ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

TRIBUTE TO BARON GEORG VON TRAPP

• Mr. JEFFORDS. Mr. President, I rise today to pay tribute to an American and Austrian hero, Baron Georg von Trapp, on the 50th anniversary of his death. During his lifetime, Baron von Trapp stood for honor and courage. He held a deep devotion for both his country and his family. Baron von Trapp was remembered on the week-end of July 11, in a celebration at the Trapp Family Lodge in Stowe, VT. I regret that I was unable to attend, however I would like to take this opportunity to remember the significance of his life, made famous by the 1965 movie, "The Sound of Music."

It is a reflection of Baron von Trapp's spirit that he is not only an American legend, but he is also considered a hero in Austria, the homeland that he fled 60 years ago. It is a tribute to his excellence that the 89 members of the 1997 graduating class of the Theresianum Military Academy, the Austrian equivalent to West Point, voted Baron von Trapp their class hero, someone whom they all wished to emulate.

Baron von Trapp was a celebrated military commander. He was honored with two medals for courage in battle, including the Maria Theresian Ritter Medal, Austria's highest, for sinking a French submarine in 1915. He was also influential in the development of submarine warfare and torpedoes. However, his love and devotion for his country never underscored the importance of his family. He made an intense connection with his children through music. Out of this connection came the famous Trapp Family Singers. When the Nazis invaded and were pressuring Baron von Trapp to join Hitler's ranks, he asked his family if they wanted to leave for America, saying that if anyone wanted to stay, they would all stay. Everyone wanted to leave.

Although nothing could replace the love he had for his homeland, Baron von Trapp did grow to love his new home in Vermont. He found new passions in maple sugaring and farming. Because they spent most of the year touring, they rented out rooms in their lodge to skiers, starting what would eventually become a landmark in Vermont, the Trapp Family Lodge.

Once again, I would like to express my admiration for Baron von Trapp and his entire family on the anniversary of his death.●

USDA REORGANIZATION

• Mr. KERREY. Mr. President, I rise today to talk briefly about the recent consolidation of administrative functions at the U.S. Department of Agriculture, recently announced by Secretary Dan Glickman.

In my contact with Secretary Glickman he has said that the changes are being aimed at the national headquarters and State offices, but that there will be no additional field office closings or cut in services as a result of this directive.

Secretary Glickman has also informed me that an outside study is being commissioned to assess the workload of parts of the agency, in light of current and anticipated program activity, and will report on recommendations on the county delivery systems.

The recent administrative convergence by the Secretary is an effort to make the USDA a more efficient and cost-effective agency. No doubt, to streamline the agency and improve efficiency, there is a need to eliminate any duplication of administrative services. However, there is also a need to maintain a vital local field staff with the necessary resources available to them so that they can deliver services to our producers.

As the USDA continues to make adjustments to its operations, I will continue to work with the Secretary and solicit feedback from our local Nebraska offices.

The Freedom to Farm Act of 1996, for better or worse, has brought us into a new era of our farm program. To some extent producers, Members of Congress, and USDA staff are entering uncharted waters. I will be diligent in my efforts in making sure the USDA, and Congress, is up to the navigational task.●

TRIBUTE TO ROLAND AND CLAIRE JUTRAS, NATIONAL 1997 PARENTS OF THE YEAR

• Mr. SMITH of New Hampshire. Mr. President, I rise today to pay tribute to Roland and Claire Jutras of Peterborough, NH, the National 1997 Parents of the Year. The National Parents' Day Foundation bestowed the honor on the Jutrases after searching the Nation for the parents of the year.

Roland Jutras came to town in 1972 to run the town of Peterborough's
