The House met at 10 a.m.
The Chaplain, Rev. James David Ford, D.D., offered the following prayer:

Help us, gracious God, to take the good words we say with our lips and translate those words into deeds of justice and mercy. Encourage us to take ideas of compassion and peace, of respect and goodwill, and allow those thoughts to be made whole and complete by making them part of our daily lives. We pray, O God, that the gift of faith will find fulfillment in good deeds and that the blessings of this day will be shared by us and all people. In Your name we pray. Amen

THE JOURNAL

The SPEAKER. The Chair has examined the JOURNAL of the last day’s proceedings and announces to the House its approval thereof.

Pursuant to clause 1, rule 1, the JOURNAL stands approved.

Mr. EHRlich. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to clause 1, rule 1, I demand a vote on agreeing to the Speaker’s approval of the JOURNAL.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the Chair’s approval of the JOURNAL.

The question was taken; and the Speaker announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. EHRlich. Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the order of that action is not present.

The SPEAKER. Evidently a quorum is not present.

The Sergeant at Arms will notify absent Members.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 362, nays 28, answered “present” 2, not voting 41, as follows:

[Roll No. 27]

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Roll No. 27</th>
<th>YEAS—362</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Abercorn</td>
<td>Gordon</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Abernathy</td>
<td>Goss</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Adams</td>
<td>Gorman</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Armey</td>
<td>Graham</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Barrett (NE)</td>
<td>Green (TX)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Barrett (W)</td>
<td>Green (WI)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bass</td>
<td>Hamilton</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bass</td>
<td>Happ</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bell</td>
<td>Harris</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berman</td>
<td>Harrison</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berkley</td>
<td>Hatch</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berns</td>
<td>Hatch</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Biggs</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bilott</td>
<td>Heideman</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bingham</td>
<td>Hegar</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bishop</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blumenauer</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blunt</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boucher</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boozner</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boyd</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brady (TX)</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bryant</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Burr</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Burton</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Calvert</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cannon</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cannon</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Card</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cardin</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Carson</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Castle</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chabot</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chambliss</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chenoweth</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Clayton</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Clement</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Clyburn</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Colebourn</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Collins</td>
<td>Hefley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>[Roll No. 27]</td>
<td>YEAS—362</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Abercorn</td>
<td>Long</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Abernathy</td>
<td>Love</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Adams</td>
<td>Ortiz</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Armey</td>
<td>Ose</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Barrett</td>
<td>Owens</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berman</td>
<td>Oxley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Biggs</td>
<td>Packard</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bilott</td>
<td>Palone</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bilott</td>
<td>Pancras</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bishop</td>
<td>Paul</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boozner</td>
<td>Pease</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boyd</td>
<td>Pepper</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brady (TX)</td>
<td>Perry</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bryant</td>
<td>Petri</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Burr</td>
<td>Phelps</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Burton</td>
<td>Pickering</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Calvert</td>
<td>Pitts</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cannon</td>
<td>Pombo</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Card</td>
<td>Porter</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cardin</td>
<td>Portman</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Carson</td>
<td>Price</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Castle</td>
<td>Price</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chabot</td>
<td>Price</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chambliss</td>
<td>Price</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chenoweth</td>
<td>Price</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Clayton</td>
<td>Price</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Clement</td>
<td>Price</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Clyburn</td>
<td>Price</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Colebourn</td>
<td>Price</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Collins</td>
<td>Price</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

NAYS—28

Borski        | Siskiyes |
| Brady (PA)   | Skelton  |
| Brown (CA)   | Slaughter|
| Clayton      | Smith (MI)|
| Costello     | Smith (NJ)|
| Crane         | Smith (TX)|
| Filner  | Smith (WA)|
| Crane         | Snyder   |
| Crane         | Souder   |
| Crane         | Spence   |
| Crane         | Spratt   |
| Crane         | Stabenow |
| Crabtree      | Stark    |
| Cranford      | Stearns  |
| Craig         | Stump    |
| Crooks        | Sweeney  |
| Culver        | Sununu   |
| Culver        | Tankersi |
| Culver        | Taussin  |
| Culver        | Terry    |
| Culver        | Thomas   |
| Culver        | Thompson |
| Culver        | Thornberry|
| Culver        | Thompson |
| Culver        | Thuente  |
| Culver        | Thurman  |
| Culver        | Tierney  |
| Culver        | Timmons  |
| Culver        | Trafalgar|
| Culver        | Turner   |
| Culver        | Udall (CA)|
| Culver        | Udall (CO)|
| Culver        | Udall (NM)|
| Culver        | Upton    |
| Culver        | Valdez   |
| Culver        | Vento    |
| Culver        | Walden   |
| Culver        | Walsh    |
| Culver        | Wamp     |
| Culver        | Warlick  |
| Culver        | Watt (NC)|
| Culver        | Watts (OK)|
| Culver        | Weigel   |
| Culver        | Wendel   |
| Culver        | Wendel (FL)|
| Culver        | Wendel (PA)|
| Culver        | Wexler   |
| Culver        | Weygand  |
| Culver        | Whitted  |
| Culver        | Whittington|
| Culver        | Wicker   |
| Culver        | Wilson   |
| Culver        | Wise     |
| Culver        | Wolf     |
| Culver        | Woodey   |
| Culver        | Wu       |
| Culver        | Wynn     |
| Culver        | Young (FL)|
| Culver        | Young     |
COMMUNICATION FROM THE CLERK OF THE HOUSE

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication from the Clerk of the House of Representatives:

Hon. J. Dennis Hastert, Speaker, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: I have the honor to transmit herewith a facsimile copy of a letter received from Linda W. Beazley, Director, Elections Division, Office of the Georgia Secretary of State, indicating that, according to the unofficial returns for the election held February 23, 1999, the Honorable Johnny Isakson was elected Representative in Congress for the Sixth Congressional District, State of Georgia.

With best wishes, I am

Sincerely,

JEFF TRANDAHL, Clerk.

COMMISSION FROM THE HONORABLE JOHNNY ISAOKSON TO THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Mr. LEWIS of Georgia asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.

Mr. LEWIS of Georgia (Mr. ABRAHAM) and the Senator from Alabama (Mr. SESSIONS).
FAREWELL REMARKS OF HONORABLE BOB LIVINGSTON

(Mr. LIVINGSTON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. LIVINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, I want to offer my most sincere and hearty congratulations to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. ISAKSON) as he embarks on this wonderful opportunity to serve the people of his State and the people of this country in the United States Congress.

I take this opportunity for a slightly different purpose to address the House because this marks my last official day before the House of Representatives after 21½ years. In that time I have had many successes and a few failures, many good times and a few moments of heartache. I have watched with just admiration the many statesmen and I have just watched those who are less so.

I have learned some lessons along the way. Public service is a virtue. Term limits in my opinion is a stupid idea that deprives government of experience and small States of participation in leadership. Tolerance is a necessity. Politician is not a dirty word. And compromise is the glue that renders democracy possible.

To my friends on the left, government left unwatched can lead to injustice. To my friends on the right, government is not inherently evil. Compassion is not a dirty word. And compromise is the glue that renders democracy possible.

My friends, America in the new millennium is like the great forests of the West some 200 years ago. Our ideologues on the left and the right are scouting the terrain and lighting the path to the future. Our trendsetters in both parties survey, decipher and construct the roads and bridges. And the American people follow in waves taking the routes most appropriate for their ultimate destination.

Where are they headed? I cannot say for certain, but Mr. Reagan said it was for the shining city on the hill and I certainly will not argue with that. But with commitment to public service, with tolerance and with compromise, I know that the roads to the future of America will be straight and true and headed toward justice and freedom not just for all Americans but for all the people of the world.

I thank the people of southeast Louisiana for allowing me to serve here in the greatest of all institutions, the United States Congress. I thank my colleagues, for their great friendship, my colleagues on both sides of the aisle. I thank my wife Bonnie and my children, Shap and his lovely wife Sissy, Rich, Dave and Susie, and my very new beautiful grandchild Caroline and all my family for their love and their support through these 21½ wonderful years.

Thank you all and God bless America.

February 25, 1999

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — HOUSE H799

FAREWELL TO THE HONORABLE BOB LIVINGSTON

(Mr. OBEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, I think it is ironic that on the day when we are swearing in a new colleague, the House is losing one of its best Members.

I have known the gentleman from Louisiana a long time. He came here a little over 20 years ago. He served as Assistant Secretary for the Foreign Operations appropriations subcommittee. We had many differences. But I have to say that never for one moment did I doubt that he felt that he was putting the national interest above every other consideration in dealing with American foreign policy.

I have to say that I think the chances of the peace process moving forward in the Middle East would have been much without his steadfast commitment to promoting peace in the Middle East despite tough actions on this floor that were necessary to help promote that process. I also have to say that I think that we would not see countries such as Poland and some of the other former East European captive states that we would not see those countries in nearly the good shape they are in today if it were not for the very active efforts made on a bipartisan basis by the gentleman from Louisiana and his predecessor in that same committee, Key Edwards. He served honorably and fairly when he served as my ranking member on the committee. He then succeeded me as chairman of the full committee and again we had very large differences, but we never surprised each other and we learned to trust each other implicitly.

We all have conflicting responsibilities and conflicting loyalties in this place. We have responsibilities to our country, to our party, and to our institution. The gentleman from Louisiana in every case that I know of always put those priorities in the right order. He put country first, he put this institution second and he put his party third, and sometimes his own self-interest fourth.

He and his wife Bonnie Livingston have graced this institution with their presence. They are both wonderful people. I will miss them both.

I respect Bob. Sometimes I think he has been off the wall. I am sure he feels the same about me. And sometimes we probably both were. But I also love him. And I especially want to honor him because I think he has demonstrated that the word politician is not a bad name. As John Hume, that great leader for peace in Northern Ireland, said, politics is the alternative that democracies have to war in sort out and settling our major differences. This the gentleman from Louisiana has always recognized that. The House has been better for his being here. The House will certainly be lesser for his leaving. I know that Bob and I are living examples of what Will Rogers meant when he said that if two people agree on everything, one of them is unnecessary, but nonetheless we have been good friends. I think we can all agree that as Bob leaves this place, we can say that he has indeed been a good and faithful servant.

FAREWELL TO HONORABLE BOB LIVINGSTON

(Mr. TAUZIN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. TAUZIN. Mr. Speaker, let me first thank the gentleman from Wisconsin for those most kind and warm and generous remarks about the gentleman from Louisiana. I know that there are many others who would like to similarly make comments for the record. There is leave to do so. The day before yesterday we held an hour special order to honor our respect and admiration and best wishes to the gentleman from Louisiana on behalf of the people of Louisiana and this grateful Nation. If Members would like to submit words for the record, there is 5-day leave and I would encourage this to be done.

In that special order, we wanted the Nation to know a few very important things about this man. One of them is that he comes from an extraordinary family line. It was great. There was great back, Robert Livingston, who as Minister to France signed the Louisiana Purchase on behalf of President Jefferson and purchased the territory from which 13 States or parts of States have been carved. Yet with that amazing lineage behind him, Bob Livingston rose from very humble beginnings. Losing his father at a very early age, his mother nevertheless went to work in a shipyard in Louisiana to raise Bob and his sister and to give them a chance at an education. Bob himself returned to that shipyard to work as he got his own education in his later years.

But Bob's life has been spent in public service. Bob did a stint in the U.S. Navy, the U.S. Navy Reserve, Bob worked most of his career as a U.S. Justice Department prosecutor in New Orleans as a prosecutor for the criminal court system in New Orleans and for the Attorney General of the State of Louisiana before coming to this body and serving for those 21½ years. He has given his life to public service.

And our State and our Nation are deeply grateful, Bob, for all you have done in your whole life for this country and for the people of our great State of Louisiana. More importantly, Bob Livingston has been a remarkable legislator in this House of colleagues who all rise to different levels of greatness. Bob Livingston, acknowledged by many as the chairman of the most important committees in recent years. Appropriations the other night, is probably the single individual most responsible for finding the consensus in the last 4 years as chairman of the
Mr. Speaker, for all the things he will be remembered for and for all the good things he has done in this body and throughout his public career, I think this Nation owes him a debt of gratitude for that most important thing of taking us out of deficit and giving us a surplus to debate this year.

The gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. Bob Livingston) may not ever get the credit he deserves, Mr. Speaker, but I will tell my colleagues that I know it in my heart and the people of Louisiana know it in their heart: We have rarely seen a man of that kind of dedication and spirit and deep respect and love and compassion and, as was said, tolerance for different opinions that represent our State than has Bob Livingston. Louisiana will miss him sorely, and on behalf of all the people of his great district, and by the way Bob leaves with not a 60 or 70 or 80 percent approval rate, Mr. Speaker, for all the things he did for us to talk about this year, has taken us out of deficit, not in 5 or 7 years as predicted but in a short 2-year period.

Mr. Speaker, for all the things that have to be done in a Congress, appropriations bills have to pass. Those are the things that have to be done. And Bob Livingston, as the new chairman and the first Republican chairman of the Committee on Appropriations in 40 years, had a major, major task and a major responsibility, and he had problems not only in the House within his own party on occasion. But he stood tall, and he stood strong, and he guided Appropriations bills through for those 4 years in such a way that most of us thought never would work.

To the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. Livingston) I say: Congratulations on a job well done. Your friends will miss you dearly, and that comes from our heart.

WIRELESS PRIVACY ENHANCEMENT ACT OF 1999

Mr. LINDER. Mr. Speaker, by direction of the Committee on Rules, I call up House Resolution 77 and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

H. RES. 77

Resolved, That at any time after the adoption of this resolution the Speaker may, pursuant to clause 2(b) of rule XIX, declare the House resolved into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for consideration of H.R. 514 to amend the Communications Act of 1934 to strengthen and clarify prohibitions on electronic eavesdropping, and for other purposes. The first reading of the bill shall be dispensed with. Points of order against consideration of the bill for failure to comply with clause 4(a) of rule XII are waived. General debate shall be confined to the bill and shall not exceed one hour equally divided and controlled by the chairman and ranking minority member of the Committee on Commerce. After the debate the bill shall be considered as read and the previous question provided voting time on any postposed question provided voting time on the first in any series of questions is not less than 15 minutes. Finally, the rule provides one motion to recommit, with or without instructions, as is the right of the minority.

Mr. Speaker, when an American citizen picks up his telephone, we want to believe that the right to privacy is protecting us. Unfortunately, the rapid advent of technology makes it easy to intercept phone calls rather easily, and relatively simple modifications to devices can provide anyone with an electronic scanning device. The bill before us today is designed to ensure that the current penalties for intercepting anddiving communications are strengthened.

It is important to note that many consumers are not even aware that current penalties even exist, and current law unfortunately encourages a relaxed attitude toward unlawful intercept communications. As a result, this bill will improve the enforcement of privacy laws by increasing penalties without intervening business, provided that the minimum time for electronic voting on the first in any series of questions shall be 15 minutes. At the conclusion of consideration of the bill for amendments the Committee shall rise and report the bill to the House with such amendments as may have been adopted. The previous question shall be considered disposed of at the time the amendment thereto to final passage without intervening motion except one motion to recommit with or without instructions.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. Lewis). The gentleman from Georgia (Mr. Linder) is recognized for 1 hour.

Mr. LINDER. Mr. Speaker, for purposes of debate only, I yield the customary 30 minutes to the gentlewoman from New York (Ms. Slaughter), pending which I yield myself such time as I may consume. During consideration of this resolution, all time yielded is for the purpose of debate only.

Mr. Speaker, House Resolution 77 is an open rule providing for consideration of H.R. 514, the Wireless Privacy Enhancement Act, a bill that will improve wireless communication privacy and make it more difficult for scanners to be altered for unlawful purposes. H. Res. 77 is a wide-open rule providing 1 hour of general debate equally divided and controlled by the chairman and ranking minority member of the Committee on Commerce.

The rule waives points of order against consideration of the bill for failure to comply with clause 4(a) of Rule 13 which requires a 3-day layover for committee reports, and the rule provides that each section of the bill shall be considered as read.

H. Res. 77 further allows the Chairman of the Committee of the Whole to accord priority in recognition to those Members who have preprinted their amendments in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD prior to their consideration.

The rule also allows the Chairman of the Committee of the Whole to postpone recorded votes and to reduce to 5 minutes the voting time on any postposed question provided voting time on the first in any series of questions is not less than 15 minutes. Finally, the rule provides one motion to recommit, with or without instructions, as is the right of the minority.

Mr. Speaker, when an American citizen picks up his telephone, we want to believe that the right to privacy is protecting us. Unfortunately, the rapid advent of technology makes it easy to intercept phone calls rather easily, and relatively simple modifications to devices can provide anyone with an electronic scanning device. The bill before us today is designed to ensure that the current penalties for intercepting and dividing communications are strengthened.

It is important to note that many consumers are not even aware that current penalties even exist, and current law unfortunately encourages a relaxed attitude toward unlawful intercept communications. As a result, this bill will improve the enforcement of privacy laws by increasing penalties without intervening business, provided that the minimum time for electronic voting on the first in any series of questions shall be 15 minutes. At the conclusion of consideration of the bill for amendments the Committee shall rise and report the bill to the House with such amendments as may have been adopted. The previous question shall be considered disposed of at the time the amendment thereto to final passage without intervening motion except one motion to recommit with or without instructions.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. Lewis). The gentleman from Georgia (Mr. Linder) is recognized for 1 hour.

Mr. LINDER. Mr. Speaker, for purposes of debate only, I yield the customary 30 minutes to the gentlewoman from New York (Ms. Slaughter), pending which I yield myself such time as I may consume. During consideration of this resolution, all time yielded is for the purpose of debate only.

Mr. Speaker, House Resolution 77 is an open rule providing for consideration of H.R. 514, the Wireless Privacy Enhancement Act, a bill that will improve wireless communication privacy and make it more difficult for scanners to be altered for unlawful purposes. H. Res. 77 is a wide-open rule providing 1 hour of general debate equally divided and controlled by the chairman and ranking minority member of the Committee on Commerce.

The rule waives points of order against consideration of the bill for failure to comply with clause 4(a) of Rule 13 which requires a 3-day layover for committee reports, and the rule provides that each section of the bill shall be considered as read.

H. Res. 77 further allows the Chairman of the Committee of the Whole to accord priority in recognition to those Members who have preprinted their amendments in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD prior to their consideration.

The rule also allows the Chairman of the Committee of the Whole to postpone recorded votes and to reduce to 5 minutes the voting time on any postposed question provided voting time on the first in any series of questions is not less than 15 minutes. Finally, the rule provides one motion to recommit, with or without instructions, as is the right of the minority.

Mr. Speaker, when an American citizen picks up his telephone, we want to believe that the right to privacy is protecting us. Unfortunately, the rapid advent of technology makes it easy to intercept phone calls rather easily, and relatively simple modifications to devices can provide anyone with an electronic scanning device. The bill before us today is designed to ensure that the current penalties for intercepting and dividing communications are strengthened.
for violators and encouraging the use of warning labels by the manufacturers of scanners and parts.

The bill also addresses the concern that current prohibitions on the manufacture of scanners capable of receiving cellular communications do not specifically prohibit the use of other wireless technology such as personal communications and paging services. In addition, current statutes require both interception and divulgence of communications to trigger a violation, which special recognizes a relaxed attitude among those that intercept communications. To fix the weakness in the current statute, H.R. 514 will protect privacy and provide effective enforcement mechanisms.

A point of concern has been made about police, fire, and other emergency service communications, and I do believe that the assistance of the emergency service personnel should not be interrupted. It is my understanding that language in the committee report will explain that nothing in the bill is intended to interfere with the lawful reception of these emergency communications.

Finally, I want to congratulate the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson) for her hard work in drafting this legislation. She has played an instrumental role in guiding this bill through the committee process and deserves special recognition for leadership on this issue. I certainly expect that her management of this bill on the House floor today will ensure its passage with the support of an overwhelming majority of Members.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 514 will directly improve wireless communications privacy, and this legislation was approved by the Committee on Commerce without amendment by voice vote. We will have ample time to discuss the merits of the bill during the general debate later today.

This is a fair rule, and I urge my colleagues to support it so that we may proceed with general debate and consider this bipartisan bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

(Ms. SLAUGHTER asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, today will be the last day of service of my aide on the Committee on Rules Thomas Bantle who came with me from our hometown in 1986, and during those years Tom has served with great distinction in my office and for the people of the 28th congressional district. But this is the time when I was the Chair of the Organization, Study and Review Committee, he had a great impact on the rules of the House, and I want to thank him for the great service that he is given me with integrity and fairness, and wish him the very best in his new post.

Mr. Speaker, I want to thank my colleagues, the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. LINDER), for yielding me the customary 30 minutes, and I rise in support of this open rule providing for the consideration of H.R. 514, the Wireless Privacy Enhancement Act.

Similar legislation passed the House in the 104th Congress as H.R. 414, the Electronic Privacy Enhancement Act. While the Senate took no action on the bill, the need for this kind of privacy protection requires us to move ahead this year in the hopes that the legislation can soon become law.

Mr. Speaker, current legislation provides protection for older technology wireless communications, but this bill extends that protection to newer technology including digital wireless communication. In addition, the bill requires the Federal Communications Commission to step up its enforcement actions against the violations of the newly-expanded privacy laws. H.R. 514 also prohibits the manufacture or modification of off-the-shelf radio scanners that could intercept digital cellular communications, and this updates federal law to deal with the changes in technology since the 1986 Electronic Communications Privacy Act became law.

Mr. Speaker, passage of this legislation might stop some of the predatory practices that threaten the privacy of millions of cellular conversations placed each and every day. I urge support of this open rule, and I support the underlying bill.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for speakers, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LINDER. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time, and I move the previous question on the resolution.

The previous question was ordered. A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 77 and rule XVIII, the Chair designates the House in the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the consideration of the bill, H.R. 514.

IN THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

Accordingly, the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the consideration of the bill (H.R. 514) to amend the Communications Act of 1934 to strengthen and clarify prohibitions on electronic eavesdropping, and for other purposes, with Mr. LAHOOD in the chair.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The CHAIRMAN. Pursuant to the rule, the bill is considered as having been read the first time.

Under the rule, the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. TAUZIN) and the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MARKET) each will control 30 minutes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the bill is considered as having been read the first time.

Mr. Chairman, I want to thank the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson) for introducing H.R. 514 and for shepherding this important bill through the Subcommittee on Telecommunications of the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. Chairman, I want to thank the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson) for introducing H.R. 514 and for shepherding this important bill through the Subcommittee on Telecommunications of the Committee on Commerce. I want to thank my friend, the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MARKET), and his staff, again for the excellent cooperation and again the bipartisan spirit that our committee so often shows in these telecommunication issues and other matters before our committee.

We begin our review of this issue in the 105th Congress. Two years ago the Subcommittee on Telecommunications held a hearing on wireless privacy. What our Members learned at that hearing was astonishing. Off-the-shelf scanners can be easily modified to turn them into electronic eavesdropping devices.

With the clip of a wire, a scanner can pick up a cellular conversation in a nearby vicinity. In fact, we actually did that. I demonstrated the soldering of a small wire and within 3 minutes converted a scanner, a legal scanner, into an illegal scanner. I gave it to my friend, the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MARKET), and helped with the demonstration by making a private telephone conversation.

We picked it up in the committee room, with his consent in advance, and we listened to him as he plotted an overthrow of the committee, a coup d'etat, and we demonstrated in fact how easy it was to listen to somebody's private conversation.

I want everyone to know that we thwarted that coup d'etat, and we have been good friends ever since.

What our Members indeed learned was the potential for privacy protection not only in America, and although current law and FCC rules prohibit such eavesdropping, the technology was readily available to intercept cellular phone calls.

We also learned at the hearing that some people believed that the present law did not prohibit them from modifying legal scanners to turn them into eavesdropping devices. In fact, a whole modification industry had developed. It sells legally advertised products by mail and over the Internet, complete with easy-to-follow instructions on how to listen in on neighbors.

H.R. 514 was introduced to crack down on those modification scanners and to prevent a new scanning market from developing for new digital wireless services. The bill prohibits the modification of legal scanners for that purpose. It requires the FCC to adopt regulations that extend current protections against this, and places a new digital service, such as the personal communication services; protecting the paging and specialized mobile services, the new digital so-called secure communications, to make sure they remain secure.

What our Members discovered was a residual belief out there, harkening to the early days of radio, that because there was a right to listen at will, all communications traversing over them are public as well. We discovered an almost right-to-listen mentality, and that mentality is directly inconsistent with cellular users’ expectations and, of course, with the growth of wireless communication services that promise so much good for our personal and our professional lives.

Our Members were disturbed by such a callousness for privacy of communications, an intent on establishing the policy that, regardless of the media, private communications deserved to remain private. H.R. 514, therefore, provides that interception alone of wireless communications is illegal. Current provisions in the Communications Act and the ones that an interception without divulgence is legal. In other words, eavesdropping alone is not illegal under the Communications Act today.

Divulgence alone is also prohibited. Existing Communications Act provisions prohibit a person from divulging an intercepted communications, wireless or otherwise. While we abhor electronic stalking and the violation of privacy rights divulgences bring, we did not intend for this to be an unintentional behavior. We therefore prohibit in H.R. 514 only intentional interception.

The gentlewoman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson), who has done such a great job on this bill, will offer an amendment today that will clarify that our intent is only to punish divulgences that is in fact intentional. The unintentional divulgences will not be punished. I thank her in advance for her efforts to safeguard the consumers’ privacy, while ensuring that first amendment rights are not in fact hemmed by our bill.

When we first began our examination 2 years ago, we were dismayed that the FCC, the most likely enforcer of violations against scanning abuses, was deferring to the FBI and the Justice Department for enforcement. These law enforcement agencies obviously have serious crimes to investigate, so often eavesdropping on private communications violations was simply not pursued. We were surprised to hear this, despite the fact that one of our witnesses at our hearings 2 years ago, the FBI official in charge of the TWA crash investigation on Long Island, told us that FBI agents were unable to use their cellular phones during that investigation because the press was scanning and then divulging their intercepted calls when writing articles about the investigation, in fact hampering their ability to find what had happened in that awful plane crash.

This illegal interception and divulgence of communications over commercial cellular services was hampering a major FBI investigation. Because of the current lack of aggressive enforcement, the bill now requires that the FCC, regardless of what other enforcement agencies are doing, that they must investigate alleged violations and then take action to prevent them.

H.R. 514 leaves undisturbed legitimate uses of scanners. Let me say it again for all Members. This bill does not affect the legitimate scanner, the legal scanner, that are used for public safety channels or listening to NASCAR communications for automobile races. Legal scanners, not modified to listen to your cellular phone, are legal today, will remain legal tomorrow. The bill only seeks to prohibit the interception of communications for services that are exclusively allocated for commercial service, for which consumers have the expectation of privacy. We believe we have successfully balanced a number of competing concerns, and I ask all Members to vote for this very good bill.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Markey. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, first, I want to commend the chairman, the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. Tauzin), for bringing this bill to the floor today and to thank him for the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. Bileley), who led the way in which the minority have been treated on this excellent bipartisan legislation. We have crafted this bill over a couple-of-year period, and it reflects that very close consultation between majority and minority that has always characterized the Subcommittee on Telecommunications, Trade and Consumer Protection. And I want to particularly single out the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson) for her work on this issue. She’s been very helpful to us in fine-tuning it in her brief time here on the committee, and she is the lead sponsor here today, and I want to thank her for her work on this legislation.

The bill that we have before us today offered by the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson) is essentially the same wireless scanner legislation that the House of Representatives overwhelmingly approved last session. No action was taken, and the Senate did not pass it. So we return early this session, under the leadership of the subcommittee chairman, the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. Tauzin), and the chairman, the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. Bileley), to approve it again in the Senate so that the other body will do likewise.

There is a very important amendment that the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson) has crafted, which I think should be included. This legislation modifies the wireless scanner prohibitions contained in the Communications Act and updates them to address digital wireless technologies. The legislation clarifies our intention that legally protected conversations should not be readily available to scanners that are capable of intercepting communications in frequencies allocated to new wireless communications, namely personal communications services and protected paging and specialized mobile radio services.

Second, the bill prohibits the modifying of scanners and requires the Federal Communications Commission to strengthen its rules to prevent the modification of scanning receivers. This is very important, because we committee records from this year and last year make clear that some entities are restoring scanners that comply with the Federal Communications rules so that these scanners can obtain protection under the bill.

Third, the bill makes it illegal to intentionally or divulge the content of radio communications. Finally, penalties are increased for violations; and the legislation requires the Commission to move expeditiously on investigations of alleged violations. Mr. Chairman, I think it is important that we point out that digital cellular, the next generation of cellular services, and digital personal communications services are less susceptible to unauthorized eavesdropping than analogue cellular that most people in our country have been using over the last decade. Yet, digital cellular and PCS are not completely immune from eavesdropping because, in a never-ending saga of technical one-upmanship, the equipment for intercepting digital calls and converting digital conversations are becoming more available and more affordable. Therefore, such digital scanners remain vastly more expensive and complex than existing off-the-shelf scanners that intercept analogue communications. However, one of the purposes of the bill is to prevent a market from developing for less expensive digital scanners by clearly prohibiting the authorization of such scanners by the Federal Communications Commission.

In the final analysis, Mr. Chairman, consumers will best be protected through a combination of consumer education, scanner prohibitions that are enforceable today and the implementation of encryption technology so that consumers can encode their own conversations and their own private data. For this reason, we must make sure that the United States encryption policy avails consumers of the opportunity to utilize the best, most sophisticated technology, so that they can help to protect their privacy and urge the wireless industry to help make these encryption technologies available to consumers in an affordable way.

Mr. Chairman, this is a good bill, and I want to again commend the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. Taupin) and the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. Biley), because the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Dingell) and I and the other Members on our side feel that we were very fairly treated. We feel it is a good piece of legislation. We compliment the chairman, the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson) and all involved in it.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TAUPIN. Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as she may consume to the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson), a new, extremely bright new voice, on our committee and the author of the legislation.

Mr. Chairman, I think the gentleman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson) is correct, the American public has come to expect a certain degree of privacy in the phones in our homes and in our offices, but it needs to be expanded today, and that is what this bill is all about.

We should not have companies in America advertising scanners that can be easily modified to pick up private conversations, but it needs to be expanded today, and that is what this bill is all about. We should not have companies in America advertising scanners that can be easily modified to pick up private conversations, but we need to give it to the American public.

Mr. Chairman, I want to commend the gentleman from Virginia (Chairman Biley) and the gentleman from Louisiana (Chairman Taupin), as well as the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Mark) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Dingell), on this bill for so long and tolerating some of the tweaking that we have been doing to it. Their staffs have been very cooperative, and I think we have a good, solid piece of legislation that is supported by both sides of the aisle.

Mr. Chairman, I appreciate particularly the prompt action of the gentleman from Louisiana in bringing this to the floor today. This bill will give Americans privacy they expect and they deserve, and I thank him for his leadership.

Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson) on behalf of all of us on the committee for the excellent job on this bill, and I look forward to working with her on many other high-tech issues as we learn them together.

Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Rhode Island, Virginia (Mr. Biley), who is not only the chairman of our Committee on Commerce but the chairman of what we consider to be the most important committee in the House of Representatives.

Mr. BLILEY. Mr. Chairman, yesterday, the House considered and passed the first of a couple of bills and, like its brother of yesterday, the bill before us today both increases the usefulness of wireless services for our constituents and promotes an important public interest.

The bill will increase the privacy of the 70-odd million subscribers to wireless services in this country. The bill outlawed modifications of off-the-shelf scanners to intercept personal wireless communications, and it forbids the FCC to modify or develop frequencies for public service and amateur radio.

Mr. Chairman, I want to commend the gentleman from Louisiana (Chairman Taupin) and the gentleman from Virginia (Chairman Biley) and the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Mark) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Dingell) on this bill for so long and tolerating some of the tweaking that we have been doing to it. Their staffs have been very cooperative, and I think we have a good, solid piece of legislation that is supported by both sides of the aisle.

Mr. Chairman, I appreciate particularly the prompt action of the gentleman from Louisiana in bringing this to the floor today. This bill will give Americans privacy they expect and they deserve, and I thank him for his leadership.

Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson) on behalf of all of us on the committee for the excellent job on this bill, and I look forward to working with her on many other high-tech issues as we learn them together.

Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Rhode Island, Virginia (Mr. Biley), who is not only the chairman of our Committee on Commerce but the chairman of what we consider to be the most important committee in the House of Representatives.

Mr. BLILEY. Mr. Chairman, yesterday, the House considered and passed the first of a couple of bills and, like its brother of yesterday, the bill before us today both increases the usefulness of wireless services for our constituents and promotes an important public interest.

The bill will increase the privacy of the 70-odd million subscribers to wireless services in this country. The bill outlawed modifications of off-the-shelf scanners to intercept personal wireless communications, and it forbids the FCC to modify or develop frequencies for public service and amateur radio.

Mr. Chairman, I want to commend the gentleman from Louisiana (Chairman Taupin) and the gentleman from Virginia (Chairman Biley) and the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Mark) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Dingell) on this bill for so long and tolerating some of the tweaking that we have been doing to it. Their staffs have been very cooperative, and I think we have a good, solid piece of legislation that is supported by both sides of the aisle.

Mr. Chairman, I appreciate particularly the prompt action of the gentleman from Louisiana in bringing this to the floor today. This bill will give Americans privacy they expect and they deserve, and I thank him for his leadership.

Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson) on behalf of all of us on the committee for the excellent job on this bill, and I look forward to working with her on many other high-tech issues as we learn them together.

Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Rhode Island, Virginia (Mr. Biley), who is not only the chairman of our Committee on Commerce but the chairman of what we consider to be the most important committee in the House of Representatives.

Mr. BLILEY. Mr. Chairman, yesterday, the House considered and passed the first of a couple of bills and, like its brother of yesterday, the bill before us today both increases the usefulness of wireless services for our constituents and promotes an important public interest.

The bill will increase the privacy of the 70-odd million subscribers to wireless services in this country. The bill outlawed modifications of off-the-shelf scanners to intercept personal wireless communications, and it forbids the FCC to modify or develop frequencies for public service and amateur radio.

Mr. Chairman, I want to commend the gentleman from Louisiana (Chairman Taupin) and the gentleman from Virginia (Chairman Biley) and the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Mark) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Dingell) on this bill for so long and tolerating some of the tweaking that we have been doing to it. Their staffs have been very cooperative, and I think we have a good, solid piece of legislation that is supported by both sides of the aisle.

Mr. Chairman, I appreciate particularly the prompt action of the gentleman from Louisiana in bringing this to the floor today. This bill will give Americans privacy they expect and they deserve, and I thank him for his leadership.

Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson) on behalf of all of us on the committee for the excellent job on this bill, and I look forward to working with her on many other high-tech issues as we learn them together.

Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Rhode Island, Virginia (Mr. Biley), who is not only the chairman of our Committee on Commerce but the chairman of what we consider to be the most important committee in the House of Representatives.

Mr. BLILEY. Mr. Chairman, yesterday, the House considered and passed the first of a couple of bills and, like its brother of yesterday, the bill before us today both increases the usefulness of wireless services for our constituents and promotes an important public interest.

The bill will increase the privacy of the 70-odd million subscribers to wireless services in this country. The bill outlawed modifications of off-the-shelf scanners to intercept personal wireless communications, and it forbids the FCC to modify or develop frequencies for public service and amateur radio.

Mr. Chairman, I want to commend the gentleman from Louisiana (Chairman Taupin) and the gentleman from Virginia (Chairman Biley) and the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Mark) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Dingell) on this bill for so long and tolerating some of the tweaking that we have been doing to it. Their staffs have been very cooperative, and I think we have a good, solid piece of legislation that is supported by both sides of the aisle.

Mr. Chairman, I appreciate particularly the prompt action of the gentleman from Louisiana in bringing this to the floor today. This bill will give Americans privacy they expect and they deserve, and I thank him for his leadership.

Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson) on behalf of all of us on the committee for the excellent job on this bill, and I look forward to working with her on many other high-tech issues as we learn them together.

Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Rhode Island, Virginia (Mr. Biley), who is not only the chairman of our Committee on Commerce but the chairman of what we consider to be the most important committee in the House of Representatives.

Mr. BLILEY. Mr. Chairman, yesterday, the House considered and passed the first of a couple of bills and, like its brother of yesterday, the bill before us today both increases the usefulness of wireless services for our constituents and promotes an important public interest.

The bill will increase the privacy of the 70-odd million subscribers to wireless services in this country. The bill outlawed modifications of off-the-shelf scanners to intercept personal wireless communications, and it forbids the FCC to modify or develop frequencies for public service and amateur radio.

Mr. Chairman, I want to commend the gentleman from Louisiana (Chairman Taupin) and the gentleman from Virginia (Chairman Biley) and the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Mark) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Dingell) on this bill for so long and tolerating some of the tweaking that we have been doing to it. Their staffs have been very cooperative, and I think we have a good, solid piece of legislation that is supported by both sides of the aisle.

Mr. Chairman, I appreciate particularly the prompt action of the gentleman from Louisiana in bringing this to the floor today. This bill will give Americans privacy they expect and they deserve, and I thank him for his leadership.

Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson) on behalf of all of us on the committee for the excellent job on this bill, and I look forward to working with her on many other high-tech issues as we learn them together.

Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Rhode Island, Virginia (Mr. Biley), who is not only the chairman of our Committee on Commerce but the chairman of what we consider to be the most important committee in the House of Representatives.

Mr. BLILEY. Mr. Chairman, yesterday, the House considered and passed the first of a couple of bills and, like its brother of yesterday, the bill before us today both increases the usefulness of wireless services for our constituents and promotes an important public interest.

The bill will increase the privacy of the 70-odd million subscribers to wireless services in this country. The bill outlawed modifications of off-the-shelf scanners to intercept personal wireless communications, and it forbids the FCC to modify or develop frequencies for public service and amateur radio.

Mr. Chairman, I want to commend the gentleman from Louisiana (Chairman Taupin) and the gentleman from Virginia (Chairman Biley) and the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Mark) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Dingell) on this bill for so long and tolerating some of the tweaking that we have been doing to it. Their staffs have been very cooperative, and I think we have a good, solid piece of legislation that is supported by both sides of the aisle.

Mr. Chairman, I appreciate particularly the prompt action of the gentleman from Louisiana in bringing this to the floor today. This bill will give Americans privacy they expect and they deserve, and I thank him for his leadership.

Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson) on behalf of all of us on the committee for the excellent job on this bill, and I look forward to working with her on many other high-tech issues as we learn them together.

Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Rhode Island, Virginia (Mr. Biley), who is not only the chairman of our Committee on Commerce but the chairman of what we consider to be the most important committee in the House of Representatives.
(Mrs. Wilson) and the gentleman from Louisiana (Chairman Tauzin), as well as the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Markey), ranking member of the subcommittee, and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Dingell), ranking member of the committee.

Mr. Tauzin. Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Markey. Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. Tauzin. Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time. I may consume. I yield myself to the gentleman from Virginia (Chairman Bliley) in helping us to move this legislation to the floor, as well as to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Dingell) and the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Markey) for their excellent cooperation.

Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. JACKSON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, thank you for giving me this opportunity to address this important bill, H.R. 514, that will extend our federal privacy protections to protect the users of wireless technologies.

Many historians would agree, that it is our country’s long tradition of innovation and ingenuity that made us, and keeps us, a superpower. However, the rewards of innovation do not always come without a price.

First, there is the cost of developing the innovation. Our government often participates in that innovation through agencies and programs like NASA, the Science Foundation (NSF), and the Advanced Technology Program (ATP).

Second, new technologies often have hidden costs. One example is the Y2K problem, which manifested itself in part because technology developers did not believe that their products would still be in use in the 21st century.

Third and unfortunately, because the law is sometimes unable to adjust quickly enough to these rapidly-changing technologies, there are other costs that come about because of fraudulent or criminal activity. This bill addresses one such problem that has developed because of the rise in the use of wireless technologies, such as cellular phones.

With the demand for wireless technologies growing at a near-exponential rate, we have seen the development of technologies that are capable of intercepting wireless transmissions, and in some instances, decoding those transmissions. That means that with a simply modifi ed scanner, an individual with criminal intentions could readily listen into a cellular phone conversation.

Furthermore, there are some scanners that even have the ability to decode the digital transmissions that up until now were a strong selling point for high-end cellular phones. Many of the purchasers of digital phones, in fact, purchased them in part because they felt that their conversations and cellular phone profiles are more secure than with the use of analog technology.

In an effort to better protect those consumers, and in fact, all consumers of wireless technologies, by making it illegal to intentionally intercept or disclose any wireless communication. By criminalizing both behaviors, we will be protecting all consumers from the fraudulent and misuse of their conversations and transmissions.

It is our responsibility as a Congress to preserve the principles put forth in our Constitution. I feel that this bill is a logical extension of the Right of Privacy recognized by the Supreme Court in Griswold v. Connecticut, 381 U.S. 479 (1965), and I support this bill as a result.

I urge all of you to vote in favor of this bill, and to further protect our citizens from high-tech fraud.

Mr. Paul. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to H.R. 514, and in support of the Wilson amendment. The passage of this legislation will, as does so much of the legislation we pass, move our nation yet another step close to a national police state by further expanding a federal crime, making our federal police—this time at the Federal Communications Commission. Despite recent and stern warnings by both former U.S. attorney general Edwin Meese III and current U.S. Supreme Court Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist, the Congress seems compelled to ride the current wave of federalism. Every human mislead in the name of saving the world from some evil rather than to uphold a Constitutional oath which prescribes a procedural structure by which the nation is protected from totalitarianism.

Our federal government is, constitutionally, a government of limited powers. Article one, Section eight, enumerates the legislative areas for which the U.S. Congress is allowed to act or enact legislation. For every issue, the federal government lacks any authority or consent of the governed and only the state governments, their designees, or the people in their private market actions enjoy such rights to governance. The tenth amendment is brutally clear in stating “The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.”

Our nation’s history makes clear that the U.S. Constitution is a document intended to limit the power of central government. No serious reading of historical events surrounding the creation of the Constitution can reasonably portray it differently. Of course, there will be those who will hand their constitutional “hats” on the interstate commerce or general welfare clauses, both of which have been popular “headgear” since the plunge into New Deal Socialism.

Perhaps, more dangerous is the loss of another Constitutional protection which comes with the passage of more and more federal criminal legislation. Constitutionally, there are only three federal crimes. These are treason against the United States, piracy on the high seas, and counterfeiting (and, as mentioned above, for a short period of history, the manufacture, sale, or transport of alcohol was considered a federal and state crime). "Concur-
February 25, 1999

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD – HOUSE

H805

During consideration of the bill for amendment, the Chair may accord priority in recognition to a Member offering an amendment that has been printed in the designated place in the Congressional Record. Those amendments will be considered first.

The Chair: The Chair of the Committee of the Whole may postpone a request for recorded vote on any amendment and may reduce to a minimum of 5 minutes the time for voting on any postponed question that immediately follows another question that the chair has determined that a vote on the first question shall be a minimum of 15 minutes.

The Clerk will designate section 1.

The text of section 1 is as follows:

A bill enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Wireless Privacy Enhancement Act of 1999''.

The CHAIRMAN. Are there any amendments to section 1?

The Clerk will designate section 2.

The text of section 2 is as follows:

SEC. 2. COMMERCE IN ELECTRONIC EAVESDROPPING DEVICES.

(a) PROHIBITION ON MODIFICATION.—Section 302(b) of the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U.S.C. 302a(b)) is amended by inserting before the period at the end thereof the following: "for the purposes of unauthorized interception of communications shall intentionally divulge'';

(b) PROHIBITION ON COMMERCE IN SCANNING RECEIVERS.—Section 302(d) of such Act (47 U.S.C. 302a(d)) is amended to read as follows:

"(c) EQUIPMENT AUTHORIZATION REGULATIONS.—

"(1) PRIVACY PROTECTIONS REQUIRED.—The Commission shall prescribe regulations, and review and revise such regulations as necessary in response to subsequent changes in technology or behavior, denying equipment authorization (under part 15 of title 47, Code of Federal Regulations, or any other part of that title) for any scanning receiver that is capable of—

"(A) receiving transmissions in the frequency allocated to the domestic cellular radio telecommunications service or the personal communications service;

"(B) readily being altered to receive transmissions in such frequencies;

"(C) being equipped with decoders that—"(i) convert digital domestic cellular radio telecommunications service, personal communications service, or protected specialized mobile radio service transmissions to analog voice audio; or

"(ii) convert protected paging service transmissions to analog voice audio;

"(D) being equipped with devices that otherwise decode encrypted radio transmissions for the purposes of unauthorized interception.

"(2) PRIVACY PROTECTIONS FOR SHARED FREQUENCIES.—The Commission shall, with respect to scanning receivers capable of receiving transmissions in frequencies that are used by commercial mobile services and that are shared by public safety users, examine methods, and may prescribe such regulations as may be necessary to enhance the privacy of users of such frequencies.

"(3) TAMPERING PREVENTION.—In prescribing regulations pursuant to paragraph (1), the Commission shall consider defining capable of readily being altered' to require scanning receivers to be manufactured in a manner that effectively precludes alteration of equipment features and functions as necessary to prevent commerce in devices that may be unlawfuly intercepted or divulged radio communications, or no person having intercepted such communication shall intentionally divulge'';

"(4) WARNING LABELS.—In prescribing regulations under paragraph (1), the Commission shall consider requiring labels on scanning receivers or any Federal law on intentionally intercepting or divulging radio communications.

"(5) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this subsection, "transmissions" means secured by an electronic method that is not published or disclosed except to authorized users, as further defined by Commission regulation.

"(c) IMPLEMENTING REGULATIONS.—Within 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Federal Communications Commission shall prescribe amendments to its regulations for the purposes of implementing the amendments made by this section.

The CHAIRMAN. Are there any amendments to section 2?

The text of section 3 is as follows:

SEC. 3. UNAUTHORIZED INTERCEPTION OR PUBLICATION OF COMMUNICATIONS.

Section 705 of the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U.S.C. 605) is amended—

(1) in the heading of such section, by inserting "INTERCEPTION or" after "UNAUTHORIZED-

(2) in the first sentence of subsection (a), by striking "Except as authorized by chapter 119, title 18, United States Code," and inserting "No person shall intentionally intercept.";

(3) in the second sentence of subsection (a)—

(A) by inserting "intentionally" before "intercept"; and

(B) by striking "and divulge" and inserting "or divulge";

(4) by striking the last sentence of subsection (a) and inserting the following: "Nothing in this subsection prohibits an interception or disclosure of a communication as authorized by chapter 119 of title 18, United States Code.

(5) in subsection (b)—

(A) by striking "fined not more than $2,000 or"; and

(B) by inserting "or fined under title 18, United States Code," after "6 months.

(6) in subsection (e)(3), by striking "any violation" and inserting "any receipt, interception, diversion, publication, or utilization of any communication in violation of subsection (e)(1) or (e)(2)"; and

(7) in subsection (e)(4), by striking "any other activity prohibited by subsection (a) and inserting "any receipt, interception, diversion, publication, or utilization of any communication in violation of subsection (e)(1)";

(8) by adding at the end of subsection (e) the following new paragraph:

(7) Notwithstanding any other investigation or enforcement activities of any other Federal agency, the Commission shall investigate alleged violations of this section and may proceed to initiate action under section 503 of this Act to impose forfeiture penalties with respect to such violation upon conclusion of the Commission's investigation.

The CHAIRMAN. Are there any amendments to section 3?

AMENDMENT OFFERED BY MRS. WILSON

Mrs. WILSON. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment offered by Mrs. WILSON:

Page 5, strike lines 14 and 15 and insert the following:

(B) by striking "communication and divulging communications, or no person having intercepted such a communication shall intentionally divulge'';

(4) in the fourth sentence of subsection (a)—

(A) by inserting "(A)" after "intercepted, shall'; and

(B) by striking "thereof or" and inserting "thereof); and (B)".

Page 5, line 16, strike "(4)" and insert "(5)".

Page 5, line 21, strike "(5)" and insert "(6)".

Page 6, line 1, strike "(6)" and insert "(7)".

Page 6, line 5, strike "(7)" and insert "(8)".

Page 6, line 10, strike "(8)" and insert "(9)".

Mrs. WILSON. Mr. Chairman, concern was raised during the consideration of this bill by several folks who were concerned about first amendment rights. It was a drafting point, but it needed to be fixed in order to make it perfectly clear. We do not want to make it a crime to divulge or publish information that someone does not know came from an intercepted cell call. That would criminalize unintentional acts.

Mr. Chairman, say a reporter gets a scoop from a source, not knowing that it came from an intercepted call, for example. We do not want that to be a crime, even if the interception is a crime. But we do wish to prohibit people divulging information that they know was illegally intercepted, even if they were not the ones that actually intercepted the call. If we did not do that, that would be a loophole to drive a truck through.

How could that happen? Let us say I am illegally monitoring call cells, whether for pleasure or just systemati-ically, and I intercept a cell call of a business. That is the boring kind of person who talks about information on a bid that he is going to give on a job. I give it to my buddy, and my buddy divulges it and other builder or divulges it publicly. It should be a crime to divulge the information if one knows that it came from an intercepted call. It should be a crime for me to do it or for my buddy to do it, if he knows that I have been scanning those calls.

This amendment makes that clarification, that it is a crime to intentionally intercept. It is a crime to intentionally divulge. It is not a crime to divulge it if one does not know where the information came from. It sounds a little bit confusing, but this amendment will protect first amendment rights while criminalizing eavesdropping and those who are a part of eavesdropping schemes.

Mr. MARKEY. Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of the amendment.

Mr. Chairman, this is a very important clarifying amendment that the amendment will protect innocent people from being swept up in a statute which is clearly aimed at wrongdoers. I want to congratulate the gentleman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson) for this important refinement, which I think at the point of enforcement is going to be very helpful to law enforcement officials because it will make it quite clear what it was that Congress intended. I would urge all Members to support the amendment.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Mrs. Wilson).

The amendment was agreed to.

The CHAIRMAN. Are there any further amendments to the bill?

If there are no further amendments, under the rule the committee now rises.

Accordingly, the Committee rose, and the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. Young of Florida) having assumed the chair, Mr. LAHOOD, Chairman of the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union, reported that that Committee, having had under consideration the bill (H.R. 514) to amend the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986 to strengthen and clarify prohibitions on electronic eavesdropping, and for other purposes, pursuant to House Resolution 77, he reported the bill back to the House with an amendment adopted by the Committee of the Whole.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the present rule, the question is ordered.

The question is on the amendment.

The amendment was agreed to.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the engrossment and third reading of the bill.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, and was read the third time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the passage of the bill.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. TAUZIN. Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Evidently, a quorum is not present.

The Sergeant at Arms will notify absent Members.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yea 403, nays 3, not voting 28, as follows:

[Roll No. 28]

YEAS—403

Capuano
Carlin
Carson
Castle Chabot
Chambliss
Chenoweth
Clay
Clayton Clyburn
Coburn
Collins
Combrest
Condit
Conyers
Cook
Cooksey
Costello
Cox
Coyne
Cramer
Crenshaw
Crowley
Cubin
Cummins
Eckart
Ehlers
Engel English
Eskridge
Evans
Everett
Ewing
Farr
Fattah
Findley
Fletcher
Foley
Forbes
Ford Fossella
Fowler
Franks (NJ)
Frelinghuysen
Frost
Gallegly
Ganske
Gejdenson
Gekas
Gibbons
Gilchrest
Gilmore
Gillman
Gonzalez
Gooden
Goodlatte
Goss
Graham
Granger
Green (TX)
Green (VA)
Greenwood
Gutierrez
Guittierez
Hall
Hansen
Hasdings (FL)
Hasdings (WA)
Hayes
Hayworth
Mink
Mollohan
Moore
Moran (KS)
Moran (VA)
Morela
Murtha
Myrick
Nader
Napolitano
Neal
Nethercutt Newman
Northup
Norwood
Nussle
Obey
Olivier Ortiz
Osborne
Oxley
Packard
Palone
Pastor
Pascarella Paso
Patterson (PA)
Petri
Pettigrew
Pickering
Pickett
Pombo
Pomeroy Portman
Price (NC)
Prue (OH)
Quinn
Radler
Rahall
Ramstad
Rangel
Reid
Reintert
Reyna
Rogers
Roman Rohrabacher
Roesler
Rogers
Rod
Ross
Rowan
Roth
Rothbauer
Royce
Roybal
Rubenstein
Ruckelshaus
Ruppersberger
Ryan (CA)
Ryan (FL)
Ryan (NC)
Ryan (WA)
Sabo
Sadler
Sellers
Sensenbrenner
Serrano Sessions
Shadegg
Shadid
Shay
Sherrill
Sherwood
Shimkus
Shuster
Simpson
Siskak
Skeen
Slaughter
Smith (NC)
Smith (TX)
Smolla
Smith (WA)
Snyder
Soto
Spratt
Sulak
Sweeney
Taylor
Terry
Thomas
Thompson (CA)
Thompson (MS)
Thornberry
Thune

NAYS—3

Hinchen
McDermott
Paul

NOT VOTING—28

Ackerman
Bouck
Capps
Davis (VA)
Dickey
Eshoo
Frank (MA)
Gephardt
Goodling
kasich
Pelosi

Mr. HINCHEN changed his vote from “yea” to “nay.”

So the bill was passed.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Stated for:

Ms. LEE. Mr. Speaker, on rollcall No. 28, I was traveling with the Chairman, Subcommittee on Africa and was unavoidably absent for the vote on H.R. 514. Had I been present, I would have voted “yes.”

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, regrettably I was unavoidably detained for rollcall vote 28. Had I been present, I would have voted “yes.”

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

Mr. KASICH. Mr. Speaker, on Thursday, February 25, 1999, I was unavoidably detained and unable to record a vote by electronic device on roll No. 28. Had I been present, I would have voted “aye” on roll No. 28.

On Thursday, February 25, 1999, I was unavoidably detained and unable to record a vote by electronic device on roll No. 28. Had I been present, I would have voted “aye” on roll No. 28.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

Mrs. CAPPS. Mr. Speaker, due to a family illness I was unable to attend votes this week. Had I been here I would have made the following votes: Rollcall No. 22—“aye”; rollcall No. 23—“aye”; rollcall No. 24—“aye”; rollcall No. 25—“aye”; rollcall No. 26—“aye”; rollcall No. 27—“aye”; rollcall No. 28—“aye”.

SUNDAY MESSAGES FROM THE PRESIDENT

Sundays in writing from the President of the United States were communicated to the House by Mr. Sherman Williams, one of his secretaries.
Mr. STRICKLAND. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to have my name removed as an original cosponsor of that bill. The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio? There was no objection.

GENERAL LEAVE
Mr. TAUZIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and to include extraneous material on the bill just passed, H.R. 334.

Mr. HALL of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Louisiana? There was no objection.

PROVIDING FOR CONSIDERATION OF H.R. 669, AMENDING PEACE CORPS ACT TO AUTHORIZE APPROPRIATIONS FOR FY 2000 THROUGH 2003 TO CARRY OUT THAT ACT
Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, by direction of the Committee on Rules, I call up House Resolution 83 and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk reads the resolution, as follows:

H. Res. 83
Resolved, That at any time after the adoption of this resolution the Speaker may, pursuant to clause 2(b) of rule X VIII, declare the House resolved into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for consideration of the bill (H.R. 669) to amend the Peace Corps Act to authorize appropriations for fiscal years 2000 through 2003 to carry out that Act. The first reading of the bill shall be dispensed with. General debate shall be confined to the bill and shall not exceed one hour equally divided and controlled by the chairman and the ranking minority member of the Committee on International Relations. After general debate the bill shall be considered for amendment under the five-minute rule. The bill shall be considered as read. During consideration of the bill for amendment, the chairman of the Committee of the Whole may accord priority in recognition on the basis of whether the Member offering an amendment has caused it to be printed in the portion of the Congressional Record designated for that purpose in clause 8 of rule XVIII. Amendments so printed shall be considered as read. The chairman of the Committee of the Whole may: (1) postpone until a time during further consideration in the Committee of the Whole a request for a recorded vote on any amendment; and (2) reduce to five minutes the minimum time for electronic voting on any postponed question that follows another electronic vote without intervening business, provided that the minimum time for electronic voting on the first in any series of questions shall be 15 minutes. At the conclusion of consideration of the bill for amendment the Committee shall rise and report the bill to the House with such amendments as may have been adopted. The provisions of this clause shall be considered as ordered on the bill and amendments thereto to final passage without intervening motion except one motion to recommit with or without instructions. The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Florida (Mr. DIAZ-BALART) is recognized for 1 hour.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, for purposes of debate only, I ask unanimous consent to have my name removed as an original cosponsor of H.R. 669, the Peace Corps Reauthorization Act. The purpose of the bill is to authorize funds for the Peace Corps for fiscal years 2000 through 2003, expanding the Peace Corps from the current number of volunteers to the goal of 10,000 by the year 2003.

The rule provides for the customary 1 hour of general debate equally divided and controlled by the chairman and the ranking minority member of the Committee on International Relations. In addition, the rule provides the bill shall be considered as read. The rule permits the Chair to grant priority in recognition to Members who have preprinted their amendments and consider them as read.

Further, as has become standard practice for open rules, the Chair is allowed to postpone votes and to reduce the time for electronic voting on postponed votes.

Finally, the rule provides for one motion to recommit with or without instructions.

Mr. Speaker, to keep our record of fair rules for the 106th Congress, I am pleased to report to the House that House Resolution 83 is another open rule that affords any Member the opportunity to offer any germane amendments.

H.R. 669, the Peace Corps Reauthorization Act, is in line with an effort started by President Reagan in 1985 to expand the Peace Corps to 10,000 volunteers. Since the Peace Corps was established, first by President Kennedy and affirmed by the 87th Congress, over 150,000 Americans have served in 134 countries and have learned 180 languages and dialects.

We are fortunate to have five former Peace Corps volunteers working with us in the U.S. House of Representatives: the gentleman from California (Mr. FARR), the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. HALL), the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. PETRI), the gentleman from Connecticut (Mr. SHAYS), and the gentleman from New York (Mr. WALSH).

I commend these gentlemen as well as the thousands of other volunteers for their tireless efforts in providing basic health and agriculture education, working so communities have access to clean water, as well as teaching English and American culture to extraordinary needy populations.

I am honored to serve on the Committee on Rules with my esteemed and distinguished colleague from Ohio (Mr. HALL), whose Peace Corps experience, no doubt, had much to do with his clear and long-time commitment to fighting hunger throughout the world. H.R. 669 fulfills the effort which President Reagan proposed in 1985 to expand the volunteer program to 10,000 volunteers, and its expansion has been requested by President Clinton. I urge my colleagues to support this open rule, this fair rule, and hope that they will give careful consideration to supporting the underlying positive legislation as well.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.
The Peace Corps represents the best that our country has to offer, I think. It brings together bright, dedicated, energetic young people into the tools to work in foreign countries as ambassadors of peace.

The Peace Corps is one of the best known and loved of our foreign aid programs. Its budget represents only a tiny fraction, about 1 percent, of our international affairs accounts. It is a remarkable return from a very modest investment.

Last month, I had the opportunity to visit the town in Thailand where I served as a Peace Corps volunteer. It is no longer this sleepy rural village I remembered but a very large urban center of a million people. The old school where I taught English was not only still standing but was thriving, and so were the lasting bonds of friendship that I established with so many wonderful people in that community.

I am pleased to be an original cosponsor of this bipartisan legislation. I urge adopion of the rule and the bill.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the open rule that will govern the debate for the Peace Corps Act (H.R. 669). This bill authorizes appropriations for fiscal year 2000 through 2003. This organization has a legacy of service that has become an important part of American history.

President John F. Kennedy first proposed the idea of the Peace Corps during a campaign stop at the University of Michigan in 1960. He challenged the students to give two years of their lives to help people in the developing world.

Since its inception, the Peace Corps has trained 150,000 volunteers to work in 134 countries. Some of these volunteers include members who have served here in the House: Representative SAM FARR of California, Representative TONY HALL of Ohio, Representative THOMAS PETRI of Wisconsin, Representative CHRISTOPHER SHAYS of Connecticut and Representative JAMES W. ALBANY of New York.

Currently there are 6,700 volunteers serving in 80 countries. The increased funding would allow the Peace Corps to expand to its goal of 10,000 volunteers. It would also allow the Peace Corps programs to expand to South Africa, Jordan, China, Bangladesh, Mozambique and other countries in Central Asia, the Middle East, South America, Eastern Europe and Africa.

The Peace Corps is an important part of our foreign assistance program. It helps communities gain access to clean water, grow food, prevent the spread of AIDS and work with to protect the environment.

I look forward to the improvements on this bill via the amendment process on the floor of the House. I urge my colleagues to vote in favor of the rule on this bill.

Mr. HALL of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time, and I move to reconsider the previous question on the resolution.

The previous question was ordered. The resolution was agreed to.
HOUR OF MEETING ON TUESDAY, MARCH 2, 1999

Mr. MILLER of Florida, Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that when the House adjourns on Monday, March 1, 1999, it adjourn to meet at 10:30 a.m. on Tuesday, March 2, 1999, for morning hour debate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Florida?
There was no objection.

DISPENSING WITH CALENDAR WEDNESDAY BUSINESS ON WEDNESDAY NEXT

Mr. MILLER of Florida, Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the business in order under the Calendar Wednesday rule be dispensed with on Wednesday next.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Florida?
There was no objection.

TASK FORCE AGUILA

(Mr. GIBBONS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GIBBONS, Mr. Speaker, General George Patton once said, “There is no limit to what you can accomplish, if you don’t care who gets the credit.” This quote is very fitting for the 5,000 men and women of Task Force Aguila, who left their homes and loved ones during the holidays last year to provide humanitarian relief to the victims of Hurricane Mitch.

As members of the Task Force prepare to end their mission, I feel it is important to take note of the following. Mr. Speaker, there are many accomplishments of our U.S. military in Central America that are not known by my colleagues here or, for that matter, most Americans; like the over 15,000 sick and injured people that were treated and cared for, the delivery of almost 2,000 tons of food and other humanitarian aid, millions of gallons of water purified, and the miles and miles of roads repaired and washed out bridges rebuilt.

COMPARABLE TREATMENT OF FEDERAL WORKERS, MEMBERS OF CONGRESS, AND THE PRESIDENT DURING FEDERAL GOVERNMENT SHUTDOWN

(Mr. STEARNS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STEARNS, Mr. Speaker, in the past when we shut the Federal Government down, the government employees were not paid but Members of Congress and the President and the Senate of course were. So today I am introducing legislation to provide for comparable treatment of Federal employees, Members of Congress, and the President if there is a Federal Government shutdown.

I think, in good conscience, if we are asking our Federal employees to suffer the consequences, then we in this House should, too. Maybe we would think more carefully about shutting this place down. If my colleagues believe, as I do, that it is only right and just that we also forgo our paychecks, then I hope they will join with me in asking Congress and the President to put their paychecks where our values are and not expect special treatment in the event we shut the Federal Government down. Show their support for Federal workers by cosponsoring my bill, which I intend to drop this morning. I look forward to the support of my colleagues.

SPECIAL ORDERS

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. LAHOO). Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 6, 1999, and under a previous order of the House, the following Members will be recognized for 5 minutes each.

ALLOCATIONS OF SPENDING AUTHORITY TO HOUSE COMMITTEES

[Committees other than Appropriations]

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Agriculture Committee:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Current Law</td>
<td>BA</td>
<td>17,337</td>
<td>9,727</td>
<td>8,499</td>
<td>6,967</td>
<td>2,710</td>
<td>45,268</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OT</td>
<td>34,885</td>
<td>5,927</td>
<td>5,729</td>
<td>4,374</td>
<td>31</td>
<td>36,966</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>BA</td>
<td>17,337</td>
<td>9,727</td>
<td>8,499</td>
<td>6,967</td>
<td>2,710</td>
<td>45,268</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OT</td>
<td>34,885</td>
<td>5,927</td>
<td>5,729</td>
<td>4,374</td>
<td>31</td>
<td>36,966</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td></td>
<td>52,222</td>
<td>15,654</td>
<td>13,276</td>
<td>11,384</td>
<td>25,430</td>
<td>82,638</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Armed Services Committee:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Current Law</td>
<td>BA</td>
<td>47,899</td>
<td>49,218</td>
<td>50,895</td>
<td>52,579</td>
<td>54,366</td>
<td>254,867</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OT</td>
<td>47,672</td>
<td>49,108</td>
<td>50,792</td>
<td>52,476</td>
<td>54,273</td>
<td>254,321</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>BA</td>
<td>47,899</td>
<td>49,218</td>
<td>50,895</td>
<td>52,579</td>
<td>54,366</td>
<td>254,867</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OT</td>
<td>47,672</td>
<td>49,108</td>
<td>50,792</td>
<td>52,476</td>
<td>54,273</td>
<td>254,321</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td></td>
<td>95,571</td>
<td>98,326</td>
<td>103,687</td>
<td>106,055</td>
<td>108,639</td>
<td>509,194</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Banking and Financial Services Committee:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Current Law</td>
<td>BA</td>
<td>3,442</td>
<td>4,586</td>
<td>5,431</td>
<td>5,297</td>
<td>5,027</td>
<td>23,783</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OT</td>
<td>474</td>
<td>2,016</td>
<td>473</td>
<td>24</td>
<td>196</td>
<td>1,453</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>BA</td>
<td>3,442</td>
<td>4,586</td>
<td>5,431</td>
<td>5,297</td>
<td>5,027</td>
<td>23,783</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OT</td>
<td>474</td>
<td>2,016</td>
<td>473</td>
<td>24</td>
<td>196</td>
<td>1,453</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td></td>
<td>3,916</td>
<td>6,600</td>
<td>5,704</td>
<td>5,521</td>
<td>5,223</td>
<td>35,236</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Committee on Education and the Workforce:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Current Law</td>
<td>BA</td>
<td>3,303</td>
<td>4,503</td>
<td>5,061</td>
<td>5,495</td>
<td>5,800</td>
<td>24,396</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OT</td>
<td>2,144</td>
<td>3,629</td>
<td>4,968</td>
<td>4,835</td>
<td>4,995</td>
<td>20,729</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>BA</td>
<td>3,303</td>
<td>4,503</td>
<td>5,061</td>
<td>5,495</td>
<td>5,800</td>
<td>24,396</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OT</td>
<td>2,144</td>
<td>3,629</td>
<td>4,968</td>
<td>4,835</td>
<td>4,995</td>
<td>20,729</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td></td>
<td>5,447</td>
<td>8,132</td>
<td>9,999</td>
<td>10,430</td>
<td>11,795</td>
<td>45,124</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

H09

February 25, 1999

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD – HOUSE

COMMUNICATION FROM THE CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE BUDGET REGARDING INTERIM BUDGET ALLOCATIONS AND AGGREGATES FOR FISCAL YEARS 1999-2003

The SPEAKER. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Ohio, Mr. KASICH, is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. KASICH. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to Section 2 of House Resolution 5, I submit for printing in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD interim budget aggregates and allocations for fiscal year 1999 and for the period of fiscal years 1999 through fiscal year 2003.

These interim levels will be used to enforce sections 302(f), 311(a) and 311(a) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974. Section 303(a) prohibits the consideration of legislation that provides new budget authority or changes in revenues until Congress has agreed to a budget resolution for the appropriate fiscal year. Sections 302(f) and 311(a) prohibit the consideration of legislation that exceeds the appropriate budgetary levels set forth in budget resolution and the accompanying report.

Without these interim levels, the House would be prohibited under section 303(a) of the Budget Act from considering legislation with even negligible budgetary effects in certain fiscal years because a budget resolution is not in effect for the current fiscal year. There would be no levels to make determinations under sections 302(f) and 311(a) for fiscal year 1999 and such determinations for the five year period would be based on the now obsolete levels set forth under H. Con. Res. 84 (H. Rept. 105-116) in 1997.

The interim allocations and aggregates are essentially based on current status levels. They reflect enacted and House-passed legislation as estimated by the Congressional Budget Office (CBO). In the case of the Committee on Appropriations, the allocations are identical to the levels set forth in H. Res. 477 (H. Rept. 105-585) except that they reflect adjustments for emergencies, arrearages and other items under section 314 of the Congressional Budget Act.

These levels are effective until they are superseded by a conference report on the concurrent budget resolution.

If there are any questions on these interim allocations and aggregates, please contact Jim Bates, Chief Counsel of the Budget Committee, at ext. 6-7270.
The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia (Ms. NORTON) is recognized for 5 minutes.

(Ms. NORTON addressed the House. Her remarks will appear hereafter in the Extensions of Remarks.)

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER) is recognized for 5 minutes.

(Mr. BEREUTER addressed the House. His remarks will appear hereafter in the Extensions of Remarks.)

UNITED STATES NEEDS TO FOCUS ON INDONESIA

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. BLUMENAUER) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Mr. Speaker, one aspect of livable communities is the global connections that we are facing today as trade interrelates our economies, world peace is affected as one destabilized area can have serious consequences for others, how environmental exploitation has global consequences for us all as we have increasingly destructive capacity in an increasingly smaller world.

There is need for people who care about livable communities to focus on Indonesia, focus across four time zones, over 15,000 islands, and a population of over 210 million people. It is a spectacular, diverse, and extremely vulnerable country. It is one in political transition, moving from three political parties and really no Democratic election in the last 40 years, to approaching over 150 and its first election in two generations this year.

We have seen in East Timor, home of tragic violence, as it was invaded by the Indonesian military 25 years ago, we have seen the death of over 200,000 people in an island that still has only perhaps a population of 800,000 and a situation that cries for a peaceful resolution.

Indonesia is a nation of great financial turmoil today. Less than 2 years ago, it was one of those successful Asian financial tigers, so successful that we were on the verge of withdrawing our aid programs. Today, it is now an economic basket case with half its population at or below the Indonesian poverty level and virtually not a single solvent financial institution in the entire country.

We have seen long simmering racial, ethnic and religious tensions bubble to the surface, aggravated by the serious economic difficulties that have led to the death of hundreds of its citizens.

Indonesia was the backdrop for the movie "The Year of Living Dangerously" a third of a century ago when Sukarno lost power to Suharto.

Today, in the post-Suharto era, Indonesia is still living dangerously. We have serious potential for violence even as the ray of hope dawned on East Timor and the government is talking about a potential for independence. Yet at the same time there is pervasive evidence that the military has provided weapons to paramilitary agents on the island, and there could be the potential for bloodshed upon their withdrawal.

There continues to be the potential for violence in Indonesia's urban centers, and there is definitely violence that is being visited upon its ecology as the nation struggles to get economic gain at the expense of its forests, fishing stock, coral reefs and endangered species.

I sincerely hope that my colleagues will put Indonesia on the radar screen. It will be on the radar screen for the administration and for the American public. It is time for the United States to take a strong and aggressive action to help resolve the situation in East Timor so that the potential news of the military withdrawal is not an open invitation for greater bloodshed against the Timorees.

It is important that our Secretary of State, who is due to visit Indonesia...
The Speaker pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. Green) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. GREEN of Wisconsin. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak briefly this afternoon, in this raspy, cold-driven voice, about the need for tax reform in America today.

I would like to begin my remarks by reading part of a letter from one of my constituents, Mr. Gerald Racine, of Green Bay, Wisconsin. This letter is one that I believe speaks for a majority of people in northeastern Wisconsin and I trust and hope for a majority of Americans. He writes:

Representative Green: We just finished doing our 1998 Federal income tax returns and we agree with you that it must be simplified. Doing those calculations even seems impossible and when we get done, we don’t know if it makes sense. We just keep our fingers crossed that we did it right. Being a retired financial accountant, we don’t feel that we should have to go to a tax expert to file what should be a simple income tax return.

Mr. Racine, I agree. We have a frightful tax problem in America today, Mr. Speaker. Not only do our families pay nearly 40 percent, almost half, of their income in taxes, they are also forced to endure a difficult, frustrating and confusing maze of paperwork and bureaucracy that can be a challenge even to a retired financial expert like Gerald Racine.

According to the IRS’s own numbers, it will take an American who has a few investments and itemizes his deductions some 22 hours to file his Federal income tax returns this year. That is more than a half a week of work, and it is 3 hours longer than it took just last year.

So, Mr. Speaker, as we get this session under way in earnest, let us remember that while tax relief is a key priority for us in Congress, tax reform is also an issue that must be addressed.

I am proud to be a supporter of the Date Certain Tax Code Replacement Act. This bill would scrap the current Tax Code and enable us to replace it with a simpler, more reasonable tax system. It would ensure that we have a serious debate in this Nation, a long-overdue debate, about what our Tax Code should look like. I believe that a new Tax Code should be simpler, more fair and less burdensome.

I urge my colleagues to join me in support of this proposal and in a larger effort to reduce and reform taxes for our working families.

Mr. TAURIEN, Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. GREEN of Wisconsin. I yield to the gentleman from Louisiana.

Mr. TAURIEN. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman for his excellent statement and remind him that last year the gentleman from Texas (Mr. Armey) and I toured this country and debated in 30 of our great cities in America the issue of replacing the current Income Tax Code with a simple, fair code, either a flat income tax or no income tax and a national sales tax, which is a plan that I have espoused.

The crowds were enormous. Americans are ready for this Congress to act.

I just had a great conversation with the chairman of our Committee on Ways and Means, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. Archer), who is also a strong supporter of repealing the IRS income tax and replacing it with a consumption tax like a sales tax. He has assured me that before he leaves Congress he intends to give us a chance to not only debate this issue but perhaps even resolve it.

I want to congratulate the gentleman for being a soldier in this quest and wish him the best of luck because not only the people of Green Bay but the people of America are depending on us.

The Speaker pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Davis) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois addressed the House. His remarks will appear hereafter in the Extensions of Remarks.

DECENNIAL CENSUS

The Speaker pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Florida (Mr. Miller) is recognized for 15 minutes.

Mr. MILLER of Florida. Mr. Speaker, yesterday the Census Bureau announced a new plan to conduct the decennial census in the year 2000. It was disappointing. The Census Bureau has flip-flopped and now wants to have a two-number census.

What they want is that, after the Supreme Court ruled last month that you have to do a full enumeration as the Constitution clearly states, a full enumeration will be conducted and that is the good thing. They announced yesterday that they will go out and make every effort they can to count everybody in this country on April 1, 2000.

But what they want to do is, once they get that number and so we will have a Supreme Court-accepted number that every city, county, census tract, census block in the country will have, they then want to do a manipulation of that number so that they can get a virtual count and manipulate it and get a second number. That second number they want to say, that is going to be the official number. It kind of baffles my mind.

I thought when the Supreme Court ruled, I thought when six Federal judges last year ruled that sampling was illegal that we would just move on and get the job done. But, no, this administration is playing politics with the census, I believe.

I am proud to be a supporter of the Date Certain Tax Code Replacement Act. This bill would scrap the current Tax Code and enable us to replace it with a simpler, more reasonable tax system. It would ensure that we have a serious debate in this Nation, a long-overdue debate, about what our Tax Code should look like. I believe that a new Tax Code should be simpler, more fair and less burdensome.

I urge my colleagues to join me in support of this proposal and in a larger effort to reduce and reform taxes for our working families.

Mr. TAURIEN, Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. GREEN of Wisconsin. I yield to the gentleman from Louisiana.

Mr. TAURIEN. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman for his excellent statement and remind him that last year the gentleman from Texas (Mr. Armey) and I toured this country and debated in 30 of our great cities in America the issue of replacing the current Income Tax Code with a simple, fair code, either a flat income tax or no income tax and a national sales tax, which is a plan that I have espoused.

The crowds were enormous. Americans are ready for this Congress to act.

I just had a great conversation with the chairman of our Committee on Ways and Means, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. Archer), who is also a strong supporter of repealing the IRS income tax and replacing it with a consumption tax like a sales tax. He has assured me that before he leaves Congress he intends to give us a chance to not only debate this issue but perhaps even resolve it.

I want to congratulate the gentleman for being a soldier in this quest and wish him the best of luck because not only the people of Green Bay but the people of America are depending on us.
sample to go back and adjust Sarasota, Florida, to adjust Bradenton, Florida, my home area, or to adjust Miami. As if Atlanta has a lot in common statistically with Miami.

That is what they are going to be doing. That is one reason it is going to get too close in the courts, but it is just not going to be trusted.

I have proposed, as chairman of the Subcommittee on Census in Congress, ideas to improve the census. We are fully supportive of all the resources that the Census Bureau needs to do the best job possible next year. In fact, this Republican Congress is giving the Census Bureau $200 million more than requested by the administration during the last 2 years to get prepared for this census.

For example, one area that we have already passed out of subcommittee and that is something called post-census local review. I think that is very important to build trust in our census. It was used in 1990. What it basically consists of is, after the Census Bureau conducts the census, they will send the numbers to the local cities and counties to give them a brief time to review the numbers and check for errors. It is kind of an audit. And then if they have questions or problems with it, they can let the Census Bureau know and the Census Bureau will go back and check those numbers.

Now, in 1990, Detroit added 45,000 people. Cleveland added people. The gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. Petri) talked about a whole ward that was mistakenly left out of one of his areas in his congressional district in Wisconsin. Mistakes are made. The Bureau is not perfect. But they are refusing to allow cities and counties the opportunity to check the numbers before they become official.

Every elected official in the country should be supportive of this. It is only the Census Bureau that says, "Oh, it's a pain. It's too much trouble. We don't want to do it any more." We have got to build trust in this census. What you are doing by not allowing post-census local review as was allowed in 1990 is you are building up distrust already because you are trying to hide something. That is wrong. We need to build up that confidence that we are doing the right thing. Why not let the local cities and counties have the opportunity to review the numbers? But, no, they are so fixated on this second number census that they will not do anything to improve and build on the full enumeration.

Mr. Speaker, we need to go to a full enumeration for all Americans to be counted in the year 2000.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. Duncan) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. PALLONE addressed the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. Duncan) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. PALLONE addressed the House.

INTRODUCING LEGISLATION TO PROTECT SATELLITE HOME VIEWERS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. Tauchin) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. TAUZIN. Mr. Speaker, I want to yield half of that time to the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Markey), the ranking member of the Subcommittee on Telecommunications, but let me first inform the House and the American public that, as many now know, recently, the FCC has been notified that they will soon lose access to network programming signals that are currently delivered via satellite. Satellite television distributors are under now a Federal court order to terminate delivery of these network signals because of a finding that these distributors have violated the Satellite Home Viewers Act. What we learned in the subcommittee yesterday was that, with new FCC findings, some 220,000 American citizens who are scheduled to be terminated from network signal delivery are, in fact, qualified to receive those signals legally under the act.

What we are announcing today is the filing of a moratorium bill, with the support of the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. Bliley) and the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Markey) and a lot of other members of our committee and Members of this Congress, a moratorium bill to give us 90 days to work this problem out without unnecessarily cutting off Americans from network programming delivered by satellite. It is intolerable that over 200,000 citizens would be terminated in that service, without giving them a chance to qualify under the act according to the FCC's new findings.

Let me point out we are not suggesting in our legislation that any violations of law be tolerated. Those folks who can receive local signals are going to have to do so. But the hundreds of thousands who are going to get cut off this weekend unnecessarily should not be cut off. And we are hopeful that this moratorium bill can become law quickly next week in order to protect their rights.

We had hoped that the parties could settle this. We still encourage them to do so this weekend together and ask the court to modify its injunction to incorporate the new FCC findings so that hundreds of thousands of citizens would not lose their network signals.

But unless the parties agree to modify the injunction, our only way to protect those consumers while we work with the Committee on the Judiciary and the Committee on Commerce on a new Satellite Home Viewers Act to provide those local signals to consumers, our only hope will be this moratorium bill which we are filing that which we intend to move expeditiously next week in an agreement by the parties to do so.

I yield to my friend from Massachusetts.

Mr. MARKEY. Mr. Speaker, as the gentleman points out, there are thousands of people across the country who are affected by this court ordered cut-off of distant TV signals, meaning that people with satellite dishes cannot pick up the national NBC or CBS or ABC or Fox feed. Specifically here I think CBS and Fox are in question.

The legislation that we are introducing today will help give consumers limited relief to reapply for permission to receive those signals or to apply for waivers from their local broadcasters, that is, write or visit their local TV station and say, "Please, I can't get your signal here locally. Let me take this national feed so I can gain advantage to the programming, news and entertainment that is so valuable for my family."

Equally important, it will give Congress additional time to develop a long-term plan to update the Satellite Home Viewer Act and to include permission for satellite local-to-local broadcasts. Meaning that we have to now develop as a strategy a way in which an individual with an 18-inch dish now, to pick up their local TV stations.

Today, they cannot do that. Today, it is impossible. If you want to have a satellite dish, you have to give up access to your local TV stations. You have got to put up your own antenna. You have got to subscribe to the cable service as a supplement.

But you cannot get it all from a satellite dish.

What we are going to try to do this year is craft legislation that will make it possible for you to buy an 18-inch satellite dish, pick up all of that great cable and satellite programming and have access to your local TV stations at the same time. Then people will have real consumer choice.

So, the legislation, which has been drafted by the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. TAUZIN) and the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. BLILEY) working with the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. DUNCAN) and four other members of our committee, the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. BOUCHER) and a long list of Members is something which we think makes lot of sense. But again, we have this moment arriving where on March 31 all regulation of the cable industry in the United States is up for discussion by the committee, are going to have to respond. We are going to have to find ways of insuring that the consumers... have access to more competition and that there is a real protection.

PROVIDING FOR COMPETITION IN THE CABLE INDUSTRY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Markey) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. Markley. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Louisiana.

Mr. TAUZIN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for doing so because I would be remiss if I did not second what the gentleman has just said, that we are about to see the complete deregulation of cable in America at the end of March. If American citizens cannot receive network programming over their satellites when they are entitled to receive it, they are going to be forced to either climb up on the roof and try to put up antennas that may or may not get good signals or go back to the monopoly cable company which will be deregulated.

