COMMODITY CREDIT CORPORATION ASSETS AND LIABILITIES

The VICE PRESIDENT laid before the Senate a communication from the President of the United States, which, with the accompanying report, was referred to the Committee on Banking and Currency and ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

THE WHITE HOUSE,
Washington, July 1, 1940.

MY DEAR MR. PRESIDENT: I have the honor to transmit herewith for the information of the Congress a letter dated June 27, 1940, from the Secretary of the Treasury transmitting, pursuant to the provisions of the act approved March 8, 1938 (52 Stat. 107), an act to maintain unimpaired the capital of the Commodity Credit Corporation at $100,000,000 and for other purposes, an appraisal of all the assets and liabilities of the said Corporation as of March 31, 1940.

On the basis of such appraisal the Commodity Credit Corporation has been directed to deposit in the Treasury the sum of $43,756,731.01. During the fiscal year 1938 it was necessary for the Congress to appropriate $94,285,404.73 to maintain unimpaired the capital of the Commodity Credit Corporation and it was necessary for the Congress to appropriate for the fiscal year 1939, a further amount of $119,599,918.05 to maintain unimpaired the capital of the Corporation. There has been appropriated $213,885,322.78 for this purpose, and after giving effect to the recovery of $43,756,731.01 during the current fiscal year, the net expenditures for the last 3 years amount to $170,128,591.77.

The policy adopted by the Congress and incorporated in the act approved March 8, 1938, providing for an annual appraisal of the assets of the Commodity Credit Corporation makes it possible to include currently in each annual budget the expenditures necessary to support the program which that Corporation is engaged upon or the receipts which the Government receives from that activity.

Respectfully,

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

HON. JOHN NANCE GARNER,
President of the Senate, Washington, D. C.

OUTLAWING OF SUBVERSIVE POLITICAL ORGANIZATIONS

Mr. KING. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have inserted in the RECORD and appropriately referred a letter which I have received from the American Legion of Salt Lake City, Utah, Post No. 2, together with a resolution adopted by that splendid organization.

There being no objection, the letter and the resolution were referred to the Committee on the Judiciary and ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

THE AMERICAN LEGION, SALT LAKE POST, No. 2,
Salt Lake City, Utah, June 21, 1940.

Hon. WILLIAM H. KING,
United States Senator, Senate Building, Washington, D. C.

DEAR SENATOR KING: We transmit herewith copy of resolution adopted by Salt Lake Post, No. 2, the American Legion, at its regular meeting held at Salt Lake City, Utah, on June 20, 1940, concerning certain legislation now pending before Congress outlawing the illegal and improper use of political organizations for subversive purposes. As there indicated, we trust you will give your full support to the adoption of such legislation.

We will appreciate your prompt acknowledgment of the enclosed resolution and an indication as to your attitude on the proposed legislation.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) B. K. FARNSWORTH,
Commander, Salt Lake Post, No. 2, the American Legion.

(Signed) WM. J. HIGBEE,
Adjutant, Salt Lake Post, No. 2, the American Legion.

Resolution adopted by Salt Lake Post, No. 2, the American Legion, at a regular meeting of the post held at Salt Lake City, Utah, on June 20, 1940

Salt Lake Post, No. 2, the American Legion, acting in conformity with the policy of the American Legion as indicated by resolutions adopted at its national convention assembled at Chicago, State of Illinois, September 25-28, 1939, inclusive, hereby requests the Members of the House of Representatives and the Members of the United States Senate from the State of Utah to support legislation now pending before the Congress of the United States having for its purpose the outlawing as political parties groups sponsored by or affiliated with any foreign power or foreign political regime.

We recognize the necessity at this time of guarding jealously the civil liberties of the citizens of the Republic. We believe it is better to suffer the evils of abuse of these civil liberties than to adopt a course of conduct which will impinge upon them even in the smallest degree. The protection of these civil liberties is an obligation of every citizen. In times of hysteria or public excitement any attempt to limit the free exercise of citizenship should be carefully examined.

However, it has been definitely and surely established that subversive groups in the United States have used, and are using, the privileges of citizenship in order to destroy our system of free government. It is, therefore, the duty of every citizen to prevent such illegal and wrongful devices and subterfuges to the end that the liberties of all loyal citizens may be protected and sustained. Liberty of conscience, freedom of press, freedom of assembly, freedom of speech, and the right of suffrage must not become implements of those who seek to destroy the American way of life.

There has been a notorious abuse and subversion of the right of suffrage. Communist, Nazi, and Fascist groups have used the disguise of political organization to further their nefarious objectives. They have not been, and are not now traditional political parties. They have used constitutional facilities for the purpose of destroying the Government of the United States and imposing upon this Nation a form or forms of government sponsored by tyrants and dictators of the Old World.

Political differences must and should exist in a free republic, and the spirit of any bona fide and loyal political groups to organize as a political party must always be protected. The use of party organization, however, for the purpose of destroying the government which gives this freedom of suffrage cannot be tolerated by loyal citizens.

Upon this basis and for these reasons, this petition is submitted with the hope that proposed legislation above-described will be adopted by the Congress of the United States.

(Signed) B. K. FARNSWORTH,
Commander, Salt Lake Post, No. 2.
(Signed) WM. J. HIGBEE,
Adjutant.

AMERICAN DECLARATION OF NATIONAL UNITY

Mr. AUSTIN. Mr. President, on behalf of the Senator from New Jersey [Mr. BARBOUR] I ask unanimous consent to have incorporated in the RECORD at this point and appropriately referred the American declaration of national unity by the Council Against Intolerance in America, of which the Senator from New Jersey is one of the co-chairmen.

There being no objection, the declaration was ordered to lie on the table and to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

AMERICAN DECLARATION OF NATIONAL UNITY

Independence Day has greater significance this year than ever before. Always an occasion of rejoicing, it has become a festival of thanksgiving, a call to rededication, a symbol of hope.

For today, war and tyranny have overwhelmed many foreign nations; disloyal elements within our borders undermine national unity by fomenting racial hatred and religious bigotry; antidemocratic forces seek to abrogate civil, political, and economic liberties; dictatorships abroad and traitors at home assail the very ideals of freedom and equality on which this Nation was founded.

These ideals and the institutions derived from them, however, are no less precious to the American people today than in 1776. They are our treasured heritage, our most sacred trust. They still make life worth living. They are still worth defending. If need be, they are still worth dying for.

It is therefore fitting that on this fourth day of July 1940 we Americans renew the covenant of our forefathers, and reaffirm among ourselves and before all mankind:

That all men are created equal.

That the freedom of Americans—which assures liberty of conscience, of speech, of assembly and of the press—is vital to the defense of our country against foreign and domestic foes.

That the equality of Americans—which includes all races, creeds, and colors—recognizes the contributions of each to upbuilding the Nation, and makes loyalty to our country the only test of Christian or Jew, white or Negro, native or foreign-born.

That on these principles of freedom and equality, the American people stand united, and in defense of our national unity—whatever difficulties and dangers lie ahead—we, as did our forefathers, mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

"WE THE AMERICANS"—PETITION

Mr. AUSTIN. Mr. President, also for the Senator from New Jersey [Mr. BARBOUR] I ask unanimous consent to have incorporated in the RECORD at this point and appropriately referred a petition presented by "We the Americans," a national organization for the protection of constitutional government, Philadelphia, Pa.

