The House met at noon and was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. CASTEN).

DESIGNATION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Speaker:

WASHINGTON, DC, September 28, 2022.

I hereby appoint the Honorable SEAN CASTEN to act as Speaker pro tempore on this day.

NANCY PELOSI, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

MORNING-HOUR DEBATE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the order of the House of January 10, 2022, the Chair will now recognize Members from lists submitted by the majority and minority leaders for morning-hour debate.

The Chair will alternate recognition between the parties, with time equally allocated between the parties and each Member other than the majority and minority leaders and the minority whip limited to 5 minutes, but in no event shall debate continue beyond 1:50 p.m.

RECOGNIZING SAMANTHA GONZALEZ

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. BOST) for 5 minutes.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to celebrate the service of one of my staffers on the Committee on Veterans’ Affairs.

Ms. Samantha Gonzalez has dedicated over 10 years of her career to our Nation’s veterans, their families, and their survivors. She started on the committee as an intern and has worked her way up to being the communications director and senior health policy adviser.

Samantha helped craft messages and advance a number of bills supporting veterans and their families—notably, the Choice and VA MISSION Acts, the Commander John Scott Hammon Veterans Mental Health Care Improvement Act, the PACT Act, and so many more landmark pieces of legislation.

There is no doubt that the entire veteran community is better off because of her tireless work on their behalf.

I thank Samantha for her commitment to America’s veterans, and wish her the best of luck in her next adventure. She will be missed.

NATIONAL SUICIDE PREVENTION AWARENESS MONTH

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to remind everyone that while National Suicide Prevention Awareness Month is concluding, we cannot afford to lower our guard. It dismays me that still so many veterans take their lives every day.

In 2020, approximately 16 veterans died by suicide daily, another year with more than 6,000 veteran suicide deaths. We must stay vigilant.

It took an incredible amount of work to get the Staff Sergeant Parker Gordon Fox Suicide Prevention Grant Program passed in legislation through Congress. I am pleased that the first grants were awarded just last week.

Now, 80 community-based organizations in 43 States, D.C., and American Samoa will receive funding to provide or coordinate suicide prevention services for veterans and their families where and when they need it.

Many veterans either cannot or will not access the VA, but their community knows how to find them, how to get them out of isolation and out of trouble and get them the care that can save their lives and offer them a future of hope. I am excited to see just what these grants can do.

CELEBRATING THE LIFE OF RICHARD MARTIN

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to celebrate the life of Richard Martin, a good friend and great man who passed suddenly this week.

You get to know people very closely in stressful conditions. Well, many of you know that I was a professional firefighter, and Richard always had my back.

Richard and I both served on the Murphysboro Fire Department. Richard served with the department for 32 years, from 1984 until 2016. During that time, he was a member of the Firefighters Pension Board and served as the treasurer and president of the Murphysboro Firefighters Local 3042.

Never fully retiring, he went on to become the southern district’s legislative representative for the Associated Fire Fighters of Illinois.

Richard was dedicated to his family, his friends, his career of service, our hometown, Murphysboro, and the community. Our prayers are with his family, including daughter Olivia and sons Eli and Zeke during this difficult time.

He was a close friend. He will be missed tremendously. His ability to teach others the art of fighting fire and doing it safely and the number of lives that he saved and the amount of property he saved will not be forgotten.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

A message from the Senate by Ms. Byrd, one of its clerks, announced that the Senate has passed without amendment a bill of the House of the following title:

H.R. 468. An act to amend title 49, United States Code, to permit the use of incentive payments to expedite certain federally financed airport development projects.

The message also announced that the Senate has passed a bill of the following title in which the concurrence of the House is requested:

S. 4673. An act to reauthorize the National Computer Forensics Institute of the United States Code, to permit the use of incentive payments to expedite certain federally financed airport development projects.
SLAVERY REMEMBRANCE DAY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Texas (Mr. GREEN) for 5 minutes.

Mr. GREEN of Texas. Mr. Speaker, and still I rise, a proud descendant of the enslaved people who made cotton king and America great; the enslaved people who had a hand in the construction of this Capitol, who had a hand in the construction of the White House; the enslaved people who constructed roads and bridges across the length and breadth of this country, who worked for more than 200 years without a payday. They made the difference for what we call the United States of America on the global scene at the time.

I am honored to be a descendant, and I am honored to say also that this House, on July 27, took the historic step of according them Slavery Remembrance Day, a day to remember their lives and commemorate their accomplishments.

It is important that we do this because, for too long, we have reviled the slaves and revered the enslavers. For too long, we have placed them in such a position as to cause the people who are the very descendants to be ashamed of who they were associated with, with reference to their heritage.

I am proud that this House has taken this important historic step with Slavery Remembrance Day, but I am also proud to say that at 2 o’clock tomorrow in Room 145A at the Washington Convention Center, we will continue to talk about this piece of legislation that we passed, H. Res. 517, the Original Slavery Remembrance Day Resolution. We will talk about this. We will give a legislative update. The Reverend Al Sharpton will be there, and he will give insightful information on this very topic.

I am just proud that we no longer fear having those persons who made this country great recognized by this Congress, and that had been the case in the past.

I thank all the Members of the Congress, 218 of whom voted for this legislation. I thank the President, who recognized Slavery Remembrance Day. I thank all of the leadership for allowing this resolution to come to the floor.

I thank Ms. ELIZABETH WARREN, the Senator who supported it, and I thank Mr. HOYER. Mr. HOYER was a man of his word, a person of his word. He said this resolution would come to the floor for a vote. He supported it, and it came to the floor for a vote.

I thank you for the courage that you showed, Mr. HOYER, and the judicious insight that you utilized to make sure that this did come to the floor.

Tomorrow, we continue what I cannot finish today at the convention center, 2 o’clock. Room 145A.

STANDING WITH IRANIAN WOMEN

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from California (Mrs. KIM) for 5 minutes.

Mrs. KIM of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to support the people of Iran protesting the ayatollah’s regime after a 22-year-old young woman, Mahsa Amini, died after being detained by Iran’s morality police for allegedly incorrectly wearing a hijab.

Iranians are standing up to the ayatollah’s regime’s oppression of women by cutting their hair, burning their hijabs, and demanding freedom.

The Iranian Government began a violent crackdown on the protests that have resulted in dozens of protesters being killed, including women and teenagers.

I want Iranian women to know that the United States stands with you in your fight against the ayatollah’s oppression and that the Iranian people have our support in your fight for freedom.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to join me in affirming our voices for the people of Iran and holding the regime accountable.

BRETT FAVRE CONTROVERSY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PAYNE) for 5 minutes.

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to discuss an issue that is very troubling. It is an issue that needs to be addressed.

You see, I rise today because of the outrage and shock that Brett Favre stole money that was supposed to be used to buy formula for babies in Mississippi to build a volleyball stadium at the school his daughter played at.

Today, I join the calls of millions of Americans demanding that he and the corrupt Mississippi Republican Governor be held accountable for this action.

Brett Favre is a millionaire. In a 20-year football career, he made over $100 million. It would take an average Mississippian 20 years to make just $1 million.

Instead of coming out of his own pocket, he used his power, influence, and relationships with corrupt Republican lawmakers to steal the money from those in Mississippi who need it the most. His actions were criminal, shameful, reckless, and irresponsible.

Brett Favre is from Mississippi. One might think he should have cared that his home State is one of the poorest in the nation and suffers from one of the highest rates of child poverty in this country.

He should have cared that in every five Mississippians lives in extreme poverty. One might think that he should have cared that in Jackson, Mississippi, 25 percent of the households depend on minimum wage. In these families, most earn less than $15,000 a year.

One might think he should have cared that hundreds of thousands of Mississippians often have to boil their water due to the corruption and the neglect by the leadership in Mississippi, the Republican leadership, neglect that Brett Favre was a key and influential factor, neglect that he and the corrupt Governor benefited from, but Brett didn’t care.

In July 2019, Brett texted Governor Bryant, telling him how much he loved Nancy New and John Davis for what they did for him and Southern Miss.

He called the theft of funds amazing. Governor Bryant knew that the money could have been used to provide thousands of low-income families with a year’s worth of rent. He knew that it could have covered the cost of their electricity and their childcare bills. He knew that it could have provided thousands of Mississippi families with as many as nine meals a day.

But they didn’t care. They didn’t care that year after year many of Mississippi’s most vulnerable people can’t shoo birds, oil boats on endless end due to the systemic neglect in their water system.

In a report released earlier this month by Vox, Benji Jones explained the water crisis in Jackson, Mississippi, perfectly. He wrote: “However, infrastructure is often poorly maintained or intentionally overlooked in particular places, leading to a lack of access, affordability, and safety for many communities of color.”

Brett and Governor Bryant intentionally overlooked the needs of Mississippi’s poor people for a volleyball stadium. Perhaps this New York Times headline says it best: Brett Favre’s most memorable stat may now be the $8 million he helped steal from the poor.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, this is a travesty in this country for folks from the poorest of the poor to neglect what they have done. Brett Favre and that government should atone and pay for what they have done.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is no longer recognized.

REPUBLICAN COMMITMENT TO AMERICA

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from North Carolina (Ms. FOXX) for 5 minutes.

Ms. FOXX. Mr. Speaker, the American people are at their wits’ end. They fear that our great country has fallen into a state of disrepair the likes of which have never been seen before. They have watched as our time-tested institutions have become engulfed by a smog of bureaucratic rot.

They have gathered at their kitchen tables for nights on end wondering how much further they could stretch their budgets to support their families.
All the while, Washington has trudged onward with more spending schemes and irresponsible policies that are poisoning America.

Mr. Speaker, I cannot overstate the severity of the catastrophes that this administration has created. From the southern border overrun by inflation that has robbed hardworking Americans and their families, no matter where you turn, the carnage is palpable.

Republicans are taking a stand to end this madness and move America in the right direction. That starts with our Commitment to America. The American people deserve an economy that is strong, a Nation that is safe, a future built on freedom, and a government that is accountable.

These are the tenets of the Commitment to America.

Mr. Speaker, let me be clear, the American people can no longer afford one-party Democrat rule in Washington.

Under one-party rule, Americans are bearing the brunt of 40-year high inflation.

Crime has exploded in major cities across the entire country.

Millions of illegal aliens have poured across the southern border.

Gas and grocery prices are growing by leaps and bounds.

The list goes on and on. Mr. Speaker, there is no denying that.

Americans are not witnessing progress under one-party rule, they are watching our Republic crumble by the second.

It is time for a serious change in leadership in Washington.

No more reckless spending. No more policies that are antithetical to the will of the American people.

No more bureaucratic assaults on the freedoms and values that this country was built upon.

Mr. Speaker, the American people deserve much better than the hand that Washington Democrats have dealt them. In a few short weeks, Americans across the country will make their voices heard, and I can guarantee you that they will not speak softly.

The disarray, incompetence, and negligence in Washington must be put to an end. It is time that Washington truly delivers on the priorities of hardworking taxpayers and families across our country. There is not a second to lose.

NEW SAVINGS FOR MEDICARE PART B

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Connecticut (Mr. COURTNEY) for 5 minutes.

Mr. COURTNEY. Mr. Speaker, a couple days ago, Medicare beneficiaries all across America received very welcome news. In 2023, Medicare announced that the part B premiums, which are deducted from seniors’ Social Security checks, will actually be reduced by $6 a month. That is the first time in 11 years that the Medicare program has actually cut the premiums that erode month by month Social Security checks.

There is a reason for this, which is that last year, there was a spike in terms of the part B premiums. It was driven by the fact that a new drug, Adulhelm, was approved just about the same time the actuaries were calculating the part B premiums.

Adulhelm, first time it was initially approved by FDA, was about $58,000 per patient. That one medication resulted in half of the increase last year in terms of Medicare part B premiums. There was a hue and cry about the cost of that drug after the new premium had kicked in. They cut the price from $58,000 per patient to $26,000. Medicare also limited the use of that drug in terms of experimental, controlled settings because it was so brand new.

Unfortunately, the premium had already been approved, and a bunch of us were working with the Department of Health and Human Services saying that the premium should be adjusted because it was based on data which had been overtaken by events. At that point, the Medicare administration couldn’t readjust the premium in the last calendar year, 2022, but next year they will make the adjustment, and those premiums will go down.

In about a week or so, the government is going to be announcing the COLA for Social Security for 2023 for seniors, which is obviously a very intensely watched event. Right now, the projection, based again on the market-basket system that they use to calculate COLA, looks like it is going to be an 8 percent increase for Social Security for 2023.

Mr. Speaker, I think it is important to note that in past years some of those COLA increases have been eroded, as I mentioned earlier, by increases in the part B premium. In 2023, the opposite is going to happen. There will actually be, not only a COLA increase but a reduction in the premium, and that means more money in the pockets of seniors and people on disability.

Again, this is very welcome news. Obviously, inflation has been really tough for a lot of families, and particularly seniors on fixed incomes, but in 2023 there is going to be, again, more relief coming this way.

It also coincides with the new Inflation Reduction Act, which will be capping the cost of insulin, starting in January, at $35 a month. For seniors who are on Medicare today who need insulin, which is a life or death drug, insulin roughly costs about $160 per month.

There will be savings, not only in terms of a new COLA and a reduced part B premium, but also the cost of insulin will be capped at $35 a month. In 2024 and 2025, under the Inflation Reduction Act, because of savings resulting from price negotiation, which the bill finally enabled and empowered, we are going to see an overall cap on out-of-pocket costs for prescription drugs at $2,000 for seniors through the part D program.

If you talk to anybody who has an MS condition or an MS patient in someone’s family, the mere infusion of a new Medicare MS therapy forces most seniors onto Medicaid because it is thousands of dollars per treatment.

Starting with this new program, their overall cap for a year will be $2,000. That is why the Multiple Sclerosis Society endorsed this bill, as did many other patient advocacy groups.

As valuable as Medicare was for prescription drugs, the existing system still is way too expensive.

With the Inflation Reduction Act, we are going to cap insulin, we are going to cap the overall cost of medications. Unbelievably, just a few days ago, the minority came out with their commitment for America where they actually support a repeal the law on which the ink is barely dry, that is going to provide a ray of hope for seniors to pay for the cost of lifesaving drugs. We can’t let that happen.

Starting in January, we are going to see the real benefits of this law, as well as welcome news in terms of a higher COLA and a smaller part B premium.

RESIDENCY AND RURAL HOSPITALS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. JOYCE) for 5 minutes.

Mr. JOYCE of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, today, fourth-year medical students submitted their applications to residency programs across our country, preparing to enter the workforce as surgeons, specialists, and family doctors.

As these students begin the process of choosing the hospitals where they will work, I urge them to consider working in rural communities. Working in facilities that are struggling right now to recruit new physicians, and these new medical students—these new, highly-trained individuals—will be able to serve communities that desperately need them.

For too long, a lack of doctors has been the significant barrier to care for families in rural Pennsylvania. To address this critical shortage, I am proud to have created the Homegrown Healthcare Initiative, which pairs third- and fourth-year medical students with hospitals across Pennsylvania’s 13th Congressional District.

So far we have been able to place nearly 30 students in hospitals in Blair, Cambria, Fulton, and Franklin counties. It is time to ensure the students who were raised in rural communities return to these communities to live, to work, and to practice medicine.

To all of the medical students applying for residency today, good luck, and...
I thank them for all the work that they will do on behalf of their patients.

OUT OF CONTROL INFLATION

Mr. JOYCE of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, today, we recognize the problems that we are facing with a country that has spiraling out of control inflation. We have an opportunity with the Republican Commitment to America, the commitment that the Republican Party has put forward, to make a Nation that is safe, to make a Nation that is accountable.

As Republicans, we have brought forth a four-part statement that will have the necessary oversight to control and have the citizens have the ability to have their voices heard. The Commitment to America is the path forward throughout this spiraling inflation that is affecting each and every American today.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all Americans to look at this valuable commitment that we as Republicans will bring forward.

HAwAIIAN HISTORY MONTH

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Hawaii (Mr. KAHELE) for 5 minutes.

Mr. KAHELE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to continue to honor September as Hawaiian History Month in my home State of Hawaii. Today, in "olelo Hawaii", "Hawaiian language", I will honor Joseph Kaho'oluhi Nawahiokalani'opu'u.

Joseph Kaho'oluhi Nawahiokalani'opu'u was born on January 13, 1842 in Kaimu, Puna on the Island of Hawaii. Keaweolalo was his true mother. Joseph Pa'akaula was his foster father. Joseph Pa'akaula was a teacher at Ke Kula 'Aiakala.

year in California, food shelves are going to be even more empty and prices even higher.

Someone in rural America has to be producing something. So for people to say that well, climate change, times are changing, we have to shift in a new direction, we don't need these people there, and we don't need these towns there, we do need these towns. We need them there, and we need to help them to thrive by letting them manage the timber to begin with.

DISASTER RELIEF IN PUERTO RICO

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Puerto Rico (Miss González-Colón) for 5 minutes.

Miss González-Colón. Mr. Speaker, earlier this month, we were thinking about the 5 years since Hurricane Maria, and 5 years felt like nothing. Maria was one of our greatest natural disasters, causing collapse of all of the essential infrastructure in Puerto Rico. We still see the effects linger.

My colleagues in Congress came with me to the Island and responded with funds for recovery. Staff from FEMA and other agencies have been working hard, but the effects have been slow to be seen. Major obligations for permanent infrastructure rebuilding began only in late 2022.

Meanwhile, challenges continued: Earthquakes, COVID, supply chain crisis, a power grid that remains unreliable, uncertainty about the continuity of Medicaid and nutritional assistance programs. The people were exhausted and stressed.

Then came Hurricane Fiona. Fiona did not bring Category 4 or Category 5 winds but, instead, rainfall like never before, up to 30 inches in some locations. It was raining 2 days before the hurricane and 2 days after the hurricane.

Fiona caused a lot of flooding. It was historic and, in many places in the south of the Island, and the West, and the central mountains, beyond what was experienced for Maria. Thousands of families need to be moved from flood waters in places like Salinas, leaving behind everything.

In rural areas like Arecibo, San Lorenzo, Orocovis, Utuado, Barranquitas, houses that had been repaired or replaced after Maria, and roads that had been cleared and repaved, are again washed out, damaged, and blocked by landslides.

Housing and transportation work done after the last disaster, some seem barely finished, now needs to be addressed again.

The power system again fell into a blackout. Although a majority is back up, it is still shaky. More than 70 percent of the Island now has power. Plants at Aguirre and Costa Sur are running available units at the edge of capacity; distribution networks at Aguadilla, San Sebastian, and Bayamón needed to be attended by local governments. This slow-down recovery of the water system is a problem for citizens needing life support devices, and keeps businesses closed.

Although there are sufficient fuel and supplies at depots, communities are facing difficulty in getting enough because of transportation problems at a time of increased demand.

The agricultural sector, that was expecting finally the first normal productive year after devastation of Maria, lost everything. We lost 90 percent of our agriculture in plantains, bananas, and many others; back to square one. Across the land, in Lares, Patillas, Aibonito, Guanica, mostly small or family farms now are at risk of simply never coming back; a lot from damage, and others from heartbreak.

Our low-income families face faster depletion of the funds for Medicaid and for nutritional assistance programs. It is not just a matter of more eligiblity but continuity of the funding.

A real answer to this would be true permanent equal treatment for Puerto Rico in these Federal programs, instead of a special provision over and over every year.

I have engaged the President and many Federal agencies on this and other issues, to seek the needed support for the Island at this moment.

Some Members of Congress, of this House, are traveling to Puerto Rico after Fiona, and I am again, inviting all my colleagues who want to come and join me to see the need directly and hear from those who can tell you what is really happening.

Today, we watch Florida also face a major disaster, and knowing firsthand what that means, I keep the people of Puerto Rico in my heart. Take care, and God bless and keep you in this time.

I am sure that both Florida and Puerto Rico will recover from this disaster, and, as Americans, we must all stand together, in a bipartisan way, to make sure the rebuilding happens visibly and promptly.

HONORING THE SERVICE OF CHAD ROBICHAUIX AND STAFF SERGEANT DENNIS PRICE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Missouri (Mrs. Hartzler) for 5 minutes.

Mrs. Hartzler. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the extraordinary heroism of Chad Robichaux and Staff Sergeant Dennis Price during the Afghanistan evacuation last year. Their selfless actions evacuating tens of thousands of Afghan interpreters and their families, vulnerable women and children, persecuted Christians, and American citizens, represents the highest levels of patriotism.

I met with Robichaux through his work supporting our Nation’s veterans as the founder of the Mighty Oaks Foundation, a leading nonprofit serving the military, veteran, and first responder communities around the world. Through faith-based combat trauma and resiliency programs, Chad has been instrumental in ensuring our brave warriors are supported when they return home from the battlefield.

Robichaux’s story is quite moving. He is also the co-founder of Save Our Allies, a nonprofit focused on the evacuation and recovery of Americans, our allies, and the most vulnerable people trapped in Afghanistan. Save Our Allies began as a personal quest for Chad, as he set out to rescue his longtime friend and Afghan interpreter. However, the mission quickly evolved because of Chad’s compassion for all people and his servant’s heart.

While the U.S. military held the Kabul airport in Afghanistan, the Save Our Allies Task Force successfully extracted approximately 17,000 evacuees in a period of 10 days. Despite these courageous efforts, a report from the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff estimated over 142,000 vulnerable Afghans remained in the country following the exit from Kabul.

With the complete takeover of Afghanistan by the Taliban, the report from the JCS predicted that 20 million women would be vulnerable to sexual abuse and slavery; Christians would be persecuted and executed; Afghan interpreters and their families would be hunted down and killed; children would be abused through religious manipulation; and the 1,000-plus Americans left behind would be killed or held hostage for ransom.

Understanding the ruthlessness of the Taliban as a former Force Recon Marine, Chad Robichaux knew the rescue mission had to continue. In response, Save Our Allies launched several operations to explore new ways for extractions. Robichaux and his team first identified possible ground evacuations that could be feasible by cross-border movements into Tajikistan and quickly planned a reconnaissance operation. Robichaux hand-selected Staff Sergeant Dennis Price, a Force Recon Marine and Scout Sniper, to take part in the mission.

I want to share two stories from that mission to highlight their incredible acts of sacrifice, service, and bravery. Early in the mission, Staff Sergeant Price sought a higher vantage point to evaluate a potential river crossing area. Upon his ascent up a mountain, he came under sniper fire two separate times, pushing him back to return to the safe house to reconvene with Robichaux and discuss moving forward with the operation.

These two brave men humbly discussed their families, loved ones, and all that would be left behind should they not make it out of this mission ahead. Still, both men agreed to continue their mission of building safe passage for American and Afghan evacuees.

During day 3 of the mission, and upon confirmation of possible river crossing, Staff Sergeant Price found himself 10 feet away from an armed Chinese militiaman hiding in the bushes, utilizing the vegetation as concealment.

Robichaux, using his uncanny observation and combat skills, noticed the looming threat and physically ushered Staff Sergeant Price into a nearby vehicle before he could be captured or killed, ultimately saving his life. Because of this heroic act, the two men were able to continue providing real-time information to American intelligence agencies.

During the 10-day operation, Robichaux and Price were able to cover 90 miles of border between Afghanistan and Tajikistan, remaining undetected by countless Tajik, Russian, and Chinese military patrols, all while avoiding Taliban-infested areas and checkpoints.

These examples, and countless others that cannot be shared due to their sensitive nature, underscore the exemplary efforts undertaken by both Americans behind enemy lines to collect the critical information needed to bring so many to safety.

Mr. Speaker, I am humbled to stand before the House to honor their courageous bravery and willingness to sacrifice their lives for their fellow man. The mission that these men completed has saved and will continue to save hundreds and possibly thousands of lives.

On behalf of a grateful Nation, I express my sincere gratitude. God bless Chad Robichaux and Staff Sergeant Price for their service to our country.

RECOGNIZING NATIONAL CLEAN ENERGY WEEK

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Iowa (Mrs. MILLER-MEEKS) for 5 minutes.

Mrs. MILLER-MEEKS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize National Clean Energy Week and the benefits of alternative energy sources.

National Clean Energy Week is a time to recognize and celebrate innovative policies that allow the United States to limit greenhouse gas emissions.

Iowa leads the Nation in clean energy production, and Iowans are constantly seeking ways to make clean energy more affordable, accessible, and abundant. Just last year, the American Clean Power Association reported that over 50 percent of Iowa’s electricity is generated by renewable sources, ranking it highest in the United States.

Clean energy sources, including renewable fuels, organic materials, wind, and solar, create affordable electricity and power our transportation sector. Additionally, alternative energy sources bring jobs and revenue while allowing the United States to remain a global leader in energy production.

Since taking office, I have advocated for conservative, climate-friendly legislation that promotes alternative forms of energy. Consumers should always be provided with choices as it promotes competition for businesses and lowers the cost of goods and services, which is crucial now with record-high inflation.

I have also introduced bipartisan legislation, such as the Biochar Research Network Act of 2022, to expand clean energy in the United States. This bill would create a national biochar research network, where the benefits of biochar can be identified and explored. Research would include how well biochar works to sequester carbon, how biochar increases crop production, improves marginal soil health, improves water quality, and reduces the amount of fertilizers and pesticides regularly used. I was proud that Senator GRASSLEY introduced the same bill in the U.S. Senate last week.

Additionally, I have supported numerous bills, such as the Lower Food Costs Act, which expands year-round E15, and the Home Front Energy Independence bill, which would prohibit the imports of petroleum from Russia while expanding production and availability of biofuels.

Increasing domestic energy production and the use of biofuels would also help our allies around the world wean off from Russia’s dirty oil and cut off the funding for the Russian war machine.

Iowa’s vast farmland is why alternative forms of energy like biofuels and wind and solar are successful. However, when determining our Nation’s energy strategy, we must analyze geographic composure and natural resources in the area. Different geographical features allow for clean energy to succeed, such as solar in the Southwest, natural gas in Texas, hydro power in the Pacific Northwest, or nuclear energy in the South.

As we continue pursuing clean energy production, I hope my colleagues will look to Iowa as an example of an any- and all-of-the-above approach. In order to leave a healthier planet for our children and grandchildren, we must enact policies that benefit a wide variety of energy sources where they work best and flexibility within the States to do so.

I also wish a happy birthday to Kendyl Willox, who is an amazing health policy portfolio manager in our office. Happy birthday to Kendyl!

FARM OVERTIME WAGE THRESHOLD

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from New York (Ms. TENNEY) for 5 minutes.

Ms. TENNEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to highlight a looming catastrophe for New York farmers, farmworkers, and consumers across New York State and the country.

On September 6, the New York State Farm Laborers Wage Board voted to advance a proposal to lower the State’s overtime wage threshold for farm laborers from 60 to 40 hours per week, despite overwhelming opposition to the recommendation.

During the public comment period, farmers, farmworkers, and consumers all turned out in droves to oppose the recommendation. Farmers, who are struggling with inflation already, are now very worried about keeping up with yet another price hike. Farmworkers are gravely concerned about their possible loss of hours and cutting their wages. Consumers should fear even higher increases to food costs, which have already increased 11.4 percent over the last year, the biggest increase since 1979, with prices continuing to go up.

Their fears are real. Cornell University’s College of Agriculture and Life Sciences projected that the overtime rule’s implementation could force two-thirds of dairy farmers to make significant changes to their operations, including, and dramatically bad, leaving the industry or investing in other States.

New York State already leads the Nation in the highest out-migration of people and jobs. This would be a disaster for our agricultural community.

Cornell University Ag Sciences also found that half of New York’s fruit and vegetable farmers likely would have to reduce operations or leave the industry altogether. The second largest apple-producing county in the entire Nation is Wayne County, located in upstate New York.

Despite all this, the board still voted to advance the recommendation anyway. We are incredibly disappointed that the board ignored such compelling input from important stakeholders, worsening the already difficult headwinds for New York’s agriculture industry. The board ultimately decided to undermine the very industry and workers they are supposed to be serving.

For this week, I joined upstate farmers for a roundtable discussion hosted by Dale Hemminger and his son, Clay, at Hemdale Farms in Seneca Castle, New York. The feedback from the farmers was unanimous: Lowering the overtime threshold will devastate New York’s agricultural industry and have a critically difficult impact on the future of family farms in New York and could leave New York as one of the few States in the country with such an onerous and unreasonable restriction on family farms.

Family farms, large and small, are the lifeblood of New York’s economy. Everyone thinks it is New York City. It is actually agriculture.

Currently, the recommendation is with the State labor commissioner, Roberta Reardon. I have and continue to urge her to reject this change and maintain the current 60-hour threshold. New York family farms and consumers simply cannot bear any further price increases.

I have also joined my other New York colleagues, Representatives ELISE

H8126 CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — HOUSE September 28, 2022
Rhode Island (Mr. LANGEVIN) for 5 minutes.

Chair recognizes the gentleman from Utah (Mr. OWENS) at 2 p.m. today.

Mr. LANGEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today because Americans are divided.

Our public discourse is broken. Instead of fostering open and honest political debate, our flawed information environment creates echo chambers and partisan silos.

At times, it feels like the very fabric of our Nation is being torn at the seams. This toxic polarization has infected the Capitol, too, where it is becoming increasingly difficult to get things done in a bipartisan manner.

The nonstop outrage and anger must end.

To begin solving some of these issues, I propose an idea, which I developed in partnership with my former science and technology policy adviser, Eric Saund, a phenomenal cognitive science researcher.

I propose an idea, which I developed in partnership with my former science and technology policy adviser, Eric Saund, a phenomenal cognitive science researcher. Together, we call for redesigning what is popularly described as the “marketplace of ideas.”

As economists point out, markets are information systems. The invisible hand of supply and demand discovers the value of goods and services, and the equal access to information in a market yields collective efficiency.

Now, imagine a market where suppliers or, in this case, speakers of ideas hawk their wares in a public square, while consumers, or listeners, sample and choose the news, stories, and opinions they prefer. The best ideas would win by virtue of the audience’s discernment and collective wisdom, right?

But what if the market’s information architecture, the modes and pathways of information exchange and processing, is fundamentally broken? Just like a market wouldn’t function properly if the vendors’ loudspeakers and telephones were damaged, the algorithms, programmatic methods, and platform designs that govern our marketplace of ideas are clearly not working. When a market is broken, it is the responsibility of government to act.

How do we fix it? We start by leveling the playing field and modifying the shape, not the content, of our ideas marketplace to facilitate healthy exposure and competition among all ideas within our political discourse.

As it currently stands, our marketplace has been distorted to resemble a dome-like shape in which discourse is driven to the extremes of each side. Instead, we propose bending the dome shape of our marketplace into a bowl shape, encouraging people to seek common ground and creating space for productive conversation among ideological foes and compatriots alike.

By leveling the playing field through tweaks to both the supply and demand side, we can create a marketplace of ideas where fairness and civility are rewarded and extremism is discouraged.

On the demand side, we can invest in civic education initiatives that teach children critical reading, listening, and thinking skills, like how to spot disinformation on social media. Adults, too, can lose awareness of how their buttons are being pushed by sophisticated propagandists.

As our Founders recognized, our democracy requires an educated citizenry. However, the demands of our modern media environment require our education system to grow and adapt accordingly.

We could borrow from the playbook of other countries, like Finland and the Baltic states, which have developed robust civil defenses against insidious disinformation campaigns emanating from neighboring Russia. We can even motivate public awareness and engagement through playful, competitive, and financial incentives to reward people for knowing basic civics and following factual, unbiased news and information sources. We should encourage participation in nonpolitical areas of life, such as sports, hobbies, recreation, civics projects, and family activities, to reinforce the common bonds between us.

Solutions arise on the supply side, as well. In a traditional public square, each speaker’s identity is known and thereby can be held accountable for their speech. But on social media, phony accounts and troll farms can spread lies, disinformation, and distorted narratives without consequence. A solution may be found in modern technologies for digital identity tools, which can ensure that every social media account is held by a unique, real human being.

Congressman BILL FOSTER’s Improving Digital Identity Act of 2021, of which I am a proud cosponsor, advances associated frameworks and standards and promotes the adoption of privacy-preserving digital identity technologies.

This is a complicated issue, but I think it is worth giving thought to.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 12(a) of rule I, the Chair declares the House in recess until 2 p.m. today.

Accordingly (at 12 o’clock and 59 minutes p.m.), the House stood in recess.
enrolled bill was signed by Speaker pro tempore RASKIN on Tuesday, September 27, 2022:

S. 2293, to amend the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act to provide certain employment rights to reservists of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, and for other purposes.

CONCERNS ABOUT OUR STRATEGIC PETROLEUM RESERVE

(Mr. LAMALFA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LA MALFA. Mr. Speaker, as Hurricane Ian barrels toward the Florida coast, residents are boarding up their homes, packing up their families, and rushing to evacuate.

Across the State, FEMA is unloading barrels of fuel from our Strategic Petroleum Reserve on evacuation routes to help those leaving to fuel up. That is the correct intent of our Strategic Petroleum Reserves, to help people in the event of a severe weather event or other disaster.

But there is a reason to be concerned now that the SPR, as it is known, is now at its lowest point since 1961 because of President Biden’s policy. For nearly 2 years he has been halting leases for domestic oil and gas production, paused pipeline development, and launched a regulatory assault on U.S. energy development and financing, all while releasing our strategic reserves in order to combat rising prices—thinking that amount is really going to do so. They have been shipped overseas in some cases.

This is unconscionable. We are in the middle of a hurricane season. What will we do when our reserves are eventually depleted and people are actually stranded?

In my district in northern California we don’t have hurricanes, but we are too familiar with natural disasters. Each summer residents are forced to flee due to catastrophic wildfires, and this winter they were even trapped in their homes without electricity due to snowstorms.

We need plentiful electricity: natural gas and oil. It is a matter of life and death for many, and SPRs need to be used properly.

BIOSCIENCE INDUSTRY IN UTAH

(Mr. OWENS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. OWENS. Mr. Speaker, on December 2, 1982, the medical team from the University of Utah successfully implanted the first permanent artificial heart in the world.

For forty years, Utah remains a leader in healthcare innovation. Over the past 2 years, I had the pleasure of visiting many Utah businesses at the forefront of the healthcare industry. Ortho Development Corporation, Xenter, Canyon Labs, and Ultradent are among the leading biotech firms that call Utah home.

BioHive, a collaboration of 1,100 companies representing Utah’s life science and healthcare innovative ecosystem is the driving force behind the Beehive State’s success.

Additionally, the bioscience industry in Utah supports 130,000 local jobs, accounts for 8 percent of GDP, and produces hundreds of patents for lifesaving medical devices.

Behind these extraordinary accomplishments are the pioneering spirit, grit, and kindness of Utahns. I am proud to represent my State and know that we will continue to lead the Nation.

WJAG’S 100TH ANNIVERSARY

(Mr. FLOOD asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. FLOOD. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor one of America’s first radio stations, WJAG-AM, licensed to Norfolk, Nebraska. It is celebrating 100 years this year.

In 1922, radio pioneer Gene Huse established WJAG as one of the first radio stations west of the Mississippi River.

The station became and remains an important part of everyday life for Nebraskans. Gene Huse realized that most people did not own a radio, so he printed instructions in his local newspaper on how to build one. Many more went to the movie theater or the fire station to hear play-by-play of the World Series, dance to music, and receive agricultural news.

Today, his grandson, Bill Huse, continues the tradition of service. WJAG has been owned by the same family since its start in 1922. The station is an American original.

On behalf of the First District of Nebraska, I congratulate WJAG on 100 years of service and wish those at the station another 100 years of success.

REMOVAL OF NAME OF MEMBER AS COSPONSOR OF H.R. 8446

Ms. MCCOLLUM. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to remove the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. PFUGER) as cosponsor of H.R. 8446.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, the Chair will postpone further proceedings today on motions to suspend the rules on which the yeas and nays are ordered.

The House will resume proceedings on postponed questions at a later time.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — HOUSE September 28, 2022

(5) An analysis of whether the use of subcontracts by a SBIR awardee or an STTR awardee is consistent with the purposes of section 9 of the Small Business Act (15 U.S.C. 638).

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from New York (Ms. Velázquez) and the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. Luetkemeyer) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from New York.

Ms. Velázquez. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to review and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the measure under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. There is no objection to the request of the gentleman from New York.

There was no objection.

Ms. Velázquez. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of S. 4900, the SBIR and STTR Extension Act of 2022.

Let me begin by thanking Ranking Member Luetkemeyer and my colleagues on the Small Business Committee and the House Committee on Science, Space, and Technology for their work on this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I especially want to thank Chairwoman Eddie Bernice Johnson, who is retiring at the end of this Congress. Her knowledge and expertise of the programs were pivotal to these negotiations.

Today’s bill extends the SBIR and STTR programs and six related pilot programs for 3 years. Reauthorizing them is vital to thousands of small businesses and research institutions that partner with 11 agencies to develop solutions to some of our country’s most difficult challenges.

Since their founding 40 years ago, SBIR and STTR have launched some of our Nation’s most innovative enterprises and products that have become household names. Companies like RoboSurgeon, Soliris, Dendreon’s Provenge, 23andMe, LASIK eye surgery, and Qualcomm wireless communications all got their start through SBIR/STTR.
More innovative technology is on the way. In fiscal year 2021 alone, Federal agencies leveraged nearly $4 billion in awards to back 4,000 small businesses and nearly 7,000 projects. Awardees are leading the way in our efforts to fight climate change, modernize manufacturing, and create breakthroughs in lifesaving medical technologies.

S. 4900 gives them the ability to continue their work and lead America’s innovation by providing stability to both the small businesses and agencies for the next 3 years.

It builds on efforts to strengthen Federal research security through due diligence reviews to prevent malign foreign personnel from stealing technologies developed through SBIR and STTR.

It also establishes higher benchmarks for more experienced firms to commercialize their technologies and includes various studies and more detailed reporting to increase oversight and inform future program changes.

Unfortunately, S. 4900 does not include the wanted track record of years of successful reauthorizations. It remains committed to coming together again in the future to have those conversations.

Our monthslong bipartisan and bicameral negotiations will avoid a devastating lapse and protect thousands of jobs. Today, we are here considering a lapse and protect thousands of jobs. Today, we are here considering a reset of the SBIR and STTR programs.

Mr. Speaker, I urge Members to vote “yes,” and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Luetkemeyer. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 4900, the SBIR and STTR Extension Act of 2022.

The Small Business Innovation Research and Small Business Technology Transfer programs, or SBIR and STTR programs, are vital to the success of many small entities and have helped create thousands of new jobs by fostering innovation and stimulating the economy through cutting-edge research.

SBIR and STTR’s mission is to support scientific excellence and technological innovation for small businesses.

For the last 40 years, these programs have helped firms develop new technologies that have directly assisted Federal agencies meet their R&D needs. The American warfighter is no doubt stronger due to these programs.

However, a recent Department of Defense report revealed foreign adversaries have been exploiting the SBIR through shell companies, planted government researchers, and state-sponsored talent programs. The report found China’s People’s Republic of China has become a large beneficiary of SBIR and STTR. This is unacceptable, and the status quo must not continue, Mr. Speaker.

The programs must have heightened awareness and protections in place to prevent nefarious abuse. This legislation, crafted over months of negotiations, provides significant reforms to combat malign foreign influence and protect our small businesses from Chinese acquisition of innovation technologies.

Specifically, this bill mandates that agencies establish strong due-diligence safeguards to assess security risks and prevent influence from bad actors. It requires companies to disclose any business relationships, and contracts with China, and it gives agencies authority to deny any application if certain relationships are deemed a risk to national security.

In addition to safeguarding small businesses from China, this bill curbs abuse by multiple award winners, or SBIR mills. Mills are firms that consume a disproportionate number of awards but have low commercialization rates. These mills will have to meet enhanced performance goals in order to apply for new awards. These benchmarks will hold mills accountable and ensure that the programs are focusing on commercializing projects and attracting more private capital investments.

Finally, S. 4900 strengthens congressional oversight, increases public transparency, and safeguards taxpayer dollars during a time where government overreach has run rampant, and transparency has been limited.

These reforms are a win for small businesses and will protect U.S. R&D and innovative technologies.

I thank Chairwoman Velázquez, Ranking Member Lucas, Chairwoman Eddie Bernice Johnson, as well as Senators Cardin, Paul, and Ernst for working in a bipartisan manner to ensure these programs are reauthorized before the end of the month.

I encourage all my colleagues to support S. 4900, which unanimously passed the Senate last week.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. Velázquez. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentlewoman from Michigan (Ms. Stevens), the chairwoman of the Science, Space, and Technology Subcommittee on Research and Technology.

Ms. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of S. 4900, the SBIR and STTR Extension Act of 2022. This is an exciting and thrilling day, and we have undertaken a fraction of its technology development if it were not for the SBIR and STTR programs.

I think about that, my friends. These programs make discovery possible for businesses; some that are at the university level, and some that are small businesses in their infancy stage.

Over the past 5 years, the SBIR program has awarded small businesses in Michigan more than $948 million in funding for R&D. This has led to incredibly exciting discoveries and inventions in Michigan, from the development of a handheld technology that enables farmers to accurately detect nitrates in their soils to save farmland; or Geofabrica, a company in Auburn Hills, Michigan, to hear about their exciting, DOD-funded SBIR work. Their CEO shared something that struck a chord.

He said, “If we had not undertaken a fraction of its technology development, we would not have made these visits; and previous to coming to Congress, I helped companies and small business innovators apply for these grants.”

In December, I had the privilege of visiting the team at Geofabrica, an Additive Manufacturing Technology Development company in Auburn Hills, Michigan, to hear about their exciting, DOD-funded SBIR work. Their CEO shared something that struck a chord.

He said, “If we had not undertaken a fraction of its technology development, we would not have made these visits; and previous to coming to Congress, I helped companies and small business innovators apply for these grants.”

The last comprehensive reauthorization for the SBIR program was 11 years ago. We have opted or just continued to extend the program, like we did in 2016, leaving powerful opportunities to strengthen SBIR out of the conversation.

My, how the times have changed. I began this Congress ready to work on updating SBIR in order to support our entrepreneurs, our job creators, and the place that I am so privileged to call home, and come back stronger.

Chairwoman JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of S. 4900, the SBIR and STTR Extension Act of 2022. This is an exciting and thrilling day, and we could not push with more urgency to pass this legislation.

The Small Business Innovation Research Program, the SBIR, is well-known for its tagline of “America’s seed fund,” as it inspires small businesses across the country to transform their ideas into marketable products and services.

On behalf of Chairwoman JOHNSON, I thank the Chairwoman for the Small Business Committee for bringing us here to this moment and, of course, our colleagues on the other side of the aisle for joining us in a bipartisan action to improve America’s competitive-needed stability to the program with today's vote, we still have work to do.

One of my own priorities is to expand program outreach to enable agencies to reach more first-time entrepreneurs, particularly those who are Black, Hispanic, Indigenous, and female entrepreneurs innovating in their home and alongside their family, particularly during these disruptive times of the COVID–19 pandemic. All of these individuals have innovations and businesses that have been long underfunded.

I also hope to see enhanced support for technology commercialization within the program, including through additional technical support to businesses and by providing agencies a wider range of funding tools to meet our unique needs.

Mr. Speaker, I call on my colleagues to join me in passing S. 4900 today for SBIR reauthorization.

Mr. LUETKEMEYER. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as may consume to the distinguished gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. LUCA S), the Republican leader of the Science, Space, and Technology Committee.

Mr. LUCA S. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend for yielding this time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the SBIR and STTR Extension Act. This bill is extremely timely, as the authorizations for these programs expire in just a few days.

I am pleased that the bill we are considering today represents a bipartisan, bicameral agreement that provides both small businesses and agencies clarity by reauthorizing the programs for another 3 years.

The SBIR and STTR programs play an important role in our innovation economy. Through these programs, research agencies provide opportunities to small businesses who are then able to leverage private-sector funding to propel research forward.

The programs incentivize economic growth in two ways: They support entrepreneurship and job creation at small businesses across the country. They also support high-risk research to drive breakthrough technologies that make America more competitive.

These programs are a notable example of how public-private partnerships can provide value and stimulate innovation. Importantly, this reauthorization does not fund reform on the programs that are priorities for Republican Members, including: Protecting our research enterprise, bolstering transparency and oversight, and focusing on successful commercialization.

I am pleased that this reauthorization includes strong due diligence measures that each agency with an SBIR or STTR program must enforce. These safeguards build on the bipartisan research security framework that the Science Committee has championed.

Additionally, an increased focus on transparency and oversight of the programs will bolster public transparency, safeguard taxpayer dollars, and provide more opportunities to new business applicants.

I thank my colleagues on the House Small Business Committee for working with me to reach this bipartisan agreement, and, in particular, I thank Ranking Member LUETKEMEYER for his leadership throughout the process.

As always, many thanks to my Chairwoman, EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON, for her tireless work to ensure that the Science, Space, and Technology Committee issues a bipartisan, productive committee focused on legislating.

The SBIR and STTR programs are vital to our research enterprise, especially as we strive to maintain American leadership and technology. I urge my colleagues to support this legislation.

Ms. VELÁZQUEZ. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Pennsylvania (Ms. HOULAHAN).

Ms. HOULAHAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today also in support of S. 4900, the SBIR and STTR Extension Act of 2022. This bipartisan legislation is both timely and necessary to ensure that our nation remains on the forefront of innovation, research, and development of the products and technology of our future.

As an entrepreneur myself by trade, and with experience scaling several businesses in Pennsylvania, I know personally just how important that seed funding can be to a business' success and to the potential to get its products to the shelves.

The Small Business Innovation Research and Technology Transfer Programs, otherwise known as America's seed fund, offer competitive Federal awards to small firms in order to tackle the 21st century problems and needs. Simply put, funds from these programs move innovative technologies from concept to marketplace, or from the lab to our government programs and systems.

Despite the overwhelming success of these programs, there is one major problem that we have in Congress that we all must address, and that is we are standing here today. The SBIR and STTR programs are set to expire in just 2 short days unless we come together and pass this bill and send it to the President's desk.

The consequences of a program lapse would be devastating on many, many fronts. For instance, the Department of Defense has shared that failure to reauthorize this program will result in approximately 1,200 warfighting needs not being addressed; not to mention that these programs are remarkable taxpayer investments, returning $22 to the economy for every $1 spent on projects at the DOD.

I have been proud to work with my colleagues across the Small Business and the Armed Services Committees to lead this effort to extend the authorization of these critical programs. Indeed, in June, I successfully offered a bipartisan amendment to prevent a harmful program lapse in our annual defense bill. As the defense bill is, unfortunately, still pending in the Senate, I thank Senators CARDIN and ERNST for their sponsorship of this important legislation, which will reauthorize the SBIR and STTR programs for an additional 3 years.

Furthermore, this legislation adds measures aimed at commercializing projects and expanding Federal research security to protect against technology theft.

I thank the leadership for their support. Time is of the essence, and I urge my colleagues to support the bill.

Mr. LUETKEMEYER. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as she may consume to the gentlewoman from California (Mrs. KIM), a valuable member on the Small Business Committee and a strong advocate for entrepreneurs.

Mrs. KIM of California. Mr. Speaker, I thank Ranking Member LUETKEMEYER for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of the SBIR and STTR Extension Act of 2022. This bipartisan legislation re-authorizes the Small Business Innovation Research and Small Business Technology Transfer Programs for 3 years and implements several reforms to strengthen the programs for years to come.

This bill safeguards taxpayer dollars by ensuring that we increase the rate of successful commercialization, prohibits our adversaries from reaping the benefits of our SBIR and STTR investments, and encourages the rapid development of emerging technologies that are vital for our national security.

In addition, this legislation would allow the Department of Defense to adopt the successful open topic solicitation process pioneered by the Air Force. The open topic solicitation will attract new small businesses into the SBIR program, accelerate the development of emerging technologies, broaden program access to young startups, and increase the potential for commercial impact.

The SBIR and STTR programs are important tools for small businesses to research, develop, and commercialize innovative technologies and help create good-paying jobs.

As we all know, the CCP is taking concerted steps to bridge the innovation gap with the United States and knock us down as the world leader in innovation. We must never relent our country's position as the leading innovator and creator of emerging technologies.

I thank Ranking Members LUETKEMEYER and LUCA S and Chairwomen VELÁZQUEZ and JOHNSON for their leadership in bringing a successful, bicameral negotiation to reauthorize SBIR and STTR programs.

I urge my colleagues to support this underlying legislation and continue our country's support for our small businesses and innovation.
Mr. LUEKTMEYER. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. FITZGERALD), a very valuable, experienced member of our Committee on Small Business and another strong advocate for the entrepreneurs of our economy.

Mr. FITZGERALD. Mr. Speaker, I thank the ranking member for yielding.

I rise in support of S. 4900, which would reauthorize the Small Business Innovation Research and Small Business Technology Transfer programs.

In addition to extending the SBIR and STTR programs for 3 years, this bill contains several important provisions that safeguard our government and its research from foreign entities and enhance benchmarks for those companies that have received multiple awards.

Since 1992, the SBIR and STTR programs have helped promote public-private partnership and small business innovation by requiring agencies with sizable R&D needs to set aside a portion of their budget for small business participation. As many of the speakers said before me, the return on investment has been nothing short of impressive. In the Department of Defense alone, between 1995 and 2018, the SBIR and STTR programs resulted in $23 billion in new product sales to the U.S. military, $347 billion in total economic output, and the creation of more than 1.5 million jobs.

But with this amount of participation comes the likelihood of malign influence and fraud within the program. This was evidenced by a DOD report that found China was using shell companies in its Thousand Talents Program to profit off federally funded research programs like these two we are talking about here this afternoon.

Having been part of the negotiating process during my time as a conference for the COMPETES/USICA bill, the issue of foreign influence was certainly top of mind. I am pleased that both sides were able to come to an agreement and understand the importance of safeguarding much of this research.

Not only will this bill require companies that apply for SBIR and STTR awards to disclose any ties to China, but it will also require Federal agencies to bolster their due diligence efforts to ensure our intellectual property is fully protected.

Most importantly, the bill also requires DOD to establish an open topic solicitation, allowing small businesses the opportunity to showcase how their innovations may be beneficial to the actual warfighter. The GAO believes this will be more than efficiently laid out and planned and that new companies can be bolstered with this small business innovation.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote "yes."

Ms. VELÁZQUEZ. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LUEKTMEYER. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. FLOOD), one of our newest Members who has joined our committee and is doing a fantastic job representing small businesses and is another strong advocate for the entrepreneurs of our country.

Mr. FLOOD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the SBIR and STTR Extension Act of 2022.

I thank Chair VELÁZQUEZ and Ranking Member LUEKTMEYER for their work in a bipartisan fashion. I also thank Senators ERNST and CARDIN for what they have done for this legislation. I am pleased that this bill has been brought to the floor in an expedited fashion.

The Small Business Innovation Research and Small Business Technology Transfer Extension Act is an important piece of legislation, and the changes this bill brings to these programs are urgently needed.

For those who are not familiar, the Small Business Innovation Research program was created in 1982. The program was intended to spur American innovation and harness ingenuity by increasing small business engagement in federally funded research and development.

More recently, however, the Chinese Government has been manipulating this program. A report from the Department of Defense in April 2021 revealed some of the tactics China has used to this end.

The DOD revealed instances where companies were created, received SBIR grants, and then the founders mysteriously dissolved the company. Upon further investigation, it became clear that these companies were either recruited to China or were formed with the intent of returning to China from the start.

Either way, the result was the same: The American taxpayers funded projects that were stolen by the Chinese Government. This was simply an unacceptable status quo.

This bill fixes those problems. It implements strong safeguards against the influence of China or other foreign actors, and it creates new reporting requirements for these programs that will ensure taxpayer dollars are properly used.

This bill also brings the SBIR back to its original purpose: to spur innovation and unlock the ingenuity of American small businesses.

With these changes to the program, we can make sure the SBIR and STTR are stronger and more accessible for entrepreneurs in Nebraska and across the country.

Mr. Speaker, I urge a "yes" vote.

Mr. LUEKTMEYER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time for closing.

The SBIR and STTR Extension Act of 2022 will reauthorize the programs for 3 years and address congressional concerns by establishing research security measures, increasing transparency and oversight, and focusing on commercialization.

I think, as you have heard the speakers this afternoon, in my mind, we have two big problems that we are solving here. Besides the reauthorization of these programs, which I think is important to the national defense of our country, for one thing, I think it also helps spur entrepreneurial and investment technology that I think is vital to our country, and we stop the use of some of these programs for different companies. I think we also put a stop to the Chinese abuse of these programs, as well.

I think those are the two highlights that are really important in these programs. They have done a good job of putting protections in place. I think that we are strengthening these protections, as well as providing R&D and protecting our taxpayer dollars to make sure they are being spent effectively and efficiently.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to support S. 4900, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. VELÁZQUEZ. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time for closing.

The U.S. has the most dynamic small business ecosystem on the planet, and this 3-year extension ensures that our country remains one of the most innovative in the world.

The SBIR and STTR are essential components of that global competitiveness. They give small businesses a role in developing groundbreaking technologies that make our lives better in a variety of ways.

This program boosts American security, innovation, and entrepreneurship. That is why we must act today to extend them and ensure our country continues to reap these benefits into the future.

Stakeholders, from individual small business owners to research universities to the Department of Defense, have made it clear that even a temporary shutdown would be disastrous.

Throughout these negotiations, we have not always seen eye to eye, but I am thankful we all remain committed to keeping the programs open.

We have come up with a compromise that provides stability for small businesses and the agencies they partner with. This reduces the risk that foreign adversaries can steal U.S. technologies developed through SBIR and STTR, and preserves the competitive and merit-based strength of these programs.

Mr. Speaker, this is not the end, and there will be more work to do in the coming years. I pledge to continue to work to improve the programs.

I, again, thank my colleagues involved with reauthorization for all of the work leading up to today, including the members of the Committee on Small Business who participated in many hearings and briefings over the course of the past 2 years.
I also thank the staff on the House Committees on Small Business and Science, Space, and Technology for their dedication and tireless work to get us to this point: Dahlia Sokolov, Rebecca Callahan, Sara Barber, Elizabeth Barczak, Catherine Johnson, Jenn Wickre, Giulia Legzani, Robert Yavor, Delia Barr, Ellen Harrington, and Kevin Wheeler, who have been living and breathing SBIR for most of their time on the Hill, including this year as they worked around the clock, days, nights, and weekends. I sincerely thank each of them.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to vote ‘‘yes’’ on the SBIR and STTR Extension Act of 2022 to provide stability and certainty to small firms and agencies alike, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New York (Ms. Velázquez) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, S. 4900.

The question was taken.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. GOOD of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question was taken.

DEAR MADAM SPEAKER: Pursuant to the permission granted in Clause 2(h) of Rule II of the Rules of the U.S. House of Representatives, the Clerk received the following message from the Secretary of the Senate on September 27, 2022, at 1:47 p.m.: That the Senate passed S. 4905.
That the Senate agreed to Relative to the Death of the Honorable Robert ‘‘Bob’’ Charlie Krueger, former United States Senator from New York. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 8956) to amend chapter 36 of title 44, United States Code, to improve the cybersecurity of the Federal Government, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 8956
Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled.

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.
This Act may be cited as the ‘‘FedRAMP Authorization Act’’.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.
Congress finds the following:
(1) Ensuring that the Federal Government can securely leverage cloud computing products and services is key to expediting the modernization of legacy information technology systems, increasing cybersecurity, and promoting the continued leadership of the United States in technology innovation and job creation.
(2) According to independent analysis, as of calendar year 2019, the size of the cloud computing market had tripled since 2004, enabling more than 2,000,000 jobs and adding more than $200,000,000,000 to the gross domestic product of the United States.
(3) The Federal Government, across multiple branches of the Executive and Legislative Branches, has continued to support the ability of agencies to move to the cloud, including through:
(A) President Barack Obama’s ‘‘Cloud First Strategy’’;
(B) President Donald Trump’s ‘‘Cloud Smart Strategy’’;
(C) the prioritization of cloud security in Executive Order 14028 (86 Fed. Reg. 26633; relating to improving the nation’s cybersecurity), which was issued by President Joe Biden; and
(D) more than a decade of appropriations and authorization legislation that provides agencies with relevant authorities and appropriations to modernize on-premises information technology systems and more readily adopt cloud computing products and services.
(4) Since it was created in 2011, the Federal Risk and Authorization Management Program referred to in this section as ‘‘FedRAMP’’) at the General Services Administration has made steady and sustained improvements in supporting the secure authorization and reuse of cloud computing products and services within the Federal Government, including by reducing the costs and burdens on both agencies and cloud companies to quickly and securely enter the Federal market.
(5) According to data from the General Services Administration, as of the end of fiscal year 2021, there were 239 cloud providers with FedRAMP authorizations, and those authorizations had been reused more than 2,700 times across various agencies.
(6) Providing a legislative framework for FedRAMP and new authorities to the General Services Administration, the Office of Management and Budget, and Federal agencies will:
(A) improve the speed at which new cloud computing products and services can be securely authorized;
(B) enhance the ability of agencies to effectively evaluate FedRAMP authorized providers for reuse;
(C) reduce the costs and burdens to cloud providers seeking a FedRAMP authorization; and
(D) provide for more robust transparency and dialogue between industry and the Federal Government to drive stronger adoption of secure cloud computing products and services and reduce wasteful legacy information technology.

(a) MEETINGS.—The Committee shall hold no fewer than 3 meetings in each calendar year, at such time and place as determined by the Chair.
The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from New York (Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY) and the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. COMER) each will control 20 minutes. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York.

Mr. SPEAKER. Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the measure before us.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from New York?

There was no objection.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Representative CONNOLLY, the chairman of the Subcommittee on Government Operations, and Ranking Member COMER for working on this important bipartisan measure.

A version of this bill passed this House earlier in this Congress. It has been improved after receiving technical assistance from the General Services Administration and through discussions with the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs.

First established in 2011, FedRAMP is an important program that certifies cloud service providers that wish to offer services and products to the Federal Government.

The FedRAMP certification process outlined in this bill is comprehensive, facilitates easier agency adoption, promotes agency reuse, and encourages savings.

The FedRAMP process uses a risk-based approach to ensure the reliability of any cloud platform that hosts unclassified government data.

One significant provision of this bill is the Federal Secure Cloud Advisory Committee. This committee would be tasked with key responsibilities, including technical expertise on cloud products and services and identifying ways to reduce costs associated with FedRAMP certification.

The Director of the Office of Management and Budget would be required to issue regulations on FedRAMP and would ensure that agencies are not using cloud service providers without authorization.

This bill supports a critical effort to keep our Nation's information secure in cloud environments. I urge all Members to support this bill and reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, if this bill sounds familiar to Members, there is good reason for that. Once again, the House of Representatives is debating a bipartisan bill to secure Federal agency use of modern cloud computing services.

However, this time we are doing it as H.R. 8956, the Federal Secure Cloud Improvement and Jobs Act. Formerly named the FedRAMP Authorization Act, this was the first bill the House passed this Congress, as H.R. 21, on January 5, 2021.

We also passed the same legislation as part of this year's House version of the National Defense Authorization Act.

This is such an important issue that we are here again to send an improved bill back to the Senate for final passage.

Cybersecurity and technology modernization are both vital issues to ensure this government runs efficiently, effectively, and safely. We need this legislation to address the continued onslaught of cyberattacks that have compromised both the private and public sectors' critical information systems.

Cloud computing is an important innovation. It allows users to tap into extra resources to meet spikes in demand, like what agencies saw when trying to deliver COVID-relief assistance.

It also allows them to access modernized applications without the need for them to also invest in their own data storage equipment.

While cloud computing is the norm in the private sector, we still need to encourage agencies to adopt this technology when it makes sense. We also must ensure cloud computing services are secure. That is where the Federal Risk and Authorization Management Program comes in.

FedRAMP, run by the General Services Administration, is the main Federal program focused on helping agencies procure secure cloud computing systems. It provides a consistent process to ensure agencies know a given cloud service meets Federal cybersecurity standards. It also provides clarity for vendors, so they understand the requirements to ensure their products are secure enough for Federal agency use.

Shifting to the cloud is more cost effective, allows for better citizen services and mission-based solutions, and provides more responsive technology capabilities overall. These improved efficiencies have led to significant cost savings.

At the end of fiscal year 2021, the GSA estimated that over the FedRAMP program's 10-year lifespan, it will save the Government $7 billion in individual security review costs. So while agencies are not required to buy FedRAMP-approved services, it makes sense to encourage them to do so.

After passing the earlier version, H.R. 21, the Senate also made changes that improved the bill we are considering today.
Such updates include striking the unecessary authorization of $20 million in appropriations and requiring better oversight of the industry costs associated with becoming FedRAMP certified. This will help ensure both small and large businesses can participate in the program.

In addition, this version also seeks to identify and avoid bottle-necks that slow approval. It also takes steps to secure the software supply chain from threats by foreign bad actors, the likely source of the SolarWinds attack that targeted numerous private sector companies and Federal agencies.

Codifying this successful program into law is an important step towards encouraging Federal agencies to take full advantage of this program and all the security benefits it offers.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. CONNOLLY), the distinguished chairman of the Subcommittee on Government Operations and sponsor of this important bill, H.R. 8956.

Mr. CONNOLLY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY), the distinguished chairwoman of the committee and my friend, and I thank the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. COMER), the distinguished ranking member and my friend for bringing this bill to the floor.

With respect to Mr. COMER's comments, I just say, "Hear, hear." He has succinctly explained both the process and the importance of this bill.

This is the sixth time the House will have passed this bill in some form. The Senate has yet to ever consider it on the floor. As Mr. COMER indicated, the time has now come for the Senate to take up this bill and the importance of this bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

I support a strong cybersecurity framework that ensures whatever tool we use to support the infrastructure of our Federal critical systems is safe and secure. Again, referenced by Mr. COMER. However, those who have already diligently passed scrupulous security assessments shouldn't have to start from scratch, and this bill addresses that.

For more than 5 years, I have worked with administrations, both Democratic and Republican, Members on the other side of the aisle, industry stakeholders, and my friends in the U.S. Senate to ensure the legislative text makes needed improvements to the FedRAMP program and gives the program flexibility to grow and adapt to myriad future changes.

Since the coronavirus pandemic, the demand for cloud services has risen by 85 percent. Accordingly, FedRAMP use skyrocketed and enabled the government to continue working securely during the government's large-scale movement to telework.

In the first 4 years of FedRAMP, the program had only authorized 20 cloud service offerings, but by 2021 it had authorized 240. Today, there are over 280 cloud service providers to the U.S. Government participating in FedRAMP, and about 30 percent of FedRAMP authorized CSPs are small businesses. Over 180 agencies participate in FedRAMP and have initiated more than 3,000 agency reuses of authorized products.

Today, the Agency Liaison Program, which provides FedRAMP authorization, education, and training currently has 155 liaisons with 62 different Federal Government departments participating.

Ultimately, this program strives to have at least one representative from each Federal agency tied to the security authorization who can communicate to key stakeholders about their agency's internal processes as well as FedRAMP requirements.

The bill supports a critical need to support multistakeholder communications and keep our Nation's information secure in cloud environments.

Enabling the efficient and secure procurement of cloud computing technology is an important part of Federal IT modernization. Codifying FedRAMP into law is very important because right now it exists as an orphan only by an executive action.

I thank the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. COMER), the ranking member of the Oversight and Reform Committee, for being a steadfast partner, and I thank our chairwoman for her leadership.

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, protecting our public’s valuable information is something we can all agree on. I hope we can continue to do our job and work together on improving the Federal Government cybersecurity and adoption of modern technology.

Mr. Speaker, I encourage my colleagues to support this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time to close.

Mr. Speaker, I urge passage of H.R. 8956 and yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 8956.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. HICE of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, on the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. HICE proffered the yeas and nays, which were inserted in the Record at such a time as he may designate.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 8466, the Chai Suthammanont Healthy Federal Workplaces Act of 2022, introduced by Government Operations Subcommittee Chair CONNOLLY.

The bill would require that all Federal agencies create detailed plans in preparation for a nationwide public health emergency declaration in response to an infectious disease to protect the health and safety of employees, contractors, and subcontractors. The plan must include protocols to ensure workers have access to protective equipment, clean facilities, limited workspace occupancy, and on-site testing; that they are notified about exposure; and that accommodations are available to high-risk individuals.

Federal workers showed great resilience as the Federal Government adapted to respond to the COVID-19 pandemic. Through the pandemic for more than 2 years should make it clear that we need to take precautions to prepare for the future, as COVID–19 is not the last public health emergency we are likely to face as a country, and government agencies need to be ready for that.

The plans required under this legislation would protect workers and prevent the spread of disease. The agency must also prioritize in its plan the continuity of operations and government services through a public health emergency. The bill requires that safety protocols are clearly communicated to all employees and publicly posted.

Holding agencies accountable for making these plans transparent to Federal employees and the public will help make everyone feel safer and better informed.

The bill also includes strong oversight measures. Inspectors general at Federal agencies will conduct a study of the lessons learned from the COVID–19 pandemic. The bill requires that safety protocols are clearly communicated to all employees and publicly posted.

The Government Accountability Office would conduct a study of the lessons from the COVID–19 pandemic that can be applied to improve agency plans and improve communication with employees throughout an emergency. I commend Chairman CONNOLLY for his forward-looking bill that would better prepare government agencies for future public health crises. I urge my colleagues to join me in support of H.R. 8466.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I want to express sincere condolences to the family of Mr. Suthammanont. I appreciate the underlying intent of this legislation: To ensure the safety of Federal workers.

I also appreciate how this version of the bill has been improved from the prior versions the House has considered. Thankfully, there are no longer vaccine requirements for Federal workers included in the bill, and the bill is now future-looking, no longer tied specifically to the COVID–19 pandemic.

Nevertheless, it makes sense to be prepared for any future public health emergencies. While the safety of the Federal workforce is important, so is mission accomplishment and customer service.

In considering this new version, Committee on Oversight and Reform Republicans ensured the plans this bill requires would be made through the lens of continuity of operations. That is, continuing to provide Americans the services they need, regardless of the situation.

I am pleased to see my colleagues, Representative Jooy Hice’s amendment receive full support in the Committee on Oversight and Reform last week and be incorporated into the bill we are considering today. H.R. 8466 now ensures that the next time America faces a public health emergency, agencies will be required to make these plans public for Inspector General review and congressional scrutiny. Americans who rely on Federal agency services, such as our veterans, should never again be forgotten when their government sends its workforce home.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Mr. CONNOLLY for working with Mr. HICE to improve the bill, and I encourage my colleagues to support the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. CONNOLLY), the distinguished chairman of the Subcommittee on Government Operations.

Mr. CONNOLLY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the distinguished chairman of our committee for yielding, and I thank Mr. COMER, the ranking member, and Mr. HICE, the ranking member of the Subcommittee, for their support and collaboration on an improved H.R. 8466, the Suthammanont Healthy Workforce Act of 2022.

On May 26, 2022, Chai Suthammanont, my constituent, a kitchen staff worker at a childcare facility at the Marine Corps Base in Quantico, Virginia, died from coronavirus-related complications. Chai was a loving father and husband and a proud naturalized American. Chai was known for his kindness and his patience. He had a unique handshake he shared with many of the kids at the childcare facility where he worked. His death was a tragedy felt by so many.

Confusion and uncertainty emerged as two of the largest contributing factors to Chai’s death. The Federal Government did not yet have any protocols in place—or guidance, for that matter—intended to protect him and others.

We are emerging from the pandemic, but new strains of infectious diseases and other potential health emergencies demand that the Federal Government prepare to adapt and continue operations and the mission across many challenges. Our government must embrace lessons learned from the pandemic; some of them learned through tragic losses such as Chai’s.

Federal agencies must place the health and safety of Federal employees at the forefront of their plans and operations while continuing to provide vital services to the public, ensuring continuity of operations.

Since the beginning of the pandemic, our subcommittee has held three hearings focused on the future of Federal work, which include prioritizing the health and safety of our workforce.

Some simple truths emerged during these deliberations.

One, our Federal workforce is comprised of dedicated civil servants who didn’t stop delivering mail, serving veterans, approving and distributing vaccines, and ensuring businesses received essential financial assistance.

Two, the Federal workforce needs agencies to invest in proper information technology, training, and protective equipment before another public health crisis occurs.

Three, agencies need clearly communicated, publicly available policies and guidance that let their employees and the public know how to ensure a safe and healthy continuity of operations.

Last year, this committee marked up a previous version of the bill that covered the COVID–19 pandemic. This new bill prepares the Federal workforce, as the distinguished ranking member indicated, for the potential nationwide public health emergencies of tomorrow.

The bill requires each Federal agency to establish a plan to describe public health protocols, including, but not limited to, testing, identification, notification of individuals who may have been exposed to the pathogen; cleaning; occupancy limits; use of personal protective equipment; protections for employees whose work requires them to travel offsite; and ensuring the continuity of operations for the agency.

The bill is endorsed by the American Federation of Government Employees, International Federation of Professional and Technical Engineers, the

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question was taken.

Mr. Speaker, I again thank the chairwoman, who is the original cosponsor of this legislation, as well as my colleagues, especially Mr. COMER and Mr. HICE, for making this a strong bipartisan effort.

Mr. Speaker, I particularly salute Chai’s widow, Christina, for her continued efforts in honoring her late husband’s memory.

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I am prepared to close, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, it is important that Federal agencies plan and prepare for future infectious disease outbreaks and do so in a transparent manner.

This bill is much improved and now also focuses on maintaining Federal agency services to the American people through a potential future public health emergency. Federal agencies exist to serve the American people. This is true during national public health emergencies, also.

Mr. Speaker, I encourage my colleagues to support this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I urge passage of H.R. 8466, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from New York (CAROLYN B. MALONEY) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 8466, as amended.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from New York (CAROLYN B. MALONEY) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 8466, as amended.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Mr. Speaker, I urge myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I again thank the chairwoman, especially Mr. COMER and Mr. HICE, for making this a strong bipartisan effort.

Mr. Speaker, I hope my colleagues will join me in supporting this straightforward legislation to further enforce zero tolerance for human trafficking in Federal contracts.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, the End Human Trafficking in Government Contracts Act assures that Federal agencies are not paying for or participating in human trafficking or human sex trafficking through grants or contracts. This is a particular concern for overseas contracts in which some unscrupulous countries may benefit at the expense of vulnerable third-country workers.

Congress has acted before to address this problem. Unfortunately, both the Government Accountability Office and the Department of Defense Inspector General have found that trafficking by contractors and grantees continues. This bill moves to send a clear message: Trafficking will not be tolerated.

Under current law, agencies are required to refer allegations of human or sex trafficking to the Inspector General for investigation. If found to be true, that agency has a number of options to deal with the situation, but this bill requires all substantiated cases be reported to the agency’s suspension and debarment official.

In the contracting world, this is serious business. After due process, a contractor could be prohibited from receiving future government contracts or other government benefits. This bill ensures all current or would-be grantees or contractors take all measures necessary to stop human or sex trafficking.

Finally, the bill directs the Office of Management and Budget to report on enforcement of the laws so we in Congress could conduct the necessary oversight.

I thank Senators JAMES LANKFORD and JONI ERNST for sending this important bill to the House for final passage in Congress today.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill and for the President to sign S. 3470 into law.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I have no further speakers on this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, let me be clear. Not a single dime of taxpayer money should ever flow to anyone engaged in human or sex trafficking activities. This bill is an important step toward ensuring responsible stewardship of taxpayer money.

Mr. Speaker, I encourage my colleagues to support this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.
Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, combating sex trafficking by any means, in this case with using the power of our contracting system, is truly a bipartisan effort in this committee.

Mr. Speaker, I support and urge passage of this bill, S. 3470.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, S. 3470.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. HICE of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE TRAINING FOR THE ACQUISITION WORKFORCE ACT

The text of the bill is as follows:

S. 2551

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY) and the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. COMER) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from New York.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 2551, the Artificial Intelligence Training for the Acquisition Workforce Act, sponsored by Senator Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee Chairman PETERS and Ranking Member PORTMAN. I am proud to have introduced the House companion to this bill with Ranking Member COMER.

The AI Training Act would require the Office of Management and Budget, in coordination with the General Services Administration, to develop and implement an AI training program for Federal workers whose jobs involve this technology, including acquisition and program management employees.

The program would educate employees on the science underlying AI, introductory concepts, potential benefits of the technology, and future trends. Importantly, the program would also cover the risks posed by AI, including discrimination and risks to privacy, and would teach Federal workers how to mitigate these risks.

To ensure that the AI technology procured and employed by the U.S. Government is reliable, safe, and trustworthy, it is critical that Federal workers involved in procurement and management of this technology are well-trained.

AI tools have become essential in the global race to solve societal challenges, protect national security, and remain economically competitive. At the same time, the algorithms that drive AI systems present new challenges to oversight and accountability efforts. So we need proactive approaches to ensure transparency and governance that preserves privacy and civil liberties and protects the public interest.

The training program would be updated at least every 2 years, ensuring it keeps up with the rapid evolution of this field.

I thank Ranking Member COMER for joining me in advancing this legislation to require specialized Federal workforce training in AI that will help ensure our critical acquisition and use of this technology that will have long-term benefits to the Government.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support S. 2551, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, artificial intelligence, or AI, is a term that applies to a wide variety of technologies. AI plays a role in applications to simplify our everyday lives by performing complex tasks.

Navigation apps, online banking apps, spam filters, and even asking Siri or Alexa who won the Presidents Cup in North Carolina this weekend are all examples of various types of AI technology. The Federal Government also uses AI to improve government services and efficiency.

While there are multiple executive orders and initiatives promoting the use of AI throughout the government, to date there has not been a collective effort to train Federal workers who identify, buy, and manage artificial intelligence capabilities.

The National Security Commission on Artificial Intelligence, established in the fiscal year 2019 NDAA, has called for the Federal workforce to be better trained on artificial intelligence.
Mr. Speaker, when you consider the technology race against nations like China, the stakes are very high. In fact, the commission noted in its final report that the competition for government adoption of artificial intelligence technology will be won or lost not side by side with the best technology, it will be won by the side with the best, most diverse, and tech-savvy talent.

The Artificial Intelligence Training for the Acquisition Workforce Act establishes a government-wide training program for Federal workforce personnel responsible for AI program management and acquisition. This training will help ensure the consistent and safe procurement and use of AI products across the Federal Government.

Those purchasing and using AI systems in Federal agency missions and programs need to understand the limits of the technology’s capabilities and the risks posed by potential misuse. The American taxpayers deserve nothing less.

Mr. Speaker, I appreciate Chairwoman Maloney working with me on the House companion bill for this legislation. I am pleased to be an original cosponsor. I urge my colleagues to support this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I have no further speakers on this side, and if the gentleman is prepared to close, then I am also prepared to close.

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, I have no further speakers.

In closing, Mr. Speaker, artificial intelligence is proving to be a game-changing technology for nearly every sector of our economy. For instance, artificial intelligence helps farmers efficiently grow crops, scientists develop new vaccines, and even predict hurricanes more accurately.

In the Federal Government, the Social Security Administration uses AI to determine benefit claims. Artificial Intelligence Training for the Acquisition Workforce Act will be invaluable to the Federal approach to artificial intelligence.

Mr. Speaker, I, once again, encourage my colleagues to support this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend and colleague, Mr. COMER, for his help and assistance on this bill. We worked on it together.

Mr. Speaker, I urge passage of S. 2551, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New York (Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, S. 2551.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. HICE of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered. The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

The Chance to Compete Act aligns with the Office of Personnel Management’s guidance released in May to facilitate an executive order to modernize the process of assessing and hiring Federal job candidates. Establishing hiring reforms that are more efficient and effective will improve agency managers’ ability to hire people who possess the knowledge and experience to do the job and to hire from a wider array of qualified applicants.

The bill also instructs the Office of Personnel Management to create an online platform for sharing candidate assessments between agencies and maintain a portal for hiring managers to find candidates who have already demonstrated their qualifications for certain positions but were not hired.

Under this legislation, agencies may assemble talent teams to support this assessment of job candidates and the hiring process.

The Office of Personnel Management director would be required to submit annual progress reports to Congress on the use of the skills-based assessments. After 5 years, the Government Accountability Office would conduct a study of the implementation of the Federal job assessment reforms and their impact on the Federal hiring process.

This bill streamlines the hiring process for Federal agencies and shortens the time it takes to bring new, well-qualified employees on board.

The Senate companion to this bill, introduced by Senator Sinema, also enjoys bipartisan support. I thank Representative Hice for his leadership in introducing this bill that is the result of constructive collaboration by several members of our committee from both sides of the aisle.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all my colleagues to join me in supporting, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 6967, the Chance to Compete Act.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. Hice), the ranking member of the Subcommittee on Government Operations.

Mr. HICE of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the support and comments both from Ranking Member COMER and Chairman MALONEY. I appreciate that a great deal.

The concept of this bill is quite simple. It allows us to hire applicants for Federal positions based on whether or not they have the skills for the job. It is really that simple.

Too frequently, the hiring process is based on whether or not someone has a degree whether or not that degree has anything to do with the specific position or not.

Currently, hiring managers also have to rely on self-assessments that are filled out by applicants to determine their strengths and weaknesses. Not surprisingly, those assessments also are likely not to work.

This Chance to Compete Act simply allows agencies to develop appropriate skills that are based on examinations so that the applicants show what they can do. Federal supervisors have said for a long time that their top concern is getting a pool of quality candidates to do the job, and this bill addresses that problem head-on.

It will facilitate agencies sharing information about candidates who have passed assessments, which will make the hiring process more efficient across the government, saving both time and money. It also creates teams of subject matter experts to help agencies create assessments that are geared for the job.

This builds off what was started in the Trump administration, and I like the bipartisan legislative reforms that targets a specific problem, implements tested solutions, and reflects private-sector best practices. This bill codifies and improves upon policy initiatives begun in the Trump administration which the Biden administration is continuing to implement.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the House Oversight and Reform Committee Chairwoman MALoney and Government Operations Subcommittee Chairman GERRY CONNOLLY for working diligently with the bill’s cosponsor, Congresswoman JODY HICE, to strengthen this bipartisan bill.
from the Subcommittee on Government Operations.

This is good policy. It will help America's government work more efficiently.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill, as I support this bill.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, this is a commonsense bill aimed at hiring applicants for Federal positions based on whether they have the relevant skills to do the job. The American people deserve nothing less from their Federal Government.

Mr. Speaker, I encourage my colleagues to support this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I urge passage of H.R. 6967, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 6967, the Chance to Compete Act.

This bill is a good first step in reforming how we find and hire talent to the federal civil service and removes barriers that prevent agencies from recruiting the best talent.

The bill specifically eliminates antiquated hiring assessment tools, improves federal agencies' hiring process, and allows qualified applicants to compete for open positions across government. This bill will move government away from a focus on academic parchments to a prioritization on skills and expertise.

I'm proud to be a co-sponsor of this bill, introduced by my Ranking Member JODY HICE and my Oversight colleague RO KHANNA.

The bill came to us from the Senate, less than perfect and opposed by the Administration. But parties across both chambers worked together to draft an updated version of the bill that incorporates important feedback from the Office of Personnel Management and the Office of Management and Budget.

As currently drafted, the bill would:

Require OPM to begin a review of all federal “duties” that require an educational achievement level for hiring purposes, and then instructs OPM to make available online the data.

Clarify to agencies, Congress, and the public why some positions, like a doctor at the Office of Personnel Management and the Office of Management and Budget. Require OPM to begin a review of all federal duties that require an educational achievement level for hiring purposes, and then instructs OPM to make available online the data.

The provision would benefit from a seasoned specialist, advanced degree, while a cybersecurity expert why some positions, like a doctor at the Office of Personnel Management and the Office of Management and Budget.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. HICE of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from New York.

General Leave

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on this measure.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from New York? There was no objection.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 6267, authored by my good friend and colleague from the great State of New York.

This bill will designate the facility of the United States Postal Service located at 15 Chestnut Street in Suffern, New York, as the “Sergeant Gerald T. ‘Jerry’ Donnellan Post Office.”

Sergeant Donnellan was born on December 18, 1946, in Nyack, New York, as the youngest of five children. He graduated from Albertus Magnus High School and went on to major in English at Rockland Community College and Texas A&M University.

During the height of the Vietnam war, Sergeant Donnellan was drafted into the Army and began his basic training at Fort Gordon in Georgia. After several months, he was deployed to Vietnam.

On the front lines, Sergeant Donnellan sustained life-threatening injuries after an enemy grenade exploded in front of him. While in recovery at Valley Forge, he received the Purple Heart.

After recovery, Sergeant Donnellan worked in the Veterans Service Agency office of Rockland County as commissioner of veterans affairs until his retirement in January 2018.

During his tenure, he created the local Chapter 333 of the Vietnam Veterans of America, started a veterans’ clinic, and helped create Camp Shanks Museum in Orangetown, established the Rockland County Buffalo Soldiers Award to recognize the contributions of African-American veterans, and established the Rockland County Public Service Medal to honor those who served in Afghanistan, Iraq, and the global war on terror.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to join me in honoring Sergeant Donnellan, a Purple Heart recipient, by naming the post office after him.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 6267, which honors Gerald T. Donnellan.

Mr. Donnellan served in the U.S. Army during the Vietnam war, rising to the rank of sergeant and receiving the Purple Heart.

After the war, his service to his country and community continued for his entire life. He served as commissioner of veterans affairs in Rockland County, New York, for 30 years and was responsible for starting a veterans’ health clinic in the county.

He leaves a legacy of other noteworthy accomplishments. He established a local chapter of the Vietnam Veterans of America. He helped create the Camp Shanks Museum, commemorating the military facility that served as the largest point of embarkation for soldiers headed for the front lines in North Africa and Europe during World War II.

He also established the Rockland County Buffalo Soldiers Award to recognize the contributions of African-American veterans.

He helped start the Memorial Day watchfires in 1987 as an alternative to a parade for Vietnam veterans, and he established the Rockland County Public Service Medal to honor those who served in Afghanistan, Iraq, and the global war on terror.
Gerald T. Donnellan was a true patriot who committed his life to the United States for veterans and his local community.

Mr. Speaker, I encourage my colleagues to support this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from New York (Mr. JONES), the distinguished chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary’s Subcommittee on Courts, Intellectual Property, and the Internet.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of my bill, H.R. 6267, to designate the post office located at 15 Chestnut Street in Suffern, New York, as the Sergeant Gerald T. “Jerry” Donnellan Post Office.

I am humbled to honor the late Sergeant Jerry Donnellan, whose memory brings great pride to all of us in New York’s 17th Congressional District.

Mr. Donnellan was a Valley Cottage native and a three-time Purple Heart recipient who served in Vietnam as a U.S. Army sergeant. During an ambush, he was wounded and lost his lower right leg to a grenade. He underwent countless surgeries and extensive physical therapy before returning home to Rockland County in 1970. Against all odds, Mr. Donnellan persevered. He learned to walk again alongside his newborn son. He even pursued his passion for theater and built a successful career as a stage manager for nearly two decades, including for Frank Sinatra.

But he never lost his love for public service. In 1986, when he learned of high rates of servicemember and veteran suicides, Mr. Donnellan was moved. He became a veterans counselor at Rockland County’s Veterans Agency Office.

In 1992, he was appointed Rockland County’s commissioner of veterans affairs. During his tenure, Sergeant Donnellan created local Chapter 332 of the Vietnam Veterans of America and started a veterans’ health clinic. He helped create Camp Shanks Museum in the town of Orangetown and established the Rockland County Buffalo Soldiers Award to recognize the contributions of Black veterans.

He helped to start the Memorial Day watchfires in 1987, the year he was born, and established the Rockland County Public Service Medal to honor those who served in Afghanistan and Iraq.

Sergeant Donnellan never relented in his advocacy for our veterans and their families. He embodied selflessness as a soldier and civilian, treating every veteran and every person with the respect and dignity they deserve.

Today, we honor Sergeant Donnellan’s life and his legacy. His commitment to serving our country and our fellow Americans should inspire us all.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I commend my colleague and friend, MONDAIRE JONES, for his leadership on this bill and so many other areas here in Congress. He certainly deserves this name-changing for the post office there.

Mr. Speaker, I urge passage of H.R. 6267, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 6267.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

RONALD A. ROBINSON POST OFFICE

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 6080) to designate the facility of the United States Postal Service located at 5420 Kavanaugh Boulevard in Little Rock, Arkansas, as the “Ronald A. Robinson Post Office”.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, or other record of the United States to the facility referred to in subsection (a) shall be deemed to be a reference to the “Ronald A. Robinson Post Office”.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from New York (Mr. CAROLYN B. MALONEY) and the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. HICE) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York.

GENRAL LEAVE

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on this measure.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 6080 to designate the facility of the U.S. Postal Service located at 5420 Kavanaugh Boulevard in Little Rock, Arkansas, as the Ronald A. Robinson Post Office.

Mr. Robinson was a graduate of the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville, where he earned a bachelor’s degree in journalism. He went on to study public relations at Boston University’s Graduate School of Public Communications. He served in the U.S. Air Force as a captain and was awarded a Bronze Star in Vietnam. He also received the Air Force Commendation Medal in 1969 for his support of the Apollo 11 mission to the Moon.

Mr. Robinson, in 1970, joined the marketing and communications firm Cranford Johnson Robinson Woods. After 26 years, he retired from the firm as its chief executive officer. During his tenure, the firm became the largest advertising agency in Arkansas, with notable business and political clients.

In 1993, he was appointed to the U.S. Postal Service’s Citizens’ Stamp Advisory Committee by the U.S. Postmaster General. In 2005, Mr. Robinson was named chairman of that committee. During his 13 years serving on the committee, Mr. Robinson was involved in the creation and production of more than 1,750 postage stamp issues.

He used his influence to highlight Arkansas in several of the newly issued postage stamps.

Mr. Speaker, I encourage my colleagues to join in honoring Mr. Robinson by naming a post office in Little Rock, Arkansas, after him.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HICE of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 6080, which honors Ronald A. Robinson.

We name many post offices for a variety of reasons around here, but the one we are considering today is notable in that it reflects Mr. Robinson’s lifelong interest in and support of postal matters.

Specifically, Mr. Robinson was an avid stamp collector, but this was not just a hobby. In fact, between 1993 and 2008, he served on the Postal Service’s Citizens’ Stamp Advisory Committee, a body appointed by the Postmaster General to recommend subjects for commemoration on U.S. postal stamps. Mr. Robinson served as chairman of the committee for the last 3 years of his life and tenure.

Over the 15 years he served on the committee, Mr. Robinson was involved in the creation and production of more than 1,750 postage stamps. In addition to his service to the Postal Service, Mr. Robinson served as captain in the U.S. Air Force during the Vietnam war, for which he was awarded a Bronze Star. He also received the Air Force Commendation Medal for his support of the Apollo 11 mission to the Moon.

In addition to his public service, Mr. Robinson also enjoyed a successful private-sector career. After leaving the Air Force, he joined Cranford, Johnson, Robinson, Woods, a marketing and communications firm in Arkansas. He began as an intern at the firm and rose to become the firm’s CEO—helping build it into the largest advertising agency in Arkansas and receiving numerous awards and recognitions along the way.

Mr. Speaker, Mr. Robinson passed away in 2018, leaving a legacy of service and accomplishment. I encourage my colleagues to support this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HICE of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. Hill), the author of this bill.

Mr. HILL. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend, Mr. HICE, and the chairwoman of this committee.

Mr. Speaker, I do indeed rise today in support of H.R. 8080, the bill to designate the U.S. Post Office at 5420 Kavanaugh Boulevard in Little Rock, Arkansas, as the Ronald A. Robinson Post Office.

Ron, as he was known, was truly larger than life. Ron was born on April 3, 1943, and he passed away August 14, 2018, at 75 years old. Ron lived an extraordinary life that included serving with distinction as an Air Force captain, communications professional, and an avid stamp collector.

Ron attended the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville, where he earned his degree in journalism. While studying journalism, he was a sportswriter covering the Arkansas Razorbacks for the Arkansas Gazette. He was also editor of the University of Arkansas newspaper, The Arkansas Traveler.

In 1966, Ron attended the Boston University Graduate School of Public Communications to study public relations. Ron joined the Air Force, and he served as an officer for nearly 5 years. During his time in the Air Force, he rose to the rank of captain. His assignments included being the head of internal information for the nationwide Air Force ROTC program. He was also chief of combat news and the director of information for the Defense Intelligence Agency’s Aeronautical Chart and Information Center.

Ron earned a Bronze Star for his service in Vietnam. He also earned the Air Force Commendation Medal for his support of 1969 Apollo 11 mission to the Moon. After his career as a sportswriter and Air Force captain, Ron became a PR expert at Cranford, Johnson.

Out of his public relations career, Ron was an avid collector of Arkansas political and historical memorabilia, U.S. postage stamps, and vintage movie posters. His house was literally a museum. Ron began collecting stamps as a boy. He loved history and pop culture. Stamps were able to connect both of these interests for Ron Robinson.

In 1993, Ron was appointed to the U.S. Postal Service’s Citizens’ Stamp Advisory Committee by the U.S. Postmaster General. The U.S. Postal Service’s Citizens’ Stamp Advisory Committee recommends new postage stamps to the Postmaster General. Serving on that committee was the role of a lifetime for Ron Robinson. It was an incredible honor for him, and he treasured every moment of his 15 years. He served as chair of the committee from 2005 to 2008, when, as noted, over that period of time he was involved in the creation and development of 1,750 postage stamps.

Some of Ron’s favorites are here with us: 1996 Fulbright Scholarship stamp; H.R. 8080—Ronnie Garwood, the first woman elected to the United States Senate; and the 2005 Little Rock Central High School civil rights stamp.

Ron was able to use his influence to ensure that Arkansas was the subject of many newly issued postage stamps. Ron’s work and love for stamps made him an influential figure in the city of Little Rock and our State of Arkansas. He was a father, mentor, and good friend to many across the region.

Ron was well-known not only for being a prolific writer, and he would write hundreds of handwritten thank you notes and cards to his friends for encouragement throughout his life. He enjoyed writing those notes and placing the postage stamp on the envelope itself. Ron’s love for postage stamps and his work on the Postal Service’s Citizens’ Stamp Advisory Committee makes him the ideal citizen—as my friend, Mr. HICE, noted, H to lend his name to his neighborhood post office after recognition of his lifetime of service to Arkansas and the United States.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all my colleagues to support this bill, and I thank my friends on both sides.

Mr. HICE of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I have no further speakers, and I am prepared to close.

Mr. Speaker, this is a good bill. I urge my colleagues to support it, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I urge passage of H.R. 8080, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 8080.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. Pallone) and the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. Guthrie) will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New Jersey.

Mr. Pallone. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and inquiring on this issue for all rural communities.

Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support for H.R. 8163, the Improving Trauma Systems and Emergency Care Act of 2022, which is sponsored by my Energy and Commerce Committee colleagues, Representative O'Halleran of Arizona. This bill will improve access to trauma services throughout the country and better coordinate emergency care when patients need it the very most.

Traumatic injury is a major public health issue claiming more than 270,000 lives every year, and billions of dollars in healthcare spending throughout the Nation.

Trauma affects one of our communities, but about 46 million Americans, a majority of whom do not live within one hour of a Level I or Level II trauma center. This is often referred to as the ‘golden hour’ following traumatic injury. Prompt medical treatment during this hour produces the highest likelihood of preventing a patient’s death.

H.R. 8163 reauthorizes grants that will enhance access to trauma care, improve coordination among trauma systems, and provide resources for rural access to trauma services. The grants included in the bill are intended to help trauma systems develop best practices, not only for their own patients, but also to facilitate the dissemination of those best practices to similar trauma systems throughout the Nation to improve overall care.

Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleagues on the Energy and Commerce Committee for their tremendous work to reach bipartisan agreement on this bill. I also commend Representative O’Halleran for his tireless advocacy on this issue for all rural communities.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 8163 is a strong bill that will help people in every community. I urge my colleagues to support it, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Guthrie. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to express my support for H.R. 8163, the Improving Trauma Systems and Emergency Care Act of 2022, which is sponsored by my Energy and Commerce Committee colleague. Representative Tom O’Halleran.

This legislation renews a program in the Public Health Service Act that authorizes the Secretary of Health and Human Services to award grants to improve local trauma care readiness and emergency medical services.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the CDC, trauma is a leading cause of death for children and adults under the age of 44. Ensuring access to trauma care requires many crucial components, and the window of opportunity for a chance at survival is narrow for a severely injured patient; a prompt response is truly a matter of life and death.

However, in many rural parts of the United States, patients and others suffering life-threatening injuries may not be able to receive needed trauma care within an hour, or even many hours, following an incident.

H.R. 8163 will help ensure seriously injured patients have the very best chance for survival by supporting States to coordinate and improve regional emergency medical services and... trauma care, and by supporting trauma centers to improve their emergency system situational awareness and access.

The bill also authorizes grants for carrying out research and demonstration projects to support the improvement of emergency medical services and trauma care in rural areas.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Chair Pallone and Chair Eshoo for working with us to make sure the State match is maintained.

Mr. Speaker, I urge adoption of this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Pallone. Mr. Speaker, I have no additional speakers, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Guthrie. Mr. Speaker, I urge the passage of S.163, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. Pallone. Mr. Speaker, I also urge support. This is bipartisan. This is really important to rural areas, in particular.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. Pallone) and the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. Guthrie) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New Jersey.

Mr. Pallone. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on S. 958.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New Jersey?

There was no objection.

Mr. Pallone. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of the Maximizing Outcomes through Better Investments in Life-saving Equipment for Health Care Act, or the MOBILE Health Care Act. This Senate bill is the companion to H.R. 5411, which passed out of the Energy and Commerce Committee last week. The bipartisan bill will help expand access to community health centers and the important care they provide to individuals who live in hard-to-reach areas of the country.

Community health centers are a critical source of care for nearly 30 million Americans. Unfortunately, many people who live in rural and geographically isolated areas can struggle to reach a community health center. Many others may lack access to reliable transportation that can make it difficult to get the care they need.

Now, one way to mitigate these barriers to access is to allow community health centers to establish mobile health clinics. These clinics can meet people where they live to provide the care they need. There is already funding to establish new community health centers through the New Access Points grants but, unfortunately, existing rules for these grants make it difficult to receive Federal funding to set up these mobile sites.

So this legislation will make it easier for community health centers to use New Access Points grants to establish mobile clinics and help eliminate one of the barriers to care for rural areas.

I thank Representatives Susie Lee, Hudson, Ruiz, and Herrera Beutler for their leadership on this issue and their hard work to advance this important bill.

The House companion to this commonsense, bipartisan legislation was voted out of the Energy and Commerce Committee by a unanimous vote of 52-to-0 last week, so I am proud to support this bill, and I look forward to sending it to the President’s desk.

I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting S. 958, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Guthrie. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of S. 958, the Maximizing Outcomes through Better Investments in Life-saving Equipment, or the MOBILE Health Care Act.

Federally Qualified Health Centers, or FQHCs, are an integral part of the healthcare system. They provide much-needed healthcare services to some of our most vulnerable populations, the uninsured, pregnant women, children, those suffering from homelessness, and veterans, as well as Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries.

It can be difficult for patients to access care at FQHCs in rural and underserved areas due to transportation constraints. One way to help improve healthcare delivery is for FQHCs to meet patients where they are by deploying mobile units.

The MOBILE Health Care Act will allow existing FQHCs to use their New Access Point grants to establish mobile health units if they also use a portion of the grant to establish a permanent, full-time site.

This bill will help increase access to affordable primary care services across the country, especially in rural areas, like my district.

I thank the bill’s sponsors, Representatives Hudson, Herrera Beutler, Lee, and Ruiz for introducing this important legislation.

I urge my colleagues to support the underlying bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Pallone. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Nevada (Mrs. Lee), the sponsor of this legislation.

Mrs. Lee of Nevada. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman for his leadership, as well as my cosponsors: Representatives Hudson, Herrera Beutler, and Ruiz for their hard work in supporting this piece of legislation.

I rise today in strong support of my bipartisan legislation, the MOBILE Health Care Act, which will help more Americans access the quality healthcare they need and deserve.

In my State of Nevada, more than two-thirds of residents live in a primary care health professional shortage area. In our rural communities, that number goes to 82 percent.

Needless to say, the situation is dire, and that is why expanding access to quality healthcare has been a priority of mine since I have been a Member of Congress.

Expanding the capabilities of Federally Qualified Health Centers, commonly known as FQHCs, has been a top focus of mine when it comes to expanding access to healthcare. That is because FQHCs lead the Nation in driving quality improvement, while reducing healthcare costs.

Across this country, 1 in 11 Americans, nearly 400,000 veterans, and nearly 9 million children, rely on FQHCs for their primary healthcare. They have been a huge success in expanding quality care, but the reality is, smaller, rural communities do not have the capacity to serve their communities.

There are also many Americans, in both rural and urban areas, who lack transportation to access their closest FQHC, and that is exactly where mobile health units come in. Mobile health units have the capability to bring high-quality healthcare to all Americans, especially those in underserved areas.

My bill will allow FQHCs this important flexibility to use their Federal New Access Point grants to establish mobile health units. This will allow health centers to better serve their communities, especially communities that have traditionally been hard to reach; and this does so at no additional cost to the taxpayer.

In my district, we have seen the difference these mobile units make. For example, the Nevada Health Centers currently runs three mobile health units: The Children’s Mobile Medical Unit, the Ronald McDonald Care Mobile Unit, and the Mammonov.

The Mammonov is a mobile mammography and x-ray travels to underserved areas of our State, providing mammograms to women in geographically isolated areas and those who may not otherwise seek this important preventative care that will allow for early detection and simply will save lives.

The First Person Care Clinic in Nevada also has a mobile health unit and it is in the process of setting up a second one, which will expand access to primary care to more patients from Las Vegas to Laughlin. Recently, I had the opportunity to see firsthand the Mammonov in action, and I am proud of all of Nevada’s health centers and the southern Nevada Health District who are leading the way in providing lifesaving mobile healthcare for Nevadans.

We must build off these success stories and ensure health centers across America can utilize mobile health units where they make sense to better serve these communities.

We must keep working to ensure that every American has access to healthcare they need and deserve; and that is why I encourage my colleagues to vote ‘yes’ on this critical piece of legislation today.

Mr. GUTHRIE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. CARTER), my Energy and Commerce Committee colleague.

Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to express my support for S. 958, the companion bill to H.R. 5141, the MOBILE Health Care Act.

As my colleagues have pointed out, community health centers across the country play a crucial role in ensuring rural and underserved communities have access to affordable, quality healthcare.

For more than 50 years, health centers have provided services to America’s most vulnerable population and medically underserved communities.

These centers are the healthcare home for nearly 30 million patients, including 9 million children and over 400,000 veterans.

The MOBILE Health Care Act that we are considering today would help these centers further expand their reach to the most rural areas of our country by giving them greater flexibility and allowing them to bring clinics even closer to the patients that they serve.

I understand the need for increasing access to health services and appreciate how health centers have proven to be in my district. Community health centers are an integral part of the healthcare safety net, and this bill will improve access to care for many of my constituents. I encourage my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. GUTHRIE. Mr. Speaker, this is an important piece of legislation. I urge my colleagues to vote ‘yes,’ and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. FALLONE. Mr. Speaker, this is an important bill. It is bipartisan. I urge my colleagues to vote ‘yes,’ and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. KAHELE). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. FALLONE) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, S. 958.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

INFORMING CONSUMERS ABOUT SMART DEVICES ACT

Mr. FALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 4081) to require the disclosure of a camera or recording capability in certain internet-connected devices, as amended.

The Clerk read the title of the bill. The text of the bill is as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE

This Act may be cited as the “Informing Consumers about Smart Devices Act”.

SEC. 2. REQUIRED DISCLOSURE OF A CAMERA OR RECORDING CAPABILITY IN CERTAIN INTERNET-CONNECTED DEVICES.

Each manufacturer of a covered device shall disclose whether the covered device manufactured by the manufacturer contains, is capable of connecting to the internet, a component of which is a camera or microphone; and

SEC. 3. ENFORCEMENT BY THE FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION.

(a) UNFAIR OR DECEPTIVE ACTS OR PRACTICES.—A violation of section 2 shall be treated as a violation of a rule defining an unfair or deceptive act or practice prescribed under section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45). (b) ACTIONS BY THE COMMISSION.— (1) IN GENERAL.—The Federal Trade Commission shall prevent any person from violating this Act or a regulation promulgated under this Act in the same manner, by the same means, and with the same jurisdiction, powers, and duties as though any applicable terms and provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 41 et seq.) were incorporated into and made a part of this Act.

(2) PENALTIES AND PRIVILEGES.—Any person who violates this Act or a regulation promulgated under this Act shall be subject to the penalties and immunities provided in the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 41 et seq.).

(3) COMMISSION GUIDANCE.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commission, through outreach to relevant private entities, shall issue guidance to assist manufacturers in complying with the requirements of this Act, including guidance about best practices for making the disclosure required by section 2 as clear and conspicuous as practicable.

(d) TAILORED GUIDANCE.—A manufacturer of a covered device may petition the Commission for tailored guidance as to how to meet the requirements of section 2.

(e) LIMITATION ON COMMISSION GUIDANCE.—No guidance issued by the Commission with respect to this Act shall confer any rights on any person, State, or locality, nor shall operate to bind the Commission or any person to the approach recommended in such guidance. In any enforcement action brought pursuant to this Act, the Commission shall allege a specific violation of this Act. The Commission may not base an enforcement action on, or execute a consent order based on, practices that are alleged to be in accordance with any such guidance unless the Commission determines such practices expressly violate section 2.

SEC. 4. DEFINITION OF COVERED DEVICE.

As used in this Act, the term “covered device”—

(1) means a consumer product, as defined by section 3(a) of the Consumer Product Safety Act (15 U.S.C. 2055) (as added by section 1(b) of the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act of 2008 (15 U.S.C. 2055 note)), that is marketed and sold in the United States and is the subject of a recall, or (2) does not include—

(A) a telephone (including a mobile phone), a laptop, tablet, or any device that is capable of connecting to the internet, a component of which is a camera or microphone; and

(B) any device that is specifically marketed as a camera, telecommunications device, or microphone; or

(C) any device or apparatus described in subsections (aa) and (bb) of section 3(b) of the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U.S.C. 255; 617; 619; and 303(a) and (bb)), and any regulations promulgated thereunder.

SEC. 5. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This Act shall apply to all devices manufactured after the date that is 180 days after
Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 4081.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New Jersey?

There was no objection.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 4081, the Informing Consumers About Smart Devices Act.

For consumers, the benefits of technological progress are all around us. Perhaps nowhere is this more apparent than in our homes. The growing array of smart devices and household appliances with voice, video, and internet connectivity and technology make our lives easier, more entertaining, and more comfortable.

So, while there is no question that smart refrigerators, home assistants like Amazon’s Alexa, and the countless other internet-connected devices that have microphones or cameras benefit consumers, there is also no question that these devices should not be able to listen to or watch us without our knowledge or consent. Unfortunately, studies confirm that many devices do not disclose these capabilities. Some are easily tricked into recording when people do not want them to do so.

So H.R. 4081 addresses this straightforward problem with a straightforward solution. The bill requires manufacturers of internet-connected devices that are equipped with a camera or microphone to disclose to consumers that a camera or microphone is part of the device. The bill does not apply to mobile phones, laptops, or other devices that a consumer would already reasonably expect to include a camera or microphone.

Now, the Federal Trade Commission must issue guidance to help businesses comply with these new requirements and protect consumers, including civil penalties, for violations.

This bill will protect consumers; and I commend Representatives CURTIS and MOURTON for their bipartisan work on this legislation.

This bill is commonsense, balanced, and bipartisan. It is a solution to an issue that touches all Americans. It unanimously passed out of the Energy and Commerce Committee in July by a vote of 53-to-0 and is yet another example of the work the committee is doing to protect consumers. I hope that trend continues today here on the House floor because there is no reason why consumers should be spied on by their own household devices without their knowledge and consent.

So, Mr. Speaker, I urge all my colleagues to support this important consumer protection legislation, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. GUTHRIE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 4081, the Informing Consumers About Smart Devices Act, introduced by Representative CURTIS.

In the past few years, we have seen a tremendous advancement in the development of technologies in consumer products. While many of these technologies make everyday life more convenient, they also have the ability to collect data from their users without their knowledge.

While it may be apparent to users that a laptop has the ability to record conversations, it certainly may not be clear that other devices like televisions, refrigerators, even toasters, have the same capabilities. This bipartisan legislation would simply require manufacturers of the internet-connected devices that contain a microphone or a camera, and that do not market themselves as such consumer electronics, to disclose to consumers that such a component is part of the device, either pre- or post-sale. We owe it to our constituents to ensure these types of devices are not recording them without their consent and collecting data when their users are not aware. I thank Representatives CURTIS and MOURTON for their bipartisan work on H.R. 4081.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to support this legislation, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I want to take this opportunity to talk about one of our key staff people who is leaving in the next few days. The person, of course, is Jerry Leverich, who is right behind me here. Jerry has played an instrumental role in the committee’s work, not only with consumer protection but on so many issues. Shortly after I became the top Democrat on the committee, more than 7 years ago, he started. He is currently the staff director for both our Subcommittee on Communications and Technology and our Subcommittee on Consumer Protection and Commerce.

Now, for those of you who don’t know Jerry, he is one of the most dedicated staff members on the committee. He is always focused on doing the work that needs to be done. He has been a great staff member, so I thank him. Mr. Speaker, I ask that we all support this legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GUTHRIE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

We wish Jerry Godspeed and thank him for the good work. I know sometimes when our staff leaves, it is bitter-sweet. We hate to see them go but know they are going to different opportunities. The hard work that both your side and our side of the aisle do together sometimes when we are working on things together, sometimes negotiating together, it is always good work. We are well served. The American people, more than anything, are well served by the people who work here on Capitol Hill. I thank and congratulate Jerry.

Mr. Speaker, I urge passage of this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PALLONE) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 4081, as amended.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. TIFFANY. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nay are ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

the date on which guidance is issued by the Commission under section 3(c), and shall not apply to devices manufactured or sold before such date, or otherwise introduced into interstate commerce before such date.

SEC. 6. DETERMINATION OF BUDGETARY EFFECTS.