We in this Chamber, and the gentlemen from Massachusetts (Mr. Markey) has been a valiant soldier in this effort along with me and others, have tried to desperately make sure that cable has a competitor out there before they are deregulated. This court decision means for thousands of Americans, hundreds of thousands of Americans, they are forced back into a cable monopoly instead of a competitive choice.

It is critical that we find a solution this year to get local signals into the satellite feed so that Americans have a real choice when cable is deregulated. You and I know when there is only one store in town, you get bad prices, bad service and bad quality of products. But when you got a choice, when there are two stores in town, prices get better, service gets better, quality gets better.

Americans deserve a choice in television. This moratorium is just a stopgap measure to help us find that solution, and I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Markley. Reclaiming my time, Mr. Speaker, for a consumer, if they subscribe to cable today, they can get the local channel. If they subscribe to cable today, they can get the local channel. If they subscribe to cable today, they can get the local channel.

If Tip O'Neill was here today and looking at these issues, he would say that all politics of satellites are local, into local. How do we provide local people with their local TV stations? We are going to try to rectify this.

If Tip O'Neill was here today and looking at these issues, he would say that all politics of satellites are local, into local. How do we provide local people with their local TV stations? We are going to try to rectify this.

If Tip O'Neill was here today and looking at these issues, he would say that all politics of satellites are local, into local. How do we provide local people with their local TV stations? We are going to try to rectify this.

If Tip O'Neill was here today and looking at these issues, he would say that all politics of satellites are local, into local. How do we provide local people with their local TV stations? We are going to try to rectify this.

If Tip O'Neill was here today and looking at these issues, he would say that all politics of satellites are local, into local. How do we provide local people with their local TV stations? We are going to try to rectify this.

If Tip O'Neill was here today and looking at these issues, he would say that all politics of satellites are local, into local. How do we provide local people with their local TV stations? We are going to try to rectify this.

If Tip O'Neill was here today and looking at these issues, he would say that all politics of satellites are local, into local. How do we provide local people with their local TV stations? We are going to try to rectify this.
H.R. 865. A bill to amend the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanitation Act of 1972 relating to the dumping of dredged material long used in the tidelands, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

H.R. 866. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to increase the deduction allowed for interest on education loans; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

H.R. 857. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to allow employers a 20 percent deduction for amounts paid or incurred for education-related expenses; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

H.R. 858. A bill to amend title 11, District of Columbia Code, to extend coverage under the whistleblower protection provisions of the District of Columbia Comprehensive Merit Personnel Act of 1978 to personnel of the courts of the District of Columbia; to the Committee on Government Reform.

H.R. 859. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to allow tax-exempt private activity bonds to be issued for highway infrastructure construction; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

H.R. 860. A bill to amend title II of the Social Security Act to restrict the application of the windfall elimination provision to individuals whose combined monthly income from benefits under such title and other monthly income payments exceeds $2,000 and to provide for a graduated implementation of such provision on amounts above such $2,000 amount; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

H.R. 861. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to repeal the 1993 Federal income tax rate increases on trusts established for the benefit of individuals with disabilities; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

H.R. 862. A bill to authorize the Secretary of the Interior to implement the provisions of the Agreement conveying title to a District System from the United States to the Clear Creek Community Services District; to the Committee on Resources.

H.R. 863. A bill to require appropriate appropriation of budget authority for Social Security Act officials to deal with official budget pronouncements; to the Committee on Ways and Means, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee.

H.R. 864. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to increase the State ceiling on private activity bonds; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

H.R. 865. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide a special rule for members of the uniformed services and the Foreign Service using the exclusion of gain from the sale of a principal residence; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

H.R. 866. A bill to amend the Communications Act of 1934 to protect critical infrastructure radio systems from interference and to promote efficient spectrum management of the public and mobile radio bands; and for other purposes; to the Committee on Commerce.

H.R. 867. A bill to amend title 10, United States Code, to require, in the evaluation of bids and proposals for a contract for the procurement by the Department of Defense of property or services, the consideration of the percentage of work under the contract planned to be performed in the United States, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Armed Services.

H.R. 868. A bill to establish the Fallen Timbers Battlefield and Fort Miamis National Historical Park in the State of Ohio; to the Committee on Resources.

H.R. 869. A bill to prohibit the Secretary of the Interior from issuing oil and gas leases on certain portions of the Outer Continental Shelf; to the Committee on Resources.

H.R. 870. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to change the determination of the 50,000-barrel refinery limitation on oil depletion deduction from a daily basis to an annual average daily basis; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

H.R. 871. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to change the determination of the 50,000-barrel refinery limitation on oil depletion deduction from a daily basis to an annual average daily basis; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

H.R. 872. A bill to amend certain Federal civil rights statutes to prevent the involuntary application of arbitration to claims that arise from unlawful employment discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, or disability, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Education and the Workforce, and in addition to the Committee on the Judiciary, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

H.R. 873. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to clarify that employees of a political subdivision of a State shall not lose their exemption from the hospital insurance tax by reason of the consolidation of the subdivision with the State; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

H.R. 874. A bill to reform Social Security by creating individual Social Security retirement accounts; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

H.R. 875. A bill to provide for programs to develop and implement integrated cockroach management programs in urban communities that are effective in reducing health risks to inner city residents, especially children, suffering from asthma and asthma-related illnesses; to the Committee on Commerce.

H.R. 876. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to increase the maximum amount of contributions to individual retirement accounts and the amounts of adjusted gross income at which the IRA deduction phases out for active participants in pension plans, and to allow penalty-free distributions from individual retirement accounts and 401(k) plans for certain purposes; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

H.R. 877. A bill to provide for the comparative treatment of Federal employees and Members of Congress and the President during a period in which there is a Federal Government shutdown; to the Committee on Government Reform, and in addition to the Committee on House Administration, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.
By Mr. TIAHRT (for himself, Mr. ROYCE, Mr. BACHUS, Mr. PAUL, Mr. ROHRABACHER, Mr. BURTON of Indiana, Mr. SALMON, Mr. STUMP, Mr. SHEPPERD, and Mr. BYUN of Kansas), Mr. LARGENT, Mr. SESSIONS, Mr. BUYER, Mr. COBURN, Mr. HOSTETTLER, Mr. BARTLETT of Maryland, Mr. COLLINS, Mr. WATTS of Oklahoma, Mr. EHRlich, Mr. FOLEY, Mr. BLUNT, Ms. CUBIN, Mr. BARR of Georgia, Mr. WELDON of Florida, Mr. SENSERNKENNER, and Mr. BYUN of Kansas).

H.R. 878. A bill to amend the National and Community Service Act of 1990 to repeal the National Service Trust Program under which certain persons who perform national or community service receive stipends and educational awards for such services; to the Committee on Education and the Workforce.

By Ms. WOOLSEY:

H.R. 897. A bill to amend the Communications Act of 1934 to exempt licenses in the instructional television fixed service from competitive bidding; to the Committee on Commerce.

By Mr. STUMP (for himself, Mr. EVANS, Mr. FREILINGHUYSEN, Mr. SMITH of New Jersey, Mr. FILNER, Mr. BILIRAKIS, Mr. GUTIERREZ, Mr. SPENCE, Ms. BROWN of Florida, Mr. EDWARDS, Mr. DOYLE, Mr. BUYER, Mr. PETerson of Minnesota, Mr. QUINN, Ms. CARSON, Mr. BACHUS, Mr. REYES, Mr. STEARNS, Mr. SNYDER, Mr. MILLS of Kansas, Mr. RODRIGUEZ, Mr. HAYworth, Mr. SHOWS, Ms. CHENOWETH, Ms. BERKLEY, Mr. LAHOOD, Mr. HANSEN, Mr. McKEON, Mr. GIBBONS, Mr. SIMPSON, Mr. COBLE, Mr. HUNTER, Mr. RODRIGUEZ, Mr. FRANK of New Jersey, Mr. SAXTON, and Mr. CUNNINGHAM).

H. Res. 34. A joint resolution congratulating and commending the Veterans of Foreign Wars; to the Committee on Veterans’ Affairs.

By Mr. RUSH (for himself, Mr. PALLONE, Mr. PAYne, Mr. EVANS, Mr. FORD, Mr. HINCHey, Ms. BROWN of Florida, Mr. SHOWS, Ms. KILPATRICK, Mrs. MoreLLA, Mr. WATTS of Oklahoma, Ms. LEE, Ms. NORTON, Mr. BARRETT of Wisconsin, Mrs. JONES of Connecticut, Mr. DAVIS of Illinois, Mr. RANGEL, Mr. KUCINICH, Mr. CLYBURN, Mr. Wynn, Mr. Gonzalez, and Mr. BONIOR).

H. Con. Res. 38. Concurrent resolution expressing the sense of the Congress that a commemorative postage stamp should be issued honoring Paul Leroy Robeson, and that the Citizens’ Stamp Advisory Committee should recommend to the Postmaster General in 1999, that such a stamp be issued; to the Committee on Government Reform.

PRIVATE BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS

Under clause 8 of rule XII, Mr. MCDONOUGH introduced a bill (H.R. 880) for the relief of Rabon Lowry; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Under clause 7 of rule XII, sponsors were added to public bills and resolutions as follows:

H.R. 13: Mr. BOEHLErT, Mr. GILMAN, and Mr. GANsKE.
The Senate met at 11 a.m. and was called to order by the President pro tempore [Mr. THURMOND].

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Today’s prayer will be offered by our guest, Chaplain, Rev. Father Peter Chrisafideis, St. George Greek Orthodox Church, Bangor, ME. It is a pleasure to have you with us.

PRAYER

The guest Chaplain, Rev. Father Peter Chrisafideis, St. George Greek Orthodox Church, Bangor, ME, offered the following prayer:

O Almighty God of the universe and of all space, we pray that You be with us this day, as we gather in Your name. How dependent we are upon You for our very being and mere existence. Man’s temporal systems and civil parties have appeared and vanished, but Your eminent wisdom was and is forever.

Truly nothing has sustained our planet and world more than our sternest belief in Your omnipotent protection, love, and compassion. Continue, O Lord, to sustain and direct our great Nation in Your way, for we are a truly great and genuinely God-fearing people.

We pray for our President, for Gov. Angus King of the State of Maine, our Maine representatives, Senators OLYMPIA J. SNOWE and SUSAN COLLINS, our Maine Representatives JOHN BALDACCI and TOM ALLEN, and all the Members of the U.S. Congress. Grant them health and strength to continue their work. Allow them to act with wisdom and good judgment.

Let all people from the rising and dawning of the Sun cry aloud praise to Your holy and sublime name. We ask this in Your name. Amen.

WELCOMING FATHER PETER CHRISAFIDEIS TO THE UNITED STATES SENATE

Ms. SNOWE. Mr. President, I would like to welcome Father Peter Chrisafideis to the United States Senate this morning, and to thank Dr. Ogilvie for graciously extending his hospitality to him.

Allowing guest chaplains to open the United States Senate with prayer helps to highlight the important role that clergy of different faiths play throughout the United States—from the largest cities to the smallest towns. It is a statement that we are a nation of men and women for whom spiritual guidance and fulfillment is a vital part of daily life. Our country’s spiritual leaders play an indispensable role in helping us to forge a sense of community, and I would like to take this opportunity to thank each and every one of them for their service.

For me personally, growing up, the Greek Orthodox religion was a constant and important presence in my life. My father was a Greek immigrant; my mother, the daughter of immigrants. So, ever since my early childhood, Greek Orthodox religious traditions have been at the center of my upbringing, and have helped shape my beliefs and my life.

Father Peter, as he is referred to by his congregation, has been a part of that tradition for me, serving formerly at Holy Trinity Church in Lewiston, Maine, where I am a member of the congregation. In fact, while it’s hard for me to believe it could have been that long ago, Father Peter officiated at my own wedding almost exactly ten years ago. And he must have done a great job, because we are still going strong and looking forward to the next ten years!

Today, Father Peter leads the congregation of the St. George Greek Orthodox Church, where he serves the spiritual needs of Greek-Americans in the greater Bangor community. In addition, he has served a number of parishes outside the State of Maine throughout the years, helping members of the Church to nourish their beliefs and come to know their faith.

I again want to thank Father Peter for his service to the Church, as well as his personal friendship and support. And I want to extend my appreciation once more not only to Dr. Ogilvie, but to all of the nation’s spiritual leaders for the tremendous inspiration and wise guidance they provide in helping people to live happier, better, and more fulfilling lives.

RECOGNITION OF THE ACTING MAJORITY LEADER

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The able acting majority leader is recognized.

Mr. HUTCHINSON. Thank you, Mr. President.

SCHEDULE

Mr. HUTCHINSON. Mr. President, this morning the Senate will begin consideration of Senate Resolution 45, regarding human rights violations in China. There will be 1 hour for debate on the resolution equally divided between myself and Senator WELLSTONE. No amendments are in order. At the conclusion of debate time, the Senate will proceed to vote on adoption of the resolution. That vote will occur at approximately 12 noon. Following that vote, the Senate will begin a period of morning business to allow Members to make statements and to introduce legislation.

I thank my colleagues for their attention.
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE
February 25, 1999

EXPRESSING SENSE OF SENATE REGARDING HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN PEOPLE’S REPUBLIC OF CHINA

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. ALARD). Under the previous order, the clerk will report the resolution.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A resolution (S. Res. 45) expressing the sense of the Senate regarding the human rights situation in the People’s Republic of China.

The Senate proceeded to consider the resolution.

Mr. HUTCHINSON addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arkansas.

Mr. HUTCHINSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senators SPECKER, HAGEL, COLLINS, and THURMOND be added as cosponsors of the resolution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. HUTCHINSON. I yield to Senator WELSTONE for an unanimous consent request.

PRIVILEGE OF THE FLOOR

Mr. WELLSTONE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that John Bradshaw and Sarah Nelson, a fellow and an intern, be granted the privilege of the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. HUTCHINSON. Mr. President, I am grateful to our leadership for affording us this time this morning to debate and to vote on Senate Resolution 45. Some would say this is a sense-of-the-Senate resolution so this isn’t important and that this is filling time, or whatever. I suggest that there are a couple of things that have happened just recently which underscore the value and the importance of the time we are spending on the Senate floor this morning and the vote on this resolution.

Mr. President, just this morning the Associated Press reported that two more members of the Chinese Democracy Party were detained. They were taken from their homes for trying to set up a human rights meeting in Wuhan. That was reported just this morning. It has become all too frequent, and almost daily, that there are news reports of the continued crackdown on human rights in China. These today were detained only for these today who are fighting courageously and standing up for human rights within their own country and fighting for the democracy movement in China.

This resolution today has nothing to do with the Chinese people, but it has everything to do with intolerable practices of the Chinese Government in which they continue to abuse the basic fundamental human rights of the Chinese people. This resolution is important because the administration has all but said they’re looking for a signal from Capitol Hill. They are looking for direction from the Congress as to whether or not they should sponsor a resolution in Geneva this summer calling the world’s attention to those abuses that are ongoing in China today. We need to send them that signal. This resolution affords us that opportunity.

If there is one thing the Chinese Government does take seriously, it is international opinion. To the extent that by this resolution and by our Government offering a resolution in Geneva this summer we can marshal the international community in protest to this ongoing crackdown in China, we will have done something very significant and very worthwhile.

Mr. President, the resolution before us today urges the administration to sponsor a resolution at the United Nations Human Rights Commission for an addition to the 1989 Tiananmen Square demonstrations. By passing this resolution, which enjoys very strong bipartisan support, we give Secretary Albright a clear message to bring with her to China when she travels there in the beginning of March. That message is that the United States will not accept China’s wholesale rejection of internationally accepted human rights standards. It is an important signal. I have had discussions with the administration and with the Department of State, and I know they are looking for the sentiment of the Senate and the Congress on this issue.

The Communist Government of China has long committed a litany of human rights abuses. Thousands of political prisoners remain in prison, many of them sentenced after unfair trials, others today languishing in prison without any trial at all. At least 200 of these prisoners are still suffering because of their participation in or their support of the 1989 Tiananmen Square demonstrations.

Religious persecution runs rampant in China. People who dare to worship outside the aegis of officially sponsored religious organizations face fines and they face detention, arrest, imprisonment, and, too often, torture as well.

And the human rights movement in China, the democracy movement in China, and the house church movement are very much intertwined. And many of these house churches have become, in fact, bases of the democracy movement and human rights efforts within China today. Thousands of peaceful protests and nuns have been detained and tortured in Tibet where the Chinese Government is imposing a harsh and repressive so-called education campaign.

Mr. President, under China’s one-family-one-child policy, couples face sterilizations and loss of employment for having unapproved children. But it does not stop with monetary penalties. Local authorities, with or without the approval of the Communist Party cadre, forcibly perform abortions on sterilizations on women who are pregnant with a second child. Relatives are held hostage until couples submit to this coercion.

Furthermore, incredibly, prisoners are executed in China after grossly unfair trials, and then their organs are sold on the black market. The pattern of abuse is clear. And in the eyes of the Chinese Communist Government human life seems to bear no value at all.

What has been this administration’s response to these abuses? Under President Clinton’s policy of so-called constructive engagement, the administration effectively disengaged human rights practices until 1994, while promising that efforts to pass a resolution at the U.N. Human Rights Commission would be increased.

However, Mr. President, last year, President Clinton further unhinged his policy by deciding not to pursue a resolution at the Commission in Geneva, Switzerland, which was critical of China. We historically had done that. Year after year, we offered that resolution, and last year the administration said in a good-faith gesture we withheld offering that resolution.

That commitment was given to China as exchange for their promise to sign the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, the ICCPR, a covenant which affirms free speech and free assembly. It is highly ironic that the ICCPR itself is a product of U.N. Human Rights Commission meetings in 1965. China is its signatory and the ICCPR in October, only to turn around and violate its every principle since they put their signature to that document.
February 25, 1999

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE

S1973

Mr. MACK. Mr. President, there is never a time and place to raise human rights concerns. It is at the annual meeting of the United Nations Human Rights Commission in Geneva, Switzerland. That Commission is meeting right now. My colleagues and I had decided to urge my fellow Senators to join with the 17 other cosponsors of this resolution to make a simple statement. We disapprove of the human rights abuses occurring in China and in Tibet.

Since last year, the resolution passed with 95 votes, the President has engaged in two summits with Chinese President Jiang. During that time, many promises were made and agreements were concluded, and the United States did not introduce a human rights resolution in Geneva. We were told the United States would make progress by not introducing a resolution. And Wei Jingsheng, a prominent dissident, was released. Tomorrow, Mr. Wei will be here in Washington, DC, and he will urge the United States not to make the same mistake as last year. Mr. President, we must now make this statement of condemnation of China's human rights practices. We received promises from the Chinese Government last year as well. But we know that the human rights conditions have only deteriorated. The State Department's human rights report clearly delineates the atrocities occurring in China and Tibet. And we know that recent accounts that the crackdown on human rights and political activists has hardened.

It is unconscionable that the United States would not take a stand against these human rights atrocities, especially when they are documented by our own State Department. By remaining silent, we do a great injustice to those fighting for freedom, democracy, and the rule of law inside China and Tibet.

I am going to quote from a statement made by Mr. Wei not long after he was released and exiled from his country. And this is what he said:

"Democracy and freedom are among the loftiest ideals of humanity, and they are the most sacred rights of mankind. Those who already enjoy democracy, liberty and human rights, in particular, should not allow their own personal happiness to numb them into indifference and submission. And all those who are suffering from unimaginable forms of oppression, exploitation and mass murder in your own country need your support and help."

Mr. President, this is an easy one. It does not matter whether the world votes with us or against us or abstains. China is the goal. It is evident that the Chinese Government has engaged in two summits with China and its allies to oppose condemnation of China at a meeting of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights in April. In the months that followed, President Clinton and other Western leaders traveled to China, trumpeting increased economic ties and muting criticism on human rights.

Mr. President, this is an easy one. It does not matter whether the world votes with us or against us or abstains in Geneva. It does not even matter if this resolution will change the minds of anyone in Beijing. We do know, however, from the firsthand testimony of released dissidents, that the actions of the United States are important to those engaged in the struggle for freedom. We know from those released that by simply making this statement, we demonstrate solidarity with those who are engaged within the daily struggle for freedom, justice, and the respect for human dignity.

I hope my colleagues will join me in calling for this expression of solidarity—this stand for freedom.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator's time has expired.

Mr. HUTCHINSON. I thank the Senator from Florida. He has truly been a champion for human rights around the world, not just in China but around the world. I thank him for his leadership on this issue and his willingness to urge the administration to take this very appropriate action in Geneva this summer. And I thank him for his very eloquent statement.

Mr. President, at this time I reserve the balance of my time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Minnesota.

Mr. WELLSTONE. Thank you, Mr. President. I thank my colleague, Senator MACK, and I am certainly pleased to be here on the floor with Senator HUTCHINSON.

Mr. President, I want to build on the remarks by Senator MACK. This is the moment. He was talking about Wei Jingsheng. Wei jingsheng wrote an open piece in the New York Times in December. I ask unanimous consent to have this printed in the Record.

There being no objection, the article was ordered to be printed in the Record, as follows:

ChinA's Diversionary Tactics

(By Wei jingsheng)

Last Saturday, when Liu Niaochun, a prominent dissident, left his Chinese prison cell and arrived in the United States, many Western reports said he had been "freed" or "released." One year ago, after 18 years in a Chinese prison, I, too, was "released" and sent here. A Chinese official said that if I ever set foot in China again, I would immediately be returned to prison. I cannot identify any legal principle that explains how my eviction or Mr. Liu's could be construed as a release.

Yet the State Department, in a report last January, used my forced exile as evidence that "China was taking 'positive steps in human rights' and that 'Chinese society continued to become more open.' These 'positive steps' led the United States and its allies to oppose condemnation of China at a meeting of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights in April. In the months that followed, President Clinton and other Western leaders traveled to China, trumpet-time, at least, the State Department didn’t buy the deception. Deploiling China’s actions, a spokesman called the sentences a “step backward.”

Whether this statement constitutes a change of American policy or merely a cosmetic change remains to be seen. If the American public really wanted to punish China, it could say, restrict Chinese imports to the United States. Or it could halt all questionable technology transfers to China.

Despite the Chinese Government’s occasional lip service to “openness,” the authorities have consistently and swiftly moved to quash all opposition. The Chinese authorities also trade unions, peasants’ associations and unapproved religious gatherings. As a result, the speaker of the National People’s Party, Lin Hai, declared recently, “If an organization’s purpose is to promote a multiparty system in China and to negate the leadership prerogatives of the Chinese Communist Party, then it will not be permitted to exist.”

This statement clearly shows that the Communist Party’s primary objective is to sustain its tyranny, and to do so it must deny the people basic rights and freedoms. We must measure the leaders’ progress on human rights in terms of the “release” of individuals but by the people’s ability to speak, worship and assemble without official interference and persecution. Only that can be called progress.

Mr. WELLSTONE. The article talks about the release of Mr. Liu, a prominent dissident, who left his cell. He will be with us at a press conference tomorrow. What Wei Jingsheng had to say is that after Mr. Liu was released, news reports [the administration talked about this as a triumph] said he had been “freed” or “released” [to Wei Jingsheng].

He goes on to say.

One year ago, after 18 years in a Chinese prison, I, too, was “released.”

Of course, the problem is he was told by the Chinese Government that if he ever set foot in the country again, he would be immediately returned to freedom. It is hard to argue that this is what the United States we would call freedom at all.

Yet the State Department, in a report last January, [Wei Jingsheng goes on to say] used my forced exile [and that is what it is] as evidence that China was taking “positive steps in human rights” and that “Chinese society, can continue to become more open.”

These “positive steps” led the United States and its allies to oppose condemning China at a meeting of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights last April. Senator HUTCHINSON, I, and Senator MACK came to the floor. We got 95 votes calling on our Government to take the lead with the resolution condemning these widespread violations of human rights in China.

Here is the key part of Wei Jingsheng’s piece:

Thus without fear of sanction, the Chinese government intensified its repression in 1998.

Once the Chinese achieved their diplomatic victories, they turned to their main objective: The preservation of tyrannical power. This year, about 70 people are known to have been punished for writing articles, Chinese citizens in prison for trying to organize so they can get a better price as farmers, so they can get better wages as workers.

In the United States, the American Government really wanted to punish China. They said it is time for you to get engaged in this. You ought to be supporting human rights in China.

Another democracy activist, Zhang Shanguang, was convicted and sentenced to 10 years in prison for giving Radio Free Asia information about protests by farmers in the Human province. This is all about organizing. I say to labor, labor is all about the right of people to organize and to speak out. And for this, this man is now sentenced 10 years in prison.

These events are all part of a pattern of growing repression, with legislation passed, when artists and press are told: If you do anything to “endanger social order” or attempt to “overthrow state power,” we will arrest you and we will throw you in prison.

Mr. President, these dissidents and these courageous men and women in China deserve our full backing.

February 25, 1999
man, I have to pinch myself to remind me there is somebody who spent over 20 years in prison because he had the courage to stand up against a government; he had the courage to write and to speak out for what he thought was good. Many people in China today don’t think I could ever have the courage to do so. Thank God, I live in the United States of America. He is a Chinese dissident who spent so much time in prison because of his courage.

In an article published shortly after his release in February, Li Jingsheng stated:

Democracy and freedom are among the loftiest ideals of humanity, and they are the most sacred rights of mankind. Those who already enjoy democracy, liberty and human rights in particular, should not allow their own personal happiness [this is what he said, Mr. President] to numb them into forgetting those who are suffering from unimaginable forms of repression, exploitation and massacres.

We shouldn’t forget such people. We shouldn’t take our freedom for granted. And we, the United States of America, ought to take the lead in bringing this resolution before the United Nations Commission on Human Rights.

When we talk to people around the world—and we are talking about China today—Senator HUTCHINSON, they will tell you that maybe Senators don’t realize this, maybe we have this debate on the floor of the Senate, and then we have to act. But what a difference it makes to the people in these countries who have the courage.

We are going to get a strong vote at 12 o’clock today and we are sending a signal to the White House it is time for our administration to take the lead. I hope we will get the leadership from the White House. I hope we get the leadership from the Secretary of State. I certainly hope that the U.S. Senate will go on record today with a strong bipartisan vote.

I reserve the remainder of my time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arkansas is recognized.

Mr. HUTCHINSON. Mr. President, I want to thank Senator WELLSTONE for his commitment to the issue of human rights. When PAUL WELLSTONE comes to the floor and I come to the floor and we work on human rights issues together, we both want to make it clear that we can agree very rarely. There are few issues that we are going to be united on, and our votes will more often than not cancel each other out on the issues coming before the U.S. Senate. But I admire and respect PAUL WELLSTONE for his deep commitment to democracy and to human rights around the world, and for his involvement in this issue. I am glad to be able to work with him on this. I think it is a very important resolution.

I reiterate that this resolution is important, and it is important for several reasons. One is that it is tantamount because it will be a message to the administration. It is very timely, and I appreciate our majority leader for ensuring that this vote occur this week because our Secretary of State will be traveling to China next week. It is important for this vote to occur. It is important for it to be a strong bipartisan vote and for our Secretary of State to have that message as she goes to China. So I think it is important from that standpoint.

It is also a very, very important message to our European allies. Many of them believe that our leadership in the United Nations has had a change in government. They are much more sympathetic to the cause of human rights, in my estimation. The French press reported that this vote in the U.S. Senate was going to occur today. They are looking for a message and a signal from political leaders in the United States. So it is important from that standpoint as well. It is a message to the Chinese Government, not just through our Secretary of State, but that we as the elected Representatives of the people—the U.S. Senate, the House of Representatives—as we speak out on this issue, it conveys a strong message to the Chinese Government, and they are concerned about what this country thinks.

I think one of the great failings of this administration has been that it has rewarded human rights abuses and crackdowns instead of discouraging freedom crackdowns, Internet crackdowns, or any host of human rights abuses; they have, in effect, rewarded that by increasing economic opportunities. The United States has, most recently, their plan to bring China into the World Trade Organization, almost as a reward for the very terrible abuses that have occurred during the last several months.

And then, may I say that this resolution is critically important because of the message it sends—as my colleague from Minnesota said, the message that it sends to the Chinese activists for democracy and truth who are protesting in China today, which is when we take the floor of the U.S. Senate and speak on this issue, they are listening—Radio Free Asia—through the Internet and through other means by which our activities and the news of our activities gets into China. They are listening and they are interested and it is an encouragement to them to know that there are those who stand with them in the cause of freedom in our country and in our country’s prosperity and its greatness.

Mr. President, in my opinion, it is wholly appropriate for the United States to advance a resolution at the Commission in Geneva critical of China’s ongoing human rights abuses. The Commission should be authorized to deal with the very abuses perpetrated by the Chinese Government today—a resolution that the Commission will pierce any notions that China’s violations of human rights will be quietly accepted by the world community.

There are some in the administration—and I think it is reflected in Secretary Albright’s statement yesterday—that are undecided on how they are going to proceed, and whether or not they are going to offer this resolution. There are some within the administration who argue that a resolution and a vote on China at the Human Rights Commission should not be pursued and is in effect pointless because, as they put it, it is certain to fail.

I think Senator Mack said, “Well, I don’t believe it is certain to fail; but whether it was certain to fail or not, it should be offered on the basis of principle, on the basis of the encouragement and the emboldenment it will provide for those within China. But the very sentiment that the administration expresses when they say it is certain to fail becomes a self-fulfilling sentiment, a self-fulfilling prophecy. The more半心半意的administration is in its attempts to advance such a resolution, the less chance that such a resolution will have to pass.

The longer the administration refrains from exercising leadership in the international community on this matter, the more human rights abuses there will be in China. It is very important that we are now pursuing this resolution and an appropriate time for the administration to reverse field, to reverse its decision last summer in not press crackdowns, whether it is religious freedom crackdowns, press crackdowns, Internet crackdowns, or any host of human rights abuses; they have, in effect, rewarded that by increasing economic opportunities.

And I think the Commission this summer will proclaim boldly that the human rights abuses in China are an affront to the international community and its values.

Mr. President, these values are not uniquely American values. There are those who have argued in the past that it is wrong for us to speak of these values and to try to, as they put it, force these values upon the Chinese Government. But I would assert—and I believe that this country is built on this belief—that these values are not uniquely American values, that they transcend national boundaries, that they are fundamental human values and human rights. Thus, it is highly appropriate that we pursue such a resolution. The U.S. must take steps to protect internationally recognized human rights, or we will take a back seat to those who openly and blatantly abuse them.

As Senator WELLSTONE said, last year, this body passed a resolution very similar to the one before us today by an overwhelming bipartisan vote of 95–5. I hope we can send a strong signal to the administration again this year. In light of the affront to the administration’s policy that the Chinese Government has committed in the recent crackdown of the last 2 to 3 months, I think it is time for the administration to pursue with a new aggressiveness a human rights resolution in Geneva, Switzerland.
Mr. BIDEN. Mr. President, promoting human rights is now, and must remain, an important component of our overall relationship with China. That is why I support Senate Resolution 45, calling on the administration to voice our concerns about China's human rights abuses before the United Nations Human Rights Commission in Geneva.

Even as we try to expand cooperation in areas of mutual interest—stability on the Korean peninsula, nonproliferation, trade, and the environment—we must not allow China's violation of international norms in the area of human rights.

Last year, the administration decided to remain silent in Geneva, arguing that more progress could be achieved through quiet diplomacy than through public pressure. China did, in fact, release some high profile political prisoners. China also signed the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights. However, within months, we have witnessed a crackdown on dissent, including the arrest of prominent democracy party organizers. China continues to jam the broadcasts of Radio Free Asia and to closely monitor China's domestic media.

With respect to Tibet, China's leaders have yet to establish a dialogue with the Dalai Lama, and they refuse even to meet with U.S. officials responsible for coordinating U.S. policy on Tibet.

Mr. President, we should not stand mute in the face of China's continuing violation of basic human rights. Our silence would be deafening.

If we are not going to call on China to respect human rights before the UN Human Rights Commission, where will we make our concerns known?

And if we must act alone, without support from our European and Asian allies, so be it. There is no shame in being alone on the right side of history. It is high time the world watched in horror as Chinese authorities used lethal force to suppress the Tian-anmen democracy movement. I am convinced that the gradual improvement in human rights in China over the past decade would not have occurred without concerted diplomatic pressure—public and private.

Now is not the time to let up.

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. Chairman, I rise today in support of the resolution. In the past Congresses I have rightfully been the strongest critic of human rights abuses in China. So I was disappointed, as I think most in the Senate were, that the President chose not to sponsor a resolution condemning China's human rights practices at last year's annual meeting of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights. The United States has sponsored such a resolution at each of these annual meetings since 1990.

Although I didn't agree with that decision, I understood the reasoning behind it. China seemed to be making some progress. It had signed the UN Covenant on Social, Economic, and Cultural Rights, and committed itself to signing the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR). Perhaps reform was at hand. And I certainly favor building a constructive and mutually beneficial relationship with China. But recent history indicates that China often makes such concessions until the world's attention is focused elsewhere, and then quickly reverts back to its policy of severe intolerance and repression. For instance, when human rights became an issue in Beijing's bid to host the Olympics, China released its most prominent dissident, Wei Jingsheng. The Olympics were awarded to Australia, and Wei was detained again the following year.

Similarly, just last December, 6 months after signing the ICCPR, China sentenced three democratic activists to prison terms of 10 years or more for trying to organize a political party. A fourth dissident was given a 10-year prison sentence for allegedly insulting intelligence to hostile foreign organizations. His crime? He gave an interview to Radio Free Asia about farmer protests. And the Chinese premier, Jiang Zemin, recently stated that Christian and dissident groups that undermine social stability in the bud, no matter where they come from, and that the "Western mode of political systems must never be copied."

However, this is not about "western political systems." It is about internationally recognized human rights. Respect for these rights must be real, and it must be systemic. Empty commitments and token gestures are meaningless, and we should not allow them to sway us from advocating on behalf of those who are imprisoned in China, or will be, for exercising freedoms acknowledged by the world community. An international resolution condemning China's human rights record would be supported by most human rights groups like Amnesty International and Human Rights Watch. By passing such a resolution, the international community can demonstrate that we will no longer be duped by false promises.

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. President, as the Chairman of the Subcommittee on East Asian and Pacific Affairs, I rise in begrudging support for S. Res. 45. I say begrudging only because while I agree that the UN Human Rights Commission should address China's human rights record, I neither believe that the UNHRC will place the issue on its agenda nor do I feel that this resolution has been brought to the floor in the most constructive manner.

I agree with the other Senators who have spoken this morning that there has been a disturbing increase in the number of arrests and convictions of prodemocracy activists. Moreover, despite attempts to establish a dialog with Beijing, China still refuses to meet with His Holiness the Dalai Lama to discuss the future of Tibet and instead continues to facilitate the increasing immigration of Han Chinese into Tibet and the jailing of Buddhist nuns and lamas. Christian churches not affiliated with the government continue to be subject to harassment and closure and their congregants subject to arrest.

I believe I understand, although I certainly in no way condone, the impetus behind the crackdown. China has recently embarked on a program to restructure its economy to a market-oriented system and to open more to the world around it. These changes are obviously potentially destabilizing for a communist regime governing 1.3 billion people. And as with other campaigns in China's past designed to restructure society, such as the "Let 100 Flowers Bloom" campaign, once the program took hold and began to accelerate, the central authorities got anxious about those who were calling for the pace of reform and about it getting out of hand. They have consequently begun slamming on the brakes and stifling any perceived dissent. And it is that movement to stifle pro-democratic dissent and universal human freedoms that should prompt the US to press this issue before the UNHRC.

In a perfect world one would think that these are exactly the type of actions that the UNHRC would want to address, but sadly we all know the reality of the eventual outcome. This year, as in years past, the United States will fail by a significantly wide vote margin to place China on the Commission's agenda. We will be deserted by most of our purported allies who, while nominally paying lip service to the sanctity of human rights, appear more interested in securing their commercial interests in the PRC. Well Mr. President, so be it. As Senator Biden has noted, it is always the government that suffers under the right side of history, and I fully support that stand under the conditions prevailing in China this year.

But Mr. President, while I support the consideration of this resolution today, I am less enthused about the terms of the unanimous consent agreement which brought it here. As the Chairman of the subcommittee of jurisdiction, in past Congresses I have strongly disfavored the practice of disallowing the Foreign Relations Committee from the consideration of legislation which the Committee has not had the opportunity to address first. My disapproval of discharges is especially acute when the legislation in question is sponsored by a Senator not a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, and I intend this to be my practice in Congress as well.

I have, however, made exceptions in the case of legislation which is considered urgent and time-sensitive. Since the UNHRC meetings this year in Geneva are imminent, and since there was not enough time to consider the legislation
The Commission is a focal point for the protection of human rights, and as such, is an ideal multilateral forum in which the United States should voice its concerns. Under the pressure of previous Geneva resolutions, China has finally reacted. China signed the U.N. Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination in 1993, the U.N. Covenant on Civil and Political Rights in 1997 and the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights in 1998. Unfortunately, neither of these important documents has been ratified or implemented.

But at least the kind of pressure the United States put on this situation led them to sign these documents.

The effort to move a resolution in the Commission is particularly important this year, in light of the Administration's decision, contrary to the nearly unanimous sentiment of the Senate, not to sponsor such a resolution last year. That was a real disappointment for all of us.

Their misguided belief that progress could be achieved by other means was clearly not borne out by events in 1998; when, particularly in the last quarter, China stepped up its repression.

As we all know, for the past few years, China's leaders have aggressively lobbied against efforts at the Commission earlier and more actively than the countries that support a resolution. Last year, Chinese officials basically succeeded in getting the European Union to pressure its members to drop any European cosponsorship of a resolution. In the past, China's vigorous efforts have resulted in a "no action" motion at the Commission.

I will say, on a bright note, that in 1995 a "no action" motion was defeated and a resolution was almost adopted. But, unfortunately, on a downbeat note, it lost by only one vote. A little more effort could have made the difference. I sincerely hope that we do not end up with that kind of a loss at this year's meeting.

Nearly five years after the President's decision, which I deeply regretted, to delink most-favored-nation status from human rights, we cannot forget that the human rights situation in China and Tibet remains abysmal.

While the State Department has not yet provided its most recent human rights report, I have no doubt it will be as critical of China as the 1997 report that noted that "the Government of China continued to commit widespread and well-documented human rights abuses in violation of internationally accepted norms, including extrajudicial killings, the use of torture, arbitrary arrest and detention, forced abortion and sterilization, the sale of organs from executed prisoners, and tight control over the exercise of the rights of freedom of speech, press, and religion." I encourage Secretary Albright to actively raise these concerns with her counterparts during her visit to Beijing next week. Unfortunately, in the past bilateral discussions have produced only empty promises from China's leaders on the subject of human rights. Regardless of what assurances China may provide to the Secretary, we should not let Beijing's easily abandoned promises deter us from seeking international condemnation of its practices. Only through strong US leadership can again achieve international consensus necessary to maintain the pressure on China to demonstrate sustained progress in providing the basic human rights its people deserve.

Mr. President, again my thanks to these two Senators. The time is now, and the place is Geneva. We are going to keep pushing this until it gets done. I thank the President, and I thank my colleagues.

I yield the floor.

Mr. WELLSTONE. Mr. President, I want to say to my colleague from Wisconsin that we are really going to put the pressure on. We are going to have this vote today. It is going to be an overwhelming vote.

Tomorrow, the State Department will be releasing its report on human rights conditions in other countries. It surely has to be critical about China, because of the action we are going to take.

The Chinese Embassy is going to have a press conference here in Washington as well. We are going to have a press conference tomorrow bringing together any number of different people—those Senators and Representatives and still here. We are going to be joined by Mr. Wu, a very courageous man, Harry Wu, Wei Jingsheng, and human rights organizations.

We are going to keep the pressure up. We are going to keep the pressure on.

The end of our resolution says:

Resolved. That it is the sense of the Senate that at the 55th Session of the United Nations Human Rights Commission in Geneva, Switzerland, the United States should introduce and make all efforts necessary to pass a resolution calling upon the People's Republic of China to end its human rights abuses in China and Tibet.

As I said to my colleague, Senator HUTCHINSON, we haven't talked much about Tibet. Let me just say in defense to some of the work of Senator HELMS, who really wanted us to have an ambassador to Tibet, the compromise agreement was to have J ulia Taft become our Special Coordinator on Tibet, and make all efforts necessary to pass a resolution calling upon the People's Republic of China to end its human rights abuses in China and Tibet.

As I said to my colleague, Senator HUTCHINSON, we haven't talked much about Tibet. Let me just say in defense to some of the work of Senator HELMS, who really wanted us to have an ambassador to Tibet, the compromise agreement was to have J ulia Taft become our Special Coordinator on Tibet, and make all efforts necessary to pass a resolution calling upon the People's Republic of China to end its human rights abuses in China and Tibet.

As I said to my colleague, Senator HELMS, we haven't talked much about Tibet. Let me just say in defense to some of the work of Senator HELMS, who really wanted us to have an ambassador to Tibet, the compromise agreement was to have J ulia Taft become our Special Coordinator on Tibet, and make all efforts necessary to pass a resolution calling upon the People's Republic of China to end its human rights abuses in China and Tibet.

As I said to my colleague, Senator HELMS, we haven't talked much about Tibet. Let me just say in defense to some of the work of Senator HELMS, who really wanted us to have an ambassador to Tibet, the compromise agreement was to have J ulia Taft become our Special Coordinator on Tibet, and make all efforts necessary to pass a resolution calling upon the People's Republic of China to end its human rights abuses in China and Tibet.
human rights issues—and we were silent last year. Silence is betrayal. And we are insisting today on the floor of U.S. Senate that our Government no longer be silent on these questions.

We were told last year, first of all, there was no problem. The Chinese Government is going to sign this covenant. They did. We see more repression. We were told that in Tibet that visitors would be allowed to Tibet. You know what happened? Mary Robinson, who was our ambassador on human rights to the United Nations, went to China. Her visit took place in September 1998. But Chinese officials produced none of the information she requested on prisoners, denied her access to Panchen Lama. Panchen Lama is the youngest political prisoner that we know of in the world. She had no access to him. And they made no specific commitments on ratification of two U.N. human rights treaties. They signed the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, but they produced no timetable for ratifying it. And they clearly violated it.

I ask you, I ask the administration, I ask the President. The President made a commitment that when we deal in trade, human rights—that is what this debate is about. This is not a debate about M.F.N. It is not about whether or not trade should be linked to human rights. I think that it should and others don't. I don't know if Senator HUTCHINSON and I agree or not agree. This is about a different issue. The President of the United States of America said he would put the pressure on at Geneva at the Human Rights Commission. That is the place. And we have not done it.

Last year we had this vote. We have a stronger vote this year. And in spite of our vote, our Government ignored the wishes of the U.S. Senate. This time we are saying don't do that. We are saying don't argue. Our Government can't argue, the State Department can't argue, the President can't argue, the Secretary of State can't argue—that what has happened is, after the President's visit, we have seen now more respect for human rights. They can't argue that there is less repression. They can't argue that there is progress in China or Tibet.

We are saying today that if our Government does not introduce this resolution condemning the widespread violations of human rights by the Chinese Government at this important U.N. Human Rights Commission gathering in Geneva in March, then our silence will be betrayal.

We should introduce this resolution. As Senator HUTCHINSON said, we should garner support for it. We should urge the European Community also to come out with a strong resolution.

I want to tell Senator HUTCHINSON that when I was at the German Government is looking at the wording of this resolution, and they may very well lead the way with other European countries. It is time to do so.

I feel strongly about this. I don't want to be self-righteous at all, but my father fled persecution in Russia in 1914 when he was 17 years of age with czarist Russia. Then there was the revolution. And he thought all the country overthrown by the Bolsheviks. He wrote and said, "Don't come back." The Communists had taken over. And he never went back.

My dad passed away in 1983. Sheila and I finally visited where my dad grew up and lived. We went to a place where he said that his family was probably all murdered by Stalin. All communication was broken off during the Stalin era. The letters stopped.

I was raised in a home where I was told by my dad really almost every day—not at 10 at night, starting in high school—he was kind of an embarrassment when I was younger, because he was very "old country." He was almost 30 when I was born, and he wasn't "cool." But when I got to be high school age, I realized what a treasure he was. He could speak 10 languages fluently, and was the wisest, best person I ever knew in my life. We would eat dinner, and sponge cake at 10 at night—not on the weekend, but Monday through Thursday, and I would listen to him talk about the world. My father Leon would talk about the importance of the first amendment rights, about the importance of human rights, and about the importance of freedom.

I am telling you that I feel as if that is what our Government is all about. That is what the United States of America is all about. That is what we are all about. And we ought to be speaking out on this and we ought to be taking the lead in Geneva. That is what our resolution says, I say to the Senator.

Mr. President, I think what I will do, we will have a vote coming up soon, and although I love to speak on this and I am very committed to this, I would like for Senator HUTCHINSON to have his chance. He has been an authentic transformation. The government would be prepared to meet with Taiwan.

As I am able to conclude our presentation of this resolution today, I want to just mention a little bit about Wei Jingsheng. I see Senator FEINSTEIN has come to the floor.

Ms. FEINSTEIN. I thank the Senator.

Mr. HUTCHINSON. I have a little problem in that Senator WELLSTONE has yielded his time.

Ms. FEINSTEIN. If possible, I would like to speak in favor of this resolution for 5 minutes, if I may?

Mr. WELLSTONE. May I give 5 minutes to the Senator from California?

Mr. HUTCHINSON. Absolutely. Certainly.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from California.

Ms. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I thank you. I would like to thank the Senators for their courtesy.

I rise to add my support to the resolution offered by the Senator from Minnesota and the Senator from Arkansas.

I do so with a considerable sense of disappointment because for much of 1998, politics in the People's Republic of China appeared headed toward an authentic transformation. The government began to tolerate—and even encourage—discussion among intellectuals, academics, and reformers of the gradual development of democracy in China, to the point that many began to speak of a "Beijing Spring."

After many years of stalling, China signed the U.N. International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, which, when ratified, would require China to allow much closer international scrutiny of its human rights practices. Cross-strait discussions resumed with Taiwan.

And during President Clinton's visit to China last summer, President Jiang Zemin, an old friend of mine, did two extraordinary things: he allowed the Chinese people to hear President Clinton directly by televising both his speech at Beijing University and the leaders' joint press conference; and, in the press conference, President Jiang implied that the Chinese leadership would be prepared to meet with the Dalai Lama to discuss the question of Tibet if the Dalai Lama would make certain statements about the principle of One China and Tibet and Taiwan’s status as a part of China.

That was a major step forward for many of us who have advocated this for years.

Each of these developments seemed to represent a hopeful shift toward a new, more open attitude by the Chinese government. It seemed to reflect the confidence of a new generation of Chinese leaders, firmly in control, unafraid to allow their people to stretch their minds, and willing to deal forthrightly with difficult political questions like Tibet and Taiwan through negotiations. But now these hopes appear to be in abeyance.

I now believe that the hardliners appear to be strengthening their hand, and in so doing are causing their President, Jang Zemin, to lose face as they prevent him from allowing a further opening up of Chinese society and carrying out a negotiation to solve real issues of deep concern to six million Tibetans.

The recent spate of arrests of dissidents in China, followed by summary trials and convictions of several of the most prominent among them—Xu Wenli, Wang Youcai, and Qin Yongmin—raise the ugly specter of a renewed tightening on political freedom. The months leading up to the tenth anniversary of the Tiananmen Square tragedy.

On Tibet, the Dalai Lama abandoned plans to use his recent visit to the United States to make far-reaching statements intended to open the door to negotiations with China, amid an unmistakable signals from Beijing that it was not prepared to begin a dialog regardless of what he said. Meanwhile, China’s persecution in Tibet has only intensified. The brutal tactics of brainwashing, intimidation, and torture—tools of the Cultural Revolution—are now in use in Tibet.

The United States can continue to make contributions toward systemic changes that will instill a desire for law in Tibet, the Chinese president and administration must continue to resist sanctions and economic penalties that will only make the situation worse, but we must develop a stronger policy to put pressure on China to begin a dialog with the Dalai Lama and providing autonomy for the people of Tibet.

An important step was taken last month when Assistant Secretary of State for Population, Refugees, and Migration Julia Taft was named as the State Department’s Special Coordinator for Tibet.

This resolution argues for an additional step the United States can take. It urges the Administration to support and work for the passage of a resolution condemning China’s human rights abuses at the U.N. Human Rights Commission in Geneva.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that precise individual documentation and statements of this be printed in the Record following my remarks. These statements were recently given by refugees coming out of China directly to some of our friends in Nepal.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. I thank the Chair. Whatever the reason for China’s entrenchment, it now presents a serious challenge to strengthening of relationships between our two countries. I happen to remain convinced that sustained, active dialog and engagement with the Chinese leadership is the wisest course, but in these discussions we must be frank and open and the interests of both our Nations must be served. The United States can continue to make the necessary systemic changes that will instill the rule of law in China which would, for example, make summary trials a thing of the past.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator’s time has expired.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Is it possible—Mr. WELLS. I say to my colleague, the problem is we are going to have a vote soon.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. May I ask unanimous consent for 2 minutes?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none, and it is so ordered.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Congress failed to fund the President’s rule of law initiative last year. We should not make that mistake this year. Congress and the administration should continue to resist sanctions and economic penalties that will only make the situation worse, but we must develop a stronger policy. China to begin a dialog with the Dalai Lama and providing autonomy for the people of Tibet.

An important step was taken last month when Assistant Secretary of State for Population, Refugees, and Migration Julia Taft was named as the State Department’s Special Coordinator for Tibet.

This resolution argues for an additional step the United States can take. It urges the Administration to support and work for the passage of a resolution condemning China’s human rights abuses at the United Nations Human Rights Commission in Geneva. While we should acknowledge China’s progress in many areas and continue to encourage China in search of greater progress, we should also use the forum of the United Nations Human Rights Commission to let China and the world know that China’s human rights abuses are unacceptable.

Ultimately, China’s leaders must come to understand that the economic freedom that have until recently championed—and which they still know is necessary for China to fully modernize its economy—must advance together with social and political freedom. As in Hong Kong and Taiwan, China’s ability to withstand economic turmoil will depend in part on the ability of Chinese citizens to make judgments for themselves. Political leaders cannot expect to draw a line between economic and political judgments. Both must be allowed to flourish hand-in-hand. And that means viewing the efforts of Xu Wenli, Wang Youcai, and Qin Yongmin to organize a more pluralist Chinese polity, and viewing the efforts of the Dalai Lama to promote dialogue and religious and cultural freedom, as encouraging signs of China’s modernization, not as dangerous signs of China’s instability.

EXHIBIT 1

Testimony of Tibetan Refugees in Nepal—November 1998

(Names have been removed for their protection)

I rode on trucks and other vehicles many days’ travel from Kham where I purchased a business permit for Yuan 250 to travel onward. There, a younger cousin and I paid Yuan 1,200 each to a Nepali guide to take us across the border. We completed our walk mostly at night.

I was a monk at Rinchen Lingpa monastery in Dzong, and had to leave because of a new policy reducing the number of monks from 45 to a maximum of 30. But already, severe economic conditions were forcing me to sell other personal belongings: my father, who was imprisoned for 15 years in 1959, is 73 years old now and unable to support me and himself. Because of Dzong’s proximity to the recent summer’s flooding along the Yangtse, officials were coming and “shaking down” the monasteries for contributions to the relief efforts. Also, livestock, farm product and head taxes and other fees have increased steeply and consistently over the past few years, and especially so recently. So many people want to escape from Tibet, but most ended up of getting caught, shot at or encountering great hardship along the way.

I would like to go to Drepung Monastery, in southern India, and resume my Buddhist practice there.

In Tibet, I lived for many years in Ko-lung, a Nyingma sect nunnery, except for one trip to India in 1994. Earlier, there were nuns, and recently that number was officially reduced and limited to 45, along with enactment of other strictures such as a ban on all morning prayers [an important foundation of Tibetan Buddhist practice].

In April of 1998, I was drawn into an argument with the head nun, who accused me of being aligned with the Tibetan community in exile. (When I returned to Nagchu from my trip to India in ‘94, I was kept in solitary confinement for 20 days before being released.) As a result, I was turned over to the authority in charge of the political re-education program, which I was inducted into. I, and others, were forced to renounce our allegiance to and relinquish all photos of the Dalai Lama (which we tried to hide), and to state in writing that I was and always has been an inalienable part of China. However, knowing that I faced imprisonment in doing so, I refused to write that I agreed with their “re-education” points. I was not imprisoned, but fined Yuan 1,400. My parents and I realized that we were unable to pay my fine, and that without the nunnery there was nothing left for me there, so I decided to leave.

In November 1998, I went to Kathmandu and registered as a refugee. I have a friend who is working at the United Nations, and at his request I have written this testimony because of the paucity of stories about Tibetans. And since my friend in Kathmandu is now in exile, I have written this statement in my own language and will now try to get it printed in the RECORD following my remarks in Congress.
From the age of 15, I had been a monk at Ganden monastery, and a teacher and part-time translator for tourists. I was expelled in September 1996, along with 200 other monks as a result of China’s anti-religious policies. The escape attempt was discovered following the mass uprising on May 6 of that year: 50 officials had arrived at Ganden, and the monks began throwing stones at them. The monastery was surrounded and about 100 monks were arrested the next morning; most of those are now serving 9–15 years sentences. During the night, police broke into my room, where I was sleeping with a Chinese wife. They beat me to agree that the Chinese-selected Panchen Lama, for running a restaurant suspected of being connected to the Tibetan freedom movement, and for being suspected of engaging in political activity. I was arrested in Gutsa prison, about 5 kilometers from Lhasa, for 10 months. I was kept chained and was beaten for the first 15 days (one of my testicles was crushed), and was given no food or water for the first 5 days. They offered food and water, trying to tempt me to tell them what I had been doing. I was beaten so much that I realized that they had left a cell that was only big enough to lie down in, with a pan to use as a toilet. Our child died during delivery, in June, 1996, when I was in prison.

On January 10, 1997, I was transferred to Tolog Dzong prison, where I stayed for the remaining 14 months of my sentence. I was released on April 2 of 1998, and then on May 30 was re-arrested by a plain clothes PSB officer, on political grounds, and held for 45 days. After that, I had to report every month to the police, and was not allowed to travel. That’s when my wife and I decided to leave for Nepal.

My wife gave birth to a boy on November 3. Now, my first priority is to find work, in order to repay a large loan that I own in Lhasa. I’d also like to learn at least some rudimentary English, to work for the Tibetan cause, and to help my friends who are still in Tibet, many of them in prison.

My brother was killed by the Chinese in 1998, and since then the situation in Tibet has only been getting worse. In 1975 and ’76, the state took possession of all the private farm lands in our area, and has been leasing them back to the farmers. Beginning this year, we have not been allowed to sell our crops (primarily barley and wheat) to the open market, but are forced to sell 70–80% of it to the government at a fixed rate that is about half the open market rate. And now, we’re not allowed to keep pictures of the Dalai Lama even in our homes.

I came over a high pass, though we started as a group of seven, because we had bonded with other groups from Amado and Lhasa.

This year at the Gawa monastery, where I was a monk, officials recently forced us to wear new clothes and they have now prohibited monks younger than 18 from joining the monastery. This is a very shrewd tactic on the part of the Chinese, because they understand that by the time young people are 18 they have already been exposed to modern distractions and bad habits, such as drinking and gambling and prostitution, which is one of the main reasons for religious practice. Historically (before 1999), our monastery had 800 books, but in recent years it has reduced to around 300. About 3 months ago, though, the authorities allowed us to keep them, and they are being read to the young monks by the monks who are one year younger. According to the Chinese system, the older monks are the ones who are being fed and comfortable, while the young monks are being forced to study as a means of controlling them.

In 1993, I went on pilgrimage to India to attend His Holiness’s Kalachakra initiation in Sikkim, and when I returned to Lhasa I had to hide and move my residence frequently, in order to avoid arrest. Eventually, when I was arrested, I was kept in solitary confinement—which looks like a normal government office, but with confinement rooms attached at the back. I believe that there are many other such places of confinement; I know others who have been similarly interrogated and beaten. In 1994, I returned to Amado and changed my name, stopped wearing monk’s robes, and stayed mostly in remote areas. But in August of 1995 I came back to Lhasa, and in October opened a restaurant there. In December of 1995, right at the time when the Chinese authorities had made their selection for the Panchen Lama, one of my teachers was arrested and kept in confinement, and I was arrested shortly thereafter. The PSB questioned me about the Panchen Lama, the choice of the Dalai Lama, and we don’t even know where the genuine Panchen Lama is. I have been told that the public is prohibited from meeting the new Panchen Lama. Also, taxes have increased beyond what Tibetans can afford. We used to pay pasture taxes of 7 per yak and 200 per horse each year, but these have been raised recently, plus farmers and herdsmen have to pay in-kind taxes of meat and butter each year, in addition to the 20% tax on livestock—about 30% of our total production. I don’t have parents, nor any livestock, and all else that I owned I gave to the monastery. But now my brother has been forced to sell all our livestock, and the rents accumulated, and we have no livestock as a source of income for this.

During the severe snowstorms of 1996, we heard that the American relief that would be receiving relief in the form of blankets and money. Some foreign donors did come, and in front of them the officials handed us blank slates. Many were arrested, and the officials returned and collected all the blankets and money. I think the Chinese are very skilled at tricking people into giving them what they want.

My brother (age 36) joined me on this trip, and we are relieved to finally be outside of Tibet. After an audience with His Holiness the Dalai Lama, I want to become a monk at the Sera Monastery in southern India.

Since I was 15 years old, my parents opened a house in the Mosques. A few years ago, the authorities said they would tear down the house and provide us with improved housing there, in the same place. The new complex is now nearly impossible to get admitted to. For the time being, the Chinese are being allowed at monasteries everywhere. Some of the monks have nowhere to go, and so they wait until the officials are gone and then discreetly join the activities in the monastery, hiding when necessary.

The Chinese authorities are bringing more Tibetans to Tibet with them [likely in reference to STOs], while prostitution, gambling and night clubs are thriving.

In October 1997, four women from our village were called for sterilisation. The Chinese had children already, and both women did not agree. One evening the Chinese took the four of them to another place and sterilised them. Two got sick and the others remained healthy. But now my brother and sister-in-law know that officials from the birth control office came and summoned a meeting. During the meeting
The Chinese said that they would operate on women from the age of 18 to 40. They said that those women who didn't undergo the operation would be expelled from their jobs. All of them said to me:

I heard from the people of the village that one evening a truck belonged to the birth control office arrived in our village and the 4 of them were invited to get operated on, totally by force. The officials told the 4 of them that the government would pay everything and no problems. They told the others that said one needed rest for 7 days after the operation, and should take proper medicine, and the food and expenses would be provided by the government. But the women were in bed for more than 2 weeks and hardly recovered, and the expenditures were paid by their families and not by the government.

I was asked to distribute booklets and other literature that dealt with our cause and also I put up posters. As a result, I was caught three times by the Chinese authorities and suffered from imprisonment and torture.

In July 1994 I was arrested for the 3rd time and taken to the local detention center. This prison is doing any subversive work. In the beginning of 1997. After my release I was confined for a period of 2 years. After serving my imprisonment, I was subjected to a treatment in which they subjected me to a hospital where we were supposed to get a medical check up. But they didn't give us food. They also stopped the monthly opportunity to visit the hospital, but they only used to take (prisoners) to the hospital when they were almost dead. Otherwise they don't care for such prisoners.

When I was in prison there were some foreign visits but we were watched all the time. I didn't talk to them. When they came we were made to clean the rooms and then we had to do whatever work we had to do. They brought big pieces of meat to the prisoners we were eating the visitors that they give us such food. But in reality we didn't get to eat this meat. After the heads had left they took it away.

Mr. HUTCHINSON. Mr. President, I thank the Senator from California for her very significant statement. I know we have not always agreed on China, but I think that was a very candid and very honest statement. I appreciate her making it.

I want to publicly thank, on behalf of Senator WELLSTONE and myself, our staffs: On Senator WELLSTONE's staff, Charlotte Oldham Moore and John Bradshaw, for their very persistent and hard work on this issue; on our staff, Samuel Chang, for his hard work and continued interest in the human rights issues in China.

Mr. JINGSHENG, one of my heroes, and I think one that has been mentioned repeatedly, one that will be with us at the press conference tomorrow, is Wei Jingsheng, who spent about 20 years in solitary confinement in China back in the 1970s, arrested for his involvement in the 1979 Tiananmen Square. He was truly a person who had grown up and going out while I was going on annual vacations, while I was rearing three boys and seeing them grow up and going out and which led to stomach ailments, and whatever I ate, I had to vomit with blood. I suffered from this for about 8 months after I was released from prison. I start vomiting when I took anything like food. I have to go to the hospital 3 times a day. They used to take me to the hospital, but they only used to take (prisoners) to the hospital when they were almost dead. Otherwise they don't care for such prisoners.
Playing basketball with them and coaching their soccer games, this man, who is about my age, was languishing in a Chinese prison.

I recently read the book "China Live" by Mike Chinoy. Mike was the CNN correspondent in Beijing, then Hong Kong. He went to China as a young man in the seventies, very idealistic, believing the Chinese regime was going to bring human rights and democracy to the people of China. He left disillusioned to a great extent, but he tells about the trial of Wei Jingsheng. I want to read this as I conclude. He talked about Wei Jingsheng, on October 9, 1979, going on trial.

Pictures from the proceedings were broadcast on Chinese TV. They showed a youthful-looking Wei, dressed in prison garb, his head shaved and bowed, listening to the verdict before a panel of stone-faced judges and a carefully selected audience of five hundred people. I had read his essays and seen for myself the hope generated by Democracy Wall.

His courage in the face of a certain guilty verdict. "I wished I could do something to help." Twenty years after that trial, things are not better in China. I had been in the Senate for the work he has done and the fact that he has been joined by the Senator from Minnesota in addressing this very important issue. I know they have been joined by a number of Senators on both sides of the aisle.

This is not something new with the Senator from Arkansas. Senator HUTCHINSON has been trying to emphasize his concerns about the terrible human rights policies in the People's Republic of China ever since he has been in the Senate. I know he worked on it last year. He has been trying to make the point this is a serious problem, and I think the justification for this serious expression is the fact that it is still not what it should be. He has been talking about it for quite some time, as have others, and there continue to be terrible human rights violations.

So I think it is appropriate that the Senate, in its second legislative action of this year, would have the annual meeting of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights in Geneva, Switzerland, for the Senate to go on record taking a stand for this human rights position, I think, is very commendable. I am glad I have been able to work with Senator DASCHLE and both sides of the aisle to make it possible for us to consider this separately, to highlight the fact that we are not just sticking this on as a sense-of-the-Senate resolution in a bill, this is a Senate resolution that states clearly our concern and our position. I am very pleased to be supportive of my colleague's efforts.

I yield to the Senator from Minnesota. Mr. WELSTONE. I know Senator HUTCHINSON thanked the majority leader. I also want to thank the majority leader for his support in doing this. He is right. It is timely. We do want to ask for the yeas and nays.

Mr. LOTT. Mr. President, I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There is a sufficient second.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

ORDERS FOR MONDAY, MARCH 1, 1999 AND TUESDAY, MARCH 2, 1999

Mr. LOTT. Mr. President, before we go to the yeas and nays, let me propound my unanimous consent request. We have worked this out on both sides of the aisle with the chairman of our select committee with regard to the Y2K issue and the ranking member, Senator DODD. This will be the schedule, then, for the balance of this week and Monday and Tuesday of next week.

I ask unanimous consent that when the Senate completes its business today, it stand in adjournment until 10 a.m. on Monday, March 1, for a pro forma session only. Immediately following the convening on Monday, I ask that the Senate then adjourn over until 9:30 on Tuesday, March 2, and proceed immediately to consideration of S. 314, providing for small business loans regarding the year 2000 computer programs, and that there be 1 hour of debate to be equally divided between Senators BOND and KERRY of Massachusetts, with no amendments or motions in order.

I further ask that the vote occur on passage of S. 314 at 10:30 a.m. on Tuesday, and that paragraph 4 of rule 12 be waived.

I also ask that, immediately following the passage of that bill, Senator BENNETT be recognized to make a motion to recommit the Senate in order to allow the Senate to hear confidential information regarding the Y2K issue in S. 407 of the Capitol, and I further ask the Senate stand in recess for the weekly party caucuses between the hours of 12:30 and 2:15 on Tuesday, March 2.

I further ask at 2:15 on Tuesday, the Senate immediately proceed to S. Res. 7, having discharged the resolution from the Rules Committee, and there be 3 hours of debate, being equally divided between Senators BENNETT and DODD, with no amendments or motions being in order, and a vote to occur on adoption of that resolution at the conclusion or yielding back of that time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

PROGRAM

Mr. LOTT. Mr. President, in light of that order, the Senate will not be in session on Friday and will be in pro forma session only on Monday. The Senate will debate the Y2K loan program bill on Tuesday morning, with a rollcall vote on passage at 10:30 a.m. on Tuesday. Therefore, the next rollcall vote will be at 10:30 on Tuesday. Following that vote, the Senate will proceed to the briefing in S-407. I want to encourage Senators to attend this briefing because it does involve very important, classified information with regard to the Y2K issue.

At 2:15, the Senate will proceed to the funding resolution for the special programs on the vote on the veto over technology and related issues, for up to 3 hours.

I thank my colleagues for their cooperation and, again, I commend those who have been involved in S. Res. 45. I yield the floor.

EXPRESSING THE SENSE OF THE SENATE REGARDING THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN THE PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF CHINA

The Senate continued with the consideration of the resolution.
The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the resolution. The yeas and nays have been ordered on S. Res. 45. The clerk will call the roll.

Mr. REID. I announce that the Senator from New Jersey (Mr. Torricelli) is necessarily absent.

The result was announced—yeas 99, nays 0, as follows:

[Rollcall Vote No. 27 Leg.]

S1983

Abraham Emz Lott
Akaka Fongful Lugar
Allard Feinsenk Mack
Ashcroft Fitzgerald McCain
Baucus Frist McConnell
Bayh Gorton Mikutski
Bennett Graham Noyihin
Biden Gramm Mrukowski
Bingaman Grams Murray
Bond Grassley Nickles
Boxer Gregg Reed
Breaux Hage Reid
Browneback Harris Robb
Bryan Hatch Roberts
Bunning Helms Rockefeller
Burns Hollings Roth
Byrd Hutchinson Santorum
Campbell Hutchison Sarbanes
Chafee Inouye Sessions
Cleland Inouye Sessions
Coalman Jewell Shelby
Collins Johnson Smith (NH)
Conrad Kennedy Smith (OR)
Corzine Kerrey Stennis
Craig Kerr Specter
Crano Kohl Stevens
Daschle Kyle Thomas
DeWine Landrieu Thompson
Dodd Lautenberg Thurmond
Domenici Leahy Voinovich
Dorgan Levin Warner
Durbin Lieberman Wallstone
Edwards Lincoln Wyden

VOTE

The resolution (S. Res. 45) was agreed to.

The preamble was agreed to.

The resolution, with its preamble, reads as follows:

S. Res. 45

Whereas, according to the United States Department of State and international human rights organizations, the Government of the People's Republic of China continues to commit widespread and well-documented human rights abuses in China and Tibet and continues the coercive implementation of family planning policies and the sale of human organs taken from executed prisoners.

Whereas such abuses stem from an intolerance of dissent and fear of unrest on the part of authorities in the People's Republic of China and from a failure to adequately enforce laws in the People's Republic of China that protect basic freedoms.

Whereas such abuses violate internationally accepted norms of conduct enshrined by the Universal Declaration of Human Rights;

Whereas the People's Republic of China recently signed the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, but has yet to take the steps necessary to make the covenant legally binding;

Whereas the President decided not to sponsor a resolution criticizing the People's Republic of China at the United Nations Human Rights Commission in 1998 in consideration of commitments by the Government of the People's Republic of China to sign the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and based on a belief that progress on human rights in the People's Republic of China could be achieved through other means;

Whereas authorities in the People's Republic of China have recently escalated efforts to extinguish expressions of protest or criticism and have detained scores of citizens associated with attempts to organize a legal democratic opposition, as well as religious leaders, writers, and others who petitioned the authorities to release those arbitrarily arrested;

Whereas these efforts underscore that the Government of the People's Republic of China continues to commit serious human rights abuses, despite expectations to the contrary following two summit meetings between President Clinton and President Jiang in which assurances were made regarding improvements in the human rights record of the People's Republic of China: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Senate that at the 55th Session of the United Nations Human Rights Commission in Geneva, Switzerland, the United States should introduce a resolution necessary to pass a resolution calling upon the People's Republic of China to end its human rights abuses in China and Tibet.

Mr. FRIST. I move to reconsider the vote.

Mr. HUTCHINSON. I move to lay that motion on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

MORNING BUSINESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The previous order, there will now be a recess until 10 a.m.

Let me begin by discussing what Education Flexibility Partnership Act of 1999.

The resolution (S. Res. 45) was agreed to.

The preamble was agreed to.

The resolution, with its preamble, reads as follows:

S. Res. 45

Mr. FRIST, Under a previous agreement, this resolution has been allotted to Senator Coverdell or his designee, and I have been designated to oversee this next 45 minutes to an hour to talk about the Education Flexibility Partnership Act of 1999.

EDUCATION FLEXIBILITY PARTNERSHIP ACT OF 1999

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, we will be discussing two critical areas as we address the education of our youth in this country. Those two areas are flexibility and accountability. Discussing this topic with me will be Senators Chafee, Bond, Craig, Voinovich, Gregg, Hutchinson, and Collins.

The issue we will discuss is called Ed-Flex. Specifically, it is the Education Flexibility Partnership Act of 1999. The shorthand version is “Ed-Flex.” That is the way it will be referred to. I am sure, over the next several hours, at least the next several days as we look at this particular bill which I expect to come to the floor next week. Let me begin by discussing what Ed-Flex is so people will know what we are talking about. It is really pretty simple. Ed-Flex is a State waiver program that allows schools and school districts at the local level to obtain or have the opportunity to obtain a waiver to carry out and accomplish a specific educational mission, but with flexibility from Washington free of the administrative regulatory burden which too often—and we hear it as we travel across the State again and again—shackles them in terms of meeting those specific goals. These regulations are often interfered. We create them right here in this room in Washington, DC, and then we expect them to fit every local community. They simply don't fit. That is No. 1. That is what Ed-Flex is.

No. 2, we as a country recognize we are failing our children today in terms of education. We are trying hard, teachers are trying hard, local schools are trying hard, but we simply are not doing the job that our children deserve in preparing them for the next millennium.

Ed-Flex allows every State the option of participating in a demonstration program which has been enormously successful; this program was first established in 1994 and expanded in 1996. So we have a track record. Right now Ed-Flex is in 12 States. What this bill does is strengthen the accountability provisions and then gives all 50 States the opportunity to participate in Ed-Flex to help our States, to help our localities.

Education is primarily a local issue. That is where these decisions should be made. Washington must give these localities, these schools, these school districts, the flexibility they need in order to innovate, to do a better job, to do what they know is best.

Let me cite some examples of how real Ed-Flex works. They exist in the real world. We as a country recognize we are failing our children today in terms of education. We are trying hard, teachers are trying hard, local schools are trying hard, but we simply are not doing the job that our children deserve in preparing them for the next millennium.

In Oregon, Ed-Flex allowed high schools and community colleges to work together to provide advanced computer courses to students who would otherwise not be able to receive this technical instruction.

A third example: In Kansas, waivers provide all-day kindergarten, preschool for 4-year-olds, and new reading strategies for all students. It would not be possible without Ed-Flex.

It is common sense. It is bipartisan. It is a plan that has been supported by every Governor in this country. It is one that we are going to move ahead, during the next few weeks' business in a bipartisan fashion to accomplish what I believe is one of the most important goals before us, and that is to improve education in this country.
Now, that describes the flexibility, innovation, and creativity. The accountability is an important issue, because if you strip away Washington red tape, you have to be accountable. Accountability is built strongly into this bill. It is even tiered in so that you have local accountability, State accountability, and Federal accountability to make sure that those missions are accomplished.

At the local level, schools have to demonstrate why this waiver is necessary, what the objectives will be; they have to have specific, measurable goals.

At the State level, there must be in place an accountability system in three ways: You have to have content standards, No. 1; No. 2, you have to have performance standards; and No. 3, you have to have assessment standards. Backing that up at the Federal level, the Secretary of Education is required to oversee the performance of States, and in fact the Secretary can terminate the State’s waiver authority at any time.

So we have a three-tiered approach to accountability.

Ed-Flex expansion has passed twice in the Senate Labor Committee. It has the support of 38 Senators from both sides of the aisle. It has the support of the National Governors’ Association. It has the support of the Democratic Governors’ Association. The Secretary of Education and the President have all called for Ed-Flex expansion.

Last year, we ran out of time to pass Ed-Flex; it had already gone through the Health, Education, Labor, and Pension Committee this year. We need to keep the bill clean and simple. There will be an unfortunate tendency to put a lot of amendments on the bill and attach your favorite education bill. We have an opportunity to have a bill passed in this body next week, passed by the House of Representatives within a couple of weeks, and at the President’s desk within 6 weeks. It is a simple message: Congress cares about education.

Congress respects local control, local innovation, local creativity. And we, by passing this bill, demonstrate to the American people that we can work together in the interest of our children, preparing them for that next century, the next millennium. Let’s unite the hands of local government. Let them do the jobs they are entrusted to do. Ed-Flex is a local bill, but an important first step at administrative regulatory simplification with strong accountability built in. I look forward to the Senate’s consideration of this bill next week, again, with strong bipartisan support.

I thank the Chair. At this juncture, I will yield to my distinguished colleague from Rhode Island. I will yield to colleagues, and they can take from my time as we go forth over the next 45 minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The distinguished Senator from Rhode Island is recognized.

Mr. CHAFFEE. Mr. President, I thank the Chair and the manager of this legislation. I rise in support of this legislation introduced by the Senator from Tennessee, the Education Flexibility Partnership Act. Last week, while the Senate was on recess, I spent time in Rhode Island talking with educators about Ed-Flex. I had a group of educators from our schools come in; principally, they were principals of our schools. As a result of those conversations, I became a cosponsor of this legislation, Ed-Flex.

First, it is important to point out what it is not. It is not a block grant proposal. Senator Frist’s bill, which will be the next order of business, as I understand it, next week, expands a demonstration program, as he pointed out, for six States where it was created in 1994. Now, 2 years later, it is expanded from 6 to 12 States. This bill would permit all 50 States to benefit from it.

Now, what is this bill? Ed-Flex allows State departments of education to apply for waivers of Federal requirements for State administrative programs. Examples of these programs are: the title I program, the Eisenhower Professional Grants Program, and the Safe and Drug-Free Schools Program. The States must agree to waive any corresponding State regulations for these programs. If we are going to waive the Federal regulations, we are going to waive the State regulations as well. The States must have made demonstrable progress in creating and putting into place the challenging statewide content standards. In other words, States must have a place in statewide school reform, and that is what this is designed to do.

One of the best examples of how Ed-Flex can benefit schools was offered by an elementary school principal in my State when I talked to him last week. The notoriety of several years, his school district’s emphasis had been on raising achievement in math and science. Professional development had been squarely focused on math and science, and students in his school were showing the results through increased test scores. Now he would like to be able to use the funds he receives from the Eisenhower Professional Grants Program, which is targeted to math and science—he wants to use it for professional development. The money has his teachers become better reading teachers. Ed-Flex would allow him to do that. Absent Ed-Flex, he could not use these professional development moneys for anything except science and math. He could not use it for reading. This permits this legislation to be used with this flexibility.

Since enactment of Goals 2000, States and school districts have been working hard to develop sound nationwide reform plans that will improve the quality of education for all children. I believe this legislation will help give schools the needed reforms that they seek. It has, as was mentioned, strong bipartisan support. A companion bill, I understand, is moving through the House, and the President has indicated his willingness to sign it. So this is a hopeful sign for all of us, and I think it is excellent legislation. I commend it to my colleagues.

I thank the Chair.

Mr. BOND addressed the Chair. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The distinguished Senator from Missouri is recognized.

Mr. BOND. Mr. President, I thank the Chair, and I thank my colleague from Tennessee for his great leadership.

Mr. President, I rise in strong support of Ed-Flex because it gives States and local officials in 12 States now greater freedom from regulation in the use of Federal education dollars. We need to expand that. This is moving in the right direction. It is not all the way there. They should be encouraging innovation, creativity, and flexibility on the local level in regard to education. We should not be handcuffing teachers, principals, and others from trying to do what is right for the kids in their schools.

I think expanding Ed-Flex is a step in the right direction of putting our Nation’s children first and not the red tape and bureaucracy.

Ed-Flex is a step in the right direction because it moves in the direction of putting decisionmaking back where it belongs, on the local and State level. It proposes consolidating funding and removing the strings that Washington has put on.

My colleague from Rhode Island has talked about his meetings with local educators in Rhode Island. Over the last 2 years, I have met with principals, teachers, superintendents, parents, and school board members in every section of my State. It is amazing what they tell me when I ask them about how our Federal programs are helping them. They say, “They are burying us in red tape. We have to hire people to write grant applications, and try to play ‘Mother May I’ with the Federal Government. We are taking away time from our task, which should be educating our children and providing them with a quality education.” They say that too many of them—if they fight and finally get a competitive grant for 3 years, that grant runs out and then they are faced with taking away money from their basic programs of providing quality education to fund a Federal program that was stuffed down their throats.

At our best count, we have about 763 Federal education programs. I challenge every single one of my colleagues to go back home and ask the educators: Do they really need all these Federal programs? Are they really helping you educate your children? I can tell you that the response from my State is overwhelming, and I believe it will be from your States as well.

I think the tremendous waste in time and bureaucracy with 4,500 people in the DOE, the bureaucracy overseeing them, and 13,000 at the Hon. CHRISTOPHER S. BOND,
ask. Again, we very much appreciate your stantive reform, and, therefore, our district of these programs subsidized by federal edu-education and this school system. But also have the latitude to utilize those receive more dollars than it presently does,
I have reviewed your "Direct Check" pro-has significantly enhanced our educational office indicated funds available at $76.00 per currently supported through the proposal.
our strong support for the proposal. It is our the plan will bring about equity and benefit our students in numerous ways.
Financial decisions should be made at the local level, to make the decisions we make without the restrictions that at the local level, to make the decisions we money directly in the schools, not Direct check for education would put Direct Check would educate what money directly in the schools, not coined the concept of a "Direct Check for Education." Direct check for education would put the money where it can do the most Dogs" are going to play the game they enrolled in the RECORD.
response to your proposal to include a "Direct hope to see for many years. It should many false promises by lawmakers regarding help for education, your idea is one that will clearly be decided by local decisionmakers to teach funds are spent on each school. We directly accountable for producing results when we have the freedom to formally hold schools accountable for their spending decisions. I congratulate you for the stand you have taken on this issue. I doubt it is popular among other lawmakers, because it will no doubt rock the boat in some circles. Again, thank you for this initiative.
Sincerely,
LARRY GRAVES, Superintendent.

DEAR SENATOR BOND: I am writing to let know you that I fully support your "Direct Check for Education" proposal. After so many false promises by lawmakers regarding help for education, your idea is one that will clearly be decided by local decisionmakers to teach funds are spent on each school. We Do not mind being held accountable for school board.
You encourage us to look for different funding approaches for public education. The local property tax is a very useful tool, but has been extended beyond its limits. State funding is also very useful and has been a lifesaver for many Missouri Schools.
However, the "Big Dogs", i.e., the industries that produced "adult" products, when used as directed can kill, have been allowed to advertise their products over airways owned by the federal government without regard to the collateral damage to the minds of our Youth.
Public education should not be required to spend taxpayer money to remediate problems caused by these irresponsible industries that target the youth of our nation as future addicts of their products. It is my understanding that the top five contributors to the nations two political parties are: the tobacco industry, the liquor industry, the movie (media) and music industries and trial courts. Local taxpayers should not be the only responsible agents for the costs associated with drug education, violence prevention, sex education and character development. My proposal for public schools if the "Big Dogs" are going to play the game they Should have the opportunity to pay for the dance.
Sincerely,
LONNIE SPURLOCK, Superintendent.

DEAR SENATOR BOND: As per your request, I have reviewed your "Direct Check" proposal and am responding to your idea. I am ever interested in what you are proposing through your "Principal" alternative. Our school district is, I assume, fairly typical of many within our great state in that we participate and offer many of the federally subsidized programs through your "Direct Check" proposal, our district will not only receive more dollars than it presently does, but also have the latitude to utilize those dollars as deemed appropriate by our Board of Education and this school system.
I fully understand the potential turf issues that face you with this "Direct Check" for Education proposal. I am also cognizant of the bureaucracy that is affiliated with each of these programs subsidized by federal education dollars. I am most appreciative of and agree with your assessment that this instantive reform, and, therefore, our district would gladly offer any assistance that we might. If there is anything that we might do to further this proposal through your "Direct Check" for Education proposal, please do not hesitate to ask. Again, we very much appreciate your concern for public education and this demonstrated response to your local control.
Sincerely,
LARRY E. EWING, Ed.D.,
Superintendent of Schools.

DEAR SENATOR BOND: I appreciate the recent opportunity to attend the news conference in Joplin, Missouri, concerning your Direct Check proposal. Likewise, it was encouraging to receive your recent corresponddence regarding the proposal.
On behalf of the Carthage R-9 School District in Carthage, Missouri, I want to express our strong support for the proposal. It is our belief the plan will bring about equity and benefit our students in numerous ways.
Your work to reform this payment process is highly valued. If at any time our district can be of service to you, please let us know.
Sincerely,
KENNETH C. BOWMAN, J.R.,
Superintendent of Schools.