There being no objection, the petition was ordered to lie on the table and to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

"WE THE AMERICANS," INC.,
Philadelphia, Pa., June 19, 1940.

A PETITION

To the Congress of the United States:

Whereas it is necessary that eternal vigilance be exercised by our representatives in the Congress of the United States in order that our American form of government may be preserved and to avoid the danger of unconstitutional actions by individual officials who might involve this country in a foreign war; and

Whereas the world situation is most critical and requires careful and sound reasoning by our representatives in the Congress: Now, therefore,

"We the Americans," a national organization for the protection of constitutional government, and for other purposes, hereby petitions the Congress of the United States to remain in continuous session for the duration of the war in Europe.

Respectfully submitted.

"WE THE AMERICANS," INC.,
By HERBERT J. KOEHLER, President.

Attest:

H. A. RENNER, Secretary.

RETIREMENT PAY OF CERTAIN OFFICERS AND FORMER OFFICERS

The VICE PRESIDENT laid before the Senate the amendments of the House of Representatives to the bill (S. 134) providing for continuing retirement pay, under certain conditions, of officers and former officers of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps of the United States, other than officers of the Regular Army, Navy, or Marine Corps, who incurred physical disability while in the service of the United States during the World War, and for other purposes, which were on page 2, line 4, after "pay" to insert "and is shown to have been heretofore correctly rated"; on page 2, line 10, to strike out all after "Provided," down to and including "1921" in line 12 and insert "That such person rendered active service as a commissioned officer within the period between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918"; on page 2, line 14, to strike out "directly" and insert "clearly shown by all of the evidence to have been"; on page 2, line 14, to strike out "during" and insert "by"; on page 2, line 17, to strike out all after "of" down to and including "evidence" in line 18 and insert "duty: Provided further, That the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs is hereby authorized and directed to adjudicate claims for emergency officers' retirement in accordance with the provisions of the act of May 24, 1928 (Public Law No. 506, 70th Cong.), subject to limitations contained in section 10 of the act of March 20, 1933 (Public Law No. 2, 73d Cong.), as modified by the provisions of this act, in any case where the disability resulted from injury or disease incurred in combat with an enemy of the United States, and where entitlement is established based upon such injury or disease the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs is hereby authorized to grant retirement with pay as provided in the said act of May 24, 1928, notwithstanding the failure of the person to file claim within the period required by said act of May 24, 1928"; and on page 2, line 19, to strike out all after "Sec. 2" down to and including "act" in line 22.

Mr. GEORGE. I move the Senate concur in the House amendments.

ESTATES OF AMERICAN CITIZENS WHO DIE ABROAD

The VICE PRESIDENT laid before the Senate the amendment of the House of Representatives to the bill (S. 4097) to provide for the disposition of estates of American citizens who die abroad, which was to strike out all after the enacting clause and insert:

That sections 1709, 1710, and 1711 of the Revised Statutes, as amended (U. S. C., title 22, secs. 75 and 77), are hereby amended to read as follows:

"1709. It shall be the duty of a consular officer, or, if no consular officer is present, a diplomatic officer, under such procedural regulations as the Secretary of State may prescribe—

"First. To take possession and to dispose of the personal estate left by any citizen of the United States, except a seaman who is a member of the crew of an American vessel, who shall die within or is domiciled at time of death within his jurisdiction: Provided, That such procedure is authorized by treaty provisions or permitted by the laws or authorities of the country wherein the death occurs, or the decedent is domiciled, or that such privilege is accorded by established usage: Provided further, That the decedent shall leave in the country where the death occurred or where he was domiciled, no legal representative, partner in trade, or trustee by him appointed to take care of his personal estate. A consular officer or, in his absence, a diplomatic officer shall act as the provisional conservator of the personal property within his jurisdiction of a deceased citizen of the United States but, unless authorized by treaty provisions, local law, or usage, he shall not act as administrator of such personal property. He shall render assistance in guarding, collecting, and transmitting the property to the United States to be disposed of according to the law of the decedent's domicile.

"Second. After having taken possession of the personal property, as provisional conservator, to inventory and carefully appraise the effects, article by article, with the assistance of two competent persons who, together with such officer, shall sign the inventory and annex thereto an appropriate certificate as to the accuracy of the appraised value of each article.

"Third. To collect the debts due to the decedent in his jurisdiction and pay from the estate the obligations owed there by the decedent.

"Fourth. To sell at auction, after reasonable public notice, unless the amount involved does not justify such expenditure, such part of the estate as shall be of a perishable nature, and after reasonable public notice and notice to next of kin if they can be ascertained by reasonable diligence such further part, if any, as shall be necessary for the payment of the decedent's debts incurred in such country, and funeral expenses, and expenses incident to the disposition of the estate. If, at the expiration of 1 year from the date of death (or for such additional period as may be required for final settlement of the estate) no claimant shall appear, the residue of the estate, with the exception of investments of bonds, shares of stocks, notes of indebtedness, jewelry or heirlooms, or other articles having a sentimental value, shall be sold.

"Fifth. To transmit to the General Accounting Office the proceeds of the sale (and any unsold effects, such as investments of bonds, shares of stocks, notes of indebtedness, jewelry or heirlooms, or other articles having a sentimental value), there to be held in trust for the legal claimant. If, however, at any time prior to such transmission, the decedent's legal representative should appear and demand the proceeds and effects in the officer's hands, he shall deliver them to such representative after having collected the prescribed fee therefor.

"The Comptroller General of the United States, or such member of the General Accounting Office as he may duly empower to act as his representative for the purpose, shall act as conservator of such parts of these estates as may be received by the General Accounting Office or are in its possession, and may, when deemed to be in the interest of the estate, sell such effects, including bonds, shares of stock, notes of indebtedness, jewelry, or other articles, which have heretofore or may hereafter be so received, and pay the expenses of such sale out of the proceeds: Provided, That application for such effects shall not have been made by the legal claimant within 6 years after their receipt. The Comptroller General is authorized, for and in behalf of the estate of the deceased, to receive any balances due to such estates, to draw therefrom on banks, safe deposits, trust or loan companies, or other like institutions, to endorse all checks, bills of exchange, promissory notes, and other evidences of indebtedness due to such estates, and take such other action as may be deemed necessary for the conservation of such estates. The net proceeds of such sales, together with such other moneys as may be collected by him, shall be deposited into the Treasury to a fund in trust for the legal claimant and reported to the Secretary of State.

"If no claim to the effects the proceeds of which have been so deposited shall have been received from a legal claimant of the deceased within 6 years from the date of the receipt of the effects by the General Accounting Office, the funds so deposited, with any remaining unsold effects, less transmittal charges, shall be transmitted by that office to the proper officer of the State or Territory of the last domicile in the United States of the deceased citizen, if known, or if not, such funds shall be covered into the general fund of the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts on account of proceeds of deceased citizens, and any such remaining unsold effects shall be disposed of by the General Accounting Office in such manner as, in the judgment of the Comptroller General, is deemed appropriate, or they may be destroyed if considered no longer possessed of any value: Provided, That when the estate shall be valued in excess of $500, and no claim therefor has been presented to the General Accounting Office by a legal claimant within the period specified in this paragraph or the legal claimant is unknown, before disposition of the estate as provided herein, notice shall be given by publishing once a week for 4 consecutive weeks in a newspaper published in the county of the last known domicile of the deceased, in the United States, the expense thereof to be deducted from the proceeds of such estate, and any lawful claim received as the result of such advertisement shall be adjusted and settled as provided for herein.