The budgetary effects of this Act, for the purpose of complying with the Statutory Pay-As-You-Go Legislation, as determined by reference to the latest statement provided in the Congressional Record by the Chairman of the House Budget Committee, provided that such statement has been submitted prior to the vote on this Act, are excluded from Pay-As-You-Go Act of 2010, shall be determined by reference to the latest statement provided in the Congressional Record by the Chairman of the House Budget Committee, provided that such statement has been submitted prior to the vote on this Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that we all support this legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from Illinois (Ms. SCHAKOWSKY) and the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. GUTHRIE) each will control 20 minutes. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Illinois. GENERAL LEAVE Ms. SCHAKOWSKY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 6965. The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from Illinois? There was no objection. Ms. SCHAKOWSKY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 6965, the Visit America Act. Since the beginning of the COVID pandemic, America’s travel and tourism industry has been seriously upended. The pandemic caused a 48 percent reduction for the industry in 2020. The bipartisan Visit America Act is the latest bill that the House has brought to the floor to help turn the tide for a sector that has not rebounded as quickly as some others. From the Committee on Energy and Commerce, we are so happy that we are able to bring this to the floor. While travel has certainly increased over the last year, it is still significantly lower than previously before the pandemic. As an example, business travel spending is on the rise, but it is projected to only slightly exceed 2019 levels. In the meantime, the number of travelers visiting the United States from overseas fell by 79 percent in September 2021 as compared to that same month in 2019. These are significant reductions that are impacting not only companies directly involved in the tourism and travel industry but small businesses all across the Nation that rely on travelers to keep them in business. Today, the United States is the only G20 country not to have a high-ranking official focusing on the travel and tourism industry. This has prevented the industry from producing a coordinated approach to recovery of the industry and to make us more competitive with the rest of the world. H.R. 6965 addresses this deficiency and provides the industry with a path forward for continuing recovery and growth. This bill establishes the role of the assistant secretary of commerce for travel and tourism at the Department of Commerce. It also requires the assistant secretary to develop and implement a COVID–19 pandemic recovery strategy, as well as strategic plans for future disruptions that hopefully we aren’t going to see. The bill also requires the Department of Commerce to develop a 10-year travel and tourism strategy, as well as provide statutory authority for the United States Travel and Tourism Advisory Board. This has prevented the industry from producing a coordinated approach to recovery of the industry and to make us more competitive with the rest of the world. H.R. 6965 passed out of the Committee on Energy and Commerce last week unanimously, 56–0. I commend the tireless and passionate efforts put forth by Representative TITUS, the author of this legislation. Without her and the good work done by Representatives SOTO, CASE, KUSTER, and the late Mr. GUTHRIE, this would not have happened. With her leadership and the strong support of bipartisan colleagues, we got this to the House floor today. I know the Senate has also been working on travel and tourism legislation and is moving forward with a package of bills that includes the Visit America Act. Although there are some technical differences between the two bills, my colleagues and I can get together and work constructively as quickly as possible and get this legislation passed. Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to support this legislation, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Finally, you will be agreeing for me to include a copy of our exchange of letters in the Congressional Record during floor consideration of H.R. 6965.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, COMMITTEE ON ENERGY AND COMMERCE, Washington, DC, September 27, 2022.

Hon. Gregory W. Meeks,
Chairman, Committee on Foreign Affairs, Washington, DC,

DEAR CHAIRMAN MEKES: Thank you for consulting with the Committee on Energy and Commerce and agreeing to be discharged from further consideration of H.R. 6965, the “Visit America Act,” so that the bill may proceed expeditiously to the House floor.

I agree that your forgoing further action on this measure does not in any way diminish or alter the jurisdiction of your Committee or prejudice its jurisdictional prerogatives on this measure or similar legislation in the House. I support your effort to seek appointment of an appropriate number of conferees from your Committee to any House-Senate conference on this legislation.

I will place our letters into the Congressional Record during consideration of the measure on the House floor. I appreciate your cooperation regarding this legislation and look forward to continuing to work together as this measure moves through the legislative process.

Sincerely,

FRANK PALLONE, Jr., Chairman.

Mr. GUTHRIE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 6965, the Visit America Act.

The bill along with H.R. 7820, the Travel and Tourism Act, from Representative DUNN, and H.R. 4594, the Restoring Brand USA Act, from Representative BILIRAKIS, have represented bipartisan efforts to assist our tourism sector with economic recovery post-COVID-19.

Representative BILIRAKIS is not here speaking about this bill. He is home in Tampa, Florida, and represents the Tampa Bay area, as all of us know. Mr. Speaker, our thoughts and prayers are with him, his community in Florida and the other States that have to deal with the remnants of the rain. Our thoughts and prayers are with them.

Back to the bill, while I am pleased that Representative BILIRAKIS’ Brand USA legislation was signed into law this year, more work and bipartisan efforts are needed to build upon Representative BILIRAKIS’ efforts to increase tourism.

Without question, the COVID-19 pandemic was difficult for all industries, but the travel and tourism industry was hit especially hard.

According to testimony by the U.S. Travel Association before the Subcommittee on Consumer Protection and Commerce, at the end of 2021, international travel spending was 78 percent below pre-pandemic levels.

This bipartisan legislation can support the U.S. travel and tourism industry and address the declining percentage of international visitors to the United States. The Visit America Act will help by directing the Department of Commerce to develop a 10-year travel and tourism strategy with annual goals for future international visitors to the United States.

Again, I thank the sponsors and co-sponsors of all of these bills that we have considered at the Committee on Energy and Commerce. I would like to give special recognition to my colleague, Representative BILIRAKIS, the ranking member of the Subcommittee on Consumer Protection and co-chair of the Congressional Travel and Tourism Caucus, who, as I noted, is back home, duly focusing on the hurricane response and serving his constituents.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SCHAKOWSKY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Hawaii (Mr. Case).

Mr. CASE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H.R. 6965, the Visit America Act.

U.S. travel and tourism one of our country’s core industries. Pre-COVID, it generated some $2.6 trillion in annual economic output, was one of our largest export and service industries, and supported fully 1 in 10 U.S. jobs. In many States, my own Hawaii being a prime example, it is our leading industry.

But COVID taught us in spades how fragile this economic and jobs generator can be. Very frankly, it has never earned full respect in terms of Federal Government attention, focus, and support, given its prominence.

U.S. travel and tourism needs and deserves far more. This bill, in which I am joined by the gentlewoman from Nevada (Ms. TITUS), the gentleman from Florida (Mr. BILIRAKIS), our credit union colleagues, and other colleagues, in addition to all aspects of the industry, is a necessary start on a new chapter through a coordinated, high-level Federal effort, including a 10-year travel and tourism strategy and finally, finally, like other countries, an Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Travel and Tourism.

Mr. Speaker, I strongly urge its passage.

Mr. GUTHRIE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time to close.

Mr. Speaker, we have the greatest country in the world. I love when people want to come see the beauty of our great land and meet our great people. We have a wonderful opportunity for people to come visit our country. The tourism industry is a great industry, as are the people who serve in it.

Mr. Speaker, I urge the passage of this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. SCHAKOWSKY. Mr. Speaker, I urge everyone to support this legislation because it is so important, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from Illinois (Ms. SCHAKOWSKY) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 6965, as amended.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. TIPPANY. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.
Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 2710) to increase transparency with respect to financial services benefitting state sponsors of terrorism, human rights abusers, and corrupt officials, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Speaker read the title of the bill. The text of the bill is as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled.

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Banking Transparency for Sanctioned Persons Act of 2021.”

SEC. 2. REPORT ON FINANCIAL SERVICES BENEFITTING STATE SPONSORS OF TERRORISM, HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSERS, AND CORRUPT OFFICIALS.

(a) In General.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, and every 180 days thereafter, the Secretary of the Treasury shall submit to the Committees on Financial Services and Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs and Foreign Relations of the Senate that includes a copy of any license issued by the Secretary in the preceding 180 days that authorizes a United States financial institution (as defined under section 561.309 of title 31, Code of Federal Regulations) to provide financial services benefitting:

(1) a state sponsor of terrorism; or

(2) a person sanctioned pursuant to any of the following:

(A) Section 404 of the Russia and Moldova Jackson-Vanik Repeal and Sergei Magnitsky Rule of Law Accountability Act of 2012 (Public Law 112–208).

(B) Subtitle F of title XII of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114–328, the Global Magnitsky Human Rights Accountability Act).

(C) Executive Order No. 13818.

(b) Form of Report.—The report required under subsection (a) shall be submitted in unclassified form but may contain a classified annex.

SEC. 3. SUNSET.

The reporting requirement under this Act shall terminate on the date that is the end of the 7-year period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from California.

The Commonsense Bill Will Modernize Credit Union Practices While Ensuring the Safety and Soundness of Federal Credit Unions.

H.R. 6889 would amend the Federal Credit Union Act to revise the frequency of meetings that a Federal credit union’s board of directors is required to hold.

Specifically, the bill requires monthly meetings for de novo Federal credit unions during the first 5 years of existence. Highly rated credit unions, 1 or 2 CAMELS rating, with high management ratings, must hold at least six meetings annually, with at least one meeting held during each fiscal quarter. Lower rated credit unions, 3, 4 or 5 CAMELS, must continue meeting once a month.

This is a change from current law, which requires all Federal credit union boards to meet at least once a month. This meeting requirement can be burdensome for credit union staff and their volunteer board members. This is especially true for smaller credit unions and for those with few employees or those located in rural areas.

The resources needed to run monthly board meetings shift valuable employee and board member time and focus away from services that credit unions provide to their consumers.

Commonsense, regulatory right-sizing bills like this one help American families by reducing costs and the challenges associated with accessing financial services.

H.R. 6889 is a strong, bipartisan bill that protects the safety and soundness of credit unions. It also illustrates how Members can come together to create nonpartisan legislation, modernizing outdated practices and policies. I look forward to working with my colleagues across the aisle to meaningfully support our community financial institutions.

Mr. Speaker, I reiterate to my colleagues that H.R. 6889 is commonsense legislation that will modernize credit unions.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support the bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time to close. H.R. 6889 will incentivize Federal credit union boards to ensure their institutions are highly rated and well run in order to reduce the number of board meetings they need to hold.

I therefore urge Members to support H.R. 6889, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WATERS) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 6889, as amended.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question in the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

Mr. FULCHER. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand a roll call.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.
Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 2710, the Banking Transparency for Sanctioned Persons Act of 2021.

This legislation requires the Secretary of the Treasury to report to Congress semiannually with a copy of any license Treasury issues in the preceding 180 days that authorizes a U.S. financial institution to provide services benefiting a state sponsor of terrorism and certain other sanctioned entities, including human rights abusers and corrupt officials. It would sunset 7 years after enactment of the act.

I am supportive of the disclosure requirements in this bill because I believe that this after-the-fact reporting to congressional committees regarding these specific licenses can serve as a useful oversight tool.

When the Office of Foreign Assets Control, or OFAC, issues a specific license to a particular individual or entity to engage in a transaction that would otherwise be prohibited under a United States sanctions program, typically, specific licenses are granted by OFAC when the person or entity requesting such a license makes clear that the permitted transactions serve a compelling public policy goal. But currently, Treasury does not release specific licenses granted to individuals or entities or any information about them.

OFAC’s licensing program is an important part of an effective administration of United States sanctions, and disclosure is an important part of Congress’ ability to conduct effective oversight.

Now, there is a risk that if some licenses were to become public, they would disclose commercially sensitive information to potential market competitors, introducing issues of corporate theft and unfair competition. That is why the bill allows for sensitive information in these licenses to be included in a classified annex to the report. Moving forward, we may want to examine whether this provides sufficient protection for proprietary or commercially sensitive information submitted by private-sector representatives which may not be classified and, if publicly released, would allow potential market competitors to gain an unfair competitive advantage. We certainly do not want to create a chilling effect on the exchanges on behalf of companies about continuing to file for licenses moving forward, and we should guard against that.

Mr. Speaker, ultimately, I support the underlying goal and the disclosure requirements of H.R. 2710 because I believe they will increase congressional oversight of United States’ sanctions activity. I urge my colleagues to do the same, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. STEIL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I thank the Chairwoman of the Financial Services Committee, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WATERS), for bringing the bill to the floor today.

I rise in strong support of H.R. 2710, the Banking Transparency for Sanctioned Persons Act. This bill that I authored is an important step forward for oversight of the Treasury Department’s sanctions program.

Under current law, Treasury may issue licenses through its Office of Foreign Assets Control, authorizing U.S. financial institutions to engage in transactions that would otherwise be prohibited. These licenses typically allow for the facilitation of trade in humanitarian and agricultural goods such as medicines and food.

H.R. 2710 requires the administration to inform Congress that certain financial services-related licenses have been improved when they involve state sponsors of terrorism or others sanctioned for human rights abuses. While the OFAC may have good reasons to issue a license, it is essential for Congress to be aware of bad actors’ access to our financial system. Though some OFAC licenses are made public, others are not disclosed or even their existence may be unknown to Congress.

By requiring a semiannual report on these licenses, my bill would make the disclosure of OFAC’s actions more consistent with congressional notification procedures for other sanctions waivers. Without this knowledge, Congress is limited in its ability to oversee the implementation of sanctions.

I am pleased to note that our colleagues on the other side of the aisle have long supported this oversight, and they have provided helpful input as we have developed this important legislation.

Mr. Speaker, let me conclude by noting that our majority support for this measure is reflective of a strong spirit of bipartisanship on the Committee on Financial Services to safeguarding our national security.

While we may not agree on everything, our Members have been extremely productive in advancing our national security interests while maintaining a vibrant financial system. It is important to have a government that is accountable, and this bill brings needed accountability to our sanctions enforcement efforts.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 2710, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further speakers, and I am prepared to close.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. STEIL. Mr. Speaker, I simply close by urging my colleagues to support this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, the Banking Transparency for Sanctioned Persons Act of 2021 will help ensure that Members of Congress have the information they need to provide more effective oversight of the decisions made by Treasury and OFAC and the impact that those decisions have on sanctioned persons.

I thank Mr. STEIL for bringing this measure forward, and I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WATERS) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 2710, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

AMENDING THE DELAWARE WATER GAP NATIONAL RECREATION AREA IMPROVEMENT ACT TO EXTEND THE EXCEPTION TO THE CLOSURE OF CERTAIN ROADS WITHIN THE RECREATION AREA FOR LOCAL BUSINESSES, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

Ms. TLAIB. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 6364) to amend the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area Improvement Act to extend the exception to the closure of certain roads within the Recreation Area for local businesses, and for other purposes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 6364, as amended.

The Speaker read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 6364
Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, SECTION 1. USE OF CERTAIN ROADS WITHIN THE DELAWARE WATER GAP NATIONAL RECREATION AREA.

Section 4(b) of the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area Improvement Act (Public Law 109–156; 119 Stat. 2948) is amended in the matter preceding paragraph (1), by striking “Until” and all that follows through “subsection (a)” and inserting “Until September 30, 2026, subsection (a)”.

SEC. 2. DETERMINATION OF BUDGETARY EFFECTS.

The budgetary effects of this Act, for the purpose of complying with the Statutory Pay-As-You-Go Act of 2010, shall be determined by reference to the latest statement entitled “Budgetary Effects of PAYGO Legislation” for this Act, submitted for printing in the Congressional Record by the Chairman of the House Budget Committee, provided that such statement has been submitted prior to the vote on passage.
have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include additional material on the measure under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Michigan? There was no objection.

Ms. TLAIB. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H.R. 6364 introduced by my colleague, Representative MATT CARTWRIGHT. This bill will amend the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area Improvement Act to extend the use of Highway 209 within the recreation area until 2026.

Mr. Speaker, in 1981, the section of Highway 209 that runs through the recreation area was transferred from the State to the National Park Service.

In 1983, Congress enacted a provision of law that closed that section of Highway 209 to commercial traffic, with an importation exemption for vehicles serving businesses located in or adjacent to the recreation area. Since then, the United States Congress has extended the exemption multiple times, with the latest extension set to expire on September 30 of this year.

Mr. Speaker, without this exemption, commercial vehicles have limited acceptable alternatives. Commercial traffic would have to travel a minimum of 10 extra miles to avoid the recreation area.

This permitted access contributes to economic vitality that impacts that community, the public safety, and the quality of life of the park’s adjacent communities. I, again, thank my good colleague, Representative CARTWRIGHT, for introducing this important legislation and championing this bill on behalf of his constituents.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote ‘yes’ on this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. FULCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 6364 would extend the use of U.S. Route 209, a Federally owned road within the boundaries of the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area for commercial vehicles in 2026.

While I support this bill today due to the public safety issues involved, I would note that the bill was brought to the House floor prior to the committee requesting technical assistance from the National Park Service.

At legislative hearing on this bill, the National Park Service requested the opportunity to work with the committee on a technical edit to the public law referenced in the bill. Instead of waiting for administrative feedback, the bill was rushed to the floor, and as a result, may fail to achieve its goal of actually enhancing public safety.

Legislation on the suspension calendar should be thoroughly vetted to ensure it will execute correctly and achieve desired outcomes. I urge my colleagues on the other side of the aisle to work with us to ensure that legislation considered on the floor is fully vetted in the future.

Mr. Speaker, that said, I support this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. TLAIB. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. CARTWRIGHT), the main sponsor of the bill.

Mr. CARTWRIGHT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman from Michigan for the opportunity to speak about this important bill, H.R. 6364, which would extend the use of Federally owned portions of Highway 209 by commercial vehicles serving northeastern Pennsylvania small businesses.

The Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area stretches across Pennsylvania and New Jersey, preserving 70,000 acres of land on both sides of the Delaware River.

Highway 209, which runs through Pennsylvania northwards into New York, cuts directly through the middle of this national recreation area. Up until the 1980s, there was heavy truck traffic all along Route 209, a heavily trafficked truck route.

In 1981, the National Park Service received jurisdiction over the section of Route 209 within that national recreation area. Then 2 years later, the 1983 Supplemental Appropriations Act closed this Federally owned segment of Highway 209 to all commercial traffic, with one exception: for light commercial vehicles serving businesses or people located in, or along, the boundaries of the national recreation area.

Since then, this limited exemption for commercial vehicles has been reauthorized by Congress multiple times on a bipartisan basis. In fact, former Pennsylvania Republican Representative Tom Marino and I co-led this same bill, which was passed this body by voice vote and was signed into law by former President Trump. When that exemption expired last year, Congress included a short 1-year extension in the FY22 omnibus bill.

Mr. Speaker, that exemption expires the day after tomorrow, September 30. If Congress fails to renew the exemption, commercial traffic in northeastern Pennsylvania will be faced with limited acceptable alternatives. Commercial vehicles based in places like Monroe and Pike counties, in my district, would have to travel, as the gentlewoman mentioned, an extra 10 miles to avoid the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area, and small businesses locally would be hurt needlessly.

Mr. Speaker, that is why I have introduced H.R. 6364, which would simply extend the existing commercial vehicle exemption until September 30, 2026.

With this extension, qualifying commercial vehicles will be allowed to continue using the Federally owned portion of Route 209, with an annual permit.

My bill would also ensure that emergency vehicles and school buses could continue utilizing sections of Highway 209 within the boundaries of the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area, toll-free.

This is a commonsense bipartisan piece of legislation that is not only supported by the National Park Service and local officials but is also broadly supported here in the House, having passed unanimously out of the House Committee on Natural Resources in July.

Mr. Speaker, I will say, despite what my friend across the aisle has said, the National Park Service has confirmed that the exemption authorized under this bill poses no safety concerns.

On behalf of the entire Commonwealth, I thank Pennsylvania Republican Representatives MEUSER and FITZPATRICK for cosponsoring this bill, as well as Senators TOOMEY and CASEY, who are championing this very same measure in the Senate.

This legislation would go a long way toward protecting northeastern Pennsylvania small businesses and our regional economy, and so it is gratifying to see that we have bipartisan support for it again.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to vote for the bill.

Mr. FULCHER. Mr. Speaker, I urge adoption of the bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. TLAIB. Mr. Speaker, I move to adopt the bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, in 1981, the section of Highway 209 that runs through Pennsylvania northwards into New York, cuts directly through the middle of this national recreation area. Up until the 1980s, there was heavy truck traffic all along Route 209, a heavily trafficked truck route.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of the gentleman from Michigan (Ms. TLAIB) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 6364, as amended.

The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from Michigan (Ms. TLAIB) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 6364, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

SEC. 4. DETERMINATION OF BUDGETARY EFFECTS.

The budgetary effects of this Act, for the purpose of complying with the Statutory Pay-As-You-Go Act of 2010, shall be determined by reference to the latest statement titled "Budgetary Effects of PAYGO Legislation" for this Act, submitted for printing in the Congressional Record by the Chairman of the House Budget Committee, provided that such statement has been submitted prior to the vote on passage.

Mr. Speaker. Pursuant to the request, the gentlewoman from Michigan (Ms. TLAIB) and the gentleman from Idaho (Mr. FULCHER) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Michigan.

Ms. TLAIB. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include any extraneous material on the measure under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from Michigan?

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Idaho.

Mr. FULCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 1638, the Gilt Edge Mine Conveyance Act, introduced by my colleague, Representative JOHNSON.

The bill will authorize South Dakota to purchase approximately 266 acres of U.S. Forest Service land in Lawrence County, South Dakota.

Any proceeds received by the Forest Service from the conveyance will be deposited in a fund for the maintenance and improvement of the Black Hills National Forest in South Dakota.

Any proceeds received by the Forest Service from the conveyance will be deposited in a fund for the maintenance and improvement of the Black Hills National Forest in South Dakota.

Mr. Speaker, I urge adoption of this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. TLAIB. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time. I am prepared to close, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. FULCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from South Dakota (Mr. JOHNSON).

Mr. JOHNSON of South Dakota. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentlewoman and thank the gentleman for their words of support for this piece of legislation.

I ask all my colleagues to support my bill.

It would do exactly as the previous two speakers said. It would make things a lot easier. It would advance environmental protection.

What exactly are we dealing with here?

We have a 266-acre parcel. It used to be the site of the Gilt Edge Mine. It is now an EPA Superfund site. Mr. Speaker, you can see a picture of the site here. This is not pristine wilderness; but, of course, we want to get it back to an environmental asset.

This is now, as the gentlewoman said, a checkerboard of competing governmental ownerships and roles. You have got the Forest Service which owns much of this land; you have got the State of South Dakota which owns some of the rest of it; you have got the EPA which for 20 years has been doing remediation work on the water; and then you have got the State of South Dakota.
Dakota which has other environmental cleanup and management responsibilities on this site.

So what this bill would do is take the portions of this site that are owned by the Forest Service, and it would allow the State of South Dakota to purchase this land. That is going to get the Forest Service out of the middle of this. They don’t need to play a role here.

The work of the State will be easier if they have one less Federal partner to work with and to navigate.

Now if my colleagues get concerned if we are going to take a Federal asset and give it to a State.

Will this be a loss of important Federal access opportunities for the public?

Well, that is why I brought this picture up here, Mr. Speaker. People are not going hiking here. This is not wilderness habitat. You will not have bison from the Black Hills of South Dakota nestle in this leach pond here.

We have made back-end and back work to do here, and it is important that we do it in the most effective way. This bill would advance that cause.

I just want to make it clear, so many people who are involved are supportive of this. Senators Thune and Rounds have been supportive. Governor Noem has been supportive. Lawrence County, the city of Lead, and the city of Deadwood are all supportive.

I ask all of my colleagues to join their voices of support so we can do what needs to be done on this Superfund site. We didn’t treat this land properly, and the mining company did not treat this land properly. We have a continuing opportunity to do right. My bill would do that. Vote “yes.”

Mr. FULCHER. Mr. Speaker, I urge adoption of the bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. TLAIB. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from Michigan (Ms. TLAIB) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 1638, as amended.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. HICE of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Ms. TLAIB). Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Hawaii (Mr. KAHELE) and the gentleman from Florida (Mr. WENSTRUM) each will control 20 minutes.

Mr. KAHELE. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 7321, as amended.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Hawaii?

There was no objection.

Mr. KAHELE. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 7321, the Global Aircraft Maintenance Safety Improvement Act, introduced by Transportation and Infrastructure Committee Chair, Peter DeFazio.

One level of safety. For over a decade, that has been the single-minded goal of Congress and the Federal Aviation Administration in setting aviation policy. But until domestic and FAA-certified foreign repair stations are subject to the same oversight and safety standards, there is no hope we can achieve one level of safety.

In fact, existing safety rules make clear that there is not truly one level of safety. Under current FAA regulations, domestic repair station workers are subject to mandatory drug and alcohol testing. Workers at foreign repair stations are not.

(2) shall report to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate not later than 3 days after making each determination under subsection (c)—

(A) the name of the individual approved or authorized to travel internationally;

(B) the location to which the individual is traveling;

(C) a detailed explanation of why the Administrator has determined the travel is—

(i) directly related to aviation safety standards, certification, and oversight; or

(ii) vital to the national interests of the United States; and

(D) a detailed description of the status of the rulemakings described in subsection (a).

In this Act:

(1) ADMINISTRATOR.—The term ‘‘Administrator’’ means the Administrator of the FAA.

(2) COVERED REPAIR STATION.—The term ‘‘covered repair station’’ means a facility that—

(A) is located outside the United States;

(B) is certified under part 145 of title 14, Code of Federal Regulations;

(C) performs heavy maintenance work on an aircraft (including on-wing aircraft engines), operated under part 121 of title 14, Code of Federal Regulations.

(3) FAA.—The term ‘‘FAA’’ means the Federal Aviation Administration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Hawaii? There was no objection.

Mr. KAHELE. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 7321, as amended.
Unfortunately, more and more maintenance work for U.S. air carriers is being sent overseas. The number of these facilities has grown by nearly 40 percent in the past 6 years. The global pandemic has only exacerbated this trend, as more than 5,200 aircraft maintenance outstations left the United States in just the past few years.

The Department of Transportation inspector general has also been ringing the alarm bell in five audit reports containing 41 recommendations since 2002 to improve the FAA’s dangerously weak oversight of repair stations overseas.

How many more inspector general reports will it take for the FAA to be brave enough to take a leadership role in the international community and apply strong standards to foreign repair stations?

This bill will require the FAA to take a number of specific and decisive steps to improve oversight of foreign repair stations worldwide, and accomplish three things: requiring all foreign repair stations to be subject to at least one unannounced inspection each year; requiring supervisors and individuals who authorize aircraft for return to service to meet minimum requirements; and hold FAA mechanic or repairman certificates; and requiring the FAA to, one, comply with the 2016 mandate for a final rule on drug and alcohol testing of employees at foreign repair stations, and, two, initiate a rulemaking mandating background checks of such employees.

I thank the stakeholders for their support and the tireless efforts in working toward an agreeable solution as well as Ranking Member Graves and his staff.

Madam Speaker, this bill is a giant step in the right direction, I urge my colleagues to support it, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. WEBSTER of Florida. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, first, I thank Chairman DeFazio for working with us on this particular bill, the Global Aircraft Maintenance Safety Improvement Act.

I am pleased that H.R. 7321, as amended, ensures the level of safety we all expect in a way that is consistent with our bilateral safety agreements and collaborative with foreign civil aviation authorities.

International buy-in and collaboration are key if we are to chart a real path forward on aviation safety, and this bill strives to do that.

Notably, this legislation has markedly improved since last Congress, and I, again, want to thank the chair and his staff for working with us in a bipartisan manner.

Under H.R. 7321, our domestic repair stations will not be exposed to retaliation by other countries, nor will American jobs be jeopardized.

Again, improving oversight of foreign repair stations without damaging our standing and partnerships in the international community is the goal here today. This is another example of our bipartisan commitment to aviation safety.

Madam Speaker, I urge support, and I reserve the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. CARSON) will control the remaining time.

There was no objection. Mr. CARSON. Madam Speaker, I have no more speakers, and I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. WEBSTER of Florida. Madam Speaker, in closing, H.R. 7321, as amended, continues our commitment to the traveling public by ensuring aviation safety on the international playing field.

Madam Speaker, I urge support of this legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. CARSON. Madam Speaker, in closing, this bipartisan bill will correct the FAA’s unacceptably lax oversight of foreign aeronautical repair stations that work on U.S. airline fleets and help increase the safety of our global aviation system.

Madam Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support the bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

This National Center for the Advancement of Aviation Act is both bipartisan and bicameral. I am pleased that so many members of our Transportation and Infrastructure Committee are sponsors of the bill, including Subcommittee on Aviation Chair Larsen, as well as my colleagues in the other body, Senators Duckworth and Inhofe.

Our committee has worked for years to make American skies the safest in the world and to strengthen the industry workforce to maintain the highest standards of aviation excellence. This bill supports and promotes collaboration among civil, commercial, and military aviation sectors to address the demands and challenges of ensuring a safe and vibrant national aviation system through research, education, and training.

Too often in the past, Mr. Speaker, innovation and lessons learned in various aviation sectors have not been shared in a collaborative or even timely manner, especially considering rapid developments in new technology. My bill helps to break down these silos across commercial aviation, general aviation, and military aviation sectors. This bill not only improve safety and best practices, Mr. Speaker, but it will also expand opportunities for those interested in more diverse aviation workforces.

For the young and not so young, those just starting out to those with experience who want to move into other types of aviation work, the national center will focus on four key areas with an emphasis on aviation workforce development.

Firstly, it will support education efforts and provide resources to curriculum developers, so educators at all levels have the tools and training to educate the next generation of aviation professionals.

Secondly, the national center will provide a forum to leverage and share expertise amongst industry sectors, including the improvement of existing high school curriculum to develop and deploy a workforce of pilots, aerospace engineers, unmanned aircraft systems operators, aviation maintenance technicians, or other aviation maintenance professionals needed in the coming decades.

Finally, it will support symposiums and conferences to facilitate collaboration across the industry and develop future advancements for the aviation and aerospace community. This legislation will also allow the FAA to focus on safety, certification, and air traffic operations.

Mr. Speaker, the aviation and aerospace industry supports over 11 million jobs and contributes more than $1.6 trillion per year to our national economy. Nearly 200 organizations, including schools, airports, airlines, manufacturers, unions, and other entities involved in aviation and aerospace, have expressed strong support for this wonderful legislation. It will address the demands and challenges our aviation and aerospace industry face today and tomorrow.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support the National Center for the Advancement of Aviation Act of 2022, and I reserve the balance of my time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, COMMITTEE ON TRANSPORTATION AND INFRASTRUCTURE, Washington, DC, September 27, 2022.

Hon. EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON, Chairwoman, Committee on Science, Space, and Technology.

DEAR CHAIRWOMAN JOHNSON: I write to you concerning H.R. 3482, the National Center for the Advancement of Aviation Act of 2022, which was introduced on May 21, 2021, and solely referred to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

I appreciate you agreeing to withdraw your request for a sequential referral of H.R. 3482 so that the bill may be considered expeditiously. I acknowledge that forgoing your referral clarifies the right to file jurisdictional claims in the future on subject matter contained in this bill or similar legislation. Further, I will appropriately consult and involve the Committee on Science, Space, and Technology as the bill moves forward on issues that fall within your Rule X jurisdiction.

Finally, I will include a copy of our letter exchange in the committee report and in the Congressional Record when the bill is considered on the floor.

Thank you again for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

PETER A. DEFAZIO, Chair.

H. R. 3482, as amended, supplements the FAA’s safety-focused mission by ensuring just that.

Mr. Speaker, I urge support of this legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

CARSON. Mr. Speaker, this bill will help to address the workforce challenges facing U.S. aviation today and prepare our workforce for the opportunities of the future.

Mr. Speaker, I support this bipartisan legislation, and I urge my colleagues to do the same.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. CARSON) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 3482, as amended.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

HICE of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered to be taken up at the next session of the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

SMALL PROJECT EFFICIENT AND EFFECTIVE DISASTER RECOVERY ACT

Mr. CARSON. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and concord in the Senate amendments to the bill (H.R. 5611) to amend the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act to increase the threshold for eligibility for assistance under sections 493, 406, 407, and 502 of such Act, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read the title of the bill. The text of the Senate amendments is as follows:

Senate amendments:

(C) On page 15, line 24, strike "AND REPORT" after "REVIEW" and replace with "AND REPORT" after "REVIEW".

SEC. 3. AUDIT AND REVIEW.

Not later than 3 years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Inspector General of the Department of Homeland Security shall conduct an audit, and submit to Congress a report, on whether there has been waste and abuse as a result of the audit made under section 2(a)(1).

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. CARSON) and the gentleman from Florida (Mr. WEBSTER) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Indiana.

Mr. CARSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have up to 5 legislative days in which to review and consider the Senate amendments and remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 5641.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Indiana?

There was no objection.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5641. This legislation will expedite the approval process for small projects applying for aid through FEMA’s public assistance program, a program that helps communities remove debris, implement emergency protective measures, and repair damage to public infrastructure.

The House has already passed this once with overwhelming support, and the amendment we are considering today would solely add a reporting requirement to the language we previously supported.

Also, in the time since we first passed this bill, the Biden administration has updated the small project threshold to $1 million via rulemaking. The $1 million threshold, Mr. Speaker, is currently expediting the post-disaster recovery process, cutting unnecessary red tape and helping communities get back on their feet.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. WEBSTER of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. WEBSTER of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 5641, the SPEED Recovery Act, is a bipartisan bill that cuts red tape and helps expedite disaster recovery efforts, especially in small and rural areas. This legislation updates what the Federal Emergency Management Agency considers a small project.

The bill already passed the House in April, as has been said, and today, it returns with a reasonable amendment from the Senate and adds a report by the inspector general of Homeland Security to help ensure that there is no fraud, waste, and abuse.

Increasing the small project threshold allows communities to recover faster and allows FEMA to focus more of their time and resources on larger, more complex projects that represent 90 percent of the disaster costs.

I have heard from communities in my district about paperwork burdens and increasing denials over technicalities, and I hope the commonsense adjustments of this bill will improve this process.

Mr. Speaker, I urge support of this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from Puerto Rico (Miss GONZAŁEZ-COLOÑO).

Miss GONZAŁEZ-COLOÑO. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague for yielding.

Today, I rise again in support of H.R. 5641, the SPEED Recovery Act, which is bipartisan legislation introduced by Ranking Member Graves that passed the House in April.

This bill is especially timelier as Puerto Rico is once again dealing with the effects of yet another major disaster, Hurricane Fiona, while also communities in Florida are facing Hurricane Ian as we speak.

We do have a lot of experience in those small projects that are never done because of the red tape or the long procedures that need to be dealt with between municipalities and FEMA.

Too often, cities and municipalities face the burden of rising costs of material and labor, which means that the cost estimate for relatively simple projects, such as street repairs, now surpasses the threshold for what is defined as a small project.

Today, $123,000 hardly covers the most trivial work, and we can talk about that. I mean, we still have a lot of those small projects since Hurricane Maria that are not being done, and now, many more projects were hit by Hurricane Fiona. Although the money is there, the process is so big that even the initial amount won’t cover those repairs.

We have had cases where there may have been resources to start and finish promptly, but because of the price tag, we are forced to go through a more complicated process with FEMA, which can take years, years in which the people wonder when they will see the work.

When a community does not see even small things taken care of, that weakens the social fabric and promotes displacement.

We cannot afford to keep going through that again. We have a responsibility to make the Federal Government more efficient, particularly in times of need.

By increasing the threshold for eligibility for small projects, including adjustments for inflation, this bill will simplify that process, reducing administrative burdens, resulting in faster start of work and allowing more recovery projects to move forward.

Mr. Speaker, I support this commonsense bipartisan legislation, and I urge all Members to support the Senate amendments and send them to the President’s desk. Across the Nation, our communities will need it.

Mr. CARSON. Mr. Speaker, I have no more speakers, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. WEBSTER of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume to close.

The amendments to H.R. 5641, the SPEED Recovery Act, is reasonable and will help to strengthen accountability.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Senators PORTMAN and PETERS, who are the bipartisan leaders of the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs. Without their leadership in the Senate to push forward this measure, we would not be here today.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Senator Josh HAWLEY of Missouri, who also helped by being engaged in this particular issue.

Finally, I thank our great staff on both sides to get this bill to the finish line, especially my subcommittee staff director, Johanna Hardy and Maddy McCaslin.

Mr. Speaker, I urge support of this important legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. CARSON. Mr. Speaker, in closing, this legislation supports FEMA’s role and codifies that the qualifying small project threshold will be $1 million.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support the bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

PREVENTING PFAS RUNOFF AT AIRPORTS ACT

Mr. CARSON. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (S. 3662) to temporarily increase the cost share authority for aqueous film-forming foam input-based testing equipment, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.
The text of the bill is as follows:

S. 3662

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

(B) 5 years after the date of enactment of this Act.

(c) Forward-looking Airport Reimbursement.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration shall conduct an outreach effort to make airports aware of the higher cost share authority established in section 47109(g) of title 49, United States Code, as added by subsection (a).

(d) Authorization of Appropriations.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration shall conduct an outreach effort to make airports aware of the higher cost share authority established in section 47109(g) of title 49, United States Code, as added by subsection (a)—

(i) with Federal funding but with a Government’s share less than 100 percent; or

(ii) without Federal funding.

(e) Forward-looking Airport Reimbursement.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration shall conduct an outreach effort to make airports aware of the higher cost share authority established in section 47109(g) of title 49, United States Code, as added by subsection (a)—

(i) with Federal funding but with a Government’s share less than 100 percent; or

(ii) without Federal funding.

(f) Information relevant to estimating the potential cost of providing such reimbursements;

(g) the status of the Federal Aviation Administration’s outreach efforts as required under subsection (b); and

(h) any additional information the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration considers appropriate.

(i) Authorization of Appropriations.—The amendments made by this Act shall apply to amounts that first become available in fiscal year 2023 or thereafter.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to Rule 203(b), the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. CARSON) and the gentleman from Florida (Mr. WEBSTER) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Indiana.

Mr. CARSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on S. 3662, as amended.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Indiana?

There was no objection.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 3662, the Preventing PFAS Runoff at Airports Act, sponsored by Senator Cornyn of Texas and the gentleman from Michigan, Mr. Peters.

Mr. Speaker, every day millions of Americans are exposed to highly toxic fluorinated chemicals known as PFAS, through either their drinking water, home appliances, retail packaging, or countless other things they come into contact with containing PFAS.

These chemicals, known as “forever chemicals” due to their long-term persistence and inability to be easily broken down when released into the environment, have been linked with numerous health issues, including increased risk of cancer, immune system impairment, and impaired child development. And that is just what we know. There is still plenty that we don’t know about these hazardous materials and chemicals.

Unfortunately, these chemicals are also likely to be found in and around many of our Nation’s airports. That is because airports have been required by law to use and discharge firefighting foam containing PFAS; not just during firefighting emergencies, but also to comply with mandatory FAA testing requirements for firefighting equipment. These discharges have tremendous health implications for the people who live around airports, as well as growing liability concerns for the airports themselves.

Fortunately, there has been significant progress on this front. For instance, just last month, the EPA proposed designating two of the most widely used PFAS chemicals as hazardous substances, which would create more public transparencies around the release of these chemicals. And the FAA is in the process of transitioning away from mandating the use of airport firefighting foam containing PFAS—though the agency still has to offer PFAS-free alternatives.

Furthermore, the FAA now allows for airports to sufficiently test their firefighting equipment without discharging PFAS-laden foam. There is still work to be done before that alternative is made available.

Given that, this bill ensures that airports are able to acquire equipment to test firefighting vehicles, in compliance with FAA regulations, without discharging PFAS-laden foam.

Mr. Speaker, this bipartisan bill passed the Senate unanimously, and I urge support. This legislation is a good piece of legislation, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CARSON. Mr. Speaker, I have no more speakers and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. WEBSTER of Florida. Mr. Speaker, in closing, S. 3662 is a minor adjustment of an AIP cost share to remove any barriers an airport might have for acquiring firefighting testing equipment.

Mr. Speaker, I urge support of the bill and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. CARSON. Mr. Speaker, in closing, by making this small change to the Federal AIP, this bill would make it much easier to protect the health of our airport workers, first responders, and local communities, as well as bolster our Nation’s ability to continue fighting these dangerous and insidious chemicals.

Mr. Speaker, I support this bipartisan legislation and I urge my colleagues to do the same. I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. CARSON) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, S. 3662, as amended.
The question was taken. The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. NEHLS. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

Mr. DeSAULNIER. Mr. Speaker, by direction of the Committee on Rules, I call Mr. Neal’s resolution 1396 and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from California is recognized for 1 hour.

Mr. DeSAULNIER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members be given 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection. Mr. DeSAULNIER. Mr. Speaker, yesterday, the Rules Committee met and reported a rule, House Resolution 1396, providing for consideration of three measures.

First, the rule provides for consideration of H.R. 7780 under a structured rule. The rule provides 1 hour of general debate equally divided and controlled by the chair and the ranking minority member of the Committee on Education and Labor, and makes in order two amendments, and provides one motion to recommit.

Second, the rule provides for consideration of H.R. 3843 under a closed rule. The rule provides 1 hour of general debate equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on the Judiciary and a motion to recommit.

Third, the rule provides for consideration of S. 3969 under a closed rule. The rule provides 1 hour of general debate equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on House Administration and a motion to commit.

The rule provides the majority leader or his designee the ability to en bloc request roll call votes on suspension bills considered on September 28 to September 30. This authority lasts through September 30, 2022.

Lastly, the rule provides standard recision instructions from October 3 to November 11.

Mr. Speaker, an average of 18 young Americans took their own lives every day in 2020. When children take their own lives, families and communities are left broken. This includes the community of Moorhead, Minnesota, which faced the devastating loss of a 13-year-old Horizon Middle School student Jacob Blake to suicide just last year.

The staggering numbers are all over this country in all of our districts. Mental health disorders, as a whole, are a common cause of death. It is estimated by CDC that 8 million deaths worldwide, which represents about 14.3 of total annual deaths, are attributable to mental disorders.

Even before the pandemic, the unmet mental and behavioral health needs of young people, students, and teachers, were a serious problem.

In talking with teachers in the district I represent in the East Bay of the San Francisco Bay area, it is clear that this problem has become a crisis. Teachers, administrators, and parents, often tell me that dealing with their students’ children’s and their own mental and behavioral health challenges is among the most difficult things they deal with every day.

The data, unfortunately, backs up these stories. Teachers are saying, just last year, about half of the students experienced persistent sadness or hopelessness, and nearly 20 percent seriously considered suicide.

Think of that, Mr. Speaker. Almost one in four American children have considered suicide in the last 2 years. At the same time, 27 percent of teachers reported symptoms of depression, which is significantly higher than average adults, and those numbers have been growing.

Despite these warning signs, over 60 percent of children experiencing major depression do not receive any form of mental health treatment, and only 22 percent of teachers reported receiving emotional support from their school, their school district, or professional staff.

This is at a time when investments in the National Institute of Mental Health is discovering exponential information about how our brains work, how they cognitively develop, and the danger to trauma.

We are not getting this information out to the people who need it the most. We know that when people get treatment, they succeed. They overcome their circumstances.

As a Nation, we are underinvesting in the resources our students need, and our communities, our parents, our teachers, our administrators, to stay healthy, to succeed in school, and retain talented teachers and professionals and make sure that future Americans grow and are ready to carry on the legacy that we have inherited from former generations.

While the School Social Work Association of America recommends a ratio of 220 students per social worker, not one single State meets this recommended ratio. The national average is 2,106 of students per social worker; 2,106, as opposed to the recommended average of 250.

I am proud this week that the House is advancing my legislation, the Mental Health Matters Act, to confront this crisis head on, to give communities and parents and teachers the resources they need.

This bill was drafted with the needs of students, parents, and teachers in mind and is the product of months of careful consideration about how Congress can best respond to our Nation’s mental health crisis.

This legislation before us would expand the school-based mental and behavioral health workforce, provide access to resources for students with disabilities, provide resources to address trauma in young children, and strengthen the ability of Americans with employer-sponsored insurance to access mental health and substance use disorder treatments they are statutorily entitled to.

From my discussions with mental health professionals over the years and research that has informed this legislation, it is clear that failure to address these challenges at a young age can harm performance at school and work and contribute to mental and behavioral health outcomes later in life for individuals and for our country.

Anxiety and reading disorders occur in approximately 25 percent of students. For individuals whose reading challenges persist into adulthood, there is a greater likelihood of depression, low self-esteem, and difficulty in social functioning.

To break this cycle, a provision I authored would help Head Start agencies implement evidence-based interventions to improve the health of children and staff.

While investment is needed for greater access to school-based mental health and behavioral health, individuals and families with employer-sponsored health insurance must also have robust access to treatment outside of school.

Some insurers, unfortunately, have placed arbitrary coverage limits on mental and behavioral health care, making it hard for patients to access treatment in the same way they would for physical ailments. This legislation makes great strides in the fight for mental health parity so that families can focus more on staying healthy and less on battling insurers for coverage.

Mental health and suicide prevention are deeply personal issues for me, having lost my own father to suicide almost 34 years ago. In advancing this bill, it is my hope that we can prevent many families from having to experience what mine went through several decades ago.

Also included in today’s rule is the Merger Filing Fee Modernization Act. This legislation would increase the filing fee that large corporations must pay the Federal Trade Commission in order to conduct a merger.

A recent surge in merger filings has placed a strain on the FTC’s resources, and updating the fee schedule will help the agency cope with its many demands.

Finally, we will also consider the PAVA Program Inclusion Act under the rule. This Senate-passed legislation would help ensure that all programs designed to help voters with disabilities can access Federal funds regardless of their location.

Unfortunately, programs designed to help individuals with disabilities vote who are Native Americans or who live in the Northern Mariana Islands are not currently able to access the Protection and Advocacy for Voting Access funds in the same manner as other Federal programs. The PAVA Program Inclusion Act will fix this injustice, and passing this bill will send it to President Biden’s desk to be signed into law.

Mr. Speaker, we have a great opportunity this week to make transformative investments in our Nation’s future and our mental health and pass our commonsense legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. FISCHBACH. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from California for yielding me the customary 30 minutes, and I yield myself such time as I may consume.

We are here to debate the rule providing for consideration of three bills: H.R. 7780, Mental Health Matters Act; H.R. 3843, Merger Filing Fee Modernization Act; and S. 3969, Protection and Advocacy for Voting Access, or PAVA, Program Inclusion Act.

H.R. 3843 would increase funding to the Federal Trade Commission without justification or restrictions on that funding. This is the same agency that, through its strategic plan for the next 4 years, removed a longstanding clause that states the agency will not unduly burden legitimate business activity.

In the coming term, the Supreme Court will hear a case as to whether the FTC is mission creeping beyond the bounds of its constitutional authority. The FTC, through its initiatives in antitrust enforcement, has taken an increasing liberal view of its traditional focus on protecting consumers from fraud and ensuring businesses have clear rules to follow and is instead moving toward an interpretation of reshaping the American economy through enforcement action.

In the Committee on the Judiciary, my colleagues offered amendments to put limitations on this funding. Mr. Roy offered an amendment to prohibit appropriated funds from being used to promote critical race theory and require funds to be used to enforce antitrust laws as defined in the Clayton Act.

Mr. FITZGERALD offered one to prohibit funding from being used for non-enforcement activities.

Mr. ROY offered an amendment to limit the scope of the bill to only apply to mergers involving large technology companies.
All of these failed on party lines, and I cannot understand why, unless my colleagues on the left want to encourage the FTC to get involved in issues outside of its purview. The FTC is out of control under this administration and cannot be trusted with these additional resources.

H.R. 7780 misses the mark. Republicans are committed to addressing the mental health crisis facing young people in the country. Unfortunately, this bill lacks the focus and flexibility that fails to provide local leaders with the flexibility they need to address the unique problems they face. Republicans support mental health parity, but this bill will actually do the opposite. It opens insurers and employers to lawsuits when they voluntarily offer to provide mental health care benefits.

As with so many bills promoted by the majority this Congress, provisions of this bill ban arbitration clauses, class actions, and representation waivers, discouraging other means of settling disputes and pushing creating even more bottlenecks in our judicial system. During markup, Republicans offered an alternative bill that streamlined existing programs, helped the needs on the ground, helped all students in need regardless of where their school is, and included important accountability metrics. I wish we were discussing that bill here today. Unfortunately, this and every other Republican amendment is effectively blocked from discussion under this rule.

Mr. Speaker, it is for that reason that I oppose the rule and ask Members to do the same.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DeSALVNIER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I appreciate the comments from my friend.

Just on the mental health part, we did have hearings in the subcommittee.

I am proud to chair, the Subcommittee on Health, Employment, Labor, and Pensions. We have had ongoing discussions with both the ranking member of that subcommittee and the ranking member of the full committee, so I think this is to be continued.

I would say on the mental health part of the rule, the urgency is right now, as I outlined in my opening comment, we will have to continue to work with and hopefully will in good faith because all of these issues are on mental health, particularly for young people. I have agreed in my conversations with my friends, the ranking members, Ms. Foxx and Mr. Allard, and I look forward to continuing that. I think there is a real urgency on that.

On the trust, I respectfully disagree. Given the level of inequality in this country right now, I think it is really important that we support competition in the marketplace, and the Federal Trade Commission needs the resources to make sure that that happens.

The PAVA bill obviously has bipartisan support.

On all of these bills, I am anxious to get them off the floor today as a rule and look forward to seeing the continued debate tomorrow on the specific bills and the outcome of those bills.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. FISCHBACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to my colleague from California (Ms. LOFGREN).

Mr. Speaker, today, I reluctantly rise in opposition to this rule and will vote "no."

I am a supporter of all three bills covered by this rule as they were originally introduced. I am even the cosponsor of Representative NEUSS's bill to increase filing fees. However, very unfortunately, this rule advances a modified version of that bill. It tacks on provisions from Representative BUCK's antitrust enforcement venue bill, and these antitrust venue provisions are unwise public policy.

I vocally opposed them during the Committee on the Judiciary markup and have dutifully kept my leadership apprised of my opposition to them since that time.

Despite proponents trying to sell these venue provisions as non-controversial, I am far from the only Member with concerns.

Furthermore, in a highly unusual move, the Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts wrote to Congress outlining their serious concerns with these venue policy provisions. Opposition also comes in letters from the Progressive Policy Institute and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Proponents argue that State attorneys general are in favor. Well, I understand it was sold to them as a non-controversial provision. Of course, they would be in favor. It makes life easier for them. It is very in favor of antitrust lawyers.

Serious issues outlined by the Administrative Office of the Courts, and it doesn't make this good, wise policy.

So, very reluctantly, I will vote "no." I would gladly support today's rule if these venue provisions were not tacked onto the other good bills.

Mr. Speaker, I include in the Record the letters from the Administrative Office of the United States Courts, the Progressive Policy Institute, and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

An Op-Ed on the issue of

Hon. KEVIN McCARTHY, Minority Leader, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. LEADER: I write regarding H.R. 3460, the “State Antitrust Enforcement Venue Act of 2021,” which was ordered reported as amended by the Committee on the Judiciary on June 24, 2021. Neither the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation (“Panel”) nor the relevant committees of the Judicial Conference of the United States (“Conference”) have had the opportunity to analyze this bill thoroughly. Considering the pervasive federal, Judiciary and the efficient administration of justice, I offer for your consideration the following initial observations. These comments are neither expressions of support for, nor opposition to the bill. Nevertheless, I hope they are helpful and note that pending a comprehensive analysis of the Panel and the relevant Conference committees, additional comments may be submitted.

BACKGROUND

Section 1407 was enacted in 1968, in the wake of a large multidistrict antitrust litigation involving alleged conspiracies to divide businesses and fix prices in multiple parts of the country. That litigation encompassed more than a thousand actions in numerous federal judicial districts brought, in large part, by public utilities against virtual manufacturers of electrical equipment. The sudden influx of civil antitrust actions led to the creation of ad hoc procedures to coordinate the litigation before a smaller number of judges to eliminate duplicative discovery and pretrial proceedings.

Section 1407 was intended to serve as a permanent solution to the problem that large multidistrict litigations pose to the federal Judiciary’s ability to administer its civil docket efficiently and justly. The statute created a panel of seven circuit and district judges, no two of whom shall be from the same circuit, which is authorized to transfer civil actions involving common questions of fact and pending in different districts to a single district for coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings. See 28 U.S.C. § 1407(a). To the extent that any of the other forms of transfer and consolidation, transfer for coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings under Section 1407 is referred to as “centralization.” The Panel may transfer actions for centralized pretrial proceedings only if it determines that transfer will be for the convenience of the parties and witnesses and will promote the just and efficient conduct of such actions. Id. Civil actions transferred to multidistrict litigation (MDL) proceedings are remanded by the Panel at the conclusion of pretrial proceedings to their transferor districts (i.e., trial is conducted in the district of original filing), unless the actions were terminated during the course of pretrial proceedings.

Over the past fifty years, MDLs have encompassed a wide variety of civil litigation brought in federal courts. These litigations have always constituted a core category of cases subject to centralization. Section 1407 contains one exception with respect to trust MDLs—enforcement proceedings by the United States arising under the federal antitrust laws are not subject to transfer under Section 1407. See 28 U.S.C. § 1407(g). Congress has amended Section 1407 only once. As part of the Hart Scott Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976, Congress added subsection (h), which authorizes the Panel to consolidate and transfer actions brought under 15 U.S.C. § 15c (i.e., State parens patriae actions) for both pretrial purposes and trial. See 28 U.S.C. § 1407(h).

CONCLUSIONS

H.R. 3460 would amend 28 U.S.C. § 1407 to limit the Panel’s ability to centralize civil actions brought by States under the antitrust laws of the United States and delete the exception added by the Hart Scott Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976. Congress to date has never amended Section 1407 to restrict the Panel’s ability to centralize civil actions. This instance raises several concerns that merit Congress’s consideration.

H.R. 3460 May Negatively Impact the Efficiency and Conduct of Antitrust MDLs

The Panel’s role in multidistrict antitrust litigation is unique. The Panel is an appropriate, permanent solution to the problem that large multidistrict antitrust actions pose. As such, the Panel’s ability to centralize State antitrust actions could negatively impact the efficiency and conduct of antitrust MDLs.
antitrust MDLs. When the Panel centralizes actions under Section 1407, it considers whether centralization will enhance convenience and efficiency with respect to the parties, with the federal judiciary as a whole—the Panel does not limit its consideration to the impact on any one party in isolation. In general, MDL litigation is most efficiently and consistently handled centralized before a single judge. Doing so minimizes the potential for duplicative discovery and motion practice, eliminates the potential for pretrial schedules or pretrial rulings, and conserves the resources of the parties, counsel, and the Judiciary. To the extent there are actions with different legal issues under the MDL, judges may coordinate pretrial proceedings to facilitate any appropriate and necessary coordination and antitrust actions brought by the State Antitrust Enforcement Venue Act, treats from the national nature of many markets by attempting to centralize antitrust law on a state-by-state basis. It makes this shift by preventing venue transfers for antitrust cases brought by state attorneys general in favor of a system where states can bring antitrust claims against companies with more control over the venue in which these cases are carried out. A major change the bill will have unforeseen consequences in a variety of antitrust situations. It is for this and the following reasons we urge you to oppose H.R. 3460, which is incorporated in the House Rules Committee notice hearing for the modified version of H.R. 3463, the Merger Filing Fee Modernization Act.

H.R. 3460 Could Undermine the Interest of States

Excluding State antitrust actions from MDL proceedings could adversely affect the interests of the States. While States might gain greater autonomy with respect to their own findings, they lose the ability to participate in and influence the centralized proceedings. Collaboration between private plaintiffs and State Attorney General actions due to injury to the government itself—complainants under the antitrust laws—shall not include section 4A of the Act of October 15, 1914, as added July 7, 1955 (69 Stat. 282; 15 U.S.C. 15a)).

In addition, States may bring federal antitrust claims on behalf of their citizens who have suffered harm due to the alleged anticompetitive conduct (pares patriae actions). Those citizens may be class members in private antitrust actions. Indeed, Section 1407 does not preempt federal antitrust actions based on State parens patriae notice provisions on State parens patriae actions notice and opt out requirements akin to those for private class actions under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23. Courts also carefully select a judge who will be best positioned to coordinate state and private antitrust actions.

The Chamber will consider including votes related to this legislation in our “How They Voted” scorecard.

The egregious provisions of the bill include:

Venue. While no longer retroactive as it was in previous drafts of the bill, the Multi District Litigation (MDL) provision would force firms into simultaneously defending against private litigants, the federal government, and various states in dozens of different courtrooms around the country. The Administrative Office of the United States Courts indicates that such legislation could harm MDL participants more generally by harming efficiency and administration and hamper coordination of state and federal enforcement actions with MDLs. Moreover, these problems would be compounded when states employ private, outside contingency fee attorneys to maximize profits through litigation, rather than to protect consumers or competition.

Transparency and Fees. Only a handful of the thousands of mergers filed each year present potential competition concerns. Yet, the agencies have refused to meet the statutory deadlines for process and accountability under the Hart-Scott-Rodino (HSR) Act. Rather, regulators issue notice letters to firms that essentially dare companies to close mergers at the risk of future action. It is unacceptable to engage in abusive procedural gimmicks. Congress should not raise merger fees when agencies are currently engaging in process violations.

Foreign Subsidy Notification Provision. Despite efforts to improve the subsidy notification provisions, they remain un-administrable. The legislation provides no clear definition as to what constitutes a subsidy, there is no definition as to what qualifies as a “country of concern,” and the disclosure of subsidies has zero bearing on merger review and the merger standard under the law. Subsidies involved in how a deal is financed are not a concern under the antitrust laws, and concerns tied to subsidies the merging parties have received will not result in the government successfully blocking the merger as a remedy to predatory pricing concerns.

The Chamber urges you to oppose this legislation.

Sincerely,

EVAN JENKINS, Senior Vice President, U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. DeSAULNIER. Mr. Speaker, I always say that I respect and admire my friend from the San Francisco Bay Area. Sometimes, we disagree.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. FISCHBACH. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. BUCK).

Mr. BUCK. Mr. Speaker, Big Tech is crushing competition and crushing conservative speech. H.R. 3843 contains three provisions that will help America with Big Tech.

The first gives State attorneys general the ability to file their lawsuits and keep those lawsuits in their States. The 48 State attorneys general have sworn to Congress to move this bill forward. It received broad bipartisan support in the Committee on the Judiciary.

The second is a bill that Senator HAWLEY and our colleague, Congresswoman FITZGERALD, have supported. It basically prohibits China from buying small high-tech companies so that they can steal our innovation.

The third bill that is combined with H.R. 3843 raises filing fees. Make no mistake, there are controls on these filing fees. They have to be appropriated for the FTC by the Appropriations Committee. That is a control. Senator Grassley would have under Republican control in the next Congress, and it will be controlled so that nobody in the FTC is using these funds in an inappropriate way, other than reviewing the mergers at issue.

Mr. Speaker, my friend Senator Cruz has said it absolutely correctly: The greatest threat to democracy in this country is Big Tech.

Senator Grassley, Senator COTTON, and Senator GRASSLEY support the House version of this bill because it is a conservative bill, a bipartisan bill, and a bill that will help America deal with Big Tech. I hope my colleagues will support it.

Mr. DESAULNIER. Mr. Speaker, I include in the record the names and correspondence of several organizations I will mention just briefly. These are 40 different organizations that have written to Congress that H.R. 3843, the Merger Filing Fee Modernization Act.

Mr. DESAULNIER. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. FISCHBACH. Mr. Speaker, if we defeat the previous question, Republicans will add to the rule allowing for the immediate consideration of H.R. 6184, the HALT Fentanyl Act.

I ask unanimous consent to insert the text of my amendment into the RECORD, along with extraneous material, immediately prior to the vote on the previous question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mrs. FISCHBACH. Mr. Speaker, over 100,000 people died from fentanyl overdoses in a 1-year span, according to the CDC. That is a 25 percent increase from the year before.

Fentanyl is now the number one cause of death for Americans ages 18 to 45. I think we can all agree that something must be done to put a stop to this heartbreaking epidemic.

Fentanyl has been temporarily classified as a schedule I substance. This classification strengthens law enforcement’s ability to prosecute fentanyl traffickers, and DEA reports that it has acted as an effective deterrent.

HALT Fentanyl Act would make the schedule I classification permanent and would also promote research by removing regulations and streamlining the research process. We should do everything we possibly can to put an end to the devastation caused by fentanyl in this country, and the HALT Fentanyl Act is one piece of the puzzle that could make a real difference.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. GRIFFITH) to speak further on the amendment.

Mr. GRIFFITH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the previous question so that we can immediately consider my bill, H.R. 6184, the Halt All Lethal Trafficking of Fentanyl Act.

Every Member of this body knows someone who has been affected by the drug overdose epidemic plaguing our country.

Recent provisional data from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention indicates that during 2021 there were more than 107,000 overdose deaths that occurred in the United States, an increase of nearly 15 percent from the previous year.

These record numbers are due in large part to the increasing presence of fentanyl and fentanyl analogues, which are approximately 100 times more potent than morphine and 50 times more potent than heroin.

Fentanyl has a proven medical use, it is considered a schedule II narcotic. But illicit derivatives of fentanyl, also called fentanyl analogues or fentanyl-related substances, do not often demonstrate a medical value. Right now they are considered schedule I substances, but only because of a temporary scheduling order which expires on December 31.

My bill aims to curb overdose deaths by permanently scheduling fentanyl analogues as schedule I substances. This will strengthen law enforcement’s ability to prosecute fentanyl traffickers and act as a deterrent.
The HALT Fentanyl Act also promotes research by removing barriers to that research. In the Energy and Commerce Committee, we heard there are as many as 4,800 analogues. Our experts at the NIH, the FDA, and other agencies have studied roughly 30 of these 4,800 analogues.

By encouraging research of schedule I substances like fentanyl analogues, we can better understand how these substances work and how we can prevent potentially harmful impacts in the future.

The problem is that if this law expires and doesn’t become permanent, those 4,800 analogues are arguably legal—I would submit they are legal—and we have to pass a law on each one of them. The HALT Fentanyl Act makes it so we don’t have to do that.

Should we discover that one of those 4,800 or maybe two have a legitimate medical purpose, then we can come back in and consider that, but it is a whole separate matter to figure out what we have already done research on when we have done research on 30 of 4,800 analogues than it is to say, wait a minute, we are going to make all of these legal, and then figure out which ones of them are to be dangerous to the American public. I would submit they are all dangerous and that Congress must pass the HALT Fentanyl Act now.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, fentanyl is now the number one cause of death for U.S. adults ages 18 to 45, surpassing suicide, COVID-19, and car accidents.

Mr. Speaker, we have all heard stories about how drug dealers are using social media and apps, like Snapchat, to infiltrate chats with teens or young kids and sell them these illicit drugs. We have no idea what they are selling and whether or not the drug is laced with fentanyl.

Two Congresses ago, the Energy and Commerce Committee worked hard on the SUPPORT Act to deal with what at the time was called an opiate crisis, but we have moved on from that, and now we have a fentanyl crisis.

This is a different disease. It demands attention by the Department of Health and Human Services and the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Mr. Speaker, a crisis on our southern border greater than we have ever seen due to the policies put in place by the Biden administration. Almost 4 out of 5 immigrants have crossed our southern border in fiscal year 2022. In 2021 alone, border officials encountered nearly 2 million illegal immigrants and seized over 11,000 pounds of fentanyl. This is a public health crisis that demands immediate attention.

H.R. 6184, the HALT Fentanyl Act, places fentanyl-related analogues into schedule I of the Controlled Substances Act and establishes a new registration process for schedule I research funding by the National Institutes of Health and Human Services and the Department of Veterans Affairs.

The move to permanently schedule fentanyl as schedule I is a necessary tool for the Drug Enforcement Administration to work with other agencies and law enforcement officials to address the threat of illicit fentanyl.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, fentanyl is now the number one cause of death for Americans 18 to 45, surpassing suicide, COVID-19, and car accidents.

This is a different disease. It demands attention by the Department of Health and Human Services and the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Human Services and the Department of Veterans Affairs.

The failure of the Biden administration to control the southern border has resulted in record levels of deadly synthetic drugs, like fentanyl, pouring directly into American communities. So far this fiscal year, over 10,000 pounds of fentanyl have been seized at the southern border, with even more slipping through into our country. That is enough fentanyl to kill every American eight times.

There is little doubt that the surge of drug seizures at our border is closely connected to the surge of drug overdose deaths in the United States. In fact, every 7/4 minutes, someone in the United States dies from fentanyl poisoning. Every 7/4 minutes, there is an opportunity here for us to work together to help stem the flow of deadly fentanyl and its analogues into our country.

In my home State of Georgia, fentanyl overdose deaths in teens are up 800 percent. 800 percent. Tragic overdoses like this are happening every day all over the country.

Even the CDC reports that fentanyl is now the leading cause of death in the U.S. for adults ages 18 to 45. How can anyone seriously argue that a drug 50 times more potent than heroin that almost always proves to be fatal when ingested should ever be legal?

Despite this crisis, the President did not request a single additional penny for the border crisis or the fentanyl crisis in the funding request for the CR. That is despicable.

Again, these products are manufactured illegally and are largely brought to the United States through the southern border. To save lives, we must secure the border and halt the flow of fentanyl.

We have visited the border several times to see this crisis firsthand. Unfortunately, our President has never visited our southern border. Never been there. Not even once.

With a record-high number of illegal immigrants, smugglers and cartels are using this as an entry point to traffic more fentanyl substances.

Unfortunately, President Biden and his administration have elected to leave our border wide open, inviting drug traffickers to bring fentanyl substances into the country and distribute it in our streets.

This should not be a partisan issue. Fentanyl does not discriminate. It doesn’t care if you are a Republican or a Democrat.

The individuals manufacturing and distributing fentanyl and its analogues are criminal, and they are killing us. This is not an issue that is going away. It is only getting worse every day.

If the President would visit the border, he would be able to talk to the agents firsthand and see for himself just how serious the issue is. Our communities are at risk, and our loved ones are dying. President Biden has ignored this public health crisis for far too long.

It is past time to make this scheduling classification permanent, and I am proud to support the HALT Fentanyl Act to do just that.

Mr. Speaker, let’s pass this bill, secure the border, stem the tide of the growing fentanyl crisis, and save lives.

Mr. DESAULNIER. Mr. Speaker, I include in the RECORD The Washington Post article titled: “U.S. arrests along Mexico border top 2 million a year for first time.”

[From the Washington Post, Sept. 19, 2022]

U.S. arrests along Mexico border top 2 million a year for first time

(Dismiss Nick Miroff)

U.S. authorities made more than 2 million immigration arrests along the southern border during the past 11 months, marking the first time annual enforcement statistics have exceeded that threshold, according to figures provided by senior Biden administration officials Monday.

In fiscal year 2022, U.S. Customs and Border Protection detained 263,598 migrants crossing from Mexico, the latest figures show, putting authorities on pace to tally more than 2.3 million arrests during the government’s 2022 fiscal year, which ends Sept. 30. The total, which includes some people apprehended more than once, far exceeds last year’s record of more than 1.7 million arrests.

The historic migration wave this year has been driven by soaring numbers of border-crossers from outside Mexico and Central America, the two largest traditional sources of illegal entries. Migrants from Venezuela, Nicaragua and Cuba accounted for more than one-third of those taken into custody along the southern border last month, according to Customs and Border Protection, a 175 percent increase over August 2021.
Biden administration officials blamed the governments of those countries, whose strained relations with Washington severely limit the ability of authorities to send them deportees. Some migrants apply for humanitarian protection in the United States and tend to have strong asylum claims.

"Failing communist regimes in Venezuela, Nicaragua, and Cuba are driving a new wave of migration across the Western Hemisphere, including an apparent increase in encounters at the southwest U.S. border," Customs and Border Protection Commissioner Chris Magnus, said in a statement. "Those fleeing repression and persecution face significant challenges for processing and removal," he said, using the official term for deportations.

Biden administration officials continue to insist that they are building a "safe, orderly and humane" immigration system while blaming the Trump administration for "dismantling" channels for illegal migration.

Critics of the administration officials have fallen short of meeting their refugee admission goals, and the number of migrants who have died this year attempting to cross into the U.S. states is at an all-time high. Scores have drowned in the Rio Grande in recent months, and 33 were killed in June when smugglers in Texas packed migrants into a sweltering tractor trailer with a failing cooling system.

Republican lawmakers blame the record number of migrants President Biden's universal on Trump administration border policies. Over the past several months, the Republican governors of Texas and Arizona have sent more than 10,000 migrants on buses to Washington, New York and other northern destinations to put pressure on Democrats by straining relief services in their jurisdictions.

Last week, Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis (R) shipped a planeload of Venezuelans to Martha's Vineyard in Massachusetts, transporting them to a wealthy island enclave with limited services for migrants.

Biden administration officials also say the high border numbers are distorted by repeat crossing attempts by migrants who have been previously arrested. Last month, 22 percent of those taken into custody had a prior arrest in the previous 12 months, the latest figures show.

One factor Biden administration officials blame for the repeat crossings is the Title 42 emergency public health policy, implemented at the start of the pandemic, that allows U.S. agents to rapidly "expel" some migrants back to Mexico. The Biden administration has attempted to phase it out. Title 42 was blocked in federal court last spring.

The latest figures show the percentage of border-crossers expelled under Title 42 has been falling and remains far lower under Biden than under President Donald Trump. About 36 percent of the 203,598 migrant "encounters" resulted in an expulsion last month, down from 91 percent when Biden took office.

Sen. John Cornyn (R-Texas), said Monday that the strain on Democratic-run cities will force the administration to see the border. "I see that what's happening along our border force the administration to see the border that the strain on Democratic-run cities will yield 4 minutes to the gentlewoman from Florida (Mrs. CAMMACK).

Mrs. CAMMACK. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to oppose the previous question so that we can immediately consider H.R. 6184, the Fentanyl Trafficking Act.

Before I begin, I have to address something that was said just now. I am the wife of a first responder. My husband sees these overdoses every single day.

In my community, in just this year, we have apprehended bricks of fentanyl stamped with border cartels' stamps on them. We know it is coming from the border. We know it is being trafficked across, both in trucks at ports of entry but also elsewhere. We know this to be a fact, and if we do not secure the border this will continue to happen.

I will say, as the wife of a first responder, someone whose husband has continually responded to these calls and is reviving people who have been poisoned by fentanyl, it is not a matter of if he, himself, overdoses, it is when. And that is going to be a very bad day because I think that Members of this Chamber need to be held responsible for the open border policies that this administration continues to allow. But I digress.

Mr. Speaker, 108,000. That is the number of Americans who died from drug overdoses last year. Of those, more than 80,000 were connected to opioids. The lion's share of those opioid deaths were linked to fentanyl.

Now, it is important that we remember that these numbers are actually people. They are mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters, daughters, parents,unts, aunts. They are people. Not statistics. They are humans. They represent millions of families who will never see their son, daughter, husband, wife, brother, sister, father ever again. The millions of people who have been shattered and feel helpless, broken, and angry as these horrific substances destroyed their communities and their family.

These thousands of victims represent communities crushed by this epidemic, swept away by the flood of lethal substances that are ripping apart the fabric of our society. These thousands of people lost lay bare the denial, the weakness, and the lack of compassion that our colleagues across the aisle have shown through their ambivalence toward border security, our Nation's security, as literally tons of fentanyl is trucked and walked across the southern border and into our communities.

I mention my story, because, few months ago, a mother from my district cried in my office as she talked about her beautiful daughter, Mackenzie, who died from fentanyl poisoning, not overdosing, poisoning, after taking what she thought was a Xanax. She was 26 years old.

Now, unfortunately, Mackenzie's story is not unique. It is not rare. Her mother, Rebecca, is now dedicating her life to saving mothers across the country from the pain that she has endured from a preventable loss and their daughters from Mackenzie's fate.
the gentleman from Virginia, for his great work and for sticking with this bill and seeing it across the finish line. I urge my colleagues, please, think with your hearts, perhaps in vain but with hope, to defeat the previous question and immediately consider this bill, the HALT Fentanyl Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Ms. McCOULUM). Members are reminded to direct their remarks to the Chair.

Mr. DESAULNIER. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. I would say in brief response that I have great respect, obviously, for our emergency responders, I appreciate what the gentlewoman’s husband does for a living and what they have to go through. We all agree that we have to support thoughtful oversight to stop these drugs from getting into the hands of people who it can do great damage.

It has been to the border multiple times, both as a Member of Congress and as a member of the California State Legislature. We have a problem, and it has been a problem through Republican administrations and Democratic administrations, both in State houses in the border States and here in Washington, D.C.

We are not for open borders. We want to stop people being harmed by illicit drugs. So the idea that we are not, I would respectfully say that is not accurate.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. FISCHBACH. Madam Speaker, I am prepared to close, and I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. DESAULNIER. Madam Speaker, while I want to be in favor of these bills, Republicans are in agreement that the underlying problems these bills seek to solve are valid and warrant our attention. There are serious flaws with these bills as written that must be considered first. H.R. 7780 is a one-size-fits-all strategy that will help provide the resources to improve mental health outcomes and educational attainment.

Madam Speaker, I urge a ‘yes’ vote on the rule and the previous question. The material previously referred to by Mrs. FISCHBACH is as follows:

AMENDMENT TO HOUSE RESOLUTION 1396

At the end of the resolution, add the following:

SEC. 11. Immediately upon adoption of this resolution, the House shall proceed to the consideration of the House resolution (H.R. 6184) to amend the Controlled Substances Act with respect to the scheduling of fentanyl-related substances, and for other purposes of the Congress against consideration of the bill are waived. The bill shall be considered as read. All points of order against provisions in the bill are waived. The previous question shall be considered as ordered on the bill and on any amendment thereto to final passage without intervening motion except: (1) one hour of debate equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Energy and Commerce; and (2) one motion to recommit.

SEC. 13. Clause (c) of rule XIX shall not apply to the consideration of H.R. 6184.

Mr. DESAULNIER. Madam Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DESAULNIER. Madam Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

We have a lot of numbers, particularly on the part of the rule that is the Mental Health Matters Act, which I am proud to be the author of with Chairman SCOTT.

Suicide is the second leading cause of death for ages of Americans 10 to 24; second for 12 to 18.

For adolescents, depression, substance abuse, and suicide are extremely important concerns—an epidemic, I would say—among adolescents age 12 to 17.

In 2018 to 2019, 15.1 percent of young Americans had major depressive episodes; 36.7 had persistent feelings of sadness and hopelessness; 4.1 had a substance abuse disorder; 15 percent seriously considered attempting suicide; 16 percent made a suicide plan; and 10 percent attempted suicide.

Madam Speaker, 10 percent of America’s young people have attempted suicide: 2.5 percent made suicide attempts requiring medical treatment.

For all those reasons, the part of the rule that is the Mental Health Matters Act is extremely important to this country. Is it perfect? Of course not, from every perspective of 535 Members of Congress and 435 Members of the House. But the need is too urgent, in my view, to wait. That is why it is so important that not just this rule passes but the bill is passed.

We need to put resources in the FTC with the most income inequality and consolidation of wealth through mergers. Not always in our best interest. It is important that the FTC has the resources it needs to actually enforce the statutes as they currently have.

Madam Speaker, we need to help Americans, and specifically teachers and students, get back to doing what they do best, teaching and learning.

The legislation before us on the rule will help provide the resources to improve mental health outcomes and educational attainment.

Madam Speaker, I urge a ‘yes’ vote on the rule and the previous question.

The material previously referred to by Mrs. FISCHBACH is as follows:

ADVANCING UNIFORM TRANSPORTATION OPPORTUNITIES FOR VETERANS ACT

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 3304) to amend title 38, United States Code, to authorize the Secretary of Veterans Affairs to provide or assist in providing an additional vehicle adapted for operation by disabled individuals to certain eligible persons, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Clerk reads the title of the bill. The text of the bill is as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE. This Act may be cited as the “Advancing Uniform Transportation Opportunities for Veterans Act” or the “AUTO for Veterans Act.”

SEC. 2. ELIGIBILITY FOR DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS PROVISION OF ADDITIONAL AUTOMOBILE OR OTHER ADAPTED EQUIPMENT. Section 3003(a) of title 38, United States Code, as amended—

(1) in paragraph (1), by striking “paragraph (2)” and inserting “paragraphs (2) and (3)”; and

(2) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

“(3) The Secretary may provide or assist in providing an eligible person with an additional automobile or other conveyance under this chapter—

“(A) if more than 25 years have elapsed since the eligible person most recently received an automobile or other conveyance under this chapter; or

“(B) beginning on the day that is 10 years after date of the enactment of the AUTO for Veterans Act, which has led to this bill being considered on the floor today.

Currently, disabled veterans are only allowed a single grant to modify a vehicle to provide them mobility. This means there are cars that are 25, 30, or even 40 years old on the road because the veteran has no other option. When you consider that the average life of an automobile is less than 12 years, we are asking veterans to incur additional costs and risks by driving excessively old vehicles for decades.

The AUTO for Veterans Act finally expands eligibility for disabled veterans to obtain vehicles modified for their disabilities more than once in their lifetime.

Upon passage into law, H.R. 3304 would immediately allow veterans who have waited decades to acquire a new vehicle and, after giving those veterans priority, would eventually expand the benefit to cover those veterans who updated their vehicle 10 years ago.

This legislation also expands the definition of “medical services” to include certain vehicle modifications so that veterans can attend medical appointments.

This legislation has long been a priority for veterans and is supported by DAV, VFW, PVA, and countless other veterans organizations. This legislation is fully paid for and delivers for disabled veterans who gave us so much.

I thank the ranking member for his support of this legislation and providing the balance of my time.

I rise in support of the AUTO for Veterans Act. This legislation would expand access to the Department of Veterans Affairs’ automobile grant, which assists severely disabled veterans.

Veterans, especially those in rural communities, face transportation challenges, as we all know, that affect their quality of life and independence. Expanding the VA auto grant program is a commonsense step toward improving this program for men and women who made tremendous sacrifices serving our country.

Improving access to safe and reliable transportation for disabled veterans will ensure they can maintain their independence and lead fulfilling, healthy lives.

I introduced the AUTO for Veterans Act, a bill nearly identical to this legislation, in the last Congress, and it did receive support from numerous veterans service organizations and garnered over 70 cosponsors, including Democrats and Republicans. I am glad that my Democrat colleagues were able to see the merit of this legislation, and I do look forward to the Senate taking action on this legislation and providing much-needed support and independence for our wounded veterans.

Madam Speaker, I encourage all of my colleagues to support this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 minutes in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 3304, as amended.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California (Mr. BOST)?

There was no objection.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 3304, as amended, the AUTO for Veterans Act.

I was proud to join Representative LIZZIE FLETCHER in introducing H.R. 3304, and I thank her for her tireless work with the veteran community, which has led to this bill being considered on the floor today.

For too long, disabled veterans have had to drive vehicles that have logged hundreds of thousands of miles. This bill would help a deserving population with the safe and reliable transportation they need. I am also pleased that this bill is fully offset.

This bill will help many disabled veterans, and it has my full support.

I thank the PVA and the DAV for their continued advocacy for this proposal.

Madam Speaker, I encourage all Members to support this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Madam Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. MEUSER).

Mr. MEUSER. Madam Speaker, I thank Ranking Member Bost for his leadership on this important bill.

I rise in support of the AUTO for Veterans Act. This legislation would expand access to the Department of Veterans Affairs’ automobile grant, which assists severely disabled veterans.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California (Mr.
TAKANO) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 3304, as amended.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the ayes, the ayes have it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California (Mr. TAKANO) and the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. BOST) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California.

GENTLEMAN FROM CALIFORNIA

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have their names inscribed in the record in which to revise and extend their remarks and insert extraneous material on H.R. 8888, as amended.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the insertion of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 8888, as amended, the Food Security for All Veterans Act.

This bill establishes an office dedicated to ending veteran hunger at the VA that will collaborate with internal and external groups to develop and implement policies and procedures to identify and treat veterans at risk of or experiencing food insecurity.

Food insecurity can create or exacerbate other health maladies and is one of many contributing factors that has led to increased suicide rates, diabetes, heart disease, and depression. Addressing veteran hunger is critical to this committee’s suicide prevention efforts.

Madam Speaker, I thank our newest Member from Alaska, Congresswoman PELTOLA, for taking up this important issue and prioritizing veterans.

The VA has made tremendous strides in its work to end veteran hunger. The VA leads an interagency working group and regularly collaborates with its Federal counterparts on this issue. The VA has put in place a multi-pronged strategy to accelerate progress from California.
and drive transformative change in our country to end hunger.

This legislation is endorsed by numerous veterans service organizations and hunger advocacy organizations, including Student Veterans of America, MAZON: A Jewish Response to Hunger, Food Action, Homeless Veterans, and Disabled American Veterans, American Federation of Government Employees, National Coalition for Homeless Veterans, Iraq and Afghanistan Veterans of America, and Blue Star Families.

Madam Speaker, I include in the RECORD the following letters from MAZON: A Jewish Response to Hunger and the Food Research & Action Center.

[MAZON, Sept. 23, 2022]

STATEMENT FOR THE RECORD IN SUPPORT OF H.R. 8888 SUBMITTED BY MAZON: A JEWISH RESPONSE TO HUNGER

A Jewish Response to Hunger is pleased to share this statement for the record in support of H.R. 8888, the Food Security for All Veterans Act. This bill, which would establish an Office of Food Security at the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, represents a vital step to address the scope of food insecurity in the American population—especially experienced by veterans and military families. The Office of Food Security at the VA would be a comprehensively coordinated agency tasked with instituting new programs and policies that ensure that all veterans and their families are able to access the nutrition assistance benefits and policies available in this country.

We write to encourage Congress to take a comprehensive approach to address the disproportionately high rate of food insecurity among veterans and their families. While federal agencies have long advocated for mandatory food insecurity screenings and SNAP eligibility screening at the VA, much more still remains to be done on this front to connect food insecure veterans with SNAP and increase their access to nutrition assistance benefits. The Office of Food Security at the VA is an important next step to integrate food security considerations into the VA’s broader efforts to improve health outcomes for all veterans. It would also create new opportunities for the VA to work collaboratively with USDA, Department of Housing and Urban Development, and other federal agencies to improve outcomes and support problems with food insecurity.

IOM’s 2018 report, “Food Insecurity Among Veterans,” provides a concise analysis and calls out the importance of prioritizing this issue and implementing policies that would support veterans to improve food security.

Food insecurity is a significant public health issue for veterans. According to the Department of Veterans Affairs, 14% of veterans experience food insecurity, compared to 12% of non-veterans in the United States. This estimate is based on the USDA’s Food Insecurity Experience agencies conducted through COVID-19-relief legislation and the recent update to the Thrifty Food Plan by USDA.

It should be noted that, while the temporary boost to SNAP benefits and other COVID-19 assistance provided by the federal government has helped; most notably, the recent adoption of the Thrifty Food Plan by USDA, the Office of Food Security at the VA will be an important next step to address this important public health issue.

In the United States, this responsibility to care for the vulnerable in our midst, without judgement or precondition. In the United States, this responsibility to provide is extended to include all of the charitable and faith-based organizations that are already providing food assistance to veterans and their families. The implicit abdication of responsibility by the federal government to the charitable sector is unsustainable and dangerous as it shifts attention away from the need to strengthen and improve access to SNAP and other federal programs that serve as the front line response to veteran food insecurity.

It is time to recognize the VA’s goals and priorities in the effort to provide a comprehensive response to veteran food insecurity. The implicit abdication of responsibility by the federal government to the charitable sector is unsustainable and dangerous as it shifts attention away from the need to strengthen and improve access to SNAP and other federal programs that serve as the front line response to veteran food insecurity. The implicit abdication of responsibility by the federal government to the charitable sector is unsustainable and dangerous as it shifts attention away from the need to strengthen and improve access to SNAP and other federal programs that serve as the front line response to veteran food insecurity. The implicit abdication of responsibility by the federal government to the charitable sector is unsustainable and dangerous as it shifts attention away from the need to strengthen and improve access to SNAP and other federal programs that serve as the front line response to veteran food insecurity.
Congress, with all relevant federal agencies, and with VSOs and other community partners, to build this political will and do right by those who have bravely served our country. And even have they about being able to feed themselves or those in their family. We owe them much more than the half-measures and broken promises of our previous efforts to do so.

Hungry veterans cannot eat another report or hearing transcript. MAZON urges Congress to enact the recommendations included in H.R. 8888 by adding an Office of Food Security. To that end, we look forward to the House Veterans Affairs Subcommittee on Economic Opportunity. This critical legislation will amplify the Department of Veterans Affairs’ efforts to address food insecurity among veterans and their families.

FRAC works to improve the nutrition, health, and well-being of tens of millions of people struggling against poverty-related hunger in the United States through advocacy, partnerships, and by advancing bold and equitable policy solutions. FRAC has championed work to address food insecurity among veterans and participates in the Military Family Advisory Network and Veterans Health Administration (VHA) efforts to screen and intervene to address food insecurity among veterans.

Food insecurity, even marginal food insecurity (a less severe form), is detrimental to the health, development, and well-being of people and is associated with some of the most common and costly health problems in the United States—diabetes and heart disease, poverty, and low educational attainment, and income, the risk of food insecurity. A growing body of research links these programs to a wide range of positive outcomes for families and individuals. Federal nutrition programs improve dietary intake and nutrition quality; support healthy growth of children; boost learning and academic achievement; reduce poverty and increase family economic security; and lower health care spending.

Ensuring access to SNAP, in particular, is a critical step in supporting food security among veterans. Nationwide, according to the USDA, 1,174,027 veterans (6.6 percent of all veterans) received SNAP benefits, improving veterans’ purchasing power necessary to buy food in a dignified way at military commissaries and other food retail outlets. Data show that only 59 percent of eligible veterans were enrolled in SNAP. The USDA has identified veterans as a priority population for outreach plans, including partnership with local VHA facilities. Accessing SNAP not only helps veterans everywhere put food on the table, it reduces poverty, supports economic stability, and improves health outcomes.

FRAC looks forward to supporting the Department of Veterans Affairs’ work to address food insecurity. Alongside increasing veteran participation in SNAP and other federal nutrition programs, eradicating food insecurity becomes the core concern of their families will require a national response that addresses underlying causes (e.g., a lack of well-paying jobs and a lack of affordable housing). This draft legislation is an important step in the right direction.

Francisco, Madam Speaker, I urge the rest of my colleagues to support this legislation and ensure no veteran goes hungry, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The Speaker pro tempore. The previous speaker, Mr. TAKANO, has the floor, and we are proud it is coming out of the House Veterans Affairs Committee.

This legislation recognizes the critical role federal nutrition programs play in addressing food insecurity among veterans and their families. Federal nutrition programs are among our nation’s most important, proven, and cost-effective public interventions to not only address food insecurity but also to improve health, nutrition, and well-being.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentlewoman from Alaska (Mrs. PELTOLA), my new friend who is a newly elected Member of Congress. I think this is her first piece of legislation to be brought to the floor, and we are proud it is coming out of the Veterans’ Affairs Committee.

Mrs. PELTOLA. Madam Speaker, I thank the chairman for providing consideration of my legislation today. I particularly want to share my appreciation with committee Chair TAKANO and Ranking Member Bost on the Veterans’ Affairs Committee for moving quickly on this important issue for the 18 million veterans in our country.

Madam Speaker, I rise today to speak on a topic of vital importance to my State where veterans comprise about 10 percent of the population, and I know many veterans who face food insecurity.

This is my first bill as a Member of the U.S. House of Representatives, which is appropriate. There is nothing more important than ensuring our veterans and their families can enjoy a safe and healthy life after their service for our country.

This bill would create an Office of Food Security within the Department of Veterans Affairs. The office would be charged with providing information to veterans on the availability and eligibility requirements for Federal nutrition assistance programs. The office would work with other government agencies to implement policies to help veterans at risk or experiencing food insecurity.

A report just 4 months ago from the Center for Strategic and International Studies was clear, “Food insecurity among U.S. veterans and military families is a national security concern: it multiplies stress on Active Duty personnel, diminishes well-being among service members and their families, and increases stress factors among U.S. veterans and military families. We owe them much more than the half-measures and broken promises of our previous efforts to do so.

By creating an Office of Food Security, this legislation represents a critical step to prioritize, accelerate, and sustain the Department of Veterans Affairs’ work to address food insecurity among those who have sacrificed so much for our nation. Of note, the Veterans Health Administration has screened millions of patients for food insecurity and connected veterans and their families to crucial federal nutrition programs, like the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC), school meals, child care meals, summer meals, and emergency food sites, such as food banks and pantries. By providing funding to build out these efforts to screen and intervene veterans at risk for food insecurity, this legislation will enshrine the importance of this work, identify gaps in services, and connect veterans to available federal nutrition programs and other resources.

This legislation recognizes the critical role the federal nutrition programs play in addressing food insecurity among veterans and their families. Federal nutrition programs are among our nation’s most important, proven, and cost-effective public interventions to not only address food insecurity but also to improve health, nutrition, and well-being. EXPANDING HOME LOANS FOR GUARD AND RESERVISTS ACT

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 8875) to amend title 38, United States Code, to expand eligibility of members of the National Guard for housing loans guaranteed by the Secretary of Veterans Affairs, as amended.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 8875

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Expanding Home Loans for Guard and Reservists Act”.

SEC. 2. EXPANSION OF ELIGIBILITY OF MEMBERS OF THE NATIONAL GUARD FOR HOUSING LOANS GUARANTEED BY THE SECRETARY OF VETERANS AFFAIRS.

Section 3701(b)(7) of title 38, United States Code, is amended by striking “full-time National Guard duty” and inserting “active service”.

SEC. 3. DETERMINATION OF BUDGETARY EFFECTS.

The budgetary effects of this Act, for the purpose of complying with the Statutory Pay-As-You-Go Act of 2010, shall be determined by reference to the latest statement titled “Budgetary Effects of PAYGO Legislation” for this Act, submitted for printing in the Congressional Record by the Chairman of the House Budget Committee, provided that such statement has been submitted prior to the vote on passage.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California (Mr. TAKANO) and the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. BOST) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and to insert extraneous material on H.R. 8875, as amended.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 8875, as amended, the Expanding Home Loans for Guard and Reservists Act.

One of the most valuable benefits veterans earn is the VA home loan benefit, which can provide them a head start in their transition to civilian life.

That is why 2 years ago we passed into law an expansion to grant National Guard members credit for the days they serve on Active Duty. However, through oversight and case work we have learned how some veterans are missing out on this benefit.

This legislation makes a technical fix, which will define eligibility by counting Active Duty for training when guard and reservists are training for things like Special Forces, Aviation, or Linguistics.

These servicemembers deserve eligibility because they are going through the same courses and training as their Active Duty counterparts, taking the same risks, and passing the very same requirements.

Guard and reservists are at a greater disadvantage because they are removed from the civilian workforce for extended periods of time. After their training is complete, they transition back to civilian life, move back home from the base where they were training, find employment, and find a place to live.

This technical fix makes sure that guard and reservists don’t miss out on using a great benefit from the VA home loan program.

I thank the gentleman from New York (Mr. RYAN), our newest Member, for taking up this issue and making veterans a priority. As an added bonus, this fix actually saves the Federal Government money by bringing more borrowers into the attractive low rates of the VA home loan program.

Madam Speaker, I wholeheartedly support this bill, and I urge my colleagues to do the same.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise today in reluctant support of the Expanding Home Loans for Guard and Reservists Act. Last Congress, my bill, H.R. 7445, proposed expanding VA home loan benefits to members of the National Guard who have served on Active Duty or full-time guard duty.

Congressman RYAN’s bill would expand the home loan benefit to members of the National Guard that are on Federal Active Duty orders for training. Unfortunately, this policy is being rushed in an election year gimmick.

Unlike other bills we are considering today, this bill has not had the benefit of legislative hearings, and I would have liked to have heard the views of the VA and its stakeholders. A hearing would have allowed us to understand the impact this legislation could have on the mortgage markets. It would also have provided insight on the effect this bill could have on recruitment of the Armed Forces.

That said, I do not want to stand in the way of legislation that can help members of the National Guard, and I reluctantly urge all my colleagues to support this bill.

Madam Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, again, I ask all my colleagues to join me in passing H.R. 8875, as amended, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. TAKANO) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 8875, as amended.

The question was taken.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. ROY. Madam Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

AMENDING TITLE 38, UNITED STATES CODE, TO ENSURE THAT THE SECRETARY OF VETERANS AFFAIRS REPAYS MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES FOR CERTAIN CONTRIBUTIONS MADE BY SUCH MEMBERS TOWARDS POST-9/11 EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5918) to amend title 38, United States Code, to ensure that the Secretary of Veterans Affairs repays members of the Armed Forces for certain contributions made by such members towards Post-9/11 Educational Assistance, as amended.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 5918

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. REPAYMENT OF MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES FOR CONTRIBUTIONS TOWARDS POST-9/11 EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 5918, as amended, legislation to ensure veterans can recoup the money they paid into the Montgomery GI Bill.

Under current law, veterans who do not fully access their Montgomery GI Bill can lose out on the payments they made into the program, in some cases totaling up to $1,200.

The Montgomery GI Bill is in the process of being phased out for the more generous Forever GI Bill. Many veterans may not remember the $1,200 they paid into the program in the early days of their service or even be aware that they are entitled to a refund of the unused funds.

The process to reclaim that $1,200 can be difficult, and there are times when the veteran can simply lose out on the money because they waited too long. This legislation eliminates that cumbersome process by making it so the veteran is repaid, no questions asked.

The bill is fully offset and supported by the veterans service organization community, including by Student Veterans of America.

Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. BANKS) for his work on this legislation and the VSO community for bringing this issue to our committee. I urge the rest of my colleagues to support this legislation to ensure no veteran loses out on what is owed to them.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from California (Mr. TAKANO) for his work on this legislation and theForever GI Bill.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and insert extraneous material on H.R. 7589, as amended.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

One component of a public health approach to veteran suicide prevention is ensuring that all of our Nation’s heroes have access to timely, high-quality, effective mental health care.

Madam Speaker, as we all know, September is Suicide Prevention Awareness Month. I hope everyone has the new crisis hotline number, 988, saved on their phones. If you or a veteran you care about is in crisis, please dial 988, and press 1 to reach trained responders at the Veterans Crisis Line. Again, let me repeat the number; Dial 988 and press 1 to reach trained responders at the Veterans Crisis Line.

One component of a public health approach to veteran suicide prevention is ensuring that all of our Nation’s heroes have access to timely, high-quality, effective mental health care.
mental health groups. If we can enact this into law, VA will be the first of hopefully all Federal healthcare programs to eliminate copays for mental health care every year in this way and get people the help they need.

Madam Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues on this vital piece of legislation, H.R. 7589, as amended, the REMOVE Copays Act, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST, Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 7589, the REMOVE Copays Act. As its name suggests, this bill would remove copayments from every veteran’s first three mental health outpatient visits for each calendar year.

I am pleased to support the REMOVE Copays Act today, and I hope it will encourage veterans to take better care of their mental health. September is Suicide Prevention Awareness Month, and according to the most recent data from the VA, the amount of veterans who died by suicide decreased from 2019 to 2020.

That is encouraging news. However, at least one non-VA study suggests that VA is undercounting the number of veterans who die by suicide by as much as 2.4 times. I fear that VA’s data still has not accounted for the negative effects of COVID lockdowns, isolation, and illness.

Regardless, as long as veterans continue to take their own lives, we have important work to do. Suicide is not just a mental health issue. Improving mental health has a critical role to play in stopping suicide once and for all.

I am grateful to Chairperson TAKANO for his introduction of this bill, and I hope all of my colleagues will join me in supporting it today.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I am prepared to close, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST, Madam Speaker, I encourage all of my colleagues to support the bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, again, I ask all of my colleagues to join me in passing H.R. 7589, as amended. I do thank my colleague, the ranking member. It is an example of standing where we must and finding common ground where we can.

Lastly, I close by saying, please dial 988 and press 1 to reach trained responders at the Veterans Crisis Line.

Madam Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California (Mr. TAKANO) again.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

``Subchapter II—Other Outreach Programs and Activities

§ 6320. Solid Start program

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California (Mr. TAKANO) and the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. BOST) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to read and extend their remarks and to insert extraneous material on S. 1198.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise to support S. 1198, the bipartisan, bicameral, Solid Start Act.

This bill is led by Senator HASSAN, and in the House, this legislative effort is led by my Veterans Affairs’ Committee colleague, Representative SLOTKIN.

Now, we know that the transition from Active-Duty to veteran status can bring not only new opportunities, but also substantial adjustment and stress. For some veterans, it can pose serious mental health challenges. In fact, the first year of transitioning out of military service is a very high-risk period for veterans.

VA initiated its Solid Start program to address the challenges new veterans may face during this period. VA now contacts veterans at three different periods in that first year to check in, remind veterans of benefits and services for which they are eligible, and connect them to resources.

Women veterans, like all veterans, deserve to know about all of the benefits and services they have earned with no exceptions. I have heard today that some Republican Members of this House are suddenly looking to oppose this veteran suicide prevention bill, and all because it has 16 words that simply ensure veterans are told about the range of benefits and services for which they are eligible; 16 words, when we are talking about 16 veteran suicide deaths a day.

We are talking about benefits like the GI bill, and compensation for toxic exposure presumptions, breast cancer screening, treatment for military sexual trauma, and, yes, the freedom to discuss their options around pregnancy.

All benefits they have earned through their service because they chose to serve our Nation. Well, I would say to my colleagues on the other side of the aisle to take your fight against women veterans elsewhere.

Criminalizing, infantilizing, and de-nying women veterans—take your fight elsewhere.

There is no bar that prevents VA providers from discussing a single benefit with male veterans, but my colleagues want a double standard for women veterans. This is about two lines in an entire bill meant to help veterans who have recently left Active Duty. All veterans.

Republican won’t pass this bill unless we delete women from it. I refuse to do that. Women veterans are veterans.

A conversation with a woman veteran about coming to the VA could prevent veteran from suicide. It could also prevent needless suffering and possible death from health conditions, including pregnancy.

Republicans have gotten so extreme with their fear of women having autonomy over their own bodies and lives that they are willing to play political games with veterans’ lives and tank a veteran suicide prevention bill. I would also remind those considering blocking this bill that this very same bill already passed in the House. Back on June 23 of this year, this Chamber passed the STRONG Veterans Act of 2022. It passed under a simple voice vote.

The Senate unanimously passed the Solid Start Act after VA’s new rule on abortion counseling and services had been announced.

September is National Suicide Prevention Awareness Month, and this legislation would help us better connect veterans with the resources needed to save lives. Sadly, each day, we are losing roughly 16 veterans to suicide.

I am not willing to let 16 words about women’s freedom to discuss their own benefits contained in this legislation prevent us from saving the lives of 16 veterans who die by suicide each day. I thank Senator HASSAN and Representative SLOTKIN for their work on this important issue, and I am pleased we could take up this bill during Suicide Prevention Month.

Madam Speaker, I strongly urge my colleagues to vote “yes” on S. 1198, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise in reluctant opposition to S. 1198, the Solid Start Act of 2021. The Solid Start program was created by President Trump in 2019 to better support veterans as they transition out of the military.

I know firsthand that leaving the military can be tough. When I left the military as a young marine, the only TAP program that I got was a tap on the back and a “see ya later.”

I am glad that things have improved a lot since then. The Solid Start program has helped improve servicemembers’ transitions even more.

I am a real big fan of the Solid Start program. The STRONG Act, my bill with Chairman TAKANO, includes identical language to this bill and would permanently authorize the Solid Start Program. The STRONG Act passed the House in June with my full support.

However, earlier this month, Secretary McDonough announced that VA would begin providing abortions. I believe it is not only immoral, but it is also illegal. Congress prohibited VA providing abortions in 1992. Congress has never repealed that prohibition. Just so you know, it has never been superseded.

Secretary McDonough has claimed that he is taking this action in defense of women’s health, setting aside the fact that abortion is not healthcare. By making that claim, the Secretary has made it clear that he views women’s health as one and the same with abortion.

Madam Speaker, this bill would require VA to provide women veterans with, “information that is tailored to their specific healthcare and benefit needs.”

We have offered if they would remove that language to just say “veterans,” that would not include information about abortion, given the Secretary’s views, that is unacceptable to me and to many others.

Our democracy is based on the rule of law, and I wish the Secretary would follow the law, especially when it is a matter of life and death. If he did, I would fully support this bill just like I would in June, before the VA’s new illegal rule.

Instead, I regret that I must oppose it today, and I urge my colleagues to oppose the bill.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Let me just respond, that every day my colleagues are making threats to file a lawsuit to stop the interim final rule. Like the ranking member believes, as do many on his side of the aisle, that the interim final rule is illegal under the 1992 law. I will remind him that in 1996, Congress authorized the VA Secretary to define the medical benefits package. So I disagree with his interpretation of this interim final rule as being illegal.

Let me mention one thing further, that I have not seen any lawsuit yet filed, even though he asserted that he would seek to have this rule stayed. I am assuming that the delay in filing, since the hearing that we had, is because he is still looking for a perfect judge to hear it.

In the meantime, they are highlighting this opportunity to once again blind and gag women veterans under the premise that veterans should not be allowed to make health care decisions.

This is not only an insult to veterans but to the veterans service organizations that have endorsed and supported this bill.

Madam Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentlewoman from Michigan (Ms. SLOTKIN), my good friend who serves on the Disability Assistance and Memorial Affairs Subcommittee.

Ms. SLOTKIN. Madam Speaker, I rise today in support of the Solid Start Act, a truly bipartisan bill that I originally introduced on Veterans Day in 2020. This bill requires the VA to connect with veterans during their first year when they transition out of service to ensure they are aware of the benefits and resources that they have earned.

I was thrilled to see this bipartisan legislation pass the Senate twice, both times by unanimous consent. It passed the House as part of the STRONG Veterans Act with overwhelming support by voice vote.

First, I would like to thank my Veterans Advisory Board back in Michigan and the other stakeholders in my district who have helped to craft this bill. I would like to thank The American Legion, Disabled American Veterans, and the VFW for their support, and the countless veterans and veteran families in the district who gave me their feedback to help us craft this bill.

We come directly from the experience where, overwhelmingly, the sentiment was in that first year of separation, veterans do not understand all of the resources from education to healthcare that they are eligible for.

Madam Speaker, veterans in Michigan are unconnected totally from VA and the resources they are entitled to. This statistic, coupled with the experience of navigating those challenges in the VA, are unacceptable. Every veteran has their own story as they transition out of the military, whether it has been 3 years or three decades.
I watched this up close with my husband after 30 years of Active Duty in the Army. Newly separated veterans encounter changes in job status, lifestyle, housing, healthcare, and education. It is a period of enormous change and also a period of vulnerability. Tragically, rates of veteran suicide are higher in those tumultuous first years than later after separation.

Veterans are entitled to a variety of resources, but they only can access them if they know about them. That is why I introduced the Solid Start Act with my Republican friend, Congressman Joyce.

This bipartisan bill codifies a pilot program, as Mr. Bost said, that was initiated under President Trump, and it shows great promise. But as we stand here tonight, this bill has now been unexpectedly thrown into jeopardy, and it is entirely because of political gamesmanship. Right now, at the last minute, before we vote on this bill, the Pro-Life Caucus has acted to stop the bill from moving to prevent the 16 words that are on this page. This language has been in the bill since its inception when we created this: ‘Providing women veterans with information that is tailored to their specific healthcare and benefit needs.’

To be clear, if we pass this bill, then it goes to the President’s desk to be signed into law. But just to understand what was meant with the idea of providing women and veterans with information tailored to their needs, it is pregnancy and mental health care, maternity care, mammogram, breast health, breastfeeding and lactation, menopause, gynecological cancer, pre-pregnancy health, chronic pelvic pain, birth control, osteoporosis, prosthetics for women, intimate partner violence, disability, birth control, abortion, and sexual assault. I can say there is a very long list of specific health issues that are specific to women.

Instead, my colleagues on the other side of the aisle are holding this bill hostage. The 16 words that they apparently now object to are essential for women’s healthcare and are already covered by the VA. None of this is controversial. None of this is objectionable. It doesn’t change one thing about veterans’ benefits or services. It makes no changes to what they are entitled to. All it does is require the VA to reach out toervenies three times in their first year from separation. It increases outreach to veterans.

So let’s talk about what this is really about. Just today, a letter went out from Ranking Member Bost and the Pro-Life Caucus saying that Members, while they supported it previously, should now turn against it. After publicly supporting this, they are now leaving it behind.

And why? Because they are concerned about VA policy. They are concerned about the VA’s decision to provide veteran women with access to abortion when they have been raped, when they are the victims of incest, or when a doctor confirms that the pregnancy is a risk to the health or the life of the mother.

It is not abortion on demand and not extreme policies. These are very basic, commonly accepted instances when a woman veteran has gone through hell and has no other option.

The other side of the aisle, to be clear, is objecting to this bill because they object to any exceptions whatsoever on abortion. It is a political game. It is literally putting politics ahead of the 18 million veterans and 200,000 each year who separate.

It is our responsibility to honor the veterans, male and female. I find it disturbing that you would play politics in this way. I ask the other side of the aisle to reconsider and support this bill.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume because I would like to take this time to respond to a few things that were not said correctly.

One, no one has said anything about a lawsuit, especially from the ranking member.

Two, the Hyde amendment says: rape, incest, life of the mother. When you put life and health of the mother, then it expands what can be distorted and where we are at, and it opens to the point of long-term abortion, and that has actually been verified by the VA.

There is not a whole list there that we want to remove. We want it to say: if we believe that men and women are all veterans and should be considered, then they should be advised as veterans.

But by putting that particular language in at this time after the administration has violated the law of 1962—now the chairman said there is another law, but if you look at that law, that law never goes directly to abortion. And if it was directed towards abortion, then they would have put it in the law. They would have put it in the law. They wouldn’t have made that broad statement. That is why it is a misinterpretation of the VA.

Madam Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. Smith).

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Madam Speaker, I thank my good friend for yielding.

Madam Speaker, as the former chairman of the House Committee on Veterans’ Affairs and the prime author of 14 major laws to assist veterans, including the Homeless Veterans Comprehensive Assistance Act and several healthcare laws as well, I have always deeply respected and strongly supported VA’s unique mission of VA healthcare.

Comprised of 172 medical centers and over 1,100 outpatient clinics, the VA operates the largest integrated healthcare network in the entire world. VA medical personnel—371,000 professionals and support staff—are absolutely committed to healing, nurturing, and rehabilitating. Abortion is the last thing a VA would ever do, and it is entirely because of political gamesmanship.

I am here where section 106 of the Veterans Healthcare Act of 1992 was enacted, and it couldn’t have been clearer—to turn the lifesaving, life-enhancing mission of the VA into new venues for abortion on demand.

And the word health—Roe v. Wade and Doe v. Bolton couldn’t have made it more clear, and Doe v. Bolton with the companion opinion issued by the Supreme Court, they defined health. They used the World Health Organization’s definition, and it is everything including any kind of mental stress. So it is completely wide-open, abortion-on-demand language. It is not rape, incest, and life of the mother. Health is included in Biden’s textual rule.

The new Biden VA abortion rule authorizes and forces taxpayers to fund the violent death of unborn baby girls and baby boys by what? By beheading, dismemberment, forced expulsion from the womb, deadly poisons, and other methods at any time until birth.

Abortion, Madam Speaker, is not healthcare unless one construes the precious life of an unborn child to be analogous to a tumor to be excised or a disease to be vanquished.

For decades, Madam Speaker, abortion advocates have gone to extraordinary lengths to ignore, trivialize, and cover up the battered baby victim. But today, thanks to ultrasound, unborn babies are more visible than ever before. Today, science informs us that birth is an event—albeit an important one—but it is not the beginning of life. Modern science and medical technology today can see, hear, and feel the life of the mother, other disabilities of the patient in need of diagnosis and treatment, not death by abortion.

Unborn babies are society’s youngest patients and deserve benign, life-affirming medical interventions and not medicines that kill. The weakest and most vulnerable unborn babies deserve our respect, empathy, protection, and love.

The legislation before us today will be used to promote the VA’s new abortion-on-demand mission.

Madam Speaker, I urge my colleagues to oppose it, and, hopefully, we will see a change in the policy sometime in the near future that President Biden has issued.

Mr. BOST. Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, may I inquire as to how much time remains.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from California has 9½ minutes remaining.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, before I yield an additional 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from Michigan, let me just say that if the minority is so insistent and is fervent in their belief that this interim final rule is illegal, I do not understand why there has been no lawsuit filed to enjoin the rule.

That is their right. It is their right to express such passion and with such fervor they argue that this rule is illegal.

Madam Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from Michigan (Ms. Slotkin).

Ms. SLOTKIN. Madam Speaker, there has been a lot of talk on the other side of the aisle, and I just want to be clear. No one in this room is in the judicial branch. No one in this room is a medical doctor.

If you believe that the provisions that the VA has put forward have a legal problem, then you have the right to take it up that case and put it through the courts. We are the legislative branch. We make laws, and we pass laws. We are not judge and jury. Take it to a court if you are concerned. That is your right.

In terms of making decisions on behalf of women, if you want to take a veterans’ bill and make it about abortion, then let’s do it. What you are saying, and you are saying it in front of the audience, is that you believe a veteran who has been raped, who is the victim of incest, or who is having a dangerous miscarriage does not deserve access to abortion.