DEAR SENATOR BOND: I am writing to let know you that I fully support your "Direct Check for Education" proposal. After so many false promises by lawmakers regarding help for education, your idea is one that have hoped to see for many years. It should truly be the province of local decisionmakers to decide how funds are spent on each school. We Do not mind being held accountable for producing results when we have the freedom to formally hold schools accountable for their spending decisions. I congratulate you for the stand you have taken on this issue. I doubt it is popular among other lawmakers, because it will no doubt rock the boat in some circles. Again, thank you for this initiative.

Sincerely,
LARRY GRAVES, Superintendent.

DEAR SENATOR BOND: I am writing in response to your proposal to include a "Direct Check for Education" into the reauthorization of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. The Blue Springs R-IV School District overwhelmingly supports such a proposal. The "Direct Check" proposal would allow us, at the local level, to make the decisions we need to make about the restrictions that are often applied at the state and federal levels. We encourage you to press forward with this initiative.
Sincerely,
CHARLES MCGRAW, Superintendent.

DEAR SENATOR BOND: I am writing to let
know you that I fully support your "Direct Check for Education" proposal. After so many false promises by lawmakers regarding help for education, your idea is one that have hoped to see for many years. It should truly be the province of local decisionmakers to decide how funds are spent on each school. We Do not mind being held accountable for producing results when we have the freedom to formally hold schools accountable for their spending decisions. I congratulate you for the stand you have taken on this issue. I doubt it is popular among other lawmakers, because it will no doubt rock the boat in some circles. Again, thank you for this initiative.

Sincerely,
LARRY GRAVES, Superintendent.

DEAR SENATOR BOND: I am writing in response to your proposal to include a "Direct Check for Education" into the reauthorization of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. The Blue Springs R-IV School District overwhelmingly supports such a proposal. The "Direct Check" proposal would allow us, at the local level, to make the decisions we need to make about the restrictions that are often applied at the state and federal levels. We encourage you to press forward with this initiative.
Sincerely,
CHARLES MCGRAW, Superintendent.

DEAR SENATOR BOND: I am writing to let
know you that I fully support your "Direct Check for Education" proposal. After so many false promises by lawmakers regarding help for education, your idea is one that have hoped to see for many years. It should truly be the province of local decisionmakers to decide how funds are spent on each school. We Do not mind being held accountable for producing results when we have the freedom to formally hold schools accountable for their spending decisions. I congratulate you for the stand you have taken on this issue. I doubt it is popular among other lawmakers, because it will no doubt rock the boat in some circles. Again, thank you for this initiative.

Sincerely,
LARRY GRAVES, Superintendent.
It is my opinion that one size does not fit all in anything, especially education. I would welcome your program and see it as an opportunity for real improvement of results that are being used by federal dollars that flow toward education. You can count on me as a supporter of your efforts.

Sincerely,

RONALD LANKFORD,
Superintendent.

PEMISCOT COUNTY
SPECIAL SCHOOL DISTRICT

SENIOR BOND, As a school administrator, parent, and taxpayer, I would like to commend your Direct Check efforts and offer my support in its passage.

I must remind myself daily that, even though some decisions appear to be more easily made from our Central Office, the best decisions are those that are made from the source of need.

The Direct Check concept would allow the decisions about utilizing education funds to rest in the hands of our constituents without losing some of the funds in state administrative expenses. I feel confident that our Board of Education indeed represents the wishes of our constituents and frequently engages in dialogue with parents and students to determine these educational needs.

Thank you for your efforts. Please don’t hesitate to contact me for additional support.

NICHOLAS J. THEIELE,
Superintendent.

Mr. BOND, Mr. President, the direct check for education doesn’t block grant education funds; it doesn’t affect Title I or include vocational education, special education, or Eisenhower Professional Development; it just says send the money directly back to the school districts, eliminating the time spent reviewing grant applications and the paperwork burden. It replaces a cumbersome and costly process with a resource of flexible funding.

Do we need 100,000 new teachers? In many small school districts, they figure it comes out to about 16 students for their entire district, or 1. How do you hire 16 teachers? Some districts may need to use that money to pay more so they can keep good teachers. This would allow them to do it. Some of my colleagues say you will take power away from the States and the local school boards. I say the State regulations can still stay in effect, but the accountability is going to be at the local level.

We have school boards that we elect to take care of our educational needs, but they don’t have the funds to do it. We have lots of good ideas from the States that our children might otherwise be denied a quality education. I have a really radical proposal: Let’s go back to the old system where school boards are responsible through the superintendents and principals and teachers and allow them to use the good ideas. We have lots of good ideas up here, and we ought to offer those voluntarily and say: Here is a good idea; do you want to try it?

The President just came up with a whole new series of standard things he wants to do for every school district in the Nation. They may well be good ideas. If you were a school superintendent, they might be just the thing to do. Let’s suggest to them that these are things they might want to require. They may have a different way of going about it. I am willing to take the chance on putting that money in the hands of the people, the local educators who know our kids, know kids’ names, and know the problems.

I believe Ed-Flex is a tremendous step in the right direction. I urge that we pass it without amendment. If we do start amending it, I am going to give my colleagues an opportunity to wave red tape over the money directly back to the schools. Let’s be radical, and let’s do something that can make a difference.

Mr. President, I thank the Chair.

Mr. CRAIG addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The distinguished Senator from Idaho is recognized.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I join my colleague from Missouri and others who have spoken on the floor in relation to the legislation that we will begin to debate next Tuesday, I believe, Senate bill 280. We are calling it the Ed-Flex bill because of a demonstration project that has now gone on in 12 other States in this nation, where school districts have demonstrated that, given the flexibility to move dollars around, they can accomplish great things for the young people they are responsible for educating.

So for the rest of the country, I think the Senator from Missouri and I want to see a similar kind of flexibility.

What does it mean? It is very clear what it means. It means that when it comes to educating the young people of our country, we basically trust parents a great deal more than we trust bureaucrats.

For a long time, we felt that the promotion of education in our country would come only if you could have a national department of education, and from that would flow all good things to the States, the rest of the country, and they would serve as the leaders to project our States and our school districts into the dynamics of improving our public education system. We found out that while there is a department of education necessary on occasion, that the real energy comes from a local school district, or a State, or a group of parents who do not like what they see, or the direction their children’s education is heading in, and they want to make changes.

I am not at all opposed to public education. How could I be? I, my wife, and all of our children are the products of the public education system. And we are very proud of it. In Idaho we have a very good public education system that could be a great deal better. The Governor of the State of Idaho, former Senator here in this body, just elected, has recognized in our State that one of the greatest needs is in the area of reading. He would be allowed, along with local school districts, to shift to more concentration on reading from the first grade through to the fourth or fifth grade? If that is what Idaho needs, that is what he should be allowed to do. Even within that context, in some school districts in our State reading has already been a higher priority, and those students are doing better.

In the State of Texas, which has been able to operate under demonstration projects that we now want to send nationwide, the students there are outperforming others, because once again school districts are allowed to focus, to target, and on their standardized test scores they are moving up faster than the rest of the nation. At the same time, these students are being tested against other States.

In Maryland, students are receiving a one-on-one tutoring—again, a demonstration on the part of the school districts that in Maryland they needed to focus on reading. That one-on-one relationship might otherwise be denied under the concept that a one-size education program fits all which would not have allowed the students to do so. There are a good many stories out there. It is from those stories, those children, those examples of what is possible that we bring S. 280 to the floor. I think it has the kind of dynamics we ought to be involved in. For some time we Republicans have recognized that bureaucrats just don’t educate. They spend a lot of money. They don’t direct a lot of very well-meaning people sometimes in the wrong directions.

Where it works is when the money gets to the local levels where parents, along with their educators, can determine what the needs are in a given area. That, of course, has always historically produced one of the most dynamic public systems in the Nation, in the world, and that is our public education system, stalling out in a good number of years simply because it did not have the flexibility to respond.

At this level we are going to put more dollars into education. We believe that is a high national priority. Unlike those of the past where money should have come from the State and local units, we are committed in our opportunity of surplus years to put some of those dollars into education, and in so doing, we don’t want them to get hung up here where 25 or 30 percent will be spun over into bureaucratic inertia. We want them to flow directly to our units of education at the local level.

Ed-Flex, Senate bill 280, offers us that opportunity. We begin to debate it next week. I hope we can have strong bipartisan support in what is an extremely valuable initiative.

I yield the floor. Mr. President.

Mr. VOINOVICH addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The distinguished Senator from Ohio is recognized.

Mr. VOINOVICH. Mr. President, I rise in strong support of Senate 280, a bill to extend educational flexibility to all of the 50 States.

One of the nice things about becoming a Member of the United States Senate is that I am going to have an opportunity as a Member of Congress to promote some of the programs I lobbied for while I was mayor of the city of Cleveland and

Sincerely,

RONALD LANKFORD,
Superintendent.
president of the National League of Cities, and programs that I promoted as Governor and chairman of the National Governors' Association.

Way back in 1991, we did a study in the State of Ohio in regard to our department of education reform. We found that if there were ways we could change its direction. One of the things we discovered was that there were all kinds of reports that needed to be filed. What was astounding is that half the reports that were being filed by school districts were random. Federal and the Federal Government was only participating to the extent of about 6 percent of the money that was being spent in those school districts.

So at that time I came to Washington and I met with Lamar Alexander, who was at that time the Secretary of Education, and said to him that something had to be done about this. At that time he started to put some things together. I think he may have coined the phrase, Ed-Flex. Also, Secretary Riley, an enlightened former Governor, realized that the Department of Education could be of help to the States. They extended the right to local State secretaries to grant waivers to local districts where they wanted to use certain Federal programs for different purposes.

Prior to—we have to put this in perspective—Ed-Flex, if a local school district had a Federal program and they wanted to use it differently, they had to go to their respective State capital, kiss the ring of the superintendent of education, and then that superintendent of education would have to go to Washington and do the same thing.

So Ed-Flex basically says to those States that want to participate, if you put together an overall plan of how you are going to do in your own State eliminate a lot of excess regulations, if you will put together an overall plan on how you are going to take these Federal dollars and use them better so they really make a difference for the kids in the classroom, we will allow you the authority that we have in Washington to grant those waivers to the local school districts—in Ohio, 611 of them.

One of the really unique things that came about as a result of Ed-Flex in our State was that every school district had to prepare eight reports to the State, and the Federal Government was only imposed upon them; the Dollars to the Customer, the recipients of the welfare program. We have 560,000 fewer people on welfare—60 percent reduction since 1992—because we have given the people closest to the customer the power and the authority to make a difference in their lives.

Ed-Flex will give Governors and local school district people that authority to change some of these Federal programs, these one-size-fits-all programs, change them and make a difference for our youngsters, and it will be a way we can show America that if you give people closest to the kids, the teachers, the principal in the classroom, give them the power and the authority to take those dollars and utilize them in a way that is really going to make a difference in the lives of our children, we will see the most revolutionary change and measured improvement we have seen in this country in terms of our public education system.

Mr. HUTCHINSON addressed the Chair. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The distinguished Senator from Arkansas is recognized. Mr. HUTCHINSON. I thank the Chair. I want to applaud my colleagues who have been in the Chamber speaking of education reform, and my colleagues on the Republican side I think have come forward with a very progressive and innovative reform program for education. I know Senator Voinovich from Ohio led the way in education reform in that State.

But Ed-Flex, providing those waivers for State educational establishments to be able to avoid the kind of heavy-handed bureaucratic mandates that are imposed upon them; the Dollars to the Customer, the recipients of the welfare program. We have seen a dramatic change in what is happening in our welfare programs.

We never would have had welfare reform in the United States if it had not been for the fact that waivers were granted to the States prior to welfare reform and, as a result of that, Government were able to show that with flexibility we can really make a difference in people's lives.

We have seen a dramatic change in what is happening in our welfare programs.
Mr. HUTCHINSON. I thank the Chair. I yield the floor.

Mr. President, I observe the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll. The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. VINOVIĆ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded. The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. VINOVIĆ). Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from Ohio is recognized.

Mr. VINOVIĆ. I thank the Chair. (The remarks of Mr. VINOVIĆ pertaining to the introduction of S. 468 are located in today’s Record under “Statements on Introduced Bills and Joint Resolutions.”)

Mr. VINOVIĆ. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum. The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. VINOVIĆ). Without objection, it is so ordered.

Ms. COLLINS addressed the Chair. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Maine.

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that I be permitted to proceed for not to exceed 8 minutes. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, I rise today to add my voice to those who are sponsoring the Education Flexibility Partnership Act of 1999 which would afford states important exemptions from burdensome federal regulations. Indeed, the bill would expand a 12-state demonstration program to all 50 states, and, with it, allow for the waiver of statutes and regulations that hinder State and local educational improvement plans. I thank my colleagues, Senator Frist and Senator Wyden, for their leadership on this innovative legislation. It is, indeed, a landmark bill that I am confident will improve the performance of our Nation’s public schools by placing the control back where it belongs—in the hands of teachers, parents, school board members and the administrators of local school districts.

I am delighted to join my colleagues as an original cosponsor of this legislation, because I am confident that it will improve the academic performance of students in my home State of Maine and in States across the Nation. Our Nation’s public school system is the foundation upon which the American dream is built. Time and time again, we see that education is the difference between poverty and prosperity, ignorance and understanding.

There is no doubt that America’s public schools are in need of a boost, but not one that is dictated by the Federal Government in a “one size fits all” approach. Rather, we need a boost for our Nation’s schools; a boost conceived of and built from the bottom up by the people who know best what our students need; namely, educators and administrators at the State and local levels.

The Ed-Flex plan does just that by cutting the bureaucratic strings that now entangle Federal education dollars. It would allow local communities to spend Federal dollars as they think best, as long as their programs accomplish the objectives of Federal guidelines.

In short, the Ed-Flex bill will help our public schools attain and, indeed, in many cases exceed Federal standards without resorting to a “Washington knows best” approach.

I note, Mr. President, that this approach is totally contrary to that proposed by the Clinton administration. The President wants to be the Nation’s principal. He wants to decide everything from promotion policies to curriculum standards. That is not the approach that this bill takes. Rather, this bill reflects our philosophy that those who are most committed and best able to improve education are found at the school district and local level—our parents, our school board leaders, our principals, and our teachers.

In Maine, our students rank near the top in many national tests. The State Department of Education, the State’s elementary and secondary schools and the University of Maine have worked diligently to design and use challenging statewide learning standards. National test results show that these efforts have been successful. Even more important, they demonstrate that a strong K-12 education system designed and supported by State and local officials, school board members, teachers, and parents can produce first-rate students.

And, indeed, I am very proud of the accomplishments of Maine schools. Dozens of schools across the country have participated in the current Ed-Flex Partnership Program. They have proven that test scores and learning increase most rapidly when guided by locally designed programs, not by Federal ones. We need to expand the Ed-Flex Program so that students in every State can reap these same benefits.

Public schools in Maine and across the Nation are good-faith efforts to repair the deteriorated foundation of our system of public education. There is, however, much more that needs to be done. Our States cannot do it alone. They need assistance but not the dictates of Washington.

The Education Flexibility Partnership Act of 1999 directly addresses the need for change within public schools by putting the power to plan, brainstorm, build, and implement back in the hands of our States and local communities. Expanding the opportunity for the Ed-Flex Program will give every State the chance to experiment and innovarate and to chart a path for better schools. I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this very important initiative.

Thank you, Mr. President. I yield back the remainder of my time.

Mr. BREAUX addressed the Chair. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Louisiana.

Mr. BREAUX. I thank the Chair and welcome the President in that very important position that he has undertaken. We all have had an opportunity to do it in our lives.

I ask unanimous consent to proceed for up to 5 minutes. I take it we are in morning business.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator has that right. (The remarks of Mr. Breaux pertaining to the introduction of S. 469 are located in today’s Record under “Statements on Introduced Bills and Joint Resolutions.”)

Mr. BREAUX. I yield the floor.

Mr. GREGG addressed the Chair. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from New Hampshire.

Mr. GREGG. I ask unanimous consent to speak as in morning business. Are we in morning business?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator is in morning business, and there is a grant of 5 minutes per Senator.

Mr. GREGG. I thank you. Mr. President, I rise today in support of the Ed-Flex bill we are going to take up today, which has brought to the floor by Senators Frist and Wyden and which is an excellent piece of legislation, a commonsense idea. The Ed-Flex bill simply gives freedom to the States to assist local school districts in meeting the particular needs of their particular students.

As a former Governor, I was very frustrated when I would receive Federal funds that were chock full of strings and Federal directions—strings that limited the ability of local school districts to address the educational needs of their students.

Had Ed-Flex been an option when I was Governor, schools could have chosen whether they would use Federal funds to hire more math teachers or instead if they wanted to use them to hire more reading teachers. Those choices should have been dependent upon the particular needs of each school.

They should have been dependent upon the particular needs of the students. Instead, those choices were being made by the Federal Government.

Under the current system, 38 States are prohibited from issuing the type of waivers the Department of Education can issue under the Ed-Flex Program. New Hampshire is one of those States. This means that someone at the Department of Education who doesn’t even know the name of one student at, for example, the Rumford Elementary School in Concord, NH, has more authority over whether the Rumford Elementary School principal and the Rumford schoolteachers can decide...
February 25, 1999

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE

S1989

whether they need math help or reading help for that student than the principals and the teachers have. It is difficult to fathom that some of my colleagues believe that the Federal bureaucracy, however well-intentioned, rather than local schools, district principals or a Concord elementary district schoolteacher or a parent is a better judge of what a child needs in the Rumford Elementary School than they are.

It is hard for me to understand how we can turn to a Federal bureaucracy to make decisions about local schools rather than have the local schools make decisions about how the education should proceed.

This philosophy of Federal control over local education is insulting to the principals, to the teachers, to the superintendents, to the school board, to the parents. And more importantly, it is counterproductive because it doesn't put the resources where we need them. It doesn't put the focus on the student with needs that we have deplored as the local school district, but rather with a set stringent regulated framework which has been determined by a Federal bureaucracy.

Furthermore, this philosophy of Federal control is unjustified. Twelve Ed-Flex States, in the words of Secretary Riley, have used their authority to grant waivers "judiciously and carefully". There is no compelling reason to delay expansion of Ed-Flex authority to all the States. In fact, Secretary Riley, President Clinton—both of whom are former Governors—and the National Governors' Association support expanding Ed-Flex to all 50 States. I congratulate the President and I congratulate Secretary Riley for his support of this initiative.

With that said, Ed-Flex is a modest but important first step to driving more flexibility and control to the local schools, giving them the schools tools to improve education. However, it still leaves the bulk of decisionmaking and control regarding Federal education programs in the hands of the Department of Education rather than with the States and local communities. I hope that later on in this year we will address those additional regulations.

At this time, we are taking up Ed-Flex. That, at least, is a first step and a positive step. Ed-Flex is a bipartisan, widely supported effort with bipartisan support. We should take this opportunity to provide much needed flexibility to the States.

Finally, I take this opportunity to commend Senator Frist and Senator Wyden for their diligent, bipartisan effort to expand Ed-Flex to all 50 States. They led the fight last year to ensure that all States benefit from the increased flexibility and innovation that Ed-Flex provides. I thank them for their efforts to bring Ed-Flex again to the forefront.

I believe the very fact that Ed-Flex will be considered on the Senate floor next week sends a clear signal to the American public that the top priority of this Senate is education and educational programs that are sensitive to the needs of the parents, the students, and the local schools. Ed-Flex is proof positive that the Senate is prepared to hit the ground running and promote proven educational reform measures, such as the expansion of the Ed-Flex Program. I hope that in a strong, bipartisan manner we can work together to pass Ed-Flex and give the Governors, the local schools, the parents, the teachers and the principals this much needed tool which will free them from much unneeded Federal regulation.

Mr. BIDEN. Mr. President, may I make a parliamentary inquiry? How are we operating at the moment? The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate is in morning business and the general grant is each Senator speaking has 5 minutes.

Mr. BIDEN. I see the distinguished Senator from North Carolina is on the floor, and I hope he's ready to speak. The statement may take me as long as 10 minutes. I ask unanimous consent I be able to proceed for 10 minutes. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

RABBI HERBERT E. DROOZ: "THE RABBI SPEAKS."

Mr. BIDEN. Mr. President, it is with great honor and profound sadness that I stand today to pay tribute to a man—Rabbi Herbert Drooz—whose spirit, vision, and voice will live on for generations to come in my State of Delaware.

As a respected religious leader and social activist for peace, he was a builder—literally and figuratively—who dreamed big and made big things happen.

When I got back to Delaware from law school—I went out of State, we didn't have law school in the State at the time, in 1968—Rabbi Drooz was one of the first civic activists that I came in contact with. He oversaw the building of a new synagogue for the reform congregation of Beth Emeth, that he led, which is now the largest synagogue in Delaware, along with the construction of the school on Lea Boulevard, not far from where I had gone to school in Wilmington, Delaware. These two buildings stand as not only monuments to his vision and his dedication to religious service, but they also had the very practical impact of enhancing the region and the neighborhood, and causing people to invest not only physically and financially, but psychologically in our city.

He built a community esprit de corps as well—founding the Delaware Chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, which recently was renamed the National Conference for Community and Justice, which is one of the most significant civic organizations in my State. At the University of Delaware, my alma mater, he organized the popular student Hillel group. When I was a student at the University of Delaware in 1961 to 1965, it had a very small Jewish student body. It now has a vigorous, engaged and involved Jewish student body, and the Hillel group at the University is, again, a major force for justice focusing on the moral dilemma of our time.

What most Delawareans remember about Rabbi Drooz was his voice. He was known as the Rabbi who speaks. Every Sunday morning, you could turn on your local radio station—my largest radio stations in my State, and hear his words of wisdom and compassion, on a program that was titled, "The Rabbi Speaks."

He spoke to and reached out to more than Delaware's proud Jewish community. He was one of the first people who went the extra mile to reach out to the non-Jewish community.

He spoke during times of social unrest in my State. He spoke about more than religious issues. In 1954, he used his leadership and oratorical skills to speak out forcefully against the racist hatred exhibited by a militant in the Southern part of my State, in a city named Milford, which is near the U.S. Supreme Court's decision in Brown v. the Board of Education, to end racial segregation in our public schools. It may come as a surprise to many, but to my great shame, my great State has the blot upon its history that we were segregated by law, and in 1954 it was not particularly popular to speak out on that issue. His words from the Beth Emeth pulpit still ring true.

He questioned, quote: Why no leader has risen from among the citizens of Milford to combat this merchant of hate from another. We have been tardy. Hath not one God created us? Why do we deal treacherously, brother against brother?

The Rabbi speaks, indeed. He spoke, and he spoke at a time when few were willing to speak.

In 1965 he met with bishops from the local Catholic and Episcopal dioceses in leading the Methodists and Presbyterians in opposing American involvement in the war in Vietnam—not very popular at the time and not always popular among his congregation.

Rabbi Drooz led the Rabbinical Association of Delaware for two terms as President. He spoke out as a board member on the board of the Fair Housing Council, Pacem In Terris, the American Red Cross, the Mental Health Association, and Delaware's Urban Coalition.

Everything that mattered, every issue that required some moral bearing, every issue that people tended to shy away from because they were controversial, Rabbi Drooz made a difference.

A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. You know as a former Governor and a former mayor and a Senator now, occasionally things get said about us that are totally untrue. We have to remember that not every community who have significant standing, who are willing to risk their reputations to speak out for us.
Rabbi Drooz spoke out for Joe Biden, too. He spoke out for me at a time that could have stopped me in my tracks from winning the election in 1972.

Please allow me this point of personal privilege to tell this brief story. I just want to talk about the election of this side of the aisle. We will be discussing a range of topics, primarily focusing on questions of education.

Let me say at the outset, Mr. President, last week I journeyed back to my home State of Illinois—a welcome interlude from our impeachment proceedings—to address issues which I consider to be very critical to the future of this Nation. In the span of 4 days I visited a variety of communities and had nine different meetings with educators, teachers, administrators, students, parents, and interested people in the community to talk about the state of education. It was an eye-opener.

As we started to discuss education from a brand-new perspective, to throw out some of the assumptions and some of the rules, to take a look at education there were three basic fallacies in educational thinking today which these educators understood and many in Congress do not. The first fallacy is the belief that children start to learn at age 6, and therefore, there is the responsibility to put children in school at age 6.

Any parent will tell you, and certainly those who study the issue can confirm it, children start learning at a much earlier age. Teacher after teacher told me of children who showed up in kindergarten already far behind where they should be—students who had fallen behind because of family problems or the lack of family initiative or the lack of exposure to an educating environment. Of course, it took the teachers a long time to bring these kids up to speed. They challenged the premise, the assumption, that education starts at the age of 6.

When I asked my staff, incidentally, to research how many kids in school at age 6, they couldn't find a reason. We looked at history. We asked the experts. They couldn't come up with a reason. The best we came up with is most kids can sit still at age 6, and in the old days that is what a classroom was all about—kids sitting still at their desks. It is not the modern threshold and should not be the threshold of education of decision.

The second notion we challenged is the premise of the school day. Why on God's green Earth are students dismissed from school at 3 in the afternoon? Why? There was a day, of course, when they would go home to a parent or their parents, but the days of Ozzie and Harriet with cookies and milk waiting for the kids, I am afraid, are long gone. Most kids have no adult supervision. I am not surprised to find reports from those who know that kids, between the hours of 3 o'clock and the time adults left their supervision at, say, 6 o'clock, are the kids most prone to get in trouble—kids who are involved in scrapes with the law, exposure to drugs, gang activity, teen pregnancy. These things are happening during unsupervised hours.

That is why when we discussed in our proposals on Capitol Hill afterschool programs, it is in the best interest of all of these children—those who are high risk but out of school and need remedial help, as well as those who are doing well in school and need enrichment.

The final point that came through loud and clear is that summer months are the time of growing and it is important that we all look forward to as kids, but it doesn't make as much sense anymore. There was a time when kids needed the summer months off to go work on the farm. Not many kids do that anymore. Frankly, kids need an opportunity to do something constructive, positive, and supervised during the summer months, as well.

I am happy the democratic proposal on education addresses these three issues and addresses many others. At the time, as a 29-year-old guy from a family with no influence or money running for the U.S. Senate in a year when George McGovern was being trounced in my State, I was accused in this sort of Pearl Harbor sneak attack the weekend before the Tuesday of being an anti-Semite, and it was printed in our largest paper.

Rabbi Drooz immediately went into action on the Sunday prior to the election. Rabbi Drooz organized a meeting of Delaware's Jewish community, enlisting the support of the very influential Governor of Pennsylvania who happened to be Jewish, Milton Shapp. Rabbi Drooz spoke out for Joe Biden and supported me against this untrue, unfair accusation. Needless to say, he was effective in setting the record straight, or I would not be standing here today. A more fact that Rabbi Drooz said, "I know Joe Biden," was good enough for the entire community in my State.

I will forever hold Rabbi Drooz in the highest esteem for his courage, his leadership, his boldness and for getting me back on my feet at a time when I needed his courage, leadership and boldness the most.

After I became a Senator, on a regular basis I would brief Rabbi Drooz on the situation in the Middle East. He would put together people for me to speak to. Seldom did we disagree, but he would put together people for me to speak to. Seldom did we disagree, but he was effective in setting the record straight, or I would not be standing here today. A more fact that Rabbi Drooz said, "I know Joe Biden," was good enough for the entire community in my State.

I will forever hold Rabbi Drooz in the highest esteem for his courage, his leadership, his boldness and for getting me back on my feet at a time when I needed his courage, leadership and boldness the most.

After I became a Senator, on a regular basis I would brief Rabbi Drooz on the situation in the Middle East. He would put together people for me to speak to. Seldom did we disagree, but he would put together people for me to speak to. Seldom did we disagree, but he was effective in setting the record straight, or I would not be standing here today. A more fact that Rabbi Drooz said, "I know Joe Biden," was good enough for the entire community in my State.

I will forever hold Rabbi Drooz in the highest esteem for his courage, his leadership, his boldness and for getting me back on my feet at a time when I needed his courage, leadership and boldness the most.

After I became a Senator, on a regular basis I would brief Rabbi Drooz on the situation in the Middle East. He would put together people for me to speak to. Seldom did we disagree, but he would put together people for me to speak to. Seldom did we disagree, but he was effective in setting the record straight, or I would not be standing here today. A more fact that Rabbi Drooz said, "I know Joe Biden," was good enough for the entire community in my State.

I will forever hold Rabbi Drooz in the highest esteem for his courage, his leadership, his boldness and for getting me back on my feet at a time when I needed his courage, leadership and boldness the most.
source of the funding was secondary. They were talking about solving problems and what to do with those problems.

I see that we have been joined by the Senator from Washington, Senator Murray, a teacher in the classroom before she came to the Senate. I welcome her to join us in this colloquy. She knows, as well, that there are practical problems. When the administration starts talking about technologies, they are sometimes heartened by the fact that they have the new computers, but they quickly add, "Senator, don't forget, we have to bring the teachers up to speed now." Many teachers my age, as decrepid as I am, and even older, are trying to become well versed in technology in order to keep up with the students. If the kids don't get the technology and the teachers don't get the training to give it to them, then we are all going to be losers. I agree, that is a central part of this.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I am very proud to be here with my colleagues, and I am very much looking forward to this debate on the Ed-Flex bill, to make it a bill that really meets the needs of our young people.

I yield back to my friend, Senator Durbin.

Mr. DURBIN. I thank the Senator from California. I notice that the Senator from Nevada is on the floor, and I know he wants to address some education issues. I will be happy to yield to the Senator from Nevada, Senator Reid.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Nevada is recognized.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, first of all, I want to express my appreciation to the senior Senator from Illinois for arranging this opportunity for us to talk about education.

Mr. President, what I want to talk about today is an amendment that Senator Bingaman from New Mexico and I will offer on a demand amendment on the Ed-Flex bill. Senator Bingaman and I offered this amendment, which passed the Senate last year. The problem has gotten no less complicated and no less important. Every day in America, 3,000 children drop out of high school; that is 500,000 a year. There is something about the way in which this country should be embarrassed. "So what," some say. Well, each child who drops out of high school is less than they could be.

It also complicates societal matters by increasing welfare costs and the criminal justice system. It even complicates increasing costs in our educational system.

If you look at the people in prison, 82 percent of the people in prison are high school dropouts. That is argument. All we need to be concerned about high school dropouts. We know statistically without any question that the children of dropouts have a much higher dropout rate than those who finish high school.

The median income of college graduates is more than three times that of high school dropouts. The probability of falling into poverty is three times higher for high school dropouts than those who had finished high school. Unemployment rates of high school dropouts are more than twice those of high school graduates.

Mr. President, I don't know of anything that we could do that would be more important in the education field than keeping our young people in school; in high school. There are 3,000 dropouts a day, $50,000 a year.

I hope that as we proceed through this debate, we will understand that the problems are not the same with every ethnic group.

For example, in the State of Nevada, 26 percent of the students—actually more than 25 percent of the students—in our Clark County school district, Metropolitan Las Vegas area, are Hispanic children. I am sorry to report that the Hispanic children have a dropout rate that is about 20 percent higher than any other ethnic group. Some ask why. There are a number of reasons. Most of the Hispanic students in Nevada come from Mexico. Mexico doesn't have a tradition of public education. There are language problems. And also one of the problems is Hispanics have such a great work ethic. They are willing to work as young kids, and they perform so well is Hispanics have such a great work ethic. They are willing to work as young kids, and they perform so well.

We need to recognize that within a few years. In fact, by the year 2000, in America, Hispanics will make up 20 percent or more of our population. The Hispanic leaders in this country know that the most important thing for them is educating their youth. We have to participate so that we join with the Hispanic leaders in this country to keep Hispanic youth in high school.

I hope that we all realize that this legislation, the Ed-Flex bill, is something that gives us a vehicle to focus on education.

I heard the Senator from Illinois talk about the fact that we no longer are an agrarian society. Why should kids be out of school 3 months out of the year in the summertime? Should we have year-round school? That is a debate that should take place.

I remember when I went to the State legislature 30 years ago I talked about year-round schools. People laughed at me at the time. But now in Nevada we have year-round schools in a number of places, mainly because of the population growing so large they can't build the schools fast enough. And now we have year-round schools.

In short, Senator Bingaman and I are going to do everything we can to see that this legislation passes.

I also express my appreciation to the Senator from Nevada for allowing me to come and speak on this very important issue.

Mrs. MURRAY. Mr. President, will the Senator from Nevada yield for a question?

Mr. REID. Yes. I also say, before yielding, as the Senator from Illinois has already pointed out, that it is tremendous to have someone who has been in the classroom teaching children. We talk about it from an outside perspective, but the Senator from Washington has been in effect in the trenches.

Mrs. MURRAY. I thank the Senator from Nevada.

I wanted to ask a question and share a story with him, because I think what we are talking about in terms of the dropout prevention is so important today.

I am sure the question that the Senator from Nevada hears so often, and the Senator from Illinois hears so often in these debates today is, What role does the Federal Government have in this? Should this be a local decision? Should we just hand the dollars down to our local districts? What I want to share with you is that I met with a number of students last week in Washington State who had fallen through the cracks. I come from a State where the constitution says it is the paramount duty of the State to provide funding for education, and we do a good job. But we are struggling like everyone else with our budgets at home. This school happened to be in a district that has well-founded schools. This was a young student who had fallen through every single crack and dropped out of school. What brought him back was the Federally funded School-to-Work Program. When I asked the student if the Federal Government had a role, he said, "Absolutely yes. You need to be there when everybody else fails."

I am wondering if the Senator from Nevada has heard that as well.

Mr. REID. I say to the Senator from Washington, without question, the answer is yes. There are programs that work. I would also say that the Federal Government is paying to cover many problems in all areas. Education is an area where we have to identify national problems. I believe that if there was ever a problem that this country has, it deals with high school dropouts. I reported: There are 3,000 children a day dropping out of school. Can you imagine how much better society would be if we could keep only 500 of those children in school so that we only—and I emphasize "only"—had 2,500 children dropping out of high school a day.

I have heard every day the constant refrain that the Federal Government has no business dealing with local education.

The program that Senator Bingaman and I are sponsoring is a program that gives local school districts absolute control. We are not telling them what to do. All we are saying is we are going to be a resource for you. Washington, DC, is going to be a resource. We have a lot of programs where we have analyzed and evaluated. Here is how they work. If you have a problem in your school with a dropout, make an application and we will give you a grant and we will extend the money to the local school districts. They can implement the program, if they think it will help their kids.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, if the Senator from Nevada will yield, I think it is interesting to step back for a second and look at what Congress does. We believe that because there is a problem of crime in America, we should Federalize a lot of crimes. Even the Chief Justice of the United States recently noted that if we continue this trend in crime, we are going to dramatically change law enforcement in the United States. The enforcement of laws involving crime used to be a State and local responsibility. But because of our interest on Capitol Hill in crime, we continue to Federalize more and more crime. Yet, when it comes to prevention programs such as the one suggested by the Senator from Nevada, many people argue, "Keep your hands off." If you want to prevent crime, it has to be done at the State and local level.

I hope we can find a balance here.

As I traveled around Illinois, I found some extraordinary ideas coming out of local school districts about after-school programs, bringing kids up to the reading levels in school, remedial activities, and the like. I want to express that.

I notice the Senator from Nevada was careful to say that he wanted to see if this were a new, innovative program to identify what we are going to spend down a Federal rule book, a manual of instruction. We are looking for results. We want accountability. I think if we take that approach, we can build Federal programs that are welcomed at the local level, and not rejected.

Mr. REID. I say to my friend from Illinois, I keep throwing these statistics out because to me they are overwhelming. We don't want to take a lot of mathematics courses in high school or college. But I don't have to be a mathematician to understand that 82 percent of people who are in prison, who are not high school graduates, that there is some reason people who do not graduate from high school are more likely to go to prison. We have to recognize if we can keep kids in high school, we are going to keep them out of prison. I don't know how much more we need to talk about prevention.

That is one of the biggest prevention programs. We don't need to build youth centers, although that is a help. We don't have to come up with new inventions; we are already in school to realize that if we keep them in school we keep them out of prison.

Mrs. MURRAY. Mr. President, I thank the Senator from Illinois. I thank the Senator from Nevada for his work on this important issue and wish him well as he offers this amendment next week on this important bill. I thank my colleagues for allowing us today to talk about issues that are really going to make a difference in our classrooms across the country.

Mr. President, across this country families are having conversations at their breakfast tables about how we can improve education. How are they talking about reducing class size? They are talking about after school programs. They are talking about dropout prevention. They are talking about teacher training, because parents know that is what is going to make a difference for their own child, for their family, for their neighborhood, and for our community. That is the type of conversation we need to be having on this floor in the Senate in this Congress, as well. I am delighted that we are finally going to have the opportunity to do that.

Mr. President, I am pleased that one of the first bills that is going to be considered is S. 280, which is the Ed-Flex bill. It is a bill that will help States develop new and innovative programs, and it is an important issue and one that I am glad we are going to address and that I am happy to support.

I think it is really important to note that merely improving the process is not enough. We also have to make an immediate and a direct impact on the overcrowded classrooms that our children across this country find themselves in every single day in this country.

That is why I am going to be introducing an amendment that will authorize a 6-year effort to continue to help States and local districts bring in new, well-trained teachers nationally to begin to reduce class size in first through third grade where it will have the most impact.
Mr. President, I am looking forward to working with Senators from both sides of the aisle to ensure that we meet our promise to these teachers and all the other parents and students across America to reduce class size and truly make a difference in the education of our children and our country's future.

Thank you, Mr. President. I yield the floor.

EXTENSION OF MORNING BUSINESS

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I checked with the Republican cloakroom. I ask unanimous consent that morning business be extended a half an hour.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

EDUCATION IN AMERICA

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, as the Senator from Nevada said earlier, many of us have theories on education as parents who watched our kids go through school with teachers and administrators. The Senator from Washington has spent enough time in classrooms to teach all of us, and I think her suggestions are very valuable suggestions.

What I have found as I have traveled around my state, and I think other Senators have as well, is that the basics of what they need in education and a helping hand can make such a difference.

When we talked about after school programs in school district after school district, they said, Senator, can you help us with transporting the kids safely from a school to an after school program and back home again?

A practical concern that stops them from doing things that are so important. And I think there are ways we can help here. Yesterday, we passed an amendment to keep the state grants for education for after-school programs. I am afraid there would be a firestorm of opposition. People would say, wait a minute, you didn't have a hearing; it's too much of an undertaking by the Federal Government. I really hope that we can get this priority.

People across America identify education as the No. 1 concern. I think it's because of their personal experience and the realization that opportunity in this country comes with achievement, in school is really the best way to get started on a good life in America and many other places.

I am happy today to join with the Senator from Washington to discuss this. Isn't it interesting. President Clinton's suggested 100,000 more teachers to reduce classroom size. My Republican Governor in Illinois, in the State of the State message, George Ryan, suggested 10,000 new teachers for our State. The reaction from local schools districts? "Hoping to put them? We need classrooms. You can't just give us more teachers and expect smaller classroom sizes without new classrooms."

That is why the President's proposal to help school districts modernize their schools, expand their schools, build new schools is really a timely suggestion. The GAO report a few years ago said that we need 6,000 new schools in America by the year 2006. One-third of all schools in America, serving 14 million kids, need extensive repair and replacement. So I think we understand that the President's proposal for teachers and classrooms is the only sensible way to have class room size reduction in a way that will be handled effectively.

Mrs. MURRAY. Will the Senator from Illinois yield on that point?

Mr. DURBIN. I am happy to yield.

MURRAY. Mr. President, I am happy to yield.

Mr. DURBIN. I thank the Senator from Illinois brought up an extremely important point, and that is that hiring new teachers is one part, hiring well trained teachers is the second part, and providing classrooms for them is a critical part. That is one of the reasons why in my amendment we make sure that it is very flexible language, so that local school districts that do have a school construction, a very real school construction crunch can use those dollars in a very flexible way so the teachers can work jointly in classrooms, that it isn't just one teacher per classroom, that we can do some local ways of providing extra one-on-one help with youngsters who need it the most.

Mr. President must address a very serious construction problem. It is a real challenge to crumbling schools that exist across our country where our kids are in unsafe classrooms, where they are crowded simply because there is no space to put them. It is an area we have to address, and I am delighted the Senator from Illinois recognizes that.

Mr. DURBIN. I thank the Senator from Washington. I have noted this on the Senate floor before, but it struck me that at the turn of the last century one of the most amazing things that happened in America was that between the years 1890 and 1920 we built in America on average one new high school every day. We started our new century with a dedication to public education. We Democratized education unlike any country in the world. And we said, whether you are rich or poor, you are going to have a chance to go to high school.

That wasn't a Federal mandate. That sprung up from local communities that said, if we are going to build a community in Washington or Illinois, and it is going to be a real community, we are going to have a real high school, we are going to hire teachers, and we will have all the kids go to school.

Look at the benefits we have reaped as a nation because of that kind of forward thinking, that kind of vision that said that the America will be different, our commitment to education will be different. And look what we have seen as a result of it. We have gone from the Wright Brothers at Kitty Hawk to a space program; we have gone from Henry Ford's line moving across that assembly line to the point where we have the most modern computer chip factories in the world here in the United States.

I don't think it is a coincidence. I think what happened here is the fact that we dedicated ourselves to improving our work force and elevating the intelligence and training and skills of Americans. And look at the benefits we reaped. We had an American century in the last 20th century. Will we have an American century in the 21st? If we take a view that it is a hands-off subject and we can't talk about that in Washington and the people at the local level, then the money we are missing another opportunity.

But to bring in talented teachers to have smaller classroom sizes, to have more modern classrooms, has to be an investment of the 21st century to continue what has become the American way of doing things. I want to salute not only Senator MURRAY and Senator REID by those who have joined us in supporting the President's program. I think it is a program that is balanced, a program that takes a portion of this surplus, a surplus we worked hard to put together, and says we are going to put that portion into education. It's an investment that will pay off in generations to come. At this point I don't know that any other Senators are seeking to raise the quorum level, and, Mr. President, I would reserve the remainder of my time or yield perhaps to the Senator from Florida if he would like to speak on another subject.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Florida is recognized.

PRIVILEGE OF THE FLOOR

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Mr. Colton Campbell, Mr. Bryan Giddings, Ms. Lisa Page, and Ms. Marilyn Lewis of my staff be afforded the privilege of the floor during the duration of my remarks.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. GRAHAM. I thank the Chair. (The remarks of Mr. GRAHAM pertaining to the introduction of S. 1194 were located in the Congressional Record under "Statements on Introduced Bills and Joint Resolutions.")

Mr. GRAHAM. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. KERREY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. KERREY. Mr. President, I understand we are in morning business and Senators are permitted to speak for up to 5 minutes each.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is correct.

Mr. KERREY. I ask unanimous consent to speak for such time as necessary to get through this stack of paper.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

A NEW GOVERNMENT IN IRAQ

Mr. KERREY. Mr. President, on the heels of passing a much-needed pay and benefits increase for the men and women who give up their freedom to serve us in our armed services, I want to direct my colleagues' attention to one longstanding military mission these men and women have been assigned. That is the mission of containing the threat of Saddam Hussein in Iraq.

Mr. President, I do this for a couple of reasons. First is that I have argued for a stronger military operation in Iraq. Indeed, I have argued to change the objective from containment to replacement. And, oftentimes, people come back and say, well, if we do that, we will risk lives.

I would like to describe to my colleagues—in fact, we have a military operation going on today, have had since 1990; and this military operation is costing us dearly both in lives and in money.

Mr. President, last Tuesday I had the opportunity to give a speech to the cadets at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs and they asked me to speak on pay and benefits, for which I was only too anxious to oblige.

I talked to them about something that I think is causing the decline in enrollment—in addition to the inadequate pay and retirement benefits—and that is that Americans are less willing to volunteer for service in our Armed Forces as a consequence, in my judgment, of our not doing enough to tell them—especially our younger citizens—the stories of heroism which are being written day by day by the brave men and women who wear the uniform of one of our services. Instead of role models of people who have given themselves to a higher cause, Mr. President, unfortunately our young people are being told an increasing number of stories, especially on television, of self-gratification and indulgence. It is no wonder as a consequence that a patriotic decision to serve seems like a nonmainstream choice.

Before I gave my speech at the Academy, the superintendent warned me I needed to remember how young my audience was. “Half your audience,” he said, “wasn’t even 10 years of age when Saddam Hussein invaded Kuwait in 1990.” Mr. President, I must tell you that gave me some pause because that seemed like yesterday that happened, but, in fact, a great deal of time has elapsed since then.

For me, the statement was more than just a reminder to be careful what language I used when talking to these young people, but also a wake up call to make for military commission that we have in place in Iraq today. It is a dangerous military operation. It is a military operation that costs us a great deal of money, and I hazard a guess that most of us who have looked at the objectives containing Saddam Hussein would say that the mission is dangerously close to unraveling.

This military strategy began in August 1990 when Saddam Hussein invaded Kuwait. In response to this active aggression, the United States, under President Bush’s leadership, assembled and led an international coalition of forces against Iraq. It was a war, both in financial and military commitment but also in terms of the human cost to the more than 540,000 men and women in our military forces deployed to the Persian Gulf. Sixty billion dollars was spent prosecuting the war, but this does not compare to the price paid by 396 American families who lost loved ones in Operation Desert Storm.

At the end of the war, most Americans assumed our military commitment was ending. After all, the war had been fought. We had been victorious. Saddam Hussein had sued for peace. It was time to bring home the troops. But almost from the beginning, Saddam Hussein refused to abide by the terms of the ceasefire his government had signed. From violating the no-fly zones to obstructing the work of weapons inspectors to provoking troop deployments, Iraq’s continual challenges and our policy of containment forced us to maintain a very strong military presence in the region. With each crisis generated by the Iraqi regime, the United States and our allies responded to the deployment of more troops and at times with the use of military force. While it is difficult to quantify the monetary cost of the numerous redeployments and military confrontations that have taken place with Iraq over the last 8 years, it is even more difficult to quantify the effect these deployments have had on our troops. How many families have had to be separated for months at a time? What has been the cost in morale for troops deployed to the Desert? Perhaps even more important, what are the broader costs of our military strategy in Iraq.

The continual need for large numbers of American troops in Saudi Arabia has created a strong sense of resentment throughout the Arab world, and it has increased the number of terrorist acts against Americans.

Again, I have urged a different military strategy with a different objective... in the past. The reason I bring this story to the floor, Mr. President, is oftentimes people will say, "Americans don't want to risk the lives of our soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines in a military operation." In the past, Americans were just as likely to be killed in an ambush as they were on the attack. The reason they died was as a result of the anger directed at the American military presence in the gulf. Indeed, the terrorist bombings of U.S. Embassies in Nairobi, Kenya, and Dar es Salaam, which have killed hundreds, were directed by Osama bin Laden, a man who had been stripped of his Saudi citizenship for financing Islamic militants in Algeria, Egypt, and Saudi Arabia. Today, bin Laden remains at large and remains a significant threat not just to people of the world but especially to American citizens around the world. The reason he is a threat and the reason he has killed not just Americans but Kenyans is we are deploying a military operation in Saudi Arabia. It is our presence in the region that the objects to. It is our presence and our military strategy that is being met with his terrorist activities.

Again, I raise these points because I think we have a tendency to forget the price tag we paid for our policy in Iraq. We forget the price that we are paying today for our policy in Iraq. This policy has been described as containment. It has been expensive and, in my judgment, it has failed. Recent events may indicate that the light at the end of the tunnel. The Iraqi people may be closer to their freedom than at any time in years. America must be prepared for sudden change in that country.

The Iraqi people are suffering. The Iraqi regime of Saddam Hussein is among the most brutal and repressive in the world. Americans can be proud of the leading role we are playing in confronting this dictatorship. Last fall Mr. President, the Congress passed the Iraq Liberation Act. The world was placed on notice that America wanted to see Saddam's dictatorship gone and would work with democratic opposition groups to attain that goal.

The administration and our British allies took another big step in December with the Desert Fox airstrikes. By attacking the underpinnings of Saddam Hussein's regime by targeting the Special Republican Guards and the intelligence services, Operation Desert Fox reduced Saddam's ability to terrorize his people and showed Iraqis we and our allies were truly opposed to Saddam in a way previous air campaigns had not done.

Saddam responded to Desert Fox by undertaking regular violations of the northern and southern no-fly zones, trying to entice allied aircraft into air defense missile ambushes. The allied counterattack was highly effective. Rather than simply chasing retreating Iraqi aircraft, United States and allied warplanes have been attacking the Iraqi air defense missile and radar and communication sites, which would support such ambushes. Almost every day so far in 1999 we have attacked some Iraqi air defense installation in response to a no-fly zone violation. The effectiveness and readiness of Saddam's air defenses are declining. Equally important, the complete impotence of Saddam's military relative to the allies is made plain to all Iraqis. In military terms, the Iraqi regime has never looked weaker.

By Sunday night, the world saw signs of a political rally to match the decline of Iraq's military. The Grand Ayatollah of the Shiites, the spiritual leader of 65 percent of Iraqis who are Shiite Muslims, was murdered Thursday night with two of his sons. According to press reports, the Grand Ayatollah had reportedly opposed the regime's directive to all Muslims that they pray at home rather than at Friday services in mosques. Opposition sources said the Grand Ayatollah had been trying to drum up anti-regime sentiment and had blamed it for the misery of Iraqis. Perhaps for these reasons, Shiite Muslim Iraqis suspected the government of the crime and took to the streets in Baghdad and in several southern cities.

The Iraqi opposition groups claim scores, perhaps hundreds, of Iraqis were killed in the government's harsh response. Two other Shiite leaders of international reputation have also been murdered recently in southern Iraq within the last year. The murder of the Grand Ayatollah, coming on these earlier murders and in the backdrop of longstanding Shiite resistance to Saddam's regime, sparked demonstrations and violent government responses in Baghdad and several other cities, according to opposition reports. By Sunday night, the regime had apparently quelled the demonstrations. The human cost and the extent of continuing Shiite hostility to Saddam's regime is not well understood, but the episode demonstrates the Iraqi government's lack of legitimacy in the eyes of its people, as well as the extent to which Saddam would go to suppress any opposition. The episode reveals a weakening Iraqi regime lashing out in an increasingly desperate effort to maintain power. When dictators act this way, it may signal that their end is near.

But when the end comes, it may come quickly. The question will be, is America prepared for the end? If we have done our homework on the various Iraqi opposition groups and actively supported the groups which qualify under the criteria set forth in the Iraq Liberation Act, we will be well-positioned to help Iraq make the transition to democracy. However, if we delay full implementation of the act and take a wait-and-see posture toward the opposition, we should not be surprised if our investments in post-Saddam Iraq is slight. Similarly, if we do not have humanitarian supplies ready to be forwarded to Iraq as soon as Saddam falls, and if we do not have international consensus for forgiving the debts of a post-Saddam Iraq, we should not be surprised to see him replaced by another hostile dictator.

Mr. President, we have a vital national interest in Iraq's future. The lives of young Americans are invested there—our honored dead from the gulf war, as well as from the terrorist attack on Khobar Towers. The valor of our young warriors—now being demonstrated daily in the skies over Iraq—is invested there.

Tens of thousands of soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines have spent months of their lives on deployments to the Persian Gulf and to Turkey in support of the U.S. policy to contain Iraq. We have invested billions of dollars supporting this policy: $1.36 billion on deployments in fiscal year 1998 alone, and $800 million so far in fiscal year 1999.

The American people have made this heavy investment and they have the right to a good return—a democratic Iraq at peace with its neighbors and with its people, so we can bring our troops, ships, and planes home for good. To attain this return, we must be ready for an internal crisis in Iraq, which could occur sooner than we expect.

Mr. President, on later occasions, I intend to come to the floor to describe why I believe a policy other than containment is needed, because I understand there are people who are very suspicious and very guarded in their assessments of our success. But I ask them merely to look at previous examples of where the United States of America has been successful in the face of considerable skepticism about our ability to get that done.

In addition, Mr. President, we have, as I have tried to outline here, a considerable military investment and a risky operation going on today that puts every single one of these men and women, their health, safety, and well-being at risk, and we should not and dare not take that for granted.

Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

Mr. NICKLES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for a quorum be rescinded.

Mr. NICKLES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. NICKLES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. NICKLES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

EXTENSION OF MORNING BUSINESS

Mr. NICKLES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that morning business be extended. Without objection, Senators are permitted to speak for up to 10 minutes each.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.
Mr. NICKLES. Mr. President, I wish to speak on a couple of issues that concern me greatly in the arena of foreign policy.

First, a couple of comments concerning the administration's recent policies in Kosovo. I am very, very concerned that the administration, in the negotiations in France, is making a mistake. I hope that is not the case. I wish that is not the case. Maybe I don't have all the information the administration has. But I have been to Kosovo. I have been in Pristina. I have met with Mr. Milosevic. I do happen to think he is a tyrant. I think he has conducted a lot of atrocities in Bosnia and Kosovo against people—right now the Albanians in Kosovo. I think he is a bad guy. I think the international community needs to stand up to him.

But I am very, very concerned about the administration's policy, or objective, where they are talking about committing 4,000 U.S. troops out of a contingency of 28,000, where they are sending our military in without a militarily achievable objective and without an exit strategy, I am really concerned because nowhere are they talking about being there for a long, long time. It seems like we are duplicating what happened in Bosnia, which the administration calls an outstanding success. But it looks to me like we are stuck in Bosnia. Nobody seems to know exactly how much money we have spent in Bosnia. I heard some people say we have already spent $12 billion in Bosnia. Some people say the real figure is closer to $20 billion or $22 billion. But we are spending billions of dollars.

I remember in 1995 the President, when he committed the troops, said they would only be there for a year. As a matter of fact, the year would expire by the end of the year. We are going to be there for tens of years instead of 1 year or a very short period of time.

Mr. President, I make those comments on Kosovo.

Mr. NICKLES. Mr. President, the primary reason I came to the floor this afternoon is to speak about the administration's failed policy on Iraq. I say it is a failed policy. I wish that weren't the case, but it is, it is a failed policy.

The administration, this administration, President Clinton inherited a situation where President Bush and the Secretary of State had won the war with Iraq. We achieved our military objective, which was to get Iraq out of Kuwait. We stated that was our objective. We accomplished that objective.

We then signed Resolution 1134 which demanded sanctions against Iraq for its invasion of Kuwait in the summer of 1990. We had a total embargo on Iraqi products, including oil. Oil was the No. 1 product, or commodity, that Iraq exported. It provided 95 percent of Iraq's export revenue, of its foreign currencies.

We put that embargo on because they invaded a neighbor. And, frankly, they probably intended to invade other neighbors—maybe Saudi Arabia—and really became the dominating power in the Persian Gulf. We didn't think that was right. We sent 550,000 troops. We stopped them. We kicked them out of Kuwait, and we imposed sanctions to make sure that we would get rid of their weapons of mass destruction, because we knew they were building chemical and biological weapons and possibly nuclear weapons.

And so we set up an international regime called UNSCOM to inspect to make sure they wouldn't be doing this again, that they wouldn't be building these weapons of mass destruction to cause more problems for their neighbors and surrounding countries in the foreseeable future. The entire world committed, including us, to that effort. I think we had 30 countries that were involved in the coalition aligned against Iraq in 1990, 1991, 1992. That is what President Clinton inherited.

Well, what has happened since? Let me walk you through what has happened since. Saddam Hussein and the Iraqis and the Iraqi Government have really baffled the Clinton administration and, in my opinion, they have beaten the Clinton administration if you look at their objectives.

I will show you. The war was in 1991. They were producing 2 million barrels of oil per day in 1990. After the embargo, they averaged—in 1991, 1992, 1993, 1994, 1995, 1996, about 4- or 500,000 barrels per day. We really curtailed their production. Basically, we had the implied reward that said, if you will allow arms control inspectors—if we assure you that you are not building weapons of mass destruction, we will allow you to produce more oil, there won't be an embargo, but we have to know that you are not building weapons to export throughout the world.

Did the administration do? Well, we had a conflict. Actually it happened in 1994 and 1995; Iraq amassed about 80,000 troops near the Kuwaiti border. We started activating troops. We said, well, we wouldn't let this stand; we will respond militarily, if necessary, and then the problem went away. How did they go away? In April of 1995, the United Nations approved Resolution 986, and this resolution allowed Iraq to sell $2 billion worth of oil in 1996, $6 million, $4 billion of oil per year.

Well, you might notice, all right, this happened in April of 1995. Their oil infrastructure took awhile to be rebuilt, but, as a result of the U.N. resolution, we allowed Iraq to double their production and their oil output. And this was supposedly to get their cooperation. We didn't have to go to war at the time. We were able to, supposedly, have arms control inspectors, and so they had a little cooperation.

In March of 1996, Iraq blocked inspections. In June of 1996, we passed U.N. Resolution 1060 that nullifies the refusal of Iraqi authorities to allow access to sites designated by UNSCOM.

In August, Iraq launched a campaign against the Kurds. The United States launched a few cruise missiles. The crisis continues. Our arms control inspectors are continually denied access.

In June of 1997, Iraq demands that UNSCOM finish their work. Since then, the United Nations passed a resolution that demands—demands—Iraq comply fully with UNSCOM. In October of 1997, Iraq bars American inspectors totally. In October, the United Nations passed Resolution 1134 which condemned Iraq's refusal to allow UNSCOM access to certain sites. Boy, the United Nations is standing tough.

In November of 1997, we passed another resolution. Resolution 1137. We tell them, if you don't finish their work, we will. The United Nations passed Resolution 1134 which condemned Iraq's refusal to allow UNSCOM access to certain sites. Boy, the United Nations is standing tough.

Now, this is only a year ago. A year ago in January this administration was sending 35,000 troops to the Persian Gulf. We are getting ready to go to war again. We are going to have a significant strike. We had significant debate in this body: Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do? Is this the right thing to do?
sites. And then you might remember, the Secretary General of the United Nations, Kofi Annan, well, he flies to Baghdad and they come to an agreement. Peace is at hand. Arms control inspectors will be allowed back in. We are ready to go to war with Iraq because they wouldn't let us have our arms control inspectors in, and all of a sudden we delegate the authority to the Secretary General. He meets with Kadh-dad. They make a deal. Everybody is shaking hands. War is avoided. Everybody can be at ease—no real problems now. We have an agreement. We have Kofi Annan's signature. We have the Iraqis saying they are going to comply; they are going to let in arms control people. And, yes, there was a little deal that they could double oil sales, the Iraqis could double their oil exports to as much as $5.2 billion of oil every 6 months. That was in February, a year ago, 12 months from this time.

What happened last August? Let's see. Last August, the Iraqis stopped inspectors again. Now, they have done this repeatedly.

What happened in September and October? They announced they would no longer cooperate. We withdrew the inspectors because they weren't doing anything. They were sitting in hotel rooms; they weren't allowed to have any inspections. And so we started saying this is not satisfactory.

President Clinton, again, he is talking tough—we are going to go to war. We are going to bomb them. We have the international community on our side now because they kicked the arms control inspectors out. We have the international community on our side. We are ready to go.

Well, the administration wasn't ready to go to war so we will give peace a little more of a chance. And we gave peace a little more of a chance, but they still didn't cooperate. We negotiated more. And so in September the United Nations passed another resolution at the anniversary of the Iraq-Iraqi conflict. That was in September.

In November, we passed another resolution, U.N. Resolution 1205. We demanded that Iraq cooperate. And then in December 17, 18, and 19, Iraq didn't cooperate. We had 3 days of bombing. Some people called them the impeachment bombings. They happened to be on the day of impeachment. Maybe that is coincidence; maybe it isn't. I don't know.

So we had 3 days of bombing. Boy, that taught them a lesson because they weren't complying, and we are going to make sure they are going to comply. So we bombed them for 3 days. And then what happened? And I don't know if anybody can read this or not, but then on December 23 "U.S. Offers To Raise Oil Ceiling To Alleviate Iraq's Economic Sanctions". We had 3 days of bombing, Clinton administration officials are negotiating to lift the oil sales cap.

My point is that we have rewarded Iraq for non-compliance with arms control inspectors by raising the oil sales cap. In April of 1995, we allowed them to go from a total embargo to where they could sell $2 billion of oil every 6 months.

That was in April of 1995. Why? Because they weren't allowing the inspectors. Then in February of 1998—again, we are ready to go to war, Kofi Annan, negotiations this deal that will allow them to double it again. So, yes, we had a promise that the inspectors would be allowed to have access. Maybe they had access for a few months. The inspectors started getting close to finding something. Saddam Hussein kicked them out again. We threatened to go to war again. This time we actually did bomb them for 3 days and then, guess what. Days later, we can't wait; we run back and say, hey, we are going to reward you for non-compliance.

That has been the administration's policy dealing with Iraq. Let's reward their noncompliance with arms control inspectors. Let's reward them; we will let them sell more oil. And that is exactly what has happened.

This was the administration's statement days after the bombing. But it is interesting. And this was made by Tom Pickering.

Incidentally, I might mention, Mr. President, we are trying to get the administration to testify at a hearing, and they have been very reluctant to do so. But I think we have a commitment from Secretary of Energy Richard Cheney, Secretary Albright, or at least Under Secretary Pickering to testify, to explain this position.

His statement is interesting. It says: Outlining U.S. policy in the wake of last week's airstrikes against Iraq, Undersecretary of State Thomas R. Pickering said the United States would be prepared to review the economic sanctions imposed on Iraq during the 1990-91 Gulf War if Iraq President Saddam Hussein gives guaranteed cooperation to U.N. weapons inspectors. If not, the sanctions will remain in place in perpetuity and the United States will use force as needed to block weapons development.

In other words, if Iraq doesn't give cooperation, we are going to guarantee that those sanctions will remain in place forever. That was our administration's policy on December 23, just days after the bombing.

Well, guess what. I am critical of this administration. Their policy here, 3 weeks ago, again in the Washington Post, it says, "Gore Signals Flexibility on Iraq Sanctions; France Proposes Ending Oil Embargo, Changing Weapons Inspections." But guess what. Vice President Gore proposed eliminating weapons sanctions. That is our own Vice President who said that. Three weeks after we said we would never lift sanctions unless we had total cooperation, we had Vice President of the United States talking about—I will just quote part of the article:

A ceiling on how much oil Iraq can sell to provide humanitarian aid to its people might be lifted if the approval process streamlined, Vice President Gore said tonight. . . .

"The ceiling should be lifted." He didn't say in exchange for cooperation. He didn't say in exchange for having arms control inspectors in. He just said we should lift it. That is very inconsistent, totally overriding what the Under Secretary said 3 weeks before, but totally consistent with what this administration has done.

What this administration has done—Saddam Hussein has tested them. He has pushed them up to the edge of going to war, defied arms control, defied the international community and the United Nations, and we are going to bomb them for 3 days. And if they aren't complying, and we are going to make sure they are going to comply, we can sell more oil.

So what has happened? The Iraqis have done just that. Their oil sales have gone way up. Guess what. They have no inspections—none—zero. They are selling as much oil today as they were prior to the war. That is 95 percent of their currency that they earn for all sorts of things.

The administration will say this is only used for food or humanitarian reasons. Hogwash. Money is fungible. If they are ready to take care of humanitarian needs with this money, that means with the other money they have, they can use that to buy arms and weapons and anything else they desire. They have more and more changes—and you notice now we are up to over 2½ million barrels per day, exactly 2 million barrels a day more than it was in 1995. There also has been a decrease of glutting an already flooded market and is driving a lot of producers totally out of business—totally out of business.

We have a depression going on right now in the oil industry. You have 111 oil refineries running at only 550,000 barrels a day. Then the administration policy where they allow more and more changes—and you notice now we are up to over 2½ million barrels per day, exactly 2 million barrels a day more than it was in 1995. There also has been a decrease of glutting an already flooded market and is driving a lot of producers totally out of business—totally out of business.

We have a depression going on right now in the oil industry. You have 111 oil refineries running at only 550,000 barrels a day. Then the administration policy where they allow more and more changes—and you notice now we are up to over 2½ million barrels per day, exactly 2 million barrels a day more than it was in 1995. There also has been a decrease of glutting an already flooded market and is driving a lot of producers totally out of business—totally out of business.

We have a depression going on right now in the oil industry. You have 111 oil refineries running at only 550,000 barrels a day. Then the administration policy where they allow more and more changes—and you notice now we are up to over 2½ million barrels per day, exactly 2 million barrels a day more than it was in 1995. There also has been a decrease of glutting an already flooded market and is driving a lot of producers totally out of business—totally out of business.

We have a depression going on right now in the oil industry. You have 111 oil refineries running at only 550,000 barrels a day. Then the administration policy where they allow more and more changes—and you notice now we are up to over 2½ million barrels per day, exactly 2 million barrels a day more than it was in 1995. There also has been a decrease of glutting an already flooded market and is driving a lot of producers totally out of business—totally out of business.

We have a depression going on right now in the oil industry. You have 111 oil refineries running at only 550,000 barrels a day. Then the administration policy where they allow more and more changes—and you notice now we are up to over 2½ million barrels per day, exactly 2 million barrels a day more than it was in 1995. There also has been a decrease of glutting an already flooded market and is driving a lot of producers totally out of business—totally out of business.

We have a depression going on right now in the oil industry. You have 111 oil refineries running at only 550,000 barrels a day. Then the administration policy where they allow more and more changes—and you notice now we are up to over 2½ million barrels per day, exactly 2 million barrels a day more than it was in 1995. There also has been a decrease of glutting an already flooded market and is driving a lot of producers totally out of business—totally out of business.

We have a depression going on right now in the oil industry. You have 111 oil refineries running at only 550,000 barrels a day. Then the administration policy where they allow more and more changes—and you notice now we are up to over 2½ million barrels per day, exactly 2 million barrels a day more than it was in 1995. There also has been a decrease of glutting an already flooded market and is driving a lot of producers totally out of business—totally out of business.

We have a depression going on right now in the oil industry. You have 111 oil refineries running at only 550,000 barrels a day. Then the administration policy where they allow more and more changes—and you notice now we are up to over 2½ million barrels per day, exactly 2 million barrels a day more than it was in 1995. There also has been a decrease of glutting an already flooded market and is driving a lot of producers totally out of business—totally out of business.
more oil sales. Now the administration's policy, as stated by the Vice President of the United States, is we should not have a cap on oil sales.

Incidentally, we do not need—or, they don't say this, but we do not have arms control inspectors in; so there is no one there to guard against Saddam Hussein. "Hey, you can sell all the oil you want to; all you have to do is make sure we have access, have arms control inspection; then we'll take all the embargo off." That should be our policy. But until then, the food and arms embargo on. Let's put a little squeeze on.

I said, "What are we doing today?" We are flying daily flights over the no-fly zones. They are shooting at our planes. Thank goodness they haven't been successful yet. But how successful is our policy? We have already proven to Saddam Hussein, if he denies us, we will reward him. That is what we have done. This is what this administration has done with their policy.

Our administration policy has been pretty poor in dealing with Iraq. We have continued to reward their non-cooperation, going all the way back to April 1995, and I think it has made the world a lot more dangerous as a result. Saddam Hussein is able to produce all the oil he wants. He is able to generate the money he needs, able to build the weapons of mass destruction without anybody checking him whatsoever—not the United States, not the United Nations, the world is a much more dangerous place.

The administration should be held accountable for their failed policies in Iraq. I also think it is important that we speak up now so we don't have failed policies in Kosovo.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have the newspaper articles and tables to which I referred printed in the RECORD, and I yield the floor.

There being no objection, the material accompanying the end of the RECORD, and I yield the floor.

Outlining U.S. policy in the wake of last week's airstrikes against Iraq, Undersecretary of State Thomas R. Pickering said the United States has been prepared to review the economic sanctions imposed on Iraq after the 1991 Persian Gulf War if Iraqi President Saddam Hussein gives guaranteed cooperation in U.N. weapons inspections.

Saddam Hussein gives guaranteed cooperation in U.N. weapons inspections. If not; we will not return to the previous situation in which Iraq promised to cooperate with inspectors and then obstructed their work, controlling the agenda and forcing Washington to choose between military force or breaking its word to defend the inspections.

Pickering's tone, however, was conciliatory toward the Security Council. He welcomed Russia's announcement that its ambassador to Washington, recalled last week for "consultations," will return this week. He also raised the possibility of U.S. consent to an increase in the amount of crude oil Iraq is allowed to sell through U.N.-supervised channels to buy food and medicine. Now Iraq is permitted to sell $5.2 billion of oil every six months.

Administration officials described Pickering's remarks as part of an effort to assuage anger in the Security Council about the four days of U.S. and British airstrike operations on Iraq in particular has complained that the strikes circumvented the will of the Security Council and violated international law. Foreign Minister Yevgeny Primakov and Russian ambassador Vladimir S. Rahkmanin said in Moscow yesterday that "there is now a chance to reaffirm the leading role of the Security Council," an important objective because the veto in the council is one of its few sources of diplomatic leverage over Washington.

France, which also opposed the strikes, has proposed a modification of the inspection system to make it more palatable to Iraq. Both countries have called for the replacement of UNSCOM Chairman Richard Butler, who, in another development, the Senate Armed Services Committee Chairman John W. Warner (R-Va.) said the president should "seize the initiative" to make a deal with the Russians. France and other nations to restructure UNSCOM.

But Pickering said UNSCOM was created to be a technically competent weapons inspection force and should not be replaced by an alternate mechanism developed for political reasons.

[From the Washington Post, Jan. 14, 1999]

GORE SIGNALS FLEXIBILITY ON IRAQ SANCTIONS—FRANCE PROPOSES ENDING OIL EMBOARGO, CHANGING WEAPONS INSPECTIONS

(By John M. Goshko)

UNITED NATIONS, Jan. 13—A ceiling on how much oil Iraq can sell to provide humanitarian aid to its people should be lifted and the approval process streamlined, Vice President Gore said tonight as Security Council members searched for agreement on how to deal with Iraq in the aftermath of a U.S.-led bombing campaign.

France proposed ending the embargo on Iraqi oil sales and replacing intrusive weapons searches by the United Nations with a plan for unclassified inspection. Vice President Gore said tonight that U.N. approval of what Iraq can purchase with its modest oil profits, France proposed ending the embargo on oil exports for humanitarian needs but will not go as far as lifting the sanctions entirely.

Gore said that U.N. approval of what Iraq can purchase with its modest oil profits, which can take weeks or months, should be revised to speed the approvals.

Earlier today, a White House spokesman James P. Rubin said the French proposal contains "some positive elements that deal with the essential task of ensuring that Iraq does not rearm and is disarmed."

The French plan calls for:

- Long-term weapons monitoring under a "renewed control commission" that would either replace or substantially modify UNSCOM so that its independence will be ensured and its professionalism strengthened; monitoring "would be retrospective but would become preventive," relying on sensors and television cameras to keep track of what Iraq does in the future.

- The embargo on the export of oil, its principal commodity. Under present council resolutions, the sanctions are supposed to remain in place until the council determines that Iraq no longer has prohibited weapons.

A program of strict economic and financial controls allowing the United Nations to monitor Iraqi oil sales and ensure that export revenue is not used to acquire new military equipment or dual-use items. However, the monitoring would not interfere with the purchase of legitimate civilian goods and services.

[From the Washington Post, Jan. 15, 1999]

U.S. SEEKS TO ALTER IRAQ "OIL FOR FOOD" PROGRAM

(John M. Goshko)

UNITED NATIONS, Jan. 14—The United States tried today to defuse growing international criticism of American-backed sanctions on Iraq by proposing eliminating the ceiling on how much oil Iraq can sell abroad, as long as the proceeds are used to buy food and medicine.

The proposal was presented by acting U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, and as the Security Council renewed its search for agreement on how the United Nations should deal been divided about how to coax or force Iraq to resume cooperation.

The division has been especially deep among the Security Council's five permanent members, each with the power to veto any decision. Gore's speech tonight to the Israel Policy Forum in New York was designed to show U.S. openness to the flexibility he sees as a way to ease the crippling economic sanctions.

"The United States is looking at ways to improve the effectiveness of humanitarian programs in Iraq, including lifting the current ceiling on funds which can be used to buy food and medicine," Gore said.

"The oil-for-food program, now capped at slightly more than $5 billion a year. The goal is twofold: to keep the permanent Security Council members, which also include Britain, united, and to demonstrate that the fight is with President Saddam Hussein, whom Gore called "a ruthless dictator and bully," and not with the Iraqi people themselves.

"It was Saddam's regime that for four long years, at great cost and human suffering, refused to allow people the benefits of this program," Gore said. "Saddam has consistently shown he cares more about developing weapons of mass destruction than devoting the welfare of his people."

Gore's remarks reflected a position staked by other administration officials soon after the efforts began last month: The United States would agree to lift the ceiling on oil exports for humanitarian needs but will not go as far as lifting the sanctions entirely.

Gore said that U.N. approval of what Iraq can purchase with its modest oil profits, which can take weeks or months, should be revised to speed the approvals.

The French plan calls for:

- Long-term weapons monitoring under a "renewed control commission" that would either replace or substantially modify UNSCOM so that its independence will be ensured and its professionalism strengthened; monitoring "would be retrospective but would become preventive," relying on sensors and television cameras to keep track of what Iraq does in the future.

- The embargo on the export of oil, its principal commodity. Under present council resolutions, the sanctions are supposed to remain in place until the council determines that Iraq no longer has prohibited weapons.

A program of strict economic and financial controls allowing the United Nations to monitor Iraqi oil sales and ensure that export revenue is not used to acquire new military equipment or dual-use items. However, the monitoring would not interfere with the purchase of legitimate civilian goods and services.

[From the Washington Post, Jan. 15, 1999]

U.S. SEEKS TO ALTER IRAQ "OIL FOR FOOD" PROGRAM

(John M. Goshko)
with Iraq in the aftermath of last month's U.S.-led bombing campaign. The U.S. plan followed a more far-reaching proposal by France that would end the embargo on Iraq oil sales and replace intrusive U.N. weapons searches with a program to monitor any future attempts by Iraq to obtain weapons of mass destruction.

The U.S. delegation said it would focus on the question of how best to end the sanctions, and the United States disagrees with France's approach to arms inspections, which would shift the focus of U.N. efforts away from locating and destroying prohibited weapons in Iraq's existing arsenal.

The United States, he added, believes that oversetting the Iraqi disarmament process should continue to be the responsibility of the U.N. Special Commission (UNSCOM) and the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA), the two organizations originally assigned that job by the Security Council. The UNSCOM and IAEA inspectors left Iraq before last month's bombing, and Iraq has vouched that those from UNSCOM, which it charges are American spies, will not be allowed to return.

The U.S. proposals would overhaul aspects of the "oil for food" program designed to allow Iraq to reduce suffering caused by the broad U.N. sanctions on the economy. In addition to legalizing Iraq's opportunities for oil sales, the U.S. proposals call for standardizing procedures for approving Iraqi contracts to buy food and medicine, and allowing Iraq to use oil money from an escrow account held by the United Nations to finance projects that would increase Iraq's ability to refine its oil domestically because the refined product could be smuggled out of the country, with the proceeds being pocketed by the regime rather than put to humanitarian purposes.

"Our problem is with the Iraqi government; we have no quarrel with the Iraqi people," Burleigh told reporters. He reiterated the frequent U.S. contention that Saddam Hussein's government has failed to take advantage of the oil-for-food program in order to reduce the suffering of its people and maintain the sanctions only by using its veto. In that case, the same diplomats predict, it would only be a matter of time before Arab countries and possibly France and Russia, which are in line to win concessions in the Iraqi oil industry, start to break the embargo.

By proposing measures that could relieve substantially the shortages and hardships affecting the Iraqi people, the United States hopes to turn aside the mounting pressure for war. But if the U.S. government, which has accepted the oil-for-food program with great reluctance, fails to take advantage of any liberalized opportunities, Washington will be in a position to argue that the continued plight of the people is the fault of Saddam Hussein.

Whether the U.S. move will succeed was not immediately clear. Delegates from other council nations said they would have to study the U.S. proposals more closely and consult with their governments before making any judgments. Iraq's ambassador to the United Nations, Nizar Hamdoon, was quoted by B. R. and I. as saying U.S. proposals were meaningless. "It is a cover up for their entire Iraqi policy," he said.

Most attention for the moment was on the French plan, whose elements were made known to council members earlier in the week. But as French diplomats said, the potential value of their plan is as "a catalyst" that might stimulate fresh thinking about Iraq and eventually lead to a narrowing of the differences that have paralyzed the council.

The plan also would expand U.N. programs counting held by the United Nations to finance Iraq to borrow money from an escrow account to allow Iraq to reduce suffering caused by the "oil for food" program designed to limit imports to the country. The international organizations overseeing Iraqi disarmament should continue to favor or are leaning toward lifting the sanctions. But as the trend continues, many diplomats here believe the United States soon may be so isolated that it would be able to maintain the sanctions only by using its veto. In that case, the same diplomats predict, it would only be a matter of time before Arab countries and possibly France and Russia, which are in line to win concessions in the Iraqi oil industry, start to break the embargo.

By proposing measures that could relieve substantially the shortages and hardships affecting the Iraqi people, the United States hopes to turn aside the mounting pressure for war. But if the U.S. government, which has accepted the oil-for-food program with great reluctance, fails to take advantage of any liberalized opportunities, Washington will be in a position to argue that continued plight of the people is the fault of Saddam Hussein.

Whether the U.S. move will succeed was not immediately clear. Delegates from other council nations said they would have to study the U.S. proposals more closely and consult with their governments before making any judgments. Iraq's ambassador to the United Nations, Nizar Hamdoon, was quoted by B. R. and I. as saying U.S. proposals were meaningless. "It is a cover up for their entire Iraqi policy," he said.

Most attention for the moment was on the French plan, whose elements were made known to council members earlier in the week. But as French diplomats said, the potential value of their plan is as "a catalyst" that might stimulate fresh thinking about Iraq and eventually lead to a narrowing of the differences that have paralyzed the council.

"Our problem is with the Iraqi government; we have no quarrel with the Iraqi people," Burleigh told reporters. He reiterated the frequent U.S. contention that Saddam Hussein's government has failed to take advantage of the oil-for-food program in order to reduce the suffering of its people and maintain the sanctions only by using its veto. In that case, the same diplomats predict, it would only be a matter of time before Arab countries and possibly France and Russia, which are in line to win concessions in the Iraqi oil industry, start to break the embargo.

By proposing measures that could relieve substantially the shortages and hardships affecting the Iraqi people, the United States hopes to turn aside the mounting pressure for war. But if the U.S. government, which has accepted the oil-for-food program with great reluctance, fails to take advantage of any liberalized opportunities, Washington will be in a position to argue that the continued plight of the people is the fault of Saddam Hussein.

Whether the U.S. move will succeed was not immediately clear. Delegates from other council nations said they would have to study the U.S. proposals more closely and consult with their governments before making any judgments. Iraq's ambassador to the United Nations, Nizar Hamdoon, was quoted by B. R. and I. as saying U.S. proposals were meaningless. "It is a cover up for their entire Iraqi policy," he said.

Most attention for the moment was on the French plan, whose elements were made known to council members earlier in the week. But as French diplomats said, the potential value of their plan is as "a catalyst" that might stimulate fresh thinking about Iraq and eventually lead to a narrowing of the differences that have paralyzed the council.

"Our problem is with the Iraqi government; we have no quarrel with the Iraqi people," Burleigh told reporters. He reiterated the frequent U.S. contention that Saddam Hussein's government has failed to take advantage of the oil-for-food program in order to reduce the suffering of its people and maintain the sanctions only by using its veto. In that case, the same diplomats predict, it would only be a matter of time before Arab countries and possibly France and Russia, which are in line to win concessions in the Iraqi oil industry, start to break the embargo.

The U.S. proposals would overhaul aspects of the "oil for food" program designed to allow Iraq to reduce suffering caused by the broad U.N. sanctions on the economy. In addition to legalizing Iraq's opportunities for oil sales, the U.S. proposals call for streamlining procedures for approving Iraqi contracts to buy food and medicine, and allowing Iraq to use oil money from an escrow account held by the United Nations to finance such purchases on condition the funds are repaid when Iraqi oil sales reach a higher level. The plan also would expand U.N. programs counting held by the United Nations to finance Iraq to borrow money from an escrow account to allow Iraq to reduce suffering caused by the "oil for food" program designed to limit imports to the country. The international organizations overseeing Iraqi disarmament should continue to favor or are leaning toward lifting the sanctions. But as the trend continues, many diplomats here believe the United States soon may be so isolated that it would be able to maintain the sanctions only by using its veto. In that case, the same diplomats predict, it would only be a matter of time before Arab countries and possibly France and Russia, which are in line to win concessions in the Iraqi oil industry, start to break the embargo.

By proposing measures that could relieve substantially the shortages and hardships affecting the Iraqi people, the United States hopes to turn aside the mounting pressure for war. But if the U.S. government, which has accepted the oil-for-food program with great reluctance, fails to take advantage of any liberalized opportunities, Washington will be in a position to argue that the continued plight of the people is the fault of Saddam Hussein.

Whether the U.S. move will succeed was not immediately clear. Delegates from other council nations said they would have to study the U.S. proposals more closely and consult with their governments before making any judgments. Iraq's ambassador to the United Nations, Nizar Hamdoon, was quoted by B. R. and I. as saying U.S. proposals were meaningless. "It is a cover up for their entire Iraqi policy," he said.

