

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in marking this occasion, and saluting Cindy Bowen.

STAY IN SCHOOL YEAR—
CHANDLER, TX

HON. JOHN BRYANT

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, February 6, 1995

Mr. BRYANT of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I call the attention of my colleagues and fellow Americans to the leadership role individuals and governmental groups have assumed in my district, the Fifth Congressional District of Texas, in stressing the importance of education to our young people—particularly in the city of Chandler.

The counties, cities, and towns of this congressional district have for decades mirrored the economic and educational makeup of our Nation, with farming being the economic foundation of the rural counties, while finance, manufacturing, and the service industries stoked the furnace of urban areas.

These traditional roles are now less defined throughout our Nation, and nowhere more so than in the district that I am privileged to serve. New technologies, boosted by the information explosion, have resulted in greater production from fewer individuals on lesser acreage, in dairy, beef, and farming operations.

The result is that, more than ever before, fewer and fewer people are able to work the land in exchange for a comfortable, rewarding living.

The answer to this challenge facing our youth is found in one word—education. It is an accidental illustration of the times that the boundaries of the Fifth Congressional District of Texas are defined by two of the Nation's leading institutions of higher learning.

Just to the north of the district is Southern Methodist University, a long-time Dallas fixture as a liberal arts college and graduate school that supplies the area with leaders in business, legal, and other professions. Just beyond the southern border is Texas A&M University, the Nation's premier land-grant educational system. Scientific breakthroughs within the A&M system have changed the face of agriculture for the better, while A&M graduates exert influence on virtually all phases of industry.

And throughout the fifth district community, private and State universities, and junior college systems enhance educational opportunities for students.

In the Fifth Congressional District of Texas the hardware is in place, the dedication is in place, and the commitment is in place to make sure our leaders in the next century will be at the very least the equals of their competitors in the world market.

An outstanding example of this dedication to excellence in education was recently exhibited in the city of Chandler, Anderson County, TX, thanks to the cooperative efforts of city leaders and the U.S. Army.

Mayor Winston Reagan introduced to the Chandler City Council a proclamation stating that 1995 be Stay In School Year in Chandler. It states:

Whereas, each and every young person in this country needs at least a high school education for both financial and personal reasons, and,

Whereas, the United States Army, through its recruiters, is stressing for all U.S. youngsters to "stay in school and stay off drugs" because an education provides the best opportunities, whether in enlisting in the Army or working at a civilian job; and,

Whereas, Army recruiters will serve as role models for youth and will provide programs encouraging youngsters to stay in school, I, Winston Reagan, Mayor of Chandler, Texas, hereby proclaim 1995 as "Stay in School Year."

I commend Mayor Reagan, the City Council of the City of Chandler, the citizens of Chandler, the U.S. Army and its recruiters for their concerted and cooperative efforts to stress the importance of education, and recommend that their example be followed throughout our Nation.

TRIBUTE TO GEORGE HERMAN
"BABE" RUTH

HON. BENJAMIN L. CARDIN

OF MARYLAND

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, February 6, 1995

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in recognition of George Herman "Babe" Ruth's 100th birthday. In Baltimore, MD, they are celebrating this historic occasion in the house where he was born.

They are celebrating a man who was larger than life, one of America's true heroes. A man who, many claim, "saved" baseball. They are celebrating a man who earned his nickname "The Sultan of Swat" by creating new standards for baseball players and setting extraordinary batting records, many of which still stand today and none of which were broken in his lifetime.

They are celebrating not just the baseball accomplishments and records of a legend. They are celebrating Babe Ruth the Baltimorean; Babe Ruth the devout Catholic, Babe Ruth the devoted son, Babe Ruth the friend to every kid he ever met. Above all, they are celebrating Babe Ruth the man.

I am proud to be from Baltimore and proud to say that George Herman "Babe" Ruth, born at 216 Emory Street in Baltimore, MD on February 6, 1895, is a native son, long to be remembered not only for his athletic ability, but also for the goodness of his heart.

TRIBUTE TO LORRAINE PACE

HON. GARY L. ACKERMAN

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, February 6, 1995

Mr. ACKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask you and my colleagues in the House of Representatives to join me in congratulating Lorraine Pace on the occasion of her induction into the Suffolk County Women's Hall of Fame.

Mrs. Pace's induction is the culmination of her public and private dedication to the survivors of breast cancer. Her tireless activism has made her a role model and an inspiration for all women.

A Long Islander who is all too aware of the high incidence of breast cancer on Long Island, Lorraine continues to be at the forefront of the fight against breast cancer in Suffolk County. As the breast cancer education specialist at the Stony Brook University Medical Center, Mrs. Pace is uniquely qualified to lead this fight that all too many women on Long Island and throughout this Nation must face in their lifetime. The American Cancer Society estimates that 182,000 women were diagnosed with breast cancer last year alone. Approximately 46,500 women died from the disease in 1994.

As the fight to prevent, and find a cure for breast cancer goes forward, Lorraine Pace takes an honored place in the Suffolk County Women's Hall of Fame.

I ask all my colleagues in the House of Representatives to join me in congratulating Lorraine Pace on her induction and lauding her for many years of work on behalf of the women of Suffolk County.

Mr. HINCHEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to ask my colleagues to join me in recognizing the accomplishments of the Mid-Hudson, NY, unit of Irish Northern Aid, commemorating 25 years of support for Irish-American causes. On February 11, the Mid-Hudson unit will come together not only to celebrate the success of the current peace process, but also to pay tribute to several outstanding local citizens who are dedicated to furthering the Irish-American political agenda, principally among them, my friend Tom Hoffay.

He is committed to seeing that our country plays the vital and pivotal role that it is capable of in order to effect lasting peace in Northern Ireland. His dedication to peace through justice is to be commended and should be echoed by all.

I am honored to ask my colleagues to unite with me in expressing support for the Irish-American community on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of Irish Northern Aid.

AMTRAK ROUTE CLOSURE AND
REALIGNMENT ACT OF 1995

HON. FRANK R. WOLF

OF VIRGINIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, February 6, 1995

Mr. WOLF. Mr. Speaker, I am today, along with Mr. BARTON, Mr. ARMEY, Mr. DELAY, Mr. PACKARD, Mr. FOX, and Mr. ENGLISH, introducing the Amtrak Route Closure and Realignment Act of 1995. Before I elaborate on this legislation, I want to say that this is not an attempt to eliminate passenger rail service in the United States.

This is an attempt to save it. This bill is about an economic rebirth of a system headed for financial disaster—a disaster that would