You are saying—unless you correct me and tell me what you believe a woman deserves to have when she has been raped, the victim of incest, or is in the middle of a dangerous miscarriage, if you can’t state it then be clear you believe in no exceptions for women—a cold, heartless, and violent approach to women’s health.

You want to ban all abortions. That is your goal. Many of you have been open about that, and if you flip the House, we know that you will put forward a full ban on all abortions for all States. You have been clear about it.

If I learn a veteran’s bill into an abortion bill, then let’s do it. Not one of you are a medical doctor. Not one of you.

What the VA guidelines say is that if you have been raped or are the victim of incest or a medical professional deems that your pregnancy is a risk to your health. The one in four women in this country who has had a miscarriage, many women in this room, that you are a better judge of who gets to decide the future of their life and not a medical doctor? Who do you think you are?

You are politicians. We are all on this floor elected officials and not medical professionals. If it were your wife or your daughter who is suffering through a miscarriage, are you going to tell her she can’t until her fever gets high enough or until she is bleeding harder?

That is what is happening in the State of Texas right now. If that is what you want for veterans, shame on you.

I am sorry we built this bill to be bipartisan. I sought your support particularly, sir, and you are making it a political issue.

Shame on you. You all have pictures of veterans in your office. You are proud to show your pride in our veterans. It is a bipartisan issue in the world, and you are making it political. Shame on you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members are reminded to direct their remarks to the Chair.

Mr. BOST. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Let me tell you, Madam Speaker, if I may, the question is not on rape, incest, or life of the mother. It is on health, which could then go to mental health which could spin off to late-term abortions.

This is a very personal issue to a lot of people, and I am sure it is to everyone on both sides of the aisle. But I have to question who in this room has ever held a child who has been born after 25 weeks in the womb? I have. I held one granddaughter who died in the womb and one baby who died in my arms after she was out of the womb.

What the VA has done with this rule by tweaking it, they think it is for the right reasons—right or wrong—which you will decide when life begins. It is not rape, incest, life and health of the mother, which will allow for those late-term abortions.

Madam Speaker, that is life. Our Constitution is very clear. It is very clear: life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, the first being life.

You can’t, if you have ever held a child like that when they died in your arms, say that is not life.

Unfortunately, it is not us that is making the decision. It is political. It is the Biden administration. Madam Speaker, and they have done it through taking the VA.

Anybody that can question me on my support of veterans is out of their mind. I have served. My father served. My grandfather served. My son served. My grandson served. And guess what? As of last week, my granddaughter is now in Navy boot camp.

I will stand for the veterans, but I will not stand for the death of children regardless of who this administration is or what they believe is a good political move.

Madam Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. Roy), my good friend.

Mr. ROY. Madam Speaker, I appreciate my friend’s service, and I appreciate his passion on this issue.

I listened here as my colleagues want to lecture us about making decisions about life. Who are my colleagues to decide when life begins? Talking about where the doctors are in the room, who are my colleagues, where is God in the room about determining when life begins?

It is my colleagues on the other side of the aisle who have a cut-and-dried view about the extent of abortion in this country to terminate life right up to the point of birth. It is out of step with the entirety of the world. It is a radical position, and the entirety of this country knows it.

What we are talking about right now, when we used to be able to have some peaceful debates in this body, we had the Hyde amendment recognizing our differences on the issue and trying to pull it out of the debate of funding, but my colleagues on the other side of the aisle refuse to respect the Hyde amendment.

Now, you have an administration making up law. My colleague on the other side of the aisle wants to lecture about where you go to have a dispute about law. Oh, run to the courts, they say. Run to Article III.

Well, we are Article I, dadgummit, and we make decisions about the law every single day. As a Member of this body, I introduced the ARTICLE ONE Act under President Trump, questioning executive authority.

I subpoenaed records from the White House questions about unaccompanied alien children data because I believe in the primacy of Article I.

But we should, dadgummit, on a bipartisan basis believe that we need to make these decisions, and you don’t have the VA arbitrarily making law and stepping over the 1992 law, which has never been repealed. It has never been set aside, and to suggest that it has makes a mockery of the laws that we pass. We should agree on that on a bipartisan basis.

The ranking member is speaking for all of us when he says we are trying to stand up in support of the Solid Start program, but it has now been turned on its head by a radical decision by the executive branch, so now we are no longer going to support this program as it exists.

As the chairman said, 16 words are the hang-up. Then change the 16 words, and let’s fix what needs to be fixed to pass. We should agree on that on a bipartisan basis.

Who is trying to play God here are the Members on the other side of the aisle who wish to deny women who have worn the cloth of this country, who have served our country, who fought for all of our freedoms, to deny them the freedom to be able to consider the health of medical procedures that they need in order to preserve their own life.

What is extreme here is that they want to deny women to even be able to access abortion counseling, counseling which may save their lives.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Madam Speaker, I think it is important to realize that COD actually follows the Hyde amendment, which is rape, incest, and the life of the mother, which is exactly what the chairman just quoted.

What the VA does is rape, incest, and life and health, including mental health, of the mother, which can be a claim that maybe I am under stress, all of these things. That is why we need clarification. Not only do we need clarification, but we need to follow the law.

The argument that the other law allows the VA Secretary to make these decisions, it never mentioned abortion in the bill. The text of the bill is as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.
This Act may be called as the “Strengthening Whistleblower Protections at the Department of Veterans Affairs, and for other purposes, as amended.”

SEC. 2. COUNSEL OF OFFICE OF ACCOUNTABILITY AND WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTION.
Subsection (e) of section 323 of title 38, United States Code, is amended—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California (Mr. TAKANO) and the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. BOST) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 8510, as amended.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, H.R. 8510, as amended, the Strengthening Whistleblower Protections at the Department of Veterans Affairs Act, is an important bill that will protect and support VA employees who report wrongdoing within the Department.

I commend Representatives CHRIS PAPPAS and TRACEY MANN, the chairman and ranking member of our Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations, for their work over the past few years on this issue.

The subcommittee has been tireless in its examination of VA policies and procedures for protecting whistleblowers and disciplining those who retaliate against them. When retaliation occurs, VA must make whole a whistleblower who was unfairly punished for speaking truth to power. This is not only the right thing to do; it is the law. During my colleague’s hearings on this issue, we heard firsthand accounts from several individuals who experienced long waits for justice despite confirmed findings of retaliation. VA can and must do more to protect whistleblowers.

I support Chairman PAPPAS and Ranking Member MANN’s bipartisan legislation. It would promote independence and strengthen the mission of VA’s Office of Accountability and Whistleblower Protection.

It would also streamline duplicative investigations and send a clear message that retaliation against those who report wrongdoing will not be tolerated.

This bill has the support of several national organizations that advocate on behalf of government whistleblowers and was favorably reported by the full Veterans’ Affairs Committee last week.

Madam Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to support this legislation, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 8510, as amended.

Following the access scandal of 2014, Congress enacted the VA Accountability Act. The Accountability Act is meant to make it easier for VA to hold bad employees responsible for their actions. The law also created a new VA office intended to protect whistleblowers and conduct investigations.

Unfortunately, this mandate has never lived up to the standard that whistleblowers deserve. In 2021, 80 percent of the OAWP recommendations for discipline were ignored by the VA. It is time to refocus their mission.

H.R. 8510, as amended, would require VA employees with complaints to be referred to the Office of Special Counsel. The OSC is an independent office which has the authority to receive, manage, and investigate allegations of whistleblower retaliation at the VA.

The agency has a reliable history of conducting objective investigations. As such, I am confident that the OSC will do a better job of holding senior VA employees accountable than the OAWP.

This bill was drafted with valuable input from stakeholders and enjoys broad support.

Madam Speaker, I am pleased that Congressman PAPPAS and Congressman MANN have come together to author this important bipartisan legislation, and I urge my colleagues to support the bill.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from New Hampshire (Mr. PAPPAS), the chairman of the Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations for the Veterans’ Affairs Committee.

Mr. PAPPAS. Madam Speaker, I rise in support of legislation, H.R. 8510, the Strengthening Whistleblower Protections at the Department of Veterans Affairs Act.

It is a bill that improves policies and procedures to better protect VA whistleblowers. It also promotes independence and removes conflicts of interest at VA’s Office of Accountability and Whistleblower Protection.

Whistleblowers play a critical role in holding the Federal Government and its agencies accountable for waste, fraud, abuse, and mismanagement. When employees of the Department of Veterans Affairs witness issues that put the health, safety, and well-being of veterans at risk, VA staff should feel encouraged to speak out without fear of retaliation. This would encourage corrective action to be taken and no harm to the whistleblower.

In reality, however, too often the messenger is punished. The Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations that I chair has done years of work on this issue.

Alongside Ranking Member TRACY MANN, we have conducted multiple hearings looking into this problem. Our efforts have highlighted the individual stories of whistleblowers who have lost their jobs or faced other retaliatory actions as a result of their disclosures.

Unfortunately, whistleblowers often wait years to be made whole after experiencing retaliation under current Department policies and procedures.

The testimony from three previous VA employees disclosed VA whistleblowers are likely to face retaliation, including the loss of their position, and are forced to wait years for justice.

This bipartisan bill will make major changes to how whistleblower claims are handled, strengthening accountability through the process. The bill ends VA’s authority to investigate whistleblower retaliation complaints and, instead, relies on the independent U.S. Office of Special Counsel to ensure objectivity over the process.

OSC is an independent Federal investigative agency that is trusted within the whistleblower community. They have the resources and autonomy needed to do this work.

It will also require VA’s Office of Accountability and Whistleblower Protection to strengthen accountability over settlement agreements for VA employees who suffered retaliation which provides financial restitution and guarantees of reemployment.

Further, the bill will reaffirm OAWP’s responsibility to provide resources to VA employees on whistleblower rights, including training. These reforms will ensure whistleblowers feel safe reporting issues within the Department.

We can’t continue to allow whistleblowers to be punished for speaking out, and we have to make sure we are doing all we can to protect VA whistleblowers. It is not only the law; it is also the right thing to do to protect whistleblowers from retaliation.

The ranking member of the Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations, Congressman TRACY MANN, co-led this bill with me to promote independence and strengthen the mission of VA’s whistleblowers office. I thank Congressman MANN and his staff for their dedication and hard work on this issue.

I thank all the members of the Veterans’ Affairs Committee for their support of this bill last week, and I appreciate the support from the whistleblower advocacy groups, including the Project on Government Oversight, the Whistleblowers of America, and the Government Accountability Project, as well as VA’s labor union, AFGE.

So once this is enacted, this bill will ensure that the protections are on the books at the Department of Veterans Affairs that will strengthen independence and the mission of VA’s whistleblower office.

Madam Speaker, I urge the full House to support passage.
Mr. BOST. Madam Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. MANN), my good friend, who has worked so hard on this issue.

Mr. MANN. Madam Speaker, I rise today in support of legislation that I co-introduced with Congressman PAPPAS, H.R. 8510, the Strengthening Whistleblower Protections at the Department of Veterans Affairs Act.

Holding government accountable requires reasonable whistleblower protection. VA employees take a risk when exposing fraud, corruption, or any wrongdoing of any kind, and they deserve to have their claims investigated, and to have protection from retaliation.

The VA’s Office of Accountability and Whistleblower Protection was created with good intentions but has never lived up to the expectations of whistleblowers or of this Congress. In 2021, a percent of all the disciplinary recommendations that OAWP made were either changed or simply ignored. Here are just two examples of the many troubling stories that my colleagues and I have heard during our hearings.

At one facility, OAWP recommended a range of discipline from 12-day suspension to removal for three supervisors who engaged in whistleblower retaliation. VA officials disagreed, however, and the individuals received no disciplinary action.

At another facility, OAWP recommended a range of discipline from 12-day suspension to removal for an individual who retaliated against and harassed an employee. VA officials believed the file lacked certain testimony and evidence and the individual received no disciplinary action.

Despite the efforts of many dedicated VA staff, these cases, and others like them, highlight the need for a change to OAWP’s roles and responsibilities. Veterans, whistleblowers, and taxpayers deserve better. H.R. 8510 would remove OAWP’s investigative authority, and instead, direct OAWP to refer whistleblowers to the Office of Special Counsel, an independent agency, which has a much better track record for whistleblower investigations. This bill would also require OAWP to track settlement negotiations and agreements between VA employees and the Department and refocus the office on providing training to employees on whistleblower rights.

This legislation is an example of the good that Congress can do when we work together. I look forward to its swift passage through the House, and I urge my colleagues to support this important bill.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I have no further speakers. I am prepared to close, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I ask all my colleagues to join me in passing H.R. 8510, as amended, the Strengthening Whistleblower Protections at the Department of Veterans Affairs Act, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. TAKANO) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 8510, as amended.

The question was taken.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. ROY. Madam Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays. The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

SUPPORTING FAMILIES OF THE FALLEN ACT

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (S. 2794) to amend title 38, United States Code, to increase automatic maximum coverage under the Service members’ Group Life Insurance program and the Veterans’ Group Life Insurance program, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

SEC. 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Supporting Families of the Fallen Act”.

SEC. 2. INCREASE IN AUTOMATIC MAXIMUM COVERAGE UNDER SERVICE MEMBERS’ GROUP LIFE INSURANCE AND VETERANS’ GROUP LIFE INSURANCE.

(a) In general—(1) Section 1967(a)(3)(A)(i) of title 38, United States Code, is amended by striking “$400,000” and inserting “$500,000”.

(b) Effective date.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall take effect on the later of—

(1) the date that is 60 days after the date of the enactment of this Act; or

(2) the date on which the Secretary of Veterans Affairs determines that—

(A) the amount for which a member will be insured pursuant to the amendment made by subsection (a) and the premiums for such amount are administratively and actuarially sound for the Service members’ Group Life Insurance program under subchapter III of chapter 53 of title 38, United States Code (as added by subsection (c)(2)) and the Veterans’ Group Life Insurance program under section 1977 of such title; and

(B) the increase in such amount carried out pursuant to the amendment will not result in such programs operating at a loss.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California (Mr. TAKANO) and the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. BOST) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on S. 2794.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, life insurance is designed to offer protection from loss and serves as a death benefit. For a veteran or service member, VA’s Service members’ Group Life Insurance offers security and confidence that loved ones will be covered and made financially whole in the event a source of income is lost.

While no amount of money can replace the life of a beloved family member, VA’s Service members’ and Veterans’ Group Life Insurance exists to provide an affordable option to provide a fiscal shield for survivors.

Neither insurance program has experienced a coverage limit increase since 2005. This bill increases the maximum amount of coverage for Service members’ and Veterans’ Group Life Insurance by $100,000, which means expanded coverage of up to $500,000 for each option.

Madam Speaker, I support this bill, I urge all of my colleagues to do the same, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise today in support of S. 2794, the Supporting Families of the Fallen Act.

I thank Senator TUBERVILLE and Congressman ROY for leading this effort in the Senate and the House, respectively.

This bill makes much-needed updates to the coverage amounts for the Service members’ Group Life Insurance and the Veterans’ Group Life Insurance program.

Specifically, this bill would allow VA to raise the max payment for both programs from $400,000 to $500,000. An additional $100,000 would make it easier for surviving spouses to keep a roof over their family’s head and food on the table following the loss of their loved one.

As many of you know, VA’s life insurance programs may be the only affordable option available to service members and veterans. This is because some veterans may not be eligible for private life insurance due to the added risk of military service or because they have a service-connected disability, like PTSD or cancer.

When we send our military into harm’s way, VA insurance programs provide them and their loved ones with financial security. However, the max rate of $400,000, which was established in 2005, does not meet the needs of today’s survivors.

Since 2005, American families have seen the cost of living continuously rise. This is especially true right now due to historic inflation under the Biden administration.
Mr. BOST. Madam Speaker, I encourage my colleagues to support the bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. Roy), my good friend.

Mr. ROY. Madam Speaker, I am pleased to rise in support of my bill, which in this case is the S version—the Senate version—that was introduced by Senator Tuberville from Alabama, S. 2794, the Supporting Families of the Fallen Act.

The ranking member just articulated why this legislation is important. I think one of the things that we have to remember is the extent to which our men and women in uniform have to keep up and keep pace with inflation, and we thought this was important.

I had a constituent in my district who is in that situation. I sat down with that constituent and then met with a bunch of other constituents who were running into the same problem. I talked to a number of my veteran colleagues, and we believed that this was an important solution.

As many know, I am not one to want to put forward legislation that isn’t paid for. This bill, for the most part, pays for itself with the slight exception of Active Duty combat individuals. I believe that is an exception worth making when we talk about things that are not paid for.

It is straightforward. It simply increases the SGLI and VGLI maximum coverage from $60,000 to $500,000 so that our men and women in uniform have the means to customize the coverage amount that they need. I think it is a commonsense solution. It is bipartisan and it is bicameral.

Madam Speaker, I appreciate the chairman and the ranking member for their support.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Madam Speaker, I encourage my colleagues to support this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Madam Speaker, I thank all the folks that came together for this bill, and I ask all my colleagues to join me in passing S. 2794, which upon passage today will be sent on to the President’s desk for signature.

Madam Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question on the motion offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. Takano) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, S. 2794.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. ROY. Madam Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 7 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. CASTRO) and the gentlewoman from California (Mrs. KIM) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Texas.

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 8681 as amended.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I rise today in strong support of H.R. 8681, the John Lewis Civil Rights Fellowship Act of 2022, and I thank Ms. WILLIAMS for authoring this important bill.

I want to begin with a passage from an essay written by Representative John Lewis before his death, which was published on the day of his funeral.

Representative John Lewis, in reflecting on the past and looking to the future said: “You must also study and learn the lessons of history because basic humanity has been involved in this soul-wrenching, existential struggle for a very long time. People on every continent have stood in your shoes, through decades and centuries before you. The truth does not change, and that is why the answers worked before you. The truth does not change, and that is why the answers worked before you. The truth does not change, and that is why the answers worked before you.

Along with his mentor and friend, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., he put his life and personal safety on the line as a leader in the nonviolent civil rights movement that profoundly changed our Nation for the better.

His boldness in pursuit of justice was powerfully rooted in faith and love. As he himself described it: “At a very early stage of the movement, I accepted the teaching of Jesus, the way of love, the way of nonviolence, the spirit of forgiveness and reconciliation. The idea of hate is too heavy a burden to bear. It is better to love.”

To help pass these values on to future generations, this bill establishes the John Lewis Civil Rights Fellowship Program at the Department of State.

The Fulbright educational exchange program has enjoyed bipartisan support for over 75 years. As part of Fulbright, the stated purpose of the John Lewis Fellowship is “to advance foreign policy priorities of the United States by promoting studies, research, and international exchange in the subject of nonviolent movements that established and protected civil rights around the world.”

This bill is a worthy way of honoring a great man who sacrificed so much to make America and the world a better place. I support the bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, it is my honor to yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from Georgia (Ms. WILLIAMS).

Ms. WILLIAMS of Georgia. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I rise today in support of H.R. 8681, the John Lewis Civil Rights Fellowship Act of 2022.

Following in the footsteps of Congressman John Lewis is no easy feat. He was a friend and a mentor to many of us. He himself described it: “At a very early stage of the movement, I accepted the teaching of Jesus, the way of love, the way of nonviolence, the spirit of forgiveness and reconciliation. The idea of hate is too heavy a burden to bear. It is better to love.”

To help pass these values on to future generations, this bill establishes the John Lewis Civil Rights Fellowship Program at the Department of State.

I rise today in support of H.R. 8681, the John Lewis Civil Rights Fellowship Act of 2022.

My time.
the same spirit that drove John in his lifelong advocacy for civil rights. His leadership during the civil rights movement was pivotal for extending the American promises of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness to all Americans. Many of us may now be standing here before this Chamber but for his contributions to racial equality.

This legislation seeks to instill that very same drive and purpose in the leaders of tomorrow, promoting the use of nonviolent civil rights as a tool for change around the world.

Madam Speaker, I hope my colleagues will join me and support this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Texas (Mr. CASTRO) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 8446, as amended.

By passing this legislation, along with President Biden’s announcement last week that the United States will provide over $2.9 billion in new assistance to address food insecurity, we will make important strides toward achieving our goal of creating lasting food security.

This important bipartisan legislation will continue support for the Feed the Future initiative that has already lifted millions out of poverty.

Madam Speaker, I am proud to support this bipartisan legislation, and I urge my colleagues to do the same. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. KIM of California. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume, and I rise in support of this bill.

Madam Speaker, today, 50 million people in 45 countries are living on the brink of famine, and more than 350 million people around the world are facing emergency food insecurity. This is a staggering increase from record-breaking levels of hunger last year.

Russia’s unprovoked and full-scale invasion of Ukraine, previously known as the breadbasket of Europe, has worsened an already overwhelming global food crisis and is destabilizing fragile states.

Global food prices are expected to increase by 20 percent and could be even higher in developing countries that are highly dependent on imported commodities from Ukraine and Russia.

These shocks are creating shortages and instability that affect the entire world and our constituents.

First enacted in 2016, and amended in 2018, the Global Food Security Act provides critical authorities to respond to immediate global food needs and to advance longer term agricultural-led economic growth.

I am a cosponsor of today’s bipartisan legislation to refine and extend those authorities for another 5 years, through 2028. Madam Speaker, I thank my colleagues, Congresswoman McCOLLUM, Congressman CHRIS SMITH, Chairman MEEKS, and Ranking Member McCaul, for their leadership in this effort.

In order to prevent the next food crisis, we must increase the resiliency of communities around the world to shocks like natural disasters, supply chain disruptions, and fertilizer shortages. This is why the U.S. is working with partner countries to advance targeted investments to increase agricultural productivity, invest in food systems and market-based approaches to agricultural-led economic growth, and, ultimately, support communities’ abilities to provide for themselves.

These agricultural development activities are a critical investment in preventing future humanitarian emergencies and dependency on foreign aid.

Madam Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from Minnesota (Ms. McCOLLUM).

Ms. McCOLLUM. Madam Speaker, today, I rise in support of my bill, the Global Food Security Reauthorization Act of 2022, a bipartisan bill, which I worked with my friend and colleague, Betty McCOLLUM, for her authorship of this important legislation that will help so many.

Today’s vote on global food security will show that we can come together to advance the good of the United States’ commitment to fighting hunger and poverty worldwide. It truly has been a bipartisan effort.

This bill builds upon the landmark Global Food Security Act of 2016. It reauthorizes the incredibly successful Feed the Future initiative, which has carried out lifesaving programs and helped millions of people break the cycle of poverty and hunger.

This legislation also authorizes GFSAs to 2028 and makes commonsense updates to reflect the changing landscape of global hunger. Specifically, this bill emphasizes agriculture-led economic growth and strengthening resilience against climate change and the global COVID-19 pandemic. This will help reduce malnutrition in women and children.

By supporting small farmers and women farmers, in particular, we can increase food production and incomes so that families and communities around the world may improve their way of life.

This legislation will also help to create a more stable world, as has been mentioned, by helping millions of people in the world’s poorest countries become self-sufficient in feeding themselves.

As chair of the Appropriations Subcommittee on Defense, I know all too well the human, economic, and national security costs of global food insecurity, and it is just too high for Congress to ignore. The passage and enactment of this bill today truly cannot come soon enough for our national security.

I am proud to have worked on this legislation. I have worked on this legislation for over 14 years, starting with Senator Lugar, after being in Africa and watching how lack of food and clean water affected our ability to really make the HIV/AIDS program move forward. From that, the more I learned about malnutrition, the more passionate I became.

I am proud to have worked on this with experts in the field of global food and nutrition security, such as InterAction, Bread for the World, 1,000 Days, CARE, Save the Children, The Alliance to End Hunger, and so many more.

Madam Speaker, I thank them for their expertise, for helping to lift up this legislation.

Madam Speaker, I also thank our colleagues, Chair MEEKS and Ranking Member McCaul, and a special thank-you to Representative SMITH, for their work on this legislation. Their enduring commitment to ending global hunger is important work that we do together.

Madam Speaker, I urge the passage of this bill.

Mrs. KIM of California. Madam Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH).

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Madam Speaker, I rise in strong support of the bicameral, bipartisan Global Food Security Reauthorization Act of 2022. I want to thank the good friend and colleague, BETTY McCOLLUM, for her authorship of this important legislation that will help so many.

Today’s vote on global food security will show that we can come together to advance the good of this Global Food Security Act is a model of cooperation, from the collaboration between Congresswoman McCOLLUM and I on previous iterations, which began back in 2014 when I first introduced it, and the House passed the legislation.

Madam Speaker, like PEPFAR, the President’s Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief, our food security policy is a remarkably effective, relatively low-cost lifesaving, life-enhancing initiative, championed by both Republican and Democrat administrations.

Indeed, we are fortunate that President Bush, beginning in 2002, had the initial foresight to elevate the important role of food security in U.S. foreign policy, especially in Africa, via the President’s Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief, our food security policy is a model of cooperation, from the collaboration between Congresswoman McCOLLUM and I on previous iterations, which began back in 2014 when I first introduced it, and the House passed the legislation.

President Obama, in 2009, announced further enhancements to our food security strategy at the G8 summit in Italy, and this became known as the Feed the Future initiative.

Our emphasis on ag-led economic development and food security self-sufficiency continued through the Trump administration and now into the Biden administration.

Madam Speaker, last week a World Food Programme and Food and Agriculture Organization, WFP and FAO, report said the world faces its “largest food crisis in modern history.”

The report sounds the alarm: 2022, as they put it, is a “year of unprecedented hunger.”

“As many as 828 million people go to bed hungry every night, the number of those facing acute food insecurity has soared from 135 million to 345 million since 2019. A total of 50 million people in 45 countries are teetering on the edge of famine.”

“Conflict,” they point out, “is still the biggest driver of hunger, with 60 percent of the world’s hungry living in areas afflicted by war and violence. Events unfolding in Ukraine are further proof of how conflict feeds hunger, forcing people out of their homes, and wiping out their sources of income.”
As we all know, the weakest and most vulnerable are dying, and many, many more are at risk of death while millions more are made susceptible to opportunistic diseases while many children continue to suffer from stunting. Many, however, are rallying to mitigate this suffering.

As my good friend and colleague from Minnesota pointed out, many of the organizations that have done so much for so long are doing even more now to make sure that we get to the point where people are food secure. And, of course, that includes the secular groups and the faith-based groups all working in tandem for this noble goal.

One of the objectives of the Global Food Security Act was to take a whole-of-government approach, led by USAID, in promoting food security. In conducting oversight hearings with regard to its implementation, however, we found that there were several places where a whole-of-agency approach, let alone the whole-of-government approach, was lacking.

One area that needed attention was to make sure that our nutrition efforts were firing on all cylinders. While the original bill, law, and subsequent real-world implementation placed great emphasis on reducing stunting—and I have seen it all over Africa, as have Betty and many others. You go to Nigeria, and stunting is endemic to this moment. That can all be alleviated through the right kind of nutritional interventions, including the first 1,000 days of life, from conception to the second birthday, with nutrition that helps both mother and baby.

We have seen pictures of children with distended bellies caused by worms that rob them of needed nutrients. I chaired several hearings on worms, horrible things to see, growing in little kids, causing them to die, but certainly to be very sick in most cases.

USAID, when it came to deworming, often had a more technologically oriented approach to it, while this legislation integrates the whole idea of deworming with the food security so that we don’t feed the worms, we feed the future, and we feed these wonderful children and all those who are vulnerable.

We also have put in and continue the integration of water, sanitation, and hygiene, or WASH programming, which is also extraordinarily effective.

“[A] great bill. I hope it gets total support of this body. Again, I thank Betty. I look forward to this vote and enactment into law.

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON LEE.)

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Madam Speaker, the idea of the emphasis on the issue of food security is so crucial, both in terms of the climate change such that is impacted in Eritrea and Ethiopia, and the fact that there are food conditions, so I rise to support this with the idea that we have right in our midst conditions that would suggest food insecurity.

This legislation that focuses on ensuring that people of the world can eat, and the children of the world will not starve is a crucial and needed legislation, which I support, and which emphasizes, again, the important element in foreign affairs of food. Food helps save the world.

I support this legislation, and I commend my colleagues to continue to work, with devastating conditions around the world, to ensure the safety and security of children and particularly food security.

Mrs. KIM of California. Madam Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time to close.

Madam Speaker, I am proud to support this bipartisan bill to refine and extend statutory authorities needed to respond to food security issues and prevent future aid dependency. It updates the policy, definitions, and the strategy requirements of the current law. It also strengthens oversight and accountability and ensures continued focus on core programs that have strong bipartisan support.

At its core, the bill embodies the saying, “Give a man a fish, and you feed him for a day. Teach him how to fish, and you feed him for a lifetime.”

These are effective, strategic investments in agriculture and agricultural development to help ensure that communities and families are able to provide for themselves.

Madam Speaker, I urge support for this bill, and I hope that our Senate colleagues will take it up promptly.

Madam Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume for the purpose of closing.

Madam Speaker, as the world continues to experience climate-related devastation, downstream effects of COVID-19 on global supply chains, and the crippling effects of the Russian invasion of Ukraine on food delivery and production, the United States must continue to support those vulnerable to food insecurity.

Now is not the time to continue business as usual. The United States must step up to meet the moment and adapt our policy tools and foreign assistance to the same. H.R. 8446 ensures that the United States maintains global leadership in combating the global hunger crisis by sowing the seeds of food security for the future.

Madam Speaker, I hope my colleagues will join me in supporting this important piece of legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Texas (Mr. CASTRO) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 8446, as amended.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. CLYDE. Madam Speaker, on that strong bipartisan support, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 8463) to modify requirements under the Millennium Challenge Act of 2003 for candidate countries, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. CASTRO) and the gentlewoman from California (Mrs. KIM) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Texas.

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 8463.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I am glad to bring this bipartisan legislation, which I authored together with my colleague, Representative YOUNG of California to the House floor.

It will allow the Millennium Challenge Corporation, or MCC, to continue to work where it can do the most to foster development and reduce poverty.

When Congress established the MCC almost 20 years ago, it was envisioned as a selective agency that would work collaboratively with the best-governed developing countries.

Perhaps the most visible part of MCC’s rigorous selection process is its scorecard, which evaluates more than 20 different policy indicators of good governance. But Congress also set an income-based threshold for nations where MCC was intended to make sure MCC focused on developing countries and on helping the people who need it most. I strongly support that focus and nothing in this bill is intended to alter that core part of MCC’s mission.

But the way we define that threshold, based on who falls within two categories in the World Bank’s estimates of per capita gross national income, has led to several issues this legislation seeks to address.

In the decades since the original standard was defined, the number of potential countries eligible for MCC’s compacts has shrunk by almost a third. These threshold needs to be ratified by both the United States and the partner country, can take years to negotiate, ratify, and implement.

Under the income threshold’s current structure, countries can suddenly become ineligible for assistance in the middle of a multi-year negotiation. Global disruptions like a pandemic or major conflict can also lead to changes in a country’s eligibility.

Under my legislation, the MCC would continue to use World Bank measures of GNI per capita as the basis to calculate eligibility, while expanding consideration for potential compacts to the middle-income countries. This change will ensure that MCC has a stable number of potential candidates, even as we continue to make progress in the fight against global poverty.

The new pool of potentially eligible countries would cover 98 percent of the world’s poor and 90 percent of the countries MCC has identified as facing substantial vulnerability, including to pandemics, natural disasters, migration, and food insecurity.

It is important to note that this is potential eligibility.

This bill does not change any of MCC’s scorecard criteria. To qualify for a potential compact, countries must also be generally eligible to receive American foreign assistance under the Foreign Assistance Act and other provisions of United States law.

The MCC Eligibility Expansion Act also includes protections to ensure that middle-income countries do not crowd out support for low and lower-middle-income countries that qualify under the existing income threshold.

For example, it includes language that would strengthen statutory direction to the MCC to prioritize development need and impact. The legislation would also require all potential candidate countries to identify appropriate national contributions during compact negotiations, meaning wealthier countries would pitch in more.

In implementing this legislation, I also expect the MCC to compare this small pool of newly eligible upper-middle-income countries against their peers in determining eligibility through the scorecard.

This bill would provide the MCC with more certainty and stability when it chooses to pursue a compact.

Madam Speaker, with the support of my colleagues today, we can ensure that the MCC will continue its important work and maximize its impact fighting poverty and promoting development.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. KIM of California. Madam Speaker, I rise in support of this bill, and I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I was proud to introduce the Millennium Challenge Corporation Eligibility Expansion Act made over my previous colleague from Texas, Mr. CASTRO.

In the nearly 20 years since its founding under President Bush, the Millennium Challenge Corporation has demonstrated a strong track record of success in its mission of combating poverty through economic growth.

The agency has enjoyed broad bipartisan support, earned through strict project selection criteria and the ability to hold partner countries to a high standard of accountability. But the agency and its partners are facing new challenges. The Chinese Communist Party is increasing its malign influence in the developing world, often disguised as development assistance. The world is facing a food security crisis and other effects of Russia’s unprovoked war in Ukraine.

Many countries risk losing progress on development and poverty reduction made over previous decades. This bill will ensure that the world’s 125 poorest countries are eligible for potential consideration as candidate countries in the MCC’s rigorous selection process. It adds stability to MCC’s partnerships, and it ensures its mission of combating poverty through economic growth.

This bill is an important step towards equipping MCC to operate in today’s environment so that it can continue to use its proven, evidence-based model to build sustainable economic growth, transparency, and stability in partner countries around the world.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, I am prepared to close, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, the Millennium Challenge Corporation has done important work on behalf of the American people to promote economic growth and transparency around the world. But we must make sure that the agency is equipped as development assistance to address the challenges of today, including those posed by our strategic rivals who are attempting to increase their global influence.
Madam Speaker, I again thank the gentleman from Texas (Mr. CASTRO), my colleague, our bipartisan cosponsors, and Chairman MEEKS and Ranking Member McCaul of the Committee on Foreign Affairs for moving this bill forward.

Madam Speaker, I urge support for the bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume for the purpose of closing.

Madam Speaker, the Millennium Challenge Corporation Eligibility Expansion Act will improve the MCC's ability to form stable, long-term compacts in the well-governed countries that will benefit most from United States' development assistance.

I thank my colleagues, particularly my co-lead on this bill, Representative YOUNG Kim, for the bipartisan work that has brought this legislation forward today.

Madam Speaker, I urge the House to pass this legislation. I hope the Senate will do the same so that it can become law this year, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. CLYDE. Madam Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

COMBATING THE PERSECUTION OF RELIGIOUS GROUPS IN CHINA ACT

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 4821) to hold accountable senior officials of the Government of the People's Republic of China who are responsible for, complicit in, or have directly perpetrated religious persecutions in China, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 4821

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Combating the Persecution of Religious Groups in China Act”.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) According to the Department of State’s International Religious Freedom (IRF) report estimates, Buddhists comprise 18.2 percent of the country’s total population, Christians, 5.1 percent, Muslims, 1.8 percent, followers of folk religions, 21.9 percent, and atheists or unaffiliated persons, 52.2 percent, with Hindus, Jews, and Taoists comprising less than one percent.

(2) The Government of the People’s Republic of China (PRC) recognizes five official religions, Buddhism, Taoism, Islam, Protestantism, and Catholicism (according to the Bureau of Statistics and only religious groups belonging to one of the five sanctioned “patriotic religious associations” representing these religions are permitted to register with the government and hold worship with the government’s permission, excluding all other faiths and denying the ability to worship without being registered with the government).

(3) The activities of state-sanctioned religious organizations are regulated by the Chinese Communist Party, which manages all aspects of religious life.

(4) The Chinese Communist Party is actively seeking to control, govern, and manipulate all aspects of faith through the “Sinicization of Religion”, a process intended to shape religious traditions and doctrines so they conform with the objectives of the Chinese Communist Party.

(5) On February 1, 2018, the PRC Government implemented new religious regulations that imposed restrictions on Chinese contacts with overseas religious organizations, required approval for religious gatherings, and limited the use of online religious materials, and any online religious service, and effectively banned unauthorized religious gatherings and teachings.

(6) There are reports that authorities forced closures of Buddhist, Christian, Islamic, and Taoist houses of worship and destroyed public displays of religious symbols throughout the country.

(7) Authorities arrested and detained religious leaders trying to hold services online.

(8) There are credible reports that authorities raided house churches and other places of religious worship, removing and confiscating religious paraphernalia, installing surveillance cameras on religious properties, pressuring congregations to sing songs of the Chinese Communist Party and display the national flag during worship, forcing churches to replace images of Jesus Christ or the Virgin Mary with pictures of General Secretary Xi Jinping, and banning children and students from attending religious services.

(9) It has been reported that the PRC is rewriting and will issue a version of the Bible “in keeping with the requirements” of the “sacred text” according to the Chinese Communist Party. Authorities continued to restrict the printing and distribution of the Bible, Quran, and other religious literature, and penalized publishing and copying businesses that handled religious materials.

(10) According to the Department of State’s report, the Chinese Government has imprisoned thousands of individuals of all faiths for practicing their religious beliefs and often labels them as “culpts”.

(11) The Political Prisoner Database maintained by the human rights NGO Dui Hua Foundation counted 3,492 individuals imprisoned for “organizing or using a cult” to undermine implementation of the law. Prisoners include—

(A) the 11th Panchen Lama, Gedun Choekyi Nyima, who has been held captive along with his parents since May 17, 1995.

(B) Pastor Zhang Shaojie, a Three-Self church pastor from Nanle County in central Henan was sentenced in July 2014 to 12 years in prison for “organizing a cult to disrupt public order”. Prisoners include—

(C) Pastor John Cao, a United States permanent resident from Greensboro, North Carolina, who spent 7 years in prison in March 2018 under contrived charges of organizing illegal border crossings; and

(D) Pastor Wang Yi of the Early Rain Covenant Church who was arrested and sentenced to 9 years in prison for “inciting to subvert state power” and “illegal business operations”.

(12) Authorities continue to detain Falun Gong practitioners and subject them to harsh and inhumane treatment.

(13) Since 1999, the Department of State’s IRF report has designated the PRC as a country of particular concern under the International Religious Freedom Act of 1998.

SEC. 3. STATEMENT OF POLICY.

(a) HOLDING PRC OFFICIALS RESPONSIBLE FOR RELIGIOUS FREEDOM ABUSES TARGETING CHINESE CHRISTIANS OR OTHER RELIGIOUS MINORITIES.—It is the policy of the United States to continue to designate senior officials of the Government of the People’s Republic of China (PRC) who are responsible for or have directly carried out, at any time, persecution of Christians or other religious minorities in the PRC to have committed—

(1) a gross violation of internationally recognized human rights for purposes of imposing sanctions with respect to such officials under the Global Magnitsky Accountability Act (22 U.S.C. 2356 note); and

(2) a particularly severe violation of religious freedom for purposes of applying section 212(a)(3)(G) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1182(a)(3)(G)) with respect to such officials.

(b) DEPARTMENT OF STATE PROGRAMMING TO PROMOTE RELIGIOUS FREEDOM IN THE PEOPLE’S REPUBLIC OF CHINA.—The Ambassador-at-Large for International Religious Freedom should support efforts to protect and promote international religious freedom in the PRC and for programs to protect Christians and other religious minorities in the PRC.

(c) DESIGNATION OF THE PEOPLE’S REPUBLIC OF CHINA AS A COUNTRY OF PARTICULAR CONCERN.—It is the policy of the United States to continue to designate the PRC as a “country of particular concern”, as long as the PRC continues to engage in systematic, generalized, and severe religious freedom violations, as defined by the International Religious Freedom Act of 1998 (Public Law 105-252).

SEC. 4. SENSE OF CONGRESS.

The sense of Congress that the United States should promote religious freedom in the PRC by—

(1) strengthening religious freedom diplomacy on behalf of Christians and other religious minorities facing restrictions in the PRC;

(2) raising cases relating to religious or political prisoners at bilateral meetings with PRC officials because experience demonstrates that consistently raising prisoner cases can result in improved treatment, reduced sentences, or in some cases, release from custody, detention, or imprisonment;

(3) encouraging Members of Congress to “adopt” a prisoner of conscience in the PRC through the House of Representatives Commission’s “Defending Freedom Project”, raise the case with PRC officials, and work publicly for their release;

(4) calling on the PRC Government to unconditionally release religious and political prisoners or, at the very least, ensure that detainees are treated humanely with access to medical care, the ability to practice their faith while in detention;
(5) encouraging the global faith community to speak in solidarity with the persecuted religious groups in the PRC; and

(6) hosting, once every two years, the Ministerial to Advance Religious Freedom organized by the Department of State in order to bring together leaders from around the world to discuss the challenges facing religious freedom in the PRC, to address religious persecution and discrimination worldwide, and to promote respect for and preservation of religious liberty.

SEC. 5. SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING ACTIONS AT UNITED NATIONS.

It is the sense of Congress that the United Nations Human Rights Council should issue a formal resolution of the People's Republic of China for the ongoing genocide against Uighurs and other ethnic and religious minority groups, as well as for its persecution of Christians, Falun Gong, and other religious groups.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. CASTRO) and the gentlewoman from California (Mrs. KIM) each will control 15 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Texas.

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days in which to submit to the Clerk for printing as an appendix to the record papers and materials and any miscellaneous and extraneous material on H.R. 4821, as amended.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 4821, the Combating the Persecution of Religious Groups in China Act, introduced by my colleague, Representative VICKY HARTZLER.

The state of religious freedom in China has been alarming for several years now. Despite religious freedom being guaranteed in its constitution, the PRC actively suppresses this fundamental right.

While this government's systemic orchestration of genocide and crimes against humanity against the Uyghur people and other ethnic and religious minorities in the Uyghur region has been widely broadcasted across international media, followers of a variety of religious faiths and traditions have long experienced religious persecution in China.

The ability to freely practice one's religion or engage in worship has continued to deteriorate. Those who bravely speak out against the infringement of religious freedom or refuse to join state-sanctioned religious organizations face the PRC Government's inhumane repression and human rights abuses.

Thousands of religious leaders and worshippers have been harassed, detained, disappeared, tortured, physically abused and forced to prison, or subjected to forced labor and indoctrination due to their religious affiliation or the practice of their religious beliefs. Some have even been pressured to renounce their religious beliefs.

In addition to these atrocities, the People's Republic of China officials have removed or replaced religious images, iconography, and symbols; have desecrated or demolished places of worship; and have rewritten religious text in an effort to align with Communist Party ideology.

This is unacceptable, but infringement on personal rights has become a daily reality. Nobly, every citizen of this nation should be forced to endure discrimination because of their religion anywhere in the world.

Congress must act now to support efforts to protect and promote religious freedom in China and to protect adherents of all religious faiths in China. We must continue to call out the PRC Government for these atrocities and take actions to prevent the stifling of religious freedom in China.

By passing this important, bipartisan legislation, this body sends a clear message to the PRC Government that it will be held accountable for its pattern of gross human rights abuses and severe violations of religious freedoms.

Madam Speaker, I thank Representative HARTZLER for authoring this important, bipartisan legislation which I am proud to move through the Foreign Affairs Committee. I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting it, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Hon. GREGORY MEeks, Chairman, Committee on Foreign Affairs, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN MEeks: This letter is to advise you that the Committee on the Judiciary has now had an opportunity to review the provisions in H.R. 4821, the "Combating the Persecution of Christians in China Act," that fall within our Rule X jurisdiction. I appreciate the opportunity to review the several provisions. The Judiciary Committee has no objection to your including them in the bill for consideration on the House floor, and to expedite that, am I willing to forgo action on H.R. 4821, with the understanding that we do not thereby waive any future jurisdictional claim over those provisions or their subject matters.

In the event a House-Senate conference on this or similar legislation is convened, the Judiciary Committee reserves the right to request an appropriate number of conferees to address any concerns with these or similar provisions that may arise in conference.

Please place this letter in the Congressional Record during consideration of the measure on the House floor. Thank you for the cooperative spirit in which you have worked regarding this matter and others between our committees.

Sincerely,

JERROLD NADLER, Chairman.

I acknowledge that provisions of the bill fall within the jurisdiction of the Committee to the Judiciary under House Rule X, and that your Committee will forgo action on H.R. 4821 to expedite floor consideration. I further acknowledge that the inaction of your Committee with respect to the bill does not waive any future jurisdictional claim over the matters contained in the bill that fall within your jurisdiction.

I also acknowledge that your Committee will be appropriately consulted and involved as this, or similar legislation moves forward and will support the appointment of Committee on the Judiciary conferees during any House-Senate conference convened on this legislation.

Lastly, I will ensure that our exchange of letters is included in the Congressional Record during floor consideration of the bill. Thank you again for your cooperation regarding the legislation. I look forward to continuing to work with you as the measure moves through the legislative process.

Sincerely,

GREGORY W. MEeks, Chairman.

Mrs. KIM of California. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise in support of this bill. The Chinese Communist Party is at war with religious freedom. The CCP treats as threats organizations and allegiances that it does not control. Members of the CCP and the PLA are required to be atheists and are prohibited from practicing a religion. National law effectively prohibits young people in China from receiving any religious education.

Xi Jinping is ramping up his so-called Sinicization of religion and is expressly demanding that religious groups support the Communist ideology. The Chinese Communist Party. The consequences for those who refuse to submit are brutal.

House-church Protestant Christians, underground Catholics, Tibetan Buddhisms, and Falun Gong practitioners, and other people who seek to worship freely are repressed.

The State Department's annual religious freedom reports note deaths in CCP custody. The report states that the CCP "tortured, physically abused, arrested, disappeared, detained, sentenced to prison, subjected to forced labor and ... harassed adherents of both registered and unregistered religious groups for activities related to their religious beliefs and practices."

Both the Trump and Biden administrations have correctly recognized the PRC's brutal crackdown and forced encampment of Uyghur Muslims and other minorities in Xinjiang as a genocide, involving crimes against humanity.

According to credible reports, more than 800,000 Muslim children have been separated from their families. Just this week, 90-year-old Catholic Cardinal Joseph Zen is on trial in Hong Kong, one of several Catholic bishops imprisoned and actively persecuted by the CCP. Numerous Uighur pastors remain in detention, and the government continues to demolish church buildings and crosses.
Religious believers in China deserve our prayers, our respect, and our support.

This bill before us today will help ensure that CCP officials responsible for this persecution are identified, sanctioned, and denied visas into the United States.

It also states that the People’s Republic of China has continued to earn designation as a “country of particular concern” under the International Religious Freedom Act. It calls for efforts by the United States, including diplomacy at the highest levels, to promote the protection of Christians and other religious minorities inside China. It expresses the sense of Congress that the U.N. Human Rights Council should formally condemn the PRC for its ongoing genocide in Xinjiang as well as its persecution of Christians and other religious groups. The inability of that Council to condemn such massive human rights abuses is an indictment of its effectiveness.

Madam Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman from Missouri (Mrs. HARTZLER) for introducing this important bill of which I am a proud cosponsor. It deserves our unanimous support, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. KIM of California. Madam Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Missouri (Mrs. HARTZLER).

Mrs. HARTZLER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to advocate for the passage of my bill, H.R. 4821, the Combating the Persecution of Religious Groups in China Act. This urgently needed legislation will hold senior officials of the Chinese Communist Party accountable for the human rights violations and persecution of Christians and other religious groups in China.

The Chinese Communist Party believes that religion threatens its control over society. As a result, the CCP is carrying out a systemic crackdown on all religions to control and manipulate every aspect of faith. This includes the closing and destruction of churches, installing surveillance equipment on church property, forcing the modification of religious teachings to conform with the objectives of the government, and the wrongful imprisonment of thousands of individuals.

Through the Defending Freedoms Project, I am a congressional advocate for three of these religious prisoners: Pastor Chuan Cao, Pastor Zhang Shaojie, and Pastor Wang Yi. Each were sentenced to several years in Chinese prisons on illegitimate charges for practicing their faith. This is unacceptable, and it must end.

As a Nation built on the fundamental principles of the freedom of religion, we have a responsibility to shed light on this persecution and speak for those in China who have no voice.

By passing this legislation, the House of Representatives will be sending a clear message to China that we will not stand by as they brutally abuse their own citizens. No one should live in fear for practicing their faith, and China must be held accountable for their criminal human rights violations.

Madam Speaker, I thank the Foreign Affairs Committee members and their staff for their hard work in bringing this important legislation to the floor, and I call on my colleagues to support its passage.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Madam Speaker, I thank VICKY HARTZLER for authoring this very important and extraordinarily timely resolution.

Under Xi Jinping, the Chinese Communist Party is waging war against all faiths: Christians, Falun Gong, Tibetan Buddhists, Muslims, Uyghurs. He is actually committing genocide against the Uyghurs and has been doing it for some time now.

Thankfully, this Congress has spoken out before, particularly on the Uyghurs, but we need to speak out again on the Christians who are suffering, the most persecuted group in all of China.

Let me say, too, that in calling for sanctions, we have sanctions. Madam Speaker, the Global Magnitsky Act and other sanctions are in place for the violation of the Religious Freedom Act of 1998, and the sanctioning could occur there as a CPC country, a country of particular concern.

I believe we need to do more to hold individuals and, collectively, the Chinese Communist Party to account. That goes for all. That goes for Trump when he was in office. It goes for President Biden now.

We should have done more. We need to do more now because it is all-out war on religion.

I wrote an op-ed in The Washington Post in 1998. I titled it, “The world must stand against China’s war on religion” and noted that the sinicization, making all faiths comport to Xi Jinping’s horrible, nightmarish vision for that country, needs to be incorporated. Whole texts, the Bible texts and sacred scriptures of all faiths, are being rewritten in order to comport, again, with his socialist ideology.

In 1994, after Tiananmen Square, I went to China. I went there many times—barred from going now. I know Bishop Shu of Baoding Province. Here was a man who spent years being tortured, being deprived of food, but especially being tortured because there were terrible usages of cattie prods and all the other terrible things that they do in Chinese prisons.

I couldn’t believe when he looked me in the eyes and said: I pray for my persecutors.

I mean, we all get a little mad when we get a bad editorial or something politically. Here is a man saying he has endured all this, and he prays for his persecutors.

I held a hearing as co-chairman of the Tom Lantos Human Rights Commission asking this Congress: Where is Bishop Shu? He disappeared. He may have passed away due to the mistreatment, but that is what they do, as well. People all of a sudden just disappear. Numbers of Chinese and others just go off the face of the Earth.

This resolution couldn’t be more timely. The Chinese Communist Party is getting worse by the hour. Xi Jinping may get reelected by his peers to a third term as dictator. Our hope is that the Chinese Communist Party will realize they bring gross dishonor to China by their gross misbehavior.

Thankfully, the U.N. High Commissioner, as we all know, just released a report calling out China for its genocide. They called it crimes against humanity. That is good. Hopefully, the U.N. Human Rights Council will take this up, as well.

We need to do sanctioning, and we need to do it now.

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, I have no more speakers, and I am ready to close. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. KIM of California. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume for the purpose of closing.

Madam Speaker, the Chinese Communist Party persecutes religious believers who will not submit their religious convictions to CCP control. It reacts with brutality against any attempted religious practice outside of the five religious patriotic associations allowed and controlled by the regime.

This bill tells the truth about the dangers faced by Christians, Uyghur Muslims, Tibetan Buddhists, and other religious minorities in China and takes steps to sanction their CCP persecutors.

I am an enthusiastic cosponsor of this bill by my colleague from Missouri, and I urge its unanimous passage.

Madam Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. CASTRO of Texas. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume for the purpose of closing.

Madam Speaker, H.R. 4821 sends a strong and unequivocal message that the United States stands firmly in support of worshippers of all religious traditions and faiths and their ability to freely practice their religion or engage in worship without fear of discrimination or persecution.

This legislation signals strong bipartisan House support for the administration to hold accountable all those responsible for the severe violations of religious freedom and persecution of religious groups in China.

Madam Speaker, I hope my colleagues will join me in supporting this resolution, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Texas (Mr. CASTRO) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 4821, as amended.

The question was taken. The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. CLYDE. Madam Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays. The yeas and nays were ordered. The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

PRESS CORPS SHOULD RESEARCH SOUTHERN BORDER CRISIS

(Mr. GROTHMAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. GROTHMAN. Madam Speaker, over the last couple of weeks, there have been stories again about our southern border, which I think is the biggest crisis facing America today.

We will refresh the American public and remind them that whereas 2 years ago, 5,000 to 10,000 people were crossing our border and being let in the country, we have now, in an average month, over 150,000 entering the country.

In any event, there are rumors that, right now, Venezuela is—as there were rumors about Cuba about 40 years ago—letting people who are prisoners out of Venezuela to come to the United States.

Given that Venezuela considers the United States an enemy, a country that they are hostile to, why wouldn’t they? The question is, where is the press corps? And why isn’t the press corps demanding more information about the type of people that are crossing our southern border and particularly about Venezuelans who are coming in the country and whether there are any particular traits that these people have?

I beg the press corps to wake up a little bit and do a little research here.

THANKING STAFF

(Mr. LARSON of Connecticut asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LARSON of Connecticut. Madam Speaker. I rise to compliment Speaker pro tempore BOURDEAUX on her service to this great Nation of ours. I have very much enjoyed the privilege and honor of serving with the gentleman.

I also rise to thank and compliment the Clerk’s Office for all the work that they do; the long days and hours that they put in, extending well into the evening. Yet, on both sides of the aisle, the staff work so hard, but day in and day out, it is the Clerk’s Office here that carries out the work in governance of this great country of ours. I thank them for their service. God bless them. God bless America.

SENATE ENROLLED BILL SIGNED

The Speaker pro tempore. Mr. RASKIN, on Tuesday, September 27, 2022, announced his signature to an enrolled bill of the Senate of the following title:

S. 2293.—An act to amend the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act to provide certain employment rights to reservists of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, and for other purposes.

ADJOURNMENT

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to section 1 of House Resolution 1230, the House stands adjourned until 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Thereupon (at 10 o’clock and 9 minutes p.m.), under its previous order, the House adjourned until tomorrow, Thursday, September 29, 2022, at 10 a.m.

Hon. Nancy Pelosi, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MADAM SPEAKER: Section 304(b)(3) of the Congressional Accountability Act of 1995 (CAA), 2 U.S.C. 1384(b)(3), requires that, with regard to substantive regulations under the CAA, after the Board of Directors (Board) of the Office of Congressional Workplace Rights (OCWR) has published a general notice of proposed rulemaking as required by subsection (b)(1), and received comments as required by subsection (b)(2), the Board shall make a number of changes, made a number of changes, and publish a general notice of proposed substantive regulations.

The April 26, 2022 Notice of Proposed Rulemaking included a thirty day comment period, which began on April 26, 2022. The OCWR received four comments to the proposed substantive regulations from stakeholders. The Board of Directors has reviewed these comments, made a number of changes to the proposed substantive regulations in response to the comments, and has adopted the amended regulations.

What is the effect of the Board’s “adoption” of these substantive regulations?

Adoption of these substantive regulations by the Board of Directors does not complete the promulgation process. Pursuant to section 304(c)(2) of the CAA, 2 U.S.C. 1384(c)(2), requires that, after adoption, the Board of Directors promulgate the regulations.

What procedure followed the Board’s initial Notice of Proposed Rulemaking?

The April 26, 2022 Notice of Proposed Rulemaking included a thirty day comment period, which began on April 26, 2022. The OCWR received four comments to the proposed substantive regulations from stakeholders. The Board of Directors has reviewed these comments, made a number of changes to the proposed substantive regulations in response to the comments, and has adopted the amended regulations.

What are the next steps in the process of promulgation of these regulations?

Pursuant to section 304(b)(4) of the CAA, 2 U.S.C. 1384(b)(4), the Board of Directors is required to “include a recommendation in the general notice of proposed rulemaking and in the regulations as to whether the regulations should be approved by the Senate, by resolution of the House of Representatives, by concurrent resolution, or by joint resolution.” The Board of Directors recommends that the procedure used by Congress to approve these overtime exemption regulations: that the House of Representative’s regulations for overtime exemptions by the Board approve the regulations by resolution; that the Senate approve the “S” version of the regulations by resolution; and that the House and Senate approve the “I” version of the regulations that are being reviewed by the other employes by a concurrent resolution.

Are there regulations covering overtime exemptions currently in force under the CAA?

Yes, however, they are woefully outdated. Unless and until the House of Representatives and the Senate adopt the regulations, the Board will revisit the regulations. The Board acknowledges that a dress “highly compensated employee” regulation would serve as an example. The Board requested the removal of “deputy sheriffs,” “park rangers,” “fire fighters,” or individuals whose main duty is to prevent fires. Similar to fire fighters and parole or probation officers, but not park rangers, fire fighters, and individuals who fight fires. Similarly, the commenter requested that the Board include in the regulations the word “constituents” with “customers” or stakeholders’. Another commenter requested that “enterprise” be modified to “employing office” to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. The Board concurs with this recommendation.

The Board has made many changes in response to comments received from interested parties. First, the Board agrees that good cause exists to modify these regulations in several respects to further reflect the legislative branch terminology. Several commenters applauded this Board’s decision to eliminate references that have no application to Congressional employees. However, they requested that the Board tailor the Proposed Regulations even further. The Board has heeded this request and in large part removed additional private sector terminology and replaced it with language specific to legislative branch employees and employing offices. Second, a commenter recommended departing from the effective date maintained within the Department of Labor regulations so that the regulations, once applied to the legislative branch, are not deemed retroactive. The Board agrees that good cause exists to modify these sections so that they are not deemed retroactive. Third, a commenter asked that the Board include in deleted sections the words “Intentionally Left Blank” or “Reserved” for Department of Labor sections and subsections that are being eliminated. Additional changes are explained below by section.

Sec. 541.10: As at least one commenter requested that “enterprise” be modified to “employing office” to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. Although Section 541.1 defines “enterprise” to mean “employing office,” the Board concurs with this recommendation.

Sec. 541.101: A commenter asked the Board to consider identifying that the section has been removed or renumber the sections thereafter for typographical clarity. The Board will include the word “Reserved” after the heading of removed sections.

Sec. 541.103: At least one commenter requested that “enterprise” be modified to “employing office” to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. Although Section 541.1 defines “enterprise” to mean “employing office,” the Board concurs with this recommendation. Similarly, the commenter requested that “establishment” be modified to “location” to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. The Board concurs with this recommendation as well.

Sec. 541.200: One commenter requested that “customers” be replaced with “constituents” to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. The Board recognizes that the word “customers” is not inherently governmental. Nevertheless, the Board believes that “constituents” is too narrow. Thus, the Board finds good cause to modify the word “customers” with “customers, constituents or stakeholders”.

Sec. 541.201: At least one commenter requested that “business” be replaced with “enterprises” to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. Although Section 541.1 defines “business” and “company” to mean “employing office,” the Board concurs with all of these recommendations. Similarly, one commenter requested that “customers” be replaced with “constituents” to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. The Board recognizes that the word “customers” is not inherently governmental. Nevertheless, the Board believes that “constituents” is too narrow. Thus, the Board finds good cause to modify the word “customers” with “customers, constituents or stakeholders”.

Sec. 541.301: At least one commenter requested that “business” be replaced with “constituents” to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. The Board recognizes that the word “customers” is not inherently governmental. Nevertheless, the Board believes that “constituents” is too narrow. Thus, the Board finds good cause to modify the word “customers” with “customers, constituents or stakeholders.”

Sec. 541.400: One commenter requested that “business” be replaced with “constituents” to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. The Board recognizes that the word “customers” is not inherently governmental. Nevertheless, the Board believes that “constituents” is too narrow. Thus, the Board finds good cause to modify the word “customers” with “customers, constituents or stakeholders.”
“credit manager”, “large corporation”, “management consultant”, “large company”, and “client” be modified to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology.

Sec. 541.203: Multiple commenters questioned whether Congress had insurance adjusters (541.203(a)) and comparison shoppers (541.203(b)) as employees of the Federal Government. The Board agrees that the example of an “employee who investigates claims” remove the word “industry” in 541.203(b), and reserve all of 541.203(a). In addition, at least one commenter requested that “company” be modified to be directly or by analogy to any employing office. However, insurance adjusters’ investigative functions may also be performed by offices other than the one to evaluate the administrative exemption. Similarly the Board believes that employees in financial services generally, as opposed to the financial services industry, is a function that may be applicable directly or by analogy for employing offices to analyze whether employees are covered by the administrative exemption. Lastly, the Board agrees that the comparison shoppers example is neither applicable directly or by analogy to any employing office. Therefore, the Board finds good cause to modify this language so that it is restricted only to employees of an employing office.

Sec. 541.206: A commenter requested that “credit manager”, “credit employer”, and “customers” be modified to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. Although Section 541.1 defines “business” to mean “employing office,” the Board concurs with this recommendation.

Sec. 541.606: Commenters recommended maintaining the language so that there is no ambiguity regarding how large businesses are defined. The Board agrees that such definitions are necessary to accurately reflect legislative branch employees.

Sec. 541.702: Raising the same concern as Sec. 541.202, at least one commenter requested that “supervisor” be eliminated, and the terms “establishment” and “industry” be modified to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. The Board recognizes that there is no position of “mine superintendent” in the legislative branch and that this example will not be applicable directly or by analogy for employing offices to analyze whether employees are covered by the regulations. Therefore, the Board finds good cause to both eliminate and modify said language.

Subpart F: A commenter asked the Board to either identify the sections the Board considered for removal or renumber the sections thereafter for typographical clarity. The Board will include the word “Reserved” after the headings of removed sections.

Sec. 541.601: A commenter recommended departing from the Department of Labor’s effective dates in Section 541.601(a)(1), 541.601(a)(2), and 541.601(b)(2) so that the regulations are not deemed retroactive. The Board finds good cause to amend this language so that it is consistent with the legislative branch’s unique workplace.

Sec. 541.602: At least one commenter requested that “company” be modified to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. Although Section 541.1 defines “business” to mean “employing office,” the Board concurs with this recommendation.

Sec. 541.606: Commenters recommended maintaining the language so that there is no ambiguity regarding how large businesses are defined. The Board agrees that such definitions are necessary to accurately reflect legislative branch employees.

As discussed previously, several commenters requested the Board to further simplify the proposed Substantive Regulations not presently found in the legislative branch and include examples of positions specific to the legislative branch employees. While the Board agrees with this suggestion in large part, the Board did not find good cause for all of the requested changes. First, as explained in 2005, the Board is aware that many of the job classifications and types of work processes treated in Part 541 are probably not found within the Legislative Branch of the Federal Government, that there may be job categories in the Legislative Branch not directly reflected in Part 541 and that there are differences among the workforces in the several employing offices covered by the CAA. However, the Board has concluded that adding or removing all exemplary and descriptive provisions from the regulations as applied to all employing offices could result in basic misunderstandings of the purpose and goal of the new Part 541 of 29 CFR, and of the Congressional mandate in the CAA that the Board issue regulations based upon the Secretary of Labor’s regulations promulgated for the private sector. Second, the Board did not remove positions which do not presently exist in the legislative branch but reasonably be foreseen to exist in the future. The Board recognizes that this Proposed Rule, when adopted and issued, may be effective for many years to come. For example, although the legislative branch does not presently employ a chef, it may in the future for one of the multiple dining locations within the Capitol complex. Thus, descriptions of positions or functions currently held by Congressional employees but could reasonably be foreseen to exist in the future were maintained. Third, the Board did not remove the position title “inspector” currently held by many legislative branch employees where the employees may have the same title but whose actual job duties may differ. The Board believes that such positions should not be made through rulemaking but rather through adjudication.

Sec. 541.610: One commenter suggested the regulation of the word “elementary or secondary schools” and in its stead the inclusion of “nursery school programs” as exempt from minimum wage and overtime requirements. The Board does not find good cause exists to make this change. The inclusion of “elementary or secondary schools” and the exclusion of “nursery schools” provides an employing office with the ability to evaluate whether a nursery school employee is exempt, or not exempt, consistent with the maxim of interpretation, expressio unius, exclusio alterius. Further, the Board believes that determinations regarding exemptions for nursery school program employees should be made through adjudication and not through the addition of new descriptions. As explained in Sec. 541.0 above, the Board does not interpret the terms used by an employing office to reflect the legislative branch termi- nal lettering or definitions. By using a broader term, the reference to the proposed regulation to “enforcement” by the Office of Congressional Workplace Rights of the equal pay provision found at section 6(d) of the FLSA reflects the Board’s interpretation of this section that the reference in the proposed regulation to “enforcement” by the Office of Congressional Workplace Rights is authorized to administer the dispute resolution process for employee claims of a violation of the equal pay requirement at section 6(d) of the FLSA. Although the Office of Congressional Workplace Rights does not initiate enforcement, this remains a method of enforcement. Thereafter, the “good cause” and “enforcement” of section 6(d) was maintained.

Sec. 541.1: One commenter expressed concern that by defining the terms “employee”, “intern”, and “employing office” by reference to definitions, this may cause confusion. It recommended, therefore, that the terms be defined pursuant to definitions already in the substantive regulations for the FLSA at Section 501.102. The Board does not share that citation to the Congressional Accountability Act causes confusion. Therefore, the statutory citations will remain.

Sec. 541.104: One commenter suggested that the Board re-evaluate its 2005 determination declining to include interns as employees for purposes of section 541.104 to the extent that they are now paid staff. In 2005, the Office of Compliance submitted an inquiry with the Department of Labor as to whether the Board interpreted the “employee” in regulation 541.104 to include individual workers who are not “employees” as defined under the balance of Part 541. The Department of Labor responded informally that such employees are not counted as an “employee” purposes of the application of section 541.104 of the regulations. The Board has concluded that there is no good cause to modify section 541.104 to expressly include interns. The Board has defined “interns” in this regulation pursuant to the Congressional Accountability Act’s definition, i.e., an individual who performs work but is uncompensated. Tying Commenters’ concern about interpreting an “employee holds the position of ‘intern’ but is nevertheless compensated, the employee may, in certain circumstances, be considered a full time employee or the equivalent. The Board believes that determinations regarding paid interns should be made through adjudication and not through rulemaking.

Sec. 541.202: One commenter requested that “segment” be modified to “department or division” to further tailor the regulations to reflect the legislative branch terminology. Because segment is a generic description for the words “department” and “division,” and since “segment” would also capture other partitions within the employing office that are not called a department or division, the Board does not find good cause to modify this language.

Sec. 541.203: Multiple commenters requested that additional position titles and descriptions be included as examples of employees who are exempt based on the administrative exemption. For example, one commenter proposed to include the following examples: employees who are primarily responsible for performing public relations work for an employing office, such as developing and implementing a media strategy or managing and coordinating media contacts and activities for the office, generally meet the duties requirements for the administrative exemption.

(i) “Employees who perform research and government relations functions for an employer and who research and advise the Senate on community, legislative or other developments in the assigned area, generally meet the duties requirements for the administrative exemption.”

Sec. 541.301: One commenter suggested that portions of the proposed regulations which are concerned with the application of the legislative branch termi- nal lettering or definitions. By using a broader term, the reference in the proposed regulation to “enforcement” by the Office of Attending Physician. Furthermore, for positions that do not presently exist in the legislative branch but are reasonably foreseeable to exist in the future, the Board believes these descriptions will assist employing offices either directly or by analogy for positions created in years to come.

Sec. 541.304: Commenters broadly agreed that portions of the proposed regulations which are concerned with the application of the legislative branch termi- nal lettering or definitions. By using a broader term, the reference in the proposed regulation to “enforcement” by the Office of Attending Physician. Furthermore, for positions that do not presently exist in the legislative branch but are reasonably foreseeable to exist in the future, the Board believes these descriptions will assist employing offices either directly or by analogy for positions created in years to come.

Sec. 541.605: One commenter suggested that this section in its entirety, and the many references to this section, should be eliminated since Congressional employees are paid on a salary basis. The Board does not find good cause to remove these references. Some of these functions may reflect the categories for positions created in years to come.

How To Read the Adopted Amendments:

The text of the amendments adopted by the OCWR Board reproduces the text of the current regulations promulgated by the Secretary of Labor at 29 CFR Part 541, and shows changes adopted by the OCWR Board for the CAA version of these same regulations. Changes adopted by the Board are shown as follows: deletions are marked with a [bracket] and added text is within angled brackets. Therefore, if these regulations are adopted as proposed, the deletion within bracketed text will disappear from the regulation. If these regulations are approved for the House of Representatives by resolution of the House, they will be promulgated with the prefix “H” appearing before each regulation’s section number. If these regulations are approved for the Senate by resolution of the Senate, they will be promulgated with the prefix “S” appearing before each regulation’s section number. If these regulations are approved for the Congress by joint or concurrent resolution of the House of Representatives and the Senate, they will be promulgated with the prefix “P” appearing before each regulation’s section number.

SUBPART A—GENERAL REGULATIONS

§541.10 Introductory statement.
(a) Section 13(a)(1) of the Fair Labor Standards Act, as amended, provides an exemption from the Act’s minimum wage and overtime requirements for any employee employed in a bona fide executive, administrative, or professional capacity (including any such capacity of an academically trained employee or a principal or teacher in elementary or secondary schools), or in the capacity of an outside sales employee, as such terms are defined and delimited in this part from time to time by regulations of the Secretary, subject to the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act.<< and applies to covered employees by virtue of section 2520(e)(1) of the CAA, as amended, 2 U.S.C. 1361(e)(1).>> Section 13(a)(1) of the Act provides an exemption from the minimum wage and overtime requirements for computer systems analysts, computer programmers, software engineers, and other similarly skilled computer employees << and covered employees by virtue of section 2520(e)(1) of the CAA, as amended, 2 U.S.C. 1361(e)(1)>>.
(b) The requirements for these exemptions are contained in this part as follows: executive employees, subpart B; administrative employees, subpart C; professional employees, subpart D; computer employees, subpart E; outside sales employees, subpart F. Subpart G contains salary requirements applicable to most of the exemptions, including salary levels and the salary basis test. Subpart H also contains a provision for the issuance of highly compensated employees. Subpart H contains definitions and other miscellaneous provisions applicable to all or several of the exemptions.

(c) Effective July 1, 1972, the Fair Labor Standards Act was amended to include within the provisions of the equal pay provisions those employees exempt from the minimum wage and overtime pay provisions as bona fide executive, administrative, and professional employees. Any employee employed in the capacity of academic administrative personnel or teacher in elementary or secondary schools, in or of the capacity of an outside sales employee under section 19(a)(1) of the Act. The equal pay provisions in section 6(d) of the Fair Labor Standards Act are administered and enforced by the [United States Equal Employment Opportunity Commission] <<Office of Congressional Workplace Rights>>.

§541.1 Terms used in regulations.

§541.2 Job titles insufficient.
A job title alone is insufficient to establish the exempt status of an employee. The exempt or nonexempt status of any particular employee must be determined on the basis of whether the employee’s salary and duties meet the requirements of the regulations in this part.

§541.3 Scope of the section 13(a)(1) exemptions.
(a) The section 13(a)(1) exemptions and the regulations in this part do not apply to manual laborers or other “blue collar” workers who perform work involving repetitive operations with their hands, physical skill and energy. Such nonexempt “blue collar” employees gain the skills and knowledge required for performance of their routine manual and physical work through apprenticeships and on-the-job training, not through the prolonged course of specialized intellectual instruction required for exempt learned professional employees such as medical doctors, architects and archeologists. Thus, for example, unskilled non-management line employees and non-management employees in maintenance, construction and similar occupations such as carpenters, electricians, mechanics, plumbers, iron workers, craftsmen, operating engineers, longshoremen, construction workers and laborers are enti- tled to minimum wage and overtime at a premium pay under the Fair Labor Standards Act, and are not exempt under the regulations in this part no matter how highly paid they may be.
(b) The section 13(a)(1) exemptions and the regulations in this part also do not apply to police officers, detectives, [deputy sheriffs, state troopers, highway patrol officers,] investigators, inspectors, [correctional officers, parole or probation officers,] park rangers, firefighters, [emergency medical technicians, ambulance personnel, rescue workers, hazardous materials workers and similar employees, regardless of rank or pay level, who performCounting of law; performing surveillance; pursuit, restraining and apprehending suspects; detaining or supervising suspected and convicted criminals; those who prepare or parol or parole; interviewing witnesses; interrogating and fingerprinting suspects; preparing investigative reports; or other similar work.

(2) Such employees do not qualify as exempt executive employees because their primary duty is not management of the enterprise [employing office] in which the employee is employed or a customarily recognized department or subdivision thereof as regulated under §541.100. For example, a police officer or fire fighter whose primary duty is to investigate crimes or fight fires is not exempt under section 13(a)(1) of the Act because the only exempt functional areas in this office might be. Such employees do not qualify as exempt administrative employees because their primary duty is not the performance of work directly related to the management or general business operations of the employer or the employer’s customers,<< constituents or stakeholders>> as required under §541.200.

(3) Such employees do not qualify as exempt professional employees because their primary duty is not the performance of work requiring knowledge of an advanced type in a field of science or learning customarily acquired by a prolonged course of specialized intellectual instruction or the performance of work requiring invention, imagination, originality or talent in a recognized field of artistic or creative endeavor as required under §541.300. Although some police officers, fire fighters, paramedics, emergency medical technicians and other employees and their employers may have collectively bargained or obtained a specialized academic degree is not a standard prerequisite for employment in such occupations.

§541.4 Other laws and collective bargaining agreements.
The Fair Labor Standards Act provides minimum standards that may be exceeded, but cannot be waived or reduced. Employers must comply, for example, with any Federal, State, or local laws, regulations, or ordinances establishing a higher minimum wage or lower maximum hour, or that may establish a shorter work week than those established under the Act. Similarly, employers, on their own initiative or under a collective bargaining agreement with a labor union, are not precluded by the Act from providing a wage higher than the statutory minimum, a shorter work week than the statutory maximum, or a higher overtime premium (double time, for example) than provided by the Act. While collective bargaining agreements cannot waive or reduce the Act’s protections, nothing in the Act or its regulations would prevent employers from their contractual obligations under collective bargaining agreements.

SUBPART B—EXECUTIVE EMPLOYEES

§541.100 General rule for executive employees.

(a) The term “employee employed in a bona fide executive capacity” in section 13(a)(1) of the Act means an employee who:

(1) Compensated on a salary basis pursuant to §541.600 at a rate of not less than $455 per week.

(2) Whose primary duty is management of the enterprise.

(3) Who customarily and regularly directs the work of two or more other employees.

(4) Who has the authority to hire or fire other employees or whose suggestions and recommendations as to the hiring, firing, advancement, promotion or any other change of status of other employees are given particular weight.

(b) The phrase “salary basis” is defined at §541.602; “board, lodging or other facilities,” is defined at §541.700; and “customarily and regularly” is defined at §541.701.

§541.101 Business owner.

The term “employee employed in a bona fide executive capacity” in section 13(a)(1) of the Act also includes any employee who owns at least a bona fide 20-percent equity interest in the enterprise in which the employee is employed, regardless of whether the business is a corporate or other type of organization, and who is actively engaged in its management. The term “management” is defined in §541.102. The requirements of Subpart G (salary requirements of this part do not apply to the business owners described in this section.)

§541.102 Management.

Generally, “management” includes, but is not limited to, activities such as interviewing, selecting, and training of employees; setting and adjusting their rates of pay and hours of work; evaluating the work of employees; maintaining production or sales records for use in supervision or control; appraising employees’ productivity and efficiency for the purpose of recommending promotions or other changes in status; handling employee complaints and grievances; disciplining employees; planning the work; determining the types of materials, supplies, machinery, equipment or tools to be used or mercedize to be bought, stocked and sold; controlling the flow and distribution of materials or merchandise and supplies; providing for the safety and security of the employees or the property; planning and controlling the budget; and monitoring or implementing legal compliance measures.

§541.105 Particular weight.

To determine whether an employee’s suggestions and recommendations are given “particular weight,” factors to be considered include the following: Whether an employee’s duties are, in each actual case, part of his or her primary duty and, if so, to what extent; whether the employee is authorized to make recommendations having more importance and even if a higher level manager’s recommendation has more importance and even if the employee does not have authority to make the ultimate decision as to the employee’s actions.

§541.106 Concurrent duties.

(a) Concurrent performance of exempt and nonexempt work does not disqualify an employee from the executive exemption if the requirements of §541.105 are met. Whether an employee meets the requirements of §541.100 when the employee performs concurrent duties is determined on a case-by-case basis and based on the factors set forth in §541.700. Generally, exempt executives make the decision regarding when to perform nonexempt duties and remain responsible for the success or failure of business operations under their management while performing the nonexempt work. In contrast, the nonexempt employee generally is directed by a supervisor to perform the exempt work or performs the exempt work for defined time periods. An employee whose primary duty is ordinary production work or routine, recurrent nonexempt work cannot qualify for exemption as an executive.

(b) For example, an assistant manager in a retail establishment may perform work such as serving customers, cooking food, stocking shelves and cleaning the establishment, but performance of such nonexempt work does not preclude the exemption if the assistant manager’s primary duty is management. An assistant manager can supervise employees and serve customers at the same time without losing the exemption. An exempt employee also supervises the work of other employees and stock shelves.

(c) In contrast, a relief supervisor or work-in-progress supervisor who is performing nonexempt work on the production line in a manufacturing plant does not become exempt merely because the nonexempt production line employee occasionally has some responsibility for directing the work of other nonexempt production line employees when, for example, the exempt supervisor is unavailable. Similarly, an employee whose primary duty is to work as an electrician is not an exempt executive even if the employee also directs the work of other employees on the job site, obtains materials for the job, and handles requests from the prime contractor.

SUBPART C—ADMINISTRATIVE EMPLOYEES

§541.200 General rule for administrative employees.

(a) The term “employee employed in a bona fide administrative capacity” in section 13(a)(1) of the Act shall mean an employee:

(1) Compensated on a salary or fee basis pursuant to §541.600 at a rate of not less than $455 per week ($684 per week if employed in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, Guam, Puerto Rico, or the U.S. Virgin Islands, or $455 per week if employed in American Samoa) and whose primary duty is management of the enterprise, setting and adjusting their rates of pay and hours of work; directing the work of employees; performing routine, recurrent or repetitive tasks which are limited to the particular duty and which the employee customarily and regularly directs.

(2) Compensated on a salary or fee basis pursuant to §541.600 at a rate of not less than $455 per week ($684 per week if employed in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, Guam, Puerto Rico, or the U.S. Virgin Islands, or $455 per week if employed in American Samoa) and whose primary duty is to work as an electrician is not an exempt executive even if the employee also directs the work of other employees on the job site, obtains materials for the job, and handles requests from the prime contractor.

(b) The supervision of the employee’s chief (or other supervisor) is subject to the actual manager’s absence does not meet this requirement.

(c) An exempt supervisor’s change in status of a co-worker. An employee from the executive exemption if the employee does not have authority to make the ultimate decision as to the employee’s actions.

(d) Hours worked by an employee cannot be credited more than once for different exempt employees.

(e) Whether an employee meets the requirements of §541.100 when the employee performs concurrent duties is determined on a case-by-case basis and based on the factors set forth in §541.700. Generally, exempt executives make the decision regarding when to perform nonexempt duties and remain responsible for the success or failure of business operations under their management while performing the nonexempt work. In contrast, the nonexempt employee generally is directed by a supervisor to perform the exempt work or performs the exempt work for defined time periods. An employee whose primary duty is ordinary production work or routine, recurrent nonexempt work cannot qualify for exemption as an executive.

(f) For example, an assistant manager in a retail establishment may perform work such as serving customers, cooking food, stocking shelves and cleaning the establishment, but performance of such nonexempt work does not preclude the exemption if the assistant manager’s primary duty is management. An assistant manager can supervise employees and serve customers at the same time without losing the exemption. An exempt employee also supervises the work of other employees and stock shelves.

(g) In contrast, a relief supervisor or work-in-progress supervisor who is performing nonexempt work on the production line in a manufacturing plant does not become exempt merely because the nonexempt production line employee occasionally has some responsibility for directing the work of other nonexempt production line employees when, for example, the exempt supervisor is unavailable. Similarly, an employee whose primary duty is to work as an electrician is not an exempt executive even if the employee also directs the work of other employees on the job site, obtains materials for the job, and handles requests from the prime contractor.
§ 541.202 Discretion and independent judgment.

(a) To qualify for the administrative exemption, an employee’s primary duty must be the performance of work directly related to the management or general business operations of the employer or the employer’s customers<<, constituents or stakeholders>>. The phrase “directly related to the management or general business operations” refers to the type of work performed by the employee. To meet this requirement, an employee must perform work directly related to the running or servicing of the [business] <<employing office>>, as distinguished, for example, from working on a manufacturing production line or selling a product in a retail or service establishment.

(b) Work directly related to management or general business operations includes, but is not limited to, work in functional areas such as tax; finance; accounting; auditing; insurance; quality control; purchasing; procurement; advertising; marketing; research; safety and health; personnel management; human resources; employee benefits; labor relations; government relations; computer network, Internet, and database administration; legal and regulatory compliance; and similar activities. Some of these activities may be performed by employees who also qualify for the salary basis.

(c) An employee may qualify for the administrative exemption if the employee’s primary duty is the performance of work directly related to the management or general business operations of the employer’s customers<<, constituents or stakeholders>>. This, for example, includes work performed by employees acting as advisers or consultants to their employer’s clients or customers<<> (as tax experts or financial consultants, for example) who may approve or disapprove these policies or recommendations for the [company] <<employing office>> in handling complaints, arbitrating disputes or resolving grievances.

(d) The exercise of discretion and independent judgment implies that the employee has authority to make an independent decision or recommendation without supervision. However, employees can exercise discretion and independent judgment even if their decisions or recommendations are reviewed at a higher level. Thus, the term “discretion and independent judgment” does not require that the decisions made by an employee have a finality that goes with unlimited authority and a complete absence of review. The decisions made as a result of the exercise of discretion and independent judgment may consist of recommendations for action rather than the actual taking of action. The fact that an employee’s decisions may be subject to review and that upon occasion the decisions are revised or reversed after review does not mean that the employee is not exercising discretion and independent judgment. For example, the policies formulated by the [credit] manager of a large corporation <<employing office>> may subject to review by the [company] <<employing office>> officials who may approve or disapprove these policies <<consultant>>. The department director <<employing office>> who has made a study of the operations of a [business] <<department>> and who has drawn a proposed change in organization may have the plan reviewed or revised by superiors before it is submitted to the client<<>. The exercise of discretion and independent judgment includes the making of independent decisions or recommendations for action rather than the actual taking of action. The fact that an employee’s decisions may be subject to review and that upon occasion the decisions are revised or reversed after review does not mean that the employee is not exercising discretion and independent judgment.

(f) An employee does not exercise discretion and independent judgment with respect to matters of significance merely because the employer will experience financial losses if the employee fails to act properly. For example, a messenger who is entrusted with carrying large sums of money does not exercise discretion and independent judgment with respect to matters of significance even though serious consequences may flow from the employee’s neglect. Similarly, an employee who uses expensive equipment does not exercise discretion and independent judgment with respect to matters of significance merely because improper use of the equipment may cause serious financial loss to the employer.

§ 541.203 Administrative exemption examples.

(a) [Insurance claims adjusters] <<employees who investigate claims>> generally meet the duties requirements for the administrative exemption if their duties include work such as collecting and analyzing information regarding the customer’s income, assets, investments or debts; determining which financial products best meet the customer’s needs and financial circumstances; advising the customer regarding the advantages and disadvantages of different financial products; and marketing, servicing or promoting the employer’s financial products. However, an employee whose primary duty is selling financial products does not qualify for the administrative exemption.

(b) An employee who leads a team of other employees assigned to complete major projects for the employer (such as [purchasing, selling or closing all or part of the business]) negotiating a real estate transaction or a collective bargaining agreement, or designing and implementing productivity improvement plans <<company executive>> generally meets the duties requirements for the administrative exemption, even if the employee does not have direct supervisory responsibility over the other employees.

(c) An executive assistant or administrative assistant to a [business owner or senior executive of a large business] <<senior management official of an employing office>> generally meets the duties requirements for the administrative exemption if such employee, without specific instructions or prescribed procedures, has been delegated authority regarding matters of significance.

(d) Human resources managers who formulate employee benefit plans or interpret employee benefit policies and management consultants who study the operations of a [business] <<employing office>> and propose changes in organization generally meet the duties requirements for the administrative exemption. However, personnel clerks who are employees providing general clerical assistance regarding their minimum qualifications and fitness for employment generally do not meet the duties requirements for the administrative exemption. Such personnel clerks typically will reject all applicants who do not meet minimum standards for the particular job or for employment by the [company] <<employing office>>. The minimum standards are usually set by the exempt human resources manager or other [company].
§541.300 General rule for professional employees.

(a) The term ‘employee employed in a bona fide professional capacity’ in section 13(a)(1) of the Act shall mean any employee:

(1) Compensated on a salary or fee basis pursuant to §541.600 at a rate of not less than $684 per week [or $565 per week if employed in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, Guam, Puerto Rico, or the U.S. Virgin Islands by employers other than the Federal government, or $380 per week if employed in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, Guam, Puerto Rico, or the U.S. Virgin Islands by employers other than the Federal government], exclusive of board, lodging, or other facilities; or on a salary basis which is at least equal to the entrance salary for entry into the educational establishment by which employed; and

(2) Whose primary duty is performing administrative or professional duties related to academic instruction or training in an educational establishment or department or subdivision thereof.

(b) The term ‘educational establishment’ means an elementary or secondary school system, an institution of higher education or other educational institution. Sections 3(v)(1) and 3(v)(3) of the Act define elementary and secondary schools as those day or residential schools that provide elementary or secondary education, as determined under State law. Under the laws of most States, such education includes the curriculums in grades 1 through 12; under many it includes also the introductory programs in kindergarten. Secondary education may also include nursery school programs in elementary education and junior college curriculums in secondary education. ‘Other educational establish- ments’ includes special schools for mentally or physically disabled or gifted children, regardless of any classification as ‘elementary’, ‘secondary’, or higher. Factors relevant in determining whether post-secondary career programs are educational institutions include whether the school is licensed by a state agency responsible for the state’s educational system or accredited by a nationally recognized accrediting organization for higher education. In order to meet the exemption, no distinction is drawn between public and private schools, or between those operated for profit and those that are not for profit.

(c) The phrase ‘performing administrative functions directly related to academic instruction or training’ means work related to the academic operations and functions in a school rather than to administration along the lines of general business operations. Such academic administrative functions include, among others, establishing and maintaining academic and grading standards, and other aspects of the teaching program; the principal and any assistant principal’s responsibilities with regard to an elementary or secondary school; department heads in institutions of higher education responsible for the administration of the various departments (e.g., English department, the foreign language department, etc.); academic counselors who perform work such as administering school testing programs, assisting students with academic problems and advising students concerning degree requirements; and other employees with similar responsibilities.

(d) Jobs primarily involving management and maintenance, jobs relating to the health of the students, and academic staff such as social workers, psychologists, lunch room personnel, and other similar occupations that have a significant academic or professional nature (e.g., the academic administrative functions. Although such work is not considered academic administration, such employees may qualify for exemption under §541.200 or under other sections of this part, provided the requirements for such exemptions are met.

§541.301 Learned professionals.

(a) To qualify for the learned professional exemption, an employee’s primary duty must be the performance of work requiring advanced knowledge in a field of science or learning customarily acquired by a prolonged course of specialized intellectual instruction. This primary duty test includes these elements:

(1) The employee must perform work requiring advanced knowledge;

(2) The advanced knowledge must be in a field of science or learning; and

(3) The advanced knowledge must be customarily acquired by a prolonged course of specialized intellectual instruction.

The phrase ‘work requiring advanced knowledge’ means work which is predominantly intellectual in character, and which includes work requiring the consistent exercise of discretion and judgment, and which includes advanced or sufficiently advanced knowledge to analyze, interpret or make deductions from varying facts or circumstances. Advanced knowledge cannot be attained at the high school level.

(b) The phrase ‘field of science or learning’ includes the traditional professions of law, medicine, theology, accounting, actuarial science, medicine, engineering, architecture, teaching, and other similar occupations that have a recognized professional status as distinguished from the mechanical arts or skilled trades where in some instances the knowledge is of a fairly advanced type, but is not in a field of science or learning.

(c) The phrase ‘customarily acquired by a prolonged course of specialized intellectual instruction’ restricts the exemption to those employees who have had specialized intellectual training is a standard prerequisite for entrance into the profession. The best prima facie evidence that an employee meets this requirement is possession of the appropriate academic degree. However, the word ‘customarily’ means that the exemption is also available to employees in such professions who have substantially the same knowledge level and perform substantially the same work as the degree employees, but who attained the advanced education in a combination of full-time academic work and job training.

Thus, for example, the learned professional exemption is available to the occasional lawyer who has not gone to law school, or the occasional chemist who is not the possessor of a degree in chemistry. However, the learned professional exemption is not available for occupations that customarily may be performed with only the general knowledge acquired by an academic degree in any field, with knowledge acquired through job training or work experience. The learned professional exemption generally meets the duties requirements for the learned professional exemption.

(e) Registered or certified medical technologists who have successfully completed four years of professional study in an accredited college or university plus a fourth year of professional course work in a school of medical technology accredited by the Accreditation Review Commission on Education of the American Medical Association generally meet the duties requirements for the learned professional exemption.

(f) Nurses who have successfully completed a four-year degree program from an accredited college of nursing or other similar health care employees, however, generally do not qualify as exempt learned professionals because possession of a specialized advanced degree in nursing is not a standard requirement for entry into such occupations.

(g) Dental hygienists. Dental hygienists who have successfully completed four academic years of pre-professional and professional study in a specialized program accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Dental Education of the American Dental Association generally meet the duties requirements for the learned professional exemption.

(h) Physician assistants. Physician assistants who have successfully completed four years of pre-professional and professional study graduating from a physician assistant program accredited by the Accreditation Review Commission on Education for the Physician Assistant, and who are certified by the National Commission on Certification of Physician Assistants generally meet the duties requirements for the learned professional exemption.

(i) Certified public accountants generally meet the duties requirements for the learned professional exemption. In addition, many other accountants who are not certified public accountants but are engaged in similar jobs may qualify as exempt learned professionals. However, accounting clerks, bookkeepers and other employees who normally perform a great deal of routine work generally will not qualify as exempt professionals.

(j) Chefs, such as executive chefs and sous chefs, who have attained a four-year specialized academic degree in a culinary arts program, generally meet the duties requirements for the learned professional exemption. The learned professional exemption is not available to cooks who perform predominately routine mental, manual, mechanical or physical processes. The learned professional exemption also does not apply to occupations in which employees have acquired their skill by experience rather than by advanced specialized intellectual instruction.

§ 541.204(b). The learned professional exemption for teaching professionals. Teaching professionals as defined in paragraph (a) of § 541.204(b) are exempt from the provisions of the Act as to the duties of employees engaged in teaching. A teaching professional is defined as school employee (other than an employee of an educational establishment) who is substantially engaged in teaching and teaching-related administrative activities and who meets the requirements for the learned professional exemption in paragraph (e) of § 541.204(b). The duties requirements of the learned professional exemption, in this context, are met when the employee performs the duties of teaching and teaching-related administrative activities in a manner that meets the general duties requirements of the learned professional exemption.

§ 541.204(b). The learned professional exemption for teaching professionals. Teaching professionals as defined in paragraph (a) of § 541.204(b) are exempt from the provisions of the Act as to the duties of employees engaged in teaching. A teaching professional is defined as school employee (other than an employee of an educational establishment) who is substantially engaged in teaching and teaching-related administrative activities and who meets the requirements for the learned professional exemption in paragraph (e) of § 541.204(b). The duties requirements of the learned professional exemption, in this context, are met when the employee performs the duties of teaching and teaching-related administrative activities in a manner that meets the general duties requirements of the learned professional exemption.

(a) The term “employee in a bona fide professional capacity” in section 13(a)(1) of the Act also means any employee who has a primary duty of teaching, tutoring, instructing or lecturing in the activity of imparting knowledge to students and who is regularly employed in such work as teacher or teacher’s aide or is regularly employed as a narrator or commentator.

(b) Exempt teachers include, but are not limited to: Regular academic teachers; teachers of kindergarten or nursery school pupils; teachers of gifted or disabled children; teachers of skilled and semi-skilled trades and occupations; teachers employed in automobile driving instruction; instructor of aircraft flight instructors; home economics teachers; and vocal or instrumental music instructors. The Act does not authorize the exemption of vocational or technical teachers but also spend a considerable amount of their time in extracurricular activities such as coaching athletic teams or acting as moderators or advisors in such areas as drama, speech, debate or journalism. Teachers who are employed in the educational establishment by which the employee is employed. The term “educational establishment” is defined in § 541.204(b).

§ 541.303(b). Exempt teachers include, but are not limited to: Regular academic teachers; teachers of kindergarten or nursery school pupils; teachers of gifted or disabled children; teachers of skilled and semi-skilled trades and occupations; teachers employed in automobile driving instruction; instructor of aircraft flight instructors; home economics teachers; and vocal or instrumental music instructors. unlimited) used by the State to refer to different kinds of certificates. However, private schools and public schools are not uniform in requiring a certificate for employment as an elementary or secondary school teacher. A teacher’s certificate is not generally necessary for employment in institutions of higher education or other educational establishments. A teacher who is certified may be considered for exemption, provided that such individual is employed as a teacher by the employing school or school system.

(d) The requirements of §541.300 and Subpart G (salary requirements) of this part do not apply to the teaching professionals described in this section.

§541.304 Practice of law or medicine.

(a) The term “employee employed in a bona fide professional capacity” in section 13(a)(1) of the Act also shall mean:

(1) Any employee who is the holder of a valid license or certificate permitting the practice of law or medicine or any of their branches and is actually engaged in the practice thereof; and

(2) Any employee who is the holder of the requisite academic degree for the general practice of medicine and is engaged in an internship or residencies program pursuant to the practice of the profession.

(b) In the case of medicine, the exemption applies to physicians and other practitioners licensed to practice in the field of biological science and healing or any of the medical specialties practiced by physicians or practitioners. The term “physicians” includes medical doctors (including general practitioners and specialists), osteopathic physicians (doctors of osteopathy), podiatrists, dentists (doctors of dental medicine), and veterinarians.

(c) Employees engaged in internship or residencies programs, whether or not licensed to practice in medicine or, may be engaged in computer programming and other exempt duties incidental to such programs after the earning of the appropriate degree required for the general practice of their profession.

(d) The requirements of §541.300 and subpart G (salary requirements) of this part do not apply to the employees described in this section.

SUBPART E—COMPUTER EMPLOYEES

§541.400 General rule for computer employees.

(a) Computer systems analysts, computer programmers, software engineers or other similarly skilled workers in the computer field are eligible for exemption as professionals under section 13(a)(1) of the Act and under section 13(a)(17) of the Act. Because job titles vary widely and change quickly in the computer industry, job titles are not determinative of the applicability of this exemption.

(b) The section 13(a)(1) exemption applies to any computer employee who is compensated on a salary or fee basis at a rate of not less than $681 per week (or $455 per week if employed in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, Guam, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands or by employers other than the Federal government, or $390 per week if employed in American Samoa by employers other than the Federal government) exclusive of board, lodging, or other accommodations.

The section 13(a)(17) exemption applies to any computer employee compensated on an hourly or semimonthly basis at a rate of not less than $681 per week (or $455 per week if employed in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, Guam, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands or by employers other than the Federal government) exclusive of board, lodging, or other accommodations.

The application of systems analysis and design techniques, including computer programming, to determine hardware, software or system functional specifications;

(2) The design, development, documentation, analysis, creation, testing or modification of programs, including prototypes, based on and related to user or system design specifications;

(3) The design, documentation, testing, creation and provision of computer programs related to machine operating systems;

(4) A combination of the aforementioned duties, the performance of which requires the same level of skills.

(c) The term “salary basis” is defined at §541.602. “Fee basis” is defined at §541.606; “board, lodging or other facilities” is defined at §541.606, and “primary duty” is defined at §541.700.

§541.401 Computer manufacture and repair.

The exemption for employees in computer occupations, and not inattentive employees engaged in the manufacture or repair of computer hardware and related equipment. Employees whose work is highly dependent upon, or is performed using computers or computer software programs (e.g., engineers, drafters and others skilled in computer-aided design software), but who are not required to perform systems design and programming or other similarly skilled computer-related occupations identified in §541.402, are also not exempt computer professionals.

§541.402 Executive and administrative computer employees.

Computer employees within the scope of this exemption, as well as those employees not within its scope, may have executive and administrative duties which qualify the employees for exemption under subpart B or subpart G of this part. For example, systems analysts and computer programmers generally meet the duties requirements for the administrative exemption if their primary duty includes work such as planning, scheduling, and coordinating activities related to the development of computer programs. Employees engaged in the administrative exemption may advise and recommend to management the hiring, firing, advancement, promotion or other change of status of the other programmers. Employees engaged in the administrative exemption may advise and recommend to management the hiring, firing, advancement, promotion or other change of status of the other programmers.

§541.403 Promotion work.

(a) The term “promotion work” is defined at §541.503. Employee work of two or more other programmers in a work unit will be considered incidental to and in conjunction with the employer’s computer employees.

(b) The term “primary duty” is defined at §541.700. In determining the primary duty of an outside sales employee, work performed incidental to and in conjunction with the employee’s own outside sales or solicitations, including incidental deliveries and collections, will be regarded as outside sales work. Other work that further the employee’s sales efforts also shall be regarded as exempt work including, for example, writing letters or reports or preparing the employee’s sales or display catalogue, planning and attending sales conferences.

The requirements of subpart G (salary requirements) of this part do not apply to the outside sales employees described in this section.

§541.404 Making sales or obtaining orders.

(a) Section 541.500 requires that the employee be engaged in:

(1) Making sales within the meaning of section 3(k) of the Act, or

(2) Obtaining orders or contracts for services or for the use of facilities.

(b) Sales within the meaning of section 3(k) of the Act include the transfer of title to goods, delivery of services or, of tangible or intangible evidences of intangible property. Section 3(k) of the Act states that “sale” or “sell” includes any sale, exchange, contract for sale, lease, transfer of title, or for the use of facilities for which a consideration will be paid by the client or customer. Obtaining orders for “the use of facilities” includes the selling of the use of facilities, the solicitation of advertising for newspapers and other periodicals, and the solicitation of freight for railroads and other transportation agencies.

(d) The word “services” extends the outside sales exemption to employees who sell or take orders for a service, which may be performed for the customer by someone other than the person taking the order.

§541.502 Away from employer’s place of business.

An outside sales employee must be customarily and regularly engaged away from the employer’s place of business. The outside sales employee is an employee who makes sales at the customer’s place of business or, if selling door to door, at the customer’s home. Outside sales does not include sales made by mail, telephone or the Internet unless such contact is used merely as an advance personal call or to contact the customer’s fixed site, whether home or office, used by a salesperson as a headquarters or for telephonic solicitation of sales is considered one of the employer’s places of business, even though the employer is not in any formal sense the owner or tenant of the property. However, an outside sales employee does not lose the exemption by displaying itineraries and attending sales conventions and sample rooms during trips from city to city; these sample rooms should not be considered as the employer’s places of business. Similarly, an outside sales employee does not lose the exemption by displaying the employer’s products at a trade show. If selling actually occurs, rather than just sales promotions, trade shows of short duration (i.e., one or two weeks) should not be considered as the employer’s place of business.

§541.505 Promotion work.

(a) Promotion work is one type of activity often performed by persons who make sales, which may or may not be exempt outside sales work, depending upon the circumstances under which it is performed. The promotion work that is performed incidental to and in conjunction with an employee’s own outside sales or solicitations is

§ 541.504 Drivers who sell.

(a) Drivers who deliver products and also sell such products may qualify as exempt outside sales employees if the employee’s primary duty is making sales or contracts. The employee’s primary duty is making sales or contracts if the employee’s regular and customary duties include:

(1) A route driver whose primary duty is to transport products sold by the employer through vending machines and to keep such machines stocked, in good operating condition, and in good locations.

(2) A driver who calls on new prospects for the employer’s products from persons who have authority to commit the customer on a later trip, and who receives commissions or other compensation for such sales. The compensation for such sales must be at a rate not less than $2.13 per hour, which includes the amount attributable to sales.

(b) Several factors should be considered in determining the primary duty of drivers who sell, work performed incidental to and in conjunction with the employee’s own outside sales or solicitation work, such as loading or delivering products, shall be regarded as exempt outside sales work.

(c) Another example is a company representative who visits chain stores, arranges the merchandising on shelves, replenishes stock, takes back returns, makes purchases, and sets up displays and consults with the store manager when inventory runs low, but who does not obtain a commitment for additional purchases. The primary duty of the employee on the shelves or the replenishing of stock is not exempt work unless it is incidental to and in conjunction with the employee’s own outside sales or solicitation work, such as loading or delivering products. Such products are not exempt if the employee is engaged in this instance does not consume the sale on direct efforts toward the consummation of a sale, the work is not exempt outside sales work.

§ 541.604 Amount of salary required.

(a) To qualify as an exempt executive, administrative or professional employee under section 13(a)(1) of the Act, an employee must be compensated on a salary basis at a rate of not less than $1,482 per week (or $455 per week if employed in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, Guam, Puerto Rico, or the U.S. Virgin Islands by employers other than the Federal Government, or $380 per week if employed in American Samoa by employers other than the Federal Government), exclusive of board, lodging or other facilities. Administrative and professional employees may also be paid on a fee basis, as defined in §541.605.

(b) The required amount of compensation per week may be translated into equivalent amounts for periods longer or shorter than one week. For example, a 20-week pay period will be met if the employee is compensated biweekly on a salary basis of not less than $1,360, semimonthly on a salary basis of not less than $3,482 per pay period, $1,982 per pay period, or $684, or $455 per week if employed in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, Guam, Puerto Rico, or the U.S. Virgin Islands by employers other than the Federal Government, or $380 per week if employed in American Samoa by employers other than the Federal Government.

§ 541.605 Highly compensated employees.

(a) Beginning on [January 1, 2020]<<the effective date of these Substantive Regulations>>, an employee with total annual compensation of $107,432 is deemed exempt under section 13(a)(1) of the Act if the employee customarily and regularly performs any one or more of the exempt duties or responsibilities of an executive, administrative or professional employee as identified in subparts B, C or D of this part.

(b) Where the annual period covers periods both prior to and after [January 1, 2020]<<the effective date of these Substantive Regulations>>, total annual compensation due will be determined on a proportional basis.

The amount of salary required in paragraph (a)(1) of this section (§541.604) must be paid in each calendar quarter, or an anniversary of hire year, of the calendar year during which the annual period under this section if the employee re- ceives a pro rata portion of the minimum amount established in paragraph (a) of this section, based upon the number of weeks that the employee was or has been employed. An employer may make one final payment as under paragraph (b)(2) of this section within one month after the end of the annual period.
(c) A high level of compensation is a strong indicator of an employee’s exempt status, thus eliminating the need for a detailed analysis of the employee’s job duties. Thus, a highly compensated employee will qualify for exemption if the employee customarily and regularly performs any one or more of the exempt duties or responsibilities of an executive, administrative, or professional employee identified in subparts B, C or D of this part. An employee may qualify as a highly compensated executive employee, for example, if the employee customarily and regularly directs the work of two or more other employees, even though the employee does not meet all of the other requirements for the exemption under this section.

(d) This section applies only to employees whose primary duty includes performing office or non-manual work. Thus, for example, non-management employees in maintenance, construction and similar occupations such as carpenters, electricians, mechanics, plumbers, carpenters, operating engineers, longshoremen, construction workers, laborers and other employees who perform work involving repetitive operations with little discretion or judgment, physical skill and energy are not exempt under this section no matter how highly paid they might be.

§541.602 Salary basis.

(a) General rule. An employee will be considered to be paid on a “salary basis” within the meaning of this part if the employee regularly receives each pay period on a weekly, or less frequent basis, a predetermined amount constituting all or part of the employee’s compensation, which amount is not subject to reduction because of variations in the quality or quantity of the work performed by the employee.

(1) Subject to the exceptions provided in paragraph (b) of this section, an exempt employee must receive the full salary for any week in which the employee performs any work without regard to the number of days or hours worked. Exempt employees need not be paid for any workweek in which they perform no work.

(2) An employee is not paid on a salary basis if deductions from the employee’s pre-determined compensation are made for absences, or if the employee’s compensation is subject to operating requirements of the (business) <<employing office>>. If the employee is ready, willing and able to work, deductions may not be made for time when work is not available.

(3) Up to ten percent of the salary amount required to be paid may be satisfied by the payment of nondiscretionary bonuses, incentives and commissions, that are paid annually or more frequently. The employer may utilize any 52-week period as the year, such as a calendar year, a fiscal year, or an anniversary of hire year. If the employer does not identify some other year period in which the employee is newly hired after the beginning of this period or ends the employment before the end of this period, may qualify for exemption if the employee receives a pro rata portion of the minimum amount specified in this section based upon the number of weeks that the employee will be or has been employed. An employer may make one final payment as provided in paragraph (b)(4) of this section within one pay period after the end of employment.

(b) Exceptions. The prohibition against deductions from pay in the salary basis requirement is subject to the following exceptions:

(1) Deductions from pay may be made when an exempt employee is absent from work for one or more full days for personal reasons, other than sickness or disability. Thus, if an exempt employee is absent for a day to handle personal affairs, the employee’s salaried status will not be affected if deductions are made from the salary for two full-day absences. However, if an exempt employee is absent for one and a half days for personal reasons, the employer can deduct only for the one full-day absence.

(2) Deductions from pay may be made for absences of one or more full days occasioned by sickness or disability (including work-related accidents), if made in accordance with a bona fide plan, policy or practice of providing compensation for loss of salary occasioned by such sickness or disability. The employer must make such deductions from any portion of the employee’s salary for full-day absences for which the employee receives compensation under the plan, policy or practice. Deductions for such full-day absences also may be made before the employee has qualified under the plan, policy or practice, and after the employee has exhausted all rights to compensation thereunder.

(3) While an employer cannot make deductions from pay for absences of an exempt employee occasioned by jury duty, attendance as a witness or temporary military leave, the employer can offset any amounts received by an employee as jury fees, witness fees or military pay against the salary due for that particular week without loss of the exemption.

(4) Deductions from pay of exempt employees may be made for penalties imposed in good faith for infractions of safety rules of major significance. Safety rules of major significance include those relating to the prevention of serious danger in the workplace or to other employees, such as rules prohibiting smoking in explosive plants, oil refineries and coal mines.

(5) Deductions from pay of exempt employees may be made for unpaid disciplinary suspensions of one or more full days imposed in accordance with a written policy prohibiting such disciplinary conduct. Such suspensions must be imposed pursuant to a written policy applicable to all employees. Thus, for example, an exempt employee may be docked their pay for three days for violating a generally applicable written policy prohibiting smoking in explosive plants, oil refineries and coal mines.

(6) An employer is not required to pay the full salary in the initial or terminal week of employment. Rather, an employer may pay the employee a proportionate part of the salary for the time actually worked in the first and last week of employment. In such weeks, the determination of an hour’s equivalent of the employee’s full salary for the time actually worked will meet the requirement.

(7) An employer is not required to pay the full salary for weeks in which an exempt employee takes paid or unpaid leave under the Family and Medical Leave Act. Rather, when an exempt employee takes unpaid leave under the Family and Medical Leave Act, an employer may pay a proportionate part of the salary for time actually worked. For example, if an employee who normally works 40 hours per week uses four hours of unpaid leave under the Family and Medical Leave Act, the employer could deduct 10 percent of the employee’s normal salary that week.

§541.603 Effect of improper deductions from salary.

