

very serious concern: Network computers also provide new opportunities for criminal activity.

The computer emergency response team, known as CERT, based on the Carnegie Mellon University in Pittsburgh, reports that the number of reported intrusions into U.S.-based computer systems rose from 773 in 1992 to more than 2,300 in 1994. Once into a computer system, hackers have the ability to steal, modify, or destroy sensitive data, thus the potential cost to users, including businesses, are staggering.

That is why the Justice Department and the FBI support this important legislation. It will help stem the online crime epidemic and increase protection for both government and private computers. The bill would allow Federal prosecution for those who misuses computers to obtain government information and, where appropriate, information held by the private sector.

The bill would also penalize any person who uses a computer to cause the transmission of a computer virus or other harmful computer program to government and financial institution computers not used in interstate communications, such as intrastate local area networks used by government agencies.

The NIA Protection Act would provide much needed protection for our Nation's important information infrastructure and help maintain the privacy of electronic information.

Ms. LOFGREN. Mr. Speaker, further reserving the right to object, I would like to say how pleased I am that we are able to enact this measure into law this night and have it become law and for the President to sign it.

American companies have faced the fact, unfortunately, that our laws were written so long ago that they do not deal with the protection of ideas in the way that they should, and we know in this information society it is the great power of our information and ideas that will keep us on the cutting edge of the economies of the world.

So I fully support this bill as well as the other Senate amendments.

Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the original request of the gentleman from Florida?

There was no objection.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

JOSHUA LAWRENCE CHAMBERLAIN POST OFFICE BUILDING

Mr. MCHUGH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's table the Senate bill (S. 2153) to designate the United States Post Office building located in Brewer, Maine, as the "Joshua Lawrence Chamberlain Post Office Building," and for other purposes, and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

Mr. BALDACCI. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I wish to state that the minority has no objection to the approval of S. 2153.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support S. 2153. It is a bill designating the United States Post Office Building located in Brewer, Maine as the Joshua Lawrence Chamberlain Post Office Building. This measure was introduced by Senator COHEN at the request of the city of Brewer, Maine to honor this Civil War hero, four-term Governor of Maine, scholar and professor.

Mr. Speaker, I cannot think of a more fitting tribute for this dedicated public servant. I urge my colleagues to support this and I also have extended remarks at the front table.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of this legislation, S. 2153, which would designate the Post Office in Brewer, Maine in honor of George Joshua Lawrence Chamberlain. I introduced identical legislation on this matter, which the entire Maine Congressional Delegation has supported, and am pleased that the Congress has acted quickly on it.

I was contacted recently by Brewer's Postmaster, Stanley Abraham. He told me that the citizens of Brewer had requested that their Post Office be named in honor of a hometown hero, General Joshua Lawrence Chamberlain.

General Chamberlain was born and educated in Brewer, Maine. Leading the 20th Maine, he played a crucial role at Little Round Top in the Battle of Gettysburg. This battle was a turning point in the Civil War. His tremendous skills were duly recognized when he was given the only battlefield promotion to General of the Civil War. General Chamberlain's leadership skills were further recognized by the people of Maine when they elected him Governor by the largest majority in Maine's history, and returned him to office three times.

As a student of history, I am proud to recognize the accomplishments of General Chamberlain. His military, academic and political career has brought great honor to the City of Brewer and the State of Maine. Designating the Brewer Post Office in General Chamberlain's honor is a fitting tribute to one of Maine's greatest leaders, and I am pleased to support this legislation.

Mr. MCHUGH. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. BALDACCI. Further reserving the right to object, I yield to the gentleman from New York.

Mr. MCHUGH. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding and for his comments and also his leadership on this issue.

Mr. Speaker, as was just noted, this legislation, which is important to note was introduced by both the Senators from the great State of Maine and is supported both by the gentleman whom we have just heard from but also the entire House delegation, does indeed honor a Civil War hero by naming a post office building located in Brewer, ME as the Joshua Lawrence Chamberlain Post Office Building.

In addition to being known as a man of remarkable valor in that war and a great man in history, Joshua Chamberlain was also the president of Bowdoin College, and a scholar.

I cannot think of a more fitting tribute to this great American than following through on the adoption of this bill as just suggested by the gentleman from Maine, and I would urge all our colleagues to accept this unanimous consent request at this time.

Mr. BALDACCI. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?