Most attention for the moment was on the French plan, whose elements were made known to council members earlier in the week. But as French diplomats said, the potential value of their plan is as "a catalyst" that might stimulate fresh thinking about Iraq and eventually lead to a narrowing of the differences that have paralyzed the council.
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE

WORLD OIL PRODUCTION: PERSIAN GULF NATIONS, NON-OPEC AND WORLD—Continued

[In thousand barrels per day]

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year/Month</th>
<th>Persian Gulf Nations</th>
<th>Selected Non-OPEC Producers</th>
<th>Total Non-OPEC World</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Canada</td>
<td>China</td>
<td>Egypt</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1996</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January</td>
<td>17,265</td>
<td>1,724</td>
<td>3,112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>February</td>
<td>17,340</td>
<td>1,718</td>
<td>3,207</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>March</td>
<td>17,180</td>
<td>1,800</td>
<td>3,050</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>April</td>
<td>17,190</td>
<td>1,760</td>
<td>3,162</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>May</td>
<td>17,190</td>
<td>1,820</td>
<td>3,050</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June</td>
<td>17,290</td>
<td>1,820</td>
<td>2,900</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July</td>
<td>17,325</td>
<td>1,872</td>
<td>3,130</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>August</td>
<td>17,226</td>
<td>1,872</td>
<td>3,120</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>September</td>
<td>17,325</td>
<td>1,872</td>
<td>3,130</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>October</td>
<td>17,325</td>
<td>1,872</td>
<td>3,130</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>November</td>
<td>17,325</td>
<td>1,872</td>
<td>3,130</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>December</td>
<td>17,325</td>
<td>1,872</td>
<td>3,130</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Note: (1) Crude oil includes lease condensate but excludes natural gas liquid plants. (2) Monthly data are often preliminary figures and may not average to the annual totals because of rounding or because updates to the preliminary monthly data are not available. (3) Data for countries may not sum to world totals due to independent rounding. (4) U.S. geographic coverage is the 50 States and the District of Columbia.

Mr. ABRAHAM addressed the Chair. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Michigan.

Mr. ABRAHAM. I thank the Chair. (The remarks of Mr. ABRAHAM pertaining to the introduction of S. 482 are located in today’s RECORD under “Statements on Introduced Bills and Joint Resolutions.”)

Mr. ABRAHAM. Mr. President, I yield the floor.

Mr. DORGAN addressed the Chair. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from North Dakota.

OPERATION WALKING SHIELD

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, this Congress, now that it will turn its attention to the committee structure and the agenda that will be developed in the authorizing committees and Appropriations Committee, will talk about a lot of different issues, will describe many different priorities. Among those priorities will be, for example, a piece of legislation we just passed in the Senate dealing with military pay. I assume that very soon there will be a national missile defense bill that will come to the floor that will be subject to dramatic and interesting debate, and there are a range of these kinds of issues. I want to raise one issue today that I think we ought to act on with some priority.

There is a program that not many people know of called Walking Shield. It is a program to move houses that are surplus houses scheduled to be demolished on our military bases when those houses are to be replaced with more modern houses. Instead of demolishing the old houses, they are now moved out increasingly under the project Operation Walking Shield and moved to Indian reservations where there is a desperate need for good housing.

Operation Walking Shield is a wonderful program that takes houses that would have been demolished and moves them to a foundation somewhere on an Indian reservation to provide housing for those Americans who do not have housing.

We have a real emergency in this country, particularly on Indian reservations, dealing with housing, health care, and education.

I want to read a few paragraphs from a letter to describe this emergency and why this Congress must respond to it with some priority and why I hope the President will do the same.

I want to read about a woman named Sarah. Her name was Sarah Swift Hawk. Sarah died January 2. Sarah Swift Hawk died on the Rosebud Indian Reservation in South Dakota. She froze to death. I have read to you a letter that describes the circumstances leading to Sarah’s death.

The night of January 2 was truly a dreadful night for the Swift Hawk family. They had run out of propane to heat their house. They also had no wood for their wood stove, although they tried desperately to obtain some wood, but without any success.

Sarah Swift Hawk’s death is but one of 100,000 terribly substandard houses that exist on our nation’s Indian reservations. The house had only thin plastic sheeting covering two large open windows where windows were supposed to be. As night fell, and the temperature plummeted from 16 degrees below zero to 45 degrees below zero, Sarah’s daughter and her son-in-law, who live in the same house with their six children, put two blankets on Sarah in an attempt to keep her warm. The mother then took the other two blankets they had, and placed them over her six children who were all huddled together on the floor where she and her husband would also sleep. Since there were only one cot in the house that bed was given to Sarah who was the grandmother in the family. Everyone else in the Swift Hawk family has to sleep on the floor because the family is too poor to buy any furniture.

When the Sun came up on Sunday morning, January 3rd, the daughter got up from the floor to check on her mother, and she found that her mother had died during the night, frozen to death as a result of exposure to extreme cold. Fortunately, the body heat from the parents and the children, all huddled together on the floor, kept them alive that terrible night.

Sarah Swift Hawk’s death is repeatedly again and on our nation’s Indian reservations, particularly those in the Northern Plains States.

This is a letter from Phil Stevens. Phil Stevens runs the program called Walking Shield. I have met with him a number of times, helped him on legislation to try to move some houses to Indian reservations. I have seen the joy on the faces of those who received a home put on a foundation for them—a home that they could move into for the first time, a home for their children. But, frankly, there is just a trickle—a few hundred homes here and there to meet the needs that are so desperate of people like Sarah Swift Hawk and her family.

When you hear stories like this you think, well, that happens in a Third World country someplace, someone laying next to death in their home. This wasn't a Third World country, it was in our country.
The poverty in these areas is so desperate, housing so inadequate, the health care so minimal and the education so minimal. And for education, we have so many other priorities that folks come to the floor of the House and the Senate and they debate this or that with great gusto, and as we do, Sarah Swift Hawk dies, frozen to death in a house, a house without windows, a house with thin plastic sheets where windows should have existed at 45 degrees below zero.

Is that a shame? Yes. I think it is shameful that this happens in our country. This is not some mysterious illness for which there is not a cure. We know this happens, and we know how to address these questions.

I hope President Clinton and the 10th Congress will decide that these are emergency conditions that exist in house, and education on our Indian reservations and that we ought to address them.

I have spoken on the floor previously about a third grader in a school in Canon Ball, ND, a young Native American girl who said to me, "Mr. Senator, will you be building us a new school?" Because that young third grade Indian child goes to a school that is not fit. It is not a school that Members of the Senate would send their children to,
and it is not the fault of the school board, not the fault of the superintendent, and not the fault of the teachers who are trying very hard.

This is a school without a tax base,
150 kids, one water faucet, two bathrooms, and no computers to connect to the Internet because about half the school is too old, too condemned, not able to access the wiring. This is a school that is in desperate need of repair. One of the rooms has sewer gas seeping up into it that requires the room to be evacuated occasionally because they can't keep children in a room where the sewer gas keeps backing up. That is the kind of school we have a third grader walk through the door of, and we send to that third grader, "This is your school!"

Are we proud of that? I don't think so. Ought we do something about it?
Does that young third grader's life depend on us doing something? It does, and we ought.

We all know the problems in health care. I just met with a group a few minutes ago, this afternoon. Let me just tell you about health care for a moment. This group was talking about fostering children, a young 4-year-old boy had been in two foster homes and was being moved again, and the caseworker noticed some substantial stench when he was in the vicinity of the 4-year-old boy.

What was it that smelled so bad? A 4-year-old boy wearing a cast on his arm because he had a broken arm, but through two foster homes no one had gotten the boy to the doctor and the cast had been on 6 months. He had gangrene on his arm. Now, is that an emergency in health care? I think so. It is just a symptom, just the tip of the iceberg of massive problems—massive problems—that exist in health care, education, housing.

You know, I am talking now about the problems on Indian reservations. I want to tell you about pinning medals day one on the pajamas of an Indian named Edmond Young Eagle, a Native American who grew up on the Standing Rock Reservation, Fort Yates, ND, a pride in the Standing Rock Sioux Tribe.

He went overseas to fight for this country—Europe—fighted for America in the Second World War. And if you look at the Indian population of this country and the percentage of veterans they have and who fought in our country's wars, you will find a very high percentage of the Indian population fighting for this country. Edmond did—fought across the world in the Second World War.

When I met Edmond, he was dying, laying in a VA hospital. His family had contacted me and said Edmond had never received medals for his servvice in the Second World War. They wanted to know if there was any chance to get these medals he was owed from the Defense Department before he died. I got the medals and I took them to the VA hospital on a Sunday morning in Fargo, ND.
Edmond Young Eagle had lung cancer. I did not know it that Sunday morning, but 7 days later Edmond Young Eagle would die from lung cancer. And when they cranked his bed to a sitting position, and he was wearing his pajamas.
And in a ceremony, witnessed by his doctors and nurses and his sisters and some people who had come from the Old Soldiers Home, I pinned medals on Edmond Young Eagle's pajamas, the medals he had earned for his service to our country in the Second World War.

And this man dying of lung cancer told me, "You know, this is the day when I thought to myself, what a paradox it is that this man, who served his country honorably in the Second World War, fought for America's freedom, and then never had much the rest of his life, at the end of his life, lying in the hospital, suffering from lung cancer. I felt so strongly about his service to his country and was so proud of receiving medals from his country for his service to America that he said it was one of the proudest days of his life.

We have a responsibility, it seems to me, to the memory of Edmond Young Eagle, to the third grade girl that I talked about going to a school that ought to be improved, to the memory of Sarah Swift Hawk, who goes to sleep in a house at 45 below zero, and dies in her sleep, freezes to death, we owe it to these folks—to their memories, to their children—we owe it to them to do something about this. And then these are the kinds of things that we must put at the front of the line, to say people ought not to be freezing to death in our country because they run out of fuel in the winter, because they live in houses that ought not be inhabited in the winter, because they do not have health care. We can do something about this.

I conclude again by saying, I am trying to see that the White House determines this is a priority and an emergency, that we have an emergency, a housing emergency and health care emergency on our Indian reservations that we ought to address.

This isn't a case where any of us can just say, well, gosh, that is somebody else's problem. It is not somebody else's problem.

When we have young children who are not receiving the medical attention they need, who are put in foster homes that are unsafe and where they are beaten—I've told a story about a young boy with her nose broken, her hair pulled out at a drunken party, and a 3-year-old girl

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that I be allowed to speak for up to 15 minutes.
THE PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.
(The remarks of Mr. Grams pertaining to the introduction of S. 487, S. 488, S. 489, and S. 490 are located in today's Record under "Statements on Introduced Bills and Joint Resolutions.")

BLACK HISTORY MONTH

Mr. DASCHLE. Mr. President, Dr. Carter G. Woodson was the son of former slaves. He believed passionately that the solution to injustice was education. If Americans from different backgrounds could learn to see our similarities and appreciate our differences, he believed, we could end the fear that is at the heart of racial discrimination.

So, in February 1926, Dr. Woodson proposed the first Negro History Week as a way to preserve African American history and promote greater understanding among all Americans. Over the years, as the civil rights movement progressed, Negro History Week evolved into what we now know as Black History Month.

This month, as our nation once again pauses to reflect on the achievements and experiences of African Americans, we celebrate the birthdays of several renowned leaders, including Frederick Douglass, Rosa Parks, and Barbara Jordan. We also celebrate the founding of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, one of this century's most powerful engines for social and economic justice.

It is right and fitting that we acknowledge such famous people and important milestones. But it is also important to recall the contributions of other African Americans who were less well known, but who contributed much to their communities. Today I want to pay tribute to two such men from my state of South Dakota: Oscar Micheaux and Ross Owens.

Oscar Micheaux was a gifted, early filmmaker who settled in Gregory, South Dakota, in the early 1900s. His company, the Micheaux Film Corporation, was responsible for producing films that ran counter to Hollywood's negative portrayal of African Americans at that time.

Ross Owens was a 1925 graduate of my alma mater, South Dakota State University. Today he is inducted into SDSU's Athletic Hall of Fame, but his master's thesis, "Leisure Time Activities of the American Negro Prior to the Civil War," became a classic in African American history and physical education.

One can only wonder what else Mr. Micheaux and Mr. Owens might have achieved had they been born later, after the civil rights movement toppled many of the barriers to equality that existed during their lifetimes.

Today, thanks to the vision of leaders like Dr. Martin Luther King, Thurgood Marshall and John Lewis, as well as countless other Americans whose names are less well known but whose courage was no less real, many of those barriers are gone. Our nation no longer tolerates legal discrimination. We no longer permit injustices like poll taxes, "separate but equal" schools, and segregated public facilities. We have moved closer to the ideal on which our nation was founded: that all men—and women—are created equal. And we are all better for it.

Today, as our country thrives, millions of African Americans are sharing the benefits of the economy in decades. But not all African Americans have been given the opportunity to share in America's economic progress. Not all of the barriers have been torn down. There is still work to be done. As we prepare to enter the new century, we must remain committed to equal educational opportunity, and economic and social justice—for all Americans.

This month, as we celebrate Black History Month, let us recall the words of the poet Langston Hughes, who wrote of a land "where opportunity is real, life is free, and equality is in the air we breathe." And let us rededicate ourselves to finishing the task of establishing that land here, in the United States.

THE VERY BAD DEBT BOXSCORE

Mr. HELMS. Mr. President, at the close of business yesterday, Wednesday, February 24, 1999, the federal debt stood at $5,620,229,439,635.41 (Five trillion, six hundred twenty-nine billion, forty-three million, four hundred thirty-five dollars and forty-one cents). One year ago, February 24, 1998, the federal debt stood at $5,522,503,000,000 (Five trillion, five hundred twenty-three billion, three million dollars). Five years ago, February 24, 1994, the federal debt stood at $4,541,955,000,000 (Four trillion, five hundred forty-one billion, nine hundred fifty-five million dollars). Ten years ago, February 24, 1989, the federal debt stood at $2,722,784,000,000 (Two trillion, seven hundred eighty-four billion, one hundred twenty million dollars). Fifteen years ago, February 24, 1984, the federal debt stood at $1,454,599,000,000 (One trillion, four hundred fifty-four billion, five hundred ninety-nine million dollars). Twenty years ago, February 24, 1974, the federal debt stood at $416,360,439,635.41 (Four trillion, one hundred sixty-six billion, five hundred thirty million, four hundred thirty-nine million, four hundred thirty-five dollars and forty-one cents) during the past 15 years.

SOLDIERS', SAILORS', AIRMEN'S, AND MARINES' BILL OF RIGHTS ACT OF 1999

Mr. ASHCROFT. Mr. President, I rise today in strong support of S. 4. The Soldiers', Sailors', Airmen's, and Marines' (SSAM) Bill of Rights Act of 1999. This bill addresses critical personal nel and retention issues in our nation's armed forces and hopefully will arrest the accelerating decline in military readiness. I commend the distinguished chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Senator WARNER, and the Committee as a whole for reporting this legislation.

I have been concerned for quite some time with declining defense budgets and increased deployments overseas. Those who defend the United States, who are the first casualties of the budget cuts here at home, even as they have been deployed overseas more frequently than ever before. Declining morale in our armed forces and diminished military readiness are national security legacies this Administration is leaving. Legacies I hope the Senate will begin reversing with the passage of S. 4.

Our military is hemorrhaging due to poor morale, plentiful private sector opportunities, and increased deployments overseas. Those who defend the United States, who are the first casualties of the budget cuts here at home, even as they have been deployed overseas more frequently than ever before. Declining morale in our armed forces and diminished military readiness are national security legacies this Administration is leaving. Legacies I hope the Senate will begin reversing with the passage of S. 4.

Mr. President, the Administration has taken too long to address the morale and retention problems undermining the readiness of our armed forces. Senior Pentagon officials downplayed evidence of growing personnel and readiness problems for months, but finally began addressing these issues before the Senate Armed Services Committee last September. General Shelton stated that "... we must act soon to send a clear signal to the backbone of our military, our mid-grade commissioned and non-commissioned officers, that their leadership and this Congress recognize the value of their service and their sacrifices and that we have not lost sight of our commitment to the success of the all-volunteer force.

Mr. President, the Administration has taken too long to address the morale and retention problems undermining the readiness of our armed forces.

Senior Pentagon officials downplayed evidence of growing personnel and readiness problems for months, but finally began addressing these issues before the Senate Armed Services Committee last September. General Shelton stated that "... our forces are showing increasing signs of serious wear. Anecdotal initially, and now measurable, evidence indicates that our readiness is fraying and that the long-term health of the total force is in jeopardy.

A cursory survey of declining defense budgets and increased operations around the world certainly provides evidence of declining personnel and readiness. But the pay and benefit provisions in S. 4 will be critical to arrest declining morale and diminished readiness. As General Hugh Shelton, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs, stated before the Senate Armed Services Committee last September, General Shelton stated that "... our forces are showing increasing signs of serious wear. Anecdotal initially, and now measurable, evidence indicates that our readiness is fraying and that the long-term health of the total force is in jeopardy.

Mr. President, the Administration has taken too long to address the morale and retention problems undermining the readiness of our armed forces.

Senior Pentagon officials downplayed evidence of growing personnel and readiness problems for months, but finally began addressing these issues before the Senate Armed Services Committee last September. General Shelton stated that "... our forces are showing increasing signs of serious wear. Anecdotal initially, and now measurable, evidence indicates that our readiness is fraying and that the long-term health of the total force is in jeopardy.

Mr. President, the Administration has taken too long to address the morale and retention problems undermining the readiness of our armed forces.

Senior Pentagon officials downplayed evidence of growing personnel and readiness problems for months, but finally began addressing these issues before the Senate Armed Services Committee last September. General Shelton stated that "... our forces are showing increasing signs of serious wear. Anecdotal initially, and now measurable, evidence indicates that our readiness is fraying and that the long-term health of the total force is in jeopardy.

Mr. President, the Administration has taken too long to address the morale and retention problems undermining the readiness of our armed forces.

Senior Pentagon officials downplayed evidence of growing personnel and readiness problems for months, but finally began addressing these issues before the Senate Armed Services Committee last September. General Shelton stated that "... our forces are showing increasing signs of serious wear. Anecdotal initially, and now measurable, evidence indicates that our readiness is fraying and that the long-term health of the total force is in jeopardy.

Mr. President, the Administration has taken too long to address the morale and retention problems undermining the readiness of our armed forces.

Senior Pentagon officials downplayed evidence of growing personnel and readiness problems for months, but finally began addressing these issues before the Senate Armed Services Committee last September. General Shelton stated that "... our forces are showing increasing signs of serious wear. Anecdotal initially, and now measurable, evidence indicates that our readiness is fraying and that the long-term health of the total force is in jeopardy.

Mr. President, the Administration has taken too long to address the morale and retention problems undermining the readiness of our armed forces.

Senior Pentagon officials downplayed evidence of growing personnel and readiness problems for months, but finally began addressing these issues before the Senate Armed Services Committee last September. General Shelton stated that "... our forces are showing increasing signs of serious wear. Anecdotal initially, and now measurable, evidence indicates that our readiness is fraying and that the long-term health of the total force is in jeopardy.

Mr. President, the Administration has taken too long to address the morale and retention problems undermining the readiness of our armed forces.

Senior Pentagon officials downplayed evidence of growing personnel and readiness problems for months, but finally began addressing these issues before the Senate Armed Services Committee last September. General Shelton stated that "... our forces are showing increasing signs of serious wear. Anecdotal initially, and now measurable, evidence indicates that our readiness is fraying and that the long-term health of the total force is in jeopardy.

Mr. President, the Administration has taken too long to address the morale and retention problems undermining the readiness of our armed forces.

Senior Pentagon officials downplayed evidence of growing personnel and readiness problems for months, but finally began addressing these issues before the Senate Armed Services Committee last September. General Shelton stated that "... our forces are showing increasing signs of serious wear. Anecdotal initially, and now measurable, evidence indicates that our readiness is fraying and that the long-term health of the total force is in jeopardy.

Mr. President, the Administration has taken too long to address the morale and retention problems undermining the readiness of our armed forces.

Senior Pentagon officials downplayed evidence of growing personnel and readiness problems for months, but finally began addressing these issues before the Senate Armed Services Committee last September. General Shelton stated that "... our forces are showing increasing signs of serious wear. Anecdotal initially, and now measurable, evidence indicates that our readiness is fraying and that the long-term health of the total force is in jeopardy.
Defense can choose to offer 5 percent matching TSP contributions to critical personnel for six years in return for a six year commitment. Finally, there is a special subsistence allowance to address the intolerable condition of 12,000 military personnel on food stamps. In the face of a shrinking force in the world, there should never be families who are so poorly provided for as to need food stamps. The monthly subsistence allowance in this legislation, in addition to other pay reforms, would contribute to the disgraceful treatment of thousands of military personnel.

The need for this legislation cannot be more obvious. Our troops maintain a constant presence in the Persian Gulf, East Asia, and Europe. Now in Bosnia, two years past the original deadline, American soldiers could face yet another prolonged nation-building exercise in Kosovo if this Administration has its way. These troops have been asked to function with fewer resources and less manpower, and the signs of fraying readiness and declining morale are mounting.

In addressing current readiness and funding problems, Administration officials repeatedly have said personnel issues were their first priority. General Shelton testified last September: ...if I had to choose the area of greatest concern to me, I would say that we need to put additional dollars into taking care of our most important resource, the uniformed members of the armed forces.

General Shelton is right to place the highest priority on our military personnel. The defense of this country, in the final analysis, is essentially a personnel issue. Admiral Chester Nimitz stated in 1950: “Our armaments must be adequate to the needs, but our faith is not primarily in these machines of defense but in ourselves.” General Shelton would concur with that statement when he says: “The best tanks, the best planes, the best ships in the world are not what makes our military the superb force that it is today... Advanced technology and modern weapons are important... But even the finest high-tech equipment will never be the determining factor on the battlefield. The most critical factor for both current and future readiness are our men and women...in uniform today.”

Our military personnel are our greatest resource, and our failure to take care of them our greatest oversight. No soldier should have to worry about feeding his family as he defends his country. No military family should be repeatedly divided by constant deployments.

We entrust our soldiers, sailors, airmen, and marines with the responsibility given to our nation as a whole: the defense of liberty. How we provide for these men and women in uniform reflects on how seriously we take that mission, on how seriously we safeguard the blessings of liberty. I urge passage of this legislation to improve much-needed benefits for those who defend the United States and the cause of freedom abroad.

BLACK HISTORY MONTH

Mr. SARBANES. Mr. President, every February, since Dr. Carter G. Woodson first initiated the idea in 1926, Americans have celebrated the contributions of African-Americans to our history, literature, arts, sciences, politics and every other facet of American life. What was in the beginning only a week-long event, has blossomed into a month-long celebration.

This year’s theme, selected by the Association for the Study of Afro-American Life and History (ASALH), is “The Legacy of African-American Leadership for the Present and the Future.” This theme captures one of the accomplishments of Dr. Woodson and his efforts intended to educate and inspire contemporaneous and future generations of Americans.

In keeping with this theme and Dr. Woodson’s vision, I rise today to share with my colleagues of the Senate and the American people a few of the legacies of outstanding African-Americans from Maryland. While this is not an exhaustive listing, it exemplifies the legacies African-Americans have in the areas of science, engineering, abolitionism, literature, religion, theater, education, civil rights, law, business, athletics, diplomacy and politics. I believe you will find—as I have found—their stories and accomplishments inspiring and it is my fervent hope that today’s African-American youth will find in these men and women role models to inspire their own efforts as we move into the 21st Century.

Benjamin Banneker (1731-1806) of Ellicott’s Mill, Maryland was credited with building the first clock in America in 1753. He was an inventor, scientist and surveyor who played an important role in the layout and design of our nation’s capital city.

Harriet Tubman (1820-1913) of Dorchester County, Maryland escaped from slavery and was responsible for assisting more than 300 slaves reach freedom in the north through the underground railway.

Francis E.W. Harper (1825-1911) of Baltimore, Maryland was the first African-American writer to have a published short story. She also had her poetry published, including a novel in 1892.

Billie Holiday (1915-1959) of Baltimore, Maryland is to this day regarded as one the greatest jazz vocalists in American history, and as one of America’s premier artists of the 20th Century.

Zora Neale Hurston (1891-1960) of Baltimore, Maryland was a distinguished author, folklorist and anthropologist.
Charles Randolph Uncles (1859-1933) of Baltimore, Maryland became the first African-American priest ordained in the United States on December 19, 1891, beginning a line of American ministers that has included Martin Luther King, Jr. and the Reverend Jesse Jackson.

Eubie Blake (1883-1983) of Baltimore, Maryland was a popular ragtime pianist and composer who first learned to play the piano at age six and went on to break color barriers on Broadway and throughout the nation.

Mary Church Terrell (1864-1954) of Annapolis, Maryland was an outstanding educator and early civil rights leader.

Edward Franklin Frazier (1894-1962) of the Eastern Shore of Maryland was a teacher of mathematics, professor of sociology and author who created and furthered the academic knowledge and understanding of the African-American community.

Clifton Wharton (1889-1990) of Baltimore, Maryland became the first African-American foreign service officer named chief of an American mission overseas when he was appointed U.S. Minister to the Netherlands in 1943.

Leon Day (1916-1995), a Hall of Fame baseball player from Baltimore, Maryland, was one of the most consistently outstanding pitchers in the Negro Leagues during the 1930’s and 1940’s. His consistency was interrupted by two years of service in the Army during World War II where he distinguished himself on Utah Beach during the Allied invasion of France.

Reginald F. Lewis (1942-1993) of Baltimore, Maryland created first African-American law firm on Wall Street and led the first African-American owned company with annual revenue exceeding $1 billion.

Thurgood Marshall (1908-1993) of Baltimore, Maryland served as chief counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Legal Defense and Educational Fund (NAACP-LDF) at a time when the NAACP brought, argued and won Brown v. Board of Education, the seminal 1954 civil rights Supreme Court case. He went on to serve his nation as a federal Appellate Court judge, Solicitor General, and the first African-American member of the United States Supreme Court.

I am proud to report that Maryland recently lost one of its legal and political leaders when Judge Harry A. Cole passed away earlier this month. Judge Harry A. Cole was both the first African-American to hold the office of an Assistant State Attorney General in Maryland, and the first African-American named to the Maryland Court of Appeals, which is my State’s highest court. During his fourteen year tenure on the Court of Appeals, Judge Cole distinguished himself with his scholarly, independent opinions, and we will miss him dearly in Maryland.

Mr. President, as this short account makes evident, Maryland is and has been proud to be the home of some of America’s greatest African-Americans. These are people who did not let economic or racial barriers stop them from reaching their goals or achieving their dreams. These outstanding individuals from Maryland and across the United States, have opened doors and set high standards for later generations of African-Americans. Most importantly, however, these are people who continue to serve as role models for us today.

Indeed, the State of Maryland continues to be blessed and enriched with outstanding African-American leaders who have built on Maryland’s rich African-American legacy. I speak here of individuals such as Baltimore Mayor Kurt Schmoke and NAACP President and CEO Kweisi Mfume.

I would like to observe that the State of Maryland is currently benefiting from a continued growth in our African-American population. Between 1990 and 1997, when the last set of complete figures were available from the Census Bureau, the number of African-Americans calling Maryland “home” grew to 683,325. This is a new high of 201,000 people. This makes Maryland the state with the eighth largest African-American population in the United States.

Nearby Prince George’s County was second in the nation in terms of growth during this seven-year period with 68,325 new African-American residents.

Mr. President, in closing, Maryland is fortunate to have such a rich legacy of African-American leaders as well as a growing population of young African-Americans who will be leaders in the future. To whom this legacy will provide inspiration and examples. As I noted at the outset, Dr. Woodson believed in looking back in order to look forward. As I look back at the deeds and accomplishments listed above, and of the many outstanding African-Americans who have contributed to American science, engineering, abolitionism, literature, religion, theater, education, arts, music, law, business, politics, etc., I see much to inspire our forward march into the next century, during which I hope we will eradicate forever the scourge of prejudice and racial bias from our society.

DEATH OF LAUREN ALBERT

Mr. SPECKER, Mr. President, on February 19, 1999, Pennsylvania lost one of its finest citizens, with the death of Lauren Albert.

I had the pleasure to know Mrs. Albert. She was the mother of three wonderful children, Stuart, Elliot, and Jaimie, and the wife of Pennsylvanias finest orthopedic surgeons, Todd J. Albert, M.D. For seventeen years, Lauren had served at the side of Richard J. Rothman at the Rothman Institute and Reconstructive Orthopedic Society. She was a leader in our community.

As fate would have it, Lauren and her husband Todd were traveling with eight other Pennsylvanians, including my son Shanin and his wife Tracey. Also on the trip were Barbara and Richard Barnhart, Leslie and Al Boris and Jaimie and David Field.

Lauren was killed when the Land Rover in which she was a passenger was caused to tumble down a mountainside of the High Atlas Mountains. Her husband and the Barnharts were passengers in the same vehicle.

I was notified of the accident as soon as the party had access to a telephone. Concomitantly, the Department of State, our Ambassador in Rabat, Edward Gabriel and our Consul general in Morocco, Evan G. Reade, Casablanca, were notified.

Consul Reade, accompanied by other Embassy officials, immediately flew to meet the Americans in nearby Ouerzazate.

Although Consul Reade had been in Morocco for only 8 months, he immediately assumed control of the situation and worked to solve complex and pressing problems.

First, there was a significant question of the medical stability of the three surviving passengers. Consul Reade worked tirelessly with the Department of Defense, particularly Colonel Joe Reyes, Executive Secretary to the Secretary of Defense. Over the next several hours, well through the night, Colonel Reyes worked diligently to place a military medical aircraft in Europe on alert to fly to Morocco. An enormous amount of work was undertaken with our military’s European command, the State Department, Moroccan officials, Consul Reade in Ouerzazate and Ambassador Gabriel in Rabat.

In the final analysis, a medical evacuation was not needed. Nonetheless, it was most reassuring to know that our military could be counted upon to assist.

Second, Consul Reade, working in connection with others in the State Department, were instrumental in accomplishing the rapid evacuation of the three injured passengers as well as the remainder of the party from Morocco. This was accomplished through detailed coordination and airport assistance for four commercial flights enabling all to return home safely by 5:30 p.m. on the following day.

Third, Consul Reade arranged for the return of the body of Lauren Albert to Pennsylvania. For numerous reasons, this process is highly complicated. Consul Reade arranged, with the assistance of the Morocco officials, to have Mrs. Albert’s body returned to Pennsylvania on Sunday, February 21, 1999. This permitted a timely funeral and burial, which was very important to the Albert family.

Finally, I wish to recognize the superb assistance of Lt. Colonel Driss Ferar, Commander of the Morocco Police in the Ouerzazate region. Colonel Ferar was notified of the accident within minutes. He sped to the scene in the High Atlas Mountains, an hour and a half away from his headquarters. He immediately assumed control and effectsuated the safe return of the party to Ouazarzate that night. Colonel Ferar made sure that the entire party was comfortable and led Dr. Albert, the tour director, as well as the able assistance in all aspects of this tragedy. Colonel Ferar was also unfailingly courteous and helpful. He had his family make dinner for all of the concerned, which was brought into the Police Headquarters. He offered his wisdom and counsel to Dr. Albert. Since the party has returned to the United States, Colonel Ferar has forwarded a gift to the Albert family. I am informed that Colonel Ferar has been of similar assistance to Americans who have suffered serious injuries in this region of Morocco in the past. Colonel Ferar is to be highly commended for his commitment to duty and to the very personal human needs of all concerned.

The tragic death of Lauren Albert leaves an indelible mark on the fabric of our community. Our prayers are with Dr. Albert and his family. We are grateful to the American and Moroccan officials, who accomplished everything possible to help with this tragedy and assure the safe and speedy return of our citizens.

SOLDIERS', SAILORS', AIRMEN'S, AND MARINES' BILL OF RIGHTS

Mr. FEINGOLD. Mr. President, I rise today to make a few remarks concerning S. 4, the military pay and benefits bill. Senator WARNER, the esteemed new chairman of the Armed Services Committee, and what a change! He will be a distinguished tenure by addressing an issue of critical importance. I don't know if there is a more vital resource in this nation than its men and women in uniform. Without question, certain services have a recruiting and retention problem. For a variety of reasons, officers and enlisted members are leaving the Army, Navy, and Air Force in droves, and these services are having problems bringing new people on board. Serious questions remain unresolved about the cause of this problem, or its best solution, yet we will probably vote out the bill this week without those answers, and with little concern for its fiscal impacts.

I am extremely concerned that this bill came out of the Armed Services Committee without the benefit of a single hearing and with little understanding of its effects on the budget. The rush to pass this bill is perplexing. We would normally address military pay raises, retirement reform, and the other bill provisions during consideration of the annual defense authorization bill. This course only makes more sense given the uncertainty we face regarding the budget impact of this bill. It would give the Senate ample opportunity to answer the myriad questions surrounding the bill's cost and budget implications.

Mr. President, there are some significant budget concerns raised by this bill. It increases both discretionary spending and entitlement costs, and all of its costs are heavily back loaded.

According to CBO, S. 4 increases discretionary spending by $40.8 billion over the next 10 years. In addition, the bill's costs rise each year, reaching $6.5 billion by 2009, and would continue to rise for a number of years after that. The bill increases entitlement costs by $13.2 billion over the next 10 years. Again, this figure does not fully reflect the eventual price tag as costs rise over time. CBO estimates that when the provisions of S. 4 are fully phased in, the entitlement costs for pensions would grow by $2.5 billion a year. Similarly, the additional costs for so-called readjustment benefits, essentially education benefits, would rise, and by 2009 would increase by $2.5 billion per year. And finally, there is a problem with PAYGO problems because none of the new mandatory spending is offset.

Due to these effects on the budget, the bill is subject to not one, but three 60-vote points of order: (1) It exceeds the Budget Control Act of 1999; (2) It breaches the revenue floor by decreasing income tax revenues from the Thrift Savings Program provision; and (3) It has PAYGO problems because none of the new mandatory spending is offset. Mr. President, strictly from a budget point of view, regardless of the pay and pension policies in the bill, this can be fairly characterized as a budget buster.

An eventual cost of $15 billion per year is large, and at the very least should be considered as part of an overall budget, not rushed through before we have passed a budget resolution.

There are other concerns, Mr. President. The biggest question is whether this bill will actually improve recruitment and retention. Just this week, the General Accounting Office offered preliminary data on a study showing that money has been overstated as a factor affecting decisions to stay in or leave the military. Instead, GAO found, in a survey of more than 700 service members, that issues like a lack of spare parts; concerns with the health care system; increased deployments; and dissatisfaction with military leaders have at least as much effect on retention as pay.

Mr. President, if my colleagues, would like to know more about this bill. As we are now all well aware, the military pension system was changed in 1986. At the time, many, including those in President Reagan's Defense Department, argued that the pension system encouraged many of our current soldiers to leave the services early. They had the benefit of several years of study and hearings to reach that conclusion.

My late colleague from Wisconsin, the former Secretary of Defense Les Aspin, devoted much of his career to shaping the world's best and most feared military. At the time we changed the military pension system, he voiced considerable concern that the pension benefits were so generous to the point of view, regardless of the pay and tax revenue losses are offset.

Just back in October, then-Chairman THURMOND and Senator LEVIN, the committee's ranking member, proclaimed that any change to the pension system should be subject to "careful analysis." As yet, I haven't seen one. And I would like to see that careful analysis before moving forward with this bill.

I have heard from the men and women out on the front lines. According to what I've heard, they are leaving out of ever-increasing deployments to uncertain destinations, ever-widening time away from their families, and dwindling advancement opportunities. Like anyone else, they want to see a better quality of life.

I won't disagree with the view that many servicemembers need a raise. And I firmly believe that they should receive one, especially the enlisted forces, of whom many could be getting more money by flipping burgers at the closest fast food joint. These men and women have chosen to represent our country. They deserve to be paid adequately.

Ultimately, though, Mr. President, too many questions about this bill remain unanswered. I, and I hope many of my colleagues, would like to know how this bill will affect our budget now and in the future. We just extracted ourselves from a budget quagmire. Shouldn't we have all the answers about a bill that will cost $55 billion over the next 10 years before we vote on it? I just seems like common sense
REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE COASTAL ZONE MANAGEMENT ACT (CZMA) FOR FISCAL YEARS 1996 AND 1997—MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT—PM 10

The PRESIDING OFFICER laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, together with an accompanying report; which was referred to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

To the Congress of the United States:

This report is submitted as required by section 516 of the CZMA of 1972, as amended, (16 U.S.C. 1451, et seq.). The report discusses progress made at the national and State level in administering the Coastal Zone Management and Estuarine Research Reserve Programs during these years, and spotlights the accomplishments of NOAA's State coastal management and estuarine research reserve program partners under the CZMA.

WILLIAM J. CLINTON.

REPORT CONCERNING THE NATIONAL EMERGENCY RELATING TO CUBA AND OF THE EMERGENCY AUTHORITY RELATING TO THE REGULATION OF THE ANCHORAGE AND MOVEMENT OF VESSELS—MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT—PM 11

The PRESIDING OFFICER laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, together with an accompanying report; which was referred to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.

To the Congress of the United States:

Section 202(d) of the National Emergencies Act (50 U.S.C. 1622(d)) provides for the automatic termination of a national emergency unless, prior to the anniversary date of its declaration, the President publishes in the Federal Register and transmits to the Congress a notice stating that the emergency is to continue in effect beyond the anniversary date. In accordance with this provision, I have sent the enclosed notice, stating that the emergency declared with respect to Cuba by the United States pursuant to the notification of the Government of Cuba's destruction of two unarmed U.S.-registered civilian aircraft in international airspace north of Cuba on February 24, 1996, is to continue in effect beyond March 1, 1999, to the Federal Register for publication.

WILLIAM J. CLINTON.

MESSAGES FROM THE HOUSE

At 12:01 a.m., a message from the House of Representatives, delivered by Mr. Hays, one of its reading clerks, announced that the House has passed the following bills, in which it requests the concurrence of the Senate:

H.R. 409. An act to improve the effectiveness and performance of Federal financial assistance programs, simplify Federal financial assistance application and reporting requirements, and improve the delivery of services to the public.

H.R. 436. An act to reduce waste, fraud, and error in government programs by making improvement with respect to Federal management and collection practices, Federal payment systems, Federal benefit programs, and for other purposes.

H.R. 438. An act to promote and enhance public safety through use of 911 as the universal emergency assistance number, and for other purposes.

ENROLLED BILL SIGNED

At 12:42 a.m., a message from the House of Representatives, delivered by Mr. Hays, one of its reading clerks, announced that the Speaker has signed the following enrolled bill:

H.R. 433. An act to restore the management and personnel authority of the Mayor of the District of Columbia.

MEASURES REFERRED

The following bills were read the first and second times by unanimous consent and referred as indicated:

H.R. 409. An act to improve the effectiveness and performance of Federal financial assistance programs, simplify Federal financial assistance application and reporting requirements, and improve the delivery of services to the public; to the Committee on Governmental Affairs.

H.R. 436. An act to reduce waste, fraud, and error in government programs by making improvement with respect to Federal management and collection practices, Federal payment systems, Federal benefit programs, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Governmental Affairs.

H.R. 438. An act to promote and enhance public safety through use of 911 as the universal emergency assistance number, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EXECUTIVE AND OTHER COMMUNICATIONS

The following communications were laid before the Senate, together with accompanying papers, reports, and documents, which were referred as indicated:

EC-1999. A communication from the Secretary of Defense, transmitting, pursuant to law, the Department's report entitled "Theater Missile Defense Architecture Options in the Asia-Pacific Region"; to the Committee on Armed Services.

EC-1940. A communication from the President of the United States, transmitting, pursuant to law, a report on the national emergency with respect to Iraq that was declared in Executive Order 12722; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.

EC-1941. A communication from the President and Chairman of the Export-Import Bank of the United States, transmitting, pursuant to law, the Bank's annual operations report for fiscal year 1998; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.

EC-1942. A communication from the Secretary of the Judicial Conference of the United States, transmitting, pursuant to law, a request for the approval of the consolidation of certain judicial offices in the Southern District of Virginia; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

EC-1943. A communication from the Assistant Secretary for Legislative Affairs, Department of State, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled "Documentation of Nonimmigrants Under the Immigration and Nationality, as Amended; Photograph Requirements"; to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

EC-1944. A communication from the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Farm Credit Administration, transmitting, pursuant to law, the Agency's proposed budget for fiscal year 2000 and a response to the General Accounting Office's report "Government-Insured Enterprises: Federal Oversight Needed for Nonmortgage Investments"; to the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry.

EC-1945. A communication from the Director of the Office of Congressional Affairs, Nuclear Regulatory Commission, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled "Physical and Scientific Consultants in the Medical Consultant Program" received on February 19, 1999; to the Committee on Environment and Public Works.

EC-1946. A communication from the Director of the Office of Regulatory Management and Information, Environmental Protection Agency, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled "National Standards of Performance for Steel Plants: Electric Arc Furnaces Constructed After October 21, 1974, and On or Before August 17, 1983, and Electric Arc Furnaces Constructed After August 17, 1983" (FRL 6234-8) received on February 19, 1999; to the Committee on Environment and Public Works.

EC-1947. A communication from the Assistant Secretary for Legislative Affairs, Department of Education, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled "Student Assistance General Provisions"; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

EC-1948. A communication from the Director of the Export-Import Bank of the United States, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled "Medicare Program: Changes to the Medicare Choice Program," (FRL 6219-15) received on February 22, 1999; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

EC-1949. A communication from the Executive Secretary, Department of Health and Human Services, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Head Start Program” (RIN0970-AB31) received on February 17, 1999; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

EC-195. A communication from the Chief of the Regulations Branch, Department of the Treasury, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Weighted Average Interest Rate Update” (Docket 98-133) received on February 19, 1999; to the Committee on Finance.

EC-195A. A communication from the Acting Assistant Secretary for Land and Minerals Management, Department of the Interior, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Notice of Notice of Bidding Systems, S172”’ received on February 17, 1999; to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources.

EC-195B. A communication from the Director of the Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Department of the Interior, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Alaska Regulatory Program” (Docket AK-007-FOR) received on February 17, 1999; to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources.

EC-195C. A communication from the Director of the Office of Sustainable Fisheries, National Marine Fisheries Service, Department of Commerce, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Fisheries of the Caribbean, Gulf of Mexico, and South Atlantic; Coastal Migratory Pelagic Resources of the Gulf of Mexico and South Atlantic; Trip Limit Reduction” (I.D. 020999F) received on February 17, 1999; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

The following reports of committees were submitted:

By Mr. McCONNELL, from the Committee on Rules and Administration, without amendment:
S. Res. 51. An original resolution providing for the printing of the annual report of the Joint Committee on Printing and the Joint Committee on Library.
S. Res. 52. An original resolution to authorize the printing of a collection of the rules of the committees of the Senate.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

The following reports of committees were submitted:

By Mr. McCONNELL, from the Committee on Rules and Administration, without amendment:
S. Res. 51. An original resolution providing for the printing of the annual report of the Joint Committee on Printing and the Joint Committee on Library.
S. Res. 52. An original resolution to authorize the printing of a collection of the rules of the committees of the Senate.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

The following bills and joint resolutions were introduced, read the first and second time by unanimous consent, and referred as indicated:

By Mr. JEFFORDS:
S. 465. A bill to provide that “Know Your Customer” regulations proposed by the Federal banking agencies may not take effect unless such regulations are specifically authorized by a subsequent Act of Congress, to require a comprehensive study and report to the Congress on various economic and privacy issues raised by the proposed regulations, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.
By Mr. DeWINE (for himself and Mr. KOUZI):
S. 467. A bill to restate and improve section 7A of the Clayton Act, and for other purposes; to the Committee on the Judiciary.
By Mr. VONOVICH (for himself, Mr. THOMPSON, Mr. LIEBERMAN, and Mr. DURBIN):
S. 468. A bill to encourage the timely development of a more cost effective United States commercial space transportation industry, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

S. 470. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to allow certain activities to be used as interest deductibles; to the Committee on Finance.

S. Res. 50. An original resolution providing for the printing of the annual report of the Joint Committee on Printing and the Joint Committee on the Library.
S. Res. 51. An original resolution to authorize the printing of a collection of the rules of the committees of the Senate.

The following reports of committees were submitted:

By Mr. McCONNELL, from the Committee on Rules and Administration, without amendment:
S. 365. An original resolution providing for the printing of the annual report of the Joint Committee on Printing and the Joint Committee on the Library.
S. Res. 50. An original resolution to authorize the printing of a collection of the rules of the committees of the Senate.
S. 472. A bill to amend title XVIII of the Social Security Act to provide for certain medical beneficiaries with an exemption to the financial limitations imposed on physical, speech, and occupational therapy services under part B of the Medicare program, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. SCHUMER (for himself and Mr. MOYNIHAN):

S. 473. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code to make higher education more affordable by providing a full tax deduction for higher education expenses and interest on student loans; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. SCHUMER:

S. 474. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide a deduction for contributions to education individual retirement accounts, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Finance.

S. 475. A bill to amend the Higher Education Act of 1965 to increase the amount of loan forgiveness for teachers; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

S. 476. A bill to enhance and protect retirement savings; to the Committee on Finance.

S. 477. A bill to enhance competition among airlines and reduce airfares, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

S. 478. A bill to extend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide a credit for the purchase of a principle residence within an empowerment zone or enterprise community by a first-time homebuyer; to the Committee on Finance.

S. 479. A bill to amend title XXVII of the Public Health Service Act and other laws to assure the rights of enrollees under managed care plans; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

By Mr. SCHUMER and Mr. MOYNIHAN:

S. Res. 52. An original resolution to authorize the printing of a collection of the legislative activities of Celebration of Greek and American Democracy over the years, to be submitted to Congress in 180 days, on the privacy, freedom of association and economic issues implicated by these regulations, to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. JEFFORDS:

S. 466. A bill to provide that “Know Your Customer” regulations proposed by the federal banking agencies may not take effect unless such regulations are specifically authorized by a subsequent Act of Congress, to require a comprehensive study and report to the Congress on various economic and privacy issues raised by the proposed regulations, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.

THE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS PRIVACY ACT OF 1999

By Mr. JEFFORDS, Mr. President. I rise today to introduce the “American Financial Institutions Privacy Act of 1999.” This legislation will delay the implementation of the “Know Your Customer” regulations proposed by the federal banking agencies. Additionally, this legislation will require these agencies to perform a comprehensive study, to be submitted to Congress in 180 days, on the privacy, freedom of association and economic issues implicated by these regulations. Only with Congressional authorization will these regulations be allowed to take effect.

These regulations mandate that banks identify each customer, find out the normal source and use of his or her funds and then watch transactions in the account to see if they deviate from “normal” and “expected” patterns. If the unexpected transactions seem “suspicious” banks are required under current law to report them to the Suspicious Activity Reporting System, a federal database that can be searched by the Internal Revenue Service, bank regulators, the FBI and other federal agencies. Mr. President, I have heard from my constituents expressing great concern over the privacy implications of these regulations, and I think the resolution recently adopted by the Vermont House best expresses the concerns of Vermonters. The resolution states,
Resolved: That the Secretary of State be directed to send a copy of this resolution to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Office of the Comptroller of Currency, the Office of Thrift Supervision, the Federal Reserve, the banking committee of the United States House of Representatives, the banking committee of the United States Senate and Vermont's congressional delegation.

Which was read and, in the Speaker's discretion, placed on the Calendar for action tomorrow under Rule 52.

By Mr. VOINOVICH (for himself, Mr. THOMPSON, Mr. LIEBERMAN, and Mr. DURBIN):

S. 468. A bill to improve the effectiveness and performance of Federal financial assistance programs, simplify Federal financial assistance application and reporting requirements, and improve the delivery of services to the public; to the Committee on Governmental Affairs;

Mr. VOINOVICH. Mr. President, today I am pleased to introduce the "Federal Financial Assistance Management Improvement Act of 1999", legislation that was championed in the previous Congress by my friend and predecessor, Senator JOHN GLENN. As a Governor, I supported this bill as an important step toward the Web of Government. This duplicative federal grants available to States, localities and community organizations. As a Senator, I am pleased to pick it up where Senator GLENN left off. I would also like to thank Senator THOMPSON, Senator LIEBERMAN and Senator DURBIN for joining me as original cosponsors of this bill.

Scores of programs, often administered by the same federal agency, have similar purposes but are subject to different application and reporting requirements. This unnecessary duplication of effort wastes time, paper, and does nothing to improve program performance for the benefit of our constituents. The Federal Financial Assistance Management Improvement Act is intended to streamline the grant application process, allowing those who serve their communities to focus on the job at hand—not on page after page of paperwork. The legislation directs federal agencies to simplify and coordinate the application requirements of related programs. The result, I hope, will be service to the public which is faster, better and more effective than before.

In other words, today in this country, if you want to apply for Federal assistance, every agency has a different form. If you have to report on what you are doing with that Federal assistance, every agency has a different form. We want to make those forms uniform across the board, which we know will relieve a lot of pressure and paperwork on the folks who are involved in these programs.

Another important component of this bill is to allow State and local governments and non-profit organizations to apply for and report on the use of funds electronically. Using the Internet as a substitute for cumbersome paperwork is a welcome innovation in the way the federal government does business, and I am pleased that the Federal Financial Assistance Management Improvement Act is leading the effort.

We need to bring technology into the Federal Government and allow people to do the same thing that they do when they are dealing with the private sector.

This bill was crafted in the last Congress by Senator GLENN after bipartisan, bicameral negotiations with the Administration, and while I was sorry that it was not enacted before the end of the 105th Congress, I am pleased to be able to introduce it today. The legislation is supported by the National Governors' Association and others in the State and local government and non-profit community because of the real potential it has to reduce red tape and improve services to our communities. I urge all my colleagues to support this important legislation.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill and a list of supporters from State and local government and non-profit organizations be printed in the Record.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the Record, as follows:

S. 468

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Federal Financial Assistance Management Improvement Act of 1999".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds that—

(1) there are over 600 different Federal financial assistance programs to implement domestic policy;

(2) while the assistance described in paragraph (1) has been directed at critical problems, some Federal administrative requirements may be duplicative, burdensome or conflicting, thus impeding cost-effective delivery of services at the local level;

(3) the Nation's State, local, and tribal governments and private, nonprofit organizations are dealing with complex problems which require the delivery and coordination of many kinds of services; and

(4) streamlining and simplification of federal financial assistance administrative procedures and reporting requirements will improve the delivery of services to the public.

SEC. 3. PURPOSES.

The purposes of this Act are to—

(1) improve the effectiveness and performance of Federal financial assistance programs;

(2) simplify Federal financial assistance application and reporting requirements;

(3) improve the delivery of services to the public; and

(4) facilitate greater coordination among those responsible for delivering such services.

SEC. 4. DEFINITIONS.

In this Act:

(1) DIRECTOR.—The term "Director" means the Director of the Office of Management and Budget;

(2) FEDERAL AGENCY.—The term "Federal agency" means any agency as defined under section 551(1) of title 5, United States Code.

February 25, 1999

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE

S2009
Sec. 5. Duties of Federal Agencies.

(a) In General.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act, each Federal agency shall develop and implement a plan that—

(1) streamlines and simplifies the application, processing, and awarding of Federal financial assistance programs administered by the agency;
(2) demonstrates active participation in the interagency process under section (a)(4); and
(3) demonstrates appropriate agency use, or plans for use, of the common application and reporting system developed under section 7(a).

(b) Lead Agency and Working Groups.—The Director may designate a lead agency to carry out the responsibilities of the agency under this Act. The Director shall provide for coordination of information collection and sharing of data pertaining to Federal financial assistance programs, including appropriate information sharing consistent with section 52a of title 5, United States Code.

(c) Exemptions.—The Director may exempt any Federal agency from the requirements of this Act if the Director determines that the Federal agency does not have a significant number of Federal financial assistance programs.

Sec. 6. Evaluation of the Director.

(a) In General.—The Director, in consultation with agency heads, and representatives of non-Federal entities, shall direct, coordinate, and assist Federal agencies in establishing—

(1) a common application and reporting system, including:

(A) a common application or set of common applications, wherein a non-Federal entity can apply for, manage, and report on the use of funding from multiple Federal financial assistance programs that serve similar purposes.

(2) an interagency process for addressing—

(A) ways to streamline and simplify Federal financial assistance administrative procedures and reporting requirements for non-Federal entities;

(3) improved interagency and intergovernmental coordination of information collection and sharing of data pertaining to Federal financial assistance programs, including appropriate information sharing consistent with section 52a of title 5, United States Code;

(4) improvements in the timeliness, completeness, and quality of information received by Federal agencies from recipients of Federal financial assistance.

(b) Lead Agency and Working Groups.—The Director may designate a lead agency to carry out the responsibilities under this section. The Director may use interagency working groups to assist in carrying out such responsibilities.

(c) Review of Reports.—Upon the request of the Director, agencies shall submit to the Director relevant reports on the performance under this Act.

(d) Exemptions.—The Director may exempt any Federal agency or Federal financial assistance program from the requirements of this Act if the Director determines that the Federal agency does not have a significant number of Federal financial assistance programs.
assistance programs by streamlining their application, administration, and reporting requirements for grant recipients—including State, local and tribal governments and nonprofit organizations. The Federal agencies, with guidance from the Office of Management and Budget, would develop plans within 18 months to streamline application, administrative and reporting requirements, develop uniform applications for related programs, develop and expand the use of electronic applications via the Internet, and demonstrate interagency coordination in simplifying requirements for crosscutting programs, and set annual goals to further the purposes of the Act.

Agencies would then consult with outside parties in developing their plans. The agencies would submit their plans and annual reports to the Director of OMB and to Congress, and they could be made a part of other management reports required under law. In addition to overseeing and coordinating agency activities, OMB would develop more common rules to cut across programs and would develop a release form to allow grant information to be shared across programs.

This legislation has been endorsed by many organizations representing our State and local government partners, including the National Governors’ Association, the National Conference of State Legislatures, the National League of Cities, the Council of State Governments, and the National Association of Counties. It is a good government, common sense initiative. Let’s pull together and pass this bill into law.

By Mr. BREAUX (for himself, Mr. CONRAD, Mr. BURNS, and Mr. BAUCUS):

S. 469. A bill to encourage the timely development of a more cost effective United States commercial space transportation industry, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

COMMERCIAL SPACE TRANSPORTATION COST REDUCTION ACT

Hon. FRED THOMPSON, Hon. GEORGE V. VOINOVICH, Hon. JOSEPH I. LIEBERMAN, Hon. RICHARD J. DURBAN, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC

DEAR SENATORS THOMPSON, LIEBERMAN, VOINOVICH, AND DURBAN: On behalf of the elected leaders of the respective organizations—Governors, legislators, mayors, county officials, and city managers—we are pleased that you will be introducing the Federal Financial Assistance Management Improvement Act, which was passed by the Senate last year and has the strong support of all our organizations.

The bill would require the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) to reevaluate its array of over 75 crosscutting regulations that govern all funds going to state and local governments. The requirement that OMB establish lead agencies to develop uniform common rules for crosscutting regulations, base data information for multiple grant applications, and develop a requirement for the U.S. Government and, electronic filing of most intergovernmental paperwork.

We greatly appreciate your leadership for these reforms and urge all Senators to support passage of your bill.

Sincerely,

Hon. Thomas R. Carper, State of Delaware, Chairman, National Governors’ Association; Representative Dan Blue, North Carolina State House of Representatives and President, National Conference of State Legislatures; Commissioner Betty Lou Ward, Wake County, North Carolina, President, State Mayors and Municipalities, National Association of Counties; Mayor Deedee Corradini, Salt Lake City, Utah, President, The U.S. Conference of Mayors; Bryce (Bill) Stuart, City of Salem, Oregon, National League of Cities; Senator Kenneth Mclntoch, Puerto Rico, Senate, Chairman, Council of State Governments.

Mr. BREAUX. I take the time today, Mr. President and my colleagues, to introduce a bill which I happen to think addresses a very important issue that this Nation is facing; and that is the question of trying to devise a system whereby the U.S. companies can continue to be the world’s leaders in the space launch business.

Every day, every month, more and more satellites around the world are being put into service. I daresay that most people don’t follow the details of how this is accomplished, but I do know that over the last several months people in this country have heard a great deal about Chinese rockets, Russian rockets, and all the issues that they have been involved with related to the U.S. aerospace industry.

One may wonder, why would a U.S. company have to use a Ukrainian launch vehicle or a Russian launch vehicle? In our society the answer is no. But I think that the legislation that I am introducing today, along with Senator CONRAD BURNS of Montana, sets up a program which would be a loan guarantee program where the U.S. Government can pattern in the space transportation industry what we have done very successfully in the shipbuilding industry. The bill is known as a Title XI shipbuilding loan guarantee program, where the Federal Government comes to a qualified builder who is having a difficult time creating adequate financing because of the nature of the industry, and that the Federal Government will be in a position to guarantee the loan to a company which company would go out into the private market and borrow the money but have the loan guaranteed by the Federal Government. Under that scenario, we have built literally hundreds and hundreds of vessels, probably thousands, under the Title XI loan guarantee program.

So I, for one, do not think that I would want to drive a Ukrainian car let alone ride in a Ukrainian rocket. But that is what is happening because of a situation where we do not have enough adequate funding for U.S.-built space transportation vehicles that can launch U.S.-built satellites for communications purposes.

We have learned that one of the reasons is the fact that there is inadequate private sector funding for U.S. companies to engage in building space transportation vehicles for this purpose. It is, of course, a high-risk business. This is much more risky than building a ship or building a car or building just about anything else. A lot can go wrong. So it is a high risk. And there is inadequate funding in the private sector.

To solve this problem, what do you do? Do you make the Government take it over? Do you make the Government own the launch vehicles and make the Government pay for the building of the launch vehicles? In our society the answer is no. But I think that the legislation that I am introducing today, along with Senator CONRAD BURNS of Montana, sets up a program which would be a loan guarantee program. The bill is known as a Title XI shipbuilding loan guarantee program, where the Federal Government comes to a qualified builder who is having a difficult time creating adequate financing because of the nature of the industry, and that the Federal Government will be in a position to guarantee the loan to a company which company would go out into the private market and borrow the money but have the loan guaranteed by the Federal Government. Under that scenario, we have built literally hundreds and hundreds of vessels, probably thousands, under the Title XI loan guarantee program.

What I am proposing in the “Commercial Space Transportation Cost Reduction Act of 1999” is to set up a loan guarantee program which would be patterned after the Title XI Shipyard Loan Guarantee Program. It would invest the Secretary of Transportation in our Government with the administrative responsibilities for the program operations. The legislation would initially provide up to $500 million of the funds for the program. That would represent the possibility of generating up to $5 billion in loans for U.S. space transportation companies to engage other U.S. companies and U.S. workers in building space transportation vehicles for use in our society.

I ask unanimous consent for 2 additional minutes.
The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BREAUX. And by having that type of a system, I think that we would give our private companies the ability to compete with all of these other companies in countries which have their governments supporting them in these areas.

We have had a number of Senators who have expressed an interest in participating with us in this legislation. Let me just mention Senator LOTT, Senator BACHUS, Senator BINGAMAN, Senator GRAHAM of Florida and Senator LANDRIEU of Louisiana. I hope—and now that the bill has been introduced, that the Commerce Committee can have some hearings on it—that we can continue to improve it and move forward with establishing something that will allow the private sector of the United States to continue to be, and even increase the ability to be, the world leader in space transportation. In particular, the ability to launch our satellites with our vehicles and not have to rent space from the Russians or from the Chinese or from the Ukrainians or from any other part of the world. This is a vitally important industry, and the United States should be the technological leader now and for the future.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as consistent with the national security interests of the United States.

(3) United States trading partners have been able to lower their commercial space transportation costs, either through direct cash payments for commercially targeted product development or with indirect benefits derived from nonmarket economic activity.

(4) Because United States incentives for space transportation vehicle development have historically focused on civil and military operational use, U.S. launch costs have remained comparatively high, and U.S. launch technology has not been commercially focused.

As a result, the world leaders in the international space transportation market, particularly in the early stages of development, has proven to be a major obstacle, an obstacle our trading partners have removed by providing direct access to government funding.

(10) Given the strengths and creativity of private industry in the United States, a more effective alternative to the approach of our trading partners is for the U.S. government to provide limited incentives, including loan guarantees which would help qualifying U.S. private-sector companies secure otherwise unavailable “bridge” financing for the critical developmental stages of the project, while at the same time keeping government involvement at a minimum.

Therefore the purposes of this Act are—

(1) to ensure availability of otherwise unavailable private sector “bridge” financing for U.S. private sector development of commercial space transportation vehicles with launch costs significantly below current levels;

(2) and, as a result—

(A) to avoid undue reliance on foreign space transportation services;

(B) to reduce substantially United States government space transportation expenditures;

(C) to increase the international competitiveness of the U.S. space industry;

(D) to encourage the growth of space-related commerce in the United States and internationally; and

(E) to increase the number of high-value jobs in the United States space-related industries.

SEC. 4. DEFINITIONS.

In this Act:

(1) TOTAL CAPITAL REQUIREMENT.—The term “total capital requirement” of a United States commercial space transportation provider means the aggregate, as determined by the Secretary, of all Cash Requirements paid to or be paid by or on the account of the Obligor prior to the achievement by the Obligor of positive cash flow generation. For the purposes of this definition, the term “Cash Requirements” shall include all cash expended or invested by the Obligor (including but not limited to design, testing and evaluation (DDT&E), construction, reconstruction, reconditioning, placing into operation, working capital, interest expense and long-term research, development, and marketing expenses in connection with space transportation prior to the achievement of positive cash flow generation from ongoing operations.

(2) LOAN.—The term “loan” means an obligation.

(3) OBLIGEE.—The term “obligee” means the holder of an obligation.

(4) OBLIGOR.—The term “obligor” means any party primarily liable for payment of the principal of or interest on any obligation.

(5) OBLIGATION.—The term “obligation” means any note, bond, debenture, or other evidence of indebtedness issued for one of the purposes specified in section 105(a) of this Act.

(6) SECRETARY.—The term “Secretary” means the Secretary of the United States Department of Transportation.

(7) SPACE LAUNCH SITE.—The term “space launch site” means a location from which a launch or landing takes place and includes all facilities located on or near a launch or landing site which are necessary to conduct a launch, whether on land, sea, in the earth’s atmosphere, or beyond the earth’s atmosphere.

(8) SPACE TRANSPORTATION VEHICLE.—The term “space transportation vehicle” includes all types of vehicles, whether under design, development, construction, reconstruction or reconditioning; constructed in the United States by United States commercial space transportation vehicle providers as defined below and owned by those commercial providers, for the purpose of operating in, or transporting a payload to, from, or within, outer space, or in a suborbital trajectory, and includes any component of such vehicle not specifically designed or adapted for a payload.

(9) STATE.—The term “State” means each of the several States of the Union, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, and any other commonwealth, territory, or possession of the United States.

(10) UNITED STATES COMMERCIAL PROVIDER.—The term “United States commercial provider” means a commercial provider, organized under the laws of the United States or of a State, which—

(A) more than 50 percent owned by United States nationals; or

(B) a subsidiary of a foreign company and the Secretary of Transportation finds that—

(i) such subsidiary has in the past evidenced a substantial commitment to the United States market;

(ii) significant investments in the United States in long-term research, development, and manufacturing (including the manufacture of major components and subassemblies); and

(iii) significant contributions to employment in the United States; and

(ii) the country or countries in which such foreign company is incorporated or organized, and, if appropriate, in which it principally conducts its business, affords reciprocal treatment to companies described in paragraph (A) that are afforded to such foreign company’s subsidiary in the United States, as evidenced by—
(1) providing comparable opportunities for companies described in subparagraph (A) to participate in Government sponsored research and development similar to that authorized under this Act;

(ii) providing no barriers, to companies described in subparagraph (A) with respect to local investment opportunities, that are not provided to foreign companies in the United States; and

(iii) providing adequate and effective protection for the intellectual property rights of companies described in subparagraph (A).

(i) United States Commercial Space Transportation Vehicle Provider. —The term “United States commercial space transportation vehicle provider” means a United States commercial provider engaged in designing, developing, producing, or operating commercial space transportation vehicles.

(ii) United States Commercial Space Transportation Vehicle Industry. —The term “United States commercial space transportation vehicle industry” means the collection of United States commercial providers of space transportation vehicles.

(iii) Cost to the Government. —“Cost to the Government” means the Risk Rate multiplied by the amount of the guarantee issued by the Secretary. The Cost to the Government reduces the amount of the Fund until such time as part or all of the guarantee is retired as described in Section 103 of the Act.

(iv) Risk Rate. —“Risk Rate” means the percent or rate of guarantee for each obligation assigned to a specific Risk Category by the Secretary and used in calculating the Cost to the Government of the guarantee.

(v) Risk Category. —“Risk Category” means the category into which the Secretary assigns an entity applying for a guarantee based on the risk factors identified in Section 104(f). The Risk Category is assigned for the purpose of arriving at a Risk Rate in the calculation of the Cost to the Government.

(vi) Fund. —The “Fund” means the amount appropriated under the Act as described under Section 103 of the Act.

TITLE I—INCREASING THE AVAILABILITY OF PRIVATE SECTOR FINANCING FOR THE UNITED STATES COMMERCIAL SPACE TRANSPORTATION VEHICLE INDUSTRY THROUGH A LOAN GUARANTEE PROGRAM

SEC. 101. UNITED STATES COMMERCIAL SPACE TRANSPORTATION VEHICLE INDUSTRY LOAN GUARANTEE PROGRAM.

(a) Establishment of Program. —There shall be a United States Commercial Space Transportation Vehicle Industry Loan Guarantee program to provide loan guarantees to support the private development of multiple qualified United States commercial space transportation vehicle providers with launch costs significantly below current levels.

(b) Administration of Program. —The program shall be carried out by the Secretary of Transportation in consultation with the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate, and with the commercial sector representatives, as necessary, to ensure fair, effective and timely program administration.

(c) Date of Program. —(1) Temporary Government Support. —The United States Commercial Space Transportation Vehicle Industry Loan Guarantee program is intended to provide loan guarantees to support the private development of multiple qualified United States commercial space transportation vehicle providers with launch costs significantly below current levels.

The Secretary shall carry out the following functions:

(a) Consultation. —Consultation, to the extent deemed necessary for effective implementation of the Act with appropriate federal agencies, commercial space transportation industry representatives, and members of the risk management industry concerning:

(i) assessments of international competition, potential markets for space transportation vehicles, and availability of private investment;

(ii) recommendations of commercial entities, partnerships, joint ventures, or consortia regarding effective implementation of the loan guarantee program; and,

(iii) recommendations on how to make U.S. government space access requirements more compatible with U.S. commercial space transportation assets.

(b) Program Management. —Management of the loan guarantee program consistent with the purposes of this Act.

Sec. 103. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATION OF FUNDS.

(a) The Act authorizes an annual appropriation of the sum of $400,000,000 to be deposited in a Fund to be used by the Secretary for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of the Act. The Fund may be reduced by the Cost to the Government (as defined in each loan guarantee extended by the Secretary as further described in Section 104(f)). As an Obligor releases its Obligation guarantee on the schedule agreed to up front with the Secretary, this Cost to the Government for guarantee of an Obligation, may, thus replenishing the Fund for new guarantees.

Sec. 104. AUTHORIZATION OF SECRETARY TO DEED FUNDS.

(a) Principal and Interest. —The Secretary is authorized to guarantee, and to enter into commitments to guarantee, the payment of the interest on and the unpaid principal balance of any Obligation which is eligible to be guaranteed under this Act. A guarantee, or commitment to guarantee, made under this Act shall cover 100 percent of the amount of the principal and interest of the Obligation.

(b) Security Interest. —No Obligation shall be guaranteed under this Act unless the Obligor conveys or agrees to convey to the Secretary a security interest such as the Secretary may determine is necessary to protect the interests of the United States.

(c) Private Insurance. —If the Secretary determines that other potential measures, as described in Section 103 of this Act, are insufficient to provide adequate security, the Secretary, as a condition of processing or approving an application for a guarantee, may require that the Obligor obtain private insurance with respect to a portion of the government’s risk of default by the Obligor on the Obligation, including both the amount of the Obligation still outstanding and the accrued interest. Such private insurance may be funded from the proceeds of any Obligation made under this Act. If the Obligor fails to renew such private insurance on a timely basis, the Secretary may take such action as deemed necessary, with regard to the Section 3674 administrator, to enforce the Obligor’s conveyance to the Secretary of the Obligation, or the assessment of additional fees to the Obligor, to ensure that the appropriate insurance renewal is obtained without delay.

(d) Pledge of United States. —The full faith and credit of the United States is pledged to the payment of all guarantees made under this Act with respect to both the principal and interest, including, as may be provided for in the guarantee, accruing between the date of default under a guarantee and the payment in full of the guarantee.

(e) Proof of Obligations. —Any guarantee, or commitment to guarantee, made by the Secretary under this Act shall be conclusive evidence of the eligibility of the obligations for such guarantee, and the validity of any guarantee, or commitment to guarantee, so made, and the Secretary shall not be required to acknowledge any assumption of an obligation by the Secretary under section 106 (a) or (b) of this Act of the validity of the Obligation made by the Secretary under this Act is unaffected and the guarantee remains in full force and effect.

(f) DETERMINATION OF ESTIMATED BENEFIT AND COST TO GOVERNMENT FOR LOAN GUARANTEE PROGRAM.
(1) The Secretary shall in consultation with the private risk management industry and consistent with the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990 (2 U.S.C. 661a et seq.), in accordance with this subchapter, establish in accordance with this subchapter, a system of risk categories for obligations guaranteed under this Act, that categorizes the relative risk of guarantees made under this Act with respect to the risk factors set forth in paragraph (3); and

(b) determine for each of the risk categories a risk rate equivalent to the cost of obligations in the category, expressed as a percentage of the amount guaranteed under this Act for obligations in the category.

(2) Before making a guarantee under this section for an obligation, the Secretary shall apply the risk factors set forth in paragraph (3) to place the obligation in a risk category established under paragraph (1)(A).

(3) The risk factors referred to in paragraphs (1) and (2) are the following:

(A) The technological feasibility of the proposed venture and the magnitude of its projected overall space launch cost reduction;

(B) The period for which an obligation is to be guaranteed, such period not exceeding 12 years;

(C) The amount of obligations which are guaranteed or to be guaranteed, in relation to the Total Capital Requirement of the proposed venture;

(D) The financial condition of the applicant;

(E) The availability of private financing, including guarantees (other than the guarantees issued pursuant to this Act) and private insurance, for the proposed venture;

(F) The commercial and government utilization of each space transportation vehicle or other article to be financed by debt guaranteed pursuant to this Act (including any contracts, letters of intent, or other expressions of agreement under which the applicant will provide launch services using a space transportation vehicle or other article financed by debt guaranteed pursuant to this Act);

(G) The adequacy of collateral provided in exchange for a guarantee issued pursuant to this Act;

(H) The management and operating experience of the applicant;

(I) The commercial feasibility of the business plan for the venture of the Obligor;

(J) The extent of private equity capital in the project;

(K) The applicant’s plans for achieving a transition from Government-guaranteed financing to private financing;

(L) The likelihood that the venture would serve an identifiable national interest;

(M) The likelihood that the successful completion of the project would result in savings that would offset anticipated Federal government expenditures for space-related activities;

(N) The likelihood that the project will open a result in the development of significant new technologies;

(O) Other relevant criteria; and

(P) The amount of appropriated funds required by the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990 in advance of the Secretary’s issuance of a guarantee of an obligation, or a commitment to guarantee an obligation, may be provided, in whole or in part, by a non-Federal source and deposited by the Secretary in the financing account established under the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990 for obligation by the Secretary. These non-Federal source funds may be in lieu of or combined with Federal funds appropriated for the purpose of satisfying the requirements of the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990. The non-Federal source funds deposited into that financing account shall be held and applied by the Secretary in accordance with the provisions of the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990, in the same manner as that legislation controls the use and disposition of Federal source funds. Non-Federal source funds shall be paid to the Secretary in cash prior to the issuance of any guarantee or commitment to guarantee an obligation, or any payment of principal or interest on the said non-Federal source funds shall not, in any way, relieve any entity from its responsibility to meet any other provision of this Act or its implementing regulations, including the application for, issuance of, or administration of a guarantee of an obligation.

(3) In this subsection, the term “cost” has the meaning given in the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990 (2 U.S.C. 661a).

SEC. 105. ELIGIBILITY FOR GUARANTEE

(a) PURPOSE OF OBLIGATIONS.—Pursuant to the authority granted under section 104(a) of this Act, the Secretary, upon such terms as he shall prescribe, consistent with the provisions and purpose of the Act, may guarantee or make a commitment to guarantee, payment of the principal of and interest on an obligation for the purpose of—

(1) Financing the Total Capital Requirement, as defined, of the DODSE, construction, reconstruction, placing into operation, working capital, interest expense, and initial operating and marketing expenses in connection with space transportation vehicles with launch costs significantly below current levels.

(2) Financing the purchase, reconstruction, or reconditioning of space transportation vehicles to achieve launch costs significantly below current levels for which obligations were guaranteed under this Act that, under the provisions of section 106 of this Act, are to be guaranteed or to be guaranteed, such period not exceeding 12 years from the date of the issuance of the obligation.

(b) CONTENTS OF OBLIGATIONS.—Obligations guaranteed under this Act—

(1) shall have an obligor approved by the Secretary as responsible and possessing or having the ability to obtain the technical capability, experience, financial resources, and other qualifications necessary to adequately develop, operation and maintain the space transportation vehicle or space transportation vehicles which secure as adequate security for the guarantee of the Secretary; and

(2) subject to the provisions of subsection (c)(1) of this section, shall be in an aggregate amount not to exceed 20 percent of the Total Capital Requirement, as determined by the Secretary, of the space transportation vehicle which is used as security for the guarantee of the Secretary; and

(3) shall have maturity dates satisfactory to the Secretary but, subject to the provisions of paragraph (2) of subsection (c) of this section, not to exceed twelve years from the date of the issuance of the guarantee.

(4) shall provide for payments by the obligor satisfactory to the Secretary;

(5) shall provide, or a related agreement shall provide, that the space transportation vehicle shall meet such safety, reliability, and performance standards as are necessary for U.S. commercial licensing; and

(6) shall require the space transportation vehicle provider to guarantee, to the United States Government, launch services at the targeted significantly reduced launch costs or the space transportation vehicle industry’s commercial launch cost, whichever is lower.

(c) SECURITY.—

(1) The security for the guarantee of an obligation guaranteed under this Act may relate to more than one space transportation vehicle and may consist of any combination of types of security. The aggregate principal amount of obligations which have more than one space transportation vehicle as security for the guarantee of the Secretary under this Act may not exceed the sum of the principal amount of obligations permissible with respect to each space transportation vehicle.

(2) If the security for the guarantee of an obligation by the Secretary under this Act relates to more than one space transportation vehicle, such obligation may have the latest maturity date permissible under subsection (b) of this section with respect to any of such space transportation vehicles: Provided, that the Secretary shall require such payments of principal, prior to maturity, with respect to all related obligations as he deems necessary in order to maintain adequate security for the guarantee.

(d) RESTRICTIONS.—

(i) Restriction on Use of Space Transportation Vehicles.—No commitment to guarantee, or guarantee of an obligation may be made by the Secretary under this Act for the purchase of a used space transportation vehicle unless—

(A) the used space transportation vehicle will be reconstructed or reconditioned in the United States and subsequently used in the development of the United States commercial space transportation vehicle industry; and

(B) the reconstruction or reconditioning of the used space transportation vehicle will result in a magnitude of projected space transportation cost reduction comparable to that which would be achieved had space transportation vehicles would be required to project, in order to be eligible for guarantee of obligations;

(ii) Application and Administrative Fees.—

(1) The Secretary may assess a fee for applications for loan guarantees submitted under this Act and/or a fee for administration of an obligation under this Act.

(2) Application fees under this subsection shall be assessed and collected at the time a U.S. commercial space transportation vehicle provider submits an application for loan guarantees under this Act. Administrative fees under this section shall be assessed and collected not later than the date of issuance of the debt guaranteed pursuant to this Act.

(iii) Additional Requirements.—Obligations guaranteed under this Act and agreements relating thereto shall contain such other provisions with respect to the protective interests of the United States as the Secretary may, in his or her discretion, prescribe.

SEC. 106. DEFAULTS.

(a) Rights of Obligee.—In the event of a default, which has continued for thirty days, the Secretary, or his or her designee, may take such action as he or she deems necessary in order to protect the security interests of the United States as the Secretary may, in his or her discretion, prescribe.

SEC. 107. ALTERNATIVE REQUIREMENTS.

(a) Rights of Obligee.—In the event of a default, which has continued for thirty days, the Secretary, or his or her designee, may take such action as he or she deems necessary in order to protect the security interests of the United States as the Secretary may, in his or her discretion, prescribe.

SEC. 108. REPORTS TO CONGRESS.

(1) The Secretary shall, at least annually, submit to Congress a report on the operation of this Act and the matters covered by this subchapter.
the obligor’s rights and duties under the obligation and agreements and shall have made any payments in default, at or before the expiration of such period as may be specified in the guarantee or related agreements, but not later than ninety days from the date of such default, payment by the Secretary of the unpaid principal amount of such obligation and unpaid interest thereon. In the event of a default under any guaranteed obligation and unpaid interest thereon, the Secretary shall promptly pay to the obligee or his agent the unpaid principal amount of said obligation and unpaid interest thereon to the date of payment. Provided, That the Secretary shall not be required to make such payment if prior to the expiration of said period there was no default by the obligor in the payment of principal or interest or that such default has been remedied prior to any such demand.

(b) NOTICE OF DEFAULT.—In the event of a default under a mortgage, loan agreement, or other security agreement between the obligor and the Secretary, the Secretary may upon such terms as may be provided in the obligation or related agreement, either:

(1) assume the obligor’s rights and duties under the guarantee or related agreements or make any payments in default, and notify the obligee or the obligee’s agent of the default and the assumption by the Secretary;

or

(2) notify the obligee’s agent of the default, and the obligee or the obligee’s agent shall have the right to demand at or before the expiration of such period as may be specified in the guarantee or related agreements, but not later than sixty days from the date of such notice, payment by the Secretary of the unpaid principal amount of said obligation and the unpaid interest thereon. Within such period as may be specified in the guarantee or related agreements, but not later than thirty days from the date of such demand, the Secretary shall promptly pay to the obligee or the obligee’s agent the unpaid principal amount of said obligation and unpaid interest thereon to the date of payment.

(c) TO COMPLETE, SELL OR OPERATE PROPERTY.—In the event of any payment or assumption by the Secretary under subsection (a) or (b), the Secretary shall have all rights in any security held by him relating to his guarantee of such obligations as are under the guarantee or related agreement with the obligor. Notwithstanding any other provision of law relating to the acquisition, handling, or disposal of property by the United States, the Secretary shall have the right, in his discretion, to complete, recondition, reconstruct, renovate, repair, maintain, operate, charter, or sell any property under the guarantee or related agreement with the obligor. The terms of the sale shall be as approved by the Secretary.

(d) NOTICE AGAINST OBLIGOR.—In the event of a default under any guaranteed obligation or any related agreement, the Secretary shall take such action against the obligor or any other parties liable thereunder theretofore that, in his discretion, may be required to protect the interests of the United States. Any suit may be brought in the name of the United States or in the name of the Secretary and the obligee shall make available to the United States all records and evidence necessary to prosecute any such suit. The Secretary shall have the right, in his discretion, to accept a conveyance of Act to and possession of property from the obligor or other parties liable to the Secretary, and may purchase an amount not greater than the unpaid principal amount of such obligation and interest thereon. In the event that the Secretary shall receive through the sale of property an amount of cash in excess of the unpaid principal amount of the obligation and unpaid interest on the obligation, the excess of those amounts, the Secretary shall pay the excess to the obligor.

By Mr. CHAFEE (for himself, Mr. MOYNIHAN, Mr. WARNER, Mr. BOND, Mr. GRAHAM, and Mr. GORTON):

S. 470 proposes to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to allow tax-exempt private activity bonds to be issued for highway infrastructure construction; to the Committee on Finance.

THE HIGHWAY INNOVATION AND COST SAVINGS ACT

Mr. CHAFEE. Mr. President, today, I am introducing legislation which will allow the private sector to take a more active role in building and operating highways. The Highway innovation and Cost Savings Act will allow the private sector to gain access to tax-exempt bond financing for a limited number of highway projects. I am pleased that my distinguished colleagues, Senators MOYNIHAN, WARNER, BOND, GRAHAM, and GORTON have agreed to join me in this effort.

In the United States, highway and bridge infrastructure is the responsibility of the government. Governments build, own, and operate public highways, roads, and bridges. In many other countries, however, the private sector, and private capital, construct and operate important facilities. These countries have found that increasing the private sector’s role in major highway transportation projects offers opportunities for construction cost savings and more efficient operation. They also open the door for new construction techniques and technologies.

It is incumbent upon us to look at new and innovative ways to make the most of limited resources to address significant needs. To help meet the nation’s infrastructure needs, the United States must take advantage of private sector resources by opening up avenues for the private sector to take the lead in designing, constructing, financing, and operating highway facilities.

A substantial barrier to private sector participation in the provision of highway infrastructure is the cost of capital. Under current Federal tax law, highways built and operated by the government are protected using tax-exempt debt, but those built and operated by the private sector, or those with substantial private sector participation, cannot. As a result, public/private partnerships in the provision of highways are unlikely to materialize, despite the potential efficiencies in design, construction, and operation offered by such arrangements.

To increase the amount of private sector participation in the provision of highway infrastructure, the tax code’s bias against private sector participation must be addressed.

The Highway Innovation and Cost Savings Act creates a pilot program aimed at encouraging the private sector to help meet the transportation infrastructure needs for the 21st Century. It makes tax exempt financing available for a total of 15 highway privatization projects. The total face value of bonds that can be issued under this program is limited to 15 billion dollars.

The fifteen projects authorized under the program will be selected by the Secretary of Transportation, in consultation with the Secretary of the Treasury. To qualify under this program, projects selected must: serve the general public; assist in evaluating the potential of the private sector’s participation in the provision, maintenance, and operation of the highway infrastructure of the United States; be on publicly-owned rights-of-way; revert to public ownership; and, come from a state’s 20-year transportation plan. These criteria ensure that the projects selected meet a state or locality’s broad transportation goals.

