiated opinion, she pretended not to know enough to answer the question, at first. Which is remarkable given that the shooting in Ferguson is one of the most publicized and explosive cases in recent years; also remarkable because she apparently knew enough to tar a grand jury of normal American citizens as yes, once again, racist, but not enough to answer simple questions.

Ms. Clarke’s opinion on the Ferguson case sets her apart from the other staunch liberals like Vanita Gupta and Eric Holder. Both have acknowledged that Officer Wilson was justified in the use of force, echoing the Obama Department of Justice, which came to the very same conclusion. In defiance of all evidence, in spite of her good friend Ms. Gupta’s views, Ms. Clarke still dissents from this conclusion. So I cannot believe—I am genuinely astonished—but Joe Biden has somehow found a nominee more radical than Vanita Gupta. That is an impressive accomplishment, one that should give Senators who supported Ms. Gupta more than ample ground to oppose Ms. Clarke.

Moreover, Ms. Clarke is a firm and, until very recently, a vocal supporter of defunding the police. Ms. Clarke wrote an article less than a year ago—not some college paper. Less than a year ago, Ms. Clarke wrote an article with “Defund the Police” in the title. She stated: “Must invest less in police” three times in the text of that article. She also wrote: “I advocate for defunding policing operations.”
I don't know. Call me naïve. Call me simple. When you write an article entitled “Defund the Police” and when you say, “We must invest less in the police” and “I advocate for defunding policing options,” it sounds to me like you support defunding the police. But apparently, I am wrong about that because when she was asked about this at her hearing, Ms. Clarke denied—amazingly, denied—that she supported defunding the police. She claimed that when she said, “we should defund the police,” she actually meant that we should not defund the police. Astonishingly, she blamed an editor for coming up with the title to her piece but conveniently can’t recall what an alternative title she suggested would have been or whether she objected to a title that was apparently the exact opposite of what she intended.

Now, maybe this shouldn’t be surprising. After all, her article title was “I prefer mass killings to defund the Police—but be Strategic.” Apparently, the strategy is lying, because that is what we saw at our committee. We said: Ms. Clarke, the title of your article is “I prefer mass killings to defund the Police.” Like, I didn’t choose the title.

Ms. Clarke, you wrote three times in the story “defund the police.” She is like: I don’t support defunding the police. But, Ms. Clarke, you wrote here, as well, that we should invest less in the police.

She is like: No, I don’t think we should invest less; we should invest more.

The old argument: It is not my dog. It didn’t bite you. You kicked him first.

Regardless of what she and her defenders might say, one thing is crystal clear: A vote for Kristen Clarke is a vote to defund the police.

Finally, not surprisingly, we come to Ms. Clarke’s consistent dishonesty, duplicity, and evasion throughout her written answers. In one particularly bizarre incident, Ms. Clarke claimed in her hearing that she was proud to have the endorsement of the National Association of Police Organizations, a group which represents nearly a quarter million law enforcement officers.

Now that would be big news, a huge endorsement. So I asked my staff to get me a copy of the endorsement letter. It turns out they couldn’t because it doesn’t exist.

Now, that is not good, but people misspeak all the time, especially when under pressure. So I wanted to give Ms. Clarke a chance to correct the record. I asked for clarity in a written question. Thankfully, Ms. Clarke responded that she had misstated the facts.

OK. That is fine. I accept that explanation. Again, people misspeak. No one is perfect. Yet imagine my surprise when I received her answer to another written question that claimed almost verbatim the same thing she had said in her hearing—that she was endorsed by this organization.

She similarly responded to at least three other Senators that she was endorsed by this organization, even after admitting just a few pages earlier in her written answers that she had misstated that she had such an endorsement. At that point, that is not a simple mistake or a correction. It is not a fib. It is totally and completely untrue in written testimony to the U.S. Congress. Yet she has not apologized. She has not acknowledged this blatant lie.

This episode clearly proves that she lacks the transparency and honesty to be trusted in such an important position.

You know, my Democratic colleagues have, for the last 4 years, endlessly lectured about the need for the Department of Justice to be free from partisan politics and for it to be run by serious, competent individuals. They seem to have a slightly different view today. From her extremism to her lack of candor to her denial to her mendacity to her any organization in the Department of Justice—indeed, simply to serve the Department of Justice. If the Democratic Senators vote to confirm Ms. Clarke, they will be responsible for every battle in Joe Biden’s war on the police, and I will make sure that their voters know about it.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The assistant majority leader is recognized.

Mr. DURBIN. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent to speak for 15 minutes before the rollcall vote.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DURBIN. Madam President, it was 1 year ago today. It was a street corner in the city of Minneapolis, the corner of 38th and Chicago Avenue. For 9 minutes and 29 seconds, Derek Chauvin, a Minneapolis policeman, knelt on George Floyd. As he knelt on his neck, he stared into a camera with a look that haunts me to this day. Those 9 minutes and 29 seconds took George Floyd’s life and changed America’s national conversation about law enforcement. Those 9 minutes and 29 seconds sparked a global movement and compelled us to bear witness to the reality of racial injustice in our country.

In this Senate we are in a privileged position to face that reality and to continue America’s long, sometimes bitter march toward equal justice under the law. That is why I rise today in support of Kristen Clarke’s nomination to be Assistant Attorney General for the Civil Rights Division of the Department of Justice.

It is worth noting the history of this position. The Civil Rights Division is one of the most important components of the Justice Department. The Attorney General’s Office has existed since 1789. The Justice Department itself was not created until after our Civil War.

During the days of Reconstruction, after that war, our Nation resolved to take new steps to form a more perfect Union through the 13th Amendment’s abolishing slavery, the 14th Amendment’s guarantee of due process and equal protection, and the 15th Amendment’s protection of all citizens’ fundamental right to vote.

The Department of Justice was created after the passage of those amendments and entrusted with the responsibility to defend the rights of Americans, particularly the newly emancipated, formerly enslaved Americans.

Given the Department’s immediate imperative to protect and preserve civil rights, President Ulysses S. Grant appointed Amos Akerman to be the first Attorney General to lead this new Department. Why? He had extensive experience in prosecuting voter intimidation as the U.S. attorney in the State of Georgia.

More than 150 years later, the Civil Rights Division of the Justice Department now is entrusted with that constitutional responsibility. The Division enforces Federal statutes prohibiting discrimination based on race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, national origin, and citizenship status.

And just as President Grant appointed a legal expert with a breadth of experience to lead the newly formed Justice Department in 1870, today, President Joe Biden has chosen Kristen Clarke to take up the mantle as the head of the Civil Rights Division. With her breadth of experience defending the civil rights of all Americans, Kristen Clarke is singularly qualified to lead this Division, particularly at this moment in history.

Kristen Clarke will be the first Senator confirmed woman of color to do so—the first.

When I listen to the caricatures that are portrayed on the floor of the Senate about this woman, I find it hard to believe they are talking about the Kristen Clarke that we met in open Senate hearings.

We know what happened to the Civil Rights Division under President Trump. Under President Trump and Attorneys General Sessions and Barr, the Civil Rights Division was decimated. Over the past 4 years, the Division rescinded guidance protecting transgender students, prohibited the use of consent decrees for local police departments that had engaged in systemic misconduct, and abandoned the pursuit of legal positions that protected Americans’ fundamental right to vote.

I believe America needs a Civil Rights Division that vigorously defends the civil rights of all Americans. Kristen Clarke is the legal expert we need to restore and reinvigorate the Civil Rights Division.

You wouldn’t know it from the characterizations on the other side about her experience, but, notably, she is a veteran right two of its sections. She benefited her legal career defending voting rights in the Voting Section and later prosecuted hate crimes in the Division’s Criminal Section. She personally... understands the key role the Division’s line attorneys play in protecting civil rights.

Since leaving the Civil Rights Division, Ms. Clarke has continued defending civil rights in State government and non-profit civil rights organizations. First, Ms. Clarke co-led the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund’s voting rights work, litigating voting rights cases under the Voting Rights Act and the National Voter Registration Act. Then she served as a civil rights official for the New York State Attorney General’s Office, where she played a key role in launching a religious rights initiative to address faith-based discrimination.

When you listen to those assignments and the fact that this woman was chosen to head these divisions, how can it possibly square with some of the caricatures that have been drawn on the floor today about who she is?

Most recently, Ms. Clarke was chosen to lead the Lawyers’ Committee for Civil Rights Under Law. Those of us who follow this closely know it is one of the most preeminent civil rights groups in America. During her tenure, the Lawyers’ Committee has taken on a huge caseload and doubled in size to address the most pressing civil rights issues of our time, including hate crimes.

Here is the part that I want to make a special emphasis on. Both Vanita Gupta and Kristen Clarke have extensive endorsements from law enforcement organizations. Yet, when they were characterized on the floor of the Senate by their critics, they were characterized as haters of police and law enforcement. It just mystifies me how Senators can come to the floor knowing these organizations and believe that these two women have hoodwinked them into believing that they support law enforcement. The women and men in law enforcement aren’t pushed around and aren’t easily deceived. They have endorsed these women, and today we address Kristen Clarke’s nomination because of the records they have written, not over a period of days or weeks or months but years and in some cases decades, that they have written.

Consider this statement from Sheriff David Mahoney from Dane County, WI, recently stepped down from the National Sheriffs’ Association:

Lety quickly add, the National Sheriffs’ Association is a powerful organization, and it is one that isn’t pushed around by any politicians.

Sheriff Mahoney wrote—and I want to quote his words after some of the outrages that have been made against Ms. Clarke this afternoon. Sheriff Mahoney wrote: “Building trust between law enforcement and communities is essential for law enforcement to effectively serve all members of our community. It is with this in mind that I strongly support Kristen Clarke. Ms. Clarke has built trust in every stage of her career.”

Does that sound like someone who wants to defund the police? Do you think that this Sheriff Mahoney from Dane County in Wisconsin would say that about someone who wants to defund police?

He went on to say: “When she was a federal prosecutor as a young attorney, she gained the trust of federal agents and domestic violence survivors and crime victims. When she was the Chief of the Civil Rights Bureau in the New York State Attorney General’s office, she built trust among New Yorkers to protect their rights, and with the Lawyers’ Committee, she gained the trust of hate crimes victims and survivors.”

She has so many endorsements from law enforcement groups and from prosecutors. I am not going to read them all into the RECORD.

Madam President, I ask unanimous consent to have letters of support for Ms. Clarke printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

NATIONAL ORGANIZATION OF BLACK LAW ENFORCEMENT EXECUTIVES, January 30, 2021.

Hon. CHARLES E. SCHUMER, Majority Leader, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

Hon. RICHARD J. DURBIN, Chairman, Committee on the Judiciary, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

Hon. MITCHELL MCCONNELL, Minority Leader, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

Hon. GEORGE G. SHELBY, Ranking Member, Committee on the Judiciary, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

DEAR MAJORITY LEADER SCHUMER, MINORITY LEADER MCCONNELL, CHAIRMAN DURBIN, AND RANKING MEMBER GRASSLEY: The National Organization of Black Law Enforcement Executives (NOBLE) formally acknowledges the work and commitment to service that has been exhibited by Ms. Kristen Clarke. She is a long-time partner of NOBLE and the recipient of our 2016 Civil Rights Justice by Action Award.

Ms. Clarke has displayed the qualities of leadership, empathy, excellence, and persistence in supporting and defending the U.S. Constitution while ensuring equal protection and justice for all Americans. This has been exhibited countless times in roles such as President of the Lawyers’ Committee for Civil Rights Under Law and Manager of the Civil Rights Bureau of the New York Department of Law.

It is NOBLE’s belief that Ms. Clarke will help to ensure the delivery of its mission which is to ensure equity in the administration of justice in the provision of public service to all communities, and to serve as the conscience of law enforcement by being committed to Justice by Action.

In closing, this correspondence acts as a formal endorsement of Ms. Kristen Clarke as the next Head of the U.S. Department of Justice Civil Rights Division.

Sincerely,

DWAYNE A. CRAWFORD, Executive Director,
Clarke to the position of Head of the US Department of Justice Civil Rights Division.

HAPCOA is the oldest and largest association of Hispanic American community officers from all levels of government and criminal justice agencies at the municipal, county, state, school, university and federal levels. HAPCOA's mission is to "empower the future of law enforcement" by assisting law enforcement, criminal justice and community organizations nationwide in their efforts to recruit, train, mentor and promote qualified Hispanic American men and women committed to a career in the criminal justice arena and to the communities in which they serve and protect.

HAPCOA acknowledges the work ethic and commitment of Ms. Clarke and believe that she will be an effective leader as the next Head of the DOJ Civil Rights Division.

Sincerely,

ANTHONY CHAPA, Executive Director

DANE COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE, April 29, 2021.

HON. CHARLES E. SCHUMER, Majority Leader, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

HON. MITCH MCCONNELL, Minority Leader, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

HON. RICHARD J. DURBIN, Chairman, Committee on the Judiciary, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

Dear Majority Leader Schumer, Minority Leader McConnell, and Ranking Member Grassley: I write to express my strong support for Kristen Clarke, the President's nominee to serve as Assistant Attorney General of the Civil Rights Division.

I serve as the Sheriff in Dane County, Wisconsin. I was first elected to this position in 2006 and have served four terms in office, and have over 40 years of service in law enforcement. Our office serves the city of Madison, the capital of Wisconsin, and its surrounding cities and towns. I also serve as President of the National Sheriffs' Association, an organization I hold in very high regard.

Building trust between law enforcement and communities is essential for law enforcement to effectively serve all members of our community. This overarching value is a bedrock principle that has guided my stewardship of the Sheriff’s office, and is shared by law enforcement leaders all across the country. This bedrock value is also important to federal law enforcement leaders, who partner with state and local law enforcement to promote public safety and build public trust.

It is with this in mind that I strongly support Kristen Clarke, the President’s Civil Rights Division nominee. Ms. Clarke has built trust at every stage of her career. When she was a federal prosecutor as a young attorney, she gained the trust of federal agents and domestic violence survivors and crime victims. When she was the Chief of the Civil Rights Bureau in the New York State Attorney General’s office, she built trust among New Yorkers to protect their rights to practice their faiths, to allow for language access, and to protect against discrimination at work. When Ms. Clarke left government service to lead the non-profit Lawyers’ Committee of Civil Rights Under Law, Ms. Clarke gained the trust of hate crimes survivors and tourists, to ensure that they could obtain justice against their perpetrators.

As a tireless advocate for those who have been victimized by inequality, hate, and discrimination, Ms. Clarke is exactly the type of person who should be charged with guarding and enforcing this country’s core federal civil rights laws. She is an exemplary lawyer and leader who possesses the character, qualifications, and commitment to lead the Civil Rights Division.

I urge you and your colleagues to support Ms. Clarke’s nomination.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

DAVID J. MAHONEY, Sheriff, Dane County, Wisconsin.

Mr. DURBIN. The point I am trying to make is this: At this moment in history, filling this Division, the Civil Rights Division, on the anniversary of George Floyd’s murder on the streets of Minneapolis, we are choosing the first woman of color in the history of the United States to head this Division. It is a historic choice. It shouldn’t be trivialized by those who want to paint a caricature of this woman not even close to the truth. It shouldn’t be trivialized by ignoring the many endorsements she rightly received because of her good life’s work, having spent her entire career defending the civil American rights movement.

Ms. Clarke is the right person for the job. President Joseph Biden believes that. The Attorney General believes it, and I believe it as well. At a time when we have seen an appalling rise in hate crimes, we need someone with her experience to lead this Division.

I urge my colleagues to take note of the continued need for the Civil Rights Division to do its important work 150 years after its creation. Given that need and Ms. Clarke’s breadth and depth of experience, I urge all of my colleagues to vote in favor of her nomination.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

The question is, Will the Senate advise and consent to the Clarke nomination? Ms. Clarke is the right person for the job. President Joseph Biden believes that. The Attorney General believes it, and I believe it as well. At a time when we have seen an appalling rise in hate crimes, we need someone with her experience to lead this Division.

I urge my colleagues to take note of the continued need for the Civil Rights Division to do its important work 150 years after its creation. Given that need and Ms. Clarke’s breadth and depth of experience, I urge all of my colleagues to vote in favor of her nomination.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the motion to reconsider is considered made and laid upon the table and the President will be immediately notified of the Senate’s action.

The Senator from Kansas is recognized.

Mr. MARSHALL. Madam President, I am here today to talk about the origins of the COVID-19 virus. I want to stop and thank the scientists and journalists who risked and in some instances gave their lives to get the genetic sequence of the virus and some of its origin clues out to the rest of the world to give us a fighting chance.

I also want to thank the NIH and Dr. Francis Collins, whose team was able to stabilize the virus within a matter of weeks and share that technology with the world. This helped to quickly launch the success of Operation Warp Speed, as well as other research for testing, anti-virals, and vaccines.

But now here we are 16 months into the most catastrophic health disaster of our lifetime, and we still have more questions than answers. At least 3 million lives have been claimed by the virus, and we still don’t know its origin. More specifically, we don’t know its geographical or biological origin. The world deserves to know and needs to know where and how it started. Was it naturally occurring, or was it made in a lab?

I am here today to tell you, the preponderance of evidence suggests that the virus leaked from a lab in Wuhan. But first let’s look at the mounting evidence suggesting that COVID–19 is truly a supervirus, the product of lab manipulations, including viral gain of function. In order to do this, we need to look at the world history of two shocking events and the great work of scientists surrounding the containment of SARS in 2002 and MERS in 2012.

For SARS, it took 4 months to find an intermediate host, a civet, a raccoon-looking mammal. Yes, it only took 4 months to prove that the SARS virus went from a bat to a civet to a human. Significantly, scientists found 21 viral ancestors to SARS, as the virus spontaneously mutated from a virus that would not easily attach to human cells into a more lethal virus.

For MERS, it only took 9 months to find the virus occurring naturally in bats, and the intermediate host was camel. Yet, with COVID–19, here we are some 16 months later, and we have no intermediate host and no COVID–19 found in a live bat. The Chinese tell us they tested over 80,000 viral sequences and looked up empty. Coincidence? No preceding viruses in our great-grandfathers, nothing close to resembling COVID–19 has been found in nature. As a matter of fact, the closest virus we know of to COVID–19 is RaTG13, which has called the Wuhan Institute of Virology home for several years. This virus was supposedly from bats in Yunnan and transported by scientists to the Wuhan viral lab, but of course the Chinese wouldn’t hand the virus over to the world now for further study.

Is it possible that RaTG13 could have been manipulated into COVID–19? Some experts would say yes. And we know, based upon the words of the WIV researcher, Dr. Shi, that the WIV had eight similar viruses to RaTG13, but China won’t share those either. What are they hiding?

Here is another interesting feature of COVID–19. It likes humans more than bats. As a matter of fact, it doesn’t harm bats. So the CCP propaganda claims this virus comes from bats, but it doesn’t like bats. Riddle me that.

Furthermore, no ancestors of COVID–19 have been found. Recall what typically occurs in nature is multiple mutations, just like with the SARS infection. We should be able to find multiple mutations as the virus goes from bat to human, to an intermediate liking, to human liking, to human loving. We would certainly welcome contrary evidence from the Wuhan labs.

Now if you will, forgive me for being a bit of a biology lover, but as a physician, I think we have to consider just how utterly ferocious and seemingly too perfect for nature this virus really is.

COVID–19 has a very unique spike protein made up by two units. The first unit has an amazing affinity for human lung cells. It sticks like glue to human lung cells and only gets a small whiff of it, and it uses the same human lung receptor that researchers in the United States and WIV have been working on together for viral gain of function and similar lab techniques for years. Perhaps this is just another coincidence.

To be fair, I really do think all the research has been done with the best of intentions to develop vaccines for a possible future epidemic. For all I know, the research already done may have significantly speed up the success of Operation Warp Speed.

Next we need to discuss one last point about this protein spike and how it interacts with human lung cells. And if there is a smoking gun, this is it. Remember I talked about this spike, this crown having two components, two units. Well, it just so happens that the human lung cell has a special cleaver, a cleaver that can recognize—you guess what I mean—that the COVID–19 spike. Bats don’t have this ability, but human lung cells do.

Anyway, what happens is, after the COVID–19 virus attaches to the human lung cell like glue, the human lung cell cleaves the spike perfectly, cleaves it perfectly, right on the animal, to human liking, to human function studies. But in the meantime, the American people—really the entire world—deserve to know the answers to the origins of the COVID–19 virus.

When that is finished, we need to take up the guardrails for viral gain-of-function studies. But in the meantime, the American people—really the entire world—deserve to know the answers to the origins of the COVID–19 virus.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Vermont.

Mr. SANDERS. Madam President, I want to rise to say a few words about the U.S. Innovation and Competition Act, which we are debating today. I think that the thrust of that act and what we are trying to accomplish is enormously important.

Right now, as I think most people know, we have a crisis in terms of microchip production here in the United States, and we are becoming increasingly dependent upon countries all over the world. For our own manufacturing sector—the automobile sector, the electronics sector—that is a very bad position to be in, and also, obviously, being dependent on other countries for microchips is a dangerous place to be in terms of national security.

I especially like provisions in this legislation which will increase funding for research and development, increase funds for scientific research, and invest in more Ph.D.s. We need more Ph.D.s in our country in science, technology, engineering, and math. I think these are very important steps in the right direction.

But I do have some very serious concerns about two provisions in this bill. No. 1, I am deeply concerned about the provisions which will provide $52 billion in emergency appropriations for the microchip industry, with no strings attached. Let me repeat that. We are talking about $52 billion in Federal funds—and, by the way, I suspect there will be more taxpayer money coming to these corporations from State and local government—with no strings attached. And, second of all, there is a provision in this bill, not an appropriation but an authorization, to provide $16 billion to a space company, which is owned by the wealthiest person in the world, Mr. Bezos.
When we talk about the microchip industry, we are talking about an industry that is not a poor, struggling industry. In fact, it is an extremely successful and wealthy industry that is worth now more than half a trillion dollars. The semiconductor companies have shut down over 780 manufacturing plants in the United States over the past several decades and laid off 150,000 American workers. So what you have is a situation that, over the last two decades, these very large corporations said: Why do I want to stay in the United States of America, pay workers here a living wage, protect environmental standards? I can go to companies in Asia and elsewhere and buy my products from them. The result, again, is 780 manufacturing plants in the last seven years that have shut down in America, and 150,000 American workers were laid off.

Now, let's talk about how we don't know exactly—nobody does—where this $52 billion in corporate welfare is going to go. But, obviously, it will go to some of the larger microchip companies, and one of the very largest is Intel.

Let me say a word about Intel. Last year, Intel made nearly $21 billion in profits. So we are proposing to provide many billions of dollars to a company that, last year, made $21 billion in profits. They spent $14.2 billion on stock buybacks—$14.2 billion on stock buybacks. Now, who is the company that is in line for a major infusion of U.S. taxpayer money, provided $110 million signing bonus to its CEO, Patrick Gelsinger?

Since 2015, this very same company, Intel, has shipped over 1,000 jobs overseas. Now, interestingly enough, Intel's CEO has admitted recently that it does not need corporate welfare. Let's give them credit for that. The CEO recently said this: "If we want things to happen in America, we do not depend on a penny of government support or state support or any other investments to make it successful and never will." They are prepared to do it on their own, which is what we hope most private corporations would do.

Now, among the other very large, leading microchip companies is the well-known Texas Instruments. They may well be in line to receive billions of dollars in corporate welfare as well under this piece of legislation. Last year, Texas Instruments made $5.6 billion in profits and spent $2.5 billion buying back its own stock, while it has outsourced thousands of jobs to low-wage countries. The CEO of Texas Instruments made over $30 million in total compensation last year—more than 400 times what the median worker at that company made. And this is also another company in line to receive billions and billions of dollars in Federal corporate welfare.

Who else might receive corporate welfare under this bill? Well, how about the major semiconductor company from Taiwan called the Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company, or what is often referred to as "TSMC," which is a very, very, very large microchip company. It is interesting that Mr. TSMC, the largest shareholder in that company. Well, it should not surprise anybody because this is how countries around the world do industrial policy, but the largest shareholder in TSMC has the Government of Taiwan. Mr. TSMC, money, you are giving that money directly to the Government of Taiwan.

Samsung, another very large corporate entity, South Korean, it owns several plants in Texas. So what we are doing is this: you are providing to Samsung, the largest shareholder, the company that is in line for a major infusion of U.S. taxpayer money, giving them a reality where taxpayer money from working people in this country will be going to large, profitable corporations, and several of them are owned literally by other entities.

In total, the top five semiconductor companies that may well receive grants under this legislation made nearly $35 billion in profits and spent more than $18 billion buying back its own stock. So here is the bottom line. I believe that we do want to grow the microchip industry here in the United States of America for reasons that everybody is familiar with. That is the industry that we need if we are going to grow the automobile industry, the electronics industry, and every other industry in this country. And we need to not be dependent upon China and other countries for the microchips that are used in everything we do.

So I am sympathetic to the goal of this bill, but I am not sympathetic with the idea of simply laying out $52 billion of taxpayers' money with no strings attached.

That is why I have introduced Senate amendment No. 2016. This amendment would prevent microchip companies from receiving taxpayer assistance unless they agree to issue warrants to the Federal Government.

If private companies are going to benefit from over $52 billion in taxpayer subsidies, the financial gains made by these companies must be shared with the American people, not just wealthy shareholders. In other words, all this amendment says is that if these companies want taxpayer assistance, we are not going to socialize all of the risks and privatize all of the profits.

And let me be very clear: this is not a radical idea. This is not something that I made up or any other Senator made up. These exact conditions were imposed on corporations that received taxpayer assistance in the bipartisan CARES Act, which passed the Senate 96 to 0. In other words, every Member of the U.S. Senate has already voted for the conditions that are in the amendment that I cosponsored by Senator Warner, by the way. They are in the amendment that we are offering.

Further, this amendment will also require companies—again, all of this was in the CARES Act. Every Member or at least 96 Members of the Senate voted for these conditions—not a new idea. So in addition to making sure that companies allow for warrants, it would be demanded that they could not buy back their own stock, not outsource American jobs overseas, not repeal existing collective bargaining agreements, and remain neutral in any union organizing effort.

Again, these are not new ideas, not radical ideas. All of these conditions are identical to the conditions that were placed in the CARES Act, which passed 96 to nothing.

I also want to say a word about the provision in there that authorizes $10 billion for Blue Origin, a company owned by Mr. Bezos.

You know, when we were younger and Neil Armstrong made it to the Moon, there was incredible joy and pride in this country that the United States of America did something that people forever had thought was impossible. We sent a man to the Moon, an extraordinary accomplishment. And the entire world watched that event with bated breath. It was just an extraordinary accomplishment for all of humanity, not just the United States, but we have a special pride because that was our project.

I worry very much that what we are seeing now are two of the wealthiest people in this country—Mr. Musk, Elon Musk, and Mr. Bezos—deciding that they are going to take control over our space efforts to get to the Moon and maybe even to Mars. This is something that should be an American effort, that all of us should be part of and not simply be a private corporation undertaking. So I have a real problem with the authorization of $10 billion going to somebody who, among other things, is the wealthiest person in this country.

So what I hope very much is that my amendment will be a part of the managers' amendments. I suspect there are Republicans who often tell us about wanting to save taxpayer dollars and not just throw them about who would be sympathetic to this effort, and I know there are a number of Democrats who are as well. So I would hope very much that my amendment No. 2016, which will be modified to just include provisions that were in the CARES bill, that it will be included in the managers' amendments that we will be voting on shortly.

With that, I leave the microphone.
Mr. CORNYN. Madam President, Texas has always been a proud supporter of an all-of-the above energy strategy. We are often recognized as an oil and gas powerhouse, which we are, but most folks don’t know that we are the No. 1 producer of energy from wind, the No. 2 producer of energy from solar, and we now produce one-quarter of all wind energy in the United States. So if Texas were a country—and my friend from Vermont may be interested in this—we would be the fifth largest wind energy producer in the world.

Mr. SANDERS. I did know that.

Mr. CORNYN. And we don’t have any plans of stopping there. We are also making serious strides in energy innovation.

A couple of years ago, I visited the NET Power plant in La Porte, TX, right outside of Houston. NET Power is significant because it has developed a first-of-its-kind power system that generates affordable zero-emissions electricity using their unique carbon capture technology, they have taken natural gas, one of the most prevalent and affordable energy sources, and made it emission-free. That is what innovation can produce: emission-free electricity from natural gas.

As impressive as this project is, though, it is made even better by the fact that it is not unique. Private companies are harnessing the power of human ingenuity to make our most used energy source, one of the most prevalent sources of emissions, carbon-neutral.

These kinds of developments, I think, are incredibly exciting, and they showcase, once again, the power of innovation not by the government but by the private sector.

If we are able to reduce emissions without harming our energy security, raising taxes, killing high-paying jobs, or driving up costs to consumers on a fixed income, why wouldn’t we? Breakneck changes in technology have fueled our information age, the communications sector, and completely transformed our daily lives.

It is time to harness American ingenuity to revolutionize the energy sector. Smart policies can’t prioritize only conservation, productivity, or economic power. We need to strike a balance of all three. You are simply not going to achieve the balance by imposing heavy-handed regulations or making it more expensive. Unfortunately, that seems to be exactly the path our Democratic colleagues in the Finance Committee want to take.

Over the last couple of years, we have seen no shortage of unrealistic and downright harmful policies that are advocated for in the name of reducing carbon emissions. Some of our colleagues have proposed everything from the socialist paradise that is the Green New Deal to a more targeted but no less radical position to take. Tomorrow, as I suggested, the Finance Committee will mark up the latest proposal, legislation introduced by Chairman WYDEN known by the innocuous name of the Clean Energy for America Act. This is anything but innocuous. The bill proposes a complete overhaul of the energy tax code to finance the full gamut of clean energy policies. At its core, though, it is an anti-fossil fuel bill.

Given the fact that more than 60 percent of our electricity is generated by fossil fuels, that strikes me as a pretty radical position to take. This proposal uses a variety of tax increases to place on fossil fuel producers and to push America toward renewables, which accounted for no less than 20 percent of our energy production last year. In other words, they want to push us into the renewable space that only a few years ago we were dependent on.

Mr. CORNYN. And we don’t have any plans of stopping there. Beyond harming our energy security, the legislation that the Finance Committee will consider tomorrow would kill countless high-paying jobs. It would weaken our global competitiveness and reverse the economic gains we have made because of a thriving oil and gas industry. And that is just scratching the surface of this misguided bill.

