

examined resulted in major legislative reforms, many of which have been enacted into law.

This year, the Aging Committee stands ready and able to take on a host of issues affecting older Americans. Some of the issues we plan to address this year will be investigating fraud and abuse in the Medicare and Medicaid programs and recommending proposals to better protect these programs and their beneficiaries from fraudulent practices; evaluating and recommending improvements in the administration of the Social Security disability programs to ensure a more efficient expenditure of taxpayer dollars; and evaluating the effects of entitlement reform on programs serving the elderly and retired populations. We will also continue to evaluate the effects of health care reform proposals on the elderly, including proposals to assist older Americans and their families bear the exorbitant costs of long-term care.

Mr. President, for more than 30 years, the Special Committee on Aging has overseen the needs and trends of our Nation's aging population and the programs that serve current and future generations of older Americans. It has been my great pleasure and honor to serve under the able leadership of Senator PRYOR as chairman of the Aging Committee and I look forward to working closely with him in his new capacity as ranking member of the committee in a bipartisan, cooperative spirit that has been the tradition of the committee for over 30 years.

We look forward to the challenges the 104th Congress will hold for the Aging Committee, and urge the Rules Committee to approve our budget request.●
