

lives saved and property safeguarded by ordinary men and women who fulfilled an unspoken obligation to their community and country.

The firefighters' commitment was never more evident than it was in August 1995, when thousands of volunteers fought the two most destructive wildfires to strike Suffolk County this century. These heroic volunteers put their lives on the line while battling brush fires that consumed nearly 4,000 acres of Pine Barrens in Rocky Point and Westhampton. Miraculously, not a single human life was lost in the fire and the total property damage was kept to a minimum.

Though the heritage it preserves is grand, the genesis for the Brookhaven Firefighters Museum is more modest. The idea was born more than 5 years ago when a group of long-time friends and volunteer firemen decided they needed to preserve the history of local firefighting for their own children and grandchildren.

The museum's board of trustees and founder raised all of the funds, solicited the artifacts, secured the building and located the property where the museum stands. The Brookhaven Firefighters Museum's trustees are: president, Joseph Sommers; vice president, Lee Bunten; treasurer, David Waldron, Jeff Davis, Susan Savochka, Gene Gerrard, Robert Collins, Robert Poucel, Ed Corrigan, Robert Wilson, Richie Adams, Ronnie Magagna, Artie Read, John Austen, John Blaum, Sr., and Robert McConville.

Appropriately, the museum building was originally built in 1889 to serve as the Center Moriches Fire House. The former fire house was being used as a warehouse by the Center Moriches Paper Co. when the company donated the building for the museum. With the help of a State grant, the museum's board of trustees had the former fire house moved the 15 miles from Center Moriches, on Long Island's South Shore, to its current location at Fireman's Park in Ridge.

As you enter Fireman's Park to visit the museum, you will notice a line of 38 monuments along the roadside, one each from every fire department in the town of Brookhaven. That section of road is known as Fireman's Way, the path each visitor will pass through on their way to any of the fire drill competitions held at Fireman's Park. Those monuments are reminders of the sacrifice and commitment that volunteer firefighters have made for their communities in Brookhaven Town.

For the thousands of volunteer firefighters who have saved lives and property throughout the history of Brookhaven Town, and Long Island, the Volunteer Firefighters Museum preserves their magnificent legacy of sacrifice for their children and grandchildren. May this wonderful museum serve as a reminder of their heroic efforts for many years to come.

A TRIBUTE TO SOPHIE GERSON

HON. JERROLD NADLER

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 6, 1996

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the lifelong accomplishments of Sophie Gerson, who has served the schools and the children of New York City for many years. Her dedication to the education of the young people of Community School District 2, which she has served for over 30 years, is evidenced by her history as a parent, a teacher and a school board member and president. She was a junior high school health and physical education teacher for 36 years, the last 25 at JHS 17 in the Clinton community. Her children both attended school in District 2, and as board member there, she was introduced or supported programs that have proved extremely beneficial to the children for whom she has been responsible. Ms. Gerson has been an active and outspoken advocate for the children in her community, and for that she should be commended. Ms. Gerson's accomplishments that are numerous and impressive, and her hard work has provided the students of New York's School District 2 with a nurturing environment in which they have flourished. Sophie Gerson's years of leadership and caring in her community deserve our utmost respect and appreciation.

A TRIBUTE TO REVEREND HENRY CADE

HON. DONALD M. PAYNE

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 6, 1996

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to bring to the attention of my colleagues a special anniversary. Tomorrow, the Central Presbyterian Church of Newark, NJ will be celebrating the 30th anniversary of its pastor, the Reverend Henry Cade. Although Rev. Cade first came to Central Presbyterian Church in 1965, this recognition had to be postponed because of a devastating fire that heavily damaged the church in 1995. But like anything worth doing, the time is not important as long as the thought is true.

Over the years Newark's Central Presbyterian Church has recognized the need for the church to become more than a site for worship. The Central Presbyterian Church has opened its doors to programs and services that truly help the community and its residents. The church sponsors programs like SHARE, a food program; preschool-head start programs, senior citizen programs; young adult ministries, homeless ministries, as well as others.

It takes a certain kind of leadership to make things happen. For the Central Presbyterian Church that leadership has come from Reverend Henry Cade for 30 years. Rev. Cade is a native of Selma, AL. He accepted the call as minister of the Central Presbyterian Church in 1965, having served as pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church of Athens, TN for 5 years. Rev. Cade has been educated at the Knoxville College, the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, graduate study in urban issues at Rutgers University and the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York. His formal educational experiences have been enriched with travel experiences he gained while traveling to Jordan, Israel, Egypt, and Greece.

Rev. Cade understands the importance and benefits of serving the larger community. He has served the Police Accountability Program under the auspices of the Metropolitan Ecumenical Ministry, the NAACP, the United Community Corporation, Essex County PUSH, Essex County Jail as chaplain, the New Well Drug Rehabilitation Center, the Martin Luther King, Jr. Community Center, the Synod of the Northeast, the South Park Calvary Administrative Commission, and the Newark Presbytery in many capacities.

Presently he is the moderator of the Session of Roseville Presbyterian Church, a member of the Personal Committee and the Permanent Judicial Commission of Newark Presbytery, a member of the Newark and Essex Committee of Black Churchmen, and the chairman of the Newark and Vicinity Chapter of Black Presbyterians United.