This proposal was included in the Senate’s version of last year’s transportation reauthorization bill. Unfortunately, it was dropped during the conference with the House.

The bonds issued under this pilot program will be subject to the rules and regulations governing private activity bonds. Moreover, the bonds issued under the program will not count against a state’s tax exempt volume cap.

This legislation has been endorsed by Project America, a coalition dedicated to improving our nation’s infrastructure, the American Consulting Engineers Council, the Bond Market Association, the American Road and Transportation Builders Association, the Institute of Transportation Engineers, and the ITS America.

I hope that this bill can be one in a series of new approaches to meeting our substantial transportation infrastructure needs and will be one of the approaches that will help us find more efficient methods to design and to build the nation’s transportation infrastructure.

I encourage my colleagues to join me as cosponsors of this important initiative.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text and a description of the bill be printed into the Record.

There being no objection, the items were ordered to be printed in the Record, as follows:

S. 470

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Highway Innovation and Cost Savings Act.”

SEC. 2. TREATMENT AS EXEMPT FACILITY BOND.

(a) TREATMENT AS EXEMPT FACILITY BOND.—A bond described in subsection (b) shall be treated as described in section 14(e)(1)(A) of the Internal Revenue Code of...
1986, except that section 146 of such Code shall not apply to such bond.

(b) Bond Described.—(i) In general.—A bond is described in this subsection if such bond is issued after the date of enactment of this Act as part of an issue—
(A) 95 percent or more of the net proceeds of which are to be used to provide a qualified highway infrastructure project, and
(B) which has been allocated a portion of the allocation to the project under paragraph (2)(C)(ii) which is equal to the aggregate face amount of bonds to be issued as part of such issue.

(2) QUALIFIED HIGHWAY INFRASTRUCTURE PROJECTS.—

(A) In general.—For purposes of paragraph (1), the term ‘qualified highway infrastructure project’ means a project—
(i) for the construction or reconstruction of a highway, and
(ii) designated under subparagraph (B) as an eligible pilot project.

(B) Eligible Pilot Project.—

(i) In general.—The Secretary of Transportation, in consultation with the Secretary of the Treasury, shall select not more than 15 highway infrastructure projects to be eligible pilot projects for tax-exempt financing.

(ii) Eligibility Criteria.—In determining the criteria necessary for the eligibility of pilot projects, the Secretary of Transportation shall include the following:

(I) The project must serve the general public,

(II) The project is necessary to evaluate the potential of the private sector’s participation in the provision, maintenance, and operation of the highway infrastructure of the United States,

(III) The project must be located on publicly-owned roads of way,

(IV) The project must be publicly owned or the ownership of the highway constructed or reconstructed under the project must revert to the public,

(V) The project must be consistent with a transportation plan developed pursuant to section 134(g) or 135(e) of title 23, United States Code.

(C) Aggregate Face Amount of Tax-exempt Financing.—

(i) In general.—The aggregate face amount of bonds issued pursuant to this section shall not exceed $15,000,000,000, determined by any bond the proceeds of which are used exclusively to refund (other than to advance refund) a bond issued pursuant to this section or (a bond which is a part of a series of refundings of a bond so issued) if the amount of the refunding bond does not exceed the outstanding amount of the refunded bond.

(ii) Allocation.—The Secretary of Transportation, in consultation with the Secretary of the Treasury, shall allocate the amount described in clause (i) among the eligible pilot projects designated under paragraph (B), based on the extent to which—

(I) the projects use new technologies, construction techniques, or innovative cost controls that result in savings in building or operating the projects, and

(II) the projects address local, regional, or national transportation needs.

(iii) Reallocation.—If any portion of an allocation under clause (i) is unused on the date which is 3 years after such allocation, the Secretary of Transportation, in consultation with the Secretary of the Treasury, may reallocate such portion among the remaining eligible pilot projects.

SUMMARY OF HIGHWAY INNOVATION AND COST SAVINGS ACT

The U.S. Department of Transportation estimates a substantial shortfall in funding for meeting our highway and bridge infrastructure needs, even with increased investment levels under TEA 21. Closing the gap will require full access to private capital as well as government.

Existing tax laws discourage private investment in highway infrastructure by making lower cost tax-exempt financing unavailable for projects with equity investment and private management and operating contracts.

Today, U.S. companies, which have invested scarce foreign infrastructure projects, have participated in only a few such projects in the United States. This pilot program will demonstrate the benefits of bringing the full resources of the private sector to bear on solving our own nation’s transportation needs for the 21st century.

Increasing the private sector’s role in major highway transportation projects offers opportunities for construction cost savings and more efficient operation, as well as opening the doors to new construction techniques and technologies.

A substantial barrier to private-sector participation in the provision of highway infrastructure is the current Federal tax law, which forces government to finance these projects using tax-exempt financing but those built and operated by the private sector cannot. As a result, public-private partnerships in the provision of highway facilities are unlikely to materialize, despite the potential efficiencies in design, construction, and operation offered by such arrangements.

To increase the amount of private-sector participation in highway infrastructure projects, the bill allows public-private partnerships against private-sector participation to be addressed, or the benefits that the private sector can bring to infrastructure development will never be fully realized.

Highways, bridges, and tunnels are the only major category of public infrastructure investment where projects involving private participation (commonly referred to as private-activity bonds) are denied access to tax-exempt debt financing. See Attachment.

PILOT PROGRAM UNDER HIGSA

Tax-exempt bonds issued to 15 projects is made available under this pilot program. The aggregate amount of bonds issued under this program is limited to $15 billion. Pilot programs will be selected by the Secretary of Transportation, in consultation with the Secretary of the Treasury, based on the following criteria: the project must serve the general public; the project must be necessary to evaluate the potential of the private sector’s participation in the provision of highway transportation infrastructure; the project must be located on a public-owned right-of-way; the project must be publicly owned or the ownership of the project must revert to the public; and the project must be consistent with transportation plans developed under Title 23 U.S.C.

Benefits resulting from the private sector participation include those resulting from alternative financing methods (including design-build and design-build-operate-maintain contracting), shortening construction schedules, reducing carryover costs, freeing up greater construction and operating risk to the private sector, and obtaining from contractors long-term warranties and operating guarantees.

Private investors are encouraged under this program to achieve efficiencies in design, construction, and operating by affording them a share in the project’s net returns.

Projects will be subject to applicable environmental requirements, prevailing state design and construction standards, on delayed time schedules, without contribution of private equity capital and without transferring to the private sector long term operating and maintenance risk.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. President, I am pleased to join my colleagues to introduce the Highway Innovation and Cost Savings Act of 1999. As you know, last year on June 9, President Clinton signed into law, the Transportation Equity Act of 1999. TEA 21 established many new programs, and a new budget treatment for highways. Throughout the debate on TEA 21, I always focused on one goal: to be able to promise my constituents that by 2003, the last year of TEA 21, our roads and bridges would be in better shape than they are today.

In 1993, when ISTEA passed, I was not able to make that pledge, because I knew that the United States Department of Transportation had already estimated that the level of funding in the ISTEA bill would not close the gap between highway needs and money to meet those needs.

TEA 21 was a landmark piece of legislation. TEA 21 established a new budget category for funding the highway program which calls for funding levels each year to grow at a rate that matches the rate of growth of the private sector in taxes the year prior. This will be the first year we test the philosophy that we can commit to spending user fees exclusively to keep up the system. Unfortunately, this amount of funding is still not enough to maintain the quality of roads in Florida or any other state. Traditional grant programs will not be able to ever meet the infrastructure needs of the nation. We must look at innovative solutions to address congestion problems. We need to use innovative methods to finance construction projects. We need to get the private sector involved in transportation improvements.

The distinguished Chairman of the Environment and Public Works Committee and I worked very hard to develop and implement an innovative financing program called transportation Investment and Innovation Financing Act (TIFIA). TIFIA was incorporated into TEA 21 and is now being implemented by the United States Department of Transportation. The program
By Mr. GRASSLEY (for himself, Mr. BAUCUS, Mr. JEFFORDS, MS. COLLINS, Mr. COCHRAN, and Mr. ABRAHAM):

S. 471. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to eliminate the deductibility of student loan interest deductions; to the Committee on Finance.

LEGISLATION TO EXPAND THE TAX DEDUCTION FOR STUDENT LOAN INTEREST

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, today I am introducing legislation to expand the tax deduction for student loan interest. Senators BAUCUS, JEFFORDS, COLLINS, COCHRAN and ABRAHAM are joining me in introducing this legislation.

Under the Tax Reform Act of 1986, the tax deduction for student loan interest was eliminated. This action, done in the name of fiscal responsibility, blatantly disregarded the duty we have to our nation’s students. This struck me and many of my colleagues as wrong. Since 1987, I have spearheaded the bipartisan effort to reestablish the tax deduction for student loan interest. In 1992, we succeeded in passing the legislation to reestablish the deduction, only to have it vetoed as part of a larger bill with tax increases. Finally, after ten long years, our determination and perseverance paid off. The Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997, we succeeded in reinstating the deduction. In our success, we sent a clear message to students and their families across the country that the Congress of the United States understands the financial hardships they face, and that we are willing to assist them in easing those hardships so they can receive the education they need.

In 1997 we took steps in the right direction, and did what had to be done. Regrettably, given the fiscal constraints we were not able to go as far as we wanted to go. The nation was still in a fiscal crisis at that time. In order to control costs, we were forced to limit the deductibility of student loan interest to only six years, with a restriction which is equivalent to five years plus time spent in forbearance or deferment. This restriction hurts some of the most needy borrowers. Many of these borrowers are students who, due to limited means, have borrowed most heavily. The restriction discriminates against those who have the highest debt loads and lowest incomes. It makes the American dream harder to achieve. It also encourages students to pull themselves up—for those who started with less. It is unjust.

Today, our situation is vastly different. In these times of economic vitality and budget surplus, we have a responsibility we were unable to do before. Student debt is rising to alarming levels, and additional relief must be provided. We must eliminate the sixty month restriction on the deductibility of student loan interest and show that the United States Congress stands behind all of our nation's students in their endeavors to better themselves.

Eliminating the sixty payment restriction will bring needed relief to some of the most deserving borrowers. The restriction weighs heavily on those who, despite lower pay, have decided to dedicate themselves to a career in public service. We will be rewarding civic virtue as we provide relief to these admirable citizens.

Additionally, eliminating this restriction will eliminate difficult and costly reporting requirements that are currently required for both borrowers and lenders. In supporting our nation’s students, we will also be cutting costly bureaucracy.

Currently, to claim the deduction, the taxpayer must have an adjusted gross income of $40,000 or less, or $60,000 for married couples. The amount of the deduction is gradually phased out for those with incomes between $40,000 and $55,000, or $60,000 and $75,000 for married couples. Additionally, the deduction itself was phased in at $1,000, and will cap out at $2,500 in 2002.

Many in our country are suffering from excessive student debt. More can and must be done to help them. In this time of economic plenty, it is our duty to invest in our students’ education.

Doing so is an investment in America’s future. To maintain competitiveness in the global marketplace, America must have a well-educated workforce. By eliminating the sixty payment restriction on the deductibility of student loan interest we recommit ourselves to education and to maintaining the position of this country at the pinnacle of the free world.

The administration supports this direction as well. In his 2000 budget, President Clinton has proposed to eliminate the sixty payment restriction on the deductibility of student loan interest, starting after 1999. Our legislation takes a more fair and inclusive approach by including payments between 1997 and 1999, which the administration leaves out.

I urge members to join us in this effort to relieve the excessive burdens on those trying to better themselves and their families through education by expanding the tax deduction for student loan interest payments.

By Mr. GRASSLEY (for himself, Mr. REID, Mr. CONRAD, Mr. HOLINGS, Mr. DURBIN, Ms. COLLINS, Mr. DASCHLE, and Mr. DORGAN):

S. 472. A bill to amend title XVIII of the Social Security Act to provide certain Medicare beneficiaries with an exemption to the financial limitations imposed on physical, speech-language pathology, and occupational therapy services under part B of the Medicare program, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Finance.

THE MEDICARE REHABILITATION BENEFIT IMPROVEMENT ACT OF 1999

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I rise today to introduce the Medicare Rehabilitation Benefit Improvement Act of
The bill I am introducing would establish certain exceptions to the $1500 cap, for beneficiaries who have medical needs that require more intensive treatment than this benefit limit would allow. The Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services would be required to implement the exemption for providers who are required to demonstrate medical necessity based on the criteria outlined in the bill. In essence, the bill attempts to accomplish the primary goal of the $1500 cap, budgetary savings, but without harming the Medicare beneficiary. Payment is based on the patient’s condition and not on an arbitrary monetary amount. Help us provide access to services for those beneficiaries who will need these services or risk further complications, establish a system that makes sense, and still achieve the budget savings sought from the BBA without reducing Medicare benefits.

Please join me and my colleagues in passing this legislation.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill and additional materials be printed in the RECORD.

S. 472

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, SEC. 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Medicare Rehabilitation Benefit Improvement Act of 1999.”

SEC. 2. PURPOSES.

The purposes of this Act are as follows:

(1) To provide certain Medicare beneficiaries with an exemption to the financial limitations imposed on physical, speech-language pathology, and occupational therapy services under section 1833(g) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395l(g));

(2) To direct the Secretary of Health and Human Services to conduct a study on the implementation of such exemption and to submit a report to Congress that includes recommendations regarding alternatives to such financial limitations.

SEC. 3. ESTABLISHMENT OF EXEMPTION TO CAP ON PHYSICAL, SPEECH-LANGUAGE PATHOLOGY, AND OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY SERVICES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 1833(g) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395l(g)) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(4)(A) The limitations in this subsection shall not apply to an individual described in subparagraph (B);

“(B) An individual described in this subparagraph is an individual that meets any of the following criteria:

(1) The individual has received services described in paragraph (1) or (3) in a calendar year and is subsequently diagnosed with an illness, injury, or disability that requires the provision in such year of additional such services that are medically necessary.

(2) The individual has a diagnosis that requires the provision described in paragraph (1) or (3) and an additional diagnosis or incident that exacerbates the individual’s condition, thereby requiring the provision of additional such services.

(3) The individual will require hospitilization if the individual does not receive the services described in paragraph (1) or (3).

(iv) The individual meets other criteria that the Secretary determines appropriate.

(c) Nothing in this paragraph shall be construed as affecting any requirement for, or limitation on, payment under this title (other than the financial limitation under this subsection).

(d) Any service that is covered under this title by reason of this paragraph shall be subject to the same reasonable and necessary medical criteria that is applicable to the services described in paragraph (1) or (3) that are covered under this title without regard to this paragraph.

(b) CONFORMING CHANGES.—Paragraphs (1) and (3) of section 1833(g) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395l(g)) are each amended by striking ‘‘subject to paragraph (4), in the case of such services, the limitation under section 1833(g) of the Social Security Act in effect on January 1, 1999, shall not apply to services provided on or after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary determines appropriate by the Secretary’’; and inserting ‘‘Subject to paragraph (4), in the case of such services, the limitation under section 1833(g) of the Social Security Act in effect on January 1, 1999, shall not apply to services provided on or after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary determines appropriate by the Secretary’’.

SEC. 4. STUDY AND REPORT TO CONGRESS.

(a) STUDY.—The Secretary of Health and Human Services shall conduct a study on the amendments to section 1833(g) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395l(g)) made by section 3 of this Act, including a study of—

(1) the number of Medicare beneficiaries that receive exemptions under paragraph (4) of such section (as added by section 3);

(2) the diagnoses of such beneficiaries; and

(3) the types of therapy services that are covered under the Medicare program because of such exemptions;

(4) the settings in which such services are provided; and

(5) the number of Medicare beneficiaries that receive the financial limitation under section 1833(g) of the Social Security Act in a year (without regard to the amendments to such section made by section 3 of this Act) and subsequently receive physical, speech-language pathology, or occupational therapy services in such year at an outpatient hospital department.

(b) REPORT.—Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Health and Human Services shall submit a report to Congress that includes detailed information on the study conducted pursuant to paragraph (1), and shall include in the report recommendations regarding alternatives to the financial limitations on physical, speech-language pathology, and occupational therapy services under section 1833(g) of the Social Security Act and any other recommendations determined appropriate by the Secretary. Such report shall be included in the report required to be submitted to Congress pursuant to section 4541(d)(2) of the Balanced Budget Act of 1997 (42 U.S.C. 1395fnote).

MEDICARE REHABILITATION BENEFIT IMPROVEMENT ACT OF 1999—SUMMARY

This bill will provide certain Medicare beneficiaries with an exemption based on medical necessity to the financial limitation imposed on physical, speech-language pathology, and occupational therapy services under part B of the Medicare program. It will also direct the Secretary of Health and Human Services to conduct a study on the implementation of such an exemption, and then submit a report to Congress that includes recommendations regarding alternatives to such financial limitations.

The Balanced Budget Act (BBA) of 1997 imposed a $1500 cap on all therapy effective January 1, 1999. There is a combined $1500 cap for physical and speech-language pathology, and a separate $1500 cap on occupational therapy services received outside a hospital setting. An estimated 750,000 beneficiaries will reach the cap this year. These patients may be victims of stroke, brain-injury, or other serious conditions requiring additional services.

This bill establishes certain criteria in order for Medicare beneficiaries to be eligible for an exemption from the $1500 cap and allows the Secretary of HHS to establish additional criteria if necessary. The criteria include:

(1) the beneficiary must be diagnosed with an illness, injury, or disability that requires additional physical, speech-language pathology, and occupational therapy services that are medically necessary in a calendar year; or

(2) the beneficiary has a diagnosis that requires such therapy services and has an additional diagnosis or incident that exacerbates his/her condition (i.e., diabetes), which would require more services.

The beneficiary will require hospitalization if he/she does not receive the necessary therapy services, or the beneficiary meets other requirements determined by the Secretary of HHS.

The bill also requires the Secretary of HHS to conduct a study two years after the date of enactment of this Act. This study will include:

(1) the number of Medicare beneficiaries that receive exemptions to the cap;

(2) the diagnoses of the beneficiaries;

(3) the types of therapy services that are covered due to such exemptions;

(4) the settings in which services are provided; and

(5) the number of beneficiaries that reach the $1500 cap.

AMERICAN SPEECH-LANGUAGE-HEARING ASSOCIATION

Hon. Charles E. Grassley, Chairman, U.S. Senate Special Committee on Aging, Washington, D.C.

Dear Chairman Grassley: The American Speech-Language-Hearing Association
(ASHA) is pleased to support the “Medicare Rehabilitation Benefit Improvement Act of 1999.” ASHA is the professional and scientific organization of more than 90,000 speech-language pathologists, audiologists, and speech, language, hearing scientists. Our members provide services in a number of practice settings, including hospitals, clinics, private practice, and home health agencies.

There is a clear need for exemptions from the Medicare financial limitations of beneficiaries receiving outpatient rehabilitation services. Since the provision went into effect on January 1, 1999, ASHA has received numerous calls and letters of concern from our members regarding the problems created by the financial limitation. Patients are actually refusing medically necessary treatment for fear that they may have a more acute episode or injury later in the year and want to keep their $1500 “banked” for such a possibility. Essentially, the cap’s arbitrary limit is indirectly forcing patients to inappropriately ration needed care that we believe will ultimately cost the Medicare program more.

A patient who requires both speech-language pathology services and physical therapy services is placed in a true dilemma. If the patient who has suffered a stroke chooses to receive speech-language pathology services, the patient may not have sufficient funding remaining for the rehabilitation of the speech-language pathology treatment. Conversely, the patient who selects physical therapy may have adequate funding for the speech-language pathology services. A third situation arises when the patient receives both rehabilitation services concurrently. The programs for both are inadequate because the financial limitation is not sufficient for receipt of both health care services.

I am enclosing a copy of a letter addressed to Congress that ASHA received early this year from a family member whose mother is receiving speech-language pathology services for a swallowing disorder. Ms. Carol Eller McCaffrey of Lawrence, Kansas, begins her letter with: “I am the daughter of an 87-year-old woman whose brain stem stroke left her unable to swallow or speak well and weakened her right side, and quality of life will suffer greatly with $1500 Medicare gap.”

The new cap will all completely discontinue this type of physical therapy because the patient cannot afford to keep their $1,500 “banked” for such a possibility. Essentially, the cap’s arbitrary limit is indirectly forcing patients to inappropriately ration needed care that we believe will ultimately cost the Medicare program more.

I am the daughter of an 87 year old woman whose brain stem stroke left her unable to swallow or speak well and weakened her right side, and quality of life will suffer greatly with $1500 Medicare gap. With them help of our speech and physical therapists, Mother has come a long way. Although she still doesn’t speak well, she eats normal food in the dining room with fellow residents. Mother has a problem with choking and probable aspiration. A new treatment called Deep Pharyngeal Neuromuscular Stimulation (DPNS) is being taught; our speech therapist has increased hydration through an alternative feeding tube which we have left intact for these emergencies. Taking away the very important DPNs therapy causes the need for more nursing care. Life quality of life is “down the tubes” when mother is unable to eat and drink comfortably.

Mom also needs continual assertive physical therapy to maintain the physical therapy benefits in the program for through the guidelines, even before the medical cap, require a decrease in her function to qualify for treatment. So, periodically, as Mother weakness her the health care system. This seems backwards to me. I thought that as a nation, we were making great strides in the care of our elderly and disabled. In my opinion, we are sliding backwards. Does the left hand of the government know what the right hand is doing? And look who’s suffering? Obviously those making the rules have not had personal experiences in this area.

The paperwork for all medical personnel is already overwhelming. Our professionals are spending more time with paper than with patients! All this, I presume, to try and thwart cheaters. I feel the cheaters are the minority and it all comes down to punishing the patients.

You are smart people. Come up with a reasonable way to deal with this situation without losing sight of what is truly important— the patients.

Private pay is exorbitant—Have you checked? There is no way normal families can take up what is offered. Please, rethink this decision to cap Medicare part B benefits. It is, after all, this particular generation who have supported the US Government through thick and thin. Don’t let them down, visit nursing home/care facilities. Speak with hard working, caring therapists and the red, white, and blue Americans who need your help. It is in your own best interests  you’ll be there yourself one day.

Sincerely,

Carol Eller McCaffrey
AMERICAN PHYSICAL THERAPY ASSOCIATION

American Physical Therapy Association
Chairman, Senate Special Committee on Aging, Washington, DC. Also, her life quality and abilities.

HONORABLE CONGRESSIONAL LEADERS: I am not a professional in the medical world nor am I very knowledgeable about the logistics of Medicare. I am the daughter of an 87 year old woman whose brain stem stroke left her unable to swallow or speak well and weakened her right side, and quality of life will suffer greatly with the $1500.00 Medicare gap.

With them help of our speech and physical therapists, Mother has come a long way. Although she still doesn’t speak well, she eats normal food in the dining room with fellow residents. Mother has a problem with swallowing and probable aspiration. A new treatment called Deep Pharyngeal Neuromuscular Stimulation (DPNS) is being taught, our speech therapist has increased hydration through an alternative feeding tube which we have left intact for these emergencies. Taking away the very important DPNS therapy causes the need for more nursing care. Life quality of life is “down the tubes” when mother is unable to eat and drink comfortably.

The new cap will all completely discontinue this treatment thus requiring increased hydration through an alternative feeding tube which we have left intact for these emergencies. Taking away the very important DPNS therapy causes the need for more nursing care. Life quality of life is “down the tubes” when mother is unable to eat and drink comfortably.

Mom also needs continual assertive physical therapy to maintain the physical therapy benefits in the program for through the guidelines, even before the medical cap, require a decrease in her function to qualify for treatment. So, periodically, as Mother weakness her the health care system. This seems backwards to me. I thought that as a nation, we were making great strides in the care of our elderly and disabled. In my opinion, we are sliding backwards. Does the left hand of the government know what the right hand is doing? And look who’s suffering? Obviously those making the rules have not had personal experiences in this area.

The paperwork for all medical personnel is already overwhelming. Our professionals are spending more time with paper than with patients! All this, I presume, to try and thwart cheaters. I feel the cheaters are the minority and it all comes down to punishing the patients.

You are smart people. Come up with a reasonable way to deal with this situation without losing sight of what is truly important—the patients.

Private pay is exorbitant—Have you checked? There is no way normal families can take up what is offered. Please, rethink this decision to cap Medicare part B benefits. It is, after all, this particular generation who have supported the US Government through thick and thin. Don’t let them down, visit nursing home/care facilities. Speak with hard working, caring therapists and the red, white, and blue Americans who need your help. It is in your own best interests  you’ll be there yourself one day.

Sincerely,

Carol Eller McCaffrey
AMERICAN PHYSICAL THERAPY ASSOCIATION

Hon. Charles Grassley,
Chairman, Senate Special Committee on Aging,
Washington, DC.

Chairman Grassley: On behalf of the more than 74,000 members of the American Physical Therapy Association (APTA) and the patients of occupational therapy, I would like to express our strong support and appreciation for your leadership in introducing the “Medicare Rehabilitation Benefit Improvement Act of 1999.”

As you know, section 4544(c) of the Balanced Budget Act of 1997 imposes annual caps of $1,500 per beneficiary on all outpatient rehabilitation services except those furnished in a hospital outpatient department. The new law has been interpreted to mean that there will be two separate caps for physical therapy and speech-language pathology services and a separate $1,500 cap for occupational therapy services. These limits are ineffective for services rendered on or after January 1, 1999.

APTA maintains concern with the impact this limitation on services will have on Medicare beneficiaries who require physical therapy treatment. Senior citizens and disabled citizens eligible for Medicare benefits suffering from a range of conditions including, but not limited to, cerebral palsy and other serious conditions that require extensive rehabilitation may not be able to access the care they require to resume normal activities of daily living due to the present limitation on coverage. Enactment of your legislation provides the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services the authority to establish exceptions to the present $1,500 cap for patients with conditions that would likely exceed such a limitation on coverage. APTA applauds the inclusion of this provision.

APTA maintains concern that the $1,500 cap is completely arbitrary and bears no relation to the medical condition of the patient. Medicaid recipients receiving rehabilitative services. There exists absolutely no medical or empirical justification for such a cap. The caps are by definition completely insufficient to patients with chronic injuries and illness or who have multiple episodes of care in a given calendar year. Enactment of your legislation would provide relief from the $1,500 annual benefit limitation to beneficiaries who experience multiple episodes of care in a given calendar year for services that are deemed medically necessary.

APTA applauds the inclusion of this provision.

APTA maintains concern that the $1,500 cap dramatically reduces Medicare beneficiaries’ choice of care giver. Under the current statute, beneficiaries who have exceeded their cap in need of additional rehabilitation services are restricted from receiving care from facilities other than the hospital where they received their last reactivation. A notable step backward in Congress’ efforts to expand access to care, especially in rural and urban underserved communities. Enactment of your legislation would provide beneficiaries who exceed their cap in need of additional rehabilitation services with access to a wide range of community settings in which Medicare beneficiaries could receive care, to include rehabilitation care facilities, Comprehensive Care Facilities, Rehabilitation Facilities, and physical therapy private practices. APTA applauds the inclusion of this provision.

Lastly, APTA continues to object to the inclusion of physical therapy and speech-language pathology under the Medicare policy Advisory Committee (MedPAC) reported to Congress in its July 1998 report, 70 percent of outpatient therapy expenditures under the program are for physical therapy services, while 21 percent are for occupational therapy, and 9 percent for speech therapy. The combination of physical therapy and speech therapy has no rational basis. Speech therapy is a distinct and separate benefit provided under the Medicare program and should not be included as a part of the physical therapy benefit. If your legislation does not clarify this issue, APTA is hopeful that Congress will address this issue with common sense clarifications as it considers the Medicare Policy Advisory Committee (MedPAC) report.

APTA will continue to work with you to achieve this end.

February 25, 1999

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE
S2019
Physical therapists across Iowa and the nation applaud your leadership on this important issue. Passage of the Medicare Rehabilitation Benefit Improvement Act of 1999 can ensure that patients in need of outpatient physical therapy services receive appropriate care in the setting of their choice without the fear of exceeding their coverage. APTA is committed to assisting you in ensuring that seniors can afford the physical therapy services they require to resume normal activities. It is imperative to the American Health Care Association, we commend you and your colleagues who have joined the Congressional Coalition to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps. On behalf of the American Health Care Association, long term care providers, and those for whom we provide care, I’m writing you to commend you on your leadership in introducing legislation designed to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps.

One of the provisions contained in the 1997 Balanced Budget Act (BBA) has the potential to harm senior citizens who rely on Medicare for their health care needs. Congress changed Medicare by imposing arbitrary annual limits of $1500 for outpatient rehabilitation services. This includes a $1500 cap on occupational therapy and a $1500 cap on physical therapy and speech-language-pathology combined. Arbitrary caps do not reflect the real rehabilitation needs of Medicare beneficiaries and target the sickest and most vulnerable.

Your efforts will protect senior citizens suffering from common medical conditions such as strokes, spinal cord injury, traumatic brain injury, extensive fractures, severe burns, or diseases such as Parkinson’s or multiple sclerosis. Your legislation will remove or restrict the access to needed occupational therapy before the rehabilitation process is completed. Your bill will allow for these and other individuals to have access to appropriate rehabilitation services.

Your efforts will move policy forward and establish some necessary protections for Medicare beneficiaries, and appreciate your efforts to ameliorate the impacts of this unfreezing. We look forward to working with you as the bill moves through the legislative process.

Sincerely,

NANCY GARLAND, ESO,
Director of Government Affairs,

AMERICAN HEALTH CARE ASSOCIATION,

DEAR SENATOR GRASSLEY: On behalf of the American Health Care Association, long term care providers, and those for whom we provide care, I’m writing you to commend you on your leadership in introducing legislation designed to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps.

Hon. CHARLES GRASSLEY,
Dirksen Senate Office Building,
Washington, DC.

Chairman, Senate Special Committee on Aging,
U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN GRASSLEY: On behalf of the American Health Care Association, long term care providers, and those for whom we provide care, I’m writing you to commend you on your leadership in introducing legislation designed to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps.

Hon. CHARLES GRASSLEY,
Dirksen Senate Office Building,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN GRASSLEY: On behalf of the American Health Care Association, long term care providers, and those for whom we provide care, I’m writing you to commend you on your leadership in introducing legislation designed to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps.

Hon. CHARLES GRASSLEY,
Dirksen Senate Office Building,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN GRASSLEY: On behalf of the American Health Care Association, long term care providers, and those for whom we provide care, I’m writing you to commend you on your leadership in introducing legislation designed to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps.

Hon. CHARLES GRASSLEY,
Dirksen Senate Office Building,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN GRASSLEY: On behalf of the American Health Care Association, long term care providers, and those for whom we provide care, I’m writing you to commend you on your leadership in introducing legislation designed to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps.

Hon. CHARLES GRASSLEY,
Dirksen Senate Office Building,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN GRASSLEY: On behalf of the American Health Care Association, long term care providers, and those for whom we provide care, I’m writing you to commend you on your leadership in introducing legislation designed to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps.

Hon. CHARLES GRASSLEY,
Dirksen Senate Office Building,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN GRASSLEY: On behalf of the American Health Care Association, long term care providers, and those for whom we provide care, I’m writing you to commend you on your leadership in introducing legislation designed to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps.

Hon. CHARLES GRASSLEY,
Dirksen Senate Office Building,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN GRASSLEY: On behalf of the American Health Care Association, long term care providers, and those for whom we provide care, I’m writing you to commend you on your leadership in introducing legislation designed to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps.

Hon. CHARLES GRASSLEY,
Dirksen Senate Office Building,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN GRASSLEY: On behalf of the American Health Care Association, long term care providers, and those for whom we provide care, I’m writing you to commend you on your leadership in introducing legislation designed to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps.

Hon. CHARLES GRASSLEY,
Dirksen Senate Office Building,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN GRASSLEY: On behalf of the American Health Care Association, long term care providers, and those for whom we provide care, I’m writing you to commend you on your leadership in introducing legislation designed to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps.

Hon. CHARLES GRASSLEY,
Dirksen Senate Office Building,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN GRASSLEY: On behalf of the American Health Care Association, long term care providers, and those for whom we provide care, I’m writing you to commend you on your leadership in introducing legislation designed to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps.

Hon. CHARLES GRASSLEY,
Dirksen Senate Office Building,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN GRASSLEY: On behalf of the American Health Care Association, long term care providers, and those for whom we provide care, I’m writing you to commend you on your leadership in introducing legislation designed to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps.

Hon. CHARLES GRASSLEY,
Dirksen Senate Office Building,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN GRASSLEY: On behalf of the American Health Care Association, long term care providers, and those for whom we provide care, I’m writing you to commend you on your leadership in introducing legislation designed to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps.

Hon. CHARLES GRASSLEY,
Dirksen Senate Office Building,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN GRASSLEY: On behalf of the American Health Care Association, long term care providers, and those for whom we provide care, I’m writing you to commend you on your leadership in introducing legislation designed to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps.

Hon. CHARLES GRASSLEY,
Dirksen Senate Office Building,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN GRASSLEY: On behalf of the American Health Care Association, long term care providers, and those for whom we provide care, I’m writing you to commend you on your leadership in introducing legislation designed to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps.

Hon. CHARLES GRASSLEY,
Dirksen Senate Office Building,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN GRASSLEY: On behalf of the American Health Care Association, long term care providers, and those for whom we provide care, I’m writing you to commend you on your leadership in introducing legislation designed to protect America’s most frail and elderly from the adverse effects of arbitrary Medicare caps.

Hon. CHARLES GRASSLEY,
Dirksen Senate Office Building,
therapy services for Medicare beneficiaries. Easter Seals is committed to assisting you and your colleagues to improve and enact this critical measure. Easter Seals is dedicated to assisting children and adults with disabilities to live with equality, dignity, and independence. Each year, Easter Seals 106-affiliate network serves nearly 1 million people nationally. Thousands of Medicare beneficiaries and their families rely on Easter Seals for community-based physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech-language pathology services combined is out-of-step with the real medical needs of a significant share of Medicare beneficiaries. It will cause beneficiaries with serious medical needs resulting from illness, injury, and disability, including stroke, traumatic brain injuries, total joint replacement, and other serious conditions, to forfeit needed care or seek more cost-effective, often inappropriate institutional settings. For many Easter Seals Medicare clients the impact of current policy is devastating. One client’s situation, if constrained by a $1,500 cap, illustrates this point. Eighty-four-year-old Richard H. lived independently with his wife when, on February 27, 1997, he experienced a serious stroke. Prior to the stroke he had high blood pressure, heart disease, and diabetes. The stroke paralyzed his left side, seriously impaired his vision and made him very depressed.

Physical therapy helped him learn to move independently and to walk safely again. Occupational therapy retrained him in the tasks of daily living, including preparing food, toileting, and home safety. Speech and swallowing therapy eliminated his choking on food, which presented a high risk of aspiration pneumonia. This therapy, combined with much determination and effort by Richard and his wife, has enabled him to resume living independently at home.

The doctors, therapists and family agree that without this full course of medical rehabilitation, Richard would now be helpless, severely confined to a very expensive nursing home care for the current Medicare policy limiting medical rehabilitation therapy services under the $1,500 cap, with no exemptions, would have deprived Richard of 62% of his needed rehabilitation treatment. Easter Seals believes that the “Medicare Rehabilitation Benefit Improvement Act of 1997” is a necessary, timely, and thoughtful approach to correcting serious problems for Medicare beneficiaries requiring comprehensive services. Easter Seals will work with you and your Senate colleagues to refine this legislation, as appropriate, and promote its enactment into law.

The more we value our commitment to assuring Medicare beneficiaries the services that they need to live healthy, productive lives.

Sincerely,

RANDALL L. RUTTA,
Vice President, Government Relations.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I rise in strong support of the “Medicare Rehabilitation Benefit Improvement Act of 1999” to correct legislation is out-of-step with the real medical needs of a significant share of Medicare beneficiaries. It will cause beneficiaries with serious medical needs resulting from illness, injury, and disability, including stroke, traumatic brain injuries, total joint replacement, and other serious conditions, to forfeit needed care or seek more cost-effective, often inappropriate institutional settings. For many Easter Seals Medicare clients the impact of current policy is devastating. One client’s situation, if constrained by a $1,500 cap, illustrates this point. Eighty-four-year-old Richard H. lived independently with his wife when, on February 27, 1997, he experienced a serious stroke. Prior to the stroke he had high blood pressure, heart disease, and diabetes. The stroke paralyzed his left side, seriously impaired his vision and made him very depressed.

Physical therapy helped him learn to move independently and to walk safely again. Occupational therapy retrained him in the tasks of daily living, including preparing food, toileting, and home safety. Speech and swallowing therapy eliminated his choking on food, which presented a high risk of aspiration pneumonia. This therapy, combined with much determination and effort by Richard and his wife, has enabled him to resume living independently at home.

The doctors, therapists and family agree that without this full course of medical rehabilitation, Richard would now be helpless, severely confined to a very expensive nursing home care for the current Medicare policy limiting medical rehabilitation therapy services under the $1,500 cap, with no exemptions, would have deprived Richard of 62% of his needed rehabilitation treatment. Easter Seals believes that the “Medicare Rehabilitation Benefit Improvement Act of 1997” is a necessary, timely, and thoughtful approach to correcting serious problems for Medicare beneficiaries requiring comprehensive services. Easter Seals will work with you and your Senate colleagues to refine this legislation, as appropriate, and promote its enactment into law.

The more we value our commitment to assuring Medicare beneficiaries the services that they need to live healthy, productive lives.

Sincerely,

RANDALL L. RUTTA,
Vice President, Government Relations.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I rise in strong support of the “Medicare Rehabilitation Benefit Improvement Act of 1997” to correct
It is expensive to become a teacher. The pay is low. And we wonder why there is a shortage of young, eager, qualified teachers to educate our children. We must make the teaching profession more financially attractive to put excellence in the classrooms.

The Promise Pension & Security Retirement Act makes all pensions portable. If you lose a job, if you take time off to raise a child, if you change jobs—your pension will stay with you and grow. Pension portability and reform is the most important retirement security issue next to Social Security.

Specifically for Upstate New York, with Senator MOYNIHAN I am introducing the Airline Competition Act of 1999 to end predatory pricing and to direct the Transportation Department to grant take-off and landing slots to underserved airports within a 500 mile radius of New York. Monopolistic airfares in Rochester, Syracuse and Buffalo are slowly strangling the economy of Upstate and the Tier. I believe the days of sky-high airfares to these cities are numbered.

To rebuild struggling neighborhoods through homeownership I am introducing legislation to offer a $2,000 tax credit to first time homebuyers in Enterprise Zones and Empowerment Communities. In New York, that includes the South Bronx, Harlem, and parts of Albany, Schenectady, Troy, Buffalo, Kingston, Newburgh, and Rochester.

Because women pay more for health care than men, the Equity in Women's Health Act bars any health plan from discriminating on the basis of gender or sexual orientation through their coverage options. It also requires each health plan to include a short prospectus to describe exactly what they will and will not cover.

To protect consumers, the Credit Card Consumer Protection Act of 1999 closes loopholes in existing law that allows credit card companies to offer low teaser rates that increase dramatically over time. These are not all—but some of my priorities for the year. As I have said many times, my passion is legislating in ways that make people's lives better. With the impeachment over, I am anxious to get started on the issues that matter to New Yorkers and all Americans.

By Mr. ABRAHAM (for himself, Mr. LOTT, Mr. ASHCROFT, Mr. HELMS, Mr. INHOFE, Mr. BUNNING, Mr. DEWINE, Mr. COCHRAN, and Mr. MACK):

S. 481. A bill to increase penalties and strengthen enforcement of environmental crimes, and for other purposes; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, today I am introducing my first bills as a United Senator. I said over the last year that the picture that I want to keep at the forefront of my mind is that of families sitting around their kitchen table paying their bills, planning for retirement, affording a home, paying for college for their children, and discussing the quality of their local schools.

Today I am introducing my first bills for those families at the kitchen table. And let me tell you a little bit about these families. They are the same in Brooklyn and Buffalo, Mt. Vernon and Massapequa, Syracuse and Setauket. They are living in a time of both overwhelming promise and overwhelming challenge.

The promise—the upside—is that America remains indisputably the preeminent economy in the world. The challenge—the downside—is that for most families there is a great deal of uncertainty about the future. They are concerned that forces beyond their control—costs, inflation, school costs, struggling communities—put them behind the eight-ball.

Their concern isn't so much that the U.S. economy will turn sour. It's that they, or their children, or their grandchildren may wash their hands in the economic tide. The families of Upstate New York have lived that reality for six years.

The nine bills that I am introducing today are designed to help families deal and thrive with the changing times of a global, competitive economy.

I am introducing two bills to make college affordable for working families. The Make College Affordable Act, which I am introducing with Senator MOYNIHAN, makes all college tuition tax deductible for families with less than $140,000 in income.

The Save for College Act allows families to contribute up to $2,000 per year in an education IRA that is tax-free when the money goes in and tax-free when it comes out so long as it is spent on college costs. Families earning up to $200,000 are eligible for the IRAs.

Mr. ABRAHAM. Mr. President, I rise now in conjunction with the distinguished majority leader, Mr. LOTT, and with the distinguished Senator from Maine, Mr. ASHCROFT, to introduce legislation which will repeal the 1993 increase in the tax on Social Security benefits.

As my colleagues are aware, senior citizens pay Federal taxes on a portion of their Social Security benefits if they receive additional income from savings or from work. Before 1993, seniors paid taxes on half their Social Security benefits if their combined income, as it is described—which means their adjusted gross income and one-half the amount of the Social Security benefits they receive—exceeded $25,000 for individuals or $32,000 for couples.

Soon after coming into office, however, the new administration increased this tax on these middle-income retirees as part of the 1993 tax bill. For individuals now, after that, with combined incomes exceeding $34,000, and couples with combined incomes exceeding $44,000, the tax increase on the percentage of their Social Security benefits subject to taxation went from 50 percent to 85 percent. This provision increased taxes for nearly one-quarter of Social Security recipients. It in large part produced an increase of 7.5 percent in the tax burden on middle-income seniors, a federal tax that was more than double the 3.5 percent that the rest of that legislation imposed on other Americans.

This tax increase is unfair. It penalizes senior citizens, and it penalizes them for exactly the wrong reason—for saving to achieve security in their retirement. It also unfairly punishes seniors who have the capacity and choose to continue to work.

We are engaged, as you know, in an important debate here in Congress, the debate over the future of our Social Security system. Republicans have joined with Democrats in pledging to set aside the entire Social Security trust fund surplus over the next 15 years, to shore up that system, to make certain it is available for the senior citizens both of today and tomorrow.

At such a time, with dire warnings of impending bankruptcies still ringing in our ears, it seems to me that this increase in these mandated contributions is to discourage people from working and saving for their retirement. It also unfairly punishes seniors who have the capacity and choose to continue to work.

We are engaged, as you know, in an important debate here in Congress, the debate over the future of our Social Security system. Republicans have joined with Democrats in pledging to set aside the entire Social Security trust fund surplus over the next 15 years, to shore up that system, to make certain it is available for the senior citizens both of today and tomorrow.

At such a time, with dire warnings of impending bankruptcies still ringing in our ears, it seems to me that this increase in these mandated contributions is to discourage people from working and saving for their retirement. It also unfairly punishes seniors who have the capacity and choose to continue to work.
As we work to shore up Social Security, we must not allow the Federal Government to punish people for working and saving. We must not allow the Federal Government to tell people they might as well not save for retirement, that they must depend solely on Social Security benefits for their well-being once they retire.

What is more, we should not forget that the projected Federal budget surplus over the next 10 years alone is slated to exceed approximately $2.5 trillion. We have agreed, wisely in my view, to save the bulk of this surplus to shore up Social Security. But surely, at a time when we foresee at least $787 billion in surpluses in addition to those earmarked for Social Security, the Federal Government can afford, in my judgment, to give seniors and those planning for their retirement the kind of tax relief they need to prepare for their futures and to keep our economy strong.

That means, in my view, that we must repeal this onerous tax hike for the sake of our seniors and for the sake of our economy as a whole. Discouraging savings has always been a recipe for economic disaster because it reduces the amount of money available for investment in new jobs and a growing economy.

Now is the time to reduce the extent to which Washington discourages savings. It is time to repeal this tax hike so we may increase savings, investment, and the financial security of our senior citizens.

Mr. President, this legislation has a simple purpose: It repeals the 1993 ill-considered Social Security tax hike returning our seniors to the position they were in prior to 1993.

It restores a modicum of fairness to our Byzantine tax structure and to our dealings with senior citizens. It is important legislation for our seniors, for our Social Security system and for the future of our Nation, and I urge my colleagues' strong support.

In my view, Mr. President, I think we should do everything possible to make it feasible for seniors, both today and especially in the future, to be able to live in retirement in a comfortable way and to not solely depend on the Social Security system. We know the burdens that system will take.

By discouraging savings during people's working years, by discouraging people from continuing to work after they reach retirement age, we are actually undermining our chances of providing the kind of long-term income security that Americans deserve in their old age.

For that reason, we should, in my judgment, repeal this tax hike. We should make retirement a priority this year, and we should then couple that action with other action aimed at shoring up the Social Security system so it not only works for today's seniors, but for the seniors of our future as well.

By Ms. SNOWE (for herself, Mr. GRAHAM, and Mr. VOINIOVICH):

S. 483. A bill to amend the Congressional Budget and Impoundment Control Act of 1974 to limit consideration of nonemergency matters in emergency legislation and permit matter that is extraneous to emergencies to be stricken and to refer the Committee on the Budget and the Committee on Governmental Affairs, jointly, pursuant to the order of August 4, 1977, with instructions that if one committee reports, the other committee have thirty days to report or be discharged.

SURPLUS PROTECTION ACT OF 1999

Ms. SNOWE. Mr. President, I rise today, along with my friend and colleague from Florida, Senator GRAHAM, to introduce the “Surplus Protection Act of 1999”—legislation that will reform the budget process by tightening the manner in which emergency spending legislation is considered in the Senate. Not only will these reforms ensure that there is greater accountability in the emergency spending process, but they will also ensure that this unified budget surplus we now enjoy will be protected from spending raids that are designed to circumvent the normal budget process—and that could undercut our ability to utilize the surplus for strengthening Social Security.

Mr. President, as my colleagues are aware, last year the federal government enjoyed its first balanced budget since 1969. To be precise, the federal government actually achieved a unified budget surplus of $205 billion in fiscal year 1998. According to the Congressional Budget Office (CBO), this surplus will not be a one time occurrence; rather, unified budget surpluses will continue to accruing during the next 10 years if CBO’s projections for economic growth, federal revenues, and federal spending hold true.

While the surplus is welcome news after decades of annual deficits and burgeoning debt, we must never forget how easily this additional assistance can be squandered if we fail to be vigilant in protecting it. For too long, the federal government treated the budget like a credit card with an unlimited spending limit, and such bad habits—even if broken for a few years—can quickly return, especially when there is a surplus just burning a hole in the pocket of Congress and the President!

Therefore, in an effort to ensure the surplus is protected from future spending raids, we are offering legislation today that will crack down on arguably the most insidious manner in which budgetary spending limits and protections can be circumvented: the emergency spending designation. In light of the $21.4 billion in emergency spending that was contained in last year’s omnibus bill, the need to provide safeguards against the abuse of this provision—and the squandering of the surplus—could not be more clear.

Mr. President, the emergency spending designation is created for a very important reason. If a sudden, urgent, unforeseen, and temporary event occurs, the strict spending limits imposed in the budget resolution can be exceeded through the designation of that event as an “emergency.” This exception is understandable when considering that the hands of Congress and the Administration should not be tied when the pressing needs of our nation override the need for strict budget discipline.

For instance, recent earthquakes in California, floods in the Midwest, hurricanes in the South, and ice storms in the Northeast—which were devastating to my home state of Maine—are all examples of natural disasters that warranted the emergency designation because they were completely unexpected and unforeseen, and could not have been addressed in a timely manner through the regular budget process. By the same token, the tragic bombing in Oklahoma City is an example of an unexpected and unforeseeable event that also warranted emergency treatment.

Yet even as the emergency designation is necessary and warranted for these and other unexpected disasters, it can also be used as a major loophole by those who wish to circumvent the normal budget process. Rather than restricting the use of the emergency designation to only those bills or items that are truly unforeseen and urgent, some may use this designation to either fund programs or projects that are unrelated to their emergency nature, while others may use emergency bills to push through unrelated legislation or spending programs without the normal level of scrutiny provided in the normal legislative process.

For example, the omnibus bill adopted at the close of the 105th Congress contained $21.4 billion in emergency spending that came directly out of the surplus. While some of the provisions in that package undoubtedly deserved the emergency designation, several items that were merely unrelated “emergencies” or were an outright effort to circumvent the regular budget process. Specifically, the $2 billion in emergency funding for our three-year-old mission in Bosnia was hardly unexpected and should have been included in the President’s budget at the beginning of the year. It should not have been designated an “emergency” simply to avoid the budget caps that ensure fiscal restraint.

Ultimately, regardless of the manner in which the emergency designation can be misused—whether it is to fund a military operation that has been ongoing for years, or to fast-track a piece of legislation that has no relationship to the emergency in question—it is a practice that we must stop.

The legislation we are offering today will do just that. Specifically, the bill requires that any legislation that ensures that bills or individual provisions receiving the emergency designation are subject to careful—but reasonable—scrutiny.
The first provision—which is patterned after the “Byrd Rule” that applies to reconciliation bills—will ensure that non-emergency items will not be attached to emergency spending bills by creating a point of order for striking the provisions. Simply put, because emergency spending bills are often put on a “fast-track” to ensure rapid consideration, we should not allow non-emergency spending or legislative riders to be attached to these bills in an effort to avoid the normal, deliberate process. As a result, we passed legislation to waive this restriction, an affirmative vote by three-fifths of the members of the Senate would be required—a level that will be easily achieved for a true emergency.

The second provision—which is also patterned after the Byrd Rule—will ensure that the validity of any item that is designated as an emergency—in either an emergency spending bill or a non-emergency bill—can be challenged by the Senate of the House of Representatives. In particular, the funding for troops in Bosnia was a prime example of a non-emergency item that will be easily achieved for a true emergency. As outlined earlier, the omnibus bill adopted at the close of the 105th Congress contained a variety of provisions that were debatable “emergencies”—in particular, the funding for troops in Bosnia. This cost was hardship unforeseen, sudden, or temporary. This point of order will ensure that such provisions do not avoid budget scrutiny, and that the surplus is protected for Social Security accordingly.

The final provision will ensure that any legislation that contains emergency spending will require a three-fifths vote for final passage. Because members may feel compelled to act quickly on bills that contain even a single designated as an emergency, this provision will ensure that such bills do not slide through the regular legislative process without full consideration and without more than simple majority support. While the previous two points of order will prevent improper abuse of the emergency designation, this requirement will serve as a final safeguard in the process.

Mr. President, the bottom line is that although the emergency designation is a vitally important means of ensuring the unexpected needs of our nation can be addressed, it can also become a loophole that subverts budget discipline, drains our new-found surplus, and potentially impacts our ability to strengthen the Social Security program. But with proper safeguards put in place, we can ensure that this potential loophole is closed while still ensuring legitimate emergencies are addressed.

The legislation I am offering today along with Senator GRAHAM provides such thoughtful and reasonable safeguards, so I urge that my colleagues support the “Surplus Protection Act of 1999.”

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. President, earlier today our colleague, Senator SNowe of the State of Maine, introduced legislation, of which both I and Senator Voinovich are the cosponsors, relating to reforms in the emergency appropriations law. Mr. President, I would like to discuss the rationale for this legislation.

Mr. President, we received some good news just a few months ago. We learned that after 5 years of fiscal austerity and economic growth, we had transformed a $290-billion annual deficit into the first budget surplus in more than a generation.

I am dedicated to strengthening the Nation’s long-term economic prospects through prudent fiscal policy. The discipline that helped us to create favorable economic, fiscal, demographic, and political conditions to address the long-term Social Security and Medicare problem should serve as a model for how any demographic aging of our population will be fully required if we are to meet these challenges. These deficits threaten to undo the hard work and fiscal discipline of recent years, as well as to undermine our potential for future economic growth.

But that success, the success that we had in converting a $290-billion annual deficit into this year’s surplus, did not give to Congress a license to return to the profligacy of years gone by. That absence of license is especially true since over 100 percent of the surplus was the result of surpluses in the Social Security trust fund.

I say over 100 percent because the only surplus we had is Social Security, and a portion of that surplus is still being applied to the deficit that is being run in the general accounts, a deficit which will continue for the next 2 to 3 years. We owe it to our children and grandchildren for their generation that Social Security, a Social Security-generated surplus until Social Security’s long-term solvency is assured.

As you know, what we have been doing for the last 30 years is asking our grandchildren to pay our credit card bill. Now what we are saying to our grandchildren is that we are going to give them a secure Social Security system that will last for our generation, for their parents’ generation, and for their generation in 2075. Unfortunately, both the last legislative action of the 105th Congress and the first legislative action passed by the Senate in the 106th Congress have made a mockery of our promise to our grandchildren. Last night the Senate passed a military pay bill without simultaneously approving a way to fund it, an action that, if not corrected in the conference committee, could subtract as much as $17 billion from our children’s and grandchildren’s chances of having a secure Social Security system.

I wish I could say that last night’s vote was an aberration, nothing more than a momentary lapse of judgment, an inadvertent mistake in the haste to turn from impeachement to legislation. Sadly, I cannot make that claim. It is the second time in less than 4 months that we have proven ourselves willing to sacrifice future generations’ well-being on the altar of immediate expediency.

In the waning hours of last fall’s budget negotiations, mid-October 1998, I record a $532-billion omnibus appropriations bill. Included in that $532 billion was $21.4 billion in so-called emergency spending. Since that $21.4 billion could be approved without having to find an offsetting funding source, those $21.4 billion came directly out of the surplus.

Some of you who might have been making speeches to the effect that we were going to have an $80-billion surplus at the end of the last fiscal year that we would go back and insert “59” as the amount of surplus we would have, because that was the figure that remained after we had paid out of the Social Security surplus for $21.4 billion in emergencies. That action would have been possibly more palatable had all of that $21.4 billion been allocated to true emergencies, to those kinds of incidents which in the past Congress has recognized as being appropriate to not require an offset in spending or increase in revenue. While some of the $21.4 billion was used to fund what have traditionally been accepted as emergencies, defined as necessary expenditures for urgent, or unforeseen temporary needs, much of the $21.4 billion was not. Let me give some examples.

The Y2K computer problem, the problem that at the turn of the millennium our computers might be rendered inoperable because of the failure to account for the new century, received $3.35 billion of the $21.4 billion. It is hard to argue that it took us until October of 1998 and then under urgent circumstances, to wake up to the fact that the millennium was coming and that there might be a problem with our computers. In fact, here in the Senate, our colleagues in the House of Representatives and in the executive branch, as well as in the private sector community, and State and local governments, had been aware of and working on this problem long before October of 1998.

Another smaller example of a non-emergency emergency was $100 million that was appropriated for a new visitors center here at the Capitol. A new visitors center has been under consideration for a decade or more—hardly an emergency that just came to our attention on October 20th.

These expenditures might have been desirable, might have been appropriate, but to label them “emergency,” and therefore remove them from the fiscal discipline requiring offsetting spending or additional revenue to support them, threatens to undermine the safeguards that we have built in to protect our Social Security surplus.
This budgetary sleight-of-hand was also used to increase funding for projects that had already been funded through the traditional appropriations process. For example, after previously allocating $270.5 billion to the Department of Homeland Security—which was appropriated provision without any offsetting spending reductions or revenue increases, Congress provided an additional $8.3 billion in “emergency” defense spending in the omnibus appropriations bill. This was not all. Because these pseudoemergency spending provisions were included in an omnibus appropriations conference report—that is, a bill that was the result of reconciliation of differences between the Senate and the House—then, under the normal rules governing a conference report, that legislation was not subject to amendment. Therefore, there could be no motion made that would have removed, reduced, or otherwise modified the provisions which were newly labeled as “emergency appropriations.”

Members of the Congress were left with an unpalatable choice: Shut down the Government in mid-October of 1998 by failure to pass this significant appropriation that covered approximately one-third of the Federal budget, or steal from our children’s and grandchildren’s Social Security surplus. Mr. President, that is not a choice; that is a national disgrace. It is vital that we institute a procedural safeguard that responds expeditiously to true emergencies without maintaining this open door to abuse. We must establish procedural safeguards to deter future Congresses from misusing the emergency spending procedures. We should not attach, as an example, any emergency spending to nonemergency legislation.

We should designate emergency spending measures that do not meet our own definition of an emergency, and we must do that now, before the next Congress that leaves the door wide open to raids on the surplus will be the one that passes on more debt and a less secure future for our children and our grandchildren.

By Mr. CAMPBELL: S. 484. A bill to provide for the granting of refugee status in the United States to nationals of certain foreign countries in which American Vietnam War POW/MIA's or American Korean War POW/MIA's were captured, if those nationals assist in the return to the United States of those POW/MIA's alive; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. President, I join Senator Snowe in the hopes that our colleagues will support this important legislation. It is vital that we assure that we do not misuse our emergency spending powers. The next Congress that leaves the door wide open to raids on the surplus will be the one that passes on more debt and a less secure future for our children and our grandchildren.

S. 484. A bill to provide for the granting of refugee status in the United States to nationals of certain foreign countries in which American Vietnam War POW/MIA's or American Korean War POW/MIA's were captured, if those nationals assist in the return to the United States of those POW/MIA's alive; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

THE BRING THEM HOME ALIVE ACT OF 1999

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. President, I am pleased to introduce the Bring Them Home Alive Act of 1999. This bill would persuade foreign nations to take the bold steps needed to return any possibly surviving American POW/MIA’s home alive. I am pleased to be joined today by Senators GINGRICH and HELMS as original cosponsors.

With the passage of the Soldiers’, Sailors’, Airmen’s, and Marines’ Bill of Rights Act of 1999, the Senate this week has made great strides in providing for the men and women of our armed forces. I am continuing this effort today.

This bill would grant asylum in the United States to foreign nationals who personally deliver a living American POW/MIA from either the Vietnam War or the Korean War to the United States. Citizens of Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos, China, or any of the states of the former Soviet Union who deliver living American POW/MIA’s from either the Vietnam War or the Korean War to the United States. Citizens of the former Soviet Union who deliver living American POW/MIA’s from either the Vietnam War or the Korean War to the United States.

Mr. President, I join Senator Snowe in the hopes that our colleagues will support this important legislation. It is vital that we assure that we do not misuse our emergency spending powers. The next Congress that leaves the door wide open to raids on the surplus will be the one that passes on more debt and a less secure future for our children and our grandchildren.

Mr. President, I join Senator Snowe in the hopes that our colleagues will support this important legislation. It is vital that we assure that we do not misuse our emergency spending powers. The next Congress that leaves the door wide open to raids on the surplus will be the one that passes on more debt and a less secure future for our children and our grandchildren.
be imperiled by such a daring rescue of surviving American POW/MIA's. While some may doubt that any American POW/MIA's from these two wars remain alive, official U.S. policy distinctly recognizes the possibility that some are still held from the Vietnam War could still be alive and held captive in Indochina. As the Defense Department's current position states: Although we have thus far been unable to prove that Americans are still being held against our will, it is not to our knowledge that any Americans are still held captive. Should any report prove true, we will take appropriate action to ensure the return of those involved.

The bill I am introducing today supports this official position and enables the possibility of bringing any surviving U.S. servicemen home alive. Since the fall of South Vietnam in 1975, there have been reports of live sightings of American POW/MIA's being held in Indochina. While the majority of these live sightings have been resolved over the years, and have decreased in recent years, the possibility of Americans being held remains. Two Russian translations of Vietnamese documents were discovered in Soviet archives in 1993 which contain detailed statistics indicating that approximately twice as many American POW/MIA's were taken by Vietnam in late 1972 than were actually ever returned to the United States.

Furthermore, the Senate Select Committee on POW/MIA Affairs' final report in 1993 concluded that about 100 U.S. POW/MIA's that were expected to be returned by Vietnam were never returned and that at least some of them may still be alive and held captive in Indochina.

It is also possible that American POW/MIA's are still being held in North Korea. A few years ago a 1996 Defense Department internal report was uncovered that concluded that between 10-15 POW/MIA's may still be alive and held against their will in North Korea.

The bill I am introducing today supports this official position and enables the possibility of bringing any surviving U.S. servicemen home alive. Since the fall of South Vietnam in 1975, there have been reports of live sightings of American POW/MIA's being held in Indochina. While the majority of these live sightings have been resolved over the years, and have decreased in recent years, the possibility of Americans being held remains. Two Russian translations of Vietnamese documents were discovered in Soviet archives in 1993 which contain detailed statistics indicating that approximately twice as many American POW/MIA's were taken by Vietnam in late 1972 than were actually ever returned to the United States.

Furthermore, the Senate Select Committee on POW/MIA Affairs' final report in 1993 concluded that about 100 U.S. POW/MIA's that were expected to be returned by Vietnam were never returned and that at least some of them may still be alive and held captive in Indochina.

It is also possible that American POW/MIA's are still being held in North Korea. A few years ago a 1996 Defense Department internal report was uncovered that concluded that between 10-15 POW/MIA's may still be alive and held against their will in North Korea.

The bill I am introducing today supports this official position and enables the possibility of bringing any surviving U.S. servicemen home alive. Since the fall of South Vietnam in 1975, there have been reports of live sightings of American POW/MIA's being held in Indochina. While the majority of these live sightings have been resolved over the years, and have decreased in recent years, the possibility of Americans being held remains. Two Russian translations of Vietnamese documents were discovered in Soviet archives in 1993 which contain detailed statistics indicating that approximately twice as many American POW/MIA's were taken by Vietnam in late 1972 than were actually ever returned to the United States.

Furthermore, the Senate Select Committee on POW/MIA Affairs' final report in 1993 concluded that about 100 U.S. POW/MIA's that were expected to be returned by Vietnam were never returned and that at least some of them may still be alive and held captive in Indochina.

It is also possible that American POW/MIA's are still being held in North Korea. A few years ago a 1996 Defense Department internal report was uncovered that concluded that between 10-15 POW/MIA's may still be alive and held against their will in North Korea.

The bill I am introducing today supports this official position and enables the possibility of bringing any surviving U.S. servicemen home alive. Since the fall of South Vietnam in 1975, there have been reports of live sightings of American POW/MIA's being held in Indochina. While the majority of these live sightings have been resolved over the years, and have decreased in recent years, the possibility of Americans being held remains. Two Russian translations of Vietnamese documents were discovered in Soviet archives in 1993 which contain detailed statistics indicating that approximately twice as many American POW/MIA's were taken by Vietnam in late 1972 than were actually ever returned to the United States.

Furthermore, the Senate Select Committee on POW/MIA Affairs' final report in 1993 concluded that about 100 U.S. POW/MIA's that were expected to be returned by Vietnam were never returned and that at least some of them may still be alive and held captive in Indochina.

It is also possible that American POW/MIA's are still being held in North Korea. A few years ago a 1996 Defense Department internal report was uncovered that concluded that between 10-15 POW/MIA's may still be alive and held against their will in North Korea.

The bill I am introducing today supports this official position and enables the possibility of bringing any surviving U.S. servicemen home alive. Since the fall of South Vietnam in 1975, there have been reports of live sightings of American POW/MIA's being held in Indochina. While the majority of these live sightings have been resolved over the years, and have decreased in recent years, the possibility of Americans being held remains. Two Russian translations of Vietnamese documents were discovered in Soviet archives in 1993 which contain detailed statistics indicating that approximately twice as many American POW/MIA's were taken by Vietnam in late 1972 than were actually ever returned to the United States.

Furthermore, the Senate Select Committee on POW/MIA Affairs' final report in 1993 concluded that about 100 U.S. POW/MIA's that were expected to be returned by Vietnam were never returned and that at least some of them may still be alive and held captive in Indochina.

It is also possible that American POW/MIA's are still being held in North Korea. A few years ago a 1996 Defense Department internal report was uncovered that concluded that between 10-15 POW/MIA's may still be alive and held against their will in North Korea.

The bill I am introducing today supports this official position and enables the possibility of bringing any surviving U.S. servicemen home alive. Since the fall of South Vietnam in 1975, there have been reports of live sightings of American POW/MIA's being held in Indochina. While the majority of these live sightings have been resolved over the years, and have decreased in recent years, the possibility of Americans being held remains. Two Russian translations of Vietnamese documents were discovered in Soviet archives in 1993 which contain detailed statistics indicating that approximately twice as many American POW/MIA's were taken by Vietnam in late 1972 than were actually ever returned to the United States.

Furthermore, the Senate Select Committee on POW/MIA Affairs' final report in 1993 concluded that about 100 U.S. POW/MIA's that were expected to be returned by Vietnam were never returned and that at least some of them may still be alive and held captive in Indochina.

It is also possible that American POW/MIA's are still being held in North Korea. A few years ago a 1996 Defense Department internal report was uncovered that concluded that between 10-15 POW/MIA's may still be alive and held against their will in North Korea.

The bill I am introducing today supports this official position and enables the possibility of bringing any surviving U.S. servicemen home alive. Since the fall of South Vietnam in 1975, there have been reports of live sightings of American POW/MIA's being held in Indochina. While the majority of these live sightings have been resolved over the years, and have decreased in recent years, the possibility of Americans being held remains. Two Russian translations of Vietnamese documents were discovered in Soviet archives in 1993 which contain detailed statistics indicating that approximately twice as many American POW/MIA's were taken by Vietnam in late 1972 than were actually ever returned to the United States.

Furthermore, the Senate Select Committee on POW/MIA Affairs' final report in 1993 concluded that about 100 U.S. POW/MIA's that were expected to be returned by Vietnam were never returned and that at least some of them may still be alive and held captive in Indochina.

It is also possible that American POW/MIA's are still being held in North Korea. A few years ago a 1996 Defense Department internal report was uncovered that concluded that between 10-15 POW/MIA's may still be alive and held against their will in North Korea.

The bill I am introducing today supports this official position and enables the possibility of bringing any surviving U.S. servicemen home alive. Since the fall of South Vietnam in 1975, there have been reports of live sightings of American POW/MIA's being held in Indochina. While the majority of these live sightings have been resolved over the years, and have decreased in recent years, the possibility of Americans being held remains. Two Russian translations of Vietnamese documents were discovered in Soviet archives in 1993 which contain detailed statistics indicating that approximately twice as many American POW/MIA's were taken by Vietnam in late 1972 than were actually ever returned to the United States.

Furthermore, the Senate Select Committee on POW/MIA Affairs' final report in 1993 concluded that about 100 U.S. POW/MIA's that were expected to be returned by Vietnam were never returned and that at least some of them may still be alive and held captive in Indochina.

It is also possible that American POW/MIA's are still being held in North Korea. A few years ago a 1996 Defense Department internal report was uncovered that concluded that between 10-15 POW/MIA's may still be alive and held against their will in North Korea.

The bill I am introducing today supports this official position and enables the possibility of bringing any surviving U.S. servicemen home alive. Since the fall of South Vietnam in 1975, there have been reports of live sightings of American POW/MIA's being held in Indochina. While the majority of these live sightings have been resolved over the years, and have decreased in recent years, the possibility of Americans being held remains. Two Russian translations of Vietnamese documents were discovered in Soviet archives in 1993 which contain detailed statistics indicating that approximately twice as many American POW/MIA's were taken by Vietnam in late 1972 than were actually ever returned to the United States.

Furthermore, the Senate Select Committee on POW/MIA Affairs' final report in 1993 concluded that about 100 U.S. POW/MIA's that were expected to be returned by Vietnam were never returned and that at least some of them may still be alive and held captive in Indochina.

It is also possible that American POW/MIA's are still being held in North Korea. A few years ago a 1996 Defense Department internal report was uncovered that concluded that between 10-15 POW/MIA's may still be alive and held against their will in North Korea.
Pentagon officials told The Washington Times last month that Secretary of State Madeleine K. Albright delayed for months contacting senior Russian officials about a purported KGB plan to bring knowledgeable Americans "home alive" to the Soviet Union during the late 1960s for intelligence purposes.

Mrs. Albright also failed to raise the issue directly with Russian Foreign Minister Yevgeny Primakov, who is now prime minister, during several meetings. Mr. Primakov would have had direct knowledge of the secret plan while he was director of Russian intelligence in the early 1990s.

Mr. Weldon said he is investigating the claim and wrote to Mrs. Albright asking for an explanation.

The Russian official was not identified by name, but Mr. Weldon said the official had left the Ukrainian Joint Commission on POWs headed by retired Russian Gen. Dmitri Volkogonov.

The Duma members told Mr. Weldon about the problem in a private meeting.

"His accusation is quite disturbing in light of the administration's initial reluctance to aggressively pursue the matter with the Russian government," according to the Senate resolution.

Mr. Weldon said in his letter to Mrs. Albright, "I urge that you investigate this charge and inform me of your findings.

After the plan was disclosed by The Times in November, White House spokesmen initially said President Clinton would not raise the issue in his meeting with Mr. Primakov set for late November in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

Later, the White House reversed its position and said the president would bring up the issue if it came up. But some administration officials in Moscow failed to resolve the matter.

After Mr. Clinton canceled his trip to Malaysia because of the crisis with Iraq, Mr. Gore raised the issue with Mr. Primakov.

Mr.Clinton said in a letter to a POW activist last month that he is "very concerned" about the Russian plan "given that Americans were never repatriated." If the plan was not carried out, "we have requested documentation that convincingly proves this point," he said.

Mr. Weldon said in his letter to Mrs. Albright that he was encouraged by the administration's initial reluctance to raise the issue, but he remains "deeply disappointed that you deferred pursuit of this matter for so long after it first came to your attention."

"With our closest allies in the U.S. POW-MIA still unaccounted for, we must aggressively pursue all evidence which might help us determine their fate," he said. "The United States has no basis on which to turn its back on information which may lead us to closure on the POW issue. Nor should we fear repercussions for pursuing this issue."

Mr. Weldon said that Mrs. Albright should investigate the Duma official's charge and "reaffirm the strong U.S. commitment to leaving no stone unturned in this effort to determine the fate of all U.S. POWs."

VIETNAM NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS,
301 E. 17TH ST., ARLINGTON, VA 22201

DEAR SENATOR CAMPBELL: I wanted to write and thank you and Larry Vigil for your efforts and for cosponsoring your bill. A copy of my letters to them is enclosed for your review and file. In addition, I have sent information regarding your bill to each VietNow chapter in the United States. I am delighted that POV's membership now includes POW-MIA organizations and individual activists. I have encouraged these people to contact their respective U.S. Senators and to urge them to also cosponsor your bill.

"Thank you for caring about our "Live" POWs and taking a positive step to gain their release!"

Sincerely,

RICH TEGUE, Chairman.

[From the Washington Times, Jan. 12, 1999]

STATE DEPARTMENT ACCUSED OF STIFLING POW-MIA PROBE--WELDON SAYS RUSSIAN LAWMAKER TOLD HIM OF U.S. EFFORT

By Bill Gertz

A Russian parliamentarian who worked on prison issues claims the State Department discouraged Moscow from pursuing the fate of missing Americans, according to a senior member of Congress.

Rep. Curt Weldon, who says the Russian plan is "an outrage," wrote to Mrs. Albright that he was "deeply upset" by the claim of the Duma member who told him about the State Department comments during meetings in Moscow last month.

"During a conversation, the official told me 'I can tell you, we were told by your government, your State Department, not to pursue these issues,' " Mr. Weldon, Pennsylvania Republican, said in an interview.

The statement bolsters private criticism by some Pentagon officials that the State Department opposes efforts to press the Russian government to investigate cases of missing Americans.

Mr. Weldon said he has written his two senators, Boxer and Feinstein, with a request that they join your effort and cosponsor your bill. A copy of my letters to them is enclosed for your review and file. In addition, I have sent information regarding your bill to each VietNow chapter in the United States. I am delighted that POV's membership now includes POW-MIA organizations and individual activists. I have encouraged these people to contact their respective U.S. Senators and to urge them to also cosponsor your bill.

"Thank you for caring about our "Live" POWs and taking a positive step to gain their release!"

Sincerely,

RICH TEGUE, Chairman.
By Mr. MCCAiN:

S. 485. A bill to provide for the disposition of unoccupied and substandard multifamily housing projects owned by the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.

Mr. McCaIN. Mr. President, today I introduce the Urban Homestead act, a bill designed to reform the way in which the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) disposes of unoccupied and substandard housing stock.

In summary, the Urban Homestead Act would require HUD, every six months, to publish in the National Register a complete listing of all single-, multi-, and mixed-residential housing stock that has been in the Department's inventory for at least six months. Further, HUD is required to publish a complete listing of all substandard housing stock in the same manner. Locally based community development corporations would then be allowed to petition HUD for possession of these properties. HUD would be required to transfer the properties to the CDC free of cost.

There are few more obnoxious examples of government inefficiency and ineffectiveness than that of HUD's inability to address the housing needs of low-income families. HUD is notorious for its bloated bureaucracy and malfeasance in administering our nation's public housing assistance programs. Nowhere is this ineptitude more glaringly obvious than in HUD's disposition of housing stock.

In our nation's inner cities, there are thousands of quiet heroes, struggling against and conquering near-insurmountable obstacles in efforts to revitalize their communities. They are winning the battle one house, one street, one neighborhood at a time.

These organizations are as unique as the communities and neighborhoods in which they work their magic. It is their ability to adapt to the local demands of their neighborhoods which is the key to their success. However, one hallmark which is the same, regardless of what community they are operating in, is the vacant house. These abandoned houses play host to all types of criminal activity. They are crack houses, centers of gang activities, and prostitution. You name it. The abandoned house has become a symbol of urban blight.

I ask my colleagues, who do you think is to blame for this outrage? A slum lord, or an absentee owner, perhaps a greedy land speculator? In some instances, this may be the case. But a principal culprit responsible for kneecapping the efforts of these neighborhood heroes is non-other than the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Many of these homes are the product of FHA foreclosures. They are the product of lax lending habits and pathetic administration of the HUD property disposition program.

Well, Mr. President, it is my intention to put HUD out of the slumlord business. The legislation I introduce today sends a very simple message to HUD. They have six months to get a property on the market and sold. If they fail to get the job done, they're going to have to turn the property over to a CDC and they'll get the job done for them.

By channeling these properties into the hands of CDCs providing home ownership opportunities to low-income families, we will be accomplishing several important objectives. First, we will be placing a valuable resource into the hands of not-for-profits who may otherwise lack the capital resources to purchase the housing stock. Secondly, we get the property back in circulation. In doing so, it ceases to be a center for criminal activity and a symbol of blight. Finally, and most important, these organizations will use this housing stock to do what HUD has failed to do: provide low-income families a piece of the American dream—a chance at home ownership.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the Record.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 485

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Urban Homestead Act of 1999".

SEC. 2. DEFINITIONS.

In this Act:

(1) COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION.—The term "community development corporation" means an organization whose primary purpose is to promote community development by providing housing opportunities to low-income families.

(2) LOW-INCOME FAMILIES.—The term "low-income families" has the same meaning as in section 102(a) of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (42 U.S.C. 5302).

(3) MULTIFAMILY HOUSING PROJECT.—The term "multifamily housing project" has the same meaning as in section 203 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437a(b)).

(4) SECRETARY.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

(5) SEVERE PHYSICAL PROBLEMS.—A dwelling unit shall be considered to have "severe physical problems" if such unit—

(A) lacks hot or cold piped water, a flush toilet, or both a bathtub and a shower in the unit, for the exclusive use of that unit;

(B) on not less than 3 separate occasions, during the preceding winter months was unheated or occupied for a period of more than 6 consecutive hours due to a malfunction of the heating system for the unit;

(C) has no functioning electrical service, exposed wiring, or any combination of the above; there is not a functioning electrical outlet, or has experienced not less than 3 blown fuses or tripped circuit breakers during the preceding 90-day period;

(D) is accessible through a public hallway in which there are no working light fixtures, loose or missing steps or railings, and no elevator; or

(E) has severe maintenance problems, including water leaks involving the roof, window frames, basement plumbing fixtures, holes or open cracks in walls or ceilings, severe paint peeling or broken plaster, and signs of rodent infestation.

(6) SINGLE FAMILY RESIDENCE.—The term "single family residence" means a 1- to 4-family dwelling that is held by the Secretary.

(7) SUBSTANDARD MULTIFAMILY HOUSING PROJECT.—A multifamily housing project is "substandard" if not less than 25 percent of the dwelling units of the project have severe physical problems.

(8) UNIT OF GENERAL LOCAL GOVERNMENT.—The term "unit of general local government" has the same meaning as in section 102(a) of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (42 U.S.C. 5302).

(9) UNOCCUPIED MULTIFAMILY HOUSING PROJECT.—The term "unoccupied multifamily housing project" means a multifamily housing project that the Secretary certifies in writing is not inhabited.

SEC. 3. DISPOSITION OF UNOCCUPIED AND SUBSTANDARD PUBLIC HOUSING.

(a) PUBLICATION IN FEDERAL REGISTER.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subparagraph (2), beginning 6 months after the date of enactment of this Act, and every 6 months thereafter, the Secretary shall publish in the Federal Register a list of each unoccupied multifamily housing project, substandard multifamily housing project, and other residential property that is owned by the Secretary.

(2) EXCEPTION FOR CERTAIN PROJECTS AND PROPERTIES.—

(A) PROJECTS.—A project described in paragraph (1) shall not be included in a list published under paragraph (1) if less than 6 months have elapsed since the later of—

(i) the date on which the project was acquired by the Secretary; or

(ii) the date on which the project was determined to be unoccupied or substandard.

(B) PROPERTIES.—A property described in paragraph (1) shall not be included in a list published under paragraph (1) if less than 6 months have elapsed since the date on which the property was acquired by the Secretary.

(b) TRANSFER OF OWNERSHIP TO COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT CORPORATIONS.—Notwithstanding section 203 of the Housing and Community Development Amendments of 1978 (12 U.S.C. 170z-11) or any other provision of Federal law pertaining to the disposition of property, upon the written request of a community development corporation, the Secretary shall transfer to the community development corporation ownership of any unoccupied multifamily housing project, substandard multifamily housing project, or other residential property owned by the Secretary, if the project or property is—

(1) located in the same unit of general local government as the community development corporation; and

(2) included in the most recent list published by the Secretary under subsection (a).

(c) SATISFACTION OF INDEBTEDNESS.—Prior to any transfer of ownership under subsection (b), the Secretary shall satisfy any indebtedness incurred in connection with the project or residence at issue, either by—

(1) cancellation of the indebtedness; or

(2) reimbursing the community development corporation to which the project or residence is transferred for the amount of the indebtedness.
production, trafficking, and abuse in sources to combat methamphetamine tory operators, provide additional reishment of methamphetamine laboranumbers concerning youth direction cerning youth drug use show that these war on drugs.'' We have gone from an fied before our colleagues in the House

William Bennett agrees, having testi-some silent on this great challenge to the found any administration that's been ades, and I have never, never, never I've been in Congress over two dec-chosen not to make it a priority. A few challenges that they can overcome people realize the true extent of their Prosperity can breed apathy and com-many fears and distastes; and adversity sometimes prosperity can mask probother social problem much worse.''

``I've been in Congress over two decetween material comfort. But live in a time of unparalleled prosper-determined and full engagement against the threat of meth ("defeat meth") act

Mr. DEWINE, Mr. BOND, and Mr.
ENZI):

S. 486. A bill to provide for the punishment of methamphetamine laboratory operators, provide additional resources to combat methamphetamine production, and I trafficking, and abuse in the United States, and for other purposes, to be Committee on the J udici-ary.

Determined and Full Engagement Against
The Threat of Meth ("Defeat Meth") Act

Mr. President, we live in a time of unparalleled prosperity. The stock market continually hits new highs, while unemployment and gasoline plunge to record lows. This prosperity brings many blessings, chief among them an upward social mobility. Comfort, however, sometimes prosperity can mask problems as well as solve them. As Francis Bacon said, "Prosperity is not without many fears and distastes; and adversity is not without comforts and hopes." Prosperity can breed apathy and complacency, weakening a society's ability to respond to the challenges facing it. And as for adversity, it is only when people realize the true extent of their challenges that they can overcome them.

One of the greatest challenges we face is drugs, especially the recent rise in the production and use of methamphetamines. Despite the continued challenge drugs present, we have not heard enough about this problem recently. This administration has chosen not to make it a priority. A few years ago, Democrat Representative Charles Rangel lamented this administration's inaction on the drug war: "I've been in Congress over two decades, and never, never, never found any administration that's been so silent on this great challenge to the American people." Former Drug Czar William Bennett agrees, having testiified before our colleagues in the House of Representatives that: "The Clinton Administration has been AWOL in the war on drugs." We have gone from an era of "just say no" to an era of "I didn't inhale," and the numbers concerning youth drug use show that these contrasting messages make a difference.

While the financial numbers continue to move in the right direction, the numbers concerning youth direction have gone in the wrong direction. In 1998, the percentage of 12th graders who had tried illegal drugs was a shocking 54%—133% of the level in 1992. This figure, which had decreased during the 1980s, increased in the 1990s. In Illinois, the illicit drug use by 12th graders in the last 30 days was more than 177% of the level seven years earlier.

What is particularly alarming is the drastic increase in the use of heavy drugs by 12th graders in 1998, the percentage of 12th graders who used heroin the last 30 days was 178% of the level in 1992. Moreover, the percentage of heroin use was 250% of the 1992 level. The plain facts are that drug use among our nation's youth is far too common and becoming more so. Our nation appears to be sliding backward from the strides we made in the 1980s.

The increases in drug use among our children are alarming. Our children are our greatest asset and they are at great risk from the most devel-er members of our society. And, more than any other group, young peopeople face the highest risk of being lost to drugs forever.

