

Frank J. Bisignano [Biz-in-yon-oh]
Commissioner of Social Security

Before his confirmation as Commissioner of Social Security, Frank J. Bisignano served as the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of Fiserv, a leading financial technology (FinTech) company that conducts trillions of dollars' worth of digital financial transactions daily.

Prior to that, Bisignano led Fiserv's 2019 merger with First Data Corp., where he was chairman and CEO since 2013. Bisignano also spent time as co-Chief Operating Officer of JPMorgan Chase & Co. under CEO Jamie Dimon and has held senior positions at Citigroup.

His experience managing payments and financial technology systems equips him with the unique skill set necessary to improve efficiency and prioritize customer service at the Social Security Administration.

Born and raised in Brooklyn, his father worked at the Department of the Treasury for 46 years and instilled in Bisignano a deep respect for public service. Among his numerous non-profit commitments, Bisignano serves on the boards of the National September 11 Memorial and Museum, the Mount Sinai Health System, and the Battery Conservancy of New York.

Bisignano, his wife, and their three children reside in New Jersey.