(a) An employer who makes improper deductions from salary shall lose the exemption if the facts demonstrate that the employer did not intend to pay employees on a salary basis. An actual practice of making improper deductions demonstrates that the employer did not intend to pay employees on a salary basis. The factors to consider when determining whether an employer has an actual practice of making improper deductions include, but are not limited to: the number of improper deductions, particularly as compared to the number of employee infractions for which disciplinary or other actions are taken during which the employer made improper deductions; the number and geographic location of employees whose salary was improperly reduced; the number and geographic location of managers responsible for taking the improper deductions; and whether the employer has a clearly communicated policy permitting or prohibiting improper deductions.

(b) If the facts demonstrate that the employer has an actual practice of making improper deductions, the exemption is lost during the time period in which the improper deductions were made for employees in the same job classification working for the same manager.

(c) Improper deductions that are either isolated or inadvertent will not result in loss of the exemption for any employees subject to such improper deductions, if the employer reimburses the employees for such improper deductions.

(d) The employer has a clearly communicated policy that prohibits the improper pay deductions specified in §541.602(a) and includes a complaint mechanism, reimburses employees for any improper deductions and makes a good faith commitment to comply in the future, such employer will not lose the exemption for any employees unless the employee submits the policy in continuing to make improper deductions after receiving employee complaints. If an employee fails to reimburse employees for any improper deductions and continues to make improper deductions after receiving employee complaints, the exemption is lost during the time period in which the improper deductions were made in the same job classification working for the same managers responsible for the actual improper deductions. The best evidence of a clearly communicated policy is written policy that was distributed to employees prior to the improper pay deductions by, for example, providing a copy of the policy to employees at hire, publishing the policy in an employee handbook or publishing the policy on the employer’s Intranet.

(e) This section shall not be construed in an unduly technical manner so as to defeat the exemption.

§541.604 Minimum guarantee plus extras.

(a) An employer may provide an exempt employee with additional compensation without losing the exemption or violating the salary basis requirement, if the employment arrangement also includes a guarantee of at least $684 each week as a guaranteed minimum amount paid on a salary basis. Thus, for example, an exempt employee guaranteed at least $684 each week paid on a salary basis may also receive additional compensation of a one percent commission on sales. An exempt employee also may receive a percentage of the sales or profits of the employer if the employment arrangement also includes a guarantee of at least $684 each week paid on a salary basis also receives additional compensation based on hours worked for work beyond the minimum required amount paid on a salary basis. Such additional compensation may be paid on any basis (e.g., flat sum, bonus payment, straight-time hourly amount, time and one-half or any other basis) paid time worked.

(b) An exempt employee’s earnings may be computed on an hourly, a daily or a shift basis, without losing the exemption or violating the salary basis requirement, if the employment arrangement also includes a guarantee of at least $684 each week paid on a salary basis. Similarly, the exemption is not lost if an employee guaranteed at least $684 each week paid on a salary basis also receives additional compensation based on hours worked for work beyond the minimum required amount. Such additional compensation may be paid on any basis (e.g., flat sum, bonus payment, straight-time hourly amount, time and one-half or any other basis) paid time worked.

§541.606 Board, lodging or other facilities.

(a) To qualify for exemption under section 13(a)(1) of the Act, an employee must earn the minimum salary amount set forth in §541.600, “exclusive of board, lodging or other facilities.” The phrase “exclusive of board, lodging or other facilities” means “free and clear” or independent of any claimed credit for non-cash items of value that an employer may provide to an employee. Thus, the costs incurred by an employer to provide an employee with board, lodging or other facilities may not be counted towards the minimum salary amount required for exemption under this part 541. Such separate transactions are not prohibited between employers and their exempt employees to which employers associated with such transactions may not be considered when determining if an employee has received the full required minimum salary payment.

(b) Regulations defining what constitutes “board, lodging, or other facilities” are contained in 29 CFR part 531. As described in 29 CFR part 531, the term “other facilities” refers to items similar to board and lodging, such as meals furnished at company restaurants or cafeterias or by hospitals, hotels, or restaurants to employees, board and dormitory rooms, and tuition furnished by a college to its student employees; merchandise furnished at company stores or company stores or commodity articles of food, clothing, and household effects; housing furnished for dwelling purposes; and transportation furnished to employees for ordinary commuting between work and home. §541.607[Reserved by 85 FR 34970 Effective: June 8, 2020] <<541.607—Reserved.>>

SUBPART H—DEFINITIONS AND MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS (§§ 541.700–541.710)

(a) To qualify for exemption under this part, an employee’s “primary duty” must be the performance of exempt work. The term “primary duty” means the principal, main, major or most important duty that the employee performs. Determination of an employee's primary duty is made on all the facts in a particular case, with the major emphasis on the character of the employee’s job as a whole. Factors to consider when determining whether the primary duty is one of the exempt duties include, but are not limited to, the relative importance of the exempt duties as compared with other types of duties; the amount of time spent performing exempt or nonexempt work; the employee’s relative freedom from direct supervision; and the relationship between the employee’s salary and that paid to other employees for the kind of nonexempt work performed by the employee.

(b) The amount of time spent performing exempt work can be a useful guide in determining whether exempt work is the primary duty of an employee. Thus, employees who spend more than 50 percent of their time performing exempt work will generally satisfy the primary duty requirement. Time alone, however, is not the sole test, and nothing in this section requires that exempt employees spend more than 50 percent of their time performing exempt work. Employees who do not spend more than 50 percent of their time performing exempt work nonetheless may meet the primary duty requirement if the other factors support such a conclusion.

(c) Thus, for example, assistant managers in retail establishments perform exempt executive work such as supervising and directing the work of other employees, ordering merchandise, managing the budget and personnel, and making day-to-day decisions. Such employee generally would not satisfy the primary duty requirement even if the assistant managers spend more than 50 percent of the time performing nonexempt work. Thus, a retail assistant manager is not exempt if the assistant manager considered as a whole does not have primary duty to perform exempt work. However, if such assistant managers are closely supervised and earn little more than the nonexempt employees, the assistant managers generally would not satisfy the primary duty requirement.

§541.701 Customarily and regularly.

The phrase “customarily and regularly” means a frequency that must be greater than occasional but which, of course, may be less than constant. Tasks or work performed “customarily and regularly” includes work that is performed and required to be performed every workweek; it does not include isolated or one-time tasks.

§541.702 Exempt and nonexempt work.

The term “exempt work” means all work done at a rate that would amount to at least the minimum weekly salary level required by §§541.600(a) and 541.602(a), if the employee worked 40 hours. Thus, an artist paid $350 for a picture that took 20 hours to complete did not meet the minimum salary requirement for exemption since earnings at this rate would yield the artist $700 if 40 hours were worked.

§541.703 Directly and closely related.

(a) Work that is “directly and closely related” to the performance of exempt work is also considered exempt work. The phrase “directly and closely related” means tasks that are related to exempt duties and that contribute to or facilitate performance of exempt work. Thus, “directly and closely related” work may include physical tasks and mental tasks that arise out of exempt duties, and the routine work without which the exempt employee’s exempt work cannot be performed properly. Work that is “directly and closely related” to the performance of exempt duties may also include recordkeeping; monitoring and adjusting machinery; taking notes; and setting up computer programs or presentations; opening the mail for the purpose of reading it and making decisions; and using a photocopier or fax machine. Work that is otherwise, generally unrelated to the use of the work is remotely related or completely unrelated to exempt duties.
(b) The following examples further illustrate the type of work that is and is not normally considered as directly and closely related to exempt work:

(1) Establishing production or sales records for subordinates is work directly and closely related to an exempt executive’s function of managing a department and supervising employees.

(2) The distribution of materials, merchandise or supplies to maintain control of the flow of goods for such tasks is directly and closely related to the performance of exempt duties.

(3) A supervisor who spot checks and examines the work of employees to determine whether they are performing their duties properly, and whether the product is satisfactory, is performing work which is directly and closely related to managerial and supervisory functions, so long as the checking is distinguishable from the work ordinarily performed by a nonexempt inspector.

(4) A supervisor who sets up a machine may be engaged in exempt work, depending upon the nature of the industry and the operation. In some cases the setup work, or adjustment of a machine for a particular job, is typically performed by the same employees who operate the machine. Such setup work done in conjunction with setup work on other machines is not exempt. In other cases, the setting up of the machine is a highly skilled operation which the ordinary production worker or machinist cannot perform. In large plants, non-supervisors may perform such work. However, in small plants, such work may be a regular duty of the executive and is directly and closely related to the executive’s responsibility for the work performance of subordinates and for the adequacy of the final product. Under such circumstances is exempt work.

(5) A department manager in a retail or service establishment who walks about the sales floor observing the work of sales personnel under the employee’s supervision to determine the effectiveness of their sales techniques, checks on the quality of customer service being given, or observes customer preferences is performing work which is directly and closely related to managerial and supervisory functions.

(6) A business consultant may take extensive notes on the flow of work and materials through the office or plant of the client; after returning to the office of the employer, the consultant may personally use the consultant’s reference material or a report and the proposed table of organization. Standing alone, or separated from the primary duty, such note-taking and typing would be routine in nature. However, because this work is necessary for analyzing the data and making recommendations, the work is directly and closely related to exempt work. While it is possible to assign note-taking and typing to nonexempt employees, and in fact it is frequently the practice to do so, delegating such tasks is not required as a condition of exemption.

(b) A traffic manager in charge of planning a company’s transportation includes the most economical and quickest routes for shipping merchandise to and from the plant, setting up and operation and monitoring the transportation facilities, negotiating with carriers for adjustments for damages to merchandise, and making the necessary regulations for optimizing costs of transportation, damages or irregularities in transit, is performing exempt work. If the employee also spends part of the day taking telephone orders for local sales, making local sales calls, is a routine function and is not directly and closely related to the exempt work.

(9) An example of work directly and closely related to professional duties is a chemist performing menial tasks such as cleaning a test tube in the middle of an original experiment, even though such menial tasks can be assigned to laboratory assistants.

(10) A teacher performs work directly and closely related to exempt duties when, while taking students on a field trip, the teacher drives a school van or monitors the students’ behavior in a restaurant.

§ 541.704 Use of manuals.

The use of manuals, guidelines or other prescribed tasks relaying the work to highly technical, scientific, legal, financial or other similarly complex matters that can be understood or interpreted only by those with special training or knowledge or skills does not preclude exemption under section 13a(1) of the Act or the regulations in this part. Such manuals and procedures provide guidance in describing difficult or novel circumstances and thus use of such reference material would not affect an employee’s exempt status. The section 13a(1) exemptions, however, for employees who simply apply well-established techniques or procedures described in manuals or other sources within closely prescribed limits to determine the correct response to an inquiry or set of circumstances.

§ 541.705 Trains.

The executive, administrative, professional, [outside sales] and computer employee exemptions do not apply to employees training for employment in an executive, administrative, professional, [outside sales] or computer employee who is functioning in a combination of executive, administrative, professional, [outside sales] or computer employee.

§ 541.706 Emergencies.

(a) An exempt employee will not lose the exemption by performing work of a normally nonexempt nature because of the existence of an emergency. Thus, when emergencies arise that threaten the safety of employees, a cessation of operations or serious damage to the employer’s property, any work performed in an effort to prevent such results is considered exempt work.

(b) An emergency does not include occurrences that are not beyond control or for which the employer can reasonably provide in the normal course of business. Emergencies generally occur only rarely, and are events that the employer cannot reasonably anticipate.

(c) The following examples illustrate the distinction between emergency work considered exempt work and routine work that is not exempt work.

(1) A mine superintendent who pitches in after an explosion and digs out workers who are trapped in the mine is still a bona fide executive. [Reserved.]

(2) Employees with their work during periods of heavy workload or to handle rush orders is not exempt work.

(3) Replacing a nonexempt employee during the first day or partial day of an illness may be considered exempt emergency work depending on factors such as the size of the emergency—less crucial the executive’s department, the nature of the industry—work performed by the employing office, the consequences of the flow from the failure to replace the ailing employee immediately, and the feasibility of filling the employee’s place promptly.

Regular repair and cleaning of equipment is not emergency work, even when necessary to prevent fire or explosion; however, repairing equipment may be emergency work if the damaged equipment caused by accident or carelessness that the employer could not reasonably anticipate.

§ 541.707 Occasional tasks.

Occasional, infrequently recurring tasks that cannot practically be performed by nonexempt employees, but are the means for an exempt employee to properly carry out exempt functions and responsibilities, are considered exempt work. The following factors should be considered in determining whether such work is exempt: whether the work is performed by any of the exempt employee’s subordinates; practicability and necessity of the work; the benefit to the employer; whether the exempt employee performs the task frequently or occasionally; and existence of an industry practice for the performance of emergency work.

§ 541.708 Combination exemptions.

Employees who perform a combination of exempt duties as set forth in the regulations in this part for executive, administrative, professional, [outside sales] and computer employees may qualify for exemption. Thus, for example, an employee whose primary duties involve sales work, administrative, and exempt executive work may qualify for exemption. In other words, work that is exempt under one section of this part will not defeat the exemption under any other section.

§ 541.709 Motion picture producing industry.

The requirement that the employee be paid on a ‘‘salary basis’’ does not apply to an employee in the motion picture producing industry who is compensated at a base rate of at least $6,005 per week (exclusive of board, room and other facilities). Thus, an employee in this industry who is otherwise exempt under subparts B, C, or D of this part, and who is employed at a base rate of at least $6,005 per week, may qualify for exemption. This annual amount a week is exempt if paid a proportionate amount (based on a week of not more than 6 days) for any week in which the employee does not work a full workweek for any reason. Moreover, an exempt employee in this industry qualifies for exemption if the employee is employed at a daily rate under the following circumstances:

(a) The employee is in a job category for which the weekly base rate is paid and the daily base rate would yield at least the minimum weekly amount if 6 days were worked; or

(b) The employee is in a job category having the minimum weekly base rate and the daily base rate is at least one-sixth of such weekly base rate.

§ 541.710 [Employees of public agencies.]

(a) An employee [of a public agency] who otherwise meets the salary basis requirements of § 541.602 shall not be disqualified from exemption under §§ 541.100, 541.200, 541.300 or 541.400 on the basis that such employee is paid according to a pay system established by statute, ordinance or regulation, or by a policy or practice established by a pay system.
pursuant to principles of public accountability, under which the employee accrues personal leave and sick leave and which requires the [public agency] employee’s pay to be reduced or such employee to be placed on leave without pay for absences for personal reasons or because of illness or injury of less than one work-day when accrued leave is not used by an employee because:
(1) Permission for its use has not been sought or has been sought and denied;
(2) Accrued leave has been exhausted; or
(3) The employee chooses to use leave without pay.

(b) Deductions from the pay of an employee (of a public agency) for absences due to a budget-required furlough shall not disqualify the employee from being paid on a salary basis except in the workweek in which the furlough occurs and for which the employee’s pay is accordingly reduced.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Our Father in Heaven, as Hurricane Ian wrecks havoc, protect those in harm’s way. Lord, we thank You that the winds and the waves obey Your will.

Today, make us aware of our need for Your presence, and empower us to reach out to others in Your Name. Lord, teach us to pray, and sustain us by the wonders of Your Word. Give us truths that will strengthen our minds, souls, and hearts. In times of distress, grief, confusion, and misunderstanding, illuminate our paths with the light of Your companionship.

Guide our lawmakers in their challenging work, for You have promised Your companionship. The Lord, teach us to pray, and sustain us by the wonders of Your Word. Give us truths that will strengthen our minds, souls, and hearts. In times of distress, grief, confusion, and misunderstanding, illuminate our paths with the light of Your companionship.

So, Lord, we pray. Amen.

TRIBUTE TO ERNIE MANN

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, before I begin my remarks, I was just watching the “TODAY” show. That is why I was late.

They have a surprise neighbor of the month, and when they come in and surprise him, all his neighbors are there because he is such a great neighbor.

Well, Ernie Mann—who is the father of Steve Mann, who has been my deputy State director since I have been Senator for over 20 years—a teacher in the community, a volunteer firefighter for 60 years, and just a great guy and a wonderful Yankee fan. They had Nestor Cortes get on the phone and speak to him. He was just made the neighbor of—I think it is of the month, but maybe it is of the year. Anyway, he deserves it. It was wonderful. It was beautiful to see.

So, Ernie—and to all the Mann family, including the great Steve, who has done such a great job for me—congratulations. Good luck. It was beautiful. It was wonderful. It was beautiful to see.

Mr. President, now let’s get to the substance of the day.

Last night, by a vote of 72 to 23, the Senate agreed to advance a shell for a continuing resolution to keep the government open until December 16 and avoid a needless government shutdown.

As my colleagues know, government funding runs out Friday at midnight, whereupon a partial shutdown would begin if we do not act. We must work fast to finish the process here on the floor, send a CR to the House, and then send it to the President’s desk before the clock runs out. With cooperation from our Republican colleagues, the Senate can finish its work with keeping the government open as soon as tomorrow. There is every reason in the world to get to yes, and I look forward to working with Leader MCCONNELL to make sure we can do that and not bump up into the Friday midnight deadline.

I urge my colleagues on both sides to work with us together to speed this process as quickly as we can through... the floor, especially since the CR contains many things both parties support.

I am talking about billions in disaster aid to help communities in Kentucky, Louisiana, Alabama, Texas, Alaska, and Puerto Rico, battered by floods and disasters over the past year: as well as help for New Mexico to recover from its worst wildfire in the State’s history.

We must also renew the FDA user fees for the next 5 years to prevent the slowdown of innovative drugs and medical devices so needed by our people and to prevent thousands of workers—good, hard-working workers—who help approve these drugs and make sure they are safe from being furloughed.

And, crucially, we must also approve critical emergency aid for the people of Ukraine. Over the past few weeks, it has become clear that U.S. assistance has made an enormous difference in helping Ukraine defend itself.

I want to salute President Biden. He has done a masterful job in helping the Ukrainians and leading us. But the Congress, in a bipartisan way has been along in the past. We have not only got along, but we enthusiastically supported our help for Ukraine. I certainly enthusiastically support it, and we have to continue. The conflict in Ukraine was far from over and our obligations remain to help them, however we can, to beat the brutal, nasty, vicious Putin.

I want to also thank my colleagues on both sides of the aisle who worked day and night to put this CR together, especially my friend Senator LEAHY, the chairman of the Appropriations Committee, and Ranking Member SHELBY for his good work. They are both retiring. Let’s hope this is the last time we get an omnibus done in December.

I also want to recognize all of my other colleagues on the Appropriations Committee and in the Senate and all their great staff who have worked hard to make sure we don’t have a needless shutdown.

Twenty months into the Democratic majority, I want to take a moment to highlight the many, many accomplishments we have secured in this Chamber, the most in recent memory. This is one of the most productive Congresses we have had in a very long time, and we have worked hard every step of the way to improve the lives of the American people, to help those in the middle class stay in the middle class, and to help those struggling to get into the middle class, making it a little easier for them to get there.

A few months ago, for instance, after the tragic Buffalo, Uvalde, Orlando, and so many others, the Senate came together on a bipartisan basis to break the grip of the NRA and pass the first gun safety bill in three decades. It was the first gun safety bill since the Brady Act, which was proud to author as a member of Congress, 30 years ago. It took 30 years to get some real progress made, but we did, and we have to continue.

A few weeks later, we passed the largest expansion of veterans’ benefits in a generation to help veterans suffering from cancers, lung diseases, and other ailments stemming from toxic exposure. Again, it was a bipartisan bill. Senators Tester and Moran led the legislation, and this bill, and many thousands and thousands and thousands of veterans who risked their lives for us are now getting the help they always needed and deserved.

And, as Ukraine fights for survival, we strengthened NATO—again, bipartisan—by adding Finland and Sweden to its ranks, sending Putin a clear message that he can’t intimidate America or Europe.

And, as the Chinese Communist Party continues its drive to outcompete the United States, we passed the CHIPS and Science Act, the largest manufacturing, science, and jobs bill we have seen in decades, bringing jobs back to America in high-end manufacturing sectors. It is our No. 1 on into the 21st century as the leading economy, free and democratic, in the world.

Our efforts, of course, culminated in the crowning jewel of them all, the Inflation Reduction Act—a groundbreaking bill that will lower prescription drug costs, lower the price of insulin for seniors on Medicare, and help Americans save on energy costs with the largest clean energy investments in history.

I am so proud that my caucus stuck together in getting this important bill done. We needed every vote, and we got it—and that is only what we have done since June.

Over the past year, we have enacted the first infrastructure law in decades—the largest, biggest infrastructure law in decades. We revamped our post office, finally, and put it on a good track. We reinstated VAWA, the Violence Against Women Act after years of trying. We finally declared lynching a Federal hate crime after a century of delay, and we unanimously ended forced arbitration for sexual harassment and assault in the workplace.

Then, of course, we have confirmed over 80 qualified nominees to the Federal bench, including Ketanji Brown Jackson as the first Black woman ever to sit on the Supreme Court. Roughly three-quarters of the President’s nominees have been women and two-thirds people of color. With a Supreme Court at a time, we are making our Federal bench a better reflection of our great country.

Of all these accomplishments will echo for years in the lives of the American people. They are hard to get done, especially in a 50-50 Senate. While we have gotten so much done, there is a lot, certainly more, we have to do.

I have always said, from my first days as majority leader, that Democrats would be willing to work in a bipartisan way to get things done whenever we could, but of course, on such important issues like climate, when we are unable to find common ground, Democrats will hold firm in the defense of our values and show the American people the choice before them in the coming election, as we did in the IRA. Sadly, since the overturning of Roe, the Senate not 3 weeks ago.

That was introduced right here in the Senate not 3 weeks ago. If anyone has any doubts, look no further than the national ban that was introduced right here in the Senate not 3 weeks ago.

And while Republicans will try to deflect, distort, or mainly distract from their record—they don’t like talking about the legislation that the American people are not on their side, but their hard-right, MAGA core is—they are stuck. The fact is that every Senate Republican—every Senate Republican—is already on record as voting in favor of a national ban—sometimes more than once—here on the floor.

So the contrast has become clear—clear, as it should be. While Democrats have cradled the need to protect a woman’s freedom to choose, MAGA Republicans want to take away that right with proposals to ban freedom of choice in its entirety and to punish women and doctors for carrying out abortions, even past the point of viability, with no exceptions for rape or incest. We are seeing it play out across the country, and it is chilling to the bone.

Democrats will keep fighting these MAGA abortion bans—these radical MAGA abortion bans—and make clear to all that we are the party fighting to protect people’s freedoms over their own bodies.

I yield the floor.

RECOGNITION OF THE MINORITY LEADER

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Republican leader is recognized.

HURRICANE IAN

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, first, this morning, the Senate and the entire country are watching the news and praying for the people of the great State of Florida, where a seemingly massive, massive hurricane is poised to make landfall soon. I understand the current forecast suggests that Hurricane Ian may be both extremely powerful and unusually slow-moving, a terrible combination for the citizens and families in its path.

Our colleague the senior Senator from Florida reported this morning that State officials and the relevant Federal Agencies have been working well together and that, thus far, every request Florida has made of the Federal Government has been approved. The bipartisan government funding bill the Senate is on track to pass this week will ensure that the Federal Disaster Relief Fund is fully resourced at this critical moment.

We are keeping the people of Florida at the forefront of our thoughts and will stand ready to help our colleagues from Florida, the Governor, and local officials however we can.

CONTINUING RESOLUTION

Now, Mr. President, on a completely different matter, the path to keeping the government open and funded has been clear for weeks now. The solution was always going to be a clean, bipartisan continuing resolution, negotiated by Senators SHERBY and LEAHY, without any unrelated, partisan language jammed in. Our Democratic colleagues tried to complicate things by jamming in a phony, partisan figleaf on the subject of permitting reform.

Republicans strongly support real, substantive permitting reform. We are actually leading that charge. Senator CAPITO has an outstanding bill that would make significant changes to make it easier to build things in our country, create jobs in our country, and unleash domestic energy in our country.

The problem was that the Schumer-Manchin language was not actualpermitting reform by any stretch. It was a Trojan horse, designed to create the illusion of progress while sapping the political will to tackle the issue in any meaningful way. The Democrats carefully tailored the bill to avoid any such changes to permitting laws. In fact, we had panicked State-level elected officials from around the country writing the Senate to explain how the Democrats’ bill would actually make the existing problems even worse. Fortunately, the Senate saw through the political game, and the phony figleaf didn’t have the votes.

So I am glad that our colleagues capitulated and abandoned their phony figleaf. I look forward to a bipartisan funding bill coming to the floor this week, and I hope our Democratic colleagues will push the liberal special interests aside and let actual, robust permitting reform become law someday soon.

BIDEN ADMINISTRATION

Mr. President, on another matter, 2 years ago, the American people elected a President who claimed he would govern as a unifying moderate. In underwriting that narrative, voters gave him an unusually small coattails—the slimmest possible majority—in Congress.

The all-Democratic government inherited an economy that was, by every account, already ready for economic recovery. Vaccines were already flooding the country. A major bipartisan stimulus had just passed, literally, days earlier. And remember, before the temporary COVID shot, years of Republican policies had our economic fundamentals humming along with low inflation, low unemployment, and robust growth, an outstanding trifecta for working families. To put it as plainly as possible, the Democrats had one job: Just don’t mess things up. But, alas, fast-forward to today.

Overall inflation is staggering 13.2 percent since President Biden and his party came into power; consumer prices—through the roof; supply chain chaos left and right; the worst single year for both grocery inflation and electricity inflation since the fallout back in the Jimmy Carter era. The stock market has plummeted below where it was when President Biden took office, cutting the value of Americans’ retirement savings just as the cost of living has soared. America’s real wages—our citizens’ buying power after inflation—is lower today than it was the moment President Biden put his hand on the Bible.

The Democrats asked for total control. They got total control, and they created a total disaster. The net effect of this far-left policy experiment has been an economic warfare against the American middle class. But alas, Democrats hardly seem to even much less care.

The same day the latest sky-high monthly inflation report came out, our colleagues literally headed down Pennsylvania Avenue to the White House for a folk music concert—folk music concert—celebrating additional hundreds of billions they had just dumped—dumped—into “green” energy subsidies.

Do you know who isn’t partying? Working families in Wisconsin who are paying a “Democratic Inflation Tax” averaging $973 every single month just to spread water. In Georgia, that is $861 every month and in Colorado, $953 every month.

None of this had to happen. It didn’t have to happen. Democrats were literally warned in advance that their plans for far-left reckless spending would send inflation through the roof and crush normal Americans.

So what did our colleagues do? One gigantic party-line spending bill in 2021, another huge, reckless taxing and spending spree just this summer, and student loan socialism that has cashiers and carpenters eating the graduate school debt of doctors and lawyers. It adds up to nearly $3 trillion of party-line waste, $3 trillion of party-line waste, and it adds up to 13.2 percent inflation and counting.

So Democrats wanted one-party control of Washington; they got it. They promptly used that power to create a literal nightmare for American families.

TRIBUTE TO JOHN CALIPARI

Mr. President, now one final matter, in my home State of Kentucky, college basketball ranks up there with horse-racing as one of our signature pastimes. Our greatest players have become local legends. Our greatest seasons have become local legends. So it is no surprise, then, that our basketball coaches are larger-than-life figures.

 Plenty of notable ones have passed through the halls of those big basketball buildings. But the University of Kentucky’s John Calipari—Coach Cal to most of us—is already one for the history books.

Of course, there is his record with the program: 365 wins, 4 Final Four appearances, and a National Championship.

There is also his record of public service. During the past 13 years with UK, Coach Cal has leveraged his position in the public eye to transform the face of charitable giving in Kentucky. In recognition of his work, the organization Multiplying Good presented Coach Cal with their Jefferson Award for public service this year. Previous recipients of this prestigious award include Oprah Winfrey, Steve Jobs, Colin Powell. Coach Cal is the first men’s college basketball coach to receive the honor.

Sometimes Coach Cal’s efforts are local. Every Thanksgiving, he helps folks around Lexington enjoy the family meal they deserve. Every Christmas, he organizes presents for children in need. But sometimes, Coach Cal’s efforts touch every corner of the Commonwealth. As Kentucky reeled from
We are united in our grief for those we lost and in our gratitude and admiration for the heroes that day who worked to rescue and aid those in danger. This dark day put on full display the tight-knit community of southern Nevada that we know and love.

We came together to celebrate and thank the heroes for those who helped: our law enforcement officers, our first responders, our medical professionals, and so many everyday people who ran toward danger. They ran toward danger to help get people to safety.

Hundreds lined up for blocks to donate blood. They offered their cars for people who were displaced by the chaos. Our community—well, it rallied together not just in the immediate aftermath but in the days, weeks, months, and now years after. I know why—because we are Vegas Strong, we are Nevada Strong.

Today, as we reflect on the 5-year anniversary since this horrific event, I stand here to honor the 60 individuals who lost their lives, the hundreds of survivors, and all of those—all of those—who experienced that traumatic event.

I stand here today to honor the heroes—our first responders, our community members—those who risked their lives to help others.

In Nevada, the Vegas Strong Resiliency Center that supports those affected by the 1 October tragedy, well, they launched a wide array of efforts to help people heal from and cope with the trauma and take action to honor the victims.

I have a floor chart here. I know it is a little hard to see, but one of the projects the Resiliency Center is organizing on this fifth anniversary is creating a lantern. This is a picture of a lantern. It has an outline of the Las Vegas skyline.

This lantern is going to serve as a sign of solidarity and respect for victims, survivors, and responders to the tragic shooting. It lights up the night with hope, because the lanterns are a symbol, representing the fact that out of the darkness of that night came the strongest light shining on countless examples of heroism—big and small—displayed by Nevadans.

But as we remember this fifth anniversary, we must also recommit ourselves to action. In the nearly 5 years since 1 October, the epidemic of gun violence has impacted even more communities and broke more families’ hearts across our great Nation.

Finally, after the recent mass shooting at an elementary school in Uvalde, TX, Congress was able to finally come together and act.

We passed the most significant gun safety legislation in almost 30 years. This was a breakthrough, and we know it will help save lives, keeping guns out of the hands of dangerous people. But it cannot be an end point.

We can and we must do more to prevent these shootings. I know we can do this while also respecting people’s constitutional rights. We can take commonsense, bipartisan action, like permanently banning bump stocks and high-capacity magazines which allowed the 1 October shooter to fire so many rounds and cause so much carnage. Bump stocks, in particular—are modifications that only make guns more deadly.

The previous administration took regulatory action to address this issue, but the move to ban bump stocks now faces a wave of troubling legal challenges that threaten to reverse that progress.

That is why I call on this Chamber to finally pass legislation that will permanently ban bump stocks—permanently ban bump stocks—and cut off access to these deadly and unnecessary weapons devices.

Remember—remember this—with these devices, a shooter can fire hundreds of rounds to end or damage lives in mere minutes; 1 October, just 10 minutes.

Inaction is not an option. We owe it to those who experienced the pain of gun violence to do more. We owe it to the future generations to keep up our efforts.

At the end of the day, this is all about keeping communities safe. We must continue working to prevent more tragedies like the one that brought so much heartbreak to my hometown.

I ask all of my colleagues in this Chamber to remember and honor the memory of the 60 victims of 1 October as we mark this 5-year anniversary.

I yield the floor.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Republican whip.

THUNE: Mr. President, we are coming up now on 2 years of Democratic governance here in Washington, 2 years in which Democrats and Republicans have failed to come together to address our problems and fix our country.

Inflation is up 14 percent—well within the target inflation rate of 2 percent—but then Democrats decided to pass a massive $1.9 trillion spending spree, the so-called American Rescue Plan Act. The legislation flooded the economy with unnecessary government money, and the economy overheated as a result. Economic insecurity is rampant; our energy security situation has worsened; and on the national security front, we are facing a raging crisis at our southern border, plus a disturbing increase in violent crime across the country.

If there has been one defining feature of Democrat governance over the past 2 years, it is inaction. It is inaction. President Biden took office, inflation was at 1.4 percent—well within the target inflation rate of 2 percent—but then Democrats decided to pass a massive $1.9 trillion spending spree, the so-called American Rescue Plan Act. The legislation flooded the economy with unnecessary government money, and the economy overheated as a result. Inflation quickly began climbing and then climbing some more and then some more after that.

We have now spent 6 straight months with inflation above 8 percent—6 straight months. The last time inflation was this bad, “E.T.” was about to hit theaters, and we still had more than a year to wait for “Return of the Jedi.” For those who weren’t around then, that was 40 years ago, in 1982.

Inflation, of course, has meant tremendous economic pain for the American family: grocery store bills, big utility bills, high prices at the pump. Americans are dipping into their savings to make ends meet. They are cutting back on essentials or putting basic living expenses on their credit cards.

In the month of August alone, inflation cost the average American household a staggering $715—$715, 1 month. Even if prices stopped increasing tomorrow, the inflation that we have already experienced will cost the average American household more than $8,500 over the next year—$8,500. That is a lot of money—a lot. That is a kid’s braces, essential car repairs, essential home repairs. It is the difference between putting something away for the kids’ college or the education savings account empty. It is the difference between putting money away for retirement or spending every penny on necessities. And for too many families, that is the difference between breaking even or finding themselves in debt or worse.

Americans’ economic security has taken a serious hit under Democrat control in Washington, and there is little evidence to suggest that things are going to change. On the contrary, Democrats’ economic mismanagement is entirely possible that other individuals on the watchlist have entered the territory. I have technology on the southern border. I have manpower and we need more technology on the border. I have noted that folks bring up a lot of things wrong, with few solutions. It is interesting as I hear some of my colleagues on the other side of the aisle talk about things like inflation as it applies to food. I happen to have a couple of bills that will deal with that issue, and hopefully we can take it up in the lame duck. I don’t think we are going to have time to take it up before the election. But that will help not only our cow-calf producers but also consumers when it comes to meat prices. I would hope that we get a large number of folks from across the aisle to support that.

When we talk about the southern border and we talk about national security—and I am going to approach national security in a little different vein here with this CR—I think it is important to note that folks bring up a lot of things wrong, with few solutions.

The bottom line is that we need more manpower and we need more technology on the southern border. I have been down there, and I have seen how these folks bring drugs across the line. They don’t put it in backpacks—some, but very little. Most come across in cars and trucks and equipment. If we have the technology to be able to, for lack of a better term, x-ray these vehicles, we can make a big inroad on what is going on from a drug standpoint. If we have the manpower—which, by the way, we are very undermanned as far as Border Patrol and border protection—we could make inroads into illegal border crossings because Federal Government funding is Congress’s primary job. People of Montana did not send me to the U.S. Senate to play politics and put off work that needs to be done to another day; they sent me here to get the job done. Failing to pass this CR would harm families, businesses, agriculture all across our great Nation. So step 1 is passing this continuing resolution, not kicking the can further down the road.

But let’s do ourselves a favor. Let’s make sure that this is the last CR before we agree to fiscal year 2023’s funding package. I can tell you that after working for the last nearly 2 years as chair of the Appropriations Defense Subcommittee, the committee that funds our military. Our Armed Forces need this funding, this continuing resolution, for their paychecks, along with the thousands of civilian employees whom the Department of Defense employs.

The fact that we are debating a continuing resolution instead of a full government funding bill is truly disappointing. The Appropriations Committee’s primary goal is to ensure that our military and our Nation and, quite frankly, the whole world in danger.

I yield the floor.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Ms. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

When a continuing resolution is required, it is a recognition that preparation has failed, that we are not ready, that we are not properly prepared, and that we are at risk. Failure to find common ground puts our troops and our Nation and, quite frankly, the whole world in danger.

I agree that we need to pass this resolution, and we need to make sure that this is the last continuing resolution that we pass; that, in fact, we have full appropriations bills done in the proper timeline, which is at the end of the fiscal year, which is the end of September. Anything less should be considered a failure.

I yield the floor.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore.

Ms. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, we are hearing the news this morning, as a very, very threatening and ferocious hurricane is bearing down on Florida, a storm that is causing great anxiety. Hopefully, people are as prepared as they can be, but the consequences of these storms, these disasters that we are seeing, are ravaging in ways that are seemingly more ferocious than before.

We saw that last week in Puerto Rico, and, just about 10 days ago, we felt the effects of Typhoon Mekbok on the western coast of Alaska. I would like to take just a few minutes here this afternoon because, as I was watching the news as this Hurricane Ian is approaching the coast of Florida, I can’t help but think about what the folks back home are facing as they have lived through a very terrifying disaster like the typhoon and then what happens next, because, unfortunately—and you know in your State very well with the fires that ravaged New Mexico, for the sake of brevity and the attention of the country is focused on that, and we all want to be there to help of and of assistance.

We have FEMA and we have the Red Cross, and we have everybody that is there, and it is all very important and very well intended. But then the next disaster comes. So maybe—I don’t know—maybe, the people in New Mexico are thinking that we have forgotten them. I don’t want the people of Alaska to think that we have forgotten what happened in their communities.

Typhoon Mekbok came up from Japan, came across the gulf, up into the Bering Sea, and impacted an area in excess of 1,000 miles. To put it into context, it is as if the entire west coast of the United States—from the Canadian border all the way down to Mexico—were impacted and inundated by one massive storm. That is the size and the scope of what we experienced: hurricane-force winds and, in the Bering Sea, waves as high as 50 feet.

The impact to the land was extraordinary with the strength of the wind, but it was this massive storm surge that came. We get tough storms in the Bering Sea. We get really tough storms in the Gulf of Alaska. But what we saw this year was a storm that was earlier in the season than we have seen in previous years.

For some of the erosion, the threat that comes their way, we have seawalls that are nothing more than sandbags that are built up, dunes and berms that have been built over the years. But, again, we recognize how minimal that... is in terms of a protective barrier when you have the extent and intensity of these storms.

This is where many Alaskans are feeling very exposed and very vulnerable, knowing we made it through this storm, but what happens with the next one. We heard that in Shaktoolik is completely eroded away. For a good portion of the seawall in Nome, the rocks are just jumbled and scattered. What we saw in Elim, around that front street, there they had a seawall of sorts. It was like a giant had come in and just picked up those boulders and sprinkled them, threw them all around. The front street that had just been asphalted a couple of years ago—the pieces of asphalt almost lifted up, peeled back like a piece of taffy, just curled over the beach there. You look at that and you cannot comprehend the strength of that storm surge, the strength of what had caused that to just buckle and heave and, literally, melt.

I had a chance over this weekend to go and visit the area. I flew up to Nome, and we were able to go out to Golovin and Elim on the first day. Elim was affected by about 125 people—pretty small. It is pretty small but pretty important in terms of what they do. They are trying to build a little subsistence harbor there. They are resilient people. But some of what we saw in Elim, people are also and what will mean to them and their community—what it is going to mean to them and their water supply.

Golovin is a little bit bigger of a community, several hundred people. Golovin was impacted in a way and a manner that was just almost mind-boggling. The surge from the storm came up over this isthmus there, literally lifting homes up off their foundation, floating them and depositing them in different parts of the parts of the community. What we saw in Elim, then 2 days later when I was in Hooper Bay and Chevak, the weather was kind of nice. It was decent. But in about 2 weeks—in about maybe 3 weeks—winter comes. Winter is on its way.

When winter comes, you can’t move around. When the ice comes down out of the north, you don’t have fuel barges that return to the area until the spring. That fuel barge comes in maybe one time a year because of about new ice. June. June is warm. But think about that. If you lost your fuel and the last fuel barge has come and gone and you weren’t filled up, it is a long wait. What do you do? If you can’t barge it in, you fly it in. Imagine what it means to fly in your fuel into these villages.

Construction materials. How do we get the construction materials up there, whether it is the sheetrock or the plywood or the insulation? You put it on the barge. Well, the last barges are like the fuel trucks. Barges won’t be back until the spring. Right now, people are planning on: I need to fix up my home, but I am not going to be able to get the materials until June. What happens if that happens is, what happens in the meantime as winter comes? If you don’t have any insulation under your home, if you haven’t been able to get your home situated, you are going to be pretty vulnerable.

You may have made it through the storm, but it may be a very, very difficult and cold winter. It may be that your family of eight is now going to have to move in with another family that is already in an overcrowded situation. We don’t have extra housing. There is no extra housing.

Everybody is moving as quickly as they possibly can to try to bring relief. We have the National Guard that are doing amazing things. Red Cross was out there analyzing. We were out there with the FEMA administrator. I took her to Nome, was able to take her to Golovin. She was able to see the destruction that came to the fish camps right outside of Nome. Fish camps are not where people go for a holiday. Fish camps are where people work. This is where they harvest and they process and they prepare their food, whether it is the salmon nets to catch the salmon, the Beluga nets, the gear that they have for their fishing. If they are able to get caribou or moose, this is where they come and they process. They harvested their berries. Everything kind of comes together at fish camp. Then you are ready for winter.

People down there have harvested and gathered and fished and you put it all in your freezer and then the power goes out, as it did for multiple days, and you lose everything in your freezer? The power went out here in Nome. I was back in Alaska in August, and I lost the stuff in my freezer. You know what? I am just fine. I can go down to the grocery store here. Folks in Elim don’t have that opportunity.

The people in Golovin and Chevak and Hooper Bay and Shaktoolik and all the other places that have been impacted—the outdoors is their grocery store and the outdoor grocery store is now shut down because salmon season is over. Fishing is just over. Berries are gone, moose and caribou—maybe they will be able to get a little bit of game, maybe not.

Think about what that means when your food source is now gone. You lost a source of income, your housing is swept away, or demolished. You have lost your motor. This is not a recreational boat. This is how you feed your family; this is how you live. The four-wheelers are just thrown up and crumbled and in a lot of cases, burned. That is not—what that is, how people move around. When you think about the ability then to—what do you do now? What do you do now?

I am sharing this with people because this is what has been keeping me up at night and getting me up really early in the morning to figure out what more we can do—what more we can do to help the people in these small communities that lived through a very scary natural disaster but who have looming in the near future perhaps a very frightening winter—a cold winter, one where their food resource is gone, where the expense of living has always been high, but now—we don’t even know how to account for how high it is.

I was talking about this with a guy in Chevak who said he had ordered a little bit of lumber. He was working on something. He didn’t even say what it was. It was $1,500 worth of lumber, but it cost him $2,200 to get it there, to freight it up. I went into the grocery store, as I do in as many of the small towns and villages as I can. I always price things like, What is a box of Tide? I know what it is in Anchorage, I know what it is in Fairbanks, but in Chevak, it is $45 because the tax is added.

But I had heard—I had heard this crazy story that water, bottled water, was more expensive than fuel. That can’t possibly be. Fuel is $7 a gallon out there in Nome and probably more than that in Chevak. A 24-pack of bottled water—I don’t know what the label was, it was like generic bottled water you probably get at Costco—$91.
That did include tax. It was $91 for bottled water. And this is in a community where they were still on a boil water notice because they were just still checking out their water systems.

We are working hard. Nobody is sitting back and waiting for a federal government to come in and help them because they don’t have time. They are cleaning things up.

The FEMA administrator saw in Neme—in fairness compared to where she saw in Puerto Rico, it probably didn’t look that bad. But when you see it back and you look at the damage and you realize the vulnerability going forward into this winter, that is where it looks scary.

So we are using every resource that we have—every volunteer, every agency. People are there and they are putting their muscle into it. We have asked for the same support that President Biden has given to Puerto Rico with a 100 percent cost-share waiver for the first six days to get things cleaned up. I am hopeful—I am desperately hopeful—that the administration hears us on that.

For us, right now, it is this immediacy of time to get things pulled back together as fully as we possibly can because we cannot—they cannot—be in a situation where, in the middle of winter, when resources may be there but they are a long way away and they are very expensive, that we then realize that we have to provide additional support and additional relief.

There is a resilience in Alaska and, certainly, a resilience in Western Alaska. These people have lived in these villages for thousands of years—maybe not exactly the same place, but they are not going anywhere. They are not going anywhere.

And what I feel compelled to do is every-thing in my power to make sure that they are not forgotten and that they are going to be able to move forward in these next months.

With that, I just want to share that my thoughts and my prayers are not just limited to those in Alaska, but we think about all those who have suffered due to disasters, whether in New Mexico, in Puerto Rico, or those who are very, very fearful in Florida right now. I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tem-pore, Mr. Cornyn.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. CORNYN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum be waived.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tem-pore. Without objection, it is so or-dered.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Mr. CORNYN. Mr. President, despite the gridlock that occasionally grips this Chamber, the Senate has managed to advance some great bipartisan bills since the beginning of this Congress.

All of the attention seems to focus on our disagreements, not where we agree, and there is no question that there are big disagreements here and for good reasons. But the media seems to miss the smaller but no less important bills that earn bipartisan support every day.

Over the last couple of years, the Senate has unanimously—unani-mously—approved bills that I have introduced to support victims of child abuse, provide tax relief to survivors of human trafficking, strengthening our trade relationships with Canada and Mexico, and building safer and healthier communities.

It is no secret that our country is in the midst of a mental health crisis. We do not have a mental health delivery system in America. We made some great strides recently with the Mental Health and Safe Communities Act that made an unprecedented investment in community-based mental health care.

We all know that the mental health crisis does not discriminate. It affects people of all ages, from all walks of life, and challenges for law enforcement who are often the first to respond when someone is experiencing a mental health crisis. Police officers will tell you that they don’t have the training or exper-tise, or the resources, to assist these individuals in the most effective way possible because they are not mental health professionals. We can’t expect the police to solve every problem that they come across every day.

We also know that one in five children face a mental health crisis every day, and these are the changes that they have suggested and asked for.

But, obviously, I am not alone in supporting the program. As I said, this bill was introduced with Senator KLO-BUCHAR, and it has more than a dozen bipartisan cosponsors, including the chairman and the ranking member of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

So that is just one example of the bipartisan work we have done here that doesn’t get a lot of attention but will go a long way to improve our criminal justice system and how it deals with people who are struggling.

Last year, the Senate approved legislation that I introduced with Senator WHITEHOUSE, the Senator from Rhode Island, to help incarcerated individuals break the cycle of addiction. This legislation updates the Residential Substance Abuse Treatment Program and expands it to treatment in jails and prisons across the country. The program has already provided incarcerated individuals with access to treatment for substance use disorders. That treatment is coupled with programs to prepare these men and women for re-entry and to provide community-based treatment once they are released, hopefully, to help them lead productive lives.

Our legislation opens up even more opportunities for successful rehabilita-tion and continued recovery, and it gives providers more options when it comes to treating substance use disorders. It requires program staff to be trained on the science of addiction, evidence-based therapies, and strategies for continuity of care. And it ensures programs are affiliated with providers who can continue treatment after incarceration.

We have done a lot of good work, if I can say so myself, on a bipartisan basis, to try to deal with things like addiction, things like mental health crises badly what happens in the absence of these programs is law enforcement ends up getting a 9–1–1 call, and they have nowhere to take the person other than to the local jail.

Not that long ago, I met with a group of major city police chiefs, and I was asked by a friend of mine—one of the police chiefs—who said: Would you like to meet the largest mental health provider in the country? He is the police chief of the Los Angeles Police Department.

So in the absence of these kinds of programs, these innovative programs, what you are seeing is people warehoused in jails or prisons, only to repeat their offenses again because the core problems that they are experiencing aren't being addressed. That is true in addiction. That is true with mental health.

So these changes that I am talking about were not drafted in a vacuum. We can rely on law enforcement, criminal justice specialists, and behavioral health experts. And, once again, this bill passed unanimously in the Senate.

Despite the fact that these two bills that I have talked about got support of 100 Senators, both have hit a brick wall in the House. The House has yet to schedule a vote on either one of these pieces of legislation. It is not clear to me why the House won't take up and pass these bills.

I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. HICKENLOOPER). Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. Sasse. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

Mr. Sasse. Mr. President, the human spirit abhors tyranny.

Since February, the world has witnessed examples of extraordinary courage. In Ukraine, we have watched ordinary men and women mount a defense of their homes and their homeland against overwhelming odds—people never having handled firearms before who are getting training, getting arms, getting munitions, and joining together in the cause of defending their homes and their homeland. We know what it has cost them. Across the border, we have seen thousands and thousands of ordinary Russians challenge the suicidal thuggery of Vladimir Putin. We know what it has cost them too.

Today, I want to call our attention to the courage on display in a different part of the world. I want to look to Iran.

Two weeks ago yesterday, on September 13, Iran’s so-called morality police arrested a young woman named Mahsa Amini. They detained her on the grounds that she was wearing her hijab improperly. She was bundled into a van, where eyewitnesses could hear the police beating her. A few hours later, she was delivered to a local hospital, where she was declared brain dead. The police shamelessly claimed that she had had a spontaneous heart attack.

Thousands upon thousands of Iranians have poured into the streets since. Protesters are calling for an end to the savagery that has made absurd arrests and vicious beatings a regular part of the rhythm of life in Tehran. They are demanding dignity for the millions and millions of people who have lost it under Tehran’s maniacal theocracy. This is no small thing, what they have done—the courage that is on display as they pour into the streets. Protests have erupted now in more than 80 cities and in all 31 of Iran’s provinces. This is not a minor demonstration.

The mullahs are facing one of the most significant challenges to their rule since they seized it 43 years ago, in 1979. How has the regime responded? As expected—with more brutality, with more repression, and with more savagery. Human rights groups estimate that 76 people have been killed so far by the authorities.

Meanwhile, the crackdown has also included a shutting off of social media and the internet. They hope that a country and a world that can’t see their thuggery won’t notice it, will pretend it doesn’t exist, won’t know. Well, I know, and we know. The Iranians know how this regime operates. We know that these pathetic cowards have no regard for human dignity.

Who are they?

These bloodthirsty men are the goons who hang homosexuals from gallows, who protect child rapists, who deny women education. The regime is rotten to the core. The people who are suffering under it know, and we know. These men have told the world exactly who they are again and again and again.

In 2009, Iranians erupted at the grotesque human rights abuses perpetrated by then-President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad. In an election riddled with fraud, the world saw who he was again. During the Green Revolution, thousands of protesters, including key opposition leaders, were arrested and thrown in Iran’s dungeon prisons. Many were tortured, and several dozen were killed. A 26-year-old woman, a student, was shot in the head and thrown from a rooftop by pro-government militia men. Her dying moments were recorded by cell phone video and were broadcast around the world.

We know who they are.

Ten years later—3 years ago, in 2019—massive nationwide protests erupted again. This time, it was following an announcement of massive, unsustainable hikes on gas prices. The protests and the violence that followed were the worst since 1979.

Hundreds of people took to the streets, and the government responded with a campaign of systemic savagery, hoping to drive people back into their homes in order to hide the truth and to not admit to what this regime was and the ways that they failed. Protesters were shot from rooftops and helicopters by the Iranian Revolutionary Guards while they were unfettered to protest against the regime and they killed unarmed protesters who were attempting to block roadways and entrances. In one southwestern city, IRGC forces pursued several dozen, mostly young, unarmed protesters into a march outside the city and then began massacring them. Most reliable outside observers believe that about 1,500 protesters were killed.

In 2019, Tehran also conducted a near-total internet shutdown, plunging the country’s 82 million people into information darkness for about 6 days. That practice, as we are seeing again right now, as we see this month, has become one more regular instrument of terror. These guys are scared of sunlight and the truth. They are scared of the truth.

We know that the deserts in Iran who brutalize their own people also export their terror tactics. Look at the last 20 years.

In July of last summer, 2021, a group of Iranian spies tried to kidnap Masih Alinejad—an Iranian-American journalist and human rights activist—at her home in New York. In July of this year, the former National Security Advisor John Bolton released an op-ed saying that he had been in a meeting with the same mullahs who would release billions of dollars back into their hands, help them shore up their power, and do nothing to prevent putting a catastrophic toxin in the hands of genocidal hands. President Obama chased a flawed deal with Iran’s terrorist state instead of more aggressively standing with the Iranian people. Today, the same hodgepodge of national security experts are doing it again.

Newly announced sanctions against the leaders of the Ministry of Intelligence and Security, the Army Ground Forces, and the pro-government militias are good, but we cannot stand on the sidelines while Iran’s leadership executes and assassinates women and men who are in the streets at the same time we refuse to sanction the leaders who matter most. Ayatollah Khomeini and the circle of elites around him continue to escape serious consequence.

We should be true to ourselves and should not delude ourselves into thinking that economic sanctions are a magic wand or that the mullahs themselves care very much about the economic pain that the people under their regime are suffering. We should not think that the mullahs care about elite opinion in Paris. We have to have a serious top-to-bottom evaluation of our Iran strategy, and a coherent policy must begin by telling the truth over and over again.

We cannot stand on the side of the people on the streets demanding dignity at the same time that we welcome Iran’s President—someone personally responsible for show trials and mass executions and assassination attempts on our soil, in our country. We can’t allow him to spout lies and propaganda on our same American soil as we did last year at the U.N. General Assembly in New York.

We can start by helping illuminate the government-imposed blackout so that Iranians can see what their government and its blackshirts are doing—more light, more information. We can expand and intensify the sanctions regime that has pushed Iran to the brink in the past, before we lost our nerve. We can support the Iranian protesters and stop providing platforms to the regime’s propagandists. We can make sure that the voices of the Iranian people are heard by keeping the internet open while Tehran works to put the country back into the black box of despotism.

The courage of men and women on the streets of Iran today has not gone unnoticed. They have imagined the possibility of an Iranian future no longer under the thumb of Tehran’s bloodthirsty dictators. We should be able to imagine that future too and to do more to make that a reality.

The Iranian people hate Tehran’s bloodthirsty tyrants. This is not a regime that has the consent of the governed. The American people are on freedom’s side. The administration should drop the fantasy of another nuclear deal, walk away from the table, and turn the screws on these monsters by, first, telling the truth again and again.

We ought to do everything we can to celebrate the heroism of the Iranians in the streets and to expose Tehran’s human rights abuses around the watching world. And the best way to do that is by making sure that the internet stays on in Iran—more light, more truth, more information.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Kansas.

MR. MARSHALL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senator Menendez and I be permitted to complete our remarks prior to the scheduled recess.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

MR. MARSHALL. Mr. President, I rise in support of our legislation to formally designate the major Mexican drug cartels as foreign terrorist organizations under Federal law.

It would also require the State Department to issue a report to Congress on additional cartels that meet the criteria for foreign terrorist organizations designation and require the Department to designate them as such within 30 days of the report. This bill would give us greater tools to push back against the cartels.

The White House’s deadly open border crisis.

This past March, I was honored and proud to lead five Kansas sheriffs to the border to meet with Border Patrol officers and survey the ongoing immigration crisis at our border. With our own eyes, we saw the activities of the major Mexican drug cartels that qualify them for designation as a foreign terrorist organization, as they are transnational entities that engage in textbook terrorist activity, such as kidnapping, assassination, and endangering lives with explosives and firearms.

Additionally, these cartels are responsible for the deaths of hundreds of thousands of Americans, especially young Americans in their prime.

Fentanyl has quickly become the leading cause of death among adults ages 18 to 45. Last year, the number of drug overdose deaths in the United States topped 100,000, with fentanyl being the cause of more than two-thirds of them.

The vast majority of fentanyl precursors, as we all know now, are manufactured in China and then chemically
The unsustainable crisis at the border has impacted not only Americans but the migrants themselves, who have often traveled hundreds of miles on foot and can be exploited by these terrorist organizations.

Just yesterday, the Washington Examiner reported those being brought across the border by coyotes are paying an average of $8,600 in total smuggling fees this year, mimicking what Mafias do who charge a fee—literally a tax—to enter their territory and pass through. The cartels have enriched these terrorist organizations, and we must step up our defenses against them as they continue to wreak havoc on communities all across the country. It cannot go on any longer.

Listen, designating Mexican drug cartels as foreign terrorist organizations will give our Federal Government new ways to fight back; that is, if the White House will allow them to.

A foreign terrorist organization designation provides additional tools for law enforcement and national security authorities to take action, including by providing additional investigation and intelligence resources and sanction capabilities.

For example, a foreign terrorist organization designation would, No. 1, make it unlawful for any person who knowingly provides “material support or resources” to the cartel to enter the United States. Next, it prevents any member of the designated cartel from legally entering the United States. And, finally, it would allow the Secretary of the Treasury to block all assets possessed or controlled by the cartels.

The cartels are playing a massive role in the ongoing crisis at the border. By exploiting Joe Biden’s open border policies, the cartels have increased their power and wealth at the expense of innocent lives that get in their way.

I encourage my colleagues to support this legislation to formally designate the major Mexican drug cartels as foreign terrorist organizations under Federal law and help stem the tide of dangerous drugs and other illicit goods pouring across our open southern border.

Surely, this is an effort we can all get behind, as every Senator in this body affirmed by oath that they would support the Constitutions upon their swearing in. This, importantly, includes providing for the common defense of our people.

Personally, I will not rest until we stop this war on the youth of young Americans.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Foreign Relations be discharged from further consideration of S. 4914 and the Senate proceed to its immediate consideration. I further ask that the bill be considered read a third time and passed and that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Senator from New Jersey.

Mr. MENENDEZ. Mr. President, reserving the right to object—and I appreciate my friend—I do consider him—and colleague and his concern, which we mutually share on this issue. But this legislation was introduced 7 days ago—7 days ago. Most of our colleagues have not even had a chance to read it. The Foreign Relations Committee, which I have the privilege of chairing, has not reviewed or marked up this bill since it just got referred to us. And to my knowledge, my colleague has not made any effort to engage the committee.

Especially in light of its sweeping and mandatory nature and the lack of any waiver—even if a waiver were in our national interest—members with expertise in foreign affairs need to have the opportunity to scrutinize the bill.

Regular order allows us to refine legislation. It ensures we avoid unintended consequences, and that is needed here.

As chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, I take the threat of Mexican drug trafficking organizations seriously. During my 30 years in Congress, I have made significant efforts to combat drug trafficking in Mexico, Latin America, the Caribbean, and around the world.

Given the potential impact of this legislation, I would just ask my colleague the following questions for his consideration—these are the questions I ask myself as I am looking at his request: The U.S. Congress has developed a framework of sanctions specifically to target drug traffickers. It is called the Kingpin Act. There is substantial overlap between the Kingpin Act and what is being proposed today. Is this request for helpful, or is it hurtful? Why is it needed?

S. 4914 provides no new funding for the management of our sanctions program targeting foreign terrorist organizations, and we are deeply engaged in our whole-sanctions operation as it relates to Russia and Ukraine. This would be additional, but it has no additional resources. Do we want to stretch the U.S. Government’s personnel and resources that target foreign terrorist organizations? That is what the legislation would do.

Does my colleague want to explain to the American people why we should have less personnel and funding dedicated to countering Hezbollah, ISIS, al-Qaeda, because, as it is, that is what the legislation would do.

The members of the Foreign Relations Committee take the threat posed by Mexican cartels very seriously. We know that the cartels are deeply involved in the production and trafficking of fentanyl. We know that this is a substance so lethal it kills tens of thousands of American citizens every year.

For more than 10 years, Texas Republicans have been trying to label Mexican cartels as terrorists in an effort to try and cripple their empires.

This week, Texas Governor Greg Abbott made a declaration establishing a Mexican cartel division within the Texas Fusion Center at the Texas Department of Public Safety, which his office said will conduct multijurisdictional investigations with local law enforcement and other States.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Foreign Relations be discharged from further consideration of S. 4914 and the Senate proceed to its immediate consideration. I further ask that the bill be considered read a third time and passed and that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?
That is why in June, the committee approved the FENTANYL Results Act, legislation designed to strengthen the United States response to fentanyl trafficking—legislation that received unanimous, bipartisan backing of all members on the Foreign Relations Committee, legislation that we can enact into law before the end of this Congress. That is a serious legislative effort conducted through normal order of the Senate.

I would just say to my friend, if you really want to address the impact that Mexican cartels and drug trafficking have on the American people, I urge you, respectfully, to work through the Foreign Relations Committee and join us in a meaningful legislative effort.

Finally, before I object, I would just say, I know that my colleague keeps talking about the Biden open borders. Well, it is a little incongruous when you self-designate and made in your comments that it is the U.S. Customs and Border Protection that is actively engaged in stopping the flow of significant amounts of drugs.

For all of those reasons, at this point in time, I will have to object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

The Senator from Kansas.

Mr. MARSHALL. Mr. President, I certainly do respect the comments of the chairman.

I would ask him a question: What would you tell the mother of Cooper Davis? What would you tell the mother of the hundreds of Americans who are going to die today from fentanyl poisoning?

Whatever we are doing now is not working. This is a war. Just yesterday morning, at 1 a.m., we were given 250 pages of legislation that we were asked to vote on that evening. This is a 3- or 4-page bill.

I have declared war on fentanyl. Every day in Kansas someone is dying from fentanyl. Every day in the State of New Jersey probably several people are dying from fentanyl poisoning.

I would ask the chairman: Whatever we are doing, it is not working. What more do we do? What do I tell Cooper Davis’s mom? What do I tell these people out there whose babies are dying?

They are young adults being taken from the prime of their lives. Whatever we have done is not working. This stuff is coming over by the tons. What we have captured is a fraction of what is reaching America. That is why Kansas is no longer safe. It is not safe for any of our young adults. This is why this Halloween we are going to have to put our kids on special watches as this candy is going across the border. I don’t see how anyone who cares about our youth and young adults could object to this.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from New Jersey.

Mr. MENENDEZ. Mr. President, I can’t let the question rhetorically hang there.

I would say to my colleague, first of all, for all of us who have been fighting this issue on a bipartisan basis—I think his bill has only got Republican sponsors on it, a few—that we have been fighting this, and this is a continuous fight. And, yes, every life that is lost is still very mournful. But what would I say to them?

I would say, well, if we get the Fentanyl Results Act legislation passed, which passed the committee on a bipartisan basis, we would have a bipartisan approach toward dealing with this.

I appreciate that my colleague has declared war on fentanyl, but just because he has declared war doesn’t mean that his view as to how you meet the challenge is the ultimate result, is the ultimate solution.

So in good faith, I offer our colleague to work with us. But you can’t end up making the Senate the Committee of the Whole. If we want to do that, good, let’s abolish all of our committees, and let’s all sit here and we can bring up legislation after legislation that was just introduced, where nobody has a chance to read it and nobody has a chance to understand the unintended consequences, as noble as the intent might be. But that is what my colleague has done on more than one occasion now. He introduces a piece of legislation and, days after, comes to the floor to seek its approval. Well, that bypasses the entire system that is meant as a check and balance to get the best legislation to accomplish a common goal.

So that is what I would say. We need to work on this together. We are committed to it. That is why we passed legislation in the past. That is why we just passed legislation recently. I hope my colleague will join us, and maybe we can get it in the NDAA together.

With that, I yield the floor.

RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate stands in recess until 2:15.

Thereupon, the Senate, at 12:48 p.m., recessed until 2:15 p.m. and reassembled when called to order by the Presiding Officer (Ms. ROSEN).

AFFORDABLE INSULIN NOW ACT—MOTION TO PROCEED—Continued

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority whip.

UKRAINE

Mr. DURBIN. Madam President, it has been a little more than 7 months since Russia launched its illegal invasion of Ukraine, and the destruction that has followed is unbelievable. We have all had a chance to bear witness to the brutal reality of Russia’s invasion as Ukrainian forces have recaptured territories like the city of Izium. Soon after the city was liberated, Ukrainian forces discovered mass graves filled with the bodies, including children. Some of the bodies had their hands tied behind their backs and their skulls crushed, and many showed signs of torture. The images that have emerged from Izium prove what we have suspected for some time: The mountain of evidence of Russian war crimes is sky high.

These photos illustrate what the Ukrainians are finding in recaptured territory. They are sending out people to redig mass graves to find out just what happened to members of their family and neighbors and their friends.

The same thing is illustrated by this photo as well. In the shadow of this beautiful church, they are finding mass graves left behind by the Russians. And no safe haven anywhere in the world, let alone in the United States.

That is why I have introduced the Justice for Victims of War Crimes Act with the ranking Republican Member, Senator GASSLEY. It closes a shameful loophole in American law that has allowed war criminals to escape justice. Our legislation updates the War Crimes Act so foreign war criminals who try to flee to America can be prosecuted, even if they enter their crimes were committed. It is only a starting point, but I hope we can build on it to finally enact the law in this country prohibiting crimes against humanity. This is an opportunity to send a clear signal to war criminals, like those in Russia today who systemically attack civilians, that America is going to hold you accountable for your crimes.

IMMIGRATION

Madam President, on a related topic, at our brightest moments, America has been a beacon of hope for the oppressed and tyrants accountable; we have also provided refuge to their victims. Many of us in Congress can attest to that fact.

In fact, it is exactly how my family arrived in this country. Back in 1911, my grandmother left Lithuania and came to the United States in search of freedom. She boarded a ship carrying two things in her arms: a bag with her Catholic prayer book, published a year before the Czars outlawed its printing in Lithuania, and her 2-year-old daughter, my mother, Osa. The moment my grandmother stepped foot on American soil, her life changed. From that moment on, she and my mother were protected by an incredible shield: the U.S. Constitution, along with the rights and protections it guarantees.

But for Lithuanians, securing those same rights has not been so easy. The country struggled under Soviet occupation for nearly 50 years. Even after the Lithuanian people proclaimed their independence in 1990, their liberty wasn’t guaranteed. In January 1991, 9 months after Lithuania held its first free elections, Soviet tanks rolled into Vilnius, last-ditch effort to crush the country’s new democracy. Thirteen Lithuanian martyrs were killed that day.

I would like to think it was the sacrifice of those 13 Lithuanians, and millions who also suffered under communism, that inspired the current Governor of Florida to establish a new holiday earlier this year. It was entitled Victims of Communism Day. In his own words, Governor DeSantis created this holiday with the goal of “honoring the people that have fallen victim to communist regimes.” In announcing this holiday, he asserted that “Florida will stand for truth and remain as a beaconhead for freedom.”

This is an admirable aspiration, but, sadly, it is one that the Governor of Florida has failed to live up to because, when it comes to standing up to ruthless dictators of our time, like Venezuela’s Nicolas Maduro, Governor DeSantis and his allies are nowhere to be found. Instead of offering safe harbor to victims of Maduro’s regime, these very same Governors have chosen to abandon and abuse their families.

This is no way to honor the victims of communism and political repression. It is a cowardly failure of leadership that violates our Nation’s basic values.

When news first broke that Governors Abbott of Texas and DeSantis of Florida were using refugee families fleeing their families as political pawns, I couldn’t help but wonder: What if it were my own family?

The families fleeing Venezuela are seeking refuge from the same menace that the victims of communists faced decades ago: political persecution and state-sanctioned violence. Under Nicolas Maduro, Venezuela has been a failed criminal state awash in human misery. It is so dangerous that the State Department warns Americans to avoid the country entirely. I visited Venezuela a few years ago, just before Maduro’s latest sham election.

I actually share the Florida Governor’s belief that America has the responsibility to stand in contrast to dictators like Maduro and Putin by actually defending truth and freedom. But that responsibility is far bigger than declaring a holiday, because it is one thing to speak out against the evils of communism or voice opposition to Maduro, but talk is cheap. The real test for our values begins when the victims of tyrants like Maduro arrive at our doorstep in search of freedom. I am sad to say that Governor Ron DeSantis and Governor Greg Abbott have both failed that test. To add insult to injury, these Governors not only refused to help these families fleeing Venezuela; they wasted taxpayers’ dollars on a political stunt that only made the problem worse and made us, as a nation, look weak and, to some of the world, look cruel.

Here is the reality. The most powerful country on Earth can stand up to dictators like Maduro by honoring America’s legacy as a beacon of freedom. That means coming to the aid of families like Carlos’s—families who are applying for asylum the right way and seeking a fair shot in America, like our own families once did.

In fact, we need workers. We have 11 million unfilled jobs in this Nation and 5 million unemployed Americans. Let’s put young, able-bodied people like Carlos to work in jobs that Americans don’t want. Let’s get them on the books and give them their fair shot so they can finally enjoy the security and safety for their families that was denied to them in their home countries. They will contribute to a better America.

Time and again, immigrants have shown us that they rise to the occasion, work harder than most, and achieve things unimaginable. They can do it again, and they will. Let’s prove that America was and is better than the cold, iron fist of authoritarianism. I yield the floor.

Mr. KAINE. Madam President, I was scheduled to come to the floor today to offer live UCs to bring up two Biden nominees—very important nominees—to assume diplomatic posts in the Western Hemisphere.

Senator Scott of Florida was scheduled to be here to oppose my UCs and have a dialogue. The hurricane in Florida has pulled him away, and so he is unable to be here. I am left with the objector's job. The objector has stated that he is unable to come for a reason that I understand. Senator Scott’s team has indicated that he will likely be here tomorrow, and we might be able to repeat this tomorrow.

What I thought I would do, having the floor, is say a little bit about these two countries and these two nominees because I hope Senator Scott might watch this or his staff might give him the transcript because I think, if he does, he will see that they are both highly qualified individuals. I want to talk about both, but I will not make the motion at the end of my comments with respect to unanimous consent.

I would say that both Michelle Kwan, who was nominated by President Biden to be our Ambassador to Belize, and Mari Carmen Aponte, who was nominated to be our Ambassador to Panama, are both highly qualified individuals, as I will describe.

But the countries are really important. Belize has not had an ambassador confirmed for more than 5 years. Panama has not had a confirmed ambassador for more than 4 years. And, sort

A recent United Nations report found that Maduro and his cronies have been systematically repressing Venezuelans and gruesomely torturing their political opponents. These horrors have driven nearly 7 million Venezuelans to leave that country in desperation and fear. This number is more than the number of Syrian refugees and nearly equal to the number of Ukrainian refugees fleeing active war in those countries.

Despite what some Republicans have claimed, those fleeing Venezuela are not “illegals” or “invaders.” They are victims of the same ruthless tactics that once defined the Soviet Union. Instead of helping these families, Governor DeSantis and Governor Abbott declare holidays and have chosen to exploit their fear and confusion.

I met with a few of the families who were unwittingly placed on migrant buses to Chicago by Governor Abbott of Texas a few weeks ago. One of the people I met was Carlos. He and his wife and two little girls were sitting at a table, and we were able to talk to them for about a half hour and ask questions.

Carlos was a hard worker in Venezuela, but the country’s political and economic crisis was so severe that his job couldn’t keep food on the table. His family was on the brink of starvation. So on May 15, Carlos and his wife, along with those two beautiful little girls, decided to literally flee for their lives. They embarked on a 5-month journey, much of it on foot, to the Texas-Mexico border. It was a nightmare of violence, theft, and exploitation. Carlos told me that, at one point, he thought he would die, while spending 9 nights in a Panamanian jungle. By the time they were rescued by a local military force, all of their money had been stolen, their cell phones had been stolen, and they were penniless.

But the governments they eventually made it to America. They filed their claim for asylum. We are honored that they were brought to Chicago, though the circumstances were not good.

To me, Carlos is living proof that we have more work to do in ridding the world of violent repression and totalitarianism. These evils didn’t suddenly disappear with the fall of the Soviet Union. I actually share the Florida Governor’s belief that America has the responsibility to stand in contrast to dictators like Maduro and Putin by actually defending truth and freedom. The test for our values begins when the victims of tyrants like Maduro arrive at our doorstep in search of freedom.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Virginia.

NOMINATIONS OF MICHELLE KWAN AND MARI CARMEN APONTE

Mr. KAINE. Madam President, I was scheduled to come to the floor today to offer live UCs to bring up two Biden nominees—very important nominees—to assume diplomatic posts in the Western Hemisphere.

Senator Scott of Florida was scheduled to be here to oppose my UCs and have a dialogue. The hurricane in Florida has pulled him away, and so he is unable to be here. I am left with the objector's job. The objector has stated that he is unable to come for a reason that I understand. Senator Scott's team has indicated that he will likely be here tomorrow, and we might be able to repeat this tomorrow.

What I thought I would do, having the floor, is say a little bit about these two countries and these two nominees because I hope Senator Scott might watch this or his staff might give him the transcript because I think, if he does, he will see that they are both highly qualified individuals. I want to talk about both, but I will not make the motion at the end of my comments with respect to unanimous consent.

I would say that both Michelle Kwan, who was nominated by President Biden to be our Ambassador to Belize, and Mari Carmen Aponte, who was nominated to be our Ambassador to Panama, are both highly qualified individuals, as I will describe.

But the countries are really important. Belize has not had an ambassador confirmed for more than 5 years. Panama has not had a confirmed ambassador for more than 4 years. And, sort of, the theme for both of these is, Why punish good behavior? These are great allies of the United States, both Belize and Panama. They are both doing some really important work with us right now, and they deserve to have confirmed ambassadors.

If we won’t confirm an ambassador for more than 4 years or more than 5 years, it has a way of sending a message to these countries like: Wow, we say you are great allies, but we clearly don’t value you enough to have a confirmed ambassador.

Let me talk about Michelle Kwan, the nominee to be our Ambassador in Belize.

Belize is a critical partner in the Caribbean and Central America. This is a region of significant distress and instability. But Belize has been a bright spot in both relative stability and also closeness to the United States. As I mentioned, no U.S. ambassador has been confirmed there for more than 5 years.

Our ability to engage with Belize at this most senior level is crucial right now.

In particular with Belize, there is something unique about this country. In this hemisphere that is very important to the United States, it is also of growing importance to China. We see Beijing active all over the Americas, often outstpping our efforts to pay attention to these countries.

Belize has been willing to be a stalwart partner of Taiwan. There are only 11 nations in the world that recognize Taiwan, and China is going after each one of them, putting pressure on them to strip away their recognition of Taiwan.

The United States is encouraging nations that have recognized Taiwan to continue to do so, but very few are able to hold out against the Chinese onslaught. Belize has been willing to do this. This is good behavior. We asked them to do it, and they have.

By leaving this position vacant, even as Beijing aggressively builds more and more momentum in the region, it is nothing less than diplomatic malpractice. Having a sitting U.S. ambassador there is of utmost importance.

Now, how about Michelle Kwan?

Exceptionally qualified to take on this challenge. She has had an incredibly diverse career in public service and diplomacy and especially sports.

She is the most decorated figure skater in U.S. history, having won 43 championships, including 5 world championships, 9 national titles, and 2 Olympic medals.

Michelle became the first-ever U.S. Public Diplomacy Envoy in 2006, 16 years ago. For the following decade and a half, under Presidents and Secretaries of State of both parties, she has traveled extensively on behalf of the State Department all around the world to engage youth and especially young girls on social and educational issues.

She was the first-ever ambassador out of this country to the United States, and her global profile will say to Belize: Hey, we value you because we are sending an accomplished and well-known athlete, inspiration, and diplomat to be our representative there.

And so I was going to ask today that she be confirmed by unanimous consent, and I will return, hopefully, to successfully see her advanced by the Senate into this position.

Now let me talk about Mari Carmen Aponte, who is President Biden’s nominee to be Ambassador to Panama.

First on Panama, Panama is one of our strongest partners in the Americas. It is a key ally on a wide range of U.S. priorities.

And, Madam President, you and I remember when we had major problems with Panama—major problems. It has been a success story of turning an adversarial relationship into a partner, and yet Panama has now been without a U.S. ambassador for more than 4 years.

My friends across the aisle frequently cite migration as a top foreign policy concern. They have a point.

The Venezuelan refugee crisis is now the second largest displacement in the world. The size and scope of this crisis and the humanitarian impact on the region and the Venezuelan people is worsening by the day. I agree. This issue needs much more attention.

Panama is on the forefront of this crisis. Their border with Colombia—the Darien Gap on that border is the primary route by which people migrate from South America, especially Venezuela, north. They have a crucial role to play in any cohesive regional response.

Panama is also critical to narcotics interdiction efforts and in promoting democratic values that are increasingly under threat in the region.

They are also the subject of intense Chinese investment in the Panama Canal. China has a new Embassy built right on the canal.

We are not competing in a vacuum here. We are competing in a highly competitive world, where China is making more investments than we are, and yet Panama still desires to have a very close relationship with the United States.

And there is more. Recently, Panama, Costa Rica, the Dominican Republic, and Ecuador noticed democratic backsliding in the Americas and announced the formation of something called the Alliance for Democracy and Development. They want to band together, four democratic nations, and be proudly pro-democracy in a region where we see too much backsliding. They can punch above their weight. They can do work not only within their own nations but be an influence throughout the region—indeed, throughout the world. This is something that the United States has celebrated and recongnized for decades.

So, again, why punish bad behavior? If they are doing these things to help us with migration, if they are stepping forward to be pro-democracy in a region that is backsliding, why wouldn’t we confirm a confirmed U.S. ambassador?

Let me tell you about Mari Carmen Aponte. She is a Puerto Rican native. She previously served with distinction as an ambassador to El Salvador during the Obama administration. She was confirmed in this body with bipartisan support. She has been the Acting Assistant Secretary of State for the Western Hemisphere.

It is hard to imagine a more qualified nominee. She will have impact from the moment she hits the ground. She was nominated for this role in October of 2021. Her Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing was in May, and she has been pending consideration by the full Senate since that date.

Let’s get a proven ambassador in the field and put her to work in a nation that is critical to the United States in the region.

Finally, I will just note, Panama is the home of the Panama Canal. It is the world’s second largest free-trade zone. It has a sophisticated logistics and financial operations hub. It attracts billions in direct foreign investment and, we need to be there, again, to counter the significant Chinese interest in this country.

So, again, I had planned to make a motion on behalf of Mari Carmen Aponte. In deference to my colleague from Florida and the challenge there, I got cut, but he told me that they will pay attention to my description of both the importance of these nations and the qualifications of these nominees.

I will return in the hopes that we may soon be able to act as the Senate and forward these highly qualified nominees to the field where they can do their work as representatives of the United States.

Mr. MARSHALL. I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Ms. Baldwin). Without objection, it is so ordered.

The junior Senator from Kansas.

Mr. MARSHALL. Madam President, I rise today in order to ask for unanimous consent to pass S.J. Res. 63, a resolution to terminate the COVID-19 national emergency declaration. It has been more than 2½ years since the national emergency concerning the novel coronavirus disease outbreak was declared, and it has been extended now twice already by President Biden since the initial proclamation, most recently in February of this year.

It is this declaration, coupled with other emergency powers currently invoked by the President, which this administration is using to supersize government in order to continue their reckless, inflationary spending spree and enact their radical, partisan agenda. In fact, the White House used these emergency powers to justify their inflationary, out-of-control spending, their unconstitutional vaccine and mask mandates, and to forgive student loans.

This is not the first time I have come to the floor to terminate this emergency declaration. In fact, in March, I brought an identical resolution to this floor under the expedited procedures contained in the National Emergencies Act that passed this body by a vote of 48 to 20. At the time, the status of the virus in this Nation had greatly improved since the dark, early days of the pandemic. Everyone ages 12 and over was eligible for a booster shot if they wanted further inoculation. More than 550 million doses had been administered in the United States, with 215 million people being fully vaccinated. Two oral anti-virals had been made available for certain patients, and monoclonal antibody treatments were available for those at high risk of becoming seriously ill.

Fast-forward to today, 6 months later, and the status of our immunity and ability to fight the virus in the United States has improved further still. More than 660 million doses have been administered, and 225 million people are fully vaccinated—nearly 70 percent of the population. If you include natural immunity, immunity gained through natural infection, the CDC states that approximately 95 percent of Americans over the age of 16 have some acquired level of immunity. Everyone ages 12 and older can receive Omicron-specific boosters, and we have a growing roster of anti-viral drugs and monoclonal antibodies that are helping vulnerable populations avoid life-threatening infections.

Now, this is not the time to ignore the individuals still struggling with COVID-19 who are tragically dying with the virus, but it does demonstrate that we have made major advances in our fight against COVID-19 and entered a less dire, more endemic phase. In fact, even President Biden recently acknowledged during a “60 Minutes” interview that the “pandemic is over.”

Of course, the President’s handlers immediately walked back this claim to argue that the pandemic is, in fact, not over. But why? Why would the Federal officials calling the shots in the executive branch not want to declare this pandemic over? Because it is the fearmongering and the robust authorities provided by the emergency declaration that allow this administration to justify infringing upon your rights and validates their continued expansion of inflationary government spending and social programs.

It was this government-imposed state of emergency that justified their continued lockdowns of small businesses and schools. It was this government-imposed state of emergency that justified their vaccine and mask mandates that continue to this day in too many instances. This government-imposed state of emergency that justified President Biden’s and congressional Democrats’ inflationary spending binge, starting with the $1.9 trillion American Rescue Plan last year and their curiously and inappropriately named Inflation Reduction Act this summer. Most recently, it was the national emergency declaration that allowed the President to extend the payment pause and cancel up to $10,000 in outstanding federally held student loan balances and $20,000 for Pell Grant recipients.

This rallying cry of the far left that the President is pandering to will cost the Federal Government $220 billion—$420 billion—according to the Congressional Budget Office. The Wall Street Journal called the move “an unprecedented act of peacetime fiscal recklessness.” And every American knows this is inflationary.

This is exactly the problem. The Biden administration is keeping Americans under the strain of the national emergency declaration as if we are not living in a time of peace, as if we are living in a time of war that requires the full force of the Federal Government—rights and fiscal responsibility be damned—in order to respond to this crisis.

In order to rein in this massive expansion of government, to slow down and restore Americans’ fundamental rights, we must take the important step of terminating the COVID–19 national emergency declaration. I encourage all my colleagues to join me in supporting this proposal.

Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Finance be discharged from further consideration of S.J. Res. 63 and that the Senate proceed to its immediate consideration. I further ask that the joint resolution be read a third time and passed, and that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. WYDEN. Reserving the right to object, Madam President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The senior Senator from Oregon.

Mr. WYDEN. Madam President, I just went over to our colleague from Kansas and told him that I would much rather be on the floor this afternoon working in a bipartisan way on something like this, and I hope that can be part of Senate proceedings in the future.

Here is what I think is important for the public to know about this proposal. It is that in the real world, the Marshall proposal is a prescription for less flexibility and more redtape in American healthcare. I want to be very specific.

Every Member of this body understands that America has a serious shortage of nurses and healthcare providers. Every single time we go home— I am sure this is the case for our colleagues in Kansas, who is a physician. He hears from physicians and providers. Every single time, we hear from healthcare providers. I see the Presiding Officer of the Senate has been a very strong advocate for healthcare improvement for patients and providers. Every time we are home, we hear about the need for more healthcare providers.

Right now, there are requirements in Medicare for a lengthy process that must be completed before it is possible to hire healthcare providers to serve Medicare patients. If the Marshall proposal goes into effect as written, Health and Human Services could not waive this complicated process to take care of patients. So that would leave our country short of healthcare providers when there is an acute, even more serious need for them.

I am just going to close with this because we are all hoping to be home over the next week or so. When I am home, I always do these open-to-all townhall meetings. I go to every one of my counties every year. I have had more than 1,020 of them—open to all, asking whatever you want. I have never had a constituent at home, an Oregonian, say: ROX, what we need is more advocacy and more redtape in American healthcare. Usually, they are talking to us about waiving things.

For those reasons, Madam President, I object.
But this is not the solution to the doctor shortages or the nurse shortages. The solution is to respect the profession, to remove some of the redtape. Allow us to be doctors and nurses. Don't make us be tied down with issues like prior authorization, which I know your committee is seriously considering as well. We appreciate your work on that as well.

Certainly, I do have people who come to my townhalls—and, like you, we have given to 100 counties in the past 2 years. We have five left to go. And what people ask me is: Why do our kids in the Head Start Programs still need to wear a mask? Do they do any good? Why are there still vaccine mandates out there? Why is this government continuing inflationary spending?

It is my feeling that this emergency declaration allows the President and the White House to expand those powers to take our constitutional rights away. You know, again, I have encouraged people to take the vaccine and do all the right things. But I still think it is time to end the emergency. Give us our God-given rights back. I think we should support ending this declaration of emergency.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arkansas.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST—S. 4984

Mr. COTTON. Madam President, the United States is in the midst of the deadliest drug epidemic in our Nation's history, caused by the most lethal drug in American history, fentanyl.

More than 108,000 Americans died last year from drugs—more than 108,000—which is almost double the number of Americans killed in the entire Vietnam war. That is the worst slaughter of American citizens by drug dealers and traffickers on record.

The biggest killers, by far, were lab-made opioids, most notably fentanyl, which are cheap to produce and easy to mix with other street drugs. These lethal cocktails have devastated countless families and communities across our Nation. Too many parents have come home to a dead child who has mistakenly taken a prescription pill or a so-called party drug that might have been laced with fentanyl. Indeed, almost no one dies of a fentanyl overdose thinking he took fentanyl. It is laced into other drugs.

That is why, repeatedly, over the past couple of weeks, I and many of my colleagues have offered a measure to keep it illegal to traffic new variants of fentanyl, but, each time, a Democrat has blocked that measure. Later today, I will ask my colleagues to seriously reconsider this emergency declaration of emergency.

Then something happened that was dramatic—opiods. Out of nowhere, came opioids, and what used to be a problem in the inner cities of America became a problem in the suburbs of America, in the farm towns of America—all over America. Interestingly enough, America started looking at our drug laws, and our drug addiction and saying: What are we doing wrong here? What is wrong with this situation?

As a consequence, a lot of attitudes changed. People got away from the old "just say no" routine and started asking serious questions: How do we deal with drug addiction? How do we stop this addiction? It is not easy to stop it, but God knows we need to. So we have seen a transformation with the arrival of opioids.

Now, the Senator from Arkansas is correct. People are lacing these opioids with fentanyl, and fentanyl is deadly; there is no question about it. We need to take it seriously, and we do. As a matter of fact, each judge, when imposing a sentence for crimes already involving fentanyl, is pretty serious about it. I just heard the Senator from Arkansas describe a situation in which someone in Minnesota got life in prison for the sale of a fentanyl product. So it is clear that it is not being ignored, nor should it be.
Intentionally selling fentanyl is already a crime all over the United States. Representing that fentanyl is something else is exactly the kind of aggravated factor a judge takes into account in the sentencing. I don’t believe this bill is a serious effort to deal with the problem in light of what we know today.

Let’s start with the fact that it creates a new Federal death penalty offense.

Well, I have to tell you that I have watched a lifetime—a political lifetime—of death penalty cases and have seen the result. I have my serious doubts that that is the best way for America to go. I think the gentleman from Arkansas realizes it. I am the lead sponsor, along with 20 others, of the Federal Death Penalty Prohibition Act—to repeal it once and for all. So I am concerned about any legislation that imposes the death penalty.

It also creates mandatory minimum sentences that don’t allow judges to consider the individual circumstances in a case.

That is straight out of the failed doctrine of the War on Drugs—a mandatory minimum. Tie the judge’s hands. Put them on a type of leash and basically say there will be unlimited amounts of time that they will spend there. People were getting 20- and 30-year sentences for the sale of narcotics like crack cocaine, and we soon realized that it didn’t make sense over the long haul. It was 20 years for a single drug sale, which goes up to mandatory life in prison if a defendant has any prior felony conviction, no matter if it has zero relationship to drugs or is based on a defendant’s immigration status. I don’t believe that is the right way to go. It wasn’t with the War on Drugs. We learned the hard way, I want to get tough on the drug sales, and I am sure the Senator from Arkansas feels the same way. We approach it differently. I have the experience of trying to take the hard position on this issue and of seeing that it failed when it came to crack cocaine.

For that reason, I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

The junior Senator from Arkansas. Mr. COTTON. Madam President, what we heard is a lot of the same excuses that the Democrats have made for years. We are on record opposing them and their claims about mass incarceration or systemic racism or what have you.

I would point out that almost no one—almost no one—is in Federal prison for mere drug possession. It is a myth that there are low-level, non-violent offenders in prison because they are addicted to drugs.

Where we are is at a 21-year low in the number of Federal inmates we have. Do you know where we are not at? A 21-year low in drug deaths—the highest 24 times as many have died as in the entire Iraq war. Almost 35 times as many have died as on 9/11. Yet the Democrats repeatedly refuse to crack down on deceptive fentanyl dealers.

As I have mentioned, I have also offered bills in the past that would permit fentanyl to be a controlled substance under the Controlled Substances Act scheduling. The Democrats refuse to do so. They will do it temporarily from time to time, but they want a trade. They want to get a trade for something. They want to either reduce or get imprisoned sentences in places like Chicago. As a result, we have a crimewave and a drug epidemic all across America.

Let me just reiterate. The bill I just offered, which the Senator from Illinois blocked, would simply say that you cannot sell another drug and not acknowledge that fentanyl is in it; that you cannot misrepresent what you are selling.

It is not just opioids. It is not just heroin. It is even marijuana. It is pills that are passed off as mere prescription drugs, like in some of the examples I gave—Adderall, OxyContin, Percocet—that people all across the America are dying from.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST—S. 621

Madam President, let’s take another angle on this problem. Almost all of these drugs come from Mexico. Almost all of the drugs in America today come from a handful of vicious, depraved cartels in Mexico—cartels that have taken on the powers of a quasi-state, cartels that the Mexican Government either cannot or will not crack down on. So let’s look at it differently. Let’s look at the time that we bring the full weight of the U.S. Government to bear on these cartels and to destroy them for what they are unleashing on our streets.

Imagine if ISIS or al-Qaida set up shop across our border and was responsible for more than a hundred thousand American deaths each single year. What would we do? What would you do? I know what we wouldn’t do. We wouldn’t hesitate to act, and that is exactly what we should do with these Mexican cartels.

Unfortunately, President Biden has done the opposite. Since the day he took office, he has flung open our border doors, created a border crisis, and made it easier than ever to smuggle massive amounts of illegal drugs into the United States.

Already this year, the Border Patrol has seized over 12,000 pounds of fentanyl being smuggled over our borders—12,000 pounds. You may not be able to put that in perspective. Let me put it in perspective for you: It is enough to kill every man, woman, and child in America many, many times over.

That doesn’t even include any fentanyl brought in by the hundreds of thousands of illegal aliens whom the DHS calls got-aways.

President Biden could declare fentanyl-peddling cartels to be terrorist organizations, but he has refused to do so. So the bill that I am about to bring up would give him additional tools—short of labeling these cartels “terrorists.”

My bill would create a new designation called a significant transnational criminal organization, and it would enable the Federal Government to impose many of the same sanctions and use many of the same tools that it already does against terrorist organizations like al-Qaida and ISIS.

Those would include barring cartel members and their immediate families from entering the United States, freezing assets belonging to the cartels to hit their wallets and to keep them from profiting off of death and destruction, and enabling civil and criminal penalties for anyone who provides material assistance or resources to the cartels.

The Democrats are going to block a bill later today that would keep new fentanyl variants illegal. They just blocked another bill that would target drug traffickers who trick people into taking the fentanyl that kills them. I hope at least Democratic Senators would be willing to say that we should give the Biden administration more tools to use against the Mexican cartels, some of the worst and most depraved criminals on Earth.

Therefore, Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on the Judiciary be discharged from further consideration of my bill, S. 621, the Significant Transnational Criminal Organization Designation Act, and that the Senate proceed to its immediate consideration; further, that the bill be considered read a third time and passed, and the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. DURBIN. Reserving the right to object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Democratic whip.

Mr. DURBIN. The Senator from Arkansas’ views on immigration are well-known. He has been consistent in opposing immigration, but it is interesting to me that people like him who oppose immigration always, at the end, seem to go after the same people: mothers and children.

We saw it with the cages the kids were kept in. We saw it when kids were forcibly removed from their parents at the border during the Trump years. We have seen it time and again, and now we see it with the Governor of Florida and the Governor of Texas putting mothers and children on buses and busing them from out of state, from where they were picked up, whether there is any contact there or not. Mothers and children are always a
The American people can see which party is passing legislation and actually funds law enforcement, addresses crime and violence in a thoughtful way. And they can see, when the bills come up on the floor, one party gives the speeches; the other party gets the votes.

I am going to continue to vote to support the police and put an end to this drug crisis in America in a thoughtful and sensible way.

I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The objection is heard.

The junior Senator from Arkansas. Mr. COTTON. Madam President. I think we know who is soft on crime. It sounds like I hit a nerve. I didn’t stand up here saying I am not soft on crime five or six times in a row. It is the Senator from Illinois who said that, just like Senate Democrats have been saying it for the last several months, just like their colleagues all across America are saying it.

Let’s look at the first bill he mentioned, the American Rescue Plan. You know what that is right, the American Rescue Plan? That is their $2 trillion wasteful spending bill from last spring that is responsible for 13 percent inflation.

Do you know what is also included in it? A measure that would get stimulus checks to prisoners. That is right—depraved, violent felons; murderers and drug traffickers all across America. People like the Boston marathon bomber got stimulus checks last year because the Democrats believe that criminals are really, at heart, victims as well, victims of an oppressive society and system. If I am not mistaken, when I offered my amendment to prevent prisoners from getting stimulus checks, I think it was the Senator from Illinois who stood up and blocked it. I know that he voted against it. I know that he wanted to send stimulus checks to prisoners to get stimulus checks. That is what he is talking about.

What about his objection to this bill, that it is going to target mothers and kids, the poor mothers and children of drug kingpins, a very common feature of American sanctions efforts—in fact, sanctions efforts that we are doing exactly against Russian oligarchs and regime figures, which I support, by the way, I support. No, the wives and the children of Russian oligarchs and Mexican cartel kingpins should not benefit from their ill-gotten gains.

But I care more about the lives of American citizens—the hundred thousand plus American citizens whom we lose every single year—that anyone else in the world. The Biden administration’s policy, though, is that we will use this tool against Russians, but we are not going to use it against Mexican cartel members. I think that goes to show you where their priorities are.

Again, just to recap, we tried to pass legislation that would have imposed heightened penalties on drug traffickers who misrepresent their drugs and say they don’t contain fentanyl. The Senator from Illinois blocked it on behalf of the Democrats.

Just now, we tried to give the Biden administration more tools to target the cartels that are smuggling these drugs into our country, that are killing a hundred thousand of our fellow citizens. Again, on behalf of Senate Democrats, the Senator from Illinois blocked it.

I say, again, over 108,000 Americans were killed by drugs last year. Yet the Democrats continue to refuse to crack down on drug traffickers and cartel kingpins.

Many of my other colleagues are going to offer similar bills today, just like I am going to offer, yet again, my permanent fentanyl scheduling bill that would stop the annual Kabuki dance here of the Democrats demanding some sort of criminal law just so we can permanently add fentanyl to the Controlled Substance Act schedule.

Think about that. At a time when 108,000 Americans are dying every single year—that is not an aggregate number; every single year—the Democrats refuse to act if they don’t get something in return on behalf of criminals, if they can’t reduce drug sentences for hardened criminals, if they can’t let more felons out of prison. It shows a depraved indifference to the lives of our people.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Democratic whip. Mr. DURBIN. Madam President, passing legislation is difficult at any stage in American history. It is increasingly difficult when it is a 50-50 Senate. You have to work it. You have to be willing to sit down with someone from the other side of the aisle and find a co-sponsor so that you have a bipartisan bill.

I have seen that work. In fact, I was part of it. It was Senator CHUCK GRASSLEY and I who put together the FIRST Act, which was part of prison reform—significant prison reform—in this country.

Who signed the FIRST STEP Act? President Donald Trump.

Soft on crime? What we did was work out something that was bipartisan, sensible, and really makes a difference, and makes certain that people currently serving in prison will one day be released—most will—and not return to crime when that happens. I think that was time well spent, but it took a bipartisan effort.

I could have come to the floor every day of the week and offered my best idea on how to fight crime, but if you can’t pass it on a bipartisan basis in the Senate, it doesn’t work.

It takes a lot of hard work and a lot of patience and compromise to make a real change in the law. Even if you think you have the best idea on Earth, you have to work at it.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The senior Senator from Nevada.
On September 28, 2022, the Senate considered H.R. 8, the Bipartisan Safer Communities Act, which would strengthen gun laws following the悲剧 of the shooting at the Route 91 Harvest Music Festival in Las Vegas, Nevada. The shooting on October 1, 2017, resulted in the deaths of 58 people and injuries to hundreds. Since then, the community has come together to honor the memory of those lost and to work towards a safer future.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Madam President, I will continue to work towards a safer future. We have bipartisan legislation that will strengthen gun laws and reduce the risk of such tragedies happening again.

The Bipartisan Safer Communities Act includes measures to reduce access to firearms by individuals who are prohibited from owning guns, such as those who have been convicted of a violent crime or who suffer from a mental health condition. It also strengthens background checks for firearm purchases and sales.

The bill also includes measures to address the rising cost of prescription drugs. The Inflation Reduction Act includes provisions to lower drug prices and make prescription drugs more affordable. The bill establishes a $35 out-of-pocket cap on insulin for patients with private insurance and includes provisions to lower the cost of prescription drugs for Medicare beneficiaries.

I am especially proud that I was able to help secure enhanced background checks for those under 21 years of age as well as additional mental health funding that is needed in our schools. Many survivors will be the first to say the work isn’t finished yet. That was a first step, not the last step. And I agree with them. They are going to continue to push for commonsense reforms, and I will support them as I always have. Because these shootings are just devastating for whole communities, not just the victims. We need to know for many in Las Vegas and all over Nevada—this week especially—will bring difficult reminders of that dark day 5 years ago, but it will also bring a renewed determination to heal, to remember those who were affected, and to work toward a safer future.

Madam President, I will continue to stand with my hometown and with those survivors not only in Nevada but across the country and to do everything that I can to work for the same goals that they care about.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The senior Senator from Iowa.

Mr. GRASSLEY, Madam President, as a leading advocate for lower drug prices in the Senate, No. 1, I have hauled Big Pharma and pharmacy benefit managers’ executives before my committee of Congress; second, I led a 2-year bipartisan investigation into insulin price-gouging; and three, introduced bipartisan reforms to lower the cost of insulin and many other prescription drugs. In the past few years, legislation I have championed into law has saved the taxpayers $1 billion. Right now, the Senate is not acting on bipartisan legislation to lower drug costs. I support a bipartisan plan by Senators Collins and Shaheen that establishes a $35 out-of-pocket cap on insulin for patients with private insurance while also reforming PBMs, the powerful middlemen who are behind rising drug prices. If you don’t address PBM reform, a cap on out-of-pocket costs will only result in shifting patient costs somewhere else.

In my 2-year bipartisan insulin investigation, we found that a drug’s list price is tied to rebates and other fees that drug companies have to pay the PBMs. The scheme encourages drugmakers to spike the list price of the drug to offer a greater rebate. And then do you know what happens in turn? Secure priority placement on a health plan’s list of covered medications. The PBMs have to do that accountable, then, if you really want to lower prescription drug costs.

In 2018, I called on the Federal Trade Commission to assess consolidation in the pharmaceutical supply chain and its impact on drug prices. I didn’t wait for the FTC to act. I introduced the Prescription Pricing for the People Act with Senator CANTWELL, and it was approved out of the Judiciary Committee unanimously last year.

A few months ago, the FTC agreed to conduct a study of PBM business practices. This is very welcomed news, but the FTC needs to complete this study and do it in a timely way. Last week, I asked FTC Chair Katz about when the PBM study would be completed. Chair Katz didn’t commit to a date.

While we need more sunshine on the PBMs, we don’t need to wait to take some action. Senator CANTWELL and I have introduced the PBM Transparency Act, and it has been approved by the Commerce Committee on a 19-to-9 vote. The bill prohibits PBMs from engaging in spread pricing and clawbacks. Both spread pricing and clawbacks are actions that game the system and hurt consumers.

When the majority party pursues a bipartisan, reasonable, spending-and-tax package that they called the Inflation Reduction Act, I filed the Grassley-Wyden Prescription Drug Pricing Reduction Act as an amendment that had 10 Republican cosponsors. I did that in order to show that the majority party could have chosen inducing reform on a bipartisan basis if the majority wanted to do that. The bill establishes PBM accountability and transparency, something missing from the Inflation Reduction Act.

So, Madam President, we have bipartisan prescription drug pricing legislation awaiting action. We don’t have to wait until 2026 for what happened in August in the Inflation Reduction Act to get anything done because that doesn’t take effect until 2026. This includes the bipartisan plan to lower insulin prices and my two bills to hold PBMs accountable. That is what we need bipartisan action on in the U.S. Senate.

I have also led out of the Judiciary Committee three bipartisan bills to establish more competition to lower prescription drug prices. They save taxpayers a combined $1.9 billion.

So the Senate must act on six bipartisan bills. Collectively, they lower insulin costs, secondly hold PBMs accountable, and lastly establish more competition to lower prescription drug prices.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The senior Senator from Tennessee.
RESTORING LAW AND ORDER ACT

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Madam President, last evening, I had the opportunity to get on the phone in a telephone townhall with citizens from Davidson and Shelby Counties in Tennessee, and crime was the No. 1 issue that people were talking about. And one of the points that came up several times was, Why is it that some of our colleagues across the aisle have stuck with this prepackaged, zero consequences crime narrative that they are still trying to sell to the American people?

Crime is an issue. And Tennesseans aren’t buying the message. I don’t think the American people are buying it because they are living with the real-world consequences of the Democrats’ refusal to work to get crime under control.

Now, a few days ago, I was watching the news, and I could not believe what I was seeing. Young people were ransacking a store. I know I don’t think that an isolated incident. What is happening is, this has become a trend in many of our cities. The numbers aren’t working in our favor when we talk about this trend, whether you are talking about theft or vandalism or something much worse.

Here are some stats. Since 2019, homicide rates in our largest cities are up 50 percent. That is since 2019. Aggravated assaults are up 36 percent. Last year, 108,000 Americans died of a drug overdose; 4,000 of those were Tennesseans.

Now, we can continue to engage in a cable news proxy war or we can do something about this. We, as lawmakers, cannot control what the pun- dits say, but we can do something to help the millions of Americans who have become or are at risk of becoming victims of violence.

Back home in Tennessee, the sheriffs and other local officials whom I talk to as I have done my 95-county tour, visiting with every county, these sheriffs, these local officials, parents, principals—they are all telling me exactly why they are struggling to get this crimewave under control. Go talk to a police captain or go talk to a sheriff or a deputy, and they will tell you: lack of manpower, lack of funding, and the Democrats’ soft-on-crime agenda.

We can help with the first two things right now without spending an additional dime of taxpayer money. That lack of manpower, that lack of funding—yes, this is something that we could take action on today if we chose to.

This month, Senator HAGERTY and I filed a bill called the Restoring Law and Order Act that would establish a grant program to help State, local, and Tribal law enforcement officials do the work that obviously our President and the Democrats have chosen not to do.

First and foremost, here is what the bill would do. Our local law enforcement officers would be able to use these grants to hire more officers and to get much-needed evidence that will get violent criminals. They will also be able to pull in more resources to combat inter-state child trafficking between the open border and the ease with which criminals are using technology to target kids. This was something we could not afford to do out of the Restoring Law and Order Act.

These grants would help communities prioritize tough sentencing for repeat offenders and use responsible bail practices and pretrial detention to keep dangerous offenders behind bars. If housing is a problem, they will be able to address it. If food items are a problem, then there would be a way to address that.

We are also going to make these grants available to departments that need help targeting drug crime and getting fentanyl off the streets. Sheriffs in Tennessee tell me that around 80 percent of the drugs that they are seizing—80 percent—contain fentanyl, which means a lot of people out there who are ingesting fentanyl and dying without ever knowing that they were taking something laced with fentanyl. This is also putting law enforcement at considerable risk. At least we have to start to be alive after accidentally coming into contact with fentanyl.

Last but not least, we are going to encourage law enforcement to make use of these grants to clear the investigatory backlog and get evidence processed as quickly as possible.

So much of our focus has been on urban areas because cities like Philadelphia, Washington, DC, and Memphis are struggling when it comes to crime. But individuals and other crimes that are really frightening to people, but rural areas of my State are also seeing unprecedented levels of crime and drug overdose. So to help these communities rise to the challenge, this bill commits no less than 25 percent of its total grant allotment to rural and depressed counties.

Now, as I said, this grant program won’t spend an additional dime of taxpayer money. The big IRS payday my colleagues snuck into the so-called Inflation Reduction Act will be put to better use. Here is how you do it. Instead of using that money to hire more bureaucrats to attack small businesses and independent operators, we are going to use it to keep the communities who pay their taxes safe from violent criminals.

We also found that Joe Biden and the Democrats have left a lot of their so-called emergency COVID funding lying around, so they are going to put those funds toward hiring more officers and forensic examiners and clearing the rape kit backlogs. Tennesseans are spending $616 more per month than they were last year just to keep themselves fed and their cars running. They can’t afford to maintain a slush fund for far-left priorities when that money could be put to use actually helping clean up our streets, helping keep our communities safe, and helping to apprehend drug dealers and keep them in jail. That is where these dollars should be used.

The final element of this bill would help us get to the root causes of the rape kit backlog. The U.S. taxpayers spent $251,975,000 through six separate programs to help law enforcement conduct rape and sexual assault investigations. Here is that breakdown. And yes, indeed, Mr. President, $251 million is a lot of money—you are right. More than $24 million was spent on advocacy programs; almost $34 million to train forensic examiners and their staff to collect and preserve DNA evidence, analyze it, and present it in the courtroom; $4 million to purchase and provide medical personnel who treat victims of sexual assault; almost $90 million to get first responders and forensic testing capabilities in rural areas up on par with urban areas; and $158 million just to address the backlog.

Hundreds of millions of dollars have been invested, and still it seems we cannot get these rape kits processed. Sometimes it takes a full year to get these results.

I hope to use one grant program as a case study to demonstrate the problem that we are seeing. An audit of the Sexual Assault Kit Initiative found that between 2015 and 2021, we sent $266 million to 75 grantees in 40 States and DC to process these kits, to process and obtain this evidence. In that time, they only managed to clear a little over half of a 136,000-kit backlog.

Now, bear in mind, these kits are the kits that contain the DNA evidence of sexual assault, and individuals who have committed violent sexual assaults. Every one of these should be processed as a rush order—but no. From 2015 to 2021, with $266 million being sent to 75 grantees in 40 different States and the District of Columbia, they managed to clear a little over half of a 136,000-case backlog. So you still have tens of thousands of kits that are gathering dust, and that is just the ones in the custody of grantees from one single program.

This represents over 50,000 violations of trust and bodily autonomy, 50,000 worst night of an innocent man or woman’s life, and 50,000 times the scum of the Earth thought they committed a crime and they got away with it, but they also represent 50,000 opportunities for us to take that rapist or that violent offender and put them in jail for the rest of their life.

The Restoring Law and Order Act will give the GAO a year to conduct a study and prepare a report to explain why we haven’t been able to clear the backlog. Why is it we cannot get these kits processed? They are going to look
CIVIL RIGHTS COLD CASE INVESTIGATIONS SUPPORT ACT OF 2022

Mr. OSSOFF. Mr. President, I rise this afternoon in pursuit of justice for the Black men and Black women abducted, beaten, and killed during the segregation era in the American South and in retaliation for their participation in the civil rights movement.

I rise today to ask that the Senate pass the Civil Rights Cold Case Investigations Support Act to secure justice and pursue truth for the victims of those atrocities, for the victims of civil rights cold cases, and for their families—justice for folks like Alphonso Harris, a member of the SCLC who was murdered in Albany, GA, in 1966; justice for Ernest Hunter, who was killed in a physical altercation at the Camden County jail in St. Marys, GA, in 1968; justice for Caleb Hill, Jr., who was drugged at night from a Wilkinson County jail in Middle, GA, in 1949 and shot to death by a lynching mob.

Decades may have passed, but the pursuit of justice cannot and will not end. I sat down in Wilkinson County a few months ago with Caleb Hill, Jr.’s family. They didn’t want innocent people to be behind bars. They want a system that works. They are tired of hearing that they are the problem—at least according to the Democrats’ zero-consequences narrative. That narrative has turned criminals into victims and innocent people into villains and has left true victims wondering who was there for them. There is nothing just or equitable about that.

I would ask my Democratic colleagues to abandon the echo chamber and come to the table. Go see and visit and listen to and hear from your sheriffs and your mayors and other law enforcement officials back home. Listen to what they have to say. They need your help.