"1710. For the information of the representative of the deceased, the consular officer, or, if no consular officer is present, a diplomatic officer, in the settlement of his estate shall immediately notify his death in one of the gazettes published in the consular district, and also to the Secretary of State, that the same may be notified in the State to which the deceased belonged; and he shall, as soon as may be, transmit to the Secretary of State an inventory of the effects of the deceased taken as before directed.

"1711. When a citizen of the United States dies in a foreign country and leaves, by any lawful testamentary disposition, special directions for the custody and management, by the consular officer, or in his absence a diplomatic officer, within whose jurisdiction the death occurred, of the personal property in the foreign country which he possessed at the time of death, such officer shall, so far as the laws of the foreign country permit, strictly observe such directions if not contrary to the laws of the United States. If such citizen has named, by any lawful testamentary disposition, any other person than a consular officer or diplomatic officer to take charge of and manage such property, it shall be the duty of the officer, whenever required by the person so named, to give his official aid in whatever way may be practicable to facilitate the proceedings of such person in the lawful execution of his trust, and, so far as the laws of the country or treaty provisions permit, to protect the property of the deceased from any interference by the authorities of the country where such citizen died. To this end it shall be the duty of the consular officer, or if no consular officer is present a diplomatic officer, to safeguard the decedent's property by placing thereon his official seal and to break and remove such seal only upon the request of the person designated by the deceased to take charge of and manage his property."

Mr. ASHURST. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the RECORD several letters written by me, certain speeches I have delivered, and bills introduced by me which became laws.

There being no objection, the matters were ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

TOWNSEND PLAN

Mr. ASHURST. Mr. President, will the Senator from California yield?

Mr. DOWNEY. I yield.

Mr. ASHURST. The able Senator said he would be delighted to speak a week. I am one of many Senators who would not be wearied if he did speak a week.

If the Senator will pardon me for a reference—it is hardly a question—I want to interject something into his speech.

OLD-AGE PENSION PLAN

A very able citizen, not residing in my State, wrote to me, "I understand you are going to support the Townsend old-age pension plan as it is to be introduced by Senator Downey. I would like to know what you mean. Can you explain it?" The explanation I made to that citizen was to send him the bill, with the statement, "The bill itself is the strongest argument I can make for the bill." He was fair enough to reply, "Having read the bill, I am for it."

In this life we are beset by many perplexing things and frequently we are in doubt as to which way to turn. One of the rules of moral philosophy is that, in the effort to discover what is right and what is wrong, we should search for simplicity. Truth is generally to be identified by its extreme simplicity. A complicated matter, crisscrossed by many lines, difficult of discernment and of analysis, may be suspected. The very simplicity of the Senator's new Townsend bill indicates its truth and its strength.

If I am correct in my analysis of the bill, it does not cancel or stop any issue, rent, profit, or income any person receives. A person may be eligible for this pension at 60 years of age, provided he or she does not receive or earn any salary or wages. Am I correct in that?

Mr. DOWNEY. That is correct.

Mr. ASHURST. A boy 12 years of age could compute on the back of a postal card just how much each citizen owed and should pay the Government under the new Townsend old-age pension plan. Am I correct about that?

Mr. DOWNEY. That is correct.

Mr. ASHURST. Note the simplicity. Experts are sent from the Bureau of Internal Revenue each year so that we may forsooth have help in making out our income-tax returns. Under existing law the most well-intentioned man must have the aid of an expert in making out his return. That is what annoys and perplexes the citizen. The American citizen is glad to pay something to his Government, but he objects to the annoyance of being constantly beset by a number of perplexing questions he must answer, with the fear that he may be entrapped, notwithstanding he is trying to be fair.

I wish to commend to the Senate and to the country this new Townsend bill which the Senator from California [Mr. Downey] has proposed. Senators will be amazed at its simplicity. I repeat, a 12-year-old boy with his pencil could compute on the back of a postal card how much any citizen owed the Government under the Townsend pay-as-you-go plan.

Moreover, in this bill Dr. Townsend has hit upon a truth which may ultimately prove to be the solution of this country's financial troubles. We may come to it, and I think we should. The suggestion is, no appropriation without a tax side by side with it to pay the appropriation.

Some wise man someday will drive through Congress a measure, or the American people will adopt a constitutional amendment, providing that there shall be no appropriation without a tax to accompany it. That will prove to be something which will aid the Government in meeting its bills in the future. It might prevent extreme inflation. Senators would find a pleasure in knowing that when they made an appropriation there would be a tax accompanying it. Am I correct in saying the new bill so provides?

Mr. DOWNEY. The Senator is correct.

Mr. ASHURST. I have studied the new Townsend old age pension plan to be proposed by the Senator from California, for more than 2 months. I have given it the best thought of which I have been capable, and I hope the House will send it to us; I suppose the House will have to originate it. I happened to know the Senator from California when he was a very young boy, and I inflicted a torrent of words on an occasion when he was present more than 35 years ago in a county courthouse in the West. I know that he is a very able lawyer, and his career at the bar demonstrates that he has practiced law with much success.

Let us assume a Senator whose salary is $10,000 a year; he and all other citizens would be entitled to deduct $3,000 as their exemption, which would leave $7,000 taxable at 2 percent, and his tax would be $140 a year.

There is not a Senator, not a Member of the House, in my judgment, who would not be delighted to make that contribution. The precedent set would be wholesome.

Mr. CLARK of Idaho. Mr. President, I may add further, if the Senator will yield, to say that this conception of a gross-income tax is not new. The State of the distinguished Senator from Indiana [Mr. MINTON] has a gross-income tax now and has had for some time.

Mr. SHIPSTEAD. Mr. President, will the Senator yield?

Mr. DOWNEY. I yield.

Mr. SHIPSTEAD. I might add that the State of Minnesota for more than 40 years has taxed its railroads on the basis of gross earnings, and many of our State taxes are earmarked for certain purposes.

Mr. DOWNEY. I cannot conclude my remarks, Mr. President, without discussing somewhat the experience I had with the Senator from Arizona [Mr. ASHURST], to which he adverted awhile ago, and I must say that it is partly the example of the distinguished Senator from Arizona that makes me want to talk another week upon this subject, though I feel compelled to restrict myself to an additional 15 minutes.

Like the Senator, I come from the great and boundless West. In my younger days I spent some time around a lonely mining camp near Winnemucca, which is out on the desert of Nevada, where the great boast of the prospectors and the people generally is that one of the great statesmen and speakers and philosophers of America was born there, to wit, the Senator from Arizona [Mr. ASHURST]. I have never told the Senator that before, but many times when I have been out in the lonely mining camps in the deserts of Nevada I have found the people there still talking of Senator ASHURST. Senator ASHURST was taken to Arizona when a mere child.