One of the most outrageous provisions, though, is the electric vehicle tax credit proposal. We all know that out of the 280 million cars on the road in America, the vast majority of Americans drive cars that run on gas or diesel. When they fill up their tank at the pump, they pay a tax on how many gallons they buy. Some of that money goes into the highway trust fund, the pot of money that pays to build and repair the roads and bridges we drive on every day. As we know, though, that tax fund is in dire straits. Unless something changes, the shortfall over the next decade is expected to be nearly $200 billion.

Those who drive electric cars don’t buy gasoline, obviously. They don’t contribute to the highway trust fund. They don’t pay anything to drive on the roads and bridges every other American has to pay for and ultimately subsidizes.

Proposal by the chairman of the Finance Committee doubles down on this problem and makes Americans do even more to subsidize the pricey electric vehicles owned by wealthy consumers. This legislation extends electric vehicle incentives, which will come at the cost of other taxpayers, without addressing the fact that electric vehicles are already driving on taxpayer-funded roads virtually free of charge. This is incredibly expensive and benefits only a limited group of wealthy Americans.

Let’s compare the cost of this program to the carbon capture projects I mentioned. Current electric vehicle subsidies equate to spending about $455 for every ton of CO₂ that is reduced. As a reminder, this applies high tax to emissions from cars. Electric vehicle subsidies have zero bearing on the carbon emission of the manufacturing sector, power generation, or other emission-intensive industries.

Carbon capture and storage, like the ExxonMobil project I mentioned earlier, can apply to virtually every source of emissions and at a much lower cost. lower cost. CO₂ can be abated for $100 to $200 per ton. That is less than half the price of an electric vehicle subsidy. I support efforts to reduce carbon emissions to preserve our air, land, and water for future generations, but those efforts can’t have the same at this sort of expenditure. You can support all energy sectors and innovation and conservation. These are not mutually exclusive.

One great example is a bill I introduced called the LEADING Act, which was signed into law last year. This legislation incentivizes the research and development of carbon capture technology for natural gas and innovation in the energy industry at large. That is how we can keep costs down for taxpayers and maintain this revolution in the energy sector.

So I will continue to push back on efforts to weaken our energy independence and harm our economy in pursuit of arbitrary goals. There is simply no reason to stick taxpayers with the bill for such unnecessary policies when there are better commonsense ways to promote both innovation and conservation.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Washington.

Ms. CANTWELL. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate resume legislative session; that the Senate resume consideration of S. 1260; and that the following amendments be called up and reported by number: Wyden, 1975; Crapo, 1565; Paul, 2003; Ernst, 1507; Daines, 1767; and Lee, 1891; further, that at 4:45 p.m. today, the Senate vote in relation to the amendments in the order listed with no amendments in order to these amendments prior to the vote in relation to these amendments in the order listed with no more than 15 minutes of debate, equally divided, prior to each vote.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

LEGISLATIVE SESSION

The Senate will now resume legislative session.

The Senator from Mississippi. S. 1260

Mr. WICKER. Madam President, I would like to be recognized for a moment before we proceed.

This is an important step in the consideration of the Endless Frontier Act. We have just locked in six votes for this afternoon—two important side by side, Wyden and Crapo on Finance Committee matters; a Paul amendment on the National Institutes of Health funds being used in China; an Ernst amendment on the Wuhan lab; a Daines amendment on intellectual property in China; and the Lee amendment on stem cell research.

This is a great step forward; that the Senate is proceeding this afternoon to regular order, and regular order allowing Senators to come forward and offer amendments that might improve the bill is helpful. It is hoped that we can do that again tomorrow and Thursday and move toward an opportunity to pass this bill.

I would point out to my colleagues, and I know the distinguished chair of the Finance Committee will agree with this. We have locked in six 15-minute votes. In fairness, really, the five subsequent votes should be 10-minute votes. We can fool around and wander here for hours, but by 3:45 today, we can begin at 4:45 and resume the practice that we had for years before we quit doing regular order in this body.

If Members will hold each other accountable and if the Chair is willing to say after a certain amount of time, if a strangler is missing, that Senator simply has missed votes, then we can do this in an orderly fashion. I have an appointment at 5:30 that I have to cancel. Perhaps others will have to do that too.

But we are making progress on a very substantive bill about the future of this country and moving toward competing in a better way with China. And I would suggest that maybe appointments in the early afternoon might be canceled, and we can get back to quick votes and be considerate of others, realizing that some of us may miss votes if we are late. I make that suggestion, and I thank my colleagues on both sides of the aisle for the hard work in locking in these six votes.

I yield back.

ENDLESS FRONTIER ACT—Resumed

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate will resume S. 1260, which the clerk will report.

The bill clerk reads as follows:

A bill (S. 1260) to establish a new Director for Technology and Innovation in the National Science Foundation, to establish a regional technology hub program, to require a strategy and report on economic security, science, research, innovation, manufacturing, and job creation, to establish a critical supply chain resiliency program, and for other purposes.

Pending:

Schumer amendment No. 1502, in the nature of a substitute.

Cantwell amendment No. 1527 (to amendment No. 1502), of a perfecting nature.

AMENDMENT NO. 1502

AMENDMENT NO. 1527 (to amendment No. 1502), of a perfecting nature.

AMENDMENT NO. 1597 (to amendment No. 1502), of a perfecting nature.

AMENDMENT NO. 1598 (to amendment No. 1502), of a perfecting nature.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the following amendments will be called up and reported by number.

The bill clerk reads as follows:

The Senator from Washington [Ms. CANTWELL], for herself and others, proposes en bloc amendments numbered 1975, 1565, 2003, 1507, 1787, and 1891 to amendment No. 1502.

The amendments are as follows:

AMENDMENT NO. 1975

(Purpose: To set forth trade policy, negotiating objectives, and congressional oversight requirements relating to the response to the COVID–19 pandemic)

At the end of title III of division F, add the following:

SEC. 6302. TRADE POLICY AND CONGRESSIONAL OVERSIGHT OF COVID–19 RESPONSE.

(a) Sense of Congress.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) it is imperative to promote the development and deployment of vaccines, including to address pandemics like the pandemic relating to COVID–19 and its variants; and

(2) as a developed nation with a long-standing commitment to promoting global science, research, innovation, access to innovation, public health, welfare, and security, the United States will continue to use the resources and tools at its disposal to promote the distribution of life-saving COVID–19 vaccines to other countries;

(3) President Biden should continue to work with foreign governments, multilateral institutions, nongovernmental organizations, manufacturers, and other stakeholders to quickly identify and address, through targeted and meaningful action, obstacles to distributing COVID–19 vaccine around the world, whether those obstacles are legal, regulatory, contractual, or otherwise;

(4) in any efforts to address trade-related obstacles to ending the COVID–19 pandemic, President Biden should consider how any action would complement the whole-of-government approach of the President to ending the COVID–19 pandemic worldwide, whether how any action would impact competitiveness, innovation, and the national security of the United States in the short- and long-term;

(5) the President should strive to create the most appropriate balance between access to COVID–19 vaccines and therapeutics and generating an innovative environment in the United States;

(6) the President should take into account the efforts of malign nations or entities to obtain intellectual property of United States persons through forced technology transfer, theft, or espionage, and accordingly make all efforts to protect that intellectual property from such nations or entities;

(7) in any efforts to address trade-related obstacles to ending the COVID–19 pandemic, Congress expects timely and meaningful consultations on any negotiations and any agreements or decisions reached regarding matters of concern to members of Congress and their constituents, including issues of competitiveness, innovation, and national security.

(b) Trade Policies With Respect to the COVID–19 Pandemic.—

(1) In General.—It is the policy of the United States to facilitate an effective and efficient response to the global pandemic with respect to COVID–19 by expediting access to life-saving vaccines, medicines, diagnostics, medical equipment, and personal protective equipment.

(2) Elements.—The United States Trade Representative shall pursue a timely, effective, and efficient response to the trade aspects of the COVID–19 pandemic, including by endeavoring to—

(A) expedite access to medicines and life-saving products through trade facilitation measures;

(B) obtain a reduction or elimination of nontariff barriers and distortions that impact the procurement of life-saving products;

(C) take action to increase access to COVID–19 vaccines globally, including providing access to intellectual property to nations or entities that seek to utilize the technology for other uses or that may otherwise pose a threat to national security;
(D) eliminate practices that adversely affect trade in perishable or temperature-sensitive materials and products in a manner that preserves their integrity;
(E) further strengthen the system of intellectual property and investment disciplines by demonstrating sufficient flexibility to respond to a global crisis while retaining a balanced approach to the rights of innovators;
(F) by cooperation between the World Trade Organization and other international organizations and public-private partnerships, including the World Health Organization, the United Nations Children’s Emergency Fund (commonly referred to as “UNICEF”), the World Bank, and Gavi, the Vaccine Alliance; and
(G) take into account other legitimate domestic policies of the United States, including health and safety, national security, consumer protection, the trade policies described in subsection (b), and the laws and regulations related thereto.

(c) CONGRESSIONAL OVERSIGHT, CONSULTATIONS, AND ACCESS TO INFORMATION.—
(1) INTENT TO NEGOTIATE.—If the United States Trade Representative enters any negotiation pursuant to the trade policies described in subsection (b), the Trade Representative shall—
(A) submit to Congress and publish in the Federal Register a statement specifying the objectives of the United States in pursuing the negotiation; and
(B) submit to Congress an assessment of how and to what extent entering the negotiation will achieve the trade policies described in subsection (b).
(2) CONSULTATION AND BRIEFING BEFORE MAKING PROPOSALS.—Before making any text proposals to the trade policies described in subsection (b), the United States Trade Representative shall—
(A) consistent with section 240 of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 (19 U.S.C. 1372), consult with the heads of relevant Federal agencies, including the Secretary of Commerce, the Secretary of Health and Human Services, and the Secretary of Defense, which shall include, as appropriate, discussion of—
(i) the most effective means of addressing the COVID–19 virus and any variants related to the COVID–19 virus, including by increasing the distribution of COVID–19 vaccines;
(ii) any sensitive technology or intellectual property related to the proposal;
(iii) any nations or entities of concern that may benefit from the proposal; and
(iv) other issues that may influence negotiation of the proposal; and
(B) brief members of the Committee on Finance of the Senate and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives, and the Committee on Finance of the Senate, and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives, and each joint committee of Congress, with jurisdiction over laws that could be affected by the agreement or exercise of authority; and
(ii) consult with respect to—
(I) provide the text of any proposed agreement for final consideration; and
(II) how and to what extent the agreement will achieve the trade policies described in subsection (b).
(d) DEFINITIONS.—In this section, the terms “World Trade Organization”, “WTO”, and “WTO member” have the meanings given those terms in the Uruguay Round Agreements Act (19 U.S.C. 3522(b)(3)) pursuant to the trade policies described in subsection (b), the United States Trade Representative shall—
(A) to use all available tools to ensure that the objectives sought by the Trade Representative fit into a larger strategy of addressing the COVID–19 pandemic.
(B) PUBLIC NOTIFICATIONS DURING NEGOTIATIONS.—In the course of any negotiations pursuant to the trade policies described in subsection (b), the United States Trade Representative shall—
(A) upon request of any Member of Congress, provide access to pertinent documents relating to the negotiations, including classified information;
(B) consult closely and on a timely basis with, and keep fully apprised of the negotiations, the Committee on Finance of the Senate and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives, including by providing any relevant text proposals before discussing those proposals with negotiation participants; and
(C) consult closely and on a timely basis with, and keep fully apprised of the negotiations, the Senate Advisory Group on Negotiations and the House Advisory Group on Negotiations convened under section 104(c) of the Bipartisan Congressional Trade Priorities and Accountability Act of 2015 (19 U.S.C. 4203(c)) and each committee of the Senate and the House of Representatives, and each joint committee of Congress, with jurisdiction over laws that could be affected by the negotiations; and
(D) follow the guidelines on enhanced coordination with Congress established pursuant to section 104(a)(2) of the Bipartisan Congressional Trade Priorities and Accountability Act of 2015 (19 U.S.C. 4203(a)(2)) regarding consultations with Congress, access to text, and providing those guidelines to the negotiating parties to the same extent as those guidelines apply to negotiations covered under that section.

(4) CONSULTATION WITH CONGRESS BEFORE CONCLUDING NEGOTIATIONS.—
(A) Consultation.—Before either reaching a final agreement or exercising authority provided under section 122(b)(3) of the Uruguay Round Agreements Act (19 U.S.C. 3522(b)(3)) pursuant to the trade policies described in subsection (b), the United States Trade Representative shall—
(i) the Committee on Finance of the Senate and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives;
(ii) each Congress of the United States and the House of Representatives, and each joint committee of Congress, with jurisdiction over laws that could be affected by the agreement or exercise of authority; and
(iii) the Senate Advisory Group on Negotiations and the House Advisory Group on Negotiations convened under section 104(c) of the Bipartisan Congressional Trade Priorities and Accountability Act of 2015 (19 U.S.C. 4203(c)).
(B) SCOPE.—In conducting consultation under subparagraph (A), the Trade Representative shall—
(I) provide the text of any proposed agreement for final consideration; and
(II) consult with respect to—
(I) the nature of the agreement; and
(II) how and to what extent the agreement will achieve the trade policies described in subsection (b).

(5) Congress encourages the United States Trade Representative, the Attorney General, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of Homeland Security, the Secretary of Commerce, and the Director of the United States Patent and Trademark Office—
(A) to use all available tools to ensure that the People’s Republic of China fully implements its commitments under the Agreement; and
(B) to actively consider additional means necessary for the People’s Republic of China to address unfair market access barriers, required forced technology transfer requirements, and broader intellectual property theft concerns, including through future trade agreements and negotiations with partners in multinational organizations, such as the Group of 7 (G7), the Group of 20 (G20), and the World Trade Organization.

(6) AMENDMENT OF AGREEMENT.—The President, acting through the United States Trade Representative, shall coordinate with the heads of such Federal agencies as the President considers appropriate to enforce the actions related to intellectual property laid out in the Agreement including—
(1) the investigatory, and remedial procedures and deterrent-level civil and criminal penalties provided in the Agreement; and
(2) under the full enforcement authority of the President, including any enforcement authority in connection with the identification and reporting process under section 182 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2242).
(b) REPORT ON STATUS OF IMPLEMENTATION OF CERTAIN OBLIGATIONS.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, and every 180 days thereafter, the United States Trade Representative shall submit to and every 180 days thereafter, the United States Trade Representative shall submit to
(2) INFORMATION IN REPORT.—Each report required by paragraph (1) shall contain information sufficient to enable the appropriate committees of Congress to assess the extent of the compliance by the People’s Republic of China with the Agreement, including appropriate quantitative metrics.
(d) DEFINITIONS.—In this section:
(2) The term “appropriate committees of Congress” means the Committee on Finance of the Senate and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives.

AMENDMENT NO. 1891
(Purpose: To impose limitations on research)
At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. 2. LIMITATION ON RESEARCH.
None of the activities authorized by this Act may include, conduct, or support any research—
(1) using fetal tissue obtained from an induced abortion or any derivatives thereof;
(2) in which a human embryo is created or destroyed, put at risk of injury, or intentionally created or modified to include a heritable genetic modification; or
(3) using any stem cell the derivation of which would be inconsistent with the standards established herein.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. MURPHY). The Senator from Delaware.
WASHINGTON, D.C. ADMISSION ACT
Mr. CARPER. Mr. President, I rise this afternoon with several of our colleagues, to discuss the need to end the policy of taxation without representation, which millions of Americans in the District of Columbia have endured for over 200 years and hundreds of thousands still endure today.

This policy was wrong in 1776, when 13 colonies took on the mightiest nation on Earth to end it. It is wrong today, and we seek to end it through the enactment of S. 51, the Washington, D.C. Admission Act.

In our country will observe Memorial Day, a holiday often observed to mark the start of summer. But on Memorial Day of this year, many of us will pause to remember the generations of Americans in our Armed Forces who have laid down their lives for our country. That is what Memorial Day is all about. This day means something special in my own family. My own family's grandmother was a Gold Star mother.

With the death of John McCain, I am the last Vietnam veteran serving in the U.S. Senate. The names of some 58,000 men and women with whom John and I served are engraved on a black granite wall near the Lincoln Memorial, just a few miles from where we are standing today. The heroes named on that wall include brave men and women from Washington, DC, as well. Since World War I, in fact, over 5,000 Americans from the District of Columbia have lost their lives in service to the United States. And, today, roughly 15,000 DC residents are on Active Duty or serving part time in the National Guard in the States. That is 15,000 Americans serving dutifully in the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines, or the Coast Guard.

Our Nation’s Capital is home to more than just monuments and museums. It is home to Americans who work, who start businesses, and who contribute to America’s economy. And just like all 50 States represented in this body, the District of Columbia is home to veterans and their families and is part of our national defense. The President considers appropriate to enforce the civil, administrative, and criminal penalties provided in the Agreement including—
(1) the actions related to intellectual property—
(2) by using the full enforcement authority of the President, including any enforcement authority in connection with the identification and reporting process under section 182 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2242).

We have a fearless champion in the House, Congresswoman ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON. With her leadership, along with that of the Speaker and Leader STENY HOYER, the House passed their DC statehood bill last month for the second time—the second time ever.

We also have, for the first time, a President who formally supports ending this policy—this modern-day policy—of taxation without representation. And in the Senate, we have a record 45 cosponsors on our bill to make the District of Columbia a State, a number that represents Members from rural and urban areas alike. This number has grown steadily since my colleague and our former colleague, Joe Lieberman—a fiercely independent Senator from Connecticut—led this charge in the Senate before passing the baton to me in 2013.

I know that some of our colleagues have noted that DC statehood is unconstitutional. To be clear, the District of Columbia has taken the same steps for statehood that 37 other States have taken since 1791—the same steps—a process clearly laid out in our Constitution. This case was made clearly in a letter to Congress just this week from nearly 40 leading constitutional scholars, who wrote that Congress is well within its rights to grant statehood.

On a different holiday later this summer, we will be celebrating July Fourth to remember those who fought for our independence, and I will remind my colleagues again that the Founding Fathers, the same men who wrote our Constitution, had a rallying cry during the Revolutionary War: There is no taxation without representation.

Yet that is exactly what is happening to the citizens in the District of Columbia today. The reality is that these citizens pay the most—get this, the citizens of the District of Columbia pay the most—in per capita Federal income taxes in the United States, more than any other State, but they have no say in how those dollars are spent, none. It is much too late to do the right thing. The right thing to do now is to ensure that nearly 700,000 Americans living in the District of Columbia, serving in our military, voting, actually have a chance to vote on the representation in this body and in the House. The right thing to do is to end this policy of taxation without representation.
With that, I thank you, and I yield the floor to some of my colleagues who, I believe, will be joining us on this call, including the Senator from New Jersey.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from New Jersey.

Mr. BOOKER. Mr. President, I am honored to join in a colloquy with some of my colleagues today on this urgent issue to really talk about the central function of our democracy, whether the ideals of this Nation are real here in this country.

Now, if you cut me, I am going to bleed Jersey. But let me tell you very plainly that I am proud to have grown up in Jersey, but I am also proud to have been born in Washington, DC. This is where my parents met after college. This is where they fell in love. Their first date was at the Jefferson Memorial, at the paddle boats there at the Reflecting Pool. They did, there, remember—telling me—just the love they had for each other that was already dawning, but also this fierce allegiance to this incredible community that is Washington, DC. My mom talked about the activism that was here. She was working for the public school speech pathologist, and she talked about this patriotic feel that she had, especially when she was helping to organize the March on Washington. The words on the Jefferson Memorial, where my parents had their first date, at the end of Declaration of Independence, say: “[W]e mutually pledge... our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor.”

That is what we are called to pledge to one another, but for too long the people of this city have not had the honor, the privileges, the equal citizenship rights that so many others in every State in our Union, in all parts of our democracy, enjoy. These are rights, as my colleague says, that Washington, DC—if, in fact, disproportionate to many other States—people from this community have bled for and died for.

This city is an extraordinary place. It is a community. It outnumbers, in fact, in population other States. And we believe that the ideals of one person, one vote, no taxation without representation—that all of these are rights being denied fellow Americans. Where is the honor in that?

Veterans and servicemembers living here on this side of the fence, fighting for us, put their lives on the line for us, but do not have equal citizenship rights.

The people of DC pay both local and Federal taxes that go to help the people in red States and blue States. They are a city that pays more taxes than they are necessarily receiving back, but when the people of DC need help, when they need an advocate with voting power, they don’t have one in this body or in the one across the hall.

The lack of representation really has consequences—serious ones—that significantly decreases DC’s leverage in getting laws passed and securing vital resources for its residents. We saw this firsthand in the first COVID-19 stimulus bill. Washington, DC, received $725 million less in critical aid than other less populous States. That was funding needed for Washington, DC, first responders, for COVID-19 tests, and other emergency needs. They were treated as second-class citizens.

How is this fair? How is this just? How is this sacred honor? And how can this be partisan? These are our sacrosanct values for those of us on both sides of the aisle, that our democracy was intended to function. These were some of the elements of the Revolutionary War.

I am hard-pressed to believe that my colleagues on either side of the aisle don’t recognize that to deny the people of Washington, DC, representation is contrary to the values that we state regularly on this floor. Making DC a State is truly a civil rights issue, and it is also an issue of racial justice.

In Washington, DC, is a community that is a majority—Black and Brown city, and the people of this city deserve the same opportunity that other less populated States have to make their voices heard in Congress. This is especially urgent as we are seeing so many States around the country—which in the name of democracy were intended to make it harder for the DC majority—Black and Brown folks—to even vote.

As U.S. Senators, we have an obligation not just to pass laws but to be stewards of democratic ideals and principles. We took an oath to that. Making DC a State is not just a matter of civil rights for DC. It is about all of us because our democracy will only survive as long as its true representation is that of all of its people. Truly, we know in this Nation—it has been said by greater leaders before us—that injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere.

The people of DC have made clear what they want, saying it loudly. They deserve full citizenship rights. They desire the right to vote. They desire the right to have representation. They want to be the 51st State. They should be the 51st State.

My parents lived for many years in this city, and I heard about DC statehood as a little boy growing up in New Jersey. For them, it was a matter of dignity and respect. It was a matter of valuing this community and the richness of its people. To them, it is a matter of the evolution of our democracy that the people of this great city should be denied the very ideals that are written on the Jefferson Memorial. I urge my colleagues to move on this and to grant this DC statehood and to afford them the sacred honor that all Americans deserve.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Virginia.

Mr. KAINE. Mr. President, I am thrilled to have also join my colleagues in pressing the case for DC statehood. I won’t be long because I was on the floor about 3 weeks ago talking about this same matter. I really talked about Virginia then. I talked about Patrick Henry.

The phrase “no taxation without representation” is a phrase that we learn coming up in elementary school. The root of it isn’t really at the beginning of the Declaration of Independence or during the Revolutionary War; that phrase really came about as colonists rallied to oppose the Stamp Act.

The Stamp Act was an act of Parliament in 1765 that put a tax on paper goods, newspapers and periodicals. The English Crown was getting very, very worried about the restive nature of Americans pressing their case for being treated equally as royal colonists and subjects of the Crown, but they were not happy with the way they were being treated.

The Stamp Act was an attempt not just to levy a tax, but it was also an attempt to shut down their rights to have political discussions.

Patrick Henry led an effort in the Virginia General Assembly in 1765 that came to be known as the four resolves. He put five resolves on the table, one of which was set aside, but four resolves were passed, and the core of the four resolves was to protest taxation without representation.

One of my great regrets was wanting to hear the great orators of history and never to have had a chance to hear Patrick Henry, although I have heard good Patrick Henry impersonations at St. John’s Church in Richmond. What a powerful speaker—the “Give me liberty or give me death” speech on the very kind of verge of the United States declaring independence; his court advocacy as a relatively untrained lawyer in Virginia on behalf of religious freedoms so that people who were not part of the established Church of England could still practice their faith as they chose. But many believe that Henry’s advocacy against the Stamp Act was his most powerful oratory.

I read excerpts of the resolves when I was here 3 weeks ago, but now I want to jump from Patrick Henry to somebody else who is very much in the spirit of Patrick Henry, and that is Frederick Douglass.

If DC becomes a State, it will become a State named in honor of the abolitionist Frederick Douglass.

Frederick Douglass certainly was an inheritor of the Patrick Henry tradition. He was enslaved for the first 20 years of his life, and then following the Civil War, he moved to the Nation’s Capital to become so many things—diplomat, civil rights leader, confidant of President Lincoln, President Grant, and others.

In his autobiography, “The Life and Times of Frederick Douglass,” he wrote:

The District of Columbia is the one spot where there is no government for the people, of the people, and by the people. Its citizens submit to rulers whom they have had no choice in selecting. They obey laws which they had no voice in making. They have a
About 46 percent of the population of DC is African American, folks who—many march in the footsteps and quest for the same equality that Frederick Douglass was questing for in the 1800s. I hope we can show that the failures of the past are not always our messages, but we make an effort to do that. We need to look in the mirror and make that same effort right here at home.

I hear so many of my colleagues on the other side of the aisle talking about the importance of democracy around the world, but when it comes to granting the people in the District of Columbia the full rights of a democracy—the right to two votes in the Senate and a vote in the House—they are not there.

The people of the District of Columbia are fed up and tired of the hypocrisy. They are even more fed up about threats, and I say they disapprove of Senator from Virginia, was just talking about the fact that they contribute in every way to our country but are denied the right to having representation in the House and the Senate. The Senator from Virginia talked about the District of Columbia, but there are others who know establish that principle. Here in the Nation's Capital, the people of the District of Columbia pay higher taxes than those in 22 other States; yet they don't have a vote in the House or two Senators to represent them.

They have also had people who served in every one of our wars, who spilled blood for this country. Yet, while they helped to protect our democracy from threats abroad, they don't have a vote, in our democracy, to cast those votes for voting representatives in the House and the Senate. This is not a partisan issue. We know it shouldn't be. We know that if every Member put on a blindfold and just said that the people of the District of Columbia deserve a vote without thinking of the political outcome, the people of the District of Columbia would have a State.

Others have pointed out, two States have smaller populations, but they have two Senators who can cast votes here in this Chamber. The State of Wyoming and the State of Vermont are smaller population-wise than the District of Columbia, but they have those rights and representatives here in the U.S. Senate.

We should move forward with the States of Washington, Douglass Commonwealth, and I say to our colleagues oppose this idea, since they don't want to take it on the principle of democracy—we have heard some absurd reasons given for why the District of Columbia shouldn't be a State. Here are a few. And if anybody doubts that Republican Members in the House or Senate have said these things, I will be happy to show it to you.
We have heard from Members of Congress that the people of the District of Columbia don't deserve statehood because it doesn't have a landfill. We have heard that the District of Columbia shouldn't be given statehood because it needs a car dealership. First, they said: Well, it isn't a State because it has no car dealerships, but now it doesn't have enough of them. Others have said: Well, because it lacks a mining industry, how could it possibly be a State? And then most recently, we heard that it would be unfair to give the people of the District of Columbia a State here because their representatives would have an unfair advantage. They would have special superpowers because they would have, for example, the Capitol that they would somehow be able to get an unfair leg up on everybody else here in the U.S. Senate.

These are reasons that Republican House Members and Senators have given to the people of the District of Columbia the right to statehood. We all know what they are. It is just a wall of excuses in their trying to obfuscate and prevent us from getting to the main issue. If you don't want to talk about the principle of democracy, change the subject.

The real concern, as we know, is that the people of the District of Columbia will cast votes for representatives in the House who think best reflect their interests. We believe that, in the current situation, those seats will go to Democratic Members in the Senate and the House.

As my colleagues have said, the District of Columbia is comprised of a majority of people of color, and the Senator from Virginia talked about the history of that having been an impediment to the admission of some other States in the past before the country did the right thing. We have the power to do the right thing.

I have here a letter from 39 constitutional scholars affirming our authority to make the District of Columbia the 51st State and do it.

Frederick Douglass once noted that the District of Columbia was "one spot where there is no government for the people, of the people, and by the people." His words are a call from his history—a call that demands that we reflect on this act of selective disenfranchisement that has been happening for generations and which is still happening to this day right outside of this building right now. Let us change that today. Let us change that and make this the 51st State and name it in honor of Frederick Douglass.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Maryland.

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. President, I first want to thank my colleague and friend Senator CARPER for leading this effort with S. 51, the Washington, D.C. Admission Act. It is long overdue that we acknowledge an injustice in our country and try and give the citizens of the District of Columbia their full representation rights by statehood.

I have been working on this issue for a long time. When I was the speaker of the Maryland General Assembly almost 40 years ago, the Maryland General Assembly took action to give full representation to the people of the District in the Congress of the United States, and we are still working on this issue. It is long overdue that we acknowledge a shortcoming in our own system for 700,000 residents of the District of Columbia.

I had the honor of chairing the U.S. Helsinki Commission. It is the implementing arm for the Helsinki Final Act of the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe. It has the membership of all of the countries of Europe and the former Soviet Union, Central Asia, Canada, and the United States. I mention that because in 1975, those countries entered into an agreement on basic, fundamental democratic principles, including the right to have representation. That document also gives us the opportunity and obligation to question whether member states are in compliance with the Helsinki Final Act. Quite frankly, we have used that opportunity to raise issues in countries.

Our Presiding Officer has been very aggressive in his comments about Russia, and we have used that to bring up the fact that Russia violated the commitments of the Helsinki Final Act. It occurred when it took over Crimea, and it is still interfering with the sovereignty of Ukraine. We have offered our objections when Russia's Government has stepped on the human rights of the people of its own country—like those of Aleksei Navalny's, the opposition leader, being imprisoned and tortured. That is in violation of the Helsinki Final Act. We have raised those issues.

We have raised those issues about another other countries, including when they have jailed journalists or failed to allow civil society an opportunity to be heard, for they are violations of the Helsinki Final Act.

For us to have credibility in raising these issues of other countries that are violating the fundamental principles, we have to self-evaluate where we are. If we are going to be leaders, we have to acknowledge our own shortcomings and take steps to eliminate those shortcomings.

Quite frankly, we are an outlier when it comes to the representation for the people of the District of Columbia. We have violated their basic rights. We are the only country in the world wherein the citizens of its capital do not have the opportunity to vote for representatives in the national legislature. That is not a distinction that we want to have.

