

119TH CONGRESS
1ST SESSION

H. R. 4691

To require the Department of State’s Bureau of Counterterrorism to develop and maintain written counterterrorism strategies for countries and regions where there is a significant terrorist threat or ongoing United States counterterrorism engagement.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

JULY 23, 2025

Mr. LAWLER introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs

A BILL

To require the Department of State’s Bureau of Counterterrorism to develop and maintain written counterterrorism strategies for countries and regions where there is a significant terrorist threat or ongoing United States counterterrorism engagement.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “Responsive Counterter-

5 rorism Policy Act”.

6 SEC. 2. COUNTERTERRORISM STRATEGIES.

7 (a) ESTABLISHMENT.—

1 (1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of State shall
2 direct the Department of State’s Bureau of Counter-
3 terrorism to develop and maintain a written counter-
4 terrorism (CT) strategy for each country or region
5 where there is a significant terrorist threat or ongoing 6 United States CT engagement in order to enhance 7 the effectiveness, coordination, and accountability
8 of United States CT policy.

9 (2) PURPOSE.—Each strategy required by this
10 subsection is intended to be distinct from the Department’s
11 annual Country Reports on Terrorism and is to serve as a forward-looking, 12 operational planning document that is specific to the Bureau of 13 Counterterrorism.
14 Counterterrorism.

15 (b) MATTERS TO BE INCLUDED.—

16 (1) IN GENERAL.—Each strategy required by 17 subsection (a) shall—

18 (A) identify the specific threats posed, articulate
19 clear objectives, outline coordinated actions with interagency 20 partners and international partners, and describe metrics for 21 assessing progress and success;
22 assessing progress and success;

23 (B) specifically describe how coordination
24 with such partners will be carried out, including

1 clearly defined roles, responsibilities, and mech-
2 anisms for collaboration;

3 (C) take into account local political, eco-
4 nomic, and social dynamics and should align
5 with broader United States foreign policy goals;
6 and

7 (D) ensure that the Bureau of Counterter-
8 rorism shall serve as the lead entity with re-
9 spect to such strategies.

10 (2) INTERAGENCY AND INTERNATIONAL PART-
11 NERS.—For the purposes of paragraph (1)(A)—

12 (A) interagency partners shall include all 13 relevant bureaus, offices, and components of 14 United States Government departments and 15 agencies that contribute to CT efforts in any 16 capacity; and

17 (B) international partners shall include all
18 foreign government entities and local actors
19 that are actively engaged in, and demonstrably
20 committed to, CT efforts within their respective 21 countries or regions.

22 (3) REFERENCES.—Any references to other
23 United States Government department or agency or 24 international partner is intended to articulate the 25 Bureau of Counterterrorism’s understanding of on-

1 going efforts, coordination mechanisms, and areas of 2 engagement, and not to imply shared authorship or 3 responsibility for any strategic documents.

4 (4) UPDATES.—Each strategy required by sub-
5 section (a) shall be reviewed and updated on an an-
6 nual basis, or more frequently if significant changes
7 in threat dynamics or policy priorities occur. Each 8 such update should incorporate lessons learned and 9 reflect changes in operational context or strategic 10 priorities.

11 (c) CONGRESSIONAL BRIEFINGS.—

12 (1) INITIAL BRIEFING.—Not later than 90 days
13 after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Bu-
14 reau of Counterterrorism shall brief Congress on the 15 countries and regions for which it plans to develop 16 the strategies required by subsection (a), including 17 the criteria used to prioritize such strategies.

18 (2) ANNUAL BRIEFINGS.—The Bureau of 19 Counterterrorism shall brief Congress annually on 20 the development, implementation, and updates to the 21 strategies required by subsection (a), including how 22 the strategies inform programmatic funding and dip-
23 lomatic engagement.