At one time, when I was about 17 or 18 years of age, when I had been expelled from a preparatory school, my father sent me out to labor in the world with a surveying crew, and one day I came into the town of Flagstaff, Ariz. And as I approached the courthouse I saw a great crowd surrounding the building and there was a great air of excitement. As I walked up to the steps to see what the occurrence was I heard a booming, vibrant voice coming out from the courtroom. I asked one of the bystanders what was up and he told me there was a famous murder case at trial and that a young district attorney, who was known as the silver-tongued orator of Coconino County, was making an address for the prosecution. Even then I was interested in oratory, so I decided to listen and finally wormed my way up into a crowded window, and I looked out into the courtroom where I could see the judge upon the bench, the unfortunate defendant, and the jury, and there addressing the jury was a great, broad-shouldered, fine-looking young man, I guess of 26 or 27, holding forth with powerful magnetic oratory. The first thing I heard him say, Mr. President, was this:

"Now, gentlemen of the jury, as I stated to you when I began this argument I week ago [laughter], I had 10 points to develop. I have now covered the first 2, and I am going to proceed to the third one. [Laughter.]"

I might say, Mr. President, that right there my surveying crew lost an employee, because I stayed to listen to all the points, and I lost nearly a month's salary.

When I was an amateur in the Senate several months ago, in my first session, there had been long and laborious arguments, and some of the columnists had been complaining because the Senators were taking up so much time, either stating what was obviously so, or worse, what was obviously not so, and I think our most distinguished orator, the Senator from Arizona, who combines a perfect facility of language with a great philosophy and a great poetical imagination, rose and said there and then that he believed that any Senator, without exception, should be able to say all that he had in his mind in the brief space of 15 minutes. That took me back to those Flagstaff days when I had heard him talking as a young lawyer.

Mr. ASHURST. Mr. President, I would be lacking in grace and would be either less than human or more than human if I did not thank the genial and able Senator from California, whom, as I said, I have known since his boyhood, and whom I am proud to call my friend.

EXTRACT FROM AN ARTICLE BY ALVA JOHNSTON IN THE SATURDAY EVENING POST, DECEMBER 25, 1937

Senator ASHURST has always had reverence for the elder Senator Lodge and for other scholars in politics, like President Theodore Roosevelt and the late Senator Bronson Cutting. He probably knows more quotations than the three of them together, but they knew Greek, and ASHURST doesn't. The Arizonian is not a Latin scholar, but he has memorized innumerable Latin quotations. All the Latin that he knows he knows by heart. It is almost as dangerous to misquote Latin as English in his presence. He is industrious and is vigilant about Arizona affairs. One of the points in his favor is that he has refused to practice law on the side. ASHURST regards that sort of thing as beneath his dignity; he thinks, also, it would interfere with his scholarly pursuits and with his diligence in Arizona's and the Nation's business. He could roll in wealth if he were willing to sell his name, for his prestige as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee could be made an important commercial asset.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11, 1940.

Gen. FRANK T. HINES,

Administrator, Veterans' Affairs, Washington, D. C.

DEAR GENERAL HINES: When H. R. 12175 was pending in the Senate of the Sixty-ninth Congress, I offered an amendment which was adopted by the Senate and became a part of Public Law No. 448.

My amendment provided for certain compensation to ex-service men suffering from tuberculosis of a "compensable degree," and, for the lack of a better description, has come to be known as the Ashurst amendment.

Will you please inform me as to the number of ex-service men now receiving compensation under the provisions of my amendment, and also please further advise me as to the gross sum of money (compensation) which to date has been paid to ex-service men under and by virtue of this Ashurst amendment and its subsequent amendments?

With high esteem, sincerely yours,

HENRY F. ASHURST.

VETERANS' ADMINISTRATION,
Washington, April 17, 1940.

HON. HENRY F. ASHURST,

United States Senate, Washington, D. C.

MY DEAR SENATOR ASHURST: Reference is made to your letter of April 11, 1940, requesting information as to the total cost of paying a statutory $50 award to World War veterans suffering from a tuberculous disease of a compensable degree which has reached a condition of complete arrest.

There are now on the rolls approximately 41,400 veterans who are receiving a statutory award of $50 for arrested tuberculosis, and the total cost of this provision of the law to date is approximately $207,091,000.

Very truly yours,

FRANK T. HINES,
Administrator.

TAX-EXEMPT SECURITIES

Mr. ASHURST. My proposed amendment strikes at an evil in our system of taxation which is already great, and if unchecked will grow—indeed has grown—to such magnitude as to threaten the existence of our institutions.

The existence of conditions that enable any municipality or political subdivision to issue tax-free securities directly permits a certain class of property owners to partake of the comforts and benefits of governments without bearing any share of the expense burden of government.

All private property should pay its just proportion of the expense of maintaining the Government.

The issuance of tax-exempt securities permits:

(1) A large portion of property to escape taxation, thereby causing great loss of revenue.

(2) It violates the sound tax principle of "ability to pay," and it unfairly discriminates among taxpayers.

(3) It discourages investment in new enterprises.

(4) It encourages extravagances of governmental agencies.

(5) It grants private subsidies and special privileges, obnoxious to our system.

(6) By withdrawing money from private enterprises it increases the rate of interest required for all enterprises not carried on by the Government, and thereby adds to the cost of living.

(7) It creates, and quite naturally, social unrest.

Vigor and vision are the supreme need of the hour, and unless we act with promptness on this subject, the National Government and some of the States will bog down and sink into the grasp of the all-smothering, all-destroying quicksands of insolvency.

SEA POWER

Mr. ASHURST. Mr. President, it was sea power that saved Rome from Greece.

It was sea power that saved Greece from Persia.

It was sea power that gave to the Phoenicians the command of the ancient maritime world. Sea power built up the far-flung commercial empire of Carthage. Sea power made Athens ruler of vast territories, and it was sea power that made the Rome of antiquity mistress of the civilized world. Rome could not have subsisted without her sea power, because nearly all her wheat came overseas.

When Spain had great sea power she dominated Christendom; and Spain's decline began when storms and British seamanship wrecked her great Armada.

The sea power of the American Colonies with the sea power of France won the American Revolution, and the naval blockade defeated the Confederacy.

During the World War the Allies would have starved had it not been for sea power.

TO AUTHORIZE LOANS FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF STRATEGIC AND CRITICAL MINERALS—LOANS TO SMALL MINES

Mr. ASHURST. Mr. President, we should read history because we learn from reading history that we learn nothing from history. Let us for once, however, learn something from history. In times of antiquity when men went to battle, personal valor and esprit de corps usually turned the tide. In those far-off days, weapons were of iron, copper, zinc, sometimes of bronze, a composition of copper and tin; sometimes of brass, a combination of copper and zinc; sometimes a weapon was fashioned of hardwood, and often a spear head or arrow point was made from volcanic glass called obsidian; and now and then, forsooth, a shield was made from tough bull hide. Some armies used catapults to hurl stones and some armies were equipped with chariots with bladed wheels. Those days have gone. Chivalry, personal courage, physical prowess, and moral indignation then counted for much and frequently determined the destiny of nations. But, Mr. President, in recent years we have learned that the valor of the brave is of little or no avail against mechanized armies or remorseless engines pointed at human hearts which are only flesh and blood. We have recently seen France, with a valor beyond the range of eulogy, walk the path of duty, death, and glory. Valor availed nothing against mechanized armies.