The 700,000 people who live in the District are being denied representation in their government, and as has been pointed out, it is larger than some of our States. Those States have fewer people but have two U.S. Senators and a Member of the House of Representatives, and the people of the District should likewise be treated.

This is not a matter of politics; this is a matter of fundamental rights. America's strength is in our values, in how we treat as a people. Our ability to lead is fundamentally dependent upon our doing the right thing at home.

We need to give the District of Columbia that status. The House has already done this. It passed H.R. 51. It is past time for the Senate to act on this. I ask unanimous consent to complete my remarks before any rollcall votes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. YOUNG. Mr. President, this week is Indy 500 Week in the State of Indiana. For these 7 days, Hoosiers will be swept up in the pageantry and the tradition of the great race in Racing. Every minute this week is leading toward the moment when the white flag comes out, signifying the finish line, when the drivers make that last push toward the finish line.

I couldn't help but think about this annual tradition as we enter the home stretch on the Endless Frontier Act in the coming days. The legislation has evolved and improved and grown over the last few months. We now know it as the U.S. Innovation and Competition Act, but as we head into this week, I thought it important to reset and refocus on why we began this journey in the first place.

For me, it began back in 2019, in the gym of all places, where one morning, Senator SCHUMER and I began talking about the need to go on offense against the Chinese Communist Party. Since the Cold War, Beijing has aimed to overtake America, not with weapons but through innovation and economic growth. Through Made in China 2025, Beijing set out with a deliberate plan to dominate the world through strategic investments and emerging technologies, all of which have the potential to fundamentally change this country's economic and security environment for good or for ill.

Until now, we have primarily focused on defensive countermeasures to thwart aggression by the Chinese Communist Party: blocking Huawei, imposing export controls, and improving foreign investment rules. Look, these priorities are really important, and they must remain part of the mix, but if America is to lead the world in the 21st century. It is neither realistic nor practical to build an economic iron curtain around China. You see, just as we did in the 20th century, we must not simply contain our leading global competitor but innovate and outgrow it. We must go on offense.

The Endless Frontier Act was and is our effort to do just that, to make the kinds of research and science investments we haven’t made for decades. We are opening a new Technology Directorate at the National Science Foundation and creating regional tech hubs to ensure we are leveraging the talents and abilities of Americans across the country, with the corresponding economic benefits, in the heart of our country, not just those on the coasts.

This legislation will be a boost to our economy, but make no mistake—it is not just about the economy. This is about deciding which standards, which values are going to animate these new technologies in the future: the values we see cracking down on protesters in the streets of Hong Kong? the values that enslave millions of Uighurs in Xinjiang? our American values, which recognize that all men are created equal and are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights?

America is watching, and the free world is as well. All who are watching should be encouraged. You see, this body has largely embraced this objective. We have continued to go through the regular Senate order—an increasingly rare accomplishment in this body. Following each Member to offer amendments to improve this legislation. In fact, it was marked up in the Senate Commerce Committee and approved by a vote of 24 to 4. Last week, it came to the Senate floor, and we considered more amendments. This week, we will consider even more amendments.

As is typically the case in regular order, nobody gets everything they want. But this bill’s authors. As one example, through the markup process, less investment than I had originally proposed will now be provided to the NSF Tech Directorate, but that is OK. It is OK because this change and others are ones we can live with so that we can come together and prove that our system works while advancing a once-in-a-generation investment in science and technology.

We must send a message to the authorizing committees. They say we are too divided to lead the world in the 21st century. It is time to come together and prove them wrong.

As we Hoosiers say at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, the white flag is out. This is the final lap for this bill in the U.S. Senate. I look forward to seeing this open process through to the finish line so that, together, we can outcompete, outinnovate, and outgrow the Chinese Communist Party.

I thank the Presiding Officer.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Idaho.

Mr. CRAPO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that I and Senator WYDEN and Senator SCHUMER may be able to complete our remarks before the vote.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

AMENDMENT NO. 1565

Mr. CRAPO. Mr. President, I rise today to speak on amendment No. 1565 to the U.S. Innovation and Competition Act, or USICA, the underlying bill.

My amendment preserves the constitutional authority of Congress over international trade. It does so by ensuring the President cannot waive or modify congressionally approved trade agreements, including the WTO Agreement on Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights, or TRIPS—the TRIPS Agreement. And the reason is that the TRIPS Agreement, like the USICA, contains provisions that facilitate leadership of the United States in scientific and technological innovation.

China is challenging that leadership through predatory practices aimed at undermining our administration. Under the leadership of the United States in scientific and technological innovation.

China is challenging that leadership through predatory practices aimed at undermining our administration. Under the leadership of the United States in scientific and technological innovation.

China is challenging that leadership through predatory practices aimed at undermining our administration. Under the leadership of the United States in scientific and technological innovation.

Chinese firms exist because of strong IP protections. The problem is the manufacturing capacity. The problem is the manufacturing capacity.

Colleagues, there are vaccines precisely because the innovative U.S. firms exist because of strong IP protections. The problem with access to vaccines is not intellectual property. The problem is the manufacturing capacity.

This amendment I am proposing allows the administration to proceed, providing it is willing to make the case, including by presenting evidence of national security risks presented by the administration's decision makes sense and provides for consultation by the administration with the public and Congress concerning its proposal. This will facilitate transparency, identify any national security risks presented by the administration's proposal, and, importantly, will stop a action that does not further vaccine access or present a risk to our national security.

Accordingly, if the administration's proposal is determined by the administration's own Agencies not to present a risk to U.S. national security and that it positively facilitates vaccine access, the administration may continue negotiating and seeking an outcome for a waiver.

It must not be the case that once Congress approves a trade agreement, the administration can simply withdraw rights or obligations under a congressionally approved trade agreement or alter its terms however it sees fit. You remember the administration is seeking to do here.

If we were to accept that proposition, what is the point for Congress's approving any future trade agreement if Congress can simply alter it without again coming to Congress to make that change?

This amendment ensures that the administration's proposal will, in fact, get a vote by applying fast-track-like procedures to its conclusions. It also prohibits the USICA from going to China or Russia.

I have only one redline, which I suspect all of you share. The administration may not waive U.S. IP rights under the TRIPS Agreement to China and Russia. Congress approved the entry of these two countries into the WTO precisely because we wanted to hold them accountable to WTO rules.

Russia and China are a threat to American innovation and the principle reason why the USICA is before us on the floor of the Senate today. So why would we then allow the administration to legally bless their malfeasance?

The outcome is subject to congressional approval, just like the original TRIPS Agreement.

I also demand real consultation with Congress. My colleague's amendment provides only that the administration will provide relevant proposals and pertinent documents to Congress related to the final agreement. There is no reason to grant this leeway to the administration or its existing failure to consult with us.

My amendment requires the administration to provide the text of any U.S. proposal to Congress 5 business days before it is tabled in a trade negotiation, or after it has agreed to amend a congressionally approved agreement. With respect to that agreement and the other WTO agreements, we have spoken clearly as a body that the United States can withdraw from these agreements if, and only if, Congress passes a resolution to that effect.

For example, it requires reports on issues central to whether the administration's decision makes sense and provides for consultation by the administration with the public and Congress concerning its proposal. This will facilitate transparency, identify any national security risks presented by the administration's proposal, and, importantly, will stop a action that does not further vaccine access or present a risk to our national security.

Accordingly, if the administration's proposal is determined by the administration's own Agencies not to present a risk to U.S. national security and that it positively facilitates vaccine access, the administration may continue negotiating and seeking an outcome for a waiver.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President and colleagues, Senator CRAPO has brought forward an amendment to the competition bill. It deals with the Biden administration's announcement that it would participate in negotiations on intellectual property and the coronavirus vaccines.

Unfortunately, my friend’s amendment also goes far beyond the current pandemic and adds roadblocks to any other trade agreements in the future. So I must oppose Senator CRAPO’s amendment.

I am offering an alternative, which the Senate will also vote on shortly. The fact is that even though COVID is receding, American countries, the virus will still be a danger to Americans as long as there are outbreaks and mutations around the world.

That is a big reason why the Biden administration is working overtime to increase vaccine production and distribution as quickly as possible in our country and around the world. It is also why the administration announced its intention to participate in negotiations over the vaccine IP waivers. The U.S. Trade Representative will be in charge of our participation in those negotiations.

Again, unfortunately, the Crapo amendment would tie up our U.S. Trade Representative in bureaucratic red tape and reporting for many months before she could speak to any of our trading partners about the issue.

Ambassador Tai and the Biden administration recognize that the TRIPS waiver is not going to end the pandemic overnight. However, the American people and countries around the world cannot afford the delay that the Crapo amendment would cause.

The Crapo amendment puts the U.S. Trade Representative into what amounts to a straitjacket, making it hard—if not impossible—to negotiate fixes or modifications to any trade agreement, for any reason. It would make the process for modifying an agreement more difficult than getting into an agreement in the first place. That is a big roadblock to improvements that could raise standards for workers and the environment.

I will close by mentioning that I have filed an alternative, amendment 1975. My amendment guarantees transparency and consultations throughout the negotiations. It makes clear that the United States must promote global access to vaccines, all while safeguarding our IP from hostile foreign powers and protecting American innovation.

So here is the bottom line: It is not only possible, it is absolutely essential for our system to include strong intellectual property protections, as well as exceptions to promote the common good at the same time.

My amendment strikes the right balance. The Crapo amendment just goes too far in the direction of blocking the administration from using all available tools to fight the pandemic and to make improvements to any other trade agreements.

For that reason, I urge Senators to support my amendment, 1975. I urge my colleagues to oppose my friend’s amendment, the Crapo amendment, and that will be the next vote.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority leader?

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that all votes after the first be 10 minutes in length, and we are going to try to stick to it as best we can. So please, Members, we are trying to finish. We have six votes. We are trying to get them done.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there an objection? Without objection, it is so ordered.

VOTE ON AMENDMENT NO. 1975

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, there will now be 2 minutes of debate equally divided prior to a vote in relation to the Wyden amendment, No. 1975.

NOT VOTING—1

Kennedy

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. PETERS). On this vote, the yeas are 53, the nays are 46.

Under the previous order requiring 60 votes for the adoption of this amendment, the amendment is rejected.

AMENDMENT NO. 2003 TO AMENDMENT NO. 1565

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, there will now be 2 minutes of debate, equally divided, prior to the vote in relation to the Paul amendment No. 2003.

The Senator from Kentucky.

Mr. PAUL. Mr. President, we may never know whether the pandemic arose from the lab in Wuhan, but we do know that so far no intermediate animal host has been discovered. Thousands of animals at the wet market have been looked at. None of them have carried COVID-19. We have tried to infect COVID–19 into bats. It doesn’t grow well in bats. It seems most adapted and suitable for humans. We may not know whether this ever arose out of a Wuhan lab, but I think gain-of-function research, where we take a deadly virus, sometimes much more deadly than COVID, and then we increase its transmissibility to mammals is wrong.

In 2014, NIH stopped all of this research. I am using the same definition to say any gain-of-function research should not be funded in China with U.S. taxpayer dollars. I recommend a “yes” vote.

VOTE ON AMENDMENT NO. 2003

Ms. CANTWELL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to vitiate the 60-vote requirement for this amendment and yield back time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

All time is yielded back.

The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

The amendment (No. 2003) was agreed to.

Mr. SCHUMER. Let’s hear it for RAND PAUL for passing an amendment unanimously.

AMENDMENT NO. 1507 TO AMENDMENT NO. 1502

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, there will now be 2 minutes of debate, equally divided, on the Ernst amendment No. 1507.

The Senator from Iowa.

Ms. Ernst. Mr. President, for years prior to the COVID pandemic, U.S. taxpayer dollars were being funneled into Communist China’s state-run Wuhan Institute of Virology.

After COVID appeared in the vicinity of the Wuhan Institute, instead of cooperating with efforts to discover the source of the outbreak, Chinese officials instead ordered the destruction of some of the coronavirus samples and blocked access to the lab.

China continues to obstruct international efforts to discover the origins of COVID, refusing to allow independent scientists to review the database of coronaviruses that were being studied in the Wuhan Institute.

Providing additional U.S. funds to subsidize any state-run lab in China, especially the Wuhan Institute of Virology, goes against the very purpose of the underlying bill, which is to support more research in the United States to better compete with China.

My amendment would assure that not another dime of taxpayer dollars goes to subsidizing Communist China.
clear, that even during a pandemic, supporters will put ideology ahead of science and ahead of patients’ health and gladly undermine the same type of research that helped develop new therapies for COVID–19.

This is an irresponsible, ideological attack on science and medical research. And it not only undermines doctors and researchers and patients’ healthcare, it also undermines the goal of this whole bill, which is to boost American innovation and competitiveness. I urge a “no” vote.

Mr. LEE. I call for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

NOT VOTING—1

Kennedy

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order requiring 60 votes for the adoption of this amendment, the amendment is not agreed to.

The amendment (No. 1891) was rejected.

The Senator from New York.

Mrs. GILLIBRAND. Mr. President, I rise tonight to once again call for this entire body to have the opportunity to consider the Military Justice Improvement and Increasing Prevention Act. This would ensure that people in the military who have been subjected to sexual assault and other serious crimes get the justice they deserve.

I first introduced this legislation in 2013. Since then, the committee has had 8 years to consider it, to ask questions, to pursue changes, and to implement alternative solutions, and we have. In fact, over the period of 15 years, the committee enacted nearly 250 legislative provisions designed to address the scourge of sexual assault in the military. We have modified data reporting requirements. We have added questions to surveys. We have required annual reports on the status of sex offenses investigations. We have required the development of strategies to hold leadership accountable. We have chartered special panels, commissions, and advisory committees to address this problem, and we have enacted their recommendations.

We have made scores of small adjustments, and they have just not moved the needle. The most recent annual report from the Department of Defense proves it. Reports of sexual assault have increased virtually every single year and remain at record highs, while prosecution and conviction rates have declined. The current system is not working. We need real reform, and we have the legislation to do it.

In 2014, I asked for a vote on this bill, and it earned majority support—55 votes—but it was filibustered. In 2015, again I earned majority support, but it was filibustered. I asked for a vote in 2016, 2017, 2018, 2019, and 2020, and I was denied every single time.

I am again asking on behalf of servicemembers who do so much for this country, who will sacrifice themselves and their lives for this Nation, and on behalf of the bipartisan, filibuster-proof majority of Senators who support this legislation and want to enact this reform, and this vote is being denied again.

How long must our servicemembers wait for real reform? How long must they wait for a criminal justice system that is worthy of their sacrifice? There is no persuasive argument for the need to allow more time to consider this legislation in committee. The committee has had nearly a decade to consider it. Most Members of this body have had years to consider it, and those who have had the least time to consider it, our newest Members, have already seen the need for reform. Nine out of ten new Senators, Republicans and Democrats alike, including the two new members of the Armed Services Committee, have already cosponsored this bill.

This bill is now supported by 64 bipartisan Senators who deserve to have the opportunity to cast a vote for this important bill. We don’t have to take the time for another incremental step. It is time to bring this vote to the floor.

I ask unanimous consent that, at a time to be determined by the majority leader, in consultation with the Republican leader, the Senate Armed Services Committee be discharged from further consideration of S. 1520 and the Senate proceed to its consideration; that there be 2 hours for debate equally divided in the usual form; and that upon the use or yielding back of time, the Senate vote on the bill with no intervening action or debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Senator from New York.

Ms. GILLIBRAND. Mr. President, I continue to advocate for the ability of this body to vote up or down on this bill. This is an important moment in our Nation’s history. This is a generational change whose time has come.

Previously, when such important reforms were needed, such as the don’t ask, don’t tell repeal, they were brought directly to the floor. It is time to bring this to the floor. I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll. Mr. LANKFORD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

RECOGNIZING THE 100TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE 1921 TULSA RACE MASSACRE

Mr. LANKFORD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the consideration of S. Res. 234, submitted earlier today.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The clerk will report the resolution by title.

The senior assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

A resolution (S. Res. 234) recognizing the 100th Anniversary of the 1921 Tulsa Race Massacre.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the resolution.

Mr. LANKFORD. Mr. President, I know of no further debate on the resolution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there further debate?

Hearing none, the question is on adoption of the resolution.

The resolution (S. Res. 234) was agreed to.

Mr. LANKFORD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the preamble be agreed to and the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table with no intervening action or debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The preamble was agreed to. (The resolution, with its preamble, is printed in today’s RECORD under “Submitted Resolutions.”)
Mr. INHOFE. Mr. President, next week is a summer anniversary, 100 years since the Tulsa massacre. Before 1921, Greenwood District, also known as Black Wall Street, was a vibrant, thriving, prosperous Black community. But then, on the evening of May 31 into the early morning of June 1, 1921, there was a horrific massacre where hundreds of Black Tulsans were murdered and thousands were made homeless overnight. It was awful.

But as terrible as it was, that is why it is so important to come together to honor the victims and their families and share their stories today with future generations. I am honored to co-sponsor Senator LANKFORD’s resolution today to remember this anniversary.

Together, we can all work to lift up the story of Black Wall Street and use this anniversary to remember, reflect, and work, as we do every day, toward reconciliation.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Oklahoma.

Mr. LANKFORD. Mr. President, Senator INHOFE and I and this body have just passed by voice vote a resolution recognizing the 100th anniversary of the Tulsa Massacre. It is a significant resolution not only to be able to recall what happened in that terrible time in 1921 but to also recognize the 13 Black towns that still remain in Oklahoma.

It is an interesting history that we have in Oklahoma, and I encourage folks to be able to find out more about us as a State. From the late 1800s to the early 1900s, Black individuals and families from all over the South were fleeing away from where they were being oppressed, and they were coming to Oklahoma, setting up vibrant communities. Over 50 all-Black towns rose up in Oklahoma.

In fact, there was some dialogue in the early 1900s about possibly having Oklahoma be an all-Black State even. These Black communities were rising up around our State looking for opportunities, freedom, and a chance for a better life. Thirteen of those fifty towns still remain today as communities. Many of the individuals in these towns are friends and people whom I know and Senator INHOFE and I have the honor of being able to represent in this great body.

I thank Dr. Donnie Nero, Sr. He is the President of the African American Educators Hall of Fame. He is the one who helped find and pull this all together. He has an attitude in wonderful Clearview, OK, and he says: “One of the greatest motivational concepts across lines to mankind is Recognition.” He says recognition is about remembrance and acknowledgment.

We are taking a moment as a Senate today to be able to acknowledge these 13 Black towns that still remain in Oklahoma, and to be able to walk through some of the history of what happened during that time period. So let me walk through this somewhat.

Tallahassee was founded in 1883. It is regarded as one of the oldest surviving historically Black towns in Indian Territory.

Langston, founded in 1890, and was named after John Mercer Langston, an African-American educator and U.S. Representative from Virginia. Seven years later, the Oklahoma Territorial Legislature established the Colored Agricultural and Normal University, which would later be called Langston University. This historically Black college or university has grown from 41 students in 1897 to over 3,000 students today. Prominent Oklahomans such as Melvin Tolson, Ada Lois Sipuel Fisher, Clara Luper, E. Melvin Porter, Frederick Moon, Marques Haynes, Zelia Breaux, Isaac W. Young, Inman Page, and Zella Black Patterson all resided in the town of Langston or called Langston University home.

Tatum was founded in 1885. It was named after brothers Lee B. Tatum and Eldridge “Doc” Tatum. They found prosperity in 1929 when oil wells were drilled in Tatum. Norman Studios even filmed a silent movie called “Black Gold,” using the brothers in their film.

Taft was founded in 1902 on land allotted to the Creek Reserve. They changed their name from Twine, which they were originally, to Taft to honor the then Secretary of War and later President William Howard Taft.

Grayson was built with five general stores, two blacksmiths, two drug stores, a cotton gin and a physician shortly after it was founded in 1902. It was originally known as Wildcat. It was changed in 1909 to honor the Creek chief, George W. Grayson.

Boley was a town established in 1903 and named after J.B. Boley, a railroad official of the Fort Smith and Western Railway, and grew to be the largest African-American town in Oklahoma. Only 5 years after being founded, Booker T. Washington’s Tuskegee Institute and Boley wrote about the prosperity that he had witnessed. Boasting the first Black-owned bank, the First National Bank of Boley was owned by D.J. Turner. It received a national charter and rose to be one of the largest and wealthiest exclusively Black communities. Today, Boley still hosts the Nation’s oldest annual Black rodeo.

Rentiesville, founded in 1903, was developed on 40 acres owned by William Renties. Rentiesville, the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway developed a flag stop, putting Rentiesville on the map. John Hope Franklin, a scholar of African-American history who promoted dialogue that reshaped American views on race relations, was born in Rentiesville in 1915. The Franklins later moved to Tulsa, where John Hope Franklin graduated from Booker T. Washington. He survived the 1921 Tulsa Race Massacre, and he went on to become one of the most decorated historians. He inspired the John Hope Franklin Center for Reconciliation, Reconciliation Park in Tulsa, and an elementary school in North Tulsa.

Rentiesville continues to host the Dusk TIl Dawn Blues Festival that attracts blues artists and all the folks who come in.

Clearview, a town I have already mentioned, was founded in 1903 along the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad, was built on the land allotted by the Creek Nation. E.L. Barber was one of the town’s original developers and the first justice of the peace and an early mayor. Before Red Bird officially became a town, Barber organized the First Baptist Church in 1889, which would later be the largest church in Red Bird.

Summit was founded in 1910 along the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad. Vernor was founded in 1911 on Tankard Ranch in the Creek Nation and was home to many trailblazers such as Ella Woods, who was the first Postmaster, and Louise Wesley, who established the first school and church.

Lima, founded in 1913 along the Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific Railroad. The Mount Zion Methodist Church was built in 1915 and still stands to this day.

And, of course, the most famous and prosperous of all of the Black communites in Oklahoma was Greenwood. Greenwood District became a thriving community where Black business owners, schools, and churches flourished. By the late 1910s, it was the wealthiest Black community in all of the United States. The community earned the name “Black Wall Street” from the famed African-American author and educator I already spoke of, Booker T. Washington.

The history of these historically Black towns is interwoven into the history of Oklahoma and the history of the United States. The residents of these towns have achieved great success and faced tremendous challenges. The stories of these Black towns and communities in Oklahoma are also intrinsically linked to the events of May 30 through June 1 of 1921, when the Greenwood District in North Tulsa burst into flames.

An important part of history is learning from the past. It is not looking at an incident in isolation. It is looking at the historical context of what led to the events of that weekend. This weekend, the Nation will pause and reflect on the 100th anniversary of the 1921 Tulsa Race Massacre, the worst race massacre in the history of the United States.

But we can’t look at Greenwood as if it was a single weekend. It was a prosperous, thriving Black community. And it still has a history to be able to share on our future.

Maybe you have heard me share the story on the floor of the Senate before. In the past several years, I talked about the race massacre, here in committee meetings and in conversations around this body. There is a significance of the 100th anniversary, not just for Tulsa and my State, but for the rest of the Nation as well. So let me recount this again.

On May 30, 1921, a young Black man named Dick Rowland was in downtown Tulsa. He entered the Drexel Building to use the only bathroom in the area that was available for Black people to be able to use in downtown Tulsa.

An incident occurred in the elevator between Dick Rowland and his wife, Paulette, and Sarah Paige. They really don’t know what happened there, but as the doors opened, she screamed. The police did an investigation and the next day they went to Dick Rowland and they detained him at the Tulsa courthouse, White rioters pursued the men back to the Greenwood District and the violence escalated dramatically. Literally, as the violence increased, the White men that really became a mob were deputized to be able to handle the issues in Greenwood.

A group of Black men traveled to the courthouse to help defend Dick Rowland from the angry mob, many of them veterans from World War I who had served honorably there.

After a scuffle at the downtown Tulsa courthouse, White rioters pursued the men back to the Greenwood District and the violence escalated dramatically. Literally, as the violence increased, the White men that really became a mob were deputized to be able to handle the issues in Greenwood.

They gathered firearms as they ran the few blocks from central downtown Tulsa into Greenwood just north of Tulsa.

Houses and businesses were burned and looted throughout the Greenwood District, and the attacks lasted well into the night and well into the next day before being quelled by the Oklahoma City National Guard. In less than 21 hours, a city that had been destroyed by fires, 6,000 African American individuals were detained, and up to 300 lives were lost.

Out of the 23 churches that were located in the Greenwood area, prior to the 1921 massacre, only 13 of the churches survived and only three churches were able to be rebuilt after being destroyed—Paradise Baptist Church, Mount Zion Baptist Church, and Vernon AME Church.

It was a horrific day, and 100 years later, the residents and businesses in the Greenwood District still carry on the legacy of resilience and determination.

For the past few years, I have been working to tell this story. For some—often some Oklahomans—it is a story that they had not heard before. Five years ago, I started telling the story in Washington, DC, and when I told it, hardly anyone knew about it. Now everyone I speak to is familiar with the story.

We have pulled this story out of the dark ages of history and lifted it up for Oklahoma, many people now know about that terrible 2-day period when rioters set a community on fire and set our Nation back. But I also tell people that you can’t understand Tulsa and Oklahoma unless you understand May 31 and June 1 of 1921.

So I worked to develop a curriculum to ensure future generations of Oklahomans learn the accurate historic events of 1921. Before we started working on this, schools had to mandate to teach the 1921 massacre. But there were no materials to actually use to teach that accurate history. There were no visuals. There was no curriculum. Now there are. We pulled all that together and made a mandate for every educator in Oklahoma and every educator in America that wants to be able to teach that history accurately.

During this same period, 5 or 6 years ago, I started working on something I called Solution Sundays, because when I started speaking about 6 years ago now to individuals all around Tulsa and around the State about the Tulsa Race Massacre, I usually started the conversation the same way: May 31 and June 1 of 2021. I would say, about 6 years ago, the entire country is going to pause, the entire country is going to pause. I don’t know how long. They may pause for a minute. They may pause for an hour. They may pause for a day or for a weekend. But the entire country will pause and will look at Tulsa and look at Oklahoma and will ask themselves one question: What has changed in America in race relations in the last 100 years? We said 6 years ago that is a fair question for someone to ask, and it was better to answer it when May 31 of 2021 comes.

Little did I know 6 years ago, when I started asking that question and continued to ask that question when it was 5 years, 4 years, 3 years, 2 years, and the next year—little did I know—about the events dealing with race that would happen in the last 12 months and the awakening that in the Nation really has happened to what is still left undone in the issue of race in America.

I started something about 6 years ago. At this same time, I started asking about what we would say. I started challenging families with something I called Solution Sundays. It is a simple idea, quite frankly. I would just ask people that I would encounter, of all races, of all backgrounds, a simple question: Has your family ever invited a family of another race to your home for dinner?

I thought it was simple until, when I would ask people, I would get the same answer back. I would ask people: Has your family ever invited a family of another race to your home for dinner?

And what I found in my State was that most individuals of every race all answered it the same way: That has never happened in my house. But there was a simple question: A national conversation about race is not something that happens on TV. A national conversation on race happens at our dinner tables with our families.

We should not expect that the Nation will speak on race when our families are not. And the best way for our families and to show our kids that this is normal conversation is to have a family over of another race to sit around the table.

What I like to say to people is, we will never get all the issues of race on the table until we get our feet under the same table and just talk and just get to know each other as friends. The Nation will not shift on race relations until each of our families shifts on race relations.

I continue to be able to challenge this simple concept of Solution Sundays. By the way, if you want to pick a different day, that is fine with me. But Sunday seems to be a pretty good day just to invite someone over for dinner or for lunch.

In just a few days, people from all over the country will fly into Tulsa, some of them for the first time. They are going to participate in events to commemorate the hundredth anniversary. It is my hope that what they see will be a model of reconciliation for the rest of the country. But after the anniversary passes and the crowds leave and the national folks will go on to doing something else, we will still be around. Tulsa and all of Oklahoma will still need to finish the work that has begun on race.

I will still be around North Tulsa. I have lots of friends there. And I know there will be an ongoing dialogue, still, about reconciliation because the big event that the whole world turns the television cameras on for doesn’t solve the issues of race. We solve that as individuals and as a family.

You see, I believe, like many do, that I have a calling toward reconciliation. As a follower of Jesus, as I read through the New Testament, I bump into passages like Second Corinthians, chapter 5, where Paul wrote to us and said we have the ministry and the message of reconciliation.

Now, I understand that Paul first meant that an ability to be able to come to God and be reconciled to God. And I do believe firmly that every individual can be reconciled with God, and I am glad to share that message of ministry. But I also believe it is a challenge for us to work toward reconciliation. Where relationships are broken, we are the reconcilers, and we have a ministry and a message of reconciliation.

My friend Robert Turner is the pastor of Vernon A.M.E. Church, in the heart of Greenwood. He and I were visiting last week on the phone, talking through the things coming up in the days ahead. As I was chitchatting with my friend, he said: I have to tell you about my sermon that I preached a couple of weeks ago.

So I said: Tell me all about it.

Pastor Turner said: I preached on Matthew, the tax collector, also called Levi.

And we spent some time talking about that.

And he said: What I told my congregation was that Jesus called Matthew, the tax collector, to be one of his disciples, but he also called Simon the Zealot to be one of his disciples.

Now, you may not know, but the tax collectors were loyal to the Romans. They were Jews who were loyal to the Roman authority, and the zealots were Jews who were adamantly opposed to the Roman authority. So, literally, Jesus grabbed two people from opposite political perspectives—opposite, if I can say it, political parties—and he grabbed both of them and said: I want you to be my disciple.

And Pastor Turner said: There is a lot that we can learn from Jesus, beginning with what Jesus said: Everyone is welcome, from every political persuasion and following.

Pastor Turner, you are spot on. My friend, keep preaching it. But excuse me for noticing. Jesus is the one who set the example, and he called all of us to be able to follow it.

Now, I have to tell you, Pastor Turner and I don’t agree on everything. We may not even vote alike, though, honestly, I have never asked him how he votes. But he is my friend, and he is my pastor, and he is a good man.

For 6 years, I have asked people across Oklahoma, when May the 31st comes and the Nation stops and asks, “What has changed in the last 100 years?” We should be prepared to answer, our kingdom is here, and each of us should be able to answer that for our lives and for our families.

Let’s finish the work. We are not done on racial reconciliation. Let’s finish the work, starting with our own families, our own communities, and our own lives.

God help us to carry on the ministry and the message of reconciliation.

With that, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Ms. Hassan), The Senator from Rhode Island.

