

engineering officer in Chinese waters aboard the gunboat Sacramento, before being given a special assignment in 1941 to help begin a new branch of naval service—patrol torpedo boats.

Lieutenant John Bulkeley's performance as a PT boat squadron leader is legendary. He earned the nickname "Sea Wolf" for his daring raids on the Japanese Navy in the early days of the Pacific war. Most notable among his heroic deeds was Lieutenant Bulkeley's bold rescue of General Douglass MacArthur from the Philippines in 1942. General MacArthur had become surrounded by the Japanese while remaining on the island of Corregidor during the Japanese invasion of the Philippines. Lieutenant Bulkeley's PT squadron broke through a Japanese blockade and carried the general and his family to safety. "Johnny," said MacArthur, "you've taken me out of the jaws of death—and I won't forget it." General MacArthur did not forget, and for his efforts in the early part of the war, John Bulkeley received the highest award this Nation bestows for valor, the Medal of Honor.

The Sea Wolf's career did not end there. In 1942, he spent time stateside recruiting young officers for the PT program, among them a stalwart young man named John F. Kennedy.

Admiral Bulkeley then headed for Europe, where he commanded a group of PT boats that helped clear the way for the D-Day invasion at Utah beach in Normandy. He commanded the destroyer Endicott during the invasion of southern France, and sank two German warships—the only German warships sunk in surface-to-surface combat during the entire war in the Mediterranean.

At the end of WWII John Bulkeley was not yet 32 years old, but he had already received every medal for courage that our country awards. Following the war, Bulkeley graduated from the Armed Forces Staff College. He also taught electrical engineering at the Naval Academy and served on the staff of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

His service did not stop here, however. Admiral Bulkeley commanded a destroyer division in Korean waters during the Korean war; in 1961 he was appointed commander of the Guantanamo Naval base in Cuba, an assignment he received from his old friend President John F. Kennedy; and in 1964 he was assigned as president of the Navy Board of Inspection and Survey, a position which he held for nearly 23 years. Under his active leadership, the INSURV Board was directly responsible for the delivery of combat-ready ships, whether new or coming out of overhaul.

When his remarkable career came to an end, Vice Admiral Bulkeley was one of the most decorated sailors in American history. In addition to receiving the Medal of Honor, Admiral Bulkeley was also presented the Navy Cross, two awards of the Army Distinguished Service Cross, three Distinguished Service Medals, two Silver Stars, two awards of the Legion of Merit, two Purple Hearts, and numerous other decorations and citations for outstanding performance and service to his country.

Vice Admiral Bulkeley was a true American patriot and a superb naval officer who, throughout his naval career, led with courage and integrity. His leadership and performance throughout an intense and demanding period in naval and military history were instrumental in the successful administration of the Navy and outstanding support for naval forces throughout the world. Thanks to his inspirational leadership and selfless dedication to duty, our Navy has remained second to none. He will be sorely missed.
