

BIOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION

Carla Sanchez-Adams is a senior attorney at the National Consumer Law Center (NCLC) focusing on emerging issues in banking and payment systems, fintech, and economic rights of survivors of domestic violence. Carla is board-certified by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization in Consumer and Commercial Law, currently serves on the Texas State Bar's Consumer and Commercial Law Section's Council, and is a Fellow of the American Bar Foundation. Carla served three terms as a Member of the American Bar Association's Commission on Domestic and Sexual Violence, and was a former board member for the National Association of Consumer Advocates (NACA).

Carla is a co-author of NCLC's Consumer Banking and Payments Law treatise.

Prior to joining NCLC, Carla was a managing attorney with Texas RioGrande Legal Aid, Inc., assisting low-income Texans on issues related to debt collection, credit reporting, auto fraud, debt management, and other consumer-related disputes. She led a team of advocates who utilized a holistic approach to achieving economic security for victims of crime, including identity theft victims, survivors of family violence, sexual assault, and human trafficking.