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Madam President, before I begin, let me just say a word of thanks to my two colleagues from Oklahoma for this moment that we have had the privilege of.

I was privileged to be waiting to give my remarks to hear them speak, and I thought this was a wonderful moment. We have our challenges around here, but if we had more moments like this, we would get through our challenges better.

I congratulate and thank both of my colleagues.

U.S. SUPREME COURT

Madam President, there is a scheme afoot, a scheme I will be talking about today. It is a scheme to put dollars in anonymous, hidden spending. We will dwell in later speeches on how the scheme operates.

This first speech seeks its origins. The scheme is secret, and because of its secrecy, it is hard to know exactly where the story should begin.

The one place you could begin is with a corporate lawyer—the Virginian Lewis Powell. An authorized biography of Lewis Powell by his fellow Virginian, the professor of law and history John Jeffries, reveals Powell to be a tough and incisive lawyer, willing and able to make sharp, even harsh, decisions, but a man of courtly and decent matters, well settled in the White male tradition of American legal norms.

Richard was Virginia’s sibling rival to Charlottesville, which could boast of Thomas Jefferson’s nearby Monticello, his renowned University of Virginia, and all the cultural and academic vibrancy bubbling around that great university. Richmond—Richmond was the State’s capital and its political offices and serving as its corporate center.

Powell was an ambitious Richmond corporate lawyer, and the turbulence of the 1960s was broadly distorting America. The civil rights movement disrupted Jim Crow across the South, drawing out and exposing to the Nation the racist violence that had long enforced the social and legal norm of segregation and upholding the White corporate suits and boardrooms.

Anti-war protesters derided Dow Chemical Company’s manufacture of napalm and scorned the entire military-industrial complex. Women’s rights protesters challenged all-male corporate management structures. The environmental movement protested chemical leaks, toxic products, and the poisons belching from corporate smokestacks. Public health groups began linking the tobacco industry to deadly illnesses, and lead paint companies to brain damage in children.

Ralph Nader criticized America’s car companies for making automobiles that were “Unsafe at Any Speed” and causing carnage on America’s highways. America’s anxious corporate elite saw Congress respond with new and unwelcome laws and saw courts respond with big and unwelcome verdicts. Something had to be done.

Powell’s prominence in Virginia’s civic, legal, social, and corporate circles had brought him attention in Washington, DC. And a new client of his, the Washington, DC-based U.S. Chamber of Commerce, asked Powell his help. The Chamber commissioned from Powell a secret report, a strategic plan for reasserting corporate authority over the political arena.

The secret Powell report, titled “Attack on American Free Enterprise System,” was telling. It was telling, first, for the apocalyptic certainty of its tone. Powell’s opening sentence was: “No thoughtful person can question that the American system is under broad attack.” By that, he meant the American economic system, but that assertion was footnoted with the parallel assertion that—and I am quoting him again—“The American political system of democracy under the rule of law is also under attack.”

This was, Powell asserted, “quite new in [American history].”

“Business and the enterprise system are in deep trouble,” he wrote, “and the hour is late.”

The secret Powell report was an alarm.

The report is populated with liberal bogeymen: the bombastic lawyer William Kunstler; the popular author of “The Greening of America,” Charles Reich; the consumer advocate Ralph Nader, whom Powell said there should be, and I am quoting here, “no hesitation to attack.”

Against these, Powell set establishment defenders like columnist Stewart Alsop and conservative economist Milton Friedman. Powell cloaked the concerns of corporate America as concerns of “individual freedom,” a rhetorical framework for corporate political power that persists to this day.

The battle lines were drawn. Indeed, the language in the Powell report is the language of battle: “attack,” “frontal assault,” “ri飞 shots,” “war.” The recommendations are to end compromise and appeasement—his “corporate surrender” or “appeasement”—to understand that, as he said, “the ultimate issue may be survival”—and he underlined the word “survival” in his report—and to call for “the wisdom, ingenuity and resources of American business to be marshaled against those who would destroy it.”

Well, for this, you had to have a plan, and the Powell plan was to go big. Here is why he said so:

“Strength lies in organization, in careful long-range planning and implementation, in consistency of action over an indefinite period of years, in the scale of financing available only through joint effort, and in the political velocity of corporate America, especially with an activist-minded Supreme Court in America.”

Powell urged that the Chamber of Commerce become the voice of American business in the courts, with a “highly competent staff of lawyers,” if “business is willing to provide the funds.” He concludes: “The opportunity merits the necessary effort.”

The secret report had been the single most consequential piece of writing that Lewis Powell ever did in a long career of consequential writings. The tone and content of the report actually explain a lot of decisions in his retirement. The report received no attention—not even a passing mention—in Professor Jeffries’ detailed, authoritative, and authorized Powell biography.

The secret chamber report was not disclosed to the U.S. Senate in Senate confirmation proceedings when, shortly after delivering his secret report to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, Lewis Powell was nominated to the U.S. Supreme Court by President Richard Nixon.

The secret report was dated August 23, 1971. Two months later, on October 22, Nixon nominated Powell to the Supreme Court. Lewis Powell was sworn in as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court on January 7, 1972, less than 6 months after this secret report was delivered to the chamber.

I yield the floor.

I suggest the presence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. PORTMAN. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum called be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Ohio.

SAFEGUARDING AMERICAN INNOVATION ACT

Mr. PORTMAN. Madam President, I rise today in strong support of the Safeguarding American Innovation Act. This is legislation that has been included in the substitute amendment entitled “Innovation and Competition Act,” or as it has now been called, the U.S. Innovation and Competition Act.

Well, if our goal is to increase U.S. competitiveness and encourage more U.S. innovation, we have to not only invest in research and innovation, we have to be sure that we are keeping our investment in research and intellectual property from being taken by our competitors and used against us. That is what this legislation does.

By the way, that is just common sense, or so you would think, but that is not what we found during a bipartisan investigation during the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations. Instead, during a yearlong inquiry, we uncovered that our government and our research institutions over the last couple of decades have permitted China to take advantage of a lax U.S. approach to safeguarding our taxpayer-funded innovation, be it in our college campuses or in our research labs, nor was law enforcement, principally the FBI, doing anything significant to combat this threat. In fact, at our hearing on the report about 18 months ago, the FBI admitted in sworn testimony that they have been asleep at the switch, essentially.

Our PSI investigation detailed the rampant theft of U.S. taxpayer-funded research and intellectual property by China by way of their so-called China Thousand Talents Program, also known as the Thousand Talents Plan. China uses these plans to systematically find promising researchers and promising research that China is interested in, and they recruit those researchers.

These programs have not been subtle. The Thousand Talents Program was perhaps the best understood of these programs, although there are actually a couple hundred of them. Our PSI investigation documented how the Thousand Talents Plan was used to target tax-funded research and IP for at least two decades in this country, and much of that research and innovation was taken from our labs to China and went directly into fueling the rise of the Chinese economy and the Chinese military.

While this is what China has done and continues to do, this is really about us. We have to get our own house in order. Specifically, we found that the Chinese Communist Party is not only stealing the best and brightest American minds, they are paying for them. Why? Because it has led to some amazing things, from cures for everything from viruses to particular kinds of cancer, to technologies that support our defense base, to manufacturing technology that has made us more efficient and more competitive.

The annual $150 billion that has gone out over the years has been a good investment of taxpayer dollars, I believe. Why? Because it has led to some amazing things, from cures for particular kinds of cancer, to technologies that support our defense base, to manufacturing technology that has made us more efficient and more competitive.

China has not just stolen some of the research funded by U.S. taxpayers; China has actually paid these grant recipients to take their research over to China at Chinese universities—again, universities affiliated with the Chinese Communist Party. They have been very clever about it. They want to be seen as improving our competi-

S3414 CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE May 25, 2021

Since they are not paying for the research that China is interested in, they have been asleep at the switch, essentially.

Our PSI investigation detailed the rampant theft of U.S. taxpayer-funded research and intellectual property by China by way of their so-called China Thousand Talents Program, also known as the Thousand Talents Plan. China uses these plans to systematically find promising researchers and promising research that China is interested in, and they recruit those researchers.

The Safeguarding American Innovation Act goes directly to the root of this problem and makes it punishable by law to knowingly fail to disclose foreign funding on Federal grant applications. This is a criminal statute, it is really about transparency, which is a core tenet of the U.S. research enterprise.

Our bill also makes other important changes informed by our investigation. It requires the Office of Management and Budget, OMB, in the executive branch to streamline and coordinate grant-making between the Federal agencies that fund technology, so our coordination, accountability, and coordination when it comes to tracking the billions of dollars of taxpayer-funded grant money that is being distributed.

Again, the underlying legislation here in the Chamber tonight is about more money going into research. Let’s be sure that there is transparency and that we know how it is being distributed. We found in our investigation that this kind of coordination and transparency was sorely lacking and long overdue.

Our legislation also allows the Department of State to deny visas to foreign researchers coming to the United States who they know are going to export sensitive and emerging technologies against the national security interests of the United States and to benefit an adversarial foreign government.

This is the duty you, but the State Department can’t do that now. It is a loophole in the law. In finalizing our language for the substitute, we worked very closely with career State Department employees, who were desperate to get this authority to keep, say, members from the People’s Liberation Army, who are definitely connected with the Chinese military, from coming over here and attending conferences where sensitive, export controlled technologies are being talked about and distributed.

Our bill also requires foreign institutions and universities to tell the State Department whether a foreign researcher will have access to export controlled technologies and also to demonstrate to the State Department that they have a plan to prevent unauthorized access to any export controlled technologies at the research institutions.

That is really important. It seems like basic information that the State Department would get here, that would have been provided all along, but it hasn’t been. Providing this information as part of the visa process should also help streamline the process for the State Department and for these research institutions. I think it is good for both to make sure that this is clear and we know what the rules are.

We also require increased transparency in reporting foreign gifts and contracts and at our colleges and our universities. Those schools are now going to need to report any foreign gift or contract worth $50,000 or more. The current threshold is $250,000. More transparency is a good thing.

We also empower the Department of Education to work with these universities and research institutions to ensure that this can be complied with and that we don’t have the red-tape and expenditures. That is not the idea. The idea is to have transparency but have it be something that is efficient. But we also allow the Department of Education for the first time to fine universities that repeatedly fail to disclose these gifts. We have actually found that about 70 percent of universities weren’t following the current law, partly because there was no fine. There was really no accountability.

All of the changes that I have outlined are necessary to help keep America on the cutting edge. In order to be globally competitive, we have to be more effective at pushing back against our adversaries, and from China, and from other nations, like Russia, Iran, and North Korea, looking to steal our research and our intellectual property.

Until we start to clean up our own house and take a firmer stance against foreign influences being tempted to try to take our research, we are going to keep losing the innovations that we create here, and we will be less competitive. That is why the Safeguarding American Innovation Act is so important to be included in this bill. I will finish by noting that this has been truly a nonpartisan effort—not just bipartisan but nonpartisan—from the start. We wanted to ensure that, in a very difficult, smart, and effective way, we were responding to the very real threat that we identified from China and other foreign adversaries.

I want to commend my partner in our PSI investigation and cosponsor of our bill, Senator ROBERT PETERSEN and SCHUMER. I also want to thank the Presiding Officer tonight for her role in this, for her contributions and her support. I also want to say that I appreciate Senators PETERSEN and SCHUMER and their staff for working with us to finalize the language, as well as the State Department and other officials from the Trump administration and the Biden administration who provided important assistance.

Safeguarding American innovation is always a good idea, but it is particularly important in the context of the legislation before us that provides exception to large amounts of Federal money for research more competitive. I support that research, but I don’t want the taxpayer funds to go in the front door and then to have the research go out the back door to China or other adversaries. That is not how we intend to fund our research institutions. Thanks to this legislation being included in this law, I feel confident that it will not be about that.

I yield back my time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority leader.

Mr. SCHUMER. Madam President, in a moment, I will file cloture on both the substitute amendment of the competition bill and on the motion to proceed to the House-passed legislation to create an independent commission to investigate and report on the attack of January 6, setting up a potential vote this week.

On the competition bill, this legislation is the product of at least half a dozen Senate committees, working for months—months—in a bipartisan way. That means that every single Member of the Senate has had their fingerprints on it in one manner or another.

The Senate has been making great progress so far this week. To borrow an expression that might appeal to my colleague and partner from Indiana, Senator Young, we are approaching the final straightaway of the race. We have completed a very efficient series of votes on six amendments this afternoon, five of which were sponsored by Republicans. That is in addition to four amendment votes we have already held and dozens—scores—of bipartisan amendments that were added to the bill before it even reached the floor.

This is regular order in action. Members on both sides have clamored that we bring the bill to the floor, debate it, and ask for amendments. That is what is happening here. This is a bipartisan bill that came out of committees with overwhelming votes—21 to 1 in Foreign Relations and 22 to 4 in Commerce, with a lot of bipartisan input in both committees and throughout—and now we are debating it on the floor.

I believe the depth of bipartisanship on this bill reveals two things: one, just how much of a hunger there is on both sides of the aisle to tackle the issue of American leadership in the 21st century. It also shows a hunger to work in a bipartisan way, and we hope that our colleagues will understand that as we seek now to invoke cloture on the bill after we do several more amendments.

With the finish line in sight, we need to continue working together to see this bill through. As I said, we will consider a few more amendments tomorrow and Thursday, including a manager's amendment, before final passage. If both sides continue to work in good faith to schedule amendment votes, which has been the hallmark so far, there is no reason we can't finish the day and call it a day by the end of the week. And we will look for a signal from our Republican friends that, when we cooperate, we will move forward and not move to block or delay unnecessarily.

Now, of this bill, again, I cannot say how important it is to the future of America. Investing in science and innovation has been a hallmark of why this country has led the world in economic growth, in good-paying jobs, in creating a brighter, sunnier, happier America. Our failure to invest could lead to a real decline—a cloudiness over America and its future. We have to move forward, and that is why this bill has gotten such great support. This is not a minor bill. Just because there is not partisan fighting doesn’t mean it is not one of the most important bills we have passed in a very long time, and we will look back in history and say that the day when America got a grip back on itself and moved forward after several years of languishing, at best.

JANUARY 6 COMMISSION

I am also going to move to file cloture on the motion to proceed to the January 6 commission. This bipartisan legislation to create an independent commission to investigate and report on the attack of January 6, setting up a potential vote this week. We all know the commission is an urgent, necessary, necessary idea to safeguard our democracy. What happened on January 6 was a travesty—a travesty. It risked America in ways we haven’t seen in decades, maybe even in our history altogether.

In the wake of January 6, unfortunately, too many Republicans in both Chambers have been trying to rewrite history and sweep the despicable attack on our democracy under the rug. If people believe the Big Lie—if they believe that we are not at the level, spread by the Big Lie of Donald Trump and his legions in the press—our democracy erodes. At the core of this democracy is the belief that we vote; the process is fair; and then whoever is fairly elected we respect as our leader. That has not happened for the first time in a long time.

I so respect our two Republican colleagues on the other side of the aisle who say they will vote for this proposal. I hope many more will. We have to get it passed. Each Member of the Senate is going to have to stand up and decide: Are you on the side of truth and accountability or are you on the side of Donald Trump and the Big Lie?

We cannot stomach the lies. We must get to the truth. We must restore faith in this grand, wonderful, beautiful, evolving experiment—the greatest democracy that has ever been seen on Earth. We can’t let that go away. By sweeping all of this under the rug and by having so many people believe the lies, we could see the Sun begin to set on America. I hope that doesn’t happen. I pray that doesn’t happen. I don’t believe it will happen because I believe we will rise to the occasion and get at the truth.

ORDER OF BUSINESS

Madam President, now I ask unanimous consent that when the Senate resumes consideration of S. 1260 on Wednesday, May 26, the following amendments be called up:

- Substitute amendment No. 1502 to Calendar Schumer No. 60, a bill to establish a critical supply chain resiliency program, and for other purposes.

the United States Capitol Complex, and for other purposes.

CLOTURE MOTION

Mr. SCHUMER. Madam President, I send a cloture motion to the desk.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The cloture motion having been presented under rule XXII, the Chair directs the clerk to read the motion.

CLOTURE MOTION

We, the undersigned Senators, in accordance with the provisions of rule XXII of the Standing Rules of the Senate, do hereby move to bring to a close debate on the nomination to proceed to Calendar No. 60, H.R. 3233, a bill to establish the National Commission to Investigate the January 6 Attack on the United States Capitol Complex, and for other purposes.

away suddenly on May 13, 2021, due to complications from surgery. He was 52 years old.

Former leader of the storied “Survey of the Coast,” going back to the first superintendent, Ferdinand R. Hassler, were either impeccable surveyors, expert scientists, ingenious engineers, master shiphandlers, intrepid explorers, or visionary risk-takers. With 27 years of diverse experience and a constant desire to learn more, Admiral Brennan embodied all of those qualities and more. He served on nearly every hydrographic ship in NOAA’s fleet, surveying the East Coast, Caribbean territories, the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific Coast into remote areas of Alaska, even mapping far into the Arctic Ocean to support the U.S. Law of the Sea claim. Whether discovering a new, uncharted seamount deep in the Chukchi Sea or uncovering the sunken remains of a lost locomotive tender car off the tidal banks of the Piscataqua River, Admiral Brennan’s endless enthusiasm for mapping our oceans and coasts was infectious to all who sailed with him.

During his various land assignments, Admiral Brennan provided invaluable technical direction to the many physical scientists, hydrographers, cartographers, and officers who worked for him while leading changes to pullcharting services ever more into the digital age. He served as a reliable resource to various maritime stakeholders and other Federal Agencies, using his effective interpersonal skills to bring NOAA assets to bear in addressing these concerns. He notably earned the NOAA Corps Commendation Medal and the Department of Commerce Group Silver Medal for his service during Hurricane Irene by coordinating NOAA resources to quickly respond to the port of Norfolk, a waterway that is as vital for national security as it is for global commerce. I am proud to point out that along the way, he earned a master’s degree in oceanography at the University of New Hampshire’s esteemed Center for Coastal and Ocean Mapping.

However, Admiral Brennan’s stellar career is not what endeared himself to so many or what makes his passing so devastating. He was an exemplary civil servant and leader, and he is remembered as the person whom so many were grateful to work alongside during their own careers. People across the country remember Admiral Brennan for his empathy, warm humor, generosity, friendship, and humanity. Many sought his guidance on personal matters as much as they did on professional challenges, and he went out of his way for them, seeking out the opportunity to cheer them up with his warm wit or changing plans to chat over a commiserating meal. The task at hand was important to Admiral Brennan, but he never looked past the people around him, putting them first. My time with NOAA and the maritime community, knowing that his loss has created a hole in the hearts of all who were fortunate to know him.

More importantly, my deepest sympathies go out to his wife Tracey and his two sons, Ty and Sam, who lost a wonderful husband and loving father far too soon. By all accounts, Admiral Brennan’s family were front and center in his life, and they never left his thoughts, especially when he was away in support of NOAA’s mission.

On behalf of all the people of New Hampshire, I ask my colleagues and all Americans to join me in honoring Admiral Brennan for his leadership, integrity, and devotion to service to this grateful Nation. May he rest in peace.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

REMEMBERING WILLIAM “BILLY” JORDAN JARRELL

Mr. DAINES. Madam President, today I have the honor of recognizing the life of a great man, William “Billy” Jordan Jarrell. Billy passed away on May 11, 2021, after suffering from juvenile diabetes since he was 12.

Billy was part of a large, loving family. He was brother, son, cousin, and uncle. Growing up, Billy could often be found on the baseball field, where he excelled and was even inducted into the Major League Baseball Hall of Fame in a section dedicated to Little League players. He was also an avid Alabama football fan. Former teammates, classmates, and coworkers all miss him greatly.

I am thankful for the passion that Billy showed for public service and grateful for the time that he dedicated to advocating for a range of issues including energy and Native American issues.

It is my honor to pay tribute to Billy, who was loved by many. I pray that his friends and family find peace in this hard time.

UTAH 2023 SERVICE ACADEMY APPOINTEES

Mr. LEE. Madam President, it is my distinct pleasure to recognize 13 exemplary men and women who are among the best and brightest that Utah has to offer. These individuals have answered the call to service by applying and receiving appointments to the U.S. Air Force Academy, the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, the U.S. Military Academy, and the U.S. Naval Academy.

As a Member of Congress, it is my privilege under title 10 of the United States Code to nominate a number of young men and women to attend these iconic service academies. However, receiving a congressional nomination does not guarantee acceptance. To be admitted, each applicant must meet—on his or her own merits—the academy’s rigorous standards. I am happy to report that all of the appointees being recognized today surpassed the expected standards. Not only have they demonstrated their impressive mental and physical aptitude, they have also shown their high moral character, the capacity for leadership, courage, honesty, prudence, and self-discipline. These appointees maintain a steadfast commitment to service and to standing up for our country. They are a talented, patriotic group of American citizens anywhere. They will be a credit to our Nation as they set off for Colorado Springs, Kings Point, West Point, and Annapolis. I look forward to seeing what they accomplish in the years to come. I am honored to recognize and congratulate these fine Utahns in the U.S. Senate.

Grace Bales, from Heber City, UT has accepted an appointment to the U.S. Air Force Academy. She is a graduate of Springville High School in Utah where she was captain of the volleyball club and earned academic all-State honors. She was a high school student ambassador and member of the student government. She helped lead the volleyball team and participated in a number of activities including the knowledge bowl and debate. Grace recently attended the University of Texas Dallas, where she played soccer. Wyatt Wayne Glade, graduated from Stansbury High School and will soon enter the U.S. Naval Academy. An Eagle Scout, he maintained a 4.0 GPA while taking challenging classes and was a member of the National Honor Society. He earned academic all-State honors for cross country while his team became the two-time 4A State champions. Wyatt is a champion archer, an officer in the Technology Student Association, and a member of the Math, Engineering, Science, Achievement (MESA) Team.

Halley Patricia Holland, from Logan, UT, has accepted an appointment to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. A graduate of George C. Marshall High School in Virginia, Halley was a member of the AFJROTC, Model UN, and cross country and track teams. She participated in Utah’s Chinese dual immersion classes and was selected for Girls State. Grace served as president of her church youth group and participated in community events. This nationally ranked triathlete will follow her father’s footsteps into the Army.

Patrick Walker Hoopes accepted an appointment to the U.S. Air Force Academy. A 2020 graduate of Skyridge High School, Patrick has spent this year at the Air Force Academy Preparatory School. In high school, he earned the title of “Utah State” All-Around Gymnastics Champion and qualified for nationals. He enjoys playing tennis, snowboarding, camping, and videography, including his work on The Ridge, his high school video production program.
Eva Fern Huber, after receiving multiple service academy appointments, has chosen to attend the U.S. Naval Academy. She stayed busy at Cyprus High School as a student body officer and captain of the tennis and basketball teams. She was a member of the National Honor Society and assisted her fellow students as a member of the Hope Squad. Eva was selected for Girls State and participated in the FBI Teen Academy and the International Children’s Choir.

Zachary Kofroth accepted an appointment to the U.S. Air Force Academy. He graduated from Utah Military Academy—Hill Field, where he participated in AFJROTC as a squadron commander, as well as basketball and weightlifting. Zachary is a second team All-American and two-time Junior Olympic in fencing. He also completed over 200 hours of community service and was a member of the National Honor Society. Zachary found the UMA Diversity Task Force and served as a member of the UMA Student Advocacy Group.

Jack Mezo Meyer, a graduate of The Waterford School, was proud to accept his appointment to the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy. He is following a family tradition of military service through academies. Jack was a captain of the lacrosse and basketball teams, as well as a student mentor, and cellist in the orchestra. He enjoys building and repairing things and is respected as a Mustang. He also provided service at the Salt Lake City VA Fisher House and Canyon Creek Ranch & Equine Rescue.

Gavin Cox Nielsen will be attending the U.S. Air Force Academy after his graduation from West High School. He served as captain of the wrestling team and a pole vaulter for the track & field team. His JROTC team earned the title of State Champions in Orienteering. Gavin has been involved in many service projects through the Key Club, is a member of the Arabic Honor Society, and has earned his Eagle Scout Award. He enjoys Supermoto and Superbike racing.

David Cheyenne Orr has accepted an appointment to the U.S. Air Force Academy. He is a graduate of Bingham High School, where he participated in lacrosse and was an officer in Health Occupational Students of America, HOSA, and has been especially involved on service. As a Boy Scouts, he achieved the rank of Eagle Scout by donating 324 pairs of shoes to Haiti, as well as a school volunteer in South Korea, completing 400 hours of service helping students during the pandemic.

Henry Ellis Powell will be attending the U.S. Military Academy at West Point after graduating in 2019 from the American International School of Utah and attending the U.S. Military Academy Preparatory School. Henry enlisted in the Army National Guard, served as a cannon crewmember, and volunteered for the COVID-19 Task Force. In high school, Henry earned his Eagle Scout Award, was a member of the Student Senate, the first chair trumpet in the symphony orchestra, and the two-time DECA State champion in Business Law and Ethics.

Cade Moroni Smith has accepted an appointment to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. A graduate of Lone Peak High School, he was selected to attend Boys State and was a member of the National Honor Society. He earned his Eagle Scout Award and served as a leader his church youth group with over 600 young people. A captain of his club soccer team, he also earned Academy All-State honors for cross country.

Cameron Walker Solomon, a Park City High School graduate, accepted his appointment to the U.S. Air Force Academy. Cameron is a skilled mogul skier who qualified for nationals. He was a member of the National Honor Society and an AP Scholar with Distinction; a member of the Societe de Francais and the French Club; and a volunteer with the Park City Christian Center and the National Ability Center. Cameron also played soccer and was awarded Academic All-State.

Bradley Rex Thornton accepted an appointment to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. A graduate of West High School, Bradley served as a student body officer and was a member of the Health Occupation Students of America, HOSA, and the German Club. He was captain of the basketball team, and an Eagle Scout who also is a leader in his church youth group. In addition to liking water sports, Bradley likes to play the piano.

Mr. President, it has been inspiring to nominate each of these exceptional young men and women. They give me great hope for the future of our armed services and confidence in the future of our nation.

To these 13 appointees and to all their future classmates from around the country, thank you for your commitment to service. I commend your achievements. This is just the beginning of your journey. As you progress, never forget the foundation of your success thus far.

You would not have arrived at this point without the dedication and example of your parents, family, teachers, coaches, and mentors. Moreover, your own sacrifice and hard work have proven essential. You have accomplished so much.

Strive to continue on the path of strong moral character and to keep love of country as a guiding principle. Look to the past with gratitude and to the future with conviction. If you stay on this course, I have no doubt that your future holds great things in store. I look forward to hearing of it. Congratulations. I wish you the very best.

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTION

By Mr. PADILLA (for himself, Mr. LANKFORD, Mrs. FEINSTEIN, Ms. SMITH, and Mr. MORAN):
S. 1797. A bill to amend the Indian Health Care Improvement Act to expand authority for renovating, constructing, and expanding certain facilities; to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

Mr. PADILLA. Mr. President, I rise to introduce the bipartisan “Urban Indian Health Providers Facilities Improvement Act.”

This legislation honors our Federal trust responsibility by providing parity to Urban Indian Organizations that provide culturally competent health care to Native Americans living in urban areas.

This legislation would remove the unjust and arbitrary restriction that prevents Urban Indian Organizations from using appropriated funds for construction and facilities upgrades.

This restriction is particularly untenable in the midst of the COVID–19 pandemic.

Current law only permits the Indian Health Service to make construction or facilities funds available to Urban Indian Organizations to assist them in meeting their maintenance of a now-obsolete accreditation standard.

This limitation prevents Urban Indian Organizations from using appropriated funding for facilities, maintenance and improvement, sanitation, equipment, and other necessary construction upgrades, which limits their ability to provide the quality health care that Native Americans deserve.

Urban Indian Organizations are the only legislative organization burdened by this restriction. This legislation would provide parity to Urban Indian Organizations and improve the safety and quality of care for urban Indians.

California is home to one of the largest populations of Native Americans, and Los Angeles and San Francisco have two of the largest urban Native American populations in the country.

Almost 90% of Native Americans in California live in urban areas and therefore don’t access health care through their tribe.

Further, there are no Indian Health Service hospitals in California, so the California Urban Indian Organizations are a lifeline to Native Americans in my state. Removing this unjust burden on Urban Indian Organizations would allow them to improve the quality of the culturally competent care that they provide.

I thank Senator LANKFORD for co-leading this bill with me, and Congressmen GALLEGO and BACON for introducing this legislation in the House of Representatives.

I look forward to working with my colleagues to pass this bipartisan “Urban Indian Health Providers Facilities Improvement Act” as quickly as possible.

Thank you, Mr. President. I yield the floor.

By Mr. KAINE (for himself and Ms. MURKOWSKI):
S. 1804. A bill to amend the Public Health Service Act to improve maternal health; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

Mr. KAINE. Mr. president. There are significant racial and ethnic inequities in maternal and infant mortality rates in the U.S. American Indian/Alaska Native women are more than twice as likely as non-Hispanic white women to die as a result of pregnancy or its complications, and the infant mortality rate among babies born to American Indian/Alaska Native women is 2.1 times higher than that of non-Hispanic white women. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the maternal mortality rate for non-Hispanic Black women in 2018 is more than 2.5 times higher than the maternal mortality rate of non-Hispanic white women, and the infant mortality rate of non-Hispanic Black women is more than 2.3 times higher than the infant mortality rate of non-Hispanic white women. Any pregnant woman choosing to have a child should be able to do so without regard to income, race, ethnicity, employment status, or any other socioeconomic factor.

This is why Senator MURKOWSKI and I are reintroducing the Mothers and Newborns Success Act, which aims to reduce maternal and infant mortality, ensure that all infants can grow up healthy and safe, and protect women’s health before, during, and after pregnancy. This legislation underscores the need for new, innovative approaches to maternal and newborn health care and maternal and newborn health services.

Further, it improves data collection on maternal and infant deaths, including implementing quality assurance processes to improve the validity of pregnancy clinics, and enacting real-time data from death certificates, so that we can better understand the causes of maternal deaths. The bill will help ensure that women are matched birthing facilities that are risk-appropriate for their particular needs to improve maternal and neonatal care and health outcomes. The legislation strengthens support for women during the critical postpartum period, the year after birth.