Mr. President, at this time I refer to the labors of the junior Senator from Utah [Mr. THOMAS] and the labors of the junior Senator from Montana [Mr. MURRAY] in the efforts they have put forth to procure for the Nation strategic, critical, and essential minerals. It will be remembered that during the World War we were required to depend upon importations from foreign countries for many strategic and critical minerals.

In a time of trouble we cannot depend upon supplies of strategic and critical minerals from foreign countries. The Creator in His beneficence and judgment has deposited in the hills of the United States nearly all, if not all, the minerals necessary for industry and for the defense of the United States if we will but develop them.

Mr. President, there has been talk of an adjournment of Congress. In the most perilous age of the world's history, when civilization is in deadly danger, there are men—they are not in the Senate, they are not in the House—who talk of adjourning, of running away and abandoning duties. Let me say to you, Mr. President, that those who vote to go home should be kept there. We cannot add to the efficiency and strength of the United States by running away and abandoning the duties we were elected, sworn, and paid to perform.

There is no remorse so inveterate, so keen, as that which comes from the consciousness that we abandoned duty in a day of national distress. There is no happiness more sustaining and unselfish than that derived from the consciousness that we performed our duty in a manner worthy of American Senators. Success, safety, and efficiency fly upon high and rapid wing; they must be seized as they pass by; once gone they may not be overtaken.

I have announced that I am a candidate for reelection to the Senate. I am opposed by able and worthy opponents. I have some fences in a bad state of disrepair; I should like to go home to repair them; but, Mr. President, I would be unworthy to be heard here for a moment if I placed the mending of my political fences and the care of my political fortunes above the success, safety, and efficiency of my country and above the preparation and rearmament for its defense.

If we are to assist the President of the United States in carrying out his program of preparedness, let us take steps toward acquiring the strategic and critical minerals so necessary to our national life. I refer particularly to manganese. We have an abundance of manganese if it is developed. During the World War the ship Cyclops, laden with manganese from Brazil, was sunk without trace with over 300 souls on board. Laden with manganese for the United States, she went down to the airless meadows of the cavernous deep. Nothing has been heard of her since.

Manganese, as every Senator knows, is used to "sweeten" pig iron and to make steel. I shall not tire the Senate by reciting the long list of the strategic and critical minerals necessary for our defense. It is not proposed to put the Government into the mining business. The Government, forsooth, cannot go out and discover a mine. It is not equipped to do so. The prospectors and miners of our country, if given an opportunity to obtain credit, will produce the necessary strategic and critical minerals.

In the Senate, July 28, 1939

TO AUTHORIZE LOANS FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF STRATEGIC AND CRITICAL MINERALS—LOANS TO SMALL MINES

Mr. ASHURST. Mr. President, the amendment extends and enlarges the power of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation so that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation may make loans to small mines and prospectors. In the present situation the Reconstruction Finance Corporation may make loans only to facilitate the exploration and development of gold mines, silver mines, and tin mines.

The American prospector dwells in the future; he has faith in the future, and has faith in himself. He is willing that a couple of burros may be his companions. I wish I had the time, as I have the inclination, to pay a tribute to the burro; he conquered the desert. The prospector with his burro and a grubstake—the word "grubstake" is a definite, valid locution, it is known to the law—searches for minerals.

His grubstake arises from the fact that some friend, possibly some merchant or other person, advances to the prospector supplies, blankets, powder, and other equipment, with the understanding that as to what the prospector may discover in the way of minerals, the man furnishing the grubstake shall be entitled to whatever proportion of the "discovery" the contract calls for, and such a contract is valid.

Many able and thoughtful persons erroneously believe that any man may go out and through some happy stroke, without much effort, discover a rich mine. That might happen in the realm of fiction, but such experience is so rare in this practical world that no substantial dependence may be placed upon it. The development of a mine is like the gathering of waters to form a great river. The Mississippi River, for example, does not spring forth full panoplied like Minerva from the brow of Jove; it comes from a small alpine spring here, a slender stream there, snow melting on yonder hills, slender stream joining stream, multiplied again and again, swelling in volume as it flows, until it becomes a mighty river, fed originally by a multitude of meandering streams.

So it is with a great mine. The prospector goes forth with his grubstake; he finds what appears to him to be a good prospect; he finds "float." He stakes out his claim, he does "discovery work." With strong arm and unerring eye he directs the point of a miner's pick and develops his mining claim.

He may not have adequate means, and his backers may not have adequate means with which practically to develop the discovery, but if he can borrow $2,000, $3,000, or $5,000 he may develop his discovery. He may meet failure. But he is—I was going to say endowed, but I shall say he is endowed with hope and zeal. He believes in the mineral resources of his country; he believes in his luck and, with courage and strength, he strikes the breast of the mountain and minerals gush forth—sometimes, not always. Small mines sometimes become great mines, and most great mines were once small mines.

Mr. President, the Government may not, in the nature of things, employ prospectors and direct prospecting. For the discovery of these critical and strategic minerals so important to industry and to national defense we cannot depend upon the Government; we must depend upon the initiative, the boldness, the energy, and the courage of the prospector.

LATTER-DAY SAINTS

[Remarks of Hon. HENRY F. ASHURST, of Arizona, Tuesday, November 11, 1919]

Mr. ASHURST. Mr. President, I am glad that the Senator from Utah, Mr. Smoot, has spoken as he has. It was time for such a speech. A matchless maker of epigrams said that when "once a lie or a counterfeit statement gets into circulation it is well-nigh impossible to overtake it"; and therefore I believe the Senator from Utah has done a service to his country in exposing this infamous slander which has been published broadcast against so many worthy people.

When I read the article I felt offended because there are in Arizona a large number of Mormon people, or people who belong to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints; and I would be false to that principle of fair play for which I have always pretended that I stood if I failed at this time to say a word on the subject.

It may be that I do not understand fully the theology of the Mormon Church; but, Mr. President, the first church I ever attended was a Mormon church. When there was no other church within 100 miles of the lonely frontier cabin where my parents lived, we found solace and comfort in attending the Mormon church situated 9 miles distant. Our nearest—in fact, our only—neighbors for years were the Mormon people. Better neighbors no pioneer ever had. I am proud of the Mormon people. I am proud of the friendship that I have for them and that I believe they have for me, and I am able to say here in the Senate of the United States that their church has elevated many intellects and purified many hearts in my State.

As pioneers in a new country the Mormons are unrivaled. They are sober, industrious, frugal, honest. They are preeminently State builders; and today, if called upon to name a people who could most expeditiously transform a desert into splendid fields and farms, I would unhesitatingly choose the Mormon people. In many places where once the cacti lifted thorn arms into the brazen and heated air Mormon industry has reared temples, hospitals, homes, factories, and schools.

Moreover, I never saw a Mormon I. W. W.; but I have at some county courthouses in my State heard disgruntled, lazy, and indolent men who did not belong to the Mormon Church sit on the steps of the courthouse and curse the Government, while Mormon citizens were going into the same county courthouse to pay taxes without complaint.

Mr. OWEN. Mr. President—

Mr. ASHURST. I yield for a question.

Mr. OWEN. I should like to ask the Senator if it is not a tenet of the Mormons to teach and preach industry and thrift?