Senator HAGERTY and I would love to have the help and support in passing the Restoring Law and Order Act. We need to move this legislation. We need to vote on it now before the crimewave gets even worse.

I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. HICKENLOOPER). The clerk will call the roll.

The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. OSSOFF. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. OSSOFF. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.
On November 9, 2017, because of Tim Westlake and Lauri Badura’s tireless effort, a State piece of legislation, the SOFA equivalent, was signed into law in Wisconsin. And basically what this law does—it is a pretty simple law—it just allows law enforcement, the DEA, to view these fentanyl-related substances as a class under schedule I of the Controlled Substances Act.

Prior to this bill, prior to these regulations, law enforcement had to view each new molecule, each new analog as a separate drug, and then they couldn’t prosecute, they couldn’t put people in jail for selling these and poisoning our cities.

So Dr. Tim Westlake recognized the problem. I recognized that problem, and so we introduced the SOFA Act. And once DEA saw it, they thought this was a pretty good idea, and they utilized their regulatory authority and passed a regulation on February 6, 2018. They issued a temporary scheduling order that placed “certain fentanyl-related substances” to schedule I for 2 years.

The text of that regulation was identical to the text of the SOFA law that I had introduced earlier in 2017. Now, unfortunately, they could only issue that regulation having an effect of 2 years. So as it was about ready to run out, Congress extended that regulation in an act of Congress, and we have extended it six times. President Biden signed that extension five times. But the problem is, the extension of that regulation runs out on December 31 of this year.

Now, the Biden administration—I think it is important to understand—in its 2021 budget proposal, called for classwide fentanyl scheduling. The DEA Administrator Anne Milgram said:

The permanent scheduling of all fentanyl-related substances is critical—

Is critical—to the safety and health of our communities.

She added:

Class-wide scheduling provides a vital tool—to combat overdose deaths in the United States.

A vital tool—

Now, why have we extended this regulation six times? There is no need for it. We could pass the law, which we have done a number of times.

But the reason we keep extending it is because it has worked. It has helped stop the flow of these precursor chemicals coming out of China. China has actually cracked down on these analogs within China. The regulation worked. The SOFA Act is vital, according to Anne Milgram.

Something else I want to point out about the SOFA Act is, in an almost unprecedented—this is very rare—in 2018, all 50 States’ attorneys general, plus the attorney general from the District of Columbia, including current HHS Secretary Xavier Becerra, who was an attorney general for California at the time, signed a letter to congressional leadership urging the Congress to act expeditiously and pass the SOFA Act.

This is such a commonsense piece of legislation. It works. It reduces the number of types of fentanyl on the streets killing citizens, keeping our youth, killing people like Archie Badura.

Again, the DEA had a regulation for 2 years. Congress has extended that regulation six times. All I am asking is for the Senate to pass this commonsense, lifesaving piece of legislation by unanimous consent.

And so, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on the Judiciary be discharged from further consideration of S. 1006 and the Senate proceed to its immediate consideration; further, that the bill be considered read a third time and passed and the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table.

Is this in the name of Archie Badura and on behalf of Dr. Tim Westlake and a wonderful woman, a wonderful Wisconsinite named Lauri Badura.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. DURBIN. Reserving the right to object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Illinois.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I took chemistry in high school. I wasn’t very good at it, but I think I got a B, and I was glad to get rid of it because I didn’t understand a lot of it, and that was not where I was headed in life.

The question which the Senator from Wisconsin puts before us today is a complicated question. It seems he is—do we have a drug crisis in America? Yes. Is fentanyl dangerous? Yes. Is fentanyl deadly? Yes. Is fentanyl on schedule I, the highest possible narcotic rating under our Criminal Code? Yes.

So what is this discussion about fentanyl? Why are we at this again?

I don’t know the Senator from Wisconsin’s background in chemistry and the like, but here is how I understand it and why it is not as simple as paying tribute to this young man who lost his life to fentanyl. And I can come up with examples that I have run into as well. It is heartbreaking what is going on.

There are certain elements that contain fentanyl that have other chemical structures, not simple fentanyl, which is already a prohibited narcotic under American law. And these so-called analogs of fentanyl have many chemical variations. It turns out that some of them are deadly dangerous, but some of them are not. It turns out that some are deadly dangerous, and others may have a promise to be the next Narcan for the fentanyl citizens. So we have been struggling, literally, for years with a research community that says: When it comes to fentanyl analogs, don’t sweep them all into category I. Some of them may be lifesaving, as odd as that sounds. It could happen. And I have been saying it is a reasonable argument, but how long is this investigation going to go on? How long will this research continue?

We are told that it is sincere and real—it has prevented under previous administrations and this administration—and that to sweep all these chemical analogs of fentanyl into this category would be, frankly, counterproductive. We may be walking away from something that is a lifesaver rather than a life-taker.

And it is because of that that we have been temporarily extending the decision to put fentanyl and its analogs on category I so that this research can establish whether, in fact, there is a lifesaver, that there is something positive in a fentanyl analog.

I have just given you the sum total of my understanding of this issue. As I said, I didn’t major in chemistry and don’t know what I am talking about. I have gone through high school, but I think that is where we are.

I don’t think there is any disagreement between us that fentanyl is deadly and dangerous and belongs on that category I. When it comes to the analogs, they said to me: DURBIN, you are a liberal arts lawyer. Don’t act like you are a chemist. Give us the time to do this right.

Mr. JOHNSON. Would the Senator from Illinois yield?

Mr. DURBIN. Sure. Yes.

Mr. JOHNSON. So I want to just make the point that there is nothing in the SOFA Act that would prevent that research from continuing, and if a molecule was found that is helpful, it can be scheduled separately.

This is just targeting the deadly drugs that are not helpful. So there is nothing in this that would prevent that type of research, which is why, you know, we have—Congress has authorized this or extended this six times, and the Biden administration supports this. They say it is vital that we are able to class all these fentanyl-related molecules together so that we can enforce our laws and prevent death.

So, again, there is nothing in here that prevents the research, which I would completely support. Again, molecules are amazing things, and changing them can change the characteristics, but we have to recognize how deadly fentanyl is.

We have gone from, you know, slightly more than 50,000 overdose deaths in 2015, the year after Archie Badura died, to over 107,000 last year, and we are on a path to break that record too.

So, again, this has been supported on a bipartisan basis. We have extended this.

I just have to say that the research argument just doesn’t hold water.

Mr. DURBIN. There is an element that the Senator from Wisconsin may not be aware of. When a drug is on schedule I, it is prohibited to do research on it. That is the reason why we are running into problems with cannabis, now legal in my State and maybe in your State as well.

And I raised the basic question: Are the health claims about cannabis true or false?

And they said: We cannot research it because it is on the list of prohibited drugs in the United States.

The problem is, if we put all of these analogs on the list, it is going to stop the research that we need to finish. It is a catch-22.

What we have tried to do is a temporary extension saying: Give us the final word. We have got to make a decision.

I do not quarrel with you in any way about the danger of fentanyl, but the people who do this for a living—and I cannot keep up with their conversations, by and large—have explained to me: We are trying to find a good use of a fentanyl analog. Don’t close the door, slam the door, by putting it on schedule I.

Mr. JOHNSON. Would the Senator yield again?

Mr. DURBIN. Yes, of course.

Mr. JOHNSON. Fentanyl is being used in medicine today, and it is on schedule I because they can do the research off of that drug on schedule II. There is nothing preventing that—nothing whatsoever.

Mr. DURBIN. I would just say that my information is a little different. I responded the Senator from Wisconsin and his tribute to this poor young man who lost his life, but we are trying to do the sensible thing. Fentanyl itself is going to continue to be branded a dangerous drug, titled in category I. But Federal analogs and a variation on that theme is what we are discussing, and for reasons—I am trying to bow to the experts in science and research—on a temporary basis. Believe me, if they have got something, we want to see it. If not, we are going to categorize them as schedule I. So for the reasons I have mentioned, I am going to object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

The Senator from Wisconsin.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. President, again, I find that unfortunate. I would hope that the Senator from Illinois would not at least object to Senator Grassley coming on the floor looking for another extension of this.

Again, the DEA administrator says this is vital. So I hope that, at a minimum, we can extend this for a seventh time, and then maybe we can come back when some of these issues are resolved and maybe finally pass SOFA possibly in the next Congress.

I yield the floor.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.
the 24th week in a row I have come to bring to the attention of my colleagues what is happening in this part of the world where Russia has attacked a sovereign and democratic country with brutality.

I come to talk about the latest news of Russia’s illegal and unprovoked war on Ukraine and to ensure that my colleagues know how important it is that we do follow up with our commitment to Ukraine and pass the legislation that is on the floor this week to provide supplemental funding to the Ukrainian Government, to their military, and also for the humanitarian effort.

I will also highlight tonight the continued Ukrainian counteroffensive up here in the northeast part of Ukraine, where there has been a good deal of success.

The light blue is parts of Ukraine that have been liberated just in the past few weeks. It is about 9,000 square miles and those parts that are still occupied by Russia.

I will talk about the sham “referendum” that President Putin announced just last Wednesday and then took place over the weekend, the reasons for opposition in parts of Ukraine to this body of the House of Representatives and the administration in providing this help to Ukraine has allowed for successes that were unimaginable 7 months ago when Russia initiated this latest invasion.

Yesterday, I had the privilege to host Ukraine’s Ambassador to the United States, Oksana Markarova, along with Ukraine’s Parliament. We heard firsthand from them how the weapons we are providing are making a huge difference on the battlefield.

One of the parliamentarians had just returned from the region, the northeast region we talked about. She was just in the area of Kharkiv, and she said that the soldiers there told her: "Please, go back to the United States and say thank you because these weapons you are giving us—particularly, they focused on the HIMARS—are making such a huge difference. These HIMARS are long-range missile systems, and they have changed the tide of this war."

Along with more ammunition and equipment, of course, we have to continue to insist on transparency to ensure that the end use is being monitored. "End use monitoring" is the term that the 101st Airborne used when I talked to them in Poland about the U.S. weapons that are going into the country.

This is an example. HIMARS is an example. We know now from public information there are 16 of these HIMARS from the United States. There are also some from the UK—not exactly the same weapon but a similar weapon—and also some from Germany. Those 16 remain undamaged, which is extraordinary, and they have been incredibly useful.

But we need to ensure that all this equipment goes to the right place to ensure there is no fraud, no diversion of weapons. In my visits to the region, including a month ago, I did speak to U.S. military officials both in Poland and in Ukraine, who provided details on how they are tracking U.S. and other weapons to ensure they are not diverted from the Ukrainians and from the frontlines.

This end-use monitoring, which as our military explains it, is according to them, being implemented in ways never done before; and they claim the Ukrainian Government and military are full partners in these accountability measures. That is what I heard again and again heard to President of Ukraine, President Zelenskyy; and I heard it from all the Ukrainian officials, including the Parliamentarians with whom we met, that they want to have total transparency. They think it is in their interest as well.

Of course, Russian disinformation is trying to convince media otherwise. Let me give you an example of that. Over the weekend, a BBC investigation revealed allegations from Russia media sources that were picked up, frankly, by some U.S. and European media—which is a warning, I think, to our own media to be careful and check your sources—but the reports from the Russian media was that U.S.-supplied weapons were being sold on the black market in Ukraine. BBC determined that was entirely false.

Russians had posed as Ukrainians on the dark web pretending to sell these weapons in order to undermine American and European confidence in Ukraine’s ability to control these weapons. It turns out it was a totally false narrative peddled by the Russian Government in order to sow division between Ukraine and its allies. The BBC report—and I’ve heard in the region, that our military aid to Ukraine is getting into the right hands and is not being diverted for malign purposes.

A specific example of what we had provided is making a difference are these HIMARS, as we talked about. By all accounts, Ukrainian forces have used these really creatively to be able to disrupt the logistics of the Russian Armed Forces. They have been striking these key lines and destroying Russian ammunition depots, logistics hubs, command and control outposts. Prior to the HIMARS, only the Russians had long-range artillery, and they could fire on Ukrainian civilians and military with impunity. Finally, they have the ability to push back. These weapons have enabled this spectacular counteroffensive we saw in the northeast to be able to succeed. So when we give the Ukrainians weapons they have actually been asking for, they actually need, they use them effectively, and it is working.

In the clearest sign yet that Russia is feeling desperate, last week President Putin announced a new draft, a mobilization of at least 300,000 soldiers to support his troubled war in Ukraine. Remember, President Putin promoted his “special operation” in Ukraine as a special military operation that would not touch the lives of ordinary Russians. It would be quick; it would involve minimal casualties; it would bring great glory to Russia.

Now after 7 months, tens of thousands of casualties, a substantial part... of their military equipment being lost on the battlefield, and global outrage at what Russia is doing. President Putin is being forced to implement Russia’s first mass mobilization since World War II to bolster his failing war effort out of desperation, and it is deeply unpopular among the people in Russia. According to reports, antimobilization protests in 38 Russian cities saw more than 1,300 people arrested just last week. Here are some of those de-escalations.

The punishment for many of those detained, by the way, if they are males between the ages of, say, 18 and 50, is to be forcibly conscripted. Meanwhile, several Russian enlistment offices have been burned down by citizens armed with Molotov cocktails who want nothing to do with Putin’s war in Ukraine.

In fact, the announcement of the mobilization has caused many thousands of military-aged men to flee Russia to avoid being sent to war. It is reported that airline tickets out of Moscow have reached $5,000 or $10,000 or more, and flights are totally sold out. Car traffic at Russia’s international borders have caused massive traffic jams, as those who can’t fly out of Russia try to drive out of the country. Here is an example with the border with Georgia. You can see these cars lined up for miles.

Russia is so desperate that they are recruiting any able-bodied man just to get bodies in to fill their ranks. These are not military-trained individuals. They are letting prisoners out of jail if they promise to fight. Despite the official policy that this mobilization will only draft men with prior military experience, they will take anyone. In the Irkutsk region of Russia, a young man shot and killed a military commissar who was attempting to conscript his friend who had no prior military experience. President Putin can no longer keep his promises to the Russian people, and they are responding.

Russia’s desperation has shown itself in other ways too. After numerous postponements, Moscow-backed occupation officials in Luhansk, Kherson, Zaporizhzhia, and Donetsk Oblast suddenly announced last Tuesday they would hold immediate referendums to join Russia, which they completed over the weekend. In typical Russian fashion, the referenda were devoid of any semblance of free or fair. The results have been predetermined in Moscow, and the actual conduct of the voting is just theater. There are a lot of videos circulating— and you have probably seen them—of online videos of armed Russian soldiers going door-to-door to conduct these illegal referendums. So you have an armed soldier with an automatic weapon next to an election official asking someone how they are going to vote. Here is an example of one of the photographs that bravely took a Russian soldier literally looking over the shoulder of a Ukrainian citizen. How can any Ukrainian vote against the referendum in the face of an automatic rifle? The European Union, the United Nations, the United States, and others, of course, have called these sham elections. It appears that Russia thinks by claiming these territories as theirs, it can justify now their use of nuclear and chemical weapons in order to defend what Putin would call his own sovereign territory. Of course, no matter what Russia says, this—all of this—is Ukrainian territory. It is sovereign Ukrainian territory. As a part of a sham only.

Russia escalating their illegal and unprompted war on Ukraine.

So the results this week are predictable. You can look for them. It will be 95 percent. It will be 98 percent. The process won’t be fair. It will be done with flagrant disregard for Ukrainian law and for international law. Russia’s actions reveal their weak hand, and the world is not fooled. UK defense secretary Ben Wallace said that the partial mobilization of parts of Ukraine are an admission, as he said, of Mr. Putin’s invasion failing. Ambassador to Ukraine Bridget Brink called the announced measures “signs of weakness.”

We must make it clear that the United States will never recognize Russia’s claims to these annexed territories. President Putin’s veiled threats last week and again this week, some say, to use nuclear weapons to defend illegal conscriptions also have received a good deal of media attention. First, it should be noted, he has made similar threatening statements in the past. But he also knows that the use of nuclear weapons would be catastrophic for his own country. As the Washington Post said over the weekend:

There are no military gains to be had from a nuclear attack that indiscriminately incinerates everything in its path and leaves the land uninhabitable.

The nuclear fallout of attacking neighboring Ukraine, of course, will also affect Russia and its citizens. Meanwhile, if he were to act on such a threat, President Putin would immediately turn his country into even more of a pariah than it is now, and there would be a severe consequence, as the United States has warned.

Nuclear weapons have not been used since World War II, almost 80 years ago. Using them now would plunge us into a nuclear world, and the world would never forgive President Putin. The countries that have taken a neutral stance on this brutal conflict would quickly change their tune, and the resolve of the West and so many other countries to stand against Russian aggression would only increase. This conflict has shown that when push comes to shove, the alliance actually comes together to protect Ukraine; it binds together.

Nuclear blackmail cannot be allowed to work. Under pressure, to Vladimir Putin’s reckless threats by pulling back would only reward bad behavior and create a more dangerous and volatile world. Appeasement does not work. In response to these threats, it is crucial that we continue to support Ukraine while making clear to Russia that there will be enormous costs for the use of a nuclear weapon. National Security Advisor Jake Sullivan said on Sunday that by contemplating the “use of nuclear weapons will be met with catastrophic consequences for Russia.”

This battle for freedom transcends this Congress; it transcends partisan. We all know who the aggressor is in this fight. The people of Ukraine have never asked for anything other than peace and to be able to live with their neighbors, including Russia, in peace; the right to exist as a sovereign, independent nation. Russia’s illegal and unprompted war is an attack on their fundamental right to self-governance.

We have all seen the evidence of war crimes: the torture, the rape, the killing of innocent Ukrainian civilians and noncombatants, the videos of Ukrainian soldiers being tortured with box cutters, and the mass gravesites. NATO’s response last week to the Russian atrocities in Izium this past week was to reaffirm “our unwavering support for Ukraine’s sovereignty, and territorial integrity. And for Ukraine’s inherent right to self-defense. NATO allies remain resolute in providing political and practical support to Ukraine as it continues to defend itself against Russia’s aggression.”

Global support for Ukraine has increased in response to the increasing number of atrocities being committed by Russian soldiers. I was able to hear about this firsthand last week when I met with Ukrainian Prosecutor General Andriy Kostin about the ongoing global effort to hold Russia accountable for their war crimes, which are a clear violation of international law. We must use all the ways the United States can aid Ukraine in its effort to investigate and prosecute cases of war crimes conducted by Russian soldiers in Ukraine. Last week, I talked about the mass graves of people tortured and executed in the city of Izium. Who knows how many more are out there. The evidence of this genocide grows every day, and every day the anger against Russia grows alongside it. So far, we believe these war crimes have resulted in the deaths of at least 7,300 civilians, including 391 children.

The West and our allies must all recognize that these Russian atrocities will not stop until Russia believes the costs are too high, until there are more Ukrainian victories on the battlefield, and until the sanctions are more effective at cutting off funding to Russia’s war machine. Russia needs to feel the squeeze. We talked about this in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing today. That is the only way that Russia will understand, that aggression ends. For the sake of global freedom, Ukraine must be allowed to end this war on its terms, not on Russia’s
The resolution (S. Res. 753) was agreed to.

Mr. SANDERS. I ask unanimous consent that the preamble be agreed to and that the motions to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table.

Mr. SANDERS. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. SANDERS. Madam President, I have risen today to ask unanimous consent for S. Res. 753, expressing the sense of the Senate on the upcoming election in Brazil.

This Sunday, October 2, Brazil will hold its Presidential election. According to many polls, it appears that the two major candidates are President Jair Bolsonaro and former President Lula da Silva. If no candidate receives over 50 percent of the vote, there will be a runoff election between the top two candidates on October 30.

Madam President, over the past several months, Brazilians from all sectors of society have publicly expressed serious concern about ongoing efforts to undermine democracy in their country, including close to 1 million Brazilians who signed an open letter released on July 26, defending the democratic institutions of Brazil and the rule of law.

And there is a very good reason why these people in Brazil signed that letter. And that is that the current President, and candidate for reelection, Mr. Bolsonaro, has made some very provocative statements which suggest that he might not accept the election results if he loses. In other words, he might attempt to destroy Brazilian democracy and remain in power no matter what the people of Brazil determine in a free, fair, and democratic election.

And let me just quote some of what Mr. Bolsonaro has been saying over the last several years. Back in September 2018, before he claimed he won his election, in which he claimed he got more votes than the final tally shown, he stated:

"There are those who think they can take power in Brazil. Well, I say to everyone I have only three possible fates: arrest, death or victory. And tell the bastards I'll never be arrested. Only God can take my life."

On September 7, 2021, as reported by the Financial Times, Mr. Bolsonaro stated:

"There are those who think they can take power from me. Well, I say to everyone I have only three possible fates: arrest, death or victory. And tell the bastards I'll never be arrested. Only God can take my life."

With that, I yield the floor.

Mr. SANDERS. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Foreign Relations be discharged from further consideration and the Senate now proceed to S. Res. 753.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the resolution by title.

The legislative clerk reads as follows:

A resolution (S. Res. 753) urging the Government of Brazil to ensure that the October 2022 elections are conducted in a free, fair, credible, transparent, and peaceful manner.

Mr. SANDERS. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Foreign Relations be discharged from further consideration and the Senate now proceed to consider the resolution.

Mr. SANDERS. I know of no further debate on the resolution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there further debate?

If not, the question is on adoption of the resolution.

to a recent survey by the Federal University of the state of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil is facing a 333-percent increase in violence directed against political leaders in 2022 relative to 2019.

Last month, a Workers’ Party official was shot dead by a supporter. Yesterday, Reuters reported that the Federal Police guarding former President Lula da Silva, who is the current frontrunner to unseat Bolsonaro, sent a classified memo to senior colleagues across Brazil calling for backup in order to protect Lula from possible assassination attempts.

It is clearly not the business of the United States to determine who the next President of Brazil is or to get involved in Brazil’s Presidential elections in any way. That is a decision to be made solely by the people of Brazil through a free and fair election. But it is the business of the United States to make clear to the people of Brazil that our government will not recognize or support a government that comes to power through a military coup or the undermining of a democratic election.

In that regard, I have asked to receive unanimous consent today for a resolution that I introduced with Senator Kaine, the chair of the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee on the Western Hemisphere. That resolution is also cosponsored by Senators Durbin, Leahy, Merkley, Blumenthal, and Warren.

I would like to thank Senator Menendez, the chair of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, for allowing this resolution to come to the floor.

This resolution is very simple and straightforward. It does not take sides in Brazil’s elections. All it does is express the sense of the U.S. Senate that the U.S. Government should make unequivocally clear that the continuing relationship of the United States and Brazil depends upon the commitment of Brazil to democracy and human rights.

It urges the Biden administration to make clear that the United States will not support any government that comes to power in Brazil through undemocratic means and to ensure that U.S. security assistance to Brazil remains compliant with our laws related to the peaceful and democratic transition of power. This includes long-standing legal restrictions on the provision of security assistance in the event of a military coup.

In my view, it is imperative that the U.S. Senate make it clear through this resolution that we support democracy in Brazil. It would be unacceptable for the United States to recognize a government that comes to power undemocratically, and it would send a horrific message to the entire world if we did that.

It is important for the people of Brazil to know we are on the side, on the side of democracy. This resolution sent that message. And I thank my colleagues for supporting it.

With that, I yield the floor.
The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from California.

(3) A discussion of how the Agency may optimize relocation assistance when entire States or geographic areas are considered subject to a fire risk.

(9) A discussion of the extent to which the decision process for relocation assistance appropriately considers the change in future risks for wildfires due to a changing climate.

(10) An analysis of the rules and regulations regarding relocation assistance by the Agency present barriers for States, local governments, and Indian tribal governments trying to access funding to reduce wildfire risk.

(11) An analysis of—

(12) An analysis of how, if at all, recent changes in the availability of fire insurance has resulted in modifications of policy or procedure with respect to determining the cost efficacy of relocation assistance.

(13) An analysis of how to define repetitive loss and repetitively damaged properties in the context of wildfires.

(14) A discussion assessing whether any legislative, regulatory, or policy changes are necessary for the Agency to better implement relocation assistance to reduce risk from wildfires.

(6) revising the application process for assistance relating to wildfires to more effectively assess uninsured and underinsured losses and serious hardships; and firsthand the real-time response to the devastating Dixie fire. Separately, I met with local leaders in Santa Rosa, CA, to hear about problems with recovery from previous catastrophic wildfires.

(7) ways to improve the disaster assistance programs of agencies other than the Agency.

So my bill—the bill we just took action on, the FEMA Improvement, Reform, and Efficiency Act or the FIRE Act—will help ensure FEMA better addresses the unique and increasing danger of wildfires.

FEMA’s current procedures and requirements don’t always work for postwildfire recovery needs. And this bill will close those gaps.

I give a lot of credit to FEMA. They have issues pretty good at anticipating and responding to other types of disasters. We are seeing it, as we speak, with the hurricane impact in Florida. They do the same with tornadoes, floods, other disasters.

In all these scenarios, we know that it begins with prevention. The FIRE Act will begin the process of allowing FEMA to predeploy resources during times of extremely high risk. In the West, we know it as red flag warnings.

When it is hot, conditions are dry, and the wind kicks up, it is a recipe for disaster. And so to have FEMA be able to deploy in advance—just as they do already during hurricane warnings, as we are seeing in Florida at this very moment—is a smart thing to do.

Then, as communities rebuild after a devastating wildfire, this bill will work to ensure that FEMA takes wildfire-specific issues into account, like melted infrastructure and burned trees. It will also help local governments work with FEMA to more effectively relocate critical infrastructure away from fire-prone areas.

Now, in the aftermath of a fire, the bill will help provide better housing assistance, case management, and crisis counseling for survivors with a focus on equity for underserved communities and Tribal governments. Oftentimes these underserved communities and Tribal governments suffer the disproportionate impact of these wildfires.

So with the FIRE Act, we will be able to better prepare for and respond to the unique challenges of wildfires in California and throughout the Western United States.

The FIRE Act passed out of the Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee by a voice vote on February 2 of this year. And I want to take a moment to thank both Chairman Peters and Ranking Member Portman and their staffs who contributed to this bill, as well as our partners at FEMA.

This is an overdue, commonsense bill to help communities on the frontlines of our wildfire crisis. And I thank my colleagues for joining me in supporting it.

With that, I yield the floor.
Reserve to the lowest since 1984, which is to say that we are less secure in terms of energy and therefore less secure in terms of our economy and less secure in terms of our national security.

The President needs a plan to refill that from domestically produced oil—period, end of story—and the swing production of that is going to be production on Federal lands, such as that off the coast of Louisiana.

What does that leave us? Unfortunately, President Biden’s energy plan is such that the Biden administration has set the record for the fewest oil leases on Federal lands in the first 19 months of his office. Both Presidents Obama and Trump approved over 10 times the number of leases as the Biden administration has over the same period.

So while Russia is attempting to blackmail the rest of the world by their energy production; where we have drained the Strategic Petroleum Reserve down to its lowest levels since 1984; where Europe is paying record prices for oil and natural gas, which may bring on a recession-depression there, which of course, hurts our economy; the administration has set the record for the fewest leases on record, and Obama and Trump had 10 times as many in the same period. This is hurting our energy security, which means it hurts our national security, which means it is going to hurt the economy of our country and the economy of a family.

My gosh, just ask what they are paying for their utility bills and what they are paying to fill up their tanks. Ask what they are paying at the grocery store, which is very dependent upon the supply of natural gas and oil in order to keep those prices lower. They would say they are hurting. This anti-energy policy has hurt across the board.

By the way, I think the rationale for not issuing those leases is that in some way, if the United States does not develop our own oil and gas resources, magically, global greenhouse gas emissions are going to decrease. That is the superstition of those who favor that policy—except, unfortunately, logic. You can’t ignore facts.

A national laboratory has said that if you are speaking about oil, that which has the lowest life cycle of greenhouse gas emissions is the oil produced off the coast of Louisiana, which is far lower than the oil that we import from other countries.

If you are really concerned about lowering global greenhouse gas emissions, it is the environmental standards that we have in our country to produce our national resources—and, by the way, creating our American jobs—that have the lowest life cycle carbon emissions.

So that completes our nexus. We spoke of energy security related to national security, which in turn creates better jobs and a better economy for us all and actually has the effect of lowering global greenhouse gas emissions. That is our nexus.

Unfortunately, this administration’s policy is hurting American families, as they pay more through inflation; hurting our national security, as our Strategic Petroleum Reserve is at its lowest level, and therefore our energy security; and also contributing to increased global greenhouse gas emissions, as we have to import from countries without our environmental standards. Because we are unable to increase our production and supply to Europe—they are burning coal instead of our oil and gas and, with that, increasing global greenhouse gas emissions.

There are some bright spots. On a bipartisan basis, the Congress just passed the Kigali Amendment, which recognizes—which is a form of hydrocarbons which were used in refrigerants. The use of this will lower global greenhouse gas emissions. The U.S. Congress just passed that. So other countries that don’t use those measures, which increases global greenhouse gas emissions will be at a competitive disadvantage because Congress passed that. So in the midst of this kind of bad news—boy, it is just not working out the way it should. The Kigali Amendment, which is an example of how we can make it work better. I am an advocate for a carbon border adjustment, not a carbon tax. I think carbon taxes are the wrong way to go. Let me explain. If we have a carbon border adjustment where the U.S. chemical industry, using our environmental standards, using natural gases of feedstock, everything we have done and invested in to lower global greenhouse gas emissions—we are competing with countries in Asia, specifically China, which don’t use those measures, which pollute far more than we, but because they don’t use their environmental standards, they have a lower cost of manufacturing. We are competing against cheaper. We say that they are cheaper precisely because they are producing more global greenhouse gas emissions.

The Kigali Amendment tells us what to do. If we had a carbon border adjustment where we say that this is the carbon intensity of our goods that are produced, and if a country in Asia—say, specifically, China—has a carbon emission profile that may be 5 to 10 times higher, if they want to import our goods, they have to pay a fee based upon how their carbon intensity is greater than ours.

That is great. One, it is going to help us with our economy. Our workers who are losing their jobs to those in China because they don’t enforce their environmental standards and we enforce ours and therefore our cost of production is higher—those jobs begin to return. It will be cheaper to produce here after all if China is forced to pay for the pollution they are putting into the atmosphere. It creates more jobs. That is good for Americans and good for our economy. It strengthens us relative to the Chinese, who are using their profits to build a bigger army. It is good for greenhouse gas emissions. Now China is actually incentivized to lower emissions as opposed to now, where they have no incentive to do anything but to increase their emissions.

Let’s make a strength of our environmental regulations, and let’s make others pay for their ignoring those regulations. In so doing, we begin to attract jobs back here for Americans to strengthen our economy, lowering global greenhouse gas emissions, strengthening our security, our economy, and therefore our national security.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. Ossoff). The Senator from Ohio.

REMEMBERING MAX AND BEN MORRISSEY

Mr. BROWN. Mr. President, I rise to add to my colleagues who join me in honoring Max Morrissey and Ben Morrissey, two brothers who went to work on September 20 at the BP-Husky oil refinery in Oregon, OH, and never returned home.

In the tragic explosion at the refinery that night, Max and Ben were fatally injured. At 34 and 32, their lives were cut short. Max and Ben were loving husbands and fathers, proud union steelworkers with Local 1–346, and lifelong Ohioans. They spent their lives serving their families, their community, their union, and their country through their dedication to their jobs and through Max Morrissey’s distinguished service in the U.S. Navy. Their work at the plant powered our State, economy, and provided for their families.

Family was everything to Max and Ben. They shared a dedication and commitment to each other, to their parents, to their wives, and to their young children.

On Friday, I visited the steelworkers hall. I had the honor of speaking with the Morrissey family and Max and Ben’s steelworker brothers and sisters in Local 1–346. From all I learned about Max and Ben, I know their memories will live on. I know their legacies will be upheld by those whom they loved and who loved them so.

We all would wear this pin I wear, a canary pin given to me years ago at a Workers Memorial Day in Lorain, OH, by a steelworker honoring the workers who lost their lives on the job, working and supporting their economy and building a life, a future for their families.

This pin is a depiction of a canary in a birdcage. If you know labor history—and I know the Presiding Officer from Georgia knows this—the mineworkers used to take the canary in a cage down into the mines. If the canary died from lack of oxygen or toxic gas, the mineworker got quickly out of the mine. He had no union strong enough in those days to protect him and no government that cared enough to protect him. The union changed that because of worker safety laws and because of the labor movement.

This tragedy reminds us that our work to protect workers and make our workplaces safer never ever ends. No worker or workplace has to worry about not returning home at the end of the day. No family should ever have to be concerned about that, not steelworkers like Max and Ben, not first responders who rush to their aid—no one. I want to recognize those first responders—the steelworkers, the fire brigade, the Oregon Fire Department—those first responders at the scene whose bravery made a difference.

Today, we rededicate ourselves to Max and Ben’s example of dignity of work, importance of family and community. Our thoughts are with the Morrissey family, with all those who knew and loved Max and Ben, and with those who worked alongside them.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Virginia.

Mr. WARNER. Mr. President, I want to compliment my friend the Senator from Ohio for always being willing to speak out on behalf of important people all across the country. I agree with him that organized labor for literally decades has always protected working people. We need to bear that in mind as we sort through the issues that confront us in regular basis. So I thank him for his comments.

JOINT CONSOLIDATION LOAN SEPARATION ACT

Mr. President, I rise today to actually celebrate a major accomplishment for thousands of Americans who have been trapped for, many times, decades in exploitative joint student loan consolidations.

This is an issue that is actually near and dear to me because I have been working on it for 7 years, since hearing from a constituent way back in 2015.

Sara from Northern Virginia was part of a group of student loan borrowers who entered into something called a joint consolidation loan, which allowed married couples to combine their student debt into a single loan. The truth was, though, that sounded good, but Congress didn’t allow anyone to undo those loans in the event of a divorce or an abusive relationship.

So finally, in 2006, Congress got rid of the whole program. But when they got rid of the whole program, they didn’t retroactively create an option for those folks who had entered into these joint consolidation loans between 1993 and 2006.

So when my constituent Sara had divorced from her husband when she was living in Texas, she was still responsible for this loan. So all of the debt that had originally been his suddenly fell upon her shoulders. The divorced husband stopped paying the debt. Yet she was still responsible, and she, Sara, had to continue facing the consequences.

Now, she was a single mom of two, a responsible public school teacher. Sara was financially on the hook for her defaulting husband’s student debts. Her credit suffered dramatically. She even thought she was going to lose her teacher’s literally last way my ex controls me.

Again, I can’t imagine entering into this arrangement and then getting out of a relationship, often sometimes an abusive relationship, and that exact trying to control this person by not meeting their share of the obligations. It just was wrong.

Next, Amy, who falls into the category of otherwise—because, I believe, she was a teacher, she was able to get public service loan forgiveness and worked for years on something she should qualify for, but if you had entered into one of these joint consolidations, you didn’t get this benefit.

So Amy said:

I’ve never been able to take advantage of a single debt-relief program.

This bill will change that, obviously in terms of public service loans but also in terms of some of the proposals that President Biden has put forward.

All these people have been asking for is a chance to not unduly bear the joint burden of a program that even the Congress and the Federal Government decided in 2006 wasn’t fair, but when we unwound it, we didn’t unwind it, literally, for thousands of people who had fallen into this program between 1993 and 2006.

Now, we are through the House. We are through the Senate. We still have to hit one thing. And while the White House has indicated that the President supports this legislation, we have to get it signed right away because, when we think about these teachers and nurses and other folks who met their goal of what they have to qualify in critical areas to qualify for public student debt forgiveness, you know, the truth is, if they are going to get that benefit this year, they have got to make that application by October 31.

So before Halloween, these folks and countless others are waiting for them to simply apply for a right that, in many cases, they should have been granted 5, 10, 15 years ago.

And as I said, many of the folks in this category are public school teachers. They are government workers. They are nurses. They all have met the other rigorous, stringent requirements for public service loan forgiveness, but this law has to be a law in time for them to be able to timely apply for this relief before Halloween.

So I am hoping—the President has indicated he supports this bill, but the President has not signed this law as soon as possible so borrowers can finally experience freedom from financial and domestic abuse, freedom to control their own financial future, and freedom to enjoy the exact same benefits that other teachers and public servants have across the country.

I would like to close by saying that, this week, I actually had a chance to call Sara, who originally brought this issue to my attention. She told me that, this law, and even if she had continued making all of her monthly payments for her divorced husband, it would have been impossible for her to get rid of this debt in her lifetime. She would literally have been tied to that former spouse for the rest of her life.

For Sara and for literally thousands of other borrowers impacted by this program, it is time for the President to sign this law and provide these borrowers the relief they deserve.

I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

RECOGNIZING HUMBOLDT, KANSAS

Mr. MORAN. Mr. President, this evening, I want to highlight a community in my State of Kansas that is a model for rural towns across our State and around the country. It is timely because, just yesterday, the New York City mayor joked that my home State of Kansas has no brand and then chucked his job. I had planned to give this floor speech before the mayor of New York City used Kansas as a punch line, but now it seems a little more fitting and means even more.

Located in Allen County, KS, Humboldt is the home to about 2,000 residents. Like many small communities in rural America, Humboldt was facing declining population numbers as businesses moved away and buildings on Main Street were abandoned. Even the locally owned newspaper, which began publishing in 1864 and was the state’s longest continuously running paper, the Humboldt Union, had to close its doors.

However, in the last couple of years, Humboldt has defied the odds. The vacant buildings on Main Street now boast thriving businesses and welcoming storefronts. Since 2020, Humboldt has gained a coffee shop, a variety of bars and restaurants, a fitness center, a microbrewery, a grocery store, a hotel, and the Humboldt Union has been reestablished. Even as the pandemic created new challenges for many small businesses, Humboldt’s businesses were able to persevere.

In January of this year, the New York Times selected Humboldt as a top destination in the world, alongside places like Greece, Australia, and Argentina—pretty ironic now.

The majority of growth and economic development in the community can be attributed to a civic organization called A Bolder Humboldt. This group was formed a few years ago by leaders like Paul Cloutier and is still going strong today.

Paul recently took me on a tour of downtown with the mayor, Mayor Nobby Davis, to see firsthand the renovations being done and to meet the owners of small businesses that are reshaping the town square.

Paul told me:

I’ve lived in a lot of big cities, and the thing I loved about them was that they had complete neighborhoods, with a grocery store and a dry cleaner’s and a bar and little restaurants, whereas basically what a small town is or used to be.

A Bolder Humboldt is working to rebuild that ideal—that ideal American small town—for the 21st century.

I visited a cafe and a coffee shop owned by Josh Works, who is also involved in A Bolder Humboldt. His father owns BK & Trailer Hitches, and he set a standard during the recession in 2008 to prioritize and care for his staff and his community.

In addition, the community has rebuilt 10 blocks of the downtown streetscape with the help from a local business, Monarch Cement Company. Owned and run by Walter Wulf, this is a 110-year-old business, and it is a staple of this community.

The city has also developed Southwind Industrial Park, with the latest addition of Murphy Tractor and Equipment Company, providing new jobs for locals and new residents.

Humboldt has also gained fame as the hometown of Bibiessa, which is an annual festival taking place this weekend, that has been going for six decades and features the world’s largest Bible-themed parade.

Each year, City Manager Cole Herder addresses graduating high school seniors and presents them with mailboxs in the school’s colors—black boxes with orange lettering. Each box has the student’s name and “Humboldt, Kansas” stenciled in orange letters. Inside, there is an invitation. He appeals to students to pursue an education and new experiences, but he also encourages them to consider their hometown of Humboldt as the place to establish their careers and raise their own families.

The community of Humboldt is a success story, and it is a role model. It demonstrates how teamwork, creative thinking, hard work, treating others with respect, and caring about the future of your community can make a positive difference for your city, the State, and for our entire Nation. That is our brand in Kansas.

I am proud to recognize the efforts of Humboldt with what we have called the Building Better Communities Award.

Today, in the U.S. Senate, I offer my congratulations and my gratitude for the kind of leadership and effort among all residents of the community to see that Humboldt is a good place to live today and, perhaps even more importantly, a great place to live tomorrow.

FROM THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE OFFICE OF CONGRESSIONAL WORKPLACE RIGHTS
NOTICE OF ADOPTION OF REGULATIONS AND TRANSMITTAL FOR CONGRESSIONAL APPROVAL

Procedural Summary: Issuance of the Board's Initial Notice of Proposed Rulemaking

On or about April 26, 2022, the Board of Directors (Board) of the Office of Congressional Workplace Rights (OCWR) issued a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking in the Congressional Record at 168 Cong. Rec. S2137-S2149 (daily ed.), and at 168 Cong. Rec. H4908-H4908 (daily ed.). The Notice of Proposed Rulemaking was promptly by the promulgation by the Secretary of Labor in 2016, 2019, and 2019, of amended regulations regarding the overtime pay requirements of the FLSA.

Why did the Board propose these new Regulations?

Section 206(c)(2) of the CAA, 2 U.S.C. 1313(c)(2), requires that the Board of Directors propose substantive regulations implementing the FLSA overtime requirements that are "the same as substantive regulations promulgated by the Secretary of Labor to implement the statutory provisions . . . except insofar as the Board may determine, for good cause shown, and stated together with the regulation, that a modification of such regulation would be more effective for the implementation of the rights and protections under this section.’’

What procedure followed the Board’s initial Notice of Proposed Rulemaking?

The April 26, 2022 Notice of Proposed Rulemaking was published on the Overtime Comment System (OCS) on May 18, 2022. The OCS provided a 30-day comment period, which began on April 26, 2022. The OCWR received four comments to the proposed substantive regulations from stakeholders who have reviewed these comments. After receiving comments, the Board will consider them, and has adopted the amended regulations.

What is the effect of the Board’s ‘‘adoption’’ of these substantive regulations?

Adoption of these substantive regulations by the Board does not complete the promulgation process. Pursuant to section 504 of the CAA, 2 U.S.C. 1384(b), the procedure for promulgating such substantive regulations includes that: (1) the Board of Directors issue proposed substantive regulations and publish a general notice of proposed rulemaking in the Congressional Record (the April 26, 2022 Notice); (2) there be a comment period of at least 30 days after the date of publication of the general notice of proposed rulemaking; and (3) after consideration of comments of Directors, the Board adopt regulations and transmit notice of such action together with the regulations to the Speaker of the House and President pro tempore of the Senate for publication in the Congressional Record. This Notice of Adoption of Substantive Regulations and Submission for Congressional Approval completes the third step described above.

What are the next steps in the process of promulgation of these regulations?

Pursuant to section 304(b)(4) of the CAA, 2 U.S.C. 1384(b)(4), the Board of Directors is required to include a recommendation in the general notice of proposed rulemaking and in the regulations as to whether the regulations should be approved by resolution of the House of Representatives, by concurrent resolution, or by joint resolution. ‘‘The Board of Directors recommends that the procedure used by Congress be followed for promulgation of the regulations: that the House of Representatives approve the ‘‘H’’ version of the regulations for resolution; that the Senate approve the ‘‘S’’ version of the regulations for resolution; and that the House and Senate approve the ‘‘C’’ version of the regulations applied to the other employing offices by a concurrent resolution.

Are there regulations covering overtime exemptions currently in force under the CAA?

Yes, however, they are woefully outdated. Unless and until the House of Representatives and the Senate approve the regulations adopted by the OCWR Board, all employing offices continue to be required to follow the existing Part 541 Regulations, which were adopted by the Board of Directors and approved by the House of Representatives and the Senate in 1996.

If approved by Congress, will these regulations completely replace the existing Part 541 overtime exemption regulations applicable under the CAA?

Yes, the Board desires to provide the modernization necessary to properly remunerate Legislative Branch employees for overtime consistent with the Executive branch and the private sector.

The Board’s Responses to Comments

As the result of the April 26, 2022 Notice of Proposed Regulations, and the ensuing 30 day comment period, the Office received four comments from interested parties. Not surprisingly, a common theme among the comments was the difficulty in applying the Fair Labor Standards Act to modern employees working within the legislative branch. Commenters requested that the Board add descriptive examples that discuss specific positions and opine on whether or not they should not be classified as exempt or non-exempt. Commenters recognized that these exempt status determinations are fact specific and cannot and should not be done generically. For this reason, the Board remains unconvinced that including specific position titles plucked from Congressional employment would serve the legislative branch. Many legislative branch employees share common job titles but nevertheless have different duties in actuality. These employees, and their employing offices, would not benefit from improper classification through rulemaking. There exists a body of law which addresses the application of these exceptions in the context of government employees. See e.g., Wage and Hour Division (WHD) Opinion Letter FLSA2020-9, https://www.dol.gov/sites/dolgov/files/WHD/opinion-letters/FLSA/2020—9.2020—9.pdf. For example, the Department of Labor has applied the exemption as it relates to a government press officer. Id.

One commenter requested that the Board that the U.S. Supreme Court granted certiorari in Helix Energy Solutions Group v. Hewitt, 140 S. Ct. 2292—25—09—FLSA.pdf (last viewed on 8/29/22). The Board acknowledges that a decision in Helix Energy Solutions Group v. Hewitt may impact the application of 541.601 and 541.604. Notwithstanding the likely more than a year away and the Board does not wish to further delay the adoption of these regulations. The Board will revisit these regulations consistent with any relevant U.S. Supreme Court decision and future Department of Labor amendments.

The Board has reviewed all comments, and has deliberated regarding the question whether comments establish ‘‘good cause’’ pursuant to section 203(c)(2) of the CAA, 2 U.S.C. 1313(c)(2), for varying the Office of Congressional Employment Rights and Responsibilities regulations from the Department of Labor regulations. The following discussion outlines the comments, and the Board’s response to them.

What changes to the regulations as proposed on April 26, 2022 have been made by the Board in response to comments received from interested parties?

The Board has made many changes in response to comments received from interested parties. First, the Board agrees that good cause exists to modify these regulations in several respects to more precisely reflects the legislative branch’s unique workplace. Several commenters applauded this Board’s decision to eliminate references that have no applicability to Congress. However, they requested that the Board tailor the Proposed Regulations even further. The Board has heeded this request and in large part removed additional private sector terminology and replaced it with language specific to legislative branch employees and employing offices. Second, a commenter recommended deleting ‘‘firefighter’’ from the definition of ‘‘emergency or other fire—fighting services’’ so that it is not present within the legislative branch—there are additional law enforcement positions that are unhelpful by analogy. However, the Board does not find useful to remove ‘‘park rangers’’, ‘‘firefighters’’, or individuals who ‘‘fight fires.’’ The Park rangers’ functions may serve employing offices by analogy. With respect to fire fighters and fighting fires, although the legislative branch presently relies on the District of Columbia’s fire department, it is reasonably foreseeable that fire fighters or individuals whose main duty is to prevent fires may be employed by the legislative branch. Therefore, the Board finds good cause to remove the examples of deputy sheriffs, state troopers, highway patrol officers, parole or probation officers, but not park rangers, fire fighters, and individuals who fight fires. Similarly, the commenter requested that ‘‘fire fighters’’ be replaced with ‘‘constituents’’ to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. The Board recognizes that the word ‘‘customers’’ is not inherently governmental. Nevertheless, the Board believes that ‘‘constituents’’ is too narrow. Thus, the Board finds good cause to modify the word ‘‘customers’’ with ‘‘customers, constituents or stakeholders’’. Another commenter requested that ‘‘enterprise’’ be modified to ‘‘employing office’’ to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. Although Section 541.1 defines ‘‘enterprise’’ to mean ‘‘employing office,’’ the Board concurs with this recommendation.

Section 541.4: Several commenters pointed out that the proposed definition of ‘‘employee’’ introduced an erroneous requirement that employing offices must comply with ‘‘... State or municipal laws, regulations, or ordinances establishing a higher minimum wage or lower maximum workweek than those established under the FLSA’’ as applied via the CAA. The Board concurs with this comment. That requirement has been deleted from the proposed regulation.

Sec. 541.100: At least one commenter requested that ‘‘enterprise’’ be modified to employing office” to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. Although Section 541.1 defines “enterprise” to mean “employing office,” the Board concurs with this recommendation. Nevertheless, the Board believes that “constituents” is too narrow. Thus, the Board finds good cause to modify the word “constituents” to “customers,” constituents or stakeholders.

Sec. 541.202: At least one commenter requested that “business” be modified to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. Although Section 541.1 defines “business” to mean “employing office,” the Board concurs with all of these recommendations. Similarly, the commenter requested that “customers” be replaced with “constituents” to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. The Board recognizes that the word “customers” is not inherently governmental. Nevertheless, the Board believes that “constituents” is too narrow. Thus, the Board finds good cause to modify the word “customers” with “customers, constituents or stakeholders.”

Sec. 541.203: Multiple commenters questioned whether Congress had insurance adjudicators (541.203(a)) and comparison shoppers (541.203(i)). In addition, at least one commenter asked that certain words or phrases, such as but not limited to “business owner,” “purchasing and selling,” “executive of a company,” be modified to further tailor the regulations to legislative branch terminology in all of the remaining subsections. The Board agrees with these modifications generally, if not verbatim. The Board finds good cause to modify the term “establishment” and “industry” to mean “employing office.” The Board concurs with this recommendation.

Sec. 541.204: At least one commenter requested that a definition of “enterprise” be modified to “employing office” to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. The Board recognizes that the word “enterprise” is not inherently governmental. Nevertheless, the Board believes that “employing office” can be readily understood to mean “employing office.” Therefore, the Board finds good cause to modify the word “enterprise” to mean “employing office.”

Sec. 541.205: At least one commenter requested that “establishment” be modified to “location” to reflect legislative branch terminology. The commenter requested that “business,” when used as a noun and not an adjective, “company,” and “client” be modified to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. Although Section 541.1 defines “business” to mean “employing office,” the commenter requested that “business” be modified to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. The Board recognizes that the word “customers” is not inherently governmental. Nevertheless, the Board believes that “constituents” is too narrow. Thus, the Board finds good cause to modify the word “customers” with “customers, constituents or stakeholders.”

Sec. 541.301: At least one commenter requested that “customers” be replaced with “constituents” to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. Although Section 541.1 defines “business” and “company” to mean “employing office,” the Board concurs with all of these recommendations.

Sec. 541.302: At least one commenter requested that “business” be modified to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. Although Section 541.1 defines “business” and “company” to mean “employing office,” the Board concurs with all of these recommendations. Similarly, the commenter requested that “customers” be replaced with “constituents” to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. The Board recognizes that the word “customers” is not inherently governmental. Nevertheless, the Board believes that “constituents” is too narrow. Thus, the Board finds good cause to modify the word “customers” with “customers, constituents or stakeholders.”

Subpart F: A commenter asked the Board to either identify that the section was removed or renumber the sections thereafter for typographical clarity. The Board will include the word “Reserved” after the headings of removed sections.

Sec. 541.401: A commenter recommended that “customers” be replaced with “constituents” to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. The Board recognizes that the word “customers” is not inherently governmental. Nevertheless, the Board believes that “constituents” is too narrow. Thus, the Board finds good cause to modify the word “customers” with “customers, constituents or stakeholders.”

Sec. 541.402: One commenter requested that “customers” be replaced with “constituents” to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. The Board recognizes that the word “customers” is not inherently governmental. Nevertheless, the Board believes that “constituents” is too narrow. Thus, the Board finds good cause to modify the word “customers” with “customers, constituents or stakeholders.”

Sec. 541.403: Multiple commenters questioned whether Congress had insurance adjudicators (541.203(a)) and comparison shoppers (541.203(i)). In addition, at least one commenter agreed that a definition of “insurance adjuster,” “credit manager,” “large corporation,” “management consultant,” “large company” and “company” should be modified to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. Although Section 541.1 defines “business” and “company” to mean “employing office,” the Board concurs with all of these recommendations.

Sec. 541.404: One commenter recommended departing from the Department of Labor’s effective dates in Section 541.601(a)(1), 541.601(a)(2), and 541.601(b)(2) so that the regulations are effective. The Board finds good cause to amend this language so that there is no ambiguity regarding retroactivity. In addition, the Board agrees that good cause exists to further modify Section 541.601(b)(2) by eliminating references to commissioned sales to further reflect the legislative branch’s unique workplace.

Sec. 541.502: A commenter requested that “business” be modified to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. Although Section 541.1 defines “business” to mean “employing office,” the Board concurs with this recommendation. Similarly, a commenter pointed out that the proposed section maintained an exemption that employing offices may deduct for benefits received under State laws. The Board concurs with the commenter.

Sec. 541.603: At least one commenter requested that “company” be modified to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. Although Section 541.1 defines “company” to mean “employing office,” the Board concurs with this recommendation.

Sec. 541.604: Commenters recommended maintaining the original language. The Board agrees with the concern that incorporating by reference all of Part 531’s interpretation of “board, lodging, or other facilities” is overbroad and cumbersome. One commenter recommended creating a definition of “ambulatory care aides” and “home health aides,” including transit benefits in the definition of boarding, lodging or other facilities. The Board notes that private sector employees are also exempted from the definition of the Department of Labor did not include it in its regulation. The Board does not find good cause to stray from the original regulation.

Sec. 541.702: Raising the same concern as addressed in Sec. 541.202, at least one commenter requested that “credit manager,” “employer” and “customers” be modified to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. Although “employing office” can be readily understood from the term “employer,” the Board concurs with all of these recommendations since the example “credit manager” is not applicable directly to any employment office. The Board finds good cause to both eliminate and modify said language.

Sec. 541.706: At least one commenter requested that the example of a “mine superintendent” be eliminated and modified to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. The Board recognizes that there is no governmental function besides “superintendent” in the legislative branch and that this example will not be applicable directly or by analogy for employing offices to employees covered by any exemption. Therefore, the Board finds good cause to both eliminate and modify said language.

Sec. 541.710: A commenter asked the Board to either identify that the section was removed or renumber the sections thereafter for typographical clarity. The Board will include the word “Reserved” after the headings of removed sections.

Sec. 541.711: Commenters correctly observed that all legislative employees are essentially “Employees of public agencies.” The commenters thus requested that the language be modified to further tailor the regulations to reflect legislative branch terminology. The Board concurred with this recommendation.

What changes to the proposed substantive regulations suggested by commenters were not made by the Board of Directors? The Board of Directors reviewed all suggestions included in comments pursuant to the statutory requirement that the regulations “shall be the same as substantive regulations promulgated by the Secretary of Labor to implement the statutory provisions . . . except insofar as the Board may determine, for good cause shown and stated that the regulations herein adopted or incorporated . . . in such regulations would be more effective for the implementation of the rights and protections under this section.” (section 203(c)(2) of the Act (7 USC 1903(c)(2)). If the Board declined to adopt a suggestion, it determined that there was not good cause for such a change in implementing the FLSA.

A commenter was satisfied with the Board’s approach and questioned why the Board incorpored some of its suggestions in response to the proposed 2004 Substantive Regulations but not other suggestions. A commenter agreed that the proposed regulations were created to mirror current Department of Labor regulations. This, in addition to the almost 20 year lapse since 1994, was why the Board diverged from the adopted 2005 Substantive Regulations.
not find good cause to remove the “fee basis” section. Although most, if not all, positions are paid on a salary basis, it is reasonably foreseeable that an employee could be hired on a fee basis in the future.

HOW TO READ THE ADOPTED AMENDMENTS

The text of the amendments adopted by the OCWR Board reproduces the text of the current regulations promulgated by the Secretary of Labor at 29 CFR Part 541, and shows changes adopted by the OCWR Board for the CAA version of these same regulations. Changes adopted by the Board are shown as follows: deletions are marked with a [bracket] and added text is within angled brackets. Therefore, if these regulations are adopted as proposed, the deletion within bracketed text will disappear from the regulations and the added text within angled brackets will remain. If these regulations are approved for the House of Representatives by resolution of the House, they will be promulgated with the prefix “H” appearing before each regulations section number. If these regulations are approved for the Senate by resolution of the Senate, they will be promulgated with the prefix “S” appearing before each regulations section number.

SUBPART A—GENERAL REGULATIONS
§ 541.0 Introductory statement.

(a) Section 13(a)(1) of the Fair Labor Standards Act, as amended, provides an exemption from the Act’s minimum wage and overtime requirements for any employee employed in a bona fide executive, administrative, or professional capacity (including any employee employed in an academic administrative personnel or teacher in elementary or secondary school), or in the capacity of an outside sales employee, as such terms are defined and delimited from time to time by regulations of the Secretary, subject to the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act. << and applies to covered employees by virtue of section 212(e)(1) of the CAA, as amended, 2 U.S.C. 1361(e)(1) >> Section 13(a)(1) of the Act provides an exemption from the minimum wage and overtime requirements for any employee employed in the capacity of an outside sales employee by virtue of section 215(e)(1) of the CAA, as amended, 2 U.S.C. 1361(e)(1) >>.

(b) The requirements for these exemptions are contained in this part as follows: executive employees, subpart B; administrative employees, subpart C; professional employees, subpart D; computer employees, subpart E; outside sales employees, subpart F. Subpart G contains regulations regarding salary requirements applicable to most of the exemptions, including salary levels and the salary basis test. Subpart G also contains a provision for exempting certain highly compensated employees. Subpart H contains definitions and other miscellaneous provisions applicable to all or several of the exemptions.

(c) Effective July 1, 1972, the Fair Labor Standards Act was amended to include within the protection of the equal pay provisions those employees exempt from the minimum wage and overtime pay provisions as bona fide executive, administrative, and professional employees (including any employee employed in the capacity of academic administrative personnel or teacher in elementary or secondary school), or in the capacity of an outside sales employee under section 13(a)(1) of the Act. The equal pay provisions in section 6(d) of the Fair Labor Standards Act are administered and enforced by the United States Equal Employment Opportunity Commission <<Office of Congressional Workplace Rights>>.

§ 541.1 Terms used in regulations.

Act means the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended. Administrator means the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor. The Secretary of Labor has delegated to the Administrator the functions vested in the Secretary under sections 13(a)(1) and 13(a)(17) of the Fair Labor Standards Act. <<CAA means Congressional Accountability Act of 1995, as amended. Office means the Office of Congressional Workplace Rights. Employee means an employee of the covered employer as defined in section 101(a)(3) through (a)(8) of the CAA, 2 U.S.C. 1301(a)(3) through (a)(8), but not an “intern” as defined in section 335(a)(2) of the CAA, 2 U.S.C. 1313(a)(2). Engineer, company, business, or enterprise each mean an “employer” as defined in section 101(a)(9) of the CAA, 2 U.S.C. 1301(a)(9)>>.

§ 541.2 Job titles insufficient.

A job title alone is insufficient to establish the exempt status of an employee. The exempt or nonexempt status of any particular employee must be determined on the basis of whether the employee’s salary and duties meet the requirements of the regulations in this part.

§ 541.3 Scope of the section 13(a)(1) exemptions.

(a) The section 13(a)(1) exemptions and the regulations in this part do not apply to manual laborers or other “blue collar” workers.
who perform work involving repetitive operations with their hands, physical skill and energy. Such nonexempt "blue collar" employees gain the skills and knowledge required of their respective professions through a prolonged course of specialized intellectual instruction or the performance of work requiring knowledge of an advanced type in a field of science, learning or creative endeavor as required under §541.300.

(b) The phrase "a customarily recognized department or subdivision must have a permanent status and function. For example, a large employer's human resources department might have subdepartments for labor relations, pensions and other benefits, equal employment opportunity, and employee management, each of which has a permanent status and function.

§541.103 Department or subdivision.

(a) The phrase "a customarily recognized department or subdivision is intended to distinguish between a mere collection of employees assigned from time to time to a specific job or series of jobs and a unit with a permanent status and function.

(b) When an [enterprise] <<employing office>> has more than one [establishment] <<place of business>>, the employee in charge of each establishment <<location>> may be considered in charge of a recognized subdivision of the [enterprise] <<employing office>>.

(c) A recognized department or subdivision need not be physically within the employer's establishment and may move from place to place, for example, from job to job. The employer's work in more than one location does not invalidate the exemption if other factors show that the employee is actually in charge of a recognized unit with a continuing function in the organization.

(d) Continuity of the same subordinate personnel is not essential to the existence of a recognized unit with a continuing function.

§541.104 Two or more employees.

(a) To qualify as an exempt executive under §541.100, the employee must customarily and regularly direct the work of two or more other employees. The phrase "two or more other employees" means two full-time employees or their equivalent. One full-time and two half-time employees, for example, are equivalent to two full-time employees. Fewer than half-time employees are also equivalent.

(b) The supervision can be distributed among two, three or more employees, but each such employee must customarily and regularly direct the work of two or more other full-time employees or their equivalent. Thus, for example, a full-time exempt employee can direct up to two exempt supervisors if each such supervisor customarily and regularly directs the work of two of those workers.

(c) An employee who merely assists the manager of a particular department and supervises two or more employees only in the actual manager's absence does not meet this requirement.

(d) Hours worked by an employee cannot be credited more than once for different executives. Thus, a shared responsibility for the supervision of the same employees by the same employee for the same nonexempt employee for different supervisors, for example, can be credited as a half-time employee for both supervisors.

§541.202 Management.

Generally, "management" includes, but is not limited to, activities such as interviewing, selecting, and training of employees; setting and adjusting their rates of pay and hours of work; exercising control over the work of employees; maintaining production or sales records for use in supervision or control; appraising employees' productivity and efficiency for the purpose of recommending promotions or other changes in status; handling employee complaints and grievances; disciplining employees; planning the work; determining the methods by which the work is done, including the number, kind, quality and quantity of the supplies, machinery, equipment or tools to be used or purchased for their use.
§541.105 Particular weight.

To determine whether an employee’s suggestions and recommendations are given “particular weight,” factors to be considered include, but are not limited to, whether it is part of the employee’s job duties to perform such suggestions and recommendations; the frequency with which such suggestions and recommendations are made or requested; and the method by which the employee's suggestions and recommendations are relied upon. Generally, an executive’s suggestions and recommendations must pertain to employment of a type that customarily and regularly directs. It does not include an occasional suggestion with regard to the change in status of a co-worker. An employee’s suggestions and recommendations will still be deemed to have “particular weight,” even if a higher level manager’s recommendation has more importance and even if the employee does not have authority to make the ultimate decision as to the employee’s change in status.

§541.106 Concurrent duties.

(a) Concurrent performance of exempt and nonexempt duties. An employee is disqualified as an exempt employee from the executive exemption if the requirements of §541.100 are otherwise met. Whether an employee meets the requirements of §541.100, and the employee performs concurrent duties is determined on a case-by-case basis and based on the factors set forth in §541.700. Generally, exempt executive and administrative employees are required to perform nonexempt duties and remain responsible for the success or failure of business operations under their management while performing the exempt work. In contrast, the nonexempt employee generally is directed by a supervisor to perform the exempt work or performs the exempt work for defined time periods. An employee whose primary duty is ordinary production work or routine, recurrent or repetitive tasks cannot qualify for exemption as an executive.

(b) For example, an assistant manager in a retail establishment may perform work such as serving customers, cooking food, stocking shelves and cleaning the establishment, but not direct the work of other employees. In contrast, the nonexempt employee generally is directed by a supervisor to perform the exempt work or performs the exempt work for defined time periods. An employee whose primary duty is ordinary production work or routine, recurrent or repetitive tasks cannot qualify for exemption as an executive.

§541.201 Directly related to management or general business operations.

(a) To qualify for the administrative exemption, an employee’s primary duty must be the performance of work directly related to the management or general business operations of the employer or the employee’s customers. Specifically:

(1) With respect to employees defined at §541.602, “fee basis” is defined at §541.606; “board, lodging or other facilities” is defined at §541.606; and “primary duty” is defined at §541.700.

(b) The term “primary duty” is defined at §541.602. "Fee basis” is defined at §541.606; “board, lodging or other facilities” is defined at §541.606; and “primary duty” is defined at §541.700.

§541.202 Discretion and independent judgment.

(a) To qualify for the administrative exemption, an employee’s primary duty must include the exercise of discretion and independent judgment with respect to matters of significance. In the exercise of discretion and independent judgment, employers consider the comparison and the evaluation of possible courses of conduct, and acting or making a decision after the various possibilities have been considered. The term “matters of significance” refers to the level of importance or consequence of the work performed. To meet this requirement, an employee must have the authority to formulate, affect, interpret, or implement policies or operate programs that have a major financial impact; whether the employee directs the work of others; the extent of authority to formulate, affect, interpret, or implement policies or operate programs that have a major financial impact; or whether the employee directs the work of others. An employee who is an executive and has authority to direct the work of employees other than those who are executive or administrative employees, an employee who directs the work of other nonexempt employees and serves customers at the same time without losing the exemption. An exempt employee can also simultaneously direct the work of employees, perform marketing, research and safety; and personal management, human resources, employee benefits; labor relations; public relations; government relations; computer network, internet and database administration; and legal and regulatory compliance. The fact that an employee is engaged in this type of work does not make the employee exempt.

(b) The employee’s primary duty is the performance of work directly related to the management or general business operations of the employer or the employee’s customers. Specifically:

(1) To qualify for an administrative exemption, an employee’s primary duty must be the performance of work directly related to the management or general business operations of the employer. The employee’s primary duty must be the performance of work directly related to the management or general business operations of the employer or the employee’s customers. Specifically:

{\text{CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE September 28, 2022}}
(f) An employee does not exercise discretion and independent judgment with respect to matters of significance merely because the employer will experience financial losses if the employee fails to perform the job properly. For example, a messenger who is entrusted with carrying large sums of money does not exercise discretion and independent judgment with respect to matters of significance even though serious consequences may flow from the employee's neglect. Similarly, an employee who operates very expensive equipment depending on the hiring employee, with little discretion left to the employee, does not exercise discretion and independent judgment with respect to matters of significance merely because improper performance of the employee's duties may cause serious consequences to the employer.

§541.203 Administrative exemption examples.

(a) [Insurance claims adjusters]—<employee who investigate claims> generally meet the duties requirements for the administrative exemption, whether they work for an insurance company or other type of company. If their duties include activities such as interviewing [insureds], witnessess [and physicians]; inspecting property damage; reviewing factual information to prepare damage estimates; evaluating and making recommendations regarding coverage; determining liability; and establishing the total value of a claim; negotiating settlements; and making recommendations regarding litigation.

(b) <employees in the financial services industry> generally meet the duties requirements for the administrative exemption if their duties include work such as collecting and analyzing information regarding the customer's income, assets, investments or debts; determining which financial products best meet the customer's needs and financial circumstances; comparing the advantages and disadvantages of different financial products; and marketing, servicing or promoting the employer's financial products. However, an employee whose primary duty is selling financial products does not qualify for the administrative exemption.

(c) An employee who leads a team of other employees assigned to complete major projects for the employer (such as [purchasing, selling or closing all or part of the business, a real estate transaction, or a collective bargaining agreement], or designing and implementing productivity improvement projects) generally meets the duties requirements for the administrative exemption, even if the employee does not have direct supervisory responsibility over the other employees on the team.

(d) An executive assistant or administrative assistant to a [business owner or senior executive of a large business] <senior management official of an employing office> generally meets the duties requirements for the administrative exemption if such employee, without specific instructions or pre-scribed procedures, has been delegated authority regarding matters of significance.

(e) Human resource managers who formulate, interpret or implement employment policies also meet the duties requirements for the administrative exemption. Whether or not the employee is charged with the responsibility of selecting from the pool of qualified applicants, if the duties of the job do not meet or have substantial similarities to the duties of human resources managers or personnel clerks, the employee is not subject to the administrative exemption. Such human resources managers typically do not have significant hiring authority, do not determine job openings, and do not manage recruitment efforts. Such personnel clerks typically will reject all applicants who do not meet minimum standards for the particular job or will reject all applicants who do not meet qualifications specifically required by the employer. Such personnel clerks usually do not manage recruitment efforts, determine job openings, or manage or supervise the work of other employees.

§541.204 Educational establishments.

(a) The term “employee employed in a bona fide administrative capacity” in section 3(a)(1) of the Act also includes employees who:

(1) Compensated on a salary or fee basis at a rate of not less than $891 per week (for $455 per week if employed in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, Guam, Puerto Rico, or the U.S. Virgin Islands by employers other than the Federal government), exclusive of board, lodging, or other facilities; or on a salary or fee basis of at least the minimum hourly salary for teachers in the educational establishment by which employed; and

(2) Performs administrative functions directly related to academic instruction or training in an educational establishment or department or subdivision thereof.

(b) The term “educational establishment” means an elementary or secondary school system, an institution of higher education or educational institution, or any combination of such establishments. Such educational establishments in some States may also include nursery school programs in elementary schools, special education programs in public and private schools, or between those operated for profit and those that are not for profit.

(c) The phrase “performing administrative functions directly related to academic instruction or training” means work related to the academic operations and functions in a school that is not teaching or administrative along the lines of general business operations. The operations and functions of educational establishments include operations directly in the field of education. Jobs relating to areas outside the educational field are not within the definition of educational establishment.

(1) Employees engaged in academic administrative functions include: the superintendent or other head of an elementary or secondary school system, and any assistants, representatives or deputies, responsible for administration of such matters as curriculum, quality and methods of instruction, measuring and testing the learning potential and achievement of students, establishing and maintaining academic and grading standards, and other aspects of the academic programs. such work is not considered academic administration, such employees may qualify for exception under 541.200 or under other sections of this part, provided the requirements for such exception are met.

SUBPART D—PROFESSIONAL EMPLOYEES

§541.300 General rule for professional employees.

(a) The term ‘employee employed in a bona fide professional capacity’ in section 13(a)(1) of the Act shall mean any employee:

(1) Compensated on a salary or fee basis pursuant to §541.600 at a rate of not less than $455 per week if employed in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, Guam, Puerto Rico, or the U.S. Virgin Islands by employers other than the Federal government, or $684 per week if employed in American Samoa by employers other than the Federal government), exclusive of board, lodging or other facilities; and

(2) Whose primary duty is the performance of work:

(i) Requiring knowledge of an advanced type in a field of science or learning customarily acquired by a prolonged course of specialized intellectual instruction; or

(ii) Requiring an advanced college degree.

(b) The term ‘salary basis’ is defined at §541.602; ‘fee basis’ is defined at §541.605; ‘board, lodging or other facilities’ is defined at §541.606; and ‘primary duty’ is defined at §541.700.

§§ 541.301 Learned professionals.

(a) To qualify for the learned professional exemption, an employee’s primary duty must be the performance of work requiring advanced knowledge in a field of science or learning customarily acquired by a prolonged course of specialized intellectual instruction. An employee’s primary duty test includes three elements:

(1) The employee must perform work requiring advanced knowledge;

(2) The advanced knowledge must be in a field of science or learning; and

(3) The advanced knowledge must be cus-tomarily acquired by a prolonged course of specialized intellectual instruction.

(b) The phrase ‘work requiring advanced knowledge’ means work which is predomintantly intellectual in character, and which includes the development by the occupant of the skills and knowledge required to perform the duties of discretion and judgment, as distinguished from performance of routine mental, manual, mechanical or physical work. An employee’s work requires advanced knowledge generally uses the advanced knowledge to analyze, interpret or make deductions from varying facts or circumcumstances. Advanced knowledge cannot be attained at the high school level.

(c) The phrase ‘field of science or learning’ includes the traditional professions of law, medicine, accounting, actuarial computation, engineering, architecture, teaching, various types of physical, chemical and biological sciences, pharmacy and other similar occupations that have a recognized professional status as distinguished from the mechanical arts or skilled trades where in some instances the knowledge is of a fairly advanced type, but is not in a field of science or learning.

(d) The phrase ‘customarily acquired by a prolonged course of specialized intellectual instruction’ means the exemption of professions where specialized academic training is a standard prerequisite for entrance into the profession. The best prima facie evidence that an employee meets this requirement is a standard prerequisite for entrance into the profession. The best prima facie evidence that an employee meets this requirement is a standard degree program which, if a standard requirement for entry into a recognized field of scientific or professional work, is generally met by the successful completion of four academic years of college or university study in a specialized curriculum accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Allied Health Education Programs and who are certified by the National Board of Certification generally meet the duties requirements for the learned professional exemption.

§§ 541.302 Creative professionals.

(a) To qualify for the creative professional exemption, an employee’s primary duty must be the performance of work requiring invention, imagination, originality or talent in a recognized field of artistic or creative endeavor as opposed to routine mental, manual, mechanical or physical work. The exception does not apply to work which can be produced by a person with general manual or intellectual ability and training.

(b) To qualify for the creative professional, the work performed must be "in a recognized field of artistic or creative endeavor." This includes such fields as music, writing, acting and the graphic arts.

(c) The requirement of "invention, imagination, originality or talent" distinguishes the creative professions from work that primarily depends on intelligence, diligence and accuracy. The duties of employees vary widely, and exemption as a creative profession generally requires the abilities of invention, imagination, originality or talent exercised by the employee. Determination of exempt creative professional status, therefore, is made on a case-by-case basis. This requirement generally is met by actors, musicians, composers, conductors, and soloists.
§541.303 Teachers.

(a) The term “employee employed in a bona fide professional capacity” in section 13(a)(1) of the Act also mean any employee who is the holder of a valid license or certificate permitting the practice of law or medicine or any of their branches and is actually engaged in the practice thereof; and

(b) Any employee who is the holder of the requisite academic degree for the general practice of medicine and is engaged in an internship or residency pursuant to the practice of the profession.

§541.304 Practice of law or medicine.

(a) The term “employee employed in a bona fide professional capacity” in section 13(a)(1) of the Act also mean any employee

1. who is the holder of a valid license or certificate permitting the practice of law or medicine or any of their branches and is actually engaged in the practice thereof; and

(b) In the case of medicine, the exemption applies to physicians and other practitioners in the dispensing of medical science and healing or any of the medical specialties practiced by physicians or practitioners. The term “physicians” include individuals including general practitioners and specialists, osteopathic physicians (doctors of osteopathy), podiatrists, dentists (doctors of dental medicine), and optometrists (optometry or bachelors of science in optometry)

(c) Employees engaged in internship or resident programs, whether or not licensed to practice prior to commencement of the program, qualify as exempt professionals if they enter such internship or resident programs after the earning of the appropriate degree required for the general practice of their profession.

(d) The requirements of §541.300 and subpart G (salary requirements) of this part do not apply to the employees described in this section.

SUBPART F—COMPUTER EMPLOYEES

§541.400 General rule for computer employees.

(a) Computer systems analysts, computer programmers, software engineers or other similarly skilled workers in the computer field are eligible for exemption as professionals under section 13(a)(1) of the Act and under section 13(a)(17) of the Act. Because job titles vary widely and change quickly in the computer industry, job titles are not determinative of the applicability of this exemption.

(b) The section 13(a)(1) exemption applies to any computer employee who is compensated at a rate of not less than $684 per week (or $455 per week if employed in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, Guam, Puerto Rico, or the Virgin Islands by employers other than the Federal government, or $380 per week if employed in American Samoa by employers other than the Federal government, inclusive of board, lodging, or other facilities.

The section 13(a)(17) exemption applies to any computer employee compensated on an hourly basis of at least $27.63 an hour. In addition, under either section 13(a)(1) or section 13(a)(17) of the Act, the exemptions apply only to computer employees whose primary duty consists of:

1. The application of systems analysis techniques and procedures, including computer programming and other logically related activities, to convert unstructured problems arising in a business or other appropriate area to sufficient detail to permit their solution by computer, and the development of techniques to implement the solutions, including computer programs or systems functional specifications;

2. The design, development, documentation, analysis, creation, testing or modification of computer systems, programs, inclusive of prototypes, based on and related to user or system design specifications;

3. The design, documentation, testing, creation or modification of computer programs related to machine operating systems;

4. A combination of the aforementioned duties, the performance of which requires the same level of skills.

(c) The term “salary basis” is defined at §541.605. “Board, lodging or other facilities” is defined at §541.606; and “primary duty” is defined at §541.700.

§541.401 Computer manufacture and repair.

The exemption for employees in computer manufacture and repair is defined in the manufacture or repair of computer hardware and related equipment. Employees whose work is highly dependent on the creative and inventive aspects of work are not exempt if their work is not exempt if their work is not exempt if their work is not exempt if their work is not exempt if their work is not exempt if their work is not exempt if their work is.

§541.402 Executive and administrative computer employees.

Computer employees within the scope of this exemption, as well as those employees not employed in executive and administrative capacities, are also exempt from the executive and administrative duties which qualify the employees for exemption under subpart B or subpart C of this part. For example, system analysts and computer programmers generally meet the duties requirements for the administrative exemption if their primary duty includes work such as planning, scheduling, and coordinating employees required to develop systems to solve complex business, scientific or engineering problems or the employer or the employer’s customers. Similarly, a senior or lead computer programmer who manages the work of two or more other programmers in a highly recognized department or of the employee or the employee’s customers.

§541.500 General rule for outside sales employees.

(a) The term “employee employed in the capacity of outside salesman” in section 13(a)(1) of the Act shall mean any employee

1. Whose primary duty is: (i) Making sales within the meaning of section 13(a)(1) of the Act; or (ii) Obtaining orders or contracts for services or for the use of facilities for which a consideration will be paid by the client or customer;

2. Who is customarily and regularly engaged away from the employer’s place or places of business in performing such primary duties

(b) The term “primary duty” is defined at §541.700. In determining the primary duty of an outside sales employee, work performed incidental to and in conjunction with the employer’s own outside sales or solicitations, including incidental deliveries and collection of accounts included as exempt outside sales work. Other work that furthers the employee’s sales efforts also shall be regarded as exempt work including, for example, writing or preparing promotional material for the employee’s sales or display catalogue, planning itineraries and attending sales conferences.

(c) The requirements of subpart G (salary requirements) of this part do not apply to the outside sales employees described in this section.

§541.504 Drivers who sell.

(a) Drivers who deliver products and also sell such products may qualify as exempt outside sales employees only if the employee has a primary duty of making sales. In determining the primary duty of drivers who sell, work performed incidental to and in conjunction with the employee’s own outside sales or solicitation activities, including loading, driving or delivering products, shall be regarded as exempt outside sales work.

(b) Several factors should be considered in determining whether an employee is making sales, including, but not limited to: a comparison of the driver’s duties with those of other employees engaged as truck drivers; the driver’s knowledge and experience in obtaining orders; whether the employment relationship includes an agreement or understanding that the employee be compensated on a commission basis; and other circumstances that significantly affect the sale or the customer’s sales since the previous delivery.

§541.502 Away from employer’s place of business.

An outside sales employee must be customarily and regularly away from the employer’s place or places of business. The outside sales employee is an employee who makes sales at the customer’s place of business or that of a third person and is engaged in the dealer’s business of selling. Outside sales includes sales made by mail, telephone, or the Internet unless such contact is used merely as an auxiliary to sales work performed on the premises.

§541.503 Promotion work.

(a) Promotion work is one type of activity often performed by persons who make sales, which may or may not be exempt outside sales work, depending upon the circumstances under which it is performed. Promotion work is actually performed incidental to and in conjunction with an employee’s own outside sales or solicitations is exempt work. On the other hand, promotional work that is incidental to sales made, or to be made, by someone else is not exempt outside sales work. An employee who performs such promotional work may qualify as an exempt employee under other subparts of this rule.

(b) A manufacturer’s representative, for example, is engaged in promotional activities such as setting up displays and posters, removing damaged or spoiled stock from the merchant’s shelves or rearranging the merchandise. Such an employee can be considered an exempt outside sales employee if the employee’s primary duty is making sales or contracts. Promotional activities, in this instance, would not be significantly affected by solicitations of the customer by the delivery driver or the amount of the sale is determined by the volume of the customer’s sales since the previous delivery.

§541.505 Authorized sales or display catalogue, plan or solicit orders, including incidental deliveries and collecting accounts.

§541.600 Amount of salary required.

(a) To qualify as an exempt executive, administrative or professional employee under section 193(a)(1) of the Act, an employee must be compensated on a salary basis at a rate not less than $27.63 an hour (or $55 per week) if employed in the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands by employers other than the Federal Government, or $380 per week if employed in American Samoa by employers other than the Federal Government, and in good faith.

(b) In the case of academic administrative employees, the compensation requirement also may be met by compensation on a salary basis at a rate not less than $27.63 an hour (or $55 per week) if employed in the educational establishment by which the employee is employed, as provided in §541.206(a)(1).
requirement does not apply to pharmacists, nurses, therapists, technologists, sanitarians, dietitians, social workers, psychologists, psychometrists, or other professionals engaged in medical practice.

§541.601 Highly compensated employees.

(a)(1) Beginning on January 1, 2020, an employee is considered a highly compensated employee if total annual compensation, which is at least $137,432 is deemed exempt under section 13(a)(1) of the Act if the employee customarily and regularly performs any one or more of the exempt duties or responsibilities of an executive, administrative, or professional employee identified in subparts B, C or D of this part.

(b)(1) “Total annual compensation” must include at least $584 per week paid on a salary or fee basis as set forth in §§541.602 and 610.605, except that $541.602(a)(3) shall not apply to exempted employees.

Total annual compensation may also include commissions, nondiscretionary bonuses and other nondiscretionary compensation earned during the 52-week period. Total annual compensation does not include board, lodging and other facilities as defined in §541.606, and does not include payments for medical insurance, insurance, contributions to retirement plans and the cost of other fringe benefits.

(2) If an employee’s total annual compensation does not total at least the amount specified in the applicable subsection of paragraph (a) by the last pay period of the 52-week period ending any time during the last pay period or within one month after the end of the 52-week period, make one final payment sufficient to achieve the required level. If the employer makes any payment during the last week of the 52-week period may count only toward the prior year’s total annual compensation and not toward the total annual compensation in the year it was paid. If the employer fails to make such a payment, the employee does not qualify as a highly compensated employee, but may still qualify as exempt under subparts B, C, or D of this part.

(3) An employee who does not work a full year of work, either because the employee is newly hired after the beginning of the year or ends the employment before the end of the year, may qualify for exemption under this section if the employee receives a pro rata portion of the minimum amount established in paragraph (a) of this section, based upon the number of weeks that the employee will be or has been employed. An employer may make one final payment as under paragraph (b)(2) of this section within one month after the end of employment.

(4) The employer may utilize any 52-week period as the year, such as a calendar year, a fiscal year, or an anniversary of hire. If the employer does not identify some other year period in advance, the calendar year will apply.

(c) A high level of compensation is a strong indicator of an employee’s exempt status, thus eliminating the need for a detailed analysis of the employee’s job duties. Thus, a highly compensated employee will qualify for exemption if the employee customarily and regularly performs any one or more of the exempt duties or responsibilities of an executive, administrative, or professional employee identified in subparts B, C or D of this part. An employee may qualify as a highly compensated executive employee, for example, if the employee primarily and regularly directs the work of two or more other employees, even though the employee does not meet all of the other requirements for an executive employee under §541.600(a)(1).

(d) This section applies only to employees whose primary duty includes performing office or non-manual work. Thus, for example, on which the employee performs any work without regard to the number of days or hours worked. Exempt employees need not be paid for any workweek in which they perform no work.

(2) An employee is not paid on a salary basis if deductions from the employee’s pre-determined compensation are made for any reason, except as required by the operating requirements of the [business] <employing office>.(c) If the employee is ready, willing and able to work, deductions may not be made for time when work is not available.

(3) Up to ten percent of the salary amount required as evidenced by the payment of nondiscretionary bonuses, incentives and commissions, that are paid annually or more frequently. The employer may offset any amounts received by the employee for any workweek in which they perform no work.

(4) Deductions from pay of exempt employees may be made for penalties imposed in good faith for infractions of safety rules of major significance. Safety rules of major significance include those relating to the prevention of serious danger in the workplace or to other employees, such as prohibiting smoking in hazardous work areas, involving the handling of flammable or explosive materials, oil refineries, and coal mines.

(5) Deductions from pay of exempt employees may be made for unpaid disciplinary suspensions of one or more full days imposed in good faith for infractions of workplace conduct rules. Such suspensions must be imposed pursuant to a written policy applicable to all employees. The employer may suspend an exempt employee without pay for three days for violating a generally applicable written policy prohibiting sexual harassment. Similarly, an employer may suspend an exempt employee without pay for twelve days for violating a generally applicable written policy prohibiting workplace violence.

(6) An employer is not required to pay the full salary in the initial or terminal week of employment of a nonexempt employee. Instead, an employer may pay a proportionate part of the employee’s full salary for the time actually worked. For example, if an employee who normally works 40 hours per week uses four hours of unpaid leave under the Family and Medical Leave Act, the employer could deduct 10 percent of the employee’s normal salary that week.

(c) Improper deductions that are either isolated or inadvertent will not result in loss of the exemption for any employees subject to such improper deductions, if the employer can demonstrate that it paid the employees for such improper deductions.

(d) If an employer has a clearly communicated policy that prohibits the improper deductions and includes a complaint mechanism, reimburses employees for any improper deductions and makes a good faith commitment to comply in the future, the employer will not lose the exemption for any employees unless the employer willfully violates the policy by continuing to make improper deductions after the employee complaints. An employer that reimburses employees for any improper deductions or continues to make improper deductions after receiving employee complaints is not entitled to the exemption.

(7) An employer is not required to pay the full salary for weeks in which an exempt employee was unpaid leave under the Family and Medical Leave Act. Rather, when an exempt employee takes unpaid leave under the Family and Medical Leave Act, an employer may pay a proportionate part of the full salary for the time actually worked. For example, if an employee with board, lodging or other facilities furnished to employees for dwelling purposes; and transportation between their homes and work. Thus, for example, an exempt employee is not due during the time period in which the improper deductions were made for employees in the same job classification working for the same managers responsible for making the improper deductions; and whether the employer has a clearly communicated policy permitting or prohibiting improper deductions.

(b) To determine whether the fee payment meets the minimum amount of salary required, the exemption regulations, the amount paid to the employee will be tested by determining the time worked on the job and whether the fee payment is at a rate that would amount to at least the minimum salary per week, as required by §§541.600(a) and 541.602(a), if the employee worked 40 hours. Thus, an artist paid $350 for a picture that took 20 hours to complete meets the $884 minimum salary requirement for exemption since earnings at this rate would yield the artist $700 if 40 hours were worked.

§541.605 Fee basis.

(a) Administrative and professional employees may be paid on a fee basis, rather than on a salary basis, if the facts demonstrate that a fee basis will be considered to be paid on a “fee basis” within the meaning of these regulations if the employee is paid an agreed sum for a single job or a series of related jobs, or a guaranteed sum for non-cash items of value that an employer . Thus, the costs to employers associated with such transactions may not be predominant when all that the employee has received has the full required minimum salary payment.

(b) Regulations defining what constitutes “board, lodging, or other facilities” are contained in 29 CFR part 531. As described in 29 CFR 531.32, the term “other facilities” refers to items similar to board and lodging, such as meals furnished at company restaurants or cafes or by hospitals, hotels, or restaurants to their employees; meals, dormitory, and similar accommodations furnished to a college to its student employees; merchandise furnished at company stores or commissionaires, including clothing and household effects; housing furnished for dwelling purposes; and transportation furnished to employees for ordinary commuting between their homes and work. Thus, for example, an exempt employee guaranteed compensation only on the accomplishment of a given single task is not required to pay on a salary basis, but may pay on a fee basis. Thus, an artist paid $350 for a picture that took 20 hours to complete meets the $884 minimum salary requirement for exemption since earnings at this rate would yield the artist $700 if 40 hours were worked.

§541.606 Board, lodging or other facilities.

(a) To qualify for exemption under section 13(a)(1) of the Act, an employee must earn the minimum salary requirement in §541.600, “exclusive of board, lodging or other facilities.” The phrase “exclusive of board, lodging or other facilities” means “free and clear” or independent of any claimed credit for non-cash items of value that an employer may provide to an employee. Thus, the costs to employers associated with such transactions may not be predominant when all that the employee has received has the full required minimum salary payment.

(b) Regulations defining what constitutes “board, lodging, or other facilities” are contained in 29 CFR part 531. As described in 29 CFR 531.32, the term “other facilities” refers to items similar to board and lodging, such as meals furnished at company restaurants or cafes or by hospitals, hotels, or restaurants to their employees; meals, dormitory, and similar accommodations furnished to a college to its student employees; merchandise furnished at company stores or commissionaires, including clothing and household effects; housing furnished for dwelling purposes; and transportation furnished to employees for ordinary commuting between their homes and work. Thus, for example, an exempt employee guaranteed compensation only on the accomplishment of a given single task is not required to pay on a salary basis, but may pay on a fee basis. Thus, an artist paid $350 for a picture that took 20 hours to complete meets the $884 minimum salary requirement for exemption since earnings at this rate would yield the artist $700 if 40 hours were worked. the performance of exempt work. The term "primary duty" means the principal, main, major or most important duty that the employee performs. Determination of an employee's primary duty must be based on all the facts in a particular case, with the major emphasis on the character of the employee's job as a whole. Factors to consider when determining an employee's primary duty are included, but are not limited to, the relative importance of the exempt duties as compared with other types of duties; the amount of time spent performing each type of duty; the amount of time spent on a particular job; the relationship between the exempt duties and the work performed by the employee; the manner in which the exempt duties and nonexempt duties are performed; and the employee's relative freedom from direction or control.

(b) The following examples further illustrate the type of work that is and is not normally considered as directly and closely related to exempt work:

(1) Keeping production or sales records for subordinates is work directly and closely related to an exempt executive's function of managing a department and supervising subordinates.

(2) The distribution of materials, merchandise or supplies to maintain control of the flow of and expenditures for such items is directly and closely related to the performance of exempt duties.

(3) A supervisor who spot checks and examines work to determine whether they are performing their duties properly, and whether the product is satisfactory, is performing work which is directly and closely related to managerial and supervisory functions, so long as the checking is distinguishable from the work ordinarily performed by a nonexempt inspector.

(4) A supervisor who sets up a machine may be engaged in exempt work, depending upon the nature of the industry and the operation. In some cases the setup work, or adjustment of the machine for a particular job, is typically performed by the same employee who operates the machine. Such setup work is an exempt function and is not exempt. In other cases, the setting up of the work is a highly skilled operation which the ordinary production worker or laborer cannot perform. In such cases, the work is performed by an exempt employee.

In large plants, non-supervisors may perform such work. However, particularly in small plants, such work may be a regular duty of the executive and is directly and closely related to the executive's responsibility for the work performance of subordinates and for the adequacy of the final product. Under such circumstances, it is exempt work.

(5) A department manager in a retail or service establishment who walks about the sales floor observing the work of sales personnel under the employee's supervision to determine the effectiveness of their sales techniques, checks on the quality of customer service being given, or observes customer preferences is performing work which is directly and closely related to managerial and supervisory functions.

(6) A business consultant may take extensive notes regarding the flow of work and materials through the office or plant of the client; after returning to the office of the employer, the consultant may personally use the information gathered to prepare a report or make a presentation. Standing alone, or separated from the primary duty, such note-taking and typing would be routine in nature. However, because this work is necessary for analyzing the data and making recommendations, the work is directly and closely related to the exempt work of the consultant. However, if the consultant is also engaged in exempt work, the performance of such work is not required as a condition of exemption.

(7) A [credit] manager who makes and administers the [credit][budget] policy of the [employer][employing office], establishes [credit][expenditure] limits for [customers][the employing office][employees], authorizes [the shipment of orders on credit, the establishment of credit limits and the exceed credit limits][expenditures] would be performing exempt work under §541.200. Work that is directly and closely related to these exempt functions may not be performed by such employees if the status of accounts to determine whether the credit limit would be exceeded by the shipment of a new order, removing credit reports and rating noncredit customers, writing letters giving credit data and experience to other employers or credit agencies.

(8) A traffic manager in charge of planning a company's transportation, including the most economical and quickest routes for shipping merchandise to and from the plant, determining expenditures for transportation facilities, negotiating with carriers for adjustments for damages to merchandise, and making the necessary record keeping of specialized knowledge or irregularities in transit, is performing exempt work. If the employee also spends part of the day taking telephone orders, the performance of that function is a routine function and is not directly and closely related to the exempt work.

(9) An example of work directly and closely related to exempt professional duties is a chemist performing menial tasks such as cleaning a test tube in the middle of an original experiment, even though such menial tasks can be assigned to laboratory assistants.

(10) A teacher performs work directly and closely related to exempt duties when, while taking students on a field trip, the teacher drives a school van or monitors the students' behavior in a restaurant.

§§41.704 Use of manuals.

The use of manuals, guidelines or other external sources that are not peculiar to highly technical, scientific, legal, financial or other similarly complex matters that can be understood or interpreted only by someone with advanced or specialized knowledge does not preclude exemption under section 13(a)(1) of the Act or the regulations in this part. Such manuals and procedures provide guidance in addressing difficult or novel circumstances and thus use of such reference material would not affect an employee's exempt status. The section 13(a)(1) exemptions are not available, however, for employees who simply apply well-established techniques or procedures described in manuals or other sources within closely prescribed limits to determine the correct response to an inquiry or set of circumstances.

§§41.705 Trainees.

The executive, administrative, professional, [outside sales] and computer employee exemptions do not apply to employees training for employment in an executive, administrative, professional, [outside sales] or computer employee capacity who are not actually performing the duties of an executive, administrative, professional, [outside sales] or computer employee.

§§41.706 Emergencies.

An exempt employee will not lose the exemption by performing work of a normally exempt nature because of the existence of an emergency. Thus, when emergencies arise that threaten the safety of employees, a cessation of operations or serious damage to the employer's property, any work performed in an effort to prevent such results is considered exempt work.

(b) An "emergency" does not include occurrences that are not beyond control or for which the employer can reasonably provide in the normal course of business. Emergencies generally occur only rarely, and are events that the employer cannot reasonably anticipate.

The following examples illustrate the distinction between emergency work considered exempt work and routine work that is not exempt work:

(1) A postal worker employed as a mail carrier is required to make emergency deliveries to hospitals in the event of an emergency. The employee is also required to make emergency deliveries after an explosion and digs out workers who were trapped in the mine. This work is not exempt work.

(2) A teacher performs work directly and closely related to exempt work when, while taking students on a field trip, the teacher drives a school van or monitors the students' behavior in a restaurant.
(3) Replacing a nonexempt employee during the first day or partial day of an illness may be considered exempt emergency work depending on factors such as the size of the establishment, the nature of the industry, and the exigent's department, the nature of the industry, and the exigency. The nonexempt employee is paid according to a pay system established by statute, ordinance or regulation, or by a policy or practice established pursuant to principles of public accountability, under which the employee accrues personal leave and is entitled to the same paid leave as any other exempt employee immediately, and the feasibility of filling the employee's place promptly.

(4) Regular repair and cleaning of equipment may be considered emergency work if the breakdown of or damage to the equipment is caused by accident or carelessness that the employer could not reasonably anticipate.

§541.707 Occasional tasks.

Occasional, infrequently recurring tasks that cannot practicably be performed by nonexempt employees, but are the means for an exempt employee to properly carry out exempt functions and responsibilities, are considered exempt work. The following factors should be considered in determining whether such work is exempt work: whether the same work is performed by any of the exempt employees; the practicability of delegating the work to nonexempt employees; whether the exempt employee performs the tasks frequently or occasionally; and evidence of an industry practice for the exempt employee to perform the task.

§541.708 Combination exemptions.

Employees who perform a combination of exempt duties as set forth in the regulations in this part for executive, administrative, professional, [outside sales] and computer employees may qualify for exemption. Thus, for example, an employee whose primary duty is to perform work that is exempt under subparts B, C, or D of this part may qualify for exemption. In other words, work that is exempt under one section of this part will not defeat the exemption under any other section.

§541.709 Motion picture producing industry.

The requirement that the employee be paid "on a salary basis" does not apply to an employee in the motion picture producing industry who is compensated at a base rate of at least $1,043 per week (exclusive of board, lodging, and other similar items). Thus, an employee in this industry who is otherwise exempt under subparts B, C, or D of this part, and who is employed at a base rate of at least the applicable current minimum amount of a week is exempt if paid a proportionate amount (based on a week of not more than 6 days) for any week in which the employee does not work a full workweek for any reason. Moreover, an otherwise exempt employee in this industry may qualify for exemption if the employee is employed at a daily rate under the following circunstances:

(a) The employee is in a job category for which a weekly base rate is not provided and the daily base rate workload is at least the minimum weekly amount if 6 days were worked; or
(b) The employee is in a job category having the minimum weekly base rate and the daily base rate is at least one-sixth of such weekly base rate.] <<541.709 Reserved.>>

§541.710 Employees of public agencies.Exemptions from deductions on exempt employee pay.

(a) An employee [of a public agency] who satisfies the salary basis requirements of §541.602 shall not be disqualified from exemption under §§541.100, 541.200, 541.300 or 541.400 on the basis that such employee is paid according to a pay system established by statute, ordinance or regulation, or by a policy or practice established pursuant to principles of public accountability, under which the employee accrues personal leave and is entitled to the same paid leave as any other exempt employee immediately, and the feasibility of filling the employee's place promptly.

(b) Deductions from the pay of an employee [of an agency] for absences due to a budget-required furlough shall not disqualify the employee from being paid on a salary basis except in the workweek in which the furlough occurs and for which the employee's pay is accordingly reduced.

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of Calendar No. 479, S. 3875.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the bill by title.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill, which had been reported from the Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs, with an amendment to strike all after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof:

MORNING BUSINESS

HISPANIC HERITAGE MONTH

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, every year since 1988, we have honored the achievements of the Latino community in the United States through Hispanic Heritage Month. My friend and mentor, Senator Paul Simon, was part of the effort to establish this important time to honor the contributions of Hispanic and Latino communities without American history, filled with stories of inspiration and courage. Today, I continue Paul’s work by taking the time to honor this rich history and celebrate the leaders paving the way for a brighter future of this Nation.

Illinois is home to a large and vibrant Latino community. I have had the privilege of meeting Latino people from many walks of life, from Dreamers who grew up here, to newly arrived refugees fleeing tyranny. While their stories all differ, they share common themes of hope, resilience, and determination. In their stories, I see my family’s story. My mother and her families were among the first Latinos to find freedom here in America. Many families have followed that same journey to provide a better life in Illinois and across the country. It is not easy to leave your home and travel to a new place. But with their courage, they brought diverse cultures, sharing music, food, traditions, and history. The Latino community has made an indelible mark on Illinois through small businesses, top-performing Hispanic-serving institutions, and beautiful cultural centers and museums.

Commitment to family is a core tenet of Latino culture and extends to care for the community at large, where Latino leaders use their talents to help others. Juan and Maria Pedroza emigrated from Mexico in 1989 to Little Village with their small children. Like the story of many families across the country, they, too, came to the United States to search for the American dream, doing whatever it took to ensure a brighter future for their children. Their children—Juan Manuel Jr., Maria Socorro, Gabriela, and Pedro—went on to attend prestigious colleges and universities, including Harvard, Princeton, DePauw, Cornell, and the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana. Pedro’s courage and spirit of service led him to serve in then-Mayor Rahm Emanuel’s office—the first Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals—DACA—recipient to serve in the mayor’s office. Pedro recognized the needs of his community and answered the call to public service so others could grow and succeed. The Pedrozo’s success has not come without great sacrifices, similar to those that many Latino families have had to make. But through extraordinary determination and resilience, they go above and beyond out of love of family and community.

Chicago also is home to a vibrant Puerto Rican community that has displayed great resilience in the face of serious challenges. Tragically, more than 900,000 Puerto Ricans lost power in the aftermath of Hurricane Fiona. Some areas received more than 30 inches of rain and, sadly, this devastation is a trend. Latinos in the United States have a long history of overcoming challenges; we must support them in whatever it takes to help them rebuild and move forward.”
States are more likely than non-Hispanic Whites to experience heat waves, powerful hurricanes, sea level rises, and floods. It is estimated that Hispanic and Latino people are 43 percent more likely to be affected by extreme weather events, and those affected by such events may not have the resources to respond adecately. Across the United States, thousands of people have joined together to help Puerto Rico—including in Illinois—where the Puerto Rican Agenda is working to provide immediate and long-term relief to those affected by natural disasters. I support their efforts and President Biden’s approval of a major disaster declaration for Puerto Rico.

Tackling environmental injustice doesn’t end there. Earlier this year, activists and community leaders in southeast Chicago raised concerns with the development of a metal shredder facility. The Chicago Health Department and the Environmental Protection Agency conducted a health impact assessment, finding the metal recycling plant would have increased air pollution and negatively impacted the mental health of residents. As a result, the city blocked the development. This story is not unique to Chicago; Latino communities across the United States have mobilized to make their voices heard and protect our communities.

We also saw this tenacity during the pandemic. Millions of Hispanic and Latino people served as frontline workers—treating patients, feeding communities, and working around the clock to disinfect schools, stores, and health centers at a grave personal cost. Today, Hispanic or Latino persons are twice as likely to be hospitalized for COVID-19 and 1.8 times more likely to die from the virus, due to health disparities and continuous exposure. We must never forget the contributions they made, which have supported our Nation during one of its most difficult moments.

Countless Latino leaders have overcome systemic injustices to succeed and inspire the next generation of leaders. As we celebrate Hispanic Heritage Month, we recognize the value the Latino community brings to our country through its work and culture. Resilience and love shine through in all that the community does and will continue to make us a stronger country for years to come.

THE SECRETARY OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES,
Washington, DC, January 12, 2022.

HON. PATTY MURRAY,
Chair, Committee on Health, Education, Labor and Pensions, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIR MURRAY: The Prescription Drug User Fee Act (PDUFA) as reauthorized by the Food and Drug Administration Reauthorization Act (FDARA P.L. 115-52), expires at the end of Fiscal Year 2022. With this letter the Administration is providing our recommendations for the reauthorization of PDUFA for the Fiscal Years 2023-2027 (PDUFA VII).

Under PDUFA, the revenues generated from fees paid by the pharmaceutical industry have been used to expedite the process for the review of new prescription drugs and to support and augment regulatory science and drug development. The expenditure of these funds is in accordance with the statute and provides resources to meet the performance goals and procedures that were developed by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) in consultation with representatives of regulated industry. FDA estimates that the fees negotiated in PDUFA VII will average approximately $900 million per year.

PDUFA has proven to be an extremely effective program that has transformed the U.S. drug review to be the fastest in the world, while setting the global gold standard for quality, efficacy, and safety.

Throughout this process, the FDA has solicited input and worked with various stakeholders, including representatives from consumer and patient advocates, academic research, and health provi-

Sincerely,

XAVIER BECERRA.
Our recommendations build upon the success of existing programs and performance goals with improvements and expansions to address areas of emerging regulatory science and drug development. For example, this includes:

- Investing critical resources in the Center for Biologics Evaluation and Research (CBER) to support drug review, and the approval of cell and gene therapy products;
- Introducing new pilot programs to expedite patient access to novel uses for existing therapies, advance rare diseases development through efficacy endpoint development, and improve the quality and acceptability of real-world evidence;
- Enhancing the drug safety system through optimizing the Sentinel Initiative capabilities and improving Risk Evaluation and Mitigation Strategy (REMS) assessments;
- Introducing new enhancements related to product quality reviews, chemistry, manufacturing, and control approaches, and advancing the utilization of innovative manufacturing technologies.

Throughout this process, the FDA has solicited input and worked with various stakeholders, including representatives from consumer and patient advocates, academic research, and health provider groups, and negotiated with the pharmaceutical and biotechnology industries, to develop reauthorization recommendations for PDUFA that would enhance the success of the program. In addition, we have complied with the statutory requirements to solicit public comments on our recommendations, and the summary of public comments is posted on the agency web site and enclosed with this letter.

FDA estimates that the fees negotiated in MDUFA V provide for the following five-year total revenue, prior to adjustments for inflation, that would be available for the MDUFA IV carryover balance to support MDUFA V activities.

Throughout this process, FDA negotiated with the regulated industry and has solicited input and worked with various stakeholders, including representatives from patient, consumer, academic research, and health provider groups, to develop reauthorization recommendations for MDUFA that would build upon and enhance the success of the program. In addition, FDA complied with the statutory requirements to solicit public comments on the draft recommendations, and the summary of public comments is posted on the agency website.

Now pending its fourth reauthorization, MDUFA has proven to be a highly effective program for supporting the device review process. The program is designed to help ensure patient access to safe, effective, and high-quality medical devices. During the current reauthorization cycle, negotiations with industry primarily focused on: enhancements to certain performance goals; filling funding needs that had not been adequately addressed in MDUFA IV; the launch of a pilot program designed to speed patient access to innovative medical devices; programs to advance the development of regulatory science and to advance opportunities for patient input and collaboration in the device development process; and proposals to enhance FDA's accountability and transparency in its use of fees.

The following enclosures are provided for your consideration: the MDUFA Reauthorization Performance Goals and Procedures—Fiscal Years 2023 through 2027 (the MDUFA V Commitment Letter); a redline showing the proposed MDUFA V statutory changes compared to the current law; the Justifications of Proposed Statutory Changes for reauthorization of MDUFA in FY 2023–2027; and the summary of public comments.

Thank you for the opportunity to present our recommendations to reauthorize this vital program. We were pleased to brief your staff on the details of the Committee Letter and hope to continue working closely with Congress to reauthorize the program in a timely manner. The Office of Management and Budget has advised that the bill and the enclosed performance goals are in accordance with the Administration’s program.

DEAR REPRESENTATIVE MC MORRIS RODGERS: The Medical Device User Fee Amendments of 2017 (MDUFA IV), as reauthorized by the Food and Drug Administration Reauthorization Act (P.L. 115–52), expires at the end of Fiscal Year (FY) 2022. With this letter, the Administration is providing our recommendations for the reauthorization of MDUFA for FY 2023–2027 (MDUFA V).

Under MDUFA, the revenues generated from fees paid by the medical device industry have been used to expedite the process for the review of device applications and to support and augment regulatory science and medical device development. The expenditures of these funds is in accordance with the statute and provides resources to meet the performance goals and procedures that were developed by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) in consultation with representatives of regulated industry.

FDA estimates that the fees negotiated in MDUFA V provide for the following five-year total revenue, prior to adjustments for inflation. They provide a minimum total revenue of approximately $1.784 billion. In addition, if specific performance goals are met in FY 2023–2025, FDA may collect up to an additional total of approximately $116 million in FY 2025–2027, for a maximum potential total of approximately $1.9 billion.

The MDUFA V package also reflects use of an additional $118 million in funding from the current MDUFA IV carryover balance to support MDUFA V activities.

Throughout this process, FDA negotiated with the regulated industry and has solicited input and worked with various stakeholders, including representatives from patient, consumer, academic research, and health provider groups, to develop reauthorization recommendations for MDUFA that would build upon and enhance the success of the program. In addition, FDA complied with the statutory requirements to solicit public comments on the draft recommendations, and the summary of public comments is posted on the agency website.

Now pending its fourth reauthorization, MDUFA has proven to be a highly effective program for supporting the device review process. The program is designed to help ensure patient access to safe, effective, and high-quality medical devices. During the current reauthorization cycle, negotiations with industry primarily focused on: enhancements to certain performance goals; filling funding needs that had not been adequately addressed in MDUFA IV; the launch of a pilot program designed to speed patient access to innovative medical devices; programs to advance the development of regulatory science and to advance opportunities for patient input and collaboration in the device development process; and proposals to enhance FDA’s accountability and transparency in its use of fees.

The following enclosures are provided for your consideration: the MDUFA Reauthorization Performance Goals and Procedures—Fiscal Years 2023 through 2027 (the MDUFA V Commitment Letter); a redline showing the proposed MDUFA V statutory changes compared to the current law; the Justifications of Proposed Statutory Changes for reauthorization of MDUFA in FY 2023–2027; and the summary of public comments.

