The House met at 12:30 p.m. and was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. BALLINGER).

DESIGNATION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Speaker:

I hereby appoint the Honorable Cass BALLINGER to act as Speaker pro tempore on this day.

J. DENNIS HASTERT, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

MORNING HOUR DEBATES

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the order of the House of January 3, 2001, the Chair will now recognize Members from lists submitted by the majority and minority leaders for morning hour debates. The Chair will alternate recognition between the parties, with each party limited to not to exceed 30 minutes, and each Member, except the majority leader, the minority leader, or the minority whip, limited to not to exceed 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. BLUMENAUER) for 5 minutes.

BICYCLE RIDING IS EFFICIENT MEANS OF TRANSPORTATION AND PROMOTES WELLNESS

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Mr. Speaker, I came to Congress dedicated to making the Federal Government a better partner in helping our communities to be livable, for our families to be safe, healthy and economically secure. One important way of advancing that mission is through the intelligent use of the bicycle. As a person who cares about cycling and the world environment and energy supply, it was, to say the very least, unnerving to read the story about cycling in China in Monday’s Washington Post.

China is a huge country with an old and venerated tradition that is having trouble modernizing. It has experienced a century-long love affair with the bicycle since it was first introduced to China by American missionaries. They have more bicycles in China than any place in the world, but it is ironic that this country is seeking to ban bicycles in some areas. It is especially ironic to ban them from the central cities where they can have the greatest impact.

The bicycle is the most efficient means of transportation that has ever been devised. Unlike the horse or automobile, there is no pollution generated from cycling. It leaves the cyclist healthier, and the cyclist takes up a fraction of the roadway. As somebody who brought a bicycle to Washington, D.C. instead of a car when I was elected 5 years ago, I can testify that for the vast majority of my meetings around Washington, D.C., I will beat my colleagues who take cabs or their cars.

The movement from bicycles to cars has serious and wide-spread side effects and is a prescription for disaster. It is frightening to consider the 1.3 billion Chinese each with their own car living further from where they work.

The increased demand for concrete in the cities and impact on the environment resulting from more automobiles in China than any place in the world is not going to help our efforts to address global climate change.

The bicycle is not the only answer to problems of livability and it is not for everyone; but the facts remain at a time when our roads are too congested, the fitness of our children, the skyrocketing levels of morbid obesity, an important part of every community’s equation for being safer, healthier and more economically secure is probably stored in the garage or parked in the basement. Over 100 million Americans have access to bicycles, but what should Congress do to help people use them?

First, and foremost, Congress should lead by example and provide more adequate bike parking, more showers and changing facilities in order to encourage bike commuting here in Washington, D.C. Surveys show that if offices are so equipped, 45 percent of the employees who live within 5 miles would choose to bike commute to work.

Federal employees are allowed, in many cases, free parking or free transit. They can be reimbursed for cab fare or auto mileage, but cyclists are on their own; and that is rather foolish. Benefits should be expanded to include bicycle commuters the same way we treat other Federal employees.

We need to provide funding for safe transportation for our children. Over the course of the last 20 years, the number of children who are independently able to get to school on their own has decreased substantially, in some communities by 70 percent or more.

Regular cycling can help deal with that access. It can help with the epidemic of childhood obesity and promote the wellness of our children. Indeed children that ride to school in cars in slow-moving traffic experience worse air pollution than those who are walking or cycling.

I hope that Congress will consider more ways to encourage the implementation of the Safe Routes to School program to help provide the routes and to teach children about bicycle safety and promoting biking as a viable means of transportation.

Last but not least, Members of Congress should join the Congressional Bike Caucus. This is a group of Members of Congress who periodically host rides around Washington, D.C. for Members, their families and staff, but there is also a serious component to what we do.
We have worked to help promote sound Federal bicycle policies and encourage the construction of thousands of miles of bicycle paths. Our rides have served to raise the awareness of the cycling climate here in Washington, D.C. and to work with groups in the community to improve the cycling conditions in the District.

At the end of the month of March, there will be hundreds of cycling advocates from around the United States here on Capitol Hill to deal with the first annual Bicycle Summit. It will be a time to concentrate on those areas where the Federal Government can be a better partner in providing greater transportation choices so that our communities can be safer and our families can be healthier and economically secure.

PRESIDENT BUSH’S TAX RELIEF PLAN

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 3, 2001, the gentleman from Florida (Mr. STEARNS) is recognized during morning hour debates for 5 minutes.

Mr. STEARNS. Mr. Speaker, this body last week passed President Bush’s tax relief plan, the first step towards a broad tax reduction for our generation. The timing, Mr. Speaker, could not be better for all of us. We have to tighten our belts and prepare for a possible change in our economy.

In fact, the NASDAQ stock exchange closed below 2000 points yesterday, the first time the index closed so low since December, 1980.

President Bush’s tax relief plan is a vital means of ensuring the economic engine that we have today continues to move forward, continues running; and of course, we do not want the economy to stall. By returning Americans’ hard-earned dollars back to their wallets through tax relief, we will be saving Americans their checking accounts and, of course, and this is my point this afternoon, from Congress spending their money. For, if we fail to return money back to all those hard-working Americans, men and women, the Federal Government will just keep writing checks to spend their money. It is important we give it back to them, with the economy starting to slow.

How much money would Congress spend? The previous time we had a government shutdown by former President Clinton, and now a practically evenly divided Congress, the Federal Government has been on a spending spree of record proportions since the budgets emerged in 1998.

I believe President Bush has proposed holding spending at roughly 4 percent, a 4 percent increase. He has also offered to pay down the debt while reducing the record tax burden shouldered by all Americans, furthermore removing the temptation to spend the tax overpayment Americans are presently paying to the U.S. Treasury.

Even Chairman Alan Greenspan agrees with this plan. When the Congressional Budget Office, CBO, came out with its most recent budget estimates, one number, Mr. Speaker, stood out: $5.6 trillion. That is the size of the projected surplus over the next 10 years. It is enough, of course, to pay down the debt, reduce the tax burden through broad tax relief, and target spending at some of the important programs that President Bush just talked about: health care, defense, and education.

But within that budget analysis, there was another number that garnered less attention. That number was $561 billion. That is the amount of new spending Congress added during last fall’s spending spree, discretionary, mandatory, and additional interest expense, $561 billion. That amount represents fully one-third the size of the proposed Bush tax relief plan.

It also represents the iceberg’s proverbial tip. Surplus emerged in 1998. Congress has accelerated spending increases three-fold. In the 3 years prior to 1998, discretionary budget authority grew at a reasonable approximately 2 percent a year. Since 1998, discretionary budget authority was grown at a galloping 6 percent a year.

How much has this increase in discretionary spending reduced the projected surplus? It is $1.4 trillion. Again, that is just the discretionary spending. According to the President, the mandatory spending adopted by Congress last fall reduced the available surplus by $70 billion.

Mr. Speaker, in 3 years we have already reduced the projected surplus by almost the equivalent of President Bush’s tax relief plan. Moreover, the Office of Management and Budget estimates that if discretionary spending continues to grow at its current rate, the 10-year surplus would be $1.4 trillion less over the next 10 years; again, almost equal to the Bush tax relief. So if we do not give it back to the people today, Congress will spend this money beyond inflation’s cost of living.

An analysis of spending since the budget surpluses first emerged showed that if Congress had avoided this simple temptation to increase spending above the budget baseline caps, today we would have offered American families a tax relief program equivalent to the Bush plan, and still we would have been able to have a $5.6 trillion surplus left over to pay down the debt, increase funding for education, health care, and defense, and still cut taxes even further.

Mr. Speaker, I conclude by urging the other body, the Chamber in the Senate, and other Americans to support the President’s broad-based tax relief for American families, and of course, hold spending to 4 percent.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members will be reminded to refrain from urging the other body to take certain action.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT FOR PUERTO RICO

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 3, 2001, the gentleman from Puerto Rico (Mr. ACEVEDO-VILÁ) is recognized during morning hour debates for 5 minutes.

Mr. ACEVEDO-VILÁ. Mr. Speaker, the United States is currently faced with great challenges and at the same time great opportunities. The balanced Federal budget and projected surplus provide economic alternatives that some years ago were not available. However, the indications of an economic slowdown have helped generate calls from the President and Congress to create economic stimulus through a variety of proposals.

We have before us a unique opportunity to use current budgetary circumstances as a tool for economic development through the creation of jobs and investment in businesses in Puerto Rico.

During the period of 1993 to 1996, Congress took the necessary steps to balance the budget and eliminate the deficit. Many Members may already appreciate how Puerto Rico paid substantially during this process. In 1993, Congress passed the Omnibus Reconciliation Act, which included a provision that substantially curtailed the tax incentives provided by section 936 of the Internal Revenue Code to U.S. companies doing business in Puerto Rico.

In 1996, Congress enacted another set of amendments that eliminated all incentives for new or expanded business operation and investment in Puerto Rico. As of today, Puerto Rico has no Federal incentive to create new jobs, and those that apply to companies already doing business on the island are set to expire in the year 2005.

The negative consequences of the decisions taken in 1993 and 1996 are clear. The phase-out of these incentives is having disastrous effects on Puerto Rico’s economy. In the last 4 years, more than 13,000 jobs have been lost in the manufacturing sector as a direct result of the phase-out, and Puerto Rico has not been able to attract significant new economic investment.

The vast majority of these jobs are moving out of the U.S. jurisdiction to countries like Malaysia and Singapore. Employment and wages from American companies are a critical part of Puerto Rico’s economic development. As the Representative of Puerto Rico (Mr. ACEVEDO-VILÁ), I have worked with bipartisan fashion and other Americans to support the President’s broad-based tax relief for American families, and of course, hold spending to 4 percent.
Rico’s manufacturing sector, the most important sector of Puerto Rico’s economy.

The results of the phase-out are clear. Today we enjoy a balanced budget and a rather large surplus, but my people in Puerto Rico do not have the jobs. While the taxpayers in the U.S. have earned tax relief, so, too, have Puerto Ricans, who sacrificed during efforts to balance the budget and grow the Federal budget surplus. It is time to provide my constituents with tax relief through incentives for further investment and job creation in the Tax Code.

The challenge is to develop a sustainable stimulus for employment-generating investment in Puerto Rico. The Puerto Rican economy operates under U.S. standards that are far above those of our main competitors in the global marketplace. Our workers are well trained and educated, are very productive; but we need new tools to continue to grow our economy and be competitive again. Well-designed, sustainable tax incentives will level the playing field and permit us to compete.

Congress has been there for Puerto Rico in the past. In 1976, Congress enacted the special tax exemption under section 936 of the Internal Revenue Code. This was part of an effort to attract U.S. companies to Puerto Rico to create jobs for island residents. I am here today to ask my colleagues to support a new economic stimulus package for Puerto Rico. Since the phase-out of the 936, economic growth in Puerto Rico has averaged 20 percent less than that of the United States. There has been an unprecedented loss of high-paying manufacturing jobs. No other U.S. jurisdiction has lost manufacturing jobs at such an alarming rate.

Recently layoffs are hurting workers and families in Puerto Rico. During the first 2 months of this year, leading U.S. companies like Intel, Coach, Sara Lee, and Phillips Petroleum have cut production and in some cases closed plants in Puerto Rico. These reductions alone will cost over 5,000 jobs, in addition to the 18,000 we have already lost. Today over 10 percent of the labor force in Puerto Rico is unemployed.

Some cities in Puerto Rico have been particularly hard hit by lost jobs. The average annual pay in Puerto Rican cities ranges from $10,000 to $19,000, while the national average is over $34,000 per year. More than half of the population of Puerto Rico falls below the U.S. poverty threshold.

As I stated earlier, one of the reasons Congress eliminated the tax incentives for the U.S. companies in Puerto Rico was to balance the budget. Now we are faced with a surplus. I ask for your support in efforts to provide necessary and deserved relief for Puerto Rican workers and families.

ON THE BIRTHDAY OF A GREAT AMERICAN, TRUETT CATHY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 3, 2001, the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. COLLINS) is recognized during morning hour debates for 5 minutes.

Mr. COLLINS. Mr. Speaker, on March 14 we will celebrate the 80th birthday of a great American, Mr. Truett Cathy, founder and chairman of the Chick-fil-A restaurant chain.

In his book, it is Easier to Succeed Than Fail, Mr. Cathy wrote that "the longest journey begins with the first step. Ahead of each person is a pilgrimage to success, a journey characterized by challenge and adventure. So here’s to the winners, for they give each task their effort and find in the end it’s easier to succeed than fail.”

Mr. Cathy has lived out his own words. He started his business in 1946 when he and his brother, Ben, opened an Atlanta diner known as the Dwarf House. The restaurant prospered over the years.

In 1967, Mr. Cathy founded and opened the first Chick-fil-A restaurant in Atlanta. Today, the Chick-fil-A restaurant chain has increased to become the third largest quick-service chicken restaurant company in sales in the United States. Today there are more than 963 restaurants in 31 states and South Africa.

Remarkably, Mr. Cathy has led Chick-fil-A to an unparalleled record of 33 consecutive years of sales increases. Most recently, in 1996, he has led the company into international expansion into South Africa.

Mr. Cathy’s approach is largely driven by personal satisfaction and his sense of obligation to the community and to his young people. His WinShape Centre Foundation, founded in 1984, grew from his desire to shape winners by helping young people succeed in life through scholarships and other youth programs.

The foundation annually awards 20 to 30 students wishing to attend Berry College with $24,000 scholarships that are jointly funded by the Rome, Georgia, institution. In addition, through its Leadership Scholarship Program the Chick-fil-A chain has given over $15.6 million in $1,000 scholarships to Chick-fil-A restaurant employees since 1973.

As part of his WinShape Homes Program, there is a long-term care program for foster children. Eleven foster-care homes have been started in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, and Brazil that are operated by Mr. Cathy and the WinShape Foundation. These homes, accommodating up to 12 children with two full-time foster parents, provide long-term care for foster children with a positive family environment.

To date, the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl has raised more than $2.1 million to support a new economic stimulus for employment-generating investment in Puerto Rico. These reductions alone were to balance the budget. Now we are faced with a surplus. I ask for your support in efforts to provide necessary and deserved relief for Puerto Rican workers and families.

THE ROLE OF CIVILIANS IN OBSERVING MILITARY ACTIVITIES

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. SKELTON) is recognized during morning hour debates for 5 minutes.

Mr. SKELTON. Mr. Speaker, let me take this opportunity to express my deep sorrow regarding the training accident on the Kuwaiti bombing range and extend my condolences to the families of those who were killed or injured. I know full well how the crew and the air wing on the U.S.S.

Harry S Truman must feel regarding this tragic occurrence.

The incident underscores the risks that American service members take in order to master and to maintain the skills they need to keep our Nation safe and to protect our security around the world. The military is a dangerous profession, and we cannot take for granted that our men and women in uniform face on a daily basis, in times of war as well as in times of peace.

Mr. Speaker, last month I visited some of America's troops overseas, particularly in Kosovo, Bosnia, and Germany. With me were two other Members of the House, both of whom are on the Committee on Armed Services with me. We were astonished by what we saw: the dedication, the sacrifice, and the care of those who serve military operations up close.

I believe, Mr. Speaker, there is an unfortunate gap between civilian America and military America. Many civilians simply do not understand the role of people in uniform. It is an arduous profession, however, is one that fewers households have a picture on the mantle of a son or daughter in uniform, we do not have as many parents asking us to look after their Johnnie or their Janie who is in the service. We do not have as many Members of Congress with military experience.

That, of course, concerns me, because I don't believe it is good for America to have its military services become separate from the society that supports them and that they in turn defend.

I believe, Mr. Speaker, there is an unfortunate gap between civilian America and military America. Many civilians simply do not understand the role of people in uniform. It is an arduous profession, however, is one that fewers households have a picture on the mantle of a son or daughter in uniform, we do not have as many parents asking us to look after their Johnnie or their Janie who is in the service. We do not have as many Members of Congress with military experience.

I can certainly understand why, following the terrible sad situation involving the U.S.S. Greeneville, some might believe that civilians should not be allowed aboard ships or aircraft, or to visit active military facilities. Without addressing the role of civilian observers in that particular case, let me say that I believe closing the doors of military facilities to civilian observers would be counterproductive.

To be clear, they should remain just that, observers. They should not be in control of any military hardware. Keeping hands on is something we do to keep our eyes out. The Constitution provides for civilian control of the military, and that requires an informed public. Allowing responsible citizens access to the operating military is the most basic way of keeping the public aware of what the military life is all about, and what part the armed services should play in our society.

Even more basically, the more civilians see the military, the more word gets around that our men and women in uniform deserve our support. It works the other way, too. Military personnel are glad to know that their work is being seen and appreciated by the people back home.

Mr. Speaker, I am concerned that if the military is on its way to becoming just another special interest group, an organization that sees its own interests as separate from the rest of society. But the military is an integral part of our society. It is woven into the very fabric of America itself. Indeed, it is woven by tradition and constitutional design into the very fabric of America itself.

To separate the military from civilian observation would be no less significant than separating our flag from the stars and stripes.

STATEMENT OF MARITZA LUGO

ACCUSING THE CUBAN GOVERNMENT AND STATE SECURITY OF VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 3, 2001, the gentleman from Florida (Mr. Diaz-Balart) is recognized during morning hour debates for 5 minutes.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, despite the visitors, some from this body, who are going down to meet with the Cuban dictator and come back thrilled, having drooled with the privilege of meeting with him and having a banquet in his palace, the reality of Cuba today is quite different. The leaders of the Cuba of tomorrow, of the inevitably democratic Cuba of tomorrow, are in many instances in the political prisons of the totalitarian state today.

One such young woman, the mother of two, is Maritza Lugo, a Cuban political prisoner of conscience. A few days ago she managed to sneak out. She states:

Maritza Lugo continues: From this horrible place I come before you, the international organizations who defend human rights, the organizations defenders of democracy, justice, and peace, the religious organizations who promote liberty; the whole world and its people, to denounce the government of Cuba.

I accuse the dictatorial government imposed on Cuba and its repressive arm, the State Security, of all the injustices and violations of human rights that it perpetrates against the innocent people, the penal population, and especially against the political prisoners of conscience. I accuse those miserable and cowardly men who, through the use of force, commit all types of human rights violations, while nothing stops them as they attempt to defend a false revolution built and maintained upon a foundation of lies and famines.

As a physically defenseless woman in ill health, as a mother of two unfortunate daughters currently without a mother's care and armed with my religious faith as my only weapon, I accuse them of publicly blaming every day a foreign country to give a false impression to the Cuban people that they have nothing to be guilty of. And this is why we, the oppressed ones, denounce that criminals be sanctioned in the name of all victims that have suffered and continue to suffer in our homeland.

Stop the continuous wanton detention of innocent people whose only crime is disagreeing with the Castro regime. Stop taking them to inhumane prison cells where they are in many instances in the political prisons of the totalitarian state today. They are kept in these prisons for an arbitrary and underdetermined amount of time, living among dangerous common criminals and exposed to all kinds of risks. They are kept incarcerated for months without an expeditious trial, serving an unjust sentence without knowing when to be released. The others are tried and unjustly condemned.

To the dictatorial government, I say, stop denying that you torture people. Stop denying international organizations access to our prisons with the pretext that you do not accept others meddling in internal affairs or that you do not compromise your sovereignty. To promote your agenda, you conveniently allow bribery and deception to prevent the inspection of these prisons according to international law.

Maria Lugo continues: From this horrible place I come before you, the international organizations who defend human rights, the organizations defenders of democracy, justice, and peace, the religious organizations who promote liberty; the whole world and its people, to denounce the government of Cuba.
propaganda of solidarity and unselfish interest.

Stop showing the exterior walls of prisons as well-kept and elegant facades while incarcerated human beings are degraded in extreme dearth.

I denounce that the prison food is vile.

Families arrive weary and emaciated bringing bags of food to supply the needs of the prisoners, only to be turned away because authorities fail to notify them that visiting hours have been changed. That is why they don’t want international inspectors. They do not want the world to know these internal matters so well known to the innocent political prisoners.

I denounce that in the majority of cases, we leave these prisons physically ill, thus history continues to repeat itself as so many of us are imprisoned so many times. That is why the Castro government represses us, implementing laws that penalize any group of two or more people whose ideas resist and oppose the so-called revolutionary government of Castro.

I accuse the Cuban government of separating the Cuban family, who, in desperation flee Cuba for political reasons.

I accuse the so-called “revolutionary government” of the political and democratic ignorance our people suffer, as they deceive the unaware people of the world with their propaganda of mass and cultural opinion education. They accomplish this by creating public opinion created by the state using Nazi-type techniques copied from Bolshevik Russia where Cubans pay a high price, acting hypocritically as they pretend to go along in public in order to subvert.

We ask the addresses of these lines, soon to convene in Geneva, Switzerland, at the Human Rights Commission, to discuss Cuba, to consider the ill-treatment of the Cuban people by this government. I know that no delegation, not even those who defend Castro, will be permitted to come to visit me so they can corroborate this raw truth.

If any justice exists in the world for Maritza Lugo and her denunciation, this government, the government of Castro, should be sanctioned for this and so many other violations that they are constantly inflicting upon the Cuban population as they deceive and laugh at the whole world.

This, Mr. Speaker, is the reality of Cuba today, from Maritza Lugo, President of the 30th of November Democratic Party, from the women’s prison popularly known as Black Cloak.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentlewoman from California (Mrs. CAPPS) come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mrs. CAPPS led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

COMMUNICATION FROM HON. RICHARD A. GEPHARDT, DEMOCRATIC LEADER

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from Richard A. Gephardt, Democratic Leader:

MILITARY BERETS SHOULD BE MANUFACTURED IN UNITED STATES

(Mrs. CAPPS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. CAPPS. Mr. Speaker, the Army is preparing to outfit every soldier with a new black beret. Some people oppose this policy, but whether or not it is a good idea, one thing we can all agree on is that these berets should be made in the United States.

So why is the Pentagon acquiring 2.5 million berets from companies who make these berets in countries like China, Romania and Sri Lanka? This is very troubling.

The Pentagon has waived the law which requires domestic production of military uniforms. This decision is costing American companies millions... of dollars; and even worse, the overseas berets may actually be more expensive so U.S. taxpayers will get stuck with a bigger bill.

Mr. Speaker, I am circulating a letter to President Bush urging him to review this shortsighted decision. I hope my colleagues on both sides of the aisle will join with me.

DEBT REDUCTION

(Mr. PITTS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, in order to be a leader, one has to have credibility. If you do not have a record of accomplishment on an issue, people simply will not listen.

It is worth pointing out that for almost four consecutive decades, Congress was run by our Democratic friends and never, not once, did they ever balance the Federal budget. Never once did they pay back a dime on the public debt.

Mr. Speaker, I am not pointing this out to be partisan. I am pointing it out because now it is those same Democrats who are claiming President Bush’s tax relief package will keep us from paying down the debt.

Look at the Republican record: Almost immediately after taking control of Congress, Republicans started balancing the budget, paying down our public debt. Four years in a row, we balanced the budget. Four years in a row, we paid down on the public debt.

We already paid near half a trillion dollars. We are paying down the public debt; and in 10 years, we will have paid off every dime available to be paid.

If we stick with the President’s plan, there will be enough for tax relief, Social Security, education and paying off our public debt.

BERETS SHOULD ONLY BE MADE IN AMERICA AND WORN BY THE ELITE ARMY RANGER FORCE.

(Mr. TRAFICANT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TRAFICANT. First, the Air Force bought Chinese boots. Now, the Pentagon is buying berets made in China. The Pentagon said it is cheaper. Unbelievable. What is next? At 17 cents an hour, will the Pentagon hire Chinese soldiers?

Unbelievable. Think about it. The beret once signified our elite ranger force. Now it is about to become a product of communism.

Beam me up. What has happened to the common sense of America? I say it is time to tell the Pentagon we can hire generals and admirals a lot cheaper from China, too.

Mr. Speaker. I yield back the fact that the berets should only be made in America and should only be worn by the elite Army ranger force.

BAD DECISION-MAKING REGARDING BLACK BERETS

(Mr. DUNCAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DUNCAN. Mr. Speaker, the decision to give black berets to all Army troops rather than just to rangers who earned them was a bad decision.

Far worse was the decision to order these berets from a Chinese firm rather than an American firm which could have done them for far less costs.

This was apparently done so the berets could be delivered by the Army’s birthday in June.

It would really have made no difference at all to have them given out on some later historic day and have saved millions for our taxpayers.

This decision shows once again that bureaucrats can rationalize and justify almost anything and will almost never admit a mistake.

Mr. Speaker, I say bureaucrats because, by this decision, General Shinseki has acted more like an arrogant bureaucrat than a soldier. Also, by giving this work to Chinese rather than American workers, especially in a slow economy and especially when Americans could have done it at millions less in cost, was both unwise and harmful to this Nation and its workers.

We seem at times, Mr. Speaker, to be giving our own country away.

PRESIDENT’S TAX CUT IS PARTISAN ISSUE

(Mr. BROWN of Ohio asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. BROWN of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, last week, the House voted for the President’s signature proposal, a cut in income taxes heavily tilted towards millionaires and billionaires.

Republican National Committee Chairman Jim Gilmore highlighted my no vote as evidence, he says, that I do not want to see lower taxes for my constituents.

My district in Northeast Ohio is not heavily tilted towards the millionaires and billionaires whom President Bush and the Republican Party Chair Gilmore want to help. Most of the people I represent are middle-income people or lower-income working families working their way up.

The right kind of tax cut would mean something to them. Unfortunately, that is not what the President delivered.

Medicare means something to the people in my district. The President’s plan uses an accounting trick to siphon funds for the Medicare trust fund. Medicare cannot afford that. The elderly people in my district cannot afford that.

Mr. Speaker, tax cuts are not a partisan issue, but this tax cut is. If the President would work with us on a tax cut that would benefit all Americans, we could easily pass one in this body, but I could not support a bill which gives tax cuts to the wealthiest people, robs Medicare and fails to pay down the national debt.

SUNDAY MESSAGES FROM THE PRESIDENT

Sundry messages in writing from the President of the United States were communicated to the House by Ms. Wanda Evans, one of his secretaries.

STABILIZATION AND PACIFICATION OF SOUTHERN SERBIA ACT

(Mr. BEREUTER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Speaker, this Member today is introducing legislation entitled the Stabilization and Pacification of Southern Serbia Act. This bill is a response to the ongoing violence in southern Serbia and in Macedonia that has been fomented by Albanian extremists seeking to create a greater Kosovo by annexing areas of Macedonia and southern Serbia that also contain large concentrations of Albanians.

This legislation would terminate U.S. economic assistance for Kosovo on June 30, 2001, unless the President certifies that citizens or residents of Kosovo are no longer providing assistance to the extremists that are responsible for the worsening situation in both southern Serbia and Macedonia and that leaders of the three main ethnic Albanian political parties of Kosovo are taking positive measures to halt the ethnically motivated violence against non-Albaniens residing in Kosovo.

It does contain a waiver for the President to continue U.S. assistance if he deems it in the national interests.

Mr. Speaker, I urge support of the legislation.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. GILLBRAND). Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, the Chair announces that he will postpone further proceedings today on each motion to suspend the rules on which a recorded vote or the yeas and nays are ordered, or on which the vote is objected to under clause 6 of rule XX.

Such record votes, if postponed, will be taken after debate has concluded on all motions to suspend the rules, but not before 6 p.m. today.

CONDEMNING HEINOUS ATROCITIES THAT OCCURRED AT SANTANA HIGH SCHOOL, SANTA TEE, CALIFORNIA

Mr. CASTLE. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and agree to the concurrent resolution (H. Con. Res. 57) condemning the heinous atrocities that occurred on March 5, 2001, at Santana High School in Santee, California, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H. CON. RES. 57

Whereas on March 5, 2001, a gunman opened fire at Santana High School in Sanee, California, killing 2 students and wounding 13 others: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That the Congress—

(1) condemns, in the strongest possible terms, the atrocities that occurred on March 5, 2001, at Santana High School in Santee, California;

(2) offers its deepest condolences to the families, friends, and loved ones of those killed in the shooting;

(3) expresses hope for the rapid and complete recovery of those wounded in the shooting;

(4) applauds the hard work and dedication exhibited by local and State law enforcement officials and by others who offered support and assistance;

(5) commends the rapid response by the faculty and staff of Santana High School in evacuating its students to safety in an efficient and effective manner;

(6) encourages communities to implement a wide range of violence prevention services for the Nation’s youth; and

(7) encourages the people of the United States to engage in a national dialogue on preventing school violence.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. CASTLE) and the gentlewoman from California (Mrs. DAVIS) each will be allowed 15 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. CASTLE).

Mr. CASTLE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks on H. Con. Res. 57, as amended.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Delaware?

There was no objection.

Mr. CASTLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H. Con. Res. 57, introduced by the distinguished gentleman from California (Mr. HUNTER), to express my profound sorrow for the loss endured by the students, teachers and families of the southern California community of Santee.

Today, you are foremost in the thoughts and prayers of all Americans as you struggle to rebuild your community and the sense of safety and security that a school building is supposed to embody.

Mr. Speaker, I join this body in its continuing search for answers, but it was not so long ago that I stood in this place hoping and praying that April 1999 events at Columbine High School would not be repeated, and taking refuge in the facts offered by various agencies which claim that school-associated violent deaths were still rare.

While I do believe that schools are one of the safest places for our chil-parenting that they had experienced; and in fact, in many cases, that is often true.

We need to encourage mentoring. Kids need to have mentors, and kids need to be mentors. We might think, whether Andy had been tapped to help out a young person in his school, to work with a second grader on reading, whatever it may be, that tapped and valued the person that he was, and perhaps that might make a difference. We have good models in our schools of kids who are mentors.

Teachers as well need more time and resources to spend with their students. We know that our classes are too big, and that is another reason why kids can live in anonymity in our school. Large classes and large schools do not create an atmosphere conducive to getting to know kids as much as we should. We need to create an atmosphere at school so kids feel both physically and mentally safe; that they can talk to their classmates, to their teachers, and their opinions. Everyone has had adverse experiences, and so everyone needs to feel supported and listened to, valued in who they are and what they have to contribute.

As school community leaders, we need to be researching the best practices in other communities and disseminate this information in neighborhoods.

Ironically, Santana had programs. They had taken some good first steps, not final solutions. They had developed peace programs. They had participated in m庾towns, a very popular and well-thought-out program in our community.

But all programs need to be backed up with an evaluation. What works? What does not? Why? We need to look at that information. We need to solicit those opinions from young people.

In the State Assembly, I created the Adolescent Suicide Prevention Force; and in that, we brought young people to the table. We enlisted their ideas. We broadened the circle so kids who often felt that they were not included perhaps in associated student body or other clubs would be included in that forum. Really listening as opposed to telling them what they need is important for all of us.

We have a challenge for change. One thing that we know is many of our young people, in fact most of our young people, are very resilient. Let us learn from them. How can they teach us about that resiliency? Our challenge is to support them.

It has been said that we in America are pretty good at grieving, and yet we wait for a crisis to change. We have to ask, Why are there not more programs to teach kids inclusion? Why are there not more public service announcements on the impacts of bullying developed by students around issues of guns of getting together and finding ways of solving their problems?

We need to enlist the media in that, but we need to allow young people to have the input to create these messages because they really know what it is that people and young people will relate to; that through listening, through mentoring, and modeling, kind, caring behavior, we can stop some of these devastating tragedies.

I hope my colleagues will join me in our deepest condolences to the families and friends of Bryan Zuckor and Randy Gordon. Let us bring students to the center of our discussions and work together to ensure that these tragedies do not get repeated in any community.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CASTLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. HUNTER), the distinguished sponsor of the concurrent resolution.

Mr. HUNTER. Mr. Speaker, I salute and thank my colleague for putting this resolution together and allowing us to be here today.

Mr. Speaker, all of San Diego, California, all of San Diego County, California, all of America was impacted on March 5 when a senseless shooting at Santana High School took the lives of Bryan Zuckor and Randy Gordon and wounded 13 others.

Do my colleagues know what? This time the feeling in this capital, when an event like this occurs is usually one of helplessness, because there is no legislation, there is no resolution, there is no law that can reverse what happened. But in San Diego, California, I want to let my colleagues know hope is reviving, with students and parents and teachers coming together to rebuild this community.

There is one small thing that we can do here, and that is that we can condemn in the strongest possible terms the atrocities that occurred on March 5, 2001, in Santana High School.

We can offer from this House our deepest condolences to the families, to the friends, and to the loved ones of those who were killed and wounded in this shooting, may we express hope for the rapid and complete recovery of those wounded in the shooting.

And we can, Mr. Speaker, very importantly applaud the hard work and dedication exhibited by our local and State law enforcement officials and by all the others who offered support and assistance. They numbered, Mr. Speaker, in the thousands in this community.

We can commend the rapid response by the faculty and staff of Santana High School in evacuating its students to safety and efficient and effective manner. And we can encourage communities to implement a wide range of violence-prevention services for the Nation’s youth. Mr. Speaker, we can encourage the people of the United States to engage in a national dialogue on preventing school violence such as this.

Mr. Speaker, God bless our community. God bless the students at Santana High School. I look forward to working with all of my colleagues and all of our citizens to see to it that events like this never occur again.
March 13, 2001

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

families now mourn a lost child. Other families are faced with the certain knowledge that one of their children will never be the same after surviving a tragic attack.

The town of Santee, California, is left to slowly deal with the painful incident that made no sense at all and shattered hundreds of young lives. That is the reality, and we cannot shrink from it. We send them our prayers and our sincere hope that no city or town will again suffer the senseless trauma and tragedy inflicted upon Santana High School.

That is our hope, but it would be the height of folly to suggest that we will prevent similar tragedies by simply erecting even more barriers to behavior and imposing ever more restrictions on our constitutional freedoms. This line of thought is flawed for both practical and abstract reasons. Fixating upon the blunt instruments of crime places the symptom before the cause.

American history is filled with tragedies, like the awful 8 minutes at Santana High School, not because the capacity to harm others exists within a free society. Rather, we face these demons because of our human condition. Human beings are fallen; we struggle to triumph over evil. And make no mistake about it, this latest attack was certainly evil.

We do not like to admit that evil still exists, but as the unmistakable lesson of the last hundred years repeatedly demonstrates, we cannot remake human nature. Indeed, attempts to do so, like the policies perpetrated on its people by the Soviet Union have been themselves responsible for immense suffering.

No, we cannot remake man, but we can, through negligence and indifference, tolerate a climate that is a more fertile breeding ground for senseless violence. I believe that our tolerance for a culture of death only serves to exacerbate the climate of evil present within persons who are predisposed to consider violent acts a viable statement.

Because once we begin differentiating between shades of life, we truly open a Pandora’s box in which some lives will be callously discounted and dispensed with. We need to treat all life as a sacred gift from our creator, not a sliding scale that society grades by its utility.

I believe that we will only find a lasting solution by rediscovering our core and founding principles. I believe this rediscovery will demand that we boldly move to rebuild the three key elements of our Nation’s success: The strength of the American family, the moral authority of American government, and the fundamental virtue of American culture.

All of these things flow from a common philosophy, a coherent world view. It is a philosophy built on values that are moral, universal and, yes, I believe, the source of America’s greatness. Faith in God, the sanctity of human life, the existence of right and wrong, and the certain knowledge that we are all ultimately accountable for our actions.

This is not the world view that predominates our culture today, and until it does we will confront more awful acts of violence.

Mrs. Davis of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. McCarthy).

Mrs. McCarthy of New York. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of this resolution, but I have to say I would certainly prefer to be standing here debating on what we can do to save these young children.

For close to 4½ years I have stood here. I do not know how many times, saying I am sorry to the families. For 4½ years, I have had to meet with some of these parents that have lost their children. How many times does this have to happen before this Congress will start to realize this is not going to go away?

We cannot stop ignoring this issue. While America’s teachers and students search for solutions to the violence that threatens our school, Congress has failed to enact even modest proposals to regulate our young people’s access to firearms. I know that it is a very complex issue, and we should be all working together on every single issue to make sure that our children are safe.

I spent yesterday morning in one of my local schools, as I tried to teach my kids how to avoid the trap that can be put together again.

It is time to stop the rhetoric of this talk. It is time to stop going around in circles. It is time that this Congress started working to do something to protect our children and our families, and I ask the American people to work with us.

Mr. Castle. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. Issa).

Mr. Issa. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this resolution, and while many will speak of the importance of remembering this tragic episode and many will speak of solutions to be found in this body, I do not rise for that purpose. I believe that the solution to this problem is not found in this body and will not be.

Much like President Lincoln, more than 6 scores ago, when he came to Gettysburg and people expected him to talk only of the burial ground and the loss of life, Mr. Issa, I hope that we would all commit ourselves here today and throughout the United States to use this resolution as a moment to think and reflect on those ways in which all Americans could in fact, prevent this in the future, not by adding to the 1200 laws already on the books in California but on personal responsibility.

It is my fervent belief that if each of us evaluates how we could eliminate violence in our own home, the access of guns, of knives, and of anything else that is pervasive in our homes that could cause harm if poorly used, take responsibility for locking them up, and personally educate our children, then we could personally address the issues of hate, anger and the other menaces that have led to these types of disasters in the past, and most certainly, if not dealt with, will lead to them in the future.

It is the loss of life of the past and loss of life here today that all Americans should focus on and take internally the obligation to see that these lives, this tragic loss of life will not have occurred in vain.

Mrs. Davis of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. Filner).

Mr. Filner. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding me this time, and I thank the gentleman from California (Mr. Hunter) for bringing us this resolution.

The gentleman from California (Mr. Issa) and all of us from San Diego County are here jointly to express the deep sorrow that has fallen upon our entire county and our entire country. And by condemning this act of violence, Congress is expressing the collective sorrow felt around the Nation not only for the victims but for another lost teen who chose to express his frustration with a gun. We especially pray for the families and the whole school family of the slain students, Randy Gordon and Brian Zuckor, and we hope that their lives can be put together again.

Since the tragedy at Columbine High School, and up through this tragedy in Santana High School, much has been written about the prevalence of guns in our community and violence in our media. But it seems to me from all these examples that we have had, one thing is clear, not just those who excel, not just those who are popular, just those who have special needs as defined by law, have got to get our attention. Every child, all kids, we need to get each and every one of them involved, in learning, in fun, especially the ones who may not demand attention, who may not excel, who may not be popular, who may not be involved.

I guess I have to say to our distinguished majority whip, we are not talking about problems on people’s behavior, we are talking about, as the gentleman from California (Mr. Issa) said, our positive responsibility as human beings.

In a column that was written after Columbine, the noted journalist William Raspberry wrote.

The sad fact is that there are people who, for too many of us and often for themselves, do not matter. There are people in our schools, in our offices, on our streets who know they don’t matter to the rest of us, who exist, if at all, as objects of ridicule and derision. Nobodies, all of us, shorties, ascrips, as dummies, as losers. Probably all of us spend some portion of our lives not mattering, though most of us have refuges, places like home, the workplace, church, or a social group where we do matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

Probably all of us spend some portion of our lives not mattering, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.

But some of us have no such refuge, apart from our fellow nonmatters. And of that sad group, some will make sure they matter in the time-tested way of mattering: Through violence. The tendency is for the rest of us to turn away from the violence and think we have dealt with the problem. We institute new rules or new dress codes. We rethink we have dealt with the problem. We in the time-tested way of mattering:

sad group, some will make sure they matter a great deal.
and looking for a way to prevent another terrible tragedy like the one that occurred in Santee. The bill before us today encourages communities to implement a wide variety of vioence prevention services for our Nation’s youth.
I feel that one of the best violence prevention services is ensuring that we have adequate counselors available in our schools for troubled youth.
While we may never know what causes some of that violence is their only option to solve their problems, I believe that having a strong support system in place will show students that they have a safe place to go to when they are troubled. School counselors, psychologists, and social workers play a vital role in teaching students. As important as these counselors are, there are far too few of them in our schools.
In some States, the ratio of students to counselors is over 1100 to 1, although the National Academy of Sciences recommends that ratio to be no higher than 250 to 1.
In order to correct this situation, I will soon reintroduce my legislation to establish a grant program to allow states to hire additional school-based mental health and student services personnel consisting of psychologists, and social workers. My bill will authorize $100 mil-ion over five years for this purpose.
We must have these counselors in our schools so that students can turn to them at times of crisis in their lives. Counselors do make a difference, and hopefully if they are available to more students, we can try to prevent terrible tragedies such as that at Santee High.
Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the H. Con. Res. 57, a res-solution condemning the Heinous atrocities that occurred on March 5, 2001, at Santana High School in Santee, California.
The shooting occurred early morning 9:45 a.m., Monday March 8, on the campus of Santana High School in Santee, California.
Mr. Speaker, here we are again, coming to the House floor to mourn the deaths of more of our Nation’s young. Here we come again, to the House floor to express the need for adequate and enhanced gun legislation.
According to the National Rifle Association, Inc. and the Texas Department of Public Health 5,285 children were killed by firearms in the United States; 260 in Texas; and 37 in Harris County, Texas. For every child killed with a gun, 4 are wounded. According to the Centers for Disease Control, the rate of firearm death of children 0–14 years old is nearly 12 times higher in the U.S. than in 25 other industrialized nations combined.
Mr. Speaker, many people say that guns do not kill people, people kill people. However, I believe that guns do kill people, especially when wielded by children. More than 800 Americans, young and old, die each year from guns shot by children under the age of 19.
The firearm injury epidemic, due largely to handgun violence, is 10 times larger than the polio epidemic of the first half of this century.
More than 1300 children aged 10–19 committed suicide with firearms. Unlike suicide attempts using other methods, suicide attempts with guns are nearly always fatal, meaning a temporarily depressed teenager will never gain a second chance at life. We must end this continual suffering that our nation is expericing. People are tired of having to suffer through daily breaking news that another child was killed as a result of gun violence. I am concerned about children and their access to guns. I am concerned that guns are not regulated in the same way that toys are regulated.
I am concerned that we do not have safety standards for locking devices on guns. I am concerned that we do not prohibit children from attending gun shows unsupervised. I am concerned that we have not focused on the statistics on children and guns.
The American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) strongly stresses that the most effective measure to prevent firearm-related injuries to children and adolescent is to remove guns from homes and communities. According to the AAP statement:

The United States has the highest rates of firearm-related deaths among industrialized countries.

The overall rate of firearm-related deaths for children younger than 15 years of age was nearly 12 times greater than that found for 25 other industrialized nations.

The Academy even predicts that by the year 2003, firearm-related deaths may become the leading cause of injury-related death.

Already, among black males 10 through 34 years of age, injuries from firearms are the leading cause of deaths.

Even more tragic is the fact that most firearm-related deaths of children occur before their arrival at the hospital.

Thus, most of our children that injured by firearms do not even have a chance. This is the reality in our country that must not be denied.

Another important fact pointed out by the American Academy of Pediatrics is that: In 1994, the mean medical cost per gunshot injury was approximately $17,000 producing 2.3 times $1 billion in lifetime medical costs, 1.1 billion of that was paid by US taxpayers.

Thus, it not only makes common sense, but economic sense to pass legislation that includes child safety measures so that we can prevent tragedies like the school shootings in Santana High School in Santee, California,
Columbia and Littleton, Colorado from occur-ing again.

Mr. Speaker, we must remember the sad fact that 13 children die everyday from firearms. It would seem that in almost the year since the Littleton shootings, virtually nothing has been done to address these serious problems. That is why I introduced my own bill, the “Children Gun Safety and Adult Supervision Act in Congress this year,” which would increase youth gun safety by raising the age of handgun eligibility and prohibiting youth from possessing semiautomatic assault weapons, by enhancing the penalties for those adults who recklessly disregard the risk that a child is capable of gaining access to a firearm.

Child Safety legislation is not a novel concept. There are numerous laws on the books that create guidelines in order to protect the most impressionable people in our society—our children. Children under the age of 17 must be accompanied into an R rated movie at the theatres, yet that same child can walk into a gun show where he/she is surrounded by assault weapons.

A child, and I stress the word child, under the age of 18 cannot walk into a store and purchase cigarettes, yet that same child can walk into a gun show where he/she is surrounded by assault weapons.

There is Dram Shop law that hold liquor seller’s liable for their part in the wrongful death of a person who left their establishment intoxicated, yet none for people who recklessly leave firearms in the presence of children.

There is definitely a problem in this society if we allow special interest groups to prevent us from protecting our precious children.

Furthermore, our children’s schools should be safe and secure places for students, teachers, and staff members. All children should be able to go to and from school without fearing for their safety. However, there are

March 13, 2001 CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE H843
revenge. The young assailants were outcasts in the school community, and we must witness more terrifying violence in our schools.

I am dismayed by the string of violent incidents that have occurred in our schools within the past 24 months. In the past months my office has received many calls and letters from constituents who believe that we support legislation that will take away their guns.

Mr. Speaker, I am concerned about children and their access to guns. I am concerned that guns are not regulated in the same way that toys are regulated. I am concerned that we do not have safety standards for locking devices on guns. I am concerned that we do not prohibit children from attending gun shows unsupervised. I am concerned that we have not focused enough on statistics on children and guns.

By now, we are familiar with the statistics on gun violence among young people. In 1996, male high school seniors were about three times as likely to carry a weapon to school. According to the most recent data compiled in 1997 by the National Center for Health Statistics, 630 children 14 years and under died; 3,593 children ages 15 to 17 died; 16,435 children 18 years and under died; 14,370 men 18 to 24 years died; 2,251 men 25 to 29 years died; 1,969 men 30 to 34 years died; 2,698 men 35 to 39 years died; 1,923 men 40 to 44 years died; 1,268 men 45 to 49 years died; 545 men 50 to 54 years died; 552 men 55 to 59 years died; 218 men 60 to 64 years died; 126 men 65 to 69 years died; 28 men 70 to 74 years died. The most troubling statistic is that today, 13 children die from gun violence.

The United States is leading the country among the countries that often think of having extreme incidences of gun violence. And, the statistics indicate that youth violence is a growing percentage among the total number of homicides occurring per year.

How long must we wait until legislation is passed that will begin to adequately address this growing phenomenon. We as a nation, cannot sit idly by as our children are inundated by firearm violence on television, at the movies, and on the streets and in the classroom.

If I have not stressed the urgency of this matter, let me further bring to your attention the result of inadequate firearm safety legislation. As the National Center for Health Statistics, 5,993 children aged 10 to 12 years died; 3,593 children aged 13 to 14 years died; 1,533 children aged 15 to 16 years died; 531 children aged 17 to 19 years died.

The school violence initiatives will help to implement comprehensive strategies to ensure that our schools are safe and drug-free. The majority of juvenile crimes occur between the hours of 3 and 7 pm, when children are with their friends and family. To prevent this surge of crime, activities during non-school hours will be designed to focus on the social, physical, emotional, moral, or cognitive well-being of students. These activities may include leadership development, character training, delinquency prevention, sports and recreation, arts, tutoring, or academic enrichment. By taking these pro-active measures to ensure the safety and well being of students, we will help reduce the risks of school violence for our future.

Now is the time to act and pass enhanced gun legislation and Children's mental health legislation to address the proliferation of school shootings and gun violence in general. I urge my colleagues to join me in committing to addressing this problem today.

Mr. Speaker, it is time to act and pass enhanced gun legislation and Children's mental health legislation to address the proliferation of school shootings and gun violence in general. I urge my colleagues to join me in committing to addressing this problem today.

Mr. Speaker, now is the time to act and pass enhanced gun legislation and Children's mental health legislation to address the proliferation of school shootings and gun violence in general. I urge my colleagues to join me in committing to addressing this problem today.
students formed an organization to call on Congress to approve reasonable, commonsense gun control measures. Without question, these students, some from Columbine High School, are the best authorities on the terrible effects of gun violence. Childhood is supposed to be a time of shelter and learning. Instead, our young people are facing an epidemic of gun violence. I believe that there are more steps that we can take to help restore innocence, a sense of security, and safety to childhood.

Unfortunately, it has taken another shooting at one of our schools, in this case, the Santana High School in Santee, California, to remind us of our duty.

The plague of gun violence too often attacks the most innocent members of our society. Every day in our Nation, 13 young people are senselessly killed in homicides, suicides, and unintentional shootings. We lose the equivalent of a classroom of students every two days. According to a study by the Centers for Disease Control, the rate of firearm death of children in the United States is nearly twelve times higher than in 25 other industrialized countries combined. It is clear that we must have an increased commitment to responsibility, education, and safety.

As a Nation, as a community, we have the responsibility to protect our children from the horrors of gun violence. Limiting their access to firearms and ending the violence should be a common goal for the Nation.

I want to thank the leadership for bringing this resolution to the floor and I wish to extend my condolences to the families of the victims and colleagues of the staff and faculty of Santana High School for their rapid response to the situation. It is my hope that we, in Congress, can prevent a tragedy of this nature from ever happening again.

Mr. CUNNINGHAM. Mr. Speaker, I rise today with a heavy heart. A little over a week ago, a troubled young man committed an act of unspeakable evil, which changed the lives of all San Diegans forever.

Today we consider a resolution to condemn the heinous atrocities that occurred on March 5, 2001, at Santana High School in Santee, California. I rise to support the resolution offered by my good friend and colleague from California.

Tragically, today nearly 1,900 students will return to Santana High School without many of their classmates, one teacher, and one security guard.

Among these students who will never return to Santana High School are Randy Gordon, a 17 year old who talked about going into the Navy after he graduated and Brian Zuckor, a 14 year old whom someone said would become a stuntman. They went to school last week, figuring it would be just another day. Tragically, it was their last.

Other students injured in this terrible incident include: Heather Cruz, Trevor Edwards, Travis Gallegos-Tate, Barry Gibson, Matthew Heier, James Jackson, Karla Leyva, Scott Marshall, Melissa McNulty, Triston Salladay, and Raymond Serrato. Also among the wounded was Tim Estes, a student teacher, and Peter Ruiz Jr., a campus security guard.

This tragedy has caused us all to reevaluate and reflect on our own moral and social values and to reexamine the role that we play as parents, relatives, and family members in the lives of our country's children. This tragedy has driven many of us to work to bring not only healing, but also a reformation of our way of life. Every America felt what happened to those students. The phrase, "it can't happen in my backyard" is now gone for the residents of Santee.

I ask that my colleagues in the United States Congress and my fellow citizens, pray for the students of Santana High School. Pray that carefree feelings that come with youth return to these students. Pray that we have the power and commitment to do our part to ensure that this horrible violation of innocence is never repeated again.

Mr. Speaker, we should all hope that this never happens again, we should all work to see that it doesn't.

Mr. CASTLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore offered the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. CASTLE) that the House suspend the rules and agree to the concurrent resolution, H. Con. Res. 57, as amended.

The question was taken: and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the concurrent resolution, as amended, was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

NATIONAL TRAILS SYSTEM WILLING SELLER ACT

Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 834) to amend the National Trails System Act to clarify Federal authority relating to land acquisition from willing sellers for the majority of the trails in the System, and for other purposes.

SEC. 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "National Trails System Willing Seller Act".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds the following:

1. In spite of commendable efforts by State and local governments and private volunteer trail groups to develop, operate, and maintain the national scenic and national historic trails, there is a lack of sufficient authority to pursue the development of the trails; and

2. Congress shall pursue the development of the trail; and

3. Congress shall pursue the development of the trail; and

4. Congress shall pursue the development of the trail; and

5. Congress shall pursue the development of the trail; and

6. Congress shall pursue the development of the trail; and

7. Congress shall pursue the development of the trail; and

8. Congress shall pursue the development of the trail; and

SEC. 3. SENSE OF THE CONGRESS REGARDING MULTIJURISDICTIONAL AUTHORITY OVER THE NATIONAL TRAILS SYSTEM.

It is the sense of the Congress that in order to address the problems involving multijurisdictional authorities, the National Trails System, the Secretary of the Federal department with jurisdiction over a national scenic or historic trail should—

(1) cooperate with appropriate officials of each State and political subdivisions of each State in which the trail is located and private persons with an interest in the trail to pursue the development of the trail; and

(2) be granted sufficient authority to purchase lands and interests in lands from willing sellers that are critical to the completion of the trail.

SEC. 4. AUTHORITY TO ACQUIRE LANDS FROM WILLING SELLERS FOR CERTAIN TRAILS OF THE NATIONAL TRAILS SYSTEM ACT.

(a) INTENT.—It is the intent of Congress that lands and interests in lands for the nine components of the National Trails System affected by the amendments made by subsection (b) shall only be acquired by the Federal Government from willing sellers.

(b) LIMITED ACQUISITION AUTHORITY.—

(1) OREGON NATIONAL HISTORIC TRAIL.—

Paragraph (3) of section 5(a) of the National Trails System Act (16 U.S.C. 1244(a)) is amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: "No lands or interests therein outside the exterior boundaries of any federally administered area may be acquired by the Federal Government for the trail except with the consent of the owner thereof.

(2) MORMON PIONEER NATIONAL HISTORIC TRAIL.—

Paragraph (4) of such section is amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: "No lands or interests therein outside the exterior boundaries of any federally administered area may be acquired by the Federal Government for the trail except with the consent of the owner thereof.

(3) CONTINENTAL DIVIDE NATIONAL SCENIC TRAIL.—

Paragraph (5) of such section is amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: "No lands or interests therein outside the exterior boundaries of any federally administered area may be acquired by the Federal Government for the trail except with the consent of the owner thereof.

(4) LEWIS AND CLARK NATIONAL HISTORIC TRAIL.—

Paragraph (6) of such section is amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: "No lands or interests therein outside the exterior boundaries of any federally administered area may be acquired by the Federal Government for the trail except with the consent of the owner thereof.

(5) IDAHO NATIONAL HISTORIC TRAIL.—

Paragraph (7) of such section is amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: "No lands or interests therein outside the exterior boundaries of any federally administered area may be acquired by the Federal Government for the trail except with the consent of the owner thereof.

(6) NORTH COUNTRY NATIONAL SCENIC TRAIL.—

Paragraph (8) of such section is amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: "No lands or interests therein outside the exterior boundaries of any federally administered area may be acquired by the Federal Government for the trail except with the consent of the owner thereof.

(7) ICE AGE NATIONAL SCENIC TRAIL.—

Paragraph (9) of such section is amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: "No lands or interests therein outside the exterior boundaries of any federally administered area may be acquired by the Federal Government for the trail except with the consent of the owner thereof.

(8) POTOMAC HERITAGE NATIONAL SCENIC TRAIL.—

Paragraph (10) of such section is amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: "No lands or interests therein outside the exterior boundaries of any federally administered area may be acquired by the Federal Government for the trail except with the consent of the owner thereof.

(9) ARKANSAS'S CIVIL WAR TRAILS SYSTEM WILLING SELLER ACT. amended in the fourth sentence by inserting before the period the following: ‘‘except with the consent of the owner thereof.’’.

(9) NEE PEARCE NATIONAL HISTORIC TRAIL.—Paragraph (f) of such section is amended in the fourth sentence by inserting before the period the following: ‘‘except with the consent of the owner thereof.’’

(c) WILLING SELLERS.— Section 7 of the National Trails System Act (16 U.S.C. 1246) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

‘‘(1) by striking paragraph (1); and

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.— Section 10(c) of the National Trails System Act (16 U.S.C. 1249(c)) is amended—

(1) by striking paragraph (1); and

(2) by striking ‘‘(2) Except’’ and inserting ‘‘Except’’.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Utah (Mr. HANSEN) and the gentleman from Guam (Mr. UNDERWOOD) each will control 20 minutes.

Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

H.R. 834, introduced by the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. MCINNIS), amends the National Trails System Act to clarify Federal authority relating to land acquisition from willing sellers.

Mr. Speaker, under existing law, nine of the 20 National Scenic and Historic Trails have restrictions preventing the Federal Government from acquiring land for the trails outside of the exterior boundaries of any federally administered area. This has created problems even where there are willing sellers of desired property. This bill corrects the situation by allowing lands to be purchased by the Federal Government. However, H.R. 834 specifically provides that such purchase can only be made with the consent of the owner of the land or interest.

This bill greatly improves our trails system. I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 834.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. UNDERWOOD asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Mr. Speaker, as currently written, the National Trails System Act authorizes the Federal Government to acquire property for use as part of a national trail in some cases and not in others. In still other instances, the Federal authority regarding land purchases under the Act is simply unclear. The development of a system of trails that is truly national in scope has been slower than supporters of the program had hoped, and we fear that this inconsistency regarding Federal land acquisition may be a contributing factor.

H.R. 834 will amend the Act to specify that, as long as there is a willing seller, the Federal Government may acquire land under the ‘‘Trails Act.’’ We support such a change in the hope that clarity on this issue will allow the development of a national trails system to progress more quickly.

We urge our colleagues to support H.R. 834.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BERREUTER).

Mr. BERREUTER asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.

Mr. BERREUTER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time.

I do rise in strong support of H.R. 834, the Willing Seller amendments act.

I would like to begin by commending the distinguished colleague from Colorado (Mr. MCINNIS) for his introduction of this legislation; and I also commend the distinguished gentleman from Colorado (Mr. HEPLEY) the subcommittee chairman, and the distinguished gentleman from Utah (Mr. HANSEN) for their assistance in bringing this legislation to the floor.

Mr. Speaker, as cochairman of the House Trails Caucus this Member is keenly aware of the many benefits which the trails provide. Sections of the National Trails System cross nearly every congressional district throughout the country.

The willing seller legislation being considered today will help to correct a shortcoming in the National Trails System that has developed over a period of time. Currently, the managers of nine National Scenic and Historic Trails are prohibited from using Federal funds to acquire land from willing sellers. The other 11 National Scenic and Historic Trails do not have such restrictions placed upon them. This bill would correct the inequity by placing all of the Scenic and National Historic Trails in the system on an equal footing when it comes to the acquisition of land from willing sellers.

Quite simply, H.R. 834 will provide more alternatives for protecting irreplaceable national resources. The current prohibition often prevents the protection of historic sites and trails connecting them. It also limits the options of landowners who may want to sell to the Federal Government; and, of course, that is the restriction. It is a willing seller arrangement.

Mr. Speaker, as an original cosponsor of the legislation, I urge my colleagues to support it in order to help ensure that future generations can enjoy all the benefits of our National Trails System.

Mr. MCINNIS. Mr. Speaker, I’d like to start by thanking the Resources Committee for the prompt attention to this important legislation that aims to correct a serious disparity in the National Trails System. Currently, the federal government is authorized to buy land from willing sellers along 11 of the 20 National Scenic and Historic Trails, but is excluded from doing so on the remaining 9, including the Continental Divide Trail. H.R. 834 intends to remove the current statutory prohibition on the federal government’s ability to acquire lands or interests in lands from willing sellers along these nine trails.

Under this legislation, owners of private tracts that interrupt the continuity of these trails could sell their property to the government for inclusion in the National Trail System. Clinging the way for the completion of a system of trails as Congress intended through the National Trails System Act. H.R. 834 is a private property rights bill that restores the right of the landowner to sell his or her land.

The willing-seller language in my legislation reiterates the basics of contract law—in order to have a valid contract, there must be an exchange.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

In the case of H.R. 834, no contract is valid unless the landowner receives compensation for his or her land. I worked extensively in the last Congress with the gentleman from California, Rep. HEPLEY, a long-time champion of private property rights, to ensure that the property rights aspects of the legislation were both comprehensive and concise. This much anticipated legislation is essential in protecting valuable resources and rights-of-ways critical to the integrity and continuity of these trails. In enacting the National Trails System Act, Congress provided for a national system of trails rather than just a national designation for trails. H.R. 834 enables the federal agencies administering these trails to respond to conservation, recreation and historic education opportunities afforded by willing landowners in an effort to create and manage a consistent national system of trails.

I would like to extend special recognition to several individuals in Colorado, Bruce and Paula Ward, who have given deep devotion to the Continental Divide Trail. H.R. 834 intends to relax the current restrictions that now limit the ability of the federal government to acquire lands needed for proper management of some trails.

Under the bill, the federal government would be authorized to acquire lands from willing sellers. The bill would not authorize use of condemnation to acquire any lands.

Among the trails covered by the bill is the Continental Divide National Scenic Trail, which runs from Canada to Mexico along the spine of the continental divide that separates the drainages of the Pacific Ocean and Gulf of California from that of the Atlantic Ocean and the Gulf of Mexico.
That trail runs through the heart of Colorado, from our border with Wyoming to the New Mexico state line. Over the years, the Forest Service, assisted by thousands of volunteers organized by the Continental Trail Alliance, has worked to complete it and to make it available to all who would travel along it through some of America’s most remarkable wild country.

This bill will greatly assist in that effort by allowing private landowners who wish to do so to provide easements or other interests in lands for the purposes of this and the other trails and for the National Trails System.

Mr. BLUMENTHAUER. Mr. Speaker, our National Trails System promotes wilderness appreciation, historic preservation and a healthy lifestyle, which are all key components of livable communities. H.R. 834, the National Trails System Bill, allows willing sellers to divest parcels that threaten important links in the wild landscapes of the trails or in the sites that tell the stories of the historic trails. Passage of this bill will ensure that the federal government can be a better steward of the heritage to which we are all entitled.

Acquiring land from willing sellers to complete nine national scenic and historic trails, including the Oregon and Lewis and Clark trails, is of vital interest to my constituents in Oregon. At the same time, conservation begins its focus on the bicentennial of Lewis & Clark’s Corps of Discovery trip to the Pacific Ocean, purchasing and preserving historic sites along their journey will serve generations to come.

Without willing seller authority, federal trail managers’ hands are tied when development threatens important links in the wild landscapes of the trails or in the sites that tell the stories of the historic trails. With willing seller authority, sections of trails can be moved from roads where trail users are potentially unsafe, and critical historic sites can be preserved for future generations to experience. Ensuring safety and access for the many families and individuals who enjoy our national trails is certainly an important effort and one that this Congress should support.

I urge the House to support H.R. 834.

Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Utah (Mr. HANSEN) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 834.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds of those present have voted in the affirmative.

Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 2 of rule XX and the Chair’s prior announcement, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

PROVIDING FOR ACQUISITION OF PROPERTY IN WASHINGTON COUNTY, UTAH

Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 880) to provide for the acquisition of property in Washington County, Utah, for implementation of a desert tortoise habitat conservation plan.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 880

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. ACQUISITION OF CERTAIN PROPERTY IN WASHINGTON, UTAH.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, effective 30 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, all right, title, and interest in and to, and the right to immediate possession of, the 1,516 acres of real property owned by Environmental Land Technology, Ltd. (ELT), within the Red Cliffs Reserve in Washington County, Utah, and the 34 acres of real property owned by ELT which is adjacent to the land within the Reserve but is landlocked as a result of the creation of the Reserve, is hereby vested in the United States.

(b) COMPENSATION FOR PROPERTY.—Subject to section 309(f) of the Omnibus Parks and Public Lands Management Act of 1996 (Public Law 104-333), the United States shall pay just compensation to the owner of any real property taken pursuant to this section, determined as of the date of enactment of the Act. An initial payment of $15,000,000 shall be made to the owner of such real property not later than 30 days after the date of taking.

The full faith of the United States is hereby pledged to the payment of any judgment entered against the United States with respect to the taking of such property. Payment shall be made:

(1) the appraised value of such real property as agreed to by the landowner and the United States, plus interest from the date of the enactment of this Act, reasonable costs and expenses of holding such property from February 1990 to the date of final payment, including damages, if any, and reasonable costs and attorneys fees, as determined by the court. Payment shall be made from the permanent judgment appropriation established pursuant to section 123 of title 31, United States Code, or from another appropriate Federal Government fund.

(2) the valuation of such real property awarded by judgment, plus interest from the date of the enactment of this Act, reasonable costs and expenses of holding such property from February 1990 to the date of final payment, including damages, if any, and reasonable costs and attorneys fees, as determined by the court. Payment shall be made from the permanent judgment appropriation established pursuant to section 123 of title 31, United States Code, or from another appropriate Federal Government fund.

Interest under this subsection shall be compounded in the same manner as provided in section 103 of the United States Code, or from another appropriate Federal Government fund.

(c) DETERMINATION BY COURT IN LIEU OF NEGOTIATED SETTLEMENT.—In the absence of a negotiated settlement, a section by action by the owner, the Secretary of the Interior shall initiate within 90 days after the date of the enactment of this section a proceeding in the United States Federal District Court for the District of Utah, seeking a determination, subject to section 309(f) of the Omnibus Parks and Public Lands Management Act of 1996 (Public Law 104-333), of the value of the real property, reasonable costs and expenses of holding such property from February 1990 to the date of final payment, including damages, if any, and reasonable costs and attorneys fees.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. GILLMOR). Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Utah (Mr. HANSEN) and the gentleman from Guam (Mr. UNDERWOOD) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Utah (Mr. HANSEN).

Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as the Gentleman desires.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 880 is a voluntary legislative taking of approximately 1,550 acres of land in Washington County, Utah. The land is located in the Red Cliffs Preserve, which is the designated habitat conservation area set aside in Utah to protect the endangered desert tortoise.

The Red Cliffs Reserve also happens to be located in Washington County, the fastest growing county in Utah. The owner of this property has been unable to sell, trade or develop this property for years because of the actions of the Fish and Wildlife Service and the Bureau of Land Management’s inability to exchange this owner out of the preserve. In fact, the land was appropriated by the 105th Congress to buy this land, but the former administration unwisely chose to spend the money in other areas, rather than protecting habitat for this endangered species.

This disagreement goes back to 1983 when Environmental Land Technology, Ltd. acquired 2,440 acres of school trust lands located just north of St. George, Utah, intended for residential and recreational development. Environmental Land Technology has attempted to sell the property by purchasing water rights while conducting the requisite series of appraisals, cost estimates, and surveys.

Unfortunately, shortly thereafter, the desert tortoise was designated as threatened under the Endangered Species Act. Following years of negotiations, in 1996, a Habitat Conservation Plan and Implementation Agreement for the desert tortoise was reached between the BLM, Fish and Wildlife, Utah Division of Wildlife, and the State of Utah. As part of that agreement, the Bureau of Land Management assumed the obligation to acquire from willing sellers approximately 12,600 acres of non-Federal land to create the Red Cliffs Reserve for the protection of the desert tortoise. The lands described in this legislation are part of that original obligation.

Since that time, the BLM has been able to acquire most of the property in exchange for the land currently owned by ELT. After a series of extensive land exchanges, BLM now has sufficient land available for an interstate transfer with ELT. For the past 10 years, ELT has paid taxes and interest on its property without the ability to sell or develop that land or even set foot on it.

This legislation-taking would include the 1,516 acres located within the Reserve, and 34 acres adjacent to the Reserve, all of which is owned by ELT. Mr. Speaker, H.R. 880 authorizes the United States to acquire the title of this property, which would then eliminate the last private inholding within the Red Cliffs Reserve.
Mr. Speaker, while there is still some question on certain provisions of H.R. 880, we do not object to consideration of the measure by the House today. However, we hope that some of these matters can be addressed before the bill is finalized and presented to the President.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GUAM WAR CLAIMS REVIEW COMMISSION ACT

Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 308) to establish the Guam War Claims Review Commission, as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 308
Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Guam War Claims Review Commission Act”.

SEC. 2. ESTABLISHMENT OF COMMISSION.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—There is hereby established a commission to be known as the “Guam War Claims Review Commission” (in this Act referred to as the “Commission”).

(b) MEMBERS.—The Commission shall be composed of five members who by virtue of their background and experience are particularly suited to contribute to the achievement of the purposes of the Commission. The President shall, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, appoint the Secretary of the Interior not later than 60 days after funds are made available for this Act. Two of the members shall be selected as follows:

(1) One member appointed from a list of three names submitted by the Governor of Guam.

(2) One member appointed from a list of three names submitted by the Secretary of the Interior.

(c) CHAIRPERSON.—The Commission shall select a Chairperson from among its members. The term of office shall be for the life of the Commission.

(d) COMPENSATION.—Notwithstanding section 3, members of the Commission shall not be paid for their service as members, but in the performance of their duties, shall receive necessary expenses, including any comments or recommendations for action, to the Secretary of the Interior, the Committee on Resources and the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Natural Resources and the Committee on the Judiciary of the Senate.

SEC. 3. POWERS OF THE COMMISSION.

(a) POWERS.—The Commission shall have power to:

(1) review the facts and circumstances surrounding the implementation and administration of the Guam Meritorious Claims Act and the effectiveness of such Act in addressing the war claims of American nationals residing on Guam between December 8, 1941, and July 21, 1944;

(2) review all relevant Federal and Guam territorial laws, records of oral testimony previously taken, and documents in Guam and the Archives of the Federal Government regarding Federal payments of war claims in Guam;

(3) receive oral testimony of persons who personally experienced the taking and occupation of Guam by Japanese military forces, noting especially the effects of infliction of death, personal injury, forced labor, forced march, and internment; and

(4) determine whether there was parity of war claims paid to the residents of Guam under the Guam Meritorious Claims Act as compared with awards made to other similarly affected United States citizens or nationals in territory occupied by the Imperial Japanese military forces during World War II.

(b) ADVISORY.—Subject to general policies that the Commission may adopt, the Chairman of the Commission:

(1) shall exercise the executive and administrative powers of the Commission;

(2) may delegate such powers to the staff of the Commission.

(c) HEARING AND SESSIONS.—For the purpose of carrying out its duties under section 5, the Commission may hold hearings, sit at times and places, take testimony, and receive evidence as the Commission considers appropriate. The Commission may administer oaths or affirmations to witnesses appearing before it.

(d) REQUEST FOR CONSULTANTS.—The Commission may procure temporary and intermittent services under section 3109(b) of title from Utah (Mr. HANSEN).

In this case, the Federal department or agency may provide support to the Commission to assist it in carrying out its duties under section 5.

SEC. 7. TERMINATION OF COMMISSION.

The Commission shall terminate 30 days after submission of its report under section 6.

SEC. 8. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

There is authorized to be appropriated $500,000 to carry out this Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Utah (Mr. HANSEN) and the gentleman from Guam (Mr. UNDERWOOD) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Utah (Mr. HANSEN).

Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself this time, which I may consume.

I rise in support of H.R. 308, the Guam War Restitution Act. This act will establish a temporary commission to review an important matter that has been unresolved since World War II.

Just 4 hours after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor located in the territory of Hawaii, Japan invaded the American territory of Guam. The invasion and occupation caused immense suffering to the U.S. citizens and nationals living in Guam because of their intense loyalty to the United States. We cannot forget the sacrifices these men, women, and children made to keep our Nation and people free.

Although there was an intention to provide restitution to U.S. nationals of Guam, like other U.S. citizens, for loss of lives and property due to the war, postwar restitution acts by Congress mistakenly excluded them. Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to again vote in favor of this good piece of legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

(Mr. UNDERWOOD asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, on January 30, 2001, I reintroduced H.R. 308, the Guam War Claims Review Commission Act. This bill is virtually identical to H.R. 755, which passed the House on September 12, 2000. Unfortunately, the Senate was unable to act on the bill before sine die adjournment of the 106th Congress.

Today marks a momentous occasion for the people of Guam. The early consideration and passage of H.R. 308 is a significant step toward the healing of the people who experienced the brutalities of enemy occupation during World War II, and for that I also would like to express my personal gratitude to the gentleman from Utah (Mr. HANSEN), the chairman of the committee, and the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL) for their consideration and speedy action on this particular piece of legislation.

Legislation regarding Guam war restitution has been introduced by every Guam delegate to Congress beginning with Guam's first delegate, Antonio Won Pat, and including my predecessor, General Ben Blaz. Mr. Speaker, H.R. 308 is a careful compromise that incorporates many congressional and Department of Interior recommendations that have been made over the years during which this issue has been considered. The measure before us today creates a process by establishing a Federal commission to review relevant circumstances surrounding the war claims of Guamanians who suffered as a result of the Japanese occupation of the island during World War II. This process will determine eligible claimants, eligibility requirements, and the total amount necessary for compensation for the people of Guam who experienced death, personal injury, forced labor, forced march, and internment.

Today, I come before this distinguished body of individuals who represent a great Nation and a great people to tell a little story about their fellow Americans from across the Pacific who endured the atrocities of war to keep the spirit of America alive. I will tell a story about the people of Guam during World War II and the many efforts to bring closure to this horrible chapter in their lives. I will tell this story in hopes that inside knowledge and understanding will be gained and the process to restore equity will move forward, and that the people of Guam, the World War II generation of the people of Guam, will be finally made whole.

Pursuant to the Treaty of Paris in 1898, which marked the end of the Spanish-American War, the United States acquired sovereignty over Guam and Guam has remained an American territory since that time. On December 8, 1941, Japanese armed forces invaded Guam and seized control of the island from the United States.

From this moment on, Guam’s place in American history was tragically etched. Guam was the only U.S. territory or possession or State with civilians present who were occupied by enemy forces during World War II. The island, with its population of approximately 22,000 civilians, was subjected to death, personal injury, forced labor, forced march, and internment by Japanese soldiers. Many were executed by firing squads or beheadings; and the entire island was an internment camp, and families whose lives were once consumed with farming and subsistence living were now forced to labor for the needs of their occupiers.

But the will of the people of Guam was much stronger than the infliction cast upon them by the Japanese military. They concealed the presence of U.S. servicemen who remained on the island and by moving them from house to house; they composed American patriotic songs and made makeshift American flags from tattered rags as a reminder, as a boost to their spirits, that America would soon return. Some even organized small militia units, often only teenaged boys to bedevil Japanese soldiers, hoping to ease the path for the return of U.S. military forces.

On July 21, 1944, American forces liberated Guam. Emerging from the hills were a loyal and grateful people for the return of their American countrymen from across the Pacific. In response to this, on June 9, 1945, in a letter from the Honorable Strive Hantel, Acting Secretary of the Navy, to then Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, Mr. Hantel transmitted proposed legislation to provide relief to the residents of Guam through the settlement of what was called "meritorious claims." On November 15, 1945, the Guam Meritorious Claims Act authorized the Secretary of the Navy to adjudicate and settle claims for a period of only 1 year for property damage only occurring on Guam during the Japanese occupation. Certification of claims in excess of $5,000 or any claims of personal injury or death were to be forwarded to Congress.

On June 8, 1947, Navy Secretary Forrestal appointed a civilian commission labeled the Hopkins Commission to study and make recommendations on Guam civil administration of Guam. One of their strongest recommendations was that the war claims of the people of Guam should be addressed, and specifically claims on personal injury and death, and that immediate steps should be taken to hasten this process. The report also stated that while many claimants were advised that the local Navy Claims Commission had the power to settle and make immediate payment of claims not in excess of $5,000, that claims above that amount must go to Washington, which, of course, resulted in absolutely no action.

The report recommended that the Guam Meritorious Claims Act be amended to authorize naval officials to provide immediate, on-the-spot settlements.

In response to this particular circumstance, and in fact to the circumstance involving all American nationals and citizens who experienced occupation, the 1948 War Claims Act... was enacted by Congress to address all of American victims of World War II. The War Claims Act of 1948 authorized the creation of a commission to make inquiries and settle the claims of American citizens and nationals and military personnel imprisoned during World War II.

Despite recommendations from the Hopkins Commission, the War Claims Act of 1948 excluded Guam. This led to the anomaly that many people from Guam who happened to be in the Philippines at the time were eligible for war claims, whereas their families who remained on Guam under enemy occupation were ineligible.

In 1950, Congress passed the Organic Act of Guam which made the people U.S. citizens. In 1961, the United States signed a peace treaty with Japan, which meant that no further claims by the people of Guam could be addressed directly to the Japanese. The people of Guam were left in this anomalous position unable to settle their claims directly with Japan.

In 1962, the War Claims Act of 1948 was further amended, and again Guam was not included. As a consequence, and despite the study and recommendations of this Commission, which concluded that reparations for Guam that were provided by the Guam Meritorious Claims Act fell short of re-habilitating the island and redressing damages suffered by its people from the occupation of Guam, Congress still failed to address the recommendations.

Today we are left with this situation.

For more than 2 decades, the issue has been aggressively pursued by the leaders of Guam. On December 30, 1980, the Government of Guam created a Guam Reparations Commission which compiled war damage claims for death, forced labor, forced march, internment, or injury for survivors or descendents who did not receive any reparations under the Guam Meritorious Claims Act. On the Federal level, as I have indicated, each of my predecessors introduced legislation to address this issue.

These combined efforts have brought us to this point today, and I am hopeful once the work of the commission is completed, we can finally heal this very painful memory in Guam’s history.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 308 is simple. It establishes a Federal process to review the historical facts, determine the eligible claimants, the eligibility requirements and the total amount necessary for compensation arising from the Japanese occupation of Guam.

Last year, the Congressional Budget Office estimated that the cost of this would be minimal and would not affect direct spending or receipts. Moreover, considering that the island of Guam had a very small population during the nearly 3 years of occupation during the war and given the available Federal and territorial records on this matter, I anticipate that any Federal commission which is established under this bill would be able to complete its work expeditiously and provide Congress with the necessary recommendations to resolve this long-standing issue in a timely and fair fashion.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Utah (Mr. HANSSEN), chairman of the Committee on Resources, for his assistance in bringing this matter to the floor, and the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL), our ranking Democrat member. It has been with their help that we have been able to address past concerns on this issue and move closer to finality in an expeditious fashion in the 107th Congress.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from American Samoa (Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA).

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I would like to commend our good friend from Guam for his introduction of the Guam Meritorious Claims Act of 1948, a law which established a Federal process to review reparations for the people of Guam who were subjected to death, forced labor, forced marches and internment during World War II.

Guam was the only land under the jurisdiction of the United States to be occupied by Japanese forces during World War II. The people of Guam could have, I suppose, Mr. Speaker, greeted Japanese military forces with open arms and perhaps spared themselves some of the misery they suffered during 3 years of brutal occupation by Japanese forces, but they did not.

These native Guamanians were proud Americans since the annexation of Guam by America in 1898 after the Spanish-American War.