The challenge before us—protecting our children from drugs—becomes ever more difficult in a society plagued by divorce, single-parent households, diffuse communities, and the never-endning beat of "live for today" messages coming from our culture. Every one of these factors makes it harder to impart the right messages to the next generation and offset use of drugs.

Protecting our children from drugs is more difficult than ever. In the last few years, a new enemy has emerged to join the other, more familiar, threats of cocaine, heroin, and marijuana. That new threat is methamphetamine or "meth," a dangerous, addictive substance that is ruining lives and weakening communities across this great land. Meth is to the 1990s what cocaine was to the 1980s and heroin was to the 1970s. Meth is growing expontially, in both Missouri and the nation at large. In 1992, DEA agents seized 2 clandestine meth labs in the State of Missouri. By 1994, there were 14 seizures. That was serious enough.
However, in 1997, they seized 421 labs.

Meth endangers our children, endangers us all, and causes users to commit other crimes. In 1998, the percentage of 12th graders who used meth was double the 1992 level. Meth-related emergency department visits were 26 times what they were in that same period. The National Institute of Justice released a report just a couple of months ago that showed meth use among adult arrestees and detainees has risen to alarming levels across the country.

Meth is one of the most serious drug problems in our nation—and, in states like Missouri—it remains the most serious problem. Just ask the McClelland family in Missouri. While the drug meth that took the life of their 13-year-old daughter was bludgeoned to death by a family friend who was high on meth. Her murderer admitted to beating her in the head repeatedly with a claw hammer after she resisted his sexual advances.

This is not an isolated incident. Meth kills. Law enforcement officers in Missouri refer to it as a triple threat. It can kill the user; it can make the user kill and, in many cases, even its production can kill.

Meth labs have been called toxic time bombs because volatile chemicals are mixed in the manufacturing proc-

Hoping to address the difficulties in effective interdic-

Meth production poses a unique chal-

Meth also has some unique attributes which appeal to users. Smoking meth produces a high that lasts 8 to 24 hours.

Cocaine, in contrast, produces a high that lasts for 20 to 30 minutes. Meth appeals not only to those looking for an extended high. It appeals to vanity as well. Meth suppresses appetite and is enticing to young adults trying to loss weight.

While meth is different from other drugs in some ways—more dangerous, more difficult to police—at its core, it is the same as other narcotics in that it imposes costs. According to Bill Bennett, the use of drugs "makes every other social problem much worse."

Meth contributes to a host of societal ills—violence, unemployment, homelessness, family breakup. I have heard tales of neglect and stories of negated children.

With meth labs having been turned into a meth lab. There are enough threats to our children that we do not need meth adding to our burden.
I want to fight the scourge of meth because of the violence it causes. I want to fight meth because of the costs it imposes, on society and on families. But there is another factor that motivates my opposition to meth: I want to fight meth because its use and production is wrong. And too few people are willing to stand up these days and call drugs wrong.

This laissez faire attitude leads to too much permissiveness on the subject of drugs. Permissiveness on drugs imposes terrible moral and psychic costs on America's youth.

In fact, much of our current predicament stems for the permissive attitudes that emerged from the 1960s. The decay of enforcement that began in the 1960s helped to cause the problems of the succeeding decades.

Make no mistake. Enforcement is an extremely effective tool in diminishing drug use. During the period coinciding with the dawn of this country's second great drug crisis, incarceration rates plummeted from 90 per 1,000 arrests in 1960 to only 19 per 1,000 arrests by 1980. Laws are what protects society from anarchy. And when we try to enforce them, and the laws lose their effectiveness, and the bulwark against anarchy withers.

While our society too often tends toward the response of challenges. America has never faced a problem that has proven too great for us to meet or too big for us to tackle. The meth challenge, while daunting, is no exception. If we make a determined and full engagement in our war against meth, we will win. We will defeat meth.

In my four years in the United States Senate, I have fought the growth of meth trafficking. In the last Congress, I introduced the Trafficking Penalties Enhancement Act to provide more severe penalties for manufacturing, trafficking, or importing meth. That legislation, which was signed into law last fall, increases prison terms for meth possession to a 10-year minimum for possession of 50 grams of meth or more, and a 5-year minimum for 5 grams or more. That law also made more meth crimes eligible for the death penalty in situations in which a murder is committed in conjunction with the meth offense. I believe that the full, unvarnished truth of meth, the availability of the death penalty is particularly relevant and appropriate.

In order to protect residents of public housing, I worked with my colleague from Missouri, Senator Bond, to place a "one strike and your out" lifetime ban from public housing premises for individuals who manufacture or produce methamphetamine.

I also worked to set up a regional High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area (HIDTA) that covers Missouri. More recently, I organized a bipartisan effort by the Missouri congressional delegation that led to increased funding for anti-meth initiatives, including resources for law enforcement and lab cleanup. These steps are all important.

When I talked with representatives of Missouri law enforcement earlier this week, they underscored that these programs played a major role in the fight against meth. But winning the battle against meth once and for all will take continued hard work and effort.

Mr. President, today I rise to take the next step in our fight against meth, the Determined and Full Engagement Against the Threat of Meth Act, or the "DeFEAT Meth Act" for short.

My anti-methamphetamine legislation will have five main components. First, the bill directs the U.S. Sentencing Commission to adjust its guidelines to increase penalties for meth crimes. In the last Congress we were able to raise the mandatory minimum sentences for meth trafficking and related offenses.

This provision complements last year's legislation by increasing penalties for meth crimes that do not come under the mandatory minimums, and adding a special sentencing enhancement for meth crimes that endanger human life. This provision completes the process of imposing appropriate and severe penalties on those who wish to tear apart the very fabric of our society by distributing meth.

Second, my legislation will provide law enforcement officers with more resources for combating meth. Specifically, it is time to authorize more funding for the Drug Enforcement Administration's meth initiative. This funding is essential. In order to stop the spread of meth, the DEA needs to hire more agents, and provide additional training for state and local law enforcement officers. These agents will participate in the DEA's comprehensive plan for targeting and investigating meth laboratories, building and distributing meth, and reducing meth abuse. The DEA also needs to provide additional support for local law enforcement. When law enforcement busts a meth lab, they are taking over the equivalent of a toxic waste dump. The serious and unique problems created by meth demand a serious and unique response.

Third, we need to educate our children about the dangers of meth. While DEA interdiction is vital, we also need to educate parents, teachers, and children—those who may not yet be familiar with the dangers of meth—about the size of the threat. We should authorize new funding for programs to educate parents and teachers of the dangers of methamphetamine. Missouri law enforcement officers estimate that as many as 10% of high school students know the recipe for meth. We must make sure that 100% of them know that meth is a recipe for disaster.

Fourth, we need to recognize that meth can be made all too easily, in home grown laboratories, with readily available chemicals. To counteract this problem, we must ensure that the list of banned precursor chemicals used to make meth is kept up to date. It seems that when a precursor chemical is added to the list, meth cooks figure out how to manufacture meth with a new chemical. We must remain vigilant in the battle against meth.

After consulting with people on the front line—in the crime labs in Missouri—we have proposed adding two more precursor chemicals: red phosphorus and sodium chromate.

Finally, the bill amends the federal drug paraphernalia statute to cover meth. The current law covers paraphernalia used to ingest a number of specific drugs including marijuana and cocaine. It does not cover meth. There is no basis for this differential treatment, and the bill adds meth to the statute.

This comprehensive plan is an essential step in our war against meth. While no plan will not stop the spread of meth overnight, we must continue the long process of stopping this onslaught. Defeating meth will be a struggle that takes place in schools, in communities, in churches, and in families. We must teach the next generation the danger of drugs and give them alternatives to the easy short term answers that drugs provide.

Meth presents us with a formidable challenge. We have overcome other challenges in the past and we can conquer this one as well. In fact, the history of America is one of meeting challenges and surpassing people's highest expectations.

The serious and unique problems clean-up problems created by meth demand a serious and unique response.

Third, meth presents us with a formidable challenge. We have overcome other challenges in the past and we can conquer this one as well. In fact, the history of America is one of meeting challenges and surpassing people's highest expectations.

The serious and unique problems clean-up problems created by meth demand a serious and unique response.

Third, we need to educate our children about the dangers of meth. While DEA interdiction is vital, we also need to educate parents, teachers, and children—who may not yet be familiar with the dangers of meth—about the size of the threat. We should authorize new funding for programs to educate parents and teachers of the dangers of methamphetamine. Missouri law enforcement officers estimate that as many as 10% of high school students know the recipe for meth. We must make sure that 100% of them know that meth is a recipe for disaster.

Fourth, we need to recognize that meth can be made all too easily, in home grown laboratories, with readily available chemicals. To counteract this problem, we must ensure that the list of banned precursor chemicals used to make meth is kept up to date. It seems that when a precursor chemical is added to the list, meth cooks figure out how to manufacture meth with a new chemical. We must remain vigilant in the battle against meth.

After consulting with people on the front line—in the crime labs in Missouri—we have proposed adding two more precursor chemicals: red phosphorus and sodium chromate.

Finally, the bill amends the federal drug paraphernalia statute to cover meth. The current law covers paraphernalia used to ingest a number of specific drugs including marijuana and cocaine. It does not cover meth. There is no basis for this differential treatment, and the bill adds meth to the statute.

This comprehensive plan is an essential step in our war against meth. While no plan will not stop the spread of meth overnight, we must continue the long process of stopping this onslaught. Defeating meth will be a struggle that takes place in schools, in communities, in churches, and in families. We must teach the next generation the danger of drugs and give them alternatives to the easy short term answers that drugs provide.

Meth presents us with a formidable challenge. We have overcome other challenges in the past and we can conquer this one as well. In fact, the history of America is one of meeting challenges and surpassing people's highest expectations.

The serious and unique problems clean-up problems created by meth demand a serious and unique response.

Third, we need to educate our children about the dangers of meth. While DEA interdiction is vital, we also need to educate parents, teachers, and children—who may not yet be familiar with the dangers of meth—about the size of the threat. We should authorize new funding for programs to educate parents and teachers of the dangers of methamphetamine. Missouri law enforcement officers estimate that as many as 10% of high school students know the recipe for meth. We must make sure that 100% of them know that meth is a recipe for disaster.

Fourth, we need to recognize that meth can be made all too easily, in home grown laboratories, with readily available chemicals. To counteract this problem, we must ensure that the list of banned precursor chemicals used to make meth is kept up to date. It seems that when a precursor chemical is added to the list, meth cooks figure out how to manufacture meth with a new chemical. We must remain vigilant in the battle against meth.

After consulting with people on the front line—in the crime labs in Missouri—we have proposed adding two more precursor chemicals: red phosphorus and sodium chromate.

Finally, the bill amends the federal drug paraphernalia statute to cover meth. The current law covers paraphernalia used to ingest a number of specific drugs including marijuana and cocaine. It does not cover meth. There is no basis for this differential treatment, and the bill adds meth to the statute.

This comprehensive plan is an essential step in our war against meth. While no plan will not stop the spread of meth overnight, we must continue the long process of stopping this onslaught. Defeating meth will be a struggle that takes place in schools, in communities, in churches, and in families. We must teach the next generation the danger of drugs and give them alternatives to the easy short term answers that drugs provide.

Meth presents us with a formidable challenge. We have overcome other challenges in the past and we can conquer this one as well. In fact, the history of America is one of meeting challenges and surpassing people's highest expectations.

The serious and unique problems clean-up problems created by meth demand a serious and unique response.

Third, we need to educate our children about the dangers of meth. While DEA interdiction is vital, we also need to educate parents, teachers, and children—who may not yet be familiar with the dangers of meth—about the size of the threat. We should authorize new funding for programs to educate parents and teachers of the dangers of methamphetamine. Missouri law enforcement officers estimate that as many as 10% of high school students know the recipe for meth. We must make sure that 100% of them know that meth is a recipe for disaster.

Fourth, we need to recognize that meth can be made all too easily, in home grown laboratories, with readily available chemicals. To counteract this problem, we must ensure that the list of banned precursor chemicals used to make meth is kept up to date. It seems that when a precursor chemical is added to the list, meth cooks figure out how to manufacture meth with a new chemical. We must remain vigilant in the battle against meth.

After consulting with people on the front line—in the crime labs in Missouri—we have proposed adding two more precursor chemicals: red phosphorus and sodium chromate.

Finally, the bill amends the federal drug paraphernalia statute to cover meth. The current law covers paraphernalia used to ingest a number of specific drugs including marijuana and cocaine. It does not cover meth. There is no basis for this differential treatment, and the bill adds meth to the statute.

This comprehensive plan is an essential step in our war against meth. While no plan will not stop the spread of meth overnight, we must continue the long process of stopping this onslaught. Defeating meth will be a struggle that takes place in schools, in communities, in churches, and in families. We must teach the next generation the danger of drugs and give them alternatives to the easy short term answers that drugs provide.

Meth presents us with a formidable challenge. We have overcome other challenges in the past and we can conquer this one as well. In fact, the history of America is one of meeting challenges and surpassing people's highest expectations.

The serious and unique problems clean-up problems created by meth demand a serious and unique response.
COMMISSION.—The United States Sentencing Commission is authorized to be appropriated to carry out its functions.

SEC. 3. INCREASED RESOURCES FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT.

(a) AUTHORIZATION OF DEA FUNDS TO COMBAT METHAMPHETAMINES.—

(i) PURPOSE.—From amounts made available to carry out this subsection, the Administrator of the Drug Enforcement Administration shall implement a comprehensive approach to combat the methamphetamine production, trafficking, and abuse created by paragraph (ii) would be less than level 27, to not less than level 27;

(ii) investigating and assisting in the prosecution of methamphetamine production, trafficking, and abuse to combat the trafficking of methamphetamine in areas designated by the Director of National Drug Control Policy as high intensity drug trafficking areas, which approach shall include—

(A) training local law enforcement agents in the destruction of clandestine methamphetamine laboratories, and the prosecution of any offense relating to the manufacture, attempt to manufacture, or conspiracy to manufacture methamphetamine in violation of the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. 801 et seq.), the Controlled Substances Import and Export Act (21 U.S.C. 951 et seq.); and.

(B) investigatory techniques developed in the investigation of clandestine methamphetamine laboratories, and the prosecution of any offense relating to the manufacture, attempt to manufacture, or conspiracy to manufacture methamphetamine in violation of the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. 801 et seq.), the Controlled Substances Import and Export Act (21 U.S.C. 951 et seq.); and.

(c) allocating agents to States with the highest rates of clandestine laboratory closures during the most recent 5 fiscal years.

(2) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subsection—

(A) $30,000,000 for fiscal year 2000; and

(b) such sums as may be necessary for each of fiscal years 2001 through 2004.

(b) HIGH INTENSITY DRUG TRAFFICKING AREAS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—From amounts made available to carry out this subsection, the Director of National Drug Control Policy shall combat the trafficking of methamphetamine in areas designated by the Director of National Drug Control Policy as high intensity drug trafficking areas, including the hiring of new laboratory technicians in rural communities.

(2) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subsection—

(A) $25,000,000 for fiscal year 2000; and

(B) such sums as may be necessary for each of fiscal years 2001 through 2004.

(c) EXPANDING METHAMPHETAMINE ABUSE PREVENTION EFFORTS.—

(1) PREVENTION PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—From amounts made available to carry out this subsection, the Director of National Drug Control Policy shall—

(i) carry out community-based prevention programs that are focused on those populations that are most at-risk for methamphetamine abuse and addiction;

(ii) assist local government entities to conduct appropriate methamphetamine prevention activities;

(iii) train and educate State and local law enforcement officials on the signs of methamphetamine abuse and addiction and the options for treatment and prevention;

(iv) carry out planning, administration, and educational activities related to the prevention of methamphetamine abuse and addiction;

(v) monitor and evaluate methamphetamine prevention activities, and report and disseminate resulting information to the public; and

(vi) carry out targeted pilot programs with evaluation components to encourage innovation and experimentation with new methodologies.

(B) PRIORITY.—In carrying out this paragraph, the Director of National Drug Control Policy shall give priority to assisting rural and urban areas that are experiencing a high rate or rapid increase in methamphetamine abuse and addiction.

(c) ANNUAL REPORTS.—The Director shall annually submit to Congress a report on the results of the analyses and evaluations under clause (i) during the preceding 12-month period.

(2) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subsection—

(A) $25,000,000 for fiscal year 2000; and

(B) such sums as may be necessary for each of fiscal years 2001 through 2004.

SEC. 4. PRECURSOR CHEMICALS.

Section 202(20) of the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. 802(20)) is amended—

(1) by inserting "or immediate precursor," after "chemical"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(K) Sodium dichromate."

SEC. 5. METHAMPHETAMINE PARAPHERNALIA.

Section 422(c)(20) of the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. 842(c)(20)) is amended by inserting "methamphetamine," after "PCP."

By Mr. GRAMS (for himself and Mr. ASHCROFT):

S. 487. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide additional retirement savings opportunities for small employers, including self-employed individuals; to the Committee on Finance.

SMALLER EMPLOYER EGG ACT

By Mr. GRAMS:

S. 488. A bill to provide an automatic tax rebate when the Federal tax burden grows faster than the personal income of working Americans, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Finance.

NATIONAL TAXBATE ACT OF 1999

By Mr. GRAMS:

S. 490. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide that the conducting of certain games of chance shall not be treated as an unrelated trade or business; to the Committee on Finance.

FEDERAL UNRELATED BUSINESS INCOME TAX LEGISLATION

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, at the beginning of this session, I, along with Senator Roth and others, introduced S. 3, the Tax Cuts for All Americans Act, which calls for a 10 percent across-the-board tax cut on the federal income taxes of hard-working Americans, and for other purposes.

If enacted, this will be the largest middle-class tax relief since President Ronald Reagan’s 1981 tax cuts. I believe this legislation is imperative for our economic security and growth in the new millennium. I will address this issue more fully later this week.

But today I also rise to introduce four bills representing some other tax relief priorities on which I hope we can also focus in this Congress. These bills will help reform our tax system and will help to terminate some unfair and unjust tax provisions in the Tax Code, again, with the aim and the goal of allowing working Americans to keep a little bit more of their own money rather than sending it to Washington.

Mr. President, the first bill I am introducing today, the National Tax Rebate Act, requires the Government to refund taxes collected to taxpayers when Federal revenue grows faster than the income of working Americans. The rationale for this legislation is simple: and that is, that the Federal Government’s taxes should not grow faster than working Americans’ income. Our growing tax burden should not reduce the standard of living that we work hard to achieve. This legislation will ensure that it does not.

Eighteen of the last 19 Democrat-controlled Congresses passed tax increases. President Clinton's $2 trillion tax increase in 1993 was the largest tax hike we have had. We had only two Federal personal income tax rates at that time. They were 15 and 28 percent, those under President Ronald Reagan.

To quote President Clinton: "...no campaign has been as a result. Government data show that real median family income is now at a near-historic high and per capita income is at a record $19,241. We should not be here penalizing those who work long and hard to achieve the American dream of higher earnings and better jobs by slapping higher taxes on them.

Unfortunately, a large share of the newly earned income of hard-working Americans has not been spent on family priorities but siphoned off by Washington.

The progressive Federal tax system created by Washington allows Federal income to grow faster by taking a larger bite from any newly earned income increases. That is because it pushes us into one of these higher tax brackets.

According to Scott Hodge, a leading economist at Citizens for a Sound Economy, total personal income since 1993 has grown by an average of 5.2 percent a year, while Federal taxes have grown by 7.9 percent a year—so taxes have grown 52 percent faster than personal income.

In fiscal year 1998 alone, federal taxes grew 70 percent faster than personal income.

Mr. President, this is not justifiable. Uncle Sam's income should by no means grow faster than the income of the people who earn it.

While broad-based tax relief for every American, such as S.3, would certainly correct the unfairness of the tax system, we need a mechanism that ensures Washington's income will never grow faster than the income of taxpayers.

This is all my legislation does. It limits Federal taxes by prohibiting the growth rate of federal revenues collected for any fiscal year from exceeding the average growth rate of personal income of working Americans.

Set a guidepost. Set a marker as to how fast Washington should grow in the money it takes from the people who earn it.

It requires a two-thirds vote of both the House and the Senate to waive this limit. Whenever Washington's tax revenue grows faster than the personal income of working Americans, an automatic national tax rebate will be triggered as a result.

The federal government must refund taxpayers the excessive taxes pro rata based on liability reported on federal income tax annual returns filed in the previous tax year.

The national tax rebate is not a new idea. A number of states, such as Florida and Missouri, have either statutory laws or constitutional amendments requiring state governments to give back tax money if the revenue exceeds these limits.

My own State of Minnesota is currently deciding how best to refund excess tax collection to Minnesota taxpayers.

If it works at the state level, there is no excuse for the federal government not to adopt a similar mechanism.

By passing this simple tax limitation and rebate legislation, taxpayers will be fully protected and better represented in Washington.

Mr. President, this piece of legislation would repeal taxation of our senior citizens' Social Security benefits.

As you know, Mr. President, Social Security benefits were exempt from the Federal income tax since the creation of the program.

They were never taxed by the Federal Government. Retirement benefits shouldn't be.

But as Social Security encountered a financial crisis in early 1980s, Congress began taxing Social Security benefits, and thus causing financial hardship to many seniors.

The amount of taxable benefits was the lesser of one-half of Social Security cash benefits or one-half of the excess of the taxpayer's provisional income over the thresholds of $25,000 per single person and $32,000 for couples.

In 1993, when President Clinton needed more money to fund his new spending programs, he increased the taxable Social Security benefits from 50 to 85 percent for Social Security recipients whose threshold incomes exceed $34,000 for singles and $44,000 for couples.

These two tax increases have seriously injured a significant number of senior citizens. In fact, a quarter of recipients are affected by this provision, creating enormous financial hardship for them as well.

I believe taxation on Social Security benefits is unfair and perhaps wrong because Social Security benefits are earned benefits for many senior citizens. Federal income tax is paid when Social Security contributions are made to the program. Taxing Social Security benefits is clearly double taxation.

In other words, those benefits are paid when the money is put into Social Security, and now the government wants to tax them again as it takes the money out.

In addition, Congress never intended to tax Social Security benefits when it first established the program. In fact, for half a century Social Security benefits were exempt from federal taxes.

Millions of senior citizens who planned for their retirement based on their understanding of the Social Security law were penalized. As the tax rate continues to grow, millions of more and more senior citizens are falling along with their standard of living.

This tax hurts seniors who choose or must work after retirement to maintain their standard of living or to pay for costly health insurance premiums, medical care, prescriptions and many other expenses which increase in retirement years.

It also discourages today's workers to save and invest for the future. It won't help protect Social Security for our children and grandchildren.

I believe this is not acceptable.

Repealing all taxation on Social Security benefits would reverse this trend, and help responsible senior citizens. The federal government has entered into a sacred covenant with the American people to provide retirement benefits once contribution commitments are made.

It is the government's contractual duty to honor that commitment. The government cannot and should not change the covenant without consent of the people whom these changes would affect.

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, this bill deals with a relatively smaller tax matter. This bill calls for exemption of additional charitable gambling activities from the Federal unrelated business income tax (UBIT).

As you know, Mr. President, the fundamental difference between charitable gambling and regular gambling is where and how the money is spent. Most of the income derived from charitable gambling games is spent in communities to fund charitable activities such as the Boy and Girl Scouts, Head Start, and many city and school programs that help local residents and students.

In my State alone of Minnesota, more than 1,500 local charities conduct a variety of games such as bingo and pull tabs, and in doing so contribute some $75 million per year to their local communities.

Beneficiaries include youth recreation and education, as well as organizations serving the sick and disabled, and many other community programs, as well.

My state leads the nation in charitable non-profit gaming, but some 35 other states are involved in similar activities.

In 1978, President Carter signed into law a bill that classified bingo income as related business income.
As a result, this charitable game is not subject to the Federal UBIT. But the law did not include other forms of charitable gambling. Consequently, the income of these charitable gambling games is taxed under the UBIT. The taxes take a big bite out of charitable gambling income and seriously undermine the ability of nonprofit organizations to provide charitable assistance.

Now, while the IRS has not collected UBIT on these activities as they anticipate Congressional action, without my legislation, the IRS could begin collections in the near future. My legislation would remove this uncertainty as charities attempt to go on with their good works.

This legislation is not controversial. It should have bipartisan support. In the last Congress I introduced a similar bill with Senator WELLSTONE which the Senate adopted. I hope we can pass it again in the 106th Congress.

The last bill I am introducing today would provide a tax incentive for small business employers to set up pension plans for their workers.

Working Americans’ retirement security is based on Social Security, private pensions, and personal savings. But even though Social Security is fast approaching a financial crisis, our national savings rate remains among the lowest, and many workers do not have company pension plans to help make up the Retirement Benefits.

Despite recent congressional action to improve private pension plans, the complexity of qualification requirements under current law and the administrative expenses associated with setting up retirement plans, including the SIMPLE plan, remain significant impediments to widespread implementation of employer-based retirement systems, especially for small business. This is particularly true for small employers with less than 100 employees, for whom the resulting benefits do not outweigh the administrative costs.

Consequently, only 42% of individuals employed by small businesses now participate in an employer-sponsored plan, as opposed to 70% of those who work for larger businesses.

To address this problem, I am introducing the Small Employer Nest Egg Act of 1999. This legislation will create a new retirement option for small business owners with 100 or fewer employees.

It would allow the same level of benefits both to employers and employees as larger employers who maintain traditional qualified plans. Upon retirement or separation of service, employees would receive 100% of their pension account value.

To offset the high costs associated with starting a pension plan, my proposal calls for a tax cut equal to 50% of the administrative and retirement education expenses incurred for the first five years of a plan’s operation.

Mr. President, small businesses are the lifeblood of our communities, providing millions of jobs nationwide. Small business owners want to help their employees save for their retirement. Yet, because of the costs, many are unable to do so and, also, because of the rigid Government policies and, again, the administrative costs that go with it.

This legislation, I believe, will help millions of workers begin building their retirement security. I urge the support of my colleagues for the four bills I have offered today.

ADDITIONAL COSPONSORS

S. 11

At the request of Mr. Abraham, the name of the Senator from Delaware (Mr. ROTH) was added as a cosponsor of S. 11, a bill for the relief of Weijingheng.

S. 241

At the request of Mr. Feingold, his name was added as a cosponsor of S. 241, a bill to amend the Federal Meat Inspection Act to provide that a quality grade label issued by the Secretary of Agriculture for beef and lamb may not be used for imported beef or imported lamb.

S. 256

At the request of Mr. Grassley, the name of the Senator from North Dakota (Mr. Dorgan) was added as a cosponsor of S. 256, a bill to amend title XVIII of the Social Security Act to promote the use of universal product numbers on claims forms submitted for reimbursement under the Medicare program.

S. 271

At the request of Mr. Frist, the name of the Senator from Montana (Mr. Baucus) was added as a cosponsor of S. 271, a bill to provide for education flexibility partnerships.

S. 280

At the request of Mr. Frist, the name of the Senator from Montana (Mr. Baucus) was added as a cosponsor of S. 280, a bill to provide for education flexibility partnerships.

S. 285

At the request of Mr. McCain, the name of the Senator from Idaho (Mr. Crapo) was added as a cosponsor of S. 285, a bill to amend title I of the Social Security Act to restore the link between the maximum amount of earnings by blind individuals without demonstrating ability to engage in substantial gainful activity and the exempt amount permitted in determining excess earnings under the earnings test.

S. 314

At the request of Mr. Bond, the name of the Senator from Maine (Ms. Collins), the Senator from Iowa (Mr. Harkin), the Senator from Minnesota (Mr. Wellstone) were added as cosponsors of S. 314, a bill to provide for a loan guarantee program to address the Year 2000 computer problems of small business concerns, and for other purposes.

S. 325

At the request of Mrs. Hutchison, the name of the Senator from Colorado (Mr. Allard) was added as a cosponsor of S. 325, a bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide tax incentives to encourage production of oil and gas within the United States, and for other purposes.

S. 343

At the request of Mr. Bond, the name of the Senator from Colorado (Mr. Allard) was added as a cosponsor of S. 343, a bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to allow a deduction for 100 percent of the health insurance costs of self-employed individuals.

S. 352

At the request of Mr. Thomas, the name of the Senator from New Hampshire (Mr. Gregg) was added as a cosponsor of S. 352, a bill to amend the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 to require that Federal agencies consult with State agencies and county and local governments on environmental impact statements.

S. 393

At the request of Mr. McCain, the name of the Senator from Wisconsin (Mr. Feingold) was added as a cosponsor of S. 393, a bill to provide Internet access to certain Congressional documents, including certain Congressional Research Service publications, Senate floor and gift report filings, and Senate and Joint Committee documents.

S. 429

At the request of Mr. Durbin, the name of the Senator from Oregon (Mr. Wyden) was added as a cosponsor of S. 429, a bill to designate the legal public holiday of "Washington’s Birthday" as "Presidents’ Day" in honor of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, and Franklin Roosevelt and, in recognition of the importance of the institution of the Presidency, the contributions that Presidents have made to the development of our Nation and the principles of freedom and democracy.

S. 445

At the request of Mr. Jeffords, the names of the Senator from Nebraska (Mr. Hagel), the Senator from Montana (Mr. Burns), the Senator from Minnesota (Mr. Grams), the Senator from Maine (Ms. Collins), and the Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. Kerry) were added as cosponsors of S. 445, a bill to amend title XVIII of the Social Security Act to require the Secretary of Veterans Affairs and the Secretary of Health and Human Services to carry out a demonstration project to provide the Department of Veterans Affairs with medicare reimbursement for Medicare health care services provided to certain medicare-eligible veterans.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

At the request of Mr. Brownback, the names of the Senator from Mississippi (Mr. Lott), the Senator from Delaware...
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE
February 25, 1999

S2034

(Mr. BIDEN), the Senator from Connecticut (Mr. DODD), the Senator from Oklahoma (Mr. NICKLES), the Senator from Maine (Ms. COLLINS), and the Senator from South Dakota (Mr. DASCHLE), and the Senator from Texas (Mr. Breaux) submitted the following original resolution, a concurrent resolution expressing congressional opposition to the unilateral declaration of a Palestinian state and urging the President to assert clearly United States opposition to such a unilateral declaration of statehood.

SENATE RESOLUTION 45
At the request of Mr. ThURMONT, his name was added as a cosponsor of Senate Resolution 45, a resolution expressing the sense of the Senate regarding the human rights situation in the People's Republic of China.

At the request of Mr. HUTCHINSON, the names of the Senator from Kentucky (Mr. Bunning), the Senator from Pennsylvania (Mr. SPECTER), the Senator from Nebraska (Mr. HAGEL), the Senator from Maine (Ms. COLLINS), and the Senator from Wyoming (Mr. ENZI) were added as cosponsors of Senate Resolution 45, supra.

SENATE RESOLUTION 50—DESIGNATING GREEK INDEPENDENCE DAY: A NATIONAL DAY OF CELEBRATION OF GREEK AND AMERICAN DEMOCRACY

Mr. SPECTER (for himself, Mr. BIDEN, Mr. ABRAHAM, Mrs. BOXER, Mr. COCHRAN, Mr. BREAUX, Mr. DODD, Mr. DEWINE, Mr. DURBIN, Mr. DOMENICI, Mr. EDWARDS, Mr. FITZGERALD, Mrs. FEINSTEIN, Mr. GRASSLEY, Mr. HOLLINGS, Mr. GREGG, Mr. INOUYE, Mr. HAGEL, Mr. KENNEDY, Mr. LUGAR, Mr. KERRY, Mr. MURKOWSKI, Mr. KERRY, Mr. ROTH, Mr. KOHL, Mr. SESSIONS, Mr. LAUTENBERG, Mr. SHELY, Mr. LEVIN, Mr. SMITH of New Hampshire, Mr. LIEBERMAN, Mr. SMITH of Oregon, Ms. MUKULSKI, Ms. SNOWE, Mr. NICHAM, Ms. STODDEN, Mr. WARNER, Mr. ROBB, Mrs. HUTCHINSON, Mr. ROCKFELLER, Mr. HATCH, Mr. SARBAES, Mr. SCHUMER, and Mr. TORRICELLI) submitted the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

S. RES. 50

Whereas the ancient Greeks developed the concept of democracy, in which the supreme power to govern was invested in the people; Whereas the founding Fathers of the United States of America drew heavily upon the political experience and philosophy of ancient Greece in forming our representative democracy; Whereas the founders of the modern Greek state modeled their government after that of the United States in an effort to best imitate their ancient democracy; Whereas Greece is one of the only 3 nations in the world, beyond the former British Empire, that has been allied with the United States in every major international conflict this century; Whereas the heroism displayed in the historical World War II Battle of Crete epitomized Greece's sacrifice for freedom and democracy as it presented the Axis land war with its first major setback and set off a chain of events which significantly affected the outcome of World War II; Whereas these and other ideals have forged a close bond between our 2 nations and their peoples; Whereas March 25, 1999, marks the 178th anniversary of the beginning of the revolution which freed the Greek people from the Ottoman Empire; Whereas it is proper and desirable to celebrate with the Greek people and to reaffirm the democratic principles from which our 2 great nations were born; Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—
(1) designates March 25, 1999, as "Greek Independence Day: A National Day of Celebration of Greek and American Democracy"; and
(2) requests the President to issue a proclamation calling upon the people of the United States to observe the day with appropriate ceremonies and activities.

Mr. SPECTER. Mr. President, I am pleased to submit today a resolution along with 49 of my colleagues to designate March 25, 1999, as "Greek Independence Day: A Celebration of Greek and American Democracy."

One hundred and seventy-eight years ago, the Greek people began a revolution that would free them from the Ottoman Empire and return Greece to its democratic heritage. It was, of course, the ancient Greeks who developed the concept of democracy in which the supreme power to govern was vested in the people. Our founding Fathers drew heavily upon the political and philosophical experience of ancient Greece in forming our representative democracy. Thomas Jefferson proclaimed that, "to the ancient Greeks we are all indebted for the light which led ourselves out of Gothic darkness."

It is fitting, then, that we should recognize the anniversary of the beginning of their efforts to return to that democratic tradition.

The democratic form of government is only one of the most obvious of the many benefits we have gained from the Greek people. The ancient Greeks contributed a great deal to the modern world, particularly to the United States of America, in the areas of art, philosophy, science, and law. Today, Greek-Americans continue to enrich our culture and make valuable contributions to American society, business, and government. It is my hope that strong support for this resolution in the Senate will serve as a clear goodwill gesture to the people of Greece, with whom we have enjoyed such a close bond throughout history. Similar resolutions have been signed into law each of the past several years, with overwhelming support in both the House of Representatives and the Senate. Accordingly, I urge my Senate colleagues to join me in supporting this important resolution.

Mr. ABRAHAM. Mr. President, I rise today to cosponsor the Senate resolution designating March 25, 1999 as "Greek Independence Day." March 25 marks the 178th anniversary of the beginning of the revolution which freed the Greek people from the Ottoman Empire.

America is composed of a wide variety of cultures, joined together by their belief in fundamental principles of human dignity. Through their arts, literature, culture, food and dance, Greek-Americans have contributed to the diversity and strength of the United States. Immigration from Greece first started in 1767 and then began in earnest in the late 19th century, when 1,309 immigrants arrived at Ellis Island between 1890 and 1900. A steady stream continued during the ensuing decades, especially during the Greek Civil War from 1944 to 1949. I am proud to represent the state of Michigan which boasts a large Greek-American community.

Greece, the birthplace of philosophy and of democracy, has given the world Plato and Aristotle, Homer and Sophocles. Greeks have brought their rich tradition to America, making our nation stronger. I join the Greek-American community in Michigan and throughout our nation in celebrating the anniversary of this modern revolution which brought freedom to the Greek people.

I take great pleasure in cosponsoring a resolution designating March 25, 1999 as "Greek Independence Day: A National Day of Celebration of Greek and American Democracy."

SENATE RESOLUTION 52—PROVIDING FOR MEMBERS ON THE PART OF THE SENATE OF THE JOINT COMMITTEE ON PRINTING AND THE JOINT COMMITTEE ON THE LIBRARY

Mr. MCCONNELL, from the Committee on Rules and Administration, reported the following original resolution:

S. RES. 51

Resolved, That the following-named Members be, and they are hereby, elected members of the following joint committees of Congress:

Joint Committee on Printing: Mitch McConnell, Thad Cochran, Don Nickles, Dianne Feinstein, and Daniel K. Inouye.

Joint Committee on the Library: Ted Stevens, Mitch McConnell, Thad Cochran, Christopher J. Dodd, and Daniel Patrick Moynihan.

SENATE RESOLUTION 52—TO AUTHORIZE THE PRINTING OF A COLLECTION OF THE RULES OF THE COMMITTEES OF THE SENATE

Mr. MCCONNELL, from the Committee on Rules and Administration, reported the following original resolution:

S. RES. 52

Resolved, That a collection of the rules of the committees of the Senate, together with related materials, be printed as a Senate document, and that there be printed 60 additional copies of such document for the use of the Committee on Rules and Administration.
SENATE RESOLUTION 53—TO DESIGNATE “NATIONAL SCHOOL VIOLENCE VICTIMS’ MEMORIAL DAY”

By Mr. Hutchison (for himself, Mr. Bunning, Mr. Specter, Mrs. Feinstein, Mr. McConnell, Mr. Sessions, Mr. Ashcroft, Mr. DeWine, Mr. Jeffords, Mr. Helms, Mr. Douglas, Mr. Mukowski, Mr. Abraham, Mr. Coverdell, Mr. Grams, Mr. Thurmond, Mr. Enzi, Mr. Wellstone, Mr. Hatch, Mr. Bownback, Mr. Reid, Mr. Robb, Mr. Biden, Mrs. Hutchison, Mr. Conrad, Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Bingaman, Mr. Baucus, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Edwards, Mr. Levin, Mr. Sanders, Mr. Burns, Mr. Cleland, Mr. Reed, Mr. Daschle, Mr. Campbell, Mr. Lautenberg, Mrs. Boxer, Mr. Kohl, Ms. Landrieu, Mr. Kerry, Ms. Collins, Ms. Mikulski, Mrs. Lincoln, and Mr. Lieberman) submitted the resolution; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

S. Res. 53

Whereas approximately 10 percent of all public schools reported at least 1 serious violent crime to a law enforcement agency over the course of the 1996-97 school year;

Whereas in 1996, approximately 225,000 students and 76 teachers and 20 non-students were victims of nonfatal violent crime in schools in the United States;

Whereas during 1992 through 1994, 76 students and 20 non-students were victims of murders or suicides that were committed in schools in the United States;

Whereas because of escalating school violence, the children of the United States are increasingly afraid that they will be attacked or harmed at school;

Whereas while we must be prepared to decrease incidences of school violence through an annual remembrance and prevention education;

Whereas the Senate encourages school administrators in the United States to develop school violence awareness activities and programs for implementation on March 24, 1999.

Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) designates March 24, 1999, as “National School Violence Victims’ Memorial Day”; and

(2) requests the President to issue a proclamation designating March 24, 1999, as “National School Violence Victims’ Memorial Day” and call on the people of the United States to observe the day with appropriate ceremonies and activities.

Mr. Hutchison. Mr. President, I rise today to submit a resolution which is very much related to the educational crisis in our country. This resolution will designate March 24 as National School Violence Victims’ Memorial Day and encourage the citizens of our Nation to honor and remember the victims of school violence on that day.

The resolution also will encourage our educators to conduct programs on that day designed to prevent any further occurrences of school violence.

I am deeply saddened that the introduction of such a resolution is even necessary.

No words can ever adequately express the incredible shock, horror, and grief that struck me when I heard the news of the tragedy at Columbine High School.

And no words will ever be able to completely convey the cruel and senseless loss that the families of the victims of this tragedy, Natalie Brooks, Paige Ann Herring, Stephanie Johnson, Brittheny Varner, and Shannon Wright experienced on March 24, 1998.

And no words will ever be able to sufficiently honor Shannon Wright’s memory and her heroic sacrifice. I know that the actions she took to protect her students at the cost of her own life will forever be remembered. Her actions were motivated out of love for her students and touched the lives of thousands of Arkansans, one of whom, Ms. Jennifer Morris, a student in Harrisburg, AR, was so inspired by Ms. Wright’s courageous act that she wrote and asked me to introduce legislation which would create a National Shannon Wright Day.

Tragically, other communities, other families, and other friends know the pain of such senseless losses as well. Paduchak, KY, Pearl, MS, Richmond, VA, Springfield, OR, Edinboro, PA, are just a few of the communities that will forever remember the tragic results of school violence.

According to the Departments of Education and Justice, over the course of the 1996-1997 school year 10 percent of all public schools reported at least one serious violent crime to a law enforcement agency; and in 1996, 225,000 of our students between the ages of 12 and 18 were victims of nonfatal violent crime in our schools. Between 1992 and 1994, 76 students and 29 non-students lost their lives to murders or suicides committed in American schools.

Finally, Mr. President, the percentage of our students who are afraid that they will be attacked or harmed at school is rising daily.

I am not here today to discuss the causes and solutions to school violence. Rather, I am simply here to honor and remember the victims of school violence. Many of my colleagues who co-sponsored this resolution have differing approaches on what we do to solve the problem. Many have different ideas on what the causes and solutions to school violence are. However, we all agree that we must end this violence in our classrooms and restore the peace that our children once had in their hearts and are entitled to enjoy once again.

Accordingly, I now introduce this resolution to create National School Violence Victims’ Memorial Day to ensure that we remember and that we honor those who have been victims of school violence and do all that we can to remove violence from our schools and restore peace in the hearts of our students.

Mr. Baucus. Mr. President, I arise today to co-sponsor a Senate Resolution to designate March 24, 1999 as National School Violence Victims Memorial Day.

I just last week I spoke to the Montana State Legislature and introduced another legislation act which is part of which is making sure our kids are safe in America’s schools. While I was I see Steve Bullock. Steve works for our Attorney General, and every time I see Steve I remember his step-brother Jeremy.

You see, Jeremy was 11. He and his twin brother Joshua left for school together as they always did. The day was April 12, 1994, Jeremy didn’t come home from school. He was shot and killed on the playground, leaving a family and a community forever changed.

By recognizing March 24th as National School Violence Victims Memorial Day we will be honoring the memory of Jeremy Bullock and countless other children, families and communities by saying clearly, with one voice that as Americans will meet the challenge of eradicating violence from our schools.

It is, in many ways a challenge to decide what kind of a people we are. A challenge to stand for peace and safety against violence and hatred. This is about remembering the victims of school violence and it is about what we are going to do in their names.

The easy reaction to this kind of senseless violence is to cast blame and to turn our communities into one big episode of the Jerry Springer show. But we have as a nation, more often than not, chosen what has historically been the more difficult road. The road to peace through dialogue, understanding and compassion. That is what National School Violence Victims Memorial Day is all about.

Seventy-five years ago, Mahatma Ghandi put it this way. He said “I discovered that pursuit of truth did not permit violence being inflicted on one’s opponent but that he must be weaned from error by patience.”

We must use this day to teach and to learn. We must talk about the 225,000 victims of violent crime. We must act to make schools safer for parents, teachers and students and we must learn from our mistakes.

And we are always learning. Learning the lessons of the past, committed to using that knowledge to build a better world. So let us enact this resolution, resolved to working together as one community of people to make America a better place. A place where patience wins out over bloodshed and where truth, as Ghandi said, does not permit violence.

And let us always remember Jeremy Bullock. For though he is gone, his memory will help fuel our work. When I think of Jeremy I am always reminded of a poem called For The Fallen that goes this way:

They shall not grow old, as we that are left to grow old;
Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn.

At the going down of the sun and in the morning we will remember them.
SENATE RESOLUTION 54—CONDEMNING THE ESCALATING VIOLENCE, THE GREAT VIOLATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND ATTACKS AGAINST CIVILIANS, AND THE ATTEMPT TO OVERTHROW A DEMOCRATICALLY ELECTED GOVERNMENT IN SIERRA LEONE

By Mr. FEINGOLD (for himself, Mr. Frist, Mr. Biden, Mr. Jeffords, Mr. Wellstone, and Mrs. Feinstein):

S. Res. 54. A resolution condemning the escalating, the gross violation of human rights and attacks against civilians, and the attempt to overthrow a democratically elected government in Sierra Leone; to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Whereas the Armed Forces Revolutionary Council (AFRC) military junta and the rebel fighters of the Revolutionary United Front (RUF) in Sierra Leone mounted a campaign of “Operation No Living Thing” in 1997 and have recently renewed the terror;

Whereas the atrocities and violence against the people of Sierra Leone, which include forced amputations, raping of women and children, pillaging farms, and the killing of the civilian population, has continued for more than a decade;

Whereas the AFRC and RUF continue to kidnap children, forcibly train them, and send them as combatants in the conflict in Sierra Leone;

Whereas the Nigerian-led intervention force, Economic Community Monitoring Group (ECOMOG), which has deployed nearly 15,000 troops to Sierra Leone, has made a considerable contribution towards ending the cycle of violence there, despite the fact that some of its members have engaged in violations of humanitarian law;

Whereas the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) estimates that in 1998 more than 100,000 refugees fled Sierra Leone to Guinea, bringing the total number of Sierra Leonean refugees in Guinea to 350,000, in addition to some 90,000 Sierra Leonean refugees who sought safe haven in Liberia;

Whereas the refugee camps in Guinea and Liberia are at risk of being used as safe havens for thousands of staging areas for attacks into Sierra Leone;

Whereas the humanitarian crisis in Sierra Leone has reached epic proportions with people dying from lack of food and medicine; and

Whereas the escalating violence in Sierra Leone threatens stability in West Africa and has the immediate potential of spreading to neighboring Guinea: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) urges the President and the Secretary of State to give high priority to aiding in the resolution of the conflict in Sierra Leone and to bringing stability to West Africa, including aid to the internally displaced persons and refugees and to the economies of West Africa;

(2) condemns—

(A) the violent atrocities committed by the Armed Forces Revolutionary Council (AFRC) and the Revolutionary United Front (RUF) throughout the conflict, and in particular its attacks against civilians and its use of children as combatants; and

(B) those external actors, including Liberia, Burkina Faso, and Libya, for contributing to and facilitating the cycle of violations in Sierra Leone by providing financial, political, and other types of assistance to the AFRC or the RUF, often in direct violation of the United Nations embargo;

(3) supports continued efforts by the regional peacekeeping force, ECOMOG, to re-store peace and security and to defend the democratically elected government of Sierra Leone;

(4) recognizes that basic improvements in ECOMOG’s performance with respect to human rights and the management of its own personnel would markedly improve its effectiveness in achieving its goals and improving the donor and the international support needed to meet those goals;

(5) supports appropriate United States logistical, medical and political support for ECOMOG and notes the contribution that such support has made thus far toward achieving the goals of peace and stability in Sierra Leone;

(6) calls for an immediate cessation of hostilities and respect for human rights, and urges all members of the armed conflict in Sierra Leone to urgently bring about a long-term solution to such conflict; and

(7) expresses support for the people of Sierra Leone in their quest for a democratic, prosperous, and reconciled society.

Mr. FEINGOLD. Mr. President, I rise today to offer S. Res. 54 with regard to the escalating violence, the gross violations of human rights, and urging active participation and leadership in bringing stability to West Africa, including the disarmament and demobilization of former combatants, and the adherence to international humanitarian law. Unfortunately, a rebel assault on the capital city of Freetown by the Armed Forces Revolutionary Council (AFRC) led to the evacuation of the U.N. Mission in Sierra Leone (UNOMSIL) in January. The Vietnamese peacekeeping force, UNOMSIL, was tasked with monitoring the military and security situation in the country, including the disarmament and demobilization of former combatants, and the adherence to international humanitarian law. Unfortunately, a rebel assault on the capital city of Freetown by the AFRC/RUF in January forced the evacuation of UNOMSIL to neighboring Guinea.

Mr. President, it is difficult for most of us to comprehend the extent and the brutality of the human crisis in Sierra Leone. The United Nations has estimated that over 450,000 Sierra Leoneans have fled the fighting, either as refugees to neighboring Guinea and Liberia or to camps for the internally displaced. Conditions for both internally displaced persons and refugees are often severe due to a lack of access to camps and poor security conditions.

Mr. President, words cannot adequately describe the horrors that have been waged by the AFRC/RUF forces, which have included some of the most heinous acts ever committed in wartime. Human Rights Watch estimates that over 2,500 children and civilians have been raped, deliberately mutilated (often by amputation), or killed outright by the AFRC/RUF. In February 1998, these rebel groups launched two loosely organized campaigns of terror, “Operation No Living Thing” and “Operation Pay Yourself,” designed to loot, destroy, or kill anything in the path of the combatants. During these campaigns, rebel fighters were encouraged to actively target women and commit sexual violence, including rape. Children, too, have not been spared from the gross violations of human rights committed by both sides to the conflict. The AFRC/RUF has abducted as many as 2,500 children—probably in the thousands—for use as laborers, fighters, and in the case of girls, sexual prisoners. They have abducted many children, some as young as eight or ten years old, and turned them into soldiers of the rebels’ most fearsome fighters.

In December, the Chairman of the UN Security Council’s Sierra Leone Sanctions Committee stated that it was hard to find words strong enough to describe the atrocities committed by the rebels. He cited instances where AFRC/RUF forces have cut off body parts with large machetes or burned civilians alive. He estimated that more than 4,000 people had been summarily executed or mutilated, just since April. Given these numbers, even as a significant portion of the country, these numbers are likely just the tip of the iceberg.

The scope of the catastrophe is overwhelming, yet it is even more heart rending when viewed through the lens of the stories of individual experiences. International human rights groups have interviewed hundreds of survivors of the violence, each with a tale of suffering that is incomprehensible to many Americans. One woman described how she was captured, cut with a machete by a child rebel, had her hand amputated, and was left to bury her own hand. A reporter for the “Herald Guardian” reported seeing rebels cut off the foot of a boy and then execute him, shouting, “He is too tall.” Another woman recounted being captured, beaten, raped, and having the backs of her ankles sliced just below the Achilles tendon to ensure that she could not run away. Hundreds of Sierra Leoneans, who have swelled the refugee ranks in border camps in Guinea and Liberia, have similar stories.

Mr. President, although the bulk of the conflict must go to the rebel forces of the AFRC and the RUF, the Kabbah government is itself no paragon of liberty and the rule of law. In particular, the Kamajor civilian defense forces affiliated with the Kabbah regime have been cited for indiscriminate killings and torture. Many of the more than 2,000 prisoners in Sierra Leone have been held under the 1998 Public Emergency Regulations, which provide for indefinite detention without trial. Section 13 of the same Public Emergency Regulations even allows for “disturbing reports” by the media to be punishable offenses. Further exacerbating human rights abuses, government prisons are often overcrowded, unsanitary, and lacking in health care and the regular provision of food.

In other examples, the High Court of Sierra Leone sentenced a woman to death twenty-seven civilians convicted of treason, including five journalists and a seventy-five-year-old woman. International organizations questioned the appropriateness of the treason charges for the journalists, and criticized the lack of a right to appeals in sentencing by the military court. In October, the government of Sierra Leone executed by firing squad, without benefit of an appeal process, twenty-four soldiers. Unfortunately even elements of the otherwise admirable ECOMOG forces must also shoulder some of the responsibility for the devastation that wrecks Sierra Leone. According to human rights and national humanitarian groups, shelling by ECOMOG during its assault on Freetown, Sierra Leone’s capital, in February 1998, took a high toll on civilians. Its forces have also obstructed humanitarian assistance and some members may seek to prolong their mission in order to exploit the conflict for economic gain.

Mr. President, it is unconscionable to allow the situation to continue without exerting every effort to help resolve the conflict that generates such atrocities. While no other country or international organization can impose a settlement on Sierra Leone, it is incumbent upon humanitarian groups to address the wide-rangings of needs of a displaced and brutalized population. But until the violence can be stemmed, we must not walk away until there is the prospect of a government that adheres to the rule of law and supports the universally recognized standards of human rights.

Mr. President, it does not please me to have to introduce this kind of resolution here in the Senate. But I believe it is important for the Senate to be on record in strong condemnation of the atrocities currently raging in Sierra Leone. I hope we can all move quickly to pass this resolution through the Committee on Foreign Relations and through the full Senate.

Mr. BIDEN. Mr. President, I am pleased to co-sponsor the resolution being sponsored by Senator Frist and Senator FEINGOLD condemning the escalating violence and violation of human rights in the nation of Sierra Leone. The past six weeks we have seen the end to peace and security in that country as a result of the renewed offensive by the armed forces of the Armed Forces Revolutionary Council military junta, known as the AFRC and a rebel group known as the Revolutionary United Front, or RUF in a effort to once again overthrow the democratically elected government of Sierra Leone.

The Economic Community of West African States stepped in almost a year ago, sending its Military Observer Group, called ECOMOG, to restore President Tejan Kabbah to power. Since that time, ECOMOG has been on the defensive and ECOMOG has been the sole line standing between notoriously inhumane AFRC/RUF forces and the fall of the democratically elected government.

Unfortunately on January 6 of this year, the AFRC/RUF once again attacked Freetown and continued waging an inhumane and unbelievably brutal war on the civilian population in the countryside. There are disturbing reports both in the media and from our embassy in Sierra Leone that the AFRC/RUF has rounded up civilians including men, women and children for the purposes of torture. According to human rights reports both in the media and from our embassy in Sierra Leone, the AFRC/RUF soldiers use machetes to amputate one or both hands, feet, ears, arms, and fingers of their civilian victims.

These reports indicate that victims are sometimes instructed to take a severed limb, body part or note to the government or ECOMOG stating that the government should replace the amputated body part, and that ECOMOG should leave Sierra Leone. These atrocities are carried out regardless of age or gender, and do not appear to be ethically or religiously motivated.

Women and girls are kidnapped and forced into sexual slavery. Some kidnap victims are used as labor in rebel camps and young children are compelled to join the AFRC/RUF as soldiers against their will. Witnesses say that children as young as seven years have been forcibly recruited by the rebels.

The result of the escalated violence has been the exodus of over 450,000 people into neighboring Guinea and Liberia. Nearly twice as many are wandering around within the borders of Sierra Leone, their homes and villages destroyed, vulnerable to further attacks from insurgents, without access to food or medicine.

With the help of external actors who are acting in direct violation of a United Nations arms embargo, the AFRC/RUF has been able to effectively sustain its assaults against civilians and ECOMOG troops. However, the AFRC/RUF has demonstrated no organized political platform or agenda. It enjoys no popular support among the people of Sierra Leone. In short, this group can accurately be described as a band of well armed, determined thugs.

I applaud the administration for providing logistical support to the United Nations, as I wrote to the Secretary of State this week, and as this resolution indicates, the United States can and should do more to support ECOMOG financially.

While ECOMOG is far from perfect, it is the only thing standing between the civilian population the fall of the duly elected government to indiscriminate, brutally violent AFRC/RUF forces.

It is for all of the above reasons that I join my colleagues Senators Frist and Feingold in sponsoring this resolution.

In addition to condemning the heinous actions of the AFRC/RUF rebels and the involvement of external actors in the pursuit of the rebels, this resolution urges the Administration to continue to give a high priority to solving this conflict.

Thousands of innocent men, women and children have been wounded, maimed and killed in the past months alone. We must do all we can do to bring about a swift and long-term political solution to this war. This is the only way to put a decisive end to the suffering of the population of Sierra Leone.

NOTICE OF HEARING
COMMITTEE ON ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES

Mr. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, I would like to announce for the information of the Senate and the public that a full committee hearing has been scheduled before the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources.

The hearing will take place on Thursday, March 4, 1999 at 10:00 a.m. in room SD–366 of the Dirksen Senate Office Building in Washington, DC.

The purpose of this hearing is to consider the nomination of Robert W. Gee to be an Assistant Secretary of the Department of Energy for Fossil Energy.

For further information, please contact David Dye of the Committee staff at (202) 224–0624.

AUTHORITY FOR COMMITTEES TO MEET

COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Armed Services be authorized to meet on Thursday, February 25, 1999, at 9:30 a.m. in open session, to receive testimony on U.S. policy regarding Kosovo.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Armed Services be authorized to meet at 9:30 a.m. on Thursday, February 25, 1999, at 9:30 a.m. in open session, to receive testimony on U.S. policy regarding Kosovo.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

COMMITTEE ON ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources be granted permission to meet during the session of the Senate on Thursday, February 25, for purposes of conducting a full committee hearing which is scheduled to begin at 9:00 a.m. The purpose of this oversight hearing is to consider the President’s proposed budget for FY2000 for the Department of Energy and the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

COMMITTEE ON ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources be granted permission to meet during the session of the Senate on Thursday, February 25, for purposes of conducting a full committee hearing which is scheduled to begin at 2:00 p.m. The purpose of this oversight hearing is to consider the President’s proposed budget for FY2000 for the U.S. Forest Service.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

COMMITTEE ON HEALTH, EDUCATION, LABOR, AND PENSIONS

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on HEalth, EduCation, Labor, and Pensions, Subcommittee on Public Health, be authorized to meet for a hearing on "Antimicrobial Resistance: Solutions to a Growing Public Health Threat during the session of the Senate on Thursday, February 25, 1999, at 9:30 a.m.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on the Judiciary, be authorized to hold an executive business meeting during the session of the Senate on Thursday, February 25, 1999, at 10:00 a.m. in room 226 of the Senate Dirksen Office Building.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

COMMITTEE ON RULES AND ADMINISTRATION

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Rules and Administration be authorized to meet during the session of the Senate on Thursday, February 25, 1999 at 9:30 a.m. to conduct its organizational meeting for the 106th Congress.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

SUBCOMMITTEE ON ANTITRUST, BUSINESS RIGHTS, AND COMPETITION

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Subcommittee on Antitrust, Business Rights, and Competition, of the Senate Judiciary Committee, be authorized to hold a hearing during the session of the Senate on Thursday, February 25, 1999 at 2:00 p.m. in room 226 of the Senate Dirksen Office Building, on: "The Third Anniversary of the Telecom Act: A Competition and Antitrust Review."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

SUBCOMMITTEE ON EAST ASIAN AND PACIFIC AFFAIRS

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Subcommittee on East Asia and Pacific Affairs of the Committee on Foreign Relations be authorized to meet during the session of the Senate on Thursday, February 25, 1999, at 10:00 a.m. to hold a hearing.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

MEAT LABELING ACT OF 1999

Mr. FEINGOLD. Mr. President, I rise today to speak on the subject of the Meat Labeling Act of 1999. This measure, introduced earlier this year by South Dakota Senator, Tim Johnson, would require the country-of-origin labeling of beef, lamb, and pork prior to their sale at a retail level in the United States.

This bill will protect the consumers—who right now have no way of telling what country their meat is coming from—and come to the aid of an industry which has had to face severe competition from foreign countries in recent years.

Mr. President, last year, the U.S. agriculture industry faced devastating losses. Bad weather, pest infestation, decreased demand stemming from the Asian financial crisis, and increased imports, especially from Canada, all contributed to the record low prices in nearly every sector.

In Wisconsin, the hog industry took a hit as cash prices dropped an average of 55%. Incomes were slashed, farms were sold for pennies on the dollar, and over 600 producers left the business.

This year, the Asian crisis continues, as well as the financial problems in Russia, in Brazil and other countries. The truth is that the market for U.S. agriculture products is bleak and it does not appear to be changing anytime soon.

America’s meat producers face not only tough global competition from abroad, but a big disadvantage here at home, because their products aren’t marked “made in the USA.”

That means consumers can’t distinguish a U.S.-grown pork chop from a Mexican one. This raises health and safety concerns, since meat-handling standards in other countries may not be as stringent as our own, and it means that consumers can’t choose to put their buying power behind American farmers in the check-out aisle.

Right now the only guidance consumers do have is misleading at best—since many of us would assume that a steak that carries a USDA inspection and grade label is U.S. produced. But in my estimation, that couldn’t be farther from the truth. That steak could be from Mexico, Canada, or Nicaragua.

And for a variety of reasons, I think Wisconsinites want to know if the pork chop they are buying is from Marquette or Mexico.

Recent scares over food imported from foreign countries make this issue more important than ever to consumers. Cases of disease and numerous problems with the quality of some foreign products make it all the more vital that we provide our consumers with as much information as possible so that they may make informed decisions about the food they purchase for themselves and their families.

Mr. President, this measure is supported by the Administration and prominent agriculture groups like the National Farmers Union, the American Farm Bureau, and the National Cattlemen’s Association to name a few. Most importantly, this measure is supported by American consumers. In January, a survey conducted by Wirthlin Worldwide showed an overwhelming percentage of Americans, 78%, want to know more about the origin of the meat they purchase.

I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this important measure. I urge you to give your constituents the right to know more about the food they buy and to allow them the opportunity to make choices that support their nation’s agriculture industry.

NATIONAL TRIO DAY

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, I rise to bring my colleagues’ attention to the celebration of National TRIO Day on February 27th. The 95th Congress designated the last Saturday in February as the day to celebrate these very important and successful federal programs designed to raise the educational aspirations of students by providing services that help them overcome social, cultural, and other barriers to success in higher education.

Currently, two thousand colleges, universities, and community agencies sponsor TRIO programs. More than 780,000 lower-income middle school, high school, and adult students benefit from the services of such TRIO programs as Talent Search, Upward Bound, and Student Support Services. Not only do students personally benefit from these programs but also educational aspirations of students by providing services that help them overcome social, cultural, and other barriers to success in higher education.

My home state of Maine has one of the country’s lowest rates of participation in postsecondary education. The fifteen TRIO programs operating in Maine are working successfully to increase this number. Each year, these programs have helped students move closer to their educational aspirations for higher education and providing them the counseling, confidence, and academic support they need to pursue higher education.

Father James Nadeau, a native of my home state, Aroostook County, is a graduate of the Bowdoin College Upward Bound program. His story tells why the TRIO programs are so important. His parents did not have the opportunity to pursue an education beyond the eighth grade. Father Jim’s ministry has spanned from Mother Teresa in Calcutta to school children in Portland, Maine and continues to affect lives all over the world. He is an excellent role model for the youth of Maine and remains a terrific example of the success stories of successful, educated individuals who were introduced by a TRIO program to the endless possibilities that become attainable through education.

I encourage all of my colleagues to visit TRIO programs in their states as I have done in Maine. You will see for yourselves why these programs are vital to our efforts to promote equal educational opportunity for all our citizens.

MONTANA IS PROUD OF THE BOZEMAN HIGH SCHOOL BAND

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, I come to the floor today to recognize an outstanding group of Montana students. Recently, the Bozeman High School Marching Band and Color Guard earned the opportunity to perform in the Rose Bowl Parade in Pasadena, CA. By the sounds of the crowd of onlookers, it is safe to say that they stole the show. It was a beautiful day for a parade, and the Bozeman High School Marching Band and Color Guard took advantage of the opportunity to make a name for themselves. Over the past few years, Montana students have truly become competitive in academics, athletics, and the arts. The Bozeman High School band is just one of the many examples where Montana students are gaining national recognition. There are few appearances by Montana High Schools at events of this caliber, but rest assured, there are many more to come.

Under the direction of Russ and Loralee Newbury, these students worked extremely hard to prepare for the upcoming event. They represented their school, city, county, and state with great enthusiasm and talent. I know that I speak for the people of Bozeman and the State of Montana when I say that I am very proud of these students. I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate every one of these students on a job well done.

Mr. President, I ask that articles from the Bozeman Daily Chronicle of December 29, 1998, and January 2, 1999, be printed in the RECORD.

The articles follow:

[From the Bozeman Daily Chronicle, Dec. 29, 1998]

BOZEMAN HIGH BAND TAKES ITS PLACE IN ROSE PARADE HISTORY

BY ANN ARBOR

PASSADENA, Calif.—A standing ovation that could not be drowned out by the rumble of the Rose Bowl Parade, cool breezes, and the cheering from the television cameras greeted the Bozeman High Band and Color Guard as it paraded along Colorado Boulevard.

"It was a great experience," said Larry Fehr, a senior Drum Major. "I’m glad I was able to do it."

The Bozeman band was one of the 22 marching bands featured in the parade. It was the only band composed entirely of students from Montana.

"We had an incredible experience," said Larry Fehr. "I think we did a great job."

The Bozeman band was the only band from Montana to participate in the parade. It was invited to participate by the Los Angeles Rose Bowl Committee.

"We want to thank the people of Montana for their support," said Larry Fehr. "We couldn’t have done it without you."

The Bozeman band arrived in California on February 25, 1999, and practiced throughout the week to prepare for the parade.

"We had a great time," said Larry Fehr. "We were able to see some of the attractions in California."

The Bozeman band was one of the few bands that were able to see the Rose Bowl Game. "We were able to see the game on television," said Larry Fehr. "It was a great experience."
the Bozeman High School Marching Band took its place in parade history. The band, 298 teen-agers strong, marched the five-and-a-half-mile route Friday through the heart of this Southern California city.

"I'm feeling awesome," said junior Brandon Warwood during a brief break eight blocks west of the 110th Tournament of Roses Parade. "I could do this all day."

An estimated one million spectators, seated in stadium bleachers, lawn chairs and on the curb, lined the streets for the New Year's Day spectacle. They took to the roof tops of local businesses and apartment buildings. They blanketed the streets with step-ladders and wooden boards, topping the seats with blankets for padding.

Many shouted praise and cheers for the Bozeman band, whose members wore their stately, wool uniforms black, red and silver.

"Go Bozeman."

"Looking good."

"Happy New year."

"Take the cold weather home with you."

Parade-goers left a trail of confetti, silly strings and noisemakers along the parade route. Bozeman's appearance here was a first in the school's history and is certainly a rarity among Montana high schools. Many young musicians were still trying to comprehend their arrival here during the hour before the parade start at 9 a.m.

"It doesn't seem real," said freshman Janie Booth. "It is so much bigger than any parade we've ever been in."

For Jeff Knacht, a 1998 Bozeman High graduate, Friday's event was a chance of a lifetime.

"We actually get to do it—a little nowhere town in Montana," said an amazed Knacht, one of 17 recent graduates asked to rejoin the band for this parade.

A full moon shone over the group as it made its way from a hotel in Buena Park, Calif., to Pasadena in the early morning. The band arrived in Pasadena at 8 a.m. MST, sleepy and groggy after the more than an hour drive. On one of seven buses carrying band members to the parade the sounds of the Beach Boys and Aretha Franklin blared from the charter's sound system, courtesy of a Los Angeles radio station. The music promised some musicians to dance in the aisle and sing along.

But the students' attention soon turned to more important tasks like adjusting chin straps and warming up their hands.

Band director Russ Newbury called a last minute check for all instruments.

A sense of nervousness and excitement loomed as band members settled in their positions and waited to take spot No. 71—behind the Ararat Shrine Mounted Guard and its 17 horses and in front of an impressive float with a giant pair of Tyrannosaurus Rex.

Augel Medina, of California, knows the importance of a good seat. His grandson spent an hour drive.

The band arrived in Pasadena at 8 a.m. MST, much pride and a desperate thirst for water.

MOTHER GERALDINE WRIGHT'S BIRTHDAY

Mr. ABRAHAM. Mr. President, it gives me great pleasure to rise today to honor an outstanding individual, Mother Geraldine Marvel Miller Wright, on the occasion of her birthday on Sunday, February 28, 1999.

Mother Geraldine Wright, the wife of one of the nation's most prominent Bishops, the Bishop Earl J. Wright, Sr., the mother of three children, Earl J., Jr., Michael and Marvel; has learned how to labor in the ministry standing beside her husband and helping him in the work. This task is not new to Mother Wright—her lineage is made up of a host of leaders. Her father was a Bishop, her brother is a Bishop, and she has a brother-in-law who is also a Bishop.

Mother Geraldine Wright is an extraordinary example of what one can achieve through tenacity and a giving love for God, family, church, and others. Mother Wright has made an impact in the lives of many hurting people. She unoriously stands by her husband's side, she visits and ministers to the sick, encourages others, helps others, gives to others, prays for others, but most of all, she is a trainer and builder of others. Training individuals to love God and work for the Lord seems to be one very important aspect of her calling.

Along with being the First Lady and Director of the Women's Department of Greater Miller Memorial Church of God in Christ and the Davis Memorial Church of God in Christ, Mother Wright is also a District Missionary in the New Creation District of the Secundary Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction of Southwest Michigan. She is the Founder of the Geraldine Marvel Miller Wright Institute for Women in the Ministry, which is one of Mother Wright's most outstanding accomplishments. This Institute serves as a catalyst of change in the lives of many young women who have dedicated their lives to the service and calling of the Lord Jesus Christ. Proverbs 31:28-30 sums up Mother Geraldine Wright best.

It reads as follows:

Her children arise up, and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praises her. Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all: Favor is deceitful, and beauty is vain: but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised. Give her of the fruit of her hands; and let her own words praise her in the gates,

So let it be known on this day, Sunday, February 28, 1999, that Mother Geraldine Marvel Miller Wright has been a leader of women and has impacted this nation and world, has left an indelible mark on the history of mankind.
TRIBUTE TO FRED B. KFOURY, JR.

Mr. SMITH of New Hampshire. Mr. President, I rise today to honor Fred Kfouri, Jr., as the 1998 Manchester Chamber of Commerce “Citizen of the Year.” I commend his outstanding achievement.

Fred is the President of Center Paper Products Company in Manchester, New Hampshire. His company employs forty-five people and is a fixture in the Manchester business community. He is described by his business associates as a very generous, thoughtful businessman. His company, that was passed on to him from his father, continues to grow and thrive.

Fred has always tempered his business success with a great devotion to volunteerism. His own philosophy, “Service to one’s community is an integral part of his company’s culture,” has been readily apparent in his actions through the years. Fred has constantly maintained a record of service to his community that is highly admirable. He has been active in organizations from his college alumni association to the annual Christmas party for students and families at Notre Dame College.

As a former small business owner, I understand the demands of running a business. I commend Fred for his diligent work in his business as well as the devotion he has shown to the community. Once again, I wish to congratulate Fred on being named 1998 “Citizen of the Year” by the Manchester Chamber of Commerce. It is an honor to represent him in the United States Senate.

NATIONAL ENGINEERS WEEK

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, I rise today to pay tribute to those men and women who have made the world live in a better place through their advances in engineering. February 21-27 is the 49th annual observance of National Engineers Week to increase public awareness and appreciation of the engineering profession and of technology. Thousands of engineers, engineering students, teachers, and leaders in government and business participate each year.

Engineering is so intertwined in our everyday activity that it can often be taken for granted. The National Society of Professional Engineers and a consortium of more than 100 engineering, scientific and education societies and major corporations are working to increase the public’s awareness during this week.

This year’s theme, “Engineers: Turning Ideas into Reality,” will focus on participants interesting with children from elementary to high school through demonstrations and question and answer sessions. Students from fourth, fifth, and sixth graders are invited to design future cities and build three-dimensional scale models with the help of their teachers and volunteer-engineer mentors. The National Engineering Design Challenge will team up high school students to design, build, and demonstrate a working model of a new product. And the Discover E program will reach more than five million elementary, junior, and senior high school students to Them discover how engineering is applied in math, science and technology. Over 40,000 engineers nationwide will work with these students through hands-on activities in the classroom.

In Minnesota, “Discover E! in Minneapolis” was held on February 23 with the help of engineering students from the University of Minnesota and engineers from local businesses visiting 5th and 6th graders. The students were able to explore mechanical, biomedical, and environmental engineering through demonstrations and discussions about work and studies.

This week honors the birthday of one of the nation’s first engineers, a survivor of the Titanic, Fred Kfouri, Jr. It also recognizes the countless other engineers who have influenced nearly every aspect of our lives with their dedicated work and numerous technological advances. Their contributions to science include discoveries for example, that have resulted in the development of ultra-lite materials such as Kevlar, and environmentally beneficial technologies such as a wastewater treatment system that effectively recycles 100% of all wastewater.

Schools have focused their teachings on the body of scientific knowledge, often times neglecting the process of discovery that engineers use to help create the new advances for our modern world. With the support of groups such as NASA and Minnesota-based 3M, programs during Engineers Week will integrate this process of discovery and the use of technology into mathematics, science, language arts, and other topics. I am a strong supporter of science, and technology. Over 40,000 engineers nationwide will work with these students through hands-on activities in the classroom.

The implementation of the Act by the Federal Communications Commission has sailed way off course. The uncertainty created by the FCC’s failure to implement universal service is perpetuating the absence of local competition, especially in rural areas. As a consequence, local residential competition will remain at the current inadequate levels until the FCC addresses universal service. Congress intended that carriers providing service to 25% or more of the population in rural and high-cost areas would receive support for the “provision, maintenance, and upgrading of facilities and services” which would otherwise be absent in these areas. Accordingly, the Commission made the new implicit subsidies explicit and sufficient in order to fulfill Congress’ mandate.

Congress is still looking for more competition and more choice in all communications services, especially for rural residents. Let’s allow the marketplace to work, which will give consumers in rural areas some real choices at affordable rates.

Mr. President, this year Congress will consider reauthorization of the FCC and the Telecommunications Act of 1996. When the FCC was created, the Commission was attached to implement the Act’s goals. As we contemplate legislation to change the FCC, its actions over the next several months will determine the outcome of our deliberations. I hope that the FCC will complete the universal service proceeding by July 1, and act in a manner consistent with the Act. I will not accept a universal service proceeding that puts upward pressure on rural rates. I hold the FCC accountable. If it fails to comply with the Act.

Mr. President, three years ago this month, Congress and the President hailed the enactment of the Telecommunications Act of 1996. This piece of legislation was intended to increase competition, especially in rural areas. The uncertainty created by the FCC’s failure to implement universal service is perpetuating the absence of local competition, especially in rural areas. Accordingly, the Commission made the new implicit subsidies explicit and sufficient in order to fulfill Congress’ mandate.

The implementation of the Act by the Federal Communications Commission has sailed way off course. The uncertainty created by the FCC’s failure to implement universal service is perpetuating the absence of local competition, especially in rural areas. As a consequence, local residential competition will remain at the current inadequate levels until the FCC addresses universal service. Congress intended that carriers providing service to 25% or more of the population in rural and high-cost areas would receive support for the “provision, maintenance, and upgrading of facilities and services” which would otherwise be absent in these areas. Accordingly, the Commission made the new implicit subsidies explicit and sufficient in order to fulfill Congress’ mandate.

Congress is still looking for more competition and more choice in all communications services, especially for rural residents. Let’s allow the marketplace to work, which will give consumers in rural areas some real choices at affordable rates.

Mr. President, this year Congress will consider reauthorization of the FCC and the Telecommunications Act of 1996. When the FCC was created, the Commission was attached to implement the Act’s goals. As we contemplate legislation to change the FCC, its actions over the next several months will determine the outcome of our deliberations. I hope that the FCC will complete the universal service proceeding by July 1, and act in a manner consistent with the Act. I will not accept a universal service proceeding that puts upward pressure on rural rates. I hold the FCC accountable. If it fails to comply with the Act.

Mr. President, three years ago this month, Congress and the President hailed the enactment of the Telecommunications Act of 1996. This piece of legislation was intended to increase competition, especially in rural areas. The uncertainty created by the FCC’s failure to implement universal service is perpetuating the absence of local competition, especially in rural areas. Accordingly, the Commission made the new implicit subsidies explicit and sufficient in order to fulfill Congress’ mandate.

The implementation of the Act by the Federal Communications Commission has sailed way off course. Congress provided the universal service program as a means of ensuring that residents of rural and high-cost areas receive the same high quality services and the same affordable rates as their urban counterparts. Yet universal service, one of the goals set forth in the Act, is not adequately addressed in the Act. The program bringing advanced services to schools and libraries. However, the Commission continues to ignore the most significant aspect of universal service reform, the preservation and advancement of universal service’ and high-cost areas. The Act commands that the Commission make the support mechanisms explicit and predictable. The Commission’s failure to do so threatens the affordability of rural residents.

The uncertainty created by the FCC’s failure to implement universal service is perpetuating the absence of local competition, especially in rural areas. As a consequence, local residential competition will remain at the current inadequate levels until the FCC addresses universal service. Congress intended that carriers providing service to residents of rural and high-cost areas would receive support for the "provision, maintenance, and upgrading of facilities and services" which would otherwise be absent in these areas. Accordingly, the Commission must make the now implicit subsidies explicit and sufficient in order to fulfill Congress’ mandate.

Congress is still looking for more competition and more choice in all communications services, especially for rural residents. Let's allow the marketplace to work, which will give consumers in rural areas some real choices at affordable rates.

Mr. President, this year Congress will consider reauthorization of the FCC. I am extremely disappointed with the Commission’s track record on implementation of the Act. As we contemplate legislation to change the FCC, its actions over the next several months will determine the outcome of our deliberations. I hope that the FCC will complete the universal service proceeding by June 1, and act in a manner consistent with the Act. I will not accept a universal service proceeding that puts upward pressure on rural rates, and I will hold the FCC accountable if it fails to comply with the Act.

TRIBUTE TO BRIGADIER GENERAL RANDALL M. "MARK" SCHMIDT

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, it is my distinct privilege to rise today to thank Brigadier General Randall M. "Mark" Schmidt for his service as commander of the 366th Wing, Mountain Home Air Force Base, Idaho. General Schmidt has been at Mountain Home since August of 1997, and will soon move on to reassignment as commander, Joint Task Force, Southwest Asia.

I have always been proud of the 366th Wing. The Wing's motto is, "Above and anywhere, anytime." Mountain Home is unique because it is the Air Force's only air intervention composite wing. The 366th is ready to deploy on a moment's notice with its own integrated command, control, communications, and intelligence capabilities. The Wing is a composite force already built and trained, ready to fight and intervene anytime, anywhere. However, it is clear that the reason this concept has been a success is because of the dedicated patriots who have had the privilege to serve at Mountain Home. Commander Schmidt has exemplified that tradition.

By all accounts, General Schmidt's service has been nothing short of extraordinary. He has made the goal of "one community" a reality at Mountain Home. He has integrated every airman, regardless of rank, to be part of the 366th team. He has put his words into action. The biggest testament to his true leadership is the men and women who are part of the 366th. Indeed, Mountain Home and Idaho have been fortunate to have him.

However, Commander Schmidt's talents do not come as a surprise to me. As a Westerner, a former rancher, and a history buff, I have always been captivated by the pioneer spirit. It is that spirit which brought many of our ancestors to America, and some of them across America to settle in the West. It is that same spirit that isn't afraid of challenges, hardships or hard work, which can be measured and found throughout this great nation, and is certainly home in the men and women of the United States Air Force.

In addition, thank you, let me also take this opportunity to congratulate Commander Schmidt. Secretary Cohen has selected him to be one of a small, select group of Brigadier Generals nominated for promotion to Major General. As he prepares to leave for the desert to serve on joint command, I hope and believe that he will always consider himself an Idahoan.

General Schmidt, thank you, congratulations, and godspeed.

NINTH CIRCUIT DIVISION

Mr. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, today I rise to clarify a production and printing error that occurred with regard to the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD. On January 19, 1999, I, with my distinguished colleague from the State of Washington, Senator Gorton, introduced legislation to reorganize the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit. Unfortunately, the legislation we introduced, S. 186, was an incorrect draft. I reintroduced the correct draft as S. 253. However, through a glitch in the publishing of the Record, the incorrect language of the bill was again reproduced in the Record.

The language appearing in today's record is the correct language of S. 253. This language is identical to the recently-adopted provision of the Omnibus Appropriations Act. The congressionally-mandated Commission was structured to study the alignment of the U.S. Court of Appeals. Mr. President, I ask that the "star print" of S. 253, the Ninth Circuit Reorganization Act of 1999, be printed in the Record.

The material follows:

S. 253

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Federal Ninth Circuit Reorganization Act of 1999".

SEC. 2. Division of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.

(a) Regional Divisions.--Effective 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit shall be organized into 3 regional divisions designated as the Middle Division, the Southern Division, and a nonregional division designated as the Circuit Division.

(b) Review of Decisions.--

(1) NONAPPLICATION OF SECTION 1294.--Section 1294 of title 28, United States Code, shall not apply to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals.

(2) REVIEW.--Except as provided in sections 1292(c), 1292(d), and 1295 of title 28, United States Code, once the court is organized into divisions, appeals from reviewable decisions of the district and territorial courts located within the Ninth Circuit shall be taken to the regional divisions of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals as follows:

(A) Appeals from the districts of Alaska, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Eastern Washington, and Western Washington shall be taken to the Northern Division.

(B) Appeals from the districts of Eastern California, Northern California, Guam, Hawaii, Nevada, and the Northern Mariana Islands shall be taken to the Middle Division.

(C) Appeals from the districts of Arizona, Central California, and Southern California shall be taken to the Southern Division.

(D) Appeals from the Tax Court, petitions to enforce the orders of administrative agencies, and other proceedings within the court of appeals' jurisdiction that do not involve review of district court actions shall be filed in the court of appeals and assigned to the division that would have jurisdiction over the matter if the division were a separate court of appeals.

(3) ASSIGNMENT OF JUDGES.--Each regional division shall include from 7 to 11 judges of the court of appeals in active status. A majority of the judges assigned to each division shall reside within the judicial districts that are within the division's jurisdiction as specified in paragraph (2), except that judges may be assigned to serve for specified, staggered terms of 3 years or more, in a division in which they do not reside. Such judges shall be assigned at random, by means determined by the court, in such a manner as necessary to enable the divisions to function effectively. Judges in senior status may be assigned to regional divisions in accordance with the policies adopted by the court of appeals. Any judge assigned to 1 division may be assigned by the chief judge of the circuit for...
sec. 2. Assignment of judges; panels; en banc proceedings; divisions; quorum.

(a) Circuit judges shall sit on the court of appeals and hear cases in such order and at such times as the court directs.