DEAR CHAIR MURRAY: The Biosimilar User Fee Act (BsUFA) as reauthorized by the FDA Reauthorization Act of 2017 [Pub. L. 115–52], expires at the end of Fiscal Year 2022. With this letter the Administration is providing our recommendations for the reauthorization of BsUFA for the Fiscal Years 2023–2027 (BsUFA III). Under BsUFA, the revenues generated from fees paid by the pharmaceutical industry have been used to support the process for the review of biosimilar biological products. The expenditure of these funds is in accordance with the statute and provides resources to meet the performance goals and procedures that were developed by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) in consultation with representatives of regulated industry. FDA estimates that the fees negotiated in BsUFA III will average approximately $51 million per year.

As part this process, the FDA has negotiated with the pharmaceutical and biotechnology industries to develop reauthorization recommendations for BsUFA that would build upon and enhance the success of the program. In addition, we have complied with the statutory requirements to solicit public comments on our recommendations, and the summary of public comments is posted on the agency web site and enclosed with this letter.

Our recommendations build upon the successes of the BsUFA program by refining elements of the existing program and including new enhancements where appropriate. For example, these recommendations include:

- Introducing new supplement categories, review timelines, and performance goals to expedite the review of certain supplements, including safety labeling updates.
- Advancing a policy that focuses on safe and effective interchangeable biosimilar biological products through foundational guidance development, stakeholder engagement, and other activities.
- Piloting a regulatory science program focused on enhancing regulatory decision-making and facilitating science-based recommendations in areas foundational to biosimilar and interchangeable biological product development.
Improving management of user fee resources through advancing FDA’s Resource Capacity Planning function and continuation of activities to enhance financial transparency.

The following five enclosures are provided for your consideration: The proposed Biosimilar User Fee Act (BsUFA) as reauthorized by the FDA Reauthorization Act of 2017 (Pub. L. 115–52), expires at the end of Fiscal Year 2022. With this letter the Administration is providing our recommendations for the reauthorization of BsUFA for the Fiscal Years 2023 through 2027 (BsUFA III).

Under BsUFA, the revenues generated from fees paid by the pharmaceutical industry have been used to support the process for the review of new biological products. The expenditure of these funds is in accordance with the statute and provides resources to meet the performance goals and procedures that were developed by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) in consultation with representatives of regulated industry. FDA estimates that the fees negotiated in BsUFA III will average approximately $1 million per year.

As part this process, the FDA has negotiated with the pharmaceutical industry to develop a pilot program for the reauthorization recommendations for BsUFA that would build upon and enhance the success of the program. We have compiled with the statute requirements to solicit public comments on our recommendations, and the summary of public comments is posted on the agency web site and enclosed with this letter.

Our recommendations build upon the successes of the PDUFA program by refining elements of the existing program and including new enhancements where appropriate. For example, these recommendations include, but are not limited to:

Introducing new supplemental categories, review timelines, and performance goals to expedite the review of certain supplements, including generic marketing applications.

Advancing the development of safe and effective interchangeable biosimilar biological products through foundational guidance development, stakeholder engagement, and other activities.

Piloting a regulatory science program focused on understanding regulatory decision-making and facilitating science-based recommendations in areas foundational to biosimilar and interchangeable biological product development.

PDUFA REAUTHORIZATION PERFORMANCE GOALS AND PROCEDURES FISCAL YEARS 2023 THROUGH 2027

This document contains the performance goals and procedures for the Prescription Drug User Fee Act (PDUFA) reauthorization for fiscal years (FYs) 2023-2027, known as PDUFA VII. It is commonly referred to as the “goals letter” or “commitment letter.” This letter contains FDA’s discussions with the regulated industry and public stakeholders, as mandated by Congress. The performance and procedural goals set forth in this letter apply to aspects of the human drug review program that are important for facilitating timely access to safe, effective, and innovative new medicines for patients. While much of FDA’s work is associated with formal tracked performance goals, the Agency and industry mutually agree that it is appropriate to manage some areas of the human drug review program with internally tracked timeframes. This provides FDA the flexibility needed to respond to a highly dynamic public health needs. FDA is committed to meeting the performance goals specified in this letter and to continuous improvement of its processes. This includes the production of high quality and critical products. FDA and the regulated industry will periodically and regularly assess the progress of the human drug review program throughout PDUFA VII. This will allow FDA and the industry to identify emerging challenges and develop strategies to address these challenges to ensure the efficiency and effectiveness of the human drug review program.

Unless otherwise stated, goals apply to cohorts of each fiscal year (FY).

1. ENSURING THE EFFECTIVENESS OF THE HUMAN DRUG REVIEW PROGRAM

A. REVIEW PERFORMANCE GOALS

1. FDA/BLA Submissions and Resubmissions

a. Review and act on 90 percent of standard NME NDAs and original BLAs submissions within 10 months of the 60-day filing date.

b. Review and act on 90 percent of priority NME NDAs and original BLAs submissions within 4 months of the 60-day filing date.

c. Review and act on 90 percent of standard non-NME original NDA submissions within 10 months of receipt.

2. Review and act on 90 percent of priority non-NME original NDA submissions within 6 months of receipt.

f. Review and act on 90 percent of Class 2 resubmitted original applications within 6 months of receipt.

2. Original Efficacy Supplements

a. Review and act on 90 percent of standard efficacy supplements within 10 months of receipt.

b. Review and act on 90 percent of priority efficacy supplements within 6 months of receipt.

2. Resubmitted Efficacy Supplements

a. Review and act on 90 percent of Class 1 resubmitted original applications within 2 months of receipt.

b. Review and act on 90 percent of Class 2 resubmitted original applications within 6 months of receipt.

c. Original Manufacturing Supplements

a. Review and act on 90 percent of manufacturing supplements requiring prior approval within 4 months of receipt.

b. Review and act on 90 percent of all other manufacturing supplements within 6 months of receipt.

3. Review Performance Goal Extensions

a. Major Amendments

1. A major amendment to an original application, efficacy supplement, or resubmission... of any of these applications, submitted at any time during the review cycle, may extend the goal date by three months.

II. A major amendment may include, for example, a major new clinical safety/efficacy study report; major re-analysis of previously submitted studies; submission of a Risk Evaluation and Mitigation Strategy (REMS) with Element to Assure Safe Use (ETASU) not included in the original application; or significant amendment to a previously submitted REMS with ETASU. Generally, changes to REMS that do not include ETASU and minor changes to REMS with ETASU will not be considered major amendments.

III. A major amendment to a manufacturing supplement submitted at any time during the review cycle may extend the goal date by two months.

IV. Only one extension can be given per review cycle.

V. Consistent with the underlying principles articulated in the GRMP guidance, FDA’s decision to extend the review clock should, except in rare circumstances, be limited to instances where review of the new information could address outstanding deficiencies in the application and lead to approval in the current review cycle.

B. Program for Enhanced Review Transparency and Communication for NME NDAs and Original BLAs

To promote transparency and communication between the FDA and the applicant, FDA will apply the following model (“the Program”) to the review of all New Molecular Entity New Drug Applications (NME NDAs) and original Biologics License Applications (BLAs), including applications that are resubmitted following a Refuse-to-File decision, received from October 1, 2022, through September 30, 2027. The goal of the Program is to promote the efficiency and effectiveness of the first review process and minimize the number of review cycles necessary for approval, ensuring that patients have timely access to safe, effective, and high quality new drugs and biologicals.

Approach to Application Review. The standard approach for the review of NME NDAs and original BLAs is described in this section. However, the FDA review team and the applicant may discuss and reach mutual agreement on an alternative approach to the timing and nature of interactions and information exchange between the applicant and FDA, i.e., a Formal Communication Plan for the review of the NME NDA or original BLA. The Formal Communication Plan may include a mid-cycle meeting (e.g., a mid-cycle communication or a late-cycle meeting) as well as other interactions that may occur during the review process (e.g., a meeting during the filing period to discuss the application, i.e., an “application orientation meeting”). If appropriate, the Formal Communication Plan should specify those elements of the Program that FDA and the applicant agree are unnecessary for the application under review. If the review team and the applicant anticipate developing a Formal Communication Plan, the elements of the plan should be discussed and agreed to at the pre-submission meeting (see Section I.B.1) and reflected in the meeting minutes. The Formal Communication Plan may be reviewed and amended at any time based on the progress of the review and the mutual agreement of the review team and the applicant. For example, the review team and the applicant may mutually agree at any time to cancel any future specified interactions in the Program (e.g., the late-cycle meeting) that become unnecessary (e.g., because previous communications between the review team and the applicant are sufficient). Any amendments made to the Formal Communication Plan should be consistent with the goal of an efficient and timely first cycle review process and not impede the review team’s ability to conduct its review.

The remainder of Section I.B describes the parameters that will apply to FDA’s review of applications in the Program.

I. Pre-submission meeting: The applicant is strongly encouraged to discuss the planned content of the application with the appropriate FDA review division at a pre-NDA/BLA meeting. This meeting will be attended by the FDA review team, including appropriate senior FDA staff.

a. The pre-NDA/BLA meeting should be held sufficiently in advance of the planned submission of the application to allow for a meaningful response to FDA feedback and should generally occur not less than 2 months prior to the planned submission of the application.

b. In addition to FDA’s preliminary responses to the applicant’s questions, other potential discussions will include preliminary discussions on the need for REMS or other risk management actions, and, where applicable, the development of a Formal Communication Plan and a timeline for review activities associated with a scheduling recommendation under the Controlled Substances Act for drugs with abuse potential.

II. If, during FDA’s review of an original application or supplement, the Agency identifies a manufacturing facility that was not included in the comprehensive and readily located list, the goal date may be extended.

a. Any components of the application that FDA agreed at the pre-submission meeting could be submitted after the original application are expected to be completed, except as noted below.

b. Any components of the application that FDA agreed at the pre-submission meeting could be submitted after the original application are expected to be completed, except as noted below.

c. Incomplete applications, including applications with components that are not received within 30 calendar days after receipt of the original submission, will be subject to a Refuse-to-File decision and are subsequently filed over-protection.

d. The following parameters will apply to applications that are subject to a Refuse-to-File decision and are subsequently filed under 4624 S174 E:

i. The original submission of the application will be subject to the review performance goals in Section I.E.

ii. The application will not be eligible for the other parameters of the Program (e.g., mid-cycle communication, late-cycle meeting).

iii. FDA generally will not review amendments to the application during any review cycle. FDA generally will not review applications with respect to any request to the applicant during the agency's review.

iv. The resubmission goals described in Sections I.A.1.e and I.A.1.f will not apply to any resubmission of the application following an FDA complete response action. Any such resubmission will be reviewed as available resources permit.

e. Since applications are expected to be complete at the time of submission, unsolicited amendments are not expected to be received and not to contain major new information or analyses. Review of unsolicited amendments, including those submitted in response to an FDA request for additional information, will be handled in accordance with the GRMP guidance. This guidance includes the underlying principle that FDA will consider the most efficient path toward completion of a comprehensive review that addresses application deficiencies and leads toward a first cycle approval if possible.

f. Day 74 Letter: FDA will follow existing procedures regarding identification and communication of filing review issues in the "Day 74" letter. Applications subject to the Program, the timeline for this communication will be within 74 calendar days from the date of FDA receipt of the original submission. The Day 74 letter will include preliminary plans on whether to hold an Advisory Committee (AC) meeting to discuss the application. If applicable, the Day 74 letter will serve as the meeting agenda. Applications subject to the review division intends to conduct an expedited review (See Section I.E).

g. Inspections: For NME NDAs and original BLA submissions that are filed by FDA under the Program, the PDUFA review cycle will begin at the conclusion of the 60-day filing review period that begins on the date of FDA receipt of the original submission. The review performance goals for these applications are as follows:

i. Review and act on 90 percent of standard NME NDAs and original BLA submissions within 10 months of the 60-day filing date.

ii. Review and act on 90 percent of standard NME NDAs and original BLA submissions within 6 months of the 60-day filing date.

3. Mid-Cycle Communication: The FDA Regulatory Project Manager (PMR) and other appropriate members of the FDA review team (e.g., Cross Discipline Team Leader (CDTL),) will call the applicant, generally within 6 months of the filing date, to inform the Agency's internal mid-cycle review meeting, to provide the applicant with an update on the status of the review of their application. An agenda will be sent to the applicant prior to the mid-cycle communication. Scheduling of the internal mid-cycle review meeting will be handled in accordance with the GRMP guidance. The letter will include the specific date and time of the telephone call with the applicant.

4. The update should include any significant issues identified by the review team to date, any information requests, information regarding major safety concerns and preliminary discussion with the review team thinking and rationale regarding:

b. The update should also include proposed dates for discussions regarding plans for the AC meeting (if an AC meeting is anticipated), an update regarding FDA's review activities associated with a scheduled late-cycle meeting, the Controlled Substances Act (if applicable), and other projected milestone dates for the remainder of the review cycle.

c. In the case of an expedited review, FDA will communicate the timelines for the Late-Cycle Meeting and the Late-Cycle Meeting background package (see Section I.B.6) which may occur earlier with more condensed timeframes compared to a review that is not expedited.

5. Late-Cycle and Advisory Committee Meetings: The following parameters will apply to the meeting held between the FDA review team and the applicant to discuss the status of the review of the application late in the review cycle. Late-cycle meetings may be face-to-face meetings or teleconferences; however, the meeting may be held by teleconference if FDA and the applicant agree. Since the application is expected to be complete at the time of submission, FDA intends to conduct primarily primary and secondary reviews of the application in advance of the planned late-cycle meeting.

a. FDA representatives at the late-cycle meeting are expected to include the signatory authority for the application, review team members from appropriate disciplines, and appropriate team leaders and/or supervisors from disciplines for which substantive issues have been identified in the review to date.

b. For applications that will be discussed at an AC meeting, the following parameters apply:

i. FDA intends to convene AC meetings no later than 2 months (standard review) or no later than 6 weeks (priority review) prior to the PDUFA action goal. The late-cycle meeting will occur within 30 calendar days before the date of the AC meeting.

ii. FDA intends to provide final questions and answers to the applicant no later than 3 days (standard review) or no later than 2 days (priority review) prior to the PDUFA action goal.

iii. FDA will establish the following pre-approval review of PMRs: The Agency recognizes the importance of PMRs to ensure the timely availability of information on the safety and efficacy of therapies to the United States public. Therefore, FDA will establish processes to support consistency and predictability for both the Agency and applicants throughout the identification, determination, and evaluation of postmarketing study needs.

iv. The Agency will establish the following pre-approval process enhancements and guidelines in PDUFA VII:

a. For standard NME NDAs and original BLAs, FDA will communicate details on anticipated PMRs required under Section 506(o)(3), PREA, Accelerated Approval, and the Animal Rule to the applicant no later than 8 weeks prior to the PDUFA action goal date.

b. For priority NME NDAs and original BLAs, FDA will communicate details on anticipated PMRs required under Section 506(o)(3), PREA, Accelerated Approval, and the Animal Rule to the applicant no later than 4 weeks prior to the PDUFA action goal date.

c. The communications described above in clauses (a) and (b) will provide preliminary evaluation of required postmarketing studies, including the study purpose, critical study design elements including a description of study and postmarketing study, timelines for discussions and engagement on the PMR for the remainder of the review cycle, and for 506(o)(3) PMRs the specific sourcing of the data.

d. If a major safety issue which requires a PMR is identified based on data submitted...
FADA’s performance goals for standard NME NDAs and original BLAs will be phased in, starting as follows:

a. In FY 2023, communicate anticipated PMRs to the applicant no later than 8 weeks prior to the PDUFA action date goal for 60% of standard NME NDAs and original BLAs.

b. In FY 2024, communicate anticipated PMRs to the applicant no later than 8 weeks prior to the PDUFA action date goal for 70% of standard NME NDAs and original BLAs.

c. In FY 2025, communicate anticipated PMRs to the applicant no later than 8 weeks prior to the PDUFA action date goal for 80% of standard NME NDAs and original BLAs.

d. In FY 2026, communicate anticipated PMRs to the applicant no later than 8 weeks prior to the PDUFA action date goal for 80% of standard NME NDAs and original BLAs.

e. In FY 2027, communicate anticipated PMRs to the applicant no later than 8 weeks prior to the PDUFA action date goal for 80% of standard NME NDAs and original BLAs.

FADA’s performance goals for priority NME NDAs and original BLAs will be phased in, starting as follows:

a. In FY 2023, communicate anticipated PMRs to the applicant no later than 6 weeks prior to the PDUFA action date goal for 60% of priority NME NDAs and original BLAs.

b. In FY 2024, communicate anticipated PMRs to the applicant no later than 6 weeks prior to the PDUFA action date goal for 70% of priority NME NDAs and original BLAs.

c. In FY 2025, communicate anticipated PMRs to the applicant no later than 6 weeks prior to the PDUFA action date goal for 80% of priority NME NDAs and original BLAs.

d. In FY 2026, communicate anticipated PMRs to the applicant no later than 6 weeks prior to the PDUFA action date goal for 80% of priority NME NDAs and original BLAs.

e. In FY 2027, communicate anticipated PMRs to the applicant no later than 6 weeks prior to the PDUFA action date goal for 80% of priority NME NDAs and original BLAs.

For the purposes of tracking and reporting metrics on all PMR goals described above, FDA will calculate metrics based on all NME and original BLA applications with issued PMRs, including Section 505(o)(3), PREA, Accelerated Approval, and the Animal Rule.

In addition, FDA will enhance clarity and transparency for the NME Review Program by updating all relevant Manuals of Policies and Procedures (MAPPs), Standard Operating Procedures (SOPPs), and guidances beginning FY 2023 and finalizing by the end of FY 2027 and will not be based on metrics or subject to performance goals.

D. Split Real Time Application Review (STAR) Pilot Program

FDA will establish a STAR pilot program, which has the goal of shortening the time from the date of complete submission to the action date, in order to allow earlier patient access to new and unmet medical needs. The STAR pilot program will apply to efficacy supplements across all therapeutic areas and review disciplines that meet specific criteria. Accepted STAR applications will be submitted in a “split” fashion, specifically in two parts (with the components submitted approximately 2 months apart).

1. Scope: The STAR program will seek to expedite patient access to novel uses for existing therapies by supporting initiation of review earlier than otherwise occur and therefore allowing earlier approval for qualified efficacy supplements. This program will apply across all therapeutic areas and review disciplines that meet specific criteria. An application will be considered eligible for STAR if each of the following criteria are met:

a. Clinical evidence from adequate and well-controlled investigation(s) indicates that the drug may demonstrate substantial improvement over existing, clinically relevant endpoints or over available therapies.

b. Breakthrough Therapy Designation (BTD) or Regenerative Medicine Advanced Therapy (RMAT) is not required, but above criteria must be met.

c. There is a foreign manufacturing site inspection, or control information that would require a foreign manufacturing site inspection (i.e., because the application is complete and ready for review if it does not affect the expedited timeframe).

2. Process and Timeline: The following steps summarize the process for applying to participate in the STAR program:

a. An applicant who believes an efficacy supplement qualifies for review under the STAR program will request an informal pre-submission meeting with FDA.

b. If FDA agrees that the pre-submission request meets the STAR program eligibility criteria, the application will be accepted into the STAR program, and the applicant will be required to provide the application in two parts (these two parts are described in the Split Submission Components section below or as agreed to with the Review Division).

c. FDA will initiate review of the data upon receipt of the Part 1 submission. The PDUFA timeline will begin on receipt of the Part 2 submission (which completes the application). FDA intends to follow the expedited review timelines (as described in Section 1.E. below). These timelines target taking an action at least 1 month earlier than the applicable PDUFA goal date.

Any modifications to submission content are at the discretion of the OND/CBER clinical division or CBER review office and must be agreed to in advance.

If FDA’s response is a non-agreement letter, the applicant may submit a request to the appropriate committee(s) described in (e) below with additional information, and/or data if appropriate.

e. Upon receipt of a reconsideration request, the review division/office will discuss with the appropriate internal committee (e.g., Medical Policy and Program Review Committee, Medical Policy Coordinating Committee, and Pediatric Review Committee).

f. The review division/office will issue a written response within 45 days of receipt of the reconsideration request. FDA’s response can be an agreement letter or a non-agreement letter. In a case of a non-agreement letter, the FDA will provide a rationale for their decision.

The process and timelines described above will be incorporated into all relevant MAPPs, SOPPs, and guidances beginning FY 2023 and finalizing by the end of FY 2027 and will not be based on metrics or subject to performance goals.
from industry stakeholders. Outputs from the assessment and workshop will be published in a publicly available report summarizing both overall metrics for the pilot program and stakeholders' feedback, including the percentage of applications accepted into the program based on the number of requests and the percentage of applications that received a decision prior to January 1, 2014, and in advance of the priority 6-month PDUFA goal date. FDA will also commit to training review staff on STAR processes and providing annual feedback summaries report summarizing training activities conducted.

5. Implementation: The STAR program will be available to applicants beginning in FY 2024. Early reviews will be implemented by FY 2024 to allow time for FDA to hire necessary staff to support the expedited timeline.

E. Expedited Reviews

The term “expedited review” in this letter refers to FDA’s review of either 1) a human drug application in the Program that has resolved priority review designation and the FDA reviewers are ready to do the review or 2) an efficacy supplement in the STAR pilot program, where the review team plans to act at least 1 month before the PDUFA goal date. This policy is intended to ensure an efficient review with act early on the application. In such cases, the FDA review team intends to make every effort to conduct an expedited review and act early on the application. FDA conducts expedited reviews to promote timely access to critically needed therapies for patients without compromising FDA’s high standards for ensuring the safety, efficacy, and quality of new medicines. If significant application deficiencies are identified by the review team at any time during an expedited review, FDA intends to revert to the normal priority review approach, and will inform the applicant accordingly.

F. Review of Proprietary Names to Reduce Medication Errors

To enhance patient safety, FDA is committed to various measures to reduce medication errors, including the proper labeling of medicines and avoiding medication errors that can arise from unclear label abbreviations, acronyms, dose designations, and error-prone labels. The following performance goals apply to FDA’s review of drug and biological product proprietary names during development (as early as end-of-Phase 2) and upon FDA’s review of a marketing application:

1. Proprietary Name Review Performance Goals During Drug Development
   a. Review 90% of proprietary name submissions filed within 180 days of receipt. Notify sponsor of tentative acceptance or non-acceptance.
   b. In the proprietary name is found to be unacceptable, the sponsor can request reconsideration by submitting a written rebuttal with the sponsor’s response and request a meeting within 60 days to discuss the initial decision (meeting package required).
   c. In the proprietary name is found to be unacceptable, the above review performance goals also would apply to the written request for reconsideration with supporting data or the submission of a new proprietary name.
   d. A complete submission is required to begin the review clock.

2. Proprietary Name Review Performance Goals during Application Review
   a. Review 90% of NDA/BLA proprietary name submissions filed within 90 days of receipt. Notify applicant of tentative acceptance or non-acceptance.
   b. A supplemental review will be done meeting the above review performance goals if the proprietary name has been submitted previously (investigational new drug (IND) phase after end-of-phase 2) and has received tentative acceptance.
   c. In the proprietary name is found to be unacceptable, the applicant can request reconsideration by submitting a written rebuttal with supporting data or request a meeting within 60 days to discuss the initial decision (meeting package required).
   d. In the proprietary name is found to be unacceptable, the above review performance goals also apply to the written request for reconsideration with supporting data or the submission of a new proprietary name.
   e. A complete submission is required to begin the review clock.

G. Major Dispute Resolution

1. Procedure: For procedural or scientific matters involving the review of human drug applications and supplements (as defined in PDEFA) that cannot be resolved at the signatory authority level (including a request for reconsideration by the signatory authority after reviewing any materials that are planned to be forwarded with an appeal to the next level), the response to appeals of decisions will occur within 30 calendar days of the Center’s receipt of written appeal.
   a. Performance goal: 90% of such appeals are provided within 30 calendar days of the Center’s receipt of the written appeal.
   b. Conditions:
      a) Sponsors should first try to resolve the procedural or scientific issue at the signatory authority level. If it cannot be resolved at that level, it should be appealed to the next higher organizational level (with a copy to the PDUFA staff and the Division of drug evaluation II, if necessary, to the next higher organizational level).
      b) Responses should be either verbal (followed by a written confirmation within 14 calendar days of the verbal notification) or written and should ordinarily be to either grant or deny the appeal.
      c) If the decision is to deny the appeal, the response should include reasons for the denial and any actions the sponsor may take to persuade the Agency to reverse its decision.
      d) In some cases, further data or further input from others may be needed to reach a decision. An appeal “response” should be the plan for obtaining that information (e.g., requesting further information from the sponsor, scheduling a meeting with the sponsor, scheduling the next scheduled advisory committee (AC)).
      e) In these cases, once the required information is received by the Agency (including any advice from an AC), the person to whom the appeal was made again has 30 calendar days from the receipt of the required information in which to either grant or deny the appeal.
      f) Again, if the decision is to deny the appeal, the response should include reasons for the denial and any actions the sponsor might take to persuade the Agency to reverse its decision.
      g) N.B. If the Agency decides to present the issue to an AC and there are not 30 days before the next scheduled AC, the issue will be presented at the following scheduled committee meeting to allow conformance with AC administrative procedures.

H. Clinical Holds

1. Procedure: The Center should respond to a sponsor’s complete response to a clinical hold within 30 days of a Division’s receipt of the submission of such sponsor response.
   a. Performance goal: 90% of such responses are provided within 30 calendar days of the Agency’s receipt of the sponsor’s response.

I. Special Protocol Question Assessment and Agreement

1. Agreement: Upon specific request by a sponsor (including specific questions that the sponsor desires to be answered), the Agency will evaluate whether the design is adequate to meet scientific and regulatory requirements identified by the sponsor.
   a. The sponsor should submit a limited number of specific questions about the protocol design and scientific and regulatory requirements for which the sponsor seeks agreement (e.g., is the carcinogenicity study adequate, considering the intended clinical dosage; are the clinical endpoints adequate to support a specific efficacy claim).
   b. Within 45 days of Agency receipt of the protocol and specific questions, the Agency will provide a written response to the sponsor that includes a succinct assessment of the protocol and answers to the questions posed by the sponsor. If the Agency does not agree that the protocol design, execution plans, and data analyses are adequate to achieve the goals of the sponsor, the reasons for the disagreement will be explained in the response.
   c. Protocols that qualify for this program include: carcinogenicity protocols, stability protocols, and Phase 3 protocols for clinical trials that will form the primary basis of an efficacy claim. For those such Phase 3 protocols to qualify for this comprehensive protocol assessment, the sponsor must have an end-of-Phase 3 meeting with the review division so that the division is aware of the developmental context in which the protocol is being reviewed and the questions being answered.
   d. N.B. For products that will be using Subpart E or Subpart H development schemes, the Phase 3 protocols mentioned in this paragraph should be construed to mean those protocols for trials that will form the primary basis of an efficacy claim no matter what phase of drug development in which the protocol was to be conducted.
   e. If a protocol is reviewed under the process outlined above and agreement with the Agency is reached on design, execution, and analyses, and if the results of the trial conducted under the protocol substantiate the hypothesis of the protocol, the Agency agrees that the data from the protocol can be used to support a new drug application for approval of the product. The fundamental agreement here is that having agreed to the design, execution, and analyses proposed in the protocol reviewed under this process, the Agency will not later alter its perspective on the issues of design, execution, or analyses unless public health concerns unrecognized at the time of protocol assessment under this process are evident.
   2. Performance goals: The review of special protocol assessments and agreement requests completed and returned to sponsor within the timeframe.

3. Reporting: The Agency will track and report the number of original special protocol assessments and resubmissions per original special protocol assessment.

J. Effectiveness Management Goals

1. Agreements: Formal PDUFA meetings between sponsors and FDA consist of Type A, B, B(EOP), C, Type D and INTERACT meetings. FDA plays an active role during drug development by providing advice and feedback to sponsors on the overall drug development programs during meetings conducted between sponsors and FDA. In general, FDA’s guidance provided at these meetings describe the Agency’s current thinking on a topic and should be viewed only as recommendations, unless specifically indicated or required. Statutory or regulatory requirements are cited. These meetings are further described below.

Type A meetings are those meetings that are not otherwise stated or described in the development program to proceed (i.e., a “critical path” meeting) or to address an important safety issue. Post-action meetings requested as a result of a novel regulatory action other than approval (i.e., issuance of a complete response letter) will also generally be considered Type A meetings.

Type B meetings include pre-IND meetings and pre-NDA/BLA meetings, while Type B(EOP) meetings are reserved for certain End-of-Phase 1 meetings (i.e., for 21 CFR Part 312 Subpart E or 21 CFR Part 314 Subpart H or similar products) and End-of-Phase 2/pre-Phase 3 meetings. Meetings regarding REMS or postmarketing requirements that occur outside the context of the review of a marketing application will also generally be considered Type B meetings.

A Type C meeting is any type of meeting other than Type A, B, B(EOP), D, or INTERACT.

A Type D meeting is focused on a narrow set of issues (e.g., often one, but typically not more than two issues and associated questions). Requested meetings should include:

1. A follow-on question that raises a new issue after a formal meeting (i.e., more than just a clarifying question about an FDA response from a prior meeting);
2. A narrow issue on which the sponsor is seeking Agency input with only a few associated questions; or
3. A general question about an innovative development approach that does not require extensive, detailed advice.

Type D meetings should be limited to no more than 2 focused topics. If the sponsor has several issues or a complex single issue with multiple questions, a Type C meeting should be requested rather than requesting several Type D meetings. In addition, the issue should not require input from more than 3 disciplines or Divisions. If the scope of the meeting is broad or includes complex questions that require input from more than 3 disciplines or Divisions, then FDA will inform the sponsor that the Agency will not be able to provide input on the requested issue and that the sponsor and the Agency should consider scheduling Type C meetings, or send written response, within 75 calendar days from receipt of meeting request.

2. Responses to Meeting Requests

a. Procedure: FDA will notify the requester in writing of the date, time, and place for the meeting, as well as expected Center participants following receipt of a formal meeting request. Requests for the timeframes for FDA’s response to a meeting request, including why a face-to-face meeting is valuable and warranted, and FDA will convert where possible WRO to a face-to-face meeting for requests that includes novel approaches to clinical development and/or where precedents are not well established.

b. Performance goal:

1. Type A, B, B(EOP) and C meetings: 90% of meetings are held within the timeframe for each meeting type, and 90% of written responses are sent within the timeframe for each meeting type.
2. By FY 2023, hold 50% of Type D meetings, or send written response, within 50 calendar days from receipt of meeting request.
3. By FY 2023, hold 70% of Type D meetings, or send written response, within 50 calendar days from receipt of meeting request.
4. By FY 2026, hold 80% of Type D meetings, or send written response, within 50 calendar days from receipt of meeting request.
5. By FY 2027, hold 90% of Type D meetings, or send written response, within 50 calendar days from receipt of meeting request.
6. By FY 2023, hold 50% of INTERACT meetings, or send written response, within 75 calendar days from receipt of meeting request.
7. By FY 2024, hold 60% of INTERACT meetings, or send written response, within 75 calendar days from receipt of meeting request.
8. By FY 2025, hold 70% of INTERACT meetings, or send written response, within 75 calendar days from receipt of meeting request.
9. By FY 2026, hold 80% of INTERACT meetings, or send written response, within 75 calendar days from receipt of meeting request.
10. By FY 2027, hold 90% of INTERACT meetings, or send written response, within 75 calendar days from receipt of meeting request.

4. Meeting Background Packages

The timing of the Agency’s receipt of the sponsor background package for each meeting type (including those meetings for which a written response will be provided) is specified in Table 5 below.

1. For any type of meeting, the sponsor may request a written response to its questions rather than a face-to-face or teleconference meeting. If the request is received within the timeframes specified in Table 4 below for the specific meeting type.
2. For pre-IND, Type C, Type D, and INTERACT meetings, while the sponsor may request a face-to-face meeting, the Agency may determine that a written response to the sponsor’s questions would be the most appropriate means for providing feedback and advice to the sponsor. When it is determined that the meeting request can be appropriately addressed through a written response, FDA will notify the requester of the date it intends to send the written response in the Agency’s response to the meeting request. This date will be consistent with the timeframes specified in Table 4 below for the specific meeting type.
3. If the sponsor believes a face-to-face Pre-IND meeting is valuable and warranted, then the sponsor may provide information or data regarding studies or fundamental insights explaining why a face-to-face meeting is valuable and warranted, and FDA will convert...

*If the scheduled date of a Type B(EOP) or C meeting is earlier than the timeframes specified in Table 4, the meeting background package will be due no sooner than 6 calendar days and 7 calendar days following the response time for Type B(EOP) and C meetings specified in Table 3, respectively.

5. Preliminary Responses to Sponsor Questions

a. Procedure: The Agency will send preliminary responses to the sponsor’s questions contained in the background package no later than five calendar days before the meeting date for Type B(EOP), C, D, and INTERACT meetings. For all other meeting types, the FDA intends to send the requester its preliminary responses no later than 2 calendar days before the meeting.

b. Performance goal: 90% of preliminary responses to questions for Type B(EOP), D, and INTERACT meetings are issued by FDA no later than five calendar days before the meeting date.

6. Sponsor Notification to FDA

Not later than 2 calendar days following the sponsor’s receipt of FDA’s preliminary responses for a Type B(EOP), D, INTERACT, or C meeting, the sponsor will notify FDA of whether the meeting is still needed. If the sponsor anticipates that the meeting is no longer needed, the liaison will inform the Agency transmits a written request for any meeting type. For INTERACT meetings, preliminary responses will be annotated and referred to in writing as a “Request for Clarification” to the FDA within 20 calendar days following receipt of meeting minutes or a WRO. For sponsor of sponsors who are encountering challenges in communication and training staffs in CDER communications between FDA and sponsors during drug development programs, which can enhance public health by making new and innovative products, and exploring the use of real world evidence for regulatory decision-making.

7. Meeting Minutes

a. Procedure: The Agency will prepare minutes that will be available to the sponsor 30 calendar days after the meeting for Type A, B, B(EOP), C, and D. The minutes will clearly outline the important agreements, disagreements, issues for further discussion, and action items from the meeting in bulleted form and need not be in great detail. Meeting minutes are not required if the Agency transmits a written response for any meeting type. For INTERACT meetings, preliminary responses will be sent within 30 calendar days if advice provided changes as a result of the meeting. In cases of a WRO, the WRO will serve as meeting minutes.

b. Performance goal: 90% of minutes are issued within 30 calendar days of the date of the meeting.

8. Guidance Meetings

For a meeting to qualify for these performance goals:

a. A written request must be submitted to the requestor.

b. The written request must provide:
   i. A brief statement of the purpose of the meeting and the sponsor’s proposal for either a face-to-face/virtual conference meeting or a written response from the Agency;
   ii. A listing of the specific objectives/outcomes the requester expects from the meeting;
   iii. A proposed agenda, including estimated times needed for each agenda item;
   iv. A listing of planned external attendees;
   v. A listing of all participants and representatives from the Center with an explanation for the request as appropriate; and
   vi. A date that the meeting background package will be sent to the Center. Refer to Table 5 for timeframes for the Agency’s receipt of background packages.

9. Guidance, Clarity, and Transparency

a. By September 30, FDA will issue a revised draft of the existing draft guidance on “Formal Meetings Between the FDA and Sponsors or Applicants of PDUFA Products” with input from INTERACT, Type D meetings, and the follow-up opportunity described below. In addition, FDA will update relevant MAPPs and SOFPs.

b. Follow-up on the key points for all meeting types, to ensure the sponsor’s understanding of FDA feedback from meeting discussions or a WRO, sponsors may submit clarifying questions to the Agency. For all meeting types, FDA will issue a response in writing within 20 calendar days of receipt of the clarifying questions. FDA’s response will reference the original meeting minutes or WRO.

c. Training: FDA will conduct external training to ensure the best practices outlined in the guidelines are communicated to Industry.

K. Enhancing Regulatory Science and Expediting Drug Development

To ensure that new and innovative products are developed and available to patients in a timely manner, the Agency will continue to advance the use of biomarkers and pharmacogenomics, enhancing communications between FDA and sponsors during drug development, and the development of drugs for rare diseases. The extension and continuation of this will encompass further evaluation and enhancement of FDA-sponsored communications, ensuring the sustained success of the breakthrough therapy program, continuing early consultations between FDA and sponsors on clinical trials, and best practices for communicating adverse events. FDA is continuing to enhance the use of real world evidence for regulatory decision-making.

1. Promoting Innovation Through Enhanced Communication Between FDA and Sponsors During Drug Development

FDA’s philosophy is that timely interactive communication with sponsors during drug development is a core Agency activity to help the Agency’s mission to facilitate the conduct of efficient and effective drug development programs, which can enhance public health by making new and innovative drugs available to the American public in a timely manner. Accordingly, FDA will maintain dedicated drug development communication and training staffs in CBER and CDRH, focused on enhancing communication between FDA and sponsors during drug development.

One function of the staff is to serve as a liaison that will facilitate general and, in some cases, specific interactions between sponsors and each Center. The liaison will serve as the first point of contact for sponsors who have general questions about drug development or who need clarification on which review division to contact with their questions. The liaison serves as a secondary point of contact in each Center for sponsors who are encountering challenges in communication with the review team for their IND (e.g., in instances when they have not received a response from the review team to a simple or clarifying question or referral to another internal meeting). In some cases, the liaison will work with the review team and the sponsor to facilitate resolution of the issue.

The second function of the staff is to provide ongoing training to the review organizations on best practices in communication with sponsors. The content of these training sessions includes, but is not limited to, FDA’s philosophy regarding timely interactive communication with sponsors during drug development, best practices for addressing sponsor requests for advice and timely communication of responses through appropriate mechanisms (e.g., teleconferences, secure email, or when questions are best addressed through the formal meetings process), and the role of the liaison staff in each Center in facilitating communication between the review staff and sponsor community, including the staff’s role in facilitating resolution of individual communication requests. The staff will also collaborate with sponsors who are interested in workshops, webinars, and other meetings) to communicate FDA’s philosophy and best practices regarding communication with sponsors during drug development.

Best Practices for meetings are the responsibility of both Industry and FDA. Efforts from both Industry and FDA are needed in order to continue advancement, improvement, and updating of best practices. To continue to enhance timely interactive communication with sponsors during drug development in PDUFA VII, FDA will do the following:

a. Public Workshop. FDA will hold a public workshop to discuss best practices for meeting management by July 30, 2024, including issues related to submission of meeting requests, efficient time management, coordinating meeting agenda, development and submission of meeting background packages and lessons learned from the Coronavirus Disease 2019 (‘‘COVID–19’’) pandemic including virtual meeting platforms. Learnings from the public meeting could inform FDA’s internal process improvement efforts and, as appropriate, be reflected in updating guidance. The workshop will also discuss and share experience and metrics related to all PDUFA meeting activities, including Type D and INTERACT meetings, and lessons learned from the Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic. The workshop will also discuss and share experience and metrics related to all PDUFA meeting activities, including Type D and INTERACT meetings, and lessons learned from the Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic. The workshop will also discuss and share experience and metrics related to all PDUFA meeting activities, including Type D and INTERACT meetings, and lessons learned from the Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic.

b. Guidance. Based on the discussion at the public meeting mentioned above in paragraph (a), and FDA’s experience with conducting meetings effectively, FDA will update public documents, as appropriate, including publishing revised draft or final versions of the Best Practices for Communication Between IND Sponsors and FDA During Drug Development guidance mentioned below, 18 months after the public meeting is held.

c. Training. FDA will conduct external training to ensure the best practices outlined in the guidelines are communicated to Industry.

2. Ensuring Sustained Success of Breakthrough Therapy Program

Through Therapy Program

Breakthrough therapy designation is intended to expedite the development and review of drug and biological products, alone or in combination, for serious or life-threatening conditions where preliminary clinical evidence indicates that the drug may demonstrate substantial improvement over existing therapies. A breakthrough therapy designation incurs many of the features of the fast track program, intensive FDA guidance on an efficient drug development program, and an organizational commitment to provide senior-level oversight. FDA will continue to retain current resources to enable the Agency to continue to work with the sponsor throughout the breakthrough therapy designation, development, and review processes. Both FDA and the regulated industry are committed to ensuring that the fast track approach continues to leverage the unique expertise on flexible and feasible approaches to studying and reviewing of rare diseases in children. The Rare Diseases Team provides its unique expertise in the development and timely approval of drugs and biologics for rare diseases.

3. Early Consultation on the Use of New Surrogate Endpoints

FDA and industry believe that early consultation with the review teams and sponsors is important for development programs where the sponsor intends to use a biomarker to surrogate the primary endpoint that has never been previously used as the primary basis for product approval in the proposed context of use. Early consultation in the drug development program allows the new team to consult with FDA senior management to evaluate the sponsor’s proposal before providing advice regarding the proposed biomarker as a new surrogate endpoint to support accelerated or traditional approval. Requests to engage with FDA on this topic will be considered a Type C meeting request. The process for consulting with FDA is to include formal meeting requests that indicate the feasibility of the surrogate as a primary endpoint and identify any gaps in knowledge and how they might be addressed. The outcome of this meeting may require further investigation by the sponsor and discussion and agreement with the agency before the surrogate endpoint could be used as the primary basis for product approval. To qualify for this consultation, these Type C meeting requests must be accompanied by the complete meeting background package at the time the request is made that includes preliminary human data indicating impact of the drug on the biomarker at a dose that appears to be generally tolerable. The remaining material is described in Section L.J of this document will apply.

4. Advancing Development of Drugs for Rare Diseases

FDA will build on the success of rare disease programs in CDER and CBER by continuing to advance and facilitate the development and timely approval of drugs and biologics for rare diseases, including rare diseases in children. The Rare Diseases Team staff in CDR will continue to be integrated into the rare disease development programs and application review to provide unique expertise on flexible and feasible approaches to studying and reviewing such drugs to include, for example, innovative use of biomarkers, consideration of non-traditional clinical development programs, use of adaptive study designs, evaluation of clinical endpoints, application of new approaches to statistical analysis, and appropriate use of FDA’s expedited development and review programs (i.e., Fast Track, Breakthrough Review, and/or Priority Review). CBER, through its Rare Disease Program Staff, will also ensure that its review offices consider such flexible and feasible approaches to studying and reviewing of rare diseases.

The rare disease staff will also continue to provide training to all CDER and CBER review staff related to development, review, and approval of drugs for rare diseases as part of the reviewer training core curriculum. The objective of the training will be to familiarize reviewers with the challenges associated with rare disease applications and strategies to address these challenges; to promote best practices for review of rare disease applications; and to encourage flexibility and scientific judgment among reviewers in the review and regulation of rare diseases in drug development programs and approval.

The training will also emphasize the important role of the rare disease team. The rare disease team will continue to foster collaborations in the development of tools (e.g., patient-reported outcome measures) and data (e.g., natural history studies) to support development of drugs for rare diseases. In addition, the staff will focus attention on interactions between stakeholders and FDA review divisions to increase awareness of FDA regulatory programs and engagement of patients in FDA’s regulatory decision-making.

FDA will include updates on the activities and success of the rare disease programs in the FDA’s annual performance report. FDA will establish a list of training courses offered and staff trained, the number of review programs where rare disease staff participated as core team members, and metrics related to rare disease stakeholders. FDA will also continue to include information on rare disease approvals in its annual reports on innovative drug approvals, FDA’s commitment to expedited programs and regulatory flexibility and appropriate comparative metrics to non-rare disease innovative approvals.

A. Rare Disease Endpoint Advancement (RDEA) Pilot Program

The lack of regulatory precedent, small trial populations, and/or limited understanding of disease natural history associated with rare diseases creates unique challenges when determining the appropriate efficacy endpoints, or endpoints that are intended to evaluate the effectiveness of rare disease therapies.

Though difficult to establish, well-developed efficacy endpoints, especially those that could apply to other rare diseases with similar manifestations, drive the general advancement of rare disease drug development. In addition to challenges associated with developing endpoints that appropriately capture key signs and symptoms of a rare disease and how patients feel, function, or survive, surrogate endpoint development is also challenging in diseases with slow progression, small patient populations, and/or endpoints that are already associated with drug development in rare diseases.

Current mechanisms for sponsors of rare disease drug development programs to collaborate with FDA are not structured to provide repeated, intensive interactions with the Agency. To support the advancement of rare disease treatments, FDA will establish an RDEA pilot program for supporting efficacy endpoint development for drugs that treat rare diseases by offering additional engagement for eligible sponsors with rare disease development programs that meet specific criteria. In addition, FDA will develop the staff capacity to enable and facilitate approaches to addressing types of novel endpoints.

The staff will support the complex and intensive review work necessary to evaluate novel endpoint development with a focus on the challenges of trial designs utilizing small populations.

Scopes. The RDEA pilot program will seek to evaluate rare disease development programs by providing a mechanism for sponsors to collaborate with FDA throughout the efficacy endpoint development process.

An endpoint, or type of endpoint, is considered eligible for proposal submission to RDEA if each of the following criteria are met:

(1) The associated development program should be active and address a rare disease, with an active IND or pre-IND for the rare disease.

(a) Sponsors who do not yet have an active development program but have, or are initiating, a natural history study where the proposed endpoint is intended to be studied are also eligible to apply.

(b) The FDA may also consider accepting a proposal for a development program for a common disease that includes innovative or novel endpoint elements, including the specific endpoint and/or the methodology being developed, if there is sufficient justification that the proposal could be applicable to a rare disease.

(2) The proposed endpoint is a novel efficacy endpoint intended to provide substantial evidence of effectiveness for a rare disease treatment.

(a) An endpoint is considered novel if it has not been used to support drug approval or if it has been substantially modified from previous use to support drug approval.

(b) Preference will be given to proposals that have the potential to impact drug development more broadly, such as one that uses a novel approach to develop an efficacy endpoint whose endpoint will be potentially relevant to other diseases. Preference will also be given to accepting proposals that reflect a range of different types of endpoints.

(c) A surrogate endpoint proposal, preference will be given to those with novel approaches for collecting additional clinical data in the pre-market stage to advance the validation of these endpoints. If the sponsor is proposing to develop a surrogate endpoint as part of a rare disease application, participation in a prior Type C Surrogate Endpoint meeting is encouraged.

(3) FDA will select a limited number of qualified proposals for admission into RDEA that increases after the first year of PDUFA VII:

(a) FY 2023: Sponsors may submit proposals beginning in Q4 and FDA will accept a maximum of 1 proposal per quarter with a maximum of 3 proposals per year.

(b) FY 2024–FY 2027: FDA will accept up to 1 proposal per quarter with a maximum of 3 proposals per year.

(c) Expansion of the program may be dependent on FDA staffing, process, and timeline. The following steps summarize the process for applying to and participating in the RDEA pilot program:

1. A sponsor who believes a development program qualifies for participation in RDEA will submit a proposal for inclusion that includes a justification addressing each of the criteria described above, including scientific justification for why the endpoint is being explored. The measure of benefit in the disease condition, relevant summaries of pertinent information related to the endpoint from prior studies, as well as a statement that indicates the sponsor is willing to disclose information for broader development and educational purposes.

2. FDA will confirm receipt of the sponsor’s proposal within 14 days of receipt.

3. FDA will notify the sponsor with a final selection decision no later than 90 days following the end of the FY quarter during which it is submitted.
(4) Before FDA grants the initial meeting, FDA and the sponsor will agree on the information that FDA may share publicly. When feasible, FDA will notify a sponsor in advance when the sponsor can request additional input or other information can be used to inform FDA thinking regarding how a URRA along with its associated human factors validation protocol submitted with the URRA to the Agency will be handled. FDA will do the following:

i. Within 60 days of Agency receipt of the URRA and specific questions, the Agency will either agree or non-agreement with comments for 90% of filed submissions, within 60 days of receipt of submission.

ii. Within 60 days of Agency receipt of the URRA and specific questions, the Agency will either agree or non-agreement with comments for 70% of filed submissions, within 60 days of receipt of submission.

iii. Within 60 days of Agency receipt of the URRA and specific questions, the Agency will either agree or non-agreement with comments for 50% of filed submissions, within 60 days of receipt of submission.

iv. Within 60 days of Agency receipt of the URRA and specific questions, the Agency will either agree or non-agreement with comments for 90% of filed submissions, within 60 days of receipt of submission.

v. Within 60 days of Agency receipt of the URRA and specific questions, the Agency will either agree or non-agreement with comments for 50% of filed submissions, within 60 days of receipt of submission.

vi. Within 60 days of Agency receipt of the URRA and specific questions, the Agency will either agree or non-agreement with comments for 90% of filed submissions, within 60 days of receipt of submission.

b. The Advancing RWE Program will include but not be limited to the following activities and components:

i. FDA will solicit applications for the Advancing RWE Program twice (i.e., two cycles) each year, asking sponsors to describe—before protocol development or study initiation—the regulatory question(s) they seek to address with RWE, the proposed RWE study design, and the potential real-world data (RWD) source(s) to support that design; sponsors will also use this opportunity to discuss various topics relevant to end-point development for rare diseases, such as the use of multisource analysis methods. To promote innovation and evolving science, novel endpoints developed through RDEA may be presented by FDA, such as in guidance documents, on a public-facing website, or at interactive workshops as case studies, including prior to FDA’s approval for the drug studied in the trial. However, as noted above, before FDA grants the initial RDEA meeting the Agency may request that the sponsor, in conjunction with relevant FDA staff to discuss endpoint development.

ii. The sponsor should submit a request for review of their URRA to the IND. The submission includes specific justifications that a HF validation study is not needed to be submitted including any supporting information, and scientific and regulatory requirements for which the sponsor seeks agreement.

iii. Within 60 days of Agency receipt of the URRA and specific questions, the Agency will either agree or non-agreement with comments for 90% of filed submissions, within 60 days of receipt of submission.

iv. Within 60 days of Agency receipt of the URRA and specific questions, the Agency will either agree or non-agreement with comments for 70% of filed submissions, within 60 days of receipt of submission.

submitting RWE proposals to an IND with CDER or CBER. Regardless of whether an Advancing RWE application is accepted, not accepted, or was never submitted to the Advancing RWE program, the sponsor is given the RWE submissions and meeting review timelines (e.g., formal PDUFA meetings with the review division) will continue to be available.

vii. Before FDA grants the initial meeting, FDA and the sponsor will agree on the information that FDA may share publicly. When feasible, FDA will notify a sponsor in advance of the meeting to understand the planned focus of a public discussion. Participation in the pilot program, including such agreement on information disclosure, will be voluntary and at the discretion of the sponsor.

viii. If FDA and the sponsor of an accepted proposal are unable to reach agreement on elements for public disclosure, however, that proposal will no longer be part of the Advancing RWE Program and the Agency will proceed with an alternate submission. The timelines for meetings described above would shift based on the dates of accepting alternate submissions, if applicable.

ix. Advancing RWE program-related meetings will focus on data, design, and regulatory issues that have the potential to generate RWE in support of a proposed indication.

x. FDA participation in the Advancing RWE Program, including the selection process and program-related meetings, will include from relevant review divisions, other offices with RWE expertise, and senior leadership with expertise in RWE.

xi. Sponsors and FDA can decide that four meetings may not be necessary if an agreement upon protocol is identified. Conversely, if FDA determines that key data- or design-related problems make the protocol unlikely to successfully support regulatory review decisions, then subsequent meetings within the Advancing RWE Program may not be conducted.

xii. FDA and sponsors agree that the goal of the Advancing RWE Program is general agreement on key design elements. The acceptability of evidence generated from any completed study is a subsequent review issue.

xiii. Sponsors who do not participate in the pilot program will have an opportunity to interact with the Agency through traditional channels.

c. Before later than June 30, 2023, FDA will report aggregate and anonymized information, on at least an annual basis and based on available sources (e.g., information provided by review divisions), describing RWE submissions to CDER and CBER. The reports will describe application type (e.g., primary focus on safety or effectiveness), data sources used (e.g., medical claims, electronic health records, registries, digital health technologies), study design employed (e.g., randomized trial, externally controlled trial, observational study), and regulatory request (e.g., request for review, FDA participation, data sources, post-approval study requirement for a marketed product). This reporting will include but not be limited to protocols emerging from the Advancing RWE Program.

d. By no later than December 31, 2025, FDA will convene a public workshop or meeting to discuss RWE case studies with a particular focus on approaches for generating RWE that can potentially meet regulatory requirements in support of labeling for effectiveness, safety, and appropriate use (i.e., in labeling, dosing information) or for meeting post-approval study requirements.

e. By no later than December 31, 2026, experience with the Advancing RWE Program, as well as CBER’s and CBER’s RWE program in general, will be used to update existing RWE-related guidance documents or generate new draft guidance, as appropriate.

2. Enhancing Regulatory Decision Tools to Support Drug Development and Review

Delivering new medicines to patients through value for innovation requires advancements in regulatory decision tools to support drug development and review. FDA will build on the successes of its efforts on Patient-Focused Drug Development (PFDD), benefit-risk assessment in regulatory decision-making, and the drug development tools qualification pathway for biomarkers. FDA will also consider approaches to enhance the efficiency of the drug development and review processes, such as complex adaptive, Bayesian, and other novel clinical trial designs and model-informed drug development (MIDD).

1. Enhancing the Incorporation of the Patient’s Voice in Drug Development and Decision-Making

To facilitate the advancement and use of systematic approaches to collect and utilize robust and meaningful patient and caregiver input that can more consistently inform drug development and, as appropriate, regulatory decision making, FDA will conduct the following activities during PDUFA VII:

a. FDA will continue to strengthen capacity to facilitate development and use of Patient-Focused methods to inform drug development and post-marketing observations. This includes expanded internal staff training and external outreach to industry sponsors and other involved stakeholders with emphasis on patient-focused drug development (PFDI) methods and tools-related guidance and practice to achieve broad acceptance and integration into drug development across review divisions and industry development programs. FDA will also engage external experts, through a mechanism called the Intergovernmental Personnel Act, to support the review of patient experience data. These external methodological experts will possess extensive knowledge in methods and approaches related to patient experience data and will augment existing internal expertise.

b. FDA will undertake a broad-based effort to conduct outreach and training across review divisions, with follow-up consultation as these methods gain broad acceptance and integration, including development of methodological training courses for review staff that will be conducted at least two times per year.

c. FDA will conduct targeted outreach to industry and methodological consulting organizations to gather their perspectives on diseases and domains of greatest need or highest priority for development of Standard Core COAs and Endpoints as well as their perspectives on preference-sensitive and patient preference information (PPI) data can inform regulatory decision-making.

d. By September 30, 2026, FDA will publish draft guidance on use and submission of patient preference information to support regulatory decision-making. FDA will work towards the goal of publishing final guidance within 18 months after the close of the public comment period on the draft guidance. If FDA determines that the guidance requires substantive changes on which further public comments are warranted, FDA will revise the draft guidance close 18 months instead. It then will work towards publishing a final guidance within 18 months after the close of the public comment period on the revised draft guidance.

2. Benefit-Risk Assessment in Regulatory Decision-Making

Benefit-risk assessment is a foundation of FDA’s regulatory review of marketing applications for new human drugs and biologics. FDA currently includes the Benefit-Risk Framework in its NDA and BLA review processes and documentation to support the conduct and communication of its benefit-risk assessment. CBER incorporates benefit-risk assessment through interdisciplinary review and has integrated the Benefit-Risk Framework into its clinical review team for its new BLA and supplement assessments. CDER has similarly integrated the Benefit-Risk Framework into its clinical review and decisional memo templates.

FDA is committed to continuing its implementation and application of benefit-risk assessment in its regulatory review processes and documentation. FDA will continue to explore additional opportunities to expand the use and application of its benefit-risk assessments for new drug and biological review.

3. Advancing Model-Informed Drug Development

FDA will build on the success of the "model-informed drug development” (MIDD) approaches by continuing to advance and implement the development and application of exposure-based, biological, and statistical models derived from preclinical and clinical data sources in drug development and regulatory decision-making. FDA will conduct the following activities during PDUFA VII:

a. By no later than the end of 1st Quarter of FY 2023, FDA will publish a Federal Register Notice announcing the continuation of the MIDD-related drug development and review program, outlining program eligibility, and describing the protocol for submission and FDA review.

b. For sponsors participating in the MIDD pilot program, FDA will grant a pair of meetings specifically designed for the development and application of exposure-based, biological, and statistical models derived from preclinical and clinical data. These meetings will be led by the clinical pharmacology or bio-statistical review components within CDER.
or CBER in partnership with clinical staff at the relevant center to ensure alignment with decision makers.

b. Starting in FY 2023, FDA will select 1-2 eligible and appropriate proposals per quarter each year (i.e. up to 8 per year). Additional proposals that meet the eligibility criteria may be selected depending upon the availability of resources. The interagency workgroup formed by FDA will continue to review proposals on a quarterly basis and provide recommendations on prioritization and selection of proposals and share knowledge and experience.

c. Sponsors who do not participate in the MIDD paired meeting program will have an opportunity to interact with the Agency through traditional channels.

d. FDA will issue a Request for Information (RFI) to identify potential stakeholders with relevant knowledge to support the development of CDER or CBER in partnership with clinical staff at the relevant center to ensure alignment with decision makers. The RFI will provide the opportunity to interact with the Agency through traditional channels.

e. FDA will issue a Request for Information (RFI) to identify potential stakeholders with relevant knowledge to support the development of CDER or CBER in partnership with clinical staff at the relevant center to ensure alignment with decision makers. The RFI will provide the opportunity to interact with the Agency through traditional channels.

4. Enhancing Capacity to Review Complex Innovative Designs

To facilitate the advancement and use of complex adaptive, Bayesian, and other novel clinical trial designs, FDA will conduct the following activities during DUFEVA VII:

a. FDA will continue to develop CDER and CBER staff capacity to facilitate appropriate use of these types of methods with the collaboration of other agencies and industry stakeholders. Such outreach will include providing information on the paired meeting program and its benefits, such as enhanced attention to regulatory questions and advancing the leveraging and sharing of knowledge to support efficient product development; clarifying policies and procedures for submitting CID proposals for review; and presenting FDA’s current thinking on CID-related technical topics.

b. Sponsors who do not participate in this paired meeting program will have an opportunity to interact with the Agency through traditional channels. This program will not affect FDA’s existing procedures for providing advice on trial designs.

c. By the end of 2nd Quarter FY 2024, FDA will convene a public workshop to discuss aspects of complex adaptive, Bayesian, and other novel clinical trial designs. Discussion topics will include considerations for external data sources, Bayesian statistical methods, and clinical trial implementation (e.g. examples of defining and mitigating bias when using select trial design methods) and will be based on FDA accumulated experience within and outside of the paired meeting program.

d. By the end of FY 2025, FDA will publish draft guidance on the Use of Bayesian Methodology in Clinical Trials of Drugs and Biologics. FDA will work towards the goal of publishing final guidance within 18 months after the close of the public comment period on the draft. After receiving comments on the draft guidance, FDA determines that the guidance requires substantive changes on which further public comments are warranted. The revised draft guidance will have an opportunity to interact with the Agency through traditional channels. Such outreach will include providing information on the paired meeting program and its benefits, such as enhanced attention to regulatory questions and advancing the leveraging and sharing of knowledge to support efficient product development; clarifying policies and procedures for submitting CID proposals for review; and presenting FDA’s current thinking on CID-related technical topics.

5. Enhancing Drug Development Tools Qualification Pathway for Biomarkers

To facilitate the enhancement of the drug development tools qualification pathway for biomarkers, FDA will conduct the following activities described in the RFI:

a. FDA will continue to retain and enhance the staff capacity to enhance biomarker qualification review by increasing base capacity and expanding review capacity to launch high density of full-time equivalents (FTEs) per month.

b. FDA will issue a Request for Information (RFI) to identify potential stakeholders with relevant knowledge to support the development of CDER or CBER in partnership with clinical staff at the relevant center to ensure alignment with decision makers. The RFI will provide the opportunity to interact with the Agency through traditional channels.

c. FDA will issue a Request for Information (RFI) to identify potential stakeholders with relevant knowledge to support the development of CDER or CBER in partnership with clinical staff at the relevant center to ensure alignment with decision makers. The RFI will provide the opportunity to interact with the Agency through traditional channels.

d. FDA will continue to issue new or update existing policies and procedures to systematize modernization and improve REMS assessments by incorporating REMS assessment planning into the design of REMS, clarifying its expectations regarding methods to determine the performance of REMS, increasing the efficiency of FDA’s review of REMS assessment reports, and establishing FDA performance goals for review of REMS assessment methods and study protocols.

a. By March 31, 2024, update relevant guidelines to incorporate REMS assessment planning into the design of REMS, clarifying its expectations regarding methods to determine the performance of REMS, increasing the efficiency of FDA’s review of REMS assessment reports, and establishing FDA performance goals for review of REMS assessment methods and study protocols.

after the close of the public comment period on the revised draft guidance.

d. Establish FDA review performance goals and provide feedback and comments on REMS and biological approaches to determine if protocols used to assess a REMS program for products within 90 days of receipt. FDA proposes the following staged implementation of review goals for REMS:

i. FY 2024, review and notify sponsor with concurrence or comments within 90 days of receipt for 50% of REMS assessment methods and protocols.

ii. FY 2024, review and notify sponsor with concurrence or comments within 90 days of receipt for 70% of REMS assessment methods and protocols.

iii. FY 2026 and FY 2027, review and notify sponsor with concurrence or comments within 90 days of receipt for 90% of REMS assessment methods and protocols.

2. Optimization of the Sentinel Initiative

The user fee funds initially provided in PDUFA VI to expand the Sentinel program will continue to systematically implement and integrate Sentinel and BEST (Biologics Effectiveness and Safety) Systems in FDA drug safety activities by sustaining the high quality and large quantity of data available, allowing for the application of advanced methods for determining when and how those data are utilized, and ensuring comprehensive training of review staff on the use of Sentinel. These user fee funds will support the use of the Sentinel Initiative for regulatory decision making to address questions of product safety and advance our understanding of how real-world evidence can be used for studying effectiveness.

a. Maintenance of the Sentinel Initiative Capabilities and Continued Integration into FDA Drug Safety Activities

FDA will use user fee funds to maintain the quality and quantity of data available through the Sentinel Initiative (Sentinel and BEST), to maintain the processes and tools for determining when and how those data are utilized, and to support comprehensive training of review staff on the use of Sentinel.

i. FDA will maintain the Sentinel's sources of data and core capabilities for the safety surveillance of biologics, including the multisite ARIA system.

ii. FDA will continue its communication with sponsors and the public regarding general methodological approaches to data including what the Agency has learned regarding the most appropriate ways to query and use Sentinel data.

iii. By the end of FY 2025, FDA will publish on its website an update on facilitation of public and sponsor access to Sentinel's distributed data network to conduct safety surveillance.

iv. FDA will continue to post study results, study parameters and analysis code online and maintain a strong Sentinel web presence to host these data.

v. FDA will continue to maintain a comprehensive FDA Sentinel training program for all relevant staff (e.g., epidemiologists, statisticians, project managers, medical officers, clinical analysts, and other review team members) to ensure that staff have a working knowledge of Sentinel, can identify when Sentinel can inform important regulatory questions and decisions, and are able to consistently participate in use of Sentinel to evaluate new data.

vi. By the end of FY 2025, FDA will analyze, and report on the use of Sentinel for regulatory purposes, e.g., in the contexts of labeling requirements, or PMCs.

vii. For FY 2023–2027, FDA will report its obligations for updated PDUFA VI commitments for PDUFA VII Sentinel Initiative annually in the PDUFA Financial Report. This reporting will provide detail for spending categories (e.g., data infrastructure, analytical projects, dissemination of relevant product and safety information, and Sentinel system development).

b. Enhancement of the Analytic Capabilities of the Sentinel Initiative to Address Questions of Product Safety and Advance the Understanding of How Real-World Evidence Can Be Used to Support Regulatory Decision Making

FDA will use user fee funds to advance the analytic capabilities of the Sentinel Initiative by (1) developing a consistent approach to postmarket studies and commitments during NDA and BLA related to assessing the outcomes of pregnancies in women exposed to drugs and biological products and clarifying the optimal use and value of pregnancy registries and electronic healthcare data for assessing pregnancy safety and (2) supporting the use of real-world evidence to address questions of product safety and advancing our understanding of how real-world evidence may be used for studying effectiveness.

1. Pregnancy Safety

The goal of pregnancy safety post-market requirements and commitments is to determine the likelihood of RWE with respect to pregnancy safety and to detect or evaluate safety signals in a timely manner.

a. Goals:

   (1) FDA will develop a framework describing how current and future ways of using real-world evidence for assessing pregnancy safety and to support the use of real-world evidence to address questions of product safety and advancing our understanding of how real-world evidence may be used for studying effectiveness.

   (2) FDA will initiate two methods development projects by September 30, 2024 to (1) develop general methodologies to use real-world evidence to determine pregnancy safety and to (2) develop a framework describing how current and future ways of using real-world evidence for assessing pregnancy safety and to support the use of real-world evidence to address questions of product safety and advancing our understanding of how real-world evidence may be used for studying effectiveness.

   (3) FDA will update new methods to support causal inference in Sentinel/BEST that could be used to support safety, questions and advance our understanding of how RWE may be used for studying effectiveness.

   (4) FDA will hold a workshop on use of negative controls and their future potential for assessing the validity of non-interventional studies of treatment and the proposed Sentinel Initiative projects.

2. Pregnancy Safety

FDA is building Sentinel/BEST methodologies to improve understanding of robustness evaluations used to address questions of product safety and advance our understanding of how real-world evidence can be used for studying effectiveness.

   (a) By September 30, 2023, FDA will hold a public workshop on post-market safety studies to detect a signal when the exposure to medication in pregnancy is relatively common.

   (b) By September 30, 2023, FDA will initiate two methods development projects by September 30, 2024 to (1) develop an empirical method to automate the negative control identification process in Sentinel and integrate it into the Sentinel System tools; and (2) develop a method to use a double negative control adjustment to reduce unmeasured confounding in studying effectiveness.

   (c) By September 30, 2027, FDA will publish a report on the results of the development projects.

N. Enhancements Related to Product Quality Reviews, Chemistry, Manufacturing, and Controls Approaches, and Advancing the Utilization of Innovative Manufacturing Technologies

To ensure new and innovative products are developed and available to patients in a timely manner, FDA and industry will focus on enhancing communications during drug development and application reviews, enhancing support for CMC development and facilitating the CMC readiness of products with accelerated clinical development timelines, and advancing the implementation of innovative manufacturing technologies.

1. Enhancing Communication Between FDA and Sponsors During Application Reviews

   To promote an efficient and effective application review process, FDA will conduct the following activities during PDUFA VII to enhance communications between the FDA review teams and sponsors:

   a. The four essential components of CMC information requests (referred to as Four-Part Harmony) are intended to ensure that the FDA requests information that is appropriate to address the question or issue, in an efficient manner, and at the appropriate level within the drug lifecycle, as applicable. Use of Four-Part Harmony includes acknowledging what was
During the COVID-19 public health emergency, the FDA expanded its use of alternate tools for assessing facilities named in applications, including exercising its authority to request access to facilities and inspecting in advance of or in lieu of an inspection, granted per section 704(a)(4) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 374a(a)). Where appropriate, the agency also increased the use of information, including inspection reports, shared by trusted foreign regulatory partners through mutual recognition agreements and other confidentiality agreements. As FDA continues to gain experience and lessons learned from the use of these tools, they will determine if, and how, this thinking on the use of such methods beyond the pandemic.

By September 30, 2023, FDA will issue draft guidance on the use of alternative tools to assess manufacturing facilities named in pending applications (e.g., requesting existing inspection reports from other trusted foreign regulatory partners through mutual recognition and confidentiality agreements, requesting information from applicants, responding to inquiries in a timely manner, and providing feedback). FDA will work towards publishing a final report of the assessment. The report will be designed to provide feedback through contractor-led interviews as part of the assessment. The contractor-led interviews will be designed to provide feedback from industry individuals on the effectiveness of Four-Part Harmony. Due to the significant nature of the work, the assessment will be published in advance of the year-end for FDA, and the report will be proportional to the number of applications received by each Center. The third party will identify best practices and areas for improvement in communication between FDA review staff and sponsors through IRs. FDA will publish the final report of the assessment on its website no later than June 30, 2025, for public comment.

2. Enhancing Inspection Communication for Applications, not Including Supplements to NDAs or BLAs. The FDA believes that an improved process for communication between FDA and industry would facilitate CMC readiness, the Pilot will incorporate, as applicable, contemporary learning and the use of science- and risk-based approaches to inform decision-making, such as those described in the FDA Guidance for Industry: Expedited Programs for Serious Conditions—Drugs and Biologicals. For sponsors participating in the CMC Development and Readiness Pilot, FDA will provide specific CMC advice during product development by providing two additional CMC-focused Type B meetings and an additional limited number of CMC-focused discussions based on readiness and defined CMC challenges. The communication between FDA review staff and applicants is intended to ensure a mutual understanding of what activities must be completed, and at what time, to support the appropriate timepoint (i.e., at the time of NDA or BLA submission, prior to the end of the review cycle, or post-approval), to ensure CMC readiness of a product.

1. By December 31, 2022, FDA will publish a Federal Register Notice (FRN) announcing the Pilot and outlining the eligibility criteria and process for sponsors to participate in the Pilot. For CDER, the eligibility criteria will focus on the selection of products with accelerated clinical development timelines that face challenges in expediting CMC development and readiness. The approaches in the CDER MAPP described above. For CBER, the eligibility criteria will include considerations for products with accelerated clinical development timelines (e.g., vaccines and cell and gene therapies). The FRN will give more specifics on products to be included in the Pilot and will consider industry’s interest in CBER-regulated products such as cell and gene therapies. FDA will select between 8–10 products per fiscal year over a 4-year period.

2. To promote innovation and understanding in this area, lessons learned through the Pilot may be presented by FDA (e.g., in public workshops, case studies, and stakeholder input regarding the CMC Development and Readiness Pilot. The workshop will solicit and include industry and public feedback.

Topics for the workshop will include, but are not limited to, the use of science- and risk-based approaches to inform decision-making, such as those described in the FDA Guidance for Industry: Expedited Programs for Serious Conditions—Drugs and Biologicals, including predictive stability modeling, risk-based approaches to product specification setting, and alternate process validation approaches, as well as experiences related to quality by design and platform technologies.

d. Strategy Document: Following the close of the public comment period for the public workshop, and no later than April 30, 2023, FDA will issue a strategy document outlining the Agency’s plans, including proposed timelines for review, additional guidance, and other applicable documents (e.g., guidance and process documents) to incorporate lessons learned from the Agency’s experience with the CMC Development and Readiness Pilot and other submissions for products with accelerated clinical development timelines, as well as guidance on PDUFA VII, including feedback from the public workshop.

5. Advancing Utilization and Implementation of Innovative Manufacturing

By the end of FY 2022, FDA will conduct a public workshop on the utilization of innovative manufacturing technologies for CDER- and CBER-regulated products, including barriers to their adoption and submission strategies. The workshop will solicit and include industry and public feedback.

The public workshop will incude but are not limited to:

a. Best practices and lessons learned from both the CDER Emerging Technology Team and CBER Advanced Technology Team programs from both industry and regulatory perspectives;

b. Case studies from previous innovative technology submissions presented by sponsors;

c. Barriers (technical, regulatory, etc.) to the adoption of innovative manufacturing technologies;

d. Regulatory strategies for the adoption of advanced manufacturing technologies, including, but not limited to, submission strategies and/or utilization of certain innovative technologies across multiple commercial products and/or multiple manufacturing sites; and

e. Science- and risk-based approaches for developing and assessing innovative technologies across platform products and sites to streamline adoption.

Following the close of the public comment period for the public workshop, and no later than September 30, 2024, FDA will issue a draft strategy document for public comment that will outline the Agency’s plans. The Agency will take over the course of PDUFA VII to facilitate the utilization of innovative manufacturing technologies, including addressing barriers to adoption. The activities described in the draft strategy document will be based on lessons learned from the Agency’s experiences with submissions involving advanced manufacturing technologies as well as feedback from the workshop and other public input. The strategy document may include updating or creating new procedures, guidelines, and scientific/other relevant programs related to the topics discussed in the workshop. The strategy document will also include proposed timelines for the specific actions of the public in the document.

FDA will consider public input and finalize the strategy document within 9 months after the close of the public comment period for the draft strategy document.

O. Enhancing CBER’s Capacity to Support Development, Review, and Approval of Cell and Gene Therapy Products

To ensure that new and innovative cell and gene therapy products are developed and available to patients in a timely manner, FDA will build on the success of the Cell and Gene Therapy Products (CGTP) in further support and advance a balanced approach to product development and regulation. To this end, FDA will substantially strengthen staff capacity and capability in order to meet the increasing challenges and demands in this growing field. Increasing staff will include recruiting and retaining resources, allowing staff to spend additional time on meetings and submission reviews including those with breakthrough therapies, orphan drugs, regenerative medicine and alternate process validation approaches. Staff will continue discussing use of existing approaches (e.g., surrogate endpoints, real world evidence, complex design, natural histories) and explore new approaches for obtaining efficacy and safety information with specific consideration and attention to rare and ultra-rare diseases.

To advance the field and support the next generation of cell and gene therapy products, CBER will conduct the following activities during PDUFA VII.

1. Patient Focused Drug Development
a. By the end of FY 2023, FDA will convene a workshop of key stakeholders including patients and patient advocacy organizations, to better understand patient perspectives on gene therapy products, including cell-mediated gene therapy. This meeting should address, among other things, the patient and caregiver’s level of understanding and expectations regarding the benefits and risks of these therapies, and their involvement in clinical study design and execution. Within 6 months of the public meeting, FDA will issue a final guidance on patient-focused drug development.

2. Novel Approaches to Development of Cell and Gene Therapy
a. FDA will continue to work with stakeholders including public-private partnerships to seek public input on questions and challenges faced by cell and gene therapy developers, including the use of novel endpoints and the role of less defined natural histories, and to facilitate development and approval for cell and gene therapy products that are limited to, individualized therapies, rare disease and therapies for small patient populations.

b. By the end of FY 2025, FDA will issue a draft guidance on the evaluation of efficacy in small patient populations using novel trial designs and methods, as well as feedback from the workshop and other public input. The strategy document may include updating or creating new procedures, guidelines, and scientific/other relevant programs related to the topics discussed in the workshop. The strategy document will also include proposed timelines for the specific actions of the public in the document.

FDA will consider public input and finalize the strategy document within 9 months after the close of the public comment period for the draft strategy document.

2. By the end of FY 2025, FDA will issue a draft guidance on the evaluation of efficacy in small patient populations using novel trial designs and methods, as well as feedback from the workshop and other public input. The strategy document may include updating or creating new procedures, guidelines, and scientific/other relevant programs related to the topics discussed in the workshop. The strategy document will also include proposed timelines for the specific actions of the public in the document.

FDA will consider public input and finalize the strategy document within 9 months after the close of the public comment period for the draft strategy document.

C. In order to promote development of cell and gene therapy products, FDA will issue Questions and Answers draft guidance by the end of FY 2024 based on frequently asked questions, and commonly faced-issues identified by the industry and public.

D. In order to promote development of cell and gene therapy products, FDA will issue Questions and Answers draft guidance by the end of FY 2024 based on frequently asked questions, and commonly faced-issues identified by the industry and public.

after the close of the public comment period on the draft guidance. If, after receiving comments on the draft guidance, FDA determines that the guidance requires substantive changes, FDA will issue a revised draft guidance within those 18 months. It then will work towards publishing a final guidance within those 18 months after the close of the public comment period on the revised draft guidance.

4. By the end of FY 2024, FDA will convene a public meeting to solicit input on methods and approaches (e.g., use of RWE, registries) for capturing post-approval safety and efficacy data for cell and gene therapy products. Within 6 months of the public meeting, FDA will issue a summary report or a transcript of the meeting. Input from this meeting will be used to develop the draft guidance on this topic. FDA will issue a draft guidance on this topic by the end of FY 2025. FDA will work towards the goal of publishing final guidance within 18 months after the close of the public comment period on the draft guidance. If, after receiving comments on the draft guidance, FDA determines that the guidance requires substantive changes on which further public comments are warranted, FDA will issue a revised draft guidance within those 18 months instead. It then will work towards publishing a final guidance within 18 months after the close of the public comment period on the revised draft guidance.

5. Monitor and Modernize ESG

a. Annually, FDA will provide on the ESG website historic and current metrics on ESG performance in relation to published targets, characterizations and volume of submissions, and standards adoption and conformance.

b. FDA will advance the ESG cloud-based modernization with an improved architecture that supports greatly expanding data submission bandwidth and storage, while continuing to ensure its stable operation.

5. Monitor and Modernize ESG

a. Annually, FDA will provide on the ESG website historic and current metrics on ESG performance in relation to published targets, characterizations and volume of submissions, and standards adoption and conformance.

b. FDA will advance the ESG cloud-based modernization with an improved architecture that supports greatly expanding data submission bandwidth and storage, while continuing to ensure its stable operation.

6. Leverage Cloud Technology to Progress Regulatory Digital Transformation

Cloud and cloud-based technology offer significant advantages over traditional on-premise data repositories and analytics. Combined with interoperable information exchange mechanisms, these advantages open a new opportunity for FDA to promote and implement innovation in the drug development and regulatory review process.
The outcomes of demonstration projects in PDUFA VII will be the building blocks, informing and positioning FDA and regulated industry to take best advantage of third-party capabilities in conjunction with their own infrastructure, as well as investigating the potential for such capabilities to be jointly leveraged by other regulatory authorities.

a. FDA will engage with external parties to develop and test reusable and portable core capabilities that can be supported both with FDA’s environmental assets in trusted third-party environments. This engagement will be through mechanisms such as, but not limited to, cooperative agreements, contracts, Cooperative Research and Development Agreements (CRADAs) and public-private partnerships.

b. By the end of Q3 FY 2023, FDA will assess challenges or barriers in FDA’s adoption of cloud-based technologies in applicant-regulator interactions and within 6 months will publish the findings of this assessment.

c. In FY 2023, FDA, in consultation with industry, will prioritize and initiate the first of at least 3 demonstration projects to explore cloud-based technologies to streamline, improve and enable a variety of applicant-regulator interactions.

i. In support of the use of DHT-derived data in regulatory submissions, FDA will enable its capability to effectively receive, aggregate, store, and process large volumes of static or continuously updated DHT-derived data captured during a clinical trial.

ii. Projects will demonstrate applications of cloud technology to applicant-regulator interactions and secure shared environments for applicant-regulator interactions, such as Next Generation Sequencing, in regulatory submissions. FDA will develop additional expertise and staff capacity in both CDER and CBER to efficiently and provide feedback on in-formation and accompanying data in submissions and meet performance goals, especially for those submitted early in development.

iii. Projects will develop increasingly rich and flexible technical capabilities that can be leveraged for multiple purposes by regulators and industry, either internally within a regulator’s or industry’s environment, or through a trusted third-party, thus promoting convergence through common components such as Cloud-hosted Individualized Secure Collaboration Hubs (ISCH) which provide secure shared environments for various cloud-based collaboration initiatives.

1) An example might be to utilize an ISCH for applicant-regulator label negotiations; another might be to hold continuously updated DHT-derived data for analysis.

2) Within 6 months of completion of a demonstration project, a summary of outcomes and next steps will be compiled and shared with industry at the regularly scheduled FDA-industry meetings. A description of the project and summary of outcomes will be posted on the FDA website.

a. FDA will engage industry to provide feedback and/or participate in testing in advance of significant decisions that impact industry’s interaction with the enterprise-wide systems.

i. FDA will publish progress and plans at quarterly meetings with industry.

f. Demonstration projects and associated capabilities development will be completed by the end of FY 2027 with no expectation of additional funding for these activities beyond PDUFA VII.

7. Provide Bioinformatics IT Support

a. FDA will assess its bioinformatics capabilities, and annually, ensure that IT resources are provided to support DHT applications, including DHT development, cloud-based storage and computing capacity, operations support and maintenance.

b. Outcomes will be shared at regularly scheduled FDA-industry meetings.

B. Expanding and Enhancing Bioinformatics Support

Bioinformatics and computational biology are increasingly being used to assess product quality, safety and efficacy and facilitate the development, characterization and manufacture of human drugs and biologics. Recognizing the substantial increase in the volume and diversity of bioinformatics and computational biology information and data, such as Next Generation Sequencing, in regulatory submissions, FDA will develop additional expertise and staff capacity in both CDER and CBER to efficiently and provide feedback on information and accompanying data in submissions and meet performance goals, especially for those submitted early in development.

1. By the end of Q2 FY 2023, FDA will establish a DHT framework document guide the use of DHT-derived data in regulatory decision-making for drugs and biological products. The framework will guide activities such as to:

a. Define objectives for workshops and demonstration projects;

b. Work with the FDA Digital Health Center of Excellence (DHCoE) to increase consistency across regulatory programs, to inform relevant learnings from review of demonstration projects and by CDHR, and to consider cross-center topics;

c. Manage submissions with extensive and complex data sets, e.g., in order to develop acceptable approaches to capture adverse events;

d. Develop a standardized process for data management and analysis of large datasets from DHTs.

2. By the end of Q2 FY 2023, FDA will establish a committee including members from CDER and CBER to assess the feasibility and potential benefits of the commitments in this section. The establishment of the committee and its purpose will be made public on the FDA website.
a. Cover key issues to inform regulatory policy development and regulatory advice. E.g., the projects may examine such areas as validation methods, analytic approaches to mimicking the use of multi-center inputs to characterize an endpoint, evaluation of continuous data vs discrete measurements, use and limitations of use of DHTs in clinical trials, and appropriate regulatory review.

By the end of Q2 FY 2024, FDA will publish draft, revised or final guidance on the use of DHTs in traditional and decentralized clinical trials while addressing the validation of measurements made by DHTs, the development of novel endpoints using DHTs, the use of DHTs as new ways to measure existing endpoints, approaches to using the patients' own DHTs such as cell phones or smart watches, usability considerations for patients, and detection of safety signals during continuous data acquisition, and issues related to security and confidentiality of data.

b. FDA will work towards the goal of publishing final guidance within 18 months after the publication of the draft guidance on the use of DHTs. As part of this goal, the Agency will develop and disseminate new guidance that includes updated information on previous DHTs and associated endpoints. FDA will issue a revised draft guidance within 18 months of the publication of the draft guidance. If, after receiving comments on the draft guidance, FDA determines that the guidance requires substantive changes, the Agency will develop and disseminate updated public information, either in the form of a revised draft guidance or a final draft guidance. It is anticipated that the final draft guidance will be published within 18 months of the public comment period on the revised draft guidance.

c. During the period of the draft guidance, FDA will work towards the goal of publishing final guidance within 18 months after the publication of the draft guidance. If, after receiving comments on the draft guidance, FDA determines that the guidance requires substantive changes, the Agency will develop and disseminate updated public information, either in the form of a revised draft guidance or a final draft guidance. It is anticipated that the final draft guidance will be published within 18 months of the public comment period on the revised draft guidance.

2. By the end of Q2 FY 2024, FDA will publish draft, revised or final guidance on regulatory considerations for Prescription Drug Use-Related Software that includes information about software that is disseminated by a drug applicant for use with a prescription drug or biologic product that may be described in labeling, including prescribing information. This guidance will cover software that is distributed with a drug or integrated as part of a drug- or biologic-led combination product, as well as software that is distributed by an applicant independent of an approved product.

3. FDA will expand its capacity to achieve its stated objectives in this section and to enhance the human drug and biologics program (and as appropriate with the medical devices program) with regard to development, use, and review of DHTs and associated endpoints. Through a combination of expanded staff and contract support, FDA will:

   a. Build technical expertise within the human drugs and biologics program to enhance internal knowledge, capabilities for review of IND and NDA/BLA submissions including DHT derived endpoints, policy, standards development.
   b. Train FDA staff in evaluation of DHTs.
   c. Develop statistical methodology for the design, analysis, and interpretation of DHT-derived clinical trial endpoints.
   d. Build review capacity and expertise to respond to DHT developers and biopharmaceutical applicants who want to use DHTs; and
   e. Apply a consistent approach to review of DHTs across CDER, CBER, and CDHR as appropriate.

4. FDA will enhance its IT capabilities to support the review of DHT-generated data:

   a. By the end of Q2 FY 2023, FDA will enhance its IT systems to support reviews of DHT-related submissions including capturing key information about clinical trials utilizing DHTs to support tracking the number and rate of change of DHT-related submissions.
   b. In FY 2023, FDA will establish a secure cloud-based environment for its infrastructure and analytics environment that will enable FDA to effectively receive, aggregate, store, and process large volumes of data from clinical trials and other related efforts.
   c. After establishing the cloud environment, FDA will pilot a secure cloud-based mechanism to support submission and review of DHT-generated data sets.
   d. FDA will work to enhance, recommend and implement standards that reduce the handling of personal data in a way that is analyzable and amenable to tracking, capture, and use.

5. By the end of Q1 FY 2023, FDA will publish draft, revised or final guidance on the use of DHTs in traditional and decentralized clinical trials while addressing the validation of measurements made by DHTs, the development of novel endpoints using DHTs, the use of DHTs as new ways to measure existing endpoints, approaches to using the patients' own DHTs such as cell phones or smart watches, usability considerations for patients, and detection of safety signals during continuous data acquisition, and issues related to security and confidentiality of data.

6. By the end of FY 2023, FDA will publish draft, revised or final guidance on regulatory considerations for Prescription Drug Use-Related Software that includes information about software that is disseminated by a drug applicant for use with a prescription drug or biologic product that may be described in labeling, including prescribing information. This guidance will cover software that is distributed with a drug or integrated as part of a drug- or biologic-led combination product, as well as software that is distributed by an applicant independent of an approved product.

7. By the end of Q1 FY 2023, FDA will publish draft, revised or final guidance on regulatory considerations for Prescription Drug Use-Related Software that includes information about software that is disseminated by a drug applicant for use with a prescription drug or biologic product that may be described in labeling, including prescribing information. This guidance will cover software that is distributed with a drug or integrated as part of a drug- or biologic-led combination product, as well as software that is distributed by an applicant independent of an approved product.

8. As used in this commitment letter, "regulatory decision making" may include, for example, FDA's process for making a regulatory decision regarding a drug or biologic that is placed on the market through the expedited pathway, such as during drug development, following FDA's review of a marketing application, including the review of products under section 351(a) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act as described in Section IV.A.6.b.

9. 10. As used in this commitment letter, "regulatory decision making" may include, for example, FDA's process for making a regulatory decision regarding a drug or biologic that is placed on the market through the expedited pathway, such as during drug development, following FDA's review of a marketing application, including the review of products under section 351(a) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act as described in Section IV.A.6.b.
FDA will be reporting Total Time to Decision performance as described in Section VII. FDA and industry will participate in the independent assessment of progress toward this outcome described in Section VI below. As appropriate, key findings and recommendations from this assessment will be implemented by FDA.

A. PMA

For Pre-Submissions in FY’s 2023 through 2027, the average shared outcome Total Time to Decision goal for FDA and industry is 235 calendar days.

II. REVIEW PERFORMANCE GOALS — FISCAL YEARS 2023 THROUGH 2027 AS APPLIED TO MDUFA COHORTS

The guidance objective of the review performance goals stated herein is to assure more timely access to safe and effective medical devices.

A. Pre-Submissions

FDA will communicate the Pre-Submission program as described in the guidance on “Requests for Feedback and Meetings for Medical Device Submissions: The Q-Submission Program.”

For any Pre-Submissions in the MDUFA Cohort for which FDA does not meet the Pre-Submission Written Feedback goal, FDA will communicate with the applicant regarding a meeting date within 15 calendar days of receipt of accepted submission. The minutes described in Section VIII.E below for the applicant regarding a meeting date within 15 calendar days of receipt of accepted submission. For all requests for feedback or teleconferences that were not handled within the 15 calendar days, FDA will provide written feedback that addresses the issues raised in the Pre-Submission.

Pre-Submission Written Feedback goal: FDA will provide written feedback that addresses the issues raised in the Pre-Submission.

If all of the applicant’s questions are addressed through written responses to the applicant’s satisfaction, FDA and the applicant can agree that a meeting or teleconference is not necessary. If a written response is not satisfactory, written responses will be considered the final written feedback to the Pre-Submission.

Applicants will be responsible for developing draft meeting or teleconference meeting materials and, if applicable, will provide a draft meeting schedule.

For Pre-Submissions in the MDUFA Cohort for which FDA does not meet the Pre-Submission Written Feedback goal, FDA will continue the Pre-Submission program as described in the guidance on “Requests for Feedback and Meetings for Medical Device Submissions: The Q-Submission Program.”

In FY 2023, 90% of Pre-Submissions in the MDUFA Cohort if the MDUFA Cohort is fewer than 3585, or 75% of Pre-Submissions in the MDUFA Cohort is 3585 or more, up to 4300 submissions.

In FY 2024, 90% of Pre-Submissions in the MDUFA Cohort if the MDUFA Cohort is fewer than 3585, or 75% of Pre-Submissions in the MDUFA Cohort is 3585 or more, up to 4300 submissions.

In FY 2023-2027, 90% of Pre-Submissions in the MDUFA Cohort are subject to the Pre-Submission Written Feedback goal.

These Pre-Submission Written Feedback goals are subject to adjustment per Section III below.

The MDUFA Cohort will only include Pre-Submissions as defined in Section VII.G below for devices that are accepted for review up to a maximum number of accepted Pre-Submissions. The maximum number of Pre-Submissions will be accepted in accordance with the Pre-Submission acceptance checklist described in FDA’s guidance. Requests for Feedback and Meetings for Medical Device Submissions: The Q-Submission Program.”

In addition, the following types of requests for feedback available to Breakthrough-designated products and/or products included in the Safer Technologies Program (STeP) are considered accepted for review upon receipt:

- Sprint discussions
- Requests for review of a data development plan
- Requests for review of a clinical protocol agreement

The MDUFA Cohort will not include Pre-Submissions that are withdrawn at request of applicant or closed due to lack of applicant response.

For any Pre-Submissions in the MDUFA Cohort for which FDA does not meet the Pre-Submission Written Feedback goal, FDA will communicate with the applicant regarding a meeting date within 15 calendar days of receipt of accepted submission. The minutes described in Section VIII.E below for the applicant regarding a meeting date within 15 calendar days of receipt of accepted submission. against objective acceptance criteria outlined in a published guidance document and consistent with the statute and its implementing regulations.

If the application is not accepted for filing review, FDA will notify the applicant of those items necessary for the application to be considered accepted for filing review.

For submissions that are accepted for filing review, FDA will communicate the filing status within 45 calendar days of receipt of the application.

For those applications that are not filed, FDA will communicate with the applicant the specific reasons for rejection and the information provided in the letter from the FDA.

If the application is filed, FDA will communicate with the applicant through a Substantive Interaction within 90 calendar days of the date of the application for 85% of submissions.

When FDA issues a major deficiency letter, that letter will be based upon a complete review of the application and will include all deficiencies. Deficiency letters will include a statement of the basis for the deficiencies, as provided in Section V.B. Deficiency letters will be the result of supervisory review prior to issuance to ensure that the deficiencies cited are relevant to a determination of safety and effectiveness. Subsequent deficiencies identified will be limited to issues raised by the information provided by the applicant in its response, unless FDA concludes that the initial deficiencies are not adequately addressed. Such a determination will be supported by the appropriate management concurrence consistent with applicable guidance and SOPs. Issues related to post-approval studies, if applicable, and revisions to draft labeling will be addressed through interactive review once major deficiencies have been adequately addressed.

FMA decision goal: For Original PMAs, PDPs, Panel-Track Supplements, and Premarket Reports that do not require Advisory Committee input, FDA will issue a MDUFA decision within 180 FDA Days for 95% of submissions. This FMA decision goal is relevant for purposes of Section III below.

For submissions that require Advisory Committee input, FDA will issue a MDUFA decision within 180 FDA Days for 95% of submissions. FDA will issue a MDUFA decision within 60 days of the Advisory Committee recommendation, as resources permit, but not to the detriment of meeting the quantitative review timelines and statutory obligations. The Office Director shall review each request for Advisory Committee input for appropriateness and need for this input. If in any one fiscal year, the number of submissions that require Advisory Committee input is less than 10, then it is acceptable to combine such submissions with the submissions for the following year(s) in order to form a cohort of 10 or more submissions, upon which the second year’s submissions will be subject to the performance goal. If the number of submissions that require Advisory Committee input is less than 10 for FY 2027, FDA will be able to combine such submissions in the prior year(s) to form a cohort of 10 or more submissions: in such cases, FDA will be held to the FY 2027 performance goal for submissions for which the submittal was accepted for review as of the date the submission was received.

To facilitate an efficient review prior to the Substantive Interaction, and to incentivize submission of a complete application, FDA will provide FDA Days equal to 75% of the difference between the filing date and the date of receipt of the amendment. Requests from FDA that a submission be made will not be considered unsolicited.

For all PMA submissions that do not reach a MDUFA decision by 20 days after the application is accepted for filing, FDA will provide feedback to the applicant to be discussed in a meeting or teleconference, including all outstanding issues with the application. The information provided will reflect appropriate management input and approval and will include action items for FDA and/or the applicant, complete date of completion for each party to complete their respective tasks. Issues should be resolved through interactive review. If all of the outstanding issues are adequately presented through written correspondence, FDA and the applicant can agree that a meeting or teleconference is not necessary.

For PMA submissions that receive a MDUFA decision of Approvable, FDA will issue a decision within 60 days of the sponsor’s response to the Approvable letter, as resources permit, but not to the detriment of meeting the quantitative review timelines and statutory obligations. In addition, information about submissions that miss the FDA Day goal will be provided as part of FDA’s Performance Reports, as described in Section III below. FDA will issue a MDUFA decision within 90 FDA Days for 95% of submissions.

FDA will communicate with the applicant through a Substantive Interaction within 90 calendar days of receipt of the submission for 95% of submissions.

Deficiencies identified in a Substantive Interaction, such as a telephone/mail or Additional Information Letter, will be based upon a complete review of the submission. Deficiency letters will include a statement of the basis for the deficiencies, as provided in Section V.B. Deficiency letters will undergo supervisory review prior to issuance to ensure that the deficiencies cited are relevant to a determination of safety and effectiveness. Any subsequent deficiencies will be limited to issues raised by the information provided by the applicant in its response, unless FDA concludes that the initial deficiencies identified do not adequately address important new issues materially relevant to a determination of substantial equivalence. Any subsequent deficiencies will be limited to issues raised by the information provided by the applicant in its response, unless FDA concludes that the initial deficiencies identified do not adequately address important new issues materially relevant to a determination of substantial equivalence. Such a determination will be supported by the appropriate management concurrence consistent with applicable guidance and SOPs.

For “CLIA Waiver by application” submissions, FDA will issue a MDUFA decision for 90% of the applications that require Advisory Committee input within 330 FDA days.

If in any one fiscal year, the number of submissions in any CLIA Waiver by Application category is less than 10, then it is acceptable to combine such submissions with the submissions for the following year(s) in order to form a cohort of 10 or more submissions, upon which the combined years' submissions will be subject to the performance goal.

For all CLIA Waiver by application submissions and dual submissions that do not reach a decision by 20 days after the applicable FDA Day goal, FDA will provide written feedback to the applicant to be discussed in a meeting or teleconference, including all outstanding issues with the application preventing FDA from reaching a decision. The information provided will reflect appropriate management input and approval, and will include a plan, order of comments, and an estimate of the total time for a response, as appropriate, with an estimated date of completion for each party to complete their respective tasks. MDUFA V will provide for increases in fee revenue above the annual total revenue amount to support performance improvements in FY 2025, FY 2026, and/or FY 2027, as detailed below. If such fee revenue adjustments are not made, the performance goals in Section II apply.

For the purpose of fee revenue adjustment, performance of all goals in this section, except for the Pre-Submission Written Feedback goal, will be determined based on data available as of 18 months following the close of the fiscal year at issue. Thus, for a FY 2023 goal, the performance will be determined based on data available as of March 31, 2024. For the Pre-Submission Written Feedback goal, performance will be determined based on data available as of 6 months following the close of the fiscal year at issue. Thus, for example, for the Pre-Submission Written Feedback goal for FY 2023, performance will be determined based on data available as of March 31, 2024.

A. PMA and 510(k): Decision Goals and Shared Outcome Total Time to Decision Goal

I. FDA’s PMA Shared Outcome Total Time to Decision goal, the FDA/Industry 510(k) Shared Outcome Total Time to Decision goal, FDA’s PMA decision goal, and the FDA/Industry PMA Shared Outcome Total Time to Decision goal are met for FY 2023, and fee revenue above the annual total revenue amount is provided in FY 2026 and FY 2027 to support performance improvements, the 510(k) Shared Outcome Total Time to Decision goal will be adjusted to 108 days for FY 2023, FY 2026 and FY 2027 and the PMA Shared Outcome Total Time to Decision goal will be adjusted to 270 days for FY 2023 and FY 2027.

If FDA’s 510(k) decision goal, the FDA/Industry 510(k) Shared Outcome Total Time to Decision goal, FDA’s PMA decision goal, and the FDA/Industry PMA Shared Outcome Total Time to Decision goal are met in FY 2024, the 510(k) Shared Outcome Total Time to Decision goal will be extended to 108 days for FY 2024, and fee revenue above the annual total revenue amount is provided in FY 2027 to support performance improvements, the 510(k) Shared Outcome Total Time to Decision goal will be adjusted to 270 days for FY 2027.

B. De Novo Requests

If the De Novo decision goal is met for FY 2023, and fee revenue above the annual total revenue amount is provided in FY 2023 and FY 2027 to support performance improvements, the goal will be adjusted to 80% of De Novo requests receiving a MDUFA decision within 150 FDA days for FY 2026 and FY 2027.

If the De Novo decision goal is met for FY 2024, and fee revenue above the annual total revenue amount is provided in FY 2027 to support performance improvements, the goal will be adjusted to 80% of De Novo requests receiving a MDUFA decision within 150 FDA days in FY 2027.

C. Pre-Submissions

If the Pre-Submission Written Feedback goal is met for FY 2023, and fee revenue above the annual total revenue amount is provided to support performance improvements, the maximum number of submissions subject to the goal will escalate to 4700 Pre-Submissions in FY 2025, 2026 and 2027.

If the Pre-Submission Written Feedback goal is met for FY 2024, and fee revenue above the annual total revenue amount is provided to support performance improvements, the maximum number of submissions subject to the goal will escalate to 4700 Pre-Submissions in FY 2026 and FY 2027.

If the Pre-Submission Written Feedback goal is met for FY 2025, and fee revenue above the annual total revenue amount is provided to support performance improvements, the goal will not be subject to a maximum number of submissions in FY 2027.

The goal for BLA resubmissions in the MDUFA Cohort receiving timely feedback, as described in Section II.A, will remain at 90% for FYs 2025, 2026, and 2027.

A. Quality Management

The CDRH Quality Management and Organizational Excellence (QMOE) Program is comprised of a team of certified quality management staff who report to the Center Director. This QMOE staff is focused on meeting customers’ needs by improving continuous improvement efficiencies and effectiveness of operations. The QMOE Program establishes and leads the CDRH Quality Management System (QMS) activities, facilitates the development of process improvements, independently audits CDRH processes and activities, and assesses the effectiveness of actions taken to prevent potential (risk management) and reoccurrence of issues (nonconformity management).

At least once per year, the Agency will discuss with industry the specific areas it intends to incorporate into its audit plan with the QMOE Program. FDA will identify, with industry input, areas to audit, which will include the effectiveness of CDRH’s nonconformity management process. FDA will continue to expand the scope of its annual audits as it implements and builds up its auditing capability, as resources permit. At a minimum, FDA audits in the following areas will be completed: Pre-Submissions and Third Party Review Program.

Part of these ongoing audits, high-performing premarket review best practices utilized in one Office of Health Technology (OHT) will be identified and shared according to the MDUFA V goal to improve efficiencies and effectiveness.

At least once per year, FDA will report on the results of the audits, best practices identified, and planned actions and the actions taken in response to nonconformities associated with the nonconformity management process.

B. MDUFA Financial Transparency and Hiring

1. Financial Transparency

FDA will publish a MDUFA 5-year financial plan no later than the end of the 2nd quarter of FY 2023. The financial plan will include the Agency’s financial targets. No later than the end of the 2nd quarter of each subsequent fiscal year, FDA will publish updates to the 5-year plan as of the end of the prior fiscal year. The annual updates will include information concerning:

- The number of new MDUFA V hires by Office;
- The number of new MDUFA V hires made from outside the Center, as well as the number of new MDUFA V hires made from current FDA/PHS/Other employee sources;
- The number of unfilled new MDUFA V hires;
- The changes in the personnel compensation and benefit costs for the process for the review of medical device applications that exceed the amounts provided by the personnel compensation and benefit costs portion of the inflation adjustment;
- An accounting of appropriated user fee funds included in the operating reserves at the end of each fiscal year, as well as the carryover balance of user fee funds that are considered unappropriated or unearned and therefore not included in the operating reserves; and
- An accounting of the amount excluded from the designated amount within the operating reserves, which is intended to support the Third Party Review program and the Total Product Life Cycle Advisory Program.

2. Carryover Balance

MDUFA V will provide for FDA to decrease registration fees if the Agency has more than 13 weeks of operating reserves in the carryover balance. If funding MDUFA V FDA will use funds in the carryover balance to support the Third Party Review program and the Total Product Life Cycle Advisory Program. The amount of carryover balance funds intended to support these programs will be excluded when... calculated the amount of operating reserves to determine if registration fees will be decreased. The current statutory one-month reserve will also be excluded when calculating operating reserves. If necessary, the agency will determine if registration fees will be decreased. User fee funds in the carryover balance that are considered unappropriated or unsecured are not included in the operating reserves.

No less than annually, FDA and industry will work together to seek alignment on how best to utilize available funds in the carryover balance to improve the process for the review of device applications—e.g., performance on submission types with performance goals, and management processes. FDA and industry will use, as input for the discussion, workload information, performance objectives, and ongoing reported performance data.

3. Hiring Goals

Enhancements to the medical device review program require that FDA recruit, hire and retain sufficient numbers and types of technical, scientific, and other program experts to support the process for the review of device applications. To support the increased agency personnel, FDA and industry will use, as input for the discussion, workload information, performance objectives, and ongoing reported performance data.

To help ensure that FDA accomplishes hiring in alignment with the assumptions underlying the agreement, FDA will establish annual hiring goals for each year of MDUFA IV.

The minimum hiring goals for FY 2023-2025 are:

FY 2023: 144 hires
FY 2024: 32 hires
FY 2025: 21 hires

As described in Section III, the MDUFA V agreement provides for enhancements to the shared outcome time to decision goals and to specified review performance goals, provided that specified goals were met in prior years. These enhanced goals will be applicable in FY 2025 (for the Pre-Submission Written Feedback goal) and FY 2026-2027 (for the Pre-Submission Written Feedback goal, the PMA Shared Outcome Total Time to Decision goal, the 510(k) Shared Outcome Total Time to Decision goal, and the De Novo Decision goal).

FDA and Industry have agreed that, if performance improvement adjustments are triggered for any given year under Section III, the Agency will increase hiring to support the enhanced goals.

FY 2024

In FY 2024, if performance improvement adjustments are made to the Pre-Submission Written Feedback goal per Section III, FDA will increase the hiring goal by 59 hires to a total of 83 hires. As part of the process for establishing the user fee rates for FY 2025, FDA will also calculate the hiring goal for that year and include the goal in the associated Federal Register fee-setting notice.

FY 2025 and FY 2027

In FY 2025 and FY 2027, the number of hires will depend on (1) which performance improvement adjustments are triggered for that year, and (2) whether the hiring goal was increased prior to FY 2025. For FY 2026 and FY 2027, as part of the process for establishing the user fee rates for that year, FDA will also calculate the hiring goal for that year and include the goal in the associated Federal Register fee-setting notice.

Pre-hires

For purposes of determining whether the hiring goals for FY 2023, 2024 and 2025 are met, FDA will include “pre-hires” that are made in FY 2022 for MDUFA V positions. In addition, for subsequent fiscal years, if FDA exceeds the hiring goal, additional hires made above the goal will be counted towards the following fiscal year goal.

4. Fee Adjustment Related to Hiring

For FY 2023, if the hiring goal is missed by more than 15% at the end of the fiscal year (i.e., if fewer than 123 hires are made in FY 2023), the funding that was expected to be available for MDUFA V positions will be reduced. The amount of the hiring adjustment fee decrease will be the product of the number of hires by which the hiring goal was missed and the one-quarter of the inflation-adjusted core fee rate (if applicable).

For FY 2024, if the hiring goal is missed by more than 10% at the end of the fiscal year (i.e., if fewer than 38 hires are made in FY 2024), unused fees that were projected to be available for the applicable fiscal year will be used to decrease registration fees for FY 2025, respectively.

The amount of the hiring adjustment fee decrease will be the product of the number of hires by which the hiring goal was missed and the one-quarter of the inflation-adjusted core fee rate (if applicable).

For the purpose of calculating progress toward meeting these hiring goals, a hire is defined as someone who has been confirmed as an employee, working at FDA, or, in some cases, a hire can also be a current FDA employee who is transferred within the FDA.

For purposes of determining whether the hiring goal was missed in any given fiscal year, the hiring goal includes “pre-hires” that are made in FY 2022 for MDUFA V positions. In addition, for subsequent fiscal years, if FDA exceeds the hiring goal, additional hires made above the goal will be counted towards the following fiscal year goal.

V. PROCESS IMPROVEMENTS

A. Interactive Review

The Agency will continue to incorporate an interactive review process to provide for, and encourage, informal communication between FDA and applicants to facilitate timely completion of the review process based on accurate and complete information. Interactive review entails responsibilities for both FDA and applicants. As described in the 2014 guidance document, “Types of Communication During the Review of Medical Device Submissions,” both FDA and industry believe that an interactive review process for premarket medical device submissions should help facilitate timely completion of the review based on accurate and complete information. Interactive review is intended to facilitate the efficient and timely review and approval by FDA of premarket submissions and is expected to support reductions in total time to decision. The interactive review process contemplates increased informal interaction between FDA and applicants, including the exchange of scientific and regulatory information.

B. Deficiency Letters

By January 1, 2023, the Agency will update the 2017 guidance “Developing and Responding to Deficiencies in Accordance with the Medical Device User Fee Act (MDUFA) for Industry and FDA Staff” to clarify what constitutes a statement of the basis for the deficiency and continue alignment with the following guidance:

Deficiency letters should include a statement of the basis for the deficiencies (e.g., a specific reference to applicable section of a regulation, a specific reference to applicable guidance, rule or letter unless the entire or most document is applicable). In the instance when the deficiency cannot be traced in the manner above and relates to a scientific or regulatory issue pertinent to the determination, FDA will cite the specific scientific issue and the information to support its position.

Deficiency letters will undergo supervisory review prior to issuance to ensure the deficiencies cited are relevant to a marketing application decision (e.g., 510(k) clearance, PMA approval, and de novo classification).

FDA will train staff and managers on the updated guidance and for making improvements (including incorporating best practices), as appropriate, to address findings from audits and consistent with the guidance.

FDA will provide a statement of the basis for the deficiency, consistent with the updated guidance, in deficiency letters as follows: 75% of deficiencies in FY 2023, 80% of deficiencies in FY 2024, 85% of deficiencies in FY 2025, 90% of deficiencies in FY 2026, and 95% of deficiencies in FY 2027.

C. IT Infrastructure for Submission Management

FDA will continue to enhance IT infrastructure to support the process for the review of device applications. FDA will maintain and improve on the Customer Collaboration Portal, including the submission progress tracking system that provides near real-time submission status. By the end of MDUFA V, the progress tracking system will include 510(k), Original PMA and Panel-Track Supplements, De Novo, Pre-Submissions, and IDEs.