Further, the bill also establishes a public and provider awareness campaign through the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention to promote awareness of maternal health warnings and the importance of vaccinations for pregnant women and children, ensuring pregnant women get the vaccinations they need. The bill promotes maternal health research, providing technical assistance to states to ensure representation of communities of color in key datasets. The bill establishes a National Maternal Health Research Network at the National Institute of Health to support innovative research to reduce maternal mortality and promote maternal health. The bill supports the Rural Maternity and Obstetric Management Strategies (RMMOMS) Program at the Health Resources and Services Administration to improve access to, and continuity of, obstetric care in rural communities, including telehealth.

No woman should worry for her or her child’s health because of socio-economic factors, such as race or geographic location. We need to ensure more women of color and their children, particularly Black women and children given the significant disparities they experience, receive equitable care and a fair chance for a healthy pregnancy and safe delivery. COVID-19 and its impact on pregnant women has only underscored the need for urgent action.

The Mothers and Newborns Success Act is a significant step toward reducing racial, ethnic, and geographic inequities in maternal and infant health. I’m calling on my Senate colleagues to cosponsor this bill and support its passage so we can enact positive systemic changes to make sure more women and newborns thrive and have the maximum chance for success.

By Mr. DURBIN (for himself and Ms. DUCKWORTH):

SENATE RESOLUTION 233—EXPRESSION OF THE SENSE OF THE SENATE IN SUPPORT OF A NATIONAL BIKE MONTH AND IN APPRECIATION OF CYCLISTS AND OTHERS FOR PROMOTING CYCLE SAFETY AND THE BENEFITS OF CYCLING

Mr. BOOZMAN (for himself and Mr. KAIN) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation:

S. Res. 233

Whereas recreational cycling is a safe, low-impact, aerobic activity for all ages;

Whereas when an individual cycles as a form of regular exercise, it may benefit the individual’s health;

Whereas 870,000 people of the United States choose to commute by bicycle to work;

Whereas many communities in the United States officially recognize May 21st as “Bike to Work Day”;

Whereas bicycle tourism contributes billions of dollars annually to the United States economy;

Whereas community leaders across the country in partnership with local officials have explored ways to increase access to outdoor bicycle recreation activities;

Whereas outdoor bicycle recreation became even more important during the COVID-19 pandemic;

Whereas a National Bike Month would provide an opportunity to educate United States citizens about the importance of bicycle safety and the health benefits of cycling; and

Whereas the month of May has officially been celebrated as “National Bike Month” by the League of American Bicyclists and the majority of the local cycling communities since 1966: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Senate that:

(1) United States citizens should observe a National Bike Month to educate citizens of the United States about the importance of bicycle safety and the health benefits of cycling, and the recreational benefits derived from cycling;

(2) health and transportation professionals and organizations should promote bicycle safety and the benefits of cycling; and

(3) United States citizens should applaud the millions of cyclists in the United States and national and community organizations, individuals, volunteers, and professionals associated with cycling for promoting bicycle safety and the benefits of cycling.

SENATE RESOLUTION 234—RECOGNIZING THE 100TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE 1921 TULSA RACE MURDER

Mr. LANKFORD (for himself and Mr. INHOFE) submitted the following resolution; which was considered and agreed to:

S. Res. 234

Whereas in the early 1900s many Black individuals and families settled throughout Oklahoma, setting up vibrant communities and dozens of all-Black towns. These individuals came looking for new opportunities, freedom, and a chance for a better life; Whereas the most famous and prosperous of these Black communities was in Tulsa’s Greenwood District;

Whereas O.W. Gurley, a wealthy Black business owner, owned to Tulsa in 1906 and purchased tracts of land sold primarily to Black individuals and families. The land stretched from Pine Street to the north to Archer Street on the south and Detroit Avenue on the west and the Midland Valley rail line on the east;

Whereas segregation and the inaccessibility of resources led O.W. Gurley and others to open a variety of commercial establishments, including rooming houses, grocery stores, barber shops, beauty salons, restaurants, clothing, pharmacies, movie theaters, dance halls, pool halls, confectioneries, jaycees, and professional offices (such as for doctors, lawyers, dentists, and accountants); Whereas the Greenwood District became a thriving community where Black business owners, schools, and churches flourished and, by the late 1910s, it was the wealthiest Black community in the United States;

Whereas churches such as Vernon African Methodist Episcopal Church, Mt. Zion Baptist Church, First Baptist Church North Tulsa, Paradise Baptist Church, Metropolitan Baptist Church, and others became central to the family life and culture of the Greenwood District;

Whereas the Greenwood District became home to prominent professionals such as Dr. A.C. Carter, who was known as the most skilled Black surgeon in the United States, and prominent attorney B.C. Franklin;

Whereas, by 1921, the community was home to thousands of Black residents who lived and worked in the most prosperous Black community in the United States;

Whereas the community earned the name the “Negro Wall Street of America” (later, simply known as the “Black Wall Street”) from African-American author and educator Booker T. Washington;

Whereas, as the opportunities for Black families grew, the community began to attract more families, business owners, well-educated professionals, and individuals fleeing racial oppression and discrimination in other States;

Whereas the town of Tullahassee, Oklahoma, founded in 1883, is regarded as one of the oldest surviving historically Black towns of Indian Territory;

Whereas the area where Tullahassee was founded was originally part of the Creek Nation and the town had an established school by 1890;

Whereas the town of Langston, Oklahoma, was founded in 1890 and named after John Mercer Langston, an African-American educator and Member of the House of Representatives from Virginia;

Whereas, 7 years later, the Oklahoma Territorial Legislature established the Colored Agricultural and Normal University (referred to in this preamble as “CANU”), which would later be renamed Langston University. The university has grown from 41 students in 1898 to more than 5,000 in 2021;

Whereas prominent Oklahomans such as Melvin Tolson, Ada Lois Sipuel Fisher, Clara Luper, Walter, Frederick Douglass, Marques Haynes, Zella Breaux, Isaac W. Young, Inman Page, and Zella Black Patterson resided in Langston or called CANU home;

Whereas the town of Tatums, Oklahoma, founded in 1895, was named after brothers Lee B. Tatum and Eldridge “Doc” Tatum and for prosperity in 1929 when oil wells were drilled;

Whereas Norman Studios filmed Black Gold, a silent film, in Tatums and enlisted the cast of movie and Marshell B. R. Tatum to be featured in the movie; Whereas the town of Taft, Oklahoma, founded in 1902 on land allotted to Creek Freedmen, changed its name from Twine to Taft to honor the then Secretary of War, later President, William Howard Taft. The town had a thriving business sector with 3 general stores, 2 blacksmith shops, 1 junkyard, a soda pop factory, 2 hotels, and a bank;

Whereas the town of Grayson, Oklahoma, brimmed with 5 general stores, 2 blacksmith shops, a cotton gin, owned a physician soon after it was founded in 1902. Originally known as Wildcat, the town changed its name in 1909 to honor the Creek Chief who had been scalped;

Whereas the town of Boley, Oklahoma, established in 1903 and named after J.B. Boley, a railroad official of the Fort Smith and Western Railway, grew to be one of the wealthiest and largest Black towns in Oklahoma;

Whereas, only 5 years after being founded, Booker T. Washington visited Boley and wrote about the prosperity he had witnessed; Whereas, in 2021, Boley still carries on their standing tradition of a community-based rodeo, now the oldest of its kind in the Nation;

Whereas the town of Rentiesville, Oklahoma, founded in 1906, was developed on 40 acres owned by William Laffette and Phoebe McIntosh; Whereas John Hope Franklin, a prominent scholar of African-American history, was born in Rentiesville in 1915;

Whereas Franklin and his family later moved to Tulsa where Franklin graduated from Booker T. Washington High School, survived the 1921 Tulsa Race Massacre, and went on to become one of Oklahoma’s most decorated historians;

Whereas the town of Clearview, Oklahoma, founded in 1903 along the tracks of the Fort Smith and Western Railroad, was widely known for their baseball team; Whereas, in the summer, people from surrounding counties would pack the baseball field to watch the baseball teams play, turning the railroad tracks into substitute bleachers;

Whereas the town of Tullahassee, Oklahoma, founded in 1903, was originally named Sewell. The town was renamed in 1912 to honor the first Black man in the area, A. R. Brooks;

Whereas, soon after the town of Brooksville was established, Rev. Jedsun White founded the St. John’s Baptist Church;

Whereas George W. McLaurin, who was the first Black graduate at the University of Oklahoma, taught at the local school in Brooksville;

Whereas the town of Red Bird, Oklahoma, founded in 1907 along the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad, was built on land allotted to the Creek Nation; Whereas E. L. Barber was one of the original developers of the town of Red Bird, the first justice of peace of the town, and an early mayor; Whereas, before Red Bird officially became a town, Barber had organized the First Baptist Church in 1889, which grew to be the largest church in Red Bird;

Whereas the town of Summit, Oklahoma, founded in 1910 along the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad, grew because of the town’s railway depot;

Whereas Rev. L. W. Thomas organized the St. Thomas Baptist Church in the town of Summit and the congregation met without a building for 6 years until the congregation came together to build the church, which still stands in 2021; Whereas the town of Vernon, Oklahoma, founded in 1903 in the Creek Nation, was home to many trailblazers such as Ella Woods, who was the first postmaster, and Louise Wesley, who established the first school for the town;

Whereas, before the community of Vernon built the New Hope Baptist Church in 1917, the congregation conducted services under neath a tree. The New Hope Baptist Church still stands in 2021 after more than 100 years;

Whereas the town of Lima, Oklahoma, founded in 1913 along the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad, was home to the community to improve their town. Together, they built the Mount Zion Methodist Church in 1915, which still stands in 2021; Whereas, in 2021, the historically Black towns are interwoven into the history of the State of Oklahoma and the residents of these towns have achieved great successes and faced tremendous challenges;

Whereas the stories of the Black towns and communities in Oklahoma are inextricably linked to the events on May 30 to June 1, 1921, in the Greenwood District of North Tulsa, Oklahoma;

Whereas, on May 30, 1921, a young Black man named Dick Rowland was in downtown Tulsa, Oklahoma, and entered the Drexel Building to use the only bathroom in the area available to Black people; Whereas, an incident on the elevator between Dick Rowland and Sarah Paige, the elevator operator, and Sarah Paige screamed;

Whereas, after a police investigation, the next day Dick Rowland was detained at the Tulsa Police Department for questioning before being moved to the Tulsa Courthouse for additional security;

Whereas, on May 31, 1921, the “Tulsa Tribune released a sensationalist story claiming that a young Black male had attacked a white girl; Whereas story and long-simmering tensions in the city led to a large group of white individuals surrounding the courthouse to demand that Dick Rowland be released so that he could be lynched;

Whereas a group of Black men traveled to the courthouse to help defend Dick Rowland from the angry mob; Whereas, after a scuffle at the downtown Tulsa Courthouse, white rioters pursuit Black men to the Greenwood District and the violence escalated;

Whereas houses and businesses were looted and burned throughout the Greenwood District and attacks lasted well into the next day before being quelled by the Oklahoma City National Guard; Whereas, in less than 24 hours, 35 city blocks were destroyed by fires and 6,000 African-American individuals were detained;

Whereas, out of the 23 churches that were located in the Greenwood area prior to the 1921 Massacre, only 13 churches survived and only 3 churches were able to be rebuilt after being destroyed: Paradise Baptist Church, Mount Zion Baptist Church, and Vernon AME Church;

Whereas, outside of the massacre area, 5 churches were able to rebuild after being destroyed;

Whereas, the Black citizens in Tulsa began rebuilding the Greenwood District immediately after the attack. Church services resumed the following Sunday;

Whereas this new Black Wall Street reached an economic peak in the mid-1940s but subsequently declined for many reasons that undermined the economic foundation of the community;

Whereas, almost 100 years later, the residents and businesses in the Greenwood District carry on the legacy of resilience and determination;

Whereas Greenwood is home to thousands of individuals and families who make important contributions to their city and the United States and there are countless minority-owned businesses in Greenwood that drive the local economy;

Whereas there is still much work to do to heal the community and ensure all people in Greenwood have the promise of a brighter tomorrow; Whereas Greenwood is a community still scarred by the 1921 Tulsa Race Massacre, but not defined by it; Now, therefore, be it Resolved— That the Senate—

(1) acknowledges that the 1921 Tulsa Race Massacre was the worst race massacre in the history of the United States;

(2) recognizes that the legacy of the worst race massacre in the history of the United States, several hundred Black residents of... the Greenwood District were killed and thousands were made homeless overnight, and the most prosperous Black community in the United States was decimated.

(3) of the tragedy of what happened in Tulsa during the course of those 2 days in 1921 be taught in the schools of the United States in a factual and accurate manner.

(4) the important work of groups such as the 1921 Tulsa Race Massacre Centennial Commission, the John Hope Franklin Center for Reconciliation, and others who work diligently to ensure the stories of the Greenwood District are accurately told and remembered.

(5) while significant progress has been made in the 100 years since the 1921 Tulsa Race Massacre, there is still work to be done towards racial reconciliation, which can only be accomplished through open, respectful, and frank dialogue.

(6) encourages families of all races to invite families of different races to their homes to have discussions on race, with parents setting examples for their children on how to engage in a conversation that will build better understanding of, and respect for, people of different races.

(7) believes that the significance of the 1921 Tulsa Race Massacre and the complete history of the Greenwood District warrant the placement on the National Register of Historic Places.

(8) hopes that the 100th anniversary weekend is a moment for the country to look to Tulsa to see how racial relations have changed during the last 100 years, to celebrate improvements, and to reflect upon the ways where more work is needed.

(9) the need, on the part of the United States to continue seeking greater understanding, dialogue, and closer connections to people of different races; and

(10) recognizes the need to help the remaining 13 Black towns in Oklahoma to preserve their historic legacy of political freedom and ensure stories are known to future generations of Oklahomans and people of the United States.

Senate Resolution 235—Designating May 15, 2021, as "National MPS Awareness Day"

Mr. BENNET (for himself and Mr. GRAHAM) submitted the following resolution; which was considered and agreed to:

Whereas mucopolysaccharidosis (referred to in this preamble as "MPS") are a group of genetically determined lysosomal storage diseases that render the human body incapable of breaking down certain enzymes needed to break down complex carbohydrates;

Whereas MPS diseases cause complex carbohydrates to be stored in almost every cell in the body, which progressively leads to cellular damage;

Whereas the cellular damage caused by MPS begins to decrease at a very early stage in the life of that individual;

Whereas research has resulted in the development of limited treatments for some MPS diseases;

Whereas, as of the date of adoption of this resolution, promising advancements in the pursuit of treatments for additional MPS diseases are underway;

Whereas, despite the creation of new remedies, the blood-brain barrier continues to be a significant impediment to effectively treating the brain, which prevents the treatment of many of the symptoms of MPS;

Whereas the quality of life of individuals afflicted with MPS diseases is limited because the treatments available to those individuals will be enhanced through the development of early detection and early intervention techniques;

Whereas, for and research advancements relating to MPS are limited by a lack of awareness about MPS diseases;

Whereas the lack of awareness about MPS diseases extends to individuals within the medical community;

Whereas the cellular damage caused by MPS makes MPS a model for the study of many other degenerative genetic diseases; and

Whereas the development of effective therapies and a potential cure for MPS diseases will require increased awareness, research, data collection, and information distribution: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That:

(1) designates May 15, 2021, as "National MPS Awareness Day"; and (2) supports the goals and ideals of National MPS Awareness Day.

Senate Resolution 236—To Authorize Testimony Documents, and Representation in United States v. Wornick

Mr. SCHUMER (for himself and Mr. MCCONNELL) submitted the following resolution; which was considered and agreed to:

S. Res. 236

Whereas, in the case of United States v. Wornick, Cr. No. 20-106, pending in the United States District Court for the District of Colorado, the prosecution has requested the production of testimony, documents from Bailey McCue, an employee of the office of former Senator Cory Gardner;

Whereas, pursuant to 708(a) and 704(a)(2) of the Ethics in Government Act of 1978, 2 U.S.C. §§ 288b(a) and 288c(a)(2), the Senate may direct its counsel to represent current and former employees of the Senate with respect to any subpoena, order, or request for testimony or documents relating to their official responsibilities;

Whereas, by the privileges of the Senate of the United States and Rule XI of the Standing Rules of the Senate, no evidence under the control or in the possession of the Senate may be taken from such control or possession but by permission of the Senate; and

Whereas, when it appears that evidence under the control or in the possession of the Senate may promote the ends of justice consistent with the privileges of the Senate: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That Bailey McCue, an employee of the office of former Senator Cory Gardner, and any other employee of the former Senator's office from whom relevant evidence may be necessary, are authorized to testify and produce documents in the case of United States v. Wornick, except concerning matters for which a privilege should be asserted.

Senate Resolution 237—Approving of the Sales of Defense Items to Israel Notified to Congress on May 5, 2021

Mr. CRUZ (for himself, Mr. HAGERTY, Mrs. BLACKBURN, Mr. BARRASSO, Mr. JOHNSON, Mr. COTTON, and Mr. RUBIO) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations:

Whereas, in the Arms Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2771 et seq.), Congress reaffirmed that it is the policy of the United States to facilitate the common defense of the United States and friendly countries by entering into international arrangements with those countries through authorized sales of defense items; and

Whereas, in the Arms Export Control Act, Congress established that it is the sense of the Congress that all such sales be approved only when they are consistent with the foreign policy and national security interests of the United States;

Whereas section 36(c) of the Arms Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2776(c)) requires that the President transmit to the leaders and relevant committees of Congress certifications for proposed licenses for the export of certain defense items to Israel in the amount of $100,000,000 or more; and

Whereas, on May 5, 2021, the Department of State transmitted to Congress certifications pursuant to section 36(c) of the Arms Export Control Act for exports of Israel defense items valued in excess of $800,000,000, including munitions and defensive systems; and

Whereas, on January 19, 2021, in testimony to the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate, now-Secretary of State Blinken emphasized that the incoming Presidential administration’s “commitment to Israel’s security is sacrosanct and this is something that President Biden is very strongly” and that “the foundation of our relationship is support for Israel’s security”: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) finds that the sales of defense items to Israel notified to Congress by the Department of State on May 5, 2021, are consistent with the foreign policy interests of the United States; and

(2) approves of those sales.

TEXT OF AMENDMENTS

SA 1974. Mr. MERKLEY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed to amendment SA 1502 proposed by Mr. Schumer to the bill S. 1260, to establish a new Directorate for Technology and Innovation in the National Science Foundation, to establish a regional technology hub program, to require a strategy and report on economic security, science, research, innovation, manufacturing, and job creation, to establish a critical supply chain resiliency program, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the end of division C, add the following:

TITLE VI—MISCELLANEOUS

SEC. 3601. APPEAL OF ASSIGNMENT RESTRICTIONS OR PRECLUSION.

Section 414(a) of the Department of State Authorities Act, Fiscal Year 2017 (22 U.S.C. 2734c(a)) is amended by adding at the end the following: “Such right and process shall extend to the Secretary of State, the Under Secretary of State for Political Affairs, the Assistant Secretary for Nonproliferation and Verification, the Coordinator for Counterterrorism, the Coordinator for Global Food Security, the Coordinator for Counterterrorism, and under these provisions, any such appeal shall be resolved not later than 60 days after such appeal is filed.”

SA 1975. Mr. WYDEN proposed an amendment to amendment SA 1502 proposed by Mr. Schumer to the bill S. 1260, to establish a new Directorate for Technology and Innovation in the National Science Foundation, to establish a regional technology hub program, to require a strategy and report on economic security, science, research, innovation, manufacturing, and job creation, to establish a critical supply chain resiliency program, and for other purposes;

At the end of title III of division F, add the following:

SEC. 6020. TRADE POLICY AND CONGRESSIONAL AUTHORITY OVER COVID–19 RESPONSE.

(a) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) it is imperative to promote the development, authorization, and approval of vaccines, including to address pandemics like the pandemic relating to COVID–19 and its variants;

(2) as a developed nation with a longstanding commitment to promoting global health, innovation, access to medicine, public welfare, and security, the United States is uniquely positioned through its research and tools at its disposal to promote the distribution of life-saving COVID–19 vaccines to other countries;

(3) President Biden should continue to work with foreign governments, multilateral institutions, nongovernmental organizations, manufacturers, and other stakeholders to quickly identify, through targeted and meaningful action, obstacles to ending the COVID–19 pandemic, whether those obstacles involve legal, regulatory, contractual, or otherwise;

(4) in any efforts to address trade-related obstacles to ending the COVID–19 pandemic, President Biden should consider how any action would complement the whole-of-government approach of the President to ending the COVID–19 pandemic worldwide, including how any action would impact competitive, innovative, and the national security of the United States in the short- and long-term;

(5) the President should strive to create the most appropriate balance between access to COVID–19 vaccines and therapeutics and generating an innovative environment in the United States;

(6) the President should take into account the efforts of nations or entities to obtain intellectual property of United States persons through any transfer, theft, or espionage, and accordingly make all efforts to protect that intellectual property from such nations or entities and;

(7) in any efforts to address trade-related obstacles to ending the COVID–19 pandemic, Congress expects timely and meaningful consultation with nations or entities and any agreements or decisions reached regarding matters of concern to members of Congress and their constituents, including issues of competitiveness, innovation, and national security.

(b) TRADE POLICIES WITH RESPECT TO THE COVID–19 PANDEMIC.

(1) IN GENERAL.—It is the policy of the United States to facilitate an effective and efficient response to the global pandemic with respect to COVID–19 by expediting access to life-saving vaccines, medicines, diagnostics, medical equipment, and personal protective equipment.

(2) ELEMENTS OF UNITED STATES TRADE REPRESENTATIVE.—The United States Trade Representative shall pursue a timely, effective, and efficient response to the trade aspects of the COVID–19 pandemic, including by endeavoring to—

(A) expedite access to medicines and life-saving products through trade facilitation measures;

(B) obtain a reduction or elimination of nontariff barriers and distortions that impact the procurement of life-saving products;

(C) take action to increase access to COVID–19 vaccines by providing access to intellectual property to nations or entities that seek to utilize the technology for other uses or that may otherwise pose a threat to national security;

(D) eliminate practices that adversely affect trade in perishable or temperature-sensitive products, and facilitate the transfer of materials and products in a manner that preserves their integrity;

(E) further strengthen the system of international trade and investment disciplines by eliminating unnecessary and unreasonable barriers; and

(F) encourage greater cooperation between the United States and other international organizations and public-private partnerships, including the World Health Organization, the United Nations Children’s Emergency Fund (commonly referred to as “UNICEF”), the World Bank, and Gavi, the Vaccine Alliance; and

(3) ASSESSMENT.—The United States Trade Representative enters any negotiation pursuant to the trade policies described in subsection (b), the Trade Representative shall—

(A) submit to Congress and publish in the Federal Register a statement specifying the objectives of the United States in pursuing the negotiation; and

(B) submit to Congress an assessment of how and to what extent entering the negotiations will achieve the trade policies described in subsection (b).

(2) CONSULTATION AND BRIEFING BEFORE MAKING PROPOSALS.—Before making any textual proposal pursuant to the trade policies described in subsection (b), the United States Trade Representative shall—

(A) consistent with section 223 of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 (15 U.S.C. 4201a(c)), consult with the heads of relevant Federal agencies, including the Secretary of Commerce, the Secretary of Health and Human Services, and the Secretary of Homeland Security; and

(B) submit to Congress an assessment of how and to what extent entering the negotiations will achieve the trade policies described in subsection (b), as appropriate, discussion of—

(i) the most effective means of addressing the COVID–19 pandemic and any variants to minimize the distribution of COVID–19 vaccines; and

(ii) any sensitive technology or intellectual property rights related to the proposal;

(C) consult with, and keep fully apprised of the negotiations, the Senate Advisory Group on Negotiations, the Committee on Finance of the Senate, the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives, and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives on the negotiations, including with respect to how the objectives sought by the Trade Representative fit into a larger strategy of ending the COVID–19 pandemic;

(D) CONSULTATION AND BRIEFING ON PROPOSALS.—In the course of any negotiations pursuant to the trade policies described in subsection (b), the United States Trade Representative shall—

(A) upon request of any Member of Congress, provide access to pertinent documents relating to the negotiations, including classified materials;

(3) In the case of the national security of the United States, the susceptibility of the prices of securities to manipulation and control, excessive speculation, and sudden and unreasonable fluctuations.

(4) Transactions in securities may adversely affect the national security of the United States in a manner that is analogous to the circumstances described in paragraphs (3) and (4) of section 2 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (15 U.S.C. 78b), which state that the unreasonable expansion and contraction of the volume of credit is caused by unreasonable fluctuations.

(5) The susceptibility of the prices of securities to manipulation and control, excessive speculation, and sudden and unreasonable fluctuations establishes, with respect to capital assets that are essential to the national security of the United States by—

(A) undervaluing those capital assets relative to their necessity to the United States; and

(B) overvaluing transactions that would reduce, downsize, outsource, or offshore the operation of those capital assets.

(4) In the report to Congress required under section 2594 of title 10, United States Code, with respect to fiscal year 2020, the Department of Defense stated that ‘‘a U.S. business climate that has favored short-term shareholder earnings . . . [has] severely damaged America’s ability to arm itself today and in the future’’.

(5) The susceptibility of the prices of securities to manipulation and control, excessive speculation, and sudden and unreasonable fluctuations establishes, with respect to capital assets that are essential to the national security of the United States by—

(A) undervaluing those capital assets relative to their necessity to the United States; and

(B) overvaluing transactions that would reduce, downsize, outsource, or offshore the operation of those capital assets.

(4) In the report to Congress required under section 2594 of title 10, United States Code, with respect to fiscal year 2020, the Department of Defense stated that ‘‘a U.S. business climate that has favored short-term shareholder earnings . . . [has] severely damaged America’s ability to arm itself today and in the future’’.

(5) The susceptibility of the prices of securities to manipulation and control, excessive speculation, and sudden and unreasonable fluctuations establishes, with respect to capital assets that are essential to the national security of the United States by—

(A) undervaluing those capital assets relative to their necessity to the United States; and security of the United States, a justification for providing shareholders with greater information regarding the possible adverse effects of certain transactions on the national security of the United States in order to improve the stability, quality, and informational efficiency of the market for those capital assets.

(B) overvaluing transactions that would reduce, downsize, outsource, or offshore the operation of those capital assets.

"(B) QUARTERLY BRIEFINGS.—Not less frequently than every 90 days, the Forced Labor Division shall provide briefings to the Committee on Finance of the Senate and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives regarding—
"(A) allegations received under paragraph (1);
"(B) the prioritization of investigations of such allegations under paragraph (2); and
"(C) progress made toward—
"(i) issuing withhold release orders for goods, wares, articles, or commodities mined, produced, or manufactured using forced labor; and
"(ii) making findings in and closing investigations conducted under paragraph (1).

SA 1992. Mr. WYDEN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed to amendment SA 1500 proposed by Mr. SCHUMER to the bill S. 1260, to establish a new Directorate for Technology and Innovation in the National Science Foundation, to establish a regional technology hub program, to require a strategy and report on economic security, science, research, innovation, manufacturing, and job creation, to establish a critical supply chain resiliency program, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table:

At the end of title III of division F, add the following:

SEC. 6302. CENSORSHIP AS A TRADE BARRIER.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Chapter 8 of title I of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2241 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following:
"SEC. 183. IDENTIFICATION OF COUNTRIES THAT DISRUPT DIGITAL TRADE.
"(a) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 60 days after the date on which the National Trade Estimate is submitted under section 181(b), the United States Trade Representative (in this section referred to as the 'Trade Representative') shall, in accordance with subsection (b), identify any foreign country that—
"(1) coerced censorship in their own market or extraterritorially; and
"(2) other eCommerce or digital practices with the goal, or substantial effect, of promoting censorship or extrajudicial data access data access that disadvantages United States persons in the market of that foreign country.
"(b) REQUIREMENTS FOR IDENTIFICATIONS.—In identifying countries under subsection (a), the Trade Representative shall identify only foreign countries that—
"(1) disrupt digital trade in a discriminatory or trade distorting manner with the goal, or substantial effect, of promoting censorship or extrajudicial data access;
"(2) deny fair and equitable market access to digital service providers that are United States persons with the goal, or substantial effect, of promoting censorship or extrajudicial data access; or
"(3) engage in coerced censorship or extrajudicial data access so as to harm the integrity of services or products provided by United States persons in the market of that country, the United States market, or other markets.

(c) DESIGNATION OF PRIORITY FOREIGN COUNTRIES.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—The Trade Representative shall designate as priority foreign countries the foreign countries identified under subsection (a) that—
"(A) engage in the most onerous or egregious acts, policies, or practices that have the greatest impact on the United States; and
"(B) are not negotiating or otherwise making progress to end those acts, policies, or practices.

(2) REVOCATIONS AND ADDITIONAL IDENTIFICATIONS.—
"(A) IN GENERAL.—The Trade Representative may at any time, if information available to the Trade Representative indicates that such action is appropriate—
"(i) revoke the designation of any foreign country as a priority foreign country under paragraph (1); or
"(ii) identify any foreign country as a priority foreign country under that paragraph.

"(B) REPORT ON REASONS FOR REVOCATION.—The Trade Representative shall include in the annual report required by section 309(b) of the Trade Act of 1974 a detailed explanation of the reasons for the revocation under paragraph (A) of the identification of any foreign country as a priority foreign country under paragraph (1) during the period covered by the report.

"(C) REFERRAL TO ATTORNEY GENERAL OR DESIGNATE.—If the Trade Representative identifies an instance in which a foreign country designated as a priority foreign country under subsection (c) has successfully pressured an online service provider to inhibit free speech in the United States, the Trade Representative shall—
"(1) submit to Committee on Finance of the Senate and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives a report detailing the precise circumstances of the instance, including the actions taken by the foreign country and the online service provider;
"(2) if the online service provider is under the jurisdiction of the United States, refer that instance to the Attorney General; and
"(3) if appropriate, initiate an investigation under section 302 and impose a remedy under section 301(c).

"(D) PUBLICATION.—The Trade Representative shall publish in the Federal Register a list of foreign countries identified under subsection (a) and foreign countries designated as priority foreign countries under subsection (c) and shall make such revisions to the list as may be required by reason of action under subsection (b).