In response to their loyalty, 56 years after the Secretary of the Navy was authorized to adjudicate these claims, we are still debating whether we should establish a commission to study whether the people of Guam who suffered during this occupation should receive reparations.

Mr. Speaker, it has been 56 years. Even the Department of the Navy supported reparations decades ago. Direct action on the part of this Congress is long, long overdue. This legislation has been introduced in every Congress since Guam has had a delegate in the U.S. House of Representatives to address the war, the subject of the World War II atrocities committed by Japanese soldiers against these loyal Americans. This is my seventh term now in this Chamber. I can personally attest that the gentleman from Guam (Mr. UNDERWOOD) has been tireless in trying to get this issue addressed since he has been here, and our former colleague, Mr. Ben Blaz, did the same before him, and before Mr. Blaz, Mr. Tony Won Pat in the 1970s.

Mr. Speaker, I support this legislation. I also feel compelled to speak out that we should be doing more. A similar bill passed the House last year, and I applaud the leadership agreeing to take up this bill early in this Congress so the Senate will have more time to act on it.

Mr. Speaker, the territory of Guam stands today as one of our most important strategic centers throughout the Asian-Pacific region. Our Nation has established well over a $10 billion military presence in Guam, including a strategic Air Force base that has proved so crucial in bombing operations during the Vietnam War, and a naval installation that is critical to provide resources and support for our armed forces throughout the Asian-Pacific region.

Mr. Speaker, I want to reinforce these points to my colleagues in the House as to why this legislation is so important and why it needs the support of this body. One, some 22,000 native Guamanians were the only Americans living in the land that was sovereign to the United States that was occupied for some 3 years by Japanese military forces during World War II. Two, I am not going to ask why it was the policy of our government to evacuate only U.S. citizens living in Guam, but leave the native Guamanians, who were all U.S. nationals, subject to the control and sovereignty of our own government, they were left to fend for themselves for these 3 years while the Japanese occupied the island of Guam.

Mr. Speaker, for 3 years, these United States nationals were subject to some of the worst atrocities committed by Japanese military forces during their occupation of Guam from 1941 to 1944.

Mr. Speaker, this is not a pleasant story to share with my colleagues today, but we need to put ourselves in the shoes of some of the descendents of these families who suffered so much. It is not a pleasant story to hear when the head of one’s father has been decapitated by a Japanese soldier, or if one’s mother or sister or wife was being raped by these Japanese forces.

I only say just a fraction, from talking to some of the descendents who are still living today, of the atrocities; and just the forced marches, the way that these people were treated, I say it even borders on genocide.

Mr. Speaker, I want to reinforce these points to my colleagues in the House as to why this legislation is so important and why it needs the support of this body. One, some 22,000 native Guamanians were the only Americans living in the land that was sovereign to the United States that was occupied for some 3 years by Japanese military forces during World War II. Two, I am not going to ask why it was the policy of our government to evacuate only U.S. citizens living in Guam, but leave the native Guamanians, who were all U.S. nationals, subject to the control and sovereignty of our own government, they were left to fend for themselves for these 3 years while the Japanese occupied the island of Guam.

Mr. Speaker, for 3 years, these United States nationals were subject to some of the worst atrocities committed by Japanese military forces during their occupation of Guam from 1941 to 1944.

Mr. Speaker, this is not a pleasant story to share with my colleagues today, but we need to put ourselves in the shoes of some of the descendents of these families who suffered so much. It is not a pleasant story to hear when the head of one’s father has been decapitated by a Japanese soldier, or if one’s mother or sister or wife was being raped by these Japanese forces.

I only say just a fraction, from talking to some of the descendents who are still living today, of the atrocities; and just the forced marches, the way that these people were treated, I say it even borders on genocide.

Mr. Speaker, I plead with my colleagues today, let this bill pass. We owe it to these proud Americans.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I ask for favorable consideration of this bill. I thank all involved.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 308, the Guam Claims Review Commission Act. This legislation takes essential steps toward identifying all
The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 223

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That section 5(c)(2) of the Clear Creek County, Colorado, Public Lands Transfer Act of 1993 (Public Law 103-250, Stat. 677) is amended by striking “the date 10 years after the date of enactment of this Act” and by inserting “May 19, 2015”.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Utah (Mr. HANSEN) and the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. UDALL) each will control 20 minutes.

Mr. UDALL (of Colorado). The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, H.R. 308, as amended, was passed.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 223, introduced by the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. UDALL), amends section 5 of the Clear Creek County, Colorado, Public Lands Transfer Act of 1993.

The act clarified Federal land ownership questions in Clear Creek County, Colorado, and provided Clear Creek County time to dispose of transferred property. This amendment extends the time needed for Clear Creek County to sell certain lands that it received from the Federal government under the 1993 act.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 223 is a non-controversial and bipartisan bill that is nearly identical to a bill that was passed by the 106th session of Congress. The only difference is that this bill would extend the time for the county to sell the lands in question for 1 year longer than the time period contained in the bill that passed the House last year.

This additional 1-year time period is necessary to allow for the additional time that has elapsed while the Congress has had this matter under consideration before the bill was enacted into law.

I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. UDALL of Colorado. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

(Mr. UDALL of Colorado asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. UDALL of Colorado. Mr. Speaker, as its author, I obviously support passage of this bill. I want to thank the gentleman from Utah (Mr. HANSEN), the chairman of the Committee on Resources, and our ranking member, the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAILL), for making it possible for the House to consider it today.

I introduced the bill last year at the request of the commissioners of Clear Creek County. It was passed by the House last fall, but time ran out before the Senate could complete action on it prior to the end of the 106th Congress.

I reintroduced the bill in the 107th Congress, and the Senate passed the Clear Creek County, Colorado, Public Lands Transfer Act of 1993. The effect of the amendment would be to allow Clear Creek County additional time to determine the future disposition of some former Federal land that was transferred to the county under that section of the 1993 act.

The 1993 act was originally proposed by my predecessor, Congressman David Skaggs. Its purpose was to clarify Federal land ownership questions in Clear Creek County while helping to consolidate the Bureau of Land Management administration in eastern Colorado, and assisting with protecting open space and preserving historic sites.

As part of its plan to merge its eastern Colorado operations into one administrative office, the BLM has determined that it would be best to dispose of most of its surface lands in northeastern Colorado.

The 1993 act helped achieve that goal by transferring some 14,000 acres of land from the Bureau of Land Management to the U.S. Forest Service, to the State of Colorado, to Clear Creek County, and to the towns of Georgetown and Silver Plume. Of course, the BLM would have sold all these lands, and the local governments would have applied for parcels under the Recreation and Public Purposes Act.

Under current law, however, BLM would have first had to have completed detailed boundary surveys. Since the land in question included many odd-shaped parcels, including some measured literally in inches, the BLM estimated that these surveys could have taken another 15 years to complete and could have cost as much as $1 million.

Mr. Speaker, but the estimated value of these lands was only $3 million. Because these administrative costs were expected to be so much higher than the value of these lands, their disposal under existing law could never have been completed, and have been the worst of all outcomes. Because, after reaching the conclusion that these lands should be transferred, BLM would be in effect stop managing them, to the extent that they could be managed at all.

In short, until some means could be found to enable their transfer, these 14,000 acres were effectively abandoned property, potentially attracting all the problems that befall property left un cared for and ignored.

The 1993 Act responded to that situation. Under it, about 3,500 acres of BLM land in Clear Creek County were transferred to the Arapaho National Forest. Another 3,200 acres of land were transferred to the State of Colorado, the county, and the towns of Georgetown and Silver Plume. Finally, about 7,300 acres were transferred to the county.

The bill before us deals today only with those 7,300 acres that were transferred to the county. The 1993 Act provided that after it prepares a comprehensive land use plan, the county may resell some of the land. Other parcels would be turned over to the local governments, including the county, to be retained for recreation and public purposes.
With regard to the lands that the county has authority to sell, the 1993 Act in effect authorizes the county to act as the BLM’s sales agent, and it provides that the Federal Government will receive any of the net receipts from the sale of these lands by the county.

Under the 1993 Act, the county has until May 19, 2004, to resolve questions related to rights-of-way, mining claims and trespass situations on the lands covered by the Act.

While the county has completed the conveyance of some of these lands, there are still about 6,000 acres to dispose of, and they are working to complete the job. For example, the county is seeking to have some 2,000 acres transferred to the Colorado Division of Wildlife for the management of Big-horn Sheep habitat. However, the commissioners have found the process is taking longer than they anticipated and that an extension of time would be helpful to a successful conclusion.

The bill we are considering today responds to their request by providing that extension; and it set May 19, 2015, as the new deadline for the county to either transfer or retain these lands.

The county commissioners have indicated to me that they are confident that there will be sufficient time for them to resolve the matter under this new piece of legislation.

Mr. Speaker, in summary, there is no controversy associated with the legislation and I urge its adoption.

Mr. UDALL of Colorado. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. COOKSEY) at 6 p.m.

Mr. UDALL of Colorado. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. GILLMORE). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Utah (Mr. HANSEN) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 223.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds of those present have voted in the affirmative.

Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX and the Chair’s prior announcement, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. HANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 880, H.R. 834, H.R. 308, as amended, and H.R. 223.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Utah?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following message from the President of the United States:

To the Congress of the United States:

As required by section 401(c) of the National Emergencies Act, 50 U.S.C. 1621(c), section 204(c) of the International Emergency Economic Powers Act, 50 U.S.C. 1703(c), and section 505(c) of the International Security and Development Cooperation Act of 1985, 22 U.S.C. 2349aa-6(c), I transmit herewith a 6-month periodic report on the national emergency with respect to Iran that was declared in Executive Order 12957 of March 15, 1995.

GEORGE W. BUSH.

CONTINUATION OF IRAN EMERGENCY—MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES (H. DOC. NO. 107-51)

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following message from the President of the United States; which was read and, together with the accompanying papers, without objection, referred to the Committee on International Relations and ordered to be printed:

To the Congress of the United States:

Section 202(d) of the National Emergencies Act (50 U.S.C. 1622(d)) provides for the automatic termination of a national emergency unless, prior to the anniversary date of its declaration, the President publishes in the Federal Register and transmits to the Congress a notice stating that the emergency is to continue in effect beyond the anniversary date. In accordance with this provision, I have sent the enclosed notice, stating that the emergency declared with respect to Iran is to continue in effect beyond March 15, 2001, to the Federal Register for publication. The most recent notice continuing this emergency was published in the Federal Register on March 14, 2000.

The crisis constituted by the actions and policies of the Government of Iran, including its support for international terrorism, efforts to undermine Middle East peace, and acquisition of weapons of mass destruction and the means to deliver them, that led to the declaration of a national emergency on March 15, 1995, has not been resolved. These actions and policies are contrary to the interests of the United States in the region and threaten vital interests of the national security, foreign policy, and economy of the United States. For these reasons, I have determined that I must continue the declaration of national emergency with respect to Iran necessary to maintain comprehensive sanctions against Iran to respond to this threat.

GEORGE W. BUSH.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 12 of rule I, the Chair declares the House in recess until approximately 6 p.m.

Accordingly (at 3 o’clock and 36 minutes p.m.), the House stood in recess until approximately 6 p.m.

□ 1800

AFTER RECESS

The recess having expired, the House was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. COOKSEY) at 6 p.m.

COMMUNICATION FROM PAYROLL COUNSELOR, OFFICE OF THE CHIEF ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICER

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from Jack Katz, Payroll Counselor, Office of the Chief Administrative Officer:

Hon. J. Dennis Hastert, Speaker, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

Dear Mr. Speaker:

This is to formally notify you pursuant to Rule VIII of the Rules of the House that I have received a subpoena for records issued by the Calvert County Department of Social Services.

After consultation with the Office of General Counsel, I have determined that the subpoena is material and relevant and that compliance is consistent with the privileges and rights of the House.

Sincerely,

Jack Katz, Payroll Counselor.
ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The pending business is the question of suspending the rules and passing the bill, H.R. 834.

The Clerk read the title of the bill. The SPEAKER pro tempore. The pending business is the question of suspending the rules and passing the bill, H.R. 834, on which the yeas and nays are ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 409, nays 3, not voting 20, as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Yeas</th>
<th>Nays</th>
<th>Not Voting</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Akin</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arnoy</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ballenger</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Barnard</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Barrett</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Barton</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Barrettt</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bass</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bentzsen</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bercutier</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berkley</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berman</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Abercrombie</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aderholt</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Akin</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Albin</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Andrews</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arnoy</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Akin</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Allen</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aderholt</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Armey</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arrington</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Askew</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Barrett</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Barrettt</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bass</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bentzsen</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bercutier</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berkley</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berman</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

COMMUNICATION FROM HON. RICHARD A. GEPHARDT, DEMOCRATIC LEADER

The Speaker pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from Richard A. Gephardt, Democratic Leader:

Dear Mr. Speaker: Pursuant to paragraph 8 of Section 801(b) of Public Law 100–686, I hereby appoint the following Member to the United States Capitol Preservation Commission:

Mr. Moran, VA

Yours Very Truly,

Richard A. Gephardt

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

[Continued]
March 13, 2001

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. PAUL) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. PAUL. Mr. Speaker, the golden new era of the 1990s has been welcomed and praised by many observers, but I am afraid a different type of new era is arriving, a dangerous one, heralding the end of 30 years of fiat money. If so, it is a serious matter that deserves close attention by Congress.

There is nothing to fear from globalization, free trade, and a single world-wide currency, but a globalization where free trade is competitive, is challenged by each nation, a continuous trade war by each nation, a continuous trade war and praised by many observers, but I was inadvertently detained. Had I been present, I would have voted “yea.”

MAKING IN ORDER CERTAIN MOTIONS TO SUSPEND THE RULES ON WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 2001

Mr. LATHAM. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

The result of the vote was announced as reported. A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Stated for: Mr. BILIRAKIS, Mr. Speaker, on rollcall No. 47 I was inadvertently detained. Had I been present, I would have voted “yea.”

SPECIAL ORDERS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker’s announced policy of Jan-
Likewise ignored has been the excess stock market collapse now ongoing. This set the stage for the tech, especially the NASDAQ, and was side. Counterfeit works. It is declared that the day has arrived and the bills would never have come from China. In my opinion, this only adds insult to injury. For the life of me, I cannot understand why the Pentagon wants our soldiers to wear headgear produced in a communist country and at a cost of $35 million.

I do not think a potential adversary should be producing a beret that has been produced in a communist country. For the life of me, I cannot understand why the Pentagon would want our soldiers to wear headgear produced in a communist country.

Social engineering within the armed forces of the United States is a policy Bill Clinton started. It has been divisive and distracting to the morale of our forces; and it needs to end, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to take this opportunity to, again, thank Sergeant Nielsen and Sergeant Round for their efforts to bring attention to this most important issue. They are two men who served our Nation honorably and who do not want to see the black beret sacrificed in the name of political correctness.

Mr. Speaker, I close by saying God bless the men and women in uniform and God bless America.
Annapolis, Merchant Marine, or Coast Guard. It always impresses me when I hear from some of them who have either told me about their experiences or, in fact, have written on issues that may concern them relative to our country.

I had a great opportunity last week to receive over my fax, obviously, a letter from a proud father, George Liedel, who is a doctor in Sebring, Florida, at Highlands Regional Medical Center. He sent this from Jennifer, Jennifer Liedel, his daughter who is at West Point. I nominated her in 1997. She sent this Friday, February 23, from her computer to her mom and dad. The subject: "I think this puts things in perspective as to where our priorities really are as a nation."

On 18 February 2001, while racing for fame and fortune, Dale Earnhardt died in the last lap of the Daytona 500. It was surely a tragedy for his family, friends, and fans. He was 49 years old and had grown children, one who was in the race with him. I am new to the NASCAR culture, so much of what I know has come from the newspaper and TV. He was a winner and a car and team owner who had died in a training accident when two UH-60 Black Hawk helicopters collided during night maneuvers in Hawaii. The soldiers were dead. The aircraft was inspected and replaced as soon as there was any evidence of wear. This is normally fully funded by the car and team sponsors. Today, there is no TV station that does not constantly remind us of his tragic death and the radio already has a song of tribute to this winning driver. Nothing should be taken away from this man. He was a professional and the best in his profession. He was in a very dangerous business, but the rewards were great.

Two weeks ago, seven U.S. Army soldiers died in a training accident when two UH-60 Black Hawk helicopters collided during night maneuvers in Hawaii. The soldiers were killed. It was a very dangerous business, but the rewards were great.

For the record, the six identified casualties were Major Robert L. Olson of Minnesota; Chief Warrant Officer George P. Perry and Chief Warrant Officer Gregory I. Montgomery, both of California; Sergeant Thomas E. Barber of Champlin, Minnesota; Specialist Bob D. MacDonald of Alta Loma, California; and Specialist Rafael O lvera-Rodriguez of El Paso, Texas.

She hits pretty much the nail on the head, as they say. We are completely smitten by personalities and successful stars, rock stars, TV actors, and others; and we give scant appreciation to those who serve in the military.

Those men were mentioned, who died training for this country, deserve more than my speech on the floor or her memo. I hope it brings us to call to mind that the great bravery exhibited by our men and women in uniform, those on the police departments, our schoolteachers, our firefighters, you name the profession who works for the public, deserve more than thinking their life's work does not deserve headlines or certainly does not deserve the appreciation of the country.

I salute Jennifer for bringing this memo to my attention. I salute her for her service to West Point, and I praise our country for those young people who choose to serve our country in uniform.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Lee) is recognized for 5 minutes.

(Ms. Lee addressed the House. Her remarks will appear hereafter in the Extensions of Remarks.)

INDIA EARTHQUAKE RELIEF

Our country for those young people who choose to serve our country, particularly the men and women in uniform, those on the police departments, our schoolteachers, and those who choose to serve our country in uniform.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. Pallone) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I come to the House today to speak about the continued relief efforts in India after the massive 7.9 earthquake that rocked the nation in January.

After the earthquake, I came to the floor to request USAID to double the amount of assistance it was sending to India, from $5 million to $10 million.

Today, more than $13 million has been sent. This is a good start; but clearly, the $13 million is not enough to address the continued struggles India, particularly Gujarat, is facing at this time.

The havoc on the ground in terms of human suffering must be understood. Our friends in India will be facing monsoons very soon. We must move fast to ensure all support possible to prevent epidemic and further tragedies in the earthquake's aftermath.

Today, Mr. Speaker, I would like to address five strong areas where I think we could continue to help. Several of these ideas were discussed at a subcommittee hearing of the Committee on International Relations by several of my colleagues who visited the region after the earthquake.

First, I ask the World Bank and the Asian Development Fund to move quickly to approve India’s petition for soft-window or low-interest loans funding. The ADF recently finished its appraisal of the Gujarat disaster and increased its earlier estimate of assistance from $350 million to $500 million. This increase in the amount of assistance the ADF clearly demonstrates the terrible need on the ground.

The President of the Asian Development Bank has pledged his support, and I laud him for that; but currently this proposal is held up before their board. The board is meeting late March to decide the $500 million funding for the World Bank’s Gujarat Earthquake Rehabilitation and Reconstruction Project.

Now normally the Asian Development Bank does not offer concessional loans to India due to India’s size, but clearly Gujarat is in the midst of a great human and fiscal disaster and definitely merits these loans. We as a donor country can and must ask the ADF to make this exception.

Second, Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Office of Management and Budget to improve 416(b) disaster mitigation funding. This proposal sent by nongovernmental organizations in India to the U.S. Department of Agriculture allocates estimated relief at 60,000 metric tons of vegetable oil and other commodities, valued at over $32 million for this year. This proposal, originally designed for aid to the entire country, is now being focused on Gujarat in light of the earthquake.

We must understand that this region suffered a horrible drought in the last 2 years, so this is an emergency within an emergency. The proposal has gone through technical reviews, and it has received positive endorsements from USAID, State Department, and the Department of Agriculture, but is still stalled at OMB. I encourage OMB to release this funding for India immediately.

Third, Mr. Speaker, we must focus on detailed talks between the Indian National Disaster Congress and FEMA to help create a FEMA-type model for India. Currently, there is an active debate in India about creating an agency like FEMA, and the Indian Government has shown great interest in collaborating with the U.S. Government. The FEMA model needs to be immediately adopted. We must move quickly so we can implement the plans expeditiously as possible.

Fourth, Mr. Speaker, we must also work with local governments in India to help create a local response system similar to ones we have in the United States. in Fairfax, Virginia, and Miami, Florida. This would certainly improve rescue operations and help minimize loss of life in the crucial hours after disaster has struck.

In addition, we should have technical experts from the earthquake-prone areas such as California work together with the Indian officials to create appropriate public-warning procedures, routine earthquake drills, civilian protection mechanisms, and earthquake-safe foundation structures. We must share the lessons we learned from the devastating Northridge earthquake in California in 1994 to help Gujarat rebuild itself, as well as prepare for such future disasters.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, we must focus on creation of a better U.S. rescue response system around the world. The current system, while successful in rebuilding procedures, needs revamping of its international rescue response procedures in the immediate hours after an emergency. Switzerland, the UK, and Israel were on the ground in India within 48 hours to start rescue operations while it took the U.S. Government more than 72 hours to get our first official relief efforts there.

USAID is considering prepositioning resources by setting up ground offices in disaster-prone regions of the world to expedite aid disbursement during calamities. I support setting up such an office in India.

1900

An important thing for us to understand is how vital a strong India is for U.S. interests. With India increasingly showing signs of political strength and stability, and stronger restraint in the resolution of the Kashmir dispute, we must demonstrate that we stand by our friend in their hour of need. Indians are not looking for handouts. They are very strong, resilient people who can and will rebuild Gujarat back. However, we must not leave them alone in coping with this devastating earthquake.

Mr. Speaker, I therefore ask my fellow colleagues to stand strong with me in pushing these recommendations immediately for long-lasting support to India.

MASSIVE IMMIGRATION INTO UNITED STATES MUST BE STOPPED

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. CANTOR). Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. TANCREDO) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. TANCREDO. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. JONES) was up here a moment ago, and while I was waiting to speak to the House tonight, I listened to his concerns with regard to the black beret issue, and I want to add my voice to his in expressing deep concern about this particular proposal.

Mr. Speaker, I rise this evening to bring to the attention of the House a tragic accident that occurred in Colorado just yesterday. It took the lives of 6 Mexican nationals and injured 18 others.

All of these people were in a van. The van was hit by a truck on the highway which hit a patch of ice. The van was carrying nine people, Mexican nationals, to jobs in the United States and they were crossing Colorado. This has become an all too common event. We have had 8 or more people killed in Colorado, I know the numbers are expanded by events in other States. Always the same thing. People being transported, people being exploited by others, having money taken from them for the purpose of bringing them to jobs in the United States, transporting them illegally into this country. They are caught many times. They are certainly exploited, and oftentimes they are exploited when they get here, working under conditions that we would not tolerate in any other situation, oftentimes at lower pay. All of this because some employers, unscrupulous employers, know that they can do that because the employee, being here illegally, is afraid to go and report it for fear of what would happen to them.

The problem that this raises is not just the problem of the tragic toll of human life that occurred in Colorado yesterday, and that is our primary concern this evening. But I think it is important for us to understand that this underscores a much more significant problem that we face as a Nation.

Mr. Speaker, this Nation cannot absorb the number of people that are coming across our borders, both legally and illegally. The immigration into this country over the last 10 years has been extraordinary. Now we are, of course, a Nation of immigrants. I understand that very well. My own grandparents, like everyone else’s here in this room, with the exception of Native Americans who might have claim to some other way of being here, the fact is that most of us are here as a result of our grandparents coming in the recent past.

I do not blame for a moment the people who are seeking a better life, the people trying to come here for the purpose of getting a better life for themselves and their families. I do not blame them; I blame the system.

We must begin the debate, although it is a difficult one, we must begin the debate on exactly what this country will look like. How many people are we going to let in here, both legally and illegally. The fact is we are letting in here, both legally and illegally. The fact is we are letting in here, both legally and illegally. The fact is we are letting in here, both legally and illegally. The fact is we are letting in here, both legally and illegally. The fact is we are letting in here, both legally and illegally. The fact is we are letting in here, both legally and illegally. The fact is we are letting in here, both legally and illegally.

Tax cuts make a lot of sense. I am in favor of a tax cut, but the tax cut should be targeted, the tax cut should not be extravagant, and the tax cut should not be across the board. People should not be hit at will, millions annually. Seventy million, it is estimated between 1 and 4 million people, no one knows exactly how many end up here, we have a net increase every year of immigration through illegal immigrants of that number.

Mr. Speaker, massive immigration into the United States must be stopped. We must begin the debate on exactly how to do it. There are extraordinary financial costs, both for infrastructure development, for schooling, housing, social services, for the incarceration of aliens here who have violated State or local law, and we have also to evaluate exactly what American businesses may need in terms of both skilled and unskilled workers, and then we come up with a plan to deal with it. We must begin the debate.

EDUCATION POLICY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 3, 2001, the gentleman from New York (Mr. OWENS) is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the minority leader.

Mr. OWENS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to use most of my time to talk about education, but it is important to begin by setting the discussion on education in the proper context, within the proper context of what is developing here in Washington and in the House of Representatives.

Last week, the majority voted, to begin the massive tax cut proposed by the President. This is a massive amount of money to be spent on tax refunds. A tax cut is a kind of expenditure. That is an important item to understand, put in place, because it is part of setting the parameters for any kind of action on education or any other program of the government. All other programs will have to respond to the fact that there is less money available if we have a huge tax cut.

We have tried to set different parameters. Instead of a huge tax cut, the Congressional Black Caucus and the progressive caucus have proposed that at least 10 percent of the surplus be used for education. If we used 10 percent of the surplus for education, we would still have 90 percent left to use for other programs. So we propose that we use another 10 percent for housing, for social programs, for other kinds of programs that are important for human resource development. Other words, invest at least 20 percent in education and human resource development. There would still be 80 percent left of the surplus after that investment was made. So that additional 80 percent, we propose, should be used to pay down the debt and to give a tax cut.

Tax cuts make a lot of sense. I am in favor of a tax cut, but the tax cut should be targeted, the tax cut should not be extravagant, and the tax cut should not be across the board. People should not be hit at will, millions annually. Seventy million, it is estimated between 1 and 4 million people, no one knows exactly how many end up here, we have a net increase every year of immigration through illegal immigrants of that number.

Mr. Speaker, massive immigration into the United States must be stopped. We must begin the debate on exactly how to do it. There are extraordinary financial costs, both for infrastructure development, for schooling, housing, social services, for the incarceration of aliens here who have violated State or local law, and we have also to evaluate exactly what American businesses may need in terms of both skilled and unskilled workers, and then we come up with a plan to deal with it. We must begin the debate.
order to balance the budget, we are forced to cut more and more programs. Education would be one of the programs that we would be forced to cut.

Let me just start by saying also that it is an early hour. It is only 10 after 7, and I know that large numbers of elementary school students and high school students are awake. I hope a few are listening, because on past occasions when I have had the opportunity to address them directly, I always send a special message to the children of America, to the students of America.

All students out there, whether they go to public school or private school, although the great majority, more than 53 million children go to public schools, it is important for all young people to understand the kind of America we are going to live in; the kind of Nation that they are going to grow up in and provide the leadership in and begin their families in. That Nation will be determined mostly by the degree to which we address the problems related to education.

It is not new. I think H. G. Wells said something to the effect that we are going in the right direction, but Civilization is a race between education and chaos, or something similar to that. I would certainly endorse that idea. We live in a world where things are more and more complicated. We will want it that way, because as things get more complicated, we increase productivity. An individual worker can do so much more and groups can do so much more when we have highly automated systems. When we apply the science related to computers or mass communication, all of that creates the kind of better world that we want to make and are already in the process of making.

It is what I call a cyber-civilization; a civilization that is going to be moving into. So it is important that we apply the benefits of our technology, the benefits of our cyber-civilization on a widespread basis, whether that means the more efficient production of drugs that allow people to get better health care or whether it means new methods in education, automated methods, or methods using distance learning, making it possible to teach more people faster in all parts of the world.

There is great possibility out there. It is a great new world that we are moving into. So it is important that the pupils, young people, students understand that we have at stake here. We are at a critical point where we have the resources now to do what is necessary to make a world-class education system, an education system which is fitted for the challenge that we face in this coming cyber-civilization.

We have an education system now which is still lagging and very much mired in the old needs of an industrialized economy, when we did not have to educate everybody to the maximum degree because there was work available in the factories for people who did not know anything about computers or did not know math. Large numbers of people, in fact the majority 50 years ago, of the people who went to school, did not graduate from school. Most of them did not get past the 8th grade. But now we have a need for a highly educated population, and we need to think that way, we need to budget that way, we need more than the rhetoric of people who say they support education. We need to spend dollars the way we spend them on an activity like defense.

We recognize that modern defense units or the modern defense systems that we have decided we need cost far more money than the old cavalry with the rifles and the wagons or the camels. Civilization says that these things cost much more money. But when it comes to education, we do not want to make the decision that we need to invest heavily in maximizing the kind of physical facilities we have; building libraries, buying computers. We need to maximize that now. At this point where we have a huge budget surplus, now is the time to take those steps.

Young people have to wake up and communicate with all the people in decision-making positions that they want the resources available right now to be used to invest in education. We certainly do not want to stagnate. We certainly do not want to go backwards. We want to make the decision that we have decided we need cost far more money in the budget for $1.2 billion to be spent, which could be made available to allow for a 15 percent discount on their telecommunications services. They could get a 15 percent discount on their telecommunications services. They could get a 15 percent discount on their telecommunications services. They could apply and, as a result of the e-rate, the communications services. They could apply and, as a result of the e-rate, the communications services.

There is great possibility out there. It is a great new world that we are moving into. So it is important that the pupils, young people, students understand that we have at stake here. We are at a critical point where we have the resources now to do what is necessary to make a world-class education system, an education system which is fitted for the challenge that we face in this coming cyber-civilization.

We have an education system now which is still lagging and very much elementary and secondary education. Title I is based, the distribution of it, is based primarily on poverty. Poverty is measured by the number of students in each school who qualify for the free lunch program. The forms and the investigations that are conducted at the time of the Title I determination, how youngsters will get free lunches through the Department of Agriculture, that form is used again and again as a basis for deciding how many children are poor in the school.

So you see it is based on a sound formula, and the poorest schools could get up to 90 percent discounts. That means that for every $1 they spent on their telecommunications services, or on the initial wiring of the school, they would only have to pay 10 cents. The other 90 cents would be paid out of the e-rate fund.

This caught on. It spread. Numerous, numerous schools and libraries are reaping the benefit of the e-rate. So we celebrated that.

Everybody who was listening at that time, especially young people, I invited to join me in celebrating the fact that the e-rate did go into effect, was beaten down, lawsuits were threatened, all kinds of precedents, but it went into effect because the outcry from the young people, the students and the teachers and the families out there, the working families was so great until they acquiesced and they supported chairman Kennard, the chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, and we instituted the e-rate. It has been highly successful.

But let me warn you tonight that we are about to go backwards. The e-rate is threatened, is jeopardized. We have a situation now where the e-rate may be folded into the regular budget. The President’s budget, the President’s education plan is proposing that we have the e-rate funded through the regular budget, that we combine that with other funds in the budget, that we combine that with other funds in the budget, that we combine that with other funds in the budget.

We did a lot to fight for the e-rate. It is time to rise up and let your legislators know, people who are in this room, Members of Congress listening, you need to stop the draft from coming in. You need to stop the draft from coming in. You need to stop the draft from coming in.

The trailer system, the trailers that were temporary trailers 25 years ago, I remember the gentlewoman from California, Ms. SANCHEZ, saying that the floor of the House that she had gone back to visit one of her old schools, junior high schools, and the same trailers that were there when she was there are still there in the school yard. However, when they were put there, they were supposed to be temporary, for 2 or 3 years.

The same thing is true in most of our big cities and in many rural communities. The trailers are not a temporary emergency solution but they are there permanently because that is what adult decisionmakers—that is the value they have placed on education.

No amount of vision statements and no amount of rhetoric can get past the common sense of our young people who look and see with their eyes that there is something wrong with this commitment. There is a commitment to take us into the 21st century with the best possible opportunities for education, and yet there are only a handful of computers in the classroom, if it is lucky enough to be wired and have computers. The library has books that are 30 years old, some of them geography and history books.

I am not going to go through that litany. I have gone through it many times before. But the thing is, here we are, we are looking toward a new administration, and we are looking toward a new administration, and we are looking toward a new administration, and we are looking toward a new administration.

The other item that is being jeopardized is the one we celebrated, the $1.2 billion in construction funds. The Federal Government has not appropriated money for school construction in the last 50 years. The Federal Government, the Title I programs, all the Elementary and Secondary Education Assistance Programs, is way beyond what it is today.

It is most unfortunate because a study by the National Education Association showed that we need about $320 billion to bring the infrastructure of the schools, the laboratories, the physical infrastructure of public education in America, just to bring it up to a point where it can take care of the present students, would be about $320 billion. They have suffered so greatly.

If you leave it all to the local governments, you leave it all to the State governments, they are not doing as much as they should do and could do, but certain recent legislation, which has had large amounts of money coming from the local level. All money originates at the local level. All politics is local. All taxes is local. It comes from us. It is not a matter of Washington giving us back something that belongs to Washington. It is our money, and it should come back for the needs that are clearly articulated.

If ever there was a need that was clear, it is school construction. Yet we have not over the last 50 years appropriated any money for school construction.

We finally made a breakthrough. As a result of a tremendous effort we put forth, President Clinton insisted that there be some money for school construction. During the negotiation they reached a compromise figure of $1.2 billion. I had proposed $10 billion per year for 10 years. So you can see there is a great difference between what is the need, what the President proposed, and what I proposed, which was $10 billion over 10 years, which would be $100 billion, and the actual compromise. We start with $1.2 billion.

But we celebrated. We celebrated because of the fact that it was a breakthrough. We had broken through the barrier. And now the Federal Government, according to the budget that we completed last December, and it is important to go over this education budget, that was negotiated so late in the year. Most people do not know what we finally came out with, and I will talk about that a little bit later, but we did come out with $1.2 billion. Now that is jeopardized.

That $1.2 billion would provide new grants to make urgently needed repairs and renovations in the schools. We are talking about items which relate to the health and safety of young people. Now the new administration is saying they will spend this money for the purposes for which it was negotiated last time. They are going to fold it into some other programs, and we will not have any school construction, any infrastructure initiative. That is a great step backwards, and it needs the help of everybody to get it back on track.

So why are we discussing a proposal to roll back progress and refuse to spend the tiny $1.2 billion that was appropriated on December 18 of last year for school repairs and renovations? Why are we contemplating that? What kind of madness is this? They were also going to reduce class sizes.

I have a summary of the December 18 budget. Spending has taken a few minutes to just go through it because it came out so late until very few people have had a chance to see it. Most citizens in the country do not know the difference between this year’s budget and last year’s budget because last year’s budget came out so late.

However, we did make some progress last year. It is important to note and understand, all players, whether they are decision-makers here in Congress or students out there in school, and they have to understand that they made a big breakthrough last year with a $6.5 billion increase. Education expenditures were increased last year by $6.5 billion. That is quite an achievement. That is quite an achievement, as my colleagues know. It is not nearly as much as I think we should have. However, it is a step forward using the surplus, but it is a great step forward using none of the surplus. This was in the regular budgeting process. Why is it the case? Because both Republicans and Democrats understand that the polls show that the American people want improvements in education, and they can read the polls and understand that they must show some movement forward.

Now we have had a movement forward in an area like reducing class sizes. We had the third installment in reducing class sizes in grades one to three. This is a nationwide program, trying to bring down the average in the classroom to 18 students in the first three grades.

We increased that program by $323 million last year. There was a plus of $323 million, and that increase added approximately 8,000 new highly qualified teachers to the already 29,000 that were there before. The total appropriation for reducing class sizes went from $1.3 billion to $1.6 billion in the December 18 budget. Mr. Speaker, 8,000 new qualified teachers will be added to the already 29,000 that have been hired under this program. The administration’s statement of responsibility for the education leadership, or most of the leadership, came from the previous administration. The administration that went out previously, of course, as my colleagues know, was shooting for a goal of 100,000. 100,000 teachers, we increased that by $150 million; the total program is $435 million. We are doing in that program one of the things that has been pinpointed as major problems in education; we need more certified teachers. That program would do it. The Eisenhower National Activities Program is a complement to that. Preparing teachers for use of technology, that program was increased from $75 million to $125 million.

Mr. Speaker, we have been on target in education leadership. Some of the leadership, or most of the leadership, came from the previous administration. Some of the proposals introduced year after year, finally brought them to fruition; and we did make some real headway in the budget that passed last year. But the problem is, and the question is, are we really going to sincerely and seriously go forward and build on what exists already, like the e-rate and the school construction program, and the after-school program.

We had additional funding increase extra help in the basics, helping disadvantaged students learn the basics and achieve high studies. That is under title I. That program was increased by $569 million, and disadvantaged students can be helped as a result of that increase.

Now, that is in harmony with what President Bush has proposed. We have brought our proposals in outline form. We do not have a bill yet. We cannot talk about a budget with clear sections; but we do have an outline, and one of the things he stresses in his outline is that he wants to focus on the pupils who have the greatest needs. The first dollars should be focused on the pupils that have the greatest needs, and any increase in the budget should go in that direction. So I am glad to report that there is one area where I heartily agree with the administration. Let us do that. Let us focus where the greatest need is and target the Federal funds in that direction.

The unfortunate thing is that the administration will have to deal with the Republicans on the Committee on Education and the Workforce who are on the majority. Their thinking in the past few years has gone in the opposite direction. The Republican majority of the Committee on Education and the Workforce, and the Republican major- ity in the House, have consistently insisted that the existing funds be utilized in a broader way. They want greater flexibility. They want to take the dollars that do exist and spread them out to more schools, not only the very good schools that have less poverty and some schools that have almost no poverty would be eligible for the funding if we had the flexibility that they talk about.

Going even further beyond just flexibility, the members of the President’s party here in Congress are proposing block grants. Block grants mean that we take the dollars and we give them to the States with minimum guidelines and the States then proceed to do what they feel is best. The problem with giving States that kind of authority is that the States have a constitutional responsibility for education. Every State has in their constitution a clear statement of responsibility for the education of all of the children of the State. If they had done their job in accordance with their constitutions all of these years, the Federal Government would not need to be engaged in this matter. The proper Committee on Education and the Workforce for 18 years, I have seen these proposals introduced year after year, finally brought them to fruition; and we did make some real headway in the budget that passed last year. But the problem is, and the question is, are we really going to sincerely and seriously go forward and build on what exists already, like the e-rate and the school construction program, and the after-school program.

We had additional funding increase extra help in the basics, helping disadvantaged students learn the basics and achieve high studies. That is under title I. That program was increased by $569 million, and disadvantaged students can be helped as a result of that increase.
efforts, we know we need an educated population; it is a matter of national security. It is not something we can afford to leave to the States, even though the Federal Government is only responsible at this point for a very tiny percent.

Our expenditures, Federal expenditures for education, are still less than 8 percent of the total. States and localities are still spending 92 percent to 93 percent of the total education budget, higher education, elementary and secondary education, et cetera. We should be going toward 25 percent. We should understand that the number one item in terms of the defense of the country, in terms of competitiveness of our economy in a global economy, is our being able to compete. In terms of the greatness of the Nation, the future of the Nation, education is a number one priority. We ought to be spending at least 25 percent of the expenditure for education. The Federal expenditure should be 25 percent, not 8 percent or 7 percent.

We have other items that were in the budget last year that I just want to note. Gear-Up and TRIO are programs for helping poor students get ready for college, and that is important, that it is going to graduate from high school, and one of our first targets was getting everybody to graduate from high school, and we have improved greatly over the years in getting rid of a large percentage of the dropouts. But beyond that, if one does not go to college, there is a limited future; there is a limited amount you are going to earn in terms of income; there is a limited amount of help one is going to be able to provide for the economy in general, and one's own family; there is a limited contribution that one is going to be able to make to society if one does not go on to college and fully develop one's capacities.

So Gear-Up and TRIO are very important. The TRIO program has been in existence for some years. It has proven itself, and I am happy to see they have an $85 million increase. It has moved from $645 million to $730 million in the December 18 budget last year. What is going to happen this year I do not know, but I hope that the administration this year will have the good sense to follow the leadership of the Republican Congress over the past few years and increase the programs and not cut it. TRIO would help 765,000 disadvantaged students, 40,000 more than they do now as a result of the increases that we provided last year. It is a magnificent program, and we certainly do not want to see an attempt to roll back the clock on that.

Pell grants we increased from $3,300 to $3,750 per student last year, a total increase overall from $7.6 billion to $8.7 billion, an increase of $1.1 billion for Pell grants. That allowed a $450 increase in the Pell grant over what it was before; but Pell grants are consistently behind inflation, way behind the cost of a college education, and Pell grants to our poorest students need to be greatly increased. I hope that there will be no rollback on Pell grants in the coming development of the administration's education budget.

We do have some information which shows that the problem I said before that the present administration is proposing to zero-out school modernization, the construction program; they are going to do something else with that, put it into technology and special education. That is most unfortunate. And something could be renovated will not be renovated.

The new budget eliminates the class-size reduction initiative; I mentioned that that is on the chopping block. The class-size initiative has already helped schools hire 37,000 teachers and provide smaller classes to 2 million children. That will be a great loss if it is rolled back. The Pell grant increase that we passed last year, it was a 14 percent increase in Pell grants. The increase that is being proposed by the present administration, not through its budget, because we do not have the full budget, but through its outlines and discussions, is about 4 percent. Instead of 14 percent, they talk about a 4 percent increase in Pell grants.

Minority-serving higher education institutions have certainly benefited greatly over the past 6 years. We have had bipartisan cooperation in the funding of the minority-serving institutions. For example, the program that takes Historically Black Colleges and Universities and the Hispanic-serving institutions, as well as the tribally controlled colleges. They have had increases over the last 6 years. We have gotten about a 25 percent annual increase over the last 3 years under the previous administration. They have been well served.

We think that they have a key role to play in improving education in America. Minority-serving institutions will be producing most of the teachers. A large percentage of the teachers that we need in our schools will come from Historically Black Colleges and Universities, Hispanic-serving institutions, and tribally controlled colleges.

As Members know, we have a controversy here over the fact that the Committee on Education and the Workforce last year spent about 3 minutes discussing the issue. It just so happens that on the Committee on Education and the Workforce, among the Democrats on the committee there are four people who are African Americans, there are three people who are Hispanic-Americans, there are about 3 Asian-Americans, and there is one Native American. Probably few committees have that kind of concentration of minorities.

We all expressed outrage and fear, because we know what separation does. We have lived with segregation, with unequal doctrines for too long to not know what eventually happens when we separate out things. They do not remain equal. The weaker party in the separation is going to be neglected, abandoned, and in very subtle ways, probably, very subtle ways, the minority-serving institutions will find themselves outside the parameters of a full and open discussion about what it takes to be competitive in the 21st century. They will be outside the parameters of a discussion about how higher education institutions must operate and relate to the crisis in elementary and secondary education. They will be outside of a serious discussion of the relationship between corporations, industry, and higher education institutions if they are out of the loop in terms of the way the committee is structured.

We have protested. All the Democratic members of the Committee on Education and the Workforce have refused to accept their assignments on subcommittees. There is an ongoing dialogue, and we hope that this will be resolved. In the example of a blunder that, when we add to the other kinds of proposals that are being made, the zeroing out of the construction appropriation, the rollback of the class size reductions, when we add all of these kinds of backward moves, including the threat to the e-rate, danger signals must be sent forth. We must send up flares. We must get involved in reexamining what are the possibilities of bipartisan cooperation, what are the chances to the progress that we have made.

Everybody has to get involved in making certain that their voices are heard and that education, which has clearly been indicated to be the top priority of the American voters, not be given a public relations job. We do not want a public relations program. Many speeches are made about improving education, but the substance of what has to be done in terms of the way legislation is set forth and the way that education agencies and the States will have to be held accountable. Administrations and local education agencies and the States will have to be held accountable. We are in agreement with the President on that. But each one of these schools must have the resources to provide the opportunity to learn. Opportunity-to-learn standards must be met.

These are the standards that Governors and bureaucrats do not like to talk about, but if we are going to judge schools and declare that they have failed, before we make a judgment that they have failed, provide them with the money they need to provide a decent physical infrastructure. Provide them the money they need for libraries, for computers, for certified teachers. They have to meet certain standards themselves before they hold the students and schools to standards. Both the State governments and the Federal government must not run away, as they have been, from opportunity-to-learn standards coming first.

Teacher quality must be strengthened. We all agree on that. We must understand that the context in which we go forward to improve our schools is greater than the programs that are related to education. That is why I want to set the discussion of education in the proper context. I talked about the tax bill and how, in the context of a huge tax cut, we can look forward to only rhetoric for education because there will be no money for the kinds of increases that we need. In the context of a big tax cut, most social programs, most human investment programs, will suffer greatly. So the tax cut needs to be settled on a 5-year period. Do Members want to know where our great increase will go? We will double the Title I funds over a 5-year period. Do Members want to know where our great increase will go? We will double the Title I funds, and those are the funds that are targeted to the disadvantaged areas and the ones that need help the most, the failing schools.

We are in harmony with the President on that one. He wants to target additional resources to the schools that need it most. We are not in harmony in the way that is done. We propose to double the Title I funding in order to do that, and not to have the small increment that he proposes.

We propose to institute strong accountability for results and actions. The Title I schools will be held accountable. The Excellence and Accountability in Education Act, this is an act that is already been introduced. We have a piece of legislation already introduced. The Excellence and Accountability in Education Act, introduced by the gentleman from California (Mr. GEORGE MILLER) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. KILDEE), and has all of the other Democratic members of the Committee on Education and the Workforce as cosponsors, proposes a $9.7 billion increase. So $1.6 billion increase is proposed by the President, we propose $9.7 billion, and we lay out where the money should go.

The Excellence and Accountability in Education Act is H.R. 340, a comprehensive K through 12 education reform bill. It would hold schools accountable to high standards, and place particular emphasis on closing the achievement gap between different groups of students.

Schools that continue to fail after 3 years, under our act, and we are in harmony with the President on that one, would receive special help and be subject to changes in terms of their students choosing other schools and go to other public choice schools, or the schools might be closed and converted to charter schools.

Unlike the majority, we oppose any movement toward vouchers. This was a clear disagreement in the past and remains a clear disagreement between the two parties. We are not in favor of the wasteful, cumbersome approach to improving education through giving families vouchers.

Working-class families need a public relations program. Many speeches are made about improving education, but the substance of what has to be done in terms of the way the legislation is set forth and the way the education agencies and the States will have to be held accountable, that substance is not there.

We do not want to fool the American people. We do not want a public relations gimmick instead of real improvements in education.

Democratic education proposals are proposals for making real investments in education. Whereas President Bush proposed $1.6 billion for elementary and secondary budget programs increased, as reflected in the Excellence and Accountability in Education Act, this is an act that is already been introduced. We have a piece of legislation already introduced. The Excellence and Accountability in Education Act, introduced by the gentleman from California (Mr. GEORGE MILLER) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. KILDEE), and has all of the other Democratic members of the Committee on Education and the Workforce as cosponsors, proposes a $9.7 billion increase. So $1.6 billion increase is proposed by the President, we propose $9.7 billion, and we lay out where the money should go.

The Excellence and Accountability in Education Act is H.R. 340, a comprehensive K through 12 education reform bill. It would hold schools accountable to high standards, and place particular emphasis on closing the achievement gap between different groups of students.

Schools that continue to fail after 3 years, under our act, and we are in harmony with the President on that one, would receive special help and be subject to changes in terms of their students choosing other schools and go to other public choice schools, or the schools might be closed and converted to charter schools.

Unlike the majority, we oppose any movement toward vouchers. This was a clear disagreement in the past and remains a clear disagreement between the two parties. We are not in favor of the wasteful, cumbersome approach to improving education through giving families vouchers.

Working-class families need a public relations program. Many speeches are made about improving education, but the substance of what has to be done in terms of the way the legislation is set forth and the way the education agencies and the States will have to be held accountable, that substance is not there.

We do not want to fool the American people. We do not want a public relations gimmick instead of real improvements in education.

Democratic education proposals are proposals for making real investments in education. Whereas President Bush proposed $1.6 billion for elementary and secondary budget programs increased, as reflected in the Excellence and Accountability in Education Act, this is an act that is already been introduced. We have a piece of legislation already introduced. The Excellence and Accountability in Education Act, introduced by the gentleman from California (Mr. GEORGE MILLER) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. KILDEE), and has all of the other Democratic members of the Committee on Education and the Workforce as cosponsors, proposes a $9.7 billion increase. So $1.6 billion increase is proposed by the President, we propose $9.7 billion, and we lay out where the money should go.

The Excellence and Accountability in Education Act is H.R. 340, a comprehensive K through 12 education reform bill. It would hold schools accountable to high standards, and place particular emphasis on closing the achievement gap between different groups of students.

Schools that continue to fail after 3 years, under our act, and we are in harmony with the President on that one, would receive special help and be subject to changes in terms of their students choosing other schools and go to other public choice schools, or the schools might be closed and converted to charter schools.

Unlike the majority, we oppose any movement toward vouchers. This was a clear disagreement in the past and remains a clear disagreement between the two parties. We are not in favor of the wasteful, cumbersome approach to improving education through giving families vouchers.

Working-class families need a public relations program. Many speeches are made about improving education, but the substance of what has to be done in terms of the way the legislation is set forth and the way the education agencies and the States will have to be held accountable, that substance is not there.

We do not want to fool the American people. We do not want a public relations gimmick instead of real improvements in education.

Democratic education proposals are proposals for making real investments in education. Whereas President Bush proposed $1.6 billion for elementary and secondary budget programs increased, as reflected in the Excellence and Accountability in Education Act, this is an act that is already been introduced. We have a piece of legislation already introduced. The Excellence and Accountability in Education Act, introduced by the gentleman from California (Mr. GEORGE MILLER) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. KILDEE), and has all of the other Democratic members of the Committee on Education and the Workforce as cosponsors, proposes a $9.7 billion increase. So $1.6 billion increase is proposed by the President, we propose $9.7 billion, and we lay out where the money should go. into classrooms of up to 30 and 35 students, and will not have the kind of attention which students in the first to third grade need. Studies have shown over and over again that the attention children get at a very early age and the classroom is uninhabitable. The biggest attack we are attacking working families when they take away that benefit or zero out construction and do not provide decent schools for them.

The attack on working families continues in other ways. The context is important. The way children leave the school, the families they come from, the conditions in the home are all-important in terms of their ability to reate to their schooling. Whereas I do not believe in blaming the homes and parents for all the problems that children have in learning, as some people do often, but understand that the stability in the home, whether or not they have decent health care, are important in terms of the way the child comes to school and is able to take advantage of the opportunities there.

The minimum wage that we have ignored is not an attack on working families when we do not even allow it on the floor; we do not raise the minimum wage from $5.15 an hour as we proposed in the last Congress to $6.15 an hour; we are attacking working families.

Mr. Speaker, the biggest attack on working families probably is the refusal to recognize that the floor of wages in America ought to at least be $6.15 an hour and not $5.15 an hour, which is now more than 3 years old, that floor in terms of minimum wage.

The majority party would not even let it be discussed. Working families on minimum wage, a family of four, is in dire poverty even if you increase it to $6.15. It is a tiny percentage of what they need in terms of survival, but the minimum wage that we could do is to accept the Democratic proposal of a 50 cent increase over a 2-year period which would raise the minimum wage. If we refuse to do that, that is an attack on working families, the families of the pupils who go to our public schools.

When we gut the health and safety rules to protect workers, as we did last week, in context, working families have to understand that what was done on the floor of this House last Wednesday, the vote to repeal the ergonomics standards was an attack on working families.

Ergonomics is a big word. People do not want to deal with it. They stop listening when you mention it. So I will just say, ergonomics is all about ending the pain, the pain that is related to doing something with your muscles and your fibers over and over again. Ergonomics is a matter of taking steps to prevent, to prevent injuries that often incapacitate people.

Ergonomics is just about the guy who was out there lifting in the warehouse, lifting heavy loads and he gets his problem with his back. Ergonomics is about the secretaries and the clerks who type all the time or the people who sit in front of computers and may get eyestrain.

There are ways to prevent carpal tunnel syndrome, another one of those big words, which may be one of the most misunderstood, and it simply you have repeated something so often and you use your fingers and your wrists in a certain way until it wears out and it is painful to do it. And beyond being painful, you reach the point where you cannot do it anymore. Mr. Speaker, I am sure you or her living by typing the motion over and over again can find themselves at a point where they do not have a way to earn a living, because of the fact that they can no longer use their wrists and their hands and their arms. It is as incapacitating as if you were on a construction job and some big load fell on your head. They are very real.

Every Member of Congress has had exposure, I am sure, to people with carpal tunnel syndrome. These are lots of people in that category who do that kind of work up here. Nothing new. Yet we voted last week to make war on the workers by removing a standard which required that employers take preventive measures to minimize the risk of people getting incapacitated as a result of repeated use, using certain muscles and fibers. We eliminated it with one stroke under what is called the Congressional Review Act.

One of the first achievements of the Gingrich Congress, and it is no more, we do not have the ergonomics standard. It took 10 years. It took 10 years to reach the point where we issued some standards which said you should do things a certain way to protect the health of people, their muscles and their fibers from this kind of strain. And in one day, it was voted out of existence and is no more.

We declared war on the working families of America in another way. The war comes from different directions. It is a war sometime of neglect and abandonment, but that is still war. It is sometimes a war of a denial, denying the minimum wage increase, but it is still war.

These are the families from which the children who go to our public schools come, and we cannot have improvements in education while the attacks are being made on their livelihood in a manner in which their homes are able to exist free of incapacitation, health problems and deprivation.

We think that what happened last week with the wiping out of the ergonomic standard is through the Congressional Review Act is just a beginning, that the war on working families is going to continue in many ways.

We are going to be gutting overtime pay again for workers. That has come up in the previous Congress, of course, and it failed to go through because the President at that time threatened to veto it. There is no veto power to prevent excesses. There is no veto power on extreme mix. We are waiting for the attack to go forward.

We warn everybody listening to begin to make decisions about how we are going to deal with an attempt to gut overtime pay for workers. We had a bill on the floor, as my colleagues recall, those of my colleagues who have been in Congress for some time, a bill on the floor that said that overtime pay should no longer have to be given in cash.

The Fair Labor Standards Act requires that after you reach a certain point, 40 hours, you must pay workers in cash for the overtime. Workers who are not in that category, there are exempt workers, as we all know, but those who are in that category must be paid in cash.

We had a bill which says the Fair Worker Labor Standards Act, that section would be repealed and employers would get a $6.15 an hour minimum that we could do is to accept the Democratic proposals of a 50 cent an hour minimum wage, a family of four, is in dire poverty even if you increase it to $6.15. It is a tiny percentage of what they need in terms of survival, but the minimum wage that we have ignored is not an attack on working families.

The majority party would gut overtime pay by expanding exemptions to overtime requirements by excluding employee bonuses from overtime pay, and this latter provision creates huge loopholes for employers, allows them to exempt certain portions of employer pay, to exempt overtime pay by expanding exemptions to overtime requirements, and it failed to get through because the President at that time threatened to veto it. And it failed to get through because the President at that time threatened to veto it. There is no veto power to prevent excesses. There is no veto power

NIGHTSIDE CHAT

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. CANTOR). Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 3, 2001, the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. McNINNIS) is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the majority leader.

Mr. McNINNIS. Mr. Speaker, there are a number of different subjects that I would like to address tonight.

Let me begin, first of all, by thanking my colleagues for the successful passing of the legislation, the willing seller, willing buyer legislation for our national trails.

The specific trail that I focus really on a lot in the State of Colorado is the Continental Divide Trail. It is kind of ironic that years ago a piece of legislation was amended to put in place that a property owner who wishes to sell their land, a private property owner who wishes to sell their land to a trails buyer legislation for our national trails.

The specific trail that I focus really on a lot in the State of Colorado is the Continental Divide Trail. It is kind of ironic that years ago a piece of legislation was amended to put in place that a property owner who wishes to sell their land, a private property owner who wishes to sell their land to a trails buyer legislation for our national trails.

The specific trail that I focus really on a lot in the State of Colorado is the Continental Divide Trail. It is kind of ironic that years ago a piece of legislation was amended to put in place that a property owner who wishes to sell their land, a private property owner who wishes to sell their land to a trails buyer legislation for our national trails.
March 13, 2001

It was an amendment that made no sense. Today a great trail like the Continental Divide Trail, and we all know a little bit about the history of that, that trail is being prevented in essence from being finished for its preservation, because willing sellers, not condemnation, compulsion has no place in putting a trail like this for a historic basis, but a willing seller does have a place.

That legislation that was almost unanimously approved this evening, I think they had three no votes on the entire floor, allows that now to proceed.

Mr. Speaker, there are a couple of people, my good friend, Steve Fossel out in Colorado out in Silverthorne, Colorado, very aggressive on his support of this.

He is a citizen. He is very active in conservation issues. He is also a private property owner. He is a rancher. He feels very strongly about private property rights. This is the kind of legislation as a private property advocate that he could support. He got way behind it. He has worked very hard.

Of course, we also have Bruce and Pamela Ward. Bruce and Pamela Ward are today at the Continental Divide Trail, and they have done a tremendous task over the years of putting together everything from voluntary maintenance crews to go out and work on the Continental Divide Trail to putting together records for the historical purposes, the paper trail on the Continental Divide Trail, no pun intended, and all of the other tasks that are involved to preserve such a great part of our history.

Mr. Speaker, I openly congratulate Bruce and Paula Ward for their hard and difficult work, but this is the accomplishment that we got.

I also, of course, want to thank all of my colleagues for their support this evening of the passage of that.

Let me move on to my second subject that I wish to address tonight. I say this with a great deal of pride. As most of my colleagues know, my district is in the fine State of Colorado. My district is larger geographically than the State of Florida. Essentially, I have almost all of the mountains in Colorado. So any of my colleagues that have skied in Colorado or if they have been to Aspen or Snowmass or Steamboat or the other wonderful Mountain Monuments on Grand Junction or the Four Corners down there in Durango or the ski area down there or the San Luis Valley and the agricultural fields, any of that country in Colorado belongs in the 3rd Congressional District.

We take a great deal of pride from what we have to offer as far as the physical beauty of that particular district, and we have just been recognized by the Travel Channel.

Glenwood Springs, that is where I was born. Glenwood Springs is a wonderful community, about 35 minutes from Aspen, Colorado, about 45 minutes from Vail, Colorado, and about an hour and 10 minutes from Grand Junction, Colorado, so you can kind of triangulate in there exactly where Glenwood Springs is.

Glenwood Springs was named by the Travel Channel as the number one spot in the Nation for cooling off. So if my colleagues have an opportunity to go to Glenwood Springs, my colleagues will see there the most world famous hot springs pool, which is the largest natural spring water pool in the United States.

It is a great resort, and it certainly is deserving of the honor that it received by the Travel Center. We have gotten a lot of calls at the local chamber who want to find out how to visit Glenwood Springs.

But when you go out to visit the 3rd Congressional District, take a look, because the 3rd Congressional District actually is a textbook example of a district that has huge amounts of public lands, of a district that is totally reliant, totally reliable on the concept of multiple use, on a district that has seen as much or more activity as any district in the Nation in regards to wilderness areas.

Mr. Speaker, in fact, I have put a couple of wilderness areas in place, a district where the water in Colorado, 80 percent of the water in Colorado is in the 3rd Congressional District, 80 percent of the population resides outside the 3rd Congressional District. Colorado is one of the States in the Union where it has no free-flowing water for its use to come into Colorado. It all goes out. Water is a key ingredient of the 3rd Congressional District.

The reason I say it is a textbook example is because you have the issues of public lands. You have the issues of private property ownership. You have the issues of national parks. We have four wonderful national parks in Colorado, of which are either totally contained or partially contained. In fact, three of the four are totally contained within the 3rd Congressional District, and the fourth, a good portion of it, is in the 3rd Congressional District.

You have the issue of water. You have a number of different issues that we hear about. Here in the East, for example, you do not experience that to any kind of large extent, except if you are in the eastern part down in the Everglades, the concept of public lands, because essentially from the eastern border of the 3rd Congressional District in the State of Colorado to the Atlantic Ocean, you have very, very little Federal land ownership or government land ownership.

From that eastern border of the 3rd Congressional District to the Pacific Ocean, you have lots of Federal and public land ownership. There is a lot of history to that.

I intend to take an hour on this floor here in the not-to-distant future to talk about the concept of multiple use, to talk about the grub-staking of the 1800s, to talk about why you have huge quantities of Federal lands in the West and very little Federal lands in the East. There is a reason for it. But it was by the luck of time that the East frankly escaped a lot of government land ownership and the West got saddled with it.

There are a lot of decisions that are made in the East where the pain of public land, in particular, examples is not felt, but it certainly is felt in the West, and that is why you see the West in a little parochial about the fact. We feel the pain out here. There are a lot of issues like water.

In a lot of the areas in the East, your big factor is to get rid of water. You have too much of it. In the West, we are an arid area. We have to store our water. We have to use our water for hydropower. We do not have a lot of water. We are arid States. There are any number of different issues.

I hope as you consider visiting some of our vacation spots which are located in the 3rd Congressional District, for example, Aspen, Beaver Creek, Vail, Steamboat, Telluride, Durango, Grand Junction, Pueblo, all of these areas, they are all in that 3rd Congressional District. When you go out there, take a look and spend just a little time, colleagues, and study the concepts of public land ownership, of private ownership of water in the West and why it differs from water in the East as far as the dynamics of ownership and the dynamics of the system that permits water usage out there.

There are a lot of interesting things, national parks and the maintenance of national parks. The wildlife issues. My particular district, the Third Congressional District, has the largest herds of elk in North America. We have huge populations of mule deer. In fact, this morning, I was running or I rode my bike to Washington today. I was running at 4 o'clock this morning in Grand Junction. I saw a coyote and fox in one run. This is in the community. We have a lot of wildlife.

It is a wonderful, wonderful district to represent. It is a great district to go visit. But there are a lot of complex issues that I would urge my colleagues to become a little more acquainted with them if they are not already acquainted with them as it pertains to the West.

Let me move on to another subject that I think is important. We keep hearing about this tax cut that President Bush has proposed. It seems to me that there are some of my colleagues on this floor who have now made it their life duty to kill the tax cut regardless of the ramifications to the economy as a whole. I need to tell my colleagues, we have got to keep in mind what happens.

I had an interesting flight today as I came into Washington D.C. I sat next to a gentleman named Bill. Bill asked me, Well, if you keep the money in...
Washington, D.C., and by the way, even under the tax cut of President Bush’s proposal, most of the money is kept in Washington, D.C., but going back to the question that Bill had, if you keep the money in Washington, D.C., does that money automatically reduce the debt?

My answer to Bill is, that is the problem. If you keep the money in Washington, D.C., if you keep those surplus dollars here in Washington, it is going to get spent. It does not just sit around here. It is too tempting.

It is like somebody who is on a diet but can be tempted very easily. And I happen to be a good example of that. I like sweets. If I were on a diet, you know, I do not have a lot of resistance towards sweets. If you put me in a candy store on a diet, I cannot help it, I grab some candy.

That is what happens with money in Washington, D.C. It is not just because you have congressional people that are weak. That is not true. In fact, most of my colleagues that I am acquainted with, which are most of them here on the floor, are pretty strong individuals.

But the fact is we have constituents who continually come to the great halls and demand that we fund the programs that they want money for happen to be not bad programs. We do not get proposals very often for bad programs. We get proposals for good program after good program after good program after good program, is you have enough to do it all. The problem is you have got to have the ability to say no.

If you have got a big pile of money sitting behind you, how do you look at somebody who has a good program but maybe not a necessary program? And there is a big difference between a good program and a necessary program. Some good programs are necessary, but some good programs are not necessary. So the problem that we have here is, when we have good programs, and constituents, whether it is senior citizens, whether it is young people, whether it is any welfare, any kind of program, and they come to us and they say, Look, why can you not fund this new program for us? You have got all this money. You have got all this surplus.

So we are under a lot of pressure back here by our own constituents who want us to fund their programs. They understand that we do not have enough to do it all. The problem is you have got to have the ability to control spending, unless of course that control impacts their particular program.

So the best thing one can do when you have got an economy that is going south like our economy is currently heading, the best thing one can do is put some dollars back into the pocket of the people who sent the dollars here in the first place.

Remember, here in Washington, D.C., this is the one city in the entire Nation, that is one other city like it in the Nation, that is totally dependent upon taxpayer dollars. If you go to Denver, Colorado, if you go to Portland, Oregon, if you go to Laredo, Texas, or Hays, Kansas, or Lansing, Michigan, those communities are not totally dependent like Washington, D.C., is on the transfer of money. Not the creation of wealth, mind you, not the creation of wealth, which is necessary, but for the survival of our economy, is we do they in the other House. Alan Greenspan has got to bring down those rates. He is doing that, number two.

But number three, again, it falls back on our shoulders here in these communities. We have got to control spending, number one. Alan Greenspan has got to bring down those rates. The government does not have to keep the money in Washington, D.C., and by the way, even the money laying around, how do we tell people that it is not available for use for a good program? Again, remember, our choices in Washington, D.C. are not between good and bad programs. That is a pretty easy choice to make. Our choice is between good and good programs.

To recap, this stool must have all three legs on it for one to sit on it, for the health of our economy. We have got to control spending. One of the easiest tools to control spending is limit the amount of dollars that are sitting around here in a bucket waiting to be turned into dollars by our constituents to spend. If the money is laying around, how do we tell people that it is not available for use for a good program? Again, remember, our choices in Washington, D.C. are not between good and bad programs. That is a pretty easy choice to make. Our choice is between good and good programs. We have got to control spending.

Now of course this theory is all shot to pieces if, in fact, the people in the local community take their dollars, go out in their backyard, and literally bury it in the ground. But short of that, a dollar in a community has a lot more opportunity to create wealth than a dollar back in Washington, D.C., that dollar circulates in that community. It works in that community.

What you do with taxes, you take that dollar out of the community, and you move it to Washington, D.C. where it circulates clear across the country in some cases. You think that dollar in Washington, D.C. that came from this community goes back to the community? Of course it does not. Of course it does not. It is very important for us to realize what a dollar does in the local community.

Now of course this theory is all shot to pieces if, in fact, the people in the local community take their dollars, go out in their backyard, and literally bury it in the ground. But short of that, a dollar in a community has a lot more opportunity to create wealth than a dollar back in Washington, D.C.

These people back here in Washington, including the U.S. Congress, we do not have to go out and compete for those dollars. The government does not have to go out and figure out a creative product. They do not have to invent a better mouse trap or come up with a cure for the common cold to create dollars in Washington, D.C. All they do is look at people across the country, our work force and our constituents to spend a little more food in Washington. We need a little more, you know, juice in Washington. So we are going to raise your taxes. Well, we did raise their taxes. And do you know what? The taxpayer has overpaid.

For a period of time, we have instability in our economy. The best way to pull stability back to the economy is to put dollars back in those taxpayers’ pockets.

Now we will hear some of my colleagues on this floor, colleagues who say, Well, wait a minute. You should not give money back to a taxpayer if that taxpayer happens to be making any kind of money, if they are middle income or higher income. You should give that dollar to people at the very lowest end of our economic society.

Well, now, wait a second. A tax refund should go to the people who pay taxes. If you are not paying taxes, you should not get a tax refund. You should not get a tax credit.

Now, granted, we do have the lower economic society; and that is why we have welfare. But let us call it a welfare system welfare. Do not mix it up or interchange it with the taxing system. The taxing system takes money from productive working people and moves that to Washington. It also takes money that is later refunded because those people do not pay taxes, and puts it back in there.

But my point here very clearly is, you do not gain the economic stability, that stimulus that you need by taking dollars away from middle income and high income, or putting them to people paying it to people who have not paid taxes. A tax cut is for those people who have paid the taxes.

Now, am I concerned about different economic brackets? Of course I am. But what is my primary focus here? My primary focus is to strengthen the economy for everybody. If we can go out and stimulate certain parts of the economy, for example, the agriculture community, if we can go out and strengthen them, and everybody in the economy benefits because the entire economy is strengthened, what is there to criticize?

I think that it is fundamentally unfair for any of my colleagues to automatically say, Oh, this tax cut is for the rich. That is a bunch of propaganda in my opinion. Or, Oh, the tax cut, we cannot afford the tax cut. Leave the money in Washington. Trust us here in Washington, D.C. with your extra dollars. A definite promise, we will not spend it on new programs or additional spending.

You cannot resist it back here in Washington, D.C. in part because your own constituents will not let you resist spending that money. Again, if your constituents sense that you, as an elected Representative, have access to dollars, they will come after them.

Last week I had legitimate requests just in one day. It involved the space program. It involved the new program for education. It involved the seniors’ program. I think it involved the military request. I had a request in the period of about 3 hours of meetings for over $900 million. That is in a typical day of a typical Congressman here in Washington, D.C. Do you think I could have said no to those people, they are all good programs, if I had had $900 million sitting behind me in my office for distribution?

That is why it is important that we give a fair and legitimate look to President Bush’s proposal. I am telling you, this vote counts. This issue counts. This economy needs to be stabilized. This is not a laughing matter. There has no negligible a couple political balls in the air.

What we are involved with here is clearly in the next period, short period of time, trying to stimulate that economy, to curb it from its downward spiral, to put consumer confidence back out there. The best way to put consumer confidence back into the marketplace is to put dollars into the taxpayers’ pockets. Because unless they bury it in the ground, as I said earlier, they will not be paying taxes; they will not be paying taxes for creation of capital and stimulation.

Now, I want to move on from this point, from the tax cut and from President Bush. I have got to tell my colleagues something. In my opinion, he is doing a tremendous job. And he is traveling the country. He believes it in his heart. He is convinced that the way to stabilize this economy is through his program. I think it is incumbent upon every one of us in these Chambers to give that at least a fair evaluation.

2030

I am telling you because if we do not, if we trash the President’s program for the sake of trashing it or if we trash it for the sake of partisan politics, then we may very well be responsible for not putting that third leg on the stool.

Furthermore, our responsibility goes not only beyond working with the President of the United States and his administration on such important tax policy in place, but we also have our own independent responsibility of controlling spending. Last year, out of these Chambers spending went out at 8-9 percent. This year we have to hold it around 4 percent. If we do not, we will have contributed to signing off on another leg of that three-legged stool.

This is not a joking matter. All you have to do is ask anyone who has been in the stock market how they felt yesterday at 4:00 Eastern time when the stock market closed. We have a problem with consumer confidence. This is not the Depression of the 1930s. This is not December 7 or December 8 after the bombing of Pearl Harbor. We have had much worse crises. It is not November 23, 1963 when President Kennedy was assassinated. But if we do not pay attention to it, it could move into the ranks of a much more serious problem than it is today, and I hope that we look at it in that light.

Let me talk now. I really was spurred to action not too long ago when I read an ad in the New York Times. Let me talk for a few moments about what that ad said. First of all, let us talk about the tax policy in this country.

One of the taxes, a specific tax that we have in this country, not a lot of countries in the world have this, in fact a lot of countries do not do this, the United States had at the turn of the century as a result of a lot of class warfare and jealousy by what some people would say are the haves and the have-nots, they created a new tax in the United States, and that tax was that somebody on their death called the death tax.

Now, remember in the United States you are taxed at every stage of your life. You are taxed when you eat and when you drive. You are taxed when you work, you are taxed when you warm your house, you are taxed when you fill your bathtub with water, when you buy a piece of property, any kind of property, and finally just to kind of round it off, our taxing system, let us go ahead and tax Americans at death too. And make sure that every ounce of blood we can before citizens go on to the next world.

That tax came about, in part, to go after the Carnegies and the Fords and the rich people to kind of teach them a lesson because there is a country where we say you invent the better mousetrap, you are rewarded. Go out there and live your dreams, and the jealousy factor kicks in and here comes Uncle Sam, time to tax you on your death.

Let me tell you what has happened over the years. That death tax has devastated many small families in America. By small, I am not talking about the wealthy families. I am not talking about Bill Gates’ father or Warren Buffett or David Rockefeller or George Soros or the Cooks or Russells or the Roosevelts or the Paul Newmans and some of these others, I am talking about the Smiths, the Brobachs, the Strobobs, the Soros, the Neslantics. I could go through family after family after family who are not billionaires, who are out there living their life’s dream, who are out there in hopes that their hard work will allow them to give the generation behind them a little opportunity to get ahead in life. Just a little opportunity to continue the family business for one more generation. Who would have ever dreamed that in the United States of America this government itself, Uncle Sam itself, would be in the practice of discouraging family business from going from one generation to the next generation. Would be in the business of punishing family farms and ranches from going from one generation to the next generation.

One of the famous statements that we have heard in the propaganda where my colleagues try to justify the death tax, it only affects 2 percent of our so-called wealthiest people of our society. You know something, that is blatantly misleading; and most of the people that say it say it out of ignorance or they know that they are intentionally misleading you.

Let us go back to my cup example. Somehow in the third district in the State of Colorado you have got somebody, and here is what it takes to become 2 percent of the people. You have a contractor out there who owns a bulldozer, free and clear; a dump truck, free and clear; a backhoe, free and clear; and a shop, free and clear; and let us say that property is located in Vail, Colorado or Glenwood Springs, Colorado. You know what, that person is subject to the death tax. You know what happens, no matter who earns the money in the community, the fact is that you have a dollar that is earned, whether it is a wealthy person or that contractor, you have a dollar in any town U.S.A. in that local community, that dollar is in that community. What the death tax says is hey, because they have been successful in this community, we are going to take that dollar from just from the family that earned the dollar, we are going to take that dollar from the entire community and transfer it to a community called Washington, D.C. in the East.

Now you tell me that only 2 percent of the people in that community are impacted by that. I will give you an example, Cortez, Colorado. Down there we had a very prominent citizen, not somebody who just came into town and had a million dollars, this money only accrued on them. It was somebody that lived the American dream. They worked 7 days a week, and their dream was to have a family business where his sons and daughters could work with him, where his sons and daughters’ sons and daughters could work in the family business.

Unfortunately, due to an untimely death, his dream never came true. Was it because he had not been successful? No, I think because Uncle Sam came into that community of Cortez, Colorado and said this person has been too successful. We do not care about the fact that he is the largest contributor to jobs in this community. We do not care about the fact that he is the largest contributor to the local charities or the dollars he makes are not circulated in Washington with the exception of taxes, Uncle Sam says we do not care that removing this much money only accrued on family, but removing it from the community of Cortez, Colorado to Washington, D.C., we do not care that that hurts that community. The fact is that we have an American citizen who has been too successful and we should punish him.

That is exactly what the death tax does and do not let them tell you that it only affects 2 percent of the people. “Only” may mean in the very end after all of the wealthiest people in the country through the protection of their foundations and floors of lawyers, it may mean that actually writing the check may be only 2 percent, and actually I think it is higher, but take a look at what it does to the local communities. Look at what it does in Third Congressional District of Colorado, where we see farms and ranches that have been broken into subdivided parcels. Uncle Sam can be paid his ransom to make sure that the next generation cannot ranch, and I am going to give you some examples.

I read an ad lately in The New York Times, and I used this word reluctantly but I think it is the most hypocritical ad I have seen in a long time. It is called “The Responsible Wealth,” and it is a group of multicityion millionaires and billionaires, and they signed this ad and said do not do away with the death tax, it is good for society. Now, it is all signed, and I will give you some examples of people who signed it, William Gates, Sr., Bill Gates’ father. By the way when he was interviewed, he did this interview in the foundation office and he said the reason why he did it, is it a tool to protect your assets from the death tax. Let us mention a couple names, Steven Rockefeller; David Rockefeller; George Soros; Peter Barnes; Paul Newman, the actor; Frank and Ida.

Do you think for one moment that any one of the people that signed this ad have not already hired some of the best death tax attorneys in the country to make sure that any death tax they do have is minimized. Don’t you think it is a little hypocritical that someone would say do not do away with the death tax when they have already protected themselves from the brunt of the death tax. I would ask Mr. Newman and Mr. Gates, how many of my ranchers in Colorado, how many of my local hardware store owners in Colorado can afford the attorneys that you have so they do not have to pay the death tax? How much punishment do you think that it is to these families. You know, we have had a vote on this floor on the death tax, and my bet is that anybody on this floor who is worth more than a million dollars that voted to keep the death tax in place. In other words they support the death tax, number one, and number two they are worth more than a million dollars, I bet none of my colleagues who fits in those two categories that has not already done their own estate planning so that the taxes against them personally are minimized.

This death tax has a tremendous negative impact on communities across this country, whether it is Sacramento, California or in Michigan, or down in Florida, or even in the East in Virginia. This death tax punishes people and it punishes families. This is the United States of America. This is a country where we encourage or theoretically, we are supposed to encourage local ownership of the family. Where the family or family ranch or the family business. Why is it the business of this government to go out and punish these people because they have been successful? Why?

Let me tell you a few things that I think are very important, and I think the best way to talk about this is to actually bring up some true-life example. I will talk about the death tax here on the floor, colleagues, as all of you know when we broach a subject like this, we often get letters from our constituents pertaining to this subject. Let me visit with you and show some of the letters I have received in my office about what this death tax has done to their families.

This letter is from Harold and Roberta Schaeffer. My guess is that Mr. Gates has never seen or has no idea of what kind of exposure this small family, the Schaeffers, has to the death tax.

Nor am I convinced that this Mr. Gates cares about it. Nor am I convinced any of the other 200 people, including Paul Newman and some of the other very wealthy individuals, really have a hook about a death tax that people that have sent me these letters.