(b) Unless otherwise provided by rule of court, a court of appeals or any regional division thereof shall consider and decide cases and controversies through panels of 3 judges, at least 2 of whom shall be judges of the court. A court may provide by rule for the rotation of judges from panel to panel to ensure that all of the judges sit on a representative cross section of the cases and, notwithstanding the first sentence of this subsection, may determine by rule the number of judges, not less than 2, who constitute a panel.

(c) Notwithstanding subsection (b), a majority of the judges of a court of appeals not organized into divisions as provided in subsection (d) who are in regular active service may order a hearing or rehearing before the court en banc. A court en banc shall consist of all circuit judges in regular active service, except that any senior circuit judge of the court may retire from the court, upon 1 year notice, without approval of the court. A court en banc shall maintain a docket of cases requiring the court to act en banc.

(d) (1) A court of appeals hearing more than 15 cases in a term may order a hearing or rehearing en banc. A court of appeals shall have such a hearing or rehearing only if a majority of judges of the court determined relevant or that the Conference such information as the Center determines relevant or that the Conference recommends such information to Congress concerning the effectiveness and efficiency of the division. The Judicial Conference shall submit recommendations to Congress concerning the divisional structure and whether the structure should be continued with or without modifications.

(2) Technical and conforming amendments.—The Technical and Conforming Amendment Act of 1995, Public Law 104-41, shall apply to the regional divisions of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals as though the division were the court of appeals, except the chief judge of the division shall not sit as the presiding judge of a division.

"(2) When organizing itself into divisions, a court of appeals shall establish a circuit division, consisting of the chief judge and additional judges, in each regional division, selected in accordance with rules adopted by the court, so as to make an odd number of judges but not more than 13.

"(3) Except for the chief judge of the circuit, who shall have jurisdiction to review, and to affirm, reverse, or modify any final decision rendered in any of the court's divisions that conflicts on an issue of law with a decision in another division of the court. The exercise of such jurisdiction shall be within the discretion of the circuit division and may be invoked by application to the court by a party to the case, setting forth succinctly the issue of law as to which there is a conflict in the decisions of the divisions, and the court may review the decision of a panel within a division only if an en banc review of the decision has been sought and denied by the division. The circuit division shall have jurisdiction to review, and to affirm, reverse, or modify any final decision rendered in any of the divisions, including the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals and its panels in such order and at times and places and hear the cases assigned to it. The circuit division shall consider and decide cases through procedures adopted by the court of appeals for the expedient and inexpensive conduct of the circuit division's business. The circuit division shall determine the composition for each panel of judges.

"(4) The circuit division shall have jurisdiction to review, and to affirm, reverse, or modify any final decision rendered in any of the divisions, including the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals and its panels in such order and at times and places and hear the cases assigned to it. The circuit division shall consider and decide cases through procedures adopted by the court of appeals for the expedient and inexpensive conduct of the circuit division's business. The circuit division shall determine the composition for each panel of judges.

"(f) A majority of the number of judges authorized to constitute a court, a division, or a panel thereof shall constitute a quorum.

"(g) Technical and conforming amendments.—The Technical and Conforming Amendment Act of 1995, Public Law 104-41, shall apply to the regional divisions of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals as though the division were the court of appeals, except the chief judge of the division shall not sit as the presiding judge of a division.

"(2) When organizing itself into divisions, a court of appeals shall establish a circuit division, consisting of the chief judge and additional judges, in each regional division, selected in accordance with rules adopted by the court, so as to make an odd number of judges but not more than 13.

"(3) Except for the chief judge of the circuit, who shall have jurisdiction to review, and to affirm, reverse, or modify any final decision rendered in any of the court's divisions that conflicts on an issue of law with a decision in another division of the court. The exercise of such jurisdiction shall be within the discretion of the circuit division and may be invoked by application to the court by a party to the case, setting forth succinctly the issue of law as to which there is a conflict in the decisions of the divisions, and the court may review the decision of a panel within a division only if an en banc review of the decision has been sought and denied by the division. The circuit division shall have jurisdiction to review, and to affirm, reverse, or modify any final decision rendered in any of the divisions, including the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals and its panels in such order and at times and places and hear the cases assigned to it. The circuit division shall consider and decide cases through procedures adopted by the court of appeals for the expedient and inexpensive conduct of the circuit division's business. The circuit division shall determine the composition for each panel of judges.

"(4) The circuit division shall have jurisdiction to review, and to affirm, reverse, or modify any final decision rendered in any of the divisions, including the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals and its panels in such order and at times and places and hear the cases assigned to it. The circuit division shall consider and decide cases through procedures adopted by the court of appeals for the expedient and inexpensive conduct of the circuit division's business. The circuit division shall determine the composition for each panel of judges.

"(f) A majority of the number of judges authorized to constitute a court, a division, or a panel thereof shall constitute a quorum.

"(g) Technical and conforming amendments.—The Technical and Conforming Amendment Act of 1995, Public Law 104-41, shall apply to the regional divisions of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals as though the division were the court of appeals, except the chief judge of the division shall not sit as the presiding judge of a division.
§ 145. District Court Appellate Panels

(a) The judicial council of each circuit may establish a district court appellate panel service composed of district judges of the circuit, in either active or senior status, who are assigned by the judicial council to hear and determine appeals in accordance with subsection (b). Judges assigned to the district court appellate panel service may continue to perform other judicial duties.

(b) An appeal heard under this section shall be heard by a panel composed of 2 district judges assigned to the district court appellate panel service and 1 circuit judge as designated by the chief judge of the circuit.

(c) In establishing a district court appellate panel service, the judicial council shall specify the categories or types of cases over which district court appellate panels shall have appellate jurisdiction. In such cases specified by the judicial council as appropriate to district court appellate panels, and notwithstanding sections 1291 and 1292, the appellate panel shall have exclusive jurisdiction over district court decisions and may exercise all of the authority otherwise vested in the court of appeals under sections 1291, 1292, 1651, and 2106. A district court appellate panel may transfer a case with or without retaining its jurisdiction to the court of appeals if the panel determines that disposition of the case involves a question of law that should be determined by the court of appeals. Appeals shall not be heard by the circuit judge or the district judge serving on an appellate panel.

(d) Final decisions of district court appellate panels may be reviewed by the court of appeals, in its discretion. A party seeking review shall file a petition for leave to appeal in the court of appeals, which shall allow an appeal in its discretion.

(e) Proceedings of district court appellate panels shall be conducted in public.

(f) After a judicial council of a circuit makes an order establishing a district court appellate panel service, the chief judge of the circuit may request the Chief Justice of the United States to assign 1 or more district judges from another circuit to serve on a district court appellate panel, if the chief judge determines that there is a need for such judges.

RULES OF THE COMMITTEE ON RULES AND ADMINISTRATION

Mr. McConnell. Mr. President, Senate Standing Rule XXVI requires each committee to adopt rules to govern the procedures of the committee and to publish those rules in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD not later than March 1 of the first year of each Congress. On February 25, 1999, the Committee on Rules and Administration held a business meeting during which the members of the committee unanimously adopted the rules to govern the procedures of the committee.

Consistent with Standing Rule XXVI, today I am submitting for printing in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD a copy of the rules of the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration. The rules follow:

RULES OF PROCEDURE OF THE SENATE COMMITTEE ON RULES AND ADMINISTRATION

TITLE I—MEETINGS OF THE COMMITTEE

1. The regular meeting dates of the committee shall be the fourth and fifth Wednesdays of each month, at 9:30 a.m., in room SR-301, Russell Senate Office Building. Additional meetings may be called by the chairman as he may deem necessary or pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 3 of rule XXVI of the Standing Rules of the Senate.

2. Meetings of the committee, including meetings to conduct hearings, shall be open to the public, except that a meeting or series of meetings by the committee on the same subject for a period or no more than 14 calendar days may be closed to the public on a motion made and seconded to go into closed session to discuss only whether the matters enumerated in subparagraphs (A) through (F) would require the meeting to be closed followed immediately by a recorded vote in open session by a majority of the members of the committee. If it is determined that matters to be discussed or the testimony to be taken at such meeting or meetings—

(A) will disclose matters necessary to be kept secret to safeguard national security or the confidentiality of the foreign relations of the United States;

(B) will relate solely to matters of the committee, its staff, or the internal staff management or procedure;

(C) will tend to charge an individual with crime or misconduct, to disgrace or injure the reputation of an individual, or otherwise to expose an individual to public contempt or obloquy, or will represent a clearly unwarranted invasion of the privacy of an individual;

(D) will disclose the identity of any informer or law enforcement agent or will disclose any information relating to the investigation or prosecution of a criminal offense that is required to be kept secret in the interests of effective law enforcement;

(E) will disclose information relating to the tradecraft, sources, or other commercial information pertaining specifically to a given person if—

(1) an Act of Congress requires the information to be kept secret by Government officers and employees; or

(2) the information has been obtained by the Government on a confidential basis, and will be of interest to the former or current Government employee or the person's representative or attorney for a specific Government financial or other benefit, and is required to be kept secret in order to prevent undue injury to the competitive position of such person; or

(F) may divulge matters required to be kept confidential under other provisions of law.

However, the vote of the committee to record the votes cast in opposition to each such measure or amendment by each member of the committee. (Paragraph 7(b) and (c) of rule XXVI of the Standing Rules.)

4. Under no circumstances may proxies be provided for the establishment of a quorum.

TITLE III—VOTING

1. Voting in the committee on any issue will normally be by voice vote.

2. If a third of the members present so demand, a record vote will be taken on any question by rollcall.

3. The results of rollcall votes taken in any meeting upon any measure, or any amendment thereto, shall be stated in the committee report on that measure unless previously announced by the committee, and such report or announcement shall include a tabulation of the votes cast in opposition to each such measure or amendment by each member of the committee. (Paragraph 7(a) and (c) of rule XXVI of the Standing Rules.)

4. Proxy voting shall be allowed on all measures and matters before the committee. However, the vote of the committee to record the votes cast in opposition to each such measure or amendment by each member of the committee who are physically present at the time of the vote. Proxies will be allowed in those cases solely for the purpose of recording a member's position on the question and only then in those instances when the absentee committee member has been invited to and affirmatively requested that he be recorded. (Paragraph 7(a)(3) of rule XXVI of the Standing Rules.)
TITLE IV—DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY TO COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN

1. The chairman is authorized to sign himself or by delegation all necessary vouchers and routine papers for which the committee's approval is required and to decide in the committee's behalf all routine business.

2. The chairman is authorized to engage commercial reporters for the preparation of transcripts of committee meetings and hearings.

3. The chairman is authorized to issue, in behalf of the committee, regulations normally promulgated by the committee at the beginning of each session.

TITLE V—DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY TO COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN AND RANKING MINORITY MEMBERS

The chairman and ranking minority member, acting jointly, are authorized to approve on behalf of the committee any rule or regulation for which the committee's approval is required, provided advance notice of their intention to do so is given to members of the committee.

RULES OF THE SENATE COMMITTEE ON GOVERNMENTAL AFFAIRS

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, Senator, Standing Rule XXVI requires each committee to adopt rules to govern the procedures of the Committee and to publish those rules in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD not later than March 1 of the first year of each Congress. On January 20, 1999, the Committee on Governmental Affairs held a business meeting during which the members of the Committee unanimously adopted the rules to govern the procedures of the Committee. In addition, a majority of members of the Committee's Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations adopted subcommittee rules of procedure on February 12, 1999.

Consistent with Standing Rule XXVI, today I am submitting for printing in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD a copy of the rules of the Senate Committee on Governmental Affairs and its Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations.

RULES OF PROCEDURE OF THE COMMITTEE ON GOVERNMENTAL AFFAIRS PURSUANT TO RULE XXVI, SEC. 2 STANDING RULES OF THE SENATE

RULE 1. MEETINGS AND MEETING PROCEDURES—OTHER THAN HEARINGS

A. Meeting dates. The Committee shall hold its regular meetings on the first Thursday of each month, when the Congress is in session, or at such other time as the chairman shall determine. Additional meetings may be called by the chairman as he deems necessary to expedite Committee business. (Rule XXVI, Sec. 3, Standing Rules of the Senate.)

B. Calling special Committee meetings. If at least three members of the Committee desire the chairman to call a special meeting, they may file in the offices of the Committee a written request therefor, addressed to the chairman. Immediately thereafter, the clerk of the Committee shall notify the chairman of such request. If, within 3 calendar days after the filing of such request, the chairman fails to call the requested special meeting, which shall be held within 14 calendar days of the filing of such request, a majority of the Committee members may file in the offices of the Committee their written notice that a special Committee meeting will be held, specifying the date and hour thereof, and the Committee shall meet on that date and hour. On receipt of such notice, the Committee clerk shall notify all Committee members that such special meeting will be held and inform them of its date and hour. (Rule XXVI, Sec. 3, Standing Rules of the Senate.)

C. Meeting notices and agenda. Written notices of Committee meetings, accompanied by an agenda, shall be sent to all Committee members at least 3 days in advance of such meetings, excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays in which the Senate is not in session. The written notices required by this Rule may be provided by electronic mail. In the event that unforeseen requirements or Committee business prevent a 3-day notice of either the meeting or agenda, the Committee shall communicate such notice and agenda, or any revisions thereto, to the members, as soon as practicable by telephone or otherwise to members or appropriate staff assistants in their offices.

D. Open business. Meetings for the transaction of Committee or Subcommittee business shall be conducted in open session, except that a meeting or series of meetings shall not be held on a Saturday or Sunday or any day on which no more than 14 calendar days may be closed to the public on a motion made and seconded to go into closed session to discuss only the matters of Committees, other than those prescribed by Rules (1) through (6) below would require the meeting to be closed, followed immediately by a record vote in open session by a majority of the Committee or Subcommittee members when it is determined that the matters to be discussed or the testimony to be taken at such meeting or meetings—

(1) will divulge matters necessary to be kept secret in the interests of national defense or the confidential conduct of foreign relations of the United States;

(2) will disclose the identity of an informer or witness when the information has been obtained by such person if—

(A) an Act of Congress requires the infor- mation to be kept confidential by Government officials; and

(B) the information has been obtained by the Government on a confidential basis, other than through an application by such person for Government financial or other benefit, and is required to be kept secret in order to prevent undue injury to the competitive position of such person; or

(3) will relate solely to matters of Commit- tee or Subcommittee personnel or internal staff management or procedure;

(4) will divulge matters required to be kept secret in the interests of effective law enforcement;

(5) will disclose information relating to the trade secrets of financial or commercial information pertaining specifically to a given person if—

(A) an Act of Congress requires the infor- mation to be kept confidential by Government officials; and

(B) the information has been obtained by the Government on a confidential basis, other than through an application by such person for Government financial or other benefit, and is required to be kept secret in order to prevent undue injury to the competitive position of such person; or

(6) may divulge matters required to be kept confidential under other provisions of law or Government regulations. (Rule XXVI, Sec. 3, Standing Rules of the Senate.)

E. Prior notice of first degree amendments. It shall be in order for the Senate to consider, in open session, a first degree amendment offered by the chairman of a Committee, or a Subcommittee thereof, to consider any amendment in the first degree proposed to any measure under consideration by the Committee or Subcommittee unless a written copy of such amendment has been delivered to each member of the Committee or Subcommittee, as the case may be, and to the Clerk of the Committee or Subcommit- tee, at least 24 hours before the meeting of the Committee or Subcommittee at which the amendment is to be proposed. The written copy of amendments in the first degree required by this Rule may be provided by electronic mail. This subsection may be waived by a majority of the members present. This subsection shall apply only when at least 72 hours written notice of a session to mark-up a measure is provided to the Senate and its Committees. The Committee or Subcommittee shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of routine business, provided that one member of the minority is present.

For the purpose of this paragraph, the term "routine business" includes the convening of a meeting and the consideration of any business of the Committee other than reporting to the Senate any measures, matters or recommendations. (Rule XXVI, Sec. 7(a)(1), Standing Rules of the Senate.)

F. Meeting transcript. The Committee or Subcommittee shall prepare and keep a complete transcript or electronic recording adequate to fully record the proceedings of each meeting whether or not such meeting or any part thereof is closed to the public, unless a majority of the Committee or Subcommittee members vote to forgo such a record. (Rule XXVI, Sec. 5(e), Standing Rules of the Senate.)

RULE 3. VOTING

A. Reporting measures and matters. A majority of the members of the Committee shall constitute a quorum for reporting to the Senate any measures, matters or recommendations. (Rule XXVI, Sec. 7(a)(1), Standing Rules of the Senate.)

B. Transaction of routine business. One-third of the membership of the Committee shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of routine business, provided that one member of the minority is present.

C. Taking testimony. One member of the Committee shall constitute a quorum for taking sworn or unsworn testimony. (Rule XXVI, Sec. 7(a)(1), Standing Rules of the Senate.)

D. Subcommittee quorums. Subject to the provisions of sections 7(a)(1) and (2) of Rule XXVI, the Subcommittee shall constitute a quorum for reporting to the Senate any measures, matters or recommendations. (Rule XXVI, Sec. 7(a)(1), Standing Rules of the Senate.)

E. Proxies prohibited in establishment of quorum. Proxies shall not be considered for the establishment of a quorum.

RULE 4. PROCEEDINGS

A. Quorum. The quorum required to report a measure or matter shall be present at the meeting of the Committee to consider the measure or matter in question, and the vote of the Committee to report a measure or matter shall require the presence of a majority of the members present.
RULE 4. CHAIRMANSHIP OF MEETINGS AND HEARINGS

The chairman shall preside at all Committee meetings and hearings except that he shall designate a temporary chairman to act in his place if he is unable to be present at a scheduled meeting or hearing. If the chairman (or his designee) is absent 10 minutes after the scheduled time for a meeting or hearing, the ranking majority member present shall preside until the chairman’s arrival. If there is no member of the majority present, the minority member present, with the prior approval of the chairman, may open and conduct the meeting or hearing until such time as a member of the majority arrives.

A. Act of Congress requires the information to be kept confidential by Government officers and employees; or
B. The information has been obtained by the Government on a confidential basis, other than through an application by such person for a specific Government financial or other benefit, and is required to be kept secret in order to prevent undue injury to the competitive position of such person; or
C. The information may reasonably be expected to disclose the identity of an informer who has furnished information relating to, made a demonstrable contribution to, or has otherwise facilitated governmental or law enforcement activities.

F. Impugned persons. Any person whose name has been impugned, identified, and who believes that evidence presented, or comment made by a member of the Committee or Subcommittee; provided, further, that when the chairman finds it necessary to maintain order, he shall have the power to clear the room, and the Committee or Subcommittee may not act for so long as there is doubt of the assurance of order. (Rule XXVI, Sec. 3d, Standing Rules of the Senate.)

C. Full Committee subpoenas. The chairman, with the approval of the ranking minority member of the Committee, is authorized to permit the attendance and production of persons to the production of memoranda, documents, records, or any other materials at a hearing or deposition, provided that the chairman and the majority of the Committee shall affirmatively request and authorize the attendance or production without the approval of the ranking minority member where the chairman or a staff officer designated by him or her shall request the attendance of any person for a specific Government financial or other benefit, and is required to be kept secret in order to prevent undue injury to the competitive position of such person; or

D. Witness transcripts. An accurate electronic or stenographic record shall be kept of the testimony of all witnesses in executive and public hearings. The record of his or her testimony whether in public or executive session shall be made available for inspection by the witness or his or her counsel upon written request, and if any testimony given in public session or that part of the testimony given by the witness in executive session and subsequently quoted or made part of the record in a public session shall be provided to any witness at his or her expense if he or she so requests. Upon inspecting his or her transcript, within a time limit set by the chief clerk of the Committee, a witness or employee of the government, or of a congressional committee or subcommittee, may subpoena attendance or production of any witness, matter, or recommendation of the Committee. When the Committee or the Committee chairman authorizes subpoenas, subpoenas may be issued upon the signature of the chairman or any other member of the Committee designated by the chairman.

E. Witness transcripts. An accurate electronic or stenographic record shall be kept of the testimony of all witnesses in executive and public hearings. The record of his or her testimony whether in public or executive session shall be made available for inspection by the witness or his or her counsel upon written request, and if any testimony given in public session or that part of the testimony given by the witness in executive session and subsequently quoted or made part of the record in a public session shall be provided to any witness at his or her expense if he or she so requests. Upon inspecting his or her transcript, within a time limit set by the chief clerk of the Committee, a witness or employee of the government, or of a congressional committee or subcommittee, may subpoena attendance or production of any witness, matter, or recommendation of the Committee. When the Committee or the Committee chairman authorizes subpoenas, subpoenas may be issued upon the signature of the chairman or any other member of the Committee designated by the chairman.

D. Witness counsel. Counsel retained by any witness and accompanying such witness shall be admitted to the Committee to hear, to testify, to advise, and to otherwise assist the witness. Counsel may undertake any poll of the members of the Committee. If any member requests, any member or a staff officer designated by him or her shall attend the hearing to advise the witness and accompanying such witness.

C. Full Committee subpoenas. The chairman, with the approval of the ranking minority member of the Committee, is authorized to permit the attendance and production of persons to the production of memoranda, documents, records, or any other materials at a hearing or deposition, provided that the chairman and the majority of the Committee shall affirmatively request and authorize the attendance or production without the approval of the ranking minority member where the chairman or a staff officer designated by him or her shall request the attendance of any person for a specific Government financial or other benefit, and is required to be kept secret in order to prevent undue injury to the competitive position of such person; or

D. Witness transcripts. An accurate electronic or stenographic record shall be kept of the testimony of all witnesses in executive and public hearings. The record of his or her testimony whether in public or executive session shall be made available for inspection by the witness or his or her counsel upon written request, and if any testimony given in public session or that part of the testimony given by the witness in executive session and subsequently quoted or made part of the record in a public session shall be provided to any witness at his or her expense if he or she so requests. Upon inspecting his or her transcript, within a time limit set by the chief clerk of the Committee, a witness or employee of the government, or of a congressional committee or subcommittee, may subpoena attendance or production of any witness, matter, or recommendation of the Committee. When the Committee or the Committee chairman authorizes subpoenas, subpoenas may be issued upon the signature of the chairman or any other member of the Committee designated by the chairman.

E. Witness transcripts. An accurate electronic or stenographic record shall be kept of the testimony of all witnesses in executive and public hearings. The record of his or her testimony whether in public or executive session shall be made available for inspection by the witness or his or her counsel upon written request, and if any testimony given in public session or that part of the testimony given by the witness in executive session and subsequently quoted or made part of the record in a public session shall be provided to any witness at his or her expense if he or she so requests. Upon inspecting his or her transcript, within a time limit set by the chief clerk of the Committee, a witness or employee of the government, or of a congressional committee or subcommittee, may subpoena attendance or production of any witness, matter, or recommendation of the Committee. When the Committee or the Committee chairman authorizes subpoenas, subpoenas may be issued upon the signature of the chairman or any other member of the Committee designated by the chairman.

D. Witness counsel. Counsel retained by any witness and accompanying such witness shall be admitted to the Committee to hear, to testify, to advise, and to otherwise assist the witness. Counsel may undertake any poll of the members of the Committee. If any member requests, any member or a staff officer designated by him or her shall attend the hearing to advise the witness and accompanying such witness.
the Committee or staff officer, at a public hearing or at a closed hearing concerning which there have been public reports, tends to impugn his or her character or adversely affect his or her business reputation, the Committee may authorize the staff officer designated by him to conduct proceedings to determine whether there is good cause for failure of compliance. (Rule XXVI, Sec. 1(b), Standing Rules of the Senate.)
RULE 8. CONFIRMATION STANDARDS AND PROCEDURES

A. Standards. At the request of the Committee, each nominee shall submit the following information:

1. A detailed biographical resume which contains data relating to: education, employment, and achievements;

2. A financial statement which lists assets and liabilities as of the date of nomination and for the 3 years preceding the time of the nomination, together with any tax returns for the 3 years preceding the time of the nomination.

B. Information Concerning the Nominee. Each nominee shall submit the following information to the Committee:

1. A detailed biographical resume which contains data relating to: education, employment, and achievements;

2. A financial statement which lists assets and liabilities as of the date of nomination and for the 3 years preceding the time of the nomination, together with any tax returns for the 3 years preceding the time of the nomination.

3. Copies of relevant documents requested by the Committee, such as responses to questions concerning the policies and programs of the nominee.

C. Committee Inquiry. The Committee shall conduct an inquiry into the: experience, qualifications, suitability, and integrity of nominees, and shall give particular attention to any questions arising therefrom.

1. A review of the biographical information provided by the nominee, including, but not limited to, any professional activities related to the duties of the office to which he or she is nominated;

2. A review of the financial information provided by the nominee, including tax returns for the 3 years preceding the time of his or her nomination;

3. A review of any actions, taken or proposed by the nominee, to remedy conflicts of interest;

4. A review of any personal or legal matters which may bear upon the nominee's qualifications for the office to which he or she is nominated.

For the purpose of assisting the Committee in the conduct of this inquiry, a majority in inviting the nominee to testify under oath to the Committee shall be made by the designated investigators to the chairman and the ranking minority member and shall be made free from any discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, state of physical handicap, or disability.

Authorizing Expenditures by Committee

A. General Authority. In carrying out its powers, duties, and functions under the Standing Rules of the Senate, in accordance with its jurisdiction under rule XXV of the Senate Rules, the Committee may authorize holding, taking, and conducting hearings, and making investigations as authorized by paragraphs 1 and 8 of rule XXVI of the Standing Rules of the Senate, the Committee on Governmental Affairs is authorized from March 1, 1999, through September 30, 1999, in its discretion—

1. To make expenditures from the contingency fund of the Senate;

2. To employ personnel;

3. With the prior consent of the Governmental Affairs Committee, and on the recommendation of the Committee on Rules and Administration, to use, on a reimbursable or nonreimbursable basis, the services of personnel of any such agency or agency.

B. Expenses. The expenses of the committee for the period January 1, 1999, through September 30, 1999, under this section shall be paid as follows:

1. To not exceed $75,000, may be expended for the procurement of the services of individual investigators, or organizations thereof (as authorized by section 202(i) of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946); and

2. To not exceed $2,470, may be expended for the training of the personnel of such committee (as authorized by provisions of clause 1(1) of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946).

C. Investigations.

1. In General. The committee, or any duly authorized subcommittee of the committee, is authorized to study or investigate—

A. The efficiency and economy of operations of all branches of the Government including the possible existence of fraud, misfeasance, malfeasance, or mismanagement; the incompetence, corruption, or unethical practices, waste, extravagance, conflicts of interest, and the improper expenditures of Government funds in transactions, contracts, and activities of the Government or of Government officials and employees and any and all such improper practices between Government personnel and corporations, individuals, companies, or persons affiliated therewith, doing business with the Government; and the compliance or noncompliance of such corporations, companies, or individuals or other entities with the rules, regulations, and laws governing the various governmental agencies and its relations with the public.

B. The extent to which criminal or other improper practices or activities are, or have been, engaged in the field of labor-management relations or in groups or organizations of employees or employers, to the detriment of the interests of the public, employers, or employees, and to determine whether any law is necessary or required of the United States in order to protect such interests against the occurrence of such practices or activities.

C. Allegations of criminal activity which may operate in or otherwise utilize the facilities of interstate or international commerce in... furtherance of any transactions and the manner and extent to which, and the identity of the persons, firms, or corporations, or other entities by whom such utilization is being or is to be undertaken. To study and investigate the manner in which and the extent to which persons engaged in organized criminal activity have infiltrated lawful business enterprises and the methods by which organized criminal activity may be prevented or curbed, and the methods by which the United States may assist in the investigation and prosecution of such activities and of the persons concerned.

(3) Special committee authority. For the purposes of this subsection, the committee, its ranking Minority Member, the Chairman, or any other member of the committee or subcommittee designated by the Chairman, from March 1, 1999, through the remainder of the 106th Congress, may authorize, in its, his, or their discretion—

(A) to request by subpoena or otherwise the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers, correspondence, records, and other documents;

(B) to hold hearings;

(C) to sit at any time or place during the sessions of the Senate, and adjournment periods of the Senate;

(D) to administer oaths; and

(E) to take evidence orally or by sworn statement, or, in the case of staff members of the Committee and the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, by written statement.

(4) Authority of other committees.—Nothing in this subsection shall affect or impair the exercise of any other standing committee of the Senate of any power, or the discharge by such committee of any duty, conferred or imposed upon it by the Standing Rules of the Senate or the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946.

(5) Subpoena authority.—All subpoenas and related legal processes of the committee and its subcommittees, and of the SenateJudiciary Committee under clause (vii) of section 1 of the Joint Resolution of the 90th Congress approved February 25, 1999, that were issued after the adjournment of the 106th Congress, and subpoenas issued by the Chairman or a member of the committee or subcommittee of the Committees of the Senate, or its chairman, or any other member of the committee or subcommittee designated by the Chairman, from March 1, 1999, through the remainder of the 106th Congress, shall be authorized by the Chairman, or any other member of the committee or subcommittee designated by the Chairman, and that the witnesses, persons, or documents so subpoenaed may be required to appear and testify before the committee, or a subcommittee of the committee, at any time or place and under such conditions and in such manner as the Chairman, or any other member of the committee or subcommittee designated by the Chairman, shall direct.

(6) Temporary subcommittee authority. In the absence of the Chairman, or any other member of the committee or subcommittee designated by the Chairman, the Subcommittee may authorize its counsel to conduct any necessary or proper hearing, to take any necessary or proper action, and to issue any necessary or proper subpoenas on its own or in the name of the committee or subcommittee, during the 106th Congress, for the purpose of investigating any activity of the government or any branch or function of the government, or of the United States, that may be the subject of a hearing or investigation by the committee or subcommittee designated by the Chairman, and to require the attendance of witnesses and the production of evidence therefor, and to do any other act necessary or proper for the effective exercise of the authority granted to the committee or subcommittee by subsection (5) of this section.

(7) Scope of inquiry. Any inquiry of the committee or of any subcommittee of the committee shall be limited to matters concerning the activities of the government or the United States, or any branch or function of the government, or the United States, that may be the subject of a hearing or investigation by the committee or subcommittee designated by the Chairman and is necessary or proper in connection with the purposes of this section.
shall this rule be construed as authorizing counsel to coach the witness or answer for the witness. The failure of any witness to secure counsel shall not excuse such witness from complying with a subpoena or deposition notice.

9.1 Notice. Notices for the taking of depositions in an investigation authorized by the Subcommittee shall be served by the Chairman. The Chairman of the full Committee and the Ranking Minority Member of the Subcommittee shall be kept fully apprised of the authorization for the taking of depositions. A copy of each notice will be placed in the record. The Subcommittee shall not initiate procedures leading to criminal or civil enforcement proceedings for a witness’ failure to appear unless the deposition notice was accompanied by a Subcommittee subpoena.

9.2 Counsel. Witnesses may be accompanied at a deposition by counsel to advise them of their legal rights, subject to the provisions of Rule 8.

9.3 Procedure. Witnesses shall be examined upon oath administered by an individual authorized to administer oaths. Questions shall be propounded orally by Subcommittee Members or staff. Objections to the form of questions shall be noted for the record. If a witness objects to a question and refuses to testify on the basis of relevance or privilege, the Subcommittee Members or staff may proceed with the deposition, or may, at that time or at a subsequent time, seek a ruling by telephone or otherwise on the objection from the Chairman or such Subcommittee Member as designated by him. If the Chairman or designated Member overrules the objection, he may refer the matter to the Subcommittee or he may order and direct the witness to answer the question, but the Subcommittee shall not initiate procedures leading to civil or criminal enforcement unless the witness refuses to testify after he has been ordered and directed to answer by a Member of the Subcommittee.

9.4 Use of Transcript. The Subcommittee staff shall see that the transcript is transcribed or electronically recorded. If it is transcribed, the transcript shall be furnished with a copy for review with the provisions of Rule 12. The individual administering the oath shall certify on the transcript that the witness was duly sworn in his presence, the transcript shall then be filed with the Subcommittee clerk. The transcript shall then be filed with the Subcommittee clerk. Subcommittee staff may stipulate with the witness to changes in this procedure; deviations from this procedure which would impair the reliability of the record shall not relieve the witness from his obligation to testify truthfully.

10. In any witness desiring to read a prepared statement in executive or public hearings shall file a copy of such statement with the Chairman or Counsel or Chairman of the Subcommittee 48 hours in advance of the hearing. The statement is presented unless the Chairman and the Ranking Minority Member waive this requirement. The Subcommittee shall determine whether such statement may be read or placed in the record of the hearing.

11. A witness may request, on grounds of extreme personal hardship, personal curiosity, or physical discomfort, that during the testimony, television, motion picture, and other cameras and lights shall not be directed at him. Requests shall be ruled on by the Subcommittee Members present at the hearing.

12. An accurate stenographic record shall be kept of the testimony of all witnesses in executive and public hearings. The record of his own testimony whether in public or executive session shall be open to public inspection by the witness or his counsel under Subcommittee supervision; a copy of any testimony given in public session or that part of the testimony in executive session and subsequently quoted or made part of the record in a public session shall be made available to any witness at his expense if he so requests.

13. Interrogation of witnesses at Subcommittee hearings shall be conducted on behalf of the Subcommittee by Members and authorized Subcommittee staff personnel.

14. Any person who is the subject of an investigation in which he may submit a sworn statement, as well as any other matter related to the subject of the investigation, may submit or transmit a transcript of the Chairman of the Subcommittee questions in writing for the cross-examination of other witnesses called by the Subcommittee. With the consent of a majority of the Members of the Subcommittee present and voting, these questions, or paraphrased versions of them, shall be put to the witness by the Chairman, by a Subcommittee Member or by counsel of the Subcommittee.

15. Any person whose name is mentioned or who is specifically identified, and who believes the testimony or evidence presented at a public hearing, or comment made by a Subcommittee Member or counsel, tends to defame him or otherwise adversely affect his reputation, may (a) request to appear personally before the Subcommittee to testify in his own behalf, or, in the alternative, (b) file a sworn statement of facts relevant to the testimony or other evidence or comment complained of, such request and such statement shall be submitted to the Subcommittee for its consideration and action.

16. If a person requests the filing of his sworn statement pursuant to alternative (b) referred to herein, said request shall be considered untimely if it is not received by the Chairman or counsel in writing on or before thirty (30) days subsequent to the day on which said person’s name was mentioned or otherwise specifically identified during a public hearing held before the Subcommittee, unless the Chairman and the Ranking Minority Member waive this requirement.

17. If a person requests the filing of his sworn statement pursuant to alternative (b) referred to herein, and if the Chairman in his discretion determines that the filing of said sworn statement upon said person agreeing to appear personally before the Subcommittee and to testify concerning the matters contained in his sworn statement, as well as any other matters related to the subject of the investigation, before the Subcommittee.

18. All testimony in executive session shall be kept secret and will not be released for public information without the approval of a majority of the Subcommittee.

19. All testimony in executive session shall be released to the public unless approved by a majority of the Committee. The Chairman in his discretion may direct the Secretary to keep or cause to be kept a record of all Subcommittee staff salaries during any given year. The minority staff members shall work under the direction and supervision of the Ranking Minority Member. The Chief Counsel for the minority shall be kept fully informed as to procedures, investigations, and hearings, and shall have access to all material in the files of the Subcommittee.

20. It is determined by the Chairman and Ranking Minority Member, or by a majority of the Subcommittee, that there is reasonable cause to believe that a violation of law has occurred and that the Chairman and Ranking Minority Member by letter, or the Subcommittee by resolution, are authorized to report such violation to the proper State, local, or Federal authority. Such letter or report may require the basis for the determination of reasonable cause. This rule is not authority for release of documents or testimony.

RULES OF THE SENATE SELECT COMMITTEE ON INTELLIGENCE

Mr. SHELBY. Mr. President, paragraph 2 of Senate Rule XXVI requires that not later than March 1 of the first year of each Congress, the rules of each Committee shall be published in the RECORD.

In compliance with this provision, I ask that the Rules of the Select Committee on Intelligence be printed in the RECORD.

RULES OF PROCEDURE OF THE SENATE SELECT COMMITTEE ON INTELLIGENCE

1. CONVENCING OF MEETINGS

1.1. The regular meeting day of the Select Committee on Intelligence for the trans- action of Committee business shall be every other Wednesday of each month, unless otherwise directed by the Chairman.

1.2. The Chairman shall have authority, upon proper notice, to call such additional meetings of the Committee as he may deem necessary and may delegate such authority to any other member of the Committee.

1.3. A special meeting of the Committee may be called at any time upon the written request of five or more members of the Committee filed with the Clerk of the Committee.

1.4. In the case of any meeting of the Committee, other than a regularly scheduled meeting, the Clerk of the Committee shall notify every member of the Committee of the time and place of such meeting, and shall give reasonable notice which, except in extraordinary circumstances, shall be at least 24 hours in advance of any meeting held in Washington, D.C., and at least 48 hours in the case of any meeting held outside Washington, D.C.

1.5. If five members of the Committee have requested in writing to the Clerk of the Committee to call a meeting of the Committee, and the Chairman fails to call such a meeting within seven calendar days thereafter, including the day on which the written notice is submitted, these members may call a meeting by filing a written notice with the Clerk of the Committee who shall promptly notify each member of the Committee in writing of the date and time of the meeting.

2. MEETING PROCEDURES

2.1. Meetings of the Committee shall be open to the public except as provided in S. Res. 9 of Congress, 1st Session.

2.2. It shall be the duty of the Staff Director to keep or cause to be kept a record of all Committee proceedings.

2.3. If the Chairman of the Committee, or if the Chairman is not present the Vice Chairman, shall preside over all meetings of the Committee. In the absence of the Chairman and the Vice Chairman at any meeting the ranking majority member, or if no majority member is present the ranking minority member shall preside.

2.4. Except as otherwise provided in these Rules, decisions of the Committee shall be by a majority vote of the members present and voting. Any written or oral transaction of Committee business, including the conduct of executive sessions, shall consist of no less than one third of the Committee Members, except that for the purpose of hearing witnesses, taking sworn testimony, and receiving evidence under oath, a quorum may consist of one Senator.

2.5. A vote by any member of the Committee with respect to any matter or matter being considered by the Committee may be cast by proxy if the proxy authorization (1) is in writing; (2) designates the member of the Committee who is to exercise the proxy; and (3) is limited to a specific measure or matter and any amendments pertaining thereto. Proxies shall not be considered for the establishment of a quorum.

2.6. Whenever the Committee by roll call vote requests any measure or matter, the report of the Committee upon such measure or matter shall include a tabulation of the votes cast in favor of and the votes cast in opposition to such measure or matter by each member of the Committee.

RUL E 3. SUBCOMMITTEES

Creation of subcommittees shall be by majority vote of the Committee. Subcommittees shall deal with such legislation and oversight of programs and policies as the Committee may direct. The subcommittees shall be governed by the Rules of the Committee, as modified by such other rules they may adopt which are consistent with the Rules of the Committee.

RUL E 4. REPORTING OF MEASURES OR RECOMMENDATIONS

4.1. No measures or recommendations shall be reported, favorably or unfavorably, from the Committee unless a majority of the Committee is actually present and a majority concur.

4.2. In any case in which the Committee is unable to reach a unanimous decision, separate votes may be taken and the report of any member or members of the Committee.

4.3. A member of the Committee who gives notice of his intention to file supplemental, minor or individual amendments shall file with the Clerk of the Committee a copy of any final Committee approval of a measure or matter, shall be entitled to not less than three working days in which to file such views at the Committee's secure storage area for overnight storage.

4.4. Routine, non-legislative actions required of the Committee may be taken in accordance with the Rules which have been approved by the Committee pursuant to these Rules.

RUL E 5. NOMINATIONS

5.1. Unless otherwise ordered by the Committee, nominations for the Committee shall be held for at least 14 days before being voted on by the Committee.

5.2. Each member of the Committee shall be promptly furnished a copy of all nominations referred to the Committee.

5.3. Nominees who are invited to appear before the Committee shall be heard in public session, except as provided in Rule 2.1.

5.4. No confirmation hearing shall be held sooner than seven days after receipt of the background investigation. A written disclosure statement unless the time limit is waived by a majority vote of the Committee.

5.5. The Committee vote on the confirmation shall not be sooner than 48 hours after the Committee has received transcripts of the confirmation hearing unless the time limit is waived by unanimous consent of the Committee.

5.6. No nomination shall be reported to the Senate unless the nominee has filed a background investigation statement and a disclosure of any other information required by law or such Committee.

RUL E 6. INVESTIGATIONS

No investigation shall be initiated by the Committee unless at least five members of the Committee designated by the Chairman, Vice Chairman, or any other member of the Committee designated by the Chairman, Vice Chairman, or any other Committee member issuing the subpoenas. Each subpoena shall have attached thereto a copy of S. Res. 400, 94th Congress, 2d Session and a copy of these Rules.

RUL E 7. SUBPOENAS

Subpoenas authorized by the Committee for the attendance of witnesses or the production of documents, records or any other material may be issued by the Chairman, the Vice Chairman, or any member of the Committee designated by the Chairman or the Vice Chairman.

RUL E 8. PROCEDURES RELATED TO THE TAKING OF TESTIMONY

8.1. NOTICE. Witnesses shall be provided written notice of the date, time, and place of the hearing or of their appearance before the Committee. Any witness, member of the Committee or staff as are authorized by the Chairman, Vice Chairman, or the presiding member.

8.2. OATH OR AFFIRMATION. Testimony of witnesses shall be taken under oath or affirmation which may be administered by any member of the Committee.

8.3. INTERROGATION. Committee interrogation shall be conducted by members of the Committee and such Committee staff as are authorized by the Chairman, Vice Chairman, or the presiding member.

8.4. COURT MEMORANDUM, WITNESS. A witness may be accompanied by counsel. A witness who is unable to obtain counsel may inform the Committee of such fact. If the witness reasonably believes that he or she is not or may not be able to obtain counsel, the witness shall be allowed to appear and testify.

8.5. STATEMENTS BY WITNESSES. A witness may request to appear personally before the Committee and such Committee staff as are authorized by the Chairman, Vice Chairman, or the presiding member.

8.6. STATEMENTS TO OTHER COMMITTEES. Any statement made by a witness in response to a request to appear before the Committee shall be made part of a public record.

8.7. INSPECTION AND CORRECTION. All witnesses testifying before the Committee shall be given a reasonable opportunity to inspect, before, his or her appearance before the Committee, any written or oral testimony which may be administered by any member of the Committee.

8.8. CONTEST. Claims of contumacy or of privilege shall be determined by the Committee by majority vote of the members present, and in conformity with Section 10.3 hereof.

8.9. CONTENT OF TESTIMONY. No recommendation that a person be cited for contempt shall be made unless a copy of the record or minutes of the hearing showing the facts on which the contempt finding was based shall be forwarded to the Committee, and such Committee staff as are authorized by the Chairman, Vice Chairman, or the presiding member.

8.10. RELEASE OR NAME OF WITNESS. Unless authorized by the Chairman, the name of any witness scheduled to be heard by the Committee shall not be released prior to, or after, his or her appearance before the Committee.

RUL E 9. PROCEDURES FOR HANDLING CLASSIFIED OR SENSITIVE MATERIAL

9.1. Committee staff offices shall operate under strict precautions. At least one security guard shall be on duty at all times by the entrance to control entry. Before entering the office all persons shall identify themselves.

9.2. Sensitive or classified documents and material shall be segregated in a secure storage area. They may be examined only at secure reading facilities. Copying, duplicating, or removal of such documents and other materials is prohibited except as is necessary for use in, or preparation for, interviews or Committee meetings. The Committee may use such questions and dispose of such suggestions as it deems appropriate.

9.3. STATEMENTS BY WITNESSES. A witness may make a statement or make clear to the Committee the nature and time of any other witness or witnesses. The Committee may use such questions and dispose of such suggestions as it deems appropriate.

9.4. COMMITTEE BUSINESS. The Committee shall be governed by the Rules of the Committee and such Committee staff as are authorized by the Chairman, Vice Chairman, or the presiding member.

9.5. MAJOR VOTE OF THE COMMITTEE. A majority vote of the members present, and in conformity with Section 10.3 hereof.

9.6. OBJECTIONS AND RULINGS. Any objections raised by a witness or counsel shall be ruled upon by the Committee or other presiding member, and such ruling shall be the final decision of the Committee.

9.7. INSPECTION AND CORRECTION. All witnesses testifying before the Committee shall be given a reasonable opportunity to inspect, before, his or her appearance before the Committee, any written or oral testimony which may be administered by any member of the Committee.

9.8. RELEASE OR NAME OF WITNESS. Unless authorized by the Chairman, the name of any witness scheduled to be heard by the Committee shall not be released prior to, or after, his or her appearance before the Committee.

9.9. CONTENT OF TESTIMONY. No recommendation that a person be cited for contempt shall be made unless a copy of the record or minutes of the hearing showing the facts on which the contempt finding was based shall be forwarded to the Committee, and such Committee staff as are authorized by the Chairman, Vice Chairman, or the presiding member.

9.10. RELEASE OR NAME OF WITNESS. Unless authorized by the Chairman, the name of any witness scheduled to be heard by the Committee shall not be released prior to, or after, his or her appearance before the Committee.

9.11. COMMITTEE BUSINESS. The Committee shall be governed by the Rules of the Committee and such Committee staff as are authorized by the Chairman, Vice Chairman, or the presiding member.
9.3. Each member of the Committee shall at all times have access to all papers and other material received from any source. The Staff Director shall be responsible for the maintenance, under appropriate security procedures, of a registry which will number and identify all classified papers and other classified materials in the possession of the Committee. Such registry shall be available to any member of the Committee.

9.4. Whenever the Select Committee on Intelligence makes classified material available to any other member of the Senate or to any member of the Senate not a member of the Committee, such material shall be accompanied by any written notice to the recipients advising of their responsibility to protect such material pursuant to Section 8 of S. Res. 400 of the 94th Congress. The Clerk shall place in the Committee staff, in such a manner as may be determined, a written record identifying the particular information transmitted and the Committee or members of the Senate receiving such information.

9.5. Access to classified information supplied to the Committee shall be limited to those Committee staff members with appropriate security clearance and a need-to-know the information.

9.6. No member of the Committee or of the Committee staff shall disclose, in whole or in part, any classified information which is not a member of the Committee or the Committee staff for any purpose or in connection with any proceeding, judicial or otherwise, any testimony given before the committee in executive session including the name of any witness who appeared or was called to appear before the Committee in executive session, or to any papers or materials or other information received by the Committee except as authorized herein, or otherwise as authorized by the Committee in accordance with Section 8 of S. Res. 400 of the 94th Congress and the provisions of these rules, or in the event of the termination of the Committee, in such a manner as may be determined by the Senate. For purposes of this paragraph, members and staff of the Committee may disclose classified information in the possession of the Committee only to persons who need to know such information for an official governmental purpose related to the work of the Committee. Information discussed in executive sessions of the Committee and information contained in papers and materials which are not classified but which are controlled by the Committee may be disclosed only to persons outside the Committee who have a need to know such information for an official governmental purpose related to the work of the Committee. Any testimony, papers, or other materials presented to, or received by, the Committee shall be a reasonable opportunity to examine all pertinent testimony, papers, and other materials presented to, or received by, the Committee.

9.7. Before the Committee makes any decision regarding the disposition of any testimony, papers, or other materials presented to, or received by, the Committee staff shall be held at a minimum and shall be limited to persons with appropriate security clearance and a need-to-know the information under consideration for the execution of their official duties. Notes taken at such meetings by any person in attendance shall be returned to the secure storage area in the Committee's offices at the conclusion of the Committee meeting, and may be made available, except to the department, agency, office, committee or entity concerned only in accordance with the security procedures of the Committee.

RULE 10.

10.1. For purposes of these rules, Committee staff includes employees of the Committee, consultants to the Committee, or any other person engaged by contract or otherwise to perform services at the request of the Committee. To the maximum extent practicable, the Committee shall rely on its full-time employees to perform all staff functions. No individual shall be retained as staff of the Committee or to perform services for the Committee unless that individual holds appropriate security clearance.

10.2. The appointment of Committee staff shall be confirmed by a majority vote of the Committee. After confirmation, the Chair shall certify Committee staff appointments to the Financial Clerk of the Senate in writing. No Committee staff shall be given access to any classified information or regular access to the Committee offices, unless such Committee staff have appropriate security clearances as described in Section 6 of Senate Resolution 400 of the 94th Congress.

10.3. The Committee staff work for the Committee as a whole, under the supervision of the Chairman and Vice Chairman of the Committee. The duties of the Committee staff shall be to perform and Committee staff personnel affairs and day-to-day operations, including security and control of classified documents and material, and shall be administered by the Director and Minority Staff Director.

10.4. The Committee staff shall be fully informed regarding all matters and shall have access to all material in the files of the Committee.

10.5. The Committee staff shall be free from illegal use, possession, sale, or distribution of controlled substances by employees. Any violation of such policy shall result in immediate dismissal of the employee. No Committee staff shall have access to any member of the Senate or the Committee staff except as directed by the Committee in accordance with Section 8 of S. Res. 400 of the 94th Congress and the provisions of these rules, or in the event of the termination of the Committee. To the maximum extent practicable, the Committee shall rely on its full-time employees to perform all staff functions. No individual shall be retained as staff of the Committee or to perform services for the Committee unless that individual holds appropriate security clearance.

10.6. Within the Committee staff shall be an element of a registry which will number and control the Staff Director. The Minority Staff Director and the Minority Counsel shall be kept fully informed regarding all matters and shall have access to all material in the files of the Committee.

10.7. The Staff Director shall be employed by the Committee unless and until such a member of the Committee staff agrees in writing, as a condition of employment, to abide by the Committee's code of conduct.

10.8. No member of the Committee staff shall be employed by the Committee unless and until such a member of the Committee staff agrees in writing, as a condition of employment, to abide by the Committee's code of conduct.

10.9. No member of the Committee staff shall be employed by the Committee unless and until such a member of the Committee staff agrees in writing, as a condition of employment, to abide by the Committee's code of conduct.

10.10. The workplace of the Committee shall be free from illegal use, possession, sale or distribution of controlled substances by its employees. Any violation of such policy shall result in immediate dismissal of the employee. No Committee staff shall have access to any member of the Senate or the Committee staff except as directed by the Committee in accordance with Section 8 of S. Res. 400 of the 94th Congress and the provisions of these rules, or in the event of the termination of the Committee. To the maximum extent practicable, the Committee shall rely on its full-time employees to perform all staff functions. No individual shall be retained as staff of the Committee or to perform services for the Committee unless that individual holds appropriate security clearance.

10.11. In accordance with title III of the Civil Rights Act of 1991 (P.L. 102-166), all personnel actions affecting the staff of the Committee shall be made free from discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, handicap or disability.

RULE 11. PREPARATION FOR COMMITTEE MEETING

11.1. Under direction of the Chairman and the Vice Chairman, designated Committee staff members shall brief members of the Committee at a time sufficiently prior to an appropriate meeting for the Committee members in preparation for such meeting and to determine any matter which the Committee member might wish consider at the meeting. The member shall advise the Chairman or the Vice Chairman, designated Committee staff members in preparation for such meeting and to determine any matter which the Committee member might wish consider at the meeting. The member shall advise the Committee as a whole, under the supervision of the Chairman and Vice Chairman of the Committee. The duties of the Committee staff shall be to perform and Committee staff personnel affairs and day-to-day operations, including security and control of classified documents and material, and shall be administered by the Director and Minority Staff Director.

11.2. The Staff Director shall ensure that covert action programs of the U.S. Government receive appropriate consideration by the Committee no less frequently than once a quarter.

RULE 12. LEGISLATIVE CALENDAR

12.1. The Clerk of the Committee shall maintain a printed calendar for the information of each Committee member showing the measures introduced and referred to the Committee and the status of such measures; nominations referred to the Committee and their status; and such other matters as the Committee determines. The Legislative Calendar shall be revised from time to time to show pertinent changes.
such revision shall be furnished to each member of the Committee.

12. Unless otherwise ordered, measures referred to the Committee shall be referred by the Chairman in clause (A) to the appropriate department or agency of the Government for reports thereon.

RULE 13. COMMITTEE TRAVEL

13. No member of the Committee or Committee staff shall travel abroad on Committee business unless specifically authorized by the Chairman and Vice Chairman. Requests for authorization of such travel shall state the purpose and extent of the trip. A full report shall be filed with the Committee when travel is completed.

13. When the Chairman and the Vice Chairman of the Committee are absent from their home state, the traveling member of the Committee staff not accompanying a member of the Committee, all members of the Committee are to be advised, prior to the commencement of such travel, of its extent, nature and purpose. The report referred to in Rule 13 shall be furnished to all members of the Committee and shall not be otherwise disseminated without the express authorization of the Committee pursuant to the Rules of the Committee.

13. No member of the Committee staff shall travel abroad on Committee business unless specifically authorized by the Staff Director as directed by the Committee.

RULE 14. CHANGES IN RULES

These Rules may be modified, amended, or repealed by the Committee, provided that a notice in writing of the proposed change has been given to each member at least 48 hours prior to the meeting at which action thereon is to be taken.

APPENDIX A

94TH CONGRESS, 2D SESSION, S. RES. 400, REPORT NO. 94-673, IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES, MARCH 1, 1976

Mr. Mansfield (for Mr. Ribicoff) (for himself, Mr. Church, Mr. Percy, Mr. Baker, Mr. Brock, Mr. Chiles, Mr. Glenn, Mr. Huddleston, Mr. Jackson, Mr. Javits, Mr. Mathias, Mr. Metcalf, Mr. Mondale, Mr. Morgan, Mr. Muskie, Mr. Nunn, Mr. Roth, Mr. Schweiker, and Mr. Weicker) submitted the following resolution, ordered to the Committee on Government Operations:

MAY 19, 1976, CONSIDERED, AMENDED, AND AGREED TO resolution—To establish a Standing Committee of the Senate on Intelligence, and for other purposes.

Resolved, That it is the purpose of this resolution to establish a new select committee of the Senate, to be known as the Select Committee on Intelligence, to oversee and make continuing studies of the intelligence activities and programs of the United States Government, and to submit to the Senate appropriate legislative proposals and reports to the Senate concerning such intelligence activities and programs. In carrying out this purpose, the Select Committee on Intelligence shall use every effort to assure that the appropriate departments and agencies of the United States provide informed and timely intelligence necessary for the executive departments and branches of the Federal Government to make sound decisions affecting the security and vital interests of the Nation. It is further the purpose of this resolution to provide vigilant legislative oversight of the intelligence activities of the United States Government to assure that such activities are in conformity with the Constitution and laws of the United States.

SEC. 4. (a) The select committee, for the purposes of accountability to the Senate, shall make regular and periodic reports to the Senate on the nature and extent of the intelligence activities of the various departments and agencies of the United States. Such committee shall promptly call to the attention of the Senate any department or agency whose activities are not consistent with those of the committee.

(b) The select committee shall meet not less than once in every sixty days in each session of the Senate and shall have power to request the attendance of any officer or employee of the executive departments of the Government and any agency of the United States Government, and to compel their attendance, and the production of books, papers, records, correspondence, and other evidence.

(c) The select committee shall have power to compel the attendance of all persons having knowledge of any matter within the jurisdiction of the select committee and being within the United States, and to require the attendance of any witness or witnesses residing outside the United States, in the manner prescribed by law for the prosecution of crimes or upon legal processes.

(d) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(e) The select committee shall have power to hold public hearings, and to subpoena witnesses and require the submission of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(f) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(g) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(h) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(i) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(j) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(k) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(l) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(m) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(n) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(o) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(p) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(q) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(r) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(s) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(t) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(u) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(v) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(w) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(x) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(y) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(z) The select committee shall have power to require the submission to it of all papers, records, and other evidence relating to matters within the jurisdiction thereof.

(A) The Central Intelligence Agency and its Director.

(B) The Defense Intelligence Agency.

(C) The National Security Agency.

(D) The National Geospatial-Intelligence Agency.

(E) The Intelligence activities of the Department of Defense.

(F) The Intelligence activities of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

(G) Any department, agency, or subdivision which is the successor to any agency described in clause (A), (B), or (C).

(H) Any department, agency, or subdivision which is the successor to any agency described in clause (D) or (E) and which contains the successor to any department, agency, or subdivision described in clause (A), (B), (C), (D), or (E) or otherwise within the jurisdiction of any standing committee authorized to study and review any intelligence activity to which such legislation is referred.

(I) Any department, agency, or subdivision which is the successor to any department, agency, or subdivision described in clause (D) or (E) or otherwise within the jurisdiction of any standing committee authorized to study and review any intelligence activity to which such legislation is referred.

(J) Any department, agency, or subdivision which is the successor to any department, agency, or subdivision described in clause (D) or (E) or otherwise within the jurisdiction of any standing committee authorized to study and review any intelligence activity to which such legislation is referred.
United States or its interest. An unclassified version of each report may be made available to the public at the discretion of the select committee. Nothing herein shall be construed to prevent such committee from publicly disclosing any such information in any case in which such committee determines the national interest in the disclosure of such information outweighs any infringement on the privacy of any person or persons.

SEC. 8. (a) The select committee may, subject to the provisions of this section, disclose publicly any information in the possession of such committee after a determination by the select committee in consultation with the Senate or the committee to which the matter has been referred that it is necessary to prevent the disclosure of such information from the select committee or any member thereof at the discretion of the select committee.

(b) (1) In any case in which the select committee votes to disclose publicly any information which has been classified under established security procedures, which has been received such information under this sub-section, disclose such information except in accordance with the provisions of section 202(i) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 regarding matters within the jurisdiction of the select committee. The select committee shall make the final determination in which case the committee shall not disclose publicly such information unless the person or persons designated by the select committee that objects to the disclosure of such information provides his reasons therefor, and certifies that the disclosure of such information would be contrary to the interests of the United States posed by such disclosure. Whenever the select committee makes such determination, provides his reasons therefor, and certifies that the disclosure of such information would be contrary to the interests of the United States posed by the disclosure, the President, personally in writing, notifies the select committee of such determination in which case the committee shall not disclose such information. Any vote of the Senate to disclose publicly any information shall be made under such procedures and which the select committee, pursuant to subsection (a) or (b) of this section, determines that the disclosure of such information is necessary to prevent the disclosure of such information from the select committee or any member thereof. Any such vote of the Senate shall be made available to any person by a member, officer, or employee of the Senate except in a closed session of the Senate or as provided in paragraph (2).

(b) (2) The select committee, under such regulations as the committee shall prescribe, may disclose publicly any information, which the committee has determined shall not be classified under established security procedures. The select committee may, by majority vote, refer the question of disclosure of any information over the signature of the select committee. Any vote of the Senate to disclose publicly any information shall be made available to any person by a member, officer, or employee of the Senate except in a closed session of the Senate or as provided in paragraph (2).

(c) (1) No information in the possession of the select committee relating to the lawful intelligence activities of any department or agency of the United States which has been classified under established security procedures and which the select committee, pursuant to subsection (a) or (b) of this section, determines that the disclosure of such information is necessary to prevent the disclosure of such information from the select committee or any member thereof, shall be disclosed publicly except in accordance with the provisions of this section, which the select committee, with the prior consent of the Governor of the United States or the President of the United States, or the agency concerned and (9) with the prior consent of the Governor of the United States or the agency concerned.

(c) (2) The select committee may disclose publicly such information after the expiration of five days after the day on which the select committee receives such notice of such vote is transmitted to the President, unless, prior to the expiration of such five-day period, the President, personally in writing, objects to the disclosure of such information. Any vote of the Senate to disclose publicly any information made available to any other committee or any other Member of the Senate shall not be made available to any person by a member, officer, or employee of the Senate except in a closed session of the Senate or as provided in paragraph (2).

(c) (3) If the select committee, personally in writing, notifies the select committee of his objections to the disclosure of such information as provided in paragraph (2), such committee shall not disclose publicly such information unless the person or persons designated by the select committee that objects to the disclosure of such information provides his reasons therefor, and certifies that the disclosure of such information would be contrary to the interests of the United States posed by the disclosure. Whenever the select committee makes such determination, provides his reasons therefor, and certifies that the disclosure of such information would be contrary to the interests of the United States posed by the disclosure, the President, personally in writing, notifies the select committee of such determination in which case the committee shall not disclose such information without reliance of the President.

(c) (4) Whenever the select committee votes to refer the question of disclosure of any information to the Senate under paragraph (3), the select committee may, under such rules and procedures as the select committee shall determine, in consultation with the Senate or the committee to which the matter has been referred, make any information described in paragraph (1) available to any other committee or any other Member of the Senate. In any such case, the select committee shall keep a written record showing, in the case of any particular information, which the committee has determined shall not be classified under established security procedures and which the select committee, pursuant to subsection (a) or (b) of this section, determines that the disclosure of such information is necessary to prevent the disclosure of such information from the select committee or any member thereof, shall be disclosed publicly except in accordance with the provisions of this section, which the select committee, with the prior consent of the Governor of the United States or the agency concerned.

Sec. 9. The select committee is authorized to permit any personal representative of the President, as designated by the President to serve as a liaison to such committee, to attend any closed meeting of such committee.

Sec. 10. Upon expiration of the Select Committee on Standards and Conduct, a Senate Resolution on Governance With Respect to Intelligence Activities, established by Senate Resolution 21, Ninety-fourth Congress, all records, files, documents, and other materials in the possession, custody, or control of such committee, under appropriate conditions established by it, shall be transferred to the select committee.

SEC. 11. (a) It is the sense of the Senate that the head of each department and agency of the United States should keep the select committee fully and currently informed with respect to intelligence activities, including any significant anticipated activities, which are the responsibility of or engaged in by such department or agency. Provided, That this does not constitute a condition precedent to the implementation of any such anticipated intelligence activity.

(b) The select committee shall report immediately upon discovery to the select committee any and all intelligence activities which constitute violations of the constitutional rights of any person, violations of law, or violations of Executive orders, presidential directives, or departmental or agency rules or regulations; each department and agency should further report to such committee what actions have been taken or are expected to be taken by the department or agencies with respect to such violations.

SEC. 12. Subject to the Standing Rules of the Senate, the select committee shall be approprialed for any fiscal year beginning after September 30, 1976, with the exception of a continuing bill or resolution, or amendment thereto, or committee action, in the case of any department or agency of the United States to carry out any of the following activities, unless such funds shall have been previously authorized by joint resolution passed by the Senate during the same or preceding fiscal year to carry out such activity for such fiscal year:

(1) the activities of the Central Intelligence Agency and the Director of Central Intelligence.
(2) The activities of the Defense Intelligence Agency.
(3) The activities of the National Security Agency.
(4) The intelligence activities of other agencies and subdivisions of the Department of Defense.
(5) The intelligence activities of the Department of State.
(6) The intelligence activities of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, including all activities of the intelligence division.

SEC. 13. (a) The select committee shall:

(1) require each department and agency to report immediately to the select committee any and all intelligence activities which constitute violations of the constitutional rights of any person, violations of law, or violations of Executive orders, presidential directives, or departmental or agency rules or regulations; such department and agency should further report to such committee what actions have been taken or are expected to be taken by the department or agencies with respect to such violations.

(b) Each meeting of a standing, select, or special committee of the Senate, or any subcommittee thereof, including meetings to conduct hearings, shall be open to the public, except that a portion or portions of any such meeting may be closed if the majority of the members of the committee or subcommittee present that the matters to be discussed or the testimony to be taken at such portion or portions—

(1) would disclose matters necessary to be kept secret in the interests of national defense or the confidential conduct of the foreign relations of the United States;
(2) would relate solely to matters of committee staff personnel or internal staff management or procedure;
(3) would tend to charge an individual with crime or misconduct, to disgrace or injure the professional standing of an individual, or otherwise to expose an individual to public contempt or obloquy, or will represent a clearly unwarranted invasion of the privacy of an individual;
(4) would disclose the identity of any individual whose information relating to the investigation or prosecution of a criminal offense that is required to be kept secret in the interests of effective law enforcement; or
(5) would disclose information relating to the trade secrets or financial or commercial information pertaining specifically to a given person if—

"(A) an Act of Congress requires the information to be kept confidential by Government agencies and employees,";

"(B) the information has not been obtained by the Government on a confidential basis, other than through an application by such person for a specific Government or other benefit, and is required to be kept secret in order to prevent undue injury to the competitive position of such person. Whenever any hearing conducted by any such committee or subcommittee is open to the public, that hearing being broadcast by radio or television, or both, under such rules the subcommittee or subcommittee may adopt, ."

SEC. 15. (This section authorized funds for the select committee for the period May 19, 1976, through Feb. 28, 1977.)

APPENDIX B

96TH CONGRESS, 1ST SESSION, S. RES. 9, IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES, JANUARY 31, 1975

Mr. Chiles, (for himself, Mr. Roth, Mr. Biden, Mr. Brock, Mr. Church, Mr. Clark, Mr. Cranston, Mr. Hatfield, Mr. Hathaway, Mr. Hebert, Mr. Jiles, Mr. Javits, Mr. McGovern, Mr. Metcalf, Mr. Mondale, Mr. Muskie, Mr. Packwood, Mr. Percy, Mr. Proxmire, Mr. Stafford, Mr. Stevenson, Mr. Taft, Mr. Weicker, Mr. Bumpers, Mr. Stone, Mr. Culver, Mr. Ford, Mr. Hart of Colorado, Mr. Laxalt, Mr. Nelson, and Mr. Haskell) introduced the following resolution, which was read twice and referred to the Committee on Rules and Administration.

RESOLUTION—Amending the rules of the Senate relating to open committee meetings Resolved, That the XXV of the Standing Rules of the Senate is amended to read as follows:

"(b) Each meeting of a standing, select, or special committee of the Senate, or any subcommittee thereof, including meetings to conduct hearings, shall be open to the public, except that a portion or portions of any such meeting may be closed if the majority of the members of the committee or subcommittee present that the matters to be discussed or the testimony to be taken at such portion or portions—

(1) would disclose matters necessary to be kept secret in the interests of national defense or the confidential conduct of the foreign relations of the United States;
(2) would relate solely to matters of committee staff personnel or internal staff management or procedure;
(3) would tend to charge an individual with crime or misconduct, to disgrace or injure the professional standing of an individual, or otherwise to expose an individual to public contempt or obloquy, or will represent a clearly unwarranted invasion of the privacy of an individual;
(4) would disclose the identity of any individual whose information relating to the investigation or prosecution of a criminal offense that is required to be kept secret in the interests of effective law enforcement; or
(5) would disclose information relating to the trade secrets or financial or commercial information pertaining specifically to a given person if—

"(A) an Act of Congress requires the information to be kept confidential by Government agencies and employees,"
APPOINTMENTS BY THE VICE PRESIDENT

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair, on behalf of the Vice President, pursuant to Public Law 94-304, as amended by Public Law 99-7, appoints the following Senators to the Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe (Helsinki): The Senator from Texas (Mrs. HUTCHISON), the Senator from Michigan (Mr. ABRAHAM), and the Senator from Kansas (Mr. BROWNBACK).

The Chair, on behalf of the Vice President, pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 9355(a), appoints the following Senators to the Board of Visitors of the U.S. Air Force Academy:

The Senator from Colorado (Mr. ALLARD), from the Committee on Armed Services, and
The Senator from Montana (Mr. BURNS), from the Committee on Appropriations.

The Chair, on behalf of the Vice President, pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 6968(a), appoints the following Senators to the Board of Visitors of the U.S. Naval Academy:

The Senator from Arizona (Mr. MCCAIN), from the Committee on Armed Services, and
The Senator from Mississippi (Mr. COCHRAN), from the Committee on Appropriations.

The Chair, on behalf of the Vice President, pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 4355(a), appoints the following Senators to the Board of Visitors of the U.S. Military Academy:

The Senator from Pennsylvania (Mr. SANTORUM), from the Committee on Armed Services, and
The Senator from Texas (Mrs. HUTCHISON), from the Committee on Appropriations.

ORDERS FOR TUESDAY, MARCH 2, 1999

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that when the Senate reconvenes on Tuesday, March 2, immediately following the prayer, the Journal of the proceedings be approved to date, the morning hour be deemed to have expired, and the time for the two leaders be reserved.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

PROGRAM

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, for the information of Senators, the Senate will not be in session on Friday and will be in a pro forma session on Monday. The Senate will then reconvene on Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. and will begin consideration of S. 314, a bill providing small business loans regarding the year 2000 computer problems. There will be 1 hour for debate on the bill, equally divided between Senators BOND and KERRY of Massachusetts, with no amendments in order, to be followed by a vote on passage of the bill at 10:30 a.m.

Following that vote, the Senate will recess to allow Members to attend the confidential hearing regarding the Y2K issue in room S-407 of the Capitol.

The Senate will recess for the policy luncheons between the hours of 12:30 and 2:15 p.m. and, upon reconvening at 2:15, will begin consideration of S. Res. 7, a resolution to fund the special committee dealing with the Y2K issue. There will be 3 hours for debate on the resolution, with no amendments or motions in order. A vote will occur on adoption of the resolution upon the expiration or yielding back of time, or at approximately 5:15 p.m.

ADJOURNMENT UNTIL 10 A.M. MONDAY, MARCH 1, 1999

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, if there is no further business to come before the Senate, I now ask that the Senate stand in adjournment under the previous order. There being no objection, the Senate, at 4:12 p.m., adjourned until Monday, March 1, 1999, at 10 a.m.
EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

INTRODUCTION OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS PROCEDURE PROTECTION ACT OF 1999

HON. EDWARD J. MARKEY
OF MASSACHUSETTS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mr. MARKEY. Mr. Speaker, I am proud to join today with Representative CONNIE MORELLA to introduce the Civil Rights Procedures Protection Act of 1999. This bill is designed to reassert workers' rights to have their claims of unlawful employment discrimination settled by a court of law.

During the last decade, our nation has witnessed a sharp increase in the use of binding arbitration as a means of resolving legal claims. In particular, the number of employers using arbitration to resolve complaints of illegal employment discrimination or sexual harassment in the workplace has skyrocketed. According to the U.S. General Accounting Office, in just two of the number of employers using arbitration almost doubled; jumping from 10 percent of employers in 1995 to 19 percent of employers in 1997. The nation's leading association of arbitration professionals, the American Arbitration Association, concurred, noting that their caseload of employment arbitration disputes more than doubled between the years 1993 and 1996.

This rise in the use of arbitration has produced largely positive results. Voluntary arbitration, when it is administered in an impartial manner, can provide employees and employers alike with a fair, fast and inexpensive mechanism to resolve disputes. But too many employers have taken this potentially impartial judicial forum and tainted it by requiring arbitration of all employment discrimination claims.

As a condition of employment or promotion, a growing number of employers are requiring workers to agree to submit any future claims of job discrimination to mandatory binding arbitration panels. By forcing employees to sign away their fundamental rights to a court hearing, employers across the country have succeeded in circumventing our nation's civil rights laws and preventing discrimination claims from being involuntarily sent to binding arbitration. In short, this bill prevents employers in all industries from forcing employees to give up their right to go to court when they are discriminated against on account of race, sex, religion, disability, or other illegal criteria.

This legislation has the endorsement of numerous civil rights groups, including the National Organization for Women, the American Civil Liberties Union, the National Partnership for Women & Families, the National Council of La Raza, Women Employed, the National Employment Lawyers Association, and the National Association of Investment Professionals.

By enforcing the fundamental rights established under various civil rights and fair employment practice laws, our bill restores integrity to employer-employee relationships. No employer should be permitted to ask workers to check their Constitutional and civil rights at the front door.

TRIBUTE TO THE LATE WILLIS PARKISON

HON. SCOTT McINNIS OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mr. McINNIS. Mr. Speaker, it is with great sadness that I wish to take this opportunity to pay tribute to the remarkable life of my friend, Willis Parkinson. Sadly, Willis died on February 5, 1999. Though friends and family will no doubt miss him greatly, everyone who has known Willis can take great solace in the memories of this truly exceptional individual.

As those familiar with the area would surely testify, Willis Parkinson was one of the ablest and most respected attorneys in Western Colorado during his over thirty years in the legal profession between 1938 and 1978. In fact, except for being called into service during WWII as a Special Agent in the FBI, Willis practiced law in Glenwood Springs, Colorado continuously and with great distinction, specializing in probate work, wills and tax law.

As the fourth of six successive generations of Parkisons living in the Glenwood Springs area, Willis was also a proud member and active participant in his community. What's more, as the proud husband of Ruth Parkinson for 57 years, the father of Don, Susan, and Sarah, and the grandfather of Jessica and Amanda, Willis was, above all else, a family man. It is with these that our friend Willis' legacy now rests.

Like his family, all of Willis' friends, including myself, feel a great sense of loss in this difficult time. Though family, friends and the community of Glenwood Springs are clearly worse off in his absence, I am hopeful, Mr. Speaker, that each of these will find comfort and strength in the knowledge that they are better off for having known Willis Parkinson, a truly remarkable man.

LIFETIME ACHIEVEMENT AWARD FOR WARREN M. DORN

HON. LOIS CAPPs
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mrs. CAPPs. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to share with all of my constituents the Lifetime Achievement Award that was presented to my distinguished constituent Warren Dorn by the Alumni Association of the University of California, Santa Barbara. Warren Dorn, UCSB class of 1941, has had a remarkable record of public service.

He served as the Mayor of Pasadena, California which is famous for its Rose Bowl and Caltech University.

He served four terms as a member of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors. His service to L.A. County was honored in 1986 by the dedication of the Warren M. Dorn Recreation Complex at Castaic Lake.

Following his retirement from the Board of Los Angeles Country, Warren Dorn was persuaded to continue his public service as the Mayor of Morro Bay, California in my district. Morro Bay is noted for its distinctive coastal beauty and excellent restaurants!

Warren Dorn remains active in his community as President of the Morro Bay Beautiful Foundation. Based on his record, I am confident that Mr. Dorn has many more lifetimes of achievement remaining to be recognized. I wish to join the entire UCSB community in honoring this outstanding individual for his lifelong dedication to local public service.

SALUTING THE SECURITY FEDERAL CREDIT UNION

HON. DALE E. KILDEE
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mr. KILDEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to ask the House of Representatives to join me in congratulating the Security Federal Credit Union on its 50th anniversary. Security Federal Credit Union will be celebrating this anniversary at its annual meeting on February 28 in my hometown of Flint, Michigan.
For the past 50 years, Security Federal Credit Union has been an integral part of the financial community in the Flint area. Since signing the organizational charter in 1949, Security Federal Credit Union is committed to supplying the best service to its members. The staff and organization have forged a relationship with the over 40,000 members based upon respect, understanding and cooperation.

Security Federal Credit Union has helped families realize their dreams of new homes, and college educations for their children, through the savings program and the extensive loan program. The Credit Union has issued a billion dollars in loans since 1949. To help its members purchase the vehicles they make, Security Federal Credit Union offers a special loan rate for automobiles made in Flint.

The Credit Union has grown from one office in Flint to three locations in Flint and Saginaw. It now serves Buick employees and their families, Saginaw Metal Casting Operations employees and their families, members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Genesee County Bar Association and numerous other businesses and groups.

Striving to provide the most current technology to its members, Security Federal Credit Union has a web-site. This enables the members to access information and make transactions through electronic media from anywhere in the world.

Mr. Speaker, Security Federal Credit Union has reached a milestone this year. I ask the House of Representatives to rise and applaud their achievement. This Credit Union has made my hometown and mid-Michigan a better place to live through its commitment to the men and women it serves.

TRIBUTE TO ST. MARCELLIN CHAMPAGNAT

HON. ILEANA ROS-LEHTINEN
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to pay tribute to a great man of God, a visionary who founded the order of the Marist Brothers of the Schools and a Saint-to-be, Marcellin Champagnat.

Born in France in 1789, Marcellin Champagnat acquired a deep and unshakeable faith in God and in the protection of Mary. Remembering his own educational deprivation as a child, Marcellin made a sincere commitment to catechize poor children and provide them with a basic education. During his time in the major seminary of the Archdiocese of Lyons, Marcellin spread his contagious fervor, forming the nucleus of what was to later become the Society of Mary, or Marist Fathers.

As the Marist family continued to grow, the Marist Sisters, the Marist Missionary Sisters, and the third Order of Mary were formed in addition to the Marist Fathers and Brothers. Today, there are over 6,200 Marist Brothers worldwide doing God’s work in 75 different countries and 14 states which continue to carry out educational ministries in the Marist tradition.

On Sunday, April 18, as the Roman Catholic Church canonizes Marcellin Champagnat at a ceremony in St. Peter Basilica in Rome, the Cuban Maristas Alumnae Association, of my Congressional district will be preparing a mass at St. John Vianey Seminary and a reception at Christopher Columbus High School in my Congressional district to pay homage to Father Marcellin Champagnat.

INTRODUCTION OF THE PAUL ROBESON COMMEMORATIVE POSTAGE STAMP

HON. BOBBY L. RUSH
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mr. RUSH. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased today to join with several of my colleagues, to introduce a Concurrent Resolution urging the U.S. Postal Service’s Citizen Stamp Advisory Committee to issue a commemorative postage stamp honoring Paul Leroy Robeson.

This bill marks an important step towards the Federal Government acquiring additional African-Americans for all their contributions in this country. Paul Robeson throughout his career has left this country with a legacy that is unchangeable.

Paul Robeson was a famous African-American who inspired the spirit of millions of people in his lifetime. Robeson made significant contributions in many areas of academics, sports, entertainment, and politics. Paul Robeson was born in Princeton, New Jersey, on April 9, 1898. He sojourns even after his death in 1976, a great leader, artist, actor and advocate for the civil rights of people around the world. The youngest of five children, Robeson emerged to illustriousness in a time when people were being oppressed around the world, black individuals being lynched by whites, especially in the South and segregation was legal in America.

Paul Robeson became even more celebrated because of his role as a world notable singer and actor with exquisite performances that included Shakespeare’s Othello and Showboat. In counting, outfitted with the appreciation of twenty-five languages, Paul Robeson sang for peace and justice throughout the world.

Last year marked the 100th Birthday of Paul Robeson. It is only fitting that we celebrate Robeson’s legacy by issuing a commemorative postage stamp is his honor.

CLARIFICATION OF THE HI TAX

HON. RICHARD E. NEAL
OF MASSACHUSETTS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mr. NEAL of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, today I am introducing legislation to clarify that the employees of a political subdivision of a State shall not loose their exemption from the hospital insurance tax by reason of the consolidation of the subdivision with the State.

This issue has arisen because in 1997 Massachusetts abolished county government in the State and assumed those few functions which counties had performed, and made certain county officials employees of the State. Specifically, the law provided that the sheriff and all his personnel “shall be transferred to the commonwealth with no impairment of employment rights held immediately before the transfer date, without interruption of service, without impairment of seniority, retirement or other rights of employees, without reduction in compensation or salary grade and without change in union representation.”

However, the issue of whether or not these consolidated employees were required to pay the Medicare portion of the FICA tax needed to be clarified. Federal law creates an exemption from this tax from state and local employees who were employed on or before March 31, 1986 and who continue to be employed with that employer. The law is written so it is clear that consolidations between local entities, and consolidations between State agencies, do not in and of themselves negate the grandfather rule. However, the issue of a consolidation between a political subdivision and a State is not directly addressed and I doubt it was thought of during the Consideration of the federal law.

The Internal Revenue Service has taken the position that a State, and a political subdivision of a State, are separate employers for purposes of payment of the Medicare tax and therefore any grandfathered employees merged in a consolidation between a State and a political subdivision lose the benefit of the grandfather rule even if such employees perform substantially the same work.

In a Sixth Circuit Court case, Board of Education of Muhlenberg Co. V. United States, the court ruled on this general issue in terms of a consolidation of boards of education in Kentucky. The plaintiffs in this case argued that the consolidation of school districts did not create a new employer or terminate the employment of any teacher, and the Court agreed that Congress did not intend that exempt employees who have not been separated from previously excluded employment should lose their grandfather and be forced to pay the HI tax. While this case did not go to the issue of the consolidation between a State and a political subdivision, the logic indicates that this issue matters less than the overarching issue of whether the employees continue in the same of essentially the same positions. In Massachusetts this is clearly the case.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I urge the Congress to enact this legislation to clarify that local employees do not lose the benefit of the grandfather rule merely because they have been consolidated with a State government.

REPRESENTATIVE ROSEMARY POTTER—MILWAUKEE
NOW WOMAN OF THE YEAR

HON. THOMAS M. BARRETT
OF WISCONSIN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mr. BARRETT of Wisconsin. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate this opportunity to offer my congratulations to Representative Rosemary Potter. I look forward to joining Milwaukee National Organization for Women (NOW) on Saturday, February 27th, to honor Rosemary Potter as the Woman of the Year.

Rosemary Potter was elected to Wisconsin’s Assembly in 1989, the year I moved over to After leaving the state House in 1998, Representative Grampsas became Senator Grampsas, again, swiftly rising to positions of great import within the state Senate. In his first session as a State Senator—the current legislative session, Senator Grampsas served as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

Beyond his legislative accomplishments, Senator Grampsas also served distinguishedly in the private sector for 26 years as the director of national affairs for Coors Brewing Company. For 15 of those years, Senator Grampsas admirably balanced the significant time demands of his job with Coors with the demanding and weighty requirements of serving in elected office.

While the annals of Colorado history will likely remember Senator Grampsas for his multitude of legislative and professional accomplishments, for those, like myself, fortunate enough to know him as a friend, Senator Grampsas will long be remembered for his wit, wisdom and unyielding charity. In the final analysis, for those who have known him, Senator Grampsas was a genuinely kind and unassuming individual worthy of the proud legacy that he has left behind.

It is with this, Mr. Speaker, that I say thank you to Senator Tony Grampsas for endeavoring tirelessly on behalf of Coloradans and for providing leadership and inspiration to many, including myself. I am hoping that Senator Grampsas’ family—particularly his wife Sandy and children Lisa and Samuel—will find strength in this difficult time.