FDA will continue to develop electronic submission templates that will serve as guided submission preparation tools for industry to improve submission consistency and enhance efficiency in the review process. Templates for Original PMA and Panel-Track Supplements, De Novo, Pre-Submissions, and IDEs will be continually updated and made available for voluntary use by the end of MDUFA V.

D. Training

FDA will continue to evaluate and improve training for new and existing reviewers under the agreement. FDA training efforts will also be closely coordinated with the QMOE Program to provide more targeted and personalized training to staff.

E. Time Reporting

FDA will continue to perform complete time reporting such that data from time reporting can be used to conduct workload analysis and capacity planning.

The voluntary Accreditation Scheme for Consensus Assessment Program (ASCA) is intended to enhance product reviewers’ and device manufacturers’ confidence in medical device testing when manufacturers rely on tests completed by ASCA-accredited testing laboratories. This should generally decrease the need for the FDA to request additional information regarding testing methodologies when a premarket submission includes ASCA testing. ASCA also incorporates existing international conformity assessment standards and practices where practical.

FDA will use lessons learned from implementation of the ASCA Pilot Program during MDUFA IV to transition from a pilot to a sustainable and expanded program. Specifically, the Agency will:

1. By the end of FY 2023, FDA will complete the ASCA Pilot. In Q1 of FY 2024, FDA will provide a report on the performance of the ASCA Pilot Program (to replace the report specified in the MDUFA IV Commitment Letter also available in FY 2023). The report, FDA will provide at least the following information:

- The frequency of the standards selected to support confidence by FDA and industry in the methods used and results reported by ASCA-accredited testing laboratories;
- The number of testing laboratories included in the training and ASCA program, and areas where any nonconformities were observed;
c. Number of submissions containing the ASCA Summary Report; and

D. Summary Report acceptance rate by FDA reviewers; and

e. Support for commonly cited deficiencies regarding the Summary Report.

2. FDA will train staff and supervisors so that specific deficiencies are relevant to the requirements of the Summary Report.

3. FDA will continue to provide adequate training to testing laboratories and reviewers to accurately execute the ASCA process.

4. FDA will report annually on the progress of the ASCA program.

5. FDA will work with stakeholders for further potential substantive improvements and/or consideration for expansion.

D. Third Party Review

The Agency will continue to support the Third Party Review program, with the objective of eliminating routine review by FDA of Third Party reviews through continuation of the following activities:

1. Provide training for Third Parties seeking accreditation by FDA. This training shall include the opportunity for Third Parties to have access to redacted review memos and other information as appropriate.

2. Designation of patient specific device type change, FDA will maintain a process to convey this information to the Third Parties and to industry.

3. Annually provide pre-training to accredited Third Parties based on the results of audits.

4. Publish performance of individual accredited third parties with at least 10 completed submissions on FDA’s website (e.g., rate of NSE, average number of holds, average time to SE).

FDA will continue the factors described in the guidance, “3(10)k Third Party Review Program,” in determining device type eligibility for the Third Party Review program. Consequently, the guidance, some of the factors that rely on clinical data to demonstrate substantial equivalence may be eligible for Third Party Review.

E. Patient Science and Engagement

The Agency will take the following actions to continue engaging patients and incorporating their perspectives in the regulatory process. Where appropriate, the Agency will leverage existing patient and partnerships with patients, healthcare providers, industry, and others, as well as collaborations across FDA Centers, to advance these actions.

1. Expand clinical, statistical, and other scientific expertise and staff capacity to respond to submissions containing applicant-proposed use of voluntary patient preference information (PPI), voluntary patient reported outcomes (PROs), and/or patient generated health data (PGHD). These staff will provide submission review and early consultation/advice to industry during study planning.

2. Issue a draft guidance providing best practices on incorporating into premarket studies clinical outcome assessments including their use as primary or co-primary endpoints, clinical outcome assessment (COA) describes or reflects how a person feels, functions, or survives and can be reported by a health care provider or a non-clinical observer (such as a parent), through performance of an activity or task, or by the patient.

3. Support the use of innovative technology and data collection applications to support and reduce patient burden to inform clinical study design and conduct, with a goal of reducing barriers to patient participation and facilitating recruitment and retention.

4. By the end of FY 2024, hold a public meeting to explore ways to use patient-generated health data to help advance remote clinical trial data collection and support clinical outcome assessments.

5. FDA will undertake the following activities to improve patient predictability and impact of patient science:

a. Develop case examples of modified or adapted regulatory office PROs and take office PROs use of existing validated PRO instruments which may be improved or adapted to other subpopulations or other regulatory uses in a more streamlined and expeditious manner than creating novel PROs.

b. Strengthen efforts to expand staff understanding of Patient Science and Engagement (PSE) in the submission inclusions through training curriculum and internal infrastructure to improve consistency (e.g., the Patient Science Program).

c. Update FDA’s existing guidance, “Patient Preference Information—Voluntary Submission, Review in Premarket Approval Application, Humanitarian Device Exempt Application, and De Novo Requests, and Inclusion in Decision Summaries and Device Labeling,” with pragmatic insights and to address common questions for those interested in the voluntary use of PPI in regulatory submissions.

d. Explore opportunities to improve patient science tools for medical devices and advance health equity through targeted incorporation of diverse patient perspectives and integration of data from diverse patients.

e. Identify high impact opportunities to incorporate patient perspectives.

f. Facilitate industry efforts to collaborate with patients in key areas by generating patient-friendly educational modules on device trials, medical device definitions, real-world tools, and regulatory frameworks. FDA will also make these educational modules publicly available, as appropriate.

The existing Patient Information process should be used in the event of disagreement between the applicant and the Agency on the need for PRO, PPI and/or other tools to capture PGHD.

F. Real World Evidence (RWE)

The Agency will use user fee revenue for the continued development of Real-World Data (RWD) and RWE methods and policies for premarket regulatory purposes, including expanded indications for use and new clearance/approval of new devices, and clarify related reporting requirements.

1. FDA will update the 2017 guidance document “Use of Real-World Evidence to Support Regulatory Decision for Medical Devices” to provide more clarity on:

a. Least burdensome general expectations on what is needed to demonstrate the “Fit-for-Purpose of RWD” for premarket regulatory purposes.

b. More Information, including generalized examples, on previously used and accepted methodologies; and

c. Best practices for RWE review.

2. FDA will continue to advance CDRH’s RWD/RWE Training program for FDA review teams including the medical review staff.

3. FDA will provide transparent program development costs and financial accounting of User Fee revenue specifically intended for the activities in this section.

a. FDA will provide oversight on the RWE program activities at two or more open public meetings during the course of MDUFA V.

b. FDA hiring of internal experts to support the review of RWD/RWE-related submissions will be tracked.

c. In any portion of the user fee funding is distributed to the National Evaluation System for health Technology (NEST), the funding should be used to transparently:

i. Support the development of RWD resources to facilitate appropriate access for research studies.

ii. Convene experts to develop best practices to advance innovative methodology approaches with respect to RWE development and analysis.

iii. Include, on the organization’s governing board, no fewer than 4 representatives of the trade associations that participated in the MDUFA V negotiations (AdvaMed, MDMA, MITA, and ACLA), with each association appointing an individual to serve. Industry representation on the governing board, if applicable, will make up at least 20% of the governing board membership at all times, and shall be selected by the industry associations.

iv. Support the use of innovative technology and data collection applications to support and reduce patient burden to inform clinical study design and conduct, with a goal of reducing barriers to patient participation and facilitating recruitment and retention.

3. Continue to participate in international harmonization efforts related to digital health, including work on developing software and other digital health convergence efforts.

4. Finalize the draft guidance, “Content of Premarket Submissions to Support Software Functions,” by 18 months from close of the comment period.

5. Publish draft guidance describing a process to evaluate a premarket submission of a software control plan for digital health devices.

6. Engage with stakeholders, including patients, users, and industry, through roundtables, informal meetings, and teleconferences to explore regulatory approaches to digital health technologies.

H. Guidance Document Development

The Agency will continue to develop software and digital health technical expertise to provide assistance for premarket submissions that include software, interoperable devices, or otherwise incorporate digital health convergence technologies, such as artificial intelligence or machine learning (AI/ML), Virtual, Mixed, and Augmented Reality (VR/MR/AR) and wearables.

The Agency will:

1. Continue to develop software and digital health technical expertise to provide assistance for premarket submissions that include software, interoperable devices, or otherwise incorporate digital health convergence technologies, such as artificial intelligence or machine learning (AI/ML), Virtual, Mixed, and Augmented Reality (VR/MR/AR) and wearables.

2. Strengthen efforts to expand staff understanding of digital health topics and enhance consistent evaluation in submissions through training and internal infrastructure (e.g., Focal Point Program).

3. Continue to participate in international harmonization efforts related to digital health, including work on developing software and other digital health convergence efforts.

4. Finalize the draft guidance, “Content of Premarket Submissions to Support Software Functions,” by 18 months from close of the comment period.

5. Publish draft guidance describing a process to evaluate a premarket submission of a software control plan for digital health devices.

6. Engage with stakeholders, including patients, users, and industry, through roundtables, informal meetings, and teleconferences to explore regulatory approaches to digital health technologies.

H. Guidance Document Development

The Agency will apply user fee revenues to ensure timely completion of Draft Guidance documents. The Agency will strive to finalize, withdraw, reopen the comment period, or issue a new draft guidance for 80% of draft guidance documents in the timeframe of the user fee funding that may be distributed to any external organization(s) other than NEST to support premarket RWD.

7. If any portion of the user fee funding is distributed to an external organization(s) other than NEST, the funding will be accounted for in FDA’s quarterly MDUFA report.

G. Digital Health

The Agency will continue to build its digital health expertise and continue working to streamline and allow for processes with software lifecycle for digital health products. Specifically, the Agency will:

1. Continue to develop software and digital health technical expertise to provide assistance for premarket submissions that include software, interoperable devices, or otherwise incorporate digital health convergence technologies, such as artificial intelligence or machine learning (AI/ML), Virtual, Mixed, and Augmented Reality (VR/MR/AR) and wearables.

2. Strengthen efforts to expand staff understanding of digital health topics and enhance consistent evaluation in submissions through training and internal infrastructure (e.g., Focal Point Program).

3. Continue to participate in international harmonization efforts related to digital health, including work on developing software and other digital health convergence efforts.

4. Finalize the draft guidance, “Content of Premarket Submissions to Support Software Functions,” by 18 months from close of the comment period.

5. Publish draft guidance describing a process to evaluate a premarket submission of a software control plan for digital health devices.

6. Engage with stakeholders, including patients, users, and industry, through roundtables, informal meetings, and teleconferences to explore regulatory approaches to digital health technologies.

H. Guidance Document Development

The Agency will apply user fee revenues to ensure timely completion of Draft Guidance documents. The Agency will strive to finalize, withdraw, reopen the comment period, or issue a new draft guidance for 80% of draft guidance documents in the timeframe of the user fee funding that may be distributed to any external organization(s) other than NEST to support premarket RWD.

7. If any portion of the user fee funding is distributed to an external organization(s) other than NEST, the funding will be accounted for in FDA’s quarterly MDUFA report.
withdraw, reopen the comment period, or issue a new draft guidance for 100% of draft guidance documents within 5 years of the close of the comment period as resources permit. The FDA will continue to develop guidance documents and improve the development process as resources permit, but not to the detriment of meeting quantitative review timelines and statutory obligations.

1. International Harmonization

The FDA is committed to improving the efficiency of the global regulatory systems for medical devices through international harmonization and convergence of regulatory requirements. The Agency will take the following actions to advance such international harmonization. Specifically, the Agency will:

1. Expand engagement in international harmonization and convergence efforts through participation with international regulators and other key stakeholders in forums, working groups, projects, and committees to promote alignment with international best practices and internationally developed policies, including exploring the development of harmonized premarket review processes.

2. Further support regulatory convergence by creating a mechanism for FDA to work with regulatory partners with whom we have appropriate confidentiality commitments to inform and align international regulatory strategies and policies. For example, sharing of scientific, clinical, or other technical information, or policies and practices, as needed and consistent with applicable disclosure law and policy.

3. Commencing in FY 2023, assess the extent of CDRH implementation of International Medical Device Regulators Forum (IMDRF) technical documents and make this information publicly available to enhance clarity and transparency.

4. Support the creation of a forum to engage with relevant stakeholders, including industry representatives and other regulators, to identify opportunities for regulators to leverage one another’s approach to decision making.

5. Participate in outreach activities to other regulatory authorities that encourage harmonization and also encourage such authorities to rely in whole or in part on FDA marketing authorizations.

6. By FY 2023, issue for public comment a draft strategic plan with additional details and timelines associated with achieving the international harmonization objectives described above.

7. Commencing with FY 2024, publish an annual assessment of the international harmonization activities described the strategic plan above, including the progress assessment described in subparagraph 4 above.

1. Total Product Life Cycle (TPLC) Advisory Program

The FDA will establish a pilot of the Total Product Life Cycle (TPLC) Advisory Program (TAP Pilot) during the course of MDUFA V.

1. Vision: The long-term vision for a successful Total Product Life Cycle (TPLC) Advisory Program (TAP) Pilot is to help spur more rapid development as well as more rapid and widespread patient access to safe, effective, high-quality medical devices of public interest. Participation in the TAP Pilot will also help ensure the sustained success of the Breakthrough devices program.

2. TAP Pilot Objective: The TAP Pilot is intended to assess the feasibility and benefits of process improvements to FDA’s early interactions with participants and FDA’s facilitation of interactions between participants and other stakeholders that support the vision for TAP. Through the TAP Pilot, the FDA will provide the following types of strategic engagement for innovative devices of public health importance:

- Improving participants’ experiences with FDA by providing for more timely premarket review of the TAP Pilot.
- Enhancing the experience of all participants throughout the device development and review process, including FDA staff.
- Facilitating strategic decision-making during product development, including earlier identification, assessment, and mitigation of product development risk.
- Facilitating regular, solutions-focused engagement between FDA review teams, participants, and other stakeholders such as patients, providers, beginning early in device development; and
- Collaborating to better align expectations regarding evidence generation, improvement, submission quality, and improve the efficiency of the premarket review process.

3. Goals: To achieve the above TAP Pilot objective, FDA will:

- a. Begin and support a TAP Pilot, scoped to include the following:
  - In FY 2023, enroll up to 15 products in a “soft launch” in one Office of Health Technology Assessment (OHT) to include consideration of the OHT’s historical number of granted Breakthrough designations, workload, and available staffing and expertise.
  - In FY 2024, continue to support products enrolled in the previous fiscal year and expand to enroll up to 45 additional products in at least two OHTs (i.e., up to 90 total products enrolled through FY 2024);
  - In FY 2025, continue to support products enrolled in previous fiscal years and expand to enroll up to 100 additional products each fiscal year within existing OHTs or expand to additional OHTs, depending on lessons learned from FY 2023–FY 2025 experience (i.e., up to 225 total products enrolled through FY 2026 and up to 325 total products enrolled through FY 2027);
  - For FY 2024–FY 2027, in addition to the considerations above, selection of the OHTs will include consideration of experience from prior years, input from industry and other stakeholders.

- b. In beginning in FY 2024, implement and track the following quantitative performance metrics:
  - FDA will engage in a teleconference with the participant on requested topic(s) pertaining to the TAP device within 14 days of the request for 90% of requests for inter- action.
  - FDA will provide written feedback on requested biocompatibility and sterility topic(s) pertaining to the TAP device within 21 days of the request for 90% of such requests for written feedback.
  - FDA will provide written feedback on requested topic(s) pertaining to the TAP device other than biocompatibility and sterility within 40 days of the request for 90% of requests for written feedback.
  - FDA will regularly review TAP pilot progress with industry, share feedback, and assess the impact of the TAP Pilot and opportunities for improvement.
  - FDA will publish an assessment of the TAP Pilot on the FDA web site no later than January 30, 2026.

For purposes of the annual performance report and corrective action report, the goals of the TAP pilot are set forth in Section V.J.3.a above.

4. Enrollment: FDA intends to enroll participants in the program using the following criteria:

- a. Participation in the pilot will be voluntary.
- b. For FY 2023–FY 2025, products will be those with a granted Breakthrough designation or with Pre-2026–FY 2027, products will be those with a granted Breakthrough designation or request for inclusion in the Safer Technologies Program (STeP).
- c. Participants have submitted a Pre-Submission about the product after granted Breakthrough designation or request for inclusion in STeP.
- d. Products will be early in their product development process (e.g., have not yet initiated a pivotal study) at time of pilot enrollment.
- e. Each participant will have a maximum of one product enrolled in the pilot per fiscal year.

5. Participants will be enrolled on first-come, first-served basis.

6. Other Measures. For informational purposes, FDA will begin to track other measures of program success, which will include: the number of additional devices that have received a Breakthrough designation or request for inclusion in the Safer Technologies Program (STeP) and MDUFA process FTEs, including the subset funded by user fees, for each applicable FDA Center and Office.

7. Independent Assessments

A. Independent Assessment of MDUFA Workforce Metrics

The FDA will retain a qualified, independent contractor with expertise in assessing public sector workforce data analysis and reporting to conduct an assessment of current methodologies and data/strategies that represent the MDUFA workforce. This will include assessment of positions (filled/vacant), workload, and available staffing and expertise.

B. Independent Assessment of Review Process

The FDA and the industry will participate in a targeted assessment of the process for the review of device applications. The assessment will include consultation with both FDA and industry at the start of the assessment and prior to issuance of the final report. The assessment shall be conducted under contract to FDA by a private, independent consulting firm capable of performing the technical analysis, management assessment, and program evaluation tasks required to address the assessment as described below within the budget provided under this user fee agreement.

The contractor will:
1. Develop FDA’s premarket review program to identify efficiencies that were realized as a result of the process improvements and investments under MDUFA IV and V;
2. Assess the implementation of resources needs with the training and expertise of hires;
3. Identify and share best practices across OHTs in ODEG;
4. Assess the effectiveness of program areas targeted for improvement under this agreement, including the following:
   a. Implementation and impact of changes to the guidance “Developing and Responding to the Deficiencies in Accordance with the Least Burdensome Provisions”;
   b. Implementation and impact of changes to the guidance “Requests for Feedback and Meetings for Medical Device Submissions: The Q-Submission Program”;
   c. The Pre-Submission Review program (continued reduction of routine re-review by FDA of Third Party reviews);
   d. Digital Health program;
   e. Patient Science and Engagement program;
   f. Real World Evidence program, and
   g. International Harmonization.
5. Assess other key areas identified by FDA and industry as resources permit.

FDA will award the contract no later than March 31, 2025. However, the contractor would not begin the audit of Pre-Submissions before October 1, 2025. The contractor will publish comprehensive findings and recommendations within 1 year, after reviews with FDA and industry and opportunities to provide feedback for the contractor’s consideration prior to finalizing the final report. For all recommendations the contractor will provide an estimate of additional resources needed or efficiencies gained, as applicable.

FDA will incorporate findings and recommendations, as appropriate, into its management of the program for the review of device applications. FDA will analyze the recommendations for improvement opportunities identified in the assessment and, as appropriate, implement a corrective action plan, and assure its effectiveness.

VII. PERFORMANCE REPORTS

The Agency will report its progress toward meeting the goals described in this letter, as follows. If, throughout the course of MDUFA V, the Agency and Industry agree that a different format or different metrics would be more useful, the reporting will be modified accordingly as per the agreement of both FDA and Industry.

1. Quarterly reporting at the CDRH OHT level/CBER Center level (in recognition of the significantly smaller number of submissions reviewed at CBER):
   i. For 510(k) submissions that do not go through a Third Party, reporting will include:

VIII. DEFINITIONS AND EXPLANATIONS OF TERMS

A. Applicant

Applicant means a person who makes any of the following submissions to FDA:

1. an application for premarket approval under section 515 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FD&C Act);
2. a premarket notification under section 510(k) of the FD&C Act;
3. an application for investigational device exemption under section 520(g) of the FD&C Act;
4. Pre-Submission;
5. a CLIA Waiver by application.

B. eSTAR (electronic Submission Template And Resource)

An electronic submission template built within a structured dynamic PDF that guides a user through construction of an eSubmissions. eSTAR is the only type of electronic submission created with this electronic submission template is often referred to as an eSTAR.

C. FDA Days

FDA Days are those calendar days when a submission is considered to be under review at the Agency for submissions that have been accepted (510(k) or De Novo request), filed (PMA) or submitted (CLIA Waiver by application). FDA Days begin on the date of receipt of the submission or of the amendment to the submission that enables the submission to be accepted (510(k) or De Novo request) or filed (PMA).

D. MDUFA Decisions

Original PMAs, Product Development Protocols, Panel-Track Supplements, and Premarket Report Applications: Decisions are approval, approvable, and not approvable.

510(k): Decisions for 510(k) are substantially equivalent (SE) or not substantially equivalent (NSE).

De Novo Requests: Decisions for De Novo requests are grant, withdrawal, and decline.

CLIA Waiver by Application Submissions: Decisions for a CLIA Waiver by Application Submissions are approval, withdrawal, and denial.

Submissions placed on Application Integrity Hold will be removed from the MDUFA cohort.

E. Pre-Submission

A Pre-Submission includes a formal written request from an applicant for feedback from FDA that is provided in the form of a formal written response or, if the manufacturer chooses, formal written feedback followed by a meeting or teleconference in which any additional feedback or clarifications are offered (see a Substantive Interaction).

A Pre-Submission provides the opportunity for an applicant to obtain FDA feedback prior to intended submission of an investigational device exemption or marketing application. The request must include specific questions regarding review issues relevant to a planned investigational device exemption (IDE), CLIA Waiver by Application, Accessory Classification Request, or marketing application (e.g., questions regarding preclinical or clinical requirements, safety and effectiveness requirements, or nonclinical studies and acceptance criteria). A Pre-Submission is appropriate when FDA’s feedback on specific questions is needed to guide product development and/or submission preparation.

The following forms of FDA feedback to applicants are not considered Pre-Submissions:

1. Interactions requested by either the applicant or FDA during the review of a marketing application (i.e., following submission of a marketing application, but prior to reaching an FDA Decision).
2. Interactions with FDA through the Division of Industry and Consumer Assistance (DICE).

GDUFU REAUTHORIZATION PERFORMANCE GOALS AND PROGRAM ENHANCEMENTS FISCAL YEARS 2023–2027

This document contains the performance goals and program enhancements for the Generic Drug User Fee Amendments (GDUFU) reauthorization for fiscal years (FYs) 2023–2027, known as GDUFU III. It is commonly referred to as the “Goals Letter” or “Commitment Letter.” The Goals Letter represents the product of the Food and Drug Administration’s (FDA or the Agency) discussions with various groups of stakeholders, as mandated by Congress. The performance goals and program enhancements specified in this letter apply to aspects of the generic drug assessment program and build on the GDUFU program established and enhanced through previous authorities. New enhancements are specifically designed to foster the continued improvement of the Agency’s performance.

GDUFU REAUTHORIZATION PERFORMANCE GOALS AND PROCEDURES FISCAL YEARS 2023–2027

The performance goals and procedures of FDA, as agreed to under the third authorization of the generic drug user fee program, are summarized below.

Unless otherwise stated, goals apply to cohorts of each fiscal year. For the purposes of calculating all time periods in this Commitment Letter, FDA will calculate the goal dates by the calendar day following the day after a submission, to be consistent with FDA’s other user fee programs.

I. SUBMISSION ASSESSMENT PERFORMANCE GOALS

A. Original ANDAs and Amendments

1. Assess and act on 90 percent of standard original ANDAs within 10 months of the date of ANDA submission, subject to any adjustments to the goal dates described in section I(A)(3).

2. Assess and act on 90 percent of priority original ANDAs within the applicable assessment goal, subject to any adjustments to the goal dates described in section I(A)(3).

a. Assess and act on priority original ANDAs within 8 months of the date of ANDA submission if the applicant submits a Pre-Submission Facility Correspondence (PFC) not later than 60 days prior to the date of ANDA submission, and the PFC is found to be complete and accurate, subject to the limitations set forth in section I(A)(3)(b).

b. Assess and act on priority original ANDAs within 10 months of the date of ANDA submission if the applicant submits a PFC later than 60 days prior to the date of ANDA submission, or does not submit a PFC.

i. Information in a PFC is found to be incomplete or inaccurate.

ii. The information submitted in the ANDA differs significantly from what was submitted in the PFC, or

If, upon initial submission of a standard or priority original ANDA contains a certification that a site/facility listed on the Form FDA 356h is not ready for inspection (i.e., the box “no” is checked in response to “Is the site ready for inspection?” in section 28), FDA will set a goal date that is 15 months from the date of submission. FDA will conduct the review cycles for abbreviated new drug applications (ANDAs) and will not commence substantive assessment of the application until an amendment described in subsection I(A)(3)(a) is submitted, or the goal date is reset pursuant to I(A)(3)(b).

a. During the initial 15-month review period, if the applicant submits an amendment on Form FDA 356h with Form FDA 356h of the ANDA, FDA reserves to ready for inspection, FDA will set a new goal date that is 8 months from the date of submission for priority amendments (if a PFC was submitted per I(A)(2)(a)), or 10 months from the date of submission for other amendments.

b. If the applicant does not submit an amendment described in I(A)(3)(a) by 30 days before the goal date, FDA will reset the goal date for an additional 15 months, i.e., 30 months from the date of original ANDA submission.

a. Assess and act on standard Major Amendments within 8 months of the date of amendment submission if preapproval inspection is not required.

b. Assess and on priority Major Amendments within 8 months of amendment submission if preapproval inspection is required.

c. Assess and act on priority Major Amendments within 10 months of the date of amendment submission if preapproval inspection is not required.

d. FDA, upon assessment of a final bioequivalence study report submitted in the ANDA, determines that an inspection of the relevant site or sites is necessary.

5. Assess and act on 90 percent of Major Amendments within 8 months of the date of amendment submission if preapproval inspection is required.

a. The applicant submits a PFC later than 60 days prior to the date of PFC submission, or does not submit a PFC.

b. Information in a PFC is found to be incomplete or inaccurate.

c. The information submitted in the PFC differs significantly from what was submitted in the PFC.

d. FDA, upon assessment of a final bioequivalence study report submitted in the ANDA, determines that an inspection of the relevant site or sites is necessary.

6. Assess and act on 90 percent of Minor Amendments within 8 months of the date of amendment submission if preapproval inspection is required.

a. The applicant submits a PFC later than 60 days prior to the date of the amendment, or does not submit a PFC.

b. Information in a PFC is found to be incomplete or inaccurate.

7. Assess and act on 90 percent of standard and priority Minor Amendments within 3 months of the date of amendment submission.

B. PASs and PAS Amendments

1. Assess and act on 90 percent of standard prior approval supplements (PASs) within the applicable assessment goal.

a. Assess and act on standard PASs within 6 months of the date of submission if preapproval inspection is not required.

b. Assess and on standard PASs within 10 months of the date of PAS submission if preapproval inspection is required.

c. Assess and act on priority PASs within 4 months of the date of PAS submission if preapproval inspection is not required.

d. Assess and act on priority PASs within 8 months of the date of PAS submission if a preapproval inspection is required, the applicant submits a PFC not later than 60 days prior to the date of PAS submission, and the PFC is found to be complete and accurate, subject to the limitations set forth in section I(B)(2)(c).

e. FDA, upon assessment of a final bioequivalence study report submitted in the PAS, determines that an inspection of the relevant site or sites is necessary.

2. Assess and act on priority PASs within 10 months of the date of PAS submission if preapproval inspection is required and the information submitted in the PAS differs significantly from what was submitted in the PFC.

3. Complete the initial completeness assessment for 90 percent of Type II active pharmaceutical ingredient (API) DMFs within 60 days of the later of the date of DMP submission or DMP fee payment.

C. Unsolicited Amendments and PAS Amendments

1. Assess and act on Unsolicited Amendments and PAS amendments submitted during the assessment cycle by the later of the goal date for the original submission/solicitation/amendment or the goal date assigned in accordance with sections I(A)(4), (5), (6), and (7) and I(B)(3), (4), and (5), respectively, for the Unsolicited Amendment.

E. Controlled Correspondence

A Controlled Correspondence may be submitted by or on behalf of a generic drug manufacturer or related industry prior to ANDA submission. Under the GDUFA II framework, correspondence is submitted to FDA through GDUFA III, these types of correspondence can be submitted as Controlled Correspondence. During an ANDA assessment cycle, a Controlled Correspondence may only be submitted if an applicant seeks further feedback from FDA after a product-specific guidance (PSG) Teleconference, as described in section III(C)(5)(c), below, or the Unresolved Product Authorization. Under GDUFA III, these types of correspondence can be submitted as Controlled Correspondence. During an ANDA assessment cycle, all correspondence will be general correspondence.

Assess and act on 90 percent of Controlled Correspondence within the applicable review goal.
II. ORIGINAL ANDA ASSESSMENT PROGRAM ENHANCEMENTS

A. ANDA Receipt

1. FDA will strive to determine whether to receive ANDAs within 60 days of the date of ANDA submission.

2. To enable FDA to rapidly determine whether a completed ANDA pursuant to 21 CFR 314.101, and with consideration of final Agency guidance that will address ANDA receipt determinations, FDA will communicate minor deficiencies (e.g., document legibility) and deficiencies potentially resolved with information in the ANDA at original submission within 10 days of original ANDA submission. If a deficiency is resolved within 10 days, that deficiency will not be a basis for a refuse-to-receive decision.

3. At the time of receipt, FDA will notify the applicant in the acceptance letter whether the ANDA or PAS is subject to priority or standard assessment.

B. ANDA Assessment Transparency and Communications Enhancements

To promote transparency and communication between FDA and ANDA applicants, FDA will apply the assessment program enhancements to the assessment of all ANDAs. The goal of these program enhancements is to improve predictability and transparency, promote the efficiency and effectiveness of the process, minimize the number of assessment cycles necessary for approval, increase the overall rate of approval, and facilitate greater access to generic drug products.

1. Information Requests (IRs) and Discretionary Review Letters (DRLs):

a. IRs and DRLs do not stop the assessment clock.

b. In the first assessment cycle, FDA will issue the appropriate IR(s) and/or DRL(s) from the assessment discipline by the midpoint of the assessment, with the exception of the Labeling discipline as described in subsection II(B)(ii) below.

2. For any major deficiencies, or to minor deficiencies that include data and information that require comparable FDA assessment resources to those required for major deficiencies. For example, a consult, will be considered Major Amendments. FDA will extend the goal date consistent with the number of months needed to assess a comparable or standard priority Major Amendment (see section I(A)(4)–(6)).

3. FDA will issue IRs and DRLs after the first assessment cycle and at any time in subsequent assessment cycles, when, in FDA’s judgment, there are one or more major deficiencies in a discipline that, if resolved, may lead to approval or tentative approval of an ANDA in the current assessment cycle. FDA will issue the IR or DRL and provide a due date for the applicant’s response before the goal date.

a. If the applicant responds to the minor deficiencies in the IR or DRL by the due date, and FDA determines that it can factoring all of the issues identified in the IR or DRL, and the response does not contain unsolicited information, FDA may extend the goal date by 30 days from the date of the applicant’s response.

b. If the applicant’s response is incomplete, FDA will continue to issue IRs and/or DRLs in the assessment cycle for the applicant to develop and FDA to assess a response to the IR and/or DRL. For example, if the mid-point of the assessment cycle, the assessment cycle generally will assign a due date for response and identify major and minor deficiencies. DRLs issued without a response due date will likely signify a forthcoming CRL.

c. If an RPM learns that FDA is likely to miss the goal date for an ANDA, the RPM will notify the applicant. The RPM will not be expected to discuss the nature of the specific forthcoming deficiencies prior to issuance of the CRL.

d. If an IR learns that FDA is likely to extend the goal date for an ANDA, the RPM will notify the applicant. The RPM will not be expected to discuss the nature of the specific deficiencies identified. The RPM will not be expected to discuss the nature of the specific forthcoming deficiencies prior to issuance of the CRL.

e. If an IR learns that FDA is likely to extend the goal date for an ANDA, the RPM will notify the applicant. The RPM will not be expected to discuss the nature of the specific deficiencies identified. The RPM will not be expected to discuss the nature of the specific forthcoming deficiencies prior to issuance of the CRL.

f. If an IR learns that FDA is likely to extend the goal date for an ANDA, the RPM will notify the applicant. The RPM will not be expected to discuss the nature of the specific deficiencies identified. The RPM will not be expected to discuss the nature of the specific forthcoming deficiencies prior to issuance of the CRL.

3. FDA will strive to act prior to a goal date, or the 60-day period for an imminent action, when the assessment is complete and there are no outstanding deficiencies.

4. To facilitate the labeling assessment, an applicant may clearly state in the cover letter that an ANDA, amendment, or PAS Amendment that the submission includes a proposed labeling carve-out.

5. Communication regarding Deficiencies and subsequent CRLs:

a. With respect to imminent actions, applicants may inquire and FDA will promptly respond to any applicant inquiring, seeking information as to whether FDA intends to work through the goal date in accordance with section II(B)(3). This communication will be preliminary and subject to change.

b. A post-CRL teleconference to seek clarification concerning deficiencies identified in a CRL and include FDA’s basis for classifying the deficiency as described in section I(E).

3. FDA will strive to act prior to a goal date, or the 60-day period for an imminent action, when the assessment is complete and there are no outstanding deficiencies.

a CRL related to establishing equivalence, subject to the conditions described in section IV(C).

C. Assessment Classification Changes During the Cycle

1. If during the assessment of an ANDA, ANDA amendment, PAS, or PAS amendment, the assessment classification changes from Standard to Priority, FDA will notify the applicant within 14 days of the date of the change.

2. An applicant may request a change in the assessment classification at any time during the assessment.

3. Once an ANDA or PAS submission is classified as being subject to priority assessment, the application will retain such priority classification status for the duration of that assessment cycle.

4. FDA will include an explanation of the reasons for any denial of an assessment status reclassification request.

5. If an applicant requests a teleconference as part of its request to reclassify a Major Amendment or standard assessment status, FDA will schedule and conduct the teleconference and decide 90 percent of the reclassification requests within 30 days of the date of FDA’s receipt of the request for a teleconference. This goal only applies when the applicant accepts the first scheduled teleconference date offered by FDA. This goal does not apply to a Major Amendment in response to a CRL that was deemed major only due to a facility deficiency (“Facility-Based Major CRL Amendment”) described in section IV(D).

6. An amendment in response to a CRL classified by FDA as Minor that is submitted more than one year after the date the CRL was issued will be reclassified as a Major Amendment, except for ANDAs for products that are on the drug shortage list under section 506G of the FD&C Act (21 U.S.C. 356g), or are the subject of a response to a Public Health Emergency as declared by the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services under section 319 of the Public Health Service Act (PHS Act) (42 U.S.C. 247d), or are anticipated to be subject to the same criteria as apply to such a declaration at the time of submission.

7. Reclassification of Facility-Based Major CRL Amendments

     a. Upon submission of a Facility-Based Major CRL Amendment, an applicant can request that FDA reclassify the Major Amendment to Minor.

     b. A request for reclassification must be made at the time of amendment submission and include supporting information detailing why the facility deficiency has been resolved and no additional facility assessment is needed.

D. ANDA Approval and Tentative Approval

If applicants submit and maintain ANDAs consistent with the statutory requirements for approval under 505(j) of the FD&C Act; respond to IRs and DRLs completely and for approval under 505(j) of the FD&C Act; and timely submit all required information under 21 CFR parts 314 and 210, including information concerning notices (21 CFR 314.95), litigation status (21 CFR 314.107), and commercial marketing (21 CFR 314.107); then FDA will strive to:

1. Approve irrevocable ANDAs in the first assessment cycle;

2. Approve First Generics on the earliest lawful approval date, if known to FDA; and

3. Tentatively approve or approve ANDAs for “First Applicants” as described in section 505(j)(2)(B)(iv)(II)(bb) of the FD&C Act to avoid forfeiture of 180-day exclusivity.

E. Dispute Resolution

1. An applicant may pursue a request for reconsideration within the assessment discipline at the Division level or original regulatory authority, as needed.

2. The Office of Generic Drugs, Office of Regulatory Operations Associate Director will track each request for Division-level reconsideration through resolution.

3. Following resolution of a request for reconsideration, an applicant may pursue formal correction of an adverse decision above the Division level, pursuant to procedures set forth in Formal Dispute Resolution: Sponsor Appeals Above the Division Level Guidance for Industry and ANDAs (May 2019).

4. FDA will respond to 90 percent of appeals above the Division level within 30 days of CDER’s receipt of the written appeal.

5. CDER’s Formal Dispute Resolution Project Manager (or designee) will track each formal appeal above the Division level through resolution.

F. Pre-Submission Facility Correspondence

1. For the purposes of section I.A. and I.B. above, FDA will consider a PFC to be complete and accurate if the submission consists of the following:

   a. For each manufacturing and testing facility, the applicant identifies, addresses, FDA Establishment Identifier (FEI) number (if a required registrant, and a confirmation that the facility is ready for inspection.

   b. Information needed to inform FDA’s decision regarding the need for a preapproval inspection, such as a description of the expected manufacturing process, that is included in a corresponding Type II DMF if not required to be duplicated in the PFC for the following: 1. in a corresponding Type II DMF.

   c. For all sites or organizations involved in the bioequivalence and clinical studies used to support the ANDA submission: site names, addresses, and websites, the study numbers; a list and description of all study investigators consistent with the guidance ICH E3 Structure and Content of Clinical Study Reports (July 1996) section 16.1.4; the study conduct dates; and study protocols and any available amendments.

   d. For all sites or organizations involved in analytical studies used to support the ANDA submission: the following are required: analytical site name, address, and website. For those studies that were initiated no later than 60 days prior to the ANDA submission, additional requirements are:

      1. A list of investigator name(s)

      2. Study conduct dates;

      3. If the analytical methodology was completed before the study start date, a list of the analytical methodology validation study report(s).

   e. This information is provided using a standardized electronic format and includes unique identifiers that are current and accurate.

2. Changes to information contained in a PFC when submitted in an ANDA that are considered a “significant change” include changes in the identified facilities for manufacture of the drug substance or drug product, the proposed manufacturing operations or operating principles, and the order of manufacturing unit operations, as described in the guidance ANDAs: Pre-Submission of
The goal of the pre-ANDA program is to clarify regulatory expectations for prospective applicants early in the product development, assist applicants in developing more complete submissions, promote a more efficient and effective ANDA assessment process, and reduce the number of assessment cycles required to obtain ANDA approval.

B. Suitability Petitions

1. In FY 2023, FDA will work diligently to enhance the Agency’s processes for reviewing and responding to petitions submitted under section III(b)(7) of the FD&C Act (commonly referred to as “suitability petitions”), and to review and respond to pending suitability petitions.

2. Prior to FY 2024, FDA will take appropriate action to determine if petitioners who submitted suitability petitions prior to FY 2023 remain interested in a response.

3. FDA will conduct a completeness assessment for suitability petitions submitted in FY 2024–2027. The timeframe for the completeness assessment will be:
   a. 21 days after the date of petition submission; or
   b. If an IR is issued as part of the completeness assessment and the petitioner submits a response, FDA will finish the completeness assessment within 21 days after the date of that response.

4. Any suitability petition submitted in FY 2024–2027 will receive a goal date described in section III(b)(7). Any suitability petitions submitted to FDA prior to FY 2024 will not receive a goal date. If a petitioner wants to receive a goal date on a suitability petition submitted prior to FY 2024, the petitioner may request a Pre-Submission PSG.

5. The date of submission for the purposes of determining the fiscal year of submission will be the date of FDA’s completion of the completeness assessment.

6. FDA will prioritize the review of suitability petitions for a drug product that:
   a. could resolve a drug shortage and prevent future shortages;
   b. address a public health emergency declared by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services under section 319 of the PHS Act, or anticipated under the same criteria as apply to such a declaration;
   c. is for a new strength of a parenteral product that could aid in eliminating pharmaceutical waste or mitigating the number of vials to be used by addressing differences in patient weight, body size, or age; or
   d. is subject to special review programs under the President’s Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief (PEPFAR).

7. Beginning in FY 2024, FDA will review and respond to suitability petitions that have been assigned a goal date pursuant to the following goals:
   a. In FY 2024, 50 percent of submissions within 6 months after completeness assessment, up to a maximum of 50 suitability petitions completed;
   b. In FY 2025, 70 percent of submissions within 6 months after completeness assessment, up to a maximum of 70 suitability petitions completed;
   c. In FY 2026, 80 percent of submissions within 6 months after completeness assessment, up to a maximum of 80 suitability petitions completed; and
   d. In FY 2027, 90 percent of submissions within 6 months after completeness assessment, up to a maximum of 90 suitability petitions completed.

8. As a general matter, if FDA misses goal dates on suitability petitions due to increased submissions, FDA will prioritize the review of suitability petitions for which a goal date was missed prior to reviewing newly submitted suitability petitions for the current fiscal year, except for those suitability petitions that are prioritized under section III(b)(7). As Appendix for additional information on FDA's review of suitability petitions in GDUFA III.

C. Product-Specific Guidance

a. For Complex Products, FDA will prioritize the development of PSGs that contain a NCE as described in section V(b)(2).

b. For Complex Products, FDA will generally prioritize the development of PSGs that contain a NCE as described in section V(b)(2) of the FD&C Act over Complex Products that do not contain a NCE.

5. When a new or revised PSG is published and an applicant or prospective applicant has already commenced an in vivo bioequivalence study (i.e., the study has been signed by the study sponsor and/or the contract research organization) the applicant or prospective applicant may request a PSG Teleconference to obtain Agency feedback on the potential impact of the new or revised PSG on its development program.

IV. ANDA ASSESSMENT MEETING PROGRAM

A. Goal of the ANDA Assessment Meeting Program

1. The goal of the ANDA Assessment Meeting Program is to provide or continue to provide targeted, robust advice to ANDA applicants as they work to meet the standards for ANDA approval.

2. Some elements of this program are tailored to enhance the development of Complex Generic Products.

B. Mid-Cycle Review Meetings and Enhanced Mid-Cycle Review Meetings

1. An applicant for a Complex Generic Product who is granted a Product Development Meeting for the same product, may, within 5 days following the last mid-Cycle DRL, submit a request for an Enhanced Mid-Cycle Review Meeting. The request should describe the specific deficiencies to be discussed.

2. Enhanced Mid-Cycle Review Meetings:
   a. The purpose of an Enhanced Mid-Cycle Review Meeting is for the applicant to ask for and receive rationale for any deficiency identified in the mid-Cycle DRL(s), and/or to ask questions related to FDA’s assessment of the data or information in the ANDA. An applicant may not present any new data or information at this meeting.
   b. The Mid-Cycle Review Meeting will take place within 30 days after the date the sponsor submits a meeting request.

3. Enhanced Mid-Cycle Review Meetings:
   a. The purpose of this meeting is for the applicant to ask questions related to a proposed scientific path to address possible deficiencies identified in the mid-Cycle DRL(s).
   b. The Mid-Cycle Review Meeting will take place within 30 days after the date the sponsor submits a meeting request.

4. Mid-Cycle Review Meetings:
   a. The purpose of a Mid-Cycle Review Meeting is for the applicant to ask for the rationale for any deficiency identified in the mid-Cycle DRL(s), and/or to ask questions related to FDA’s assessment of the data or information in the ANDA. An applicant may not present any new data or information at this meeting.

8. If an Enhanced Mid-Cycle Review Meeting is requested, the meeting will take place within 90 days after issuance of the last mid-Cycle DRL.

IX. DMF ASSESSMENT PROGRAM ENHANCEMENTS

A. Inactive Ingredient Database Enhancements

1. FDA will update the Inactive Ingredient Database on an ongoing basis, and post quarterly notices of updates made. Such notices will include for each change made during the previous quarter, the new information, and the information that was replaced.

2. Annually, FDA will conduct a public workshop to solicit input from industry and stakeholders for inclusion in an annual list of GDUFA III regulatory science initiatives. Interested parties may propose regulatory science initiatives via email to genericdrugs@fda.hhs.gov. After considering Industry and stakeholder input, FDA will post the list on FDA’s website.

3. If Industry forms a GDUFA III regulatory science working group, then upon request of the working group, the Director of the Office of Research and Standards in the Office of Generic Drugs, FDA will meet with the working group twice yearly to discuss current and emerging challenges and concerns. FDA will post minutes of these meetings on its website.

4. Annually, FDA will report on its website the extent to which GDUFA regulatory science-funded projects support the development of generic drug products, the generation of evidence needed to support efficient assessment and timely approval of ANDAs, and the establishment of new approaches to evaluate generic drug equivalence.

C. Other Pre-ANDA and Assessment Meeting Program Enhancements

1. An applicant’s meeting request must discuss:
   i. A new equivalence study needed to address the deficiencies in the design identified in a CRL.
   ii. An approach that is different from that submitted in the ANDA, e.g., a change in study type from in vivo to in vitro, a new comparative use factors study, or a new approach to demonstrating same-ness of a complex active ingredient; and
   iii. A new or revised scientific approach to address deficiencies identified in a CRL related to establishing equivalence.

2. An applicant may request a Pre-CRL Scientific Meeting. The purpose of this meeting is to provide an applicant scientific advice on addressing identified deficiencies in a CRL related to establishing equivalence.

3. An applicant may submit an Unsolicited Amendment after an Enhanced Mid-Cycle Review Meeting, which could result in an additional goal date extension consistent with the meeting.

4. An applicant may submit an Unsolicited Amendment after a Scientific Meeting request within 14 days after receipt of the meeting.

5. An applicant may request a Post-CRL Scientific Meeting even if they have not had a Product Development Meeting.

6. If granted, FDA will conduct 90 percent of Post-CRL Scientific Meeting within 90 days after the date the meeting is granted.

7. FDA will conduct internal and external research to support fulfillment of submission assessment and pre-ANDA commitments set forth in Sections I and II, respectively.

8. FDA will conduct a public workshop to solicit input from industry and stakeholders for inclusion in an annual list of GDUFA III regulatory science initiatives. Interested parties may propose regulatory science initiatives via email to genericdrugs@fda.hhs.gov. After considering Industry and stakeholder input, FDA will post the list on FDA’s website.

IX. DMF ASSESSMENT PROGRAM ENHANCEMENTS

A. Communication of DMF Assessment Commitments

1. FDA will ensure that DMF assessment comments submitted to the DMF holder are issued at least in parallel with the issuance of review comments relating to the DMF for the complex product.

2. This commitment applies to comments to the applicant issued in any ANDA CRL.
and comments issued in the first IR letter by the drug product assessment discipline.

B. Teleconferences to Clarify DMF First Cycle Assessment Deficiencies

1. FDA will conduct and conduct teleconferences when requested to clarify deficiencies in first cycle DMF deficiency letters.

2. DMF holders must request such teleconferences at least 30 days in advance of the first cycle DMF deficiency letter, identifying specific issues to be addressed. FDA may initially provide a written response for clarification, but if the DMF holder indicates that a teleconference is still desired, FDA will schedule the teleconference.

3. FDA may strive to grant such teleconferences within 30 days of receipt of the initial teleconference request, giving priority to DMFs based on the priority of the referencing ANDA.

4. In lieu of a teleconference, the DMF holder may submit a request for an email exchange between FDA and the DMF holder. The request must identify specific issues to be addressed. After FDA responds to the request, the DMF holder may submit, and FDA will respond to, one follow-up email to obtain additional clarification.

C. DMF First Adequate Letters

Once a DMF has undergone a full scientific assessment and has no open issues related to the assessment of the referencing ANDA, FDA will issue a DMF First Adequate Letter.

D. DMF No Further Comment Letters

Once a DMF has undergone a full scientific assessment and the ANDA referencing the DMF has been approved or tentatively approved, FDA will issue a “no further comment” letter.

E. DMF Review Prior to ANDA Submission

1. A holder of a DMF may submit a request for assessment of the DMF six months prior to the planned submission date for: 1) an original ANDA, 2) an ANDA amendment containing a response to a CRL, or 3) an amendment seeking approval of an ANDA that previously received a tentative approval. In each case, the submission must include reference to a DMF for which FDA has not conducted a substantive assessment, and one of the following must be met:
   a. All patents and exclusivities will expire within 12 months of the planned submission date; or
   b. The submission is for a drug product for which there are no more than three approved drug products listed in FDA’s Approved Drug Products With Therapeutic Equivalence Evaluations (the “Orange Book”), for which there are no blocking patents or exclusivities listed for the RLD, and the ANDA applicant is not seeking approval for less than all of the conditions of use on the RLD labeling, e.g., a “carve-out.”

2. The submission is for a drug product that could help mitigate or resolve a drug shortage and prevent future shortages, including submissions related to products that are listed on FDA’s Drug Shortage List at the time of the submission; or

e. The submission is for a drug product for which (1) there is only one approved drug product listed in the Prescription Drug Product List (i.e., the “Active Section”) of the Orange Book, and the approved drug product is approved under an ANDA (i.e., the “Discontinued Section”); and there is not more than one ANDA in the “Active Section”; (2) the approved drug product listed in the “Active Section” was not approved pursuant to a suitability petition under section 505(j)(2)(C) of the FD&C Act; (3) there are no patents or exclusivities for the RLD; and (4) the submission does not qualify for prioritization under any other factor listed in MAPP 3290.3 Rev. 2.

3. To be eligible for this review, a DMF holder must submit with its request for review:
   a. at least one Letter of Authorization with one participating sponsor; or
   b. a reference to the corresponding RLD listed in the Orange Book; and
c. documentation that the DMF holder has paid a GDUFA DMF fee as described in section 741A(b)(2)(A) of the FD&C Act (21 U.S.C. 379j–41(a)(2)(A)) for the current fiscal year.

F. FDA Assessment of Solicited DMF Amendments

1. FDA will assess solicited DMF amendments related to original ANDAs and PASs in receipt on even if the original ANDA or PAS in which the DMF is referenced is not currently under assessment.

2. Such assessments will be conducted based on the assessment status of the DMF and other disciplines in the related ANDAs, the priority of the FDA’s internal workload, and other factors determined by FDA in accepting the amendment.

G. FDA Communication Related to DMF Amendments and ANDAs

1. FDA will communicate publicly to industry that prior to submitting a DMF amendment, the DMF holder should coordinate with the ANDA holder that references the DMF to avoid delaying approval or tentative approval of the ANDA.

VII. FACILITIES

A. Foreign Regulators

1. Export Support and Education of Other Health Authorities: FDA will support the export of safe and effective pharmaceutical products by the U.S.-based pharmaceutical industry, including but not limited to providing timely updates to FDA’s Inspection Classification Database as described below, and educating other health authorities regarding FDA’s surveillance inspection program and its impact on the meaning of inspection classifications.

2. Communications to Foreign Regulators: Upon receipt of a written or email request by foreign authorities, FDA will respond within 60 days if the U.S. has been included as part of a marketing application submitted to a foreign regulator, issue within 30 days of the date of receipt of the request a written communication to that foreign regulator conveying the current compliance status for the establishment outside the U.S., if the foreign regulator is not seeking to prevent approval of an ANDA or PAS, the applicant will be notified that issues exist through an IR, DRL, or CRL pursuant to Section 505 of the FD&C Act.

2. FDA agrees to communicate to the facility owner final inspection classifications that do not negatively impact approvals on pending application within 90 days of the end of the inspection.

3. FDA agrees to ongoing periodic engagement with industry stakeholders to provide updates on Agency activities and seek stakeholder feedback.

C. GDUFA III Inspection Classification Database

The Inspection Classification Database will be updated every 30 days and will reflect FDA’s final assessment status for or site following an FDA inspection and assessment of the inspected entity’s timely response to all items cited in the warning letter. FDA will also update the existing publicly available Inspection Classification Database webpage and will develop communication materials to provide additional information to industry and foreign regulators on how FDA determines which facilities to select for a drug surveillance inspection, including how FDA uses its site selection model to determine the frequency of surveillance inspections.

D. Post-Warning Letter Meetings

1. An eligible facility described in section VII(D)(3) may request a meeting with FDA regarding the facility’s remediation for deviations identified in a warning letter (Post-Warning Letter Meeting).

2. The purpose of the Post-Warning Letter Meeting is to obtain preliminary feedback from FDA on the adequacy and completeness of the facility’s corrective action plans.

3. To be eligible for the Post-Warning Letter Meeting:
   a. The facility’s Current Good Manufacturing Practice (CGMP) compliance status is “Critical Action Indicated” as a result of an FDA inspection; or
   b. The facility has paid a GDUFA facility fee as described in section 741A(b)(4) of the FD&C Act for the current fiscal year; or is named in a pending ANDA application; or
   c. The regulatory action (e.g., warning letter) is limited only to violations or deviations cited in the warning letter.

4. The meeting request will be granted only if the facility has submitted to FDA a thorough and complete corrective action and prevention action (CAPA) plan that addresses the issues cited in the warning letter, and if reasonable progress has been made toward remediation.

5. Any supplemental information submitted at a facility’s request to be discussed at the meeting must be submitted at least 60 days prior to the meeting.
6. FDA may deny a request for a Post-Warning Letter Meeting if FDA determines that a facility is ineligible for a meeting or does not appear to be ready for a meeting as evidenced by the submitted CAPA plan and/or insufficient progress being made to remediate the facility issues. If FDA denies the meeting:

a. In general, FDA intends to respond briefly with comments regarding why the meeting package is not sufficiently developed or complete (e.g., where the facility has not provided an appropriate CAPA plan for all items in the warning letter or where the firm does not appear to have made reasonable efforts to implement its proposed CAPA plan).

b. FDA will submit a new meeting request no sooner than 3 months after the first meeting request is denied by FDA.

7. Only two Post-Warning Letter Meeting requests per warning letter may be made under this section.

8. FDA may defer a Post-Warning Letter Meeting request if FDA determines that the requesting facility has not made sufficient progress to complete certain CAPAs identified in the warning letter.

9. FDA may schedule meetings by video conference, teleconference, or face-to-face, at FDA’s discretion.

10. The following goals apply to FDA’s decision to grant, deny, or defer in favor of re-inspection of any meeting:

a. In FY 2024, 50 percent of eligible requests within 30 days of request.

b. In FY 2025, 70 percent of eligible requests within 30 days of request.

c. In FY 2026 and FY 2027, 80 percent of eligible requests within 30 days of request.

11. The commitment to hold a Post-Warning Letter Meeting:

a. Does not preclude FDA from taking any regulatory actions necessary, including a follow-up inspection at any time (including prior to the Post-Warning Letter Meeting), and

b. As with other regulatory meetings, FDA advises the Agency that a re-inspection is the most appropriate next step (i.e., defer in favor of re-inspection).

12. Guidance related to Post-Warning Letter Meeting process set forth in this section:

VII(D):

1. FDA will issue guidance regarding the Post-Warning Letter Meeting process, including recommendations on items facilities should submit as part of a meeting request.

2. To be eligible for the facility re-inspection process reflected in this section:

a. The facility CGMP compliance status is “Official Action Indicated” as a result of an FDA inspection;

b. The facility has paid a GDUFA fee as described in section 741(a)(4) of the FD&C Act for the current fiscal year, or is named in a pending ANDA application; and

c. The regulatory action (e.g., warning letter) is dated not less than 30 days after the submission of a new meeting request, which could include updating the guidance described in VII(D)(12)(a) to provide further information on how facilities can address issues that have commonly led to meeting requests being denied.

E. Generic Drug Manufacturing Facility Re-inspection

1. An eligible facility as described in section VII(D)(12)(a) may re-inspect the facility.

2. To be eligible for the facility re-inspection process reflected in this section:

a. The facility CGMP compliance status is “Official Action Indicated” as a result of an FDA inspection;

b. The facility has paid a GDUFA fee as described in section 741(a)(4) of the FD&C Act for the current fiscal year, or is named in a pending ANDA application; and

c. The regulatory action (e.g., warning letter) is dated not less than 30 days after the submission of a new meeting request, which could include updating the guidance described in VII(D)(12)(a) to provide further information on how facilities can address issues that have commonly led to meeting requests being denied.

E. Generic Drug Manufacturing Facility Re-inspection

1. An eligible facility as described in section VII(D)(12)(a) may re-inspect the facility.

2. To be eligible for the facility re-inspection process reflected in this section:

a. The facility CGMP compliance status is “Official Action Indicated” as a result of an FDA inspection;

b. The facility has paid a GDUFA fee as described in section 741(a)(4) of the FD&C Act for the current fiscal year, or is named in a pending ANDA application; and

c. The regulatory action (e.g., warning letter) is dated not less than 30 days after the submission of a new meeting request, which could include updating the guidance described in VII(D)(12)(a) to provide further information on how facilities can address issues that have commonly led to meeting requests being denied.

3. FDA will review the request and if FDA determines that the requesting facility has appropriately completed CAPAs that sufficiently address all of the deficiencies in a warning letter, with the exception of ongoing monitoring, and FDA agrees that the facility has demonstrated the capability to re-inspection, FDA will generate an inspectional assignment.

4. FDA agrees to notify the facility of the Agency’s decision to re-inspect within 30 days of receipt of the request for re-inspection.

5. If FDA declines the request to re-inspect:

a. FDA agrees to notify the facility of its decision to provide a brief high-level explanation, for example, that the firm has not made sufficient progress to complete certain CAPAs identified in the warning letter.

b. The facility may submit a second request for a re-inspection no earlier than 3 months after receiving FDA’s initial decision.

c. If the second request is denied, facility will be considered to no longer meet the eligibility criteria in section VII(E)(2).

6. The processes and timelines set forth in this section apply only to the first reinspections after a warning letter. If the warning letter is not resolved after re-inspection, the facility will be considered to no longer meet the eligibility criteria in section VII(E)(2).

7. If a re-inspection request is granted, FDA will re-inspect the facility and issue an inspectional assignment in conjunction with the notification. The applicable goals for domestic re-inspection of facilities are:

a. In FY 2024, for 50 percent of the requests for re-inspection that are granted, FDA will re-inspect the facility within 4 months of the letter to the facility indicating FDA’s intent to re-inspect.

b. In FY 2025, for 70 percent of requests for re-inspection that are granted, FDA will re-inspect the facility within 4 months of the letter to the facility indicating FDA’s intent to re-inspect.

c. In FY 2026 and FY 2027, for 80 percent of the requests for re-inspection that are granted, FDA will re-inspect the facility within 4 months of the letter to the facility indicating FDA’s intent to re-inspect.

The applicable goals for international facilities are:

a. In FY 2024, for 50 percent of the requests for re-inspection that are granted, FDA will re-inspect the facility within 8 months of the letter to the facility indicating FDA’s intent to re-inspect.

b. In FY 2025, for 70 percent of requests for re-inspection that are granted, FDA will re-inspect the facility within 8 months of the letter to the facility indicating FDA’s intent to re-inspect.

c. In FY 2026 and FY 2027, for 80 percent of requests for re-inspection that are granted, FDA will re-inspect the facility within 8 months of the letter to the facility indicating FDA’s intent to re-inspect.

VIII. CONTINUED ENHANCEMENT OF USER Fee RESOURCE MANAGEMENT

A. Sustainability of GDUFA Program Resources

1. FDA is committed to ensuring the sustainability of the program resources to support the continued enhancement of the program and to enhance operational agility of the GDUFA program.

2. FDA will build on the financial enhancements included in GDUFA II and continue activities in GDUFA III to ensure optimal use of user fee resources and the alignment of staff to workload through the continued maturation of the Agency’s resource capacity planning capability.

3. FDA will also continue activities to promote transparency of the use of financial resources in support of the GDUFA program.

B. Resource Capacity Planning

1. FDA will continue activities to mature the Agency’s resource capacity planning function, including utilization of modernized time reporting to support enhanced management of GDUFA resources in GDUFA III and implementation of the Agency’s Capacity Planning Assessment (CPA).

2. Resource Capacity Planning Implementation

By the end of the second quarter of FY 2023, FDA will publish an implementation plan that will describe how resource capacity planning and time reporting will continue to be used, initially during GDUFA II. The implementation plan will address topics relevant to the maturation of resource capacity planning capability, including, but not limited to, detailing FDA’s approach to:

i. The continued maturation of the Agency’s resource capacity planning capability;

ii. The continual improvement in time reporting and its utilization in the CPA;

iii. The integration of resource capacity planning analyses in the Agency’s resource and operational decision-making processes; and

iv. The implementation of the CPA, with a first year of adjustment for FY 2024 user fees.

b. FDA will provide annual updates on the FDA website on the Agency’s progress relative to activities detailed in this implementation plan by the end of the second quarter of each subsequent fiscal year.

The CPA is included in the annual GDUFA Financial Report how any CPA fee revenues are being utilized.

iv. The resource capacity planning information within the CPA shall be used, consistent with user fee appropriations, to support CDER or ORA staff engaged in GDUFA program work, or other non-CDER staff who are directly supporting GDUFA review work.

The CPA shall be limited to workload driven by:

vi. Post-marketing safety activities

vii. Suitability Petitions

C. Resource Capacity Planning Assessment

1. By the end of FY 2025, an independent contractor will complete and publish an evaluation of the resource capacity planning capability. This will include an assessment of the following topics:

a. The ability of the CPA to forecast resource needs for the GDUFA program, including an assessment of the scope of the workload drivers in the CPA and their ability to represent the overall workload of the GDUFA program;

b. Opportunities for the enhancement of time reporting toward informing resource needs;

c. The integration and utilization of resource capacity planning information within resource and operational decision-making processes of the GDUFA program.

The contractor will provide options and recommendations in the evaluation regarding the continued enhancement of the above topics as warranted. The evaluation findings and any related recommendations in the evaluation will be discussed at the FY 2026 GDUFA 5-year financial plan public meeting. The findings and recommendations of the evaluation may inform the CPA methodology for future re-authorizations.

D. Financial Transparency and Efficiency

1. FDA is committed to ensuring GDUFAs resource sustainability is adequately, and reported in an efficient and transparent manner. FDA will conduct activities to evaluate the financial administration of the GDUFa program to help identify areas to enhance operational and fiscal efficiency. FDA will also conduct activities to enhance transparency of how GDUFa program resources are used.

2. FDA will publish a GDUFa 5-year financial plan no later than the second quarter of FY 2023. FDA will publish updates to the 5-year plan no later than the second quarter of each subsequent fiscal year.

3. FDA will convene a public meeting no later than the third quarter of each fiscal year starting in FY 2024 to discuss the GDUFa 5-year financial plan, along with the Agency’s progress in implementing modernized real-time and resource management planning.

E. Improving the Hiring of Review Staff

1. Enhancements to the generic drug review program require that FDA hire the necessary number of reviewers of ANDAs within two years of NDA approval.

2. During GDUFa III, FDA will:
   a. Complete all generic drug review program in FY 2023;
   b. Contribute to the hiring of GDUFa III staff in the GDUFa 5-year financial plan.

IX. GUIDANCE AND MAPPS

A. FDA will draft or modify relevant Manuals of Policies and Procedures (MAPPs) to reflect the commitments and goals in this Congressional Record in any Appendix A, but not limited to, the following:

1. To direct project managers, assessors, and other assessment program staff to effectively conduct assessments of generic drug applications and supporting activities.

2. During GDUFa III, FDA will:
   a. Complete all guidance for industry in the GDUFa 5-year financial plan.
   b. Conform progress in the hiring of GDUFa III staff in the GDUFa 5-year financial plan.

C. Review Status Update—means a response from the RPM to the applicant to update the applicant concerning, at a minimum, the categorical status of relevant assessment disciplines with respect to the submission at that time. The RPM will advise the applicant that the update is preliminary only, based on the RPM’s interpretation of the submission, and subject to change at any time.

For non-review, action responses, actions shall include final approvals, tentative approvals, CRLs, IRs, and DRLs (or other such nomenclature as FDA determines to reflect the nomenclature reviewed or requested for CRL):
FDA will strive to address, where possible, valid issues raised in a relevant citizen petition in the complete response letter. If a citizen petition raises an issue that would delay only part of a complete response, a response that addresses all other issues will be considered a complete response.

F. Complete Assessment—reaches to a final decision from all relevant assessment disciplines, including inspections, and includes other matters relating to the ANDAs and associated DMFs as well as comments with other Agency components.

G. Complex Product—generally includes:
1. Products with complex active ingredients (e.g., peptides, polymeric compounds, proteinaceous or natural mixtures of APIs, natural ingredients); complex formulations (e.g., liposomes, colloidals); complex routes of delivery (e.g., locally acting drugs such as dermatological products, complex ophthalmological products, and otic dosage forms that are formulated as suspensions, emulsions or gels) or complex dosage forms (e.g., transdermal systems, metered dose inhalers, extended release injectables).

   b. After an Inter-Teleconference if a prospective applicant or applicant seeks further feedback from FDA;
2. After issuance of a CRL or tentative approval;
3. After ANDA approval;
4. Concerning post-approval submission requirements that are not covered by CDER post-approval changes guidance and are not specific to an ANDA.

APPENDIX: PRIORITIZATION OF SUITABILITY

Prior to GDUFA III, FDA received approximately 20–30 suitability petitions per year and had approximately 170 suitability petitions currently pending as of July 2021. Pursuant to this Commitment Letter, in GDUFA III FDA has agreed to set goal dates for review and response to suitability petitions. FDA has committed to prioritizing suitability petitions that are carried over to the following fiscal year over new petitions received in the current fiscal year (subject to the prioritization outlined in section III(B)(6)). The following hypothetical example describes how FDA will prioritize suitability petitions if FDA is unable to respond to all petitions in a given fiscal year. This example assumes a significantly higher number of incoming petitions and a high number of carryover petitions that are carried over will be prioritized.

Example

For FY 2024, FDA’s goal is to respond to 50 percent of all suitability petitions received within six months of the completeness assessment, up to a maximum of 50 suitability petitions. In FY 2024, FDA receives and performs the completeness assessment for 100 suitability petitions. FDA must respond to 50 of those petitions within six months after the completeness assessment. At the end of FY 2024, FDA has responded to 50 petitions, and 10 in greater than six months. FDA therefore met the FY 2024 goal of 50 percent within six months (i.e., 50 petitions), and the additional 40 petitions still pending roll into FY 2025.

For FY 2025, FDA’s goal is to respond to 70 percent of all suitability petitions received within six months of the completeness assessment, up to a maximum of 70 suitability petitions. In FY 2025, FDA receives 40 suitability petitions. To meet the FY 2025 goal, FDA must respond to 28 of those petitions within six months of the completeness assessment. FDA will prioritize any suitability petitions received in FY 2025 prioritized as outlined in section III(B)(6)). The following example describes how FDA responds to suitability petitions currently pending as of July 2021. Pursuant to this Commitment Letter, in GDUFA III FDA has agreed to set goal dates for review and response to suitability petitions. For FY 2024, FDA has committed to prioritizing suitability petitions that are carried over to the following fiscal year over new petitions received in the current fiscal year (subject to the prioritization outlined in section III(B)(6)). The following example describes how FDA will prioritize suitability petitions if FDA is unable to respond to all petitions in a given fiscal year. This example assumes a significantly higher number of incoming petitions and a high number of carryover petitions that are carried over will be prioritized.

BIOSIMILAR BIOLOGICAL PRODUCT AUTHORIZATION PERFORMANCE GOALS AND PROCEDURES FOR FISCAL YEARS 2023 THROUGH 2027

This document contains the performance goals and procedures for the Biosimilar User Fee Act (BsUFA) reauthorization for fiscal years (FYs) 2023-2027, known as BsUFA III. It is commonly referred to as the “goals letter” or “commitment letter.” The goals letter represents the product of FDA’s discussions with the regulated industry and public stakeholders, as mandated by Congress. The performance and procedural goals and other commitments specified in this letter apply to aspects of the biosimilar biological product review program that are important for facilitating timely access to safe and effective biosimilar medicines for patients. FDA is committed to meeting the performance goals specified in this letter, enhancing management of BsUFA resources, and ensuring BsUFA user fee resources are administered, allocated, and reported in an efficient and transparent manner.

Under BsUFA III, FDA is committed to ensuring effective scientific coordination and review consistency, as well as efficient governance and operations across the biosimilar biological product review program. FDA and the regulated industry will periodically and regularly assess the progress of the biosimilar biological product review program throughout BsUFA III. This will allow FDA and the regulated industry to identify emerging challenges and develop strategies to address these challenges to ensure the efficiency and effectiveness of the biosimilar biological product review program.

I. ENSURING THE EFFECTIVENESS OF THE BIOSIMILAR BIOLOGICAL PRODUCT REVIEW PROGRAM

A. REVIEW PERFORMANCE GOALS

1. Original and Resubmitted Biosimilar Biological Product Applications
   a. Review and act on 90 percent of original biosimilar biological product application submissions within 10 months of the 60 day filing date.
   b. Review and act on 90 percent of resubmitted original biosimilar biological product applications within 6 months of receipt.

2. Original and Resubmitted Supplemental Biosimilar Biological Product Applications
   a. Review and act on the following supplements within 3 months of receipt:
      i. Category A: Supplements seeking to update the labeling for a licensed biosimilar or interchangeable product with regards to safety information that has been updated in the reference product labeling and is applicable to one or more indications for which the biosimilar or interchangeable product is licensed.
      ii. Category B: Supplements seeking license for an additional indication for a licensed biosimilar or interchangeable product when the submission does not include new data sets (other than analytical in vitro data obtained by use of physical, chemical and/or biological function assays, if needed to support the scientific justification for extrapolation), provided that:
         1) The supplement does not seek a new route of administration, dosage form, dosage strength, formulation or presentation; and
         2) If the supplement is subject to section 505B(a) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FD&C Act), the supplement contains an up-to-date agreed initial pediatric study plan (IPSP).
      iii. Category C: Supplements seeking to remove an approved indication for a licensed biosimilar or interchangeable product.
      iv. Review and act on the following supplements within 6 months of receipt:
         i. Category D: Supplements seeking licensure for an additional indication for a licensed biosimilar or interchangeable product when the submission:
            1) Contains new data sets (other than efficacy data, data to support a supplement seeking an initial determination of interchangeability, or only analytical in vitro data obtained by use of physical, chemical and/or biological function assays); or
            2) Does not contain new data sets (other than analytical in vitro data obtained by use of physical, chemical and/or biological function assays) but is subject to section 505B(a) of the FD&C Act, and the supplement does not contain an up-to-date agreed IPSP.
   b. Review and act on the following supplements within 10 months of receipt for the original submissions, and within 6 months of receipt for resubmissions:
      i. Category E: Supplements seeking licensure for an additional indication for a licensed biosimilar or interchangeable product and containing efficacy data sets.
      ii. Category F: Supplements seeking an initial determination of interchangeability.
   c. FDA will issue a letter to the applicant for 90% of original Category A through D supplements within 60 calendar days of receipt. The letter will acknowledge receipt of the submission and provide the date for FDA to take action on the submission.
   d. A filing letter will be issued to the applicant for 90% of original Category E and F supplements within 74 calendar days of receipt. Consistent with the underlying principles articulated in the Good Review Management Principles and Practices (GRMP) guidance, the letter will acknowledge receipt of the submission and inform the applicant of the planned review timeline and whether substantive review issues were identified. If no substantive review issues were identified or no substantive review issues were identified during the filing review, FDA will so notify the applicant.

3. Original Manufacturing Supplements
   a. Review and act on 90 percent of manufacturing supplements requiring prior approval within 6 months of receipt.
   b. Review and act on 90 percent of all other manufacturing supplements within 6 months of receipt.

5. Review Performance Goal Extensions

a. Major Amendments
i. A major amendment to an original application or supplement, including a clinical data resubmission of any of these applications, submitted at any time during the review cycle, may extend the goal date by two months.

ii. Only one extension can be given per review cycle.

iii. Consistent with the underlying principles established in the Good Review Management Principles and Practices (GRMP) guidance, FDA's decision to extend the review clock should, except in rare circumstances, be limited to occasions where review of the new information could address outstanding deficiencies in the application and lead to approval in the current review cycle.

b. Inspection of Facilities Not Adequately Identified in an Original Application or Supplement

i. All original applications and supplements are expected to include a comprehensive and readily located list of all manufacturing facilities included or referenced in the application or supplement. This list provides FDA with information needed to schedule inspections of manufacturing facilities that may be necessary before approval of the original application or supplement.

ii. If, during FDA’s review of an original application or supplement, the Agency identifies a manufacturing facility that was not included in the comprehensive and readily located list, the goal date may be extended.

1) If FDA identifies the need to inspect a manufacturing facility that is not included as part of the comprehensive and readily located list in an original application or supplement with clinical data, the goal date may be extended by three months.

2) If FDA identifies the need to inspect a manufacturing facility that is not included as part of the comprehensive and readily located list, the goal date may be extended by two months.

b. PROGRAM FOR ENHANCED REVIEW TRANSPARENCY AND COMMUNICATION FOR ORIGINAL 351(k) BLAS

To promote transparency and communication between the FDA review team and the applicant, FDA will apply the following model (I.A.1.b) to the review of all original Biologics License Applications (BLAs) submitted under section 351(k) of the Public Health Service Act (“351(k) BLAs”), including applications that are resubmitted following a Refuse-to-File decision, received from October 1, 2022, through September 30, 2027. The goal of the Program is to promote the effectiveness of the midcycle review process and minimize the number of review cycles necessary for approval, ensuring that patients have timely access to safe, effective, and high quality biosimilar and interchangeable biological products.

The standard approach for the review of original 351(k) BLAs is described in this section. However, the FDA review team and the applicant may discuss and reach mutual agreement on an approach to the timing and nature of interactions and information exchange between the applicant and FDA, i.e., a Formal Communication Plan for the review of an original 351(k) BLA. The Formal Communication Plan may include elements of the standard approach (e.g., a midcycle communication or a late-cycle meeting) and may address interactions that sometimes occur during the review process (e.g., a meeting during the filing period to discuss the application, i.e., an “application orientation meeting”). If appropriate, the Formal Communication Plan should specify those elements of the Program that FDA and the sponsor agree are unnecessary for the application under review. If the review team and the applicant anticipate developing a Formal Communication Plan, the elements of the plan should be discussed and agreed to at the pre-submission meeting (see Section I.B.1) and reflected in the meeting minutes. The Formal Communication Plan may be reviewed during the review process based on the progress of the review and the mutual agreement of the review team and the applicant. For example, the review team and the applicant may agree at any time to cancel future specified interactions in the Program (e.g., the late-cycle meeting) that become unnecessary (e.g., because previous communications are sufficient for the review team and the applicant are sufficient). Any amendments made to the Formal Communication Plan should be consistent with the goal of an efficient and timely first cycle review process and not impede the review team’s ability to conduct its review. The remandation I.B.1 describes the parameters that will apply to FDA’s review of applications in the Program.

1. Pre-submission meeting: The applicant is strongly encouraged to discuss the planned content of the application with the appropriate FDA review division at a BFD Type 4 (pre-351(k) BLA) meeting. This meeting will be between the FDA review team, including appropriate senior FDA staff.

a. The BFD Type 4 (pre-351(k) BLA) meeting should be held sufficiently in advance of the planned submission of the application to allow for meaningful response to FDA feedback. The applicant must submit a draft not less than 2 months prior to the planned submission of the application.

b. In addition, FDA’s preliminary responses to the applicant’s questions, other potential discussion topics include preliminary discussions regarding the approach to developing the content of REMS, when applicable, patient labeling (e.g., Medication Guide and Instructions For Use) and, where applicable, the development of a Formal Communication Plan. These discussions will be summarized at the conclusion of the meeting and reflected in the FDA meeting minutes.

The FDA and the applicant will agree on the content of a complete application for the proposed indication(s) at the pre-submission meeting. The applicant may also reach agreement on submission of a limited number of application components not later than 30 calendar days after the submission. Appropriate timelines and lead times for submission of these submissions must be of a type that would not be expected to materially impact the ability of the review team to begin its review. These timelines should be agreed to at the conclusion of the meeting and reflected in the FDA meeting minutes.

1. Examples of application components that may be appropriate for delayed submission include; stability updates, the final audited report of a preclinical study (e.g., toxicology), where the draft report was submitted with the original application, or a limited amount of the data from an assessment of a single transition from the reference product to the biosimilar product, where applicable.

ii. Major components of the application (e.g., the complete analytical similarity assessment, the complete drug product, or a comparative clinical study or the full study report of necessary immunogenicity data) are expected to be submitted with the original submission and not subject to agreement for late submission.

2. Original application submission: Applications are expected to be complete, as agreed between the FDA review team and the applicant at the BFD Type 4 (pre-351(k) BLA) meeting, at the time of original submission of the application. If the applicant does not have a BFD Type 4 (pre-351(k) BLA) meeting with FDA, and no agreement exists between FDA and the applicant on the complete submission, a delayed submission of certain components of the application, the applicant’s submission is expected to be complete at the time of original submission.

a. All applications are expected to include a comprehensive and readily located list of all clinical sites and manufacturing facilities included or referenced in the application.

b. Any components of the application that FDA agreed at the pre-submission meeting could be submitted after the original application can be expected not later than 30 calendar days after receipt of the original application.

c. Incomplete applications, including applications with components not received within 30 calendar days after receipt of the original submission, will be subject to a Refuse-to-File decision.

d. The following parameters will apply to applications that are subject to a Refuse-to-File decision and are subsequently filed over protest:

1. The original submission of the application will be subject to the review performance goal as described in Section I.A.1.a.

2. The application will be considered complete for the other parameters of the Program (e.g., mid-cycle communication, late-cycle meeting).

3. FDA generally will not review amendments to the application during any review cycle. FDA also generally will not issue information requests to the applicant during the agency’s review.

iv. The resubmission goal described in Section I.A.1.b will not apply to any resubmission of the application following an FDA complete response action. Any such resubmission will be reviewed as available resource permit.

e. Additional applications are expected to be complete at the time of submission, unsolicited amendments are expected to be rare and not to contain major new information or any new revised version of any amendments, including those submitted in response to an FDA communication of deficiencies, will be handled in accordance with the GRMP guidance. This guidance includes the underlying principle that FDA will consider the most efficient path toward completion of a comprehensive review that addresses addressing deficiencies and leads toward a first cycle approval when possible.

3. Day 74 Letter: FDA will follow existing procedures regarding identification and communication of major new information or any new revised version of any amendments. All such information will be identified during the initial filing review to the applicant in the “Day 74 letter.” If no substantive review issues were identified during the filing review, FDA will so notify the applicant. FDA’s filing review represents a preliminary review of the application and is not indicative of deficiencies that may be identified later in the review cycle.

For applications subject to the Program, the timely communication will occur within 74 calendar days from the date of FDA receipt of the original submission. The planned timeline for review of the application and potential substantive review issues identified during the review of applications in the Program will include:

a. The planned date for the internal mid-cycle review meeting;
b. Preliminary decision on whether to hold an Advisory Committee (AC) meeting to discuss the application;
c. Anticipated date for communication of feedback from the review division to the applicant regarding proposed labeling and any postmarket requirements or postmarket commitments the Agency will be requesting;

4. Review performance goals: For original 351(k) BLA submissions that are filed by FDA under the Program, the BsUFA review clock will begin on the conclusion of the 74 calendar day filing review period that begins on the date of FDA receipt of the original submission. Review performance goals for these applications are as follows:

a. Review and act on 90% of original 351(k) BLA submissions within 10 months of the day filing date;

5. Mid-Cycle Communication: The FDA Regulatory Project Manager (RPM), and other appropriate members of the FDA review team (e.g., CMC Discipline Team Leader (CDTL)), will call the applicant, generally within 2 weeks following the Agency’s internal mid-cycle review meeting, to provide the applicant with an update on the status of the review of their application. An agenda will be sent to the applicant prior to the mid-cycle communication. Scheduling of the internal mid-cycle review meeting will be handled in accordance with the GRMP guidance.

The RPM will coordinate the specific date and time of the telephone call with the applicant.

The update should include any significant issues identified by the review team to date, any information requests, and information regarding major concerns with the following:

a. The analytical similarity data, including the potential relevance of any issues (e.g., data analyses). This would apply only if there is clinical impact of observed analytical differences, intended to support a demonstration that the proposed biosimilar biological product is highly similar to the reference product;
b. The data intended to support a demonstration of no clinically meaningful differences, including discussion of any immunogenicity issues;
c. The data intended to support a demonstration of interchangeability;
d. CMC issues;

In addition, the update should include preliminary review team thinking regarding the content of REMS, where applicable, proposed dates for the late-cycle meeting, updates regarding plans for the AC meeting (if an AC meeting is anticipated), and other appropriate dates for the remainder of the review cycle.

6. Late-Cycle and Advisory Committee Meetings: A meeting will be held between the FDA review team and the applicant to discuss the status of the review of the application late in the review cycle. Late-cycle meetings will generally be face-to-face meetings; however, the meeting may be held by teleconference if FDA and the applicant agree. Since the application is expected to be complete at the time of submission, FDA intends to conduct any late-cycle meetings and the applicant views of the application in advance of the planned late-cycle meeting.

a. FDA representatives at the late-cycle meeting are expected to include the signatory authority for the application, review team members from appropriate disciplines, and subject matter experts and supervisors from disciplines for which substantive issues have been identified in the review to date.
b. For applications that will be discussed at an Advisory Committee (AC) meeting, the following parameters apply:
   i. FDA intends to convene AC meetings no later than 2 calendar days after the BsUFA goal date. The late-cycle meeting will occur not less than 12 calendar days before the date of the AC meeting.
   ii. FDA intends to provide final questions for the AC to the sponsor and the AC not less than 2 calendar days before the AC meeting.

Following an AC meeting, FDA and the applicant may agree on the need to discuss feedback from the committee for the purpose of facilitating the remainder of the review. Such a meeting will generally be held by teleconference without a commitment for formal meeting minutes issued by the agency.
c. For applications that will not be discussed at an AC meeting, the late-cycle meeting will generally occur not later than 3 months prior to the BsUFA goal date.

7. Late-Cycle Meeting Discussion Topics: Potential topics for discussion at the late-cycle meeting include:

i. Major deficiencies identified to date;
ii. Analytical similarity data, including the potential relevance of any issues (e.g., data analyses). This would apply only if there is clinical impact of observed analytical differences, intended to support a demonstration that the proposed biosimilar biological product is highly similar to the reference product;
iii. Data intended to support a demonstration of no clinically meaningful differences, including discussion of any immunogenicity issues;
iv. Data intended to support a demonstration of interchangeability;
v. CMC issues;
vi. Inspectional findings identified to date;
vii. Issues to be discussed at the AC meeting (if planned);
viii. Assessment of the content of proposed REMS or other risk management actions, where applicable;
ix. Information requests from the review team to date that were not addressed in previous data or analyses the applicant may wish to submit.

With regard to submission of additional data or analyses, the FDA review team and the applicant will discuss whether such data will be reviewed by the Agency in the current review cycle and, if so, whether the submission will be considered a major amendment and will trigger an extension of the BsUFA goal date.

8. Inspections: FDA’s goal is to complete all GCP, GLP, and GMP inspections for applications subject to the Program prior to the application anniversary or the anniversary of the date of original receipt of the application. This will allow 2 months at the end of the review cycle to attempt to address any deficiencies identified by the inspections.

C. GUIDANCE

FDA and industry share a commitment to ensuring an efficient and effective review process for all applications subject to the BsUFA program.

In light of the new, expedited timelines for supplements, FDA will issue guidance and/or a MAPP no later than the end of FY 2023. FDA will work toward the goal of publishing a revised draft or final guidance within 18 months after the close of the public comment period.

D. REVIEW OF PROPRIETARY NAMES TO REDUCE MEDICATION ERRORS

To enhance patient safety, FDA is committed to various measures to reduce medication errors related to look-alike and sound-alike proprietary names. Such names may result in serious and/or fatal adverse events. To address this concern, FDA is implementing various measures to reduce medication errors related to look-alike and sound-alike proprietary names as unclear label abbreviations, acronyms, dose designations, and error-prone label and packaging designs. The following guidelines apply, and FDA’s review of biosimilar biological product proprietary names during the biosimilar biological product review will begin during FDA’s review of a marketing application.

1. Proprietary Name Review Performance Goals During the BPD Phase

a. Review 90% of proprietary name submissions filed within 180 days of receipt. Notify sponsor of tentative acceptance or non-acceptance.
b. In the proprietary name is found to be unacceptable, the sponsor can request reconsideration by submitting a written rebuttal with supporting data or request a meeting within 60 days to discuss the initial decision (meeting package required).
c. If the proprietary name is found to be unacceptable, the above review performance goals also would apply to the written request for reconsideration with supporting data or the submission of a new proprietary name.
d. A complete submission is required to begin the review clock.

2. Proprietary Name Review Performance Goals During Application

a. Review 90% of biosimilar biological product proprietary name submissions filed within 90 days of receipt. Notify sponsor of tentative acceptance or non-acceptance.
b. If the proprietary name is found to be unacceptable, the sponsor can request reconsideration by submitting a written rebuttal with supporting data or request a meeting within 60 days to discuss the initial decision (meeting package required).
c. If the proprietary name is found to be unacceptable, the above review performance goals also would apply to the written request for reconsideration with supporting data or the submission of a new proprietary name.
d. A complete submission is required to begin the review clock.

E. MAJOR DISPUTE RESOLUTION

1. Procedure: For procedural or scientific matters involving the review of biosimilar biological product applications and supplements (as defined in BsUFA) that cannot be resolved at the signatory authority level (including a request for reconsideration by the signatory authority), the applicant may appeal any matter that is planned to be forwarded with an appeal to the next level, the response to appeals of decisions will occur within 30 calendar days of the Center’s receipt of the written appeal.

2. Performance goal: 90% of such responses are produced within 30 calendar days of the Center’s receipt of the written appeal.

3. Conditions:
   a. Sponsors should first try to resolve the protocol issue through the scientific issue at the signatory authority level. If it cannot be resolved at that level, it should be appealed to the next higher organizational level (with a copy to the signatory authority and then, if necessary, to the next higher organizational level.
   b. Responses should be either verbal (followed by a written confirmation within 14 calendar days of the verbal notification) or written and should ordinarily be to either grant or deny the appeal.
   c. If the decision is to deny the appeal, the response should include reasons for the denial and any actions the sponsor might take to persuade the Agency to reverse its decision.

D. Performance goal: 90% of special protocol assessments and resubmissions per original special protocol assessment are completed and returned to sponsor within 45 days.

E. Conditions:
   a. The Agency will evaluate certain protocols and answers to the questions posed in the protocol so that the Agency agrees that the data from the protocol can be used as part of the primary basis for approval of the product. The fundamental agreement is that having agreed to the design, execution, and analyses proposed in protocols reviewed under this process, the Agency will not alter its perspective on the issue of design, execution, or analyses unless public health concerns unrecognized at the time of protocol assessment under this process are identified.
   b. 3. Reporting: The Agency will track and report the number of original special protocol assessments and resubmissions per original special protocol assessment.

F. CLINICAL HOLDS

1. Procedure: The Center should respond to a sponsor’s request to hold within 30 days of the Agency’s receipt of the submission of such sponsor request.

2. Performance goal: 90% of such responses are produced within 30 calendar days of the Agency’s receipt of the sponsor’s response.

G. SPECIAL PROTOCOL QUESTION ASSESSMENT AND AGREEMENT

1. Procedure: Upon specific request by a sponsor (including specific questions that the sponsor desires to be answered), the Agency will evaluate certain protocols and related issues to assess whether the design is adequate, scientifically sound, and regulatory requirements identified by the sponsor.

2. The sponsor should submit a limited number of specific questions about the protocol design and scientific and regulatory requirements of which the sponsor seeks agreement (e.g., the clinical endpoints adequate to assess whether there are clinically meaningful differences between the proposed biosimilar biological product and the reference product).

3. Within 45 days of Agency receipt of the protocol and questions, the Agency will provide a written response to the sponsor that includes a succinct assessment of the protocol and answers to the questions posed in the protocol so that the Agency agrees that the protocol design, execution, and analyses are adequate to achieve the goals of the sponsor; the reasons for the disagreement will be explained in the response.

4. Protocols that qualify for this program include clinical or preclinical studies to prove biosimilarity and/or interchangeability (e.g., protocols for pharmacokinetics and pharmacodynamics studies, protocol assessment studies that will form the primary basis for demonstrating that there are no clinically meaningful differences between the proposed biosimilar biological product and the reference product, and protocols for clinical studies intended to support a demonstration of interchangeability). For such protocols to qualify for this comprehensive process, the sponsor must have submitted a Special Protocol Assessment Request to the Agency, as defined in section I.I., below, with the review division so that the division is aware of the developmental context in which the protocol is being reviewed and the questions being answered.

5. If a protocol is reviewed under the process outlined above, and agreement with the Agency is reached on design, execution, and analyses, and if the results of the trial conducted under the protocol substantiate the data proposed for the protocol, the Agency agrees that the data from the protocol can be used as part of the primary basis for approval of the product. The fundamental agreement is that having agreed to the design, execution, and analyses proposed in protocols reviewed under this process, the Agency will not alter its perspective on the issue of design, execution, or analyses unless public health concerns unrecognized at the time of protocol assessment under this process are identified.

6. Performance goal: 90% of special protocol assessments and agreement requests completed and returned to sponsor within 45 days.

7. Reporting: The Agency will track and report the number of original special protocol assessments and resubmissions per original special protocol assessment.

H. MEETING MANAGEMENT GOALS

Formal BIFA meetings between sponsors and FDA consist of Biosimilar Initial Advisory and BPD Type 1–4 meetings. These meetings are further described below.

A Biosimilar Initial Advisory Meeting is an initial assessment limited to a general discussion regarding whether licensure under section 351(k) of the PHS Act is feasible for a particular product, and, if so, general advice on the expected content of the development program. Such term does not include any meetings that involve substantive review of summary data or full study reports. Only one BIA meeting may be granted per program. While preliminary nonclinical and clinical data from least one of the proposed biosimilar or interchangeable product compared to the U.S.-licensed reference product is not required for the meeting request, sufficient information should be provided with the meeting request to enable FDA to make such a preliminary determination related to potential licensability under section 351(k) and to provide meaningful advice. This should include, as appropriate:

- Identification of reference product.
- The indications intended to be sought for licensure.
- A comparative analytical similarity plan, including preliminary identification of the critical comparative analytical attributes and planned characterization methods.
- If a sponsor seeks to utilize a non-US-licensed comparator during development, the comparability strategy for the non-US-licensed reference product and that comparator should be provided.

1. For Biosimilar Initial Advisory and BPD Type 2a or 2b meetings, the sponsor may request a written response to its questions, rather than a face-to-face meeting or conference. If a written response is deemed appropriate, FDA will notify the sponsor of the date it intends to send the written response. If the sponsor believes the information is applicable to a different meeting type, the Agency will reconsider this request. If FDA agrees to schedule a face-to-face meeting, the Agency will notify the sponsor of the date it intends to send the written response. If the sponsor believes the information is applicable to a different meeting type, the Agency will reconsider this request.

2. For BPD Type 2a meetings, while the sponsor may request a face-to-face meeting, the Agency may determine that a written response to the sponsor’s questions would be the most appropriate means for providing feedback and advice to the sponsor. When it is determined that the meeting request can be appropriately addressed through a written response, FDA will notify the sponsor of the date it intends to send the written response to the Agency’s response to the meeting request. This date will be consistent with the timeframe for a Type 2a meeting. If the sponsor believes a face-to-face Type 2a meeting is valuable and warranted, the sponsor may provide a rationale in a follow-up correspondence explaining why a face-to-face meeting is valuable and warranted, and FDA will reconsider this request. If FDA determines that the Agency should grant the face-to-face format, the Agency will notify the sponsor of the date it intends to send the written response.

4. Meeting Minutes
   a. Procedure: The Agency will prepare minutes which will be available to the sponsor 30 calendar days after the meeting. The minutes will clarify important discussions, agreements, disagreements, issues for further discussion, and action items from the meeting in bulleted form and need not be in great detail. Meeting minutes are not necessary if the Agency transmits a written response to the request. For Biosimilar Initial Advisory, BPD Type 2a, 2b meetings, the background package must be received within 30 calendar days of the date of the meeting.
   b. Performance: For a meeting to qualify for these performance goals:
      a. A written request and supporting documentation (i.e., the background package) must be submitted to the appropriate review division or office. The background package must be submitted at the same time as the written request for Biosimilar Initial Advisory, BPD Type 2a, 2b meetings.
      b. Follow-up opportunity: For all meeting types, the Agency will respond to the sponsor’s proposal for a face-to-face meeting, teleconference, or for a written response within 20 calendar days following receipt of the written request.
      c. Transparency: On or before March 31st, the Agency will publish on its public webpage certain metrics regarding the new Type 2a meeting and sponsor requests for face-to-face meetings.

5. Conclusions: For a meeting to qualify for these performance goals:
   a. A written request and supporting documentation (i.e., the background package) must be submitted to the appropriate review division or office. The background package must be submitted at the same time as the written request for Biosimilar Initial Advisory, BPD Type 2a, 2b meetings.
   b. Follow-up opportunity: For all meeting types, the Agency will respond to the sponsor’s proposal for a face-to-face meeting, teleconference, or for a written response within 20 calendar days following receipt of the written request.
   c. Transparency: On or before March 31st, the Agency will publish on its public webpage certain metrics regarding the new Type 2a meeting and sponsor requests for face-to-face meetings.

6. Guidance, Clarity, and Transparency
   a. Guidance: By September 30, 2023, FDA will issue a revised draft of the existing draft guidance on ‘Formal Meetings Between the FDA and Sponsors on Biosimilar Products’ with information pertaining to BIA, Type 2a, and Type 4 meetings, as well as the follow-up opportunity described below. In addition, FDA will update relevant MAPs and SOPs.
   b. Follow-up opportunity: For all meeting types, to ensure the sponsor’s understanding of FDA feedback from meeting discussions or a WRO, sponsors may submit clarifying questions to the Agency. Only questions of a clarifying nature will be permitted, i.e., to confirm something in the WRO issued by FDA, rather than raising new issues or new proposals. FDA will develop criteria and parameters for the clarifying request, and FDA may exercise discretion about whether requests are in-scope. The clarifying questions should be sent in writing as a ‘Request for Clarification’ to the FDA within 20 calendar days following receipt of meeting minutes or WRO.
   c. Transparency: On or before March 31st, 2025, FDA will publish on its public webpage certain metrics regarding the new Type 2a meetings and sponsor requests for face-to-face meetings.

II. ENHANCING BIOSIMILAR AND INTERCHANGEABLE BIOLOGICAL PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT AND REGULATORY SCIENCE

To facilitate the timely development of biosimilar and interchangeable biological products and their availability to patients, FDA will focus on enhancing communications during application review, including improving effective communication and facilitating the development of combination and interchangeable products. FDA will also pilot a regulatory science program focused on enhancing regulatory dialogue and facilitating science-based recommendations in areas foundational to biosimilar and interchangeable biological development.

A. FACILIATING BEST PRACTICES IN COMMUNICATION BETWEEN FDA AND SPONSORS DURING APPLICATION REVIEW

The utilization of best practices in communications during application reviews is the responsibility of both industry and FDA. Efforts from both industry and FDA are needed in order to continue advancement, improvement, and updating of best practices.

To continue to enhance communication with sponsors during biosimilar application review in BsUFA III, FDA will update relevant documents, MAPFs and SOPPs, as appropriate, on or before December 31st, 2023 regarding best practices in communication. FDA will utilize input from the BsUFA II final report and program experiences, and discussion from a meeting with industry on best practices in FY 2022 to update the above documents, as appropriate.

B. INSPECTIONS AND ALTERNATIVE TOOLS TO EXAMINE BIOLOGICAL REFERENCES

1. Enhancing Inspection Communication for Applications, not Including Supplements

FDA and industry believe enhanced communication between review teams and industry on certain pre-license inspections can facilitate an efficient application review process.

When FDA determines for an application, not including supplements, that it is necessary to conduct a pre-license inspection at a time that is earlier than mid-cycle, the inspection is being manufactured, FDA’s goal is to communicate its intent to inspect a manufacturing facility at least 60 days in advance of the pre-license inspection. After 60 days, FDA reserves the right to conduct manufacturing facility inspections at any time during the review cycle, whether or not FDA has communicated to the facility the intent to inspect.

2. Alternative Tools to Assess Manufacturing Facilities Named in Pending Applications

During the COVID-19 public health emergency, the FDA expanded its use of alternate tools for assessing facilities named in applications, including excising its authority to request records and other information in advance of or in lieu of an inspection, per section 701(a)(4) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FFDCA) (21 U.S.C. 374(a)), Where appropriate, the Agency also increased the use of information, including inspection reports, shared by trusted foreign regulatory partners through mutual recognition and confidentiality agreements. As FDA continues to gain experience and lessons learned from the use of these tools, FDA will communicate its thinking on the use of such methods beyond the pandemic.

On or before September 30, 2023, FDA will issue draft guidance on the use of alternative tools to assess manufacturing facilities named in pending applications (e.g., requesting existing inspection reports from other trusted foreign regulatory partners through mutual recognition and confidentiality agreements, requesting information from applicants, requesting records and other information directly from facilities and other inspectors, as appropriate, utilizing new or existing technology platforms to assess manufacturing facilities). The guidance will incorporate best practices, including those in existing published documents, from the use of such tools during the COVID-19 pandemic. FDA will work towards the goal of publishing final guidance within 18 months after the close of the public comment period in the draft guidance. If, after receiving comments on the draft guidance, FDA determines that the guidance requires substantial changes such as which further public comments are warranted, FDA will issue a revised draft guidance within 18 additional months. It will then work towards publishing a final guidance within 18 months after the close of the public comment period on the revised draft guidance.

C. ADVANCING THE DEVELOPMENT OF BIOSIMILAR BIOLOGICAL-DEVICE COMBINATION PRODUCTS REGULATED BY CDER AND CBER

1. Use-Related Risk Analysis (URRA)

Sponsors should use the URRA to identify the need for risk mitigation strategies and to design a human factors (HF) validation study. Based on a URRA, a sponsor may propose that the URRAs be submitted to support the safety and effective use of a biosimilar biologic-device combination product. FDA will establish the following procedures for review of URRAs for combination products:

a. The sponsor should submit a request for review of their URRA to their IN. The sponsor should provide a written response to the IN should be submitted within 60 days of receipt of submission.

b. Within 60 days of Agency receipt of the URRA and specific questions, the Agency will provide a written response to the IN regarding whether the Agency agrees or disagrees with the IN’s specific questions and a justification that a HF validation study is not needed to be submitted including any supporting information, and scientific and regulatory requirements for which the sponsor seeks agreement.

c. Within 60 days of Agency receipt of the URRA and specific questions, the Agency will provide a written response to the IN regarding whether the Agency agrees or disagrees with the IN’s specific questions and a justification that a HF validation study is not needed to be submitted including any supporting information, and scientific and regulatory requirements for which the sponsor seeks agreement.

d. On or before September 30, 2025, FDA will provide a written response to the IN regarding whether the Agency agrees or disagrees with the IN’s specific questions and a justification that a HF validation study is not needed to be submitted including any supporting information, and scientific and regulatory requirements for which the sponsor seeks agreement.

2. Human Factor Validation Study Protocols

a. The sponsor should submit a request for review of their URRA to their IN. The IN should provide a written response to the sponsor regarding whether the Agency agrees or disagrees with the IN’s specific questions and a justification that a HF validation study is not needed to be submitted including any supporting information, and scientific and regulatory requirements for which the sponsor seeks agreement.

b. Within 60 days of Agency receipt of the URRA and specific questions, the IN will provide a written response to the sponsor regarding whether the Agency agrees or disagrees with the IN’s specific questions and a justification that a HF validation study is not needed to be submitted including any supporting information, and scientific and regulatory requirements for which the sponsor seeks agreement.

c. Within 60 days of Agency receipt of the URRA and specific questions, the Agency will provide a written response to the IN regarding whether the Agency agrees or disagrees with the IN’s specific questions and a justification that a HF validation study is not needed to be submitted including any supporting information, and scientific and regulatory requirements for which the sponsor seeks agreement.

3. Human Factor Validation Study Protocols

a. The sponsor should submit a request for review of their URRA to their IN. The IN should provide a written response to the sponsor regarding whether the Agency agrees or disagrees with the IN’s specific questions and a justification that a HF validation study is not needed to be submitted including any supporting information, and scientific and regulatory requirements for which the sponsor seeks agreement.

b. Within 60 days of Agency receipt of the URRA and specific questions, the Agency will provide a written response to the IN regarding whether the Agency agrees or disagrees with the IN’s specific questions and a justification that a HF validation study is not needed to be submitted including any supporting information, and scientific and regulatory requirements for which the sponsor seeks agreement.

c. Within 60 days of Agency receipt of the URRA and specific questions, the Agency will provide a written response to the IN regarding whether the Agency agrees or disagrees with the IN’s specific questions and a justification that a HF validation study is not needed to be submitted including any supporting information, and scientific and regulatory requirements for which the sponsor seeks agreement.

4. Human Factor Validation Study Protocols

a. The sponsor should submit a request for review of their URRA to their IN. The IN should provide a written response to the sponsor regarding whether the Agency agrees or disagrees with the IN’s specific questions and a justification that a HF validation study is not needed to be submitted including any supporting information, and scientific and regulatory requirements for which the sponsor seeks agreement.

b. Within 60 days of Agency receipt of the URRA and specific questions, the Agency will provide a written response to the IN regarding whether the Agency agrees or disagrees with the IN’s specific questions and a justification that a HF validation study is not needed to be submitted including any supporting information, and scientific and regulatory requirements for which the sponsor seeks agreement.

c. Within 60 days of Agency receipt of the URRA and specific questions, the Agency will provide a written response to the IN regarding whether the Agency agrees or disagrees with the IN’s specific questions and a justification that a HF validation study is not needed to be submitted including any supporting information, and scientific and regulatory requirements for which the sponsor seeks agreement.

III. REGULATORY SCIENCE PROGRAM TO ADVANCE THE DEVELOPMENT OF INTERCHANGEABLE BIOSIMILAR BIOLOGICAL PRODUCTS

FDA will committed to a focused effort to further advance the development of safe and effective interchangeable biosimilar biological products. The effort will address current needs and prospectively identify future needs and incorporate the following components:

1. Research: FDA will leverage the BsUFA III Regulatory Science Program to advance product development, decision-making, and support guidance development for interchangeable biosimilar products.

100 YEARS OF THE LEBANON AMERICAN CLUB IN DANBURY, CONNECTICUT
Mr. BLUMENTHAL. Mr. President, today I rise to recognize the Lebanon American Club of Danbury, CT, as they celebrate 100 years of devoted cultural engagement and civic service in their community.

The Lebanon American Club—or “the Club,” as it is affectionately known as by its members—was founded in 1922 as the Syrian American Club. In its early days, this organization assisted members in becoming American citizens, learning English, and served as a vital social support system for Lebanese and Syrian immigrants. After initially meeting at the location in Danbury, the Club established a permanent home in “Little Lebanon” on New Street in Danbury in the 1930s, before moving to its current West Street location in 1993.

Highly active in the civic and cultural life of the Arabic speaking community in Danbury, the Lebanon American Club boasted many members who were major contributors to the economic, professional, and social fabric of the region. After the election of Chilcory Buzaud as Danbury City Sheriff in 1937—the first Lebanese American elected to public office in the State of Connecticut—the Club’s members became more politically active as well.

From the 1940s through the 1960s, the Club’s activities expanded with regular dinners, scholarship programs for students, fundraisers to aid members in need, and an annual Labor Day weekend “Mahrajan” festival celebrating their Lebanese and Syrian heritage. In the 1970s, a new wave of Lebanese immigrants sparked a revitalization of the Lebanon American Club and their activities expanded. New Club programs were established—and continue today—including a children’s Chasmas party and a scholarship award dinner which has grown tremendously over the years, providing tens of thousands of dollars in college scholarships to high school graduates. Additionally, the Lebanon American Club Ladies Auxiliary routinely holds dinners and wine tastings and is a significant contributor to the Club’s overall activities.

In recent years, the Lebanon American Club has continued to expand and flourish. The Lebanon American Teacher Exchange program was established in 2002, and the annual Lebanon American Day flag raising ceremony was first held the next year in 2003. In 2009, the Club established a heritage committee and paid tribute to their immigrant ancestors, and the monument was unveiled at city hall during the 2010 Lebanon Day celebration. The Club has continued to thrive of late, including hosting regular blood drives and the COVID-19 pandemic to provide lifesaving aid for the community.

For a century, the Lebanon American Club has provided cultural, civic, and social support to its members, the Lebanese community, and the Danbury community at large. I have attended many Club activities and greatly appreciate and admire their long-standing commitment to preserving and promoting their cultural heritage while selflessly serving their community throughout the years. My congratulations on this momentous occasion of their 100th anniversary.

TRIBUTE TO DR. JOAN PHILLIPS
Mr. MANCHIN. Mr. President, I rise today to honor the legacy of Dr. Joan Phillips for her many years of service dedicated to child well-being and to all people of West Virginia.

I have often said there is no greater accomplishment than to find yourself in a position to give back to the community you love. Dr. Phillips embodies giving, always willing to lend support and knowledge to those in need throughout her career.

Protecting and serving vulnerable people was her passion, one that motivated her throughout four decades of professional work. Dr. Phillips is viewed by her colleagues, and rightfully so, as an advocate for vulnerable children of West Virginia. Most recently serving as the co-director of Child Advocacy Center of Charleston Area Medical Center, her list of accomplishments is staggering, continuously pioneering child advocacy standards across the region.

As West Virginia’s first ever board-certified child abuse pediatrician, Dr. Phillips has always been pivotal in ensuring that the children of our State receive the correct level of care. Over the course of her admirable career, Dr. Phillips has changed countless lives, both internally through the Child Advocacy Network, and externally consulting through private practice. As a result of her efforts, she was in the first round of child abuse subspecialty recognized by the American Academy of Pediatrics.

Dr. Phillips always made time to consult on cases and never turned down the opportunity to assist regardless of location. Other physicians, law enforcement officers and child protective services workers regularly sought her expertise and advice.

Over the years, Dr. Phillips held many leadership roles, including president of the American Academy of Pediatrics, numerous boards of local and statewide organizations, community health agencies, family service agencies, as well as State and national committees related to issues regarding child well-being.

Not only did Dr. Phillips fiercely dedicate her time to advancing children’s health, but she also found time to pass her knowledge along to others. She regularly presented at conferences, mentored other child abuse medical providers and taught within medical and residency programs at West Virginia University and Marshall University. I know she has inspired many young leaders throughout her illustrious career, and I am confident they will carry the torch to ensure a brighter tomorrow. Truly, her legacy of dedication to health care services is one we should all install in ourselves.

With an unrivaled, strong spirit of optimism and innovation, her commitment to preventing and treating child abuse in our communities is something to admire. Her work has undoubtedly changed the quality of healthcare in the State of West Virginia. I will always be grateful to Dr. Phillips for her lifetime of influential work.

While I know everyone is sure to miss her strong leadership, Dr. Phillips’ unwavering dedication will leave a lasting legacy on the countless lives she has touched. Again, I congratulate Dr. Phillips for her remarkable years of service and outstanding dedication to improving our great Nation, and I am honored to wish good health and much happiness to her and her family in the days and years ahead.

TRIBUTE TO KEVIN FERN
Mr. PORTMAN. Mr. President, I rise today to pay tribute to a notable Kansasan, Kevin Fern. Mr. Fern is currently executive director of Visit Shawnee, a division of the Shawnee Chamber of Commerce and the official Destination Marketing Organization for the city of Shawnee. He has served the city of Shawnee since 2008 and was also nominated by Governor Laura Kelly to the Kansas Council on Travel and Tourism. Prior to his current position he spent a number of years in politics, working a variety of campaigns, including for Presidential candidate Dick Gephardt’s campaign in 1988—always noting that he “wanted to be the guy behind the scenes, making everything happen.” Following a number of years in campaign politics, Mr. Fern entered the hospitality industry, where he worked for more than 15 years in the hotel industry.