These people are not billionaires. These people are not movie stars. These people do not have foundations. These people do not have trusts. These people do not have the attorneys to get them around it. And they are going to have to face up to one of the most punitive, unjustified taxes in the history of the American taxing system.

Let us go on. And these people are from Colorado. Roberta and I just finished watching your estate tax speech on TV. We are both very proud because you stated our real concerns and our problems that we face with this unfair taxation.

As you well know, farming and ranching out here in western Colorado is no slam dunk. If our farm is ultimately faced with this death tax burden, there is absolutely no way we could ever afford and justify holding on to our farm. This in turn will prevent us from keeping it as a farm for future generations, keeping it from becoming just one more development out in the middle of the countryside, keeping it available to the deer and the elk, and I saw over 600 head of elk just this afternoon on the property, keeping it available for unencumbered natural gas production.

Scott, we are only able to meet the daily operating costs of our farm under the present economic conditions of agriculture. Unless there is positive action taken by Congress on the death tax problem, we will try to start making necessary plans to arrange our affairs so that my family is the ultimate winner of a lifelong struggle, the lifetime work of the family of Roberta and me. There is no way we will allow the IRS and Washington, D.C., to take it all away. They just flat don’t deserve it. This, of course, will make it necessary to begin the destruction or the development of one of the largest open space areas in all of Garfield County, Colorado.

Again, we appreciate your efforts. Where is the hunter who says, ‘Think about what the letter said. If you continue, Uncle Sam, on your track of coming after us, we are not a billionnaire family. Again, this is not the Rockefellers or the Gates or the Carneiges, people like that, or Paul Newman. This is a small agricultural family who has worked very hard, the generation before him, his father and mother, and now he and his wife want to pass it on to the next. But what is the summary of the letter? Let me repeat.

If the death tax is kept in place, this is the impact that he talks about in this letter. He has four things. Number one, I cannot keep it as a farm for future operations. Number two, keeping it from becoming just one more development out in the middle of the countryside. Number three, keeping it available for unencumbered natural gas production. This is a real letter from some people out there. They do not have a floor full of lawyers. They do not have a foundation. They do not have a trust. All they have got is a hardworking family, and the dreams that all of us dream, that something we do in our life can pass on to the kids in the next life.

It is interesting. I see Warren Buffett and some of these other people say, ‘Well, I’m giving all away but a small percentage of the estate.’ Let me tell you, when you are worth several billion dollars, even 2 percent, that does not sound like a lot until you figure out the calculation. Those lawyers protect the true foundations.

Again, remember, these foundations were not put out there just because these wealthy people wanted to take a little time and create some more paperwork and create another structure in their life to have to worry about. These wealthy people, so that the very wealthiest could avoid the death tax or minimize the death tax. Yet they have the audacity to come out to the rest of us and sign this ad.

Mind you, this is not all the wealthy people who have signed it clearly, and many of my good friends have this kind of wealth. They did not sign that ad.

But understand what a death tax does. Remember, a death tax does not have a time span between it. In other words, if you have dad who is working on the ranch with son who has the grandson, or this son’s son or the grandson here, so we have three generations. If grandpa dies and the property then passes to his son or his daughter, and that son or daughter, they then pay the estate tax. Let us do it here. I think it is easier to follow. Here is generation A, generation B, and generation C. Generation A dies. Estate tax then hits right there to B. So B has to come up with the money to pay off this estate tax so that he in hopes or she in hopes can pass this on to their next generation.

But what happens if, after A dies, B unfortunately is killed in a car accident at a young age? Let us say B is killed at age 50 in a car wreck. Do you know what happens? Even though his father may have died just a few months before, you have the death tax there, and the minute B dies, you have got it again, even if it is in a short period of time. What do you think the odds of survival of that ranch or that small business or those family dreams?

Remember that the people that signed this ad that say a death tax is good for our country, these people protect themselves. Let us call it B for billionnaire. They protect themselves with foundations, charities, nonprofits, and foundations, so that when Uncle Sam comes in, they cannot quite pierce it. They cannot get in there. So it is real easy to stand with a big chest and say, ‘By gosh, this death tax ought to be paid by you in Conservative.’ It is about time that person went up and visited that little family business or that little family farm or that contractor who owns a dump truck and a bulldozer and a building.

Let us be realistic. Our common goal in these Chambers is to preserve the family unit, and a part of the family unit is to preserve from one generation to the next generation those small businesses and those family dreams. Let me read on. Here is a letter I got I think last week.

Dear Mr. McNinis, I am writing to encourage you to keep the repeal of the death tax on the front burner. As an owner of a family business, it is extremely important that, upon our death, the business be able to be passed to our son and to our daughter, both of whom work in the business, without a threat of having to liquidate to pay the death taxes and still maintain assets that have already been taxed once.

This letter brings up a good example. Remember that this property, the property that you own, that you are going to pass to your death, you have already paid taxes on it. So this property, with this small exception of some IRAs, and they should be taxed, but with that small exception, the property that is hit by the death tax is truly double taxation and, as is pointed out here, without a threat to liquidate to pay inheritance tax or death taxes on assets that have already been taxed once. Of all of the taxes we pay, this tax, the death tax, is truly double taxation and unfair.

I am aware that several wealthy people, i.e., William Gates, Sr., George Soros, et cetera, have come out against repeal of the death tax. This is one of the most self-serving demonstrations I have ever seen. They have theirs in trusts, in foundations, in offshore accounts, et cetera, and will pay no or only minimal tax. Their political motivations are, they certainly do not represent or speak for the vast majority of farmers and ranchers and small business owners in this country.

Again, I urge you to push hard for the repeal of the death tax. Signed, Anthony Allen.

This letter came out of California. This letter came out of the West: My wife and I graduated and got married and started farming in 1961. Our children and us have worked from daylight till after dark with very few days off for the last 40 years. We have paid sales taxes, we have paid property taxes, we have paid income taxes, and we have paid estate tax. We have paid for our trucks, on our trailers, on our properties, to mention just a few of the taxes that we have really had to pay.

After all of the years, we have built up enough equity to earn a decent income; therefore, we were planning for old age and death with estate planning and life insurance that we can afford. We hope that the Federal Government will not force our children to sell this farm to pay that death tax. The State of Colorado has given us political relief, but now it is time for the United States Government to do the same.

Let us go on. I am not going to read every letter here, but I want you to get the gist.

Here is one. This guy’s name is Chris Anderson. He is 24 years old. This is this new generation, the young men and women of my children’s age. This young generation offers more promise than any generation in the history of this country. This generation is going to bring more to this country and contribute more to this country than any other generation in the history of this country. I have never had more confidence in a generation of 20-something-year-olds right now.

Are we going to go out there and start them out by saying, look, your dad and mom want to contribute to your success, your dad and mom want to help you continue to make this country greater and so, therefore, Uncle Sam is going to step in between your folks and you and penalize by a death tax? Is that really the theory that you want to operate under in this country?

Listen to this. Here is a 24-year-old young man.

I am Chris Anderson. I am 24 years old, and I run a small mail order business. I listened very closely when you talked about the death tax. In all likelihood, I will not face the problems you are outlining, at least not in the near future. I am not in line to inherit a business. However, I am soon to be married and look forward to having a family; and perhaps one day my children will want to follow in my footsteps.
March 13, 2001

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

H869

Here is a 24-year-old young man who is about to be married, he is not going to inherit a business, he has his own small business which he has started, and Chris is saying to me, look, someday maybe I can realize my dream of passing on the family. Chris goes on. I hope and pray that they will not face the additional grief caused by death tax. A 55 percent tax is, at best, a huge burden on the family business and the loved ones of the deceased. At worst, it can be a death blow that ruins what could otherwise have been the future of yet another generation.

Here is a 24-year-old young man. You see what I talk about when I say how great this generation is. At 24 years old, frankly, when I was 24 I am not sure I was thinking about the next generation. But here this young man at 24 years, he and his finance are thinking about this next family business they are thinking many years into the future. When they talk about, at worst this death tax could be the death blow that ruins what otherwise could have been the future of yet another generation.

I just wanted to let you know that, although I am not a victim of this tax, I appreciate and applaud the fight against it.

I firmly believe that Congress and the government at large need to recognize that America’s future is and will always be firmly rooted in the success of small businesses. Many of these businesses are family-owned with the need for the next generation to continue them into the future.

I spent a few years working for a small family-owned business. Not just myself but several workers depended on the income they derived from working for this family business. But as Chris is saying here I spent many years working for a small, family business and many of us, including my fellow employees, depended on the success of that business owner for their employment.

So Chris is saying here I spent many years working for a small, family business, and many of us, including my fellow employees, depended on the success of that business owner for their employment. This week, he makes the point that these people who signed that ad say it only affects 2 percent. It affects an entire community when you take that money out of the community and transfer it to Uncle Sam and Federal programs; but we should take their dollars and give it back to the people who earned it.

Now, John, some people would say that taxes are emotional when I speak here at the podium, but I firmly believe that the punishment that we are dealing out here to families in America and communities in America by this death tax, by not refunding some of this surplus, is destabilizing. It has negative impacts that some of the people who may have signed that New York Times ad have never tasted in their life, but a lot of small families in America and a lot of small communities in America have that bitter taste.

Let us go on with John’s letter:

“Why should a family who has worked for 45 years and paid their taxes on time every year, year after year after year, build a family business; who has built up a dream for their next generation, be taxed in this manner?”

John, the only answer I can give you is that it is unfair. We are a country where tax is necessary. Obviously, we want the best schools we can fund. We want a strong military. We want a transportation system. But do we have to reach to the point that we have got to go to double or triple the tax on its face unfairly? Can you imagine what our forefathers would have thought that we were going to tax not only every stage of life but, upon death, to tax death, as a taxable event?

Here is another one.

Dear Scott, I wish there were some way I could help you get this tax eliminated. They are discriminatory and socialistic taxes. I can’t for the life of me understand how they got passed. How can anyone advocate taxing somebody twice?

I can answer your question, John. Back here in the capitol we are in the government that depend on taxing for revenue, not going out and setting up a business and creating capital. They will tax you at every opportunity they can, unless we have a balance, and the balance we have out here, colleagues, are your constituents and the harm that we are doing to the very people we represent if we put punitive and unfair taxes on their shoulders.

If we do not recognize the fact that they have overpaid their taxes, if we do not recognize the fact in tough economic times, we should not keep their dollars, as President Bush says, in Washington, D.C. to spend on more Federal programs; but we should take their dollars and give it back to the people who earned it.

Now, John, some people would say that taxes are emotional when I speak here at the podium, but I firmly believe that the punishment that we are dealing out here to families in America and communities in America by this death tax, by not refunding some of this surplus, is destabilizing. It has negative impacts that some of the people who may have signed that New York Times ad have never tasted in their life, but a lot of small families in America and a lot of small communities in America have that bitter taste.

Let us go on with John’s letter:

“Why should a family who has worked for 45 years and paid their taxes on time every year, year after year after year, build a family business; who has built up a dream for their next generation, be taxed in this manner?”

John, the only answer I can give you is that it is unfair. We are a country where tax is necessary. Obviously, we want the best schools we can fund. We want a strong military. We want a transportation system. But do we have to reach to the point that we have got to go to double or triple the tax on its face unfairly? Can you imagine what our forefathers would have thought that we were going to tax not only every stage of life but, upon death, to tax death, as a taxable event?

Here is another one.

Dear Scott, I wish there were some way I could help you get this tax eliminated. They are discriminatory and socialistic taxes. I can’t for the life of me understand how they got passed. How can anyone advocate taxing somebody twice?

I can answer your question, John. Back here in the capitol we are in the government that depend on taxing for revenue, not going out and setting up a business and creating capital. They will tax you at every opportunity they can, unless we have a balance, and the balance we have out here, colleagues, are your constituents and the harm that we are doing to the very people we represent if we put punitive and unfair taxes on their shoulders.

If we do not recognize the fact that they have overpaid their taxes, if we do not recognize the fact in tough economic times, we should not keep their dollars, as President Bush says, in Washington, D.C. to spend on more Federal programs; but we should take their dollars and give it back to the people who earned it.

Now, John, some people would say that taxes are emotional when I speak here at the podium, but I firmly believe that the punishment that we are dealing out here to families in America and communities in America by this death tax, by not refunding some of this surplus, is destabilizing. It has negative impacts that some of the people who may have signed that New York Times ad have never tasted in their life, but a lot of small families in America and a lot of small communities in America have that bitter taste.

Let us go on with John’s letter:

“Why should a family who has worked for 45 years and paid their taxes on time every year, year after year after year, build a family business; who has built up a dream for their next generation, be taxed in this manner?”

John, the only answer I can give you is that it is unfair. We are a country where tax is necessary. Obviously, we want the best schools we can fund. We want a strong military. We want a transportation system. But do we have to reach to the point that we have got to go to double or triple the tax on its face unfairly? Can you imagine what our forefathers would have thought that we were going to tax not only every stage of life but, upon death, to tax death, as a taxable event?

Here is another one.

Dear Scott, I wish there were some way I could help you get this tax eliminated. They are discriminatory and socialistic taxes. I can’t for the life of me understand how they got passed. How can anyone advocate taxing somebody twice?

I can answer your question, John. Back here in the capitol we are in the government that depend on taxing for revenue, not going out and setting up a business and creating capital. They will tax you at every opportunity they can, unless we have a balance, and the balance we have out here, colleagues, are your constituents and the harm that we are doing to the very people we represent if we put punitive and unfair taxes on their shoulders.
the people that we better pay some serious attention to. Those are the people that will suffer when this economy turns sour, if we do not put some of those tax dollars back in their pocket like the President says. Those are the people that will not be able to go from generation to generation with a family business.

We have, I say to my colleagues, a very, very important mission in front of us, and that mission is to help protect the families that put us here; to help protect the future generation, through the wealth of their own families, through the wealth of hard work, through the wealth of love. It is not because of Uncle Sam that these people have been successful. It is so, so important for us to look beyond the gates of Washington, D.C., a city which is almost wholly operated on taxpayer dollars. It is time for us to look to middle-America and see exactly what our tax policies are doing, to see what kind of punishment.

Now, we know that taxes are necessary, but we doggone well better sit down and figure out which taxes are fair and necessary, and that is the trail that we should walk.

PATIENTS’ BILL OF RIGHTS, PATIENT PROTECTION, AND HMO REFORM

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mrs. CAPITO). Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 3, 2001, the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. GANSKE) is recognized for 60 minutes.

Mr. GANSKE. Madam Speaker, I appreciate the focus and emotion that my colleague just spoke about, especially in dealing with the death tax situation, because we have many people back in my home State of Iowa that need this type of relief if, in fact, they are going to pass on their family farms to their children. The way this death tax is calculated and who the benefit goes to can be done many ways. One can say the benefit goes to the person who dies, and that person may have some considerable assets; but in actuality, it is the person who inherits that has to pay the tax, and if we look at who these people are, very, very frequently, they do not have assets. They are not rich, and then they end up having to sell off half of the farm in order to pay the Federal taxes. I think that needs to be fixed.

Madam Speaker, I want to speak tonight on an issue that I find emotional too, and that has to do with the Patients’ Bill of Rights and patient protection that it relates to HMOs.

Madam Speaker, about a week ago I was in my apartment here in Washington watching C-SPAN; and there was a panel on, a panel of former Members of Congress, and they were being interviewed. I was giving comments about what they thought would happen this year in the legislative arena. And these pundits were giving their opinions on tax cuts and prescription drug benefits and other things, and then one of the panelists said something. He said, “You know, I think this deal about patient protection doesn’t need to be done. You know, I really don’t know anyone who has been harmed by HMOs.” Madam Speaker, I nearly fell off my sofa. When this pundit, this former Member of Congress said, “You know, who needs patient protection, HMO reform because, after all, nobody is being hurt.” I thought to myself, what world is that man living in? What world is that man living in?

I thought, does he not read newspapers? Does he not see stories like this: “What his parents didn’t know about HMOs may have killed this baby.” Maybe this former Member of Congress, who I happen to know; he is a fine man, but I am thinking to myself, how could he make this comment?

Does he not see newspapers like this: “HMOs can’t rules leave her dying for the doc she needs.” Where has he been? Madam Speaker, before coming to Congress, I was a reconstructive surgeon. I took care of lots of babies that were born with congenital defects, like cleft lip and cleft palate. Fifty percent of the reconstructive surgeons in the country in the last 2 years have had cases like this denied by HMOs as not being medically necessary. What world does that man live in? I thought to myself, well, maybe he does not read the national news magazines. Maybe he did not see the cover on Time Magazine that featured this family with this little girl, this little boy, a husband, a mother that documented how the mother died because the HMO inappropriately denied care. Maybe he does not live in that world. Maybe he does not read Time Magazine.

I thought to myself, maybe he does not read The Washington Post. Most people read the Washington Post, especially former Members, but maybe he does not. Maybe he did not see the cover story in The Washington Post about this young lady who was hiking 40 miles west of here, fell off a cliff, broke her arm, her pelvis, stunned, fractured her skull, laying there at the bottom of the cliff. Her boyfriend phones in the air flight. They take her to the emergency room. She is treated, and then the HMO does not pay her bill because she did not see the doctor prior to the emergency. I thought to myself, what world does this man live in?

I thought to myself, maybe this former Member of Congress has not been watching any of the debates on the floor of Congress. Maybe he has not been following the Patients’ Bill of Rights, the debate that we had. Maybe he did not bother to watch the debate we had on the floor when sitting right in that chair was this little boy a few years afterwards. This little boy when he was about five to have a procedure on one night, like about 104 or 105, so his mother phones the HMO, she is told to take him to this one hospital, the only one that is authorized, about 70 miles away, he has a cardiac arrest on the way, he ends up with gangrene in both hands and both feet, and this is what happens when you have gangrene in both hands and both feet. They have to be amputated. I thought, maybe that man had not watched our debate here on the floor. What world is he living in?

But I will tell my colleagues this: this little boy who, when he came to the floor for that debate, was now about 6 or 7, pulls on his leg prostheses with his arm stumps. But do my colleagues know what? This little boy is real; and if he had a finger, Madam Speaker, and we could prick it, he would bleed. And if he had a hand, some day he would be able to caress the cheek of the woman that he loves, and maybe he would be able to play basketball. But do my colleagues know what? According to this pundit, this former Member of Congress on this panel, after all, there is not anyone being injured by HMOs; it is just baloney.

Madam Speaker, I beg to differ. People come up to me all the time here in Washington and back home in Iowa. They tell me about stories like this, how it is affecting them or their family.

Just a few days ago, about a 48-year-old woman came up to me. She had had a mastectomy for cancer. She had been going through chemotherapy. Her physician had recommended that she have an important test to see whether the tumor had returned. Her HMO denied it. She came up to me in tears in Des Moines, Iowa. She battled that HMO through an internal review and finally they said yes. Then, when she was going to go for her test, they pulled the rug from underneath her and they said no.

She said, Greg, I had to do something I have never done before. I had to ask my husband to carry on for me on this fight, because that HMO has just worn me out. I asked my husband to carry on this fight because I didn’t have the energy. I don’t have the energy anymore to fight that HMO.

Do Members know what? If that woman dies because she has not gotten her test, what is the HMO out? Nothing, because she is dead. That is not fair and that is not justice. I beg the pardon of that pundit that was on that panel, that man who I like but who does not seem to understand or has been insulated in some way from what has gone on everywhere else in this country.

Why do Members think the biggest line in the movie As Good as It Gets was when Helen Hunt tells Jack Nicholson, “You know, that HMO is just preventing my son with asthma from getting the care that he needs.” Then she ended up saying it into a long string of expletives.

My wife and I were in the theater that night. We saw something we had never seen before: People stood up and clapped. What world is that man living in?

Well, Mr. Speaker, Members on both sides of the aisle in both Houses who have been fighting for 5 or 6 years now to get the gentleman’s bill passed, they will not give up, because we know that this is affecting millions of people every day on decisions that some HMOs are making.

We need to do that. We need to fix that here in Washington, because this problem was started by Washington. It was started right here in 1974, when Congress passed a law which took that oversight of insurance plans away from the States for 200 years, took it away from the States and put nothing in its place, and basically gave immunity to health plans, employer health plans, from the consequences of their decisions, an immunity that no other industry in this country has.

Madam Speaker, I sit on the Committee on Commerce. Last year we heard testimony on the tire problem, where tires were blowing out. At last count, there were about 118 people killed from that. Madam Speaker, what do Members think would happen if Congress passed a law that gave legal immunity to tire makers? Why, we would be run out of Washington on a rail.

Yet, we are dealing with today a law that has been in place for 200 years, this kind of decision that results in this kind of injury for somebody who gets their insurance from their employer a free ride. It needs to be fixed. It needs to be fixed.

It is a pretty difficult fight. The HMO industry, their business allies, and some in Congress have fought this for 5 or 6 years now. They have spent $100 million at least trying to prevent the Patients’ Bill of Rights from actually becoming law.

Our first victory, though, came in 1999 when the House overwhelmingly passed the bipartisan bill that I and my colleague, a conservative Republican, the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. Norwood), and a Democrat, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Dingell), wrote. We passed that bill by a vote of 275 to 151 in the face of very stiff HMO industry opposition.

For the last 6 months, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Dingell), the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. Norwood), and I rewrote our bill. We negotiated with Senator MCCAIN to bring him into this fight. On February 6, we introduced our bill, H.R. 526, the Bipartisan Patient Protection Act of 2001, and Senators MCCAIN, EDWARDS and KENNEDY introduced a companion bill in the Senate.

Madam Speaker, this bill represents a meaningful bipartisan compromise on patient’s rights issues such as scope, who does the bill cover; plan accountability; employer liability.

I want to go into some more detail. My bill, the Ganske-Dingell bill, includes the basic protections that need to be addressed in this debate, such as the right to choose one’s own doctor; protections against one’s doctor being gagged by HMOs, not being able to tell the whole story; access to specialists, such as pediatricians and obstetrician-gynecologists; access to emergency care; access to plan information, so we know what is going on in the plan.

My bill covers all 190 million Americans in private insurance, including ERISA plans, non-Federal government plans, and plans in the individual market. The bill addresses the concerns of those who want to protect States’ rights by allowing States to demonstrate that their insurance laws are at least substantially equivalent to the new Federal standards, thereby leaving in place equivalent or stronger State laws. States can continue to enforce their patient protection laws under our bill.

Under our bipartisan bill, patients would be assured that doctors can make medical decisions involving the medical care. When a plan denies coverage, patients will have the ability to pursue an independent review of the plan’s decision by a panel of medical experts, independent of the health plan. That decision would be binding on the plan.

Our bill outlines a new compromise on liability, a new compromise on liability that provides for meaningful accountability for injured patients. We took the lead from the Supreme Court in its case Pegram v. Hedrick, and addressed the desire of multi-state employer plans for uniformity of benefit decisions.

The new bill creates a bifurcated Federal and State liability system. Injured patients can hold health plans accountable in State court for disputes involving the quality of medical care, those involving medical necessity decisions. However, patients who were injured by a plan’s administrative non-medical decision to deny benefits or coverage would proceed to Federal court, and additionally, punitive damages are prohibited in State court unless the plan shows a willful or a wanton disregard for patients’ rights or safety.

Our bill also addresses other concerns raised by the bill that passed the House in 1999. For instance, our new bill says, “Employers may not be held liable unless they ‘directly participate’ in a decision to deny benefits that result in injury or death.”

Madam Speaker, I have talked to business groups all across the State of Iowa, employers who run small businesses. I asked them, I say, “When you hire an HMO to provide a health plan for your family and for your employees, do you think an employer ever gets involved in the medical decision-making?” And they say, “Not on your life. Number one, it is a privacy issue. We do not want to know what is happening to our employees in their private medical life. We do not want them to know what is going on in our family, either. But we do not get involved in that.”

Under our bill, Madam Speaker, that employer cannot be held liable. In re- gard to the patient protection, the patient protection has focused on whether or not and to what extent we should hold HMOs accountable when they make medical decisions that harm patients, or even cause them to die.

In recent weeks, congressional offices have been inundated with messages opposing a strong patient protection bill of rights like our Bipartisan Patient Protection Act of 2001.

I feel, Madam Speaker, that our colleagues need to hear the truth about the liability provisions in our bill, and why I have included those liability provisions in our bill.

Madam Speaker, many opponents to liability provisions in patient protection bills such as Dingell bill say, Why do we need them in the first place? Well, the goal of the liability provision is to ensure that patients receive the proper health care when they need it, and that a patient has a right to redress when the plan makes a medical decision to deny a claim for benefits and causes injury or death.

Under current law, as I said, the patient has access to an internal review process. If there is still a dispute upon conclusion of the plan’s internal process, the patient may only seek the value of the benefit in Federal court under section 502 of ERISA. There is no provision under current law for consequential damages caused by the failure to provide the benefit, whether or not there was an injury.

Some States, however, have passed provisions that would allow the patient to hold some health plans accountable in State court for failing to provide adequate care.

Madam Speaker, under our new liability provision, when a patient is denied a benefit, he or she will have access to a swift internal review process and a strong independent external review process to help settle disputes, and that, in the vast majority of times, will get the patient appropriate care.

But a patient feels he or she is owed a benefit under the review process, they will have access to existing 502 ERISA remedies in Federal court to seek the benefit, but not other damages. In those rare cases when a patient suffers harm or death as a result of the plan’s action, a patient will have access to Federal court under ERISA section 502 if the dispute was a purely administrative contractual decision. In order to prevail and recover limited damages, the patient would need to prove that the plan acted negligently in making the decision, and that the decision caused the patient’s injury or death.
But, Madam Speaker, if the dispute involves a medically-reviewable decision, the patient will be able to seek redress in State court under applicable State law. Generally, our bill prohibits punitive damages if the health plan follows the review process and follows the determination of the external review entity.

In our new bifurcated Federal-State liability, this is a significant compromise. It is a significant move from the State cause of action in the original bill that passed the previous Norwood-Dingell-Ganske bill, in 1999. Our original language did not change the existing remedy in section 502 of ERISA. Rather, it simply clarified that State causes of action were not preempted under section 514.

The business and insurance industry raised concerns that this approach would inhibit their ability to administer a multistate employee health benefit plan.

□ 2130

Madam Speaker, we made the step towards the business community. Our new bill answers that concern by leaving some benefit administration in Federal court under section 502, thereby allowing employers and insurers to have uniformity in administering their health plans across State lines.

The first part of the liability section in our bill adds to that existing Federal remedy under section 502. Under this new Federal cause of action, a plaintiff may seek both economic and noneconomic damages. By excluding medically-reviewable decisions from the Federal remedy, group health plans will only be subject to liability under section 502 for benefit administrative decisions. That includes decisions such as whether a patient is eligible for coverage, whether a benefit is part of the plan or whether an administrative contract decision?

Punitive damages are not allowed under the Federal cause of action. A civil assessment can be awarded upon showing clear and convincing evidence that the plan acted in bad faith. That standard carries a high burden of proof and is consistent with State statutes for the award of damages. That standard ensures a health plan will not be subject to these damages for simply making a wrong decision.

The patient would have to show that the plan has demonstrated flagrant disregard for health and safety in order for the plan to be liable. Madam Speaker, before exercising that legal remedy, the patient would have to exhaust both internal and external appeals processes.

If the patient suffers irreparable harm or death prior to completion of the process, the patient or the plan can continue the review process, and the court can consider the outcome.

The second part of the liability section in the Ganske-Dingell bill amends ERISA section 514 to allow cause of actions in State court for a denial of a claim for benefits involving a medically-reviewable decision, a medically-reviewable decision that causes harm or death to a patient.

In our bill, punitive damages are prohibited. That follows the requirements of the requirements of the appeal processes. That provision protects plans and businesses when they follow the decision of the external review panel.

But I ask, Madam Speaker, if an industry exhibits willful and wanton disregard for safety, would you grant them immunity? Under current ERISA law, they have it. We simply say in this section that if they exhibit willful and wanton disregard for safety that they would be liable if it results in an injury.

The Ganske-Dingell bill removes the preemption of State law in ERISA 514. That allows injured patients to bring a cause of action in State court for injuries by a medical decision.

That new provision is a significant compromise because it limits the scope of actions that can be filed in State court to those involving a medically-reviewable decision, whereas the bill that we passed here in 1999, the industry exhibited willful and wanton disregard for safety that they would be liable if it results in an injury.

In 1999 a 5th Circuit decision involving Texas' health plan liability law would allow the continued development of State case laws. The health plan liabilities laws that have passed in nine States, Arizona, California, Georgia, Louisiana, Maine, Oklahoma, Tennessee, and Washington, would not be preempted in our new liability provision. It would be under other bills that are currently being developed, and it would have been under past efforts to create an exclusive, and this is important, Madam Speaker, under an exclusive Federal remedy. All of those preempt State law.

Our new bill further clarifies that employers are protected from liability in either Federal or State court, unless they directly participate in a denial that causes death or harm.

Madam Speaker, that “direct participation” standard was developed by the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. HILLARDY) and later used in the Coburn-Ensign substitute. The business and the insurance communities said the previous Norwood-Dingell language was too broad because it held employers harmless unless they exercised discretionary authority to make a decision on a particular claim.

In a spirit of bipartisan compromise, we rewrote the section. We moved towards our critics. But what did they do? They took a step away. They trashed our bill again. Talk about a moving goal post.

In addition to the direct participation protection, our bill specifically lists decisions that are not considered direct participation. Those specific include the appointment of the group health plan, which plan they choose, the health insurance issuer, third-party administrator or other agent, employers are protected in any cost benefit analysis undertaken by the selection of the plan.

Should there be protection for any participation in the process of creating, continuing, modifying or terminating the plan or any benefit, and they are protected for any participation in the design of any benefit under the plan.

There are additional protections for employers who advocate, who advocate on behalf of an employee in the appeals process.

Furthermore, our bill clarifies existing ERISA law to make certain that a group health plan can purchase insurance to cover losses incurred from suits under this title, just as any medical health professional would do when they know that they are responsible for making medical decisions.

Madam Speaker, recently President Bush sent a letter to Congress outlining his principles for patient protection legislation. And while the President’s principles were in nature general, I was pleased to note that our bill meets all of the President’s stated goals, and those goals included providing comprehensive patient protections, applying those protections to all Americans. That is a significant improvement over what we saw in the Senate last time, a review process where doctors make medical decisions and patients receive care in a timely fashion and protections for employers, but the President calls for only allowing Feder al lawsuits.

Speaker, such an action would preempt State patient protection laws, including those in Texas, and would treat HMOs differently than all other businesses that could hurt people.

Madam Speaker, I do not know how you can move everything into Federal court and then say at the same time that you are preserving State law. How do you stand, Madam Speaker, in two places at the same time?

As with the President’s stated goals, our Ganske-Dingell Bipartisan Patient Protection Act provides patient protections for all Americans, as I said. In addition, our bill empowers governors to certify their State’s patient protections provisions as being equivalent to the Federal floor through a process similar to the one for participation in the States children’s health insurance program, so that States can continue to enforce their own laws for their citizens.

In addition, our bill has every one of the patients protections listed in the President’s statement of principles, emergency room care, OB/GYNs for women, prescription drug coverage, clinical trials, pediatrics, stopping gag clauses, health plan information choices and continuity of care.

Our bill provides for a quick internal, independent external review process modeled after the strong Texas medical care laws, because getting prompt medical care is the goal of our bill. Our bill requires exhaustion of the review process. Only if a patient dies or is irreparably harmed can a family go to court before the review is complete.

Madam Speaker, it has never been clear to me how you can write a provision that says you have to go through an appeals process before you can go to court when the initial decision can result in an injury in a result such as this. This mother and father did not have a chance to go through an internal or an external appeal process before their little boy had his cardiac arrest en route to the hospital and developed gangrene and had to have both hands and both feet amputated. But under our bill, because he suffered irreparable harm, that HMO would be accountable, and it should be accountable.

Another bill to pass a law that gives a free skate to a health plan on a case like this I would say is ignoring the scales of justice.

Madam Speaker, I look forward to working with President Bush and my colleagues to ensure swift passage of our bill, because he suffered irreparable harm, that HMO would be accountable, and it should be accountable.

The HMO industry has made a lot of allegations. One of the things that they have talked about is that employers would be subject to a multitude of frivolous lawsuits. We have already spoken about that.

As I have said, our bill would allow employers to be liable only, only if they have entered into the decision-making.

Another HMO allegation is that with a strong appeals process there is no need for legal accountability for managed care. Madam Speaker, who are they kidding?

Look, they have legal accountability in Texas, and they need it. There is a case in Texas where a man was suicidal and the treating HMO refused to certify. The treating HMO refused to certify. The surgery had to be canceled. Soon afterwards, the insurer did agree to pay, but by the time the patient was paralyzed.

Are you going to tell me that that patient who is going to spend the rest of his life paralyzed does not have his right to a day in court because he did not have the time to go through an external appeals process?

How about the patient who was admitted to the emergency room of his community hospital complaining of paralysis and numbness of his extremities. The treating emergency room physician concluded that the gravity of the patient's neurological condition necessitated his immediate transfer to an academic hospital and made the arrangements. The health plan refused to certify. The surgery had to be canceled. Soon afterwards, the insurer did agree to pay, but by the time the patient was paralyzed.

By the time the physician was able to have the patient transferred, the patient had sustained permanent quadriplegia, could not move both arms or his legs, paralyzed from the neck down.

Now, that patient did not have a chance to go through an internal and an external appeals process, but he sure as heck did suffer irreparable harm. Our bill handles that situation. The opposition says, "There is a loophole." The opposition says, "There is a loophole.

Another HMO industry allegation is that the Ganske-Dingell bill liability provision would significantly increase the cost of health insurance. The truth of that allegation is blown way out of proportion. They always say, yes, if the cost goes up so much, then so many people are going to lose their insurance.

The Congressional Budget Office scored other liability provisions such as that contained in the Norwood-Dingell bill that passed in the 106th Congress, showing that premiums would rise about 4.1 percent over 5 years. Critics of our bill pounced on that, that costs were going to skyrocket. But they were.

The part of the bill that costs the most was not the liability provision. It was the section designed to prevent the lawsuits that is common to all of the patient legislation plans that we have seen, and that was the internal and external review sections.

In addition, the HMO industry failed to note that the total CBO projection was spread over 5 years with virtually no cost in the first year and about 1 percent per year after that up to 4 percent total. Now, compare that with the average 7 percent annual increases in recent years by the HMO industry itself.

Opponents have cited an ever-changing and ridiculously wide range of job loss figures for every 1 percent increase in cost. First, the opponents of legal accountability cite the figures that 400,000 individuals would lose their health coverage for every 1 percent increase in premiums. When the GAO challenged that figure, saying that it was based on outdated information and did not account for all the relevant factors, opponents lowered the job loss figure to 300,000 for every 1 percent.

Again, the GAO looked at this and caused opponents to lower their estimate to figure a second time to 200,000. However, none of those predictions have come to pass. For example, between 1988 and 1996 the number of workers offered coverage actually increased despite premium increases each year.

Now, the next allegation I will answer is that consumer support for patient protection evaporates when they learn that it will cost them some additional premiums. This is another one of the HMO industry's distortions.

Patients want a real enforceable patient protection Bill of Rights, and they are willing to pay something for it.

A 1998 nationwide survey by Penn, Schoen & Berland showed that 86 percent of the public support a bill that would give patients' health plan legal accountability, access to specialists, emergency services, and point of service coverage. When asked if they would support a bill if their premiums increased between $1 and $4 a month, 78 percent supported bills.

Madam Speaker, the House-passed bill, the Norwood-Dingell-Ganske bill, would have raised insurance premiums an average of 4.1 percent. That would have meant increases in employee premiums of about $1.06 per month for an individual and $3.75 a month for a family member.

Finally, I want to dispel the allegation that patients are satisfied with the quality of care being provided by HMOs. HMOs frequently do these surveys of their membership, and they come up with some figure like 80 percent of the enrollees are happy with their care or satisfied. What they fail to point out is that these are all the healthy people in their plan who are not utilizing the plan. Most anyone, when they saw that movie "As Good As It Gets" and saw the response to Helen Hunt's descriptor of her HMO that the public is not aware of this?

A recent public opinion survey found that most Americans believe problems with managed care have not improved, 74 percent. Most think that legislative action is either more urgent or equally as urgent as when this debate began, 88 percent. A 1999 survey of physicians and nurses reported that 72 percent of physicians and 78 percent of nurses believed that managed care has decreased the quality of care for people who are sick.

In addition, Republican polster Linda DiVall, did a post-election poll right after this last election of issues that the new President and the newly elected Congress should work together on to accomplish for the good of the country. In every group, men, stay-at home women, a Patients’ Bill of Rights was at the top of the list.

Madam Speaker, the American public wants and deserves a strong patient Bill of Rights now, this year. It is time for us to put on the President’s desk a bill like the Ganske-Dingell bill or the McCain-Edwards bill. We need to get it signed into law, Madam Speaker.

Millions of people are having decisions that HMOs are making today. To go back and restate their final decision at the beginning of the speech, for anyone to say that people are not having any problems with HMO, I would just have to say, what world are they living in?

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent, leave of absence was granted to:

Mr. ACKERMAN (at the request of Mr. GEPHARDT) for today and the balance of the week on account of illness.

Mr. POMEROY (at the request of Mr. GEPHARDT) for today on account of attending the funeral of a former legislative leader.

Mr. KELLER (at the request of Mr. ARMEY) for today and the balance of the week on account of the hospitalization of his daughter.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN (at the request of Mr. ARMEY) for today on account of a death in the family.

Mr. BECERRA (at the request of Mr. GEPHARDT) for today on account of personal business.

SPECIAL ORDERS GRANTED

By unanimous consent, permission to address the House, following the legislative program and any special orders heretofore entered, was granted to:

(For today and the balance of the week on account of illness.

Mr. PALLONE, for 5 minutes, March 15.

Mr. FOLEY, for 5 minutes, today.

(For today on account of attending the funeral of a former legislative leader.

Mr. TANCREDO, for 5 minutes, today.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. GANSE, Madam Speaker, I move to adjourn. The motion was agreed to: accordingly (at 9 o’clock and 52 minutes p.m.), the House adjourned until tomorrow, Wednesday, March 14, 2001, at 10 a.m.

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS, ETC.

Under clause 8 of rule XII, executive communications with persons named from the Speaker’s table and referred as follows:

1191. A letter from the Director, Regulations Policy and Management Staff, FDA, Department of Health and Human Services, transmitting the final rule: Prescription Drug Marketing Act of 1987; Prescription Drug Amendments of 1992; Policies, Requirements, and Administrative Procedures; Delay of Effective Date (Docket N. 92N–9297) (RIN: 0905–AC81) received March 7, 2001, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

1192. A letter from the Assistant to the Bureau Chief, Mass Media Bureau, Federal Communications Commission, transmitting the Commission’s final rule—Amendment of Section 73.202(b), Table of Allotments, Digital Television Broadcast Stations (Rapide City, South Dakota) (MM Docket No. 00–177; RM–9934) received March 6, 2001, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

1193. A letter from the Special Assistant to the Bureau Chief, Mass Media Bureau, Federal Communications Commission, transmitting the Commission’s final rule—Amendment of Section 73.202(b), Table of Allotments, Digital Television Broadcast Stations (Woodville, Rock, Arizona) (MM Docket No. 00–171; RM–9929) received March 6, 2001, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

1194. A letter from the Special Assistant to the Bureau Chief, Mass Media Bureau, Federal Communications Commission, transmitting the Commission’s final rule—Amendment of Section 73.202(b), Table of Allotments, FM Broadcast Stations (Window Rock, Arizona) (MM Docket No. 00–237; RM–10006) received March 6, 2001, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

1195. A letter from the Special Assistant to the Bureau Chief, Mass Media Bureau, Federal Communications Commission, transmitting the Commission’s final rule—Amendment of Section 73.202(b), Table of Allotments, FM Broadcast Stations (Sioux Falls, South Dakota) (MM Docket No. 00–200; RM–9967) received March 6, 2001, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

1196. A letter from the Special Assistant to the Bureau Chief, Mass Media Bureau, Federal Communications Commission, transmitting the Commission’s final rule—Amendment of Section 73.202(b), Table of Allotments, FM Broadcast Stations (Aspen, Colorado) (MM Docket No. 00–215; RM–9994) received March 6, 2001, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES ON PUBLIC BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS

Under clause 2 of rule XIII, reports of committees were delivered to the Clerk for printing and reference to the proper calendar, as follows:

Mr. SENSENBRENNER: Committee on the Judiciary. H.R. 741. A bill to amend the Trademark Dilution Act of 1993; for registration and protection of trademarks used in commerce, in order to carry out provisions of certain international conventions, and for other purposes (Rept. 107–19). Referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union.

Mr. FLANAGAN: Committee on Energy and Commerce. H.R. 496. A bill to amend the Communications Act of 1934 to promote deployment of advanced services and foster the development of competition for the benefit of consumers in all regions of the Nation by relieving unnecessary burdens on the Nation’s two percent local exchange tele- communications carriers, and for other purposes; with an amendment (Rept. 107–20). Referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union.

Mr. WOLF: Committee on Energy and Commerce. H.R. 725. A bill to establish a toll free number under the Federal Trade Commission to assist consumers in determining if products are American-made (Rept. 107–21). Referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union.

PUBLIC BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS

Under clause 2 of rule XII, public bills and resolutions of the following titles were introduced and severally referred, as follows:

By Mr. ISMAIL (for himself, Mr. POSEY, and Mr. WICKER):

H.R. 974. A bill to amend the Public Health Service Act with respect to the operation by the National Institutes of Health of an experimental program to stimulate competitive research; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

By Mrs. KELLY (for herself, Ms. CAPITO, and Mr. CANTOR):

H.R. 974. A bill to increase the number of interagency transfers which may be made from business accounts at depository institutions, to authorize the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System to pay interest on reserves, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Financial Services.

By Mr. WATKINS (for himself, Mr. WATTS of Oklahoma, Mr. PETERSON of...
H.R. 975. A bill to amend title XVIII of the Social Security Act to eliminate the 15 percent reduction in Medicare payment rates for prospective payment system for home health services under the Medicare Program and to permanently increase payments for such services that are furnished in rural areas; to the Committee on Ways and Means, and in addition to the Committee on Energy and Commerce, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. VITTER:

H.R. 976. A bill to authorize appropriations for the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act for full funding in fiscal year 2002 and fiscal year 2003, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Education and the Workforce.

By Mr. VITTER:

H.R. 977. A bill to amend the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act to provide increased priority for school personnel to discipline children with disabilities who engage in certain dangerous behavior; to the Committee on Education and the Workforce.

By Mr. MANZULLO (for himself, Mr. CAMP, Mr. PRICE of North Carolina, Mr. ANDREWS, Ms. BALDWIN, Mr. BURR of North Carolina, Ms. DUGETTE, Mr. PAUL, Mr. SHIMKUS, Mr. Udall of Colorado, and Mr. WELLER):

H.R. 978. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide a credit against the federal income tax for dry and wet cleaning equipment which uses non-hazardous primary process solvents; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. HUNTER:

H.R. 979. A bill to authorize the President and the Governor of a State to suspend certain environmental and siting requirements applicable to fossil fuel fired electric power plants to alleviate an electric power shortage which presents a threat to public health and safety, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce, and in addition to the Committees on Resources, Transportation and Infrastructure, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. WAMP (for himself, Mr. DUNCAN, Mr. JENKINS, Mr. BRYANT, Mr. HILLEARY, Mr. DEAL of Georgia, Mr. CHABOT, Mr. GORDON, Mr. TANNER, and Mr. FORD):

H.R. 980. A bill to establish the Moccasin Bend National Historic Site in the State of Tennessee as a unit of the National Park System; to the Committee on Resources.

By Mr. BASS (for himself, Mr. BARTON of Texas, Mr. BIJARIKI, Mr. BISHOP of Georgia, Mr. BOWEN of North Carolina, Mr. CASTLE, Mr. T. M. DAVIS of Virginia, Mr. DIAZ-BALART, Mr. DREIER, Ms. DUNN, Mr. EHLENS, Mr. ENGLISH, Mr. GILCHREST, Mr. GILMAN, Mr. GODFREY, Mr. GOODLATTE, Mr. GROSS, Mr. GREEN of Wisconsin, Mr. HASTINGS of Michigan, Mr. HEROES, Mr. HORKSTRA, Mr. HOUGHTON, Mr. JENKINS, Mr. JONES of North Carolina, Mr. LOUSSERRE, Mr. LINDER, Ms. MCCARTHY of Missouri, Ms. MORELLA, Ms. MYRICK, Mr. NET, Mr. NONWOOD, Mr. ONLEY, Mr. PERRY, Mr. PINOLO, Mr. RADANOVICH, Mr. REGULA, Mr. REYNOLDS, Mr. RILEY, Mr. ROHRABACHER, Mr. RUSKIN, Mr. RYUN of Kansas, Mr. SCHAEFFER, Mr. SINNENBERG, Mr. SESSIONS, Mr. SHIMKUS, Mr. SMITH of Florida, Mr. SUNUNU, Mr. TANCREDO, Mr. TERRY, Mr. THORENBERRY, Mr. THUNE, Mr. TRAFICANT, Mr. UPTON, Mr. WAMP, and Mr. WITTMER):

H.R. 981. A bill to provide a biennial budget for the United States Government; to the Committee on the Budget, and in addition to the Committee on Appropriations, for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. BEREUTER:

H.R. 982. A bill to prohibit assistance for Kosovo unless the President determines and certifies to Congress that residents or citizens of Kosovo are not providing assistance to organizations engaging in or otherwise supporting ethnically-motivated violence in southern Serbia or in Macedonia, and for other purposes; to the Committee on International Relations.

By Mrs. BONO:

H.R. 983. A bill to require the Secretary of Energy to assign the same priority to providing renewable energy production incentive payments for landfill gas facilities as the priority assigned to providing such payments for other biomass facilities; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

By Mr. CAMP (for himself, Mr. Matsu, Mr. FOLEY, Mr. TOWNS, Mr. CHAMBLISS, Mr. SAM JOHNSON of Texas, Mr. MANZULLO, Mr. THOMPSON of California, Mr. MCINNIS, Mr. SISON, Mr. TAYLOR, Mr. WATKINS, Mr. SHIMKUS, Mr. RANSEL, Mr. COLLINS, Mr. Cramer, Mr. CANNON, Mr. LEWIS of Georgia, Mr. THURMAN, Mr. REYNOLDS, Mr. AKIN, Mr. RYAN of Wisconsin, Mr. T. M. DAVIS of Virginia, Mr. DIAZ-BALART, Mr. GUNATILaka, Mr. KUNKEL, Mr. Lay, Mr. T. M. DAVIS, Mr. DAVIS of Tennessee, Mr. PAYNE, Mr. WILLIAMSON, Mr. WICKER, Mr. PAYNE, and Mr. CUMMINGS)::

H.R. 984. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to repeal the occupational taxes relating to distilled spirits, wine, and beer; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. CAMP:

H.R. 985. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to repeal the dollar limitation on contributions to funeral trusts; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. CAMP:

H.R. 986. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide that long-term vehicle storage by tax-exempt organizations which conduct county and similar fairs shall not be treated as an unrelated trade or business; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. CAMP:

H.R. 987. A bill to transfer management of the Banks Lake Unit of the Okefenokee National Wildlife Refuge; to the Committee on Resources.

By Mr. ENGLE (for himself, Mr. NADER, Mrs. MALONEY of New York, Mr. TOWNS, Mr. RANGEL, Mr. BORHLERT, Mr. ZEIGLER, Mr. CARSON of California, Mr. SERRANO, Mr. MEeks of New York, Mr. HOUGHTON, and Mr. CUMMINGS):

H.R. 988. A bill to designate the United States courthouse located at 40 Centre Street in New York, New York, as the Thurgood Marshall United States Courthouse; to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

By Mr. GREEN of Wisconsin (for himself, Mr. GREENWOOD, Mrs. McCARTHY of New York, Mr. McGovern, Mr. Rush, Mr. Davis of Illinois, Ms. Jo Ann Davis of Virginia, Mr. PAYNE, Mr. HORN, Mr. ROGERS of Michigan, Mr. PANSELLI, Mr. HOUKANT, Mrs. MYRICK, Mr. HALL of Texas, and Ms. HOOLEY of Oregon):

H.R. 989. A bill to direct the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development to carry out a 3 year pilot program to assist law enforcement officers purchasing homes in locally-designated at-risk areas; to the Committee on Financial Services.

By Mr. HALL of Ohio (for himself, Mr. BAKER, Mr. LEWIS of Georgia, Mr. RAMSTAD, Mr. HINCHET, Mr. WOLF, Mr. FATTAL, Mr. HOEFFER, Mr. LIPENSKI, Mrs. EMERSON, Mr. HART, Mr. McGovern, and Mrs. THURMAN):

H.R. 990. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to allow charitable deductions for contributions of food inventory; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. HAYWORTH (for himself, Mr. PAUL, Mr. DAVIS of California, Mr. OTTER, Mr. YOUNG of Alaska, Mr. CALVIRI, Mr. STIMP, Mr. GIBBONS, Mr. SESSIONS, Mr. SCHAEFFER, Mr. CANNON, and Mr. LARGENT):

H.R. 991. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to treat gold, silver, and platinum, in either coin or bar form, in the same manner as stocks and other purposes of the maximum capital gains rate for individuals; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut (for herself and Mr. SIMMONS):

H.R. 992. A bill to provide grants to local governments to assist such local governments in participating in certain decisions related to certain Indian groups and Indian tribes; to the Committee on Resources.

By Mr. KELLER:

H.R. 993. A bill to improve the prevention and punishment of criminal smuggling, transportation, and harboring of aliens, and for other purposes; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

By Mrs. MALONEY of New York (for herself, Mr. ENGLISH, Mr. BORSKI, Mr. McGovern, Mr. PASCHIEL, Mr. OWENS, Mr. PAYNE, Mr. McFIE, Mr. CHRISTENSEN, Mr. BLUMENAUER, Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California, Mr. CLAY, Ms. McCARTHY of Missouri, Mr. ABERCROMbie, Mr. BAGGIE, Mr. MALONEY of Connecticut, Mr. ACKERMAN, and Mrs. MEek of Florida):

H.R. 994. A bill to authorize the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development to make grants to nonprofit community organizations for the development of open space on municipally owned vacant lots in urban areas; to the Committee on Financial Services.

By Mr. McINNIS:

H.R. 995. A bill to provide permanent appropriations to the Radiation Exposure Compensation Trust Fund to make payments under the Radiation Exposure Compensation Act (42 U.S.C. 2210 note); to the Committee on Appropriations.

By Mr. McINNIS:

H.R. 996. A bill to ensure the timely payment of benefits to eligible persons under the Radiation Exposure Compensation Act (42 U.S.C. 2210 note); to the Committee on Appropriations.
H876

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — HOUSE

March 13, 2001

By Mrs. MINK of Hawaii:

H. R. 997. A bill to amend title XVIII of the Social Security Act to waive the part B premium penalty for individuals entitled to Title XIX benefits as a member or former member of the uniformed services, or dependent of such a member or former member, and to amend title 19, United States Code, to remove the CAReE requirement for enrollment in Medicare part B in the case of individuals enrolled under the Federal Employees Health Benefits program; to the Committee on Ways and Means, and Armed Services, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. POMEROY:

H. R. 998. A bill to reduce gun trafficking by prohibiting bulk purchases of handguns; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

H. R. 999. A bill to strengthen the standards by which the Surface Transportation Board reviews railroad mergers, and to apply the Federal Railroad Administration to rail carriers and railroad transportation; to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure, and in addition to the Committee on the Judiciary, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. PORTMAN (for himself and Mr. CHABOT):

H. R. 1000. A bill to adjust the boundary of the William Howard Taft National Historic Site in the State of Ohio, to authorize an exchange of land in connection with the historic site, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Resources.

By Mr. RAHALL:

H. R. 1001. A bill to amend title XIX of the Social Security Act to make optional the requirements that a State seek adjustment or recovery from an individual’s estate of any medical assistance correctly paid on behalf of the individual under the State Medicaid plan; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

By Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN (for herself, Mr. HANSSEN, Mr. HEPLEY, Mr. FORD of Florida, Mr. SHAW, and Mr. DIAZ-BALART):

H. R. 1002. A bill to direct the Secretary of the Interior to make certain adjustments to the boundaries of a William Howard Taft National Park in the State of Florida, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Resources.

By Mr. SCHAEFFER (for himself, Mr. BISHOP, Mr. BLUNT, Mr. DOGLITTE, Mr. CHAMBELLS, Mr. FLETCHER, Mr. HAYES, Mr. GOODE, Mr. LEWIS of Kentucky, Mr. MCHUGH, Mr. OTTER, Mr. PAUL, Mr. PUCKETT, Mr. ROSS, Mr. SESSIONS, Mr. SHOWS, Mr. SIMPSON, Mr. WATKINS, and Mr. WATTS of Oklahoma):

H. R. 1003. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to increase the maximum amount of wages that a farmer can pay for agricultural labor without being subject to the Federal unemployment tax on that labor to reflect inflation since the unemployment tax was first established, and to provide for an annual inflation adjustment such maximum amount of wages; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Ms. SCHATOWSKY (for herself and Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN):

H. R. 1004. A bill to amend the National Voter Registration Act of 1993 to establish a procedure under which individuals whose names are not included in the list of registered voters in an election for Federal office at a particular polling place may cast provisional votes at the polling place, and for other purposes; to the Committee on House Administration.

By Mr. SHOWS (for himself, Mr. BLAKEY, Mr. COOK, Ms. SANCHEZ, Ms. HART, Mr. LUCAS of Kentucky, and Mr. SMITH of New Jersey):

H. R. 1005. A bill to amend the Communications Act of 1934 to require that violent video programming is limited to broadcast only after 6 p.m., or at times that are likely to comprise a substantial portion of the audience, unless it is specifically rated on the basis of its violent content so that it is blocked by a mechanism that means specifically on the basis of that content; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

By Mr. STUPAK:

H. R. 1006. A bill to amend the Emergency Steel Loan Guarantee Act of 1999 to prohibit steel companies receiving loan guarantees from investing the loan proceeds in foreign steel companies and using the loan proceeds to import steel products from foreign countries that are subject to certain trade remedies; to the Committee on Financial Services.

By Mr. STUPAK (for himself, Mr. HUTCHINSON, Mr. SCOTT, Ms. MALONSON-NOWAK, Mr. ROUKEMA, Mrs. MCCARTHY of New York, Mrs. CHRISTENSEN, Mr. ETHERIDGE, Mr. FRANK, Mr. KELLER, Mr. GREENWOOD, Mr. RAPP, Mr. PASCHELL, Mr. GILMAN, Mr. PORTMAN, Connecticut, Mr. MCCOY, Mr. MELLON, Mr. WELLS, Mr. RIVERS, Mr. McCUH, Ms. KINNEY, Ms. KAPTUR, Mr. LIPINSKI, Mr. OXLEY, Mr. MCCARTHY of Missouri, Mr. CLEMENT, Mr. MCINTYRE, Mr. SOUDER, Mr. RASMID, Mr. GORDON, Mr. SMITH of Ohio, Mr. SHERMAN, Mr. KUCINICH, Mr. FOSSELLA, Mr. BURMAN, Mr. HOOLEY of Oregon, Ms. MORELLA, Ms. JACKSON-Lee of Texas, Ms. SANCHEZ, Mr. RITTER, Mr. HOLDEN, Mr. RODRIGUEZ, Ms. MILLINDER-McDONALD, Mr. ABERCROMBIE, Ms. THURMAN, and Mr. VISCOLOSKY):

H. R. 1007. A bill to limit access to body armor by violent felons and to facilitate the donation of Federal surplus body armor to State and local law enforcement agencies; to the Committee on Government Reform.

By Mr. TERRY (for himself, Mr. NETHERCUTT, Mr. JONES of North Carolina, Mr. PAUL, Mr. HILLARY, Mr. WAMP, Mr. FERGUSON, Mr. STENHOLM, Mr. MOORE of Wisconsin, Mr. WHITFIELD, Mr. HERGER, Mr. RYAN of Kansas, Mr. ISAKSON, Mr. SENSIBRANNER, Mr. ISAKSON, Mr. SMITH of Ohio, Mr. SMADONI, Mr. GARY MILLER of California, Mr. BARTLETT of Maryland, Mr. BUYER, Mr. EHRLICH, Mr. DUNCAN, Mr. OTTER, Mr. SCHAFER, Mr. KAPLAR, Mr. NYK, Mr. BLUNT, and Mr. KENNY of Minnesota):

H. R. 1008. A bill to prohibit the Secretary of Transportation and the Administrator of the Federal Motor Carrier Administration from taking action to finalize, implement, or enforce a rule related to the hours of service of drivers of motor vehicles for the purpose of other purposes; to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

By Mr. TOOMEY (for himself, Mr. KANJURHIS, Mr. OLIVARES, Mr. NEY, Ms. HOOLEY of Oregon, Mrs. ROUKEMA, and Ms. CAPITO):

H. R. 1009. A bill to repeal the prohibition on the payment of interest on demand deposits; to the Committee on Financial Services.

By Mr. UDALL of New Mexico (for himself, Mr. NAPOLITANO, and Mr. UDALL of Colorado):

H. R. 1010. A bill to provide emergency relief to small businesses affected by significant increases in the prices of heating oil, natural gas, propane, and kerosene, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Small Business, and in addition to the Committee on Agriculture, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mrs. WILSON (for herself, Mr. EVANS, Mr. DUNCAN, Mr. RAHALL, and Mr. DOYLE):

H. R. 1011. A bill to amend title XIX of the Social Security Act to provide public access to quality medical imaging procedures and radiation therapy procedures; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

By Mr. WOLF (for himself, Mr. TOM DAVIS of Virginia, Ms. MORELLA, Mr. EHRLER, Mrs. TAUSCHER, and Mr. UDALL of Colorado):

H. R. 1012. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to allow a credit against income tax for expenses incurred in teleworking; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. CUNNINGHAM (for himself, Mr. MURTHA, Mr. KANJURHS, Mr. SHEMMUS, Mr. SHOWS, Mr. ROBERJACHER, Mr. RYAN of Kansas, Mr. BURTON of Indiana, Ms. HART, Mr. BARRIO, Mr. CROWLEY, Mr. DOOLEY of California, Mr. THUNE, Mr. BREWER, Mr. COTTERN, Mr. MCCRORY, Mr. BIELIK, Mr. SANTON, Mr. RAMSTAD, Mr. GOODE, Mr. FOSSELLA, Mr. TOOMEY, Mr. RACUS, Mr. LOBONDO, Mr. GANSKE, Mr. DUNCAN, Mr. CRAMER, MR. GREEN of Texas, Mr. KING, Mr. SMITH of Texas, Mr. FREEHINGSHE, Mr. HILLARY, Mrs. KELLY, Mr. GILMAN, Mr. ENGLISH, Mr. OSBORNE, Mr. BUYER, Mr. SUNUNU, Mr. CAMP, Mr. SWEEDEN, Mr. FOLEY, Mr. COOKSEY, Mr. DRAUL of Florida, Mr. RODGERS of North Carolina, Mr. ROGERS of Michigan, Mr. RILEY, Mr. SMITH of New Mexico, Mr. ISAKSON, Mr. E IVERETT, Mr. REYNOLDS, Mr. STENHOLM, Mr. BILIRAKIS, Mr. DOYLE, Mr. WICKER, Mr. SIMMONS, Mrs. MCCARTHY of New York, Mr. STUMP, Mr. TOM DAVIS of Virginia, Mrs. THURMAN, Mr. SKELTON, Mr. LIPINSKI, Mr. GARY MILLER of California, Mr. TAYLOR of Mississippi, Mr. WALDEN of Oregon, Mr. WOLF, Mr. McNULTY, Mr. HUTCHINSON, Mrs. MYRICK, Mr. CHERNBOW, Mr. BISHOP, Mr. EHRILICH, Mr. SCHOCK, Mr. CROWLEY, Mr. RING, Mr. AN, Mr. HULSHOF, Mr. TANCREDO, Mrs. JO ANN WATKINS, Mr. TRAYNOR, Mr. BOWLING, Mr. BACON, Mr. CHAPMAN, Mr. OXLEY, Mr. HULSHOF, Mr. PANCRADO, Mr. DONALDson of Ann Arbor, Mr. Davis of Georgia, Mr. DAVIS of Virginia, Mr. HINOJOSA, Mr. GREEN of Wisconsin, Mr. LEWIS of Kentucky, Mrs. EMERSON, Mr. BAKER, Mr. ADKINS, Mr. Wllson, Mr. RADANOVICH, Mr. ISSA, Mr. YOUNG of Alaska, Mr. QUINN, Mr. AKIN, Mr. KIRNS, Mr. GRUCCI, Mr. GRIEAL, Mr. HAYWORTH, Mr. HEPLEY, Mr. BROWN of Ohio, Mr. TURNER, Mr. SHAW, Mr. SAM JOHNSON of Texas, Mr. ROGERS of Kentucky, and Mr. WATSON of Tennessee):

H. J. Res. 36. A joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States to provide for the enumeration and apportionment of the population for purposes of representation in Congress, and generally to amend the Constitution: To the Committee on the Judiciary.
United States authorizing the Congress to prohibit the physical desecration of the flag of the United States; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

By Mr. CLEMMENT. H.R. 37. A joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States to provide for the appointment and vesting of a special district, of electors for the election of President and Vice President, and to provide procedures for electing the President and Vice President if no candidate receives a majority of electoral votes; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

By Mr. BARRETT (for himself, Mr. KILDEE, Mr. TRAFICANT, Mr. FATTI, Mr. BUCAY, Mr. LAHOOD of Connecticut, Ms. RIVERS, Mr. REYES, Ms. DELAURA, Mrs. MINK of Hawaii, Mrs. THURMAN, Mr. FLETCHER, Mr. CRANE, Ms. WATKINS, Ms. HART, Mr. ISAKSON, Mr. SANDLIN, Mr. NETHERCUTT, Mr. WICKER, Mr. ADERHOLT, Mr. KELLER, Mr. ISOOK, Mr. FLETCHER, Mr. KENNEDY of Minnesota, Mr. SAM JOHNSON of Texas, and Mr. WATTS of Oklahoma. H.R. 511: Mr. SOLES and Mr. ROTHAM. H.R. 518: Mr. LATOURRETTE. H.R. 525: Mr. ROGERS of Michigan and Mr. ISAKSON. H.R. 526: Mr. BLUMENAUER, Mr. LAFAULCE, and Mr. PAYNE. H.R. 527: Mr. BARR of Georgia and Mr. BALDACCI. H.R. 572: Mr. PAYNE. H.R. 577: Ms. JO ANN Davis of Virginia, Mr. LAHOOD, and Mr. SCHAFER. H.R. 579: Mr. NORTON, Mr. WEKLER, Ms. CARSON of Indiana, and Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. H.R. 581: Mr. MCINNIS. H.R. 590: Ms. BERKLEY. H.R. 600: Mr. BONIOR, Ms. SOLIS, Mr. ACKERMAN, Mrs. EMERSON, Mr. MOAKLEY, Ms. HOOLEY of Oregon, Mr. PORTMAN, Mr. EVANS, Mr. JEFFERSON, Mr. DIAZ-BALART, and Mr. ADERHOLT. H.R. 606: Mr. HOLT, Ms. HART, Ms. BERKLEY, Mr. REYES, Ms. MILLINDER-McDONALD, Mr. BUCHER, Mr. SOUER, and Mrs. ROUSEMA. H.R. 611: Ms. LEE, Mr. KIND, Mr. SHARER, Mr. MEES of New York, and Mr. VISCOSKY. H.R. 612: Ms. HART, Ms. MILLINDER-McDONALD, Mr. MCGOVERN, Mr. BARNES, Mr. ENGLISH, Mr. LAMPSON, and Mr. CONDIT. H.R. 613: Ms. UNDERWOOD and Mr. FORD. H.R. 626: Mr. UPTON and Mr. STUMP. H.R. 627: Mr. FICKERD. H.R. 650: Mr. RANGEL. H.R. 664: Mr. FILNER, Mr. CARSON of Oklahoma, and Mr. VISCOSKY. H.R. 676: Mr. BAKER and Mr. BOUCHIER. H.R. 683: Mrs. LOWEY, Mr. DELAHUNT, Mr. NADLER, Mr. ABECROMBIE, Mr. MERHAN, and Mr. THURMAN. H.R. 686: Mr. FARR of California, Mr. FATTI, and Mr. PAYNE. H.R. 694: Mr. NORWOOD. H.R. 699: Mr. GOODE, Mr. FILNER, and Mr. BARTLETT of Maryland. H.R. 708: Mr. KLECEK, Mr. WEKLER, Mr. BRADY of Pennsylvania, Mr. MOAKLEY, and Mr. BERMAN. H.R. 712: Mr. MCHUGH, Mr. BOYD, Mr. GUTERREZ, Mr. LANTOS, Mr. NADLER, and Mr. ABECROMBIE. H.R. 717: Mr. TOM DAVIS of Virginia, Mr. SCHAFER, Mr. MICA, Mr. KLECEK, Mr. GARY MILLER of California, and Ms. SLAUGHTER. H.R. 726: Ms. WOOLSEY and Mr. OWENS. H.R. 737: Mr. PETTIGREW of Minnesota and Mr. COSTELLO. H.R. 738: Mr. STUMP, Mr. GIBBONS, Mr. CRAMER, Mr. NETHERCUTT, Mr. KING, Mr. DEAL of Georgia, Ms. HART, Mr. HAYWORTH, and Mr. LOBONDO. H.R. 744: Ms. MINK of Hawaii, Mr. BURR of North Carolina, and Mr. BONILLA. H.R. 755: Mrs. DAVIS of California. H.R. 762: Ms. BALDWIN. H.R. 769: Mr. HILLEARY. H.R. 770: Mr. ACEVEDO-VILA and Mr. UDALL of New Mexico. H.R. 787: Mr. SESSIONS, Mr. FRANK, and Mr. RODRIGUEZ. H.R. 794: Mr. CALVET. H.R. 808: Mr. SERRANO, Mr. BACHUS, Mr. BALDWIN, Mr. DAVIS of Illinois, Mr. DOYLE, Mr. GONZALEZ, Mr. LEE, Mr. PAYNE, Mr. RUSH, Mr. TASCHER, and Mr. WATT of North Carolina. H.R. 818: Ms. VELAZQUEZ, Mr. WAXLER, Mr. TOWNS, Mr. MILLINDER-McDONALD, and Mr. KENT. H.R. 827: Mrs. KELLY, Mr. HORN, and Mr. RODRIGUEZ. H.R. 868: Mr. GILL, Mr. PSYCH of Ohio, Mr. PORTMAN, Mr. CRANE, Mr. WALKS, Mr. WATKINS, Ms. HART, Mr. ISAKSON, Mr. SANDLIN, Mr. NETHERCUTT, Mr. WICKER, Mr. ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Under clause 7 of rule XII, sponsors were added to public bills and resolutions as follows:

H.R. 207: Mr. LEACH, Mr. LATOURRETTE, and Mr. MCINTYRE.
H.R. 22: Ms. DELAURA and Mrs. KELLY.
H.R. 27: Mr. PAUL.
H.R. 31: Mr. PETTIGREW of Minnesota.
H.R. 40: Ms. BROWN of Florida, Mr. OLIVER, and Mr. THOMPSON of Mississippi.
H.R. 63: Mr. CRESHAW.
H.R. 65: Mr. BURR of North Carolina and Mr. SOUER.
H.R. 100: Mrs. KELLY, Mr. GRUCCI, and Mr. WELDON of Florida.
H.R. 101: Mrs. KELLY, Mr. GRUCCI, and Mr. WELDON of Florida.
H.R. 122: Mr. BRADY of Texas, Mr. BAKER, Mr. PLATTS, Mr. CRESHAW, Mr. SIMMONS, Mr. DUNCAN, Mr. SMITH of New Jersey, Mr. NAY, Mr. CALVET, Mr. TAYLOR of North Carolina, Mr. BURTON of Indiana, Mr. MCHUGH, Mr. PETERSON of Pennsylvania, Mr. SOUER, Mr. SMITH of Michigan, Mr. BLOUNT, Mr. HILLARY, Mr. CANTOR, Mr. WEKLER, Ms. HART, Mr. POLLEY, Mr. JONES of North Carolina, and Mr. FERGUSON.
H.R. 134: Mr. MILLINDER-McDONALD.
H.R. 145: Mrs. CARSON of Indiana.
H.R. 148: Mr. PAYNE, Mr. DOYLE, Mrs. THURMAN of Frost, and Mr. CLAY.
H.R. 161: Mr. AYEM.
H.R. 162: Mr. OWENS, Mr. WAXMAN, Mr. BARCIA, Ms. CARSON of Indiana, and Ms. SCHAFER.
H.R. 179: Mr. BOSWELL.
H.R. 202: Mr. SIMPSON.
H.R. 214: Mr. TRAFICANT and Mr. FELNER.
H.R. 220: Mr. NIX.
H.R. 236: Mr. MORAN of Kansas and Mr. BASS.
H.R. 240: Mr. BACHUS.
H.R. 250: Mr. TAYLOR of North Carolina, Mr. PIECE of North Carolina, Mr. SHOWS, Mr. JONES of North Carolina, Mr. SUNUNU, Mr. THOMPSON of California, Mr. JENKINS, Mr. BALLENGER, and Mr. BOSWELL.
H.R. 257: Ms. JO ANN Davis of Virginia and Mr. DEMINT.
H.R. 267: Mr. PORTMAN, Mr. RODRIGUEZ, Mr. CUMMINGS, and Mr. WALSH.
H.R. 275: Mr. BRADY of Texas, Mr. SCHAPFER, and Mr. SULZBERGER.
H.R. 283: Mr. CONGERS.
H.R. 285: Mr. ABECROMBIE, Ms. SCHAFER, Mr. SONDERS, Ms. CARSON of Indiana, Mr. PAYNE, Ms. LEE, Mr. LANTOS, Mrs. THURMAN, Mr. MCGOVERN, and Ms. SANCHEZ.
H.R. 288: Mr. SONDERS and Mr. KUCINICH.
H.R. 295: Mr. MILLER of Florida, Mr. HILLARY, Mr. BURR of North Carolina, Mr. DOYLE, Mr. UPTON, Mr. MCCARTHY of New York, Mr. EVANS, Mr. WELLER, Mr. JENKINS, Mr. MEHAN, Mr. TRAFICANT, Mr. FORD, Mr. BROWN of Ohio, Mr. HINCHY, Mr. MENENDEZ, Mr. TOWNS, Mr. SMITH of New Jersey, Mr. KUCINICH, Mr. HAYWORTH, Mr. GONZALEZ, Mr. CLAY, Mr. FRANK, Mr. DIAL of Georgia, Mr. OLIVER, Mr. FITNER, Mr. BONIOR, Mr. PAYNE, Ms. BALDWIN, Mrs. EMERSON, Mr. PHELPS, Mr. MCGOVERN, Mr. BERMAN, Mr. PETTIGREW of Minnesota, and Ms. HOOLEY of Oregon.
H. Res. 61: Concurrent resolution expressing support for a National Reflex Sym pathetic Dystrophy (RSD) Awareness Month; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.
H. Res. 40: Resolution to express the sense of the House of Representatives that the Federal investment in programs that provide health care services to uninsured and low-income individuals in medically underserved areas be increased in order to double access to care over the next 5 years; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.
AMENDMENTS

Under Clause 8 of rule XVIII, amendments were submitted as follows:

H.R. 327
OFFERED BY: Mr. OSE

(Amendment in the Nature of a Substitute)

AMENDMENT No. 1: Strike all after the enacting clause and insert the following:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Small Business Paperwork Relief Act”.

SEC. 2. FACILITATION OF COMPLIANCE WITH FEDERAL PAPERWORK REQUIREMENTS.

(a) REQUIREMENTS APPLICABLE TO THE DIRECTOR OF OMB.—Section 3506(c) of chapter 35 of title 44, United States Code (commonly referred to as the “Paperwork Reduction Act”), is amended—

(1) in paragraph (4), by striking “; and” and inserting a semicolon;

(2) in paragraph (6), by striking the period at the end and inserting “; and”;

(3) by adding a period at the end of the following new paragraph:

“(4) in addition to the requirements of this subsection, each agency shall—

(A) the chairmen and ranking minority members of the Committee on Government Reform and the Committee on Small Business of the House of Representatives, and the Committee on Governmental Affairs and the Select Committee on Small Business of the Senate; and

(B) the Director of the Office of Management and Budget.

(4) Not later than two years after the date of enactment of this Act, the task force shall submit to the individuals described in the Office of Management and Budget shall publish the list of requirements required under paragraph (6) of section 3506(c) of title 44, United States Code (as added by subsection (a)), and make such list available on the Internet as required by paragraph (7) of such section (as added by subsection (a)), not later than the date that is one year after the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 3. ESTABLISHMENT OF TASK FORCE TO STUDY STREAMLINING OF PAPERWORK COLLECTION REQUIREMENTS AND DISSEMINATION FOR SMALL-BUSINESS CONCERNS.

(a) In GENERAL.—Chapter 35 of title 44, United States Code, is further amended by adding at the end of subchapter I the following new section:

“(a) Thereby established a task force (in this section referred to as the ‘task force’) to study the feasibility of streamlining information collection requirements with respect to small-business concerns regarding collection of information and strengthening dissemination of information.

(b) The members of the task force shall be appointed by the Director, and shall include the following:

(1) At least two representatives of the Department of Labor, including one representative of the Bureau of Labor Statistics and one representative of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration;

(2) At least one representative of the Environmental Protection Agency;

(3) At least one representative of the Department of Transportation;

(4) At least one representative of the Department of Treasury;

(5) At least one representative of the Office of Advocacy of the Small Business Administration;

(6) At least one representative of each of two agencies other than the Department of Labor, the Environmental Protection Agency, the Department of Transportation, the Department of the Treasury, and the Small Business Administration;

(7) At least two representatives of the Department of Health and Human Services, including one representative of the Health Care Financing Administration;

(8) The task force shall examine the feasibility of requiring each agency to consolidate and date requirements regarding collections of information with respect to small-business concerns within and across agencies without negatively impacting the accuracy of the underlying laws regarding such collections of information, in order that each small-business concern may submit all information required by an agency.

(1) one point of contact in the agency;

(2) in a single format, or using a single electronic reporting system, with respect to the collection of information.

(3) on the same date.

(4)(1) Not later than one year after the date of enactment of this Act, the small-business concern may submit all information required by an agency—

(A) the chairmen and ranking minority members of the Committee on Governmental Reform and the Committee on Small Business of the House of Representatives, and the Committee on Governmental Affairs and the Select Committee on Small Business of the Senate; and

(B) the Director of the Office of Management and Budget.

(4) Not later than two years after the date of the enactment of such Act, the task force shall submit to the individuals described in the Office of Management and Budget shall publish the list of requirements required under paragraph (6) of section 3506(c) of title 44, United States Code (as added by subsection (a)), and make such list available on the Internet as required by paragraph (7) of such section (as added by subsection (a)), not later than the date that is one year after the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 4. REDUCTION OF PAPERWORK.

(a) For the purpose of reducing the paperwork burden for small-bus} paragraph (1) a report examining strengthening dissemination of information and including—

"(A) recommendations for implementing an interactive system for the requirements in section 3504(c)(6) that would allow small-business concerns to identify information collection requirements electronically;

"(B) guidelines for each agency for developing interactive reporting systems that include a component that edits the information submitted by a small-business concern for consistency;

"(C) recommendations for electronic dissemination of such information; and

"(D) recommendations, created in consultation with the Chief Information Officers Council (established pursuant to Executive Order 13011, issued July 16, 1996), for the coordination of information among the points of contact described in section 3506(i), so that those points of contact can provide small-business concerns with information collection requirements from other agencies.

"(e) As used in this section, the term ‘small-business concern’ has the meaning given that term under section 3 of the Small Business Act (15 U.S.C. 631 et seq.)."

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—The table of sections at the beginning of such chapter is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 3520 the following new item:

"3521. Establishment of task force on feasibility of streamlining information collection requirements and dissemination."
The Senate met at 9:33 a.m. and was called to order by the Honorable HARRY REID, a Senator from the State of Nevada.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Dr. Lloyd John Ogilvie, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we hear Your voice sounding in our souls, “Take courage, it is I, the Lord; I am with you!” You have shown us repeatedly that courage is ours because You have taken hold of us. We can take the challenges of life because You have a tight grip on us. We say with Horatius Bonar, “Let me joyce with awe—Thy mighty grasp on me!”

Suddenly we realize it is true: Courage is fear that has said its prayers. So often we are driven to our knees to seek Your will. Then You lead us to attempt what we could not pull off on our own strength. We discover that courage is Your gift for answered prayer. At the very moment we cry out for help, You open the floodgates of courage and give us that inner resolve that makes us bold and resolute. Thank You, dear God, for the fresh supply of courage to be dynamic leaders today. You are our Lord and Saviour. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The Honorable HARRY REID led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

APPOINTMENT OF ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will please read a communication to the Senate from the President pro tempore [Mr. THURMOND].

The legislative clerk read the following letter:

U.S. SENATE, PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE, Washington, DC, March 13, 2001,

To the Senate:

Under the provisions of rule I, paragraph 3, of the Standing Rules of the Senate, I hereby appoint the Honorable HARRY REID, a Senator from the State of Nevada, to perform the duties of the Chair.

STROM THURMOND, President pro tempore.

Mr. REID thereupon assumed the chair as Acting President pro tempore.

RESERVATION OF LEADER TIME

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, the leadership time is reserved.

MORNING BUSINESS

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, there will now be a period for the transaction of morning business not to extend beyond the hour of 10 a.m., with Senators permitted to speak for up to 5 minutes each.

Under the previous order, the time until 9:45 shall be under the control of the Senator from Illinois, Mr. DURBIN, or his designee.

