PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

Introduced on October 20, 2023, by Representative Blaine Luetkemeyer, H.R. 6015, the Iran Sanctions Accountability Act of 2023, would require the President to prescribe regulations to ensure that humanitarian exemptions involving Iran sanctions do not facilitate acts of international terrorism, transactions with sanctioned persons, or the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

Whether they are imposed through the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (IEEPA) or other statutes, U.S. sanctions typically include exceptions for the sale of agricultural commodities, food, medicine, and medical devices. The intent is to wield sanctions against bad actors, including a government like Iran's, without exacerbating the suffering of civilian populations. At the same time, Tehran is largely indifferent to this suffering, making it essential for the U.S. to ensure that exempted humanitarian trade does not facilitate the government's support for terrorism or weapons proliferation. H.R. 6015 would require the President to promulgate formal regulations with this objective in mind. Such rules may include enhanced know-your-customer procedures, recordkeeping requirements, or other measures, which are especially important given Iran's designation as a jurisdiction of primary money laundering concern.

RELATED HEARING

Pursuant to clause 3(c)(6) of rule XIII, the following hearing was used to develop H.R. 6015: The Subcommittee on National Security, Illicit Finance, and International Financial Institutions of the Committee on Financial Services held a hearing on October 25, 2023, titled “How America and Its Allies Can Stop Hamas, Hezbollah, and Iran from Evading Sanctions and Financing Terror.”

Before the question was called to order the bill favorably reported, the Committee adopted an amendment in the nature of a substitute offered by Mr. Luetkemeyer by voice vote.

COMMITTEE VOTES

Clause 3(b) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives requires the Committee to list the record votes on the order to report legislation and amendments thereto.
