

John Kothanek
Vice President, Global Intelligence
Coinbase

John Kothanek has led the Global Intelligence team at Coinbase for 8 years. He has spent 22 years investigating cyber crime, having worked at Paypal prior to joining Coinbase. John served in the United States Marine Corps, and is passionate about protecting the country, good people around the world, and the financial system. In his day to day role, he and his team work to conduct cybercrime investigations and gather information on all levels of criminal activity globally. His expertise includes using blockchain technology to prevent and pursue criminals both domestically and abroad.