The Senator from North Dakota, Mr. CONRAD, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent the time be extended so both sides have their full morning business time.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator’s request is he be given 15 minutes, and the following 15 minutes for the Republicans. The time of Senator HOLLINGS was to start at 10 a.m. and will start at approximately 10 after the hour.

Mr. CONRAD. I will be happy to yield with the understanding I be recognized after the Senator from Pennsylvania takes care of the business he has brought to the floor.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the Senator from North Dakota? Hearing none, that will be the order.

The Senator from Pennsylvania.

The President pro tempore.

Mr. SANTORUM. Mr. President, today the Senate will be in a period of morning business until 10 a.m. Following morning business, the Senate will resume consideration of the Bankruptcy Reform Act with Senator HOLINGS to be recognized for up to 20 minutes. Two back-to-back votes will occur at 11 a.m. on the Feinstein amendment, No. 27, and the Kennedy amendment, No. 39.

The Senate will recess for the weekly party conferences from 12:30 to 2:45 p.m. Upon reconvening, there will be 30 minutes of debate on the Conrad and Sessions amendments, with stacked votes scheduled for 2:45 p.m. There are several amendments still pending and others expected to be offered during today’s session. Therefore, additional votes could occur. Senators should be aware that all first-degree amendments on the list must be filed by 1 p.m. today.

I thank my colleagues for their attention and yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. SANTORUM). The Senator from North Dakota.

SOCIAL SECURITY AND MEDICARE TRUST FUNDS

Mr. CONRAD. Mr. President, I rise this morning to discuss once again the amendment that will be voted on after the party caucuses at 2:45. The amendment I am offering is to wall off and protect the Social Security and Medicare trust funds from being raided, from being used for other purposes.

I think every Member of this body remembers very well the time in which, for years, Social Security trust funds were regularly raided for other purposes. We only stopped that practice 3 or 4 years ago, and I think all of us do not want to go back to those days.

• This “bullet” symbol identifies statements or insertions which are not spoken by a Member of the Senate on the floor.
The best way to assure that we do not go back to those days is to agree to the amendment I have offered today, the amendment that is virtually identical to the amendment I offered last year that got 60 votes in the Senate.

We call it the Social Security and Medicare trust fund amendment because it protects both the Social Security surplus and the Medicare surplus.

In fact, if we go to the detail of what we are discussing, this amendment protects Medicare Part B trust fund surpluses in each and every year, takes the Medicare Part A trust fund off budget in the same way we have taken the Social Security trust fund off budget, and gives Medicare the same protections as Social Security.

This legislation contains strong enforcement language—budget points of order—to assure these funds are not used for some other purpose.

One of the things that leaves out, for anyone studying the President’s budget proposal, is that Medicare trust fund money in 2005, he runs an $11 billion deficit in that year.

That is part of the problem with this budget. It threatens to put us back into deficits because the tax cut is so large. Some have argued, well, there really is no Social Security; that there are two trust funds, and there is a surplus in one—that is, Part A of Medicare, the hospital coverage part of Medicare, and Part B that covers largely doctors’ services, which is in deficit.

I have heard this argument made over and over, but it is just wrong. It is not what the law says. It is not what the actuaries say. It is not what the detailed financial reports that have been made to the Senate say.

That is right out of the budget book from the Congressional Budget Office. It says on the table on page 19 “trust fund surpluses.” The first one is Social Security. It shows year by year the surpluses we will have in Social Security. Then it talks about Medicare. The first trust fund it discusses is Part A. You can see year by year the surpluses that are projected for Medicare Part A.

Under the Congressional Budget Office’s budget, the surplus adds up to over $400 billion. In the President’s analysis, it is over $500 billion of surplus in Part A.

Then it goes to Part B. While some have argued that Part B is somehow in deficit and therefore there are no surpluses in Medicare, that isn’t what the reports show. The report states that over the 10-year period there is a rough balance in Part B—not a deficit. It is not any big surplus.

Those who have argued that there is no Medicare Part B surplus have it based on what it is based on. But it is not based on the facts, and it is not based on the law. Some have tried to argue, well, because Part B is funded 25 percent by premiums and 75 percent by general fund revenue, therefore Part B is in deficit. Again, that isn’t what the law says. That isn’t what the actuaries say. That isn’t what Congress has said. Congress made the determination that Part B would be funded 25 percent by premiums, and 75 percent by general fund revenue. We made that determination. It is not in deficit.

If one follows the logic, and one says, well, if Part A is in surplus, Part B is in balance, therefore it just doesn’t matter somehow they are claiming Part B is in deficit because 75 percent of its funding is from the general fund, we can just forget about the Part A surplus, and we can move it, as the President does to this so-called “contingency fund,” what does that do? That moves up the date of insolvency of Medicare by 15 or 16 years. And Medicare will go broke in the year 2009 and 2010 instead of the year 2025.

What kind of a policy is that? What earth does it make to raid the Medicare trust fund and use it for other purposes?

I suggest to my colleagues that it makes no sense. It is precisely what we should not do.

In answer to my amendment, my colleagues on the other side are offering an amendment. This amendment claims to be a lockbox, but the door is wide open. This is what I call the “leaky lockbox” because there is no lock here. There is no box. And it is wide open to abuse and to raid.

There is not a penny that is reserved for Medicare under the President’s budget. That happens to be the reality. He takes the whole $500 billion under his calculation of what is in the surplus and moves it to the so-called “contingency fund” and goes around the country on Air Force One, as he did in my State, and tells people who are concerned about his cutting the agriculture budget to not worry about that; the money is in the contingency fund.

Go to the contingency fund. Boy, are people going to be surprised when they go to the contingency fund and they find that there is nothing there because it is virtually all Medicare trust fund money. There is supposed to be some money there. I don’t know what the source of it is other than maybe he is going to raid the Social Security trust fund, too, because there is no money there.

Add up the President’s budget. I will do it in a minute. There is no money there. We will get a chart that shows those numbers.

Let’s look at what the Republican amendment says. I must credit and give compliment to those who crafted the language on the other side. It is very attractive language.

Here is what it says. They say they have a lockbox for Medicare. But then they have this clause which they call “exception.”

"Paragraph A’’—that is the language that gives protection—"shall not apply to Social Security reform legislation or Medicare reform legislation."

Who can be against reform? I am certainly not. I have been an advocate and have voted for reform—even sometimes unpopular legislative proposals—because of the clear and compelling need for reform.

But when you write language such as this, it is a giant trapdoor because there is no definition of what constitutes reform. You can do anything and call it reform and use the money. That is what is wrong with the amendment on the other side. You can, under the cloak of reform, cut taxes. Under the cloak of reform, you could say with Medicare that we are going to take that money and pay for prescription drug benefits. Some might call that reform. The problem with that is that it is classic double counting. That is exactly how we will get in trouble around here—if we first say money is attributable to the Medicare trust fund for the purposes of keeping the promises already made, and then we take a part of it and use it for new promises.

That is a mistake. That will do nothing but create financial trouble for this country. The trouble it will create is if money is diverted from the Social Security trust fund or the Medicare trust fund—that money which is currently reserved for paying down the publicly held debt because it is not needed until a later point in time—it reduces the amount of money available to pay down the publicly held debt. That means you pay down less debt. That means you have more of a hole to dig out of when the baby boomers start to retire.

I know the occupant of the chair disagrees with this analysis. He and I had a long conversation on the bus the other day.

I think it is undeniable that if you take money that is in the trust funds of Medicare and Social Security and divert that money for any other purpose, you are reducing what is available to pay down publicly held debt. I think it is undeniable. That has real economic consequences.

I want to go to the question of the President’s budget because we have heard over and over that there is this contingency fund. I am unable to locate the contingency fund as I add up the President’s numbers.

First of all, we have the $5.6 trillion projected surplus. He only agrees that is the projection. I think the first thing we should remember is that it is a forecast, and it may or may not come true. In fact, the forecasting agency itself has told us there is a 10-percent chance of paying down the publicly held debt. There is a 45-percent chance it is bigger; there is a 45-percent chance it is smaller.

There is also agreement on what follows. The Social Security trust fund is $2.6 trillion, according to the President’s Office of Management and Budget. The Medicare trust fund is $500 billion. If we set them aside, that leaves
Mr. ALLEN. Mr. President, I rise today in support of the education opportunity tax credit act. It is capped at $1,000 per child per family if they have more than one child. It defrays the cost of education-related expenses for computers and computer-related access in schools and in libraries is a good idea and is very important. Community centers are important.

Last week, the Republican Senate High-Tech Task Force visited an Intel clubhouse. It is working in conjunction with the Boys and Girls Club here in Washington, DC. There are many good ideas in these community centers, but we need to make sure there are computers and software programs and educational programs at home because homework is done at home and on weekends.

This is what the education opportunity tax credit does. It provides families with a $1,000-per-child education opportunity tax credit. It is capped at $1,000 per year per child, and capped at $2,000 per year per family if they have more than one child. It defrays the cost of education-related expenses for computers and computer-related access in schools and in libraries. Educational software, Internet access, and tutoring services could be expenditures that would thereby get the tax credit. It does not apply to private school tuition. And as introduced, it is refundable.

This is a family-oriented education tax incentive that will have a very real impact on the ability of parents to better afford education-related services and technology resources.

This is the current situation of a family with an income of $38,900. That is the median family income in the United States.

After a family pays all the money in taxes to the Federal Government, the State Government, the local government, and after they pay for their housing, their clothing, their food, their medical care, and their transportation—these are all absolutely essential for the survival of the family—the real disposable income gets down to about $2,100.

Now, educational expenses normally are going to be school supplies and a variety of other items that are important, but you realize, with that amount of money, if you bought a computer, purchased a used printer, software, and Internet access, that totals over $2,400. So the amount that would be added to credit card debt would be $2,401 a year.

The reality is, once you pay your taxes to all levels of government, once you pay for food and clothing and housing and putting gas in the car, and a car payment, and all the rest, the average family of four left a month for everything else. And the average cost of a computer is going to be about 70 percent of that.

You can have the statistics, but real people in the real world, folks such as Mr. Allen, support this proposal because it would help them afford specialized software for their daughter Morgan, who has dyslexia, without sacrificing the education needs of their other daughter, Meghan, who is age 10.

You do not have to go outside the beltway to find these working folks. In fact, right here in the Capitol you will find people who are working who recognize the value of this. In fact, Milton Salvadore, who I ran into in the Senate restaurant a few weeks ago, is such a working family man—he works, his wife works, and they have young children—I asked him: Do you all have a computer for your young school-aged children? He said: No. No.

I said: Why not?

He said: Look, we have all these bills, and so forth. My wife and I are working hard, but we do not have enough money for that. We do not want to go into debt to get a computer and Internet access for our children. He said it would help him and his hard-working wife afford a computer for his family, if this education opportunity tax credit were in effect.

The tax impact on the average family of three with an adjusted gross income of approximately $39,000 a year, if they took the full $1,000 tax credit for their children’s education expenses, that would save nearly 34 percent on their yearly Federal tax bill. A family of four with an income of $39,000 taking the full $2,000-per-family tax credit would realize a savings of 55 percent on their taxes owed for the year.

If we are going to seriously address the digital divide—and the digital divide is a divide in opportunities—we must act to provide families and children with the financial means to take advantage of education opportunity tax credits.
advantage of education opportunities. Closing the digital divide is important. The education opportunity tax credit provides the financial resources to achieve this goal by making the tax credit fully refundable so that lower income families who owe the Government less money than the amount of tax available—say they owe $700—or if they have no tax liability at all, would get the full credit. Everyone would be able to take full advantage of this opportunity.

The digital divide is a function of many factors, including geography and educational levels of parents. Hence, the most salient and determinative factor is family income. According to numbers released in October of 2000 by the U.S. Department of Commerce—these figures are borne out by studies by Virginia Commonwealth University—we find that of the 92 percent of people who are computer owners, 29 percent have Internet access. So these figures show that regard to Virginia. If we look at households with less than $15,000 in annual income, 12.7 percent of them have Internet access, which is pretty much equal to computer ownership. Families falling with-in the $15,000 to $24,000 a year range have a 21-percent rate of Internet access. Families with incomes of $75,000 per year or more have about a 77-percent Internet access rate.

These numbers show how this bill will help all people, but that the main value will be to those of middle income and lower middle income who will be able to purchase computers, Internet access, and educational computer software for their children. This is more than just a purely personalized education tax and parental involvement technology issue. This is about—the digital divide and making sure people are getting a good education and access to technology so they are literate and capable. It is vital to the future of the United States in a global economy. It is important for our domestic economy, and it is obviously important for individual families.

In maintaining our economic growth, the Department of Commerce estimates that information technology industries accounted for 30 percent of the country’s total real economic growth between 1995 and 1999. Between just 1997 and 1999, there were over 1.2 million $15,000 to $24,000 per year range have a 21-percent rate of Internet access. Families with incomes of $75,000 per year or more have about a 77-percent Internet access rate.

These numbers show how this bill will help all people, but that the main value will be to those of middle income and lower middle income who will be able to purchase computers, Internet access, and educational computer software for their children. This is more than just a purely personalized education tax and parental involvement technology issue. This is about—the digital divide and making sure people are getting a good education and access to technology so they are literate and capable. It is vital to the future of the United States in a global economy. It is important for our domestic economy, and it is obviously important for individual families.

In maintaining our economic growth, the Department of Commerce estimates that information technology industries accounted for 30 percent of the country’s total real economic growth between 1995 and 1999. Between just 1997 and 1999, there were over 1.2 million $15,000 to $24,000 per year range have a 21-percent rate of Internet access. Families with incomes of $75,000 per year or more have about a 77-percent Internet access rate.

These numbers show how this bill will help all people, but that the main value will be to those of middle income and lower middle income who will be able to purchase computers, Internet access, and educational computer software for their children. This is more than just a purely personalized education tax and parental involvement technology issue. This is about—the digital divide and making sure people are getting a good education and access to technology so they are literate and capable. It is vital to the future of the United States in a global economy. It is important for our domestic economy, and it is obviously important for individual families.

In maintaining our economic growth, the Department of Commerce estimates that information technology industries accounted for 30 percent of the country’s total real economic growth between 1995 and 1999. Between just 1997 and 1999, there were over 1.2 million $15,000 to $24,000 per year range have a 21-percent rate of Internet access. Families with incomes of $75,000 per year or more have about a 77-percent Internet access rate.

These numbers show how this bill will help all people, but that the main value will be to those of middle income and lower middle income who will be able to purchase computers, Internet access, and educational computer software for their children. This is more than just a purely personalized education tax and parental involvement technology issue. This is about—the digital divide and making sure people are getting a good education and access to technology so they are literate and capable. It is vital to the future of the United States in a global economy. It is important for our domestic economy, and it is obviously important for individual families.

In maintaining our economic growth, the Department of Commerce estimates that information technology industries accounted for 30 percent of the country’s total real economic growth between 1995 and 1999. Between just 1997 and 1999, there were over 1.2 million $15,000 to $24,000 per year range have a 21-percent rate of Internet access. Families with incomes of $75,000 per year or more have about a 77-percent Internet access rate.

These numbers show how this bill will help all people, but that the main value will be to those of middle income and lower middle income who will be able to purchase computers, Internet access, and educational computer software for their children. This is more than just a purely personalized education tax and parental involvement technology issue. This is about—the digital divide and making sure people are getting a good education and access to technology so they are literate and capable. It is vital to the future of the United States in a global economy. It is important for our domestic economy, and it is obviously important for individual families.

In maintaining our economic growth, the Department of Commerce estimates that information technology industries accounted for 30 percent of the country’s total real economic growth between 1995 and 1999. Between just 1997 and 1999, there were over 1.2 million $15,000 to $24,000 per year range have a 21-percent rate of Internet access. Families with incomes of $75,000 per year or more have about a 77-percent Internet access rate.

These numbers show how this bill will help all people, but that the main value will be to those of middle income and lower middle income who will be able to purchase computers, Internet access, and educational computer software for their children. This is more than just a purely personalized education tax and parental involvement technology issue. This is about—the digital divide and making sure people are getting a good education and access to technology so they are literate and capable. It is vital to the future of the United States in a global economy. It is important for our domestic economy, and it is obviously important for individual families.

In maintaining our economic growth, the Department of Commerce estimates that information technology industries accounted for 30 percent of the country’s total real economic growth between 1995 and 1999. Between just 1997 and 1999, there were over 1.2 million $15,000 to $24,000 per year range have a 21-percent rate of Internet access. Families with incomes of $75,000 per year or more have about a 77-percent Internet access rate.

These numbers show how this bill will help all people, but that the main value will be to those of middle income and lower middle income who will be able to purchase computers, Internet access, and educational computer software for their children. This is more than just a purely personalized education tax and parental involvement technology issue. This is about—the digital divide and making sure people are getting a good education and access to technology so they are literate and capable. It is vital to the future of the United States in a global economy. It is important for our domestic economy, and it is obviously important for individual families.
Kennedy amendment No. 38, to allow for reasonable medical expenses.

Kennedy amendment No. 39, to remove the dollar limitation on retirement savings protected in bankruptcy.

Collins amendment No. 16, to provide family fishermen with the same kind of protections provided to family farmers under chapter 12 of the bankruptcy code.

Leahy amendment No. 41, to protect the identity of minor children in bankruptcy proceedings.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senator from South Carolina, Mr. HOLLINGS, is recognized for not to exceed 20 minutes to speak on the lockbox issue.

Mr. HOLLINGS. Mr. President, I had a lockbox amendment at the desk, but I am not calling it up at this time. In the limited time granted me, I want to support the Conrad amendment, which will be introduced later, having to do with procedure. I didn't want to bring about any confusion because I think the Conrad amendment is a sound one. I know that the particular amendment I have at the desk was designed by the Administrator of Social Security. It is a true lockbox.

But we have a more serious problem here. There isn't any question that with the Concord Coalition coming out yesterday afternoon with a joint statement by Warren Rudman, Sam Nunn, Peter Peterson, Robert Rubin, and Paul Volcker, we are just about ready to break the discipline with respect to paying down the debt. They strongly point out the reasons we should continue the discipline.

I ask unanimous consent that their particular summary be printed in the RECORD at this point.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

Washington.—Congress and the Bush administration face the critical challenge this year of adopting a framework for using near-term budget surpluses to help fill the huge long-term gaps in federal entitlement programs, household savings, and to best fund the urgent long-term need to fund our seniors' retirement and medical savings security. Budget proposals should be assessed in that context.

As public debt is reduced to the low levels possible, other policies such as retirement savings accounts also play an important role. Household savings are nowhere near adequate to prepare for ever-lengthening retirements.

We recommend that as Congress and the Bush administration decide how best to deploy budget surpluses, they be guided by the following framework:

- Ensure the continued economic benefits of a stable fiscal policy by maintaining discipline and avoiding both a spending spree and large escalating tax cuts.
- It is exceedingly unwise to lock in a large 10-year tax cut based on unreliable long-term budget projections.
- An immediate moderate tax cut is justified and reasonable as a surplus dividend, given last year's surplus and in light of near-term economic and budgetary prospects.
- However, a back loaded 10-year tax cut is not the right tool to provide short-term economic stimulus at the expense of the urgent long-term need to fund our senior entitlements and retirement savings needs.
- Realize the full opportunity for paying down the public debt to the low levels possible.
- Establish a new set of firm, but realistic discretionary spending caps.
- Consider establishing a system of mandatory, individually owned retirement accounts to help families build a more ample nest egg, while addressing concerns that future budget surpluses will result in either higher spending or in a large build up of government-owned private sector financial assets.

Mr. HOLLINGS. The only objection I have to it—and I commend them for their leadership—is they say an immediate moderate tax cut is justified. You see, therein is the difference with this particular Senator and the “wag.” Surpluses, surpluses, surpluses—everywhere men cry surpluses. But there is no surplus. Mind you me, I have been elected seven times to the Senate, and to paraphrase our wonderful leader, President Richard Nixon, I am not a nut. I believe in tax cuts, too—if you have some taxes to cut. So let's see where the taxes are to cut. They say the so-called surpluses belong to the people, but I find nothing but indebtedness belonging to the people.

For example, we have gone, in the past 20 years, from a creditor nation to the largest debtor nation in history—some $2 trillion. We actually have a current account deficit of $439 billion, or more, and going up. There is a deficit in the balance of trade up, up, and away, where we used to have a plus balance of trade. With respect to surpluses, actually, we owe Social Security some $1.164 trillion Medicare accounts are $236 billion in the red. Military retirement is $156 billion in the red. Civilian retirement is $544 billion in the red. Unemployment compensation is $92 billion in the red.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that this table of Congressional Budget Office figures be printed in the RECORD at this particular point.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

T R U S T F U N D S L O O T E D T O B A L A N C E B U D G E T

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Fiscal Year, in billions</th>
<th>2000</th>
<th>2001</th>
<th>2002</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Social Security</td>
<td>1,007</td>
<td>1,164</td>
<td>1,336</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Medicare</td>
<td>169</td>
<td>198</td>
<td>234</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SSI</td>
<td>45</td>
<td>40</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Military Retirement</td>
<td>149</td>
<td>156</td>
<td>164</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Civilian Retirement</td>
<td>512</td>
<td>544</td>
<td>575</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unemployment</td>
<td>80</td>
<td>95</td>
<td>98</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Highway</td>
<td>31</td>
<td>31</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Airport</td>
<td>23</td>
<td>23</td>
<td>23</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Railroad Retirement</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>74</td>
<td>77</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>2,109</td>
<td>2,340</td>
<td>2,597</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Mr. HOLLINGS. This shows the total sum of all trust funds—not just Social Security, but all the trust funds—including black lung, nuclear and otherwise. So the total amount that we now owe in Government accounts—since they want to split it—is $2.3 trillion.

Let me go right to that particular point: $2.3 trillion, as compared to the $3.4 trillion they call public debt. You see, that is where Mr. Greenspan and others start the monkey business of dividing the debt that belongs to us all. We are the Government, and the public debt and the Government debt, or the intergovernmental accounts, are all our indebtedness. It is $5.7 trillion. Now that Government debt has not gone down. We ended the last fiscal year $23 billion in debt. The national debt went up some $23 billion.

I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the RECORD page 20 of the Treasurer's report showing the difference in how it increased.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:
Mr. HOLLINGS. Mr. President, we not only ended the fiscal year with a $29 billion deficit, but look at the debt to the penny, which I printed just a half hour ago from the U.S. Treasury Web site, and you will see that we continue to run deficits. U.S. Treasury Secretary O'Neill, when I had him at the hearing, said, "That is your paper. Senator, that is your paper. Secretary O'Neill." The public debt numbers found on-line show that the debt has increased from $5.674 trillion at the end of September last year—at the beginning of this fiscal year, 2001—to $5.747 trillion. So the debt has gone up $73 billion.

Let me emphasize the split in the debt. The Treasury Secretary says who owes the public debt. He has the public debt held by the public, and he has another listing of intergovernmental holdings. In January, for the years preceding—Mr. President, that used to be Government debt. Now they are trying to change the phraseology so you are misled—intergovernmental holdings. That is an indebtendedness. The public debt has gone up $21 billion. Did you hear that? Mr. Greenspan, Chair of the Federal Reserve, is running around saying, "My problem is we are going to pay down too much debt," when it has gone up in the beginning of the fiscal year some $21 billion. It is $3.4 trillion, going down $21 billion. Go down $100 billion, go down $200 billion, go down $300 billion, $400 billion, and you still

---

TABLE 6.—MEANS OF FINANCING THE DEFICIT OR DISPOSAL OF SURPLUS BY THE U.S. GOVERNMENT, SEPTEMBER 2000 AND OTHER PERIODS

(In millions of dollars)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Assets and liabilities directly related to budget off-budget activity</th>
<th>Net transactions</th>
<th>Account balances current fiscal year</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>This month</td>
<td>Fiscal year to date</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Borrowing from the public: Public debt securities, issued under general financing authorities:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Obligations of the United States, issued by:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>United States Treasury</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Federal Financing Bank</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total, public debt securities</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Plus premium on public debt securities</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Less premium on public debt securities</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total public debt securities net of Premium and discount</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Agency securities, issued under special financing authorities (see Schedule B, for other Agency Borrowing, see Schedule C)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total federal securities</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Deduct:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Federal securities held as investments of government accounts (see Schedule D)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Less discount on federal securities held as investments of government accounts</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Net federal securities held as investments of government accounts</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total borrowing from the public</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Accrued interest payable to the public</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Allocations of special drawing rights</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Deposit funds</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miscellaneous liability accounts (includes checks outstanding etc.)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total liability accounts</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Asset accounts (deduct)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cash and monetary assets:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>U.S. Treasury operating cash</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Federal Reserve account</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tax and loan note accounts</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Balance</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Special drawing rights:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total holdings</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SDI certificates issued to Federal Reserve Banks</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Balance</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reserve position on the U.S. quota in the IMF:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>U.S. subscription to International Monetary Fund</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Direct quota payments</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maintenance of value adjustments</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Letter of credit issued to IMF</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dollar deposits with the IMF</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Receivable/Payable (−) for interim maintenance of value adjustments</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Balance</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Loans to International Monetary Fund:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Other cash and monetary assets</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total cash and monetary assets</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Net Activity, Guaranteed Loan Financing</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Net Activity, Guaranteed Loan Financing</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miscellaneous asset accounts</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total asset accounts</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Excess of liabilities (+) or assets (−)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Transactions not applied to current year’s surplus or deficit (see Schedule a for Details)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
I ask unanimous consent that these documents be printed in the RECORD at this point.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

THE DEBT TO THE PENNY

[Updated March 12, 2001]

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>$5,747,792,825,182.88</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

WHO HOLDS THE DEBT?

[Beginning 1/31/2001 (debt held by the public vs. intragovernmental holdings) historical debt prior to January 31, 2001]

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Current:</th>
<th>$3,426,528,227,885.96</th>
<th>$2,321,264,597,296.92</th>
<th>$5,747,792,825,182.88</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>03/09/2001</td>
<td>$3,426,528,227,885.96</td>
<td>$2,321,264,597,296.92</td>
<td>$5,747,792,825,182.88</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

WHO HOLDS THE DEBT?

[Thru 1/31/2001 (debt held by the public vs. intragovernmental holdings) historical debt beginning with January 1, 2001]

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Current:</th>
<th>$3,388,015,685,297.58</th>
<th>$2,328,654,801,703.38</th>
<th>$5,716,670,507,000.96</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>03/01/2001</td>
<td>$3,388,015,685,297.58</td>
<td>$2,328,654,801,703.38</td>
<td>$5,716,670,507,000.96</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Mr. HOLLINGS. Mr. President, what is happening? Well, we got on course. Reaganomics II. We know what Reaganomics I did. I notice my friend, the distinguished Senator from Pennsylvania, Mr. SPECTER, called it in the interviews over the weekend Kemp-Roth. He didn’t want to hurt President Reagan’s feelings. I don’t either, but President Reagan adopted this idea of “starve the beast.” All we have to do is cut the revenues. The money goes to the people, and the people know how best to spend their money, and we will have prosperity galore.

What happened? Well, President Lyndon Johnson last balanced the budget. During 200 years of history, in the course of all the wars, we had accumulated less than a trillion dollars in debt.

But when President Reagan came in with Reaganomics, that less than a trillion dollars in debt went up to $4 trillion and is now up to $6.5 trillion. What happens? I speak now to my colleagues because this is the greatest waste. I served on the Grace Commission to abolish waste, fraud, and abuse. The greatest waste ever proposed or propounded in the history of Government is the interest costs, the carrying charges on the national debt.

When President Johnson balanced the budget and for the 200 years of history, the interest cost on the debt was only $16 billion. Now it has gone up to $365 billion and is projected by CBO to go to $371 billion. The first thing the Government did this morning at 8 o’clock was go down to the bank, borrow $1 billion and add it to the debt. Tomorrow we are going to do the same thing. On Saturday do you think the banks are closed? No. We are going to borrow another $1 billion on Saturday, and on Sunday and on Christmas Day. Each and every day, we are going to borrow $1 billion for nothing—$365 billion.

The distinguished President Bush could buy all sorts of things with this money. We could get an energy policy, a forestry policy, a research policy. We could buy all sorts of things with this money. People ought to sober up on that particular point.

The distinguished President Bush is insisting on a tax cut that were no clothes. He is running all around the country. Talk of a tax cut started back in September and October, when he was ascending in the polls. Then the market started to decline. In November, the distinguished Mr. CHENEY said it looked like a recession. They insisted on the tax cut in December, January, and February. Can you imagine the President having to go out and sell a tax cut?

People ought to sober up on that particular point. Do you have to sell a tax cut? What is the market saying? The market is saying: Look, with all this indebtedness, awash in debt, a devalued dollar, they are not going to, by gosh, buy our instruments, our bonds, they are not going to continue to finance our instruments, they are not going to continue to finance the interest rates. That is exactly what happened in Reaganomics I, and we have Reaganomics II on course.

There is no education in the second kick of a mule. We should all like the Concord Coalition: Pay down the debt; enforce the discipline; quit running around bribing, if you please, the people with their own money.

It is a sodid trick. We ought to be ashamed of ourselves. Responsible Congressmen and Senators ought to tell the truth. We have gone bilingual when it comes to the budget. The second language is truth. We are running around here saying surplus, surplus, surplus everywhere, and there is no surplus. Even the President says there is no surplus.

I hold in my hand President Bush’s document that he just submitted. On page 201, you can see the debt this year, $5.687 trillion. He projects that the national debt will go to $7.159 trillion—not a surplus. This is President Bush. Why don’t they ask him: Mr.
President, you say "surplus," but your own budget shows the debt increasing.

Mr. HOLLINGS. Mr. President, there is. We have been engaged in the most sordid activity one can possibly imagine with these 10-year budgets. I remember when I was chairman of the Budget Committee in 1979 and 1980, we had a 1-year budget. The country sustained, survived, succeeded 200 years of history on 1-year budgets. If you were a Governor of a State and you submitted a 10-year budget, Moody's and Standard & Poor's would immediately lift your credit rating. But wait a minute, the best campaign finance trick is to use the Government’s budget to get ourselves reelected, running around and promoting visions of sugarplums dancing in their heads: Give the money back; the people know how to spend their money.

Of course, every morning we are borrowing $1 billion, and they say give it back to the people, but we are increasing the debt and increasing the waste. We run our budget with these 10-year budgets, and we ought to go back to 1-year budgets. Let’s take the budget we passed in December, a few months ago, and debate all the cuts and vote on them.

With respect to the increase, we should have the pay-go rule. You have to have an offset and withhold, not abolish. If President Bush and this Government has a surplus by the end of this fiscal year, I will vote for President George W. Bush’s tax cut. I will vote for it—if I have to say that publicly—if we have a surplus. But as long as we continue to increase the debt, let’s hold up and find out.

As much as I hate to, I think we might have to go with a capital gains tax cut, instead of an across-the-board tax cut, to really get the market going. An across-the-board cut is not going to infuse consumer confidence.

If the President came back here today—that is our problem. These Presidents continue to run for office, they continue to work at keeping the job rather than doing the job. If he would only come back and tend to the real problems of the country and quit running all over the place trying to sell a tax cut, I think the market would start back up. It is not lack of consumer confidence in the economy, it is citizens’ lack of confidence in their Government. When they see us play this sordid game of 10-year budgets, calling deficits and debt surpluses and sending the money back with a childish cause that people are going out and spending their money best and that kind of nonsense, that is what is happening to the stock market. They can see we are going to an inflated economy, the results we had from Reaganomics I. We are going to have Reaganomics II, and we are going to really be in economic trouble.

The ox is in the ditch. We have everyone running around talking about surpluses and 10-year budgets where everybody is right and everybody is wrong. If we can just hold the line and start back to the 8-year budget by paying down the debt and fiscal discipline, then the people will begin to appreciate this Congress at the market level.

Right now, we ought to be ashamed of ourselves with this sordid game of again and again calling deficits and debt surpluses in order to buy the people’s vote. That is all we are doing. We will, with April 15, have a large influx of revenues, and some debt will be paid down, but they will never get to paying down $3.4 trillion in the President’s time and in my time.

Do not worry about paying down the public debt. Let us worry about the increase of the overall national debt and go back to the Concord Coalition’s recommendation of fiscal discipline. I yield the floor and suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to order the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. CRAPO). Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, we are now proceeding on our debate and discussion on the bankruptcy bill that is pending. I do hope those who have amendments and want to make statements on them will come down and take advantage of this time. It is an opportunity to discuss the important questions that are before us.

As I have noted before, bankruptcy reform is, in fact, a second look at the 1978 bankruptcy law. That law reformed the way bankruptcy courts deal with debt in America. We have had experience now for over 20 years with that reform. We have seen how the law has been manipulated and abused, and it is perfectly appropriate for us to try to create a system that is honest and fair, eliminates abuses, and helps us make sure that what happens in bankruptcy is both rational and defensible and furthers good public policy.

That is what we are about. It is not legislation to fix all problems dealing with credit in America. It is what happens when a person files in bankruptcy. As the Members of this body know, we have a provision in this legislation that says that if you make above median income in America, and a judge finds you are capable of paying back as much as 25 percent of your debts, and he calculates the current income and what your debts are, if he determines that is possible, instead of wiping out all your debts, you may be moved from chapter 7—in which debt is wiped out in bankruptcy—to chapter 13, in which you would pay back, over a number of years, the debts you owe.

It is my view, and I think the view of a majority of Americans, that bankruptcy is a good thing. But if you can pay back your debts, you ought to pay them that we ought not say a person with those debts, perfectly capable of paying back a substantial portion of his debts, can just not pay them. In fact, some of these people, over a period of 3 to 5 years, can pay back all of their debts, we have learned.

That is the change. I think well over half of the people who file bankruptcy, maybe three-fourths, maybe even more, will be below median income, so they will not be affected by this means testing of bankruptcy. It is just those above median income based on family size and other criteria.

I believe we are doing the right thing. I believe it is the right approach, it is fair and just, and we ought to move in that direction.

We have also improved the system by eliminating quite a number of abuses by good lawyers. Some people put them down, but I cannot blame a lawyer for advising his client there is an opportunity to not pay something if they do not have to under the current bankruptcy law. They have learned how to advise clients to take advantage of the current law. It is up to us now to fix that.

One of the aspects in the bill that I think is of great value is an amendment I offered to encourage credit counseling. A lot of people do not understand credit counseling. I, frankly, did not fully understand it until I spent virtually a day with a good credit counseling agency in Mobile, AL. They are off the main thoroughfare. They had a nice area. People came there to deal with their debts.

What they do is negotiate with the creditors of the people who come in to see them; and, they will get them to reduce their interest rates, get them to stretch out their payments, and they will help that family develop a budget by which they can pay off their existing debts. Not only do they get them on a budget, but they save marriages. That is because one of the highest causes of marital breakup is financial discord. They save your children, your wife, husband—and go over their income. They go over their expenditures, what they can reduce in their budget expenditures: Do they really need this cell phone? Do they really need the higher level cable TV? They knock it down.

Then they get the creditors to see this family is in trouble. If you reduce your interest rate so that payment to the credit card company is reduced, the payment to the furniture store is reduced, the payment to the brother-in-law is reduced, maybe the deficiency on rent is reduced—they work out a budget so the family can work themselves out of it.

The beauty of this is that for the first time, many of these families learn how to manage money. Too often they have not been taught that in America today. I think it is a very good thing. Some people have seen the complaint that our amendment says before you go to bankruptcy, you should go to a credit counseling agency and at least discuss with them the possibility that you could work out a debt repayment plan and come out better doing it that way rather than going straight into bankruptcy without that option.

What is happening is there are lawyer mills in the country. You turn on your television; you look at your little flier at the corner market that shows what you buy and sell, automobiles, furniture and things, and you see advertisements by these lawyers about how to wipe out your debts and avoid paying what you owe.

People respond. When they go down to the lawyer’s office, essentially the lawyer tells them—there is no mystery about this; I don’t think I am misting anyone to entitle people to bankruptcy. I believe you can wipe out these debts. It is now January 1, so you will need to pay me $1,000. What I want you to do is live off your credit card and all, but do not pay any of your other debts. Save up until you get the $1,000 and pay me, and I will file the bankruptcy. Then you can wipe out all your debts.

That is what they do, and they make money off of that. I know an instance where one of these lawyers does at least 1,000 of those cases a year. That is $1 million in income in chapter 7, chapter 13, routine filings. He doesn’t even meet his clients. Basically his parasitic legals do pretty much that is what goes on in America.

For people who need that, that is fine. For people who are not able, hopelessly in debt for various reasons, that is fine. But if they can pay their way out of it, I think somebody ought to be concerned about helping them figure a way to do so. They will feel better about paying their debt.

We don’t need a legal system in America that suggests paying your debt isn’t important. What does that do for us on a moral basis—that we have a legal bankruptcy system that suggests you have no responsibility to pay your debt? If you can pay those debts? I don’t think that is good public policy.

I suggest at least there be an opportunity for every bankrupt to consider counseling. That would be good for every community in America. If they are not there, the bankruptcy judge can certify that and the person doesn’t have to go to credit counseling. But if there is a credit counseling agency, this bill would say to a bankrupt who is thinking about bankruptcy to go to them and talk to them. It is fundamentally an interview. They do not have to fill out forms or do anything at the credit counseling agency. They just very briefly talk that same point then there and they have considered that option because it is not being provided to them in the lawyer’s office. Trust me, I believe for a certain number they are going to conclude that credit counseling is something they have never considered before—is better for them than going into bankruptcy. And the family will be better for it, and the legal system will be better for it.

That is what we are about today. Many people are in debt for many different reasons. Some say: Well, it is credit card debt.

Some college students are filing, but their numbers are not exceedingly high. The reason they are primarily filing bankruptcy and the reason many of them are deeply in debt is paying for their tuition and fees—not on their credit card. It is their loan payment which has put them in debt. And the family will be better for it, and the legal system will be better for it.

We know hospital bills are a big factor in tipping people into bankruptcy. That is a legitimate reason. We know many people are in bankruptcy because they have a compulsion to spend; one or more family members just cannot discipline themselves. I do not know if it is an illness or what it is, but they cannot discipline themselves and are unable to work their way out of it. The financial events they and other family members are able to do. Other family members every day in America are sitting down and deciding when they can buy a new suit of clothes, or whether or not they can take a vacation this year, or buy a car. What are they asking themselves? How can we pay the money we owe and buy something new? Maybe we can’t afford to do both this year. Maybe we need to pay down our debt.

We don’t want to create a system that makes the honest, disciplined, frugal family look like a chump or look like a — like they are silly by working hard to pay off unexpected debt and rewarding those who do not make the effort.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE

This is a fundamental question to me. This bill provides all the protections for median income and below that the previous legislation, and it provides other benefits also. It places women and children at the highest possible level of protection. They get the first money out of a bankruptcy estate today under the new legislation instead of being seventh or eighth in line. A bankruptcy bill gets paid from what is left in the bankruptcy.

It provides priority to pay alimony and child support in a way that we have never done before. It provides many other good provisions that help our country socially and economically do the right thing.

We are excited about that possibility. Just because you move from chapter 7 to chapter 13, if you are above median income and above 5 years they can pay them. There is no change for the poor. There is no change in the bill for the 75 or 80 percent of the people who file bankruptcy who already make below median income. They are self-selecting the person who is making above median income by asking them to pay for it; if a credit card company has loaned money, or a bank has loaned money to somebody to go out and buy a house, a buy a car, buy things for the family, they are oppressing them by giving them the money and asking them to pay it back when the time comes to pay your debts back. Most Americans pay their debts. I think credit cards are great. We have had some complaints in this body—and rightly so—that banks and credit companies are not fairly making credit available to poor people. We have a bill called redlining that prohibits banks from opposing and refusing to allow people with marginal incomes to borrow money because they might think it is risky.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator’s time has expired. Under the previous order, 5 minutes was reserved for Senator STEIN to begin at 11 o’clock.

Mr. SESSIONS. I see Senator FEINSTEIN is here. I will be glad to conclude. Fundamentally, this bill is unfair. I would be willing to look at any particular part of it. It has been pounced on for 4 years now. Every jot and tittle of it has been looked at. We have tried to make sure it is fair in every way. But we do say you ought to seek credit counseling. Maybe there is an alternative. We say, if you make above the median income, you can pay back some of your debts. But if your debts are so big, even if you make above median income, you do not have to pay them; you can wipe them out, and that is OK. And remember the great protection of bankruptcy for people in debt is they cannot be subject to harassing phone calls and letters, demands for payment and lawsuits.

When you file bankruptcy, all lawsuits and demands for payment have to stop, whether you are in chapter 7 or chapter 13. A family can put their lives in order under the bankruptcy laws now and in this new bill in the same way that will allow them to have some stability in their lives, to bring a conclusion to their credit difficulties, to not be fighting lawsuits and credit demands that disrupt their lives. I thank the Chair and yield the floor.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from California.

AMENDMENT NO. 27, AS MODIFIED

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, the amendment on the bankruptcy bill that I have proposed is a very straightforward amendment. It simply says credit card companies that issue credit cards to minors must limit that debt to $2,500 a credit card, unless the minor demonstrates the means to pay back the debt, or a parent cosigns for the debt.

In addition, the amendment would entitle parents who cosign on their child’s credit card the opportunity to be protected before the debt limit on the card is increased.

The amendment is basically a compromise. I amended the amendment to place a cap of $2,500 a card rather than $2,500 on all cards a minor might have. That is a pretty simple one. Student credit card debt has increased 46 percent over the last 2 years alone. Bankruptcy filings among youth have increased sevenfold since 1996. The problem is, there is no limit on the credit card debt a youngster can accumulate. This amendment would end that problem, give parents the responsibility of choosing to cosign for their youngster if they want more than a $2,500 cap, unless the youngster could demonstrate that they had the source of income to support the debt.

So essentially what this amendment does is provide a credit card limit of debt of $2,500 a card for a youngster who is under the age of 21.

I thank the Chair and yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Who yields time in opposition?

If no one yields time, time will be charged equally to each side.

Approximately 2 minutes remain in opposition to the Feinstein amendment.

AMENDMENT NO. 39

Mr. SESSIONS. I will confine my remarks to the other amendment we will be voting on, unless someone else chooses to respond to the Feinstein amendment.

At 11 o’clock, we will also be voting on the Kennedy amendment that attempts to remove the cap of $1 million on how much a bankrupt can protect in their IRA accounts. The Senator KENNEDY steadfastly opposed the homestead law under the current bill and I agreed. We made substantial progress in containing the abuse of homestead that is unlimited in few States. Right now, if you pour millions of dollars into a home, you can protect that home, you can file bankruptcy, and not pay your debts, and keep the $2 million home. To me, that is not right, so I have supported that change. And we could not get as far as we wanted because a number of States have provisions in their constitutions that protect homesteads. We made a number of steps to curtail that abuse but we did not go as far as I wished we could have gone.

This is a very similar situation. Why should you not pay individual debtors—why should you not pay your hospital debt and other debts and be able to file bankruptcy and have $2 million in your estate? Can’t a pension live on $1 million at a 6-percent return a year? That is $60,000 a year the rest of your life without touching the principal.

So I think this is an abuse by rich people, really, to protect over $1 million in savings.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. All time has expired on the Feinstein amendment.

Does the Senator wish to continue under the 2½ minutes in opposition to the—

Mr. SESSIONS. I think Senator Kennedy is here. He would wish to speak on his amendment. I yield the floor.

Mr. KENNEDY addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Massachusetts.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, for the first time in the history of bankruptcy, we will put at risk the retirement futures of workers. In this instance, we do not have a limitation in terms of the retirement savings under the 401(k) programs. There are virtually no limitations. But there are limitations in terms of the IRAs.

The IRAs are the programs that are most used by working families. They can only contribute $2,000 a year to an IRA. There was no history and no comments in the long testimony we took before the Judiciary Committee that this was being abused, that people were putting money into their IRAs in order to be able to circumvent bankruptcy. They cannot do it in the first place because they can only contribute $2,000 a year. But there are many hundreds of thousands of workers in this country who are putting aside the $2,000 a year and hope to build up a sufficient nest egg that will augment their Social Security so they will be able to live with some dignity. Now we are putting that money at risk.

In many instances, the people who are going into bankruptcy are going into bankruptcy because their health insurance has failed or they do not have health insurance. They go to the hospital for 4 days and they run up these enormous bills. What the current proposal before the Senate is saying is, OK, that is going to be too bad. We are going to suck up the 25 years of payments into retirement programs for working families.

We say, we do not do it for the 401(k) programs, which are the retirement programs for the more wealthy and affluent. We should not do it for the IRAs. Starting now, at $1 million, it will just continue to come down. And we are putting these savings at risk. It does not belong in this bill. I hope my amendment will eliminate it. I think it is the proper way to proceed.

Mr. SESSIONS addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Alabama.

Mr. SESSIONS. I thank Senator Kennedy. I know we worked hard on this bill to gain his support. Basically, the language that is in the bill now has been modified to deal with a number of the concerns he raised.

The Department of Justice, under the Clinton administration, said—

A debtor should not be able to shield abundant resources from creditors, including Federal, State, and local governments, in the form of retirement savings.

What is “abundant resources”? We say, over $1 million. I do not think that is too much to allow somebody to keep when they are not paying their debts.

From the Securities and Exchange Commission:

We have seen insider traders, who do their trading through IRAs, and fraud participants stash their profits in IRAs. The State law exemptions have not defeated our Federal statutory claims to date, but a new Federal exemption—

Which we could be doing here—could do so. I am concerned about the grave potential for abuse that the exemption for all retirement assets from bankruptcy estate poses.

We have asked—and the Senator from Massachusetts and others voted for an amendment I sponsored—to limit homesteads to $100,000 as the amount you could put in your homestead and not pay your debtors. Yet there is an objection for some reason to saying you can’t maintain more than $1 million in your IRA and not pay your debts.

This is a reasonable cap. It will not hurt people. It will allow them to have an income of $60,000 or more per year to live on without even touching their principal under this IRA plan. It will, as the Securities Commission says, avoid the dangers of fraud and just the unfairness of not paying your local businesses, not paying your local hospital, not paying your local neighbors what you owe and living high on the hog with multimillions of dollars, perhaps, stashed in an IRA plan.

That is why we are in disagreement on this bill.

VOTE ON AMENDMENT NO. 27, AS MODIFIED

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, I move to table both the Kennedy and Feinstein amendments. I ask unanimous consent to do that.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. CHAFEE). It is not in order to move to table both amendments at this time. The Senator may move to table the Feinstein amendment.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, I move to table the Feinstein amendment and ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There appears to be a sufficient second.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, is there time remaining on the amendment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There is not time remaining.

The question is on agreeing to the motion to table the Feinstein amendment No. 27, as modified. The yeas and nays have been ordered. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk called the roll.

Mr. FITZGERALD (when his name was called). Present.

Mr. NICKLES. I announce that the Senator from Oklahoma (Mr. INHOFE) would vote “yea.”

Mr. REID. I announce that the Senator from Hawaii (Mr. INOUYE) is necessarily absent.

I further announce that if present and voting, the Senator from Oklahoma (Mr. INHOFE) would vote “yea.”

The result was announced—yeas 55, nays 42, as follows:

[Roll Call Vote No. 20 Leg.]

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>YEAS—55</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Allard</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Allen</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Baucus</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bennett</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Biden</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bond</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brownback</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Burnham</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Campbell</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Carper</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chafee</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cleland</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cochran</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Collins</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Craig</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crapo</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DeWine</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Domenici</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>McConnell</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>—you are reading it naturally.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NAYS—42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Baucus</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bingaman</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boxer</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Breaux</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Byrd</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cantwell</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Carnahan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Clinton</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conrad</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Daschle</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dayton</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dodd</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dorgan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ensign</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Enzi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Frist</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gramm</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grassley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gregg</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hagel</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hatch</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Helms</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hutchinson</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Johnson</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kohl</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kyl</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lott</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lugar</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>McCain</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>McNinch</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NAYES—2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Akaka</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Baucus</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bingaman</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boxer</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Breaux</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Byrd</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cantwell</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Carnahan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Clinton</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conrad</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Daschle</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dayton</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dodd</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Durbin</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Edwards</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Feingold</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Feinstein</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Graham</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Harkin</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hollings</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jeffords</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kennedy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kerry</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Landrieu</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leahy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Levin</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lieberman</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lincoln</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mikulski</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Milbank</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Murray</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nelson (FL)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reed</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reid</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rockefeller</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schumers</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stabenow</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stedman</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wellstone</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wyden</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ANSWERED “PRESENT”—1

Fitzgerald

NOT VOTING—2

Inhofe

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. ENZI). The Chair recognizes the Senator from Alabama.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I move to lay that motion on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

VOTE ON AMENDMENT NO. 39

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, I move to table the Feinstein amendment and ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?
There is a sufficient second. The question is on agreeing to the motion. The clerk will call the roll. The legislative clerk called the roll. Mr. FITZGERALD (when his name was called). Present.

Mr. REID. I announce that the Senator from Hawaii (Mr. INOUYE) is necessarily absent.

The result was announced—yeas 61, nays 37, as follows:

[Roll Call Vote No. 21 Leg.]

YEAS—61

Allard —Dorgan —Nelson (FL)
Allen —Eastman —Nelson (NE)
Bayh —East —Nickles
Bennett —Frist —Reid
Biden —Graham —Roberts
Bingaman —Grassley —Santorum
Brownback —Gregg —Sessions
Bunning —Hagel —Shelby
Burns —Helms —Smith (NH)
Campbell —Hutchinson —Smith (OK)
Carnahan —Inhofe —Snowe
Carper —Johnson —Stabenow
Chafee —Kohl —Thomas
Cleland —Kyl —Thompson
Cochrane —Lott —Thornberry
Conrad —Logan —Torricelli
Craig —McCain —Voinovich
Crapo —McCaulley —Warner
DeWine —Miller —Warren
Domenici —Markowski

NAYS—37

Akaka —Edwards —Lieberman
Baucus —Feingold —Lincoln
Bond —Feinstein —Mikulski
Boxer —Graham —Murray
Breaux —Griffin —Reed
Byrd —Hatch —Rockefeller
Cantwell —Hollings —Sarbanes
Clinton —Jackson —Schumer
Corzine —Kennedy —Specter
Daschle —Kerry —Wellstone
Dayton —Landrieu —Wyden
Dodd — Leahy —Durbin

ANSWERED “PRESENTE”—1

Fitzgerald

NOT VOTING—1

Inouye

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. GRASSLEY. I move to reconsider the vote and move to lay that motion on the table. The motion to lay on the table was agreed to. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question now occurs on amendment No. 41.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will please call the roll. The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

THE ECONOMY AND TAX CUTS

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I seek recognition as in morning business to address the Senate in reference to the state of the economy. I think most of us have read the press reports about what happened to the stock market yesterday. We certainly hope that was an anomaly and that it will not continue and that our economy rebounds quickly from what apparently has gone beyond a soft landing and is now headed toward what appears to be a harder landing.

The news out of my home State of Illinois just this morning. Motorola announced it is cutting 7,000 more jobs in its cellular phone division, increasing to 12,000 the number it will have eliminated in operations since December. These reductions to its global workforce of more than 130,000 will take place over the next two quarters.

We have seen this phenomenon not just at Motorola but at other industries across America. It raises a very important question about our responsibility in Washington to respond to what is clearly an economic challenge, if not more.

I hope we in the Senate, as well as the House, working with the President, can take the current debate over a tax cut and make it a much larger question about economic growth in America. What is our plan? What are we, as a nation, prepared to do to turn around this economy and to start it moving forward again?

We have just come off an extraordinary period of time when the economy of the United States reached record-breaking prosperity numbers, where we had some 22 million jobs created over the last 10 years. Some 2 million more businesses were created over the last 10 years, with more home ownership than any time in our history, with inflation under control, the welfare rolls coming down, and the number of violent crimes committed across America decreasing. All of the positive things we want to see in America occurred during the last 8 or 10 years.

But we seem to have taken a turn in the road. I am sorry to report that these numbers coming out of Motorola, and other companies across America, as well as the Dow Jones index, and other stock indices, suggest to us we need to step back for a second and ask, What is right for this country?

The economic prosperity we knew for so long has now been challenged. The feeling of optimism in America, which really had us in its thrall for such a long period of time, is now changing dramatically. We have seen $5 trillion of economic value that has been wiped out in the last few months because of this economic downturn. When I say $5 trillion wiped out, what am I talking about? I am talking about the pension plans, the 401(k)s, the IRAs, the savings, the mutual funds of families across America have all taken a plunge. My family has experienced this just as every other family.

We know our value, our net worth in terms of what we have saved and what we hope to have for our future, has been diminished. The question, obviously, before us is, What are we going to do in response?

I think the President has focused almost exclusively on one idea, and that idea is a tax cut. The general idea of a tax cut is popular. It is hard to think of two words that a politician can utter that would be more popular. But, clearly, the President is having a tough time closing the deal. To think that a President has to get a nation-wide rally, crusade, campaign, to convince the American people of a tax cut suggests that it may not be as easy as it appears to him.

People across America are skeptical of a tax cut that is based on projections of surpluses that may not occur for 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, or 10 years. They understand this idea of a tax cut was actually part of the President’s campaign platform 2 years ago when America was on a record-breaker prosperity. So the medicine that President Bush is prescribing does not fit the illness that currently affects America.

Frankly, what we need at this point is a tax cut that is reasonable, that will create some stimulus, but is not too large as to really be irresponsible. The President has said $1.6 trillion over 10 years is not that much in a $5.6 trillion surplus. We know frankly, his number is much larger when you add in all the hidden costs. He wants to spend some $2.6 trillion on his tax cut.

It is unfortunate but true that 43 percent of President Bush’s tax cut goes to people making over $300,000 a year. Forty-three percent of the benefits go to people making over $300,000 a year. I believe everyone in America should have a tax cut, but for goodness’ sake, do not shortchange families in middle-income categories and working families to give a bigger tax cut to the wealthiest among us. We have to look at this tax cut in terms of fairness and the fact that it could be an economic stimulus.

Mr. President on the Democratic side, we believe we should have an honest tax cut that we can afford. We should not overextend ourselves in anticipation of surpluses that may not arrive. How can we have day after day of bad news about the state of the economy, and the economists in this town not take that into consideration? If we are having more people laid off, that means fewer people paying their taxes into the Treasury creating surpluses.

So this anticipation by the President of a great surplus, unfortunately, may not occur, as many economists have predicted.
President Bush, as Governor of Texas, faced this situation once before. When he became Governor of Texas, he had a surplus in his Treasury. He declared a tax cut that, unfortunately, was too large and now the State of Texas is back in the deficit ditch, with other States seeing the same thing happening.

Why can’t we learn from this experience on a national level and not overextend this surplus, not overextend this tax cut, to find ourselves returning to the deficit? I think that is the challenge for this Congress.

Equally important, we have to take the tax cut as part of a larger discussion. What is it that we can do responsibly now to create economic growth again in America? To ignore what is happening with the layoffs and the situation in the stock market and the loss of savings by American families is to ignore reality.

To take the President’s tax cut that will last for 5 years, that is no stimulus to the current economy.

It is time we looked at things that can make a difference.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, will the Senator yield a question?

Mr. DURBIN. I am happy to yield to the Senator from Nevada.

Mr. REID. One of the problems I have had during the past 6 months or so is that we have heard from the man running for President, and now President, always bad news about the economy, always something negative about the economy. There are some economists and others who say that one of the reasons keeping the stock market high is optimism. As we know, the prior administration was very optimistic about the economy. Does the Senator think that the negative talk about the economy for such a long period of time has finally gotten the wish granted?

Mr. DURBIN. I heard the observation made by the Senator from Nevada yesterday along these same lines. I agree with the Senator from Nevada. For the leader of our country to repeatedly say that our economy is in trouble is to, frankly, have a self-fulfilling prophecy. In this situation I am afraid people lose confidence if the leader of our country does not have confidence. Some of the campaign rhetoric should have been abandoned as soon as the President took office. The spirit of optimism and growth is a positive feeling about the future that is very important for American families to feel, so that they can do the right thing by perhaps buying a new home or putting an addition on their home, perhaps buying a car, whatever it might be that makes a difference in terms of economic growth. The Senator from Nevada is right.

Mr. REID. If I could ask one more question, I spoke to the American Legion today. Prior to my going to the rostrum to speak, their national security policy was long on need but short on spending. When I spoke about a number of issues, I said: All of you out there have to understand that we should have a tax cut, but it should be a modest tax cut. I have heard the Senator from Illinois say that. I think we all agree with that. We also have to pay down the debt. If we are going to have additional spending for the military and we want a prescription drug benefit for seniors, if we want to increase spending for education, does the Senator agree we are going to have to save some of that surplus for some of these things that our country badly needs?

Mr. DURBIN. I agree with the Senator from Nevada. What the President has said to America is—he arrived initially to find a good, strong economy and a big bunch of opportunities—let’s eat our desert first. You don’t have to eat your vegetables; eat your dessert first. Let’s have a tax cut and a big one.

A lot of us are saying: Isn’t it better for America to have a sensibly sized tax cut that helps working families and middle-income families and not just the wealthy and one that also pays off our national debt and leaves money aside for important investments in our future? If we are going to have a plan for economic growth in America, the Senator from Nevada will agree with me that education ought to be the first item on the agenda.

The American people, interestingly enough, when you ask them what they would like to have would not say: Give me a tax cut. Their first response is: Do something to help our schools and our teachers.

When you look at these priorities and investments that can mean economic growth for a long period of time, we ought to start with education. As the Senator from Nevada says, if the President has his way, if the tax cut is too large, if it goes to the wealthiest people among us and doesn’t help working families who are a minority, then we have to say that instead of the opportunity to invest in education, to invest in a prescription drug benefit under Medicare, to invest in Social Security and Medicare for the future, the American people understand that. If it sounds too good to be true, as the old saying goes, it probably is. For the President to suggest we can have it all, we can give this tax cut of $2.6 trillion and take care of all of our other problems, really strains the credibility of his position.

Mr. REID. One last question: In the President’s prescription drug plan, a widow living on as little as $15,000 a year would receive no help in paying for drugs until she has already spent $5,000 of her own money. That is, she would have to have already spent more than two-thirds of her income at the pharmacy to qualify for President Bush’s prescription drug plan.

To put it another way: Her deductibility of some important programs in this Bill, this lady living on a fixed income, would be $115 per week, per year.

That is what happens when you take a $2 trillion tax cut and ignore education, ignore prescription drugs. You can have something that is called a prescription drug benefit, but when you look at the details, is it reasonable that someone who is making $15,000 a year—imagine scraping by on that; one who is making $15,000 a year—has to spend down $6,000 each year on their own pharmacy costs before the benefit helps them?

I can tell the Senator from Nevada, who has spoken to a lot of seniors in his part of the world, that sort of approach is no benefit, and it isn’t to most of the people to whom I have spoken in the State of Illinois.

Let me speak for a moment about the national debt. The national debt is an important issue for all Americans. The President says out of the $5.6 trillion surplus, we can only spend down or pay down $2 trillion of the national debt. I disagree. Much more can be spent down and should be. We collect $1 billion in taxes every single day in America. $1 billion from families, businesses, and individuals to pay interest on the old debt. We have a national mortgage of $5.7 trillion. Most of it did not occur until after 1980, when President Reagan and the former President Bush came to office.

Under President Clinton, we started paying down this debt, but it is still a $5.7 trillion national mortgage. If we don’t take this seriously, we are going to find ourselves in a predicament where that is a mortgage we are going to leave our kids. I take no comfort in promising a tax cut to myself or anyone else and then leaving my son, my daughters, or my grandson a national mortgage of $5.7 trillion.

The President likes to say if we have a surplus in Washington, it belongs to the people. Well, I ask the President: To whom does the national debt belong? That belongs to our Nation as well. We have not have a responsibility in good times as surplus to pay off the mortgage before we tell everybody go ahead and eat your dessert, go ahead and declare a dividend?

What the Democratic side is suggesting, as the Senator from Nevada has said, is take a third of any real surplus, not any guess, and give it to people in the form of a tax cut that helps everybody across the board, not just the wealthy; take a third of it and pay down that debt so that mortgage is reduced for our kids. And then take a third and invest in things that will get this country moving again: education, worker training, investments in technology. These are things which have good in the long term for America.

Sadly, this President is stuck on a one-note song: Tax cut, tax cut, tax cut.

The tax cut is not a plan for economic growth. It is not a plan for economic prosperity. The President proposed this tax cut in the campaign after he was challenged by Steve Forbes to come up with a massive tax cut. Well, he came up with one. He is still sticking with that song 2 years later.

America has changed. Our needs have changed. The President’s response is still the same. If he has his wish and this tax cut goes through, we will find ourselves penalizing its benefits 5 years from now, not when we need it. And we will find ourselves short on funds to pay down our national debt.

This is not a popular thing I am preaching here. The most popular thing is to tell people we can give the biggest tax cut in the world and we are all for it. I guess you can get reelected on that platform. But part of our responsibility on Capitol Hill is to speak honestly about these real problems facing our Nation.

The real problems suggest that the President’s tax cut goes too far. It is ironic to me that this President is traveling around the country, going to South Dakota and North Dakota, trying to sell this concept and having a tough go of it, because although Americans like tax cuts, they are genuinely skeptical when the President tells us we can have everything.

The fact is that if we need to use the same fiscal conservatism that finally turned the corner a few years ago and got us out of the deficit world and into the surplus world. When you look at the state of our current economy, we need it now more than ever.

I hope we can find a bipartisan agreement for a tax cut that is sensible. I look forward to it. I think, and I don’t believe that two people, husband and wife, who are public school teachers in the city of Chicago, making about $100,000 a year, are wealthy people at all. I think they are struggling to pay their mortgage, to put kids through school, they put savings aside for the future. These people need to benefit from the tax cut as much as, if not more than, people making over $300,000 a year.

I believe if you have an income of $25,000 a month, the idea of a President Bush tax cut that gives you $4,600 a year in tax cuts is something these people will hardly even notice, if they are making $300,000 a year. But I can tell you that several thousand dollars a year in tax savings on a mortgage of $100,000, or $75,000, or $50,000 a year can make a real difference.

The President’s tax cut, incidentally, leaves 30 million Americans behind—30 million Americans who pay no income tax. This is a President who says they should get a tax cut? These 30 million Americans are paying payroll taxes, my friends. I don’t think the President would like to look them in the eye and say they are not paying taxes. They are paying a lot of taxes. It is coming out of their paychecks.

The President’s tax cut provides no income tax benefit or other tax credit to help those wage earners. So let’s come up with a balanced and fair tax cut, in a way to get the economy moving again. Let’s not get stuck on the old rhetoric of the political campaign of 2 years ago. Let’s have a vision that speaks honestly to the people and puts together investments and things that make a difference.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa is recognized.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, how ironic it is that we hear about the negativity of the President toward the economy. And then, in turn, we hear all of this negative comment about the President. It just doesn’t quite add up.

I can stand here and talk about the Clinton recession we might be in because the manufacturing index turned down in September and has been turning down since. I could talk about the Clinton recession from the standpoint of the confidence index, which started turning down in August. But I don’t think blaming gets much accomplished.

I think we have to look at the future, and the future is that we can pay down the national debt. We have a tax surplus. We can give tax relief to every taxpayer—the working men and women who have made a big difference, the entrepreneurs who have made a big difference over the last 10 years to help us pay down the national debt. We can fund our priorities.

When we use the Congressional Budget Office, a nonpartisan economist, to judge what the future is—and it is a difficult thing to do, but it is no more difficult than the Senator who is trying to look ahead to see what their income is going to be and convince the banker that they ought to get a 30-year mortgage. They put a lot on the line in the future for paying off that mortgage. We put a lot of trust in the future, too, to make a determination of how much income we are going to have coming in over the next 10 years. We determined that is about $26 billion—$29 billion. Out of that, we will have a $5.6 trillion surplus. Out of that $5.6 trillion surplus, we are going to take $3.1 trillion off because of trust funds—Social Security; Save Social Security income just for Social Security; Medicare money just for Medicare. And then we have money for a $1.6 trillion tax cut. Every American who pays income tax will get a tax cut. Every American who is at a $35,000 income—a family of four—will have a 10-percent tax rate reduction. And for a family of four at $50,000 will have a 50-percent tax reduction. Six million people who are now paying taxes won’t pay any taxes after this program is passed.

When we are all done passing this legislation, the wealthy, the higher income people of America, will actually be paying a higher share of the total income tax money coming into the Federal Treasury than before under present law.

Mr. SANTORUM. Will the Senator yield for a question?

Mr. GRASSLEY. Yes, I will.

Mr. SANTORUM. The Senator made a point that I think has to be emphasized because you hear a lot of comments that this is a “tax break for the rich” or this is “benefiting the wealthy.” But the Senator said something that is probably the most important thing about fairness. That is, if you look at all the taxes being paid and who pays them before the tax cut, and look at all the taxes being paid and who pays them after the tax cut, what he said is vitally important for people to understand. Would the Senator repeat what happens to the tax burden?

This tax burden was set back in 1993 when we in the Senate raised the top tax bracket and President Clinton signed the bill that shifted the tax burden to higher income individuals, creating another rate at the top and, at the same time, increasing the top income tax credit which goes to people who don’t pay income tax. So we raised taxes on people in lower income brackets and took that money and gave it to people who don’t pay income taxes. At that point, Democrats said the distribution of taxes between the wealthy and lower income was now fair. But the Senator now tells us that people in the Senate that we are going to now take this fair distribution and change it. How are we going to change it?
Mr. GRASSLEY. When we are all done passing the proposal the President has put before Congress, we will actually have the high-income people of America paying a higher percentage of the income tax coming into the Federal Treasury than right now.

Mr. SANTORUM. So when the Democrats, in 1993, said, "We have now fixed the Tax Code; we have now changed it so higher income individuals are going to pay more of their fair share," I think the term—and that "we have a fair Tax Code"—I heard that over and over again—what the Senator is suggesting is that we are going to make it even fairer by shifting the burden even more, and the argument on the other side is that isn't fair enough. Their argument is that we need to increase taxes even more on higher income individuals.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Yes. Let me tell you why we don't hear that from the other side. They talk about tax cuts, but they don't have a passion for tax cuts. They talk about reducing the national debt, but they don't have a passion for reducing the national debt. What they have a passion for is muddying the waters, maintaining the status quo, keeping the current level of taxation we have today, so that when we have 20.6 percent of the gross national product coming into the Federal Treasury in taxes today, at the highest level in the history of the country—if we maintain the status quo, in 10 years it will be at 22.7 percent. They are going to be able to spend that. They have a passion for spending. That is why they do not like this program that gives every working man and woman in America, every taxpayer in America who pays income taxes, a tax cut, and it has a larger share of tax cuts for lower and middle-income people than for higher income people.

Mr. SANTORUM. I thank the Senator for his clarification.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, we will have $28 trillion coming into the Federal Treasury over the next 10 years. We are taking $3.1 trillion of that off the table for Social Security. Social Security money will only be spent on Social Security, and Medicare money will only be spent on Medicare. We have the $1.6 trillion tax cut because Americans are overtaxed. We are going to give tax relief to every taxpayer.

We have $900 billion left over. That is a rainy day fund. When they raise questions, as they have just now, on the other side of the aisle—Will we be able to afford it? Will we have the money for prescription drug benefits?—in America?—we will have a plan that will give universal coverage to seniors in America. It will be affordable, and we will improve Medicare so that Medicare fits the practice of medicine today. Where it was passed in 1965, the practice of medicine was to put everybody in the hospital. Today, the practice of medicine is to keep people out of the hospital.

Obviously, prescription drugs are a big part of why not so many people are going the expensive route of hospitalization.

I hope it is clear that this is well thought out, and we will be able to do the things that will reduce the total cost. If we do nothing and that money is in the pockets of Congressmen and Senators in Washington, it is surely burning a hole, and if it is burning a hole, it has to be spent.

If we keep up the level of spending that recent remarks indicate we ought to, at 6 percent growth each of the last 3 years, and continue that for 10 years instead of a $1.6 trillion tax relief, we will not only eat up the $1.6 trillion, we will eat up a half trillion dollars more. Then we get that level of expenditure up to where we are now at 20.6 percent of gross national product, and we see a downturn in the economy about which these nervous nellies are concerned.

The income is going to go down, but the expenditures never go down. We do not operate as a business in the sense of when there is a change of income, we change our spending behavior. That is what needs to be considered by everybody. By having a surplus of only $3 trillion coming in over the next 10 years, a little bit less than one-third is going to go to the taxpayers, some of it is for a rainy day, and the rest of it is to keep our commitment to Social Security and Medicare.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Illinois.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I would like to respond to the statements that have been made by my friend from Iowa, as well as the Senator from Pennsylvania. I think the Senator from Iowa realizes the honest measurement of the size of the Federal Government is the proportion of the gross domestic product—the total value of goods and services in America—against the amount we spend in the Federal Government.

When President Bush's father left office, we were spending 22 percent of our gross domestic product on the Federal Government. During the Clinton years, that was reduced to 18 percent. We have seen a steady decline in the size of Government against the size of America's economy.

We have to ask ourselves: Is this a trend which we should criticize? I think not. It is a good trend. We have shown we can be more efficient, but when the Senator from Iowa stands before us and supports plans, as I do, for a prescription drug benefit under Medicare, that will be more Federal spending. He and I will support that. We believe the seniors and disabled across America are entitled to it.

We have to make sure we reserve enough money, in terms of what our plans are for tax cuts and deficits and debt reduction, so we can still make investments to make sure there is a prescription drug benefit under Medicare.

Let me add another point. The Senator from Iowa understands as well as anyone that we are going to face a balloon payment in Social Security and Medicare when the baby boomers all show up. If we do not make plans right now to protect Medicare and Social Security, we will find ourselves without the resources to take care of these people. We made a promise that through our working lives, if they paid into Social Security and Medicare, it would be there when they needed it. We are not providing for that with President Bush's tax cut. In fact, in order to fund his tax cut, he has to reach into the Medicare trust fund and take out money. If you take the money out of this trust fund, it will not be there when the baby boomers show up. The balloon payment will be there.

We will have to pay it to keep our contract with the American people, and the President's tax cut and his stimulus will have eaten up the Medicare trust fund.

Senator CONRAD of North Dakota is going to offer an amendment to protect the Medicare trust fund, and Members on both sides of the aisle will have a chance to stand up and say: We are not going to raid the Medicare trust fund to pay for President Bush's tax cut. I am anxious to see how that vote comes out.

If Members of Congress believe as strongly as I do about protecting Medicare and Social Security, then they should vote in favor of Senator CONRAD's amendment, which will be offered this afternoon.

Mr. REID. Will the Senator yield for a question?

Mr. DURBIN. I will be happy to yield to the Senator.

Mr. REID. One of the points the Senator from Illinois made during his initial statement was that he believes it is time we had a bipartisan agreement on the budget and on taxes generally.

I heard the Senator say—and I am coming back on my friend from Iowa, the chairman of the very important Finance Committee, made—we are talking negatively. I say to my friend from Iowa, the Senator from Nevada and the Senator from Illinois are talking about the economy. We are talking about the need to do something about it.

If we, with a 50-50 Senate, butt heads here, we are going to get nothing done. The Senator will elaborate a little bit on one of his initial statements that we need to work on a bipartisan agreement to come up with something that is good for the American people?

Mr. DURBIN. The Senator understands President Bush was elected promising he was going to change the tone in Washington—more civil and more bipartisan. I actually thought he got off to a good start. He invited Democratic Congressmen and Senators to the White House. They had a good time. We gave them all nicknames, and it looked as if it was going to be a great change in atmosphere.
In the last week or two, things have not improved. They have gone the other way: The decision in the House of Representatives by the Republican leadership on the tax cut vote they would not even allow amendments from Democrats or Republicans on the floor, and the Senate followed one substitute vote. Their hearings in the Ways and Means Committee did not allow any bipartisan exchange.

Frankly, I do not think that is in keeping with the President’s promise of more bipartisanship. It is going to occur over here. There will be a real debate on taxes in the Senate. Senator Grassley, as chair of the Finance Committee, is going to provide an opportunity for amendments and discussion in his committee. We will have a chance to offer amendments on the floor, and a 50-50 Senate finally will debate this bill.

The last week has not been promising. The decision of the President to go back on a promise of the minority leader, Tom Daschle, was an interjection this bill. The floor, and a 50-50 chance to offer amendments on the floor. We will have an opportunity for amendments and discussion in his committee. We will have a chance to offer amendments on the floor, and a 50-50 Senate finally will debate this bill.

The last week has not been promising. The decision of the President to go back on a promise of the minority leader, Tom Daschle, was an interesting choice. I do not think it was the best political decision for a President preaching bipartisanship, but it was his decision. I hope we can return to his promise of bipartisanship.

I guess the Senator from Nevada heard the comment of the Senator from Pennsylvania a few minutes ago about the decision in 1993 by the Clinton administration to put together a package to do something about the deficit. The one that failed in the House and the Senate, did not have a single Republican in support of it. Many of the Republicans who are saying President Bush’s tax cut is the best medicine for America also voted against President Clinton’s plan in 1993.

That plan turned it around. We got out of the deficit mentality and deficit experience and started creating surpluses.

The Senator from Pennsylvania talked earlier about the unfair tax burden. I will read from the same New Yorker article I quoted earlier about that tax plan in 1993:

From 1992, the year before a supposedly onerous new marginal tax rate kicked in, through 1996, the most recent figure for which the IRS has information available, the average after-tax income of the richest 1 percent in America rose from $400,000 to just under $600,000—

That is in a 6-year period of time, and from 12.2 percent of the national net income to 15.7 percent.

Our friends on the Republican side do not want to acknowledge that we not only put a plan in place that ended the deficit in this country but also created income, wealth, and prosperity, the likes of which we have not seen in modern history. Now comes President Bush saying I want to return to the concept that I tried in Texas, where I started with a surplus, put in a tax cut, and ended up with a deficit.

Excuse me if many Members of the Senate are skeptical of that approach.

RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Time has expired. Under the previous order, the time of 12:30 having arrived, the Senate will stand in recess until the hour of 2:15 p.m.

Thereupon, the Senate, at 12:30 p.m., recessed until 2:15 p.m.; and reassembled when called to order by the President (Mr. Frist, in the Chair).

BANKRUPTCY REFORM ACT OF 2001—Continued

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, there will now be 30 minutes for closing remarks on amendment No. 29, as modified, and amendment No. 32 to be equally divided in the usual form.

The Senator from North Dakota is recognized.

AMENDMENT NO. 29, AS MODIFIED

Mr. CONRAD. Mr. President, my amendment is to protect the Social Security trust fund and the Medicare trust fund. It has been called the Medicare-Social Security lockbox. That is a good description. It is designed to ensure these trust funds from being used for other purposes, from being used as we saw in the past for spending on other programs.

A quick description of what my amendment provides is the following: First, it protects Social Security surpluses in each and every year;

Second, it takes the Medicare Part A trust fund off budget just as we have taken the Social Security trust fund off budget, again to try to protect it from being raided and used for other purposes;

Third, it gives Medicare the same protections as Social Security;

Fourth, it provides strong enforcement legislation and strong enforcement provisions to make certain that protections hold.

The alternative—the legislation that will be offered by my colleague, the Senator from New Mexico, chairman of the Senate Budget Committee—does not take Medicare off budget. It contains huge trapdoors for anything labeled “Social Security and Medicare reform.”

In other words, they have a lockbox that leaks. They have a lockbox where the door is wide open. The money can be used for other purposes as long as they call it Social Security or Medicare reform. There is absolutely no definition of what constitutes Social Security or Medicare reform.

The proposal of my colleague does not add any new protections for Social Security and does not protect Medicare from sequester. This constitutes what I call the broken safe. The door is wide open to what my colleague from New Mexico is presenting.

Under the President’s budget, not a penny starts for Medicare. In fact, the President takes the Medicare trust fund and puts it into a so-called contingency fund available for other purposes. In fact, as we have already heard, he went to my State and told folks there that if they need money for agriculture, go to the contingency fund. If people need money for defense, they are being told to go to the contingency fund. If they need more money for education, go to the contingency fund. If they need money for a prescription drug benefit that really delivers something, go to the contingency fund. That money is going to be spent four or five times over.

On the other side say: Look, there is no trust fund surplus in Medicare.

That is not what the Congressional Budget Office says. On page 9 of the “Budget Outlook,” under the table “Trust Fund Surpluses,” they start with Social Security. Then they go to Medicare. And they point out that Part A of Medicare has over a $400 billion surplus. They point to Medicare Part B. And that is in rough balance over the years of this forecast period.

Some on the other side say: Oh, there is a huge deficit in Medicare Part B; therefore, we should not worry about the surplus in Medicare Part A. I just say to them, the law does not say that. The alternatives do not add to the Medi- care Part A is in surplus. Medicare Part B is in rough balance. There is no justification for taking the Medicare trust fund that is in surplus and moving that money into this so-called contingency fund that is available for other purposes. That probably is what will get us into financial trouble in the future.

I hope my colleagues will support having a protection mechanism for both the Social Security trust fund and the Medicare trust fund. It makes sense for the country, it makes sense for taxpayers, and it makes sense for beneficiaries. Most of all, it makes fiscal sense. And that is what my amendment is all about: to wall off the Social Security trust fund and Medicare trust fund so they cannot be raided for other purposes.

I thank the Chair and yield the floor.

Mr. DOMENICI addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from New Mexico.

Mr. DOMENICI. First, let me say I am very pleased this afternoon to be on the floor with Senator Conrad. I think those who watch the Senate as it conducts business during the next 3 weeks, going to see a lot of us because we will have the whole budget up here for at least a week. Senator Conrad manages it for the other side of the aisle, and I manage it on this side.

I am very hopeful that while this is a very interesting and somewhat difficult issue today, we will handle it in a very civil manner between the two of us as to what we ought to do.