TEACHING AWARD RECOGNIZES DR. BARRY TANOWITZ

HON. LOIS CAPPs
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mrs. CAPPs, Mr. Speaker, it is with special pride that I share with my colleagues the recognition given to Dr. Barry Tanowitz, professor of Biology at the University of California, Santa Barbara for his teaching skills. The 1999 Teaching Award given by the UCSB Alumni Association recognizes university professors who are able to combine scholarship achievements with pedagogical talent.

Dr. Tanowitz, who received his Masters and Doctorate at UCSD, teaches three popular lower division biology courses, making difficult material both accessible and exciting for over a thousand students every year. In addition, he personally maintains a website in order to provide additional instruction.

We often hear that college professors do not pay enough attention to students or to teaching skills. Dr. Tanowitz is an active leader in efforts to improve university level pedagogy across the campus. And he is still able to find time to devote to his scholarly investigations and writings, and to his family.

Mr. Speaker, this award holds a special place in my heart as well. In 1998 the UCSB Teaching Award was presented posthumously to my husband, Walter Holden Capps. I can attest to the challenges of combining outstanding teaching with the rigors of research and scholarship which is faced by all university professors. I can also attest to its rewards, and the wonderful way in which these rare individuals have managed to touch so many lives. I am proud to join my friends at UCSB in recognizing the wonderful achievements of Professor Tanowitz and with him many, many years of continued success.

HONORING REVEREND FRANK O. HOCKENHULL

HON. DALE E. KILDEE
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mr. KILDEE, Mr. Speaker, it is an honor for me to rise before you today to recognize the achievements of Reverend Frank O. Hockenhull, of Flint, Michigan. On Friday, March 26, the congregation of Flint’s First Trinity Missionary Baptist Church will honor Reverend Hockenhull for the many contributions he has made over the last 30 years to both City and State in the name of the Lord.

It is difficult to imagine what the Flint community would be like 30 years ago had Reverend Hockenhull not been called to become Pastor of First Trinity on January 5, 1969. We have been truly blessed to have a man with his sense of dedication and selflessness among us. Over the years, Pastor Hockenhull has become a national authority on stewardship, traveling across the country to speak on the subject. He is a constant teacher of the Lord’s word, incorporating various Bible studies with his congregation as well as a Bible Clinic, designed to further people’s understanding of the Word. The First Trinity family has grown considerably over the last 30 years under Pastor Hockenhull’s leadership. The church’s congregation settled into a beautiful new facility in 1988, and six men have also entered the ministry as a result of Pastor Hockenhull’s influence.

Pastor Hockenhull’s time with the ministry has allowed him to develop a strong support network that extends outside the church. The pastor has been affiliated with and has held leadership positions in groups such as the Great Lakes District Congress, Wolverine Baptist State Congress, and the National Baptist Congress of Christian Education, to name a few. To further his personal growth, he has undertaken a pilgrimage to the Holy Land in March 1992.

Mr. Speaker, it is with great pride that I ask you and my fellow members of the 106th Congress to join me in saluting Pastor Frank O. Hockenhull. Self-evident is his lifelong journey to enhancing the dignity and nurturing the spirits of all people. I am grateful that there are people like that who serve as examples of what we all should strive to be.

IN HONOR OF THE WORLD FEDERATION OF FORMER CUBAN POLITICAL PRISONERS

HON. ILEANA ROSLEHTINEN
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Ms. ROSLEHTINEN, Mr. Speaker, an organization located in my Congressional district, the World Federation of Former Cuban Political Prisoners, represents an organized effort of commitment and action of former political prisoners of the Castro dictatorship who continue their historic struggle against the despotic regime of Fidel Castro.

As the organization’s constitution expresses, the World Federation of Former Cuban Political Prisoners finds its historic roots in those brave men and women who opposed the Cuban nation, and in particular, in the ideological leader of Cuban independence, Jose Marti.

Thousands of Cubans, following Marti’s example, have been personal witnesses to the horrors of Castro’s political prisons because of their tireless battle for Cuba’s independence, national sovereignty and respect for freedom within a democratic political system.

During the closing session of the XVI Annual Congress of this glorious organization, I want my Congressional colleagues to acknowledge with admiration and respect all former and present Cuban political prisoners who have given and continue to give their all for the restoration of freedom in Cuba.

A TRIBUTE TO LA ACTUALIDAD SPANISH NEWSPAPER

HON. ROBERT A. BRADY
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mr. BRADY of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I rise to honor La Actualidad Spanish Newspaper, which was founded 25 years ago by a group of Hispanic businessmen who felt that a newspaper was needed in the Delaware Valley to keep the Hispanic community informed about issues that impacted on their lives.

Since its inception, La Actualidad’s mission has been to provide its readers with the most current information on community events, cultural programs, education, business and political issues. The paper also offers a wide array of local, national, and international news and sports that pertain to its Hispanic readers.

Through the years, La Actualidad has become the voice of the Delaware Valley for the Hispanic community. It provides a vital link between the community and local, state and federal governments. It also provides as an important forum for the community to address critical issues.

As it celebrates a quarter of a century, La Actualidad remains committed to continuing as an unifying force in the Hispanic Community and as an advocate for social change.

THE NEED FOR A PRAGMATIC AND COHERENT SOUTH ASIA POLICY

HON. FRANK PALLONE, JR.
OF NEW JERSEY
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to draw attention to recent developments in South Asia, a region of growing importance to U.S. diplomatic, political, security and economic interests.

This past week, the news from the region has been positive. India’s Prime Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee personally inaugurated the new bus service with Pakistan. Prime Minister Vajpayee crossed the border into Lahore, Pakistan, where he was greeted by Pakistani Prime Minister, Nawaz Sharif. Their embrace, seen on television sets around the world, was full of powerful symbolism, which we all hope will be matched by progress toward easing tensions between these two South Asian nations.

During 1998, of course, the news from this region was dominated by the nuclear tests conducted by India and Pakistan, which resulted in the automatic imposition of unilateral American sanctions on both countries. The result, particularly in the case of India, has been a set-back in the promising trend towards increased trade and investment we saw during most of the 1990s. Last year, through bipartisan cooperation between Congress and the Administration, we succeeded in easing some, but far from all, of the sanctions that were imposed.

Today, Mr. Speaker, I wanted to outline a new approach, a new pragmatism, that I hope will mark our future relations with India—the world’s largest democracy, a country whose population will exceed one billion people in the next decade, a country with enormous potential for trade and cooperation, and a country with legitimate defense concerns that we must recognize and respect.

While we may not necessarily welcome a world with more nuclear powers, I believe that India, in particular, would be a responsible partner in nonproliferation. This would require a major shift in our focus, from simply condemning India for becoming a nuclear power—which, whether we like it or not, is the reality—to adjusting our thinking to this new reality and working to promote peace, security, confidence building and non-proliferation in South Asia.

This will require on our part a greater recognition of India’s legitimate security needs and the prospects for greater Indo-U.S. cooperation in responding to the threats posed by another Asian country that must be taken into consideration when we address the India-Pakistan issue. That country is China.

I believe that China is the real threat to India, as well as to U.S. interests and to regional security. It is in this context, India’s potential role as a partner for peace and stability should be understood.

In particular, India has legitimate concerns about China’s support for Pakistan’s nuclear missile programs, as well as potential Chinese designs on India territory. Since the U.S. must also view China as a potential adversary, there is a growing convergence of American and Indian objectives for responding to China.

Talks between our Deputy Secretary of State Strobe Talbott and Indian Foreign Minister Jaswant Singh have shown some progress, but I believe the U.S. needs to do much more to create a framework for cooperation that recognizes the new realities in the region. I believe we have to be more pragmatic and flexible in working with India, including a greater appreciation of the security concerns that prompted India to conduct nuclear tests in the first place.

I would like to draw attention to a recent report by the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS) South Asia program, which noted that India and Pakistan are beginning to define “minimum deterrence” in similar ways.

The U.S. should work to build on this emerging notion of minimum deterrence, combined with a declared policy of no-first-use of nuclear weapons.

I also wanted to mention a report that appeared in the January 19, 1999, edition of the newspaper India Abroad, outlining the views of Mr. Tariq Rauf, director of the International Organizations and Non-Proliferation Project at the Monterey Institute of International Studies in Monterey, California. Mr. Rauf sees Washington opting for a strategy of greater accommodation in its negotiations with both India and Pakistan, recognizing that neither nation is likely to give up its nuclear weapons. Writing in the latest edition of “The Bulletin of Atomic Scientists,” Rauf said India and Pakistan should not only be encouraged, but assisted, to consider a variety of bilateral and multilateral discussions and agreements “to maintain their current tacit non-proliferation practices regarding nuclear weapons and ballistic missiles.”

Rauf also said both countries should be encouraged to agree “on some measure of sufficiency in terms of weapons-usable fissile materials, warheads and weapons systems; to negotiate and implement a package of regional confidence and security-building measures; and to actively contribute to the universalization of current global non-proliferation norms.”

Rauf’s conclusion: “a nuclear South Asia is here to stay.” Thus, he calls on us to help address the security concerns that led both nations to develop nuclear weapons in the first place. He stresses that, “Pragmatic arms control strategies must therefore focus on accommodation, not appeasement or confrontation.”

Our goal should be to make India a partner in the American foreign policy goal of minimizing the threat of nuclear war. One way of accomplishing this is to take the long overdue step of accepting India as a permanent member of the UN Security Council. The key is to make India a partner for peace, and not to isolate India and further contribute to the perception that India’s legitimate security concerns are not receiving adequate attention or respect.

Mr. Speaker, I hope that 1999 will be a better year in U.S.-India relations than 1998 was. Karl Inderfurth, Assistant Secretary of State for South Asian Affairs, recently indicated that President Clinton is hoping to visit India and Pakistan this year, pending progress on the current talks. It’s been 15 years since an American President was last in India. Mr. Speaker, I hope we don’t have to wait too much longer.

REPRESENTATIVE BARBARA NOTSTEIN—MILWAUKEE NOW WOMAN OF THE YEAR

HON. THOMAS M. BARRETT
OF WISCONSIN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mr. BARRETT of Wisconsin. Mr. Speaker, on Saturday, February 27th, Milwaukee National Organization for Women (NOW) will honor Wisconsin Representative Barbara Notstein as the Woman of the Year. I appreciate this opportunity to share with my colleagues one of my state’s most distinguished leaders.

Barbara Notstein and I were both elected to the Wisconsin Assembly in 1984. We grew into the job together, and I learned a lot from her empathetic approach to public policy and political leadership. She never forgot that the bills we considered and the policies we crafted affected real people with real families. She always considered how a bill might affect our community’s most disadvantaged families, and she often helped and sometimes forced the legislature to see through their eyes.

Barbara’s legislative accomplishments reflected this focus. She took the lead in establishing Wisconsin’s Children at Risk program and the state’s Birth to Three Program, as well as a family leave system and an initiative to even the playing field for under-resourced schools. She also led the fight to fund programs that helped women to start or expand their own businesses, and she established and funded programs to curb sexual harassment and to support the victims of sexual assault.

Barbara Notestein’s strong stands on key issues and her ability to forge working coalitions won her a leadership role. She was the first woman elected to serve as the Wisconsin Assembly’s Assistant Majority Leader.

As a legislator, I admire Barbara Notestein. She reminds me that, to be an effective public servant, you need heart as much as you need smarts. I admire her as an advocate for the public good. She reminds me that the most compelling way to lead others is by example.

Mr. Speaker, Representative Barbara Notestein has been a clear, strong and consistent voice for women and women’s issues in the Wisconsin Legislature. I commend Milwaukee NOW on a perfect choice for Woman of the Year, and I warmly congratulate Barbara Notestein on her remarkable career of public service.

PRIVATE ACTIVITY BOND EXPANSION

HON. RICHARD E. NEAL
OF MASSACHUSETTS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mr. NEAL of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, today Representative HOUGHTON and I are introducing the State and Local Investment Opportunity Act of 1999. This legislation would raise the annual limit on states’ authority to increase of 75 percent between 1980 and 1994.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention reported that more than 10,000 Americans suffer from asthma—a disease that affects children in the United States. In 1996, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention reported that costs related to asthma were estimated to be $6.2 billion in 1990, and expected to increase more than double by the year 2000.

The Urban Asthma Reduction Act of 1999 asks for action. The bill proposes to amend the Preventive Health and Health Services Block Grant Program, authorized by the Public Health Service Act, by adding integrated cockroach management to rodent control as an eligible activity for funding.

Integrated cockroach management is a multi-faceted approach to controlling the prevalence of cockroaches while minimizing pesticide use. It involves a range of techniques that include building cleaning and maintenance, and using pesticides as a means of last resort. The funds could be used for structural rehabilitation of buildings. This includes patching holes or open pipes that allow cockroaches entry; caulking cracks in walls; moving boxes away from buildings so cockroaches do not have easy access; and ensuring that all windows are properly screened.

The Urban Asthma Reduction Act creates new possibilities for communities that are serious about making integrated pest management a component of a comprehensive public health policy. My hope is that the Urban Asthma Reduction Act of 1999 will prove a viable tool for urban communities to improve the quality and life of all residents, but especially children who suffer from asthma.

A TRIBUTE TO TAYLOR COUNTY FIRE AND RESCUE

HON. ALLEN BOYD
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to the Taylor County Fire Rescue Department, for their courage and devotion in the face of disaster.

This past summer, the Florida Gas Transmission Company’s Perry Gas Compressor exploded. Flames raged for nearly seven hours, injuring five people and leveling six homes in the area. Taylor County Fire Rescue responded first, with firefighters from other areas offering assistance.

Taylor County Rescue Chief Ashley Newell, firefighter Lt. Peter Bishop, firefighter Danny Hunter and volunteer Sonny Buchalter demonstrated considerable courage under pressure. While fighting the fire from the first explosion, a secondary explosion caught the men off guard, trapping them near advancing flames. Only hasty action on their part prevented injuries from becoming fatalities. Their quick decisions saved the lives of several citizens and averted extensive property damage.

Mr. Speaker, it is with great honor that I pay tribute to the Taylor County Fire Rescue Department. By placing their lives in danger, these firefighters have shown great courage and devotion to the protection of their community.
BANGLADESH IMMIGRATION BILL
H. R. 849
HON. BENJAMIN A. GILMAN
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999
Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, it is with great pleasure that I rise to introduce H.R. 849 a bill to provide for the adjustment of status of certain nationals of Bangladesh who have resided in the United States for over a decade. Despite attempts at promoting democracy and pluralism in Bangladesh, nearly half of that nation's populations still live below the poverty line. Per capita income is approximately $260 per year making Bangladesh one of the poorest nations in the world.

The monsoons of 1998 have magnified Bangladesh's problems making it ever more difficult for the people of that nation to distribute the scarce resources available. With 830 people per square kilometer, Bangladesh is one of the most densely populated places in the world. In 1992, nearly 7½ of Bangladeshi children suffered from severe malnutrition. The current picture in Bangladesh remains exceedingly bleak.

The recent nuclear threats emanating from Bangladesh's larger neighbors have placed further burdens on a nation which has traveled so far in its quest for democracy yet remains precariously perched in a very dangerous neighborhood. These issues highlight the needs of this country and its people. We can do something vital and tangible to demonstrate our commitment to help a limited number of Bangladeshi people who have lived in the United States for at least a decade, contributed to American society and in many cases raised their American children.

The perils of living in poverty and in the climactic devastation in Bangladesh has forced some of these people to follow the same route of our own ancestors and seek refuge in the United States. Some of these people are suspended in a state of permanent illegality, entangled in a labyrinth of changing complex immigration laws. The people are not on our welfare roles and will not become wards of the state. They are good, hard working people with whom I have been proud to associate.

Mr. Speaker, let us do what is right, let us do what is just and let us do what is humane. Let us respect that role that immigrants have played in the cultural mosaic that is our United States. They are good, hard working people.

According to my colleagues, they have held a limited number of Bangladeshi people who have lived in the United States on the date the application for adjustment under this subsection is filed, except an alien shall not be considered to have failed to maintain continuous physical presence by reason of an absence, or absences, from the United States for any periods in the aggregate not exceeding 180 days.

(2) PROOF OF CONTINUOUS PRESENCE.—For purposes of establishing that the period of continuous physical presence referred to in paragraph (1) commenced not later than July 1, 1989, an alien—

(A) shall demonstrate that the alien, prior to July 1, 1989, performed service, or engaged in a trade or business, within the United States which is evidenced by records maintained by the Commissioner of Social Security; or

(ii) applied for any benefit under the Immigration and Nationality Act by means of an application establishing the alien's presence in the United States prior to July 1, 1989; or

(B) shall maintain continuous physical presence referred to in paragraph (1) commenced not later than July 1, 1989 and ending not earlier than the date the application for adjustment under this subsection is filed.

(c) STAY OF REMOVAL; WORK AUTHORIZATION.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Attorney General shall provide for, and procedures for, administrative review as are provided for, in section 242 of the Immigration and Nationality Act; or

(2) aliens subject to removal proceedings under section 240 of such Act.

(g) LIMITATION OF JUDICIAL REVIEW.—A determination by the Attorney General as to whether the status of any alien should be adjudged under this section is final and shall not be subject to review by any court.
from the matrix
it is not fresh tissues
—for microscopic study—
one may find unique as the white tiger’s pink paws and blue eyes,
Art
leaves her lover as a Komitas deciphering intricate Armenia neums, with a wild surmise.

RENEZDOW WITH AMERICA
I see Joe DiMaggio
As his bat cuts a vacuum in the paralyzed air:
In brown J oe Louis, surged in white acclaim,
As he fights his country’s curse in Madison Square.

A TRIBUTE TO PATRICIA STAFF OF ONALASKA, WISCONSIN
HON. RON KIND
OF WISCONSIN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999
Mr. KIND. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Patricia Staff, a true hometown hero from Wisconsin.
Last month, Patricia Staff, who is a resident of our district, took action that potentially saved the life of a young student. Patricia is a school crossing guard in Onalaska, Wisconsin. On Friday, January 8, she was working at her usual crossing location at Quincy Street and Sand Lake Road in Onalaska. While helping students cross this busy intersection, she noticed a car swerving through traffic with no intention of stopping. Patricia quickly grabbed a young boy crossing the intersection and pulled him out of harms way. According to the police, Patricia’s actions saved the child from a certain injury and possibly death.
Every day, throughout our nation, dedicated men and women serve our country as school crossing guards. It is easy to overlook their work. The job they do, however, is vital to the teaching mission of the schools and the safety and well-being of our children.
Patricia Staff is a tribute to the people of western Wisconsin and all crossing guards.
Patricia Staff put the protection of those children going to school above all other concerns, and because of that she potentially saved a life. I rise today to commend Patricia Staff for her work, thank her for dedication to her community, and praise her as a true hero.

LIFETIME ACHIEVEMENT AWARD FOR ROBERT SHERMAN
HON. LOIS CAPPS
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999
Mrs. CAPPS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to share with my colleagues the award for Lifetime Achievement that was presented to my remarkable constituent Bob Sherman by the Alumni Associations of the University of Caliifornia, Santa Barbara. Bob Sherman, UCSB
Alumni Associations of the University of California, Santa Barbara. Bob Sherman, UCSB
Alumni Associations of the University of Cali-
ifornia, Santa Barbara. Bob Sherman, UCSB
Class of 1947, has had a phenomenal record of success as a national and international sentior tennis champion. He has won more senior tennis titles than all but one other player ever.
Over the past thirty-five years there have been only a few in which he did not win a national or international championship. As recently as 1996 he won the singles Grand Slam. Yet in our hometown of Santa Barbara, he is better known as a very popular tennis pro and instructor who is eager to work with students of all ages.
Bob Sherman remains active and competitive, with many lifetimes of achievement remaining in his wonderful career. He is a member of the UCSB Athletic Hall of Fame and is a testimonial that excellence can be achieved at any age, and that comes to us all. I am proud to join my friends at UCSB in recognizing Bob Sherman’s on-going lifetime of achievement.
IN HONOR OF THE PROMOTION TO MAJOR OF CAPTAIN JOHN F.
"JACK" DROHAN

HON. JIM NUSSLE
OF IOWA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mr. NUSSLE. Mr. Speaker, let me take this opportunity to say a few words in tribute to USAF Captain John F. “Jack” Drohan. Captain Drohan is currently serving as the Chief of Acquisition Career Management Policy working for the Under Secretary of Air Force Acquisition in the Pentagon. Tomorrow, February 26, 1999, Captain Drohan, a loyal and dedicated Air Force officer, will be promoted to the rank of Major. With this promotion, he was also selected for attendance at the Air Force’s Intermediate Service School.

After completing his B.S. degree in Aerospace Engineering at the University of Florida, Captain Drohan was commissioned as a 2nd Lieutenant in the United States Air Force on May 2, 1987. He served at Wright Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio where he received a M.S. in Engineering Management from the University of Dayton. Captain Drohan also served in the Air Force’s Education with Industry program for 10 months with Tracor Aerospace in Austin, Texas before serving at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio. Captain Drohan is also a distinguished graduate of Squadrons Officer School and has represented his squadron at the Top Tech Air Force Instructor Competition.

Mr. Speaker, I congratulate Captain Jack Drohan on his promotion to Major, and extend to him my best wishes for continued service to the Air Force and our great country.

TRIBUTE TO MACK WILLIE RHODES

HON. JAMES E. CLYBURN OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mr. CLYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in paying tribute to a pillar in my hometown, Mr. Mack Willie Rhodes of Sumter, South Carolina. An African-American great-great-grandfather, Mr. Rhodes has been a champion in his community for many years. He is continually offering his assistance to neighbors, friends and family in many capacities. Mr. Rhodes is the oldest member of Melina Presbyterian Church, where he has worshiped since 1915. Mr. Rhodes is an Elder in his church and was a Sunday School Superintendent for many years. He also taught Sunday school at the Goodwill Presbyterian Church and has been a member of Masonic Lodge Golden Gate No. 73 since 1948.

Mr. Rhodes was born in Sardinia, South Carolina, on February 25, 1898 to Robert and Olivia William Rhodes. Mr. Rhodes is the second oldest of 15 children. Family, good values, and good living are Mr. Rhodes’ most cherished possessions.

At an early age Mr. Rhodes married Annie Elizabeth Hammett Rhodes (deceased). They had 14 children: Calvin Oliver Rhodes, John Tillman Rhodes, Adrianna Olivia Cooper, Sussana H. Hannibal, Annie Elizabeth Muldrow, Hattie Jane Burgess, Mack Willie Rhodes, Sam J. Rhodes, Daisy B. Sims, Willie Rhodes, Albert Rhodes, Viola Rhodes Montgomery, MacArthur Rhodes, and Paul Rhodes. Mr. Rhodes later married Mrs. Carrie Smith Rhodes (deceased), who brought two children to their union: Maggie and Johnny Smith. He is affectionately known as “Papa” by his 7 children (9 deceased), 41 grandchildren (5 deceased), 41 great-grandchildren (2 deceased) and 10 great-great-grandchildren.

Mr. Rhodes' favorite pastime is reading the Bible, newspapers and magazines. He also enjoys watching baseball, the news, and news related programs on television. He still takes time to visit the sick in his community to offer any assistance he may be able to provide. His favorite Bible scripture is the 23rd Chapter of Psalms. Mr. Rhodes also lives by a motto, “Treat others as you would have them treat you.”

Mr. Speaker, please join me in wishing Mr. Mack Willie Rhodes a prosperous and happy 101st birthday. He is truly a living example of the American spirit.

BLACK HISTORY MONTH

SPEECH OF
HON. WILLIAM J. COYNE
OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 24, 1999

Mr. COYNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in observance of Black History Month.

The United States has officially observed Black History Month every February since 1975. The idea of observing Black History Month must be credited to Dr. Carter G. Woodson, a prominent educator, historian and author, who created Negro History Week in 1926. For over 70 years, each February Americans have been encouraged to reflect upon the contributions that African Americans have made to American life and culture—and to think about the unfinished business this great country faces in addressing what has been referred to as America’s own original sin—slavery and racism.

The Association for the Study of Afro-American Life and History, an organization dedicated to the elimination of segregation and discrimination. In those years, Marcus Garvey led an influential black nationalist movement and fought institutional racism in the United States.

In the 1920s, 30s, and 40s, A. Philip Randolph worked to form the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, an organization dedicated to the elimination of segregation and discrimination. In the post-Reconstruction era, African Americans like Booker T. Washington, W.E.B. DuBois, and Martin Luther King fought for equal rights and to improve the claim of all African Americans to the rights already enjoyed by whites.

And since the end of World War II, African American leaders like Thurgood Marshall, Martin Luther King, Adam Clayton Powell, Jesse Jackson, Colin Powell, and Ralph Bunche have made their mark on American history—in our courts, our schools, our government, our politics, the military, and in foreign affairs. African American women like Fannie Lou Hamer, Shirley Chisholm, and Barbara Jordan broke old barriers and won the respect of millions of Americans for their intelligence, their dedication, and their professional accomplishments.

This recital of African American leaders is by no means all-inclusive. In fact, it touches upon only a few of the African American leaders who have shaped this country’s history. Their names are intended merely to document the observation that African American leaders have played an important positive role in our nation’s past.

As part of the annual observance of Black History Month, it is instructive to remind ourselves that in the face of racism, discrimination, violence, many African Americans have successfully taken action to change our society and determine their own destiny within it. I believe that African Americans today can draw great satisfaction and strength from that history.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Monday, February 25, 1999

Mr. Speaker, please join me in wishing Mr. Sam J. Rhodes, Daisy B. Sims, Willie Rhodes, Albert Rhodes, Viola Rhodes Montgomery, MacArthur Rhodes, and Paul Rhodes. Mr. Rhodes later married Mrs. Carrie Smith Rhodes (deceased), who brought two children to their union: Maggie and Johnny Smith. He is affectionately known as “Papa” by his 7 children (9 deceased), 41 grandchildren (5 deceased), 41 great-grandchildren (2 deceased) and 10 great-great-grandchildren.

Mr. Rhodes' favorite pastime is reading the Bible, newspapers and magazines. He also enjoys watching baseball, the news, and news related programs on television. He still takes time to visit the sick in his community to offer any assistance he may be able to provide. His favorite Bible scripture is the 23rd Chapter of Psalms. Mr. Rhodes also lives by a motto, “Treat others as you would have them treat you.”

Mr. Speaker, please join me in wishing Mr. Mack Willie Rhodes a prosperous and happy 101st birthday. He is truly a living example of the American spirit.
A BILL TO INCREASE THE ANNUAL CAP ON STATES’ AUTHORITY TO ISSUE THEIR OWN TAX-EXEMPT PRIVATE ACTIVITY BONDS AND TO INDEX SUCH AMOUNTS IN THE FUTURE

HON. AMO HOUGHTON
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mr. HOUGHTON. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to join my colleague from Massachusetts, Mr. NEAL, together with a number of other colleagues, in introducing our bill, “The State and Local Investment Opportunity Act of 1999.” The bill would raise the annual cap on states’ authority to issue their own tax-exempt “Private Activity” bonds to $75 times population ($225 million if greater) and provides for an inflation adjustment based on the consumer price index for calendar years after 2000. The bill would be effective for calendar years after 1999.

A similar bill was introduced in the 105th Congress and was enacted without the indexation provision and the increase in the annual cap is being phased in starting in 2003. Thus, our new bill is the same as last year’s bill except for the indexation and effective date. Chairman ARCHER of the Ways and Means Committee was totally cooperative in our effort last Congress, and indeed was key in including our original proposal in the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1998, which the House passed but the Senate did not take up. Nevertheless, the Chairman persisted in including the phased-in provision in the smaller so-called “extender bill” that was enacted.

We believe this change is important to all of us, in that tax-exempt Private Activity Bonds finance affordable ownership and rental housing, manufacturing job creation, environmental cleanup, infrastructure and student loans. Nation-wide, demand for bond authority exceeded supply by nearly 50 percent in 1997, according to the National Council of State Housing Agencies. This is a bipartisan issue. Three-quarters of the House supported our bill in the 105th Congress and a majority of the Senate cosponsored identical Senate legislation. The nation’s governors and mayors, other state and local governmental groups, and the public finance community all strongly support full bond cap restoration.

On the possibility that a large tax package moves forward this session, we believe it is important to reconsider the effective date issue, as well as the indexing for inflation going forward.

We urge our colleagues to join us in cosponsoring this important legislation—“The State and Local Investment Opportunity Act of 1999.”

IN HONOR OF CASIMIR PULASKI
HON. JANICE D. SCHAKOWSKY
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Ms. SCHAKOWSKY. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the millions of Polish Americans, the city of Chicago, the people of Illinois and citizens of our nation, I rise today in honor of Casimir Pu- laski, a patriot and military hero and the Father of the American Cavalry.

While countless words have been spoken and many volumes have been written about Casimir Pulaski’s life, I believe this contribution to his native home and his bravery on behalf of his adopted land are immeasurable.

Casimir Pulaski was born on March 4, 1747 in Warka, Poland. He was a valiant fighter during Poland’s war of independence from Russia. But for his distinguished service toward freedom and independence on behalf of his people and his beloved Poland, he was forced to flee to America in 1777.

He remained a voice for just causes and an unwavering spirit for freedom. That is why he joined in America’s struggle against the colonists and fought alongside General George Washington during the Revolutionary War. He was named brigadier general and the first commander of the American cavalry. For his bravery and service, he was bestowed, and rightly so, the title of “Father of the American Cavalry.”

He paid the ultimate price for his convictions and was famously wounded during the Battle of Savannah.

Casimir Pulaski is an American hero, who fought for freedom, with honor and courage. As we commemorate this legend, I also wish to recognize the countless accomplishments and great contributions of Polish Americans to our nation.

INTRODUCTION OF THE DEATH TAX ELIMINATION ACT
HON. JENNIFER DUNN OF WASHINGTON
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Ms. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, it’s been said that only with our government are you given a “certificate at birth, a license at marriage, and a bill at death.” Today I am introducing the Death Tax Elimination Act, which seeks to phase-out the onerous death tax. The death tax rates will be reduced by 5 percent points each year until the highest rate bracket—55 percent—reaches zero in 2010. As these rates are lowered to zero, more and more families will no longer be forced to give the family savings to Uncle Sam and the family business will be saved. In an era when the productivity of American workers is creating huge budget surpluses, it is incomprehensible for this tax to live on. The death tax deserves to die.

One of the most compelling aspects of the American dream is to make life better for your children and loved ones. Yet, the current tax treatment of individuals and families at death is so onerous that when one dies, their children are many times forced to sell and turn over more than half of their inheritance just to pay the taxes. It takes place at an agonizing time for the family; when families should be grieving for a loved one with friends and relatives, rather than spending painful hours with lawyers and bureaucrats.

By bifurcating between 37 percent and 55 percent of an estate, the death tax punishes successful entrepreneurs and penalizes families, and has an enormous negative effect on other tax revenues. Americans today are living longer and enjoying their retirement. At a time when this Congress is discussing the future of Social Security, and how to personalize and modernize the system, we also need to encourage private investment. We should be encouraging people to plan for their future with retirement plans and IRAs, rather than encouraging reckless spending and an me-first attitude.

This country was born on the promise of hope and opportunity, and by taxing families and businesses at their most agonizing time, we destroy their hope for the future.

By today’s tax system, it is easier and cheaper to sell a business before death rather than to try to pass it on after. More than 70 percent of family business and farms do not survive through the second generation. Nine out of ten successors whose family-owned businesses failed within three years of the principal owner’s death said trouble paying estate taxes contributed to the company’s demise.

For family owned businesses, this is a tax just because the business is changing ownership due to the death of an owner.

Aside from being a source of revenue, another express purpose of the estate tax was to break up large concentrations of wealth. 75 years later, however, reality suggests that rather than being an important means for promoting equal economic opportunity, the estate tax is in fact a barrier to economic advancement for people of all economic circumstances. In effect, the death tax, which was established to redistribute wealth, hurts those it was meant to help—namely, America’s working men and women. When small businesses close their doors, loyal employees lose their jobs.

The saying goes that death and taxes are the only certainties in life. I believe it is ridiculous that the government force the American people to deal with both on the same day. Families should be allowed—and encouraged—to save for future generations. I invite my colleagues to join JOHN TANNER and me in our bi-partisan effort to eliminate this detrimental and cruel tax.

TRIBUTE TO THE 75TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE JUDSON CENTER
HON. SANDER M. LEVIN
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, February 25, 1999

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to honor the Judson Center on the occasion of their 75th Anniversary.

The Judson Center began as a children’s home with a single matron tending to the emotional, physical and spiritual growth of only a few children. As children and families became more fragmented and victimized by poverty, disabilities, abuse and neglect, the Judson Center grew to meet these new challenges.

Under the 17 year leadership of Mounir W. Sharobeem, the Judson Center has 365 employees and is a comprehensive, multi-faceted, community-based human service center providing care for over one thousand individuals on any given day. It serves individuals in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and Kalamazoo counties.

In 1991, the agency won Crain’s Detroit Business “Best Managed Non-Profit Award,” and the Peter F. Drucker Award for Non-Profit...
Mr. OXLEY. Mr. Speaker, I’d like to offer a tip of the old baseball cap to a great team player—Wilmer Mizell.

I was saddened to learn of Wilmer’s death this past Sunday at the age of 68. It’s appropriate that Congress put its appreciation of one of its most genial Members in the record books.

I first came across Wilmer Mizell not as a Congressman from North Carolina, but as a cagey major league pitcher known as “Vinegar Bend” on his baseball cards. Truly the kind of great baseball nickname I fondly remember from my boyhood in the 1950’s.

Anyway, I was a 14-year-old fan when I met Wilmer and some of his fellow St. Louis Cardinals in Milwaukee. He gave me his autograph—and I still treasure those Cardinal autographs today—and tickets to the game. That’s when ballplayers really were heroes to their fans, and when baseball was the indispensible National Pastime.

You’ll find Wilmer Mizell permanently listed in the baseball fan’s bible, the Encyclopedia of Baseball. He pitched for the Cardinals, the Pittsburgh Pirates, and the New York Mets. He was a key addition for the Pirates in 1960, when Pittsburgh capped an improbable World Series victory over the Yankees on Bill Mazeroski’s stunning home run. Wilmer then performed the ultimate sacrifice on behalf of the grand old game by toiling for the expansion Mets.

After a few years, Wilmer Mizell broke into another exclusive lineup. He was elected as a Congressman from North Carolina. Wilmer served his district with distinction from 1968 to 1974. He would later serve in the Commerce Department under President Ford and in the Agriculture Department under President Reagan. His easy-going style masked a savvy mind.

When I was a boy, I couldn’t have imagined that I would meet Wilmer Mizell on the baseball field again  only this time, as a Congressman. For years, Wilmer was a fixture at the congressional baseball game. As a long-time player, I can’t tell you how much it meant to have Wilmer at practice and at the game itself. One of my great regrets in my first year as manager of the Republican team is that Wilmer won’t be there to share his advice, wisdom, and wit.

But we will all remember Wilmer Mizell when we rise for the National Anthem before the game this June. He was the essence of two traits common to success in baseball and politics: good-hearted competition and real camaraderie. We’ll miss this great ballplayer, great American, and truly good friend.
HIGHLIGHTS

Senate agreed to Human Rights in China Resolution.

Senate

Chamber Action

Routine Proceedings, pages S1971-S2056

Measures Introduced: Twenty-five bills and 5 resolutions were introduced, as follows: S. 466-490, and S. Res. 50-54.

Measures Reported: Reports were made as follows:

S. Res. 51, providing for members on the part of the Senate of the Joint Committee on Printing and the Joint Committee on the Library, without recommendation.

S. Res. 52, to authorize the printing of a collection of the rules of the committees of the Senate, without recommendation.

Measures Passed:

Human Rights in China: Committee on Foreign Relations was discharged from further consideration of S. Res. 45, expressing the sense of the Senate regarding the human rights situation in the People’s Republic of China, and by a unanimous vote of 99 yeas (Vote No. 27), Senate agreed to the resolution.

Small Business Year 2000 Readiness Act—Agreement: A unanimous-consent agreement was reached providing for the consideration of S. 314, to provide for a loan guarantee program to address the Year 2000 computer problems of small business concerns, on Tuesday, March 2, 1999, with a vote to occur thereon.

Special Committee on Y2K Funding Increase—Agreement: A unanimous-consent agreement was reached providing for the Committee on Rules and Administration to be discharged from further consideration of S. Res. 7, to amend Senate Resolution 208 of the 105th Congress to increase funding of the Special Committee on the Year 2000 Technology-related Problems, and the Senate proceed to its consideration, with a vote to occur thereon, on Tuesday, March 2, 1999.

Appointments:

- Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe (Helsinki): The Chair, on behalf of the Vice President, pursuant to Public Law 94-304, as amended by Public Law 99-7, appointed Senators Hutchison, Abraham, and Brownback to the Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe (Helsinki).

- U.S. Air Force Academy Board of Visitors: The Chair, on behalf of the Vice President, pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 9355(a), appointed Senator Allard, from the Committee on Armed Services, and Senator Burns, from the Committee on Appropriations, to the Board of Visitors of the U.S. Air Force Academy.

- U.S. Naval Academy Board of Visitors: The Chair, on behalf of the Vice President, pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 6968(a), appointed Senator McCain, from the Committee on Armed Services, and Senator Cochran, from the Committee on Appropriations, to the Board of Visitors of the U.S. Naval Academy.

- U.S. Military Academy Board of Visitors: The Chair, on behalf of the Vice President, pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 4355(a), appointed Senator Santorum, from the Committee on Armed Services, and Senator Hutchison, from the Committee on Appropriations, to the Board of Visitors of the U.S. Military Academy.

Messages From the President: Senate received the following messages from the President of the United States:

- Transmitting the report on the administration of the Coastal Zone Management Act (CZMA) for fiscal years 1996 and 1997; referred to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation. (PM-10).

- Transmitting the report concerning the national emergency relating to Cuba and of the emergency authority relating to the regulation of the anchorage and movement of vessels; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs. (PM-11).

Messages From the President:
Messages From the House:
Messages From the Senate:
Measures Referred:
Communications:
Executive Reports of Committees:
Statements on Introduced Bills:
Additional Cosponsors:
Notices of Hearings:
Authorization for Committees:
Additional Statements:

Record Votes: One record vote was taken today. (Total—27).

Adjournment: Senate convened at 11 a.m. and adjourned at 4:12 p.m., until 10 a.m. on Monday, March 1, 1999, for a pro forma session. (For Senate's program, see the remarks of the Acting Majority Leader in today's Record on page S2056.)

Committee Meetings

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION MANAGEMENT
Committee on Appropriations: Subcommittee on Transportation concluded oversight hearings on Department of Transportation management issues raised in recent General Accounting Office and Inspector General reports, focusing on the Federal Aviation Administration, aviation, highway, and rail safety programs, Amtrak's financial condition, year 2000 computer problem, and the Coast Guard anti-drug efforts, after receiving testimony from John H. Anderson, Jr., Director, Transportation Issues, Resource, Community, and Economic Development Division, General Accounting Office; and Kenneth M. Mead, Inspector General, and Peter J. Basso, Chief Financial Officer/Assistant Secretary for Budget and Programs, both of the Department of Transportation.

APPROPRIATIONS—IRS
Committee on Appropriations: Subcommittee on Treasury and General Government held hearings on proposed budget estimates for fiscal year 2000 for the Internal Revenue Service, receiving testimony from Charles O. Rossotti, Commissioner, Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury.

Subcommittee will meet again on Thursday, March 4.

U.S. KOSOVO POLICY
Committee on Armed Services: Committee concluded hearings on United States policy regarding Kosovo, focusing on diplomacy, NATO air strike threats, a NATO-led implementation force, the Rambouillet negotiation, the Kosovo Verification Mission, and U.S. military intervention, after receiving testimony from Walter B. Slocombe, Under Secretary of Defense for Policy; Thomas Pickering, Under Secretary of State for Political Affairs; and Gen. Joseph W. Ralston, USAF, Vice Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff.

FINANCIAL SERVICES LEGISLATION
Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs: Committee concluded hearings on proposed legislation to enhance competition in the financial services industry by providing a prudential framework for the affiliation of banks, securities firms, and other financial services providers, after receiving testimony from Michael E. Patterson, J.P. Morgan and Co. Inc., New York, New York, on behalf of the Financial Services Council; E. Lee Beard, First Federal Bank, Hazelton, Pennsylvania, on behalf of the America's Community Bankers; William L. McQuillan, City National Bank, Greeley, Nebraska, on behalf of the Independent Bankers Association of America; James D. Ericson, Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, on behalf of the American Council of Life Insurance; Robert W. Gillespie, KeyCorp, Cleveland, Ohio, on behalf of the Bankers Roundtable; Hjalma Johnson, East Coast Bank Corp, Dade City, Florida, on behalf of the American Bankers Association; John G. Finneran, Jr., Capital One Financial Corporation, Falls Church, Virginia, on behalf of the Association of Financial Services Holding Companies; Bart Harvey, Enterprise Foundation, Columbia, Maryland; and Jeffrey A. Tassey, American Financial Services Association, Marc E. Lackritz, Securities Industry Association, Scott A. Sinder, on behalf of the Independent Insurance Agents of America, Mary Griffin, Consumers Union; Deborah Goldberg, Center for Community Change, Kathy Ozer, National Family Farm Coalition, and John Taylor, National Community Investment Coalition, all of Washington, D.C.

NOMINATIONS
Committee on Energy and Natural Resources: Committee ordered favorably reported the nominations of T.J. Glaauthier, of California, to be Deputy Secretary of Energy, and Rose Eileen Gottemoeller, of Virginia, to be Assistant Secretary of Energy for Non-Proliferation and National Security.
ENERGY BUDGET
Committee on Energy and Natural Resources: Committee concluded oversight hearings on the President’s proposed budget request for fiscal year 2000 for the Department of Energy and the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, after receiving testimony from Bill Richardson, Secretary of Energy.

FOREST SERVICE BUDGET
Committee on Energy and Natural Resources: Committee concluded oversight hearings on the President’s proposed budget request for fiscal year 2000 for the Forest Service, Department of Agriculture, after receiving testimony from Dan Glickman, Secretary of Agriculture, Jim Lyons, Under Secretary of Agriculture, and Mike Dombeck, Chief, U.S. Forest Service, who was accompanied by several of his associates, all of the Department of Agriculture.

SODA ASH EXPORTS

BUSINESS MEETING
Committee on the Judiciary: Committee ordered favorably reported S. 247, to amend title 17, United States Code, to reform the copyright law with respect to satellite retransmissions of broadcast signals, with an amendment.

Also, committee adopted its rules of procedure for the 106th Congress, and announced the following subcommittee assignments:

Subcommittee on Criminal Justice Oversight: Senators Thurmond (Chairman), DeWine, Ashcroft, Abraham, Sessions, Schumer, Biden, Torricelli, and Leahy.

Subcommittee on Administrative Oversight and the Courts: Senators Grassley (Chairman), Sessions, Thurmond, Abraham, Torricelli, Feingold, and Schumer.

Subcommittee on Technology, Terrorism, and Government Information: Senators Kyl (Chairman), Hatch, Grassley, DeWine, Feinstein, Biden, and Kohl.

Subcommittee on Antitrust, Business Rights, and Competition: Senators DeWine (Chairman), Hatch, Specter, Thurmond, Kohl, Torricelli, and Leahy.

TELECOMMUNICATIONS ACT
Committee on the Judiciary: Subcommittee on Antitrust, Business Rights, and Competition concluded hearings to review competition and antitrust issues relating to the Telecommunications Act, after receiving testimony from former Senator Pressler; William E. Kennard, Chairman, Federal Communications Commission; Joel I. Klein, Assistant Attorney General, Antitrust Division, Department of Justice; and Reed E. Hundt, Washington, D.C., former Chairman, Federal Communications Commission.

ANTIMICROBIAL RESISTANCE
Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions: Subcommittee on Public Health concluded hearings to examine the public health problem of antimicrobial resistance, or the ability of bacteria to become resistant to antibiotics, after receiving testimony from David Satcher, Surgeon General/Assistant Secretary for Health, James M. Hughes, Director, National Center for Infectious Diseases, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, and Anthony S. Fauci, Director, National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, National Institutes of Health, all of the Department of Health and Human Services; Bernice Steinhardt, Director, Health Services Quality and Public Health Issues, General Accounting Office; Mary J.R. Gilchrist, University of Iowa Hygienic Laboratory, Iowa City, Iowa, on behalf of the Association of Public Health Laboratories; Diane M. Dwyer, Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, Baltimore, on behalf of the Council of State and Territorial Epidemiologists; Stuart B. Levy, Alliance for the Prudent Use of Antibiotics, Boston, Massachusetts; and W. Gary Tarpley, Pharmacia and Upjohn, Bridgewater, New Jersey.

BUSINESS MEETING
Committee on Rules and Administration: Committee ordered reported the following measures:

S. Res. 51, providing for members on the part of the Senate of the Joint Committee on Printing and the Joint Committee on the Library, without recommendation; and
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — DAILY DIGEST
February 25, 1999

S. Res. 52, to authorize the printing of a collection of the rules of the committees of the Senate, without recommendation.

Also, committee adopted its rules of procedure for the 106th Congress.

House of Representatives

Chamber Action

Bills Introduced: 32 public bills, H.R. 8, 849-879; 1 private bill, H.R. 880; and 2 resolutions, H.J. Res. 34 and H. Con. Res. 38, were introduced.

Pages H814-16

Reports Filed: No reports were filed today.

Journal: The House agreed to the Speaker’s approval of the Journal of February 24 by a yea and nay vote of 362 yea to 28 nays with 2 voting “present,” Roll No. 27.

Pages H797-98

Member Sworn: Representative-elect Johnny Isakson of Georgia presented himself in the well of the House and was administered the oath of office by the Speaker.

Page H798

Wireless Privacy Enhancement Act: The House passed H.R. 514, to amend the Communications Act of 1934 to strengthen and clarify prohibitions on electronic eavesdropping by a yea and nay vote of 403 yea to 3 nays, Roll No. 28.

Agreed to the Wilson amendment that clarifies that those who unintentionally divulge intercepted information will not be penalized.

Pages H805-06

Peace Corps Authorization: The House agreed to H. Res. 83, the rule providing for the consideration of H.R. 669, to amend the Peace Corps Act to authorize appropriations for fiscal years 2000 through 2003 by voice vote.

Pages H801-06

Agreed that when the House adjourns today, it adjourn to meet at 2 p.m. on Monday, March 1.

Page H808

Meeting Hour—March 2: Agreed that when the House adjourns on Monday, it adjourn to meet at 10:30 a.m. on Tuesday, March 2 for morning-hour debate.

Page H809

Calendar Wednesday: Agreed that the business in order under the Calendar Wednesday be dispensed with on Wednesday, March 3.

Page H809

Senate Messages: Messages received from the Senate today appear on page H798.

Quorum Calls—Votes: Two yea and nay votes developed during the proceedings of the House today and appear on pages H797-98 and H806. There were no quorum calls.

Adjournment: The House met at 10:00 a.m. and adjourned at 12:35 p.m.

Committee Meetings

BUDGET VIEWS AND ESTIMATES
Committee on Agriculture. Approved the Committee Budget Views and Estimates for Fiscal Year 2000 for submission to the Committee on the Budget.

DEFENSE APPROPRIATIONS
Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Defense met in executive session to hold a hearing on the U.S. Southern Command. Testimony was heard from Gen. Charles Wilhelm, USMC, Commander-in-Chief, Southern Command, Department of Defense.
LABOR-HHS-EDUCATION APPROPRIATIONS
Committee on Appropriations: Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education held a hearing on the National Human Genome Research Institute, the National Institute of Dental and Craniofacial Research, the National Library of Medicine, the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development, the National Institute of General Medical Sciences, and the Fogarty International Center. Testimony was heard from the following officials of the NIH, Department of Health and Human Services: Harold Varmus, M.D., Director; Francis S. Collins, M.D., Director, National Human Genome Research Institute; Donald A. B. Lindberg, M.D., Director, National Library of Medicine; Marvin Cassman, M.D., Director, National Institute of General Medical Sciences; and Gerald T. Keusch, M.D., Director, Fogarty International Center.

MILITARY CONSTRUCTION APPROPRIATIONS
Committee on Appropriations: Subcommittee on Military Construction held a hearing on the Deputy Secretary of Defense. Testimony was heard from John J. Hamre, Deputy Secretary, Department of Defense.

VA-HUD-INDEPENDENT AGENCIES APPROPRIATIONS
Committee on Appropriations: Subcommittee on VA, HUD and Independent Agencies held a hearing on the Neighbor Reinvestment Corporation, the National Credit Union Administration and the Community Development Financial Institute. Testimony was heard from George Knight, Executive Director, National Reinvestment Corporation; Norman E. D’Amours, Chairman, National Credit Union Administration; and Ellen W. Lazar, Director, Community Development Financial Institutions, Department of the Treasury.

NATIONAL MISSILE DEFENSE DEPLOYMENT
Committee on Armed Services: Ordered reported H.R. 4, to declare it to be the policy of the United States to deploy a national missile defense.

MILITARY CONSTRUCTION AND MILITARY FAMILY HOUSING BUDGET REQUEST
Committee on Armed Services: Subcommittee in Military Installations and Facilities held a hearing on the fiscal year 2000 budget request for military construction and military family housing of the Department of Defense. Testimony was heard from the following officials of the Department of Defense: William Lynn, Under Secretary; Mahlon Apgar, IV, Assistant Secretary (Installations, Logistics and Environment); Maj. Gen. Milton Hunter, USA, Director, Military Programs, Corps of Engineers; Maj. Gen. Robert L. Van Antwerp, Jr., USA, Assistant Chief of Staff, Installations Management; Brig. Gen. James Helmly, USA, Deputy Chief, Army Reserve; and Brig. Gen. Michael Squier, USA, Deputy Director, National Guard, all with the Department of the Army; and Randall Yim, Deputy Under Secretary (Installations).

PAY AND RETIREMENT REFORM PROPOSALS
Committee on Armed Services: Subcommittee on Military Personnel held a hearing on pay and retirement reform proposals. Testimony was heard from Mark E. Gebicke, Director, Military Operations and Capabilities Issues, National Security and International Affairs Division, GAO; Christopher Jehn, Assistant Director, National Security, CBO; the following officials of the Department of Defense: Rudy deLeon, Under Secretary, Personnel and Readiness; Lt. Gen. David Ohle, USA, Deputy Chief of Staff, Personnel, Department of the Army; Vice Adm. Daniel T. Oliver, USN, Chief, Naval Personnel, Department of the Navy; Lt. Gen. Donald L. Peterson, USAF, Deputy Chief of Staff, Department of the Air Force; and Lt. Gen. Jack W. Klimp, USMC, Deputy Chief of Staff, Manpower and Reserve Affairs, Headquarters, U.S. Marine Corps; and public witnesses.

LOGISTICS CAPABILITIES AND/OR SHORTFALLS
Committee on Armed Services: Subcommittee on Military Readiness held a hearing on logistics capabilities and/or shortfalls. Testimony was heard from the following officials of GAO: Jack Brock, Director, Information Management Issues and David Warren, Director, Defense Management Issues; and the following officials of the Department of Defense: Lt. Gen. John G. Coburn, USA, Deputy Chief of Staff, Logistics, Department of the Army; Vice Adm. James Amerault, USN, Deputy Chief of Naval Operations (Logistics), Department of the Navy; Lt. Gen. John Handy, USAF, Deputy Chief of Staff, Installations and Logistics, Department of the Air Force; Maj. Gen. Geoffrey B. Higginbotham, USMC, Deputy Chief of Staff, Installations and Logistics, U.S. Marine Corps; Lt. Gen. Henry T. Glisson, USA, Director, Defense Logistics Agency; and Marvin Langston, Deputy Assistant Secretary, Chief Information Officer (Policy and Implementation).

BALLISTIC MISSILE DEFENSE PROGRAMS
Committee on Armed Services: Subcommittee on Military Research and Development held a hearing on ballistic missile defense programs. Testimony was heard from the following officials of the Department

BUDGET VIEWS AND ESTIMATES
Committee on Banking and Financial Services: Approved the Committee Budget Views and Estimates for Fiscal year 2000 for submission to the Committee on the Budget.

SOCIAL SECURITY PROPOSAL—MARKET IMPACT
Committee on Commerce: Subcommittee on Finance and Hazardous Materials held a hearing on The Market Impact of the Administration's Social Security Proposal. Testimony was heard from Representatives Sanford, Pomeroy and Smith of Michigan; and public witnesses.

MEDICARE+CHOICE: AN EXAMINATION OF THE RISK ADJUSTOR
Committee on Commerce: Subcommittee on Health and Environment held a hearing on Medicare+Choice: An Examination of the Risk Adjustor. Testimony was heard from Mike Hash, Deputy Administrator, Health Care Financing Administration, Department of Health and Human Services; Bill Scanlon, Director, Health Financing and Public Health, GAO; Gail R. Wilensky, Chair, Medicare Payment Advisory Commission; and public witnesses.

ED-FLEX ROLE IN IMPROVING STUDENT PERFORMANCE AND REDUCING BUREAUCRACY
Committee on Education and the Workforce: Subcommittee on Early Childhood, Youth, and Families held a hearing on Putting Performance First: Ed-Flex and Its Role in Improving Student Performance and Reducing Bureaucracy. Testimony was heard from Carlotta Joyner, Director, Education and Employment Issues, GAO; Gregg Stubbs, Assistant Director, Division of Professional Development and Licensure, Department of Education, State of Ohio; Madeleine Drager Manigold, Coordinator, Waivers, Office for the Education of Special Populations, Education Agency, State of Texas; Michael E. Ward, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Department of Public Instruction, State of North Carolina; and a public witness.

THRIFT SAVINGS PLAN CONTRIBUTIONS; FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD RETIREMENT PORTABILITY
Committee on Government Reform: Subcommittee on Civil Service approved for full Committee action the following bills: H.R. 208, to amend title 5, United States Code, to allow for the contribution of certain rollover distributions to accounts in the Thrift Savings Plan, to eliminate certain waiting period requirements for participating in the Thrift Savings Plan; and H.R. 807, Federal Reserve Board Retirement Portability Act.

Prior to this action, the Subcommittee held a hearing on Federal Reserve Board Retirement Portability. Testimony was heard from Edward W. Kelley, Jr., member, Board of Governors, Federal Reserve System; and William E. Flynn, III, Associate Director, Retirement and Insurance Services, OPM.

OVERSIGHT—NATIONAL DRUG CONTROL STRATEGY
Committee on Government Reform: Subcommittee on Criminal Justice, Drug Policy, and Human Resources held a hearing on Oversight of the 1999 National Drug Control Strategy. Testimony was heard from Barry R. McCaffrey, Director, Office of National Drug Control Policy.

GAO VIEWS ON DEPARTMENTS—VULNERABILITIES TO WASTE, FRAUD AND ABUSE
Committee on Government Reform: Subcommittee on National Security, Veterans Affairs, and International Relations held a hearing on Vulnerabilities to Waste, Fraud and Abuse: Inspector General and GAO Views on the Departments of Defense, State and Veterans Affairs. Testimony was heard from Henry Henton, Assistant Comptroller, National Security and International Affairs Division, GAO; Eleanor Hill, Inspector General, Department of Defense; Richard J. Griffin, Inspector General, Department of Veterans Affairs; and Jacquelyn Williams-Bridgers, Inspector General, Department of State.

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS BUDGET REQUEST
Committee on International Relations: Held a hearing on the President's Fiscal Year 2000 International Affairs Budget Request. Testimony was heard from Madeleine K. Albright, Secretary of State.

MISCELLANEOUS MEASURES
Committee on International Relations: Subcommittee on Asia and the Pacific approved for full Committee action the following measures: H.R. 825, amended, United States-Macau Policy Act of 1999; H. Res. 32, expressing support for, and calling for actions in support of, free, fair, and transparent elections in Indonesia; and H. Con. Res. 28, amended, expressing the sense of Congress that the United States should introduce and make all efforts necessary to pass a resolution criticizing the People's Republic of

BRAZIL'S ECONOMIC CRISIS

Committee on International Relations: Subcommittee on International Economic Policy and Trade held a hearing on Brazil's Economic Crisis: Implications for International Trade. Testimony was heard from public witnesses.

COPYRIGHT COMPULSORY LICENSE IMPROVEMENT ACT

Committee on the Judiciary: Subcommittee on Courts and Intellectual Property held a hearing on H.R. 768, Copyright Compulsory License Improvement Act. Testimony was heard from William J. Roberts, Jr., Senior Attorney, Office of the General Counsel, Copyright Office, Library of Congress; and public witnesses.

OVERSIGHT—INS DECISIONS IMPACTING AGENCY’S ABILITY TO CONTROL CRIMINAL AND ILLEGAL ALIENS

Committee on the Judiciary: Subcommittee on Immigration and Claims held an oversight hearing on recent Immigration and Naturalization Service decisions impacting the Agency's ability to control criminal and illegal aliens. Testimony was heard from Representative Reyes; Doris Meissner, Commissioner, Immigration and Naturalization Service, Department of Justice; Norman J. Rabkin, Director, Administration of Justice Issues, GAO; and public witnesses.

OVERSIGHT—BUDGET REQUESTS

Committee on Resources: Subcommittee on Energy and Mineral Resources held an oversight hearing on the Fiscal Year Budget request of the U.S. Geological Survey, the Office of Surface Mining, the Minerals Management Service and the energy and minerals programs of the Bureau of Land Management. Testimony was heard from the following officials of the Department of the Interior: Charles Groat, Director, U.S. Geological Survey; Nina Hatfield, Deputy Director, Bureau of Land Management; Thomas Kitsos, Acting Director, Minerals Management Service; and Kathy Karpan, Director, Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement.

NEOTROPICAL MIGRATORY BIRD CONSERVATION ACT; OVERSIGHT—COASTAL ZONE MANAGEMENT ACT

The Subcommittee also held an oversight hearing on the Coastal Zone Management Act. Testimony was heard from Representative Goss; Terry D. Garcia, Assistant Secretary, Oceans and Atmosphere, Department of Commerce; Robert C. Shinn, Jr., Commissioner, Department of Environmental Protection, State of New Jersey; and public witnesses.

MISCELLANEOUS MEASURES

Committee on Resources: Subcommittee on National Parks and Public Lands approved for full Committee action the following bills: H.R. 15, Oaty Wilderness Act of 1999; H.R. 54, to extend the authorization for the Upper Delaware Citizens Advisory Council; H.R. 150, Education Land Grant Act; H.R. 154, to provide for the collection of fees for the making of motion pictures, television productions, and sound tracks in National Park System and National Wildlife Refuge System units; H.R. 449, Gateway Visitor Center Authorization Act of 1999; H.R. 509, to direct the Secretary of the Interior to transfer to the personal representative of the estate of Fred Steffens of Big Horn County, Wyoming, certain land comprising the Steffens family property; and H.R. 510, to direct the Secretary of the Interior to transfer to John R. and Margaret J. Lowe of Big Horn County, Wyoming, certain land so as to correct an error in the patent issued to their predecessors in interest.

OVERSIGHT—HUMAN SPACE FLIGHT BUDGET

Committee on Science, Subcommittee on Space and Aeronautics held an oversight hearing on fiscal year 2000 Budget: Human Space Flight. Testimony was heard from Joe Rothenberg, Associate Administrator, Office of Space Flight, Headquarters, NASA; Marcia S. Smith, Specialist in Aerospace and Telecommunications Policy, Congressional Research Service, Library of Congress; and public witnesses.

UNSCREWING THE FASTENER QUALITY ACT

Committee on Science: Subcommittee on Technology held a hearing on Unscrewing the Fastener Quality Act. Testimony was heard from public witnesses.

MISCELLANEOUS MEASURES; BUDGET VIEWS AND ESTIMATES

Committee on Small Business: Ordered reported the following bills: H.R. 818, Disaster Mitigation Coordination Act of 1999; and H.R. 774, Women's Business Center Amendments of 1999.

The Committee also approved Committee's Budget Views and Estimates for fiscal year 2000 for submission to the Committee on the Budget.
DOMESTIC OIL AND GAS PRODUCTION INCENTIVES

Committee on Ways and Means: Subcommittee on Oversight held a hearing on Incentives for Domestic Oil and Gas Production and Status of the Industry. Testimony was heard from Donald C. Lubick, Assistant Secretary, Tax Policy, Department of the Treasury; Jay Hakes, Administrator, Energy Information Administration, Department of Energy; and public witnesses.

STEEL TRADE ISSUES

Committee on Ways and Means: Subcommittee on Trade held a hearing on Steel Trade Issues. Testimony was heard from Representatives Cardin, English, Regula, Visclosky, Traficant, Greenwood, Klink, Stupak, Buyer, Doyle, Berry and Kucinich; William Daley, Secretary of Commerce; Charlene Barshefsky, U.S. Trade Representative; and public witnesses.

BRIEFING—IRAQI DEVELOPMENTS

Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence Met in executive session to receive a briefing on Iraqi Developments: An Intelligence Update. The Committee was briefed by departmental witnesses.

Joint Meetings

VETERANS PROGRAMS

Joint Hearing: Senate Committee on Veterans’ Affairs and the House Committee on Veterans’ Affairs concluded joint hearings to review the legislative recommendations of certain veteran’s organizations, after receiving testimony from Boyd Barclay, Military Order of the Purple Heart, Washington, D.C.; Charles L. Calkins, Fleet Reserve Associations, Alexandria, Virginia; Frederick P. Athans, Retired Enlisted Association, Grand Rapid, South Dakota; Margaret M. Peterson, Gold Star Wives of America, Inc., Vineland, New Jersey; and James D. Staton, Air Force Sergeants Association, Suitland, Maryland.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS FOR FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1999

Senate

No meetings/hearings scheduled.

House

Committee on Government Reform, Subcommittee on Government Management, Information, and Technology, hearing on Oversight of the Year 2000 Problem: The Y2K Status of the Department of Health and Human Services, 9 a.m., 2134 Rayburn.

CONGRESSIONAL PROGRAM AHEAD

Week of March 1 through March 6, 1999

Senate Chamber

On Monday, Senate will meet in pro forma session.

On Tuesday, Senate will consider S. 314, Small Business Year 2000 Readiness Act, with a vote to occur thereon, and S. Res. 7, Special Committee on the Y2K Technology Problems Funding Increase, with a vote to occur thereon.

During the balance of the week, Senate may consider any other cleared legislative and executive business.

(On Tuesday, Senate will recess to attend a closed briefing on Y2K issues.)

(On Tuesday, Senate will recess from 12:30 p.m. until 2:15 p.m. for their respective conferences.)

Senate Committees

(Committee meetings are open unless otherwise indicated)

Special Committee on Aging: March 1, to hold hearings to examine the impact of the President’s Social Security reform proposal on the income of American workers and retirees, 1 p.m., SD-628.

Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry: March 2, to hold hearings on child nutrition program issues, 9 a.m., SD-106.

Committee on Appropriations: March 2, Subcommittee on Agriculture, Rural Development, and Related Agencies, to hold hearings on proposed budget estimates for fiscal year 2000 for the Department of Agriculture, 9:30 a.m., SD-138.

Committee on Armed Services: March 2, to resume hearings on proposed legislation authorizing funds for fiscal year 2000 for the Department of Defense, and the future years defense program, 9:30 a.m., SH-216.

March 3, Subcommittee on Personnel, to continue hearings on proposed legislation authorizing funds for fiscal year 2000 for the Department of Defense, focusing on recommendations pertaining to military retirement, pay and compensation, and the Future Years Defense Program, 10 a.m., SR-222.

March 3, Subcommittee on SeaPower, to hold hearings on the 21st century seapower vision overview and maritime implications of 21st century threats, 2 p.m., SR-232A.

Committee on the Budget: March 3, to hold hearings on the President’s proposed budget for fiscal year 2000, 10 a.m., SD-608.

Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation: March 2, Subcommittee on Surface Transportation and Merchant
March 3, Full Committee, business meeting to markup S.96, to regulate commerce between and among the several States by providing for the orderly resolution of disputes arising out of computer-based problems related to processing data that includes a 2-digit expression of that year's date, and S.303, to amend the Communications Act of 1934 to enhance the ability of direct broadcast satellite and other multichannel video providers to compete effectively with cable television systems, 9:30 a.m., SR–253.

March 4, Full Committee, to hold hearings on internet filtering, 9:30 a.m., SR–253.

Committee on Energy and Natural Resources: March 2, to hold oversight hearings on the President's proposed budget request for fiscal year 2000 for the Department of the Interior, 9:30 a.m., SD–366.

March 3, Full Committee, with the Committee on Indian Affairs, to hold joint hearings on American Indian trust management practices in the Department of the Interior, 9:30 a.m., SD–106.

March 3, Subcommittee on Water and Power, to hold hearings on the President's proposed budget request for fiscal year 2000 for the Bureau of Reclamation, Department of the Interior, and the Power Marketing Administrations, Department of Energy, 2 p.m., SD–366.

March 4, Full Committee, business meeting to consider pending calendar business, 9:30 a.m., SD–366.

March 4, Full Committee, to hold hearings on the nomination of Robert Wayne Gee, of Texas, to be an Assistant Secretary of Energy (Fossil Energy), 10 a.m., SD–366.

Committee on Environment and Public Works: March 3, Subcommittee on Fisheries, Wildlife, and Drinking Water, to hold oversight hearings on the Environmental Protection Agency's implementation of the 1996 amendments to the Safe Drinking Water Act, 9 a.m., SD–406.

March 4, Full Committee, to hold hearings on the nomination of Gary S. Guzy, of the District of Columbia, to be an Assistant Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, 9 a.m., SD–406.

Committee on Finance: March 3, to hold hearings to examine education savings incentives, education financing and school construction financing proposals, 10 a.m., SD–215.

Committee on Foreign Relations: March 2, Subcommittee on Western Hemisphere, Peace Corps, Narcotics and Terrorism, to hold hearings on United States relief efforts in response to Hurricane Mitch, 3 p.m., SD–419.

March 3, Subcommittee on International Economic Policy, Export and Trade Promotion, to hold hearings on the commercial viability of a Caspian Sea export energy pipeline, 2 p.m., SD–419.

March 4, Subcommittee on International Operations, to hold hearings on the proposed budget request for fiscal year 2000 for foreign assistance programs, 2 p.m., SD–419.

Committee on Governmental Affairs: March 3, to resume hearings on the future of the Independent Counsel Act, 10 a.m., SH–216.

March 4, Full Committee, to hold hearings on proposed budget reform measures, 10 a.m., SD–342.

Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions: March 2, to hold hearings on medical theory and practice issues, 9:30 a.m., SD–430.

March 3, Subcommittee on Aging, to hold oversight hearings on the implementation of the Older Americans Act, 9:30 a.m., SD–430.

March 4, Subcommittee on Employment, Safety and Training, to hold hearings on S. 385, to amend the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 to further improve the safety and health of working environments, 9:30 a.m., SD–430.

Committee on Indian Affairs: March 3, with the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources, to hold joint hearings on American Indian trust management practices in the Department of the Interior, 9:30 a.m., SD–106.

Select Committee on Intelligence: March 4, closed business meeting to consider pending intelligence matters, 3 p.m., SH–219.

Committee on the Judiciary: March 1, to hold hearings on proposed legislation relating to Year 2000 computer problems, 10 a.m., SD–226.

Committee on Veterans Affairs: March 2, to hold joint hearings with the House Committee on Veterans Affairs to review the legislative recommendations of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, 9:30 a.m., 345, Cannon Building.

March 4, Full Committee, to hold joint hearings with the House Committee on Veterans Affairs to review the legislative recommendations of the Veterans of World War I of the USA, Non-Commissioned Officers Association, Paralyzed Veterans of America, Jewish War Veterans, and the Blinded Veterans Association, 9:30 a.m., 345, Cannon Building.

Special Committee on the Year 2000 Technology Problem: March 2, to resume hearings to examine the Y2K computer problem within the food industry, 8:30 a.m., SD–628.

March 5, Full Committee, to hold hearings on international Y2K computer problem issues, 9:30 a.m., SD–192.

House Chamber

To be announced.

House Committees

Committee on Agriculture: March 3, Subcommittee on Risk Management, Research, and Specialty Crops, hearing on agricultural biotechnology, 10:30 a.m., 1300 Longworth.

March 4, Subcommittee on General Farm Commodities, Resource Conservation, and Credit, to review the Loan Deficiency Payment Program, 10 a.m., 1300 Longworth.

Committee on Appropriations: March 2, Subcommittee on Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies, on Research, Education, and Economics, 1 p.m., 2362-A Rayburn.
March 2, Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education, on National Institute on Drug Abuse, National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, and National Institute of Nursing Research, 10 a.m., and on National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute and on National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences, 2 p.m., 2358 Rayburn.

March 2, Subcommittee on Treasury, Postal Service, and General Government, on Executive Office of the President, 10 a.m., and on OMB, 2 p.m., 2359 Rayburn.

March 2, Subcommittee on VA, HUD and Independent Agencies, on OMB, 10 a.m., H–143 Capitol.

March 3, Subcommittee on Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies, on Marketing and Regulatory Programs, 1 p.m., 2362-A Rayburn.

March 3, Subcommittee on Defense, on fiscal year 2000 Department of Defense budget, 10 a.m., 2359 Rayburn.

March 3, Subcommittee on Interior, on Recreational Fees, 10 a.m., B–308 Rayburn.

March 3, Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education, on National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Strokes, the National Institute on Aging, and the National Institute on Mental Health, 10 a.m., and on National Institute of Diabetes, Digestive and Kidney Diseases, the National Institute of Arthritis and Musculoskeletal and Skin Diseases, and the National Center for Research Resources, 2 p.m., 2358 Rayburn.

March 3, Subcommittee on Treasury, Postal Service, and General Government, on Office of National Drug Control Policy, 10 a.m., and on U.S. Postal Service, 2 p.m., H–140 Capitol.

March 3, Subcommittee on VA, HUD, Independent Agencies, on Court of Veterans Appeals, 9:30 a.m., and on Selective Service System, 10:30 a.m., H–143 Capitol.

March 4, Subcommittee on Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies, on Commodity Futures Trading Commission, 1 p.m., 2362-A Rayburn.

March 4, Subcommittee on Defense, executive, on U.S. Pacific command, U.S. Forces Korea, 9:30 a.m., and on Personnel Issues/Medical Programs, 1:30 p.m., H–140 Capitol.

March 4, Subcommittee on Energy and Water Development, on Department of Energy, 10 a.m., 2362-B Rayburn.

March 4, Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, on Members of Congress and Outside Witnesses, 12:30 p.m., H–144 Capitol.

March 4, Subcommittee on Interior, on Bureau of Land Management, 10 a.m., B–308 Rayburn.

March 4, Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education, on National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases and the National Eye Institute, 10 a.m., on Director, NIH and on Office of Director Panel, 2 p.m., 2358 Rayburn.

March 4, Subcommittee on Military Construction, on Air Force Construction, 9:30 p.m., B–300 Rayburn.

March 4, Subcommittee on Transportation, on National Railroad Passenger Corporation (Amtrak), 10 a.m., 2358 Rayburn.

March 4, Subcommittee on Treasury, Postal Service, and General Government, on National Archives, 10 a.m., on GSA, 2 p.m., and on Judicial Conference of the U.S., 3:30 p.m., 2359 Rayburn.

March 4, Subcommittee on VA, HUD, and Independent Agencies, on NSF, 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m., H–143 Capitol.

Committee on Armed Services, March 2, Subcommittee on Military Installations and Facilities, hearing on fiscal year 2000 budget request for military construction and military family housing of the Department of Defense, 2 p.m., 2212 Rayburn.

March 2, Subcommittee on Military Readiness, hearing on Defense reform initiatives, contracting out, and outsourcing, 1 p.m., 2118 Rayburn.

March 3, full committee, to continue hearing on the fiscal year 2000 National Defense authorization budget request, 10 a.m., 2118 Rayburn.

March 3, Subcommittee on Military Procurement and the Subcommittee on Military Research and Development, joint hearing on service aviation modernization plans, 1 p.m., 2118 Rayburn.

March 4, Subcommittee on Military Personnel, hearing on pilot retention—issues and possible solutions, 10 a.m., 2118 Rayburn.

March 4, Subcommittee on Military Procurement, hearing on the Department of Energy fiscal year 2000 budget request, 1 p.m., 2118 Rayburn.

March 4, Subcommittee on Military Readiness, hearing on military training capabilities and shortfalls, 10 a.m., 2212 Rayburn.

Committee on Banking and Financial Services, March 2, Subcommittee on General Oversight and Investigations, to review implementation of EFT–99, 2 p.m., 2128 Rayburn.

March 3, Subcommittee on Capital Markets, Securities, and Government Sponsored Enterprises, hearing on hedge funds, 10 a.m., 2128 Rayburn.

March 3, Subcommittee on Housing and Community Opportunity, hearing on HUD’s fiscal year 2000 budget, 3 p.m., 2128 Rayburn.

March 4, full committee, to markup H.R. 10, Financial Services Act of 1999, 10 a.m., 2128 Rayburn.

Committee on the Budget, March 4, hearing on the CBO analysis of the Administration’s fiscal year 2000 budget, 10 a.m., 210 Cannon.

Committee on Commerce, March 3, Subcommittee on Finance and Hazardous Materials, to continue hearings on the Market Impact of the Administration’s Social Security Proposal, 10 a.m., 2123 Rayburn.

Committee on Education and the Workforce, March 2, Subcommittee on Postsecondary Education, Training, and Life-Long Learning, hearing on The Older Americans Act: Meeting the Needs of Our Nation’s Seniors, 2 p.m., 2175 Rayburn.

Committee on Government Reform, March 2, Subcommittee on the Census, hearing on Oversight of the 2000 Census: Examining the America Counts Today (ACT) Initiatives to Enhance Traditional Enumeration Methods, 2 p.m., 2203 Rayburn.

March 2, Subcommittee on Government Management, Information, and Technology, and Subcommittee on Technology of the Committee on Science, joint hearing on Continuation of the Year 2000 Problem at the Department of Defense: How Prepared is Our Nation’s Defense?, 10 a.m., 2154 Rayburn.

March 2, Subcommittee on National Security, Veterans Affairs, and International Relations, oversight hearing on efforts to address waste, fraud and management weaknesses by the Departments of Defense, Veterans Affairs, and State, 10 a.m., 2247 Rayburn.

March 3, full committee, hearing on Fighting Crime in the Trenches, Part 1, National Problems, Local Solutions: Federalism at Work, 10 a.m., 2154 Rayburn.

March 4, Subcommittee on Criminal Justice, Drug Policy, and Human Resources, hearing on Oversight on U.S./Mexico Counternarcotics Efforts, 10 a.m., 2247 Rayburn.

Committee on House Administration, March 3 and 4, to consider Committee funding requests, 2 p.m. on March 3 and 10 a.m. on March 4, 1310 Longworth.

Committee on International Relations, March 2, Subcommittee on International Operations and Human Rights, to mark up H. Con. Res. 28, expressing the sense of Congress that the United States should introduce and make all efforts necessary to pass a resolution criticizing the People’s Republic of China for its human rights abuses in China and Tibet at the annual meeting of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights; followed by a hearing on Foreign Relations Authorization for Fiscal Years 2000–2001: Department of State Management Initiatives, 1:45 p.m., 2172 Rayburn.

March 3, full committee, hearing on the Administration’s Foreign Assistance Budget Request, 10 a.m., 2172 Rayburn.

March 3, Subcommittee on Asia and the Pacific, hearing on South Asia: Challenges in U.S. Policy, 1:30 p.m., 2200 Rayburn.

March 3, Subcommittee on International Economic Policy and Trade, hearing on a New World Order: Ressessing the Export Administration Act, 2 p.m., 2255 Rayburn.

March 3, Subcommittee on the Western Hemisphere, hearing on the anti-drug effort in the Americas and implementation of the Western Hemisphere Drug Elimination Act, 1:30 p.m., 2172 Rayburn.

Committee on the Judiciary, March 2, to mark up the following: Committee’s Budget views and estimates for fiscal year 2000 for submission to the Committee on the Budget; H.R. 808, to extend for 3 additional months the period for which chapter 12 of title 11 of the United States Code is reenacted, 11 a.m., 2141 Rayburn.

March 2, Subcommittee on Commercial and Administrative Law, hearing on the Reauthorization of the Independent Counsel Act, 2 p.m., 2141 Rayburn.

March 4, Subcommittee on Immigration and Claims, oversight hearing on issues arising from past designations of temporary protected status and fraud in prior amnesty programs; and to consider other pending committee business, 10 a.m., 2237 Rayburn.

Committee on Resources, March 4, Subcommittee on Fisheries Conservation, Wildlife and Oceans, oversight hearing on fiscal year 2000 budget request of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, 10 a.m., 1334 Longworth.

March 4, Subcommittee on Forests and Forest Health, oversight hearing on Forest Service Roads Moratorium, 10 a.m., 1324 Longworth.

Committee on Science, March 3, Subcommittee on Energy and the Environment, oversight hearing on Fiscal Year 2000 Request: Department of Energy Office of Science, Environment, Safety, and Health; and Environmental Management, 10 a.m., 2318 Rayburn.

March 3, Subcommittee on Space and Aeronautics, oversight hearing on Fiscal Year 2000 Budget: Aeronautics, 2 p.m., 2318 Rayburn.

March 4, Subcommittee on Technology, oversight hearing on Soaring into the Future? Funding Requirements for FAA Research and Development, 10:30 a.m., 2318 Rayburn.

Committee on Ways and Means, March 2, Subcommittee on Health, hearing on the Report on Medicare Payment Policies, 1 p.m., 1100 Longworth.

March 3, full committee, hearing on Investing Social Security in the Private Market, 10 a.m., 1100 Longworth.

March 4, Subcommittee on Trade, to continue hearings on the Importance of Trade Negotiations in Fighting Foreign Protectionism, 10 a.m., 1100 Longworth.

Joint Meetings

Joint Meetings: March 2, Senate Committee on Veterans Affairs, to hold joint hearings with the House Committee on Veterans Affairs to review the legislative recommendations of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, 9:30 a.m., 345, Cannon Building.

Joint Meetings: March 4, Senate Committee on Veterans Affairs, to hold joint hearings with the House Committee on Veterans Affairs to review the legislative recommendations of the Veterans of World War I of the USA, Non-Commissioned Officers Association, Paralyzed Veterans of America, Jewish War Veterans, and the Blinded Veterans Association, 9:30 a.m., 345, Cannon Building.

Joint Economic Committee: March 4, to hold hearings on issues relating to economic growth through tax cuts, 9:30 a.m., SD–562.
Next Meeting of the Senate
10 a.m., Monday, March 1

Senate Chamber
Program for Monday: Senate will meet in pro forma session.

Next Meeting of the House of Representatives
2 p.m., Monday, March 1

House Chamber
Program for Monday: Pro Forma Session.

Extensions of Remarks, as inserted in this issue

House
Barrett, Thomas M., Wis., E288, E290
Boyd, Allen, Fla., E291
Brady, Robert A., Pa., E290
Capps, Lois, Calif., E287, E289, E293
Clay, William (Bill), Mo., E293
Clyburn, James E., S.C., E294
Coyne, William J., Pa., E294
Delahunt, William D., Mass., E296
Dunn, Jennifer, Wash., E295
Gilman, Benjamin A., N.Y., E292
Houghton, Amo, N.Y., E295
Kildee, Dale E., Mich., E287, E289
Kind, Ron, Wis., E293
Levin, Sander M., Mich., E295
McNillis, Scott, Colo., E287, E289, E293
Markey, Edward J., Mass., E287

Nussle, Jim, Iowa, E294
Oxley, Michael G., Ohio, E296
Pallone, Frank, Jr., N.J., E290
Ros-Lehtinen, Ileana, Fla., E288, E289
Rush, Bobby L., Ill., E288, E294
Schakowsky, Janice D., Ill., E295

The public proceedings of each House of Congress, as reported by the Official Reporters thereof, are printed pursuant to directions of the Joint Committee on Printing as authorized by appropriate provisions of Title 44, United States Code, and published for each day that one or both Houses are in session, excepting very infrequent instances when two or more unusually small consecutive issues are printed at one time. ¶ Public access to the Congressional Record is available online through GPO Access, a service of the Government Printing Office, free of charge to the user. The online database is updated each day the Congressional Record is published. The database includes both text and graphics from the beginning of the 103d Congress, 2d session (January 1994) forward. It is available on the Wide Area Information Server (WAIS) through the Internet and via asynchronous dial-in. Internet users can access the database by using the World Wide Web; the Superintendent of Documents home page address is http://www.access.gpo.gov/su_docs, by using local WAIS client software or by telnet to swais.access.gpo.gov, then login as guest (no password required). Dial-in users should use communications software and modem to call (202) 512-1661; type swais, then login as guest (no password required). For general information about GPO Access, contact the GPO Access User Support Team by sending Internet e-mail to gpoadress@gpo.gov, or a fax to (202) 512-1262, or by calling Toll Free 1-888-293-6498 or (202) 512-1530 between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. Eastern time, Monday through Friday, except for Federal holidays. ¶ The Congressional Record paper and 24x microfiche will be furnished by mail to subscribers, free of postage, at the following prices: paper edition, $165.00 for six months, $325.00 per year, or purchased for $2.75 per issue, payable in advance; microfiche edition, $141.00 per year, or purchased for $1.50 per issue payable in advance. The semimonthly Congressional Record Index may be purchased for the same per issue prices. Mail orders to: Superintendent of Documents, P.O. Box 371954, Pittsburgh, PA 15250-7954, or phone orders to (202) 512-1800, or fax to (202) 512-2250. Remit check or money order, made payable to the Superintendent of Documents, or use VISA, MasterCard, Discover, or GPO Deposit Account. ¶ Following each session of Congress, the daily Congressional Record is revised, printed, permanently bound and sold by the Superintendent of Documents in individual parts or by sets. ¶ With the exception of copyrighted articles, there are no restrictions on the republication of material from the Congressional Record.