

I'm also concerned that the visit to Washington by President Aliyev, at this critical stage in the Karabagh negotiations, threatens to harm the peace process by undermining confidence in the role of the United States as an impartial mediator. Section 907 is a provision of the Freedom Support Act of 1992 which prohibits direct U.S. Government Aid to Azerbaijan because of the Azeri blockade of Ameria and Nagorno Karabagh. The administration's advocacy against Section 907, further reinforces the Azerbaijani perception that the United States, since the most recent OSCE summit in Lisbon, has tilted toward Azerbaijan.

The visit by President Aliyev could serve to encourage Azerbaijan to further harden its negotiating stance. This encouragement is particularly dangerous given President Aliyev's pattern of unacceptable behavior, including his use of oil as a weapon against Armenia and Nagorno Karabagh, his blockades of Armenia and Nagorno Karabagh, his rapidly expanding military capabilities, his threats of force and intimidation tactics, and his refusal to negotiate directly with the democratically elected representatives of Nagorno Karabagh.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues in joining Mr. PORTER and me in letting President Clinton know of our concerns about his upcoming meeting with President Aliyev and to push our State Department toward a fair solution to the very difficult Nagorno Karabagh conflict.

EXCITING TAX CUTS FOR AMERICANS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 21, 1997, the gentleman from New York [Mr. SOLOMON] is recognized during morning hour debates for 5 minutes.

Mr. SOLOMON. Madam Speaker, what a difference 4 years makes. Four years ago, this Congress was raising taxes on the American people, they were increasing spending, they were bankrupting Medicare, they were trying to socialize medicine, and they were expanding welfare. What a difference 4 years makes.

What is going to happen in the next 2 days is so exciting, because in the next 2 days we are going to cut taxes for every single working American in this country. What a difference 4 years makes. We will cut spending; we will get a handle on many of these entitlement programs that have been running rampant; we will save Medicare from bankruptcy; and, more than that, Madam Speaker, we will stay on that glide path to a balanced budget, which is going to mean there is going to be a country, this United States, for my children and my five grandchildren, six grandchildren, excuse me, we just had another one, and that is what is so exciting about it, because we have been able to come together with the White House, with the Senate, and with this body and do what the American people finally want us to do. I am just so excited, I can hardly stand it. Let us get on to it. In the next 48 hours, we are going to do exactly what I have just outlined.

DEMOCRATS STAND FIRM FOR FAIR TAX TREATMENT

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 21, 1997, the gentlewoman from Texas [Ms. JACKSON-LEE] is recognized during morning hour debates for 5 minutes.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Madam Speaker, it is particularly appropriate to have the gentlewoman from Missouri [Mrs. EMERSON] this morning presiding over these Chambers, because I believe that this tax bill reflects those individuals of goodwill who have worked so very hard to ensure that America's working women realize tax relief.

Let me just simply talk about credit. This is not about who did what, but as long as we are in the credit column, let me emphasize where the work was really done.

I am proud of this tax relief plan because it goes to the core of what America stands for: Our children. As the chairperson of the Congressional Children's Caucus, I can assure my colleagues of the hard work that the Democrats persisted on to ensure that $24 billion, $24 billion, a plan that was not in the initial Republican offering of tax relief, will now be given for children who are uninsured, $24 billion.

Actually, we do not even know how many dollars will be saved by providing children who are uninsured some $10 million plus with preventative care for working families who do not have the option of insuring their children through their work. Madam Speaker, $24 billion.

Then there is a story that I think needs to be told, and that is one that I am not going to hide. There is no actual evidence whatsoever that showed that the Republican plan was going to give any consideration to families making under $50,000 a year, none whatsoever, none, absolutely none, until the Democrats persisted time after time after time after time.

I am gratified that when the Republicans started with their 3.9 million families, resulting in 5.5 million that were going to get the $500 a year tax credit, Democrats again, time after time after time, in negotiations and on the floor of the House, refused to compromise. What do we have now? Coverage of 8.7 families and 13 million children will receive the benefit of the $500 a year tax credit. I do not know about my colleagues, but that is one thing that we are not going to step away from.

Is this a balanced tax plan? It has its ups and downs, but it does respond to working men and women, the school-teacher, the bus driver, the rookie police officer, many of the folk who are not able to get to the U.S. Congress and even sit in these august bodies or even sit in the gallery and watch as we debate this issue, individuals who may not have had a vacation in the last 10 years or 5 years, individuals who did not get benefits from their work, but they paid payroll taxes. And that was the accusation that was being made by our Republican friends, that they were on welfare because they did not pay tax or they got the earned income tax credit, which we all know they had to pay for.

I am proud of what the Democrats have done in this now tax relief, that is truly one that responds to all Americans.

Welfare to work? Yes, we passed the welfare bill. I happen to have voted for one that had more meaning than what we ultimately passed. Right now in our cities, we are seeing people cut off with nowhere to go, but we insisted, as Democrats, to provide $3 billion for a real welfare-to-work program, a program that would be governed by our cities and also the Department of Labor who believes in increasing and encouraging work. This will give real meaning to welfare to work, moving young mothers and young families that heretofore did not have training into training and provide them with jobs.

What is the sense of moving people off of welfare when companies around the Nation will not hire them because they have no work experience or they have had no training? Democrats who have been down in the trenches with these individuals who represent these urban centers and rural communities understand and sympathize with what it is like to be someone who needs something. I am very gratified that it was the Democrats who stood here and fought to ensure that we had the kind of plan that we could stand up and be proud of.

Let me say this for those who have small family farms and small businesses, many of whom spoke to me in my district. There is nothing I am going to be ashamed about there as well, because Democrats forced the $1.1 billion, forced it to occur in a sooner period of time in terms of relief for estate and small business farmers in order to ensure that they were included in the loop.

Yes, there are capital gains taxes, and I am going to be watching to see how that drives the economy, because in fact the 1993 budget bill and tax bill is the one that made this economy what it was, and that was under a President that was a Democrat and a Congress that was Democrat. We are thriving in this economy right now today because of the 1993 vote that all Democrats took who are here in this U.S. Congress.

We have many things to still fix: Disproportionate share in the State of Texas, where we have to pay for our Medicaid as opposed to other States. We must work on that across the board. But I can assure my colleagues that this tax bill is what it is because Democrats stayed in the fight and we will continue to fight to make sure that this is a tax bill for working Americans.