Mr. ASHURST. I am able to state that industry and thrift are amongst the foundation stones of the Mormon Church. Absolute and unquestioned obedience to law is a tenet of the Mormon Church. Respect for authority is one of the tenets of the Mormon Church. We need more of such people in these perilous times of the Republic; and, again, I would be false to every principle of justice and to every sentiment of gratitude if I failed to state at this time that when savage Indians galloped along by our pioneer homes, burning and murdering, plundering and scalping as they went, it was to the Mormon people that my defenseless but heroic parents went for refuge and defense.

Mr. President, I say the Senator from Utah has done well in "scotching" this falsehood, which has been given such wide circulation. I believe the American people are coming at last fully to understand the Mormon people. Their temples, schools, fields, homes, industry, frugality, their morality, and their patriotism testify for them in more eloquent terms than the Senator or I could speak. Then, again, observe their Representatives in the House and in the Senate. Look at the high class of public servants they send here. I ask that the Mormons be judged as a people, judged as a religion, by their fruits; and if they be judged by their fruits the verdict of the world will be in their favor.

It seems to me that the time should be welcomed in America when men shall not further be assailed because of their religion or lack of religion. Men ought not further be assailed or discriminated against because of their particular view of how to follow the Master. America was built up, and one of the reasons for the migrations from the old countries to these shores was that our ancestors desired to find a place to build free and strong States where such ignoble sentiments as bigotry could not survive.

I do not forget that the splendid domain of Arizona, one of the imperial States of this Union, came into being largely through the brave exploits of the Mormon people. When Gen. Stephen Kearney was beleaguered near San Diego during the Mexican War, and it seemed as though the Mexicans were going to capture and annihilate him and his entire command, it was the Mormon battalion that marched all the long way from Iowa into Tucson, Ariz., and occupied in then Mexican territory a domain we now know as the Gadsden Purchase, which was purchased by our Government in 1854. When the commanding officer of the Mormon battalion, Lt. Col. St. George Cooke, entered the then Mexican town of Tucson and raised the American flag, he issued a pronouncement, as follows:

"We do not war upon civilians. We make war against men in uniform only. The property of individuals will be held sacred. All civil rights will be upheld. Those who obey the law and conform to order will be protected."

The command remained there some days to refresh itself and then marched on to the relief of General Kearney who, as I said, was beleaguered and surrounded near San Diego.

So, Mr. President, the Mormon people, as pioneers, as State builders, as statesmen, as people of industry and patriotism in every department of life, compare well and favorably with the general mass of their fellow citizens. This much I should have said; more than this I need not say.

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 22, 1940.

MR. FREDERIC E. FOX,
Flagstaff, Ariz.

DEAR MR. FOX: Your letter of January 15 received, advising that you are compiling a history of the five Babbitt brothers.

It is now more than 53 years since I first met the Babbitt brothers—David, George, Charles, William, and Edward. Within a short time after they settled in northern Arizona they, severally, established character as forward-looking, courageous, reliable citizens, and down through the years they contributed toward the upbuilding and the dramatic progress of Arizona.

When I was trying to earn $20 per month as a cowboy (I was overpaid) I rode scores of days and many hundreds of miles under the summer sun and winter stars with Bill Babbitt. Bill was a clean-spoken, chivalrous cowhand.

The thundering herd would sometimes stampede, and this caused some cowhands to let out profanity as they rode furiously and hard, but Bill was serene, and silent as he rode, and let out no profanity, even of the low, sweet, soft kind.

When the chuck wagon would break down or get lost, or the camp cook would turn cranky and there was nothing for supper but "wind pudding," Bill was patient and pleasant and endured all hardships with an almost royal humor.

Some years ago Bill went to that vast realm where kings and queens are probably counted as deuces and the American cowboys are probably counted as aces.

With kind regards,
Sincerely yours,

HENRY F. ASHURST.

THE F. B. I.

[Remarks of Hon. HENRY F. ASHURST, of Arizona, in the Senate of the United States, Thursday, April 25, 1940]

MR. ASHURST. Mr. President, the speeches just delivered in the Senate regarding the F. B. I. are timely and pertinent.

Charging the able senior Senator from Nebraska [Mr. NORRIS] with attempting to smear somebody is about like charging Abe Lincoln with engaging in a similar endeavor.

MR. NORRIS. Mr. President, will the Senator yield?

MR. ASHURST. Certainly.

MR. NORRIS. When Abraham Lincoln lived he was charged with that and everything else imaginable in the category of crime and ridicule.

MR. ASHURST. No one believed it.

MR. NORRIS. They do not now; they know better now; but many believed it then.

MR. ASHURST. If the Senator will pardon me, no one believed it then.

MR. President, it is not my function, certainly not my duty, to make any elaborate defense of the F. B. I. or of the Department of Justice. Some 1,600 men make up the personnel of the F. B. I. It would be impossible to imagine that out of 1,600 men there could be no weak member, no rotten bough. The greatest Wisdom, the greatest Mind, the greatest Good on earth, in choosing a cabinet found that He had a denying Peter, a doubting Thomas, and a bribe-taking Judas. Finite man will labor in vain to select men in large numbers without finding some weak one. Therefore, I do not doubt that out of 1,600 men there may be, and doubtless is, some unworthy man.

I speak now as a whole regarding the work of the F. B. I. I shall not even refer to the Detroit cases, because it is my habit never to discuss a matter pending in the courts. It was wise on the part of the speakers who preceded me not to descend into the details of those cases. It is proper in such circumstances to stand in awe of justice and let justice speak.

The members of the F. B. I.—that is, the Federal Bureau of Investigation—are trained men. In my service as a Senator I have made but one recommendation to the F. B. I. I did recommend that a young gentleman be appointed. He was given an examination and could not pass. I requested a reexamination. Still he did not pass. So, far from feeling any resentment against Mr. Hoover, I admire him rather for the strong and sterling way in which he disregarded what might be called a political endorsement.

The F. B. I. requires men of unusual types, sagacious, prudent; they must know when to speak and when to withhold speech. They must know what a criminal would do in certain circumstances. They must even know who would be likely to commit a crime of a particular nature. They must be trained to know what a suspected person will do in certain circumstances. In order to be a successful member of the force of the F. B. I., one must understand physics—that is, natural philosophy; one must understand psychology—that is, the science of human emotions—to an almost perfect degree.

The persons against whom the F. B. I. agents are operating constitute some of the boldest, most desperate, most cruel, and inveterate criminals ever known. Such criminally disposed or antisocial persons desire sensations, wines, high-powered cars, bright lights, ease, comfort, luxury, but lack the ability to earn these things. Therefore they seek to take them by indirection and in violation of the law.

As to communism, I suppose one has a right, under our Constitution, to preach communism. Communism cannot prevail, because it is contrary to the inborn, ineradicable sentiments of the human heart. Deep in the human instincts and enshrined in the hearts of all humans are three things that may not be repealed by any government or any law:

Something to possess. That desire cannot be repealed. Therefore communism will fail because it cannot wipe out the desire to possess something tangible; some property.

Something in which to believe.

Someone for whom to care.

These three things are invincible, and communism will attempt in vain to repeal them. They are part of human life and human destiny.