First of all, everybody should know then when we offered a lockbox for Social Security on this side—it is the only one you could really call a lockbox—the other side of the aisle opposed it because it was too rigid. And they found out from the Secretary of the Treasury it may have been even too difficult for the U.S. Government to manage in terms of managing its debts.

So we have come from that point to what I would generally call a lockbox here to make any expenditures from that fund that are not authorized in that law itself subject to a 60-vote point of order. That generally is called a lockbox because it will call it to the attention of those affected, and it will require the majority to vote for it. That is what our amendment does for both Social Security and Medicare. But what it does in both programs is exactly what the House did. It passed by over 400 votes. Essentially, it says only for Social Security and/or Social Security reforms. And on Medicare it says Medicare Part A and/or reforms.

My distinguished friend on the other side of the aisle would say we take Medicare off budget. We no longer get to count it as an asset of the budget. And in addition, it cannot be used for the reforms that are going to be necessary when we improve that program and add to it prescription drugs.

So the difference is big. As a matter of fact, my friend on the other side of the aisle had concocted an approach so we cannot get a tax cut because, for some reason, the $1.6 trillion tax cut just is not within the grasp of those on the other side. They do not want to give that back to the American people. In a moment, or in closing arguments, I will share with you the fact that it is a very responsible tax cut. It is very small in proportion to the total tax take of the United States of America.

But for now let me just, again, discuss these two issues.

First, the distinguished Senator, Mr. KENT CONRAD, my opponent here would take Medicare off budget and not permit it to be used for reform and say to us, use it to pay down the debt. I want to just take a minute to talk about the debt because everybody ought to understand.

The President of the United States has asked us to reduce the debt of the United States from $3.2 trillion to $1.2 trillion—a $2 trillion reduction. The President says—as did President Clinton before him who also said, through his experts—that is all we can pay down without paying a big penalty and costing the American taxpayers money.

This little chart I have here shows what is going to happen to the ownership of American debt as we buy down the debt and attempt to minimize it. You can see, the red is all foreign investment and foreigners. That grows because they do not want to sell the American bonds. They hold on to them. I understand that if we said, you are going to pay those people anyway, even though we are going to say the payments are under an arrangement they like in terms of the terms of the bonds—then what we would have to do is we would have to pay a premium that would cost the American people a 21-percent premium on the money we pay to buy down the bonds. We will pay a 21-percent premium.

Isn’t it amazing that we are being asked to vote for an amendment that, on the one hand, is calculated to prevent us from getting a tax reduction for the American people, and, on the other hand, unintentionally, I assume, we are going to have to pay that money at a 21-percent premium to foreigners from whom we are going to buy these bonds because we are going to say to them: If you don’t want to sell them, we want you to sell them anyway. It is similar to a marketplace gun you put there and say: Sell them to us. And, of course, we will throw away money in the process.

The amendment that will be voted on second is their lockbox and its operation. It is a lockbox for which everybody blames the deficit commission. It requires a 60-vote majority to use any of the Social Security trust fund for anything but Social Security or Social Security reform. It is the same lockbox on Medicare that we voted for here-today that is the core of the issues that says, Medicare cannot be used—I say to the Finance Committee chairman, who is bound by all these rules—for anything other than Medicare and/or Medicare reform.

I yield the floor.

I yield the floor.
This measure is not meant to defeat a tax cut or any other measure. It is designed to protect the Social Security and Medicare trust funds. This is what we voted for on a bipartisan basis last year. I hope we will do the same this year and say, whatever else we do, we are not going to raid the trust funds of Social Security and Medicare. I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I yield myself 4 minutes of the time remaining.

Senator CONRAD’s amendment is very bad medicine for our seniors, in terms of this fuzzying up the issue. If we allow this to happen, we are going to perpetuate the hoax that Medicare is running a surplus so that we can postpone urgently needed improvements in Medicare.

The Senator’s amendment also leads Americans into believing we can’t provide tax relief for hard-working families and at the same time protect Medicare and Social Security. The Senator is just plain wrong because over the next 10 years we will be spending $3.8 trillion just on Medicare. That is more than twice the size of any proposed tax cut. To say that we on this side of the aisle are shortchanging seniors is ludicrous. In fact, the Senator from New Mexico says don’t raid Social Security and Medicare to pay for one.

In 1993, Congress voted to tax up to 85 percent of Social Security benefits and transfer those taxes into the Part A trust fund. In 1997, Congress voted to transfer the cost of home health out of Part A trust fund into Part B. Had these two actions not occurred, there would be no surplus in Part A. Medicare Part B will run a deficit of more than $1 trillion over the next 30 years, completely offsetting the $400 billion surplus in Part A. Splitting Medicare in half would only further these accounting gimmicks and mislead seniors into believing Medicare is secure. Of course, we know that is not the case.

We think it is time to be very open with our seniors about Medicare’s financial condition. We have the opportunity this year to modernize Medicare, provide prescription drug coverage, and put the program on a sound footing for our seniors, particularly for baby boomers. We want to protect the Medicare surplus so it can be used for this purpose, and this purpose only.

Senator CONRAD’s amendment will deprive seniors of what they need most, a stronger, updated Medicare program, by locking away the Medicare dollars and making them unavailable for much-needed improvements. Is this what our seniors want? I don’t think so. They want something for future generations.

This lockbox approach has one additional problem: When you add it to the additional one-third of the on-budget surplus the amendment would then reserve for debt reduction, it would equal $3.8 trillion. That exceeds the total amount of publicly held debt by $700 billion, and it exceeds the amount of debt available to be repaid by $1.5 trillion. As a result, the Government will be forced to use the excess surplus in the private sector.

Federal Reserve Chairman Greenspan has warned that such investments could disrupt financial markets and reduce the efficiency of our economy. My colleagues and I have said very well and demonstrated it with the chart.

Moreover, it is important to remember that the Senate has already voted 99-0 in the year 1999 against allowing the Government to invest the Social Security surplus in the private sector. I oppose the amendment by the Senator from North Dakota and support Senator DOMENICI’s amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Who yields time?

Mr. CONRAD. I yield time to the Senator from Montana.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Montana.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, I very much agree with the points made by our good friend from New Mexico, the chairman of the Budget Committee, as well as by Senator GRASSLEY, the chairman of the Finance Committee.

However, the long and short of it is, the amendment offered by Senator CONRAD is very simple. It is probably the only responsible thing to do. Essentially it says Social Security trust fund money is to be kept for Social Security. We are going to keep it in the trust fund so the trust fund continues to build. It also says that the Medicare Part A trust fund money is to be kept in that trust fund to be used as it is supposed to be used.

To be honest, we hear lots of arguments from the other side, but, frankly, they sound like Senators doing the administration’s bidding by trying to desperately grab shoestring kinds of arguments to try to counter this amendment. If we look at all the arguments, they are transparently false. No. 1, we are playing footloose with senior citizens because it would make Medicare more urgent. I don’t think any senior wants that.

Second, we hear: Those Democrats don’t want to reduce taxes. That is a patently false argument. We are just saying protect Social Security, protect Medicare, because that is what our seniors expect, and that is what the baby boomers certainly expect when they retire on down the road.

Third, we hear the argument, gee, if this amendment passes, you are going to have to pay a 21-percent premium on foreign debt. That is totally false. Nobody knows where those figures come from, except I hear them from my good friend from New Mexico.

It is true that if this amendment were to be enacted, as it very much should, then earlier, rather than later, we could be facing the question of debt relief, and that would be involved with what not. But there are other options. We can use the money for other forms of savings—that is sayings provisions outside Social Security or Medicare. Or if we come to the premium question on redeeming debt, we could use the $500 billion in the Medicare trust fund.

My main point is that this is a very simple amendment. It is the most responsible thing to do because it starts to protect Social Security and Medicare for senior citizens and for the future.

I might add, Mr. President, the alternative amendment we are going to be asked to vote on has, as I think the Senator from North Dakota characterized it, a trapdoor. It is a “nothing” amendment. It doesn’t do what it purports to do. If you want honesty in budgeting and in amendments, honesty in what provisions actually say, I ask you to look at the language of the amendment offered by the Senator from North Dakota and look at the language of the alternative. You will see, if you read the language, one does protect Social Security and Medicare, the other does not.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from North Dakota is recognized.

Mr. CONRAD. Mr. President, I want to respond briefly to my colleague from Iowa who said a series of things that are just not so. He said this amendment is bad medicine for seniors. Come on. This amendment protects the Social Security trust fund, and it protects the Medicare trust fund. It prevents them from being looted and raided for other purposes. That helps seniors.

He says it suggests there is a trust fund surplus in Medicare. It doesn’t just suggest it; there is one. This is from the Congressional Budget Office. It says very clearly there is $300 billion in surpluses. The President’s budget says $500 billion in the Medicare trust fund.

The Senator from Iowa says you can’t have a tax cut with this amendment. Nonsense. You can have a tax cut with this amendment. This only says don’t raid Social Security, don’t raid Medicare. The only way it endangers a tax cut is if their intention is to raid Social Security and Medicare to pay for one.

Now, finally, Senator GRASSLEY has the plan I have talked about being all mixed up. He has taken the $2.9 trillion dedicated for reduction of the publicly held debt and he added that to the $900 billion that is reserved for strengthening Social Security for the long term and says all of that money is designed to deal with short-term debt. Wrong. That is just wrong. The $2.9 trillion is to eliminate our short-term debt. The $900 billion is to deal with long-term debt. Unfortunately, they have not set aside any money to deal with long-term debt.

This amendment is simple. It is designed to protect the trust funds of Social Security and Medicare against raids for other purposes.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from New Mexico is recognized.

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, I think the Medicare trust fund should be used for Medicare and Medicare reform. I don’t think we should use it to fund, in any way, a requirement that we pay huge premiums—some estimate as high as 21 percent—to attract foreign investors to retire our debt.

I yield whatever time I have to Senator Domenici.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I rise to sustain the point of order against the proposal of the Senator from North Dakota for three reasons. No. 1, our trust funds need to be strengthened by combining the hospital trust fund with the physician trust funds. That is Medicare. You need physicians and hospitals. The real question is, What do we do with the surplus on the hospital side? Medicare has a deficit. I think we should not tell taxpayers we are going to take that money and use it to pay down the debt. We ought to reassure them that we can take that money forward and use it to modernize Medicare, strengthen it, eliminate the redtape, and install tools in our Medicare system that explain and get rid of the fact that an aspirin may cost $2. That makes our seniors mad.

Third, and last, every nickel that the taxpayer pays today will go for Medicare, will be used for Medicare. The President has said it. The underlying amendment by the Senator from New Mexico also will guarantee that every nickel paid in will be used for Medicare.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from North Dakota has 1 minute 41 seconds remaining.

Mr. CONRAD. Mr. President, the argument of my colleague from New Mexico that somehow we are going to be paying big premiums to foreign debtholders has nothing to do with my provision. My provision protects the trust funds of Social Security and Medicare against raids for other purposes. If you save the Social Security and Medicare trust funds in that way, there is no cash buildup problem until the year 2010. Many of us believe we will never have them.

Mr. President, what is this amendment about? It is very simple: It says we are going to provide the same protection to the Medicare trust fund that we provide the Social Security trust fund. It says we are going to provide additional protection to the Social Security trust fund so that this Congress can’t go back in the next 100 years and raid every trust fund in sight to pay for other purposes. That is what we used to do. We have stopped that practice. Let’s make certain it doesn’t start again. Let’s protect the trust funds of Social Security and Medicare. It is the fiscally responsible thing to do. Pursuant to section 904 of the Congressional Budget Act, I move to waive the applicable sections of the act and ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There is a sufficient second. The yeas and nays were ordered. Mr. CONRAD. Mr. President, I also raise a point of order that the pending Sessions amendment violates section 306 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That point of order will be recognized when that amendment comes up. First, the Senate will vote on the motion to waive the question on agreeing to the motion. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk called the roll.

The result was announced—yeas 53, nays 47, as follows:

YEAS—53

Akaka—Dorgan—Lincoln
Baucus—Durbin—Mikulski
Bayh—Edwards—Miller
Biden—Feingold—Murray
Bingaman—Feinstein—Nelson (FL)
Boxer—Finkenauer—Nelson (NE)
Breaux—Graham—Reed
Byrd—Harkin—Rockefeller
Cantwell—Hollings—Sarbanes
Carper—Johnson—Schumer
Casey—Kempthorne—Smith—OR Clinton—Kerry—Specter
Conrad—Kohl—Stabenow
Corzine—Landrieu—Torricelli
Dabschke—Leahy—Whellstone
Dayton—Levin—Wyden
Dodd—Lieberman—

NAYS—47

Allard—Enzi—McCollum
Allen—Frist—Markowski
Bennett—Gramm—Nickles
Bond—Grasley—Roberts
Brownback—Gregg—Santororum
Bunning—Hagel—Sessions
Burns—Hatch—Shelby
Campbell—Helms—Smith—NH
Chafee—Hutchinson—Snowe
Cochran—Hutchinson— Stevens
Collins—Inhofe—Thomas
Craig—Jeffords—Thompson
Crapo—Kyl—Thurmond
DeWine—Lott—Voinovich
Demosici—Leahy—Warner
Ensigh—McCain—

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. CRAPO). On this vote, the yeas are 53, the nays are 47. Three-fifths of the Senators duly chosen and sworn not having voted in the affirmative, the motion is rejected.

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote.
March 13, 2001

Mr. HATCH. I do raise objection to that.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I withdraw my reservation and suggestion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Does the Senator from Utah raise an objection to the original request which would have the Senator from Connecticut follow the two statements?

Mr. HATCH. Would the Chair tell me the original request?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The original request was that the Senator from Connecticut be recognized to offer an amendment following a statement by the Senator from Utah and a request by the Senator from New York.

Mr. HATCH. Repeat the request one more time.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, let me object for now until Mr. GRAMM, the distinguished Chair, I am mostly interested in getting in the queue to offer an amendment with Senator SMITH. I would like to yield to Senator BOXER for a moment because I know her time is short. She has consulted with us on this amendment. I would like to yield to her for a quick moment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. WYDEN. I thank my friend, the distinguished Chair. I am mostly interested in getting in the queue to offer an amendment with Senator SMITH. I would like to yield to Senator BOXER for a moment because I know her time is short. Has she consulted with us on this amendment. I would like to yield to her for a quick moment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. WYDEN. I thank my friend, the distinguished Chair. I am mostly interested in getting in the queue to offer an amendment with Senator SMITH. I would like to yield to Senator BOXER for a moment because I know her time is short. Has she consulted with us on this amendment. I would like to yield to her for a quick moment.

Mr. WYDEN. I thank my friend, the distinguished Chair. I am mostly interested in getting in the queue to offer an amendment with Senator SMITH. I would like to yield to Senator BOXER for a moment because I know her time is short. Has she consulted with us on this amendment. I would like to yield to her for a quick moment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair advises that a series of amendments have been offered. All have been set aside. There are 24 seconds remaining on the unanimous consent request.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President, I wish to be in the queue here on an amendment on which I have worked with Senator SMITH, and Senator BOXER would like to make a quick comment. I will yield back. I thank the Senator from Utah for his courtesy. I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of the Senator from Oregon has expired.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I understand we are going to go to Senator SCHUMER, and after the distinguished Senator from New York, the distinguished Senator from Connecticut.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I was going to offer an amendment. I graciously yielded to a couple of things happening here. I am happy to yield to people to make statements unrelated to the bill, but I would like to ask unanimous consent that at the conclusion of these remarks, I be allowed to offer an amendment.
The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to the request?

Mr. SCHUMER. Reserving the right to object, I don’t have a problem with that, except that I want to make sure that before we get to that, I get to make a motion.

Mr. REID. Will the Senator from Utah yield for a brief statement on the subject matter before the Senate?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Utah.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I say to my friend, the manager of the bill, along with Senator LEAHY, there is no question that there are amendments that should be taken down. However, the distinguished Senator from New York is in a little different category because when he allowed his amendment to be taken down, the manager of the bill at the time, the chairman of the Finance Committee, someone who has worked on this bill for so long, this bankruptcy bill, Senator GRASSLEY of Iowa, said he would allow a vote on Senator SCHUMER’s amendment. He said he didn’t know could be, but there would be a guaranteed vote on that.

So I want to make sure the Senator from New York—everybody realizes he is in a little different category than everyone else, even though there are many other votes that should take place. There is no question but that the Senator from New York has been guaranteed and assured there would be a vote on his amendment. That is why he agreed to take it down.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to the request?

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, reserving the right to object, I just say this. Let me make this statement: As I understand it, we are waiting for the distinguished Senator from Texas to get here because he has an amendment, I believe, to the amendment of the distinguished Senator from New York. And I will put in a quorum call and we will get this resolved.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. HATCH. I object.

Mr. MURkowski. Mr. President—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Utah has the floor.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senator from New York be permitted to call up his amendment, that there is expected to be an amendment to his amendment by Senator GRAMM, and I ask unanimous consent Senator GRAMM be permitted to do that, and that we then go to the Senator from Connecticut.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. SCHUMER. Reserving the right to object, I am not here to try to hold up the business. I want to make sure we get a time agreement as to when we are going to vote on my amendment to take place.

That is all I want. But I will not relinquish the floor or allow any amendment to be offered until we get a time.

Mr. REID. Will the Senator yield?

Mr. SCHUMER. I will be happy to yield.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Utah has the floor.

Mr. REID. Will the Senator from Utah allow me to make a brief statement?

Mr. HATCH. I will be happy to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to the Senator’s request?

Mr. REID. I do not want him to lose the floor. I am going to demand from Utah, my friend from Vermont, and my friend from New York. I do not know where we got into the idea that we are going to have an amendment offered to Senator SCHUMER’s amendment. I have the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD of March 8, 2001. Senator GRASSLEY said:

The point is we can assure the Senator from New York you and nays on his amendment, not someone else’s amendment. We can assure the Senator from New York when we are going to vote on this amendment, but there is going to be a vote on the amendment.

My only point is, how can we now change this to say we are going to be voting on a Gramm amendment? The Senator from New York was assured a vote on his amendment.

Mr. SCHUMER. Reclaiming the floor:

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Utah has the floor. The pending matter is the unanimous consent request of the Senator from Utah.

Mr. SCHUMER. Reserving the right to object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from New York.

Mr. SCHUMER. What I want to do—

I see the Senator from Texas has come to the floor—is ask a question. Does the Senator from Texas have a second-degree amendment to my amendment which is the pending amendment New York when we are going to vote on this amendment, but there is going to be a vote on the amendment.

Mr. SCHUMER. Reclaiming the floor:

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Utah.

Mr. SCHUMER. The legislative clerk continued the call of the roll.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

Mr. SCHUMER. I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard:

The legislative clerk continued the call of the roll.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. SCHUMER. I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

The legislative clerk continued the call of the roll.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. SCHUMER. I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

The legislative clerk continued the call of the roll.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered. The Senator from Utah.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the distinguished Senator from Connecticut be permitted to propose an amendment with a half hour time limit equally divided, and that immediately after the vote on his amendment, the distinguished Senator from New York be given the floor on his amendment.

DODD. Just to clarify how the amendment will be handled, will the Senator from Utah make it 45 minutes equally divided with no second degrees? Will the Senator add that element to it?

Mr. SCHUMER. I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard. The Senator from Utah has the floor.

Mr. SCHUMER. I object. That is it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Vermont.

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, so everybody understands where we are, the Senator from New York brought up an amendment on Thursday. He was promised on the RECORD by the manager of the bill that he would get a vote. The Senator from New York is within his rights to ask for that vote.

It seems to me to be a concern that everybody is holding up so we cannot have votes. Is there any reason why we cannot set up a situation here—and both my friend from Connecticut and my friend from New York are on the floor—that we could have some kind of agreement that says, within the next 45 to 50 minutes, we could have at least two stacked votes, that of the Senator from New York and that of the Senator from Connecticut, with the understanding we can have one or two others after that; otherwise, we can spend a much time making unanimous consent requests to vote.

Why would that not be sensible? It is not just enough to say the Senator from Connecticut will bring up his, and after his vote on it we will have somebody else, if the vote turns out to be tomorrow afternoon at 5. I want to get a few votes today.

Mr. DORGAN. Will the Senator from Vermont yield for a question?

Mr. LEAHY. Sure.

Mr. DORGAN. I have not been involved in this discussion out here except to understand that today, yesterday, and Friday there was a great deal of complaining about this bill moving too slowly. It seems to me the people are concerned and frustrated about it.

My understanding is that the Senator from New York offered his amendment, was committed to having a record vote on his amendment, and now we see delay, delay, delay on getting him a record vote on his amendment.
I ask the Senator from Vermont, is it his understanding the Senator from New York has a commitment that he will get a vote on his amendment? Mr. LEAHY. I tell my friend from North Dakota it is in the Congressional Record that the majority side gave us an assurance that to the Senator from New York to have a vote. I would like to know when that vote will occur. I am a man of great and deep abiding faith, and I even believe in miracles, but I would feel a little more comforted if, instead of dealing with a miracle, we had a precise time.

I suggest we have a vote at $4:45$, $5,$ $5:15$ or something like that on the amendment of the Senator from New York, and following that, a vote on the amendment of the Senator from Connecticut, followed by votes on other amendments.

Mr. DORGAN. Is it the case if the Senator from New York does not get a vote and there is a cloture vote that prevents the Senator from New York will not ever get a vote on his amendment?

Mr. LEAHY. It is a possibility that the Chair may rule it is not germane and he would not get a vote, contrary to the commitment given by the Senate majority.

Mr. WYDEN. Will the Senator yield? Mr. LEAHY. Without losing my right to the floor.

Mr. WYDEN. I am baffled why it has been so difficult to set up a queue. I have an amendment with Senator SMITH. I worked very closely with Senator BOXER to make some perfections on which she insisted. We are here to go with the queue so Senator Dodd’s and Senator SCHUMER’s interests are protected as well as others.

Perhaps we could be enlightened as to what it will take to get a queue so a bipartisan amendment such as ours can have an amendment with Senator SCHUMER.

Mr. LEAHY. Will the Senator yield?

Mr. LEAHY. Without losing my right to the floor.

Mr. WYDEN. I am baffled why it has been so difficult to set up a queue. I have an amendment with Senator SMITH. I worked very closely with Senator BOXER to make some perfections on which she insisted. We are here to go with the queue so Senator Dodd’s and Senator SCHUMER’s interests are protected as well as others.

Perhaps we could be enlightened as to what it will take to get a queue so a bipartisan amendment such as ours can have an amendment with Senator SCHUMER.

Mr. LEAHY. I don’t know. We have several pending amendments that could all be voted on. I have one or two. We have the yea’s and nay’s ordered, and I am willing to have a 2- or 3-minute time agreement.

I suggest to those who keep complaining about why this is taking so long, the amendments we know are going to require rollover votes, we could dispose of more than half of them by 7 o’clock this evening.

Mr. REID. Will the Senator yield? Mr. LEAHY. I yield without losing the floor.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, we work in this body by unanimous consent, by agreement. The senior Senator from New York, in good faith, allowed the Senate to proceed on Thursday with the express agreement he would have a vote on his amendment. I know the good faith of the Senator from Texas. He believes, at least it is my understanding, that some of the subject matter in that the Senator from New York has brought is under the jurisdiction of the Banking Committee. That may be true. But the fact is, there was a gentleman’s agreement in this Senate that Senator SCHUMER would have a vote on his amendment.

I think it would set a bad tone in this bipartisan Senate if someone goes back on their word. When a manager of a bill is operating for the caucus that he represents—in this instance, Senator GRASSLEY, one of the most senior Members, chairman of the Finance Committee. No one has been more heavily involved or have the possible exceptions of Senators LEAHY and HATCH.

I think we should get a time set to vote on the Schumer amendment. If my friend from Texas has an amendment, they should propose it. I think it will create a very difficult situation if someone such as Senator SCHUMER is told by a manager of the bill he will have a vote and suddenly that agreement is voided. That is, in effect, what is happening. It would set an extremely bad tone.

Mr. LEAHY. I yield for the purpose of a question.

Mr. SCHUMER. Will the Senator yield?

Mr. LEAHY. I yield without losing my right to the floor.

Mr. SCHUMER. I understand the difficulty we are in. I understand the difficulties of the Senators from Connecticut and Oregon. However, as was stated, I was promised a vote, unequivocally. I could have insisted on the vote then and there. The Senator from Texas wouldn’t even have been on the floor to object. I do.

I will repeat the words, because this has been going on long enough. I—Mr. SCHUMER—said, from the March 8 Record:

If the Senator from Iowa will yield, as long as we get the yea’s and nay’s on this amendment in due course.

Previous to that, the Senator from Iowa had requested that I temporarily lay aside the amendment.

And Mr. GRASSLEY said:

The point is, we can assure the Senator from New York the yeas and nays on his amendment.

That is as good an assurance as one can get on this floor. I feel constrained to object to anything moving forward until we get an agreement as to when we will vote on my amendment. I offer this to think about. I know the Senator from Texas wants to study it. We could, for instance, debate the amendment of the Senator from Texas for 45 minutes, debate my amendment for 45 minutes, and move the amendments of the Senator from Connecticut and my amendment. Or we could use some other process.

Until I am given an assurance that we will have a vote on this floor on this amendment, until I am given a time, I should not have to be given a second—until I am given a time as to when we will vote on my amendment, I am constrained to object to every amendment, even those from friends, even those with whom I might agree.

I yield.

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I will yield the floor in a moment. I know the Senator from Texas wishes to speak, and I don’t want to deny him that privilege.

The Senator from New York was given a commitment by the Republican leadership to have a vote. Frankly, at the moment we are going to see that commitment being fulfilled. I have been here 26 years and I have never seen an instance where the majority—I have been here three times the majority and three times the minority—I have never seen an instance where the majority has given such a commitment that hasn’t been carried out.

I urge Senators on both sides of the aisle to make sure this will not be the first time in 26 years such a commitment was not carried out. This is a very serious matter.

There are only 100 Members who represent a nation of over a quarter of a billion people; 100 Members have a special responsibility because we are a special number. One is a responsibility to always carry forth our commitment. The Senator from New York has a commitment. It should be carried out. Frankly, we are only 3 months into this Congress. On a bill as serious as this, I should not be deprecating the keeping a commitment that is laid out in the Congressional Record but, rather, try to find how to get the votes and vote amendments up or down.

I have amendments. I am prepared to go to vote with a 2- or 3-minute time agreement. Let’s not delay on the Senate floor and then hold press conferences by the Ohio clock saying: We can’t understand why this bill is taking so long; I guess we have to file cloture that.

The fact is, the bill could have been finished last week if people had let the votes occur.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Texas.

Mr. GRAMM. Mr. President, first, I just came into this discussion. I’ve had a lot of people speaking on my behalf, and I greatly appreciate it, but I am even more appreciative of the right to speak for myself. I never made any commitment with regard to this amendment.

One of my predecessors, Lyndon Johnson, used to say, “I resent a deal I am not a party to.”

Having said that, when I read Senator GRASSLEY’s comments in full, I do not see the deal that your docking clause from New York sees. Senator GRASSLEY says on March 8, on page S. 2032, “The point is we can assure the Senator from New York the yeas and nays on his amendment. We can’t assure the Senator from New York when we are going to vote on the amendment.”

Reasonable men looking at the same facts are prone to disagree, as Thomas Jefferson said. But it looks to me as if this is a commitment to have the yeas and nays on having a rollcall vote. I don’t see any commitment about ending debate on the amendment in advance.

Having said that, let me say what I want to say...

No. 1, I will object to a time limit on any amendment within the jurisdiction of the Banking Committee from this point forward. We have all had a good time, and I don’t think a lot of amendments, many of which were of dubious merit and no relevance whatsoever to the underlying bill. But we have reached the point now where you are either for the bankruptcy bill or you are against it. I am for it. And I think we need to get on with our job. Cloture has been filed. We are going to vote on that tomorrow.

What I am willing to do is sit down with the Senator from New York and his staff, if we can do that, and try to figure out exactly what it is he is trying to do, get an opportunity to raise concerns I have, and then basically make a decision as to whether we can move forward with an amendment or substitute. But in terms of reaching a resolution, the best use of our time would be to sit down for a few minutes with our staff and see if we can potentially work something out. I would like to propose that to my colleague from New York.

Let me also make clear, it would make me happy to have no more amendments. I don’t understand why we are continuing to have all these votes. If the Senator wants to hold the Senate up and not allow votes, that doesn’t break my heart. But that is up to the Senator from New York. What I would like to do is see if something can be worked out and for the two of us and our staff to sit down and see if something can be worked out.

Senator Grassley, I have a point of order. My understanding is that while I was out of the room, what Senator Grassley meant, I don’t have any doubt that the Senator from New York reads it the way he is saying it is written. I read it the other way. The point is, perhaps something can be worked out. However he wants to proceed, I think our time would be well spent to take about 10 minutes and sit down and talk to the amendment.

With that, let me suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The assistant legislative clerk procour the roll.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment (No. 25) as modified, is in order for Senator Dodd to offer an amendment, No. 75.

I further ask consent that there be 40 minutes equally divided for debate in relation to the Dodd amendment and, following that time, the vote to proceed to the Schumer amendment, to be followed immediately by a vote in relation to the Dodd amendment, and that second-degree amendments be in order prior to the vote.

I further ask consent that following those votes, the Senate proceed to consideration of the Wyden amendment, No. 78.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. REID addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Nevada.

Mr. REID. Reserving the right to object, I, first of all, express my appreciation to the chairman of the Banking Committee for allowing us to go forward. I understand, as I indicated earlier in the day, the sincerity of his concern about this. I am happy to have him claiming jurisdiction. As I indicated to him, I have the same problem in my committee and in the Senate Finance Committee for allowing us to go forward. I understand, as I indicated earlier in the day, the sincerity of his concern about this. I am happy to have him claiming jurisdiction. As I indicated to him, I have the same problem in my committee and in the Senate Finance Committee for allowing us to go forward.

I further ask consent that following those votes, the Senate proceed to consideration of the Wyden amendment, No. 78.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. REID addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Nevada.

Mr. REID. Reserving the right to object, I, first of all, express my appreciation to the chairman of the Banking Committee for allowing us to go forward. I understand, as I indicated earlier in the day, the sincerity of his concern about this. I am happy to have him claiming jurisdiction. As I indicated to him, I have the same problem in my committee and in the Senate Finance Committee for allowing us to go forward.
calling me from Texas, his statements about the Utah for helping, as well as Senators minutes. This I hope this amendment will not be adopted. If it is adopted, I am determined that it not become law. I urge my colleagues to look at this amendment and keep in mind that bankruptcy law is primarily aimed at protecting creditors. Destroying the marketability of financial assets by creating the potential to raise new claims after the bankruptcy is something that cannot be in the public interest. It does nothing to hurt the bankrupt company.

If we want to strengthen laws to put people in jail longer for bad lending practices, that is one thing. To punish creditors who have had nothing to do with this issue is fundamentally wrong. I yield to the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from New York is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, I thank my colleagues from Nevada and Utah as well as Senators from Connecticut and Oregon.

I say to my good friend, the Senator from Texas, his statements about the proposal are about as accurate as the statements about my title. I was elected to the Senate 2 years ago. He was calling me “Congressman SCHUMER.” He was about as accurate in my application as he is in his description of the amendment.

First, this amendment is a simple amendment. When someone is terribly victimized because of a predatory lender, this amendment prevents that predatory lender from declaring bankruptcy, selling its loans into the secondary market, and then vamoosing, leaving the poor homeowner with nothing. This has happened time and time again. Predatory lenders have filed Chapter 11.

United Companies, First Alliance, Conti Mortgage, all listed hundreds of individual class actions, as well as State government enforcement actions pending when they filed. Worse yet, when they sold their loan portfolios, the purchasers of these loans were fully aware of the predatory claims pending and serious questions about whether all the mortgages were valid or enforceable.

This is not some innocent creditor. Any creditor who buys loans in bankruptcy knows the score. And even when they do, under present law they can say to the poor homeowner who has basically been financially raped: Sorry, you have no claim against us. Go sue the bankrupt predatory lender.

What this does in effect is allow new predatory lenders to exist because they know even if someone goes after them, having made all their money beforehand and paid it out in salaries and everything else, they can then sell the loans into the secondary market and then the market will start anew. If the secondary lender knew they might be susceptible to the claims of the homeowner who was seduced, they wouldn’t be so fast to buy the loan from the predatory lender.

This amendment: That the predatory lender sells knowingly to the secondary market, and then vamooses, leaving the poor homeowner with nothing from the predatory lender.

I supported the amendment by my colleague from Illinois, but that was much broader, dealing with all predatory lending. Not this. This only deals with those predatory lenders who declare bankruptcy as a means of escaping claims of people who have struggled, who have saved their $25 and $50 and $100 every week or month, so that they buy their home, and when they buy that home, they find that the home is not up to the standards in which they believed a mortgage is not what they were told, and their American dream is smashed.

If this amendment is so detrimental to honest secondary mortgage buyers, then why do Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac support this amendment? They are the largest secondary market makers in the country when it comes to mortgages, far and away, and they are supportive. I am sure they are not doing something to damage themselves.

This is not an overreach amendment. It is a modest amendment. It is the most modest amendment that has been offered on predatory lending on this bill. It does not involve the Banking Committee, no more so than any of the other amendments that deal with money and banks and credit cards because we solely amend the bankruptcy code, not RESPA or TILA or any of the other laws in the Banking Committee’s jurisdiction.

What it does is very simple: It deals with the kinds of situations that my good colleague, Senator SARBANS, mentioned when he rose in support of the amendment: That the predatory lender sells knowingly to the secondary mortgage and that mortgage then says: There is nothing I can do. Even though I knew these were horrible loans that violated the law, I am immune from any claim.

It is a simple amendment. It is a fair amendment. It is a humane amendment. I hope that this kind of amendment on its own should pass close to unanimously in this body. I don’t know if it will. Based on the merits, it could hardly be fairer or any less controversial.

I remind my colleagues that everyone cares about this issue is watching this vote. It is a simple and fair one and seeks only to protect innocent consumers, American families, by whom we have each been elected.

I yield to the Chair. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous agreement, the Senator from Connecticut is recognized. from the barrage of unsolicited credit card applications. I am not exaggerating when I tell you that the mere signature of a student and the presentation of an identification card, indicating they are a student in that institution, is all they need to sign up for $3,000, $5,000, $20,000 worth of credit.

This amendment merely attempts to inject some responsibility into a process that is out of control in this country. This in a moment of time, the statistics which bear this claim out. This is not a small problem. It is a growing problem. We must demand that the credit card industry bear some responsibility before they go on college campuses and accept applications from these young people, enticing them with the offer of a free baseball cap, or a free T-shirt without anything more than a signature and an ID. This is the growing problem across our nation that this amendment attempts to address.

Mr. President, I strongly support the purported goal of the underlying bill: to curb bankruptcy abuses. My fear is in our zeal to prevent abuses, we have cast the net too broadly, and snared some of the most vulnerable in our society, who ironically are the primary targets of many aggressive credit card companies exercise their best judgment when it comes to the people who are obtaining their own credit cards for the very first time.

Additionally, the legislation before us offers no protection for the most vulnerable in our society, who ironically are the primary targets of many credit card issuers—college students. This amendment, which I am offering along with my colleague from Massachusetts, is very simple. It makes a modest attempt to help educate young people, as well as help credit card issuers help themselves by making sure that those persons applying for credit cards have the reasonable ability to repay those debts or that someone will cosign with them, or that they will take at least a course on understanding what their credit responsibilities would be.

In the context of the bankruptcy debate, I think it is important to understand that an estimated 150,000 young Americans declared bankruptcy in the year 2000. I will repeat that. 150,000 young Americans last year alone, filed for bankruptcy protection. That is a staggering number. According to Houston University professor, Robert Manning, the fastest growing group of bankruptcy filers are those people who are 25 years of age or younger.

In fact, the number of bankruptcies among those under the age of 25 is more than 6 times that of what it was 5 years ago. One of the most troubling developments in the hotly contested battle between the credit card issuers to sign up new customers has been the aggressive way in which some credit card issuers target people under the age of 21, particularly on college campuses across America.

Solicitations of this group have become more intense for a variety of reasons. First, it is one of the few market segments in which there are always new customers to go after. Every year, 25 to 30 percent of undergraduates are fresh faces entering their first year of college. It is also an age group in which brand loyalty can be established. In the words of one major credit card issuer, “We are in the relationship business, and we want to build relationships early on.”

Recent press stories have reported that people hold on to their first credit card for up to 15 years, but in my view, some credit card issuers have gone just too far. They irresponsibly target the most vulnerable in society and extend large amounts of credit with absolutely no regard to whether or not there is a reasonable expectation of repayment.

Although college students are one of the primary targets for credit card marketers, they are not alone. One does not have to be in college to receive a credit card. In fact, one does not have to be old enough to read to qualify for one.

I am sure there are people who may be listening to this debate who can offer their own anecdotes.

I bring the attention of my colleagues a heartwarming story that was reported in the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle. The article relates the story of a 3-year-old child who received a platinum credit card with a credit limit of $5,000. Her mother filled in the application. I quote what she said:

I would like a credit card to buy some toys, but I’m only 3 and my mommy says no.

This child’s credit line is greater than the number of days she has been alive. The pitfalls of giving 3-year-olds platinum credit cards is self-evident, and this is happening with increasing frequency.

Let me take a moment to refocusing on the efforts of credit card companies on young people in our academic institutions. Credit card issuers are deeply involved in the business of enlisting college and universities to help promote their products. I find this shameful, and I hope they are listening: It is shameful what you are doing to these young people on your campuses.
According to Professor Robert Manning, banks pay the largest 250 universities nearly $1 billion annually for exclusive marketing rights to sell their credit cards on college campuses.

Other colleges receive as much as 1 percent of all student charges from the credit card issuers in return for marketing or affinity agreements. Even those colleges that do not enter into such agreements are making money. Robert Senne, president of College Marketing Intelligence, told the American Banker that colleges charge up to $400 per day for each credit card company that sets up a table on their campuses. That can run into tens of thousands of dollars by the end of just one semester.

A recent “60 Minutes II” piece that ran a few weeks ago vividly illustrated the impact that credit card debt can have on college students. A crew from the CBS News Studio at the University of Texas at Austin, a major public university campus in this country and, with the use of hidden cameras, filmed vendors pushing free T-shirts, hats, and other enticements with credit card applications: Just sign on the dotted line, show me your ID, and you get $5,000 to $10,000 worth of credit. That is all you need. A signature, an ID, you get a hat, a T-shirt, and you incur $5,000 worth of debt.

The “60 Minutes II” revealed that the university, a well-known university in this country, was being paid $13 million over 10 years by a credit card company for the right to have a presence on their campus and to use the university logo on its credit cards. This public university is actually making money off its students who use these cards. As part of the agreement, the university receives four-tenths of a percent of each purchase made with the cards. Unbelievable. This university has a vested interest in getting their students in as much debt as possible.

We have a chance to do something about that. Look, if you are going to sign up a student under 21, and they do not have a dependent source of income to repay, then a parent, guardian or other responsible party should co-sign or at least mandate that the student will take a course to understand what credit obligations are.

If you are in the military, you have a paycheck. This amendment has no effect on persons who have a source of income. I am not referring to those people. I am talking about kids who have no independent source of income who are supported, who are being given these cards without any consideration for what it is going to do to them or their families.

The “60 minutes II” piece also told the story of one student’s circumstances. Sean Moyer’s father had made desperate attempts to handle the massive credit card debt he incurred. Sean Moyer’s life began to spin out of control as a result of the huge debts racked up in colleges. He could not get along to go to law school like he dreamed. His parents could not afford to pay his way. So in 1998, Sean Moyer took his own life.

“It is obscene that the universities are making money off the suffering of their students,” said Sean Moyer’s mother. Sean Moyer had 12 credit cards and more than $10,000 in debts when he committed suicide nearly 3 years ago. He had two jobs, one at the library and another at a Holiday Inn. He could not pay his credit card debt and his collection agencies, those who were responsible for his debts, would not give him a break.

Three years after his son’s death, his mother still gets pre-approved credit card offers in Sean’s name from some of the same companies to whom he owed thousands of dollars. One company pre-approved Sean for a $100,000 credit line, according to his mother.

Do not misunderstand me. People have to take responsibility for their actions. If you are going to apply for a credit card, you have to understand your responsibilities. All that I ask is that there be a commensurate responsibility on those soliciting these individuals. That is all I am asking for: some sense of responsibility.

In the last Congress, I went to the main campus of the University of Connecticut in my home State to meet with student leaders about this issue. I was surprised at the amount of solicitations on the campus. The president of the University of Connecticut. I was surprised at the degree to which the students themselves were concerned about the constant barrage of offers they were receiving.

The offer seemed very attractive. One student intern in my office received four solicitations in 2 weeks. One promised “eight cheap flights while you still have 18 weeks of vacation.” Another promised a platinum card with what appeared to be a low interest rate until you read the fine print that it applied only to balance transfers, not to the account overall.

Only one of four, the Discover card, panned a brochure about credit terms, but in completing the spring break sweepstakes. In fact, last year the Chicago Tribune reported that the average college freshman will receive 50 solicitations during their first few months at college—50 solicitations from credit card companies. All you have to do is sign up and show your ID. You get five grand of credit. Is it too much to ask that the student show they can repay these debts? Or have an independent source of income? Or, in the absence of that, mom and dad or guardian would co-sign the application? Or the student will complete a credit education course to understand what credit obligations are? It can be any one of these three options. That is all this amendment does.

College students can get green-lighted for a line of credit that can reach more than $10,000 on a signature and an ID, according to the Chicago Tribune.

There is a serious public policy question about whether people in this age bracket can be presumed to be able to make the sensible financial choices that are being forced on them from this barrage of marketing. It is very difficult to get reliable information from the credit card issuers about their marketing practices to people under the age of 21.

However, the statistics that are available are desperately troubling. I refer to chart #2, titled “Credit cards and debt.” Nellie Mae, a major student loan provider in New England, conducted a recent survey of students who applied for student loans. It termed the results “alarming.”

The study found the following: 78 percent of all undergraduate students have at least one credit card. That is up in 2 years from 67 percent to 78 percent. Of those students, the average credit card balance is $2,748. That is up from $1,879, 2 years ago.

In 1996, 67 percent of these students with credit cards, and in 2 years it jumped 11 percent. In the same 2-year period, the obligations have gone up nearly $1,000, with every indication that the student credit card debt is on the rise. We can do something now or wait until the problem is more severe. Ten percent of the college students have over $7,000 in credit card debt; 32 percent of the undergraduates had four or more credit cards in the survey.

Some college administrators are bucking the trend of using credit card issuers as a source of income. Some have become so concerned they have banned credit card companies from campuses. I applaud them. Some have even gone so far as to ban credit card advertisements in the campus bookstores.

Roger Witherspoon, the vice president of student development at John Jay College of Criminal Justice in New York, banned credit card solicitors, saying indebtedness was causing students to drop out. Middle-class parents can bail out their kids when this happens, but lower income parents can’t.

I do not agree with Mr. Witherspoon on that statement. I don’t think middle-class parents can afford it, either. Middle-class parents trying to make ends meet can hardly assume this kind of burden. Only the most affluent of people can assume these obligations.

Mr. Witherspoon also said, “kids only find out later how much it messes up their lives.”

An important component of this amendment is requiring credit counseling.

Let me explain how this works. Much like we encourage our children who reach driving age to take driver’s education courses to prevent automobile accidents, I think we should teach young people, young consumers, the basics of credit to avoid financial wrecks. Educating our Nation’s youth about responsibilities of financial management is critical. Currently, we hardly do a very good job.

There is overwhelming evidence student debt is skyrocketing. Most surveys also show the same group of consumers is woefully uninformed about
Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I appreciate the feelings of my colleague from Connecticut. He is a good man.

I will not go into all of the data they provided, but a startling number, well over a majority of students, have little or no understanding how credit works. Without instruction in my mind, some credit counseling requirement is needed before you can sign on for the kind of debt being offered by the credit card issuers. The amendment I offer does not take away draconian action against the credit card industry.

I agree with those who argue there are many millions of people under the age of 21 who hold full-time jobs, are deserving of credit. I also agree students should continue to have access to credit, that we should not try to prohibit the market from making credit available to them. Again, this amendment does nothing to affect these persons. However, you ought to be required more than just a student ID to qualify for credit. That is all that is currently required. I don’t think asking for a co-signature, or proof that you have a job id too onerous. Barring the absence of those two qualifications, you need only take a course in credit responsibility.

I think parents across the country would applaud the passage of this amendment. How many parents with kids who are currently in college are incurring more debt than they can afford. Are they perhaps affecting the ability of another sibling to go to school because of the debt they have accumulated? I think every mother and father in America would applaud a statute that would tighten the bankruptcy laws for debtors, make the credit card companies more responsible, too.

This is a modest amendment. Can’t we adopt this amendment, include this sort of simple proposal, to add some basic sense of responsibility for creditors? This bill should help families, not hurt them. If I have to choose between the credit card companies versus the parents, I believe that we should side with the parents. On this issue, parents should get our vote.

I hope my colleagues, Republicans and Democrats, whatever else their views may be on this bill, will decide tonight, as parents and children gather around the dinner table, we will vote for this amendment, and cast a ballot tonight on behalf of families.

Mr. HATCH. How much time remains?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Utah has 20 minutes under his control; no time remains for the Senator from Connecticut.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I appreciate the feelings of my colleague from Connecticut. He is a good man.

I think this is a discriminatory amendment which would unduly restrict access to credit cards for adults between the ages of 18 and 21. It is a paternalistic amendment and some believe it is paternalism at its worst. It puts a complete prohibition on the issuance of a credit card to those adults unless, one, their parent, guardian, or some other means agrees in writing to joint liability for the debt; or, two, if a person submits proof of independent means of repayment; or, three, the consumer proves he has completed a credit counseling program.

These hurdles, targeted at adults between the ages of 18 and 21, in our opinion, are not warranted. In short, adults between the ages of 18 and 21 can vote, serve in the military, obtain a driver’s license, and under longstanding law enter into legally binding contracts. Discriminating against them when it comes to obtaining credit cannot be justified.

The unnecessary and burdensome requirements of making various paper-work submissions under this amendment will make the cost of credit more expensive for everybody and the process inefficient.

Of course, this amendment strikes me also as ironic. Those who oppose parental consent for abortion for those under the age of 18 want parental consent for individuals over 18 to get credit cards. Something is wrong with that picture. That, it seems to me, is ironic.

Frankly, we had a 50-42 vote to table an amendment that attempted to restrict access to credit to adults between the ages of 18 and 21. This amendment by the distinguished Senator from Connecticut is even more restrictive and unfair than that amendment.

One last comment I have is this amendment is based on the myth younger borrowers are less responsible than older borrowers. The truth is that they are more responsible.

As of 1999, 59 percent of all college students in America paid their balance in full at the end of each month compared to only 40 percent of the general population. And 86 percent of students pay their credit cards with their own money, not with their parents’ money. Frankly, there is little or no reason to have this amendment. I know it is well intentioned, but just the costs alone would be passed on to every person in the country. One last thing, I think it seems to us the amendment discriminates against young people between 18 and 21, the age of accountability in the eyes of most States, where they can legally enter into contracts. What are we going to do next, take away their rights to enter into contracts because we don’t trust them or we don’t think they are adult enough to be able to handle these matters?

Again, I think this amendment is well intentioned, but these young people have all these obligations in life that they have to live up to, and they are living up to them. Yes, there are horror stories such as those the Senator has indicated, but I can give you horror stories among adults, too, 40, 50, 60 years of age who just didn’t live up to the obligations to pay their debts.

I think bankruptcy is a sorry thing for everybody. I wish nobody had to go into bankruptcy. But I will tell you one thing: To pass on additional costs and additional burdens to everybody else because there are some people who are irresponsible is not the right thing to do.

Last but not least, under this bill, if they are under the average median income in their particular area, they will not have the obligation of going into the other chapter and having to try to pay back some part of these debts. I think society understands that.

What we are trying to do is get people to be more responsible in this area. I think this bill will go a long way towards doing that. I appreciate my colleague, but I have to move to table this amendment. I am prepared to yield the remainder of my time.

Does the Senator need any more time? I am prepared to yield the remainder of my time.

Mr. DODD. If the Senator will yield 5 minutes of his time for one Member who would like to be heard on the amendment, I have no time.

Mr. HATCH. I am happy to yield to the distinguished Senator from New York.

Mrs. CLINTON. Mr. President, I join in support of this amendment because we know, from a lot of the work that has been done over the last several years, many students are being deliberately solicited, even targeted, for credit cards before they are financially independent, responsible, or knowledgeable about what it is they are signing up for. Story after story has demonstrated clearly that this particular amendment by my good friend, the Senator from Connecticut, targets a real problem.

I think all of us are committed to ensuring that people who are irresponsible with their financial affairs are held accountable. But I think we should look at our young people in a different category. It used to be no one could be held financially responsible when they were under 21. Then the age was dropped for many purposes to 18. But I think it seems our children grow up these days, there are many young people in college or out working who are not yet 21 who do not really have the experience to deal with the solicitations that come flooding through the mail and over the telephone that we know are targeting them with these credit card applications.

This morning, I was talking with another colleague of ours who told me he was babysitting for his very young grandchildren. He said the phone rang, and the person on the other end asked for one of his grandchildren. Our colleague said: What is this about? He was told, much to his amazement, that his 5½-year-old granddaughter had been approved for a new credit card. He said he was shocked this kind of activity was going on and did not really believe it until it happened in his own family.

I urge our colleagues, regardless of the position we take on the underlying legislation, we should stand behind the basic principle that our young people should not be solicited, they should be given the better credit training as this amendment proposes, and there should be some sense of responsibility on the part of creditors before they reach out to entice our young people into these credit cards before they even know what it is they are signing up for. It looks all so easy, and they end up in trouble, with debts they cannot pay.

Let’s try to avoid that. That does not mean they cannot ever become customers, but let’s make it a little more responsible in the steps that have to be taken in order for them to qualify. I certainly urge passage of this amendment. I thank my good friend, the Senator from Utah, for yielding time.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Utah.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I will just take a minute.

I understand this amendment is well intentioned. Think about it. We are talking about taking away the rights of people who have to go to work, people who have a driver’s license, people who can enter into legal contracts. That is paternalism at its worst.

According to a national survey by the Educational Resources Institute, a majority of students use credit cards responsibly and do not accumulate large amounts of credit card debt. The majority of students, 59 percent, typically pay off their monthly balances right away. Of the 41 percent who carry over their balances each month, 81 percent pay off more than the minimum amount due. In addition, the overwhelming majority of students pay their own credit card bills. The 14 percent of students who do not pay their own bills receive assistance mostly from parents or spouses.

The average monthly balances reported by students also appear to be manageable. Eighty-two percent of students with credit cards who know their balance report average balances of $1,000 or less, and 9 percent have average balances between $1,001 and $2,000. In addition, slightly more than half of student credit card users report combined limits of $3,000 or less. All of these factors indicate the majority of students use credit cards responsibly. A significant portion of students with credit cards use them to pay for education-related expenses.

This amendment is much more restrictive than the prior amendment by the distinguished Senator from California, which was voted down. I am prepared to yield back the remainder of my time, having said that.

VOTE ON AMENDMENT NO. 25, AS MODIFIED

On the Schumer amendment, I move to table and ask for the yeas and nays. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There is a sufficient second. The question is on agreeing to the motion to table amendment No. 25, as modified. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk called the roll. Mr. FITZGERALD (when his name was called). Present.

The result was announced—yeas 44, nays 55, as follows:

[Rollcall Vote No. 24 Leg.]

YEAS—44

Allard

Allen

Bennett

Bond

Brownback

Bunning

Burns

Campbell

Cooper

Craig

DeWine

Domenici

McConnell

Frist

NAYS—55

Miller

Lieberman

Mikulski

Murray

Reed

Rockefeller

Sarbanes

Schatumer

Stabenow

Terricelli

Wellstone

Wyden

The motion was rejected.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote, and I move to lay that motion on the table.

VOTE ON AMENDMENT NO. 25, AS MODIFIED

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question occurs on amendment No. 25, as modified.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the yeas and nays be vitated.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The question is on agreeing to the amendment. The amendment (No. 25), as modified, was agreed to.

Mr. SARBANES. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote. Mr. HATCH. I move to lay that on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

VOTE ON AMENDMENT NO. 75

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I move to table the Dodd amendment and ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There is a sufficient second. The question is on agreeing to the motion to table the Dodd amendment. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk called the roll.

Mr. FITZGERALD (when his name was called). Present.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. VOINOVICH). Are there any other Senators in the Chamber desiring to vote?

The result was announced—yeas 38, nays 41, as follows:

[Rollcall Vote No. 25 Leg.]

YEAS—58

Allard

Allen

Baucus

Bayh

Biden

Bingaman

Byrd

Canwell

Carper

Chafee

Cleland

Clinton

Collins

 Conrad

Collins

Conrad

Collins

DAYTON

DASCHLE

READY

DASCHLE

LIEBERMAN

Mikulski

Murray

Reed

Rockefeller

Sarbanes

Schatumer

Stabenow

Terricelli

Wellstone

Wyden

ANSWERED “PRESENT”—1

Fitzgerald

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. WYDEN. I move to reconsider the vote by which the amendment was agreed to.

Mr. HATCH. I move to lay that motion on the table.

Mr. WYDEN. I move to reconsider the vote by which the amendment was agreed to.

AMENDMENT NO. 76

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order the clerk will report the Wyden amendment.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Oregon [Mr. WYDEN], for himself, Mr. BAUCUS and Mrs. MURRAY, propose an amendment numbered 76, as follows:

(a) In General.—Section 1141(d) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by this Act, is amended by adding at the end the following:

SEC. 420. NONDISCHARGEABILITY OF DEBTS ARISING FROM THE EXCHANGE OF ELECTRIC ENERGY.

(A) In General.—Section 1141(d) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by this Act, is amended by adding at the end the following:

(4) ELECTRIC ENERGY.

(5) ELECTRIC ENERGY.
(6) The confirmation of a plan does not discharge a debtor—

(A) in the case of a debtor that is a corporation, from any debt for wholesale electric power received by the debtor under an order issued by the Secretary of Energy (or any amendment of or attachment to that order) under section 202(d)(1)(A) of the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 824a(c)) and requested by the California Independent System Operator; or

(B) in the case of debt owed to a Federal, State or local government agency named in an order referred to in subparagraph (A) for wholesale electric power received by the debtor under an order that charged for power traded by the California Power Exchange delivered to the California Independent System Operator is determined by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission to be unjust and unreasonable, in which case this subparagraph should only apply to debt for the actual cost of production and distribution.

(b) Automatic Stay.—Section 362(b) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by this Act, is amended—

(1) In paragraph (28), as added by section 907(d) of this Act, by striking “or” at the end;

(2) In paragraph (29), as added by section 1106 of this Act, by striking the period at the end and inserting “; or” and;

(3) by inserting after that paragraph (29) the following:

“(30) under subsection (a), of the commencement or continuation, and conclusion to the entry of final judgment or order, of a judicial, administrative, or other action or proceeding for debts that are nondischargeable under section 1141(c)(d)(6).”;

(c) Technical and Conforming Amendments.—

Section 1111(a) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking “subsection (d)(2) and (d)(3) of this section” and inserting “paragraphs (2), (3), and (6) of subsection (d)”.

(d) Applicability.—This section and the amendments made by this section shall apply with respect to any petition for bankruptcy filed under title 11, United States Code, on or after March 1, 2001.

Mr. WYDEN. I offer this bipartisan amendment tonight on behalf of my colleague, Senator BOXER, and Senator LEAHY, and Senator SMITH, from the Pacific Northwest. It was perfected in close consultation with Senator BOXER because of the importance of this matter to Senator BOXER’s California constituents.

As all of our colleagues know, during the California energy crisis a number of regions of this country have tried to assist. In the Pacific Northwest we believe we have been more than a good neighbor. Bonneville Power and other governmental agencies up and down the west coast have repeatedly shifted power to California to help out at critical times.

Various California public officials have thanked profusely the Bonneville Power Administration and others for helping California avoid blackouts, helped that was a real hardship for many in the Pacific Northwest because we have had a drought, a low-water year. A variety of concerns were very much on the mind of those whom Senator SMITH and I represent.

To give an idea of how appreciative California public officials have been, I will read a letter Senator FEINSTEIN wrote to Bonneville Power Administration recently.

Mr. WYDEN. I am happy to yield to my friend from California. I want to make clear to her we very much appreciate her being involved because this is so important to her constituents. We tried to perfect it so as to address her legitimate concerns.

Mrs. BOXER. I thank my friend.

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, if I may interrupt, I hope Senators who have amendments they want to bring down, and I hope they will because I think many of us would like to get some amendments that would be in a position to be voted on perhaps early tomorrow morning so we can start fairly quickly.

As I said, we would have finished this bill last week had we not had ergonomics and other things interfering.

Mr. WYDEN. I express again my appreciation to the Senator from California because we want to come up with something very fair for the whole west coast and not pit people against each other. I am happy to yield to the Senator at this time.

Mrs. BOXER. Let me say to my friend, what I would like to do is state my understanding of the amendment that my friend would like to have. I want to then ask my friend to comment if I am correct in my assumptions about this amendment.

First, I appreciate the Senator’s openness, working with me. The fact is I did not know my colleague in the west coast are going to have to work together. We need each other because there are some times when they will need power and we will have excess power. That may happen at some point. It has happened in the past. Certainly in this recent example we desperately need the power, and even though they had a hard time doing it, they came through for us. That is why we have thanked them. I say again a very big thank you on behalf of my constituents.

As we all know, power is not a luxury item; you need it to live. If you are elderly and it is cold, you need it to stay warm. You need the lights. Certainly our jobs depend on electricity. So I do think the spirit with which my friends offer this amendment is not a spirit of anger but I think it is a spirit of fairness.

I want to point out to my friend my understanding, and I hope when he comments on my remarks he will tell me if I am right, that there are 12, as we have read it, public power entities in California which will benefit from this amendment. In other words, it is not only Bonneville but, in essence, we want to understand the Senator is saying is if public utilities stepped in and helped us during this period, the utilities should pay their bills. I think it is fair. I don’t think we can say thank you very much and then let them be there hanging without getting paid.

I think it also says if the private sector was forced to sell power in addition to the public sector during that crisis.
period, in fact they will get paid, except they will not get paid back that portion that the FERC says was unfair and unreasonable.

I really appreciate my friend including that language in his amendment because to pay them a fair price, I do not think we should have to pay it if it is gouging. My friend was very quick to say he would, in fact, add that language.

So my understanding is the purpose of this is to protect, in general, public utilities that are selling to California utilities to make sure they get paid; second, during that period of crisis, that any generator that was forced to sell, gets paid—except they do not get the part that may have been considered unjust and unreasonable charges.

As I understand it, the public power entities that will benefit from this are: California Department of Water Resources, City of Anaheim, City of Aromas, City of Banning, City of Burbank, City of Del Monte, City of Pasadena, City of Riverside, City of Vernon, Sacramento Municipal Utilities District, Silicon Valley Power, and Western Area Power Administration in Folsom.

I have heard from these public utilities. They have told me, I say to my friend from Oregon, they are very frightened about not getting paid. While the big generators may be able to wait, these smaller public utilities really need this amendment so if the worst happens—and we certainly hope the worst will not happen—and there is a bankruptcy filing, these debts cannot be discharged.

Let me just wrap it up in this fashion. I know there are disagreements. The Governor does not agree with my position on it. Senator Feinstein does not, others do. The fact of the matter is, I do not want to be known as a deadbeat State. California is too great to see that. I am also delighted to see the Senator from Missouri here to offer a fair amendment. I do not think we should have to pay them a fair price, I do not think we should have to pay them a fair price, I do not think we should have to pay them a fair price....

So I ask my colleague if he agrees with my interpretation of his amendment and for any other comments he might have.

Mr. Wyden. I think the Senator has stated it extremely well and put a very complicated, extremely complicated, and arcane subject into something resembling English. I really appreciate the Senator’s explanation. I think the position the Senator has taken not only is correct, but it is very gutsy.

We all know this is a divisive issue in many quarters. I want the public to know the reason we have nailed down the protection for those various public entities, such as those California municipalities, is because Senator Boxer, in her amendment, I want it understood that those FERC provisions, again, in the name of fairness, came about because the Senator helped us put that language together. I think when one looks consistently at who is out on the floor of the Senate standing up for the consumer, the Senator has shown that again and again. I think the spirit the Senator has shown in working with us on this issue is exactly what it is going to take to bring folks together in the Senate and on the West coast to really address this issue in a comprehensive way for the long term.

I thank the Senator and would be happy to yield to her for any other comments.

Mrs. Boxer. I thank the Senator again. This is a long, drawn-out fight. I hope we can work together in the future.

Mr. Reid. Would the Senator from Oregon yield for a unanimous consent request?

Mr. Wyden. Absolutely.

Mr. Reid. This is a very difficult issue. A lot of people want to speak on it. I see a number of them on the floor this evening.

Senator Carnahan, the junior Senator from Missouri, has been here, in and out, all day long. She has an amendment to offer. She has asked to speak on the amendment for 5 minutes. Then we would return the floor to the Senator from Oregon.

I expect a number of them on the floor who are so concerned about this amendment offered by the Senator from Oregon to allow Senator Carnahan to proceed. I ask unanimous consent—Mr. Wyden. Will the Senator yield?

Mr. Reid. Yes.

Mr. Wyden. Clearly, I think west coast Senators may not agree on everything debated tonight, but I think all of us can agree it is very appropriate that Senator Carnahan get 5 minutes at this point.

Mr. Reid. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the pending amendment be set aside, that the Senator from Missouri be allowed to offer an amendment, and to speak on it for up to 5 minutes, and then the floor would be returned to the Senator from Oregon.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Missouri...

Mr. LEAHY addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Vermont...

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I just ask consent to speak for a moment before we go to the Senator from Missouri without it detracting from her time.

Mr. Reid. Mr. President, I am also delighted to see the Senator from Missouri here to offer and speak on her amendment. I want to add to what the Senator from Nevada said. He did his usual courtesy in providing for all Members on our side. The Senator from Missouri has been on the floor waiting to speak more today than has the Senator from Vermont as one of the managers. So it is only appropriate she proceed now. I commend the Senator from Missouri.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, the pending amendment is laid aside. The Senator from Missouri is recognized for up to 5 minutes.

AMENDMENT NO. 40

Mrs. CARNAHAN. Mr. President, I call up amendment No. 40.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Missouri [Mrs. Carnahan], for herself and Ms. Collins, proposes an amendment numbered 40.

Mrs. Carnahan. I ask unanimous consent reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

(Purpose: To ensure additional expenses associated with home energy costs are included in the debtor’s monthly expenses)

On page 10, between lines 17 and 18, insert the following:

(V) In addition, if it is demonstrated that it is reasonable and necessary, the debtor’s monthly expenses may also include an additional allowance for housing and utilities, in excess of the allowance specified by the Local Standards for housing and utilities issued by the International Revenue Service, based on the actual expenses for home energy costs, if the debtor provides documentation of such expenses.

Mrs. Carnahan. The purpose of the amendment that Senator Collins and I are offering is to make sure that extraordinary and unexpected expenses related to home energy costs are taken into consideration in the means test.

Under the bill, monthly utility expenses are calculated based on the Internal Revenue Service standards. But these standards are only updated once a year from data based on the previous 12 months. These standards do not take into account the potential for dramatic increases in home energy costs. The sharp rise in home energy costs this winter has put a tremendous strain on low- and middle-income Americans. People across Missouri and, indeed, across the country have experienced dramatic increases in their home energy costs. Therefore, I believe the potential for significant increases in home energy costs must be considered in the means test.

Our amendment ensures that a debtor can include an additional allowance for their monthly expenses if they are saddled with extraordinary utility costs, the bill already allows a debtor to include an additional allowance for food and clothing in excess of the IRS standard.

The logic of this amendment is similar. It would allow bankruptcy judges to consider whether an additional allowance related to home energy costs is appropriate. But the amendment requires that an additional allowance is only permitted when it is reasonable and necessary, and when the debtor can provide documentation of the additional expenses.

The added discretion provided by the amendment will enable bankruptcy judges to consider that families may be paying double or triple the price for heating their homes as they did when the IRS last calculated local energy costs.

Our amendment will ensure that full bankruptcy relief is not denied to individuals and families because they have been saddled with extraordinary utility costs.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

Mr. LEAHY addressed the Chair. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Vermont.

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I commend the Senator from Missouri for the amendment she has offered. As does the Senator from Missouri, I come from a State that has some very cold winters and a lot of snow. I know how important this issue is.

And as was pointed out, in the frost belt know how an unusually severe winter, sometimes even an enormously severe winter, can push somebody over the brink into bankruptcy.

I think the distinguished Senator from Missouri—I assume we will vote on her amendment tomorrow—has raised an extremely good point. I hope all Senators, whether they come from the northern-tier States or from more temperate States, will look at her amendment and support it. I applaud her for proposing it.

I yield the floor.

Mr. WYDEN addressed the Chair. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Oregon.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President, I will now resume consideration of the amendment I have offered with Senator SMITH. I, too, want to praise Senator CARNAHAN for an excellent amendment. I am happy she spoke on it at this time.

AMENDMENT NO. 78

Mr. President, just a couple of additional points. Again, I want to make it clear that nobody is going ahead of the line under this amendment that we have developed in close consultation with Senator SMITH. I want to make it clear that all that happens is in chapter 11 you have to have a plan to repay the public.

In providing for this review by the FERC, we are not in any way subjecting the Bonneville Power Administration and public entities to rate review by FERC. Rather, it would have rates for power traded or delivered in California subject to FERC review, to examine if they are unjust and unreasonable.

It was a very tough proposition for folks in the Pacific Northwest and elsewhere to send our power to California. It has been a tough year. At the bipartisan town meetings Senator SMITH and I held earlier this year, again and again we heard from our constituents who were very irate—and understandably so—about being forced to send power to California. It doesn’t seem to be fair—just not right—to say that all of those working families in the Pacific Northwest are going to be stiffed, that after thank-you letters have arrived, now somehow there could be a bankruptcy proceeding and the folks we represent just have to face the music and the extra cost.

I urge my colleagues to prevent this unfair result by supporting the bipartisan amendment Senator SMITH and I developed with Senator BOXER from California.

I am happy to yield to my colleague from Oregon at this time.

AMENDMENT NO. 97 TO AMENDMENT NO. 78

Mr. SMITH of Oregon. Mr. President, I thank my colleague. I send a second-degree amendment to the desk and ask for its immediate consideration. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Oregon [Mr. SMITH], for himself and Mr. WYDEN, proposes an amendment numbered amendment No. 78.

Mr. SMITH of Oregon. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that reading of the amendment be dispensed with. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

(Purpose: To provide for the nondischargeability of debts arising from the exchange of electric energy)

Strike all after the first word and insert the following:

420. NONDISCHARGEABILITY OF DEBTS ARISING FROM THE EXCHANGE OF ELECTRIC ENERGY.

(a) In general.—Section 1141(d) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by this Act, is amended by adding at the end the following:

(6) The confirmation of a plan does not discharge a debt arising from the exchange of electric energy (as defined in section 1141(d)(6))

(b) Scope of subparagraph (a).—Subtitle B of title 11, United States Code, as amended by this Act, is amended by striking the last sentence of section 362(b) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by this Act.

Mr. SMITH of Oregon. Mr. President, my second-degree amendment is very similar to the amendment offered by Senator WYDEN’s. I have changed only the date of the applicability for bankruptcy filings to those that occur on or after March 7, 2001, and I have further clarified that just and reasonable debt owed will be paid to government agencies. I did this because it is important to recognize the efforts made by the State of California during the first week of March to begin to restore stability to the west coast energy market. On March 5, the California Public Utilities Commission announced that the State department of water resources had signed four long-term contracts for electricity. Prior to this, the State had required the investor-owned utilities to purchase all their power on the spot market, making these utilities very vulnerable to short-term price spikes.

While California is making some headway on restoring the creditworthiness of its utilities, it is imperative that the utilities in California not be able to export their bills to Oregonians and other Western States by seeking bankruptcy protection and avoiding repaying other power providers in the western United States for power that has literally kept the lights on in California in recent months.

My constituents and energy-sensitive businesses in Oregon are already feeling the effects of the price volatility in the west. Utilities in the northwest are facing current rate increases of 11 to 50 percent.

The customers of the Bonneville Power Administration are facing the prospect of 95 percent rate increases... beginning in October, when current contracts expire.

Much of the media attention in recent months has focused on the cost and availability of electricity in California.

But the West Coast energy market extends to eleven other western States, including Oregon, that are all interconnected by the high-voltage transmission system.

That’s why avoiding bankruptcy for California is important for Oregon and other western States. From the middle of December until early February, western utilities were forced to sell their surplus power into California, with no guarantee of being paid.

If the California utilities subsequently seek bankruptcy protection, it will be Oregonians who are stuck with the bill for California’s failed restructuring effort.

In fact, certain Oregon utilities are already receiving bills from California’s failed restructuring. Other utilities are being paid 60 cents on the dollar for sales they made as far back as last November.

In addition, the Bonneville Power Administration is owed over $100 million for power sales it made into California as long ago as November 2000.

I know that certain state officials have refused to consider raising retail rates in California, claiming the State has the right to do that in the Nation.

However, let me point out just a few facts about California’s energy use from publications by the U.S. Energy Information Administration:

- California ranks 50th in the Nation in the amount of electricity the state can generate on a per capita basis. In fact, total generation has decreased nearly 10 percent in the last 10 years, while total consumption has increased over 10 percent.

- In fact, the average residential bill in California was actually $2.70 less than the average Oregonian’s bill.

- In 1999, Californians actually paid 17 percent below the national average for their monthly electricity bills.

- Further, California consumers paid 32 percent less than consumers in Florida, $58.30 versus $86.34.

- To put a human face on what is happening in my State, let me tell you about a letter I recently received from a small school district in my State.

- Basically, they are pleading for the energy crisis to be fixed because, as a small school district, they are having to take resources away from students to pay energy bills. Their local utility has just added a 20 percent surcharge to the bill of electricity.

- The district also heats a number of its school buildings with natural gas. In November 1999, the bill was $4,383.59. By November 2000, the bill to heat the same buildings was $11,462.

- Another small school district in my State is concerned that its power bills may go up by $100,000. For them, that means laying off two teachers.

- Oregonians area already paying for California’s failed experiment in electricity restructuring. It is exacerbated by one of the worst drought years on record in the Northwest.

- Our rates are going up, but we should not have to pay for California’s mistakes by being stuck with the unpaid bills for being a good neighbor and helping California keep the lights on in recent months.

- I urge my colleagues to support my amendment to our pending legislation. I offer just a few concluding remarks.

- What Senator WYDEN and I are trying to say to our friends and neighbors in California is that Oregonians are already paying once in the form of higher energy prices because of the situation created by California’s law. If there is a bankruptcy, they will pay a second time because the Bonneville Power Administration, in order to make its treasury payments, will be forced to add $100 million or more to the rates charged to Oregon and other western customers. This is not right.

- We are simply saying, as kindly as we can, let’s pay our bills. Let’s be fair as neighbors.

- On a personal level, I can only understand how officials of the State government of California must look with horror upon the rate cap that is there that is not allowing price signals for conservation and production to be sent. In very real and human terms, this law is creating a Frankenstein that is devouring the Western States and it is wreaking havoc upon jobs, communities, schools, and discretionary income. It isn’t right. It isn’t fair.

- I say to my friend from California: A regulated power market can work; a deregulated power market can work. One that is partially regulated and partly deregulated cannot work, as we are seeing to the lament of many people right now.

- Our hope, Senator WYDEN’s hope and mine, and others, is that we can simply say, as good neighbors, please fix this law. At the end of the day, if the ratepayers don’t pay in California, the California taxpayers will pay because they are selling billions of dollars of bonds right now sucking up State surpluses that should be going to schools, should be going to streets, should be going to serve all kinds of human needs but instead are going to pay inflated power rates.

- At the end of the day, it is their issue, but it affects all of us. We want simply to say, with this amendment, please fix the law. Please pay this bill because we are in it together. We know that we can’t let California become less prosperous. Ultimately, the citizens of California will pay. They will pay as ratepayers or they will pay as taxpayers. It is, frankly, their choice. We don’t want to be hung further with this obligation. We want to pay our bills.

- I thank my colleague.

- Mr. WYDEN, I thank my colleague. I will make a couple of additional arguments on my time. I know colleagues want to speak, and I certainly want to give them the opportunity.

- Today as we listen to this discussion, perhaps the central argument that has been advanced by some, that the approach Senator SMITH and I are offering is unwise, is the argument that somehow what we are going to do is force California utilities into bankruptcy. I will take just a minute to say why I don’t think that is the case and, in fact, why I think our legislation is an important step to bring about kinds of negotiations that everybody on the west coast would like to see.

- As our colleagues know, there is an effort underway in California to look at a comprehensive solution which presumably would involve repaying in full everyone who is owed money for sending power to California. That is about $12 billion in total. This amendment involves a few hundred million dollars owed under the emergency order plus deferred payments to government agencies. The total, of course, is only a fraction of what is owed by California.

- The question that is central is, How is it possible that California can go out and work on a deal to pay $12 billion in full but ensure repaying several hundred million dollars, as Senator SMITH and I are calling for, is going to force California utilities into bankruptcy?

- I want to come back to this one last point before yielding, regarding the effort that Senator SMITH and I are pursuing. As I touched on earlier, this comprehensive approach to repaying those who are owed money under discussion in California involves about $12 billion in total. It just seemed to me to not be credible to say that California cannot work out a deal to pay $12 billion in full, but somehow ensuring repayment of several hundred million dollars is going to force the California utilities into bankruptcy.

- My view is that other creditors truly believe they are going to be fully repaid under this $12 billion comprehensive solution. They would not risk forcing California utilities into bankruptcy. Other creditors will only be concerned about our amendment if, in fact, they don’t think there is enough money to pay everybody back.

- The amendment requires that Bonneville Power and other governmental agencies be repaid at some point. Ratepayers and taxpayers don’t end up holding the bag if these for-profit California utilities go into bankruptcy. Other creditors will only be concerned about our amendment if, in fact, they don’t think there is enough money to pay everybody back.

- The amendment requires that Bonneville Power and other governmental agencies be repaid at some point. Ratepayers and taxpayers don’t end up holding the bag if these for-profit California utilities go into bankruptcy. Other creditors will only be concerned about our amendment if, in fact, they don’t think there is enough money to pay everybody back.

- The amendment requires that Bonneville Power and other governmental agencies be repaid at some point. Ratepayers and taxpayers don’t end up holding the bag if these for-profit California utilities go into bankruptcy. Other creditors will only be concerned about our amendment if, in fact, they don’t think there is enough money to pay everybody back.

- The amendment requires that Bonneville Power and other governmental agencies be repaid at some point. Ratepayers and taxpayers don’t end up holding the bag if these for-profit California utilities go into bankruptcy. Other creditors will only be concerned about our amendment if, in fact, they don’t think there is enough money to pay everybody back.

- The amendment requires that Bonneville Power and other governmental agencies be repaid at some point. Ratepayers and taxpayers don’t end up holding the bag if these for-profit California utilities go into bankruptcy. Other creditors will only be concerned about our amendment if, in fact, they don’t think there is enough money to pay everybody back.
I see my colleague from the State of California on the floor. I want to repeat that again. I am prepared to work with her, as I sought to do for several weeks now, to make sure that California can have every opportunity to put the pre-packaged agreement so that this particular amendment never comes into play. But if that doesn’t happen, and if there is a bankruptcy filing, and there isn’t enough money to pay back everybody, then it is up to me that the people’s power—the power that belongs to these public entities deserves an opportunity to get a fair shake in a chapter 11 proceeding so that our constituents are not shell-shocked as part of an effort to be good neighbors.

I yield the floor at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority leader is recognized.

Mr. LOTT. Mr. President, before I ask unanimous consent, it is obvious this has become a very partisan bill. We have people on both sides of the aisle on both sides of this issue. I guess we are making progress.

I ask unanimous consent that any votes be postponed to occur at 4 p.m. on Wednesday. I further ask unanimous consent that there be 2 minutes prior to each vote for explanation, that the votes be in stacked sequence with the first vote limited to 15 minutes and all remaining votes in the sequence limited to 10 minutes.

I further ask unanimous consent that, following those stacked votes, the Senate proceed to additional amendments and that the cloture vote be postponed to occur at 4 p.m. on Wednesday. Further, that just prior to the vote on cloture, Senator WELLSONE be recognized to speak for up to 10 minutes.

This has been discussed with the Democratic leader and cleared on both sides of the aisle.

Mr. WYDEN. Reserving the right to object, just to ask the leader a question: Is it the leader’s desire that this amendment be voted on tonight?

Mr. LOTT. This amendment would be voted on. If a vote is required, at 10:30 tomorrow morning in the stacked sequence.

Mr. WYDEN. I withdraw my reservation.

Mr. LOTT. I know there is a good deal of discussion that needs to go forward. I hope Senators on the floor will continue on this amendment and other amendments. Then, if votes are ordered, we can get back to them.

I believe there would be probably three amendments that would be offered tonight, and therefore we would have probably a minimum of three stacked votes tomorrow at 10:30. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. LOTT. Therefore, there will be no further votes this evening. I thank my colleagues for their cooperation. I look forward to listening to the debate on this particular issue. It is very interesting. I will listen and decide how to vote as the night progresses.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Alaska is recognized.

Mr. REID. Will the Senator from Alaska yield for some parliamentary business for a second without losing his right to the floor?

Mr. MURKOWSKI. I am happy to do that.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Alaska.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I appreciate my friend yielding.

