

still would increase the debt by $1.4 trillion.

There are eight Senators who are not here today who were here before. All eight of these Senators voted "yes" on the spending bill increase. All eight of the Senators voted "yes" on the Clinton tax increases—or seven out of eight of them. All eight of them have a "D" or an "F" rating by the National Taxpayers Union. In the House of Representatives, the same thing is true there.

So the conclusions I come to after having said all of this is that this is a war. This is the chance that we have to change all of this. And those of us who have been working for a balanced budget, by virtue of adding a balanced bud-et amendment to the Constitution, are not just considering what is happening to us today but to future generations.

Every dollar we spend now we are borrowing from future generations. That is why I have this picture. I will introduce you to these two people. This little girl is 21 months old. Her name is Maggie Inhofe. This little boy is 22 months old. His name is Glade Inhofe. They happen, by coincidence, to be my grandchildren. If we do not pass this, the CBO has said that during their lifetime—and there are 10 million more their age in America right now—they will have to spend 82 percent of their lifetime income on Government.

This is our chance to take them out of their bondage and their chains. I really believe now that Talleyrand was right. He said, "The wine is drawn, it must be drunk." The time is here to pass a balanced budget to the Constitution and to turn our future generations free.

Thank you very much, Mr. President. I yield the floor.
