ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

WORLD POPULATION AWARENESS WEEK

• Mrs. MURRAY. Mr. President, I rise on behalf of myself and Senator JEFFORDS to acknowledge and celebrate World Population Awareness Week.

World population stands today at more than 5.9 billion and increases by more than 80 million per year, with virtually all of this growth in the least developed countries.

A total of 1.3 billion people—more than the combined population of Europe and North Africa—live in absolute poverty on the equivalent of one United States dollar or less a day; 1.5 billion people—nearly one-quarter of the world's population—lack an adequate supply of clean drinking water or sanitation; more than 840 million people—one-fifth of the entire population of the developing world—are hungry or malnourished.

Demographic studies and surveys indicate that in the developing world there are at least 120 million women who want more control over their fertility but lack access to family planning. This unmet need for family planning is projected to result in 1.2 billion unintended births.

The 1994 International Conference on Population and Development in Cairo determined that a combination of political commitment and appropriate programs designed to provide universal access to voluntary family planning information, education and services can ensure world population stabilization at 8 billion or less rather than 12 billion or more.

We are pleased to support the week of October 24–31, 1998 as World Population Awareness Week.●

ISLAMIC HOUSE OF WISDOM

• Mr. ABRAHAM. Mr. President, I rise today to acknowledge an important event in the state of Michigan. The Islamic House of Wisdom will be holding its Semi-annual fundraising dinner Sunday, October 18, 1998.

The Islamic House of Wisdom, has served an invaluable role in educating both Muslims and non-Muslims on important moral and social issues. They have worked diligently to promote a positive image of Islam in the Detroit metropolitan area, and their interfaith symposiums have helped to bridge the gap between the diverse peoples and faiths that make up our Metro Detroit community.

Again, I offer my congratulations to Imam Mohammad Ali Elahi and all the members of the Islamic House of Wisdom for hosting this successful event and wish them continued success in their journey of faith and teaching.●

TRIBUTE TO MOLLY ALLEN

Mr. BROWNBACK. Mr. President, it gives me great pleasure to recognize an outstanding young fifth grade student from Kansas, Molly Allen. Molly is a student at Sunset Ridge Elementary School in Shawnee Mission, and was diagnosed with juvenile diabetes in July. Since that time, Molly brought awareness about this disease to her fellow classmates by sharing her personal experience.

In addition, Molly organized her school's effort to raise money for the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation's walk, which was Saturday, September 19, 1998. This courageous young lady exemplifies leadership and courage. I am proud to recognize one of Kansas' outstanding young leaders. I wish Molly continued success in her future endeavors, and I ask that the Kansas City Star article featuring Molly follow my remarks in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

The article follows:

STUDENT WALKING TO FIGHT DIABETES

(By Anne Christiansen)

When 10-year-old Molly Allen participates in the Walk to Cure Diabetes today, she'll have 4 miles ahead of her and 459 feet behind her.

That's how many paper sneakers cover the windows of her elementary school—the newly opened Sunset Ridge. They're put there as a visual indicator of how much money students have raised so far—$459—only halfway through a six-day fund drive that ends Wednesday.

Molly was diagnosed with juvenile diabetes in July. Since that time, she's talked to classes at the school from her own fifth grade right down to kindergarten.

"They asked me why I have to wear this bracelet," she said, twirling the medical alert chain around her wrist. "They ask me if the (insulin) shots hurt. They were really pretty mature about it."

She's brought in the device that measures the glucose in her blood. She's taught her friends to look for signs of low blood sugar.

She's also spearheaded the school's effort to raise money for the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation's walk, which begins at 10 a.m. today in Shawnee Mission Park.

Principal Jane Fletcher said she has been impressed with Molly's dedication.

"She got on the intercom, and she said, 'Thank you for helping me.' that took a lot of courage," Fletcher said.

When school first started, some of the students were afraid they would "catch" diabetes from Molly.

"I had to explain to them that it wasn't that kind of disease," she said.

She also had to explain to her class why she was allowed a mid-morning snack in class while the rest of the students salivated jealously.

"They said, 'What are you doing?' because only a few of the girls knew before school started that I had diabetes," she explained.