This is a very interesting issue. A lot of people want to talk on it. We have a number of people who are going to be required to offer amendments sometime tonight. We have to have some idea. There are at least two Senators waiting to offer amendments. If I could ask my friend from Alaska, does he have a general idea how long he wishes to speak this evening?

Mr. MURKOWSKI. The Senator from Alaska will probably speak not more than 10 minutes. I am just going to comment on the first degree offered by my colleagues and that we move expeditiously.

Mr. REID. How long does the Senator from Oregon wish to speak this evening?

Mr. WYDEN. I think we will have some back and forth. But certainly the major points I have been interested in making have been made. I am happy to be sure that we are fair to all of our colleagues and that we move expeditiously.

Mr. REID. I am not trying to cut back anybody’s time. Does the Senator from California have an idea as to how much time she may take this evening?

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. I appreciate the question. I believe very strongly about this amendment, and I believe it is going to have untoward consequences and act directly contrary to what the Senator from Oregon believes. I cannot give a precise time. I have been here all day. I have done nothing else. I would like to have a chance to make the arguments against the amendment following the comments of the chairmen of the Energy Committee.

Mr. REID. Just for the sake of Senators waiting, does the Senator believe it will take an hour, hour and a half, 2 minutes, 3 minutes?

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Probably not more than an hour.

Mr. REID. I thank the Senator from Alaska.

Mr. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, first of all, let me share with you my own observation, with respect to the amendment and the underlying amendment by the two Senators from Oregon, that it is understandable their wanting to protect their public power entity, and to ensure that it receives just payment for power provided, to which they are entitled. What concerns the Senator from Alaska, as chairman of the Energy and Natural Resources Committee, are the questions of whether this establishes a precedent, whether this addresses the issue the Senator from Oregon has assured us would not be a factor, and whether this might force the two utilities into bankruptcy, with the resulting chaos that is pretty hard to predict.

What effect would it have on the California teachers’ retirement fund which is invested in these utilities in the State of California? What effect might it have on the State employees’ retirement? We don’t know the answers to these questions. But there is a reasonable suggestion by knowledgeable people that this amendment may force a chapter 7 bankruptcy by these utilities. We all know what a chapter 7 is. It requires the utility to liquidate its assets and then the creditors stand wherever they stand.

Now to determine the intent of the amendment by the Senator from Oregon it is necessary to consider what the amendment says and the confirmation of a plan does not discharge a debtor. That means a bankruptcy judge cannot settle for 80 cents on the dollar, or even 50 cents on the dollar. It implies that, indeed, full payment must be made. That is what it says.

Now the question of the exceptions that go into section A of the amendment, and this covers the case of a debtor—that is, a corporation—from any debt for wholesale electric power received that is incurred by the debtor under an order issued by the Secretary of Energy. Recall that there was an order issued by President Clinton, and an order issued later by President George W. Bush, that required power-generating companies to sell into the California system; and the situation has been well, since the Government ordered it, and if the utilities can’t pay then there is a case against the Government.

But it is rather curious, in examining that question, that was not a formal acceptance by the utilities. It was an understanding that they sell. The question, legitimately, that counsel may ask is: Does this ensure that those power companies that sold into Pacific Gas and Electric and Southern California Edison have a case against the Government if indeed there is not some form of guarantee in that regard for repayment?

The answer seems to be nobody knows yet whether those companies that generate power and sold to Pacific Gas and Electric can get paid from the Government on the basis of that order because of a lack of formality. That is something that is going to employ a lot of lawyers for a long period of time if it comes to that.

Then it says in section (B) of the amendment: In the case of a debt owed—

The answer seems to be nobody knows yet whether those companies that generate power and sold to Pacific Gas and Electric can get paid from the Government on the basis of that order because of a lack of formality. That is something that is going to employ a lot of lawyers for a long period of time if it comes to that.

Then it says in section (B) of the amendment: In the case of a debt owed...
March 13, 2001

Mr. WYDEN. I respond briefly to the point the Senator is making. It seems to me the Senator makes an interesting point and certainly raises some interesting legal questions.

The scenario just described is what Senator SMITH and I seek to prevent by keeping our amendment narrow, to involve government entities. In other words, if you were to bring in the scope of the amendment to all kinds of other parties, it seems to me the case would be more credible that perhaps you could have a scenario where you were driven into bankruptcy. That is why we kept it narrow. We believed keeping it narrow gave people an incentive to negotiate and increase the prospect that we wouldn’t have this calamitous situation that the distinguished chairman of the committee is so correct to say would be bad for all.

Mr. MURKOWSKI. Perhaps we could have some enlightenment. I hope my good friend from California can give an indication of what the two utilities at issue think of this. The State of California and the ratepayers and/or consumers are prepared to meet this just obligation.

I yield the floor.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent for the OFFICER. Is there objection? The Senator from Alaska, Mr. MURkowski. Mr. President, I would like to check with our leadership at this time. It is not my intention to object, but I would like to have a few moments to consider the request.

Mr. MURKOWSKI. I am very much opposed to the unanimous consent request.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from California.

Mr. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I thank the distinguished Senator and Chairman of the Committee for his comments. He asked, what do the two utilities at issue think of this? I will respond and I will give the comments of Robert Bryant, the Chair of Southern California Edison; William C. Purcell, President, and CEO of Pacific Gas and Electric. This is his company's position:

PG&E is at a critical point in sensitive negotiations to resolve an energy crisis that is affecting the Western United States. Our creditors have been willing to forbear in the interest of achieving a comprehensive solution that is fair to all parties. This amendment would change the relationship among creditors and could destabilize the fragile cooperation that currently exists. It would be a terrible irony if actions of the United States Senate might very well undermine all of the progress we have made to this point in our negotiations with the utilities. This is a very delicate process and we urge the Senate to allow all parties to continue their work together to solve this crisis.

Now from the Electric Power Supply Association, which is the electric generating companies together:

This amendment seeks to give certain entities a favorable status in the event that California utilities fall into bankruptcy. Many companies have provided power to California's consumers and EPSA, the Electric Power Supply Association, believes this is emphatically that all these entities deserve to be fully and fairly compensated. However, it is inappropriate for the Senate to try and resolve this situation. Rather than orderly resolution, this legislation could lead to a premature declaration of bankruptcy and the inevitable liquidation of the California electric utilities assets in a legal free-for-all. We urge you to oppose the Wyden amendment.

Let me read from a letter submitted by a big electric generator, Williams—a generator that has profited mightily from this situation:

Williams is strongly opposed to any such proposal. In our judgment, intervention by the Congress in the California market in a way that picks winners and losers among similarly situated parties will only precipitate a deepening of the crisis. It will cripple ongoing efforts to resolve the crisis and trigger an outpouring of litigation and legal maneuvering that would prolong the crisis, not resolve it. Restoring financial solvency to the local utilities is a critical element of any long-term solution to the electricity problem in California. If those utilities are forced into bankruptcy, perhaps more importantly, we think everyone involved in the crisis into protracted, uncertain, court proceedings. In our judgment, this proposed legislation would only serve to precipitate the very outcome we fear the mere possibility that such an amendment might become law will leave those involved little choice but to trigger bankruptcy proceedings in order to protect their own interests.

Let me give you another generator's view, Calpine:

Under Senator Wyden's amendment, many out-of-state power producers, both public and private entities, would be made whole under any potential utility bankruptcy, while QF's, forced to sell by virtue of contracts rather than a federal emergency order, would likely be left with little or no recourse. Some of the cleanest, most environmentally desirable sources of energy would be severely disadvantaged by this action.

While on fairness grounds alone, we believe the Wyden amendment should be defeated, the immediate result would be to weaken the amendment would only worsen the California energy crisis. Creditors have shown remarkable patience to date, giving California officials an opportunity to seek a solution that avoids utility bankruptcy. This amendment, however, could trigger an immediate bankruptcy filing in order for the filing to precede enactment of the legislation.

So you see, just by passing this, what we do is, to all the community out there that is owed money, we trigger their urge to move the companies into bankruptcy. That would be a huge mistake.

This letter is signed by the vice president of the company.

Mr. President, I would like to read from a statement by the Edison Electric Institute which understand it, represents most electric utilities with the exception of Pacific Gas and Electric:

I am writing to express our concerns regarding a proposed amendment to S. 420, the Bankruptcy Reform Act of 2001, that may be offered by Senator Wyden for himself and Senators Baucus and Murray. While there appear to have been several iterations of that amendment, the thrust appears to favor public power electricity suppliers in a utility bankruptcy proceeding by providing that debts to them for electricity are not dischargeable. The amendment also applies to debts for wholesale electric power received pursuant to the emergency order issued by the Secretary of Energy under section 202(c) of the Federal Power Act. This amendment raises large public policy concerns by affecting all utilities as well as those involved in bankruptcy proceedings.

First, it is not clear that the amendment will do anything to address the current electricity situation in California. All parties, including the Governor, the utilities and creditors, are trying to work out an agreement. Passage (as well as concern about the possible passage) of this amendment could disrupt these efforts and lead to immediate initiation of bankruptcy proceedings.

Second, the amendment appears to have long-term negative consequences. I urge you to do everything possible to help your colleagues understand the very negative consequences of this amendment for clean, renewable sources of energy. Thank you for your attention and please let me know if you can provide you with any additional information.

Sincerely,

Hon. DIANNE FEINSTEIN, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

DEAR SENATOR FEINSTEIN: I am writing to express our concerns regarding a proposed amendment to S. 420, the ‘Bankruptcy Reform Act of 2001’, that may be offered by Senator Wyden. The Senate Democrats—Senators Rausch and Murray—while aware of the desire to avoid utility bankruptcy, are concerned that this amendment could lead to immediate imposition of bankruptcy protections in lieu of the DOI order and other creditors may be left holding the bag. The amendment would provide for new supplies of electricity and, therefore, they will go out of business and, therefore, they will go out of business.

We also have unions. I would like to have printed in the RECORD the Inter-union letter. They represent over 800,000 electrical workers, who also believe this would have to be triggered by the bankruptcy. I ask unanimous consent on the letter in its entirety be printed in the Record.

There being no objection, the letters were ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

CALIFORNIA

Williams is a national energy company who has been an active participant in the California market. Williams dispatches as much as 4,000 megawatts of power in the Los Angeles region, although the amount available on any given day may be less, depending on a variety of factors. This represents about 40 percent of the independent generating capacity in the Los Angeles area and about 9 percent of the available in-state generation that is available to the independent system operators.

Restoring financial solvency to the local utilities is a critical element of any long-term solution to the electricity problem in California. If those utilities are forced into bankruptcy the immediate result would be to plunge everyone involved in the crisis into protracted, uncertain court proceedings. In our judgement, this proposed legislation will only serve to precipitate that bankruptcy. I fear the more possibility that such an amendment might become law will leave the consumer little choice but to trigger bankruptcy proceedings in order to protect their own interests.

In our view, a far more constructive course is to be pursued involving the Congress, the private sector, and the utilities. I urge you to work with your colleagues to find a comprehensive solution to the problem. Congressional encouragement of that
As you know, California and the western states have been hard hit by an electricity shortage and dramatic price spikes for the last eight months. Edison has incurred an undetermined amount of pro-curing wholesale power at prices that greatly exceed retail rates in California. In mid-January, after we ran out of credit and stopped paying our outstanding debt, the state stepped in to pick up the funding shortfall for daily power purchases. The state has spent an additional $3 billion in electricity purchases so far.

At this moment, California Governor Gray Davis is trying to craft a solution that will get the system working again. Those who hold utility bonds, pensions, funds, municipalities, retirees and other bondholders, small businesses and electricity generators, have been working, with us to avert utility bankruptcy while the state works to resolve these very difficult issues.

Unfortunately, the Wyden amendment undermines the solution being crafted within the state. The Wyden amendment would require that, in the event of bankruptcy, the power generators who have made significant profits from this crisis receive full payment before small businesses, banks and bondholders. This is not fair to the other creditors.

Furthermore, this amendment could trigger the bankruptcies of everyone trying to avoid. Other creditors will not stand by and just watch as the amendment takes away their rights.

It is Edison's sincerest hope that a comprehensive solution will be crafted that will allow us to make our creditors whole. The state is currently in the midst of delicate negotiations with generators and utilities. The Wyden amendment should not be allowed to disrupt this process. As we work to solve the electricity crisis, we thank you for your efforts to oppose it.

Sincerely,
JOHN E. BRYSON
Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer.

PG&E Corporation,

The state has spent an additional $3 billion to purchase power during the worst part of the energy crisis. The state, itself, has stepped in to pick up the payment on most of our outstanding debt, the state stepped in to pick up the funding shortfall for daily power purchases. The state has spent an additional $3 billion in electricity purchases so far.

At the end of the day, if recovery efforts do not succeed, recovery efforts do not succeed, we will not succeed. The Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources, Senate Hart Office Building, Washington, DC.

Dear Senator Feinstein: This letter is written to express TURN's opposition to the Wyden amendment. This amendment would give preferential treatment to wholesale power generators, who sold electricity into California's severely dysfunctional wholesale market. By making debt incurred by utilities for wholesale purchase of electricity non-dischargeable in the event of utility bankruptcy, the legislation would unfairly favor generators at the expense of ratepayers. During the worst part of the energy crisis, wholesale generators, both public and private, reaped windfall profits in California. There is no justification to protect 100 percent of these profits at the expense of ratepayers and other creditors. Even power that was dispatched subject to a federal order was sold at prices in excess of the just and reasonable rates that are required by federal law. Why should Federal legislators protect wealthy creditors at the expense of other creditors who were loaning money to the utilities to purchase power during the same emergency?

We are afraid that this kind of legislation will harmfully impact whatever negotiations are happening at the state level to strike a balance that would cause all players to forsake some sort of sacrifice so that we can all move forward. Let the bankruptcy laws remain status quo ante in order to allow the settlement of all claims going forward. The Senate should not modify laws that were in place during this period in order to choose winners and losers in California's energy disaster. Either there will be a settlement at the state level or the utilities will be forced to bankruptcy. If bankruptcy is the eventual solution, let the federal bankruptcy judge, applying the laws that were in place during the crisis, resolve the equities. Senate intervention at this point influences the negotiating dynamics unfairly. Such intervention could actually hasten bankruptcy if other creditors perceive an advantage to forcing early involuntary bankruptcy. This could happen if an involuntary bankruptcy petition is filed. If the federal bankruptcy judge believes they have more opportunity to recover their losses by filing before the effective date of any legislation that could compromise their claims.

Sincerely,
NETTIE HOGE
Executive Director.

Hon. DIANNE FEINSTEIN,
U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

Dear Senator Feinstein: I am writing to you to express Edison International's opposition to the Wyden-Baucus Amendments to S. 420, TURN Opposition.

Washington, DC.

Dear Senator Feinstein: This letter is written to express TURN's opposition to the Wyden amendment. This amendment would give preferential treatment to wholesale power generators, who sold electricity into California's severely dysfunctional wholesale market. By making debt incurred by utilities for wholesale purchase of electricity non-dischargeable in the event of utility bankruptcy, the legislation would unfairly favor generators at the expense of ratepayers. During the worst part of the energy crisis, wholesale generators, both public and private, reaped windfall profits in California. There is no justification to protect 100 percent of these profits at the expense of ratepayers and other creditors. Even power that was dispatched subject to a federal order was sold at prices in excess of the just and reasonable rates that are required by federal law. Why should Federal legislators protect wealthy creditors at the expense of other creditors who were loaning money to the utilities to purchase power during the same emergency?

We are afraid that this kind of legislation will harmfully impact whatever negotiations are happening at the state level to strike a balance that would cause all players to forsake some sort of sacrifice so that we can all move forward. Let the bankruptcy laws remain status quo ante in order to allow the settlement of all claims going forward. The Senate should not modify laws that were in place during this period in order to choose winners and losers in California's energy disaster. Either there will be a settlement at the state level or the utilities will be forced to bankruptcy. If bankruptcy is the eventual solution, let the federal bankruptcy judge, applying the laws that were in place during the crisis, resolve the equities. Senate intervention at this point influences the negotiating dynamics unfairly. Such intervention could actually hasten bankruptcy if other creditors perceive an advantage to forcing early involuntary bankruptcy. This could happen if an involuntary bankruptcy petition is filed. If the federal bankruptcy judge believes they have more opportunity to recover their losses by filing before the effective date of any legislation that could compromise their claims.

Sincerely,
KEITH E. BAILEY
TURN Chair, Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources, November 6, 2001.

As you know, California and the western states have been hard hit by an electricity shortage and dramatic price spikes for the last eight months. Edison has incurred an undetermined amount of pro-curing wholesale power at prices that greatly exceed retail rates in California. In mid-January, after we ran out of credit and stopped paying our outstanding debt, the state stepped in to pick up the funding shortfall for daily power purchases. The state has spent an additional $3 billion in electricity purchases so far.

As you know, California and the western states have been hard hit by an electricity shortage and dramatic price spikes for the last eight months. Edison has incurred an undetermined amount of pro-curing wholesale power at prices that greatly exceed retail rates in California. In mid-January, after we ran out of credit and stopped paying our outstanding debt, the state stepped in to pick up the funding shortfall for daily power purchases. The state has spent an additional $3 billion in electricity purchases so far.

At this moment, California Governor Gray Davis is trying to craft a solution that will get the system working again. Those who hold utility bonds, pensions, funds, municipalities, retirees and other bondholders, small businesses and electricity generators, have been working, with us to avert utility bankruptcy while the state works to resolve these very difficult issues.

Unfortunately, the Wyden amendment under-mines the solution being crafted within the state. The Wyden amendment would require that, in the event of bankruptcy, the power generators who have made significant profits from this crisis receive full payment before small businesses, banks and bondholders. This is not fair to the other creditors.

Furthermore, this amendment could trigger the bankruptcies of everyone trying to avoid. Other creditors will not stand by and just watch as the amendment takes away their rights.

It is Edison's sincerest hope that a comprehensive solution will be crafted that will allow us to make our creditors whole. The state is currently in the midst of delicate negotiations with generators and utilities. The Wyden amendment should not be allowed to disrupt this process. As we work to solve the electricity crisis, we thank you for your efforts to oppose it.

Sincerely,
JOHN E. BRYSON
Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer.

PG&E Corporation,

DIANNE FEINSTEIN,
U.S. Senate, 331 Hart Senate Office Building, Washington, DC.

Dear Senator Feinstein: This letter addresses the proposed Wyden amendment which would modify the relationship among winning and losing creditors in some bankruptcies. We are in opposition to this amendment.

PG&E is at a critical point in sensitive negotiations to resolve an energy crisis that is affecting the Western United States. Our creditors have been willing to forbear in the interest of achieving a comprehensive solution that is fair to all parties. This amendment would change the relationship among winning and losing creditors in some bankruptcies. We are in opposition to this amendment.

PG&E is at a critical point in sensitive negotiations to resolve an energy crisis that is affecting the Western United States. Our creditors have been willing to forbear in the interest of achieving a comprehensive solution that is fair to all parties. This amendment would change the relationship among winning and losing creditors in some bankruptcies. We are in opposition to this amendment.

It would be a disaster if actions of the United States Government were responsible for tipping this situation over the edge.

Sincerely,
ROBERT D. GLYNN
President.

Hon. DIANNE FEINSTEIN,
U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

Dear Senator Feinstein: I am writing to you to express Edison International's opposition to the Wyden-Baucus Amendments to S. 420, TURN Opposition.

California as we work to solve the electricity challenge we inherited.

We have taken immediate steps to build new power plants. Not one major power plant was built during the 12 years before I was elected. Starting in April, 1999, we have approved 9 plants, with 6 plants under construction, and with 3 plants on-line by this summer. Moreover, under my emergency authority, I acted to accelerate and incentivize the development of new generation, including 16 new distributed generation facilities, with an aggressive but attainable goal of putting 5000 MW of new power on-line this summer, and another 5000 MW by the summer of 2002.

Today, I announced a major energy conservation initiative, the 20/20 Rebate Program, which will reward consumers with a 20 percent reduction in their summer 2001 electricity bill if they reduce their use by 20 percent or greater. This program will be the centerpiece of $800 million in energy conservation programs included in our distributed generation facilities, with an aggressive but attainable goal of putting 5000 MW of new power on-line this summer, and another 5000 MW by the summer of 2002.

Critical components of our plan to resolve California's energy challenge is the return of our utilities to financial solvency. Our efforts have taken the form of painstaking negotiations between the state and the utilities to stabilize their financial condition. Any attempt to create a special class of creditors under federal bankruptcy of California may have serious repercussions to our efforts.

Therefore, I am writing to express my strong opposition to Senator Ron Wyden's amendment to S. 420, the Bankruptcy Reform Act of 2001. Any actions on the part of the United States Senate might very well have serious repercussions to our efforts. undermine all the progress we have made to this point in our negotiations with the utilities. This is a very delicate process and we urge the Senate to allow all parties in California to continue their work together to solve this crisis.

Sincerely,

Gray Davis

INTERNATIONAL BROTHERHOOD OF ELECTRICAL WORKERS

Hon. Daniel K. Akaka
U.S. Senate, SH-720 Senate Hart Office Building,
Washington, DC,

Dear Senator Akaka: We understand the Senate will be voting on an amendment to the Bankruptcy Reform Act (S. 240) today, submitted by Oregon Senator Ron Wyden. The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) has a number of concerns with this amendment and urges your opposition.

The Wyden Amendment would make any debts incurred under a federal order imposed during the power crisis in California non-dischargeable in a bankruptcy proceeding. Inevitably, this would give preference over other creditors, pushing workers’ interests further down the ladder. This would also add pressure to bargaining efforts during contract negotiations, putting our members at higher financial risk.

It is understandable that public agencies who supplied power during the crisis want guarantees for their ratepayers, and should, at just and reasonable rates that cover the cost of producing the power. However, privately owned suppliers took part in predatory behavior during the spot market price spikes, selling electricity at 1,000-3,000 percent profit margins. Should these suppliers who inflated their power prices be the priority in a bankruptcy proceeding? Should small bondholders, workers, pension trust funds and other creditors be left to pick up the crumbs?

Governor Gray Davis is working tirelessly to resolve the electricity deregulation disaster in California. We are hoping the state’s solution will avert utility bankruptcy and protect workers who could lose their jobs if these delicate negotiations are not successful. We believe the Wyden Amendment could disrupt this process.

On behalf of over 800,000 IBEW members and their working families, we urge you to ‘OPPOSE’ The Wyden Amendment to S. 240.

Sincerely,

Edwin D. Hill
International President
Jerry J. O’Connor
International Secretary-Treasurer.

Mrs. Feinstein. Mr. President, there is also a consumer organization, one that is familiar with the issue while I was Mayor of San Francisco I had occasion to work with them. This group is The Utility Reform Network. In their letter they state:

We are afraid this kind of legislation will harmfully impact whatever negotiations are happening at the State level to strike a balance that would cause all players to make some sort of sacrifice so we can all move forward.

I have offered the testimony of the Governor of the State of California, who states that, yes, Senator Wyden’s amendment would interfere with the negotiations that are going on today. The letter goes on to say:

Let the bankruptcy laws remain status quo ante, in order to allow the settlement of all claims going forward. The Senate should not modify laws that were in place during this period, in order to choose winners or losers in California’s energy debacle. Either there will be a settlement at the state level or the utilities will be forced to bankruptcy.

This is certainly correct. If bankruptcy is the eventual solution, let the Federal bankruptcy judge, applying laws that were in place during the crisis, resolve the equities.

I could not agree more, Mr. President.

I mentioned that right now the State of California is working diligently to ensure the utilities can make their payments. The State is negotiating to purchase the transmission assets of both of the investor-owned utilities in the State. This will provide an infusion of revenue into the ailing utilities that will enable them to begin to repay their creditors. If this amendment should trigger a run on the bank and generators or banks or other creditors find the only way they can protect their rights is to force a bankruptcy, the State of California will not be able to complete its plan to buy these transmission assets and have the utilities pay their debt.

I am very hopeful this situation will be resolved in short order. The State has already come to preliminary agreements, and these agreements will likely be finalized within the next few months. California’s creditors are also hopeful that this process will improve the chances that they will ultimately be repaid for all the debt they have incurred.

I believe the public entities will be repaid. However, let me just say that some in the Northwest have charged that Bonneville Power Administration (BPA) has been forced to drain Federal reservoirs to supply power to California. I want to correct the record because those charges are mistaken.

In December 2000, when the Secretary of Energy, issued an emergency order to Western utilities to sell power to California, BPA helped, but it helped in a way that also benefits the Northwest. It was an energy capacity exchange. In other words, they helped California use their peak loads. And California, by that agreement, sent twice the energy back, using their excess capacity at night. So that helped BPA keep more water in the reservoirs when BPA has stated they really needed it.

I am not critical of Senators Wyden and Smith for trying to protect their State. But what I am saying is, I have read almost a dozen letters from debtors and creditors intimately involved in the negotiations, all of whom oppose this. They do so because they believe it may well trigger a bankruptcy.

I have read from the utilities involved—Pacific Gas and Electric—who also say, wouldn’t it be ironic if the Federal Government were inadvertently to trigger a bankruptcy? I say too, that move an amendment such as this at the time of critical negotiations is a huge mistake. I, for one, do not want to be responsible should it truly trigger both of these large investor-owned utilities to go into bankruptcy.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Oregon.

Mr. Wyden. Mr. President, I want to respond just for a few minutes to my colleague from California. I think she knows I admire her enormously. I think this RECONCILIATION bill will show the distinguished Senator from California and I agree on a vast majority of the issues that come before the Senate.

What is troubling about the arguments that is advanced before the Senate tonight is that after State officials in California botched the job of deregulation—by the way, this was not Senator Feinstein; Senator Feinstein did not do that, but State officials in California botched the job—now the message is, the public entities and those responsible to taxpayers are just supposed to trust folks in California to hope everything is going to work out. Given the hardship we are facing in the Pacific Northwest, that is just a little much to swallow; it is hard for this Senator to swallow, despite the fact that I have great respect for my colleague from California.

I think tonight we have seen—certainly over the course of the last hour—that there is a sharp difference of opinion between California’s two Senators on this matter. Senator Boxer worked with us in close consultation. She is in support of this amendment. She believes it is going to help bring folks together in the West for a comprehensive solution.

I think what she is saying is she does not want her State to be a scofflaw. She does not want her State to, in effect, be a deadbeat in the course of this whole discussion as the State of California asks the distinguished new Senator from Virginia to be part of an effort—and myself and others—to come up with a comprehensive solution to this question.

The distinguished Senator from California started her presentation by reading from some letters from private utilities in California and, in particular, focused on the fact that Southern California Edison is in opposition to this amendment.

The fact is, the Washington Post noted this recently. Southern California Edison actually passed along nearly $5 billion in net income to its parent, Edison International, which used the money to pay dividends to its shareholders and to repurchase its own stock.

So what you have is a private company, Edison International, that my colleague cites tonight as the reason the Senator from Virginia and other colleagues should vote against the bipartisan Smith-Wyden amendment because we are individuals who ought to be concerned about Southern California Edison first.
I want Southern California Edison to get a fair shake. That is why we made very clear in our amendment that no one would get a preference if, in fact, you had the worst case scenario of an actual bankruptcy unfolding in the State of California. I just do not want Southern California Edison and a handful of these private interests to get a free ride. I do not know how it passes the smell test. I think this is why Senator BOXER agrees with us on this matter.

How we can say to the people of the Pacific Northwest, who, in effect, got billions of dollars overseas.

On one side are the interests of those Pacific Northwest, who, in effect, got that situation.

Senator FEINSTEIN has framed the debate well.

Mr. WYDEN. On the other side of our amendment are exactly those kinds of interests, those kinds of powerful private interests. Various letters have been read into the RECORD tonight. Yes, those who oppose us are utilities that transferred billions of dollars to the shareholders and parent companies quickly, don’t want you to know that there is anything wrong with doing that while stifling Bonneville Power, the western power administration, ity-bitty municipal utilities, and others.

The reason we have been able to put this bipartisan amendment together is that we have fashioned a narrow approach to ensure that these public entities get a fair shake. On the other side you have Southern California Edison and those representing a handful of multibillion-dollar private interests that were intimately involved in creating this problem in the first place.

I don't think the Senate ought to be asked, in effect by those who botched the job at the State level several years ago, to just trust them. We ought to take a practical step such as this that is going to bring the parties together.

Senator Feinstein said: Well, this is without precedent. The fact is, the botched job that California did on energy deregulation is what is without precedent. If we are going to talk about setting precedents this evening, what we ought to talk about is the fact that in the State of California they didn't do anything about the task of deregulating energy this way. Certainly, we didn't do it that way in my State. We believe in markets. We don't believe in saying, well, you can do one thing for wholesale and another thing for retail, but if everything doesn't work out, come to the Senate and if somebody tries to make sure you get a fair shake when you are sending power under Federal order, we will fight it.

We don't need the language such as that. We say you have to be fair to all parties. That is why I am particularly pleased to have the support of Senator Smith and Senator Boxer.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the votes occur with respect to the Carnahan amendment No. 40 and the Smith of Oregon amendment No. 95, and the Wyden amendment No. 78, as amended, if amended, and the Wellstone amendment No. 93, and the Wyden amendment, No. 78, as amended, at approximately 10:45 a.m. on Wednesday, and that following the votes, the Senate resume consideration of the Wellstone amendment, No. 36.

I further ask unanimous consent that Senator Bingaman be recognized for up to 10 minutes for debate and Senator Hagel be recognized to speak for up to 5 minutes.

I further ask that no second-degree amendments be in order to any of the above-listed amendments, where applicable, and there be up to 5 minutes prior to each vote for explanation.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. REID. Reserving the right to object, Mr. President, this has been a long, arduous task. I appreciate the Senator from Oregon being so patient and Senator Breaux, who have filled amendments in a timely fashion. There are 10 other amendments at the desk.

Before I agree to this, I want these amendments just to be called up. It doesn't give them a right to vote or anything, except it is in the stack of these amendments.

These two gentlemen were here tonight, and Senator Wyden. I would offer the amendments for them. I ask unanimous consent that I be allowed to call those two amendments up, No. 93, and No. 94.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to the request proposed by the Senator from Nevada?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

AMENDMENTS NOS. 93 AND 94

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the amendments. The legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Nevada (Mr. Reid), for Mr. Wyden, proposes an amendment numbered 93.

The Senator from Nebraska (Mr. Breaux), for Mr. Specter, Mrs. Landrieu, Mr. Johnson, Ms. Feinstein, and Mr. Nelson of Nebraska, proposes an amendment numbered 94.

The amendments are as follows: (The text of amendment No. 93 is printed in today's Record under "Amendments Submitted.")

AMENDMENT NO. 93

(Purpose: To provide for the reissuance of a rule relating to ergonomics)

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. 4. AUTHORITY TO ISSUE A RULE RELATING TO ERGONOMICS.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The National Academy of Sciences issued a report entitled “Musculoskeletal Disorders and the Workplace—Low Back and Upper Extremities” on January 18, 2001. The report was issued after the Occupational Safety and Health Administration promulgated a final rule relating to ergonomics (published at 65 Fed. Reg. 68261 (2000)).

(2) According to the National Academy of Sciences, musculoskeletal disorders of the low back and upper extremities are an important and costly problem. An estimated 1,000,000 workers each year lose time from work as a result of work-related musculoskeletal disorders.

(3) Conservative estimates of the economic burden imposed by work-related musculoskeletal disorders, as measured by compensation costs, lost wages, and lost productivity, are between $54,000,000,000 and $54,000,000,000 annually.

(4) Congress enacted the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (29 U.S.C. 651 et seq.) to “assure so far as possible every working man and woman in the Nation safe and healthful working conditions,” and charged the Secretary of Labor with implementing the Act to accomplish this purpose.

(5) Promulgation of a standard on workplace ergonomics is needed to address a serious workplace safety and health problem and to protect working men and women from work-related musculoskeletal disorders. Any workplace ergonomics standard should take into account the cost and feasibility of compliance with such requirements and the sound science of the National Academy of Sciences report.

(b) AUTHORITY TO ISSUE RULE.—In general.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Labor shall, in accordance with section 6 of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (29 U.S.C. 655), issue a final rule relating to ergonomics. The standard under such a final rule shall take effect not later than 90 days after the date on which the rule is promulgated. The standard shall—
(A) address work-related musculoskeletal disorders and workplace ergonomic hazards;
(B) not apply to non-work-related musculoskeletal disorders that occur outside the workplace or non-work-related musculoskeletal disorders that are aggravated by work; and
(C) set forth in clear terms—
(i) the circumstances under which an employer is required to take action to address ergonomic hazards;
(ii) the measures required of an employer under the standard; and
(iii) the compliance obligations of an employer under the standard.

(2) AUTHORIZATION.—Paragraph (1) shall be considered a specific authorization by Congress in accordance with section 801(b)(2) of title 5, United States Code, with respect to the issuance of a new ergonomic rule.

(3) PROHIBITION.—In issuing a new rule under subsection (a), the Secretary of Labor shall ensure that nothing in the rule expands the application of State workers' compensation laws.

(4) STANDARD SETTING AUTHORITY.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to restrict or alter the authority of the Secretary of Labor under the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (29 U.S.C. 651 et seq.) to adopt health or safety standards (as defined in section 3(b) (29 U.S.C. 652(b)) of such Act) for other hazards pursuant to section 6 (29 U.S.C. 655) of such Act.

(5) INFORMATION AND TRAINING MATERIALS.—The Secretary of Labor shall, prior to the date on which the new rule under this subsection becomes effective, provide upon request, written information and training materials, and implement an outreach program and other initiatives, to provide compliance assistance to employers and employees concerning the new rule and the requirements under the rule.

AMENDMENT NO. 78, AS MODIFIED

Mr. President, the majority has received the modified Wellstone amendment. I ask that his amendment be modified at this time. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be so modified.

The amendment (No. 36), as modified, is as follows:

(Purpose: To disallow certain claims and prohibit coercive debt collection practices)

At the end of subtitle A of title II, add the following:

SEC. 204. DISALLOWANCE OF CERTAIN CLAIMS.

In General.—Section 502(b) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (8), by striking "or" at the end;

(2) in paragraph (9), by striking the period at the end and inserting "; or"; and

(3) by adding at the end of the following—

"(10) such claim arises from a transaction—

"(A) that is—

"(i) a consumer credit transaction;

"(ii) a transaction, for a fee—

"(I) in which the deposit of a personal check is deferred; or

"(II) that consists of a credit and a right to a future debt to a personal deposit account; or

"(iii) a transaction secured by a motor vehicle or the title to a motor vehicle; and

"(B) in which the annual percentage rate (as determined in accordance with section 107 of the Truth in Lending Act) exceeds 100 percent.",

AMENDMENT NO. 78

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Oregon is recognized.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President, I reclaim my time. I have a few additional points on the matter of the California utilities and the Pacific Northwest getting repaid for the funds it sent California during their period of critical blackouts and other problems this winter.

I agree completely with those Senators who have spoken tonight, that it is in everyone's interest to come up with an approach that avoids bankruptcy. I think that is an area of widespread agreement. Senator SMITH and I repeatedly have said to Senator FEINSTEIN and others who have had reservations about our approach that we would be open to a wide variety of avenues in order to make sure our constituents get a fair shake and are repaid.

For example, I would be happy this evening, or at another appropriate time before the vote, to accept a perfecting amendment that would give California a reasonable period of time to perfect their comprehensive approach that they are pursuing in order to make sure everyone is paid off. I think that is very reasonable, and I want to make it clear that Senator SMITH and I have talked about that in discussions with various utilities, and a couple that oppose it. We made it clear we are open to giving California a reasonable period of time to put their agreement together.

But, in effect, what these California utilities have said is that it is basically our way or the highway. That just doesn't pass the smell test in the Pacific Northwest and with these public entities that are having so much difficulty paying their bills. I wish just a few of those letters we got from California public officials had been accompanied by checks. Because the fact is that all over the State we are getting and have gotten these letters from California public officials thanking us for the effort. And now tonight we are hearing that we will be repaid for our good deeds by being told that we can't even get a fair shake in a bankruptcy proceeding.

So this is unprecedented. Mr. President. There is no question about that. I am happy to yield to my colleague in a second because she has said, correctly so, that this is an unprecedented situation. But what I believe is unprecedented is that after State officials have botched the job, they would have the temerity to say to my constituents, just trust us; we hope everything works out.

I am happy to yield to my colleague from California.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. If I may say to the distinguished Senator from Oregon, the point I don't understand is why you feel you won't be paid, why you feel you have to move ahead with this when everyone involved believes that moving ahead with it precipitates them to take action to force a bankruptcy, and if a bankruptcy is forced, it is chapter 7, where the company is dissolved and no one gets paid. That is my problem with this. That is why I believe it is so counterproductive.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President, I say to my colleague that we are being asked to trust the people who essentially botched the job. And I look at Southern California Edison, a huge, huge utility, that I read something from the Southern California Edison, and I opened my Washington Post recently and learned that the Southern California Edison sent $5 billion overseas.

I have great respect for my colleague from California. I don't think she would have put together what California did in the first place. Where we disagree is that I cannot come to the floor of the Senate tonight and say that because I am for this amendment, if my colleague from California, California can, in effect, declare bankruptcy and not pay its bills. The Senator's colleague from California, Senator BOXER, said— I think very eloquently—she thought it was just plain fair. That is the way I see it.

I think you are going to have important legislation come before the committee involving rate caps and other approaches. I am going to work closely with you on those kinds of issues, and Senator SMITH is as well. But if we now get stiffed, and if we are now told we can't even stand in line in a chapter 11 bankruptcy proceeding under a plan, I don't think that passes the basic test of fairness.

That is why we are here tonight. The Senator has framed the issue on her side—Southern California Edison and several of those significant private parties who were intimately involved in botching this job. On our side: Senator SMITH, and a variety of public entities who believe that, coming out of the chapter 11 bankruptcy proceeding, you ought to have something—something—that says you are going to get repaid.

I ask my colleague again tonight, if she were to offer a perfecting amendment to the one we discussed tonight saying we will give you a reasonable period of time to work out your plan, that is yet another olive branch which we have been trying to extend over the last couple of weeks that might allow the Senate to go forward and approve a measure of protection for my constituents while at the same time showing that I and other Westerners are going to bend over backwards to give you all a chance to put together your comprehensive approach.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. May I respond? Mr. WYDEN. Of course.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. I appreciate that. I appreciate the Senator from Oregon saying he may postpone his amendment to give the State of California a chance to go forward with its comprehensive remedies. We do have to wait and see.
Mr. WYDEN. If I may reclaim my time, what I am saying is we will add language to the amendment that says the State of California would get a reasonable period of time to work out this comprehensive approach you have pushed for before any of this kicked in, before any of this kicked in that would be a great run on the banks and the institutions of California, we narrowed this down to a few hundred million dollars, not billions of dollars. In fact, there is a little irony here. The sum of money we are talking about all told is less than the Senator's staff initially indicated they could go along with, but I gather Southern California Edison is basically saying these other folks do not happen to agree.

Our first choice is to have a very narrow amendment to make sure the people whom California public officials have been thanking get a fair shake. It is only because we are anxious to explore other options with you that we thought giving you a reasonable period of time might be helpful.

We are prepared to take the consequences of an up-or-down vote on the amendment. The facts are clear: Southern California Edison is not with the Smith-Boxer-Wyden amendment. We have established that. It has been read in letters tonight.

Those who are with us are these summary public utilities, Bonneville Power Authority, Western Power Authority, small municipal utilities in California. They are with us. It sets a very bad precedent to say those organizations that are responsible to taxpayers can be sniffed through the bankruptcy process.

I admire greatly my colleague from California who is here in this discussion tonight. I make it clear we are prepared to stay until all hours of the night toing on this matter because one issue we both agree on is this is of enormous interest to our constituents—those you represent in California, those I represent in the Pacific Northwest. We have our door open to work with the Senator on other approaches.

If that doesn't work, the choice is clear for colleagues tomorrow morning at 10:30. Senator SMITH, Senator BOXER, and I have an approach that is narrow and we think will promote negotiations to avoid a bankruptcy proceeding. On the other side is Southern California Edison and a crowd shipping billions of dollars overseas when they ought to do their homework to correct a botched job in energy deregulation on the west coast in California.

If my colleague from California wants to go back and forth some more tonight, we can do that. I have, with Senator BOXER and Senator SMITH, made the principal points on our side, and unless my colleague from California wants to engage in further discussion, we can yield back, but I can't yield my time until we have had a chance to respond to any arguments the Senator has.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I will set the record straight. This is not just Southern California Edison or PG&E. There is virtually no creditor or debtor that is in support of the Wyden amendment. Not even the Bonneville Power Administration has written a letter in support of this amendment. There is a reason why they are not in support of this amendment. Once you create a preference class of creditors, if you prompt the breaking of the dam and other creditors will force an involuntary bankruptcy.

If that happens, it is the wrong chapter. It is chapter 7. It is dissolution. It means get out of the business of distributing power.

This is why this amendment is so dangerous. If the Senator can show me some of these authorities that think this kind of change of bankruptcy law in the middle of what is an extraordinarily precarious situation is a good thing, I may relent.

I have introduced about a dozen letters, not just from Southern California Edison, let us try to work it out with the small banks. One of the rumors on the street is that many of the renewable power generators—the wind and solar generating firms for example—are most concerned and would therefore press bankruptcy law. To get involved in the State’s healing process is extraordinarily dangerous. That is my argument. I am not sure simply extending the time obviates the argument I am making. I have virtually every one of these letters that say in so many words, don’t force them to exercise their rights to push these companies into bankruptcy. That is what this amendment does.

I find when my distinguished colleague says it is just one utility advocating against his amendment. It is not. It is the big generators, the small generators, it is virtually every body involved in this situation who says, let us try to work it out with the small and the State. Let the State buy these transmission lines. That will inject billions to pay creditors.

If you vitiate or abrogate it by creating a preferred class of creditors, you will encourage other creditors to push for bankruptcy. There are literally hundreds of creditors, huge banks, small banks.

I understand the Senator is trying to do something for his State. I understand that. It is incomprehensible to me to think the Bonneville Power Administration isn’t going to get paid back. I believe they will. I believe if you amend bankruptcy law to provide for it, you simply cause a reaction from the other creditors that I think can be devastating.

That is the sum and substance of my argument. I have tried to indicate that with a large number of letters. I regret if anything I say is just one utility advocating against this amendment. It is not. It is virtually the entire creditor community.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President, again to set the record straight, when my colleague came to the floor tonight, the first thing she said was, what do the two private utilities affected by this think?

That is clearly what this debate is all about in terms of those who are opposed. Yes, Southern California Edison and PG&E are opposed. The crowd who botched the job of energy deregulation, the State of California, is prepared to oppose something similar as this. My colleague from California said this is a dangerous amendment. What is really dangerous is what California has already done to the American people because the fact is, what California has already done to the American people is put in actually decisions that have great implications for the whole country, not just those in the West.

The President of the Senate is from Nebraska; I am from Oregon. It will have ripples all the way through our country. That is what California has already done.

The crowd that has botched this and engaged in this conduct, by my calculation, is pretty close to political malpractice if you look at how they are going to work deregulating energy, deregulating only one part in one way, leaving another part alone. Now they come to the floor of the Senate and they say, trust us even though they have already been dickering about it for months we are going to be able to put together a $12 billion comprehensive settlement. But you in the Pacific Northwest and the public entities that Senator BOXER talked about, despite the fact that these organizations have a hundred million dollars as part of a $12 billion plan, trust us because everything will work out in the end.

That is a bit too much to swallow. Tomorrow when we vote—and we are open to working with our colleague from California this evening—I hope the Senate will stand with Senator SMITH, Senator BOXER, and myself. We are of the view that our amendment is about simple, basic fairness. Nobody is given a preference in bankruptcy under this legislation. In fact, no one in the course of this debate that has gone on for several hours has once pointed to any language in the amendment that provides a preference to Bonneville or anyone else.

I wrap up by way of saying I will assume my colleague from California misspoke. The Bonneville Power Administration is for this. We have been working with them constantly. The Northwest Power Planning Council is for this. Bonneville Power, for example, is faced with a situation where they will have to make debt repayment before long.

They badly need this money. So this is about the small public entities in California that Senator BOXER spoke about. It is about the municipal energy entities all up and down the west coast. You bet southern California is against us on this. I hope my colleagues will stand with Senator BOXER and Senator SMITH and at 10:30.

I will again invite my colleague to discuss this further. I will respond to any other arguments. Whenever she finishes, perhaps I can make my closing arguments and we can wrap this up.

Would my colleague like me to yield to her?

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. I would like to respond.

Mr. WYDEN. Would you like me to yield or do you wish your own time?

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. I don’t believe there is a time agreement. If the Senator has concluded his remarks, I would like an opportunity to conclude mine.

Mr. WYDEN. I have.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from California.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, a lot has been said tonight. Let me express what did happen.

In 1996, the State of California passed a deregulation law. Republicans and Democrats voted for that law. A Republican Governor signed the law. The law was badly flawed. It essentially deregulated the wholesale end of power and kept regulated the retail end. That was a mistake.

Additionally, it provided that 95 percent of the power of California would have to be bought on the spot or day-ahead market. It allowed bilateral, long-term contracts which are a key part of the solution for California. And the flawed deregulation plan said that California had to buy power through something called a power exchange, which actually guaranteed a higher price for power. And the plan said that the utilities which had generation facilities would have to divest themselves of those generation facilities.

The law was a gamble. It gambled that spot power would be cheaper to buy than the price of bilateral contracts. In fact, that was not the case. There was not enough power supply to meet the demand, so the spot power prices rose dramatically.

I am one who strongly believes that you have to fix the marketplace; that you cannot deregulate on the wholesale end and not also deregulate on the retail end. Possible solutions include establishing a baseline rate, or realtime pricing, or tiered pricing, or something else. These possibilities would create an incentive for conservation and, in the long term, corrects the flawed power market.

The remedies before the State are slightly different than the way I would have gone. It does not mean it is better or worse, but it is a different way. Up to this point, the State has spent $3.9 billion in buying power. The State of California is willing to authorize funds to buy the transmission lines to enable the utilities to then secure their debt.

It is very easy to point fingers. It is very easy to castigate. It is very easy to call the State a lot of names. Nonetheless, I think the State should have the opportunity to work this situation out.

There is the rub. This amendment does not basically allow that because either inadvertently or inadvertently, it creates a situation to which others will respond by driving the utility companies to bankruptcy.

Let there be no doubt—in my mind there is no doubt—that others will respond to this situation by pushing these utilities into bankruptcy. If they have to go into bankruptcy, they are not going to go into 11 or 13 to repay the debt. They are going to go into 7 to dissolve the debt and simply let it go out of the business of power distribution. I am afraid that Senator Wyden, Senator Smith, and even my colleague from the State of California, Senator Boxer—I am afraid this is going to be counterproductive and it is going to produce something which can be devastating to everyone.

If it were just me alone who said that, I would be too timid to stand up here and say that. I am joined by virtually all of the debtor and creditor community in saying it. I am even joined by some of the public utilities that Senator Wyden seeks to protect. The largest city in the State, Los Angeles, which produces its own power, does not support this because the city is worried about the same thing. I am worried about it.

I say give the State the time. Senator Wyden and I do appreciate this—says, all right, we will work with you to create a time. I would like an opportunity so as to ensure that this amendment that was perfected by Senator Smith and Senator Boxer so as to ensure that this amendment not going to be counterproductive and it is going to produce something which can be devastating to everyone.

Mr. Wyden. Mr. President, I will be brief, but I want to just respond to several of the arguments made by my distinguished colleague. My colleague said, for example, that this is going to have real ramifications for the economic well-being of her State. The fact is, what the State of California has al- ready done has had a major economic impact on my State and on the people of the Pacific Northwest. Under very difficult circumstances we sent additional power to California which generated these glowing thank- you notes from my colleagues and various California officials. So my colleague from California en- visages some economic trouble in her State. We are already seeing it and it is compounded by the fact that we have been more than a good neighbor. What it is all about on the west coast, as my colleague from Nevada knows, is we have an interconnected power system. We have been more than a good neighbor, and we are suffering economic hardship as a result.

My colleague also said that California is owed the opportunity. Those were her words: The State of California is owed the opportunity to work out this matter.

There is no question in my mind that they should have the opportunity to work it out. But they should not get a free ride. They should have to be part of an effort, as Senator Boxer said this evening, to bring the parties together as we have sought to do with our very narrow amendment we offered this evening.

Finally, my colleague says that somehow the amendment put together by Senator Smith and Senator Boxer and I, in her words, has launched an as- sault on the State of California. That is pretty incendiary oratory, in terms of this whole debate. But, again, I submit if there has been an assault that has been launched, it was what was done in the State of California. It was not something about because the Senators from Oregon, work- ing with the Senator from California, tried to figure out a way to make sure there was a modest measure of protec- tion for our constituents. It is not a proposal that moved Bonneville Power to the head of the line, not a proposal that gives our constituents a free ride, the way Southern California Edison seems to want, but something that en- sures that we do get a fair shake.

I am very pleased to see that there has been an effort on the part of the sponsors of this particular amendment. The first vote will be on the Smith amendment tomorrow morn- ing at 10:30 or thereabouts. It is an amendment that was perfected by Sen- ator Boxer so as to ensure that this would not create a greater opportunity for bankruptcy to take place.

It was designed to make sure that the parties had a reason to negotiate. I fear that if this particular proposal goes down, this gives a green light to the private interests that are opposing this tonight, to know they basically got the votes on the floor of the Senate to work their will on any of these major issues.

This is going to be a big vote, it seems to me. It is important for us in the Pacific Northwest. But for anybody who reads the Washington Post—and I know that our colleagues, everybody who reads The New York Times are doing a lot of reading about this—and he knows that there is a huge issue in California. What the Senator from Oregon said is, what are the consequences of going into bankruptcy. What are the consequences of going into bankruptcy?

Mr. Byrd. Mr. President, today I voted in favor of Mrs. Feinstein’s amendment. I do not think this amendment is the right one. It does not support this because the city is worried about the same thing. I am worried about it.

I say give the State the time. Senator Wyden and I do appreciate this—says, all right, we will work with you to create a time. I would like an opportunity so as to ensure that this amendment that was perfected by Senator Smith and Senator Boxer so as to ensure that this amendment not going to be counterproductive and it is going to produce something which can be devastating to everyone.

Mr. Wyden. Mr. President, I will be brief, but I want to just respond to several of the arguments made by my distinguished colleague. My colleague said, for example, that this is going to have real ramifications for the economic well-being of her State. The fact is, what the State of California has al- ready done has had a major economic impact on my State and on the people of the Pacific Northwest. Under very difficult circumstances we sent additional power to California which generated these glowing thank- you notes from my colleagues and various California officials. So my colleague from California en- visages some economic trouble in her State. We are already seeing it and it is compounded by the fact that we have been more than a good neighbor. What it is all about on the west coast, as my colleague from Nevada knows, is we have an interconnected power system. We have been more than a good neighbor, and we are suffering economic hardship as a result.

My colleague also said that California is owed the opportunity. Those were her words: The State of California is owed the opportunity to work out this matter.

There is no question in my mind that they should have the opportunity to work it out. But they should not get a free ride. They should have to be part of an effort, as Senator Boxer said this evening, to bring the parties together as we have sought to do with our very narrow amendment we offered this evening.

Finally, my colleague says that somehow the amendment put together by Senator Smith and Senator Boxer and I, in her words, has launched an as- sault on the State of California. That is pretty incendiary oratory, in terms of this whole debate. But, again, I submit if there has been an assault that has been launched, it was what was done in the State of California. It was not something about because the Senators from Oregon, work- ing with the Senator from California, tried to figure out a way to make sure there was a modest measure of protec- tion for our constituents. It is not a proposal that moved Bonneville Power to the head of the line, not a proposal that gives our constituents a free ride, the way Southern California Edison seems to want, but something that en- sures that we do get a fair shake.

I am very pleased to see that there has been an effort on the part of the sponsors of this particular amendment. The first vote will be on the Smith amendment tomorrow morn- ing at 10:30 or thereabouts. It is an amendment that was perfected by Sen- ator Boxer so as to ensure that this would not create a greater opportunity for bankruptcy to take place.

It was designed to make sure that the parties had a reason to negotiate. I fear that if this particular proposal goes down, this gives a green light to the private interests that are opposing this tonight, to know they basically got the votes on the floor of the Senate to work their will on any of these major issues.

This is going to be a big vote, it seems to me. It is important for us in the Pacific Northwest. But for anybody who reads the Washington Post—and I know that our colleagues, everybody who reads The New York Times are doing a lot of reading about this—and he knows that there is a huge issue in California. What the Senator from Oregon said is, what are the consequences of going into bankruptcy. What are the consequences of going into bankruptcy?
amendment to the bankruptcy reform bill that would limit the amount of credit that credit card companies can extend to underage consumers. For the benefit of my West Virginia constituents, I offer a brief explanation of my vote.

I supported the Feinstein amendment because I agree with the general philosophy behind it. Credit card companies are far too willing to offer credit cards to young, financially-inexperienced consumers. Many of these young consumers are college students without any income or credit history. Too often these young consumers get in over their head when credit card companies offer unlimited credit to buy whatever they want, whenever they want. The Feinstein amendment is a commonsense approach that would restrict the amount of credit that could be offered to these young consumers, unless they gain parental approval or are able to demonstrate their financial independence.

However, I disagree that $2,500 is an adequate credit limit for protecting underage consumers. My own view is that this amount is too high. I would prefer a credit limit of $1,500 or $2,000, which would be more appropriate. My colleague makes a good point, and one where we both agree on, and frankly, it is something on which there is bipartisan interest. The issue of privacy, both online and offline, is something that we have discussed together and both agree that Congress should examine, and will be examining, the current legal framework for privacy protection and determine where improvements can and should be made. This is an important matter on which we should have hearings and move forward with legislative proposals, where appropriate.

Mr. LEAHY. While much attention has been focused on online privacy and the use of personally identifiable information by commercial sites, the Federal Government has a huge repository of personal information in both paper and electronic form. Balancing the important interests of public access to government records with privacy protection for personal information is not always easy to do.

Mr. HATCH. I agree, this is a difficult subject, but one we must tackle and I believe as policy-makers, Congress has an important role to play in the making sure that we are doing it properly. It is becoming increasingly more important as we see government using technology to become more efficient, more user friendly, and we need to be sure that the new ease of use of government, the Federal agencies, the Federal Trade Commission believe notice, choice, security and access that are adequate for notice, choice, security and access that are adequate are met by commercial sites. But it is clearly one that we must overcome.

Mr. LEAHY. The federal judiciary is grappling with the issue of how to put additional court filings online while providing appropriate levels of privacy protection and security for the information in those records. Bankruptcy records, for example, contain all kinds of highly sensitive personal and financial information, including social security number, bank and credit card account numbers, medical history; and child support and alimony information. This information may pertain to the debtor but also to many other people who are creditors or simply associated or employed by the debtor. These records have traditionally been available to the public for a period of time for the purpose of allowing the public to review the records, and physically review the hard copies. This was an open process and it was cumbersome. The inefficiency of obtaining data provided its own protective shield. For the most part, only those with a legitimate interest in bankruptcy court data took the trouble to collect it. As courts increasingly go online, however, personal information such as that contained in court filings may be posted on the Internet available for some legitimate uses but also vulnerable to misuse or objectionable re-use. In some cases, personal information of parties with only limited interest in a bankruptcy case can be widely distributed and posted online. Last August, for example, employees of an Internet retailer were shocked to learn that their salaries, bonuses, stock-option information, and home addresses were posted on the Web. Their employer, Living.com, had filed for bankruptcy and submitted all corporate financial data to the courts. Then, at the request of the company's creditors, the trustee in the case posted this highly personal data, information about employees, not about debtors, on the Web. In an unusual twist, the home addresses of 1,000 of Living.com's creditors were also posted on the Internet. The Living.com case demonstrates that we need automatic electronic disclosure of data, threats that can befall not just debtors, but employees and even creditors.

Federal agencies could also do a better job of protecting the privacy of those who do business with or seek help or information from the government. A recent GAO study reports that while most major federal agency sites post privacy notices, many do not do so on pages that collect personal information and few satisfy the principles of notice, choice, security and access that the Federal Trade Commission believe should be met by commercial sites. Moreover, the Privacy Act has not been seriously examined or updated for over twenty years. For the job it was originally intended to do of protecting the privacy of personal information provided to and held by the government, I look forward to working with the Chairman on addressing these and other important privacy issues in this Congress.

Mr. LEAHY. I certainly share your concerns regarding the privacy implications of government actions. I should note that I understand the Judicial Conference is also looking at this issue, but it is clearly one that we must oversee as it raises important policy issues, as well as important First Amendment and Fourth Amendment concerns. In the bankruptcy context, I should state that I believe it is critical that a delicate balance be established between the privacy interest of the debtor who seeks to take the privilege afforded under our bankruptcy laws, and the need in the case of bankruptcies for creditors where the parties are trying to enforce a court order against fraud in our bankruptcy system, to obtain information about the debtor and the bankruptcy case. A fair balancing of these competing concerns is critical, and one that the Congress, and particularly the Judiciary Committee, must take an active role.

I think that there is no question that making sure the privacy policies and practices of the Federal Government is important. In addition, we should make sure that the privacy laws governing the Federal Government’s use of personally identifiable information work effectively. This is an important issue that we can both work together to make happen, and if I remember correctly, it is one that Attorney General Ashcroft has similar concerns about.

MORNING BUSINESS

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate now be in a period of morning business with Senators speaking for up to 10 minutes each.

THE PRESIDENT. Without objection, it is so ordered.

THE VISIT OF SOUTH KOREAN PRESIDENT KIM DAE JUNG

Mr. DASCHLE. Mr. President, I want to share with my colleagues a letter that Representatives GEPHARDT, LANTOS, Senators BIDEN and LEVIN, and I recently sent to President Bush. The letter outlines our support for efforts to work with our South Korean friends to address the threats to our security emanating from North Korea.

Like President Bush, we harbor no illusions about the challenges posed by the North Korean government. To say North Korea’s actions the past several decades have greatly troubled the United States and the world is an understatement. However, we also recognize that we cannot simply ignore the challenges the current regime poses for the international community: the stakes, which include the proliferation of missile technology, are simply too high.

Last week Secretary Powell publicly recognized that the Clinton Administration should have made progress in addressing the threats posed by North Korea. We agree with that assessment. We believe the record shows that the Clinton Administration fell just short of reaching a comprehensive agreement with the North Koreans that would have dramatically reduced tensions between the two Koreas and between North Korea and the rest of the world.

Given the urgency of these threats and the fact that a breakthrough appeared imminent just months ago, it is in the U.S. national interest to pursue additional discussions with the North Koreans. Only by allowing our negotiators to sit down with their North Korean counterparts will we be able to determine whether that recent progress contains the seeds of a comprehensive and verifiable agreement with North Korea.

Let us be clear. The burden here is on the North Koreans to prove that they will join the international community. We may find that a deal is not possible. But to walk away from that effort now, without knowing whether a deal is possible, is to pass up an opportunity to address a principal threat to the United States and to our friends in the region, South Korea chief among them.

We urge the President to work with President Kim and our South Korean friends—with our strong support—to test North Korea’s commitment to peace through a comprehensive and verifiable agreement on its nuclear and missile activity. The stakes are too high and the issues too urgent to do otherwise.

I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the RECORD a letter dated March 6, 2001.

There being no objection, the letter was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT: We are writing in regard to your upcoming meeting with Republic of Korea President Kim Dae Jung. Korea is a steadfast ally in a strategic part of the world, and we are pleased you will meet with President Kim early in your administration.

We understand that President Kim’s efforts toward rapprochement with North Korea will be a subject of your meeting. In the context of those efforts, late last year North Korea suggested it may be ready to permanently address U.S. and allied concerns regarding its nuclear and missile capability—a major destabilizing force in East Asia and a principal threat to the security of the United States and its allies in the region.

Your meeting with President Kim offers an opportunity to stand with our South Korean friends in the region, and we are indeed committed to peace. Given North Korea’s often far-reaching demands and record of disregarding international norms, we are under no illusions about the difficulty of getting comprehensive agreements with North Korea that address our concerns about its current and future nuclear and ballistic missile activities. We believe, however, the stakes are high and the issues involved demand urgent attention, and it is evident to us that the continued engagement of the U.S. Government on this matter could serve to reduce a serious potential threat to our national security.

We therefore hope you will take whatever opportunity to reach an agreement with the Republic of Korea in the context of your upcoming meeting. We also hope you will continue to offer our support to the victims of this earthquake, and we encourage President Bush to offer any needed additional assistance as they begin the process of rebuilding shattered homes and lives.

Sincerely,

SEN. TOM DASCHLE, Senate Democratic Leader.

REP. RICHARD GEPHARDT, House Democratic Leader.

SUPPORT FOR VICTIMS OF INDIAN EARTHQUAKE

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. President, I would like to extend my deepest sympathy to the Indian people for the recent loss of life and property due to the recent earthquake in their country. On January 26, the people of Gujarat in western India were hit by an earthquake the size and devastation of that which hit San Francisco in 1906. The earthquake in Gujarat killed more than 30,000, injured more than 100,000, and displaced more than a half million men, women, and children.

My thoughts and prayers, and those of many Americans, are with them at this difficult time.

The people of India have been valuable friends to America, and a number of Indians call this country their home. Unfortunately, tragic events like these show how quickly loved ones and friends can be taken from us. However, it is also through despair and tears that people often find humanity and caring.

The damage to the region is expected to exceed $5.5 billion. In the face of such a catastrophe, it is imperative that the global community actively respond. I am heartened to see the outpouring of assistance that nations around the globe, and countless non-governmental organizations, have offered to India. Our own government will continue to offer our support to the victims of this earthquake, and I encourage President Bush to offer any needed additional assistance as they begin the process of rebuilding shattered homes and lives.

THE DEPARTURE OF A DEAR FRIEND, KRISTINE ‘IVO’ IVerson

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, one of my very dear staffers is about to leave the Senate, a wonderful woman who has given a great deal of her time and love—indeed, a great deal of her life—to me, my office, the citizens of Utah, the county, and indeed, to this grand and honored institution, the Senate of the United States.

It is almost impossible for me to believe, but, after nearly a quarter of a century, Kristine Iverson’s last working day in my office has now come upon us. I can still remember that day in 1976, when a young Illinois native—just two years out of DePauw University—when that young lady came to my office, resuming her work as a legislative correspondent. Kris got that job, and it was one of the best moves I made.

Kris joined my staff in 1977 as a legislative correspondent. But her intelligence, dedication, warm heart and incredible ability to grasp all the intricacies of the legislative process quickly propelled her to a series of top positions in my office and on the Labor Committee.

And for the past 24 years, day in and day out, we have always been able to count on Kris Iverson. Night after night, year after year, she was the first one in and the last one to leave.

In short, we have grown gray together.

Over the years, Kris has worn many hats: Legislative Assistant, Labor Committee Policy Director, Labor Committee Minority Staff Director, and now Legislative Director.

In that position she served admirably and won the utmost respect from her colleagues on both sides of the aisle.

Most recently, Kris has served without peer in one of the most difficult and challenging positions in the office of any Senator—legislative director. In that position, she has served with an unmatched commitment to the Senate and indeed the very Congress of the United States.

We all know how important it is to have a Legislative Director who we can trust to take our legislative priorities and help us direct them through the Byzantine maze of the legislative process.

Kris has been responsible for shepherding every piece of legislation that I sponsored. Beyond that, she was also responsible for helping to direct the legislative activities of both my personal staff and the Judiciary Committee staff.

Not only has Kris—or “Ivo” as we endearingly refer to her—earned my undying respect and admiration, but she is also highly admired by many in this body for her honesty, her work-ethic and her analytical skills.

When I think of many of the great laws in this nation the Child Care and Development Block Grant Act of 1990, the Women in Science Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Job Training Partnership Act or JTPA, the Children’s Health Insurance Program or CHIP all of these great laws reflect Kris Iverson’s substantial mark.

Kris was there—in fact, Ivo was the lead staffer—on my first law, the National Ski Patrol Federal Charter, signed by Carter in 1980.

We often joke that she has files older than many of our staffers, and I’m sorry to say, it’s true!

Unfortunately for us, her reputation has carried all the way to the White House where President George W. Bush has announced his intent to nominate her to one of the highest positions in the Department of Labor.

If all goes as planned—and I know it will—when Senator Hatch will become the Assistant Secretary of Labor for Congressional and Intergovernmental Affairs.

Her only obstacle is confirmation by this august body . . . and I am counting on my colleagues to give her their support. Unanimous support!

I know that in that very important office, she will serve Secretary Chao with the same dedication and spirit. Clearly, being appointed by the President of our great nation to such a position is a tremendous honor and a tribute to her.

A great writer once said:

Give us an individual of integrity, on whom we know we can thoroughly depend; who will stand firm when others fail; the friend, faithful and true; the advisor, honest and fearless; the adversary, just and chivalrous: such an one is the fragment of the Rock of Ages...

Ivo has been such a faithful and true “rock” of our office. I cannot put into words how much she will be missed, not only by my staff but also by the Senate as a whole.

And of course, she will be greatly missed by me.

I have considered her my right-hand counselor and advisor. I have relied on her on a daily, if not hourly basis.

We have come to count on Kris to do it all. From proper placement of commas to strategy on the most important legislative initiatives . . . Kris does it, and does it well.

Dozens, if not hundreds, of people throughout Washington and the nation were mentored by Kris Iverson, and under her gentle tutelage have gone on to lead successful careers.

When the times were hard or the seas were rough, Kris was there with a steady and unbending hand to guide us on the proper course. She was our captain, our Mother Superior, our eye in the storm, our calm center in a sea of chaos.

I must say that I am very saddened by her departure. But I am very, very happy and proud of her accomplishments and most importantly, of this tremendous appointment to a place where I know that she will continue to honor and serve her country with dignity and respect.

So, I hope my colleagues will join me in wishing Kris well, in expressing our love and gratitude for her service to us. There is no doubt in our minds that she will move on to even greater heights as she continues to serve our government and our President.

Mr. President, I have had a lot of people serve with me throughout the years, and I tell you, Kris is one I love, adore, appreciate, and honor. I have had no one serve with me who did a better job or gave more to this institution and to our country than Kris Iverson. I felt very much like I had to make this statement at this time before Kris leaves. She is sitting right beside me, and I am very, very proud of her.

I want to yield to my friend from Connecticut.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I was happy to yield to my colleagues for the purpose of making this statement, although I had no idea what the subject was going to be. I feel fortunate to have been on the floor when I discovered it was going to be about Kris Iverson, with whom I have worked now for some 15 or 16 years, going back to the mid-1980s when Senator Hatch and I authored the child care development block grant.

Kris Iverson did the initial work for Senator Hatch on that legislation, working with a fellow from my office who has been at the Department of Health and Human Services over the last number of years. I thank her.

Coming from the other side of the aisle here, I didn’t have the privilege of working with her every day, but on the days that I did, I came to know her as a highly competent, serious individual of deep convictions, who understands issues very, very well, appreciates the role of government, and that bright and talented people can make a contribution.

We are going to miss you, I say to Kris Iverson, here in the Senate, although we are not going to lose you entirely from public service. So on behalf of those of us on this side of the aisle—we don’t want to ruin your reputation in Republican circles—but we thank you as well for a job very well done on behalf of all Americans. We are lucky to have had you serve the Senate and certainly the interests of the American people.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I thank my colleague for his kind remarks because he knows how hard we worked together on the child care development block grant, and a whole raft of other issues. Kris has done such a great job, and I am honored to have her sit beside me for the last time in the Senate. We are very proud of her.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

HONORING JIM O’ROURKE

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I rise today to congratulate Connecticut State Representative Jim O’Rourke on being named the Irishman of the Year by the Portland-Maine Irish Order of Hibernians, an Irish-American organization with a tradition of service to the community.

Jim O’Rourke, born in Boston, MA, has served the people of Connecticut for most of his adult life. He is a graduate of Manchester High School and earned a Bachelors Degree in Political Science at the University of Connecticut. While at the University of Connecticut, Jim developed a deep passion for issues affecting the environment, consumer protection, and education, serving as Chairman of the statewide Connecticut Public Interest Research Group and later as Chairman of the Connecticut Environmental Caucus.

For the past 11 years, as a member of the Connecticut State House of Representatives, Representative O’Rourke has been a champion of initiatives aimed at providing cleaner air and water for the people of Cromwell, Portland, and Middletown. Last month, he hosted the Connecticut Coalition for Clean Air, CCCA, a partnership of private, State, and local government officials committed to educating the public while providing solutions to pollution concerns throughout the State. Jim believes that pollution of our air and waterways is more than just an environmental problem; it is a public health concern. Representative O’Rourke’s work on these vital issues has earned him wide respect among his colleagues. In fact, one indication of the high regard Jim’s colleagues have for him is that he was chosen to serve as Assistant Majority Leader of the Connecticut House of Representatives earlier this year.

Jim O’Rourke has made numerous contributions to his community. His tireless work on behalf of children and families there and throughout Connecticut has earned him the respect of his colleagues. He works as Assistant Development Director of The Connection, a non-profit service and community development organization which provides counsel to low and moderate-income families seeking to purchase their first home. It also provides important treatment services for underprivileged families and persons in need of counseling.

Mr. O’Rourke is an active member of the Portland-Middletown division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, having been granted the third degree prior to his latest achievement. The Order has been an integral part of Irish-American life since its North American branch was founded in 1836 in New York City, it is now the largest of all Irish Social Societies in the United States. Jim O’Rourke is also a member of the Cromwell Kiwanis Club and the DeSoto Council Cromwell Knights of Columbus. He serves as president of the statewide People’s Action for Clean Energy, an organization committed to energy conservation and a clean and healthy environment.

As a result of his endeavors, Jim has been the recipient of numerous awards, including being recently named the Legist for the Year by the Connecticut Council of Small Towns and Champion of Youth by the Connecticut Coalition of Youth Advocates.

As you are aware, this week is a special one for all Irish-Americans, for Saturday is Saint Patrick’s Day. Let us take this opportunity not only to recognize the rich legacy of the Irish in America, but also to honor a man who has worked so hard within his community to preserve this heritage, and to promote the well being of all citizens, as well. I can think of no finer illustration of the contributions that Americans of Irish descent continue to make to our Nation than the good work of Judge Brett Dorian and every day as an outstanding public servant.

TRIBUTE TO BLACK MOUNTAIN SKI AREA

- Mr. SMITH of New Hampshire. Mr. President, I rise today to pay tribute to the Black Mountain Ski Area in Jackson, NH, upon the celebration of their 65th year of business.

A pioneer in the ski industry, Black Mountain Ski Area installed the first overhead cable lift in the United States in 1935. Designed and installed by Bartlett, NH, inventor George Morton, the lift consisted of an overhead cable with strands of rope hanging down for skiers to hold onto as they ventured up the mountain.

In 1936, Bill and Betty Whitney purchased the Moody Farm and Ski Area at Black Mountain from Ed and Ada Miranda of rural Jackson, acquiring the business as Whitney’s. The Whitney family retrofitted the overhead cable lift in 1937, replacing the strands of rope that hung from the cable with seventy-two shovel handles purchased from Sears Roebuck and Company.

Black Mountain utilized the first snow making system in New Hampshire in December, 1957. A Skysporter Snowmaking System was installed by the William A. Walsh Company of Manchester, NH.

Black Mountain Ski Area has been in continuous operation as a ski facility since 1935, making it one of the oldest ski areas in New Hampshire. The Black Mountain Ski Area is a true friend to the people of New Hampshire and to the tourists who travel to our great state to utilize the facility. Their efforts to serve the needs of the ski industry in New Hampshire are truly commendable. It is an honor to represent them in the United States Senate.

GEORGE W. MILLER’S FIFTY YEARS OF SERVICE

- Mr. SANTORUM. Mr. President, I would like to take a moment today to recognize a Pennsylvanian who has been a tremendous asset to our community. I was recently notified that Mr. George W. Miller, Chief of the Volunteer Fire Department for Mount Pleasant Vol- unteer Fire Department.

It is without question that this fine Pennsylvanian has gone above and beyond the call of duty to improve the safety of his community. Mr. Miller has displayed great courage over the years, as he has put himself in danger in order to protect the lives of his neighbors, friends, and community members. Our society will remain forever in debt to Mr. Miller and those like him who spend their own time in volunteer efforts.

The Volunteer Fire Department of Mount Pleasant, PA has been blessed over the years, as he has put himself in danger to extend the protection in his community. Mr. Miller has displayed great courage over the years, as he has put himself in danger in order to protect the lives of his neighbors, friends, and community members. Our society will remain forever in debt to Mr. Miller and those like him who spend their own time in volunteer efforts.

The Volunteer Fire Department of Mount Pleasant, PA has been blessed over the years, as he has put himself in danger in order to protect the lives of his neighbors, friends, and community members. Our society will remain forever in debt to Mr. Miller and those like him who spend their own time in volunteer efforts.

AMERICAN COLLEGE OF OBSTETRICIANS AND GYNECOLOGIST: 50TH ANNIVERSARY TRIBUTE

- Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I would like to recognize Judge Brett Dorian as he retires after almost 12 years as a United States Bankruptcy Judge in Fresno, CA.

Brett Dorian’s legal career reflects a long and honorable commitment to public service. His dedication spans more than three decades, beginning with his service in the United States Air Force. Upon graduation from Boalt Hall, University of California, Berkeley Mr. Dorian helped and assisted the underprivileged in Central California as a legal aid lawyer. He then went on to a distinguished career in private practice where he specialized in bankruptcy law and served as a bankruptcy trustee for many years.

In 1988, Judge Dorian was appointed to the United States Bankruptcy Court in Fresno. He served as a Bankruptcy Judge for almost 12 years. Judge Do- rian served a five-year term in California, Judge Dorian has long been known as a thorough, dedicated and compassionate judge. Throughout his judicial career, he was diligent in carefully balancing the law in his cases and protecting the rights of those who appear before him.

Judge Dorian has served the people of California as well as all Americans with great distinction. I am honored to pay tribute to him today and I encour- age my fellow colleagues to join me in wishing Judge Brett Dorian continued happiness as he embarks on new en- devors.

- Mrs. MURRAY. Mr. President, I come to the floor today to pay tribute to the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, ACOG, in celebration of their 50th Anniversary. I would also like to include the letter signed by several of my colleagues who have joined with me in offering congratulations to ACOG and to pay tribute to their efforts on behalf of women’s health.

With a membership of over 41,000 physicians specializing in obstetric-gynecologic are, ACOG is the nation’s leading professional group dedicated to improving women’s health care. ACOG is a private, voluntary, nonprofit organization.
Throughout its history, the purpose of ACOG has been to maintain the best standards of health care for women. Today, about 95 percent of American obstetricians and gynecologists are affiliated with ACOG. Over 35 percent of ACOG Fellows are women, and over 63 percent of Junior Fellows are women. ACOG works in four primary areas:

- Serves as a strong advocate for quality health care for women.
- Increasing awareness among its members and the public of the changing issues facing women’s health care.
- Maintaining the highest standards of clinical practice and continuing education for its members.
- Promoting patient education and stimulating patient understanding of, and involvement in, medical care.

ACOG’s reliable and informative communication with us on Capitol Hill has been a valuable asset in guiding our policy debates. Congratulations to ACOG, and thank you for providing a welcome voice to Capitol Hill on women’s health policy.

I ask that a letter dated February 21, 2001, be printed in the RECORD.

The letter follows:

U.S. SENATE

Hon. TRENT LOTT, Hon. DENNIS HASTERT, Senate Majority Leader, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

Hon. DENNIS HASTERT, The Honorable, U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

Dear Senator Lott, Mr. Speaker:

We would like to take this opportunity to recognize the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists (ACOG). We would also like to congratulate ACOG on its 50th Anniversary.

Throughout its history, the purpose of ACOG has been to maintain the best standards of health care for women. Today, about 95% of American obstetricians and gynecologists are affiliated with ACOG. Over 35% of ACOG Fellows are women, and over 63% of Junior Fellows are women. ACOG works in four primary areas:

- Serving as a strong advocate for quality health care for women.
- Increasing awareness among its members and the public of the changing issues facing women’s health care.
- Maintaining the highest standards of clinical practice and continuing education for its members.
- Promoting patient education and stimulating patient understanding of, and involvement in, medical care.

ACOG’s reliable and informative communication with us on Capitol Hill has been a valuable asset in guiding our policy debates. Congratulations to ACOG—and thank you for providing a welcome voice to Capitol Hill on women’s health policy.

Sincerely,

Patty Murray, Tom Harkin, Mary L. Landrieu, Louise M. Slaughter, Jim Jeffords, Paul Wellstone, Frank Lautenberg, Russ Feingold, Barbara A. Mikulski, Henry A. Waxman, and James Greenwood.

TRIBUTE TO JAYNE MARCUCCI

- Mr. SMITH of New Hampshire. Mr. President, I rise today to pay tribute to Jayne Marcucci of Hooksett, NH, for being honored the state’s first Ronald Reagan “Gipper” Award recipient and Young Republican of the Year 2001. Jayne was awarded the Ronald Reagan award on the former President’s birthday.

Jayne has served the citizens of New Hampshire selflessly with enthusiasm and loyalty as the former Executive Director of the New Hampshire State Republican Party. A grassroots builder, Jayne has been successful in attracting many young people to become involved in politics.

A graduate of the University of New Hampshire, Jayne received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science and later earned a Master of Business Administration degree, also from the University of New Hampshire.

Jayne served the State of New Hampshire as Deputy Press Secretary for my Senate office in Manchester. She is the President of consulting firm providing political consulting and public relations services to clients in New Hampshire.

A conscientious and dedicated volunteer, Jayne donates hours of her time to a therapeutic riding program, T.H.E. Farm, located in Tewksbury, MA, providing services to persons with disabilities. Jayne contributes to T.H.E. Farm by promoting the valuable program with communications and public relations assistance.