The Senator from Wisconsin [Mr. WILEY] opened the debate. I listened to him with care, as I listened, of course, with care to what was said by the Senator from Nebraska [Mr. NORRIS] and by the Senator from Florida [Mr. PEPPER]. I agree with them that a man charged with murder or any other crime should be tried strictly according to law. The only hope we have of maintaining this Government is to assure the accused person, no matter how lowly, how poor, how despised such person may be, that he will be tried by the same system of government, the same law, the same rule of evidence, and possibly by the same judge and the same system of jury selection under which the wealthiest, most eminent, most learned citizen would be tried.

MR. President, more than a hundred years ago—yes; longer ago than that—an eminent orator—I leave it to some surer scholar to discover whom it was—said:

"If all the men who have fallen under American justice and have suffered the death penalty in America could be resurrected at the foot of the gallows and, after their resurrection, were to form a government, they would form a government of the same kind as the one under whose justice they fell."

There is no doubt about that, because it is the fairest system ever devised by man. Therefore, of course, it behooves us all to see to it that the civil liberty of citizens shall not be swept away, and that the lowliest and poorest citizen, the most meager in funds, shall be tried by the same law as the most opulent citizen.

It is a singular circumstance which, if it were not so poignant in its tragedy, would be ironical to the point of humor that when a cold-blooded, desperate, cruel, and inveterate gangster is arrested after spending a lifetime inveighing against the Constitution of the United States, after spending much of his ill-gotten gains in an attempt to subvert our system of government, the first thing that gangster does when brought into court is to appeal to this very Constitution for the preservation of his own liberty and for a fair trial. Sirs, the document he tried to destroy, the system against which he inveighed, and against which he bored from within, is the system to which in his day of trial and trouble he appeals for his freedom and his acquittal, if he is to have such. That statement shows the strength, the power, the beneficence, and the justice of the American system of government under our Constitution.

As to Mr. Hoover, let me say that he is a young man. So far as I know, he is a good man. He is not a great man, for no man is ever great until he has had much sorrow, humiliation, and disappointment. No man will be great, or can expect to be great, until he has had full measure of those chastening and refining influences. But measuring Mr. Hoover by his accomplishments—of course, he is not without error—measuring him by what has been done, the record seems good.

When Mr. Cummings was appointed Attorney General in 1933, I happen to know that tremendous pressure was brought to bear upon him to try to induce him not to retain Mr. Hoover as the Chief of the F. B. I. Mr. Cummings made an investigation, which lasted nearly a year, and at the conclusion of the investigation made by Mr. Cummings he determined—and I think wisely determined—to retain Mr. Hoover.

When Mr. Murphy succeeded Mr. Cummings, the same pressure was not brought to bear on Attorney General Murphy to release and discharge Mr. Hoover, but there was some opinion that it should be done. Attorney General Murphy retained Mr. Hoover as Chief of the F. B. I.

When Mr. Jackson succeeded Mr. Murphy as Attorney General—I do not now speak with authenticity or with any real degree of accuracy—he considered the question, and after his investigation he also retained Mr. Hoover as the Director of the F. B. I.

It would be childlike in simplicity to pretend that in such a wide field, a field so pregnant with possibilities for mistakes, no mistake has been made. Whenever you find a public man who has made no mistakes you will find one who has been asleep. I say to my fellow Senators, when they go out into the field to begin their campaigns for reelection they will be charged with having made mistakes. Admit it, certainly, for it shows that you are active; you are trying to do something. Those in the graveyard and those who are asleep probably make no mistakes. I have no doubt, Mr. Hoover has made mistakes. I hope he has not made as many as I have made; but it should not frighten one to be accused of having made a mistake.

Mr. President, again referring to the men required in the F. B. I., some Senators may have a phonographic brain. I congratulate them if they have. It is not, however, conclusive evidence of mental strength to have a phonographic brain, one which can reproduce like a phonograph. While it happens to be no sure evidence of mental strength, the F. B. I. man must have it.

How many Senators have a photographic eye? I congratulate such as have. With the photographic eye, what you see in a flash is engraved on your mind forever. If you have such an eye, you are a remarkable man. The F. B. I. man must have both a photographic eye and a phonographic brain.

The F. B. I. man must be cool. He must be so deliberate and so cool that he even appears to be like a gangster in temperament. Gangsters are the coolest of all men. There is no excitement about them. The first thing they learn about gangster warfare is to keep cool. A false move and the game is over.

Mr. President, these men in the F. B. I., moreover, must be above reproach. They must have no social ambition; they must have no political ambition; and, above all, they must have no financial ambition. It is not easy to find men, certainly regiments of men, who can meet such a test, and that is the test they must meet, otherwise the inexorable law of efficiency soon will exclude them from their positions in the F. B. I.

As for Mr. Hoover, I have never had sip or sup with him. We are not social, fraternal, political companions or comrades, and when I speak of him, as I have done before, I do it because I believe I would exhibit a sort of cowardice, I would certainly exhibit a sort of timidity, if I did not lay before the Senate and the country these observations concerning impressions of the F. B. I. which have come to me down through the years.

I could tire the Senate by a long and detailed account of hundreds of cases which have been solved by the F. B. I., cases so startling in their nature, so remarkable, that one might imagine that the F. B. I. men themselves were endowed with some sort of telepathic sense, so remarkable and so startling have been their achievements.

ORDER OF BUSINESS

The VICE PRESIDENT. There is no unfinished business now pending.

Mr. BARKLEY. Mr. President, it is not desired that the Senate take up the calendar at this time; and in view of the absence of a large number of Senators, I wish to say that, by agreement with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. McNARY], the nominations of Mr. Knox and Mr. Stimson will not be taken up until next Monday. I make that announcement so that Members may be governed accordingly. My information is that the Committee on Naval Affairs has just voted to report favorably the nomination of Mr. Knox.

Mr. CONNALLY. Mr. President, does not the Senator think we ought to be prompt about our action on these nominations, one way or the other, in view of the prevailing emergency, and the fact that these nominations are for the heads of the War and Navy Departments, respectively?

Mr. BARKLEY. I am perfectly willing to act now, so far as I am concerned; but it has been suggested that a large number of Senators are absent.

Mr. CONNALLY. A large number of Senators ought to be here.

Mr. BARKLEY. Of course, the Senator will understand that when we recessed over the Republican convention there was a gentleman's understanding that no business of any importance would be taken up during the week. I try to carry out such understandings, though probably they ought not to be entered into.

Mr. CONNALLY. It seems to me that we have been reminded and we have proclaimed that there is an emergency. These gentlemen are nominated to be the head of the Army and the head of the Navy, and we sit around here and wait a week merely because somebody is absent.

Mr. BARKLEY. The committee waited a week before they took up the nominations. I suppose the Senate may be excused for waiting 3 or 4 days.

Mr. McNARY. Mr. President, I merely wish to add that I am very happy over the decision of the able Senator from Kentucky. A number of Senators are absent, as they naturally would be on account of the Fourth of July. In anticipation of their absence I personally said to a great many of them that I was sure there would be no transaction of business this week.

I do not know of any great emergency calling for immediate action on the nominations of these able gentlemen. A postponement until Monday is not an undue delay; and I hope the Senator from Texas does not feel disturbed on that account.

What I rose to say was that next week, about the end of the week or a little after the middle of the week, I assume some of the Members of the Senate will want to travel to Chicago. I have been asked many times if we would have sessions during the whole of the week. I desire to suggest that probably it would be accommodating to the Members of the Senate who want to go to Chicago to attend the Democratic convention, if the Senate could recess about Thursday, or not later than Friday, in order that they may be there in time.