"(E) ANNUAL REPORT.—Not later than 30 days after the date on which the Trade Representative submits the National Trade Estimate under section 181(b), the Trade Representative shall submit to the Committee on Finance of the Senate and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives a report on actions taken under this section during the one-year period preceding that report, and the reasons for those actions, including—
"(1) a list of any foreign countries identified under subsection (a); and
"(2) a description of progress made in decreasing disruptions to—
"(b) INVESTIGATIONS UNDER TITLE III OF THE TRADE ACT OF 1974.—Section 302(b)(2) of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2412(b)(2)) is amended—

(1) in subparagraph (A), in the matter preceding clause (i), by inserting ‘‘or designated as a priority foreign country under section 183(c)’’ after ‘‘section 182(a)(2)’’; and

(2) in subparagraph (D), by striking ‘‘by reason of subparagraph (A)’’ and inserting ‘‘with respect to a country identified under section 182(a)(3).’’

(c) CHERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of contents of the Trade Act of 1974 is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 182 the following:

‘‘Sec. 183. Identification of countries that disrupt digital trade.’’.

SA 1993. Mr. WYDEN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed to amendment SA 1502 proposed by Mr. SCHUMER to the bill S. 1260, to establish a new Directorate for Technology and Innovation in the National Science Foundation, to establish a regional technology hub program, to require a strategy and report on economic security, science, research, innovation, manufacturing, and job creation, to establish a critical supply chain resiliency program, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the end of title III of division F, add the following:

SEC. 6092. INVESTIGATION OF CENSORSHIP AND BARRIERS TO DIGITAL TRADE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (b) of section 301 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2411) is amended—

(1) by redesignating paragraphs (1) and (2) as subparagraphs (A) and (B), respectively;

(2) in the matter preceding subparagraph (A), by striking ‘‘If the Trade Representa’’ and inserting ‘‘(1) If the Trade Representative’’;

(3) by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(2) For purposes of this paragraph (1), an act, policy, or practice that is unreasonable includes any act, policy, or practice, or any combination of acts, policies, or practices, that discriminates against or limits access to digital services provided by the government of a foreign country that—

(A) precludes competition by conferring special benefits on domestic entities or imposing discriminatory burdens on foreign entities;

(B) provides inconsistent or unfair market access to United States persons;

(C) requires censorship of content that originates in or originates from a foreign country;

(D) requires extrajudicial data access that disadvantages United States persons.’’;

(b) AUTHORIZED ACTION.—Subsection (c) of such amendment is amended by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(7) In the case of an act, policy, or practice described in paragraph (2)(b), the Trade Representative may direct the blocking of access to that country to data from the United States to address the lack of reciprocal market access or parallel data flows.’’.

SA 1994. Mr. PAUL (for himself, Mr. COONS, and Mr. TILLIS) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed to amendment SA 1502 proposed by Mr. SCHUMER to the bill S. 1260, to establish a new Directorate for Technology and Innovation in the National Science Foundation, to establish a regional technology hub program, to require a strategy and report on economic security, science, research, innovation, manufacturing, and job creation, to establish a critical supply chain resiliency program, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

SEC. 2527. BASIC RESEARCH.

(a) NONDISCLOSURE OF MEMBERS OF GRANT REVIEW PANEL.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, each agency that awards a Federal research grant shall not disclose, either publicly or privately, to an applicant for such grant the identity of any member of the grant review panel for such applicant.

(b) PUBLIC ACCESSIBILITY OF RESEARCH FUNDED BY TAXPAYERS.—

(1) DEFINITION OF FEDERAL AGENCY.—In this section, ‘‘Federal agency’’ means an Executive agency, as defined under section 105 of title 5, United States Code.

(2) FEDERAL RESEARCH PUBLIC ACCESS POLICY.—

(A) REQUIREMENT TO DEVELOP POLICY.—

(I) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this section, each Federal agency with annual extramural research expenditures of over $100,000,000 shall have an agency research public access policy that is consistent with and advances the goals of the Federal agency.

(II) COMMON PROCEDURES.—Where appropriate, Federal agencies required to develop a policy under clause (i) shall follow common procedures for ensuring access to research papers to minimize compliance burdens and costs and avoid unnecessary duplication of existing mechanisms.

(B) CONTENT.—Each Federal research public access policy shall provide for—

(i) submission to a digital repository or access mechanism that achieves the goals of this section designated or maintained by the Federal agency of an electronic version of the accepted manuscript of original research that has been accepted for publication in peer-reviewed journals and that resulted from research supported, in whole or in part, from funding by the Federal Government;

(ii) the incorporation of any changes resulting from the peer review process in the accepted manuscript described under clause (i); and

(iii) the replacement of the accepted manuscript with the final published version if—

(I) the publisher consents to the replacement; and

(II) the goals of the Federal agency for functionality and interoperability are retained; and

(iv) free online public access to such accepted manuscripts or final published versions within a time period that is appropriate for each type of research conducted or sponsored by the Federal agency, not later than 12 months after the official date of publication in peer-reviewed journals.

(C) APPLICATION OF POLICY.—Each Federal research public access policy shall—

(I) apply to—

(I) researchers employed by the Federal agency whose works remain in the public domain; and

(II) researchers funded by the Federal agency; and

(II) provide that works described under clause (1)(i) shall be—

(I) marked as being public domain material when published; and

(II) made available at the same time such works are made available under subparagraph (B)(iv).

(D) EXCLUSIONS.—Each Federal research public access policy shall—

(i) research progress reports presented at professional meetings or conferences;

(ii) laboratory notes, preliminary data and other notes of the author, phone logs, or other information used to produce accepted manuscripts;

(iii) classified research, research resulting in classified reports that generate high value for authors (such as books) or patentable discoveries, to the extent necessary to protect a copyright or patent; or

(iv) authors who do not submit their work to a journal or works that are rejected by journals.

(3) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION REGARDING PATENT OR COPYRIGHT LAW.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit any exclusive right under the provisions of title 17 or 35, United States Code.

(4) GAO REPORT.—Not later than 3 years after the date of enactment of this section, and every 5 years thereafter, the Comptroller General of the United States shall submit to Congress a report that—

(A) includes an analysis of the period between the date on which articles generally become publicly available in a journal and the date on which the accepted manuscript is in the online repository of the applicable Federal agency;

(B) examines the effectiveness of the Federal research public access policy in providing the public with free online access to papers on research funded by each Federal agency required to develop a policy under paragraph (2)(A); and

(C) examines the impact of the Federal research public access policy on the availability, quality, integrity, and sustainability of scholarly communication and on the degree to which policies avoid unnecessary duplication of existing mechanisms.

(5) DOWNSTREAM REPORTING.—Any person or institution awarded a grant from a Federal research agency shall—

(A) notify and seek authorization from the relevant agency for any funds derived from the grant made available through a subsequent grant (including to an employee or subdivision of the grant recipient’s organization); and

(B) ensure that each subsequent or subsequence grant award (including to an employee or subdivision of the grant recipient’s organization) funded with funds derived from the Federal grant is within the scope of the Federal grant award.

(6) IMPARTIALITY IN FUNDING SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, each Federal agency, in awarding grants for scientific research, shall be impartial and shall not seek to advance any political position or fund a grant to reach a predetermined conclusion.

SEC. 2528. GOAL ON OVERSIGHT OF FEDERAL SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY GRANT MAKING AND INVESTMENTS.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1) in instances such as the Troubled Asset Relief Program, the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009, Iraq, and Afghanistan, Congress has created special inspectors general and other oversight entities focused on particular program areas who have performed outstanding ways; and

(2) the oversight entities described in paragraph (1) have helped to strengthen oversight in cross-agency activities and where component inspectors general may have otherwise faced significant challenges;

(3) because of the cross-agency nature of Federal science and technology activities, Congress created the Office of Science and Technology Policy to coordinate and harmonize among science functions at agencies;

(4) the United States innovation ecosystem, which uses multiple science agencies to invest in research and development, can make it more difficult to identify and remove fraudulent activities by violating research integrity principles;

(5) the single agency jurisdiction of an agency inspector general can be a disadvantage to their oversight roles, and opportunities to strengthen the system may exist;

(6) single agency jurisdiction of inspectors general may also make it difficult to harmonize principles and standards for oversight of waste, fraud, and abuse among agencies;

(7) certain issues of waste, fraud, and abuse in Federal science and technology activities span multiple agencies and are more apparent through cross-agency oversight.

SEC. 6302. TECHNICAL AND LEGAL SUPPORT FOR INNOVATION IN THE NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION, TO REQUIRE A NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION, TO ESTABLISH A REGIONAL TECHNOLOGY HUB PROGRAM, TO REQUIRE A STRATEGY AND REPORT ON ECONOMIC SECURITY, SCIENCE, RESEARCH, INNOVATION, MANUFACTURING, AND JOB CREATION, TO ESTABLISH A CRITICAL SUPPLY CHAIN RESILIENCY PROGRAM, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES; WHICH WAS ORDERED TO LIE ON THE TABLE; AS FOLLOWS:

At the end of title III of division C, add the following:

SEC. 3314. PREVENTING IMPORTATION OF SEAFOOD AND SEAFOOD PRODUCTS HARVESTED OR PRODUCED USING FORCED LABOR.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Child Labor.—The term "child labor" has the meaning given the term "worst forms of child labor" in section 507 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2467).

(2) Forced Labor.—The term "forced labor" has the meaning given that term in section 307 of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. 1307).

(3) Human Trafficking.—The term "human trafficking" has the meaning given the term "severe forms of trafficking in persons" in section 702 of the Trafficking Victims Protection Act of 2000 (22 U.S.C. 7102).

(4) Seafood.—The term "seafood" means fish, shellfish, processed fish, fish meal, seafood products, and forms of marine animal and plant life other than marine mammals and birds.

(5) Secretary.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Commerce, acting through the Administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

(b) Forced Labor in Fishing.—(1) Rulemaking.—Not later than one year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary, in coordination with the Secretary of State and the United States Trade Representative, shall publish a regulation to identify seafood imports at risk of being harvested or produced using forced labor.

SEC. 3316. PROHIBITING PRODUCTION AND RESELLING OF PREDATION TOOL AND SHELTER PRODUCTS.

(a) In General.—The Secretary of Commerce, acting through the United States Trade Representative, shall—

(1) prohibit the production and resale of predation tools and predator shelters; and

(2) issue regulations to ensure that any persons or entities engaged in the production or resale of predation tools or predator shelters shall—

(A) remove any predation or predation-related branding or other advertising from any such tools or shelters;

(B) mark any such tools or shelters with the words "NOT FOR USE IN PREDATION," at a legible size, in not less than 24 point font size, and in a color in contrast to the color of the tools or shelters; and

(C) cause the mark specified in subparagraph (B) to be removed from any such tools or shelters that are sold or transferred for any use other than predation.

(b) Exemption.—The Secretary may grant an exemption under subsection (a)(2) if the Secretary finds that granting such an exemption is consistent with the national interest.

(c) Enforcement.—(1) The Secretary shall enforce this section, in coordination with the United States Trade Representative, through the imposition of—

(A) civil penalties not to exceed $2,500 in the aggregate for each violation of any of the provisions of this section by any person or entity, and

(B) civil fines not to exceed $25,000 for each violation of any of the provisions of this section by any person or entity.

(2) The Secretary shall—

(A) establish any procedures necessary to carry out this section,

(B) provide that any civil penalties imposed under this section may be imposed concurrently with any civil fines imposed under this section, and

(C) provide that any civil penalties and any civil fines imposed under this section may be assessed and collected at any time.

SEC. 3317. COORDINATING RESOURCES TO ENHANCE TRADE AND ECONOMIC SECURITY.

(a) In General.—The Secretary of Commerce, acting through the United States Trade Representative, shall—

(1) conduct a study to examine the relationship between trade and economic security and the impact of economic security measures on economic, research, innovation, business, and employment activity in the United States; and

(2) report the results of such study to Congress not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(b) Forcible Displacement.—The Secretary, in coordination with the Secretary of State, shall—

(1) take all appropriate steps to help protect United States persons against or from the effects of forcible displacement,

(2) provide assistance to United States persons who have been subject to forcible displacement,

(3) develop a plan to identify and address the impact of forcible displacement on the national security of the United States,

(4) provide assistance to United States persons who have been subject to forcible displacement, and

(5) provide assistance to United States persons who have been subject to violence against the United States by a foreign state.
Innovation in the National Science Foundation, to establish a regional technology hub program, to require a strategy and report on economic security, science, research, innovation, manufacturing, and job creation, to establish a critical supply chain resilience hub, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the end of title III of division B, add the following:

SEC. 2309. IMMIGRATION CONSEQUENCES OF TRADE SECRETS THEFT AND ECONOMIC ESPIONAGE.

(a) SHORT TITLE.—This section may be cited as the “Protection of Intellectual Property Act of 2021”.

(b) IN GENERAL.—

(1) INADMISSIBILITY.—Section 212(a)(3)(A) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1182(a)(3)(A)) is amended to read as follows:

“(3) SECURITY AND RELATED GOVERNS:

``(A) IN GENERAL.—Any alien who has engaged, or at any time after admission, engages in—

``(i) any activity to violate any law of the United States relating to espionage or sabotage;

``(ii) any activity to violate or evade any law prohibiting the export from the United States of goods, technology, or sensitive information;

``(iii) any activity to violate any law of the United States or of any State relating to the theft or misappropriation of trade secrets or economic espionage;

``(iv) any other unlawful activity; or

``(v) any activity, a purpose of which is the opposition to, or the control or overthrow of, the Government of the United States by force, violence, or other unlawful means, is inadmissible.”.

(2) DEPORTABILITY.—Section 237(a)(4)(A) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1227(a)(4)(A)) is amended to read as follows:

“(4) IN GENERAL.—Any alien who has engaged, is engaged, or at any time after admission, engages in—

``(i) any activity to violate any law of the United States relating to espionage or sabotage;

``(ii) any activity to violate or evade any law prohibiting the export from the United States of goods, technology, or sensitive information;

``(iii) any activity to violate any law of the United States or of any State relating to the theft or misappropriation of trade secrets or economic espionage;

``(iv) any other criminal activity that endangers public safety or national security; or

``(v) any activity, a purpose of which is the opposition to, or the control or overthrow of, the Government of the United States by force, violence, or other unlawful means, is deportable.”.

(c) ANNUAL REPORT OF INADMISSIBLE AND DEPORTABLE FOREIGN NATIONALS.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this section and annually thereafter, the Secretary of State, in cooperation with the Secretary of Homeland Security and the Attorney General, shall submit a report to the Chairman and the Ranking Member of the Committee on the Judiciary of the Senate and of the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives that identifies—

(1) the visa admission category of each of the foreign nationals who was determined, during the reporting period, to be inadmissible under clause (i) or (ii) of section 212(a)(3)(A) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, as amended by subsection (b)(1), or deportable pursuant to clause (i) or (ii) of section 212(a)(4)(A) of such Act, as amended by subsection (b)(2); and

(2) the research institutions, private sector companies or other entities, United States government and taxpayer-funded organizations with which such foreign nationals were associated.

SA 1999. Mr. KING (for himself and Mr. SASSE) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed to amendment SA 1502 proposed by Mr. SCHUMER to the bill S. 1260, to establish a new Department of Homeland Security, to ensure that any law, or clause thereof, relating to economic espionage; the theft or misappropriation of trade secrets or United States or of any State relating to espionage or sabotage, which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

Subtitle C—Cyber and Critical Technology Diplomacy

SEC. 4721. SHORT TITLE.

This subtitle may be cited as the “Cyber Diplomacy Act of 2021”.

SEC. 4722. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The stated goal of the United States International Strategy for Cyberspace, launched on May 16, 2011, is to “work internationally to promote an open, interoperable, secure, and reliable information and communications infrastructure that supports international trade and commerce, strengthens national security, and fosters free expression and innovation … in which norms of responsible behavior guide states’ actions, sustain partnerships, and support the rule of law in cyberspace”.

(2) In its June 24, 2013, report, the Group of Governmental Experts on Developments in the Field of Information and Telecommunications in International Relations, for “Advancing International Security” (referred to in this section as “GGE”), established by the United Nations General Assembly, concluded that “State sovereignty, territorial integrity, and non-interference in internal affairs are norms that remain relevant and can be used to guide the development and the implementation of voluntary, non-binding norms of responsible State behavior during peacetime, and to support the rule of law in cyberspace”.

(3) Mr. COATS, the Director of National Intelligence, identified 6 cyber threat actors, including—

(a) Russia, for “efforts to influence the 2016 U.S. election”;

(b) China, for “actively targeting the U.S. Government, its allies, and U.S. companies for cyber espionage”; and

(c) Iran, for “exploiting vulnerabilities in critical infrastructure, conducting cyber espionage, propaganda, and attacks to support its security priorities, influence events and foreign perceptions, and counter threats”.

(4) In 2017, Director of National Intelligence Daniel R. Coats identified 6 cyber threat actors, including—

(a) Russia, for “efforts to influence the 2016 U.S. election”;

(b) China, for “actively targeting the U.S. Government, its allies, and U.S. companies for cyber espionage”; and

(c) Iran, for “exploiting vulnerabilities in critical infrastructure, conducting cyber espionage, propaganda, and attacks to support its security priorities, influence events and foreign perceptions, and counter threats”.

(5) On May 11, 2017, Director of National Intelligence Daniel R. Coats identified 6 cyber threat actors, including—

(a) Russia, for “efforts to influence the 2016 U.S. election”;

(b) China, for “actively targeting the U.S. Government, its allies, and U.S. companies for cyber espionage”; and

(c) Iran, for “exploiting vulnerabilities in critical infrastructure, conducting cyber espionage, propaganda, and attacks to support its security priorities, influence events and foreign perceptions, and counter threats”.

(6) In May 2017, the Group of 20 Leaders’ summit communique stated that “norms of responsible behavior guide states’ actions, sustain partnerships, and support the rule of law in cyberspace”.

(7) The Group of 20 Leaders’ summit on November 15 and 16, 2015, the Group of 20 Leaders’ communique—

(A) affirmed the applicability of international law to state behavior in cyberspace;

(B) called on states to refrain from cyber-enabled theft of intellectual property for commercial gain; and

(C) endorsed the view that all states should abide by norms of responsible behavior.

(8) On March 12, 2016, the Commission on Enhancing National Cybersecurity, which was established within the Department of Commerce by Executive Order No. 13718 (61 Fed. Reg. 7411, reconstituted), recommended that “the President should appoint an Ambassador for Cybersecurity to lead U.S. engagement with the international community on cybersecurity strategy, standards, and practices”.

(9) On April 11, 2017, the 2017 Group of 7 Declaration on Responsible States Behavior in Cyberspace (A) recognized “the urgent necessity of increased international cooperation to promote security and stability in cyberspace”;

(B) expressed commitment to “promoting a practical framework for prevention, cooperation and stability in cyberspace, consisting of the recognition of the applicability of existing international law to State behavior in cyberspace, the promotion of voluntary, non-binding norms of responsible State behavior during peacetime, and the development and implementation of practical cyber confidence building measures (CBMs) between States”; and

(C) reaffirmed that “the same rights that people have offline must also be protected online”.

(10) In testimony before the Select Committee on Intelligence of the Senate on May 11, 2017, Director of National Intelligence Daniel R. Coats identified 6 cyber threat actors, including—

(a) Russia, for “efforts to influence the 2016 U.S. election”; and

(b) China, for “actively targeting the U.S. Government, its allies, and U.S. companies for cyber espionage”; and

(c) Iran, for “exploiting vulnerabilities in critical infrastructure, conducting cyber espionage, propaganda, and attacks to support its security priorities, influence events and foreign perceptions, and counter threats”.

(11) Information and communication technologies are among a broader set of critical and emerging technologies that underpin U.S. national security and economic prosperity. The 2017 National Security Strategy noted the central importance of “emerging technologies . . . such as data security, encryption, new materials, nanotechnology, advanced computing technologies, and artificial intelligence.”

The 21st century will increasingly be defined by economic and military competition rooted in technological advances. Leaders in adopting critical and emerging technologies will shape the future, and those who develop such technologies, will garner economic, military, and political strength for decades.

SEC. 4274. UNITED STATES INTERNATIONAL CYBERSPACE POLICY.

(a) In general.—It shall be the policy of the United States to work internationally to promote an open, interoperable, reliable, unfettered, and secure Internet governed by the principles of free expression, innovation, communication, and economic prosperity; and

(b) IMPLEMENTATION.—In implementing the policy described in subsection (a), the President, in consultation with outside actors, including private sector companies, non-governmental organizations, security researchers, and other relevant stakeholders, shall pursue the following objectives:

(1) Clarifying the applicability of international laws and norms to the use of ICT.

(2) Encouraging the development and deployment of new, innovative technologies and ICT products that strengthen a secure Internet architecture that is accessible to all.

(3) Coordinating with like-minded democratic countries that share common values and interests with the United States, including respect for human rights, democracy, and the rule of law, to advance such values and policies internationally.

(4) Promoting responsible adoption of human rights and fundamental freedoms in the conduct of bilateral and multilateral diplomacy.

(5) Ensuring the development of new, innovative technologies and ICT products that strengthen a secure Internet architecture that is accessible to all.

(6) Advancing, encouraging, and supporting the development and adoption of internationally recognized technical standards and best practices.

SEC. 4275. DEPARTMENT OF STATE RESPONSIBILITIES.

(a) In general.—The head of the Bureau shall establish, within the Department of State, the Bureau of International Cybersecurity Policy (referred to in this subsection as the 'Bureau'). The head of the Bureau shall have the rank and status of ambassador and shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

(b) Duties.—

(1) To serve as the principal cyber policy official within the senior management of the Department of State and as the advisor to the Secretary of State for cybersecurity issues; and

(2) To coordinate cyber policy and other relevant functions within the Department of State and with other components of the United States Government, including—

(i) To promote international initiatives to strengthen civilian and private sector resiliency to threats in cyberspace;

(ii) To build capacity of United States diplomatic officials to engage on cybersecurity issues;

(iii) To coordinate cybersecurity policy and other relevant functions within the Department of State and with other components of the United States Government, including—

(A) To serve as the principal cyber policy official within the senior management structure of the Department of State and with other components of the United States Government on a regular basis;

(B) To coordinate cybersecurity policy and other relevant functions within the Department of State and with other components of the United States Government on a regular basis;

(C) To promote an open, interoperable, reliable, and secure information and communication technology infrastructure globally; and

(D) To convene interagency meetings with appropriate officials from the Department and other components of the United States Government in accordance with the policy described in section 4274 of the Cyber Diplomacy Act of 2021.

SEC. 4276. TECHNICAL AUTHORITIES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—It shall be the policy of the United States to promote, through national and international responses to cyber threats, and policies that enable the function of information processing and communication by electronic means, including via the Internet.

(b) IMPLEMENTATION.—In implementing the policy described in subsection (a), the President, in consultation with outside actors, including private sector companies, non-governmental organizations, security researchers, and other relevant stakeholders, shall pursue the following objectives:

(1) To serve as the principal cyber policy official within the senior management of the Department of State and with other components of the United States Government, including—

(i) To promote international initiatives to strengthen civilian and private sector resiliency to threats in cyberspace;

(ii) To build capacity of United States diplomatic officials to engage on cybersecurity issues;

(iii) To coordinate cybersecurity policy and other relevant functions within the Department of State and with other components of the United States Government, including—

(A) To serve as the principal cyber policy official within the senior management structure of the Department of State and with other components of the United States Government on a regular basis;

(B) To coordinate cybersecurity policy and other relevant functions within the Department of State and with other components of the United States Government on a regular basis;

(C) To promote an open, interoperable, reliable, and secure information and communication technology infrastructure globally; and

(D) To convene interagency meetings with appropriate officials from the Department and other components of the United States Government in accordance with the policy described in section 4274 of the Cyber Diplomacy Act of 2021.

SEC. 4277. DEFINITIONS.

In this subtitle:

(1) APPROPRIATE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES.—The term ‘appropriate congressional committees’ means the Committees on Foreign Relations of the Senate and the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives.

(2) EXECUTIVE AGENCY.—The term ‘executive agency’ means—

(A) any department or agency of the United States Government on a regular basis;

(B) any independent establishment that is an agency of the United States Government on a regular basis;

"(a) PROGRAM AUTHORIZED.—From the amounts appropriated to carry out this section, the Secretary shall make competitive grants to eligible institutions to establish centers of excellence in teacher education programs to support computer science education and computational thinking skill development.

"(b) USE OF FUNDS.—A grant awarded to an eligible institution under this section—

"(1) shall be used to ensure that current and future teachers meet the applicable State certification and licensure requirements in a field that will enable them to teach computer science in their State at the elementary and secondary school levels, by—

(A) creating teacher education programs that meet the requirements of section 200(g)(A)(iv) and offer, through hands-on and classroom teaching activities with in-service teachers—

(i) doctoral, master’s, or bachelor’s degrees in teaching computer science at the elementary school and secondary school levels; or

(ii) teaching endorsements in computer science, in the case of a teacher with related State certification and licensure requirements, who is pursuing certification and licensure requirements in related fields, such as mathematics and science;

(B) ensuring that current and future teachers who complete such program meet the applicable State certification and licensure requirements, including any requirements for certification obtained through alternative routes to certification, or, with regard to special education teachers, the qualifications described in section 612(a)(14)(C) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act;

(C) recruiting individuals to enroll in such programs, including subject matter experts and professionals in fields related to computer science;

(D) awarding scholarships and fellowships of not more than $1,000 per student based on financial need and to recruit traditionally underserved citizens geographically awarded, a grant to help such students pay the cost of attendance (as defined in section 472); and

(E) may be used by such institution to conduct research in computer science education and computational thinking skills to improve instruction in such areas.

(f) DURATION.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—A grant under this section shall be awarded for 5 years, conditional upon a satisfactory report to the Secretary of progress with the program covered under the grant after the first 3 years of the grant period.

(2) REPORT OF PROGRESS.—Such report of progress shall include data on the number of students and instructors enrolled, information on former graduates of such programs, including the plan for the number of personnel to be hired, a description of their expected qualifications and titles, the number of fel lows and scholarships, the estimated administrative expenses, proposed academic advising strategy, and organizing and outreach to maintain virtual community of computer science educators.

(3) ELIGIBLE INSTITUTION.—The term ‘eligible institution’ means an institution of higher education (as defined in section 101, which may be in a partnership with a nonprofit organization.

(4) COMPUTER SCIENCE.—The term ‘computer science’ means the study of computers, including algorithmic processes and the study of computing systems and theories, as defined by a State, and may include instruction or learning on—

(A) computer programming or coding as a tool for problem solving;

(B) development and management of computer hardware related to sharing, processing, representing, securing, and using digital data;

(C) computational thinking skills and interdisciplinary problem-solving to equip students with the skills and abilities necessary to apply computational thinking in the digital world.

"5. COMPUTATIONAL THINKING.—The term ‘computational thinking’ means critical thinking skills that—

(A) include knowledge of how problems and solutions can be expressed in such a way that they can be modeled or solved using a computer or machine;

(B) include the use of strategies related to problem decomposition, pattern matching, abstraction, modularity, and algorithm design; and

(C) involve creative problem solving skills and are applicable across a wide range of disciplines and careers."

(2) submit to the Select Committee on Intelligence of the Senate and the Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence of the House of Representatives the plan developed under paragraph (1).

(b) CONTENTS OF PLAN.—At a minimum, the plan required by subsection (a) shall include the following:

(1) A roadmap for adopting a holing model to allow trusted small- and medium-sized artificial intelligence companies access to the Defense and classified data systems that address issues, including common interfaces, authentication, applications, platforms, software, hardware, and data infrastructure.

(2) A governance structure, together with associated policies and guidance, to drive the implementation of the research community on a federated basis.

(3) A roadmap for adopting a holing model to allow trusted small- and medium-sized artificial intelligence companies access to the Defense and classified data systems that address issues, including common interfaces, authentication, applications, platforms, software, hardware, and data infrastructure.

SEC. 6. STUDY ON NATIONAL LABORATORY CONSORTIUM FOR CYBER RESILIENCE.

(a) STUDY REQUIRED.—The Secretary of Energy shall, in consultation with the Secretary of Homeland Security and the Secretary of Defense, conduct a study to analyze the feasibility of authorizing a consortium within the National Laboratory system to address information technology and operational technology cybersecurity vulnerabilities in critical infrastructure (as defined in the Critical Infrastructure and Cybersecurity Protection Act of 2002 (42 U.S.C. 5195c(e))).

(b) Elements.—The study required under subsection (a) shall include the following:

(1) An analysis of any additional authorities needed to establish a research and development program to leverage the expertise at the Department of Energy National Laboratories to accelerate development and delivery of advanced tools and techniques to defend the critical infrastructure against cyber intrusions and enable resilient operations during a cyber attack.

(2) Evaluation of potential pilot programs in research, innovation transfer, academic partnerships, and industry partnerships for critical infrastructure protection research.

(3) Identification of and assessment of near-term actions, and cost estimates, necessary for the proposed consortia to be established and effective at a broad scale expeditiously.

(c) REPORT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 120 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Energy shall submit to the appropriate committees of Congress a report on the findings of the Secretary with respect to the study conducted under subsection (a).

(2) FORM.—The report submitted under paragraph (1) shall be submitted in unclassified form, but may include a classified annex.

(3) APPROPRIATE COMMITTEES OF CONGRESS DEFINED.—In this subsection, the term ‘appropriate committees of Congress’ means—

(A) the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources, the Committee on Commerce, Science, the Committee on Homeland Security and Government Affairs, and the Select Committee on Intelligence of the Senate; and

(B) the Committee on Energy and Commerce, the Committee on Armed Services, the Committee on Homeland Security, and the Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence of the House of Representatives.

SA 2006. Mr. HAGERTY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed to amendment SA 1502 proposed by Mr. SCHUMER to the bill S. 1260, to establish a new Directorate for Technology and Innovation in the National Science Foundation, to establish a regional technology hub program, to require a strategy and report on economic security, science, research, innovation, manufacturing, and job creation, to establish a critical supply chain resiliency program, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. 223. REASONABLE, NON-DISCRIMINATORY ACCESS TO ONLINE COMMUNICATIONS PLATFORMS; BLOCKING AND SCREENING OF OFFENSIVE MATERIAL.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) The rapidly developing array of Internet and other interactive computer services available to individual Americans represents an extraordinary advance in the availability of educational and informational resources for all citizens.

(2) These services often offer users a great degree of control over the information that they receive, as well as the potential for even greater control in the future as technology continues to develop.

(3) The Internet and other interactive computer services offer a forum for a true diversity of political discourse and viewpoints, unique opportunities for cultural development, and myriad avenues for intellectual activity, and regulation of the Internet must be tailored to supporting those activities.