Jayne has served the citizens of New Hampshire with selfless dedication and hard work. It is an honor to represent her in the United States Senate.

100 YEAR ANNIVERSARY OF THE JEWISH FEDERATION OF GREATER PHILADELPHIA

- Mr. SANTORUM. Mr. President, I stand before you today to recognize the contributions made by the Jewish Federation of Greater Philadelphia. On March 22, 2001 they will celebrate their 100 year anniversary, and I would like to extend my sincere gratitude for the leadership and guidance they continue to provide to the Philadelphia community.

The mission of the Jewish Federation is to assure that the basic human needs of Jewish populations at risk are met, to maximize Jewish identification and participation in Jewish life. In addition, the hard work of the federation provides leadership and effective outreach efforts to those in the Jewish community.

When the federation celebrates their 100th anniversary, they will sign the Centennial Celebration Charter, just as their ancestors did in 1901, which will reaffirm their commitment to the Jewish community. The Jewish Federation of Greater Philadelphia remains committed to the five counties in South-eastern Pennsylvania, by creating a caring, compassionate, involved Jewish community that encourages members to take an active role in their culture and religion.

I commend the members of the Jewish Federation of Greater Philadelphia as they reach this milestone anniversary. The people of Philadelphia are blessed to have such a caring and involved organization in their community.

TRIBUTE TO BERNIE STREETER

- Mr. SMITH of New Hampshire. Mr. President, I rise today to honor Bernie Streeter of Nashua, NH, for his thirty years of distinguished service on the New Hampshire Executive Council.

As executive councilor for District 5, Bernie provided exemplary service to over 225,000 residents in an area which covers the southwestern part of New Hampshire from the Connecticut River Valley to Nashua. Over the years he has worked effectively with seven governors and twenty executive councilors.

As an executive councilor, Bernie worked selflessly on state transportation issues. He chaired the Governor’s Commission on Highways and was one of the principal architects of the state’s ten year highway plan. He also chaired the New Hampshire Department of Transportation Congestion Mitigation/Air Quality and Transportation Enhancement Committee and presided over all executive council public hearings on judicial nominations.

Bernie, who serves as the 5th Mayor of Nashua, has worked tirelessly in his local community. He serves on the board of directors of the Greater Nashua United Way, the Greater Nashua Chamber of Commerce, The PLUS Company and Marguerite’s Place.

On the national level, Bernie was appointed to serve a term on the National Health Planning Council by President Ford. He was later appointed by President Reagan to serve on the National Advisory Council of United States Public Health Service.

Bernie received the 1999 “President’s Service Award” from New Hampshire Community Technical College in Nashua, NH, in recognition of his public service and support of post-secondary vocational and technical education.

A graduate of Keene High School and Bates University, Bernie served his country in the United States Army and United States Air Force Reserve. He and his wife, Jan, have lived in Nashua for over thirty-five years and have three children: Shannon Streeter O’Neill, Christopher B. Streeter and Stephanie Streeter McKenna. They have two grandsons, Spencer J. O’Neil and Cameron W. Streeter and a granddaughter, Abigail Streeter.

Throughout his career Bernie has enthusiastically provided dedicated service to his community. He is a role model for us all and it is truly an honor to represent him in the United States Senate.
TRIBUTE TO REAR ADMIRAL J. CUTLER DAWSON, JR., USN

Mr. WARNER. Mr. President, I rise today to recognize an outstanding Naval Officer, Rear Admiral J. Cutler Dawson, Jr. as he completes more than two years of distinguished service as the Navy’s Chief of Legislative Affairs for the Congress of the United States. It is a privilege for me to honor him for his many outstanding achievements and commend him for his devotion to the Navy and our great nation.

Admiral Dawson is a 1970 graduate of the United States Naval Academy and is one of our Navy’s ablest Surface Warfare Officers. As Chief of Legislative Affairs, utilizing professional skills and decisive actions, he “navigated” the Navy through many Congressional actions. Foremost were the issues for pay, force structure funding, leadership confirmations and quality of life initiatives. Further, he ensured support for a difficult series of high profile issues, including the F/A-18 E/F, CVN-77/CVNX, DD-21 Acquisition Strategy, Virginia Class Submarines, Shipyard maintenance, and the Navy/Marine Corps Intranet (NMCI). That’s a very commendable record of achievement.

Admiral Dawson provided outstanding advice and recommendations to the Secretary of the Navy and Chief of Naval Operations that have significantly and positively affected the future size, readiness, and capabilities of the Navy. Working closely with the United States Congress, he has helped maintain the best-trained, best-equipped, and best-prepared Navy in the world.

I am proud to thank him for his service as the Chief of Legislative Affairs and look forward with pride and deepest respect as we continue to work with him once he is confirmed in his new assignment as Commander of the U.S. Fifth Fleet.

MESSAGES FROM THE PRESIDENT

Messages from the President of the United States were communicated to the Senate by Ms. Evans, one of his secretaries.

EXECUTIVE MESSAGES REFERRED

As in executive session the President referred messages from Executive Officer laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, together with an accompanying report; which was referred to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Development.

To the Congress of The United States:

As required by section 401(c) of the National Emergencies Act, 50 U.S.C. 1621(c), section 204(c) of the International Emergency Economic Powers Act, 50 U.S.C. 1703(c), and section 505(c) of the International Security and Development Cooperation Act of 1985, 22 U.S.C. 2349aa-9(c), I transmit herewith a 6-month periodic report on the national emergency with respect to Iran that was declared in Executive Order 12957 of March 15, 1995.

GEORGE W. BUSH.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

The following bills and joint resolutions were introduced, read the first and second times by unanimous consent, and referred as indicated:

By Mrs. BOXER:
S. 518. A bill to amend the Public Health Service Act to provide for the training of health professions students subject to the identification and referral of victims of domestic violence; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

By Mr. PRIST:
S. 519. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide that trusts established for the benefit of individuals with disabilities shall be taxed at the same rate as individual taxpayers; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. DeWINE (for himself, Mr. KNUM, Mr. GRASSLEY, and Mr. RIDD):
S. 520. A bill to amend the Clayton Act, and for other purposes; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

By Mr. SANTORUM:
S. 521. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to allow a credit against income tax for expenses incurred in teleworking; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. KERRY (for himself, Mr. DASCHLE, Mr. CLELAND, and Mr. WELLSTONE):

S. 522. A bill to direct the Administrator of the Small Business Administration to conduct a pilot program to raise awareness about telecommuting among small business employers, and to encourage such employers to offer telecommuting options to employees; to the Committee on Small Business.

By Mr. SCHUMER:

By Mr. GRAHAM (for himself, Mr. DEWINE, Mr. HAGEL, Mr. BREAUX, Mr. MCCAIN, Mr. FRANKEN, Mr. BOREN, Mr. SCHUMER, and Mr. NELSON of Nebraska):

S. 525. A bill to expand trade benefits to certain Andean countries, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. DORGAN (for himself and Mr. ROCKEFELLER):

S. 526. A bill to amend title 49, United States Code, to provide that rail agreements, to authorize the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System to pay interest on reserve, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.

By Mr. HATCH (for himself, Mr. CLELAND, Mr. LOTT, Mr. THURMOND, Mrs. FEINSTEIN, Mr. SMITH of New Hampshire, Mr. BROWNACK, Mr. ALVARD, Mr. ALLEN, Mr. BAUCUS, Mr. BOND, Mr. BUNNING, Ms. COLLINS, Mr. CRAIG, Mr. CRAPO, Mr. DAYTON, Mr. DEWINE, Mr. DOMENICI, Mr. ENSON, Mr. EMERY, Mr. FITZGERALD, Mr. FRIST, Mr. GRAMM, Mr. GRASSLEY, Mr. HAGEL, Mr. HELMS, Mr. HOLLINGS, Mr. HUTCHINSON, Mrs. HUTCHINSON, Mr. INHOFE, Mr. JOHNSON, Mrs. LINCOLN, Mr. LOUGAR, Mr. MCCAIN, Mr. MILLER, Mr. MURkowski, Mr. RIEG, Mr. SHELBERG, Mr. EMERY, Mr. BINGAMAN, Mr. SMITH, Ms. SNOWE, Mr. STEVENS, Mr. THOMAS, Mr. Voinovich, and Mr. WARNER):

S. J. Res. 7. A joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States authorizing Congress to prohibit the physical desecration of the flag of the United States; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

SUBMISSION OF CONCURRENT AND SENATE RESOLUTIONS

The following concurrent resolutions and Senate resolutions were read, and referred (or acted upon), as indicated:

By Mrs. HUTCHINSON (for herself, Ms. MIKULSKI, Mrs. BOXER, Ms. CANTWELL, Mrs. CARRANZA, Mrs. CLINTON, Ms. COLLINS, Mrs. FEINSTEIN, Ms. LANDREI, Mrs. LINCOLN, Mrs. MURRAY, Ms. SNOWE, and Ms. STABENOW):

S. Res. 59. A resolution designating the week of March 12 through March 17, 2001, as “National Girl Scout Week”; considered and agreed to.

By Mrs. FEINSTEIN (for herself, Mr. HELMS, Mr. KENNEDY, Mr. TORRECELLI, Mr. DODD, Mrs. BOXER, Mr. LEAHY, Mr. Kyl, Mr. BROWNACK, Mr. ReID, Mr. BAUCUS, Mr. BYRD, and Mrs. CLINTON):

S. Con. Res. 23. A concurrent resolution expressing the sense of Congress with respect to the brutal, mindless attack in November 1988 by United States military personnel on Libya in the terrorist bombing of Pan Am Flight 103, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

By Mr. LIEBERMAN:

ADDITIONAL COSPONSORS

S. 38

At the request of Mr. INOUYE, the name of the Senator from New Mexico (Mr. BINGAMAN) was added as a cosponsor of S. 38, a bill to amend title 10, United States Code, to permit former members of the Armed Forces who have a service-connected disability rated as total to travel on military aircraft in the same manner and to the same extent as retired members of the Armed Forces are entitled to travel on such aircraft.

S. 43

At the request of Mr. INOUYE, the name of the Senator from New Mexico (Mr. BINGAMAN) was added as a cosponsor of S. 43, a bill to amend title 10, United States Code, to authorize certain disabled former prisoners of war to use Department of Defense commissary and exchange stores.

S. 44

At the request of Mr. INOUYE, the name of the Senator from New Mexico (Mr. BINGAMAN) was added as a cosponsor of S. 44, a bill to amend United States Code, to increase the grade provided for the heads of the nurse corps of the Armed Forces.

S. 45

At the request of Mr. INOUYE, the name of the Senator from New Mexico (Mr. BINGAMAN) was added as a cosponsor of S. 45, a bill to amend title 5, United States Code, to require the issuance of a prisoner-of-war medal to civilian employees of the Federal Government who are forcibly detained or interned by an enemy government or a hostile force under wartime conditions.

S. 124

At the request of Mr. BROWNACK, the names of the Senator from Oklahoma (Mr. INHOFE) and the Senator from South Dakota (Mr. JOHNSON) were added as cosponsors of S. 124, a bill to exempt agreements relating to voluntary guidelines governing telecast material, movies, video games, Internet content, and music lyrics from the applicability of the antitrust laws, and for other purposes.

S. 129

At the request of Mr. JOHNSON, the name of the Senator from Iowa (Mr. HARKIN) was added as a cosponsor of S. 128, a bill to amend the Federal Deposit Insurance Act to require periodic cost of living adjustments to the maximum amount of deposit insurance available under that Act, and for other purposes.

S. 149

At the request of Mr. ENZI, the name of the Senator from Kentucky (Mr. BUDUMO) was added as a cosponsor of S. 149, a bill to provide authority to control exports, and for other purposes.

S. 277

At the request of Mr. KERRY, the names of the Senator from Montana (Mr. BAUCUS) and the Senator from North Carolina (Mr. ENZI) were added as cosponsors of S. 277, a bill to amend the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 to provide for an increase in the Federal minimum wage.

S. 278

At the request of Mr. JOHNSON, the name of the Senator from Georgia (Mr. CLELAND) was added as a cosponsor of S. 278, a bill to restore health care coverage to retired members of the uniformed services.

S. 281

At the request of Mr. HAGEL, the names of the Senator from Connecticut (Mr. GRASSLEY), the Senator from Louisiana (Mr. BREAUX), the Senator from Illinois (Mr. FITZGERALD), the Senator from Illinois (Mr. DURBIN), and the Senator from Hawai (Mr. INOUYE) were added as cosponsors of S. 281, a bill to authorize the design and construction of a temporary evacuation center at the Vietnam Veterans Memorial.

S. 283

At the request of Mr. McCaIN, the name of the Senator from South Dakota (Mr. DASCHLE) was added as a cosponsor of S. 283, a bill to amend the Public Health Service Act, the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, and the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to protect consumers in managed care plans and other health coverage.

S. 284

At the request of Mr. McCaIN, the name of the Senator from South Dakota (Mr. DASCHLE) was added as a cosponsor of S. 284, a bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide incentives to expand health care coverage for individuals.

S. 289

At the request of Mr. SESSIONS, the name of the Senator from Nevada (Mr. ENSign) was added as a cosponsor of S. 289, a bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide additional tax incentives for education.

S. 318

At the request of Mr. DASCHLE, the name of the Senator from Minnesota (Mr. WELLSTONE) was added as a cosponsor of S. 318, a bill to prohibit discrimination on the basis of genetic information with respect to health insurance.
S. 326, a bill to amend title XVIII of the Social Security Act to eliminate the 15 percent reduction in payment rates under the prospective payment system for home health services and to permanently increase payments for such services that are furnished in rural areas.

S. 349

At the request of Mr. Hutchinson, the names of the Senator from Minnesota (Mr. Wellstone) and the Senator from South Dakota (Mr. Daschle) were added as cosponsors of S. 349, a bill to prohibit the use of federal funds to support the National Center for Rural Law Enforcement, and for other purposes.

S. 367

At the request of Mr. Thomas, the name of the Senator from Wyoming (Mr. Enzi) was added as a cosponsor of S. 367, a bill to provide recreational snowmobile access to certain units of the National Park System, and for other purposes.

S. 388

At the request of Mr. Allen, the name of the Senator from Colorado (Mr. Allard) was added as a cosponsor of S. 388. The Internal Revenue Code of 1986 was amended to provide for a refundable education opportunity tax credit.

S. Con. Res. 7

At the request of Mr. Kerry, the name of the Senator from Connecticut (Mr. Dodd) was added as a cosponsor of S. Con. Res. 7, a concurrent resolution expressing the sense of Congress that the United States should establish an international education policy to enhance national security and significantly further United States foreign policy and global competitiveness.

S. Con. Res. 8

At the request of Ms. Snowe, the names of the Senator from Louisiana (Ms. Landrieu) and the Senator from New Jersey (Mr. Corzine) were added as cosponsors of S. Con. Res. 8, a concurrent resolution expressing the sense of Congress regarding subsidized Canadian lumber exports.

S. Con. Res. 14

At the request of Mr. Campbell, the name of the Senator from Nevada (Mr. Ensign) was added as a cosponsor of S. Con. Res. 14, a concurrent resolution recognizing the social problem of child abuse and neglect, and supporting efforts to enhance public awareness of it.

S. Res. 25

At the request of Mr. Craig, the names of the Senator from Hawaii (Mr. Akaka), the Senator from Alabama (Mr. Shelby) and the Senator from Minnesota (Mr. Dayton) were added as cosponsors of S. Res. 25, a resolution designating the week beginning March 18, 2001 as “National Safe Place Week”.

Amendment No. 40

At the request of Mrs. Carnahan, the names of the Senator from Maine (Ms. Collins) and the Senator from South Dakota (Mr. Enzi) were added as cosponsors of Amendment No. 40 proposed to S. 420, an original bill to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes.

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mrs. Boxer:

S. 518. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide that trusts established for the benefit of individuals with disabilities shall be taxed at the same rate as individual taxpayers, to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. Frist. Mr. President, today I introduce a bill to address a tax inequity that has existed for some time and was worsened by the large tax increases of 1993. The “Tax Fairness for Support of the Permanently Disabled Act” would change the tax rates for the taxable income of a trust fund established solely for the benefit of a person who is permanently and totally disabled. Instead of being taxed at the highest tax rate of 39.6 percent for amounts over $7500, the income of this fund would be taxed at the same rate as individual income. In essence, trust fund income would be treated as personal income for a permanently disabled person.

Mr. Nicholas Verbin of Nashville, TN personally called my office about this problem he had encountered. The problem was that he had established an irrevocable trust for his son Nicky, who is completely disabled, unable to work, and totally dependent on his dad to provide for him. Mr. Verbin has spent his whole life building up this trust fund so that his son can live off this lifetime of savings after Mr. Verbin is gone. Mr. Verbin does not want his son to have to go on welfare or become a ward of the state. Instead, he has paragraph:

revert to the grantor or a member of the grantor’s family upon the death of the beneficiary.”;(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years

S. 520. A bill to amend the Clayton Act, and for other purposes; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. DEWIN (for himself, Mr.
KOHL, Mr. GRASSLEY, and Mr.
REID): By Mr. DEWIN (for himself, Mr.
KOHL, Mr. GRASSLEY, and Mr. REID):

S. 520. A bill to amend the Clayton Act, and for other purposes; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. DEWIN. Mr. President, I rise today to introduce a bill, along with my friends Mr. KOHL, Mr. GRASSLEY, and Mr.
REID of Nevada, called the “High-Density Airport Competition Act of 2001.” We are introducing this legislation in an effort to increase and maintain competition in the domestic aviation industry. If the traveling public is to have access to affordable, quality air service, real competition is essential.

The need for this legislation stems from our belief that the recent surge in proposed mergers among our nation’s major airlines is a threat to competition. Let me explain. Less than a year ago, United Airlines and US Airways announced their plans to merge, creating an airline that would be nearly 50 percent larger than the closest competitor and a network significantly more extensive than other carriers.

Most industry observers believed that time that if the United/US Airways merger were allowed to go forward, these airlines would gain a dominant position at several key airports throughout the country, including airports such as New York LaGuardia and Reagan National airport here in Washington.

At the time the merger was announced, I expressed my concern that this merger would provoke further airline consolidation and potentially could leave the country with as few as three large domestic carriers. I continue to be concerned about additional mergers, and for good reason.

In early January of this year, American Airlines announced that it was joining in the United/US Airways deal by acquiring certain assets from US Airways and also by entering into agreements with United, including an agreement to jointly operate the Washington/New York/Boston shuttle.
So, if the deal is successful, instead of having one dominant carrier, our country would face the prospect of having two carriers that are significantly larger than their competitors.

Quite frankly, American Airlines saw the writing on the wall. Its leaders understood how difficult it would be to compete effectively in an industry where one airline was so much larger and so dominant in certain key business markets. As a result, American decided that, in order to survive, it had to join the deal and grow much bigger, as well.

If these deals are allowed to go forward, I am certain we will see even more consolidations. As policy-makers, we are faced with a daunting question:

Will the airline industry remain sufficiently competitive in the wake of the proposed United and American deals?
We have concluded that unless action is taken, competition very likely will be harmed.

If we cannot just sit idly by and let competition in this critical industry waste away. It is vital that other airlines have the opportunity to compete, and a big part of that is having access to airports that are essential in a network business, such as the aviation industry. Two of these key airports, Reagan National and LaGuardia, are subject to government slot controls, which limit the number of take-off and landing slots during a day. If the United and American deals are permitted, those two airlines will control roughly 65 percent of the slots at Reagan National and New York
LaGuardia. These are key resources that other airlines need reasonable access to if competition is to be maintained.

Simply put, competition is not served if we allow two airlines to dominate these airports. More important, consumer interests are not served if any airline is permitted to gain such a monopoly through mergers. That’s why my colleagues and I are introducing the “High-Density Airport Competition Act.” This bill represents one way to maintain a competitive environment in the airline industry.

Specifically, our bill would limit the percentage of slots that large national carriers can control at Reagan National and New York LaGuardia airports. The legislation would ensure that no single airline gains an anti-competitive advantage at these slot controlled airports. It would do so by prohibiting any large airline from controlling more than 20 percent of the slots over any 2-hour period. If such an airline did have more than 20 percent of the slots, that airline would be required within 60 days to either return the slots to the Department of Transportation or sell the slots in a blind auction. This procedure would preserve competition by giving all airlines equal opportunity to bid for the slots and gain access to these airports.

Again, our overriding concern is the welfare of the traveling public. We have seen, first-hand, the frustration of many travelers about service, delays, and high air fares. The answer to those other challenges is not more consolidation. The answer is effective competition. We are concerned the airline industry is moving in the wrong direction, toward a consolidated industry, away from a truly competitive, consumer-friendly environment. That’s not good for the industry. And, that’s certainly not good for consumers. That is why I hope my colleagues will join us in support of our legislation. We must move back to real competition and fairness in the domestic aviation industry, an industry that we all recognize plays a vital role in our Nation and our economy.
Mr. KOHL. Mr. President, I rise today, with my colleagues Senators DeWINE, GRASSLEY, and REID, to introduce the “High Density Airport Competition Act of 2001.” This legislation is a small but important step to promote airline competition during this time of massive consolidation in the airline industry. This legislation will prevent any large national carrier from gaining a dominant share of takeoff and landing slots at either Washington Reagan National or New York LaGuardia airports.

During the last year, we have all witnessed a tremendous consolidation in the airline industry. First, last May, United announced its planned deal to acquire US Airways. More recently, in January, airline consolidation took another great leap forward as American announced its plan to acquire TWA, and also its deal with United to acquire 20 percent of the US Airways assets. If all of these combinations and acquisitions come to fruition, the result will be that American and United will become the nation’s dominant airlines, controlling about half of the national market. And many believe we are not done yet, with press reports that Delta is soon expected to ask for an acquisition of its own. That would mean three large national airlines would dominate 75 percent of the market.

The problem of airline consolidation is especially acute at the two of the nation’s two slot-controlled airports, Washington Reagan National and New York LaGuardia. At these two vital airports, if all these mergers go through as planned, American, United and their affiliated and partner carriers will together control nearly two-thirds of the slots, leaving little room for competitors.

Gaining access to slots at these airports is essential for smaller and start-up airlines if they are to compete with the large national carriers, especially after these mergers are completed. Without slots, airlines cannot take off or land at these two airports. And access to these key airports in New York and Washington, D.C. is essential for smaller airlines to build national networks to compete with the large carriers. Without that access for smaller airlines, large airlines will dominate the nation, grow larger and larger, and bar effective and robust competition.

To share some of the steps that one of these airports to the nation’s entire air transportation system, the FAA recently reported that more than one quarter of the nation’s entire congestion related flight delays resulted from delays at LaGuardia airport alone.

Our legislation is a simple and effective measure to prevent large airlines from gaining a stranglehold on the slots at these two airports. It provides that, for any airline with at least a 15 percent share of the national market, that airline, and its affiliates, cannot control more than 20 percent of the slots at either Washington Reagan National or New York LaGuardia in any two hour period. If an airline exceeds these limits, it must take one of two steps, either return the excess slots to the FAA or sell them in a blind auction to its competitors. This blind auction provision will prevent airlines from disposing of their excess slots by engaging in “sweetheart” deals.

Our legislation does not reach the other two slot-controlled airports, Chicago O’Hare or New York JFK. Slot controls are scheduled to be lifted at Chicago O’Hare in June of next year, and are in place at New York JFK only from 3 to 8 p.m.

In sum, our legislation is a carefully crafted and narrowly tailored provision which will break the dominance that the large national carriers will have at two vital slot-controlled airports, particularly if the currently pending mergers are completed as planned. It will enable smaller and new carriers to have a fair shot at gaining access to these airports, and thus help bring real competition both to consumers who travel to and from New York and Washington and to the nation’s skies as a whole. I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

By Mr. SANTORUM:

S. 521. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to allow a credit against income tax for expenses incurred in teleworking; to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. SANTORUM. Mr. President, today, I rise to introduce legislation that will allow employees to telework or work from home, to receive a tax credit. Teleworkers are people who work a few days a week on-line from home by using computers and other information technology tools. Nearly 20 million Americans telework today, and according to experts, 40 percent of the nation’s jobs are compatible with telework. At one national telecommunications company, nearly 25 percent of its workforce works from home and claims the Telework Tax Incentive Act. The company found positive results in the way of fewer days of sick leave, better retention, and higher productivity.

I am introducing the Telework Tax Incentive Act, along with Representative FRANK WOLF in the House of Representatives, to provide a $500 tax credit for telework. The legislation provides an incentive to encourage more employers to consider telework for their employees. Telework should be a regular feature in every workplace. By doing so, the best part of telework is that it improves the quality of life for all. Telework also reduces traffic congestion and air pollution. It reduces gas consumption and our dependency on foreign oil. Telework is good for the environment and for retirees choosing to work part-time.

A task force on telework initiated by Governor James Gilmore of Virginia made a number of recommendations to increase and promote telework. One recommendation was to establish a tax credit toward the purchase and installation of electronic and computer equipment that allow an employee to telework. For example, one of a computer, fax machine, modem, phone, printer, software, copier, and other expenses necessary to enable telework could count toward a tax credit, provided the person worked at home a minimum number of days.

My legislation would provide a $500 tax credit “for expenses paid or incurred under a teleworking arrangement for furnishings and electronic information technology which are used to enable an individual to telework.” An employee must telework a minimum of 75 days per year to qualify for the tax credit. Both the employer and employee are eligible for the tax credit, but the tax credit goes to whomever absorbs the expense for setting up the at-home worksite.

A number of groups have previously endorsed the Telework Tax Incentive Act, including the National Telework Association and Council, ITAC, Covad Communications, National Town Builders Association, Litton Industries, Orbital Sciences Corporation, Consumer Electronic Association, Capunet, TManage, Science Applications International Corporation, Telecommunications Industry Association, American Automobile Association Mid-Atlantic, Dimensions International Inc., Capunet, TManage, Science Application International Corporation, AT&T, Northern Virginia Technology Council, Computer Associates Incorporated, and Dyn Corp.

On October 9, 1999, legislation which I introduced in coordination with Representative FRANK WOLF from Virginia was signed into law by the President as part of the annual Department of Transportation appropriations bill for Fiscal Year 2000. S. 1521, the National Telecommuting and Air Quality Act, created a pilot program to study the feasibility of providing incentives for companies to allow their employees to telework in five major metropolitan areas including Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., and Los Angeles, Houston and Denver have been added as well. I am pleased that the Philadelphia Area Telework Design Team has been progressing well with its responsibility of examining the application of these incentives to the Greater Philadelphia metropolitan area. I am excited that this opportunity continues to help to get the word out about the benefits of telecommuting for many employees and employers.

On July 14, 2000 the President signed legislation which included an additional $2 million to continue efforts in the 5 pilot cities, including Philadelphia, to market, implement, and evaluate strategies for awarding telecommuting and emissions reduction and air pollution credits established through the National Telecommuting and Air Quality Act.
Telecommuting improves air quality by reducing pollutants, provides employees and families flexibility, reduces traffic congestion, and increases productivity and retention rates for businesses while reducing their overhead costs. It’s a growing opportunity and one which we should all embrace in our effort to maintain and improve quality of life issues in Pennsylvania and around the nation. According to statistics available from 1996, the Greater Philadelphia area ranked number 16 in the country for annual peak hours of delay due to traffic congestion. Because of this reality, all options including telecommuting should be pursued to address this challenge.

The 1999 Telework America National Telework Survey, conducted by Joan H. Pratt Associates, found that today’s 19.6 million teleworkers typically work 9 days per month at home with an average of 3 hours per week during normal business hours. In this study, teleworkers with 100 employees are defined overall as employees or independent contractors who work at least one day per month at home. These research findings impact the bottom line for employers and employees. Teleworkers seek a blend of job-related and personal benefits to enable them to better handle their work and life responsibilities. For employers, savings just from less absenteeism and increased employee retention may total more than $10,000 per teleworker per year. Thus an organized approach with 100 employees of whom teleworked could potentially realize a savings of $200,000 annually, or more, when productivity gains are added.

Work is something you do, not somewhere you go. There is nothing magical about strapping ourselves into a car and driving sometimes up to an hour and a half, arriving at a workplace and sitting before a computer, when we can access the same information from a computer in our home or another convenient location. Wouldn’t it be great if we could replace the evening rush hour commute with time spent with the family, or coaching little league or other important quality of life matters?

I urge my colleagues to consider cosponsoring this legislation which promotes telework and helps encourage additional employee choices for the workplace.

By Mr. KERRY (for himself, Mr. DASCHLE, Mr. CLELAND, and Mr. WELLSTONE):

S. 522. A bill to direct the Administrator of the Small Business Administration to conduct a pilot program to raise awareness about telecommuting among small business employers, and to encourage such employers to offer telecommuting options to employees; to the Committee on Small Business.

Mr. KERRY. Mr. President, today I am joined by my colleagues, including Mr. DASCHLE, Senator CLELAND, and Senator WELLSTONE, in introducing legislation, the Small Business Telecommuting Act, to assist our nation’s small businesses in establishing successful telecommuting, or telework programs, for their employees. Congressman UDALL will be introducing companion legislation in the House of Representatives.

Across America, numerous employers are responding to the needs of their employees and establishing telecommuting programs. In 2000, there were an estimated 16.5 million teleworkers. By the end of this year, there will be an estimated 30 million teleworkers representing an increase of almost 100 percent. Unfortunately, the majority of growth in new teleworkers comes from organizations employing over 1,500 people, while just a few years ago, most teleworkers worked for small- to medium-sized organizations.

By not taking advantage of modern technology and establishing successful telecommuting programs, small businesses are losing out on a host of benefits that fit their needs and can make them more competitive. The reported productivity improvement of home-based teleworkers averages 15 percent, translating to an average bottom-line impact of $9,712 per teleworker. Additionally, most experienced teleworkers are determined to continue teleworking meaning a successful telework program can be an important tool in the recruitment and retention of qualified and skilled employees. By establishing successful telework programs, small business owners would be able to retain these valuable employees by allowing them to work from a remote location, such as their home or a telework center.

In addition to the cost savings realized by businesses that employ teleworkers, there are a number of related benefits to society and the employee. For example, telecommuters help reduce traffic and cut down on air pollution by staying off the roads during rush hour. Fully 80 percent of home-only teleworkers commute to work on days they are not teleworking. Their one-way commute distance averages 19.7 miles, versus 13.3 miles for non-teleworkers, meaning employees that take advantage of telecommuting programs are, more often than not, those with the longest commutes. Teleworking also gives employees more time to spend with their families and reduces stress levels by eliminating the pressure of a long commute.

Our legislation seeks to extend the benefits of successful telecommuting programs to more of our nation’s small businesses. Specifically, it establishes a pilot program in the Small Business Administration, SBA, to raise awareness about telecommuting among small business employers and to encourage those small businesses to establish telecommuting programs for their employees.

Additionally, an important provision in our bill directs the SBA Administrator to undertake special efforts for businesses owned by, or employing, persons with disabilities and disabled American veterans. At the end of the day, telecommuting can provide more than just environmental benefits and improved quality of life. It can open the door to people who have been precluded from working in a traditional workplace setting due to physical disabilities.

Our legislation is also limited in cost and scope. It establishes the pilot program in a maximum of five SBA regions and caps the total cost to five million dollars over two years. It also restricts the SBA to activities specifically proscribed in the legislation: developing educational materials; conducting outreach to small business; and acquiring equipment for demonstration purposes. Finally, it requires the SBA to prepare and submit a report to Congress evaluating the pilot program.

Several hurdles to establishing successful telecommuting programs could be cleared by enacting our legislation. In fact, the number one reported obstacle to implementing a telecommuting program is a lack of know-how. Our bill will go a long way towards educating small business owners on how they can draft guidelines to make a telework program an affordable, manageable reality.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that a copy of the Small Business Telecommuting Act be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 522

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled.

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE. This Act may be cited as the “Small Business Telecommuting Act”.

SECTION 2. FINDINGS. The Congress finds that—

(1) telecommuting reduces the volume of peak commuter traffic, thereby reducing traffic congestion and air pollution;

(2) the Nation’s communities can benefit from telecommuting, which gives workers more time to spend at home with their families;

(3) it is in the national interest to raise awareness within the small business community of telecommuting options for employees;

(4) the small business community can benefit from offering telecommuting options to employees because such options make it easier for small employers to retain valued employees and employees with irreplaceable institutional memory;

(5) companies with telecommuting programs have found that telecommuting can boost employee productivity, who own or are employed by small businesses could benefit from telecommuting to their workplaces.

(Signed)

[Signature]

(Official Print)

March 13, 2001

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE
Mr. BOND. Mr. President, I rise today to introduce an important piece of new legislation to help an essential part of our health care safety net, our nation’s health centers, serve the uninsured and medically-underserved.

If you’ve been down here on the Senate floor many times to talk about health centers, but let me cover the basics once again. Health centers, which include community health centers, migrant health centers, homeless health centers, and health centers, address the health care access problem by providing primary care services in thousands of rural and urban medically-underserved communities throughout the United States. And as we all know, the health care access problem remains a serious issue in our country. Many health care experts believe that Americans’ lack of access to basic health care services is our single most pressing health care problem.

But they do not have access to a primary care provider, whether they are insured or not. In addition, 43 million Americans lack health insurance and have difficulty accessing care due to the inability to pay.

Health centers help fill part of this void. More than 3,000 health center clinics nationwide provide basic health care services to nearly 12 million Americans, almost 8 million minority, nearly 2.5 million, and nearly 600,000 homeless individuals each year. The care they provide has been repeatedly shown by studies to be high-quality and cost-effective. In fact, health centers are one of the best health care bargains around, the average cost for a health center patient is less than one dollar per day.

I believe that one of the most effective ways to address our health care access problem is by dramatically expanding access to health centers. And I am pleased to report a strong consensus is developing to do exactly that. Last year, the Senate voted in support of a proposal I have made with Sen. Hollings to double access to health centers by doubling funding over a five-year period. In addition, President Bush has proposed that we double the number of people that health centers care for over the next five years.

While this is a great start, as we hopefully see additional resources flow to health centers, we will increasingly encounter problems that stem from an artificial distinction we see in current law. As I mentioned, health care grants are currently allowed to be spent for most things, including salaries, supplies, and basic upkeep. But federal grants to health centers cannot be used for one of the most critical and expensive needs a health center, or any business or nonprofit organization, will ever face—capital improvements.

Unless we correct this silly distinction, many of our health centers are destined to be shackled to slowly deteriorating facilities. Over time, this will slow their ability to provide care. If we are serious about maximizing health centers’ ability to deal with our health care access needs, we must allow federal grant dollars to be used to meet our health centers’ capital needs.

Some may argue that this is a modest triumph of its own. It will have to continue to find ways to cope, even if that prevents additional or even if it prevents expansion of the costs on the old building to spiral out-of-control.

It means that a rural community health center in an area desperately in need of dental services may not be able to expand the facility and purchase dental chairs, X-ray machines and other major dental equipment needed to the desired expansion into dental services.

It means that even if federal government is will to commit grants funds to open a new health center in one of the hundreds of underserved communities nationwide which lacks any health care professionals for miles around, the new center may never come to be due to lack of funding for a facility in which to house it.

This is more than theory, the evidence shows that many existing health centers operate in facilities that desperately need renovation or modernization. Approximately one of every three health centers reside in a building more than 30 years old, and one of every eight operate out of a facility more than half a century old.

Moreover, a recent survey of health centers in 11 states showed that more than two-thirds of health centers had a specifically-identified need to renovate, expand, or replace their current facility, with some of these projects estimated to cost as much as $1.2 billion of its total capital needs in our nation’s health centers.

And that is just for existing health centers. As I mentioned, hundreds of medicaly-underserved areas lack—and could desperately use—the services of a health center. This further shows the need for new facilities, and more capital, as we expand access to new communities.

So what about other possible sources of capital? There are plenty of ways—in theory—that health centers might be able to get money for capital improvements. Business, large and small, do it all the time. So do other non-profit organizations like universities and hospitals. They use built-up equity. They take out loans. They float bonds. They raise money through private donations as part of a capital campaign.

But unfortunately, health centers just aren’t quite like most other businesses or nonprofits, and many times these options are unrealistic as a way to provide the entire cost of a major project.

Health centers simply don’t have loads of cash in the bank. The revenue these clinics are able to cobble together from federal grants, low-income patients, Medicaid, private donations, and other health insurances is typically all put back into patient care.

Health centers work hard to maximize the money they can raise through private donations and non-federal grant sources. In fact, an average of 13 percent, one-seventh of their budget, of health care center revenue comes from these sources. Most of this private and public funding is used to meet operating expenses, and it is difficult to go back to the same sources to request further donations for capital needs. In fundraising, health centers also face a huge disadvantage compared to nonprofit organizations like universities and hospitals because health centers lack a natural middle and upper-class donor base. And raising private funds is particularly hard in isolated areas that are otherwise quite poor and which can have the most dire health care access problems.

Finally, health centers have difficulties obtaining private loans for capital needs for a variety of reasons. The high number of uninsured patients health centers treat and the poor reimbursement rates received from most Medicaid programs mean health centers rarely have significant operating margins. Without these margins, banks are leery of making loans. As a result, they don’t feel assured that a health center will have sufficient cash flow to successfully manage loan payments. Banks are made even more nervous by the high proportion of health center revenue that comes from sometimes-unreliable government sources, such as the health centers’ grant funding and Medicare and Medicaid reimbursements.

So what should we do? This isn’t exactly rocket science. We have a need, many health centers require significant help to build or maintain adequate facilities because they can’t raise the money or obtain the loans themselves. And we have an existing law that prevents the federal government from using health center funding to do exactly that.

We simply need to get rid of the artificial distinction we have right now and allow our health center grant dollars to be used as collateral for a health center loan in the best way possible, and that is going to mean at times that we should support some new construction or major renovation projects. If a crumbling building, constantly in need of repair, is soaking up money, and is reducing the number of patients a health center can reach out to, the federal government should help with the major renovation or the new construction needed.

The Building Better Health Centers Act authorizes the federal government to make grants to health centers for facility construction, modernization, replacement, and major equipment purchases. If the availability of grant funding, the bill goes further and permits the federal government to guarantee loans made by a bank or another private lender to a health center to construct, replace, modernize, or expand a health center facility. This loan guarantee is an additional tool that will help allay the fears of banks and other private lenders by limiting their exposure if a health center defaults on a loan. And an additional advantage of loan guarantees is that you can stretch funds farther. When guaranteeing a $1 million loan, the federal government need only set aside a much smaller amount of appropriated money, perhaps only a twelfth to a tenth of the loan total, to insure against that loan’s possible default. This multiplier factor means that for every dollar appropriated for this purpose, many dollars worth of loans can be guaranteed.

There is a tremendous potential for these two new options, the facility grants and the facility loan guarantees, to work together. Sharing in up-front costs through grant funding, and helping further by guaranteeing a loan that covers the remainder of a project’s cost may well be the best approach. This will balance the need to make sure specific projects get enough grant funding to make them realistic and the need to spread capital assistance among as many projects as possible.

Let me try to respond in advance to a few potential criticisms of this legislation. First, to those who simply think that the government should stay out of private-sector bricks and mortar projects, I would say we’re already at least halfway pregnant. In just about everyone’s appropriations bill, we have dozens if not hundreds of specific projects earmarked for major building or renovation projects.

Some might worry that the potential large costs of construction projects could get out of hand and squeeze out funding actually used for patient care. But let me point out that we limit capital assistance to five percent of all health center funding. Based on this year’s funding level, this would mean up to $58.5 million for facility grants and loan guarantee programs. This loan guarantee program would allow some of this money to be stretched, this level of support could easily mean help for more than $200 million in health center projects. But the main point is that capital projects are currently limited to five-percent of health center funding, which prevents any possible runaway spending.

Finally, we should ask ourselves whether or not federal assistance is going to give a free pass to communities, which really should be expected to help out with public-minded projects like the construction or renovation of a health center. In my bill, local communities are expected to help. No more than 75 percent of the total costs of a major project can come from federal sources—and this is the absolute upper limit. Much more likely are evenly-shared costs or situations in which federal support represents a minority of the capital investment. This bill does not give local areas a free ride.

The quick rationale for this bill is simple. Many health centers are hammered in their efforts to provide health care to the medically-underserved by inadequate facilities. It doesn’t make sense to help these vital community clinics only with day-to-day expenses if their building is literally crumbling around them.

I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this legislation. This year, we are scheduled to reauthorize the Consolidated Health Centers program, along with other vital health care safety-net programs like the National Health Services Corps. I hope to include this bill—the Building Better Health Centers Act—in this year’s safety-net reauthorization legislation. I look forward to working with my colleagues in the Senate and on the Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions Committee to aggressively help our nation’s health centers meet their dire capital needs by making this bill law.

By Mr. GRAHAM (for himself, Mr. DeWINE, Mr. HAGEL, Mr. BREAUX, Mr. MCCAIN, Mr. DODD, Mr. THOMPSON, Mr. BIDEN, and Mr. NELSON of Nebraska):

S. 525. A bill to expand trade benefits to certain Andean countries, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. President, today I introduce a bill along with my colleagues Senators DeWINE, HAGEL, BREAUX, MCCAIN, DODD, THOMPSON, BIDEN, and BEN NELSON to introduce the “Andean Trade Preference Expansion Act,” a bill to provide additional trade benefits to the countries of Bolivia, Columbia, Ecuador, and Peru.
The Andean Trade Preference Act, commonly known as ATPA, was passed in 1991. That legislation is set to expire. If we are serious about halting the flow of drugs into this country, we must not let this happen. If we are committed to stabilizing the economy of Colombia, we must act this year, to both extend and expand those trade benefits.

The office of the United States Trade Representative recently published a report on the operation of the Andean trade agreement so far. The report concluded that this agreement is strengthening the legitimate economies of these countries in the region and is an important component of our efforts to contain the spread of illicit activities. Export diversification in beneficiary countries is increasing, net coca cultivation has declined slightly. Although there is still progress to be made, these countries are working constructively with the United States on issues, including working conditions and intellectual property protection.

Despite this success, renewal of ATPA in its current form is not our goal. The landscape has changed since 1991.

Perhaps the most significant alteration was last year’s passage of the “Trade and Development Act of 2000,” which provided significant new trade benefits to beneficiary countries of the Caribbean Basin Initiative. As a result of these enhanced trade benefits to these countries, the Andean region stands to lose a substantial number of apparel industry jobs—up to 100,000 jobs in Colombia alone. At least 10 U.S.-based companies that purchase apparel from Colombian garment manufacturers have already indicated their near-term intentions to shift production to Caribbean countries due to the significant cost savings associated with the new trade benefits afforded by the Act. Some of these U.S. companies have utilized Colombia as a manufacturing base for more than 10 years, providing desperately needed legitimate employment to the Colombian economy.

The immediate reaction of these companies to enhanced Caribbean trade benefits creates a dilemma. Clearly, it does not make sense for Congress to provide foreign aid on the one hand, and implement trade legislation on the other. The result will be that critical, unintended contradiction by harmonizing the trade benefits of the Caribbean and Andean nations.

Specifically, our bill would extend duty-free, quota-free treatment to apparel articles assembled, cut or knit in Andean beneficiary nations using yarns and fabric wholly formed in the United States, and provide benefits to non-apparel items that were previously excluded from the Andean trade preferences package. These new benefits will create parity with the Caribbean Basin Initiative nations as well as expand an important source of economic and employment growth for the U.S. textile and apparel industry.

The United States is at now a critical juncture with its neighbors in the Andean region. Last year, the United States government responded generously to Colombia’s needs by providing a supplemental appropriations package of more than $1.6 billion dollars to help the country in its time of crisis. These funds were in addition to over $4.0 billion being spent by Colombia itself.

Fundamental to Plan Colombia, and to the government’s ability to succeed in its efforts to safeguard the country, will be efforts to encourage economic growth and provide jobs to the Colombian people. Today in Colombia more than one million people are displaced, the unemployment rate is nearly 20 percent and Colombia is experiencing the worst recession in 70 years. Without new economic opportunities, more and more Colombians will turn to illicit activities to support their families or seek to join the growing numbers of people who are leaving the country to find a better, safer future for their families.

This “trade plus aid” approach to stabilizing the Andean region has been widely embraced. In its March 2000 report, “First Steps Toward a Constructive U.S. Policy in Colombia,” a Task Force I co-chair with General Brent Scowcroft recommended the extension of the ATPA, to include the same benefits as those contained under the Caribbean Basin Initiative.

Although this bill provides benefits to all ATPA beneficiaries, it is particularly critical to Colombia, which in 1998 exported 59 percent of all textiles and apparel from the Andean region to the U.S., two-thirds of which were assembled and/or cut from U.S. yarns and fabric. Colombian President Pastrana recently stated, "I would like to thank our President of the United States for his continued support of the Andean countries.” Last week he stressed that access to U.S. markets was among the top priorities.

On a more comprehensive scale, passage of this legislation is critical to ensure that all nations in the Western Hemisphere can maintain their long-term competitiveness with Asian nations, particularly in the textile industry. At present, the textile products of most Asian nations are subject to quotas set at levels that are multiples of Multi-Fiber Agreement, now known as the Agreement on Textiles and Clothing. This restriction on Asian textiles has enabled the nations of the Western Hemisphere to remain competitive, and further, the Andean region—specifically Colombia—has become a significant market for fabric woven in U.S. mills from yarn spun in the U.S. originating from U.S. cotton growers.

However, in 2005, these Asian import quotas will be phased out. At that point, production in both the Andean region and the Caribbean basin will be placed at a distinct and growing disadvantage. Disinvestment in the region will occur, reducing the incentive to use any material from U.S. textile mills or cotton grown in the United States.

The Congress must act this year to renew and expand trade benefits for the Andean region. To move forward, the current benefits will expire and these countries will lose an important means of developing legitimate industries and employment.

Mr. DEWINE. Mr. President, the illicit drug trade in the Andean Region of South America is thriving. Lagging economies, weak law enforcement, and corrupt judiciary systems among many countries in the region have created an environment ideal for drug trafficking. The chaotic situation in Colombia illustrates this. The nation is suffering its worst recession in over 70 years. The unemployment rate is at nearly 20 percent. Not surprisingly, as the Colombian economy has worsened, the country’s coca cultivation has skyrocketed, becoming the source of nearly 80 percent of the cocaine consumed in the United States. To make matters worse, as the illicit drug money has poured in, violent insurgent groups in Colombia have used it to fund their movement creating instability not only within Colombia, but also across the entire Andean Region.

Because of the dangerous and increasing chaotic situation in the region, we believe it is imperative to renew the “Andean Trade Expansion Act,” a bill that will help establish much-needed stability and security in the Andean Region by promoting a strong economic environment for enhanced trade throughout the Western Hemisphere.

This legislation is timely and important. The current Andean Trade Preference Act, which authorizes the President to grant certain unilateral preferential tariff benefits to Bolivia, Colombia, Ecuador, and Peru, is set to expire on December 4, 2001. We need to renew and expand this trade act not only because of its benefits for U.S. companies trading in the region, but also because it encourages economic development in Andean countries and economic alternatives to drug production and trafficking.

Mr. PRESIDENT. Mr. President, the Andean Trade Expansion Act is not renewed by the end of this year, the economic and political situation in the Andean Region likely will destabilize further, threatening to expand an already booming illicit drug trade.

The economic situation in the Andean Region is growing worse by the day. The nations within the region have been struggling to pull themselves out of one of the worst economic crises in decades. The recession has become more severe than anticipated, and the Andean Development Corporation recently forecast negative rates of growth for next year in Colombia, Ecuador and

S2226

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE

March 13, 2001

Venezuela. Only Peru and Bolivia will grow at all, and marginally at best.

The Colombian civil war and its spill-over effect have further weakened domestic economies. Political instability has deterred foreign investment, and increased capital flight has put pressure on domestic currencies. While there are a few signs of possible recovery—including an increase in oil prices that will be helpful for Ecuador, Colombia and Venezuela—there is concern that the Andean region could experience a destabilizing financial crisis similar to the recent one in Asia.

Last year, Congress and the Clinton Administration tried to address political instability in the Andean region through passage of “Plan Colombia”—the emergency supplemental plan developed to address the political and social instability in the Andean region. The Plan established programs to strengthen Colombian government institutions and promote alternative crop programs throughout the region. A key element of Plan Colombia is that it recognizes that if we fight only the Colombian drug problem, we risk creating a “spillover” effect, where Colombia’s drug trade shifts to adjacent countries in the region.

For Plan Colombia to succeed, it is crucial that we help bolster the fiscal-base of the Colombian government, help promote alternative crop programs throughout the region, and enable Colombia to meet the terms of the Plan. I would like to assure my colleagues in the Senate that we will hold Colombia accountable for meeting the terms of the Plan.

The recent implementation of the Caribbean Basin Initiative, which provides enhanced trade benefits to nations trading with Caribbean countries, is having unintended consequences of shifting economic opportunities away from the Andean Region to the Caribbean Basin. Such a shift is further shrinking the economies within the Andean Region. Colombia, for example, stands to lose up to 100,000 jobs in the apparel industry because of the CBI trade preferences. Last year, Ambassador Zoellick called for a Latin American-fundeed drug eradication efforts there, and to discuss Plan Colombia with the region’s leaders. During my visit to Colombia in February, President Andres Pastrana made clear that liberalized trade with the United States, in the form of renewal and expansion of the Andean Trade Preference Act, was a critical pillar of his strategy to promote alternatives to the drug trade in his country. Plan Colombia is premised upon reducing the power and allure of the narco-traffickers and their rebel supporters who threaten America’s interest in a democratic, prosperous, and strong Western Hemisphere. While the military component of America’s assistance package remains controversial at home, expanding our trade relationship with Colombia, a nation of industrious people and natural resources, is a logical extension of our compelling interest in strengthening the Colombian state and providing its people with rewarding economic opportunities in the legitimate economy.

It is also important to view renewal and expansion of the Andean Trade Preference Act in terms of our larger trade agenda with our Latin American neighbors. Early reauthorization of this program will show our trade partners that the United States is seriously engaged in strengthening our trade relations and promoting interdependence in the region. It is my belief that the United States should pursue four polices this year in order to accomplish our mutually beneficial objectives with our Latin American partners:

1. Early renewal of the Andean Trade Preference Act;
2. Passage of trade promotion authority for the President;
3. Completion of negotiations on a free trade agreement with Chile; and
4. Accomplishment of serious progress on the Free Trade Area of the Americas negotiations in order to meet an early conclusion of these negotiations in 2003.

I look forward to working with the President and my colleagues in the Senate to pass this legislation in a timely manner before the December expiration. It is in our nation’s economic and national security interests to reauthorize and expand trade benefits for the Andean region.

By Mr. DORGAN (for himself and Mr. ROCKEFELLER):

S. 526. A bill to amend title 49, United States Code, to provide that rail agreements and transactions subject to approval by the Surface Transportation Board are no longer exempt from the application of the antitrust laws, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, I would like to raise an issue that is of great concern to many of my constituents and to me. That is the issue of unchecked monopoly power of the nation’s freight railroad industry.

Since the supposed deregulation of the railroad industry in 1980, the number of major Class I railroads has declined from approximately 42 to only four major U.S. railroads today. Rather than preserving the competitive framework intended by deregulation, today’s freight railroad industry can be best described as a handful of regional monopolies that rely on bottleneck to exert maximum market power. Four mega-railroads overwhelmingly dominate railroad traffic, generating 85 percent of the gross ton-miles and 94 percent of the revenues, controlling 90 percent of all U.S. coal movement; 70 percent of all grain movement and 88 percent of all originated chemical movement.

This drastic level of consolidation has left rail customers with only two major carriers operating in the East and two in the West, and has far exceeded the industry’s need to minimize unit operating costs. But consolidation alone has not produced these regional monopolies. Over the years, regulators have systematically adopted policies that so narrowly interpret the procompetitive provisions of the 1980 statute that railroads are essentially protected from ever having to compete with each other.

In my state, it costs $2,300 to move one rail car of wheat from North Dakota to Minneapolis, approx. 400 miles. Yet for similar 400 mile move, between Minneapolis and Chicago, it costs only $238 to deliver that car. Move that same car another 600 miles to St. Louis, Missouri and it costs only $356 per car.

Since the deregulation of the railroad industry, the Interstate Commerce Commission, now the Surface Transportation Board, has been charged with the responsibility to make sure that the pro-competitive intent of that law was being carried out, so that those rail users without access to true market based competition would be protected by “regulated competition.”

That clearly hasn’t happened. Competition among rail carriers is virtually nonexistent in part because the ICC and the STB have consistently chosen to protect railroads from such competition, and have done little to protect rail customers that have no alternative.

It is time for Congress to make it very clear that true market competition among railroads is what we originally intended then and what we require now. This is the same approach we have taken with telecommunications and natural gas pipelines, and it is the center of our deliberations regarding the future of the airline industry. Competition among railroads is critical for large sectors of our national economy.

That is why today, along with Senator JAY ROCKEFELLER, I am introducing the Rail Competition Enforcement Act to reinstate the Justice Department’s review of proposed railroad mergers under antitrust laws. The bill would require both the Surface Transportation Board and the Justice Department to approve new mergers.

I look forward to working with my colleagues on this most important matter. I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 526

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled.

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Rail Competition Enforcement Act of 2001”.

SEC. 2. TERMINATION OF EXEMPTION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 10706 of title 49, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)—

(A) in paragraph (2)(A), by striking ‘‘The’’; and

(B) in paragraph (4)—

(i) by striking the second sentence; and

(ii) by striking ‘‘However, the’’ in the third sentence and inserting ‘‘The’’; and

(C) in paragraph (5)(A), by striking ‘‘, and the antitrust laws described in paragraph (2) of this subsection do not apply to parties and other persons with respect to making or carrying out the agreement’’; and

(2) by striking subsection (e) and inserting the following:

“(e) APPLICATION OF ANTITRUST LAWS.—

(2) ANTITRUST ANALYSIS TO CONSIDER IMPACT.—In reviewing any such proposed agreement for the purpose of any provision of law described in paragraph (1), the Board and any other reviewing agency shall take into account, among any other considerations, the impact of the proposed agreement on shippers and on affected communities.

(b) COMBINATIONS.—Section 11321 of title 49, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)—

(A) by striking ‘‘The authority’’ in the first sentence and inserting ‘‘Except as provided in section 11 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 2(a)), the authority’’; and

(B) by striking ‘‘is exempt from the antitrust laws and from all other law.’’ in the third sentence and inserting ‘‘is exempt from all other law (except that laws referred to in subsection (c)),’’; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

“(c) APPLICATION OF ANTITRUST LAWS.—

“(2) ANTITRUST ANALYSIS TO CONSIDER IMPACT.—In reviewing any such transaction for the purpose of any provision of law described in paragraph (1), the Board and any other reviewing agency shall take into account, among any other considerations, the impact of the transaction on shippers and on affected communities.”.

(c) CLAYTON ACT.— SECTION 7 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 18) is amended by striking ‘‘Surface Transportation Board, ’’ in the last paragraph of that section.

(d) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(1) The heading for section 10706 of title 49, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

“§10706. Rate agreements”.

(2) The item relating to such section in the chapter analysis at the beginning of chapter 17 of such title is amended to read as follows:

“10706. Rate agreements.”.

SEC. 3. EFFECTIVE DATE.

The amendments made by section 2 shall apply to any agreement or transaction referred to in section 10706 or 11321, respectively, of title 49, United States Code, that is submitted to the Surface Transportation Board after December 31, 2001.

By Mr. HATCH (for himself, Mr. CLELAND, Mr. LOTT, Mr. THURMOND, Mrs. SMITH of New Hampshire, Mr. BROWNBACK, Mr. ALLARD, Mr. ALLEN, Mr. BAUCUS, Mr. BOND, Mr. BUNNING, Ms. COLLINS, Mr. CRAIG, Mr. CRAPTO, Mr. DAYTON, Mr. DURBNE, Mr. DOMENICI, Mr. ENSIGN, Mr. ENZI, Mr. FITZGERALD, Mr. FRIST, Mr. GRAMM, Mr. GRASSLEY, Mr. HAGEL, Mr. HELMS, Mr. HOLLINGS, Mr. HUTCHINSON, Mrs. HUTCHISON, Mr. INHOFE, Mr. JOHNSON, Mrs. LINCOLN, Mr. LUGAR, Mr. MCCAIN, Mr. MILLER, Mr. MURkowski, Mr. REID, Mr. SESSIONS,
A joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States authorizing Congress to prohibit the physical desecration of the flag of the United States; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, it is with profound honor and reverence that I, together with the co-sponsors of Senator CLELAND, introduce a bi-partisan constitutional amendment to permit Congress to prohibit the physical desecration of the American flag.

The American flag serves as a symbol of our great nation. The flag represents in a way nothing else can, the common bond shared by an otherwise diverse people. Whatever our differences of party, race, religion, or socio-economic status, the flag reminds us that we are very much one people, united in a shared history and bond in a common faith in our nation.

Nearly a decade ago, Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens reminded us of the significance of our unique emblem when he wrote:

"...the flag is a symbol of more than nationhood and national unity. It also signifies the ideas that characterize the society that has chosen that emblem as well as the special history that has animated the growth and power of those ideas. ... So it is with the American flag. It is more than a proud symbol of the courage, the determination, and the faith that transformed 13 fledgling colonies into a world power. It is a symbol of freedom, of equal opportunity, of religious tolerance, and of goodwill for other peoples who share our aspirations."

Throughout our history, the flag has captured the hearts and minds of all types of people, ranging from school teachers to union workers, traffic cops, grandmothers, and combat veterans. In 1981, President Abraham Lincoln called our young men and women to serve under the American flag from Lookout Mountain to Iwo Jima to Kuwait, they have given their blood and lives. The crosses at Arlington, the Iwo Jima memorial, and the Vietnam Memorial honor those sacrifices. But there were those who did not.

In 1984, Greg Johnson led a group of radicals in a protest march in which he doused an American flag with kerosene and set it on fire, his fellow protestors chanted: "America, the red, white, and blue, we spit on you." Sadly, the radical extremists, most of whom have given nothing, suffered nothing, and who respect nothing, would rather burn and spit on the American flag than honor it.

Contrast this image with the deeds of Roy Benavidez, an Army Sergeant from Texas, who led a helicopter extraction force to rescue a reconnaissance team in Vietnam. Despite being wounded in the leg, face, back, head, and women by small arms fire, grenades, and hand-to-hand combat with vicious North Vietnamese soldiers, Benavidez held off the enemy and carried several wounded to the helicopters, until finally collapsing from a loss of blood. Benavidez earned the Medal of Honor. When Benavidez was buried in Arlington National Cemetery, the honor guard placed an American flag on his coffin and then folded it and gave it to his widow. The purpose of Benavidez' heroic sacrifice—and the purpose of the American people's ratification of the First Amendment—was not to protect the right of radicals like Greg Johnson to burn and spit on the American flag.

In 1941, President Franklin Roosevelt called on all Americans to fight the aggression of the Axis powers. After suffering numerous early defeats, the free world watched in awe as five Marines and one sailor raised the American flag on Iwo Jima. Their undaunted, courageous act, for which three of the six men died, inspired the allied troops to attain victory over fascism.

In 1990, President Bush called on our young men and women to go to the Gulf of Mexico and Operations Desert Shield and Desert storm. After an unprovoked attack by the terrorist dictator Saadam Hussein on the Kingdom of Kuwait, American troops, wearing arm patches with the American flag on their shoulders, led the way to victory.

General Norman Schwarzkopf addressed a joint session of Congress describing the American men and women who fought in the Gulf War as symbols idealized by the American flag:

"[W]e were Protestants and Catholics and Jews and Moslems and Buddhists, and many other religions, fighting for a common and just cause. Because that's what you military is. And we were black and white and yellow and brown and red. And we noticed that when our blood was shed in the desert, it didn't separate together.

General Schwarzkopf then thanked the American people for their support, stating:

"The prophets of doom, the naysayers, the protesters and the flag-burners all said that you would not win. We knew better. We knew you'd never let us down. Boy, golly, you didn't."

The pages of our history show that when this country has called our young men and women to serve under the American flag from Lookout Mountain to Iwo Jima to Kuwait, they have given their blood and lives. The crosses at Arlington, the Iwo Jima memorial, and the Vietnam Memorial honor those sacrifices. But there were those who did not.

In 1989, however, the Supreme Court abandoned the history and intent of the First Amendment to embrace a philosophy that made no distinction between oral and written speech about the flag and extremist, disrespectful of the flag. In Texas v. Johnson, five justices of the Court at first time ever, struck down a flag protection statute. The majority argued that the First Amendment had somehow changed and now prevented a state from protecting the American flag from radical, disrespectful, and violent actions. When Congress responded with a federal flag protection statute, the Supreme Court, in United States v. Eichman, used its new and changed interpretation of the First Amendment to strike it down by another five-to-four vote.

Under this new interpretation of the First Amendment, it is assumed that the people, their elected legislators, and the courts can no longer distinguish between expressions concerning the flag that are more akin to spoken and written expression and expressions that constitute the disrespectful physical desecration of the flag. Because of this inability to make such distinctions, it is argued that all of our free speech, symbolic, and political ideas are wholly dependent on Greg Johnson's newly created "right" to burn and spit on the American flag.

This ill-advised and radical philosophy fails because its basic premise—that laws and judges cannot distinguish between political expression and disrespectful physical desecration—is so obviously false. It is precisely this distinction that laws and judges did in fact make over 200 years. Just as judges and laws and actions comply with the constitutional command to provide "equal protection of the laws" and "due process of law," so to have judges been able to distinguish between free expression and disrespectful destruction.

Certainly, extremist conduct such as smashing in the doors of the State Department may be a way of expressing one's dissatisfaction with the nation's foreign policy objectives. And one may not want to allow such actions in large part because there are peaceful alternatives that can be equally powerful. After all, right here in the United States Senate, we prohibit speeches or demonstrations of any kind, even the silent display of signs or banners, in the public galleries.

Moreover, it was not this radical philosophy of protecting disrespectful destruction that the people elected to Congress and the states by the First Amendment five statutes prohibiting the physical desecration of the flag. Our founding fathers, Chief Justice Earl Warren, and Justice Hugo Black believed these laws to be completely consistent with the First Amendment's protection of the spoken and written word and not disrespectful, extremist conduct.

In 1989, however, the Supreme Court abandoned the history and intent of the First Amendment to embrace a philosophy that made no distinction between oral and written speech about the flag and extremist, disrespectful of the flag. In Texas v. Johnson, five justices of the Court at first time ever, struck down a flag protection statute. The majority argued that the First Amendment had somehow changed and now prevented a state from protecting the American flag from radical, disrespectful, and violent actions. When Congress responded with a federal flag protection statute, the Supreme Court, in United States v. Eichman, used its new and changed interpretation of the First Amendment to strike it down by another five-to-four vote.
the First Amendment. Thus, in this Senator’s view, the Supreme Court erred in Texas v. Johnson and in United States v. Eichman.

Since Johnson and Eichman, constitutional scholars have opined that an attempt by Congress to protect the flag with another statute would fail in light of the new interpretation currently embraced by the Supreme Court. Thus, an amendment is the only legal means to protect the flag.

This amendment affects only the most radical forms of conduct and will leave untouched the current constitutional protections for Americans to speak their sentiments in a rally, to write their sentiments to their newspaper, and to vote their sentiments at the ballot box. The amendment simply restores the traditional and historic power of the people’s elected representatives to prohibit the radical and extremest physical desecration of the flag.

Now would restoring legal protection to the American flag place us on a slippery slope to limit other freedoms. No other symbol of our bi-partisan national ideals has flown over the battlefields, cemeteries, football fields, and school yards of America. No other symbol has lifted the hearts of ordinary men and women seeking liberty around the world. No other symbol has been paid for with so much blood of our countrymen. The American people have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.

In recent weeks, my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle have called for a new bipartisian spirit in Congress. This amendment offers these senators the chance to honor their words.

Restoring legal protection to the American flag is not, nor should it be, a partisan issue. Approximately sixty senators, both Republicans and Democrats, have paid for their flag, and it is our duty to let them protect it.
The flag is the symbol of our national unity, our national endeavor, our national aspiration. The flag tells of the struggle for independence, for union preserved, of liberty and union one and inseparable, of the sacrifices of brave men and women to whom the ideals and hope of this nation have been dearer than life.

It means America first; it means an undivided allegiance. It means America united, strong and efficient, equal to her tasks. It means that you cannot be saved by the valor and devotion of your ancestors, that to each generation comes its patriotic duty; and that upon your willingness to sacrifice and endure as those before you have sacrificed and endured rests the national hope. It speaks of equal rights, of the inspiration of free institutions exemplified and vindicated, of liberty under law intelligently conceived and impartially administered. There is not a thread in it but scorns self-indulgence, weakness, and rapacity.

It is eloquent of our community interests, outweighing all divergencies of opinion, and of our common destiny.

Former President Calvin Coolidge, echoed Chief Justice Hughes in “Rights and Duties.”

We do honor to the stars and stripes as the emblem of our country and the symbol of all that our patriotism means.

We revere the flag with almost everything we hold dear on earth. It represents our peace and security, our civil and political liberty, our freedom of religious worship, our family, our friends, our home.

We see it in the great multitude of blessings, of rights and privileges that make up our home.

Every glory that we associate with it is the symbol of the flag. We identify the flag with almost every national interest and need.

Given what our flag symbolizes, I find it incomprehensible that anyone would dream of burning our flag and inapplicable that our Supreme Court would hold that burning a flag is protected speech rather than conduct which may be prohibited. I find it odd that one can be imprisoned for destroying a bald eagle’s egg, but may freely burn our nation’s emblem.

Accordingly, I urge my colleagues to pass this resolution so that our flag and all that it symbolizes may be forever protected.

SUBMITTED RESOLUTIONS

SENATE RESOLUTION 59—DESIGNATING THE WEEK OF MARCH 11 THROUGH MARCH 17, 2001, AS ‘NATIONAL GIRL SCOUT WEEK’

Mrs. HUTCHISON (for herself, Ms. MIKULSKI, Mrs. BOXER, Ms. CANTWELL, Mrs. CARNANAH, Mrs. CLINTON, Ms. COLINS, Mrs. FEINSTEIN, Ms. LANDrieU, Mrs. LINCOLN, Mrs. MURRAY, Ms. SNOWE, and Ms. STABENOW) submitted the following resolution; which was considered and agreed to:

S. CON. RES. 24

Whereas March 12, 2001, is the 89th anniversary of the founding of the Girl Scouts of the United States of America; whereas on March 16, 1950, the Girl Scouts became the first national organization for girls to be granted a Federal charter by Congress; whereas through annual reports required to be submitted to Congress by its charter, the Girl Scouts regularly informs Congress of its progress and program initiatives; whereas the Girl Scouts is dedicated to inspiring girls and young women with the highest ideals of character, conduct, and service to others so that they may become mobile citizens in their communities; whereas the Girl Scouts offers girls aged 5 through 17 years a variety of opportunities to develop strong values and life skills and provides a wide range of activities to meet girls’ interests and needs; whereas the Girl Scouts has a membership of nearly 3,000,000 girls and over 900,000 adult volunteers, and is one of the preeminent organizations in the United States committed to assisting girls to grow strong in mind, body, and spirit; and whereas by fostering in girls and young women the qualities on which the strength of the United States depends, the Girl Scouts, for 89 years, has significantly contributed to the strength and unity of the United States: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) designates the week of March 11 through March 17, 2001, as “National Girl Scout Week”; and

(2) requests the President to issue a proclamation designating the week of March 11 through March 17, 2001, as “National Girl Scout Week” and calling on the people of the United States to observe the 89th anniversary of the Girl Scouts of the United States of America with appropriate ceremonies and activities.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 24—EXPRESSING SUPPORT FOR A NATIONAL REFLEX SYMPATHETIC DYSTROPHY (RSD) AWARENESS MONTH

Mr. LIEBERMAN submitted the following concurrent resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions:

S. CON. RES. 24

Whereas reflex sympathetic dystrophy (referred to in this resolution as “RSD”) is an extremely painful progressive disease of the nervous system that can affect persons with medical conditions such as cancer, infection, or surgery that can lead to chronic inflammation, spasms, burning pain, stiffness, and discoloration of the skin, muscles, blood vessels, and bones; whereas RSD can strike at any time, and currently afflicts an estimated 7,000,000 children and adults, the majority of whom are women; whereas RSD is a complex and little-known disease, inhibiting the early diagnosis and treatment needed for recovery and contributing to dismissals of patients’ pain and suffering; whereas there is no known cure for RSD and treatment involves multiple medications and therapies with costs that can be prohibitive; whereas Betsy Herman established the RSDHope Teen Corner in 1998 and she and countless others advocates have worked tirelessly to provide information and support to RSD sufferers and their families and friends and to bring national attention to this crippling disease; and whereas each May is Reflex Sympathetic Dystrophy Awareness Month, the goal of which is to educate the public about the nature and effects of this terrible disease: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That it is the sense of Congress that—

(1) all Americans should take an active role in combating reflex sympathetic dystrophy (RSD) by being aware of its symptoms (which often follow an injury or surgery), such as constant burning pain, skin irritation, inflammation, muscle spasms, fatigue, and insomnia;

(2) national and community organizations should be recognized and applauded for their work in promoting awareness about RSD and for providing information and support to its sufferers;

(3) health care providers should continue to improve their efforts to diagnose the disease in its earliest possible stages to increase the likelihood of remission; and

(4) the Federal Government has a responsibility to—

(A) endeavor to raise awareness about the importance of the early detection and proper treatment RSD;

(B) work to increase research funding so that the causes of, and improved treatment and cure for, RSD may be discovered; and

(C) continue to consider ways to improve access to, and the quality of, health care services for detecting and treating RSD.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 23—EXPRESSING THE SENSE OF CONGRESS WITH RESPECT TO THE INVOLVEMENT OF THE GOVERNMENT IN LIBYA IN THE TERRORIST BOMBING OF PAN AM FLIGHT 103, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

Mrs. FEINSTEIN (for herself, Mr. HELMS, Mr. KENNEDY, Mr. TORRICElli, Mr. DODD, Mrs. BOXER, Mr. LEAHY, Mr. Kyl, Mr. BROWNBACK, Mr. Reid, Mr. BAUCUS, Mr. BYRD, and Mrs. CLINTON) submitted the following concurrent resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations:

S. CON. RES. 23

Whereas 270 people, including 189 Americans, were killed in the terrorist bombing of Pan Am Flight 103 over Lockerbie, Scotland, on December 21, 1988;

Whereas, on January 31, 2001, the 3 judges of the Scottish court meeting in the Netherlands to try the 2 Libyan suspects in the bombing of Pan Am 103 found that ‘‘the conception, planning, and execution of the plot which led to the planting of the explosive devices was of Libyan origin’’;

Whereas the Court found conclusively that Abdel Basset al Megrahi ‘‘caused an explosive device to detonate on board Pan Am 103’’ and sentenced him to a life term in prison;

Whereas the Court accepted the evidence that Abdel Basset al Megrahi was a member of the Jamahiriyah Security Organization, one of the main Libyan intelligence services; whereas the United Nations Security Council Resolutions 731, 748, 883, and 1192 demanded that the Government of Libya provide appropriate compensation to the families of the victims, accept responsibility for the actions of Libyan officials in the bombing of Pan Am 103, provide a full accounting of its involvement in this terrorist act, and cease all support for terrorism; and

Whereas, contrary to previous declarations by the Government of Libya, its representatives, in the wake of the conviction of Abdel Basset al Megrahi, Colonel Muammar

March 13, 2001 CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE S2231
Qaddafi refuses to accept the judgment of the Scottish court or to comply with the requirements of the Security Council under existing resolutions: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring),

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This concurrent resolution may be cited as the “Compensation for Victims of Pan Am 103 Resolution of 2001”.

SEC. 2. SENSE OF CONGRESS.

It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the entire international community should condemn, in the strongest possible terms, the Government of Libya and its leader, Colonel Muammar Qaddafi, for support of international terrorism, including the bombing of Pan Am 103; and

(2) the Government of Libya should immediately—

(A) make a full and complete accounting of its involvement in the bombing of Pan Am 103;

(B) accept responsibility for the actions of Libyan officials;

(C) provide appropriate compensation to the families of the victims of Pan Am 103; and

(D) demonstrate in word and deed a full renunciation of support for international terrorism;

(3) the President should instruct the United States Permanent Representative to the United Nations to use the voice, and, if necessary, the vote of the United States, to maintain United Nations sanctions against Libya until all conditions laid out or referred to in the applicable Security Council resolutions are met; and

(4) the President should instruct the United States Permanent Representative to the United Nations to seek the reposition of sanctions against Libya currently suspended in the event that Libya fails to comply with the United Nations Security Council resolutions.

SEC. 3. POLICY OF THE UNITED STATES TOWARD LIBYA.

It should be the policy of the United States to—

(1) oppose the removal of United Nations sanctions until the Government of Libya has—

(A) made a full and complete accounting of its involvement in the bombing of Pan Am 103;

(B) accepted responsibility for the actions of Libyan officials;

(C) provided appropriate compensation to the families of the victims of Pan Am 103; and

(D) demonstrated in word and deed a full renunciation of support for international terrorism; and

(2) maintain United States sanctions on Libya, including those sanctions on all forms of assistance and all other United States restrictions on trade and travel to Libya, until—

(A) the Government of Libya has fulfilled the requirements of United Nations Security Council Resolutions 731, 748, 833, and 1192; and

(B) the President—

(i) certifies under section 620(a)(c) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2371(c)) that Libya no longer provides support for international terrorism; and

(ii) has provided to Congress an explanation of the steps taken by the Government of Libya to resolve any outstanding claims against the government by United States persons relating to international terrorism; and

(C) the Government of Libya is not pursuing programs of mass destruction or the means to deliver them in contravention of United States law.

SEC. 4. TRANSMITTAL OF CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

The Secretary of the Senate shall transmit a copy of this concurrent resolution to the President.

AMENDMENTS SUBMITTED AND PROPOSED

SA 42. Mrs. BOXER (for herself and Mrs. CLINTON) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by her to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 43. Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 44. Mr. WYDEN (for himself, Mr. BAUCUS, Mrs. MURRAY, and Mr. SMITH of Oregon) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 45. Mr. BOND submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 46. Mr. DURBIN (for himself, Mrs. CLINTON, and Mr. SANCHEZ) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 47. Mr. DURBIN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 48. Mr. DURBIN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 49. Mr. FEINGOLD submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 50. Mr. FEINGOLD submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 51. Mr. FEINGOLD (for himself, and Mr. THOMPSON) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 52. Mr. FEINGOLD submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 53. Mr. LEAHY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 54. Mr. LEAHY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 55. Mr. LEAHY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 56. Mr. LEAHY (for himself and Mr. FEINGOLD) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 57. Mr. LOTTON submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 58. Mr. SESSIONS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 59. Mr. SESSIONS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 60. Mr. GRAMM submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 61. Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 62. Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 63. Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 64. Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 65. Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 66. Mr. LEAHY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 67. Mr. KOHL (for himself and Mr. KENNEDY) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by them to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 68. Mr. KOHL (for himself and Mrs. FEINSTEIN) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by them to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 69. Mr. WELLSTONE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 70. Mr. WELLSTONE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 71. Mr. WELLSTONE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 72. Mr. WELLSTONE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 73. Mr. WELLSTONE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 74. Mr. WELLSTONE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 75. Mr. DODD (for himself and Mr. KENNEDY) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by them to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 76. Mr. FEINGOLD submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 77. Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SA 78. Mr. WYDEN (for himself, Mr. BAUCUS, and Mrs. MURRAY) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by them to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.
SA 79. Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.
SA 80. Mrs. FEINSTEIN (for himself and Mrs. FEINSTEIN) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.
SA 81. Mr. REED submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.
SA 82. Mr. SESSIONS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.
SA 83. Mr. SESSIONS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.
SA 84. Mr. SESSIONS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.
SA 85. Mr. SESSIONS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.
SA 86. Mr. SESSIONS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.
SA 87. Mr. SESSIONS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.
SA 88. Mr. SESSIONS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.
SA 89. Mr. LOTT submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.
SA 90. Mr. REED submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.
SA 91. Mr. LEVIN (for himself and Mrs. FEINSTEIN) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.
SA 92. Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.
SA 93. Mr. DURBIN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.
SA 94. Mr. BREAUX (for himself, Mr. SPECKER, and Mrs. LINCOLN, Mr. JOHNSON, Ms. LANDRIEU, Mr. NELSON of Nebraska, Mr. CLELAND, and Mrs. FEINSTEIN) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by them to the bill S. 420, supra; which was ordered to lie on the table.
SA 95. Mr. SMITH of Oregon (for himself and Mr. WYDEN) proposed an amendment to amendment SA 78 proposed by Mr. WYDEN to the bill S. 420, supra.