If we could come to more or less of an understanding on the subject now, it would be very much to the delight and convenience of Members of the Senate.

Mr. BARKLEY. I appreciate the suggestion of the Senator from Oregon. I think more time would necessarily be required than in the case of the Republican convention, because the distance to Chicago is greater than it is to Philadelphia.

Mr. McNARY. Yes; that is what I had in mind.

Mr. BARKLEY. I think we might well understand that about Thursday we shall undertake to recess or adjourn for a period sufficiently long to enable the Chicago convention to nominate the next President of the United States.

Mr. KING. Mr. President, I assume that on Monday we shall take up for consideration the nominations of Mr. Stimson and Mr. Knox, and that disposition will be made of them at that time.

Mr. McNARY. Mr. President, such an arrangement wholly conforms to my view and my pleasure. I think we should have one further understanding in the matter. Shall we meet 2 weeks from next Monday or shall we meet on the following Tuesday or Wednesday?

Mr. BARKLEY. We can determine that matter a little later. I am not prepared now to say.

Mr. CONNALLY. Mr. President, will the Senator further yield?

Mr. BARKLEY. I yield.

Mr. CONNALLY. Is it the understanding, then, that these nominations will be taken up next Monday?

Mr. BARKLEY. Monday; yes.

Mr. CONNALLY. I certainly hope they will be, because it seems that the Navy Department and the War Department ought to be quickly staffed. We ought to put them to work.

Mr. BARKLEY. I think most of the departments are at work.

The VICE PRESIDENT. What is the pleasure of the Senate?

AUTHORIZATION FOR COMMITTEE ON NAVAL AFFAIRS TO SUBMIT REPORTS

Mr. BARKLEY. I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Naval Affairs be authorized to submit reports during the recess or adjournment of the Senate following today's session. I thought the committee would be ready to report the nomination of Mr. Knox before the taking of a recess by the Senate today, but the Senator from Massachusetts [Mr. WALSH] informs me that the committee will not be able to do so.

The VICE PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the request of the Senator from Kentucky that the Committee on Naval Affairs be authorized to submit reports during the recess or adjournment of the Senate? The Chair hears none.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

Mr. BARKLEY. I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of executive business.

The motion was agreed to; and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of executive business.

EXECUTIVE MESSAGES REFERRED

The VICE PRESIDENT laid before the Senate messages from the President of the United States submitting sundry nominations, which were referred to the appropriate committees.

(For nominations this day received, see the end of Senate proceedings.)

EXECUTIVE REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

Mr. SHEPPARD, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported favorably the nomination of Henry L. Stimson, of New York, to be Secretary of War.

Mr. McKELLAR, from the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, reported favorably the nominations of sundry postmasters.

The VICE PRESIDENT. If there be no further reports of committees, the clerk will state the nominations on the calendar.

POST-OFFICE NOMINATION RECOMMITTED

Mr. McKELLAR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the nomination of Harley G. Moorhead, recommended for appointment as postmaster at Omaha, Nebr., the first nomination on page 3 of the calendar, be recommitted to the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads.

The VICE PRESIDENT. Without objection, it is so ordered.

POSTMASTERS

The legislative clerk proceeded to read sundry nominations of postmasters.

Mr. McKELLAR. I ask unanimous consent that the nominations of all the other postmasters on the calendar be confirmed en bloc.

The VICE PRESIDENT. Without objection, the remaining post-office nominations are confirmed en bloc.

LEGISLATIVE SESSION

Mr. BARKLEY. I move that the Senate resume the consideration of legislative business.

The motion was agreed to; and the Senate resumed the consideration of legislative business.

ORDER OF BUSINESS

Mr. CONNALLY. Mr. President, I desire to say to the Senator from Kentucky that my inquiry a moment ago about action on these nominations was not prompted by any pique or any desire to inconvenience absent Senators. My position is that we ought to stay here and attend to the public business. The country wants us to stay here and attend to these matters. These nominations either ought to be acted upon favorably or they ought to be rejected; and it ought to be done now, and not at some other time.

I think if we have nothing else to do we might go ahead with the revision of the tax laws. We are going to have to revise and reconstruct our tax laws, and we ought to do it now, while the people are willing. Six months from now they will have a different attitude toward this whole program.

I shall not object, because it would not do any good to object; but the country want us to stay here, and they are much more concerned with what we do here than with what we do somewhere else. If some Senators want to be absent, let them be excused and let us go ahead. Senators are elected to do business here, in this Chamber, and they ought to be here. [Manifestations of applause in the galleries.]

The VICE PRESIDENT. It is a violation of the rules of the Senate for the occupants of the galleries to manifest approval or disapproval. The Chair may add that while it is the duty of Senators to be here, it is not the duty of the citizenship of the country to interfere with the Senate by applauding in the galleries.

Mr. BARKLEY. Mr. President, the nomination of Mr. Stimson has been reported only today. It could not be taken up today, except by unanimous consent, as every Member of the Senate knows. Tomorrow will be the Fourth of July, and it has been immemorially the custom of the Senate to adjourn over the Fourth of July. So the nomination could not be taken up before Friday at the earliest.

The nomination of Mr. Knox has not even been reported to the Senate, and it could not be reported, except as I have gotten unanimous consent, until Friday, and it could not be taken up then except by unanimous consent. So that the delay in considering these two nominations from Friday until Monday I trust will not seriously interfere with the Navy and War Departments and will not cause our defense program to collapse entirely.

NOMINATION OF FRANK KNOX—REPORT OF NAVAL AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

As in executive session,

Mr. LUCAS subsequently, from the Committee on Naval Affairs, under authority previously granted on request of Mr. BARKLEY, reported favorably the nomination of Frank Knox, of Illinois, to be Secretary of the Navy.

ADJOURNMENT TO FRIDAY

Mr. BARKLEY. I move that the Senate adjourn until 12 o'clock noon on Friday next.

The motion was agreed to; and (at 12 o'clock and 23 minutes p. m.) the Senate adjourned until Friday, July 5, 1940, at 12 o'clock meridian.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, JULY 3, 1940

The House met at 12 o'clock noon.

The Chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O Light of God, fall on life's common ways where human lives are thronging in toil and weakness. Let understanding and courage come with the realization that religion is an experience of comfort, rest, and security; thus can discontent be driven out and the shadows of the future lifted; impress us that physical ease is not civilization. Inspire our people to take the Sermon on the Mount and translate its principles of honesty, purity, and unselfishness into good citizenship. Under God let the world of strife be shut out and the brotherhood of man shut in. O Master of the lonely way, show this drooping, bleeding world anew the wonders that make men free. Deepen in us the most earnest concern for peace, for suffering humanity, and for a passion for human freedom and for social justice. O crown us with conviction and not bigotry, with self-respect and not vanity, and with meekness and power. We pray that our strength may be as the strength of ten because our hearts are pure. Grant that any burdened one may bear patiently the cross of grief and pain. Let come the wisdom and the peace of God to dwell with our Speaker and the Congress. In the name of our ever-living Saviour. Amen.

The Journal of the proceedings of yesterday was read and approved.