Mr. Fern is a long-time native of Shawnee, KS, and his passion for the city mixed with his ethos to “make our world just a little better” embodies the true Kansas spirit. I can confidently say Mr. Fern’s impactful career has truly made the world and the city of Shawnee a better place.

REMEMBERING P.J. O’ROURKE
Mr. PORTMAN. Mr. President, I rise today in tribute to P.J. O’Rourke, one of America’s greatest humorists. P.J. passed away after a brief illness earlier this year, leaving behind his beloved wife Tina and his three children, as well as countless readers who will miss the laughter and delight he brought them over a career that spanned nearly half a century.

P.J. was born 74 years ago in Toledo, OH. We are proud to call him an Ohio native. His father owned a car dealership; his mother was a homemaker. P.J. was the product of Toledo’s public schools, then of Miami University in southwest Ohio. One of his English professors, recognizing a unique talent, arranged a scholarship that allowed him to continue in school and get his degree in English, with honors.
In the 1970s, P.J. moved to New York. There, he became editor of the legendary satirical magazine “National Lampoon,” then in its prime. After the Lampoon came stints at “Rolling Stone,” the “Atlantic Monthly,” and many other magazines, as well as 20 books known for their energy and wit.

Frequently, he turned his attention to American politics. Some here in Washington can still feel the sting. He even found humor in the world’s trouble spots; he was in Beirut in the 1980s, Somalia and Afghanistan in the 1990s, Iraq in the 2000s.

One of my favorite P.J. O’Rourke quotes is: “Politics is a necessary evil, a necessary annoyance, a necessary constumdrum.” His tone was always one of mischievous irreverence, tempered by an abiding sympathy for our common humanity.

And he was never far from Toledo or from Ohio. “No Toledan ever outgrows Toledo,” he wrote several years ago, in a tribute to his hometown. He was a master of the charm of the Midwestern upbringing and blind to any imperfections.

“Toledo is better than exciting,” he went on. “It’s happy. Nothing is more conducive to unhappiness than taking yourself seriously, and taking yourself seriously is difficult when your baseball team is called the Mud Hens.”

In truth, P.J. O’Rourke, while not taking himself too seriously, achieved much success in life—best-selling books, packed lecture halls in America and Europe, a journalistic career that took him to every corner of the world. But he never forgot he was from Toledo, from Ohio, from the heart of the country. And the country’s heart always beat within him.

My fellow Buckeyes join me in bidding farewell and offering our thanks to a treasured native son.

By Mr. PADILLA (for himself, Ms. WARRREN, Mr. LUJAN, and Mr. DURBIN):

S 4969. A bill to amend the Immigration and Nationality Act to render available to certain long-term residents of the United States the benefits under that section; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. PADILLA. Mr. President, I rise to introduce the Repealing Immigration Provisions of the Immigration Act of 1929 Act.

There are currently 11 million non-citizens in the United States. It is not feasible or possible to remove all the non-citizens. The vast majority of these non-citizens have established roots in the United States and are law-abiding citizens. They have made contributions to... their communities and have served as essential workers during the pandemic. Leaving them without a path to permanent residence denies them the opportunity to become full participants in our society.

This legislation would ensure that long-term residents who have lived in the United States continuously for at least 7 years are able to apply for lawful permanent residence.

The Renewing Immigration Provisions of the Immigration Act of 1929 Act was enacted to change the existing registration statute in the Immigration and Nationality Act by establishing a rolling cutoff date of 7 years prior to the date that an immigrant files an application to register permanent or adjusted status.

This bill would ensure that long-term residents already in the United States who have been waiting for a visa number to become available for over 7 years can immediately file an application to register permanent or adjust status.

This legislation also provides a much-needed pathway to a green card for Dreamers and forcibly displaced citizens, such as TPS holders, who have been in legal limbo for many years.

Finally, the bill would preempt the need for further congressional action by making the eligibility cutoff rolling, instead of tying it to a specific date, as it is now.

Advancing the registry date is not unprecedented. Congress has updated the registry in a bipartisan fashion four times since it was first codified in 1929. As a result of the 1958 changes, the registry mechanism became available to immigrants who had entered the country improperly or who had overstayed or who violated the terms of a temporary period of entry. With this change, Congress intended the registry to be a mechanism for noncitizens to adjust to lawful permanent resident status.

Currently, the eligibility cutoff date is January 1, 1972, more than 50 years ago. Fewer and fewer immigrants are able to meet this cutoff entry date requirement, rendering this provision all but useless. From 2015 to 2019 only 305 individuals were able to adjust their status based on the registry, down from 58,914 from 1985 to 1989.

It is imperative that we provide immigrants who have been living with uncertainty about their futures a path to permanent residence status.

SUBMITTED RESOLUTIONS

Whereas, on October 17, 1972, Pearl Harbor National Wildlife Refuge was established as mitigation for the mitigation of the Honolulu International Airport Reef Runway;

Whereas effective management of Pearl Harbor National Wildlife Refuge has necessitated partnerships between the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Navy, the Federal Aviation Administration, the State of Hawaii, and several private conservation organizations, as well as the public;

Whereas Pearl Harbor National Wildlife Refuge protects some of the last remaining wetlands on Oahu and is home to threatened and endangered wildlife and plants;

Whereas the Honouliuli and Waialua units of Pearl Harbor National Wildlife Refuge are managed under a cooperative agreement with the Navy to provide wetland habitat for 4 endangered waterbirds: the aeo (Hawaiian stilts), the alae keokeo (Hawaiian coot), the alae ula (Hawaiian moorhen), and the koloa maoli (Hawaiian duck);

Whereas the Honouliuli unit of Pearl Harbor National Wildlife Refuge has served as a conservation site for endangered endemic Ko oloa ula shrub (Abutilon menziesii) since its translocation there in 2002 and 2003;

Whereas the Kalaeanu unit of Pearl Harbor National Wildlife Refuge was established in 2001 to protect and enhance the habitat for 2 endangered plants, the akoko and the ewa hinahina and is home to the largest and second largest populations of these plants, respectively;

Whereas all 3 units of Pearl Harbor National Wildlife Refuge are closed to the general public to protect endangered wildlife but provide educational and volunteer opportunities during the nonbreeding season of the aeo;

Whereas the Honouliuli unit of Pearl Harbor National Wildlife Refuge serves as the site of the wetlands education program conducted by the Hawaii Nature Center, bringing more than 4,000 third-grade students to the Honouliuli unit during the fall semester to learn about the recovery of Hawaii’s waterbirds and wetlands;

Whereas Hanalei National Wildlife Refuge was established under the Endangered Species Conservation Act of 1969 (Public Law 91-350, 83 Stat. 349, 16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.) to protect and enhance the habitat for 2 endangered species, the aeo, the alae keokeo, the alae ula, the koloa maoli, and the nene (Hawaiian goose);

Whereas kalo farming has occurred for several hundred years in Hanalei Valley and remains an ecologically, culturally, and economically important practice on Hanalei National Wildlife Refuge;

Whereas kalo farming in the greater Hanalei watershed, including Hanalei National Wildlife Refuge, provides shallow-water habitat for threatened and endangered waterbirds and generates at least 40 percent of all kalo grown in the State of Hawaii; and

Whereas the Hanalei National Wildlife Refuge is opening the new Hanalei Viewpoint to provide residents and visitors with increased opportunities to learn about and connect with the natural and cultural history of Hanalei Valley and the Hanalei National Wildlife Refuge; Now, therefore, be it

Whereas on September 22, 2022, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization condemned the sham referenda and stated that the “sham referenda in the Donetsk, Luhansk, Zaporizhzhia, and Kherson regions of Ukraine have no legitimacy and will be a blatant violation of the UN Charter, the Charter of the former Warsaw Treaty Organization, and the OSCE Helsinki Accords”;

SEC. 5101. DATA STANDARDS.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) The Financial Crimes Enforcement Network (commonly referred to as ‘FinCEN’) is the financial intelligence unit of the United States tasked with safeguarding the financial system from illicit use, combating money laundering and its related crimes, including terrorism, and promoting national security.

(2) Under law, FinCEN may require domestic financial institutions and financial agencies to take certain ‘special measures’ against jurisdictions, institutions, classes of transactions, or types of accounts determined to be of primary money laundering concern, providing the Secretary with a range of options, such as enhanced recordkeeping, that can be adapted to target specific money laundering and terrorist financing and to bring pressure on those that pose money laundering threats.

(3) This special-measures authority was granted in 2001, when most cross-border transactions occurred through correspondent or payable-through accounts held with large financial institutions that serve as intermediaries to facilitate financial transactions on behalf of other banks.

(4) Innovations in financial services have transformed and expanded methods of cross-border transactions that could not have been envisioned 20 years ago when FinCEN was given its special-measures authority.

(5) These innovations, particularly through digital assets and informal value transfer systems, while useful to legitimate consumers and law enforcement, can be tools abused by bad actors like sanctions evaders, fraudsters, money launderers, and those who commit ransomware attacks on victimized United States companies and that abuse the financial system to remove and obscure the proceeds of their crimes.

(6) Ransomware attacks on United States companies requiring payments in cryptocurrencies have increased in recent years, with the Treasury estimating that ransom payments in the United States reached $590,000,000 in just the first half of 2021, compared to a total of $16,000,000 in 2020.

(7) In July 2021, the White House, with support of United States allies, asserted that the People’s Republic of China was responsible for ransomware operations against private companies that included demands of millions of dollars, including the 2021 ransomware attacks that breached Microsoft email systems and affected thousands of consumers, State and local municipalities, and government contractors attributed to a cyber espionage group with links to the Ministry of State Security of the People’s Republic of China.

(8) As ransomware attacks organized by Chinese and other foreign bad actors continue to grow in size and scope, modernizing the special-measure authorities of FinCEN will continue to expand the tools, monitor and obstruct global financial threats, and meet the challenges of combating 21st century financial crime.

SEC. 1239. CONDEMNATION OF RUSSIAN ATTEMPTS TO CLAIM SOVEREIGNTY OVER ANY PORTION OF UKRAINE.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) The Russian Federation violated the sovereignty of Ukraine beginning with the illegal annexation of Crimea and its invasion into eastern Ukraine.

(2) Beginning in February 2022, the Russian Federation has attempted to further violate Ukraine’s sovereignty by launching unprovoked military action against Ukraine.

(3) On September 22, 2022, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization United Nations, and NATO Allies will not recognize their illegal and illegitimate annexation. These lands are Ukraine. We call on all states to reject Russia’s blatant attempts at territorial conquest.

(4) On September 23, 2022, President Joseph R. Biden made clear that the United States will never recognize Ukrainian territory as anything other than part of Ukraine.

(5) Beginning on September 23, 2022, Russia conducted sham referenda in 4 Ukrainian regions (Donetsk, Luhansk, Kherson, and Zaporizhzhia) in an attempt to validate Moscow’s illegal annexation of the territory.

(6) Published reports indicate that—

(A) Ukrainians have been forced to vote in the sham referenda under a gun barrel; and

(B) Russian officials have visited schools, hospitals, and other workplaces to force Ukrainians to vote in favor of annexation.

(7) The Kremlin has stated that once the sham votes are concluded, the annexation of the annexed areas into Russia will be completed “promptly.”

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the United States should refuse to recognize any claim of sovereignty by the Russian Federation over any portion of Ukraine;

(2) the recent sham referenda beginning on September 23, 2022, directed by the Government of the Russian Federation, violates international law;

(3) President Biden should restrict all economic and military aid and assistance to any nation that recognizes Russian sovereignty over any portion of Ukraine.

SEC. 1555. IRAN NUCLEAR WEAPONS CAPABILITY MONITORING ACT OF 2022.

(a) SHORT TITLE.—This section may be cited as the ‘Iran Nuclear Weapons Capability Monitoring Act of 2022’.

(b) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) In the late 1980s, the Islamic Republic of Iran established the AMAD Project with the intent to manufacture 5 nuclear weapons and prepare an underground nuclear test site.

(2) Since at least 2002, the Islamic Republic of Iran has advanced its nuclear and ballistic missile programs, posing serious threats to the security interests of the United States, Israel, and other allies and partners.

(3) In 2003, nuclear facilities in Natanz and Arak, Iran, were revealed to the public by the National Council of Resistance of Iran.

(4) On April 11, 2006, the Islamic Republic of Iran announced that it had enriched uranium for the first time to a level close to 3.5 percent at the Natanz Pilot Fuel Enrichment Plant, Natanz, Iran.

(6) The United Nations Security Council subsequently adopted Resolutions 1747 (2007), 1803 (2008), and 1929 (2010), all of which targeted the nuclear program of and imposed additional sanctions with respect to the Islamic Republic of Iran.

(7) On February 3, 2009, the Islamic Republic of Iran announced that it had launched its first satellite, which raised concern over the applicability of the satellite to the ballistic missile program.

(8) In September 2009, the United States, the United Kingdom, and France revealed the existence of clandestine Fordow Fuel Enrichment Facility, 20 years after construction started on the plant.

(9) In 2010, the Islamic Republic of Iran reportedly had enriched uranium to a level of 20 percent.

(10) On March 9, 2016, the Islamic Republic of Iran launched 2 variations of the Qadr medium-range ballistic missile.

(11) On January 28, 2017, the Islamic Republic of Iran conducted a test of a medium-range ballistic missile, which traveled an estimated 600 miles and provides the Islamic Republic of Iran with the capability to threaten military installations of the United States in the Middle East.

(12) In 2018, Israel seized a significant portion of the nuclear archive of the Islamic Republic of Iran, which contained tens of thousands of files and compact discs relating to past efforts at nuclear weapon design, development, and proliferation by the Islamic Republic of Iran, including such efforts occurring after 2003.

(13) On September 25, 2018, Israel revealed the existence of a warehouse housing radioactive material in the Turquz Abad district in Tehran, and an inspection of the warehouse by the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) revealed in its report that the Iranian government removed from the site raw materials which the Government of the Islamic Republic of Iran failed to adequately explain.

(14) On June 19, 2020, the International Atomic Energy Agency adopted Resolution GOV/2020/34 expressing ‘serious concern... that Iran has not provided access to the... under the Additional Protocol to two locations’.

(15) On January 8, 2020, an Iranian missile struck an Iraqi military base where members of the United States Armed Forces were stationed, resulting in 11 of such members being treated for injuries.

(16) On April 17, 2021, the International Atomic Energy Agency verified that the Islamic Republic of Iran had begun enrichment to 60 percent purity.

(17) On August 14, 2021, President of Iran Hassan Rouhani stated that ‘Iran’s Atomic Energy Organization can enrich uranium by 20 percent and 60 percent and if one day our reactors need it, it can enrich uranium to 90 percent purity’.

(18) According to the International Institute for Strategic Studies, the Islamic Republic of Iran has ‘between six and eight liquid-fuel ballistic missiles and up to 12 solid-fuel systems’ as of 2021.

(19) On November 9, 2021, the Islamic Republic of Iran completed negotiations of a 3-day war game that included conventional navy, army, air force, and air defense forces testing cruise missiles, torpedoes, and suicide drones in the South, Persian Gulf of Oman, the Red Sea, and the Indian Ocean.

(20) On December 20, 2021, the Islamic Republic of Iran commenced a 5-day drill in which it launched a number of short- and long-range ballistic missiles that it claimed could destroy Israeli, constituting an escalation in the already genocidal rhetoric of the Islamic Republic of Iran toward Israel.

(21) On January 24, 2022, Houthi rebels, backed by the Islamic Republic of Iran, fired 2 ballistic missiles at Abu Dhabi Airport in the United Arab Emirates, which hosts around 2,000 members of the Armed Forces of the United States.

(22) On January 31, 2022, surface-to-air interceptors of the United Arab Emirates shot down a Houthi missile fired at the United Arab Emirates during a visit by President of Israel Isaac Herzog, the first-ever visit of an Israeli President to the United Arab Emirates.

(23) On February 9, 2022, the Islamic Republic of Iran unveiled a new surface-to-surface missile, named ‘Kheibar Shekan’, which has a reported range of 900 miles (1450 kilometers) and is capable of penetrating missile shelters.

(26) On April 19, 2022, the Department of State released a report stating that there are ‘serious concerns’ about ‘possible undeclared nuclear material and activities in Iran’.

(27) On May 30, 2022, the International Atomic Energy Agency reported that the Islamic Republic of Iran had achieved a stockpile of 413 kilograms equivalent to 95.5 pounds, of 60 percent highly enriched uranium, roughly enough material for a nuclear weapon.

(28) On June 8, 2022, the Islamic Republic of Iran turned off surveillance cameras installed by the International Atomic Energy Agency to monitor uranium enrichment activities at nuclear sites in the country.

(c) Sense of Congress.—It is the sense of Congress that—

At the end of title XII, add the following:

SEC. 1281. SHORT TITLE.

This subtitle may be cited as the “Cambodia Democracy and Human Rights Act of 2022”.

SEC. 1282. FINDINGS.

Congress finds the following:
(1) On October 23, 1991, Cambodia and 18 other countries signed the Paris Peace Agreement (commonly referred to as the “Paris Peace Agreements”), which committed Cambodia to a democratic system of government protected by constitution and free and fair elections and stated that the people of Cambodia “shall enjoy the rights and freedoms embodied in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and other relevant international human rights instruments”;
(2) Prime Minister Hun Sen has been in power in Cambodia since 1984 and is the longest-serving leader in Southeast Asia. Despite decades of international attention and assistance to promote a pluralistic, multi-party democratic system in Cambodia, the Government of Cambodia continues to be undemocratically ruled by the Cambodian People’s Party.

In 2015, the Cambodian People’s Party–controlled National Assembly adopted the Law on Associations and Non-Governmental Organizations, which gave the Government of Cambodia sweeping powers to revoke the registration of nongovernmental organizations in the name of “national unity”, and which the government has used to restrict the legitimate work of civil society.

(4) On August 23, 2017, Cambodia’s Ministry of Foreign Affairs ordered the closure of the National Democratic Institute office in Cambodia and the expulsion of its foreign staff.

On September 15, 2017, Prime Minister Hun Sen called for the withdrawal of all volunteers from the United States Peace Corps, which has operated in Cambodia since 2006 with approximately 500 United States volunteers providing English language and healthcare training.

(5) The Government of Cambodia has taken several measures to restrict its media environment, especially through politicized tax investigations and against independent media outlets that resulted in the closure of The Cambodia Daily and Radio Free Asia in early September 2017. Additionally, the Government of Cambodia has taken actions to stop the broadcasting of Radio Free Asia and Voice of America programming.

(6) Cambodia’s small number of independent trade unions and workers have the right to strike, but many face retribution for doing so, according to Freedom House.

Each of the 6 elections that have taken place in Cambodia since 1991 was conducted in circumstances that were not free and fair, and were marked, to varying degrees, by fraud, intimidation, violence, and the misuse by the Government of Cambodia of legal mechanisms to weaken opposition candidates and parties. The 2017 local elections were marked by fewer reported irregularities, however, which helped the opposition Cambodia National Rescue Party (in this section referred to as the “CNRP”). Hun Sen responded to those improvements in elections, resulting in part from international assistance and observers, by banning the CNRP, the primary opposition party, on November 15, 2017.

(8) On September 3, 2017, Kem Sokha, the President of the CNRP, was arrested on politically motivated charges, including treason, accessory to treason, and complaining against the Government of Cambodia. While he was released on bail, he faces up to 30 years in prison.
In the most recent general election in July 2018, following the dissolution of the CNRP, the Cambodian People’s Party secured every parliamentary seat, an electoral victory that the opposition party called a “rigged election”. The 2020 Country Reports on Human Rights Practices of the Department of State reported “at least 40 political prisoners or detainees” in Cambodia.

In March 2021, a Cambodian court convicted 51 opposition politicians and activists in Cambodia. More than 80 opposition party supporters and activists were arrested in 2019 and were released on bail with charges still pending and could face re-arrest any time. In November 2019, Sam Rainsy made a failed attempt to return to Cambodia to participate in mass pro-democracy protests. Approximately 150 CNRP activists were put on trial in April and 2021 for treason for calling for his return.

In March 2021, a Cambodian court convicted and sentenced Sam Rainsy in absentia to 25 years in prison. Eight other opposition figures living in exile, including Rainsy’s wife Thoung Samoura, as well as Mu Sochua, Eng Chhay Eang, Men Sothavarin, Ou Chanrith, Eng Chhai Eang, Mon Sovan, and Vo Vann, were each sentenced to 20-22 years. On June 12, 2022, the Government of Cambodia’s National Rescue Party and other political prisoners or detainees” in Cambodia.

Prime Minister Hun Sen has used the coronavirus disease 2019 (commonly known as “COVID–19”) pandemic as justification to further consolidate power and the Cambodia People’s Party-controlled National Assembly passed laws to further curtail the rights to freedom of expression, peaceful assembly, and association.

According to Human Rights Watch, under the guise of the pandemic, authorities—

(A) banned protests organized by youth and environmental activists;
(B) detained and interrogated at least 30 people for Facebook posts related to the pandemic; and
(C) charged one journalist for pandemic-related comments.

According to Freedom House, Hun Sen uses the police and armed forces as instruments of repression. The military has stood firmly behind Hun Sen and his crackdown on opposition groups and Hun Sen has built a personal bodyguard unit in the armed forces that he reportedly uses to harass and abuse Cambodian People’s Party opponents. In August 2020, 14 youth and environmental activists were detained by Cambodian authorities. In May 2021, 3 environmental activists were convicted of charges of “incitement to commit a felony or disturb social order”, related to peaceful protests against authorities. In June 2021, a Cambodian court ordered an environmental activist to pay 300 million riel ($75,000) in compensation to victims with “plotting against the government and insulting the king”. The 2020 Country
(B) to immediately discontinue the imprisonment and judicial harassment of journalists, political dissidents, and activists, and drop politically motivated charges;

(C) to end all intimidation of civil society members, including human rights activists, environmental defenders, and labor leaders, and promote a flourishing civil society that contributes to the political and economic development of Cambodia;

(D) to halt the threat of mass arrests and violence if and when Cambodia National Rescue Party leaders are arrested, or if any other independent civil society, and free media in Cambodia;

(E) to reinstate the political status of the Cambodia National Rescue Party and other opposition parties, that reinstated the Cambodia National Rescue Party’s elected seats in the National Assembly, and support electoral reform efforts in Cambodia with free and fair elections monitored by international observers;

(F) to ensure that media outlets are able to operate freely and without interference, including having the ability to apply for and receive licenses to operate within Cambodia;

(G) to consider how allowing the People’s Liberation Army to conduct activities, gain access to, or establish a presence in Cambodia, which could include persons, entities tied to the People’s Liberation Army, or anything else that would harm Cambodia’s relationships with its neighbors, partners, and allies, and could violate the Constitution of Cambodia; and

(H) to ensure that ongoing support to authoritarian regimes and undermining democratic activists in the region, especially through its ties to the Burmese military that seized power in a coup d’état on February 1, 2021, and instead play a constructive role in multilateral organizations like the Association of Southeast Asian Nations to promote peace and development in the region;

(1) Prime Minister Hun Sen is directly responsible, and should be held accountable, for the safety, health, and welfare of exiled Cambodia National Rescue Party members or their supporters upon their return to Cambodia;

(2) other governments throughout the Indo-Pacific region should—

(A) urge the Government of Cambodia to allow the peaceful return of exiled Cambodia National Rescue Party leaders and their supporters;

(B) refrain from illegally restricting the rights of Cambodia National Rescue Party members or their supporters from returning to their countries as they return; and

(C) press the Government of Cambodia not to allow the People’s Liberation Army to use Cambodia’s military facilities or establish a presence in Cambodia, which could include persons, entities tied to the People’s Liberation Army, or anything else that would harm Cambodia’s relationships with its neighbors, partners, and allies, and could violate the Constitution of Cambodia; and

(3) the presence of the People’s Liberation Army will further enable Prime Minister Hun Sen’s authoritarian crackdown, including oppression of opposition parties, independent civil society, and free media in Cambodia.

SA 5875. Mr. MARKEY (for himself and Mr. MEEKLEY) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed to amendment SA 5499 submitted by Mr. REED (for himself and Mr. INHOFE) and intended to be proposed to the bill H.R. 7900, to authorize appropriations for fiscal year 2023 for military activities of the Department of Defense, for military construction, and for defense activities of the Department of Energy, to prescribe military personnel strengths for such fiscal year, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the end of subtitle F of title X, add the following:

SEC. 1064. REPORT ON DANGERS POSED BY NUCLEAR REACTORS IN AREAS THAT MIGHT EXPERIENCE ARMED CONFLICT.

(a) Sense of Congress.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) since the earliest days of its illegal invasions, Iran has enforced a dangerous and self-defense. It has used nuclear power plants, including the Zaporizhzhia Nuclear Power Plant and the Southern Ukraine Nuclear Power Plant; and

(2) that recklessness demonstrates the danger posed by nuclear reactors and power plants in places that may experience armed conflict during the life span of those nuclear reactors and plants.

(b) Report Required.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 90 days after enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense shall submit to the appropriate committees of Congress a report assessing—

(A) the dangers posed to the national security of the United States, to the interests of allies and partners of the United States, and

United States history, in support of a movement to freeze and reverse the nuclear arms race, a movement that helped to create the political will necessary for the negotiation and ratification of the bilateral arms agreements between the United States and former Soviet Union, and then the Russian Federation. Those treaties contributed to strategic stability, reductions in numbers of deliverable reciprocal nuclear weapons reductions.

(3) Since the advent of nuclear weapons in 1945, millions of people around the world have lived daily with the uncertainties and ongoing threats posed by nuclear weapons, nuclear materials, and nuclear accidents.

(B) The nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty (NPT) entered into force, which includes a binding obligation on the 6 nuclear weapon states (commonly referred to as the "P5"), among other things, "to pursue negotiations in good faith on effective measures relating to the cessation of the nuclear arms race and to nuclear disarmament".

(4) Bipartisan United States global leadership has curbed the growth in the number of countries possessing nuclear weapons and has slowed overall vertical proliferation among countries already possessing nuclear weapons, as is highlighted by a more than 85-percent reduction in vertical nuclear weapons stockpile from its Cold War height of 31,255 in 1987.

(5) The United States testing of nuclear weapons is no longer necessary as a result of the following major technical developments since the Senate's consideration of the Comprehensive Nuclear Test-Ban Treaty (com} under any existing arms control treaty or agreement and the People’s Republic of China, India, Pakistan, and North Korea have each taken concerning steps to diversify their nuclear arsenals, notwithstanding very deadly, nuclear arsenals.

(9) Former President Donald J. Trump’s 2018 Nuclear Posture Review called for the development and deployment of nuclear weapons in new categories and new configurations.

(10) On February 3, 2021, President Joseph R. Biden, Jr., provided binding and verifiable limits on the deployed and non-deployed strategic forces of the largest two nuclear weapons powers through the five-year extension of the Treaty between the United States of America and the Russian Federation on Measures for the Further Reduction and Limitation of Strategic Offensive Arms, signed and entered into force February 5, 2011 (commonly referred to as the “New START Treaty”).

(11) In 2013, the report on a nuclear weapons strategy of the United States submitted under section 492 of title 10, United States Code, determined that it is possible to ensure the security of the United States and its partners through the United States and maintain a strong and credible strategic deterrent while safely pursuing up to a 1/3 reduction in deployed nuclear weapons from the level established in the New START Treaty.

(12) On January 12, 2017, then-Vice President Joseph R. Biden, Jr., “GIVEN our non-nuclear capabilities and the nature of today’s threats—it’s hard to envision a plausible scenario in which the first use of nuclear weapons by the United States would be necessary. Or make sense.”

(13) In light of moves by the United States and other countries to increase their reliance on nuclear weapons, a global nuclear freeze would seek to halt the new nuclear arms race by seeking conclusion of a comprehensive and verifiable freeze on the testing, production, and deployment of nuclear weapons and delivery vehicles for such weapons.

(b) STATEMENT OF POLICY.—The following is the policy of the United States:

(1) The United States should build upon its decades long, bipartisan efforts to reduce the number of nuclear weapons through leading international negotiations on specific arms-reduction measures as part of a 21st century global nuclear freeze movement.

(2) Recognizing the successful conclusion of the New START Treaty, the United States should engage with all other countries that possess nuclear weapons to seek to negotiate and codify multilateral force control, disarmament, and risk reduction agreements, which should contain some or all of the following provisions:

(A) An agreement by the United States and the Russian Federation on a follow-on treaty or agreement to the New START Treaty that may lower the central limits of the Treaty and cover new kinds of strategic delivery vehicles or non-strategic nuclear weapons.

(B) An agreement on a verifiable freeze on the testing, production, and further deployment of all nuclear weapons and delivery vehicles for such weapons.

(C) An agreement that establishes a verifiable numerical ceiling on the deployed shorter-range and intermediate-range and hypersonic cruise missiles, still under development on the date of the enactment of this Act.

(D) An agreement by each country to adopt a policy of no first use of nuclear weapons or provide transparency into its nuclear declaratory policy.

(E) An agreement on a proactive United Nations Security Council resolution that expands access by the International Atomic Energy Agency for inspection by the Board of Governors of that Agency to be non-compliant with its obligations under the NPT.

(F) An agreement to refrain from configuring nuclear forces in a “launch on warning” or “launch under warning” nuclear posture, which may prompt a nuclear armed country to launch a ballistic missile attack in response to detection by an early-warning satellite or sensor of a suspected incoming ballistic missile.

(G) An agreement not to target or interfere in the nuclear command, control, and communications (commonly referred to as “NC3”) infrastructure of another country through a kinetic or cyberattack.

(3) The United States should rejuvenate efforts in the United Nations Conference on Disarmament toward the negotiation of a verifiable Fissile Material Treaty or Fissile Material Cutoff Treaty, or move negotiations toward a comprehensive and verifiable freeze on the enrichment or fuel cycle, or both, such as a meeting of the P5. Successful conclusion of such a treaty would verifiably prevent any country’s production of highly enriched uranium and plutonium for use in nuclear weapons.

(4) The United States should convene a series of head-of-state summits on nuclear disarmament modeled on the Nuclear Security Summits process, which saw the elimination of the equivalent of 3,000 nuclear weapons.

(5) The President should seek ratification by the Senate of the CTBT and mobilize all countries covered by Annex 2 of the CTBT to pursue ratification to hasten entry into force of the CTBT. The early entry into force of the CTBT, for which ratification by the United States will provide critical momentum, will activate the CTBT’s on-site inspection provision to investigate allegations that any country that is a party to the CTBT has conducted a nuclear test of any kind.

(6) The President should make the access of North Korea to the CTBT a component of any final agreement in fulfilling the pledges the Government of North Korea made in Singapore in June of 2018. North Korea is reportedly the only country to have conducted a nuclear explosive test since 1998.

(7) The United States should—

(A) refrain from developing any new designs for nuclear warheads or bombs, but especially designs that could add a level of technical uncertainty into the United States stockpile and that are not called to resume nuclear explosive testing in order to test that new design; and

(B) seek reciprocal commitments from other countries that possess nuclear weapons.

(c) PROHIBITION ON USE OF FUNDS FOR NUCLEAR TEST EXPLOSIONS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—None of the funds authorized to be appropriated or otherwise made available for fiscal year 2023 or any fiscal year thereafter, or authorized to be appropriated or otherwise made available for any fiscal year before fiscal year 2023 and available for obligation as of the date of the enactment of this Act, may be obligated or expended to conduct or make preparations for any explosive nuclear weapons test that produces any yield until such time as—

(A) the President submits to Congress an amendment to the report required by section 4205 of the Atomic Energy Defense Act (50 U.S.C. 2252) that details any change to the numbers or verifiable limits, or both, of the United States stockpile from the report submitted under that section in the preceding year; and

(B) there is enacted into law a joint resolution of Congress that approves the test.

(2) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Paragraph (1) does not limit nuclear stockpile stewardship activities that are consistent with the zero yield standard and other requirements under law.

SA 5877. Mr. MARKEY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed to S. Res. 587 of the 117th Congress, as follows:

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The United States continues to maintain an excessively large and costly arsenal of nuclear delivery systems and warheads that are a holdover from the Cold War.

(2) The current nuclear arsenal of the United States includes approximately 3,800 total nuclear warheads in its military stockpile, of which approximately 1,750 are deployed with five different land-based intercontinental ballistic missiles, submarine-launched ballistic missiles, land-based nuclear warheads, and short-range fighter aircraft that can deliver nuclear gravity bombs. The strategic bomber fleet of the United States comprises 87 B-52 and 20 B-2 aircraft, over 60 of which contribute to the nuclear mission. The United States also maintains 400 intercontinental missiles and 14 Ohio-class submarines, up to 12 of which are deployed. Each of those submarines is armed with approximately 90 nuclear warheads.

(3) Between fiscal years 2021 and 2030, the United States will spend an estimated $1.2 trillion to maintain and recapitalize its nuclear force, according to a January 2019 estimate from the Congressional Budget Office, an increase of $140,000,000,000 from the Congressional Budget Office’s 2019 estimate, with 36 percent of that additional cost stemming “mainly from new plans for modernizing [the Department of Energy’s] productive facilities and the [Office of Defense’s] modernization programs moving more fully into production.”
(4) Adjusted for inflation, the Congressional Budget Office estimates that the United States will spend $1,700,000,000,000 through fiscal year 2046 on new nuclear weapons and modernization and infrastructure programs.

(5) Inaccurate budget forecasting is likely to continue to plague the Department of Defense. The Office of Management and Budget has acknowledged that the fiscal year 2021 budget request of the President for the National Nuclear Security Administration was inaccurate by $13,600,000,000 by trimming back current programs. Office analysis showed that the projected cost of the long-range penetrating bomber aircraft is $1,700,000,000 above the President’s proposed budget.

(6) The projected growth in nuclear weapons spending is due to the Department of Defense seeking to replace large portions of its nuclear forces to better compete with the Russian Federation and the People’s Republic of China and as internal and external fiscal pressures are likely to limit the growth of, and perhaps reduce, military spending. As then-Air Force Chief of Staff General Dave Goldfein said in 2020, “I think a debate is that this will be the first time in the history of the Air Force that has tried to simultaneously modernize the nuclear enterprise while it’s trying to modernizing an aging conventional enterprise. The current budget does not allow you to do both.”

(7) In 2017, the Government Accountability Office concluded that National Nuclear Security Administration’s cost estimates were understated for out-year spending by $12,400,000,000. Thus, the agency lacked the resources to complete multiple, simultaneous billion dollar modernization projects and recommended that the National Nuclear Security Administration consider “deferring the start of or canceling specific modernization programs”.

(8) The Government Accountability Office, the National Nuclear Security Administration and the Office of Management and Budget have all concluded that the Department of Energy has not factored affordability concerns into its planning as was recommended by the Government Accountability Office in 2017, with the warning that “it is essential for NNSA to present information to Congress and other key decision makers indicating whether the agency has prioritized certain modernization programs or considered trade-offs (such as deferring or canceling specific modernization programs) as required by the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2016”.

(9) A December 2020 Congressional Budget Office analysis showed that the projected costs of new nuclear systems through the next decade can be reduced by $12,400,000,000 to $13,600,000,000 by trimming back current plans, while still maintaining a triad of delivery systems. Even larger savings would accrue over the subsequent decade.

(10) The Department of Defense’s June 2013 nuclear policy guidance entitled “Report on Nuclear Posture Policy of the United States” found that force levels under the April 2010 Treaty on Measures for the Further Reduction and Limitation of Strategic Offenders between the United States and the Russian Federation (commonly known as the “New START Treaty”) “are more than adequate for what the United States needs to fulfill its national security objectives” and can be reduced by up to 1/3 below levels under the New START Treaty to 1,000 to 1,100 warheads.

(11) Former President Trump expanded the role of, and spending on, nuclear weapons in United States policy at the same time that he withdrew from, unsigned, or otherwise terminated important arms control and nonproliferation agreements.

(b) REDUCTIONS IN NUCLEAR FORCES—

(1) REDUCTION OF NUCLEAR-ARMED SUBMARINES.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, none of the funds authorized to be appropriated or otherwise made available for fiscal year 2023 or any fiscal year thereafter for the Department of Defense or the Department of Energy may be obligated or expended for the procurement of a new submarine-launched cruise missile capable of carrying a low-yield or nonstrategic nuclear warhead.

(2) REDUCTION IN NUCLEAR FORCES.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, beginning in fiscal year 2023, the forces of the Air Force shall include not more than 150 intercontinental ballistic missile delivery systems.

(9) PROHIBITION ON W-76 CRUISE MISSILE.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, none of the funds authorized to be appropriated or otherwise made available for fiscal year 2023 or any fiscal year thereafter for the Department of Defense or the Department of Energy may be obligated or expended for the procurement, development, test, and evaluation or procurement of a nonstrategic nuclear warhead.

(c) REPORTS REQUIRED—

(A) the life cycle of such weapon or program; and

(B) the cost of such weapon or program.

(4) COST ESTIMATE REPORT.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of Energy shall jointly submit to the appropriate committees of Congress a report outlining the estimated cost savings that result from carrying out subsection (b).

(A) anticipated cost savings from reform do not materialize; or

(B) defense spending decreases to the levels specified by the Budget Control Act of 2011 (Public Law 112-25; 125 Stat. 5630).

(2) MODIFICATION OF PERIOD TO BE COVERED BY ESTIMATES OF COSTS RELATING TO NUCLEAR WEAPONS.—Section 492a of title 10, United States Code, is amended in subsections (a)(2)(F) and (b)(1)(A) by striking ’’10-year period’’ each place it appears and inserting ’’25-year period’’.

(7) APPROPRIATE COMMITTEES OF CONGRESS DEFINED.—’’Appropriate committees of Congress’’ means—

(A) the Committee on Armed Services, the Committee on Foreign Relations, the Committee on Appropriations, the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the Senate; and

(B) the Committee on Armed Services, the Committee on Foreign Affairs, the Committee on Appropriations, the Committee on Energy and Commerce, and the Committee on Natural Resources of the House of Representatives.

SA 5878. Mr. MARKEY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed to amendment SA 5499 submitted by Mr. INHOFE (for himself and Mr. REED) and intended to be proposed to the bill H.R. 7900, to authorize appropriations for fiscal year 2023 for military activities of the Department of Defense, including military construction, and for defense activities of the Department of Energy, to prescribe military personnel strengths for such fiscal year, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the end of subtitile B of title XV, add the following:

SEC. 1531. RESTRICTION ON FIRST-USE NUCLEAR STRIKE UNLESS CONGRESS AUTHORIZES IT.

(a) FINDINGS AND DECLARATION OF POLICY.—

(1) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(A) The Constitution gives Congress the sole power to declare war.

(B) The framers of the Constitution understood that the monumental decision to go to war, which can result in massive death and the destruction of society, is one made by the congressional representatives of the people and not by a single person.

(C) As stated by section 2(c) of the War Powers Resolution (Public Law 95-416; 50 U.S.C. 1511), ’’the constitutional powers of the President as Commander-in-Chief to introduce United States Armed Forces into hostilities, or into situations where imminent involvement in hostilities is clearly indicated by the circumstances, are exercised only pursuant to (1) a declaration of war, (2) a specific authorization, or (3) a national emergency created by attack upon the United States, its territories or possessions, or its armed forces’’.

(D) A nuclear weapons are uniquely powerful weapons that have the capability to instantly kill millions of people, create long-term health and environmental consequences throughout the world, directly undermine global peace, and put the United States at existential risk from retaliatory nuclear strikes.

(2) A first-use nuclear strike carried out by the United States would constitute a major act of war.

(3) A first-use nuclear strike conduced absent a declaration of war by Congress would violate the Constitution.

(4) The President has the sole authority to authorize the use of nuclear weapons, and order which military officers of the United States must carry out in accordance with their obligations under the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

(5) Given its exclusive power under the Constitution to declare war, Congress must provide meaningful checks and balances to the President’s sole authority to authorize the use of a nuclear weapon.

(b) DECLARATION OF POLICY.—It is the policy of the United States that no first-use nuclear strike should be conducted absent a declaration of war by Congress.

(c) PROHIBITION ON CONDUCT OF FIRST-USE NUCLEAR STRIKE.—

(1) PROHIBITION.—No Federal funds may be obligated or expended to conduct a first-use nuclear strike unless such strike is conducted pursuant to a declaration of war by Congress that expressly authorizes such strike.

(2) FIRST-USE NUCLEAR STRIKE DEFINED.—In this subsection, the term ’’first-use nuclear strike’’ means using nuclear weapons against an enemy that is conducted without the Secretary of Defense and the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff first confirming to the President that there has been a nuclear strike against the United States, its territories, or its allies (as specified in section 3(b)(2) of the Arms Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2759(b)(2))).

SA 5879. Mr. MARKEY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed to amendment SA 5499 submitted by Mr. REED (for himself and Mr. INHOFE) and intended to be proposed to the bill H.R. 7900, to authorize appropriations for fiscal year 2023 for military activities of the Department of Defense, including military construction, and for defense activities of the Department of Energy, to prescribe military personnel strengths for such fiscal year, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the end of subtitile B of title XV, add the following:

SEC. 1531. LIMITATION ON USE OF FUNDS FOR NEW SENTINEL INTERCONTINENTAL BALLISTIC MISSILE AND W87-1 WARHEAD MODIFICATION PROGRAM.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) According to the Congressional Budget Office, the projected cost to sustain and modernize the United States nuclear arsenal, as of 2017, is $1.2 trillion in 2017 dollars over the 2017-2046 period, more than $280 billion to operate and sustain (that is, incrementally upgrade) nuclear forces and about $400 billion to modernize them. With inflation, the cost rises to $1,700,000,000,000 and does not include the cost of the additional nuclear capabilities proposed in the 2018 Nuclear Posture Review.

(2) Maintaining and updating the current Minuteman III intercontinental ballistic missiles is possible for multiple decades and, according to the Congressional Budget Office, the United States would cost $37,000,000,000 less in 2017 dollars than developing and deploying the Sentinel intercontinental ballistic missile program (previously known as the ground-based strategic deterrent program).

(3) A public opinion poll conducted from October 29 to 2020, by Rethink Media and the Federation of American Scientists found that only 26 percent of registered voters in the United States preferred replacing the Minuteman III intercontinental ballistic missile with the Sentinel intercontinental ballistic missile, as compared to 60 percent of registered voters who opposed replacing the Minuteman III missile.

(b) LIMITATION ON USE OF FUNDS.—None of the funds authorized to be appropriated or otherwise made available for fiscal year 2023 may be obligated or expended to—

(1) the date on which the Secretary of Defense submits to the appropriate congressional committees a certification that the operational life of Minuteman III intercontinental ballistic missiles cannot be safely extended through at least 2050; and

(2) the date on which the Secretary transmits to the appropriate congressional committees the reports required by paragraph (3) of subsection (c), as required by paragraph (4) of that subsection.

(c) INDEPENDENT STUDY ON EXTENSION OF MINUTEMAN III INTERCONTINENTAL BALLISTIC MISSILES.—

(1) INDEPENDENT STUDY.—Not later than 30 days after the date the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense shall seek to enter into a contract with the National Academy of Sciences to conduct a study on extending the life of Minuteman III intercontinental ballistic missiles to 2050.

(2) MATTERS INCLUDED.—The study under paragraph (1) shall include the following:

(A) A comparison of the costs through 2050 of—

(i) extending the life of Minuteman III intercontinental ballistic missiles; and

(ii) deploying the Sentinel intercontinental ballistic missile.

(B) An analysis of opportunities to incorporate technologies into the Minuteman III intercontinental ballistic missile program as part of a service life extension program that could also be incorporated in the Sentinel intercontinental ballistic missile program, including, at a minimum, opportunities to reduce the resilience against adversary missile defenses.

(C) An analysis of the benefits and risks of incorporating sensors and nondestructive testing methods and technologies to reduce destructive testing requirements and increase the service life and number of Minuteman III missiles through 2050.

(3) AN ANALYSIS AND VALIDATION OF THE METHODS USED TO ESTIMATE THE OPERATIONAL SERVICE LIFE OF MINUTEMAN II AND MINUTEMAN III MISSILES, TAKING INTO ACCOUNT THE TEST AND LAUNCH EXPERIENCE OF MOTORS RETIRED AFTER THE OPERATIONAL SERVICE LIFE OF SUCH MOTORS IN THE ROCKET SYSTEMS LAUNCH PROGRAM.

(4) AN ANALYSIS OF THE RISKS AND BENEFITS OF ALTERNATIVE METHODS OF ESTIMATING THE OPERATIONAL SERVICE LIFE OF MINUTEMAN III MOTORS, SUCH AS THOSE METHODS BASED ON FUNDAMENTAL PHYSICAL AND CHEMICAL PROCESSES AND NONDESTRUCTIVE MEASUREMENTS OF INDIVIDUAL MOTOR PROPERTIES.

(F) AN ANALYSIS OF RISKS, BENEFITS, AND COSTS OF CONFIGURING A TRIDENT II D5 SUBMARINE LAUNCHER INTERCONTINENTAL BALLISTIC MISSILE FOR DEPLOYMENT IN A MINUTEMAN III SILO.

(G) AN ANALYSIS OF THE IMPACTS OF THE ESTIMATED SERVICE LIFE OF THE MINUTEMAN III FORCE AS COMPARED TO THE SYSTEM WITH DEPLOYED INTERCONTINENTAL BALLISTIC MISSILES DELIVERY VEHICLE FORCE FROM 400 TO 300.
(H) An assessment on the degree to which the Columbia class ballistic missile submarines will possess features that will enhance the current invulnerability of ballistic missile submarines of the United States to future anti-submarine warfare threats.

(I) An analysis of the degree to which an extension of the Minuteman III would impact the Russian Federation’s ability to target intercontinental ballistic missiles of the United States in a crisis, as compared to proceeding with the Sentinel intercontinental ballistic missile program.

(J) A best case estimate of what percentage of the strategic forces of the United States could be countered from the Russian Federation, broken down by intercontinental ballistic missiles, ballistic missile submarines, and heavy bomber aircraft.

(K) The benefits, risks, and costs of relying on the W-78 warhead for either the Minuteman III or the Sentinel intercontinental ballistic missile as compared to proceeding with the W-87 life extension.

(L) The benefits, risks, and costs of adding additional launchers or upgrading submarine and missile defenses to counteract strategic defenses of the Russian Federation and other possible threats.

(M) An analysis of whether designing and fielding a new intercontinental ballistic missile through at least 2070 is consistent with the objectives of the United States under Article VI of the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty.

(3) Submission to Department of Defense.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the National Nuclear Security Administration shall submit to the Secretary a report containing the findings of the study conducted under paragraph (1).

(4) Submission to Congress.—Not later than 210 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to the appropriate congressional committees the report required by paragraph (3), without change.

(5) Form.—The report required by paragraph (3) shall be submitted in unclassified form, but may include a classified annex.

(6) Appropriate congressional committees.—In this section, the term “appropriate congressional committees” means—

(a) the Committee on Armed Services, the Committee on Foreign Relations, and the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate; and

(b) the Committee on Armed Services, the Committee on Foreign Affairs, and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives.

SA 5881. Mr. MARKEY (for himself and Mr. MERKLEY) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed to amendment SA 5499 submitted by Mr. REED (for himself and Mr. INHOFE) and intended to be proposed to the bill H.R. 7900, to authorize appropriations for fiscal year 2023 for military activities of the Department of Defense, for military construction, and for defense activities of the Department of Energy, to prescribe military personnel strength for such fiscal year, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the end of subtitle G of title X, add the following:

SEC. 1077. DISCLOSURE TO CONGRESS OF PRESIDENTIAL EMERGENCY ACTION DOCUMENT

(a) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 30 days after the conclusion of the process for approval, adoption, or revision of any presidential emergency action document, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees.

(b) DOCUMENTS BEYOND DATE OF ENACTMENT.—Not later than 15 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees the presidential emergency action documents in existence before such date of enactment.

(c) DEFINITIONS.—In this section:

(1) APPROPRIATE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES.—The term “appropriate congressional committees”, with respect to a presidential emergency action document submitted under subsection (a) or (b), means—

(A) the Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs, the Committee on the Judiciary, and the Select Committee on Intelligence of the Senate;

(B) the Committee on Oversight and Reform, the Committee on the Judiciary, and the Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence of the House of Representatives; and

(C) any other committee of the Senate or the House of Representatives with jurisdiction over the subject matter addressed in the presidential emergency action document.

(2) PRESIDENTIAL EMERGENCY ACTION DOCUMENT.—The term “presidential emergency action document” refers to—

(A) each of the approximately 56 documents described as presidential emergency action documents in the budget justification materials for the Office of Legal Counsel of the Department of State and submitted to Congress in support of the budget of the President for fiscal year 2018; and

(B) any other pre-coordinated legal document in existence before, on, or after the date of the enactment of this Act, that—

(i) is designated as a presidential emergency action document; and

(ii) is designed to implement a presidential decision or transmit a presidential request when an emergency disrupts normal governmental or legislative processes.

SEC. 1281. SHORT TITLE.

This subtitle may be cited as the “Stopping Activities Underpinning Development In Weapons of Mass Destruction Act” or the “SAUDI WMD Act”.

SEC. 1282. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(a) The People’s Republic of China (in this subtitle referred to as “China”), became a full-participant of the Missile Technology Control Group in 2004, committing it to apply a strong presumption of denial in exporting nuclear-related items that a foreign country could divert to a nuclear weapons program.

(b) China also committed to the United States, in November 2000, to abide by the international principles of the Missile Technology Control Regime (MTCR) to not “assist, in any way, any country in the development of ballistic missiles that can be used to deliver nuclear weapons (i.e., missiles capable of delivering a warhead of at least 500 kilograms to a distance of at least 3,000 kilometers)”.

(c) In the 1980s, China secretly sold the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia (in this subtitle referred to as “Saudi Arabia”) conventionally armed DF-3A ballistic missiles, and in 2007, reportedly sold Saudi Arabia dual-use capable DF-21 medium-range ballistic missiles of a payload of 500 kilograms, which feeds payload threshold which should have triggered a denial of sale under the MTCR.

(d) The 2020 Department of State Report on the Adherence to and Compliance with Arms Control, Nonproliferation, and Disarmament Agreements and Commitments found that China “continued to supply MTCR-controlled missile technologies to countries of mass destruction proliferation concern in 2019” and that the United States imposed sanctions on nine Chinese entities for covered missile transfers to Pakistan.

(e) A June 5, 2019, press report indicated that China allegedly provided assistance to Saudi Arabia in the development of a ballistic missile facility, which if confirmed, would violate the purpose of the MTCR and run contrary to the longstanding United States policy priority to prevent weapons of mass destruction proliferation in the Middle East.

(f) The Arms Export and Control Act of 1976 (Public Law 93-392) requires the President to sanction any foreign person or government who knowingly engaged “in trade, or otherwise engages in the trade of any MTCR equipment or technology” to a country that does not adhere to the MTCR.

(h) On August 4, 2020, a press report revealed the alleged existence of a previously undisclosed uranium yellowcake extraction facility in Saudi Arabia that was constructed with the assistance of China, which if confirmed, would indicate significant progress by Saudi Arabia in developing the early stages of the nuclear fuel cycle that precede uranium enrichment.

(i) Saudi Arabia’s outdated Small Quantities Protocol and its lack of an in force Additional Protocol to its International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) Comprehensive Safeguards Agreement severely curtails IAEA inspections, which has led the Agency to call upon Saudi Arabia to either rescind or update its Small Quantities Protocol.

(j) On January 19, 2021, in response to a question about Saudi Arabia’s reported ballistic missile cooperation with China, incoming Secretary of State Antony J. Blinken stated that “we want to make sure that to the best of our ability all of our partners and allies are living up to their obligations under various nonproliferation and missile control agreements and, certainly, in the case of Saudi Arabia that is something we will want to look at”.

(k) On March 15, 2018, the Crown Prince of Saudi Arabia, Mohammad bin-Salman, stated that “if Iran developed a nuclear bomb, we would follow suit as soon as possible.”
raising questions about whether a Saudi Arabian nuclear program would remain exclusively peaceful, particularly in the absence of robust international IAEA safeguards.

(2) A study by the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights found that the Saudi Arabia-led military coalition airstrikes in Yemen and its restrictions on the flow of humanitarian assistance to the country, both of which have disproportionately affected civilians, may be violations of international humanitarian law.

Subtitle G.—Promotion of Freedom of Information and Countering of Censorship and Surveillance in North Korea

SEC. 1281. SHORT TITLE.

This subtitle may be cited as the “Otto Warmbier Countering North Korean Censorship and Surveillance Act of 2022.”

SEC. 1282. FINDINGS; SENSE OF CONGRESS.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The information landscape in North Korea is the most repressive in the world, consistently ranking last or near-last in the annual World Press Freedom Index.

(2) Under the brutal rule of Kim Jong Un, the country’s leader since 2012, the North Korean regime has tightened controls on access to external information, as well as punishing consumers of outside media, including sentencing to time in a concentration camp and a maximum penalty of death. Such repressive measures surrounding information in North Korea resulted in the death of 22-year-old United States citizen and university student Otto Warmbier, who had traveled to North Korea in December 2015 as part of a guided tour.

(4) Otto Warmbier was unjustly arrested, sentenced to 15 years of hard labor, and was detained at the hands of North Korean officials. While in captivity, Otto Warmbier suffered a serious medical emergency that placed him into a coma state. Otto Warmbier was comatose upon his release in June 2017 and died 6 days later.

(5) Despite increased penalties for possession and viewership of foreign media, the people of North Korea have increased their desire for foreign media content, according to a survey of 200 defectors concluding that 90 percent had watched South Korean or other foreign media before defecting.

(6) On March 23, 2021, in an annual resolution, the United Nations General Assembly condemned “the long-standing and ongoing systematic, widespread, and institutional violations of human rights in the Democratic People’s Republic of Korea” and expressed grave concern about, among other things, “the denial of the right to freedom of thought, conscience, and religion . . . and of the rights to freedom of opinion, expression, and association, both online and offline, which is enforced through an absolute monopoly on information and total control over organized social life, and arbitrary and unlawful state surveillance that permeates the private lives of all citizens.”

(7) In 2018, Typhoon Yutu caused extensive damage to 15 broadcast antennas used by the United States Agency for Global Media in Asia, resulting in reduced programming to North Korea. The United States Agency for Global Media has rebuilt 5 of the 15 antennas system of June 2021.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) In the event of a crisis situation, particularly where information relating to the crisis is being actively censored or a false narrative is being put forward, the United States should be able to quickly increase the number of broadcast antennas to deliver fact-based information to audiences, including those in North Korea; and

[The rest of the text continues as normal]
(2) the United States International Broadcasting Surge Capacity Fund is already authorized under section 316 of the United States International Broadcasting Act of 1994 (22 U.S.C. 7902). The fund is intended to transfer unobligated balances from expired accounts of the United States Agency for Global Media that would enable the Agency to more effectively respond to crises.

SEC. 1283. STATEMENT OF POLICY.

It is the policy of the United States—

(1) to provide the people of North Korea with access to a diverse range of fact-based information;

(2) to develop and implement novel means of communication and information sharing that increase opportunities for audiences in North Korea to freely create, access, and share digital and non-digital news without fear of repressive censorship, surveillance, or penalties under law; and

(3) to foster and innovate new technologies to counter North Korea's state-sponsored repressive surveillance and censorship by advancing internet freedom tools, technologies, and new approaches.

(3) A detailed description of the agencies and other government entities and key officials of foreign governments that assist, facilitate, or aid North Korea's repressive censorship and surveillance state;

(4) A review of existing public-private partnerships that provide circumvention technology and an assessment of the feasibility and utility of new tools to increase free expression, circumvention censorship, and obstruct repressive surveillance in North Korea;

(5) A description of and funding levels required for current United States Government programs to provide assistance to provide access for the people of North Korea to a diverse range of fact-based information;

(9) A position assessment of how the United States International Broadcasting Surge Capacity Fund authorized under section 316 of the United States International Broadcasting Act of 1994 (22 U.S.C. 7902) has operated to respond to crisis situations in the past, and how authority to transfer unobligated balances from expired accounts would benefit the United States Agency for Global Media in crisis situations in the future.

(b) 1285. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—

TITLE — JUDICIAL SECURITY AND PRIVACY

SEC. 01. SHORT TITLE. This title may be cited as the “Daniel Anderl Judicial Security and Privacy Act of 2021.”

SEC. 02. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Members of the Federal judiciary perform the important function of interpreting the Constitution of the United States and administering justice in a fair and impartial manner.

(2) In recent years, partially as a result of the rise in the use of social media and online access to information, members of the Federal judiciary have been exposed to an increased number of personal threats in connection to their role. The ease of access to free or inexpensive sources of covered information has considerably lowered the effort required for malicious actors to discover where individuals live and where they spend leisure hours and to find information about their family members. Such threats have included calling a judge a traitor with reference to mass shootings and serial killings, a murder attempt on a justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, calling for an “angry mob” to gather outside a home of a judge and, in reference to a judge on the court, stating how easy it would be to “get them.”

(3) Between 2015 and 2019, threats and other inappropriate communications against Federal judges and other judiciary personnel increased from 926 in 2015 to approximately 4,449 in 2019.

(4) Over the past decade, several members of the Federal judiciary have experienced acts of violence against themselves or a family member in connection to their Federal judiciary role, including the murder in 2005 of the family of Joan Lefkow, a judge for the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois.

The health impacts from long-term exposure to environmental contamination as a result of 62 years of military operations, and have exposed higher rates of certain diseases among residents, including cancer, cirrhosis, hypertension, diabetes, heavy metal poisoning during or after the United States Government used the island of Vieques, Puerto Rico, for military readiness; and

(7) Vieques was hit by Hurricane Maria, an unusually destructive storm that devastated Puerto Rico and intensified the existing humanitarian crisis on the island by destroying existing homes and infrastructure.

(8) The medical systems in place prior to Hurricane Maria were unable to properly handle the health crisis that existed due to the toxic residue left on the island by the military’s activities.

(9) After Maria, the medical facility was closed due to damage and continues to be unable to perform basic services that it did provide. Vieques needs a medical facility that can treat and address the critical and urgent need to get life-saving medical services to its residents. Due to legal restrictions, the Federal Emergency Management Agency (in this title referred to as ‘‘FEMA’’) is unable to use where its capabilities exceed the abilities of the facility that existed prior to Maria; therefore Vieques needs assistance to build a facility that can manage the vast health needs of its residents.

(10) Every American has benefitted from the sacrifices of those Americans who have served and are living on Vieques and it is our intent to acknowledge that sacrifice and to treat those Americans with the same respect and appreciation that other Americans enjoy.

(11) In 2012, the residents of Vieques were denied the ability to address their needs in Court due to sovereign immunity, Sánchez v. United States, No. 09-cv-01260-DDR (D.P.R.). However, the United States Court of Appeals for the First Circuit referred the issue to Congress and urged it to address the humanitarian crisis. This bill attempts to satisfy that request such that Americans living on Vieques have a remedy for the suffering they have endured.

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. 1282. SHORT TITLE.
This subtitle may be cited as the “Indo-Pacific Strategic Energy Initiative”.

SEC. 1283. FINDINGS.
Congress makes the following findings:
(1) The United States natural gas production increased by 54 percent from 2005 to 2017. At the same time, total United States carbon dioxide emissions decreased by 14 percent.
(2) Natural gas share of electricity production increased from 19 percent in 2005 to 32 percent in 2017.
(3) Between 2005 and 2019, carbon dioxide emissions from the United States power sector declined by 33 percent, with fuel switching to natural gas, accounting for more than half of those reductions. During that period, the United States energy mix grew by 20 percent.
(4) The United States energy consumption fell by 2 percent, and per capita emissions dropped to their lowest levels since 1960.
(5) Between 1990 and 2018, the natural gas and oil industry reduced methane emissions by 23.6 percent through voluntary actions, while expanding production by 70 percent.
(6) Demand in the United States and globally for clean-burning natural gas and liquefied natural gas will continue to increase over the next several decades, even as renewable energy resources and energy efficiency improve.
(7) Demand for natural gas is rising in the Indo-Pacific region, particularly as countries look to make emissions cuts and transition from higher emissions to lower ones.
(8) The expanding number of infrastructure projects in the Indo-Pacific region, carried out under the Belt and Road Initiative, is leading to higher emissions in the region.

(9) According to the International Energy Agency, "The number of countries and territories that are reducing their greenhouse gas emissions has increased from twelve in 2000 to 20 in 2020." Further, the International Energy Agency has found that energy usage in Asia is growing faster than ever, and energy usage in the world is growing faster than ever, and in the wider context of global clean energy transitions, where natural gas will be required to make a flexible contribution to energy transitions.

(10) The United States saw a 65.57% increase in liquefied natural gas exports in 2019.

(11) As a result of a transition to natural gas, the United States has seen a 12.5% increase in oil production since 2017.

(12) Australia and the United States are both important global energy exporters and thus have a shared interest in supplying the growing energy demand in the Indo-Pacific region.

(13) Japanese companies have long invested in United States liquefied natural gas projects, and they have moved to shifting from relying on liquefied natural gas from the Middle East to liquefied natural gas from the United States.

(14) The People's Republic of China currently is one of the largest financiers of overseas energy and greenhouse gas intensive projects. The People's Republic of China also uses those investments to project its influence and secure critical minerals supply chains and infrastructure.

SEC. 1281.SENSE OF CONGRESS.

It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the United States reaffirms its commitment to quadrilateral cooperation with Japan, India, and Australia (collectively, with the United States, known as the "Quad"), and that United States should continue to pursue strengthening cooperation in the energy sector in light of the global threats and challenges facing all 4 countries; and

(2) the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (commonly referred to as "ASEAN") and its 10 members (Brunei, Cambodia, Indonesia, Laos, Malaysia, Myanmar, the Philippines, Singapore, Thailand, and Vietnam) have worked with the United States toward increased their energy security and reduce emissions from energy-intensive projects. The People's Republic of China also promotes energy security and reduces emissions from energy-intensive projects.

(3) The United States and the Republic of Korea enjoy a comprehensive alliance partnership, founded in shared strategic interests and security concerns, a commitment to democratic values, which includes recognizing the important role of energy cooperation through the United States-Republic of Korea Energy Partnership, and

(4) the United States has economic, national security, and domestic interests in assisting allies and partners in Indo-Pacific countries to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and achieve energy security through diversification of their energy sources and supply routes.

SEC. 1282. STATEMENT OF POLICY.

It is the policy of the United States to—

(1) engage and lead on international emissions reductions and adaptation, including assisting partners in reducing its emissions of higher energy sources through exports of cleaner-burning United States-produced fuels and emission-reduction technologies;

(2) to advance United States foreign policy and development goals by assisting allies and partners of the United States in the Indo-Pacific region to decrease their dependence on energy resources from countries that use energy dependence to coerce, intimidate, and influence governments and influence the global economy; and

(3) to develop strategies to counter competition from the Russian Federation and the People's Republic of China to protect the United States energy security. The Secretary of Energy and the National Security Council shall identify energy security threats and routes of cleaner-burning United States-produced fuels and emission-reduction technologies.

(3) The United States and Ecuador share strategic interests in strengthening Ecuador’s democratic institutions, generating inclusive economic growth, and building capacity in law enforcement, anti-corruption, and conservation efforts.

(4) The United States and Ecuador historically have enjoyed strong economic, investment, and economic ties, yet Ecuador continues to face significant challenges to inclusive economic development, including—

(A) the heavy economic toll of the COVID–19 pandemic;

(B) vulnerabilities with respect to the growing role of the People’s Republic of China in the financing and refinancing of Ecuador’s debts, and in strategic infrastructure projects and sectors of the Ecuadorian economy; and

(C) the need to develop and strengthen open and transparent economic policies that strengthen Ecuador’s integration with global markets, inclusive economic growth, and opportunities for upward social mobility for the Ecuadorian people.

(5) Since its establishment in December 2019, the United States Development Finance Corporation has provided more than $40,000,000 in financing to Ecuador.

(6) Ecuador’s justice system has taken important steps to fight corruption and criminality and to increase accountability. However, enduring challenges to the rule of law in Ecuador, including the activities of transnational criminal organizations, illicit mining, and illegal, unregistered (IUU) fishing, and undermunicipal actors, present ongoing risks for political and social stability in Ecuador.

(10) On August 13, 2021, the United States and Ecuador celebrated the entry into force of the United States–Ecuador Trade and Investment Council Agreement between the Government of the United States of America and the Government of the Republic of Ecuador Relating to Trade and Investment. that would become meeting spaces for community groups and clubs such as the Loyal Matrons, Richardson Literary, Cooperative Women, the Brotherhood, and a new Boy Scout Troop. After many fruitful years of ministry and expansion, the Lord provided Mt. Moriah with the means to relocate to its present-day home on Millerfield Road in 1967 where it was able to further expand and serve its members with even greater impact.

The Mt. Moriah Baptist Church has for a century played a vital role in the spiritual and overall development of several generations through its active involvement in the Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Brownies, and Vacation Bible Schools. The church has always prioritized educating its members, and especially its youth, in positive life skills and encouraged all members to join Prayer Meetings and Bible Study. And truly, the congregation of Mt. Moriah has always demonstrated a genuine concern for uplifting the surrounding community. Mt. Moriah continued in this mission in the foundation of the Family Life Center. Built and dedicated Center houses a nursery, library, six classrooms, and a gymnasium to be used and enjoyed by the church’s members and ministries such as the Single’s Ministry, the Couple’s Ministry, Mission Board, YDC Ministry, Keenagers (Senior Saints), the Men of Mt. Moriah, and Women of Mt. Moriah. In 2006, the church established the Travel Ministry and took on the worthy cause of spreading its mission of evangelism and altruism abroad. Over the years the Travel Ministry would spread its ministry wide, including travel to Barbados, Jamaica, Liberia, South Carolina, Florida, and many other places with people in need.

Over the decades, none of Mt. Moriah’s accomplishments could have been possible without the hard work and dedication of the church’s many dedicated members, deacons, ministers, and, most importantly, its pastors. Each pastor has contributed to the growth and excellence of the church through various initiatives; under Reverend Lonzy Edwards, Sr. leadership Mt. Moriah saw the establishment of a college scholarship fund, a new radio ministry, and property expansion. Mt. Moriah’s current lead pastor, Reverend Dr. Stanley Kimble, has not only continued to advance the church’s long-held mission of uplifting the greater community; he has also brought forth a newfound passion for youth engagement and local charities. Dr. Kimble founded the “Get Your Glory Youth Praise Dance Ministry” and the Youth Café on every third Sunday, as well as the Feeding of the Homeless Ministry and the Red Cross Blood Drive. It is without a doubt that these pastors’ contributions inspired so many to do what they may never have thought possible.

The story of Mt. Moriah Missionary Baptist Church, which began as a small group of people worshipping 136 years ago and has grown into an expansive and successful church, is truly an inspiring one of the dedication and perseverance of a faithful congregation who put all of their love and trust in the Lord. Ephesians 4:4 tells us, “There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling.” Mt. Moriah from its inception has served as one body and spirit in service to God and Jesus Christ.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join my wife, Vivian, and me, along with the more than 730,000 people of Georgia’s Second Congressional District in recognizing and honoring the Mount Moriah Missionary Baptist Church on its 136th anniversary for its congregation’s enduring commitment to each other and to our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. May their actions continue to inspire the community in courage, in dedication, and in faith.

HONORING 82ND AIRBORNE HALL OF FAME INDUCTEE COMMAND SERGEANT MAJOR BRYANT LAMBERT FOR HIS VALOROUS SERVICE AND SACRIFICE

HON. RICHARD HUDSON
OF NORTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Mr. HUDSON. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Command Sergeant Major Bryant Lambert for his induction into the 82nd Airborne Division’s Hall of Fame on September 28, 2022.

The 82nd Airborne Division’s Hall of Fame began in 2018 to honor the division’s 101 years of legendary service and its members. It honors veteran paratroopers who are nominated for their service within the division, their commitment to the division’s values, their contributions to their chosen field outside of their division, or any other valorous combat actions. A brief look at Command Sgt. Maj. Lambert’s career accomplishments only begins to adequately describe the importance of his military service. In his 26 years with the 82nd Airborne Division, he has held every rank and position in the division from rifleman to command sergeant major. He began as an infantryman in the 2nd Battalion of the 1st Brigade’s 508th Infantry Regiment and later served in the division’s 1st Brigade, 2–504 PIR and 3rd Brigade, 1–505 PIR before becoming the 3rd Brigade Combat Team’s regimental command sergeant major. In 2010, he advanced to become the 82nd Airborne Division command sergeant major where he later served as the senior enlisted advisor for Regional Command-South and Combined Joint Task Force-82 during Operation Enduring Freedom. While in the military, Command Sgt. Maj. Lambert completed training programs at the U.S. Army Airborne School, the U.S. Army Drill Sergeant School, and the U.S. Army Sergeant Major Academy that contributed to his success and led him to serve in numerous other units at military bases across the country. He also completed many deployments, including three tours in Afghanistan, two tours in Iraq, and singular tours in Grenada, Saudi Arabia, and Haiti. He retired from the Army in 2018.

In the words of the former commander of the 82nd Airborne Division, Gen. Erik Kurilla, “The All American Hall of Fame is about preserving our legacy and paying homage to our All American Legends.” Command Sgt. Maj. Lambert’s selfless service could not be more deserving of such recognition. I know I speak for all in our community and Nation in thanking Command Sgt. Maj. Lambert for his committed service and leadership in the 82nd Airborne Division and our nation’s military more broadly.

Madam Speaker, please join me today in honoring and congratulating Command Sergeant Major Bryant Lambert for his induction to the 82nd Airborne Division’s Hall of Fame.

NEW IMAGE BREWERY
HON. ED PERLMUTTER OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Mr. PERLMUTTER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize New Image Brewery for receiving the Wheat Ridge Business Association’s 2022 Reinvestment Award.

New Image Brewery is being recognized for their resilience in investing in our community despite opening a business at a challenging time. When New Image Brewery first came to Wheat Ridge, they were looking for a facility to produce their beers, however, due to zoning laws, they were required to open a tasting room. New Image Brewery agreed to this new vision, but as they began to open their doors, the COVID-19 pandemic hit. Now, two years after their original opening, New Image Brewery was able to finally open the doors to their tasting room in a building used with great community support. Quickly, the brewery has become a popular spot in the community, featuring a wide array of brews inside and an on-site food truck outside.

I thank New Image Brewery for their “reinvestment” in our community. We are happy to have their tasting room’s doors finally open.

IN RECOGNITION OF DAVID LOUIE

HON. JACKIE SPEIER

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Ms. SPEIER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the legendary journalist David Louie, who has over five decades of being some of the biggest stories in the Bay Area and the nation. A familiar face on San Francisco’s ABC7/KGO TV for 50 years, Bay Area viewers will undoubtedly miss his excellent reporting. It has been my great pleasure to run into David at countless events and to be interviewed by him dozens of times during my time in Congress and the California Legislature.

Journalism has been in David’s blood since he was a child. He first appeared on camera at age five when one of his neighbors in Ohio who produced a weekly public affairs show invited him to the studio. He was also a newspaper delivery boy and wrote for his high school paper. In 1972, he became KGO’s Asian American reporter.

David has a remarkable ability to quickly break down and condense any story, no matter what topic you throw at him. He has covered the emergence of Silicon Valley as a technology and innovation hub. He was part of the first local TV crew to go to China covering the normalization of US-China relations. He went to the Philippines during the People Power Revolution in 1986 that sent Ferdinand Marcos into exile. He was the first reporter to interview U.S. Secretary of Transportation Norman Mineta after 9/11. He covered the Patty Hearst kidnapping and the Loma Prieta earthquake.

Among the recognitions and awards David has received for his outstanding work are four Emmy Awards and two lifetime achievement awards from the Asian American Journalists Association (AAJA) and from the City and County of San Francisco. He was inducted into the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences (NATAS) Gold Circle in 2019, and the Medill School of Journalism Hall of Fame in 1997. David served as the national president of AAJA, the national chairman of the NATAS, and on the board of the Radio Television Digital News Association (RTNDA). This year, he was awarded the Northwestern Alumni Medal.

David earned his bachelor’s in journalism from Northwestern University, where he began in the Medill Chermubs, a summer institute for high school students interested in journalism careers.

David is also a foodie. Long before the food channels appeared on the air, David did a feature called, “Friday Feast.” When he is not in the field reporting, he is often in his kitchen experimenting with new recipes. He encourages his social media followers to send him risk-free recipes to try.

Madam Speaker, I rise today to say that David Louie is an institution in the Bay Area would not be an exaggeration. I ask my colleagues in the House of Representatives to join me in celebrating a man in pursuit of the truth and facts for more than half a century. He is a role model for other journalists: thorough, ethical and always curious. I wish him the best in his well-deserved retirement.

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Mr. NORMAN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to celebrate the life of Mr. William F. Thornton on his 80th birthday. Born on October 1, 1942 in Oakland, California to Mr. Frederick Lyle and Mrs. Evelyn Lenore Thornton, Mr. Thornton left home to live and work with his aunt and uncle at their dairy farm at the age of 13. On November 2, 1966, Mr. Thornton enlisted in the Army at the age of 23. He served as a combat medic for 31 months in Vietnam and was later stationed in Germany, where he remained for the next 2 years.

Later, Mr. Thornton was stationed at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio, Texas at their medical training center. He was then sent to Apalachicola, Florida to take part in weapons testing for helicopters.

In January 1967, Mr. Thornton was awarded the Silver Star, the Army’s third highest award for valor. Mr. Thornton was cited for heroism while serving as a medic. When his unit was hit by intense hostile fire and sustained sever al causalities, Mr. Thornton was called forward to administer first aid to two seriously wounded soldiers. He crawled forward while exposed to oppressive enemy fire and successfully administered medical treatment to his comrades.

Throughout his career, Mr. Thornton’s courage saved the lives of countless soldiers and inspired his comrades.

In 1987, he was discharged and returned to live in Apalachicola, Florida where he worked as a seafood broker.

In 1988, he met his wife, Giannina Redaelli Thornton and married a year later. Together, they raised 3 children and relocated to Rock Hill, South Carolina in 2004. I congratulate Mr. William F. Thornton and his entire family on his 80th birthday celebration and I thank him for his years of dedicated service to this country and his community.

He dropped out of school after two years of college to work for a living. He returned to school after four years of doing different kinds of jobs, including working as a stocker, a waiter, and working for a small bilingual newspaper in Columbia, South Carolina.

He moved to Charleston in 1997 and by working and studying at the same time, he was able to finish college in 2003. Part of that time was spent working with his parents who were then starting a small Mexican bakery in Charlotte. He decided to pursue graduate education in anthropology and moved to New Orleans to attend Tulane University in 2004. There, he earned a Ph.D. in 2007.

He has lived in Florida since 2011 and joined the staff of the Farmworker Association of Florida in 2016 as part of the research team. In that role, he has been advocating for better working conditions for farmworkers in Central Florida and raising awareness about the short and long-term effects of heat-related illness.

In late 2020, he became the general coordinator of the association. In that role, he has worked to establish relationships with schools in Kissimmee to offer students the opportunity to participate in the organization’s agroecology program.

HONORING YESICA RAMIREZ FOR HISPANIC HERITAGE MONTH

HON. DARREN SOTO
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Mr. SOTO. Madam Speaker, Yesica Ramirez is the Apopka office area coordinator at the Farmworker Association of Florida. She and her family come from Michoacan, Mexico. Her first job in Apopka was as a plant nursery worker, where she worked for six years. Yesica also took several other jobs such as housekeeper and dishwasher.

During the years Yesica worked at the plant nursery, she had no clue about pesticides and wondered how she had gotten rashes on her arms and hands. She later became pregnant with her third child who was born with complications. Upon birth, the baby needed to get their skull cut to get the head molded. When community members were active, fed up, and had a hint of hope for immigration reform, Yesica joined one of FWA’s marches in 2006. That was her introduction to FWA. As she became more involved with the organization, a lot of things became clearer, such as the rashes on her hands and arms, and her child’s health complications. During her work at the plant nursery, Yesica made a mixture of Clorox and alcohol with no protective gear. She has been fighting for social justice as part of the FWA staff for 10 years.

Through her work with FWA, Yesica has been active in Florida’s Ninth Congressional District working on immigration and voting rights, including working with the Young American Dreamers and doing outreach in the district to make sure that farmworkers in the area know their rights and become members of the association. Recently, Yesica was part of a delegation that met with U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Assistant Secretary for Health, Admiral Rachel Levine, to voice the issues that concern and affect farmworkers in Central Florida.

HON. RICHARD HUDSON

OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Mr. HUDSON. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Colonel Benjamin H. Vandervoort for his induction into the 82nd Airborne Division’s Hall of Fame on September 28, 2022.

The 82nd Airborne Division’s Hall of Fame began in 2018 to honor the division’s 101 years of legendary service and its members. A brief look at Col. Vandervoort’s career accomplishments only begins to adequately describe the importance of his military service. Col. Vandervoort was a member of the 505th Parachute Infantry Regiment, which was assigned to the 82nd Airborne in 1943, from 1940 to 1945 and held many important ranks over the course of World War II. Specifically, he served as the regiment’s operations officer during the United States’ invasion of Sicily and Salerno and as the commander of the regiment’s 2nd Battalion during the invasion of Normandy in 1944 and the Battle of the Bulge later that year. In the latter, he led his battalion into the fray in the cities of Sainte-Mere-Eglise, Nijmegen, and Bastogne. Perhaps most impressively, he also orchestrated and performed an assault on the Waal bridge in the Netherlands during this conflict. On account of his courage, bravery, and spectacular leadership in this episode, he received Oak Leaf Clusters for his Distinguished Service Cross and two Oak Leaf Clusters for his Purple Heart. After his time in the 2nd Battalion forced him to medically retire from the Army in 1946, he continued to work to bolster our national security in his capacity as a civilian by working for the CIA and U.S. Army staff.

In the words of the former commander of the 82nd Airborne Division, Gen. Erik Kurilla, “The All American Hall of Fame is about preserving our legacy and paying homage to our All American Legends.” Col. Vandervoort’s selfless service could not be more deserving of such recognition. I know I speak for all in our community and Nation in thanking Col. Vandervoort for his committed service and leadership in the 82nd Airborne Division and our nation’s military more broadly.

HONORING THE LIFE OF MR. ANATOLY DWIGUN

HON. CHRIS JACOBS

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Mr. JACOBS of New York. Madam Speaker, I rise today to remember and honor the life of Anatoly Dwigun, who passed away on February 24, 2022, at the age of 75.

Mr. Dwigun was born in Germany on October 28, 1945. His two parents and three siblings immigrated to the United States in 1955 when he was ten years old. A true exemplar of American patriotism, Mr. Dwigun joined the U.S. Army in 1968, just shortly after earning his American citizenship. His remarkable service in Vietnam as a helicopter mechanic and door gunner led to him receiving several honors: including the Defense Service Medal, Vietnam Service Medal, Vietnam Campaign Medal, Army Commendation Medal, and the New York State Conspicuous Services Cross Award.

In a demonstration of humility, Mr. Dwigun declined to accept the Purple Heart; in his own words, he was not “as worthy of that honor, as those who lost their lives.” Following Vietnam, Mr. Dwigun proudly worked as an engineer and spent considerable time enjoying the outdoors. He was precise and caring in all his actions, best exemplified by his superb vehicle-maintenance abilities and immaculate yard work.

Mr. Dwigun’s humility was constantly reflected during his marriage to his loving wife, Janice. The two shared countless happy memories not only with each other, but also their children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. Many of his most cherished times were during family gatherings and shared meals. To summarize, Mr. Dwigun’s memory will be remembered with much love and respect by all his family and his country.

Madam Speaker, please join me celebrating Mr. Dwigun’s life and in honoring his life’s work and all his achievements.

Clancy’s hosts annual Celtic and Sonic Bluegrass Festivals, weekly Irish music performances, Celtic and bluegrass jam sessions, and karaoke. Clancy’s also opens their doors to community events like Hops with a Cop, Pints and Policy, and Ridgefest Deconstructed. Their steadfastness toward engaging the community of Wheat Ridge in Irish culture and providing a space to celebrate and learn about it is why the Cultural Commission chose Clancy’s.

I thank Clancy’s Irish Pub for the rich culture they bring to our community.

HONORING JOHN JACKSON KENNEDY

HON. JUDY CHU

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Ms. CHU. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the life of John J. Kennedy, who passed away on July 21, 2022, at the age of 61. John was a respected leader and councilmember in the Pasadena community whose legacy will be felt indefinitely.

John J. Kennedy was born and raised in Pasadena, California to his parents Thomas and Leola Kennedy as the eighth of ten siblings. John was always a natural leader, drawn to serving and representing those around him from an early age. He was student body president at Pasadena’s Blair High School and went on to serve as student senator at the University of Southern California, where he received a dual bachelor’s degree in Economics and International Relations. After earning his juris doctor degree from Howard University School of Law, John became the youngest person to be elected president to the Pasadena National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) in 1987. His decades-long work with the NAACP as both president and a member represented his powerful commitment to creating opportunities for everyone in Pasadena.

In 1987, John also founded John J. Kennedy & Associates, a management consulting firm dedicated to serving and representing the All American Legends. Col. Vandervoort is among the very few who hold this title. He has served our nation’s military more broadly.

Clancy’s Irish Pub is being recognized by the Wheat Ridge Business Association’s Cultural Commission as the longest running Irish Pub in the State of Colorado and as a vital cultural hub for members of our community. Clancy’s hosts annual Celtic and Sonic Bluegrass Festivals, weekly Irish music performances, Celtic and bluegrass jam sessions, and karaoke. Clancy’s also opens their doors to community events like Hops with a Cop, Pints and Policy, and Ridgefest Deconstructed. Their steadfastness toward engaging the community of Wheat Ridge in Irish culture and providing a space to celebrate and learn about it is why the Cultural Commission chose Clancy’s.

I thank Clancy’s Irish Pub for the rich culture they bring to our community.
success was built by the hard work and sacrifice of our predecessors, many of whom were African Americans, Chinese Americans, Mexican Americans, Japanese Americans, and countless others from different backgrounds. Because he wanted to ensure that future residents of Pasadena were aware of its history, he fought hard to establish a monument that recognized this fact. And after months of hard work, along with the support of community members and organizations, the City of Pasadena erected a monument dedicated to minority residents and their incredible contributions to this city. This monument will serve to honor not only the unquantifiable contributions of our communities but will memorialize the honorable efforts of John himself.

John’s love for Pasadena and Pasadenaans guided his public service as he strove every day to make it better for everyone. It is certain that he did just that. It was an honor to work with him and call him a friend. I ask my colleagues to join me in commemorating the life of this extraordinary individual.

HONORING 82ND AIRBORNE HALL OF FAME INDUCTEE LIEUTENANT GENERAL RAYMOND MASON FOR HIS VALOROUS SERVICE AND SACRIFICE

HON. RICHARD HUDSON
OF NORTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Mr. HUDSON. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Lieutenant General Raymond Mason for his induction into the 82nd Airborne Division’s Hall of Fame on September 28, 2022. The 82nd Airborne Division’s Hall of Fame began in 2018 to honor the 101 years of legendary service and its members. It honors veteran paratroopers who are nominated for their service within the division, their commitment to the division’s values, their contributions to their chosen field outside of their division, or any other valorous combat actions.

A brief look at Lt. Gen. Mason’s career accomplishments only begins to adequately describe the importance of his military service. Serving in the 82nd Airborne Division for 15 years from 1983 through 1998, Lt. Gen. Mason commanded both Company E, 407th Supply and Services Battalion and the 407th Support Battalion. He also held numerous positions in the division where he provided important logistical support that greatly advanced operational possibilities for combat commanders. Specifically, he served as the division support command operation officer for Operation Urgent Fury in Grenada and both the assistant chief of staff and deputy chief of staff for the U.S. Forces Command and the Army. In addition to his accomplishments with the 82nd Airborne Division, he provided dutiful leadership and service in other units and positions until his retirement in 2014. Even in retirement, Lt. Gen. Mason has continued to serve our military as the director of the Army Emergency Relief Fund, a nonprofit organization that provides support to the Army.

In the words of the former commander of the 82nd Airborne Division, Gen. Erik Kurilla, “The All American Hall of Fame is about preparing our legacy and paying homage to our All American Legends.” Lt. Gen. Mason’s selfless service could not be more deserving of such recognition. I know I speak for all in our community and nation in thanking Lt. Gen. Mason for his committed service and leadership in the 82nd Airborne Division and our nation’s military more broadly.

Madam Speaker, please join me today in honoring and congratulating Lieutenant General Mason for his induction into the 82nd Airborne Division’s Hall of Fame.

HONORING GEAR UP WEEK

HON. VERONICA ESCOBAR
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Ms. ESCOBAR. Madam Speaker, I am honored to recognize the week of September 26–30, 2022, as National GEAR UP Week at Ysleta Independent School District in El Paso, Texas.

“Preparing Early Awareness and Readiness for Undergraduate Programs (GEAR UP) is a federally-funded grant program designed to prepare first-generation and low-income students..." to be college-ready and have the resources to successfully complete their post-secondary education.

In El Paso, the GEAR UP-Proyecto to M.A.S. (Motivating Aspiring Scholars) is a partnership between the Ysleta Independent School District and the University of Texas at El Paso. The program currently serves 3,400 students through tutoring, mentoring, financial education, and college visits to ensure readiness and awareness of higher education opportunities.

As a former educator myself, I know that programs like GEAR UP are essential to communities like mine where over 80% of our population is Latino. Many of our students come from families where they will be the first in their family to go to college. I am so proud of the tremendous impact GEAR UP makes in the lives of young El Pasoans through its tools made available to our communities.

I am grateful to the educators and families who work tirelessly to support our youth, I applaud all the students who have immersed themselves in this program and express my best wishes and hopes for their success.

IN RECOGNITION OF MICHAEL A. JOHNSON

HON. SANFORD D. BISHOP, JR.
OF GEORGIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Mr. BISHOP of Georgia. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize a man who has served as a distinguished community leader from a young age and has continued to enrich future generations as a Boy Scouts of America (BSA) Scoutmaster for the past 37 years, Michael A. Johnson. Recently, Michael was awarded the Book of Golden Deeds Award in the Southeast p.m. at the church’s school cafeteria in Albany, Georgia.

Born into an Air Force family by the union of Michael and Marcia Johnson, Michael moved to Southwest Georgia when his father was transferred to Albany in 1971. He began his Scouting journey as a young boy in the Cub Scouts and in 1971 joined as a Boy Scout in St. Teresa’s Catholic Church Troop 3 where he would earn several awards and distinctions. Additionally, Michael attended high school in Albany and went on to earn a degree in Architecture from Auburn University.

After achieving the rank of Eagle Scout in 1977, Michael continued his servant leadership with the Scouting community by serving as a Troop 3 Assistant Scoutmaster from 1985 to 1990, and then as Scoutmaster in 1990, a position he still holds today. Throughout his life in Scouting, he has been revered as a steadfast mentor and positive influence on the hundreds of young people who have passed through his troop. It was important to Michael that all Scouts had the opportunity to experience trips to BSA’s National Jamborees, summer camp at the high adventure camps, and participate in many community activities, and he personally made sure that funding was never an issue for them to attend. Notably, of the 194 Eagle Scouts from Troop 3, 145 achieved the rank under Michael’s leadership, affirming his record of dedication to each of these young people as they completed service projects to improve their neighborhoods and the greater community.

Michael demonstrates impeccable community leadership in so many ways. He currently serves as a Leader in Boy Scouts of America’s South Georgia Council, which is comprised of 28 counties in the region. As the Vice President of Properties for the South Georgia Council, he spearheaded the efforts to restore the Council’s 2 Scout camps following damage sustained by three tornadoes and a hurricane in 2017 and 2018. He also leads by example by participating in many community service projects, such as Flint River Cleanups with Keep Albany-Dougherty Beautiful; food drives to support St. Clare’s Neighbors in Need; Christmas tree recycling with the YMCA and Albawo; parking cars for Phoebe events; and supporting the Exchange Club’s car shows. But his dedication goes beyond community service and mentoring youth and young professionals; Michael’s strong faith in God led him to contribute greatly to the spiritual development of countless young men and women. As Scoutmaster, he initiated a program that dedicates at least one weekly meeting each month for Scouts to work toward religious awards appropriate for their age and denominations.

It is because of Michael’s commitment to his Scouts and the betterment of his community that he has been recognized with numerous awards and distinctions. As a Cub Scout, he earned the Arrow of Light rank—the only Cub Scout award that can be worn once a Scout enters Boy Scouts. While a Boy Scout, he achieved membership in the Immokalee Lodge, Order of the Arrow, and the Ad Altare Dei religious award, as well as earning the rank of Eagle Scout. As an adult, Michael received the Silver Beaver; Outstanding Eagle recognition; and most recently, the Book of Golden Deeds Award, which is the most prestigious award presented by the Albany Exchange Club.

Former Congresswoman Shirley Chisolm once said that “Service is the rent that we pay for the space that we occupy here on this earth.” Michael has paid his rent many times over and continues to give back to the community that raised him. As a member of the American Cancer Society, he was a Captain on the American Cancer Relay for Life Team, a member of the Albany Clean Community Commission and American Institute of Architects.

Michael has served countless people and accomplished many things throughout his life, but none of these could have been possible without his faith, the love, and support of his wife of 36 years, Linda, and their four children—Patrick, Ivy, Hope, and Grant. Being a family rooted in community involvement, Linda Johnson was for many years an elementary school teacher and now serves as the Assistant Principal at St. Teresa’s school, while both Patrick and Grant have earned the rank of Eagle Scout, following in their father’s footsteps.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join my wife, Vivian, and me, along with the more than 730,000 people of the Second Congressional District in extending our sincerest appreciation and best wishes to Michael A. Johnson upon the occasion of his retirement from his over three decades of service to the community through Scouting, youth mentoring, and servant leadership, all of which has improved the lives of so many.

INTRODUCTION OF THE PROMOTING NATIONAL SERVICE AND REDUCING YOUTH UNEMPLOYMENT ACT

HON. ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Ms. NORTON. Madam Speaker, I rise today to introduce the Promoting National Service and Reducing Youth Unemployment Act to address one of the greatest workforce tragedies—our unemployed young people—while filling the employment gap the public sector is facing as more workers choose the private sector. Youth unemployment is harming our young people and costing our country billions of dollars each year in lost productivity and tax revenue, among other costs. Although the total unemployment rate has reached a relatively low (3.7 percent), the youth unemployment rate is nearly 7.5 percent. Too many young people have not had a fair chance to use the high school or college education we strongly urged them to obtain.
What is particularly disappointing, especially in today’s low unemployment economy, is the high unemployment rate for young people who need our advice to graduate from high school and college. The unemployment rate is currently 7.9 percent for people 16 to 24 years old, which is 4.2 percentage points higher than the total unemployment rate, and hundreds of thousands of them now compete for unpaid internships wherever they can find them.

By significantly adding 500,000 new members to AmeriCorps, my bill would need no new administrative structure or bureaucracy but would allow unemployed youth to earn a stipend, obtain work experience and develop a good work history to help secure future employment. The bill would significantly expand job opportunities for young people who have done what they could to get a job, but, despite their best efforts, remain unemployed. AmeriCorps participants receive a living allowance and are also eligible for an education award equal to the value of a Pell grant, school-loan forbearance, health care benefits and childcare assistance. By expanding AmeriCorps, we would reduce the number of unemployed youth, provide them work skills and experience and help understaffed state and local governments provide services.

My bill would also establish that the minimum wage for any AmeriCorps State & National member would be 200 percent of the federal poverty line, and would not allow for a decrease in that amount, as is allowed under current law. AmeriCorps members serve their country and gain skills, but we should increase the minimum wage for everybody, including national service members.

For some time, it has been clear that policies to address the most stubborn forms of unemployment need to be targeted in order to be effective. Without significant targeting, many young people will continue to face their first years as adults without jobs and with no way to acquire necessary work experience. They deserve a better start in life as adults.

I ask my colleagues to support this urgently needed, targeted assistance for our unemployed youth.

HONORING ARMY VETERAN ALBERT EMILE VAN LUCHENE ON HIS CENTENARIAN BIRTHDAY

HON. MATTHEW M. ROSENDALE, SR.
OF MONTANA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Mr. ROSENDALE. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize Army veteran Albert Emil Van Luchene on his 100th birthday, and honor his service in the United States Armed Forces.

Mr. Van Luchene was born in Huntley, Montana on October 3, 1922, to farmers who immigrated from Belgium to Montana in 1911. At eighteen and one-half years old during World War II, Mr. Van Luchene enlisted in the Army and experienced combat as a Communications Sergeant during the Battle of the Bulge in the Ardennes region of Belgium from December, 1944 to January, 1945. Mr. Van Luchene’s valor and heroism during this time would see him later receiving the Croix de Guerre avec et Etoile de Bronze medals from the French government, the European-African-Middle Eastern Theatre Service medal, the American Campaign medal, the American Service medal, the Bronze Star, the American Defense Service medal, the Good Conduct medal, and the American Combat Infantry medal from the U.S. government. Most recently he was also awarded the Quilt of Valor Award.

Today, on behalf of Montana’s At-Large Congressional district, I thank Mr. Van Luchene for his service to our Nation, and I warmly wish him a happy 100th birthday.

HONORING THE BILLY DE FRANK CENTER
HON. ZOE LOFGREN
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Ms. LOFGREN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to commemorate the 40th anniversary of the Billy DeFrank Center. The Center has been an incubator and catalyst for emerging groups and organizations working to meet the needs of the LGBTQ+ community.

The Billy DeFrank Center opened its doors on March 1, 1981, in a two-room storefront. They turned opposition into opportunity by using funds from a failed campaign to repeal ordinances extending housing and employment protections on the gay community to finance their Center.

The Center named itself after William Price, a popular African American drag queen, Billy DeFrank. A mural on the outside of the building honors his commitment to the community and his inclusive spirit.

The Billy DeFrank Center housed several important groups, including High Tech Gays, a major force for change in the 80’s and 90’s. They successfully sued the Federal Government’s Defense Industrial Security Clearance Office (DISCO) for discriminatory practices in issuing High Security Clearances to the LGBTQ+ community.

Sister Spirit Bookstore, a cultural hub for queer women, moved to Billy DeFrank Center’s new and larger site in 1986. Currently, the Center collaborates with various service providers and Silicon Valley Pride to build, unify, and strengthen the LGBTQ+ community in the South Bay.

Throughout the past 40 years, the Billy DeFrank Center has been a beacon of hope, a place to be who you are within your chosen family, to share information to address the diversity of needs in the LGBTQ+ community. Please join me in celebrating this significant milestone.

IN MEMORY OF BOBBY FLYNN
HON. ANDY BARR OF KENTUCKY
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Mr. BARR. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the life of a great American, Mr. Robert Douglass Flynn. Known to everyone as Bobby, he excelled at golf, bowling, and fishing for many years. He served as a referee for football and basketball. He was the manager of press row at Rupp Arena for many years. Bobby was also involved at Keeneland, the Lexington Legends, and KHSAA games. Due to his long-time support of Lexington sports, the annual Bluegrass Sports Award is named after him. His last years were spent at Sayre Christian Village, where he received a Lifetime Achievement Award for service to the community.

Most importantly, Bobby Flynn was a devoted man of faith and a member of Grace Baptist Church. His faith in God directed his life and he modeled his faith in the way that he lived. He was always willing to help others, even at personal sacrifice.

It is my honor to recognize the life of Mr. Bobby Flynn: an outstanding citizen, a patriot, and a man of integrity who loved and served God through his service to the community of Lexington. America is great because of people like Bobby Flynn and I am forever grateful.

RECOGNIZING MALNUTRITION AWARENESS WEEK
HON. JOHN KATKO
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Mr. KATKO. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize Malnutrition Awareness Week. According to the Department of Agriculture, 33.8 million Americans struggle with food insecurity, and in my district in Central New York, nearly one in seven children are food insecure. We have to do more to keep food on the table for American families and address the root causes of malnutrition. That’s why in Congress, I have been proud to support crucial federal nutrition programs like SNAP, which millions of Americans rely on, and have been a consistent advocate for the Meals on Wheels program.

Madam Speaker, I ask that my colleagues in the House join me in recognizing Malnutrition Awareness Week and I urge continued work on efforts to combat food insecurity in America.
HONORING 82ND AIRBORNE HALL OF FAME INDUCTEE GENERAL CURTIS ‘MIKE’ SCAPARROTTI FOR HIS VALOROUS SERVICE AND SACRIFICE

HON. RICHARD HUDSON
OF NORTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Mr. HUDSON. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor General Curtis ‘Mike’ Scaparrotti for his induction into the 82nd Airborne Division’s Hall of Fame on September 28, 2022.

The 82nd Airborne Division’s Hall of Fame began in 2018 to honor the division’s 101 years of service. General Scaparrotti served our country faithfully during the Vietnam War.

A brief look at Gen. Scaparrotti’s career accomplishments only begins to adequately describe the importance of his military service. He began his service to the 82nd Airborne Division as a platoon leader, operations officer, and company commander in the 3rd Battalion of the 325th Infantry. From 1999 to 2001, he then served as commander of the 82nd Airborne’s 2nd Brigade Combat Team. Perhaps most impressively, in 2008 he advanced to become the commanding general of the 82nd Airborne Division where he directed division headquarters’ deployment to Eastern Afghanistan. He served in this position until 2010 and simultaneously served as commander for the Combined Joint Task Force–82 and Regional Command East. In addition to his accomplishments with the 82nd Airborne Division, he provided dutiful leadership and service in many other units and positions. A few of such contributions include his command in Operations Iraqi Freedom and Enduring Freedom in Afghanistan. In 2019, Gen. Scaparrotti retired from the military after serving as the commander of European Command.

In the words of the former commander of the 82nd Airborne Division, Gen. Erik Kurilla, “the All American Hall of Fame is about honoring and congratulating General Mike Scaparrotti for his induction to the 82nd Airborne Division’s Hall of Fame.”

RECOGNIZING 30TH ANNIVERSARY OF HABITAT FOR HUMANITY OF COLLIN COUNTY

HON. VAN TAYLOR
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Mr. TAYLOR. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize Habitat for Humanity of Collin County as they celebrate 30 years of invaluable housing assistance and commitment to fostering safe and healthy communities in Texas’ Third District.

The Collin County affiliate of Habitat for Humanity was incorporated on August 26, 1992, with the goal of providing Collin County families in need with the opportunity to fulfill their dream of homeownership. Since its inception, Habitat for Humanity of Collin County has worked alongside 228 families to build safe and affordable homes and has successfully completed more than 2,142 repair projects. In addition to the organization’s efforts to provide direct housing assistance, Collin County Habitat for Humanity has expanded its services through the opening of two ReStore locations which serve as discount home improvement and donation centers. These ReStores offer reusable and low-cost building materials to the public and use all profits earned to fund the construction of new homes.

The support of the community coupled with the work of countless volunteers is what has enabled Habitat for Humanity of Collin County to successfully provide these vital housing services. Each day, this organization exemplifies what can be achieved when members of a community work together for the common good.

Now as we recognize Habitat for Humanity of Collin County on this milestone occasion, I ask my colleagues in the House of Representatives to join me in honoring their thirty years of dedicated service to Collin County.

RECOGNIZING SECRETARY-TREASURER MARY SHULTZ AND HER HUSBAND DAVE FOR THEIR SERVICE TO THE GARLAND-TOMPICKS AMERICAN LEGION POST 399

HON. JACK BERGMAN
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Mr. BERGMAN. Madam Speaker, it is my honor to recognize Secretary-Treasurer Mary Shultz and her husband Dave for their years of service to the Garland-Tompkins American Legion Post 399. Through their exceptional leadership, steadfast devotion, and willingness to serve, the Shultz family has become an indispensible part of Michigan’s First District.

After the Legion Hall burned down in 1992, Secretary-Treasurer Shultz volunteered to help in the financing and construction of the new hall. For the next 30 years, she served dutifully as the Post’s Secretary-Treasurer—paying bills, tracking membership, and providing sound advice to the Post’s Commanders. Her ‘boots on the ground’ work ethic has driven the Post’s success and inspired a higher level of achievement from its members. During the Post’s dinners and community outreach events, Secretary-Treasurer Shultz has worked closely with other senior leadership to ensure that every member and guest feels welcome. In all of her efforts, she has been supported by her husband Dave, who has also played a major role in the execution of the Post’s tasks and projects. Serving as a sounding board to the Post’s leadership, he has always provided the right advice for the occasion. This family team’s collective contributions to the Post and community cannot be overstated.

Madam Speaker, on behalf of Michigan’s First Congressional District, I ask you to join me in recognizing the service of Secretary-Treasurer Mary Shultz and Dave Shultz. Their actions and work have embodied the highest level of patriotism and service to the citizens of their community.

HONORING VANESSA CASTILLO FOR HISPANIC HERITAGE MONTH

HON. DARREN SOTO
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Mr. SOTO. Madam Speaker, Vanessa Castillo has been a public servant for almost 24 years. The daughter of Puerto Rican parents, she was born and raised in Chicago where she began her studies and taught minority youth.

After moving to Florida in 1998, she began working for the Orange County government where she served for nine years in four departments while obtaining her Associate of Arts degree in 2001 from Valencia College. This led to a new career path serving as a clerk for the municipalities of Haines City, Laudererdale-by-the-Sea, and Winter Haven, where Vanessa serves as the city’s first Hispanic city clerk. While serving the citizens of Winter Haven, she received her Bachelor of Applied Science in Supervision and Management with a concentration in public administration from Polk State College.

A committed public servant, she is honored to serve citizens with integrity, transparency, fairness, honesty, and equality. She is always eager to help them understand the inner workings of government and see it in a positive light. Her main motivations are her parents. Her late mother, a native of Caguas, Puerto Rico, came to the U.S. in the 1970s and was a straight-A student who dreamed of becoming an accountant. Yet, she sacrificed her higher education to put her children first. Her father, also from Caguas, came to the U.S. in 1955 to seek better opportunities. A retired electrician, he dropped out of high school to help his family and later received his GED. Through their efforts, Vanessa became a strong and successful Hispanic woman who has never forgotten her roots.

HONORING THE FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH IN ALEXANDRIA, LOUISIANA

HON. JULIA LETLOW OF LOUISIANA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Ms. LETLOW. Madam Speaker, today I want to honor the First United Methodist Church of Alexandria and its 175 years of service to its congregation and the community.

The First United Methodist Church of Alexandria has an incredibly rich history. In 1847, they were known as the Methodist Church Episcopal South, then recognized as the Methodist Church Episcopal South, where they incorporated the introduction of Methodism in Central Louisiana by the intrepid Methodist Circuit Riders.

Initially, the congregation would come together among various venues for services. The first church building is thought to have been on Front Street, among additional locations, until most of Alexandria was burned by Union troops as they retreated down the Red River in 1864.

The church was rebuilt in 1907, with the new sanctuary located at 630 Jackson Street. In 1927, the construction of an education building followed. Both buildings stand proudly today, having served the Methodists of Alexandria and other congregations since 1968.

In 1968, the church relocated to its current location at 2727 Jackson Street in Alexandria’s historic Garden District. The church has since been expanded and updated to better serve the Congregation and the growing needs of Alexandria and the CenLa region.

Among the church community are 69 pastors, many associate pastors, staff, and lay leaders that have guided and supported the church as it serves the community through various organizations and initiatives such as sponsoring a Boy Scout Troop, an annual arts festival, Buddy Camp, and Fostering the Community Care Closet.

Today, I come before the House to honor the First United Methodist Church of Alexandria on its 175th anniversary and applaud the service they have shown to the people of Central Louisiana.

HONOR FLIGHT OF SOUTHERN OREGON

HON. CLIFF BENTZ
OF OREGON
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Mr. BENTZ. Madam Speaker, I rise to recognize the Korean and Vietnam War Veterans from Oregon’s Second Congressional District who are visiting their memorials on the National Mall through the efforts of Honor Flight of Oregon. When I have the opportunity to meet these heroes, I am reminded of the enduring words of Douglas MacArthur, who said, “Duty, honor, country. Those three hallowed words reverently dictate what you ought to be, what you can be, what you will be.” The words he spoke then, Madam Speaker, still ring true today. Those who value liberty are indebted to these heroes, for each one of them chose to defend freedom through acts of service, incredible sacrifice, and bravery on behalf of our country. It is my privilege to include in the Record their names.

RECOGNIZING COMMANDER DAN DYER AND HIS FAMILY FOR THEIR SERVICE TO THE GARLAND-TOMPKINS AMERICAN LEGION POST 399

HON. JACK BERGMAN
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, September 28, 2022

Mr. BERGMAN. Madam Speaker, it is my honor to recognize Commander Dan Dyer and his family for their years of service to the Garland-Tompkins American Legion Post 399. Through their exceptional leadership, steadfast devotion, and willingness to serve, the Dyer family has become an indispensable part of Michigan’s First District.

In 1966 at the age of 18, Commander Dyer was drafted into the United States Army. A member of the 1st Infantry Division, Bravo Company, he deployed to Southeast Asia where he served with honor and courage as a radio operator and combat soldier during the Vietnam War. Upon his return to the United States 13 months later, he was stationed at Fort Bragg and served as a Drill Sergeant.

With the support of his wife Cindy and his son Jeff, Commander Dyer has dutifully served the Garland-Tompkins American Legion for more than 20 years. After joining the Post in 2001, he later became Post Vice-Commander and then Post Commander in 2012. In these roles, he worked tirelessly to accomplish the many missions and tasks of the Post. However, he did not do this alone. Both his wife Cindy and his son Jeff have played integral roles in the Post’s community outreach efforts—organizing dinners and fundraisers, writing cards to sick Veterans, assisting Post members with their home maintenance needs, along with much more. This family team’s collective contributions to the Post and community cannot be overstated.

Madam Speaker, on behalf of Michigan’s First Congressional District, I ask you to join me in recognizing the service of Commander Dan Dyer, Cindy Dyer, and Jeff Dyer. Their actions and work have embodied the highest level of patriotism and service to the citizens of their community.
Mr. PERLMUTTER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize Wheat Ridge Poultry and Meat for receiving the Wheat Ridge Business Association’s 2022 Business of the Year Award.

The Wheat Ridge Business of the Year Award is given to businesses within our community who exemplifies outstanding service, leadership, and participation in the community and aims to recognize them for their achievement. Eighty years after its original founding in 1942, Wheat Ridge Poultry and Meat remains a cornerstone of Wheat Ridge, Colorado. Driven by the goals of ending food waste and food insecurity, and providing locally sourced fresh products to our community, the operators, Jessica and Bob Babinski, have given back to Wheat Ridge through working with the City to open a food bank for lower income families and those in need of food options. Jessica has leveraged her marketing expertise to not only support her own business, but other businesses within the community too. Wheat Ridge Poultry and Meat deserves all its accolades, and I cannot thank them enough for how they have given back to the community. Wheat Ridge is made better by businesses like Wheat Ridge Poultry and Meat.

Mr. TAYLOR. Madam Speaker, today, I rise to recognize Frisco Fire Chief Mark Piland for his dedicated career and wish him the best as he prepares to begin a new chapter of his life.

Chief Mark Piland has made a lasting impact through his many efforts to strengthen fire safety in the City of Frisco. Now upon his retirement, I ask my colleagues in the House of Representatives to join me in thanking Chief Piland for his dedicated career and wish him the best as he prepares to begin a new chapter of his life.
