HONORING THE LATE JOSEPH L. FISHER

● Mr. ROBB. Mr. President, it is my privilege to be a co-sponsor of S. 2234, a bill which recognizes the exceptional service of two former Congressmen from Northern Virginia, Joseph L. Fisher and Joel T. Broyhill, by renaming two area facilities of the United States Postal Service in their honor. I'd like to say a few words about one of the honorees, the late Joseph L. Fisher.

I knew Joe Fisher well. He was a friend, colleague and mentor. Joe epitomized the very best in public service—with his integrity, first-rate intellect, decency and compassion for others.

It was Joe who provided me with my first formal entry into Virginia politics when I hosted a reception for his reelection bid to the Arlington County Board in 1971. He earned the respect of his fellow Arlingtonians with his ten years of service on the Board, including two terms as its Chairman. In championing regional solutions to many of the issues that faced Arlington County, he was ahead of his time. At various points during his tenure on the Board, he represented Arlington as Chairman of both the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority and the Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments.

My first time handing out literature at the polls in Virginia on Election Day was for Joe's first successful campaign for Congress in 1974—I remember the experience well because it rained most of the day. We were all proud of Joe's service in the U.S. House of Representatives. He was a recognized leader in Congress on tax, energy and budget issues. Joe was appointed to the Ways and Means Committee in his first term, and he facilitated the work of seven tasks forces in writing the Energy Policy Act of 1978.

In 1982, the year I took the oath as Governor of Virginia and about a year after the end of his service in Congress, I persuaded Joe to join my Cabinet as Virginia's Secretary of Human Resources. As in every other endeavor he undertook during his lifetime, Joe led the Department of Human Resources with distinction. He succeeded in eliminating Virginia's Medicaid deficit which had resulted from recession and cutbacks at the federal level. Joe also left a legacy of improvements in Virginia's prevention efforts in such areas as health, social services, mental health, rehabilitation, job training and independent living. After serving in my Administration, Joe spent the remainder of his professional years as a professor of political economy at George Mason University where he inspired many a student.

However, Joe Fisher's service as a public official only tells part of the story. He served his country in the Pacific during World War II. Joe worked his way through college as a professional boxer and was also a semi-professional basketball player in the Northern New England League. He was a Harvard trained economist and led the Unitarian Universalist Association.

Joe passed away in 1992 from cancer. He left behind his most important legacy—a wonderful family. His wife Peggy, an exceptionally talented individual in her own right and the secret to Joe's success, remains a valued friend to me and my family. Joe is also survived by seven children, sixteen grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

In a sermon he wrote entitled "Endings and Beginnings," Joe referred to "the only immortality we can count on" as "the immortality of the good and worthy life whose influence lives on in the hearts and minds of those whom it touches." Joe Fisher lived this "good and worthy life" and his influence will always live on in those whom he had such an indelible impact.●

SECOND COMPANY GOVERNOR'S FOOT GUARD

● Mr. LIEBERMAN. Mr. President, I rise today to honor one of the oldest military organizations in the United States, founded even before our country became a unified nation; the Second Company Governor's Foot Guard of New Haven. Later this week the men and women of the Second Company will celebrate their 225th anniversary which is truly a monumental observance in this first year of the new millennium.

Mr. President, let me share with you the history of the Second Company because it is essentially, the history of the new nation and the colonies that became the United States of America. The first meeting of the yet to be named military organization was during the winter of 1774 and included many men whose names are known to every student who has studied American history; Benedict Arnold, Ethan Allen and Aaron Burr. Later that winter, on March 2, 1775, fifty eight men signed a memorial to form themselves into a military company. At that time, the General Assembly of the Governor and Colony of Connecticut was sitting in New Haven and made this memorial special business. On that same day, recognizing the importance and significance of this memorial, the General Assembly granted a charter to the Second Company Governor's Foot Guard. It didn't take long for the Second Company Governor's Foot Guard to see action when, at the beginning of the American Revolution, under the command of Captain Benedict Arnold, the Second Company answered the Lexington Alarm, seized the stores of gunpowder at the Town of New Haven and marched to the Siege of Boston. The date was April 22, 1775, and each year the Second Company Governor's Foot Guard performs a colorful reenactment of this event on Powder House Day in New Haven.

Three years later, during the British invasion on July 2, 1779, Captain Hezekiah Sabin and the Second Company Governor's Foot Guard defended New Haven at the bridge over the West River. Time and again our nation has been defended by the Second Company Governor's Foot Guard. In 1861 the Second Company formed a war company which was known as the Company K, Sixth Connecticut Volunteers, left for the front in the Civil War, and fought in twenty six battles and skirmishes before being mustered out in August of 1865.

Since 1775, the Second Company Governor's Foot Guard has been escort to every Governor of the Colony and the State of Connecticut and has served as honor guard to fourteen American Presidents and in our Bicentennial Year, the Queen of England. Mr. President, were it not for the dedicated service of the Second Company, Governor's Foot Guard for the past 225 years, I dare say the history of Connecticut, the Constitution State, as well as the United States of America would be different. Every one of us in this Chamber owes a debt of gratitude to the Second Company, Governor's Foot Guard. As the Second Company celebrates 225 years of service, under the leadership of Major Commandant Peter A. Wasilewski, I rise in humble thanks to the hundreds of men and women who have proudly worn the red coat uniform and to those who will in the future. I ask those in this Chamber to join me in honoring the Second Company Governor's Foot Guard for 225 years of service to the Governor, the General Assembly and the people of the Colony and State of Connecticut.●

DIONNE A. COLE NAMED ACHIEVER OF THE MONTH

● Mr. ABRAHAM. Mr. President, in October of 1993, the State of Michigan Family Independence Agency commemorated the first anniversary its landmark welfare reform initiative, To Strengthen Michigan Families, by naming its first Achiever of the Month. In each month since, the award has been given to an individual who participates in the initiative and has shown outstanding progress toward self-sufficiency. I rise today to recognize Ms. Dionne A. Cole, who was the recipient of the award for the month of March, 2000.

Ms. Cole is the single mother of a three-year-old son. She began receiving assistance from the Family Independence Agency in September of 1999. Though at this time she was a single mother with no job experience, through a self-initiated job search Ms. Cole obtained employment as a security guard for Strategic Protection Group that same month. To ease the transition,