(4) The Internet and other interactive computer services have flourished, to the benefit of all Americans, with a minimum of government regulation, and regulation should be limited to what is necessary to preserve the societal benefits provided by the Internet.

(b) POLICY.—It is the policy of the United States—
“(1) to promote the continued development of the internet and other interactive computer services and other interactive media;

“(2) to preserve a vibrant and competitive free market for the internet and other interactive computer services;

“(3) to encourage the development of technologies that maximize user control over what information is received by individuals, families, and schools who use the internet and other interactive computer services, rather than control and censorship driven by interactive computer service providers;

“(4) to facilitate the development and utilization of blocking and filtering technologies that empower parents to restrict their children’s access to objectionable or inappropriate online material;

“(5)(A) to ensure that the internet serves as an active computer service for—

“(i) a true diversity of discourse and viewpoints, including political discourse and viewpoints;

“(ii) unique opportunities for cultural development; and

“(iii) myriad avenues for intellectual activity; and

“(B) to ensure that the internet is the dominant platform for communication and public debate today, to ensure that major internet communications platforms, which function as common carriers in terms of their size, usage, and necessity, are available to all users on reasonable and non-discriminatory terms free from public or private censorship of religious or political speech;

“(6) to promote consumer protection and transparency regarding information and content management practices by major internet platforms to—

“(A) ensure that consumers understand—

“(i) the products they are using; and

“(ii) what information is being presented to them and why; and

“(B) prevent deceptive or undetectable actions that filter the information presented to consumers; and

“(7) to ensure vigorous enforcement of Federal criminal laws to deter and punish trafficking in online obscenity, stalking, and harassment.

“(c) Reasonable and Nondiscriminatory Access to Common Carrier Technology Companies.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—A common carrier technology company, with respect to the interactive computer service provided by the company—

“(A) shall furnish the interactive computer service to all persons upon reasonable request;

“(B) may not unjustly or unreasonably discriminate in charges, practices, classifications, regulations, facilities, treatment, or services for or in connection with the furnishing of the interactive computer service, directly or indirectly, by any means or device;

“(C) may not make or give any undue or unreasonable preference or advantage to any particular persons, classes of persons, political or religious group or affiliation, or locality; and

“(D) may not subject any particular person, class of persons, political or religious group or affiliation, or locality to any undue or unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage.

“(2) APPLICABILITY TO BROADBAND.—Paragraph (1) shall apply with respect to the provision of broadband internet access service.

“(3) CONSUMER PROTECTION AND TRANSPARENCY REGARDING COMMON CARRIER TECHNOLOGY COMPANIES.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—A common carrier technology company shall disclose, through a publicly available, easily accessible website, accurate material regarding the content management, moderation, promotion, account termination and suspension, and curation mechanisms and practices of the company sufficient to enable—

“(A)(i) consumers to make informed choices regarding use of the interactive computer service provided by the company; and

“(B) persons to develop, market, and maintain other interactive computer services that are compatible with the interactive computer service provided by the company.

“(B) BEST PRACTICES.—The Commission, after soliciting comments from the public, shall publish best practices for common carrier technology companies to disclose content management, moderation, promotion, account termination and suspension, and curation mechanisms and practices in accordance with paragraph (1).

“(C) APPLICABILITY TO BROADBAND.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply with respect to the provision of broadband internet access service.

“(d) PROTECTION FOR ‘GOOD SAMARITAN’ BLOCKING AND SCREENING OF OFFENSIVE MATERIAL.—

“(1) TREATMENT OF PUBLISHER OR SPEAKER.

“(A) IN GENERAL.—No provider or user of an interactive computer service shall be treated as a publisher or speaker of any material provided by another information content provider.

“(B) EXCEPTION.—Subparagraph (A) shall not apply to any affirmative act by a provider or user of an interactive computer service with respect to material posted on the interactive computer service, whether the act is carried out manually or through use of an algorithm or other automated or semi-automated process, including—

“(i) providing its own material;

“(ii) commenting or editorializing on, promoting, recommending, or increasing or decreasing the dissemination or visibility to users of its own material or material provided by another information content provider;

“(iii) restricting access to or availability of material provided by another information content provider;

“(iv) barring or limiting any information content provider from using the interactive computer service;

“(2) CIVIL LIABILITY.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—No provider or user of an interactive computer service shall be held liable, under subsection (c) or (d), otherwise, on account of—

“(i) any action voluntarily taken in good faith to restrict access to or availability of material that the provider or user considers to be obscene, lewd, lascivious, filthy, exces-sively violent, harassing, promoting self-harm, or unlawful, whether or not such material is constitutionally protected; or

“(ii) any action taken to enable or make available the means for the provider or user of the interactive computer service to restrict access to material described in clause (i).

“(B) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of subparagraph (A)

“(i) the term ‘excessively violent’, with respect to material, means material that—

“(I) is likely to be deemed violent and for mature audiences according to the V-chip regulations and TV Parental Guidelines of the Commission promulgated under sections 303(x) and 336(c)(4); or

“(II) constitutes or intends to advocate domestic terrorism or international terrorism, as defined in section 2331 of title 18, United States Code;

“(II) the term ‘harassing’ means material that—

“(I) is—

“(aa) provided by an information content provider with the intent to abuse, threaten, or harass any specific person; and

“(III) violates the CAN-SPAM Act of 2003 (15 U.S.C. 7701 et seq.); or

“(III) is malicious computer code intended (whether or not by the immediate disseminator) to damage or interfere with the operation of a computer;

“(iii) the term ‘in good faith’, with respect to restricting access to or availability of specific material, means the provider or user—

“(I) restricts access to or availability of material that is similar to material consistently withheld by available online terms of service or use that—

“(aa) state plainly and with particularity the criteria that the provider or user of the interactive computer service employs in its content moderation practices, including by any partially or fully automated processes; and

“(II) has an objectively reasonable belief that the material falls within one of the categories listed in subparagraph (A); and

“(III) (aa) does not restrict access to or availability of material on deceptive or pretextual grounds; and

“(bb) does not apply terms of service or use to restrict access to or availability of material that is similarly situated to material that the provider or user of the interactive computer service intentionally declines to restrict; and

“(IV) supplies the information content provider of the material with timely notice describing with particularity the reasonable factual basis for the restriction of access and a meaningful opportunity to respond, unless the provider or user of the interactive computer service has an objectively reasonable belief that—

“(aa) the material is related to terrorism or criminal activity; or

“(IV) the terms ‘obscene’, ‘lewd’, ‘lascivious’, and ‘filthy’, with respect to material, mean material that—

“(I) taken as a whole—

“(aa) appeals to the prurient interest in sex or portrays sexual conduct in a patently offensive way; and

“(bb) does not have serious literary, artistic, political, or scientific value;

“(II) depicts or describes sexual or excre-tory organs or activities in terms patently offensive to the average person, applying contemporary community standards; or

“(III) signifies the form of immorality which has relation to sexual impurity, taking into account the standards at common law in prosecutions for obscene label.

“(C) BEST PRACTICES.—The Commission, after soliciting comments from the public, shall publish best practices for making publicly available online terms of service or use that state plainly and with particularity the criteria that the provider or user of an interactive computer service employs in its content moderation practices, including by any partially or fully automated processes, in accordance with subparagraph (B)(iii)(A).

“(D) VIOLATIONS.—

“(1) VIOLATIONS.

“(A) IN GENERAL.—A person aggrieved by a violation of subsection (c) or (d) may bring a civil action against the provider or user of an interactive computer service that committed the violation for any relief permitted under subparagraph (B) of this paragraph.

“(B) RELIEF.—

“(1) PRIVATE RIGHT OF ACTION.

“(A) IN GENERAL.—A person aggrieved by a violation of subsection (c) or (d) may bring a civil action against the provider or user of an interactive computer service that committed the violation for any relief permitted under subparagraph (B) of this paragraph.

It is the sense of the Senate that—

(A) it is in the strategic interests of the United States to help ensure that COVID-19 vaccines are available to other countries, particularly poorer countries with limited resources, not only as a timely live-saving and humanitarian measure, but also as the best way to protect hard-fought gains made against the pandemic in the United States; and

(B) the United States should support efforts by other countries to procure COVID-19 vaccines and protect against the instability caused by a severe economic downturn.

(3) the release of Special Drawing Rights by the International Monetary Fund, as was done after the 2008 global economic crisis, is one of the best ways to help poorer countries procure COVID-19 vaccines and protect against the instability caused by a severe economic downturn.

SEC. 3505. POLICY OF UNITED STATES ON MAINTAINING SUPERIORITY OF UNITED STATES NUCLEAR FORCES.

(a) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the modernization of the land-based intercontinental ballistic missile, ballistic missile submarines, and nuclear-capable heavy bomber aircraft is essential to maintaining a competitive edge over the People’s Republic of China and providing security for the allies of the United States in the region;

(2) the Secretary for the modernization of the nuclear triad will be a necessary consideration during ratification of any future arms control treaty with the People’s Republic of China;

(3) the nuclear forces of the People’s Republic of China will significantly evolve over the decade after the date of the enactment of this Act as the People’s Republic of China modernizes, diversifies, and increases the number of its land-, sea-, and air-based nuclear delivery platforms;

(4) the People’s Republic of China is pursuing a nuclear triad with the development of a nuclear-capable air-launched ballistic missile and improving its ground and sea-based nuclear delivery capabilities; and

(5) new developments in 2019 further suggest that the People’s Republic of China intends to increase the peacetime readiness of its nuclear forces by moving to a launch-on-warning posture with an expanded silo-based force.

(b) STATEMENT OF POLICY.—It is the policy of the United States—

(1) to advance the strategic deterrence capabilities of the United States and the nuclear triad of the People’s Republic of China before ratification.

SEC. 6302. VEHICLE TECHNOLOGY COMPETITIVENESS.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1) the Government of the People’s Republic of China is investing in developing innovative technologies with commercial and military applications, including autonomous vehicles;

(2) the municipal government of Shanghai alone has planned investments of $15,000,000,000 over 10 years for research and development;
(3) the Government of the People’s Republic of China has a strategy of promoting national champions, including in the autonomous vehicle industry, in order to overtake and out-compete the United States in the global market leaders; and

(4) technological leadership in the autonomous vehicle industry represents a global market opportunity worth an estimated $8,000,000,000,000; and

(5) unless the United States enacts policies to protect the technological leadership of the United States in the autonomous vehicle industry against the People’s Republic of China and other competitors, the United States risks losing that technological leadership; and

(b) maintaining the leading role of the United States in developing and producing autonomous vehicles is essential—

(A) to growing manufacturing jobs that support a strong middle class; and

(B) to achieving the safety and mobility benefits offered by autonomous vehicles.

(2) HIGHLY AUTOMATED SYSTEMS SAFETY CENTER OF EXCELLENCE.

(1) DEFINITIONS.—In this subsection:

(A) CENTER.—The term ‘Center’ means the Highly Automated Systems Safety Center of Excellence established under paragraph (2).

(B) DEPARTMENT.—The term ‘Department’ means the Department of Transportation.

(C) SECRETARY.—The term ‘Secretary’ means the Secretary of Transportation.

(2) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Secretary shall establish a Highly Automated Systems Safety Center of Excellence within the Department for the purpose of maintaining a workforce at the Department that is capable of reviewing, assessing, and validating the safety of automated technologies.

(3) DUTIES.

(A) IN GENERAL.—The Center shall—

(i) serve as a central location within the Department of Defense in—

(I) automation and human factors;

(II) computer science;

(III) data analytics;

(IV) machine learning;

(V) sensors and other technologies relating to automated systems; and

(VI) security; and

(ii) collaborate with, and provide support to, all operating administrations of the Department with respect to highly automated systems.

(B) REVIEW, ASSESSMENT, AND VALIDATION.—The workforce of the Center, in coordination with relevant operating administrations of the Department, shall advise on the review, assessment, and validation of highly automated systems to ensure the safety and security of those systems.

(C) AUTHORITY.—The activities of the Center under this subsection shall not supersede any certification authority granted to an operating administration of the Department under other law (including regulations).

(D) WORKFORCE.—Nothing in this subsection supersedes any law (including regulations)

(A) granting certification authority to an operating administration of the Department;

(B) establishing certification responsibilities for manufacturers (as defined in section 30102(a) of title 49, United States Code); or

(C) relating to an operating administration of the Department to determine safety defects in regulated products.

(6) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 105 of division H of the Further Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2020 (49 U.S.C. 102 note; Public Law 116–94) is repealed.

(7) REVISION.—Not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall submit to the appropriate committees of Congress a report describing—

(A) the staffing needs of the Center; and

(B) the staffing plan for the Center.

(8) MOTOR VEHICLE TESTING OR EVALUATION.

(1) DEFINITIONS.—Section 30102(a) of title 49, United States Code, is amended—

(A) in the matter preceding paragraph (1), by striking “chapter—” and inserting “chapter—”;

SEC. __. UNITED STATES GRAND STRATEGY WITH RESPECT TO CHINA.

(a) FINDINGS; SENSE OF CONGRESS.—

(1) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(A) The United States is in a new era of geostategic and geoeconomic competition with the People’s Republic of China, a great power that seeks to challenge international norms and institutions, and confront the United States across diplomatic, economic, military, technological, and informational domains.

(B) As it has during previous periods of great power competition, the United States must articulate and refine its grand strategy, including through rigorous testing of assumptions and by drawing on expertise outside the United States Government, to ensure its ultimate success, as well as global peace, stability, and shared prosperity.

(C) In January 1980, President Truman requested an in-depth report on the state of the world, actions taken by adversaries of the United States, and the development of a comprehensive national security strategy, resulting in a paper entitled “United States Objectives and Programs for National Security”, also known as NSC-68.

(D) President Eisenhower utilized experts from both within and outside the United States Government during Project Solarium to produce NSC 1622, a “Statement of Policy by the National Security Council on Basic National Security Policy” in order to “meet the Soviet Threat to U.S. security” and guide United States national security policy.

(E) In January 2019, President Ford authorized the team B project to draw in experts from outside the United States Government to question and strengthen the analysis of the Central Intelligence Agency.

(F) A model for United States strategy on a great power competitor is the January 17, 1983, National Security Decision Directive Number 75, approved by President Reagan, to organize United States strategy toward the Soviet Union in order to clarify and orient United States policies towards specific objectives vis a vis the Soviet Union.

(2) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that the United States should draw upon previous successful models of grand strategy to articulate a strategy that appropriately addresses the evolving challenges and contours of the new era of geostategic and geoeconomic competition with the People’s Republic of China.

(b) UNITED STATES GRAND STRATEGY WITH RESPECT TO CHINA.
GRAND STRATEGY WITH RESPECT TO CHINA.—

(a) The President shall submit to Congress a national security strategy under section 108 of the National Security Act of 1947 (50 U.S.C. 3043) after the date of the enactment of this Act, the President shall commence developing a comprehensive report that articulates the strategy of the United States with respect to the People’s Republic of China (in this section referred to as the “China Strategy”) that builds on the work of such national security strategy.

(b) Such strategy shall include an unclassified summary.

(c) CONTENTS.—The China Strategy developed under subsection (b) shall set forth the national security strategy of the United States with respect to the People’s Republic of China and shall include a comprehensive description and discussion of the following:

(1) The worldwide interests, values, goals, and objectives of the United States as they relate to and geostrategic competition with the People’s Republic of China.

(2) The foreign and economic policy, worldwide commitments, and national defense capabilities of the United States necessary to deter aggression and to implement the national security strategy of the United States as they relate to the new era of competition with the People’s Republic of China.

(3) How the United States will exercise the political, economic, military, diplomatic, and other elements of its national power to protect its interests and achieve the goals and objectives referred to in paragraph (1).

(4) The adequacy of the capabilities of the United States Government to carry out the national security strategy of the United States within the context of current and emerging challenges to the international order posed by the People’s Republic of China, including an evaluation—

(A) of the balance among the capabilities of all elements of national power of the United States; and

(B) the balance of all United States elements of national power in comparison to equivalent elements of national power of the People’s Republic of China.

(5) The assumptions and end-state or end-states of the strategy of the United States globally and in the Indo-Pacific region with respect to the People’s Republic of China.

(6) Other information as the President considers necessary to help inform Congress on matters relating to the national security strategy of the United States with respect to the People’s Republic of China.

(d) ADVISORY BOARD ON UNITED STATES GRAND STRATEGY WITH RESPECT TO CHINA.—

(1) ESTABLISHMENT.—There is hereby established in the executive branch a commission to be known as the “Advisory Board on United States Grand Strategy with respect to China” (in this section referred to as the “Board”).

(2) PURPOSE.—The purpose of the Board is to convene outside experts to advise the President on development of the China Strategy.

(3) DUTIES.—

(A) REVIEW.—The Board shall review the current US national security strategy and the United States with respect to the People’s Republic of China, including assumptions, capabilities, strategy, and end-state or end-states.

(B) ASSESSMENT AND RECOMMENDATIONS.—The Board shall analyze the United States national security strategy and the People’s Republic of China, including challenging its assumptions and approach, and make recommendations to the President for the exercise of national security strategy.

(C) CONCLUSION.—

(1) RECOMMENDATIONS.—Not later than 30 days after the date on which the President submits to Congress a national security strategy under section 108 of the National Security Act of 1947 (50 U.S.C. 3043) after the date of the enactment of this Act, the President shall—

(A) submit to Congress a list of the members so appointed.

(2) EXPERTS AND CONSULTANTS.—The Board is authorized to procure temporary and intermittent services under section 3109 of title 5, United States Code, but at rates for individuals not to exceed the daily equivalent of the maximum annual rate of basic pay under level IV of the Executive Schedule under section 5315 of title 5, United States Code.

(3) SECURITY CLEARANCES.—The appropriate Federal departments or agencies shall cooperate with the Board in expeditiously providing to the Board members and experts and consultants appropriate security clearances to the extent possible pursuant to existing procedures and requirements, except that no person may be provided with access to classified information under this Act without the appropriate security clearances.

(4) RECEIPT, HANDLING, STORAGE, AND DISSEMINATION.—Information shall only be received, handled, stored, disseminated by members of the Board and any experts and consultants consistent with all applicable statutes, regulations, and Executive orders.

(5) UNCOMPENSATED SERVICE.—Members of the Board shall serve without compensation.

(f) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $2,000,000 for the period of fiscal years 2022 and 2023.

(g) TERMINATION.—The Board shall terminate on the date that is 60 days after the date on which the President submits the China Strategy to Congress under subsection (b) or

SEC. 3510. COUNTRY OF ORIGIN LABELING ON- LINE ACT.

(a) MANDATORY ORIGIN AND LOCATION DISCLOSURE FOR PRODUCTS OFFERED FOR SALE ON THE INTERNET.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—

(A) Disclosure.—It shall be unlawful for a product that is required to be marked under section 303(b) of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. 1304) or its implementing regulations to be introduced, sold, advertised, or offered for sale on commerce on an internet website unless the internet website description of the product—

(I) indicates in a conspicuous place the country of origin of the product (or, in the case of multi-sourced products, countries of origin), in a manner consistent with the regulations prescribed under section 304 of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. 1304) and the country of origin marking regulations administered by U.S. Customs and Border Protection; and

(II) includes, in the case of—

(aa) a new passenger motor vehicle (as defined in section 32901 of title 49, United States Code), the country of origin disclosure required by such section; and

(bb) a textile fiber product (as defined in section 2 of the Textile Fiber Products Identification Act (15 U.S.C. 70b)), the country of origin disclosure required by such section.

(cc) a wool product (as defined in section 2 of the Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939 (15 U.S.C. 66b)), the country of origin disclosure required by such section.

(dd) a fur product (as defined in section 2 of the Fur Products Labeling Act (15 U.S.C. 69b)), the country of origin disclosure required by such section.

(ee) a covered commodity (as defined in section 281 of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1946 (7 U.S.C. 1638)), the country of origin information required by section 282 of such Act (7 U.S.C. 1638a); and

(ii) includes in a conspicuous place the country in which the seller of the product is located or, if applicable, the country in which any parent corporation of such seller is located.

(B) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENT.—The disclosure of a product’s country of origin required pursuant to subparagraph (A)(i) shall not be made in such a manner as to represent to a consumer that the product is in whole, or part, manufactured in United States origin, unless such disclosure is consistent with section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45(a) and any regulations promulgated by the Commission pursuant to section 5 of the Violent Crime Control and Law Enforcement Act of 1994 (15 U.S.C. 45a), provided that no other Federal statute or regulation applies.

(C) LIMITATION.—The provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to a pharmacetical product subject to the jurisdiction of the Food and Drug Administration.

(2) CERTAIN DRUG PRODUCTS.—It shall be unlawful for a drug that is not subject to section 503(b)(1) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 353(b)(1)) and that is required to be marked under section 304 of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. 1304) to be offered for sale on commerce on an internet website unless the internet website description of the drug indicates in a conspicuous place the name and place of business of the manufacturer, importer, distributor, or private label that is required to appear on the label of the drug in accordance with section 502(b) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 352(b)).

(B) OBLIGATION TO PROVIDE.—A manufacturer, importer, distributor, seller, supplier, or private label that has a private label must produce, introduce, sell, advertised, or offer for sale in commerce shall provide the information identified in clauses (i) and (ii) of paragraph (1)(A) or (paragraph (2), as applicable, to the relevant retailer or internet website marketplace.

(3) SAFE HARBOR.—A retailer or internet website marketplace satisfies the disclosure requirements under subparagraphs (i) and (ii) of paragraph (1)(A) or paragraph (2), as applicable, if the disclosure required under such section appears in a conspicuous place, includes the country of origin and seller information provided by a third-party manufacturer, importer, distributor, seller, supplier, or a private label.

(c) PROHIBITION ON FALSE AND DECEPTIVE REPRESENTATION OF UNITED STATES ORIGIN ON PRODUCTS.—

(1) UNLAWFUL ACTIVITY.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, and except as provided in paragraph (2), it shall be unlawful for any person to make a false or deceptive representation that a product or its parts or processing are of United States origin in any advertising, labeling, or other promotional materials, or any other form of marketing, including marketing through digital or electronic means in the United States.

(2) DECEPTIVE REPRESENTATION.—For purposes of paragraph (1), a representation that a product is in whole, or in part, of United States origin is deceptive if, at the time the representation is made, such claim is not consistent with the regulations promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45a) and any regulations promulgated by the Commission pursuant to section 5 of the Violent Crime Control and Law Enforcement Act of 1994 (15 U.S.C. 45a), provided that no other Federal statute or regulation applies.

(d) LIMITATION OF LIABILITY.—A retailer or internet website marketplace is not in violation of this subsection if a third-party manufacturer, distributor, seller, supplier, or private label provides the retailer or internet website marketplace with a false or deceptive representation as to the country of origin of a product or its parts or processing.

(e) EXEMPTION.—A false or deceptive representation is not a violation of this subsection if the representation is made in accordance with the representaton provided by a third-party manufacturer, distributor, seller, supplier, or private label.

(f) IMPERmissible CLAIMS.—A representation that violates subsection (a) or (b) shall be subject to the penalties and entitled to the privileges and immunities provided in the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 41 et seq.) as though all applicable terms and provisions of that Act were incorporated and made part of this section.

(g) AUTHORITY PRESERVED.—Nothing in this section may be construed to limit the authority of the Commission under any other provision of law.

(h) INTERAGENCY AGREEMENT.—Not later than 6 months after the date of enactment of this division, the Commission, the U.S. Customs and Border Protection, and the Department of Agriculture shall—

(A) enter into a Memorandum of Understanding or other appropriate agreement for the purpose of consistent implementation of this section; and

(B) publish such agreement to provide public guidance.

(i) DURATION OF COMMISSION.—In this subsection, the term “Commission” means the Federal Trade Commission.

SEC. 5105. SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING CORPORATE AND FINANCIAL DEALINGS BY AMERICANS WITH THE CHINESE COMMunist PARTY.

(a) In General.—It is the sense of Congress that United States corporate, business, university, and financial entities, organizations, and their senior executives, all of which benefit from United States capital markets and the protection of our Nation’s laws and military—

(1) should not engage in any activity, in the course of their dealings with the People’s Republic of China, that would harm the United States or its allies, after considering the long term ethical, fiduciary, and competitive implications of such activity;

(2) should not enter into trades of sensitive technology or products, transfers of intellectual property, or monetary investment (whether directly or indirectly) with the Chinese Communist Party, entities owned or controlled by the Chinese Communist Party, the People’s Liberation Army, or for the benefit of any key industrial sector supported by the Chinese Communist Party if such dealings would—

(A) allow the Chinese Communist Party or People’s Liberation Army to gain a competitive military advantage or advantage in the global economy;

(B) allow the Chinese Communist Party to stiffl competition or perfect its technologically enabled police state at home and abroad;

(C) negatively impact the United States’ competitive advantage to the national security; or

(D) would be counter to the objectives of this Act.

(b) KEY INDUSTRIAL SECTORS.—Examples of key industrial sectors referred to in subsection (a) are—

(1) information technology;

(2) artificial intelligence;

(3) robotics;

(4) smart appliances;

(5) machine learning;

(6) energy;

SEC. 2031. ENCOURAGING DOMESTIC UNMANNED AIRCRAFT SYSTEM INDUSTRY TO PARTNER AND COLLABORATE WITH UNITED STATES MANUFACTURERS OF CERTAIN SAFETY ACCESSORIES.

(a) COVERED SAFETY ACCESSORIES.—For purposes of this section, a covered safety accessory is a parachute recovery system that—

(1) is designed and manufactured in the United States;

(2) minimizes the risk of injury to United States or its allies personnel in the course of their dealings with the People’s Republic of China, that would harm the United States or its allies, after considering the long term ethical, fiduciary, and competitive implications of such activity;

(3) is designed and manufactured in the United States; and

(4) is sold, or distributed by an entity owned, controlled by the Chinese Communist Party, the People’s Liberation Army, or for the benefit of any key industrial sector supported by the Chinese Communist Party if such dealings would—

(A) allow the Chinese Communist Party or People’s Liberation Army to gain a competitive military advantage or advantage in the global economy;

(B) allow the Chinese Communist Party to stiffl competition or perfect its technologically enabled police state at home and abroad;

(C) negatively impact the United States’ competitive advantage to the national security; or

(D) would be counter to the objectives of this Act.

SEC. 2032. Mr. LARSON of Connecticut. Madam Speaker, on Wednesday, May 19, 2021, I was unfortunately not present for roll call vote 149 on agreeing to H. Res. 275. Condemning the horrific shootings in Atlanta, Georgia, on March 16, 2021, and reaffirming the House of Representative’s commitment to combating hate, bigotry, and violence against the Asian-American and Pacific Islander community, I fully condemn the shootings in Atlanta on March 16, 2021, and stand fully committed to combating hate, bigotry, and violence against the Asian-American and Pacific Islander community. Had I been present for this vote, I would have voted AYE on roll call vote 149.

RECOGNIZING CAPTAIN JOHN MARSHALL BRANCH

HON. EARL L. “BUDDY” CARTER
OF GEORGIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, May 25, 2021

Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize Captain John Marshall Branch for twenty-six years of exceptional service to our country.

Captain Branch was commissioned in 1995 after earning a Bachelor of Science in Management from the U.S. Coast Guard Academy in New London, Connecticut.

Since then, he has over three thousand and five hundred hours of flight experience, served at six air stations, and deployed to six of the seven continents.

From 2016 to 2018, Captain Branch served as the Commanding Officer of Air Station Savannah, successfully supporting hurricane and disaster response, search and rescue, and law enforcement in the southeast, as well as air space protection for the President and National Capital Region.

Captain Branch has a long list of military accomplishments, including the Korea Defense Service Medal, two Commendation medals, the Antarctic Service Medal, and the Achievement Medal, amongst others.

I am proud to rise today to honor Captain Branch for his leadership, and commitment to our country. I want to thank Captain Branch and his family for his service.

Mr. CARSON of Indiana. Madam Speaker, I rise to re-introduce a resolution recognizing and supporting the goals and ideals of National Poppy Day. The importance of this day cannot be overstated. It’s a day full of respect and remembrance for servicemembers who sacrificed so much for our Nation. The poppy flower has long been a marker of respect and a way to raise awareness and support for members of our Nation’s veterans communities, servicemembers, and their families. On May 28, we share our respect for their work on behalf of our country by acknowledging the poppy flower’s symbolism, and by recognizing their sacrifices—all by donning our “poppy red.”

The red-flowered corn poppy became symbolic as a living representation of the brave soldiers who paid the ultimate sacrifice on the fields of battle in World War I. Since that time, the red of the poppy flower—its own symbol of the blood shed by those who have served—has been worn as a gesture of gratitude and recognition of others’ respective sacrifices for their country, in different theaters of war.

In the United States, The American Legion—and the entire American Legion Family—first called attention in 1920 to the symbolic importance of the poppy flower. At that time, near the end of the war, red-flowered corn poppies were especially linked to the poem In Flanders Fields, which reads:

This reference, evoking images of the poppies that sprang up in the churned-up earth of newly dug soldiers’ graves in parts of Belgium and France following World War I, encapsulates the symbolic importance of National Poppy Day.

I am proud to have partnered with The Worked on the Home Front Foundation to establish a memorial to honor these women. The memorial is designed to be interactive and to educate visitors on the important roles women played during World War II. Between 1940 and 1945, the percentage of women in the workforce increased from 27 percent to nearly 37 percent, and by 1945 one in four married American women on the home front opened doors for women in the workplace and had a profound effect on the job market going forward. As a result of their efforts, millions of American women on the home front redefined “women’s work” and paved the way for future generations.

Many women also played critical roles in support of the war effort. More than 10,000 women served behind the scenes of World War II as code breakers. Due to the classified nature of their work, they did not receive recognition for their tireless efforts until recently. Women were also trained to fly military aircraft so male pilots could leave for combat duty overseas. More than 1,100 female civilian volunteers flew nearly every type of military aircraft as part of the Women Airforce Service Pilots (WASP) program. WASP flew planes from factories to bases, transported cargo and participated in simulation strafing and target missions. These women were not given full military status until 1977, and it was not until 2010 that they were recognized with the Congressional Gold Medal.
Women have been historically underrepresented in our memorials, particularly the memorials on federal land in the nation’s capital. It is fitting to authorize a memorial that would allow millions of visitors to D.C. to understand and honor the heroic efforts of these women and their lasting impact on the fabric of our society.

