

Senator DOMENICI and the Budget Committee of the Senate and Senator DOLE, our leader. On all the votes that have come along, there have been efforts to untangle that budget that have been apple-pie-and-motherhood votes to add this on or add that on.

I have voted with Senator DOMENICI to hold together that budget package because I feel it is the best budget we have had in my 21 years in Congress. It is the first time we have had a budget that has a vision to move us to a balanced budget by the year 2002. That does not say we are paying anything on the Federal debt. We are not. We still have that huge debt to deal with. It does not say anything that we are going to get into a balanced budget until 2002. We are still engaging in deficit spending until 2002.

What is the big fight about here in town? The President of the United States campaigned on a platform to balance the budget within 5 years. I remember Jimmy Carter's was he was going to balance the budget in 4 years during the time he was President. Ronald Reagan campaigned on a program to balance the budget. Every Member of this Senate has run for the Senate on a program to balance the budget.

The point is, it goes on and on and on, and there are excuses and there are phony numbers, there are CBO numbers, there are these numbers, that numbers. But the American people have said, enough is enough, get on with a plan. There are going to be some people in this segment of the economy angry, some people in that segment.

I think it just takes an across-the-board approach. I think the Domenici-Dole budget has some flaws in it. There are some things in it I disagree with but, generally speaking, it cuts the rate of increase. Some of these programs have been increasing at 12 percent a year. This reduces the rate of increase to between 5 and 7 percent.

With that rate of increase, we can absorb the increases and bring us to a balanced budget. So when we talk about cuts, for the most part, we are not talking about cuts at all. We are talking about increasing at a slower level, but still increasing probably at the rate of inflation. So at least let us get with it. At least let us do it. And I hope our leadership does not compromise away this work and these votes that we have cast this year. I hope we stick to our guns and stick to this plan that has been put forward, which I call the Domenici-Dole budget.

Mr. President, let me say something about middle-class working people. One way or another, they end up paying most of the taxes in this country. I think that is unfortunate. I am a member of the Finance Committee, and I have tried to change that. There are promises about a flat-rate tax in the future, and there are promises about a tax on consumption instead of income taxes in the future. But it will still end up that those families or those individuals who work hard, obey the law, they end up pulling the wagon. They are the ones paying for this nonsense, and they are the ones out there who helped elect this new Congress. In frustration, they are saying, "Let us do something about this."

Mr. President, I think it is time for us to do something. I hope to continue to be a part of that. I ask our leadership not to make compromises that are unnecessary, that go beyond the framework of the Domenici-Dole budget, that would leave us, once again, going away from here with the American people being promised that there is going to be a balanced budget and there is not. I hope that the President and the Congress will heed the American people.

I thank the Chair for this opportunity to speak.

RECESS SUBJECT TO THE CALL OF THE CHAIR

Mr. PRESSLER. Mr. President, I understand that the Democratic leader no longer wishes to speak at this time. Therefore, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate now stand in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

There being no objection, the Senate, at 4:51 p.m., recessed subject to the call of the Chair; whereupon, the Senate reassembled at 5:19 p.m. when called to order by the Presiding Officer (Mr. MCCAIN).

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority leader is recognized.

ORDER OF PROCEDURE

Mr. DOLE. Mr. President, let me first state, since I have told my colleagues I would inform them when we had any information, the negotiation is still ongoing as far as the continuing resolution is concerned. I think we made a lot of progress this afternoon. That is how I would characterize the exchange.

We have exchanged options. We have now given an option to Senator DASCHLE, who I understand will be discussing it with Mr. Panetta, the President's Chief of Staff, and Mr. GEPHARDT, the Democratic leader in the House. Hopefully, we can, as I said earlier, resolve this this evening.

If so, I think the process would be we would pass a 1-day continuing resolution, send it to the House, which they could act on tonight. Then we would hopefully pass the other agreed resolution in the Senate tonight, and they would take that up in the House tomorrow. Those are tentative indications of what would happen.

But I wanted to speak about another very important matter.

PEACE TALKS IN DAYTON

Mr. DOLE. Mr. President, there are news reporters indicating that the administration is trying to wrap up peace talks in Dayton, OH, by tomorrow morning.

No doubt about it, the administration has put a great deal of effort into this diplomatic process. A significant number of our diplomats have been working around the clock to get an agreement. Their hard work should be recognized.

However, I hope that in their understandable haste, our negotiators will not lose sight of the objective—which is not just to secure a peace, but to secure a just and lasting peace.

Most Members of Congress would agree that for an agreement to have a reasonable prospect of achieving a stable peace, it must include the following provisions:

First, a clear demarcation of defensible borders for Bosnia and Herzegovina and resolution of all territorial issues among the parties;

Second, clear lines of demarcation between the military forces of the parties to the agreement and procedures for separating the forces;

Third, concurrence by all parties and witnesses to the agreement to multilateral lifting of the arms embargo on Bosnia and Herzegovina upon entry into force of the agreement;

Fourth, acceptance by all parties and witnesses to the agreement to United States involvement in an effort to equip, arm, and train Bosnian Federation Forces;

Fifth, establishment of clear standards for violations of the agreement and the unrestricted use of force by NATO to include air power as necessary to respond to violations of the agreement which threaten not only the peace, but the security of our forces;

Sixth, an end to military intervention by the Governments of Croatia and Serbia and Montenegro in Bosnia and Herzegovina;

Seventh, the dismantlement of the integrated air defense network linkages between Serbia and Bosnian-Serb held areas of Bosnia and Herzegovina;

Eighth, full NATO implementation of the deny flight operation; and Ninth, measures to ensure that indicted war criminals are not in positions of authority, including any elected office.

Mr. President, it seems to me that these are the minimum elements of a viable peace agreement. Without these elements, it is unlikely that a genuine peace will hold. Without these elements, it is unlikely that Bosnia will survive.

We should not mistake securing any peace agreement in Dayton with securing a stable peace. No matter how difficult the negotiations are, if they fail to achieve an agreement that secures the integrity and independence of Bosnia they will have been a waste of time.

Also essential to a stable peace is restoring public confidence and trust in the Government, institutions, and leaders of Bosnia. Absent justice, there will be no trust and no peace will endure. For the long-suffering Bosnian people, to believe in the peace, they