I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

RECOGNIZING MR. RAVINDER SINGH SHERGILL
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, May 25, 2021

Mr. VALADAIO. Madam Speaker, I rise today in honor of the life of Mr. Ravinder Singh Shergill, who passed away on April 22, 2021.

Mr. Shergill was born on September 12, 1956, in Punjab, India. At the age of seventeen, he immigrated to the United States and later graduated from UC Berkeley with a Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering. He went on to work for National Semiconductor for more than three decades. As an engineer, Mr. Shergill held patents involving disk storage and helped create the USB specifications. As a manager, he admired and respected as a mentor to his colleagues. His story is truly an embodiment of the American Dream.

Mr. Shergill had a great appreciation for America, but he never forgot his roots. He was committed to bridging the Sikh and American communities together and was a founding member of the Sikh Youth of California and America.

Mr. Shergill is remembered as a caring husband, father, and grandfather with a love for books, history, music, and film. He is survived by his wife, Grace Rosa; his children, Simren, Kiren, and Kevan; and his grandchildren Leena, Mary, Samuel, and Briya.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues in the United States House of Representatives to join me in honoring the life of Mr. Ravinder Singh Shergill. Our thoughts and prayers are with his family and friends during this difficult time.

HONORING NEW YORK’S BRAVE FIRST RESPONDERS, PARAMEDICS, EMERGENCY MEDICAL TECHNICIANS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, May 25, 2021

Ms. STEFANIK. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor New York’s brave First Responders, Paramedics, and Emergency Medical Technicians as we celebrate National Emergency Medical Services Week. I recognize the great impact and sacrifice our EMS providers make to keep our communities safe.

EMS systems provide lifesaving care and are an integral part of our communities’ wellbeing. Emergency medical responders are first on the scene of what is often the worst days of people’s lives. Despite the great physical and mental toll, EMS providers consistently put the care of others before themselves. Their selfless perseverance and rigorous training allow them to be prepared for any situation. I am profoundly grateful for all those who choose to serve our community in this way.

The 21st Congressional District of New York is home to the oldest continuously run commercial ambulance service in the country. Guilfoyle Ambulance was established in 1907 and is currently owned and operated by Bruce G. Wright. The first ambulance was a horse-drawn carriage and the business now boasts 16 ambulances. Today, Guilfoyle is certified at the Paramedic level and provides basic and advanced life support transportation as well as Paramedic service for over 8,500 requests and over 600 transports each year. The company operates in the majority of Jefferson County, including Fort Drum, as well as in some neighboring towns in St. Lawrence, Lewis, and Oswego Counties. Guilfoyle is just one of the many critical components of our EMS systems in the 21st District.

On behalf of New York’s 21st Congressional District, I am proud of thousands of hardworking EMS providers and I am honored to recognize them on this National Emergency Medical Services Week. I thank them for safeguarding our community.

CONGRATULATING UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO’S SENIOR STRATEGIC ADVISOR AND FORMER VICE CHANCELLOR, FRANCES DRAPER, ON HER RETIREMENT
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, May 25, 2021

Ms. SCHAKOWSKY. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize Save Your Tooth Month. This month celebrates Americans saving their natural teeth and recognizes the “savers”—endodontists—who make this possible.

There are more than 5,000 endodontists in the U.S. who play an important role in providing oral health care throughout our country, spreading awareness about practicing good oral hygiene, and emphasizing the value of retaining one’s natural teeth and smile.

Endodontists are dentists that specialize in diagnosing and treating tooth pain and performing root canal treatment. Following the dental school, endodontists have completed an additional 2 to 3 years of advanced training. This gives them enhanced precision, making them highly skilled in performing complex treatments.

Teeth are a gateway to nutrition, a sign of emotion, and a signal of overall good health. We all feel better when our teeth are clean and pain-free. And although dentures can work well and have improved significantly, they are never as good as a full set of natural teeth. Our natural teeth are worth saving, and endodontists focus their careers solely on doing just that.

Nothing looks, feels, or functions like your natural tooth. Regular brushing and flossing, along with 6-month check-ups from your dentist, can help you keep your teeth for a lifetime. It is worth the extra few minutes each day to maintain good oral hygiene.

If you do experience issues with your teeth, seek out proper dental care. In particular, if you have tooth pain, you can seek treatment from an endodontist. Endodontists use the most current and advanced technology to treat dental patients.

It should be noted that it is extremely safe to visit the endodontist during the COVID–19 pandemic, with endodontists practicing the utmost caution and disinfection protocol. Even at the height of America’s spring 2020 shutdown, most endodontic practices remained open to safely treat dental emergencies.

Thank you to all the endodontists for your dedicated work in helping us maintain our natural teeth. Happy Save Your Tooth Month.
Mr. GALLAGHER. Madam Speaker, today I rise in celebration of the 150th Anniversary of the Waupaca Fire Department. The Waupaca Fire Department was formed shortly after the founding of the city of Waupaca on May 11th, 1871. As the Waupaca community celebrates this milestone, we look back on the outstanding history of the department and critical role they have played in the community. Throughout their history the department has grown immensely and now provides service to approximately 150 square miles. For 150 years, the department has remained committed to serving the city of Waupaca and surrounding communities to the highest degree. In total, the Waupaca Fire Department’s Fire Inspection Division works incredibly hard to keep the community safe, conducting an impressive 550 inspections for commercial business in 2019 alone. Their work demonstrates not only the amount of expertise and knowledge the department holds, but the importance the department places on keeping their communities safe.

Over the last 150 years, the department has faced many challenges, but their efforts to give back to the community have never wavered. From participating in the Annual Battle of the Badges Softball Tournament, where the Fire Department takes on the Police Department to host corn roasts and raffles, the Waupaca Fire Department is a true pillar of the community and Northeast Wisconsin. Many Waupaca families have benefited from the department’s thoughtfulness and generosity. When the department is not fighting fires and saving lives, their members donate their time and efforts to making Waupaca a better place. The department played a key role in countless improvements around the city, such as the playground in South Park and the construction of multiple shelter homes. I commend the department’s dedication and commitment to the Waupaca community. The Waupaca Fire Department supplies the community with incredibly trained individuals who are able to handle fire and other emergencies at a moment’s notice. It is evident that the knowledge, dedication, and perseverance conveyed through the men and women of this department are deserving of the highest degree of admiration.

I invite all members of this body to join me in celebrating the sesquicentennial of the Waupaca Fire Department. The Waupaca Fire Department is a true credit to the community and deserving of the highest degree of recognition.

Ms. VAN DUYNE. Madam Speaker, on behalf of the 24th Congressional District of the U.S. House of Representatives and all of the communities that Dallas Medical Center and Dallas Regional Medical Center serve, and the West Coast University—Texas students pursuing careers in healthcare at a time when we need them more than ever, it is an honor and a privilege to have the opportunity to personally thank them and all of our healthcare heroes for their service and selfless acts of caregiving during this pandemic.

These frontline caregivers demonstrate tremendous courage and put themselves on the line every day to ensure the health and safety of our community.

During the last 15 months, the effects of the Covid pandemic required a personal sacrifice from each one of them unlike any other time in our country’s history. These frontline healthcare workers experienced long, long hours for months on end, caring for thousands of critical patients, and losing more life than anyone can bear to witness.

These nurses and staff provided care for others while worried about their own health and the well-being of their family. Yet, they came to work every day.

For their uncommon bravery and resilience, I say “thank you!” To express this appreciation, this congressmen commerorate the healthcare heroes at Dallas Medical Center and Dallas Regional Medical Center.

In addition, I have another certificate to recognize the students of West Coast University—Texas, which focuses on educating and training the next generation of nurses and healthcare workers. These students have chosen to pursue careers in healthcare despite witnessing one of the most challenging times in the history of their profession. I have deep respect for their courage and service to our community.

Words are not enough to express the gratitude that I feel for the healthcare workers throughout the Dallas-Fort Worth area, the State of Texas, and across the country. All of them deserve to be honored and celebrated.

Mr. CARSON. Madam Speaker, today I join my colleagues, Rep. Dave Loebsack from Iowa, Alaska, Chairman Emeritus of the Transportation Committee, and Rep. RICK LARSEN, Chairman of the Aviation Subcommittee, in re-introducing the bipartisan and bicameral National Center for the Advancement of Aviation Act of 2021. Our committee has worked for years to make American skies the safest in the world, and to strengthen the industry workforce to maintain the highest standards of aviation excellence.

Our legislation, the National Center for the Advancement of Aviation (NCAA) would support and promote collaboration amongst civil, commercial, and military aviation sectors to address the demands and challenges associated with ensuring a safe and vibrant national aviation system through research, education, and training.

Too often in the past, innovation and lessons learned in various aviation sectors has not been shared in a collaboratively or timely manner, especially considering rapid developments in new technology. Our bill helps break down silos across commercial aviation, general aviation and military aviation sectors that will not only improve safety and best practices, but also expand opportunities for those interested in the aviation workforce—for the young and not so young, from those just starting out, to those with experience who want to move into other types of aviation work.

The National Center would focus on four key areas with an emphasis on aviation workforce development. First, it would support education efforts and provide resources to curriculum developers so educators at all levels have the tools and training to educate the next generation of aviation professionals.

Second, the national center would provide a forum to leverage and share expertise amongst industry sectors including the dissemination of existing high school education curriculum to develop and deploy a workforce of pilots, aerospace engineers, unmanned aircraft system operators, aviation maintenance technicians, or other aviation maintenance professionals needed in the coming decades.

Third, it would serve as a central repository for economic and safety data research and analysis allowing a comprehensive perspective of industry information that would improve safety for all stakeholders.

Finally, it would support symposiums and conferences to facilitate collaboration across the industry and develop future advancements for the aviation and aerospace community.

This legislation would also allow the FAA to focus on safety, certification, and air traffic operations.

The national center would be funded by using a small percentage of the interest accrued annually on the taxes and fees collected from users of our aviation system and deposited into the aviation trust fund. In other words, no general fund taxpayer dollars would be used to support this national center. Our aviation and aerospace industry supports over 11 million jobs and contributes more than $1.6 trillion per year to the national economy. More than 130 organizations, including airlines, manufacturers, unions, and other entities involved in aviation and aerospace have expressed strong support for this legislation. The list of organizations supporting this legislation are as follows:

AAR Corp; ACI Jet; Aeronautical Repair Station; Aerospace Center of Excellence; Aerospace Maintenance Council; Air Care Alliance; Air Line Pilots Association, International; Air Medical Operators Association; Alliance Air Airlines; Airbus; Aircraft Electronics Association; Aircraft Mechanics Fraternal Association; Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association; Airlines for America; Alabama General Aviation Alliance; Alaska Airlines; Alaska Airmen Association; Alaskan Aviation Safety Foundation; Alliance for Aviation Across America; Allied Pilots Association.

Mr. EVANS. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor The Black Doctors COVID–19 Consortium who leveraged their medical expertise and connections to facilitate testing and provide vaccines where measures are most needed in the Philadelphia region. They stepped up to level the playing field by testing and vaccinating thousands of people in at-risk communities.

The consortium was founded by Dr. Ala Stanford in the spring of 2020, to address the lack of Covid–19 testing in low-income and communities of color in Philadelphia, who also happened to have the highest positivity rates. Their efforts undoubtedly saved countless lives. Dr. Stanford left her role as a pediatric surgeon to dedicate her time to aggressively confront the growing health disparities in Black communities across the United States. According to the Centers for Disease Control—Black patients represent 22 percent of Covid cases and are 2.8 times more likely to be hospitalized and 1.9 times more likely to die due to Covid–19 as compared to White Americans. These stark figures are what drove Dr. Stanford to create the formation of BDCC. She declared, “There was no testing in communities where people were dying the most. So, we created it.” Her work has been invaluable to the city of Philadelphia, particularly for low-income and vulnerable residents.

The consortium has tested more than 25,000 people and vaccinated more than 50,000 Philadelphians at 50 clinics. It also offers rides aimed at helping people get to and from BDCC sites. Their work has drawn praise from the Biden’s administration top health officials. "She is the perfect example of how a community member can stand up and lead during a time of crisis," Surgeon General Vivek Murthy said.

The Black Doctors COVID–19 Consortium held a "vaccation" 24-hour, walk-in vaccination event as a massive turnout. The group vaccinated nearly 4,000 people, 75 percent of whom were people of color. It was a wildly successful event designed to increase the number of vaccinations given to Black Philadelphians and to reduce the vaccination disparity between White and Black Philadelphians.

Dr. Ala Stanford is the recipient of several awards including the Health Equality Advocate award, and she is a decorated and revered physician considered a champion for health equity and access. She is a native of North Philadelphia who pours her all into creating wellness outcomes for her communities. Her accolades are lengthy, and she’s the first Black woman pediatric surgeon trained entirely in the United States. She’s board certified by the American Board of Surgery in both pediatrics and adult surgery.

With all her accomplishments and community work, Dr. Stanford has received a great deal of national media attention for her phenomenal work with the BDCC in providing care during the pandemic. Her work is regarded as a model for sound community health engagement. Assistant U.S. Secretary of Health Dr. Rachel Levin stated: “The Black Doctors COVID–19 Consortium is such a fantastic example of how we’re going to reach individuals in their communities with messages from people that they know and people that they trust—trusted messengers like Dr. Stanford.”

The Third Congressional District of Pennsylvania extends gratitude to the Black Doctors COVID–19 and Dr. Ala Stanford for their dedicated support and extraordinary service to the people of Philadelphia in their effort to provide testing and expand access and equitable distribution of the coronavirus vaccine.

HONORING ASIAN AMERICAN PACIFIC ISLANDERS IN SAN ANTONIO

HON. JOAQUIN CASTRO
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, May 25, 2021

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, I rise today in honor of the Asian American and Pacific Islanders (AAPIs) in San Antonio, Texas, and across the United States. Since 1977, every May, we celebrate and recognize the accomplishments of AAPI communities. Though a modest population, we have a vibrant community of AAPIs in San Antonio that contribute greatly to our city’s prosperity.

Since 1860s, immigrants of Asian descent began migrating to Texas and Southwestern States and today the AAPI community account for 5 percent of the total population in Texas, and it’s one of the fastest growing communities in the United States. Like many immigrants, Asian Americans were often unwelcome and suffered racism and discrimination. For example, the Chinese Exclusion Act of 1882 prohibited individuals arriving or staying in the United States solely based on their ethnicity.

Today, AAPI communities continue to face discrimination and even violence, which is often underreported. During COVID–19, hate crimes against AAPIs have grown exponentially, and the community is still living in fear. In recognition of the continued threats that AAPI communities endure, Congress passed legislation that President Biden signed into law to ensure hate crimes against AAPIs are investigated and prosecuted. Our Nation must come together and work to address centuries of discrimination that impedes our Nation from its full promise of equality and justice for all.

Over the generations, AAPI communities have made significant contributions in the arts, government, business, medicine, and education. In San Antonio, our city is led by Ron Nirenberg, the city’s first mayor of Asian descent. I’m also particularly proud of AAPI veterans, including 33 individuals who have been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, and also AAPI men and women who serve our Nation in uniform.

Madam Speaker, I am grateful for our Nation’s AAPI communities, and I am proud to recognize their accomplishments. Thank you.

MILITARY APPRECIATION MONTH

HON. ED CASE
OF HAWAII
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, May 25, 2021

Mr. CASE. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor each and every person who wears a uniform or has served in our country’s Armed Forces and celebrate National Military Appreciation Month.

My home state of Hawaii is home to over 142,000 military members, family and support personnel, making it the largest and most important multi-service military ‘ohana in the IndoPacific. We are deeply grateful to those who are regularly deployed to protect our Hawaii, along with the many more who are proud to volunteer their time, skills and abilities to the task of making our country and our world a better place for all.

Just as crucial to the fabric of Hawaii’s military community is the more than 108,000 veterans who call Hawaii home. These men and women served with honor, and we must always ensure they are provided with the benefits they so rightfully earned and deserve.

I also want to extend my enduring gratitude to the families of our soldiers, sailors, marines, airmen and guardsmen who made the ultimate sacrifice for our nation.

Freedom, justice equality—these are the values that the men and women of our Armed Forces are charged to preserve and protect. Each of us owes our very best efforts to ensure that America’s servicemembers can defend our values. We must make sure they are mission-ready, with the training and equipment necessary to carry out their duties here in our country and overseas.

As a member of the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Military Construction, Veterans Affairs and Related Agencies, I am dedicated to properly supporting our present military members and their families and fulfilling the promises made to our veterans. Their service deserves our nation’s respect and recognition not just for this month—but every day.

Move forward with strength (Imua).
Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Madam Speaker, I rise today with a heavy heart to remember and honor Mary Lott Walker of Blackshear, Georgia who passed away on May 12th at the age of 88.

Mary loved her city of Blackshear, her state of Georgia, and her country the United States of America devotedly.

After graduating from Georgia State College for Women, Mary began her influential career in public education.

Mary was also involved in politics, becoming the first woman in Blackshear to serve as Mayor pro-term. Through her work in Georgian education, politics, and historical preservation, Mary inspired young people to achieve greatness.

Above all, she devoted more than 67 years of membership and leadership to the Blackshear Presbyterian Church.

Mary’s profound community impacts will be felt for generations to come.

My thoughts and prayers are with her family, friends, and all who knew her during this most difficult time.

HONORING GOVERNOR CARLOS ROMERO-BARCELO

HON. DON YOUNG

OF ALASKA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, May 25, 2021

Mr. YOUNG. Madam Speaker, I rise concerning the passing of my long-time friend and a great leader, Carlos Romero-Barceló, former governor of Puerto Rico. Carlos passed away on May 2, 2021 at the age of 88. I offer my deepest condolences to his family and loved ones, as well as those whose lives he impacted during his tenure.

Carlos Romero-Barceló was a timeless crusader for Puerto Rico. Throughout his life, he led the fight for equal recognition of Puerto Ricans, and I was especially proud to work with him while he served as the Resident Commissioner for the island in Congress.

Carlos lived a life of public service for Puerto Rico. He served as Mayor of San Juan and then as Governor before being elected to be Resident Commissioner for Puerto Rico in 1992. He dedicated his life to achieve equal rights for the U.S. citizens of Puerto Rico. I was truly honored to know him and call him a friend.

I was proud to serve with him on the House Natural Resources Committee. There we worked together advocating for Puerto Rico, and I was proud to support his efforts to achieve equality for the U.S. Citizens of Puerto Rico. His tireless work deepened Puerto Rico’s relationship with the United States, and I was proud to stand by him as a leader of the island.

We honor his legacy and mourn his loss alongside his family—his wife Kathleen, and his children Carlos, Andres, Juan Carlos, and Melinda—and our friends, the people of Puerto Rico.

HONORING IRIS TUN AS IOWAN OF THE WEEK

HON. CYNTHIA AXNE

OF IOWA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, May 25, 2021

Mrs. AXNE. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize an outstanding member of our community, Iris Tun, by naming her for Iowan of the Week.

Iris is a co-founder and a family advocate at the Ethnic Minorities of Burma Advocacy and Resource Center (EMBARC) of Iowa, which is Iowa’s first and only refugee-led service provider that strives to address shared issues and uplift all refugee communities.

Refugees from Burma began arriving in Iowa in 2007 and 2008 as a priority class of refugees, part of the nearly 1.5 million refugees that have fled Burma since the early 1960s. EMBARC was created in 2012 to help these new refugees settle into Iowa. At first, Iris helped the team provide resources and videos translated from English to Burmese and Karen, but their operation has since expanded. When the COVID–19 pandemic hit, EMBARC Iowa got to work creating videos and informational resources about the COVID–19 virus and all that was available in 13 different languages to help those who had lost jobs, facing eviction and struggling with virtual schooling. Over the past year, more than 8,000 refugees and immigrants have received support from EMBARC and RISE AmeriCorps members—95 percent of whom were essential workers.

When Iris is not making videos for EMBARC Iowa, she translates voter registration forms at her church for free. In Iowa, it’s illegal for the state to translate official government forms, including election forms, which makes it hard for non-English speakers to collect voting information.

As we celebrate Asian American and Pacific Islander Heritage Month, it’s important to note the difficulties the Asian American and Pacific Islander communities still face here in America. This week, the House passed the COVID–19 Hate Crimes Act to highlight the increased violence Asian American and Pacific Islanders have encountered since the beginning of the COVID–19 pandemic.

Iris’s work is vital to putting an end to these hate crimes because her work as a translator allows folks to communicate and better understand each other. That’s why I would like my colleagues to rise with me and recognize this exemplary woman, Iris Tun, as our Iowan of the Week.

CONGRATULATING MASTER SERGEANT LOUIS C. GRAZIANO ON HIS DECREES AND MEDAL AS A CHEVALIER IN THE ‘ORDRE NATIONAL DE LA LÉGIÓN D’HONNEUR’

HON. JODY B. HICE

OF GEORGIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, May 25, 2021

Mr. HICE of Georgia. Madam Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Master Sergeant Louis C. Graziano, a resident of the Tenth Congressional District of Georgia and the last known surviving witness to the German surrender of World War II. His story is truly incredible, and his contribution during his tour of duty with the U.S. Army in Europe is worthy of our nation’s everlasting gratitude.

On June 6, 1944, D-Day, Louis was aboard a landing craft with his men and landed upon the sands of Omaha Beach in Normandy France. Once beached, Louis drove a truck full of gasoline onto the sand. With no place to go, he abandoned the vehicle and gathered his weapons to get into the fight. He took up a position at the base of a cliff and fired a burst from a flame thrower to take out a German machinegun nest.

But, Madam Speaker, further up the cliff were even more enemy machinegun nests. In quick thinking, Louis took a flare gun and fired a flare into those positions hoping to direct the fire of allied ships cruising just off the beach. The gun crews on the ships responded as hoped, unleashing their fire from larger caliber guns destroying those positions beyond.

Advancing beyond the shores of Normandy, the French city of St. Lo and Reims were soon liberated. It was in Reims that Louis’s skill in his craft would come into play and eventually afford him a seat to history itself. Upon establishment of a command post within the heavily mined city, Louis was ordered to install General Eisenhower’s phone line. This phone line was vital for the General’s real time communication, helping to bring about a timelier allied victory.
CONGRATULATING THE TOWN OF CLAYTON ON THE COMPLETION OF THE CEROW RECREATION PARK ARENA RENOVATION

HON. ELISE M. STEFANIK
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, May 25, 2021

Ms. STEFANIK. Madam Speaker, I rise today to congratulate the Town of Clayton on the completion of the Cerow Recreation Park Arena addition and renovation project. Additionally, I rise to recognize Leonard “Obie” O’Brien as the new wing is dedicated in his honor.

The renovation and addition were made possible through funding from the United States Department of Agriculture Rural Development program. The Town of Clayton also received grants from Empire State Development and the state Office of Parks, Recreation, and Historical Preservation through the Regional Economic Development Council Initiative. I am grateful that these sources of funding are available to support infrastructure updates and economic development projects in rural areas such as our district. Community gathering spaces are the foundation of our North Country community and foster a sense of neighborly spirit. This renovation will also increase the economic impact made by the park arena, attracting more visitors and events to the space, promoting prosperity for the Town. Local businesses truly are the backbone of the North Country and I will continue working in Congress to support them.

The newly named Leonard “Obie” O’Brien wing is aptly dedicated in recognition of the many years of service Obie gave to the Clay-
Recognizing the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Beef ‘N’ Barrel Restaurant

HON. TOM REED
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, May 25, 2021

Mr. REED. Madam Speaker, today I rise to recognize the fiftieth anniversary of the Beef ‘N’ Barrel Restaurant in Olean, New York, and congratulate the owners, Jim, Mike, and PJ McAfee for reaching this milestone.

The Beef ‘N’ Barrel is a family-owned beef and steakhouse restaurant located at 146 North Union Street in the Olean area that has been celebrated for years. During our visits to this establishment, we have been impressed by the ownership and staff, as well as the quality of service and products they provide. For fifty years, the restaurant has kept its doors open and satisfied customers, whether they were area visitors or life-long residents. The restaurant expanded over the years, from seating for fifty patrons to over three hundred in its current location.

The McAfee family has operated the Beef ‘N’ Barrel with hard work, dedication, and great effort over the years, and we are proud to honor them for their accomplishments. May they continue to serve delicious meals for years to come.

IN MEMORY OF CATHERINE ANNE “CATHY” GOVAN

HON. JOE WILSON
OF SOUTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, May 25, 2021

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, Cathy battled with breast cancer over the years but was in remission when she succumbed to complications due to Covid–19.

Beloved daughter of the late Edmund Joseph and Lorraine Govan, Cathy was raised in Detroit and dedicated her later years to consulting Detroit mayors and serving as the executive director and general counsel of the Detroit Public Safety Foundation.

Cathy was raised in Detroit and dedicated her later years to consulting Detroit mayors and serving as the executive director and general counsel of the Detroit Public Safety Foundation.

Donations can be made in Cathy’s honor to the Detroit Public Safety Foundation.

Online condolences can be left at http://www.obriensullivanfuneralhome.com/. A ceremony honoring Cathy’s life will be organized this summer when COVID restrictions are lifted.

On behalf of the Govan family, we thank everyone for their thoughts and prayers.

HONORING THE LIFE AND SERVICE OF DOROTHY ANN MROWKA

HON. JOE COURTNEY
OF CONNECTICUT
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, May 25, 2021

Mr. COURTNEY. Madam Speaker, it is with great sadness that I rise today to honor the life of the late Dorothy Ann Mrowka, a woman who dedicated her life to making a difference in the lives of those she knew and loved.

Born in New London, CT on October 13, 1942, Dorothy spent her entire life in eastern Connecticut. She was a devoted wife, mother, and grandmother.

Dorothy’s legacy continues to influence those around her, and her memory will live on for generations to come.

In 2006, the void her passing leaves is unmeasurable. I know her memory will continue through her family—her son Jeffrey Watson; her daughter, Tammy and her husband Ricky Keller; her brother Joseph Ploszaj; her sisters Peggy Fedus and Mary Lou Johnson, and her two beloved grandchildren Tyler Kelly and Taylor Watson.

Madam Speaker, it is an honor to represent our constituents as honorable and impactful as Dorothy. While we all mourn her loss, we can at least find solace that her story, memory, and purpose lives on in through countless others.

Let us respect the People’s House, add her name and character into the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD and ask that the entire House join me in recognizing the life of Dorothy Ann Mrowka, never forgetting the importance of building our connections with others.

CONGRATULATING THE REPUBLIC OF AZERBAIJAN

HON. PAUL A. GOSAR
OF ARIZONA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, May 25, 2021

Mr. GOSAR. Madam Speaker, I rise today to congratulate the Republic of Azerbaijan on its 103rd anniversary of their annual Republic Day as well as its 30th anniversary of independence from the Soviet Union.

I do not want my good wishes to be seen as ignoring the issues currently going on between Azerbaijan and Armenia. I am putting my faith and confidence that the hostilities are resolved, and the appropriate borders will be restored.

Independence for Azerbaijan is a time to reflect on the territorial sovereignty and right to independence for other nations as well, as liberty benefits everyone.

Azerbaijan is an important partner in the region. I find this year’s occasion special because it marks 30 years since Soviet occupation. The Soviet Union and its ideas of communism subjected millions of people to authoritarian rule, stripping them of their natural, human rights. However, the people of Azerbaijan have successfully emerged from this dark period in history and continue to be a shining example of democracy and independence.

It’s important that the people of the United States recognize the nations that emerge from authoritarian rule to contribute to the ever-growing push for liberty and self-governance.

Azerbaijan, after being subject to centuries of oppressive rule under the Russian Empire and USSR, were rewarded with the gift of inde pendence. That is why this week we can proudly stand with our friends in Azerbaijan to celebrate their 103rd Republic Day and share in our collective belief in freedom.

Madam Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to join me in congratulating Azerbaijan’s Republic Day and in recognizing our shared commitment to freedom, democracy, and the principle of self-governance. I would like to share my most heartfelt congratulations on this momen tous occasion.

HONORING FLORIDA’S THIRD CON-GRSSIONAL DISTRICT’S GOLD STAR FAMI-LIES

HON. KAT CAMMACK
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, May 25, 2021

Mrs. CAMMACK. Madam Speaker, I am proud to honor the service and sacrifice of Army Sergeant Henry Levon Brown. Sgt. Brown was killed in action the 8th of April 2003 south of Baghdad, Iraq. He was the proud husband of Army Specialist JoDona Brown and the proud father of Mr. Henry Levon Brown. Sgt. Brown was known to be a quiet and reli-gious man focused on his duty as a soldier and role as a loving husband. He is greatly missed by friends, family, and community members alike. We thank him for his ultimate sacrifice to our Nation for the freedom of all Americans.

I am proud to honor the service and sac-ifice of Private First Class Donald “Wayne” Vincent. Pfc. Vincent was killed in action the 25th of July 2009 in the Helmand Province, Afghanistan. He was the proud son of Lee and Betty Sue of Gainesville, Florida. He is greatly missed by friends, family, and community members alike. We thank him for his ultimate sacrifice to our Nation for the freedom of all Americans.

REMEMBERING REV. E. BAXTER MORRIS

HON. STENY H. HOYER
OF MARYLAND
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, May 25, 2021

Mr. HOYER. Madam Speaker, I rise to pay tribute to the late Rev. E. Baxter Morris, who passed away on May 2. His funeral took place on Saturday, May 15, at the church that he led for nearly half a century. Many of us in this House knew Rev. Morris as a gracious host of the entire First Baptist Church community. I will never forget the wisdom he shared with us on his warm and kind welcome and the won-derful meals we had over the years fixed by the members of First Baptist. Now, he and John and Martin and Ralph and so many other great men and women of justice and courage march on together in eternal peace.

OF GEORGIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, May 25, 2021

Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Madam Speaker, I rise today to remember and honor Jim Wal-ters who passed away on February 22nd at the age of 83. Throughout his life, Jim was no stranger to making an impact and improving the lives of others. Jim moved to Gainesville, Georgia in 1971 where he raised his family and became a pillar of philanthropy and generosity in this community. He was a pioneer in the Georgia Industrial Loan Association, owning many loan offices and businesses throughout the state and country.

Through his success, Jim gave back to his community in countless ways. He served on Georgia’s Board of Natural Resources, the Georgia ports Authority, and 40 different nonprofit organizations.

He mentored, encouraged, supported and inspired all who met him, and Georgia will be forever touched by his legacy. My thoughts and prayers are with his family, friends, and all who knew him during this most difficult time.