TEXT OF AMENDMENTS
SA 42. Mrs. BOXER (for herself and Mrs. CLINTON) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by her to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:
Strike Section 310.
SA 43. Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:
On page 173, line 11, strike "discharge a debtor" and insert "discharge an individual debtor".
On page 244, line 8, strike "described in section 522(a)(2)" and insert "described in subparagraph (A) or (B) of section 522(a)(2) that is owed to a domestic governmental unit or owed to a, in the result of an action filed under subchapter III of chapter 37 of title 31, United States Code, or any similar State statute,".
SA 44. Mr. WYDEN (for himself, Mr. BAUCUS, Mrs. MURRAY, and Mr. SMITH of Oregon) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes, which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:
After section 419, insert the following:
Sec. 420. Enhanced Disclosures of Repayment Arising from the Exchange of Electric Energy.
(a) In General.—Section 1141(d) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by this Act, is amended by adding at the end the following:
(6) The confirmation of a plan does not discharge a debtor—
(A) in the case of a debtor that is a corporation, from any debt for wholesale electric power received that is incurred by that debtor owed by them under the Secretary of Energy (or any amendment of or attachment to that order) under section 202(c) of the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 792(a)(c) and requests by the California Independent System Operator; or
(B) in the case of debt owed to a Federal, State, or local government agency named in an order referred to in subparagraph (A) for wholesale electric power received by the debtor.
(b) Automatic Stay.—Section 362(b) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by this Act, is amended—
(1) in paragraph (15), by striking "and" at the end;
(2) in paragraph (20), by striking the period at the end of paragraph (20) and inserting "or"; and
(3) by inserting after that paragraph a new paragraph (21) that provides:
(III) the required minimum monthly payment on that balance, represented as both a dollar figure and a percentage of that balance;
(iv) the number of months (rounded to the nearest month) that it would take to pay the entire amount of that current balance if the consumer pays only the required minimum monthly payments and if no further advances are made;
(v) the total cost to the consumer, including interest and principal payments, of paying that balance in full if the consumer pays only the required minimum monthly

APPICABILITY.—This section and the amendments made by this section shall apply with respect to any petition for bankruptcy filed under title 11, United States Code, on or after March 1, 2001.
SA 45. Mr. BOND submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:
On page 202, strike line 9 and all that follows through page 203, line 14, and insert the following:
(a) In a small business case—
(1) not later than 45 days after the date of the order for relief, the court shall conduct a status conference pursuant to section 106(d) and, after consideration of relevant facts and circumstances, shall fix a deadline for the filing of a plan and disclosure statement; and
(b) in the deadline established by the court in the status conference referred to in paragraph (a) may be extended only if—
(A) the debtor, after providing notice to parties in interest including the United States trustee, demonstrates a reasonable likelihood that the court will confirm a plan within a reasonable period of time; and
(B) a new deadline is set at the time the extension is granted; and
(C) the order extending time is signed before the existing deadline has expired.
On page 208, line 15, insert "absent unusual circumstances specifically identified by the court," after "shall".
On page 208, line 15, insert "the deadline established by the court," after "granted".
On page 208, line 16, strike "established" and all that follows through "filed" on line 18 and insert the following: "establishes that—
(1) there is a reasonable likelihood that a plan will be confirmed; and
(2) ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

(a) Amendments to the Truth in Lending Act.

(b) Enhanced Disclosure of Repayment Terms.

(c) Technicial and Conforming Amendments.
payments and if no further advances are made; and

“(iv) the following statement: ‘If your current rate is a temporary introductory rate, your rate may be higher.’”

“(B) In making the disclosures under subparagraph (A) the creditor shall apply the annual interest rate that applies to that balance as of the current billing cycle for that consumer in effect on the date on which the disclosure is made.”.

(B) PUBLICATION OF MODEL FORMS.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System shall publish model disclosure forms in accordance with section 127(b) of the Truth in Lending Act (15 U.S.C. 1640) for the purpose of compliance with section 127(b)(11) of the Truth in Lending Act, as added by this paragraph.

(C) CIVIL LIABILITY.—Section 130(a) of the Truth in Lending Act (15 U.S.C. 1640(a)) is amended in the undesignated paragraph following subsection (b) to read as follows:

“(1) in paragraph (8), by striking “or” at the end;

“(2) in paragraph (9), by striking the period at the end and inserting “; or”; and

“(3) by adding at the end the following:

“(B) any unpaid interest and charges at the contract rate attributable to the property acquired; and

“(iv) if an allowed claim referred to in paragraph (1) is secured by the personal property described in that paragraph and the value of the secured property is less than the amount of the secured claim, the holder of the claim may require the debtor to pay such excess as a part of the property acquired.”.

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. 3. NO BANKRUPTCY FOR INSOLVENT POLITICAL COMMITTEES.

Section 105 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(e) A political committee subject to the jurisdiction of the Federal Election Commission under Federal election laws may not file for bankruptcy under this title.”.

Amend the table of contents accordingly.

SA 50. Mr. FEINGOLD submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. 5. PROHIBITION ON ASSERTING CLAIMS IN CASES OF VIOLATIONS OF THE PRIVACY PROTECTIONS OF THE GRAMM-LEACH-BILLEY ACT.

A creditor that fails to comply with the financial privacy requirements of subtitle A of title V of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (15 U.S.C. 6801 et seq.), may not assert any claim under this Act or title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. 6. RESTORING THE FOUNDATION FOR SECURED CREDIT.

Section 506 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(g) In an individual case under chapter 13—

“(1) except for the purpose of applying paragraph (3) of this subsection, subsection (a) shall not apply to an allowed claim that is attributable to the purchase price of personal property if—

“(A) the holder of the claim has a security interest in that property; and

“(B) any unpaid interest and charges at the contract rate attributable to the property acquired; and

“(c) in any case under this title in which the personal property is acquired for the use or benefit of a spouse of such debtor, such personal property shall be included in such case as personal property.

Amend the table of contents accordingly.

SA 51. Mr. FEINGOLD (for himself and Mr. THOMPSON) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

On page 439, strike line 19 and all that follows through page 440, line 12.

Amend the table of contents accordingly.

SA 52. Mr. FEINGOLD submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

“(d) In any case under this title—

“(1) the creditor may not assert any claim under this Act or title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. 7. BUDGETARY IMPLICATIONS.

The budgetary implications of this Act shall be the same as those determined by the Office of Management and Budget.

SEC. 8. REPORTS.

The Secretary of the Treasury shall submit to Congress a report on the implementation and effects of this Act.

SEC. 9. CONCLUSION.

This Act shall be known as the ‘‘Fair Credit Reporting Act.’’

SEC. 10. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This Act shall take effect on the date of its enactment.

Amend the table of contents accordingly.

SA 53. Mr. LEAHY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the end of title II, add the following:

SEC. 223. PROHIBITION ON ASSERTING CLAIMS IN CASES OF VIOLATIONS OF THE PRIVACY PROTECTIONS OF THE GRAMM-LEACH-BILLEY ACT.

A creditor that fails to comply with the financial privacy requirements of subtitle A of title V of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (15 U.S.C. 6801 et seq.), may not assert any claim under this Act or title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. 224. DISCOURAGING PREATORY LENDING PRACTICES.

Section 502(b) of title 11, United States Code, is amended as follows—

“(1) in paragraph (8), by striking “or” at the end;

“(2) in paragraph (9), by striking the period at the end and inserting “; or”; and

“(3) by adding at the end the following:

“(B) any unpaid interest and charges at the contract rate attributable to the property acquired; and

“(c) in any case under this title where the personal property is acquired for the use or benefit of a spouse of such debtor, such personal property shall be included in such case as personal property.

Amend the table of contents accordingly.

SA 49. Mr. FEINGOLD submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. 2. FEDERAL ELECTION LAW FINES AND PENALTIES AS NONDISCHARGEABLE DEBT.

Section 523(a) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by inserting after paragraph (14A) (as added by this Act) the following:

“(14B) incurred to pay fines or penalties imposed under Federal election law.”.

Amend the table of contents accordingly.

SA 54. Mr. LEAHY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:
SA 55. Ms. LEAHY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

Strike section 518 and insert the following:

SEC. 518. CHARTER 13 PLAN TO HAVE A 5-YEAR DURATION IN CERTAIN CASES.

Section 1323(d) of title 11, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

`(d) (i) Except as provided in paragraph (2), the plan may not provide for payments over a period that is longer than 3 years.

(2) The plan may provide for payments over a period that is longer than 3 years, if—

(A) the plan is for a case that was converted to a case under this chapter from a case under chapter 7, or the plan is for a debtor who has been dismissed from chapter 7 by reason of section 707(b), in which case, the plan shall provide for payments over a period that is not longer than 5 years; or

(B) the plan is for a case that is not described in subparagraph (A), and the court, for cause, approves a period that is longer than 3 years, but not longer than 5 years.'*

Amend the table of contents accordingly.

SA 56. Mr. LEAHY (for himself, and Mr. FEINGOLD) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

On page 23, strike line 6 and all that follows through page 25, line 6.

On page 25, line 7, strike "(h)" and insert

"(i)"

SA 57. Mr. LOTT submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

Strike section 1224.

SA 58. Mr. SESSIONS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

SEC. 1235. EXPEDITED APPELLATES OF BANKRUPTCY CASES TO COURTS OF APPEALS.

(a) APPEALS.—Section 158 of title 28, United States Code, is amended to include—

(1) in section (c)(1), by striking "Subject to subsection (b)," and inserting "Subject to subsections (b) and (d)(2),' and (2) in subsection (b) by inserting "(I) after "(d)," and

(b) by adding, at the end following:

(2)(A) A court of appeals that would have jurisdiction of an appeal under subsection (a) or other law may authorize an immediate appeal of an order or decree, not otherwise appealable, that is entered in a case or proceeding pending under section 157 or is entered by the district court or bankruptcy appellate panel exercising jurisdiction under subsection (a) or (b) if the bankruptcy appellate panel, district court, bankruptcy court, or the parties acting jointly certify that—

(1) the order or decree involves—

(I) a substantial question of law;

(II) a question of law requiring resolution of conflicting decisions; or

(III) a matter of considerable importance; and

(II) an immediate appeal from the order or decree may materially advance the progress of the case or proceeding.

(2) An appeal under paragraph (1) does not stay proceedings in the court from which the order or decree originated, unless the originating court or the court of appeals or such other court makes such order or decree effective and stays proceedings in such court.

(b) PROCEDURAL RULES.—

(1) TEMPORARY APPLICATION.—A provision of this subsection shall apply to appeals under section 158(d)(2) of title 28, United States Code, as added by subsection (a) of this section, until a rule of practice and procedure relating to an appeal under that section is promulgated or amended under chapter 131 of such title.

(2) CERTIFICATION.—A district court, bankruptcy court, or bankruptcy appellate panel may enter a certification as described in section 158(d)(2) of title 28, United States Code, during proceedings pending before that court or panel.

(3) PROCEDURE.—Subject to the other provisions of this subsection, an appeal by permission under section 158(d)(2) of title 28, United States Code, shall be taken in the manner prescribed in rule 5 of the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure.

(4) FILING PETITION.—When permission to appeal is requested, the petition shall be filed within 10 days after the certification is entered or filed.

(5) ATTACHMENT.—When permission to appeal is requested on the basis of a certification under this section, the petition shall be attached to the petition.

(6) PANEL AND CLERK.—In a case pending before a district court, bankruptcy court, or bankruptcy appellate panel in which permission to appeal is requested, the clerk of the court, or clerk of the bankruptcy appellate panel, the petition shall be filed within 10 days after the certification is entered or filed.

(7) APPLICATION OF RULES.—In a case pending before a district court, bankruptcy court, or bankruptcy appellate panel in which permission to appeal is requested, the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure apply to the proceedings in the court of appeals to the extent relevant, as if the appeal were taken from a final judgment, order, or decree of a district court, bankruptcy court, or bankruptcy appellate panel exercising appellate jurisdiction under subsection (a) or (b) of section 158 of title 28, United States Code.

SA 59. Mr. SESSIONS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

On page 148, line 4, strike "(a) in GENERAL.—" and insert the following:

"(22) under subsection (a), of the commencement or continuation of any eviction, unlawful detainer, or similar proceeding by a lessor against a debtor involving residential property, except in a case in which a tenant of such residential property has a written lease with an unexpired specified term, and can demonstrate to the ability to pay the rent then due and to becoming such unexpired term of the lease, in which case—

(A) the debtor shall have the right, by ex parte application (on a preprinted form provided by the court and provided on request by the clerk of the court to the debtor), to obtain an order temporarily staying any eviction, unlawful detainer, or similar proceeding pending a hearing. If the debtor submits with the application a copy of an unexpired written lease of the subject residential property, signed by the lessor of the property; and

(B) upon issuance of an order under subparagraph (A), the clerk of the court shall set a hearing on a date that is not later than 10 days after the date of filing of the application under subparagraph (A), and give the lessor of the property notice thereof; and

(C) at the conclusion of the hearing referred to in subparagraph (B), the court may enter a certification as described in section 158(d)(2) of title 28, United States Code, during proceedings pending before that court or panel.

(i) a written lease of the residential property with an unexpired term;

(ii) an ability to pay the rent as it comes due under the lease for the unexpired term; and

(iii) the ability to pay any past due rent on a schedule to be set by the court; or

(iv) the ability to pay any past due rent on a schedule to be set by the court; or

(C) at the conclusion of the hearing referred to in subparagraph (B), the court may enter a certification as described in section 158(d)(2) of title 28, United States Code, during proceedings pending before that court or panel.

(i) a written lease of the residential property with an unexpired term;

(ii) an ability to pay the rent as it comes due under the lease for the unexpired term; and

(iii) the ability to pay any past due rent on a schedule to be set by the court.

(SA 60. Mr. GRAMM submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

On page 294, line 10, delete the comma after "mortgage;"

On page 295, line 15, insert "mortgage before "foreclosed loan;"

On page 296, line 25, strike "or" and insert "including;"

On page 297, line 17, strike "or" and insert "including;"

On page 301, line 18, strike "or any" and insert "including any;"

On page 302, line 23, insert "mortgage" before "foreclosed loan;"

On page 303, line 3, insert "mortgage before "foreclosed loan;"

On page 304, line 16, strike "or" after "(V)" and insert "including;"

On page 306, line 10, insert "is of a type" after "clause and;"

On page 306, line 5, strike "or any" and insert "including any;"

On page 308, line 3, strike all after "2000" and insert a period following "2000;"

On page 309, strike lines 1 through 3;

On page 320, line 10, strike "the" and insert "a;"

On page 321, line 1, strike the period at the end of the line and insert "and;" and

On page 321, insert after line 4 the following:

(3) by including at the end of section 11(e)(1) the following new paragraph:

"(l) The meaning of terms used in this subsection (e) are applicable for purposes of this subsection (e) only, and shall not be construed or applied so as to challenge or affect the characterization, definition, or treatment of any similar terms under any other statute, regulation, or rule, including the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act, the Legal Certainty for Bank Products Act of 2000, the securities law (as that term is defined in section 3(a)(47) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934), and the Commodity Exchange Act."

..."

On page 327, line 7, strike "406" and insert "407a".

On page 327, line 20, strike "or" the second time it appears;

On page 328, line 3, strike all following "receiver" through "agency" on line 4;

On page 330, line 1, insert "in the case of a corporation chartered under section 25A of the Federal Reserve Act, or an uninsured State member bank that operates, or operates as, a multilateral clearing organization pursuant to section 409 of the Act.";

On page 330, line 3, insert "solely" before "to implement";

On page 330, line 5, strike "to implement this section," and insert ", limited solely to implementing paragraphs (8), (9), (10) and (11) of section 11(e) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act;"

On page 330, line 7, insert "each" before "shall ensure";

On page 330, line 8, strike "that the" and insert "that the";

On page 337, line 2, strike "(D)," or and insert "(D) including";

On page 337, line 14, insert "mortgage" before "loans;"

On page 337, line 18, insert "mortgage" before "loans;"

On page 337, line 21, strike "(iv)," or and insert "(iv) including;"

On page 337, line 5, strike "or an" and insert "or;"

On page 337, line 8, strike "or a" and insert "or;"

On page 338, line 10, strike "credit spread, total return, or a" and insert "total return, credit spread or;"

On page 338, line 22, insert after "(iv)" the following: "is of a type that;"

On page 338, line 13, strike "(v)," or and insert "(v) including;"

On page 338, line 18, strike "do;"

On page 339, line 9, insert "and" after "Act;"

On page 339, line 10, strike all after "2000" through "Commission" on line 13 and insert a period after "2000;"

On page 340, line 20, insert "mortgage" before "loan;"

On page 342, line 2, strike "or any" and insert "including any;"

On page 343, line 21, strike "or any" and insert "including any;"

On page 346, line 7, strike "the first time it appears;"

On page 346, line 25, insert ", including any guarantee or reimbursement obligation related to 1 or more of the foregoing" following "foreshadowing;"

On page 353, line 24, insert "a securities clearing agency," after "association;"

On page 353, line 25, insert "a securities clearing agency," before "a contract market;"

On page 355, line 6, strike the end parenthesis after "Act;"

On page 358, line 13, strike "(5c)" and insert "(5c)";

On page 358, line 24, strike "a national securities exchange;"

On page 359, line 4, insert "a securities clearing agency," after "association;"

On page 363, line 13, insert "a securities clearing agency," after "association;"

On page 365, lines 18 through 22, and on page 366, strike lines 5 through 2, and insert in lieu thereof the following: "(H) RECORDKEEPING REQUIREMENTS.—The Corporation, in consultation with the appropriate Federal agencies, may by regulation require more detailed recordkeeping by any insured depository institution with respect to qualified financial contracts (including market valuations), only if such insured financial institution is in a troubled condition (as such term is defined by the Corporation pursuant to 12 USC 1831i-1);"

On page 372, line 18, insert "governmental unit, limited liability company (including a single member limited liability company)," after "partnership;"

On page 373, line 22, insert "on or after "State law;"

On page 374, line 10, insert "and before" "the Corporation," and strike all after "through line 12 and insert a period after "Act."

SA 61. Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

On page 184, strike line 20 and all that follows through page 186, line 22 and insert the following:

SEC. 329. NONDISCHARGEABILITY OF DEBTS IN- CONNECTICUT: IN THE COMMISSION ON VIOLENCE AT CLINICS.

Section 523(a) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by this Act, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (17), by striking "or" at the end;

(2) in paragraph (18), as added by this Act, by striking the period at the end and inserting "or; and"

(3) by adding at the end the following: "(19) that results from any judgment, order, consent order, or decree entered in any Federal or State court, or by the Internal Revenue Service in any settlement agreement entered into by the debtor, including any damages, fine, penalty, citation, or attorney fee or cost owed by the debtor, is of a type that;"

(A) an actual or potential action under section 248 of title 18;

(B) an actual or potential action under any Federal, State, or local law, the purpose of which is to protect—

(i) access to a health care facility, including a facility providing reproductive health services; or

(ii) the provision of health services; including reproductive health services; or

O) an actual or potential action alleging the violation of any Federal, State, or local statutory or common law, including chapter 96 of title 18 and the Federal civil rights laws (including sections 1977 through 1980 of the Revised Statutes) by the debtor's actual, attempted, or alleged—

(i) harassment of, intimidation of, interference with, obstruction of, injury to, or threat to, any person; or

(ii) because that person provides or has provided health services; or

(II) because that person is or has been obtaining health services; or

(III) to deter that person, any other person, or a class of persons from obtaining or providing health services; or

(iv) damage or destruction of property of a health care facility; or

(D) an actual or alleged violation of a consent order or injunction that protects access to a health care facility or the provision of health services.

SA 62. Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

On page 186, beginning on line 6, strike "provides or has provided lawful goods or services;" and insert "seeks to exercise, exercises, or has exercised constitutionally protected rights;"

On page 186, strike lines 9 through 15 and insert the following: "(II) to deter any person from exercising constitutionally protected rights, or from assisting any other person in the exercise of such rights; or

(III) because that person assists any person in the exercise of constitutionally protected rights, or provides or assists in the provision of constitutionally protected goods or services; or"

On page 186, beginning on line 17, strike "providing lawful goods or services;" and insert "or of a person because that facility or person provides, assists in providing, uses, or seeks constitutionally protected goods or services;"

SA 63. Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

On page 10, between lines 17 and 18, insert the following:

"(V) In addition, the debtor's monthly expenses shall include the actual, reasonable expenses for operation of transportation and for public transportation and for fuel, maintenance, automobile insurance, and public transportation, to the extent that the actual costs exceed the Local Standards proposed by the Internal Revenue Service for operating and public transportation costs.

(VI) In addition, if a debtor owns a home, the debtor's monthly expenses shall include the actual, reasonable expenses for utilities and home maintenance, including costs for repairs, maintenance, taxes, and home insurance. In the case of a debtor who does not own a home, such expenses shall be extended to the extent that such expenses cause the debtor's housing expenses to exceed the amounts permitted under the Local Standards proposed by the Internal Revenue Service for housing and utilities.

(VII) In addition, if the debtor owns a motor vehicle for which no secured debt payments are scheduled, or for which secured debt payments are scheduled for less than 60 months, the debtor's monthly expenses shall include the monthly ownership costs permitted by the Internal Revenue Service for the number of months in which no secured debt payment on the vehicle is scheduled, divided by 60. Such additional ownership costs shall be included for which the debtor would be permitted ownership costs under the Internal Revenue Service National Standards.

SA 64. Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the end of subtitle A of title II, add the following:

SEC. 204. AWARD OF FEES AND DAMAGES AUTHORIZED.

(a) SECTION 502.—Section 502 of title 11, United States Code, as amended by this Act, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(1) The court may award the debtor reasonable attorneys' fees and costs if, after an objection is filed by a debtor, the court—

"(A)(i) disallows the claim; or

"(ii) reduces the claim by an amount greater than 20 percent of the amount of the initial claim filed by a party in interest, or $500, whichever is less; and

"(B) finds that the position of the party filing the claim is not substantially justified.

"(2) If the court finds that the position of a claimant under this section is not substantially justified, the court may, in addition to awarding a debtor reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs, award attorney’s fees and costs under paragraph (1), and such damages as may be required by the equities of the case.

(b) SECTION 523.—Section 523 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subsection (b)(2)(A), by striking "a false representation upon which the debtor justifiably relied" and inserting "the refusal to negotiate by the creditor involved was not substantially justified, and such damages as may be required by the equities of the case.

(c) SECTION 525.—Section 525 of title 11, United States Code, as amended—

(1) in subsection (a)(2)(A), by striking "a false representation upon which the debtor justifiably relied" and inserting "the refusal to negotiate by the creditor involved was not substantially justified, and such damages as may be required by the equities of the case.

(2) in addition to making an award to a debtor under paragraph (1), if the court finds that the position of a creditor in a proceeding covered under this section is not substantially justified, the court may award reasonable attorneys' fees and costs under paragraph (1) and such damages as may be required by the equities of the case.

(d) SECTION 503(b)(1)(A) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subsection (c), by adding at the end the following:

"(3) A creditor may not request a determination of dischargeability of a consumer debt under this section if

"(i) the court determines that the position of thecreditor is not substantially justified, and such damages as may be required by the equities of the case.

"(2) if the court finds that the position of a party filing a motion under this section is not substantially justified, the court may award reasonable attorneys' fees and costs in any case in which a creditor files a motion to deny relief to a debtor under this section and that motion—

"(A) is denied; or

"(B) is withdrawn after the debtor has replied.

"(2) If the court finds that the position of a party filing a motion under this section is not substantially justified, the court may award reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs under paragraph (1) and such damages as may be required by the equities of the case.

"(3) A creditor may not request a determination of dischargeability of a consumer debt under this section if

"(i) the court determines that the position of thecreditor is not substantially justified, and such damages as may be required by the equities of the case.

"(ii) the refusal to negotiate by the creditor involved was not substantially justified, and such damages as may be required by the equities of the case.

Amend the table of contents accordingly.

SA 65. Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

On page 16, lines 18 and 23, insert "(adjusted to reflect the percentage change in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers, published by the Department of Labor, for each subsequent year during which such median income is not reported by the Bureau of the Census)" after "Census" each place it appears.

On page 17, lines 3, 14, 19, and 24, insert "(adjusted to reflect the percentage change in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers, published by the Department of Labor, for each subsequent year during which such median income is not reported by the Bureau of the Census)" after "Census" each place it appears.

On page 20, lines 4, 9, 20, and 25, insert "(adjusted to reflect the percentage change in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers, published by the Department of Labor, for each subsequent year during which such median income is not reported by the Bureau of the Census)" after "Census" each place it appears.

On page 21, lines 1, 25, and 30, insert "(adjusted to reflect the percentage change in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers, published by the Department of Labor, for each subsequent year during which such median income is not reported by the Bureau of the Census)" after "Census" each place it appears.

On page 22, lines 14, 19, and 24, insert "(adjusted to reflect the percentage change in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers, published by the Department of Labor, for each subsequent year during which such median income is not reported by the Bureau of the Census)" after "Census" each place it appears.

On page 23, lines 1, 25, and 30, insert "(adjusted to reflect the percentage change in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers, published by the Department of Labor, for each subsequent year during which such median income is not reported by the Bureau of the Census)" after "Census" each place it appears.

On page 24, lines 20 and 25, insert "(adjusted to reflect the percentage change in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers, published by the Department of Labor, for each subsequent year during which such median income is not reported by the Bureau of the Census)" after "Census" each place it appears.
pay attributable to any period of time after commencement of the case as a result of the debtor’s violation of Federal or State law, without regard to when the original unlawful act occurred or to whether any services were rendered if the court determines that the award will not substantially increase the probability of loafing or termination of current employment or payment of domestic support obligations during the case;”

SA 68. Mr. KOHL (for himself and Mrs. FeINSTEN) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table of the Senate.

On page 140, strike line 14 and all that follows through page 176, line 19 and insert the following:

SEC. 306. LIMITATION.
Section 322 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subsection (b)(3)(A), as so designated by this Act, by inserting “subject to subsection (d)” after “and the property is no longer property of the estate and the stay under section 362(a) is automatically terminated.”

(2) in the case of an individual under chapter 7, the debtor may notify the creditor in writing that the debtor desires to assume or assume the lease. Upon being so notified, the creditor may, at its option, notify the debtor that it will not be required to assume or assume the lease and that the landlord may, at its option, notify the debtor that the lease is rejected, the stay under section 363 and any stay under section 101 is automatically terminated with respect to the property subject to the lease.

(3) The stay under section 362 and the injunction under section 522(a)(2) shall not be violated by notification of the debtor and notification of cure under this subsection.

(4) In a case under chapter 11 in which the debtor is an individual and in a case under chapter 13, the debtor shall commence making payments to the lessor for the personal property, the amount of such payments shall not be less than an amount sufficient to maintain the personal property and continue to provide adequate protection with respect to the use or ownership of such property and continue to do so for so long as the debtor retains possession of such property.”

SEC. 310. LIMITATION ON LUXURY GOODS.
Section 323(a)(2)(C) of title 11, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

“(C) that provides adequate protection during the period of the stay.”

Section 325(a)(5)(B) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(A) proposed by the plan to the trustee; and

(B) scheduled in a lease of personal property subject to a lease or securing a claim attributable to any period of time after the date of filing of the petition or during the 180-day period preceding the date of filing of the petition that the lessor has not made a payment for rent and serves a copy of the certification upon the debtor or the tenant’s representative; and

(C) that provides adequate protection directly to a creditor holding an allowed claim secured by personal property to the extent the creditor is entitled to the purchase of such property by the debtor for that portion of the obligation that becomes due after the order for relief, reducing the payments under subparagraph (A) by the amount so paid and providing the trustee with evidence of such payment, including the amount and date of payment, and

SEC. 311. AUTOMATIC STAY.
(a) In General.—Section 362(b) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by inserting after paragraph (2), as added by this Act, the following:

“(2d) a breach of the automatic stay found by the court to be willful or voluntary, or the debtor or any individual acting on behalf of the debtor, with intent to obstruct the administration of the case, to hinder or delay the accomplishment of the purposes of the automatic stay;”

(b) Giving Debtors the Ability To Keep Leased Personal Property By Assumption—Title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(1) If a lease of personal property is rejected or not timely assumed by the trustee under subsection (d), the leased property is no longer property of the estate and the stay under section 362(a) is automatically terminated.”

“(2) A burial plot for the debtor or a dependent of the debtor.

“(3) Subject to section 363, the court may, upon notice and a hearing, modify, increase, or reduce the payments required under this subsection pending confirmation of a plan.

“(4) Not later than 60 days after the date of filing of a case under chapter 11 or 12, but not in a case converted to a case under chapter 13, the debtor shall commence making payments not later than 30 days after the date of the filing of the plan or the order for relief, whichever is earlier, in the amount—

“(A) proposed by the plan to the trustee; and

“(B) scheduled in a lease of personal property directly to the lessor for that portion of the obligation that becomes due after the order for relief, reducing the payments under subparagraph (A) by the amount so paid and providing the trustee with evidence of such payment, including the amount and date of payment, and

“(C) that provides adequate protection directly to a creditor holding an allowed claim secured by personal property to the extent the creditor is entitled to the purchase of such property by the debtor for that portion of the obligation that becomes due after the order for relief, reducing the payments under subparagraph (A) by the amount so paid and providing the trustee with evidence of such payment, including the amount and date of payment, and

“(D) that the lease is rejected, the stay under section 363 and any stay under section 101 is automatically terminated with respect to the property subject to the lease.”

“(2) As a result of electing under subsection (b)(3)(A) to exempt property under section 522 of title 11, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table of the Senate.

On page 140, strike line 14 and all that follows through page 176, line 19 and insert the following:

“(3) The stay under section 362 and the injunction under section 522(a)(2) shall not be violated by notification of the debtor and notification of cure under this subsection.

“(4) In a case under chapter 11 in which the debtor is an individual and in a case under chapter 13, the debtor shall commence making payments to the lessor for the personal property, the amount of such payments shall not be less than an amount sufficient to maintain the personal property and continue to provide adequate protection with respect to the use or ownership of such property and continue to do so for so long as the debtor retains possession of such property.”

“(3) The stay under section 362 and the injunction under section 522(a)(2) shall not be violated by notification of the debtor and notification of cure under this subsection.

“(4) In a case under chapter 11 in which the debtor is an individual and in a case under chapter 13, the debtor shall commence making payments to the lessor for the personal property, the amount of such payments shall not be less than an amount sufficient to maintain the personal property and continue to provide adequate protection with respect to the use or ownership of such property and continue to do so for so long as the debtor retains possession of such property.”

“(3) The stay under section 362 and the injunction under section 522(a)(2) shall not be violated by notification of the debtor and notification of cure under this subsection.

“(4) In a case under chapter 11 in which the debtor is an individual and in a case under chapter 13, the debtor shall commence making payments to the lessor for the personal property, the amount of such payments shall not be less than an amount sufficient to maintain the personal property and continue to provide adequate protection with respect to the use or ownership of such property and continue to do so for so long as the debtor retains possession of such property.”

“(3) The stay under section 362 and the injunction under section 522(a)(2) shall not be violated by notification of the debtor and notification of cure under this subsection.

“(4) In a case under chapter 11 in which the debtor is an individual and in a case under chapter 13, the debtor shall commence making payments to the lessor for the personal property, the amount of such payments shall not be less than an amount sufficient to maintain the personal property and continue to provide adequate protection with respect to the use or ownership of such property and continue to do so for so long as the debtor retains possession of such property.”

“(3) The stay under section 362 and the injunction under section 522(a)(2) shall not be violated by notification of the debtor and notification of cure under this subsection.

“(4) In a case under chapter 11 in which the debtor is an individual and in a case under chapter 13, the debtor shall commence making payments to the lessor for the personal property, the amount of such payments shall not be less than an amount sufficient to maintain the personal property and continue to provide adequate protection with respect to the use or ownership of such property and continue to do so for so long as the debtor retains possession of such property.”
(24) under subsection (a)(3), of the commencement or continuation of any eviction, unlawful detainer action, or similar proceeding by a lessor against a debtor seeking possession of residential real property, if during the 1-year period preceding the date of filing of the petition, the debtor or another occupant of the leased premises—

(A) commenced another case under this title; and

(B) failed to make a rental payment that initially became due under applicable nonbankruptcy law before the date of the petition.

(25) under subsection (a)(3), of an eviction action, to the extent that it seeks possession based on a violation of the automatic stay, with respect to the avoidance of transfers under section 542 or 543, may be imposed on any action or proceeding in any such case filed under this title to the address provided by the creditor and such notice shall include the account number.

In the event the creditor would be in violation of applicable nonbankruptcy law by sending any such communication within such 90-day period and if the creditor supplied the debtor in the last 2 communications with the current account number of the account at which the creditor wishes to receive correspondence, then the debtor shall send any notice required under this title to the address provided by the creditor and such notice shall include the account number.

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(e) At any time, a creditor, in a case of an individual under chapter 7 or 13, may file with the court and serve on the debtor a notice of the address to be used to notify the creditor of any such communication within such 90-day period, if the creditor supplied the debtor in the last 2 communications with the current account number of the account at which the creditor wishes to receive correspondence, then the debtor shall send any notice required under this title to the address provided by the creditor and such notice shall include the account number."

SEC. 314. DEBT INCURRED TO PAY NONDISCHARGEABLE DEBTS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 523(a) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by inserting after paragraph (14) the following:

"(15) a conviction of a governmental unit, other than the United States, that would be nondischargeable under paragraph (1);"

(b) DISCHARGE UNDER CHAPTER 13.—Section 1328(a) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking paragraphs (1) through (3) and inserting the following:

"(1) provided for under section 1322(b)(5); (2) of the kind specified in paragraph (2), (3), (4), (5), or (9) of section 523(a); (3) for restitution, or a criminal fine, included in a sentence on the debtor’s conviction of a crime; or (4) for restitution, or damages, awarded in a civil action against the debtor as a result of willful or malicious injury by the debtor that caused personal injury to an individual or the death of an individual."

SEC. 315. GIVING CREDITOR FAIR NOTICE IN CHAPTERS 7 AND 13 CASES.

(a) NOTICE.—Section 342 of title 11, United States Code, as amended by this Act, is amended—

(1) in subsection (a), by striking paragraph (1) and inserting the following:

"(1) file—

(A) a list of creditors; and

(B) a schedule of assets and liabilities; (2) a list of the current income and current expenditures; (3) a statement of the debtor’s financial affairs and, if applicable, a certificate—

(I) of an attorney whose name is on the petition as the attorney for the debtor or any bankruptcy petition preparer signing the petition under section 110(b)(1) indicating that such attorney or bankruptcy petition preparer delivered to the debtor any notice required by paragraph (2); and

(II) if no attorney for the debtor is indicated and no bankruptcy petition preparer signed the petition, of the debtor that such notice was obtained by the debtor; and

(iv) copies of all payment advices or other evidence of payment, if any, received by the debtor from any employer of the debtor in the period 60 days before the filing of the petition;

(v) a statement of the amount of monthly net income to show how the amount is calculated; and

(vi) a statement disclosing any reasonably anticipated increase in income or expenditure in the 12-month period following the date of filing;"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(e)(1) A creditor, in the case of an individual under chapter 7 or 13, may file with the court notice that the creditor requests the petition, schedules, and a statement made by the debtor in the case, and the court shall make those documents available to the creditor who requests those documents.

(2)(A) The debtor shall provide either a tax return or transcript at the election of the debtor, for the latest taxable period prior to filing for which a tax return has been or should have been filed, to the trustee, not later than 7 days before the date first set for the first meeting of creditors, or the case shall be dismissed, unless the debtor demonstrates that the failure to file a return as required is due to circumstances beyond the control of the debtor.

(B) If a creditor has requested a tax return or transcript referred to in subparagraph (A), the debtor shall provide such tax return or transcript at the election of the creditor at the time the creditor provides the tax return or transcript to the trustee, or the case shall be dismissed, unless the debtor demonstrates that the debtor is unable to provide such information due to circumstances beyond the control of the debtor.

(D) At any time, a creditor in a case under chapter 13 may file with the court notice that the creditor requests the plan filed by the debtor in the case.

(E) The court shall make such plan available to the creditor who requests such plan—

(i) at a reasonable cost; and

(ii) not later than 5 days after such request.

(f) An individual debtor in a case under chapter 7, 11, or 13 shall file with the court at the request of any party in interest—

(I) at the time filed with the taxing authority, all tax returns required under applicable law, including any schedules or attachments, that were not filed with the taxing authority when the schedules under subsection (a)(1) were filed with respect to the period that is 3 years before the order of relief;

(II) any amendments to any of the tax returns, including schedules or attachments, described in paragraph (I) or (2); and

(III) in a case under chapter 13, a statement subject to the penalties of perjury by the debtor of the debtor’s income and expenditures in the preceding tax year and monthly income, that shows how the amounts are calculated—

(A) beginning on the date that is the later of 90 days after the close of the debtor’s tax year or 1 year after the order for relief, unless a shorter period is applicable under subparagraph (A), and

(B) thereafter, on or before the date that is 45 days before each anniversary of the confirmation of the plan until the case is closed.

(2)(A) A statement referred to in subsection (f)(4) shall disclose—

(i) the identity of any person who contributed, and the amount contributed, to the household in which the debtor resides.

(ii) the tax returns, amendments, and statements referred to in subsection (d) and the amount and expenditures described in subsection (e)(2)(A) and subsection (f) shall be available to the United States trustee, any bankruptcy administrator, any individual who is filing a petition under the plan for inspection and copying, subject to the requirements of subsection (h).

(3)(1) Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of the Bankruptcy Reform Act of 2001, the Director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts shall establish procedures regarding the confidentiality of any tax information required to be provided under this section.

(2) The procedures under paragraph (1) shall include restrictions on creditor access to tax information that is required to be provided under this section.

(3) Not later than 1 year and 180 days after the date of enactment of the Bankruptcy Reform Act of 2001, the Director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts shall prepare and submit to Congress a report that—

(A) assesses the effectiveness of the procedures under paragraph (1); and

(B) if appropriate, includes proposed legislation to—

(i) further protect the confidentiality of tax information; and

(ii) provide penalties for the improper use by any person of information required to be provided under this section.

(4) If requested by the United States trustee or a trustee serving in the case, the debtor shall provide—

(I) a document that establishes the identity of the debtor, including a driver’s license, passport, or other document that contains a photograph of the debtor; and

(II) other personal identifying information relating to the debtor that establishes the identity of the debtor.

SEC. 316. DISMISSAL FOR FAILURE TO TIMELY FILE SCHEDULES OR PROVIDE REQUIRED INFORMATION.

Section 521 of title 11, United States Code, as amended by this Act, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(j)(1) Notwithstanding section 707(a), and subject to paragraph (2), if an individual debtor in a voluntary case under chapter 7 or 13 fails to file all of the information required under subsection (a)(1) within 45 days after the filing of the petition commencing the case, the case shall be automatically dismissed effective on the 46th day after the filing of the petition.

(2) With respect to a case described in paragraph (1), any party in interest may request the court to enter an order dismissing the case. If requested, the court shall enter an order of dismissal not later than 5 days after such request.

(3) Upon request of the debtor made within 45 days after the filing of the petition commencing the case, the court may allow the debtor an additional period of not to exceed 45 days to file the information required under subsection (a)(1) if the court determines that the additional period is necessary for extending the period for the filing of the petition.

(4) For purposes of this subsection, the ‘‘applicable commitment period’’—

(A) subject to subparagraph (B), shall be—

(1) 3 years; or

(2) not less than 5 years, if the current monthly income of the debtor and the debtor’s spouse combined, when multiplied by 12, is not less than—

(I) in the case of a debtor in a household of 1 person, the median family income of the applicable State for a family of 1 person last reported by the Bureau of the Census; or

(II) in the case of a debtor in a household of 2, 3, or 4 individuals, the highest median family income of the applicable State for a family of the same number or fewer individuals last reported by the Bureau of the Census;

(5) In the case of a debtor in a household exceeding 4 individuals, the highest median family income of the applicable State for a family of 4 or fewer individuals last reported by the Bureau of the Census, plus $525 per month for each individual in excess of 4; the plan may not provide for payments over a period that is longer than 5 years.

(6) If the current monthly income of the debtor and the debtor’s spouse combined, when multiplied by 12, is less than—

(I) in the case of a debtor in a household of 1 person, the median family income of the applicable State for 1 earner last reported by the Bureau of the Census; or

(II) in the case of a debtor in a household of 2, 3, or 4 individuals, the highest median family income of the applicable State for a family of the same number or fewer individuals last reported by the Bureau of the Census; or

(III) in the case of a debtor in a household exceeding 4 individuals, the highest median family income of the applicable State for a family for 1 earner last reported by the Bureau of the Census, plus $525 per month for each individual in excess of 4, the plan may not provide for payments over a period that is longer than 3 years, unless the court, for cause, approves a longer period, but the court may not approve a period that is longer than 5 years.

(7) For purposes of this subsection, ‘‘applicable commitment period’’—

(A) subject to subparagraph (B), shall be—

(i) 3 years; or

(ii) not less than 5 years, if the current monthly income of the debtor and the debtor’s spouse combined, when multiplied by 12, is not less than—

(I) in the case of a debtor in a household of 1 person, the median family income of the applicable State for 1 earner last reported by the Bureau of the Census; or

(II) in the case of a debtor in a household of 2, 3, or 4 individuals, the highest median family income of the applicable State for a family of the same number or fewer individuals last reported by the Bureau of the Census; or

(iii) in the case of a debtor in a household exceeding 4 individuals, the highest median family income of the applicable State for a family of 4 or fewer individuals last reported by the Bureau of the Census, plus $525 per month for each individual in excess of 4, the plan may not provide for payments over a period that is longer than 3 years, unless the court, for cause, approves a longer period, but the court may not approve a period that is longer than 5 years.

(8) For purposes of this subsection, ‘‘applicable commitment period’’—

(A) subject to subparagraph (B), shall be—

(i) 3 years; or

(ii) not less than 5 years, if the current monthly income of the debtor and the debtor’s spouse combined, when multiplied by 12, is not less than—

(I) in the case of a debtor in a household of 1 person, the median family income of the applicable State for 1 earner last reported by the Bureau of the Census; or

(II) in the case of a debtor in a household of 2, 3, or 4 individuals, the highest median family income of the applicable State for a family of the same number or fewer individuals last reported by the Bureau of the Census; or

(iii) in the case of a debtor in a household exceeding 4 individuals, the highest median family income of the applicable State for a family of 4 or fewer individuals last reported by the Bureau of the Census, plus $525 per month for each individual in excess of 4, the plan may not provide for payments over a period that is longer than 3 years, unless the court, for cause, approves a longer period, but the court may not approve a period that is longer than 5 years.
(4) in section 1329(c), by striking “three years” and inserting “the applicable commitment period under section 1325(b)(1)(B)”.

SEC. 319. SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING EXPANDED ‘‘CHAPTER 9’’ OF THE FEDERAL RULES OF BANKRUPTCY PROCEDURE.

It is the sense of Congress that rule 9011 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (11 U.S.C. App.) should be modified to include a requirement that all documents (including schedules, proofs of claim, and reports of examinations) submitted to the court or to a trustee by debtors who represent themselves and debtors who are represented by an attorney be submitted only after the debtor or the debtor’s attorney has made reasonable inquiry to verify that the information contained in such documents is:

(1) well grounded in fact; and
(2) warranted by existing law or a good-faith argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law.

SEC. 320. PROMPT RELIEF FROM STAY IN INDIVIDUAL CASES.

Section 362(e) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by inserting “(1)” after “(e);” and
(2) by adding at the end the following:

“(2) Notwithstanding paragraph (1), in the case of an individual filing under chapter 7, 11, or 13 of title 11, subsection (a) shall not terminate on the date that is 60 days after a request is made by a party in interest under subsection (d), unless—

(A) the decision is rendered by the court during the 60-day period beginning on the date of the request; or
(B) that 60-day period is extended—

(1) by agreement of all parties in interest; or
(2) by the court for such specific period of time as the court finds is required for good cause, as described in findings made by the court.”.

SEC. 321. CHAPTER 11 CASES FILED BY INDIVIDUALS.

(a) PROPERTY OF THE ESTATE.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Subchapter I of chapter 11 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

“§ 1115. Property of the estate.

(a) In a case concerning an individual debtor, property of the estate includes, in addition to the property specified in section 541,

“(1) all property of the kind specified in section 541 that the debtor acquires after the commencement of the case but before the case is closed, dismissed, or converted to a case under chapter 7, 12, or 13, whichever occurs first; and

“(2) earnings from services performed by the debtor after the commencement of the case but before the case is closed, dismissed, or converted to a case under chapter 7, 12, or 13, whichever occurs first.”.

(b) Except as provided in section 1104 or a continuing order confirming a plan, the debtor shall remain in possession of all property of the estate.”.

(2) CLEANC closing.—The table of sections for chapter 11 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end of the matter relating to subchapter I the following:

“1115. Property of the estate.”.

(b) CONTENTS OF PLAN.—Section 1123(a) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (6), by striking “and” at the end of such paragraph; and
(2) in paragraph (7), by striking the period and inserting “;” and “;”.

(c) by adding at the end the following:

“(8) providing for the payment to creditors through the plan of all or such portion of earnings from personal services performed by the debtor after the commencement of the case or other future income of the debtor as is necessary for the execution of the plan.”.

(2) CONFIRMATION OF PLAN.—

(1) REQUIREMENTS RELATING TO VALUE OF PROPERTY.—Section 1129(a) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(15) In a case concerning an individual in which the holder of an allowed unsecured claim objects to the confirmation of the plan:

“(A) the value of the property to be distributed under the plan on account of such claim is, as of the effective date of the plan, not less than the amount of such claim; and

“(B) the value of the property to be distributed under the plan is not less than the debtor’s projected disposable income (as that term is defined in section 1325(b)(2)) to be received during the 5-year period beginning on the date that the first payment is due under the plan, or during the term of the plan, whichever is longer.”.

(2) REQUIREMENT RELATING TO INTERESTS IN PROPERTY.—Section 1129(b)(2)(B)(i)(1) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by inserting “or a perfecting security interest in” before the following: “;”.

(3) EFFECT OF CONFIRMATION.—Section 1114(d) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by inserting “with respect to” after “the” in paragraph (2); and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

“(B) at any time after the confirmation of the plan and after notice and a hearing, the court may grant a discharge to a debtor that has not completed payments under the plan only if—

“(i) for each allowed unsecured claim, the value, as of the date of the effective date of the plan, of property actually received on account of that claim is not less than the amount that would have been paid on such claim if the estate of the debtor had been liquidated under chapter 7 of this title on such date; and

“(ii) modification of the plan under section 1207 of this title is not practicable.”.

(c) MODIFICATION OF PLAN.—Section 1207 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(e) In a case concerning an individual, the plan may be modified at any time after confirmation of the plan but before the completion of payments under the plan, whether or not the plan has been substantially consummated, upon request of the debtor, the trustee, the United States trustee, or the holder of an allowed unsecured claim, to—

“(1) increase or reduce the amount of payments on claims of a particular class provided for by the plan;
“(2) extend or reduce the time period for such payments; or
“(3) alter the amount of the distribution to a creditor whose claim is provided for by the plan to the extent necessary to take account of any payment of such claim made other than under the plan.”.

(4) in sections 1121 through 1129 of this title and the requirements of section 1120 of this title apply to any modification under subsection (a).”.

“(2) The plan, as modified, shall become the plan only after there has been disclosure under section 1225, as the court may direct, notice and a hearing, and such modification is approved.”.

SA 69. Mr. WELLSTONE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

On page 243, line 23, strike “(1)(B)”.

SA 70. Mr. WELLSTONE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

On page 18, line 9, strike “6” and insert “2”.

SA 71. Mr. WELLSTONE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

On page 151, strike line 18 and all that follows through page 152, line 3, and insert the following:

“Section 727(a)(8) of title II, United States Code, is amended by striking “six” and inserting “three”.

SA 72. Mr. WELLSTONE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

Strike section 912 (relating to asset-backed securitizations).

SA 73. Mr. WELLSTONE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

On page 441, after line 2, add the following:

“(c) EXEMPTIONS.—

(1) CERTAIN UNEMPLOYED WORKERS.—This Act and the amendments made by this Act do not apply to any debtor that can demonstrate to the satisfaction of the court that the reason for filing is due to the debtor having become unemployed and the debtor is part of a group of workers certified by the Secretary of Labor as being eligible for trade adjustment assistance under title II of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2251 et seq.), unless the debtor elects to make a provision for an amendment made by this Act applicable to that debtor.

(2) APPLICABILITY.—Title II, United States Code, as in effect on the day before the effective date of this Act and the amendments made by this Act, shall apply to persons referred to in paragraph (1) on and after the date of enactment of this Act, unless the court otherwise directs, or otherwise in accordance with paragraph (1).

SA 74. Mr. WELLSTONE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

On page 441, after line 2, add the following:
SA 75. Mr. DODD (for himself and Mr. KENNEDY) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by them to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table.

At the end of Title XIII, add the following: [SECT. 1311. EXTENSIONS OF AUTHORITY TO UNDERAGE CONSUMERS.]

(a) In General. The effective date of section 127(c) of the Truth in Lending Act (16 U.S.C. 1677(c)) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(8) The confirmation of a plan does not discharge a debtor from any debt incurred by the debtor under an order issued by the Secretary of Energy or any amendment of or attachment to that order under section 202(c) of the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 824(a) and requested by the California Independent System Operator; or

"(B) In the case of debt owed to a Federal, State, or local government agency named in an order referred to in subparagraph (A) for wholesale electric power received by the debtor except to the extent the rate charged for power traded by the California Independent System Operator is determined by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission to be unjust and unreasonable, in which case such subparagraph shall only apply to debt for the actual cost of production and distribution of energy."

(b) AUTOMATIC STAY.—Section 362(b) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by this Act, is amended—

(1) in subsection (a), by striking "or" at the end.

(2) in paragraph (2), as added by section 907(d) of this Act, by striking "or" at the end.

(3) by inserting after that paragraph (29) the following:

"(90) under subsection (a), of the commencement or continuation, and conclusion to the extent of the judgment or order, of a judicial, administrative, or other action or proceeding for debts that are nondischargeable under section 1141(d)(6)."

(c) TECHNICAL AND CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Section 1141(a) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking "subsections (d)(2) and (d)(3) of this section" and inserting "paragraphs (2), (3), and (6) of subsection (d)."

(d) APPLICABILITY.—This section and the amendments made by this Act shall apply with respect to any petition for bankruptcy filed under title 11, United States Code, on or after March 1, 2001.

SA 79. Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the end of subtitile A of title II, add the following:

[SECT. 204. AWARD OF FEES AND DAMAGES AUTHORIZED.]

(a) SECTION 502.—Section 502 of title 11, United States Code, as amended by this Act, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(1) The court may award the debtor reasonable attorneys' fees and costs if, after an objection is filed by a debtor, the court—

"(A) disallows the claim; or

"(ii) reduces the claim by an amount greater than 20 percent of the amount of the initial claim filed by a party in interest, or $500, whichever is less; and

"(ii) finds that the position of the party filing the claim is not substantially justified.

"(B) The court may, in addition to awarding a reasonable attorneys' fees and costs under paragraph (1), award such damages as may be required by the equities of the case."

(b) SECTION 523.—Section 523 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)(2)(A), by striking "false representation" and inserting "a material false representation upon which the deceived person justifiably relied"; and

(2) by striking subsection (d) and inserting the following:

"(d)(1) Subject to paragraph (3), if a creditor requests a determination of dischargeability of a consumer debt under this section and that debt is discharged, the court shall award the debtor reasonable attorneys' fees and costs under paragraph (1), and such damages as may be required by the equities of the case."

(3)(A) A creditor may not request a determination of dischargeability of a consumer debt under subsection (a)(2) if—

"(i) before the filing of the petition, the debtor made a good faith effort to negotiate a reasonable alternative repayment schedule (including making an offer of a reasonable alternative repayment schedule); and

"(ii) that creditor refused to negotiate an alternative payment schedule, and that refusal was not reasonable."

(B) For purposes of this paragraph, the debtor shall have the burden of proof of establishing that—

"(i) an offer made by that debtor under subparagraph (A)(i) was reasonable; and

"(ii) the refusal to negotiate by the creditor involved was not reasonable."
reorganization confirmed under chapter 11 of this title) in the manner required by the plan (including crediting the amounts required under the plan) shall constitute a violation of an order of the court, and the plan, and any willful violation of the injunction under section (a)(2), shall be entitled to recover—

"(1) the greater of—

"(A) the amount of actual damages; multiplied by—

"(ii) 3; or

"(B) $5,000; and

"(2) reasonable fees and costs, including attorneys’ fees.

"(2) In addition to recovering actual damages, costs, and attorneys’ fees under paragraph (1), a court shall recover punitive damages in an amount not to exceed two times the amount of actual damages awarded to the person in accordance with paragraph (1), or $250,000, whichever is less, for the willful violation of a stay provided in this title, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"(h) An individual who is injured by any willful violation of a stay provided in this section shall be entitled to recover—

"(A) actual damages; and

"(B) reasonable costs, including attorneys’ fees.

"(B) For purposes of this paragraph, the debtor shall have the burden of proof of establishing that—

"(1) an offer made by that debtor under subparagraph (A)(i) was reasonable; and

"(2) the refusal to negotiate by the creditor involved was not reasonable.; and

"(C) set forth in clear terms—

"(i) the circumstances under which an employer is required to take action to address ergonomic hazards;

"(ii) the minimum required of an employer under the standard; and

"(iii) the compliance obligations of an employer under the standard.

"(2) ARMORING PROCESS.

"(A) The court may affirm the reaffirmation order of the bankruptcy court, would be subject to the pre- determinations of the Secretary of the means test by the exemption provided in this section referred to as the "Secretary") shall conduct a study of those debtors who, based on the information provided in the schedules filed with the bankruptcy court, are excluded from the operation of the means test by the exemption provided in section 707(b)(2) of this title.

"(B) The study conducted under this subsection, the Secretary of the Treasury (in this section referred to as the "Secretary") shall conduct a study of the reaffirmation process.

SA 81. Mr. REED submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the end of subsection A of title II, add the following:

"SEC. 204. GAO STUDY ON REAFFIRMATION PROC- ESS.

(a) STUDY.—The General Accounting Office (in this section referred to as the "GAO") shall conduct a study of the reaffirmation process under title II, United States Code, to determine the overall treatment of consumers within the context of that process, including consideration of—

(1) the activities and policies of creditors with respect to reaffirmation; and

(2) whether there is abuse or coercion of consumers inherent in the process.

(b) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the GAO shall submit a report to the Congress describing the results conducted under subsection (a), together with any recommendations for legislation to address any abusive or coercive tactics found within the reaffirmation process.

SA 82. Mr. SESSIONS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

On page 22, between lines 3 and 4, insert the following:

"SEC. 108. TREASURY DEPARTMENT STUDY ON THE OPERATION OF THE MEANS TEST SAFE HARBOR.

(a) STUDY.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of the Treasury (in this section referred to as the "Secretary") shall conduct a study of those debtors who, based on the information provided in the schedules filed with the bank- ruptcy court, are excluded from the operation of the means test by the exemption provided in section 707(b)(2) of title II, United States Code, and, as added by this Act, are not subject to that presumption because the debtors are under the jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court at the time from work as a result of work-related musculoskeletal disorders.

(2) DETERMINATIONS.—The study required by this subsection shall be conducted within the 1-year period beginning on the date of enactment of this Act, and shall include—

(A) the average amount that a debtor with the ability to pay would be able to pay a nonpriority unsecured creditor, as determined by the net income of that debtor under section 707(b)(2) of title II, United States Code, as added by this Act, and projecting that amount over the applicable commitment period pursuant to section 1325(b) of that title; and

(B) the composite amount that all debtors referred to in subparagraph (A) would be able to pay during the period of the study.

(b) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall submit a report to Congress on the results of the study conducted under subsection (a), together with any recommendations for legislation to address the abusive use of any chapter of title II, United States Code.
SA 83. Mr. SESSIONS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

SEC. 204. TREASURY STUDY ON REAFFIRMATION PROCESS.

(a) STUDY.

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of the Treasury (in this section referred to as the “Secretary”) shall conduct a study of the effect on consumers of the provisions in title 11, United States Code, relating to reaffirmation of consumer debt which has been discharged in a proceeding commenced under that title.

(b) CONSIDERATIONS.—The study required by this subsection shall include analysis of—

(1) the policies and activities of creditors representative in its class with respect to reaffirmation;
(2) the role of debtors’ counsel in the reaffirmation process;
(3) the economic and personal benefits accruing to consumers who reaffirm debt; and
(4) the effectiveness of applicable consumer protection provisions.

SEC. 230. GAO STUDY.

(a) STUDY—The Comptroller of the Currency (in this section referred to as the “Comptroller”) shall conduct a study of the effect on consumers of the provisions in title 11, United States Code, relating to reaffirmation of consumer debt which has been discharged in a proceeding commenced under that title.

(b) CONSIDERATIONS.—The study required by this subsection shall include analysis of—

(1) the policies and activities of creditors with respect to reaffirmation; and
(2) whether there is abuse or coercion of consumers inherent in the process.

(d) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Comptroller shall submit a report to the Congress on the results of the study conducted under subsection (a), together with any recommendations for legislation to address any abusive or coercive tactics found within the reaffirmation process.

Sec. 2244

SEC. 204. SPECIAL AUDITS.

On page 29, line 21, strike (7) No creditor or other party in interest, or is unable to participate in such program, in which the debtor shall have received, during the 180-day period preceding the date of filing of the petition of that individual from a bankruptcy assistance provider, an approved nonprofit budget and credit counseling agency an individual or group briefing (including a briefing conducted by telephone or over the Internet) that outlined the opportunities for available credit counseling, and assisted that individual in performing a related budget analysis.

SA 90. Mr. REED submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

SEC. 230. GAO STUDY.

(c) STUDY.—The General Accounting Office (in this section referred to as the “GAO”) shall conduct a study of the reaffirmation process under title 11, United States Code, to determine the overall treatment of consumers within the context of that process, including consideration of—

(1) the policies and activities of creditors with respect to reaffirmation; and
(2) whether there is abuse or coercion of consumers inherent in the process.

(d) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the GAO shall submit a report to the Congress on the results of the study conducted under subsection (a), together with any recommendations for legislation to address any abusive or coercive tactics found within the reaffirmation process.

SA 91. Mr. LEVIN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

SEC. 233. PROHIBITION ON FINANCE CHARGES FOR ON-TIME PAYMENTS.

Section 27 of the Truth in Lending Act (15 U.S.C. 1637) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(h) PROHIBITION ON CERTAIN FINANCE CHARGES FOR ON-TIME PAYMENTS.—In the case of any credit card account under an open end consumer credit plan, if the finance charge is not imposed on the account, no finance or interest charge may be imposed with regard to any amount of a new extension of credit that was paid on or before the date on which it was due.”.

SA 92. Mr. SCHUMER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

On page 36, strike line 6 through 22 and insert the following:

(1) because that person seeks to exercise, exercises or has exercised constitutionally protected rights; or
(2) to compel any person from exercising constitutionally protected rights or from assisting any other person in the exercise of such rights; or
(3) because that person assists any person in the exercise of constitutionally protected rights, or provides or assists in the provision of constitutionally protected good or service.

(II) to cause damage or destruction of property of a facility or of a person because that facility or person provides, assists in providing, uses, or seeks constitutionally protected goods or services; or

(“b) a violation of a court order or injunction that protects access to a facility that provides constitutionally protected goods or services or that protects persons who seek, provide, or assist in providing constitutionally protected goods or services.”)

SA 93. Mr. DURBIN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 420, to amend title II, United States Code, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table.

Strike out all after the enacting clause and insert:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE; TABLE OF CONTENTS.

(a) Short title.—This Act may be cited as the “Consumer Bankruptcy Reform Act of 1998.”

(b) Table of contents.—The table of contents for this Act is as follows:

Sec. 1. Short title; table of contents.

TITLE I—NEEDS-BASED BANKRUPTCY

Sec. 101. Conversion.
Sec. 102. Dismissal or conversion.

TITLE II—ENHANCED PROCEDURAL PROTECTIONS FOR CONSUMERS

Sec. 201. Allowance of claims or interests.
Sec. 202. Fair treatment of secured creditors for open end credit plans.
Sec. 203. Effect of discharge.
Sec. 204. Automatic stay.
Sec. 205. Discharge.
Sec. 206. Discouraging predatory lending practices.
Sec. 207. Enhanced disclosure for credit extensions secured by dwelling.
Sec. 208. Dual-use debit card.
Sec. 209. Enhanced disclosures under an open end credit plan.
Sec. 211. Discouraging abusive reaffirmation practices.
Sec. 212. Sealing of the Senate regarding the homestead exemption.
Sec. 213. Encouraging creditworthiness.
Sec. 214. Treasury Department study regarding security interests under an open end credit plan.

TITLE III—IMPROVED PROCEDURES FOR EFFICIENT ADMINISTRATION OF THE BANKRUPTCY SYSTEM

Sec. 301. Notice of alternatives.
Sec. 303. Discouragement of bad faith repeat filings.
Sec. 304. Timely filing and confirmation of plans under chapter 13.
Sec. 305. Application of the codelender stay only when the stay protects the debtor.
Sec. 306. Improved bankruptcy statistics.
Sec. 307. Audit procedures.
Sec. 308. Creditors representation at first meeting of creditors.
Sec. 309. Fair notice for creditors in chapter 7 and 13 cases.
Sec. 310. Stopping abusive conversions from chapter 13.
Sec. 311. Prompt relief from stay in individual cases.
Sec. 312. Dismissals for failure to timely file schedules or provide required information.
Sec. 313. Adequate time for preparation for a hearing on confirmation of the plan.
Sec. 314. Discharge under chapter 13.
Sec. 315. Nondischargeable debts.
Sec. 316. Creditors' claims on the eve of bankruptcy presumed non-dischargeable.

TITLE IV—FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

Sec. 401. Bankruptcy Code amendments.
Sec. 402. Recordkeeping requirements.
Sec. 403. Damage measure.
Sec. 404. Asset-backed securitizations.
Sec. 405. Prohibition on certain actions for failure to incur finance charges.
Sec. 406. Fees arising from certain owner's interest.

TITLE V—ANCILLARY AND OTHER CROSS-BORDER CASES

Sec. 501. Amendment to add a chapter 6 to title 11, United States Code.
Sec. 502. Amendments to other chapters in title 11, United States Code.
Sec. 503. Amendment to add a chapter 5 to title 11, United States Code.

TITLE VI—MISCELLANEOUS

Sec. 601. Executory contracts and unexpired leases.
Sec. 602. Expedited appeals of bankruptcy order granting a motion for relief.
Sec. 603. Creditors and equity security holders committees.
Sec. 604. Repeal of sunset provision.
Sec. 605. Cases ancillary to foreign proceedings.
Sec. 606. Limitation.
Sec. 607. Amendment to section 546 of title 11, United States Code.
Sec. 608. Amendment to section 330(a) of title 11, United States Code.

TITLE VII—TECHNICAL CORRECTIONS

Sec. 701. Definition.
Sec. 702. Adjustment of dollar amounts.
Sec. 703. Extension of time.
Sec. 704. Who may be a debtor.
Sec. 705. Individuals who negligently or fraudulently prepare bankruptcy petitions.

Sec. 706. Limitation on compensation of professional persons.
Sec. 707. Special tax provisions.
Sec. 708. Effect of conversion.
Sec. 709. Automatic stay.
Sec. 710. Amendment to table of sections.
Sec. 711. Allowance of administrative expenses.
Sec. 712. Priorities.
Sec. 713. Exemptions.
Sec. 714. Exceptions to discharge.
Sec. 715. Effect of discharge.
Sec. 716. Protection against discriminatory treatment.
Sec. 717. Property of the estate.
Sec. 718. Preferences.
Sec. 719. Postpetition transactions.
Sec. 720. Technical amendment.
Sec. 721. Disposition of property of the estate.
Sec. 722. General provisions.
Sec. 723. Appointment of elected trustee.
Sec. 724. Abandonment of railroad line.
Sec. 725. Contents of plan.
Sec. 726. Discharge under chapter 12.
Sec. 727. Extensions.
Sec. 728. Bankruptcy cases and proceedings.
Sec. 729. Knowing disregard of bankruptcy law or rule.
Sec. 730. Rolling stock equipment.
Sec. 731. Curbing abusive filings.
Sec. 732. Study of operation of title 11 of the United States Code with respect to small businesses.
Sec. 733. Transfers made by nonprofit charitable corporate entities.
Sec. 734. Effective date; application of amendments.

TITLE I—NEEDS-BASED BANKRUPTCY

SEC. 101. CONVERSION.

Section 706(c) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by inserting “or consents to” after “requests”.

SEC. 102. DISMISSAL OR CONVERSION.

(a) In General.—Section 707 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by striking the section heading and inserting the following:

“§ 707. Dismissal of a case or conversion to a case under chapter 13”;

and

(2) in subsection (b)—

(A) by inserting “(1)” after “(c)”;

and

(B) the debtor filed a petition for the re-opening of the case under chapter 13, after “consumer debts”;

and

(III) by striking “substantial abuse” and inserting “abuse”; and

(ii) by striking the last sentence and inserting the following:

“(2) In considering under paragraph (1) whether the grant of such relief would be an abuse of the provisions of this chapter, the court shall consider whether—

(A) under section 1325(b)(1), on the basis of the current income of the debtor, the debtor could pay an amount greater than or equal to 30 percent of unsecured claims that are not considered to be priority claims as determined under subchapter I of chapter 5; or

(B) the debtor filed a petition for relief in bad faith.”

(3) (A) if a panel trustee appointed under section 586(a)(1) of title 28 brings a motion for dismissal or conversion under this subsection and the court grants that motion and finds that the action of relief is not substantially justified, the court shall order the counsel for the debtor to reimburse the trustee for all reasonable costs in prosecuting the motion, including reasonable attorneys’ fees.

"(B) If the court finds that the attorney for the debtor violated Rule 9011, at a minimum, the court shall order—

(i) the assessment of an appropriate civil penalty against the counsel for the debtor; and

(ii) the payment of the civil penalty to the panel trustee or the United States trustee.

"(C) In the case of a petition referred to in subparagraph (B), the signature of an attorney shall constitute a certificate that the attorney—

(i) performed a reasonable investigation into the circumstances that gave rise to the petition; and

(ii) determined that the petition—

(I) is well grounded in fact; and

(II) is warranted by existing law or a good faith argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law and does not constitute an abuse under paragraph (1) of this subsection.

"(4) Except as provided in subparagraph (B), the court may award a debtor all reasonable costs in contesting a motion brought by a party in interest (other than a panel trustee or United States trustee) under this subsection (including reasonable attorneys’ fees) if—

(i) the court does not grant the motion; and

(ii) the court finds that—

(I) the position of the party that brought the motion was not substantially justified; or

(II) the party brought the motion solely for the purpose of coercing a debtor into waiving a right guaranteed to the debtor under this title.

"(B) A party in interest that has a claim of an aggregate amount less than $1,000 shall not be subject to subparagraph (A).

"(5) However, only the judge, United States trustee, bankruptcy administrator or panel trustee may bring a motion under this section if the debtor and the debtor’s spouse combined, as of the date of the order for relief, have current monthly total income equal to or less than the national median household monthly income calculated on a monthly household of equal size.

However, for a household of more than 4 individuals, the median income shall be that of a household of 4 individuals plus $583 for each additional member of that household.

"(b) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of sections at the beginning of chapter 7 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking the item relating to section 707 and inserting the following:

"(707. Dismissal of a case or conversion to a case under chapter 13.

TITLE II. ENHANCED PROCEDURAL PROTECTIONS FOR CONSUMERS

SEC. 201. ALLOWANCE OF CLAIMS OR INTERESTS. Section 502 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(k)(1) The court may award the debtor reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs if, after an objection is filed by a debtor, the court—

(A) overrules the objection; or

(B) reduces the claim by an amount greater than 20 percent of the amount of the initial claim filed by a party in interest; and

(B) if on theMotion of the party filing the claim is not substantially justified.

"(2) If the court finds that the position of a claimant under this section is not substantially justified, the court shall order—

(i) the assessment of an appropriate civil penalty against the counsel for the debtor; and

(ii) the payment of the civil penalty to the panel trustee or the United States trustee.

"(B) In the case of a petition referred to in subparagraph (A), the signature of an attorney shall constitute a certificate that the attorney—

(i) performed a reasonable investigation into the circumstances that gave rise to the petition; and

(ii) determined that the petition—

(I) is well grounded in fact; and

(II) is warranted by existing law or a good faith argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law and does not constitute an abuse under paragraph (1) of this subsection.

"(4) Except as provided in subparagraph (B), the court may award a debtor all reasonable costs in contesting a motion brought by a party in interest (other than a panel trustee or United States trustee) under this subsection (including reasonable attorneys’ fees) if—

(i) the court does not grant the motion; and

(ii) the court finds that—

(I) the position of the party that brought the motion was not substantially justified; or

(II) the party brought the motion solely for the purpose of coercing a debtor into waiving a right guaranteed to the debtor under this title.

"(B) A party in interest that has a claim of an aggregate amount less than $1,000 shall not be subject to subparagraph (A).

"(5) However, only the judge, United States trustee, bankruptcy administrator or panel trustee may bring a motion under this section if the debtor and the debtor’s spouse combined, as of the date of the order for relief, have current monthly total income equal to or less than the national median household monthly income calculated on a monthly household of equal size.

However, for a household of more than 4 individuals, the median income shall be that of a household of 4 individuals plus $583 for each additional member of that household.

"(b) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of sections at the beginning of chapter 7 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking the item relating to section 707 and inserting the following:

"(707. Dismissal of a case or conversion to a case under chapter 13.

SEC. 202. EXCEPTIONS TO DISCHARGE. Section 523 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)(2)(A), by striking “a false representation” and inserting “a material representation upon which the debtor justifiably relied”;

(2) by striking subsection (d) and inserting the following:

"(d)(1) Subject to paragraph (3), if a creditor requests a determination of dischargeability of a consumer debtor under this section, if the court finds that the position of the creditor in a proceeding covered under this section is not substantially justified, the court shall award the creditor reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs.

“(2) In addition to making an award to a debtor under paragraph (1), if the court finds that the position of the creditor in a proceeding covered under this section is not substantially justified, the court may award reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs under paragraph (1) and such damages as may be required by the equities of the case.

“(3)(A) A creditor may not request a determination of dischargeability of a consumer debtor under subsection (a)(2) if—

(i) before the filing of the petition, the debtor made a good faith effort to negotiate an alternative payment schedule, and that refusal was not reasonable.

“(B) For purposes of this paragraph, the debtor shall have the burden of proof of establishing that—

(i) an offer made by that debtor under subparagraph (A)(i) was reasonable; and

(ii) the refusal of the creditor to enter into the alternative payment schedule, and that refusal was not reasonable.

"(3)(B) If the court finds that the attorney for the debtor involved to was not reasonable.

“(B) The court may award the debtor reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs in any case in which a creditor files a motion to deny relief to a debtor under this section and that motion—

(A) is denied; or

(B) is withdrawn after the debtor has replied.

"(2) If the court finds that the position of a party filing a motion under this section is not substantially justified, the court may assess against the creditor such damages as may be required by the equities of the case.

SEC. 206. DISCOURAGING PREDATORY LENDING PRACTICES. Section 502(b) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (8), by striking “or” at the end;

(2) in paragraph (9), by striking the period at the end and inserting the following: “; and”;

(3) by adding at the end the following:

“(10) the claim is based on a secured debt if the creditor has failed to comply with the requirements of subsection (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h), or (i) of section 129 of the Truth in Lending Act (15 U.S.C. 1629).”;

SEC. 207. ENHANCED PROCEEDS FROM CREDIT EXTENSIONS SECURED BY DWELLING.

(a) OPEN-END CREDIT EXTENSIONS.—

(1) CREDIT APPLICATIONS.—Section 127A(a)(13) of the Truth in Lending Act (15 U.S.C. 1675(f)(13)) is amended—

(B) by striking “consultation of tax advisor for further information regarding” and inserting the following: “tax deductibility.—A statement that—

(1) the advice was not reasonable; and

(2) in any case in which the extension of credit exceeds the fair market value of the dwelling, the interest on the portion of the credit extension that is greater than the fair market value of the dwelling is not tax deductible for Federal income tax purposes.”;

(2) CREDIT ADVERTISEMENTS.—Section 147(b) of the Truth in Lending Act (15 U.S.C. 1611(b)) is amended—

(1) by striking “If any” and inserting the following:

“(1) in general.—If any”; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

“(C) CREDIT APPLICATIONS.—Section 128 of the Truth in Lending Act (15 U.S.C. 1618) is amended—

(A) by striking “If any” and inserting the following: “(1) in general.—If any”; and

(B) by striking the period at the end and inserting the following: “; and”;

(C) CREDIT EXTENSIONS SECURED BY DWELLING.—Section 127A(a)(13) of the Truth in Lending Act (15 U.S.C. 1675(f)(13)) is amended—

(B) by striking “consultation of tax advisor for further information regarding” and inserting the following: “tax deductibility.—A statement that—

(1) the advice was not reasonable; and

(2) in any case in which the extension of credit exceeds the fair market value of the dwelling, the interest on the portion of the credit extension that is greater than the fair market value of the dwelling is not tax deductible for Federal income tax purposes.”;
(A) in subsection (a), by adding at the end the following:

“(15) In the case of a consumer credit transaction that is secured by the principal dwelling for the consumer, in which the extension of credit may exceed the fair market value of the dwelling, a clear and conspicuous statement that—

“(A) the disclosure of the portion of the credit extension that is greater than the fair market value of the dwelling is not tax deductible for Federal income tax purposes; and

“(B) the consumer should consult a tax advisor for further information regarding the deductibility of interest and charges.”; and

(B) in subsection (b), by adding at the end the following:

“(3) In the case of a credit transaction described in paragraph (15) of subsection (a), disclosures required by that paragraph shall be made to the consumer at the time of application for such extension of credit.”;

(2) CREDIT ADVERTISEMENTS.—Section 144 of the Truth in Lending Act (15 U.S.C. 1664) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(e) Each advertisement to which this section applies that relates to a consumer credit transaction is secured by the principal dwelling of a consumer in which the extension of credit may exceed the fair market value of the dwelling shall clearly and conspicuously state that—

“(1) the interest on the portion of the credit extension that is greater than the fair market value of the dwelling is not tax deductible for Federal income tax purposes; and

“(2) the consumer may want to consult a tax advisor for further information regarding the deductibility of interest and charges.”.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—This section shall become effective one year after the date of enactment of this Act.

SEC. 207. DUAL-USE DEBIT CARD.

(a) CONSUMER LIABILITY.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 909 of the Electronic Fund Transfer Act (15 U.S.C. 1693i(g)) is amended—

(A) by redesigning subsections (b) through (e) as subsections (d) through (g), respectively;

(B) in subsection (a)—

(i) by redesigning paragraphs (1) and (2) as subparagraphs (A) and (B), respectively, and indenting appropriately;

(ii) by inserting “CARD NEXISSES UNIQUE IDENTIFIER.” after “card” in paragraph (1); and

(iii) by inserting “other means of access can be identified to the person who authorized to use it, such as by signature, photograph,” and inserting “other means of access can be identified to the person who authorized to use it, such as by signature, photograph,”.

(2) TECHNICAL AND CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Section 909(a)(1) of the Electronic Fund Transfer Act (15 U.S.C. 1693a(1)) is amended to read as follows:

“(A) the liability of the consumer for any unauthorized electronic fund transfer and the requirement for promptly reporting any loss, theft, or unauthorized use of a card, code, or other means of access that limit the liability of the consumer for any such unauthorized transfer.”;

(b) VALIDATION REQUIREMENT FOR DUAL-USE DEBIT CARDS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 911 of the Electronic Fund Transfer Act (15 U.S.C. 1693i) is amended—

(A) by redesigning subsection (c) as subsection (d); and

(B) by inserting after subsection (b) the following new subsection:

“(c) VALIDATION REQUIREMENT.—No person may issue a card described in subsection (a), the use of which to initiate an electronic fund transfer as a means of access to the account of the consumer a clear and conspicuous disclosure that use of the card may not require the use of such code or other unique identifier.”;

(2) TECHNICAL AND CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Section 911 of the Electronic Fund Transfer Act (15 U.S.C. 1693i(d)) is amended by inserting “For purposes of subsection (a) inserting “For purposes of subsection (a)”.

SEC. 209. ENHANCED DISCLOSURES UNDER AN OPEN END CREDIT PLAN.

(a) AMENDMENTS TO THE TRUTH IN LENDING ACT.—

(1) ENHANCED DISCLOSURE OF REPAYMENT TERMS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Section 127(b) of the Truth in Lending Act (15 U.S.C. 1637(b)) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(11)(A) In a clear and conspicuous manner, the creditor shall—

(i) inform the consumer that the credit card does not mean that we have reviewed your individual financial circumstances. You should review your own budget before accepting this offer of credit.

(ii) if your current rate is a temporary introductory rate, your total costs may be higher.

(B) In making the disclosures under subsection (a), the creditor shall apply the annual interest rate that applies to that balance with respect to the current billing cycle for that consumer in effect on the date on which the disclosure is made.

(c) FORMS.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System shall publish model disclosure forms in accordance with section 195 of the Truth in Lending Act for the purpose of compliance with section 195(b) of the Truth in Lending Act, as added by this paragraph.

(2) DISCLOSURES IN CONNECTION WITH SOLICITATIONS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Section 127(c)(1)(B) of the Truth in Lending Act (15 U.S.C. 1637(c)(1)(B)) is amended by adding the following:

“(ii) any communication threatening a consumer with the loss, theft, or unauthorized use of a card, code, or other means of access that limit the liability of the consumer for any such unauthorized transfer.”;

(3) ELECTRONIC FUND TRANSFER ACT.—Section 907(c) of the Electronic Fund Transfer Act (15 U.S.C. 1693c(a)(1)) is amended to read as follows:

“(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 905(a)(1) of the Electronic Fund Transfer Act (15 U.S.C. 1693c(a)(1)) is amended to read as follows:

“(2) the number of months (rounded to the nearest whole month) that the consumer has use of the card or other means of access that limit the liability of the consumer for any such unauthorized transfer.”;

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.

The provisions of this section shall become effective on January 1, 2001.

SEC. 210. VIOLATIONS OF THE AUTOMATIC STAY.

(a) Section 362(a) is amended by adding after paragraph (8) the following:

“(9) any communication threatening a debtor, at any time after the commencement and before the granting of a discharge in a case under this title, the creditor’s motion to determine the dischargeability of a debt, or to file a motion under section
(b) by adding at the end of subsection (c) the following:

“(7) in a case concerning an individual, if the consideration for such agreement is based in whole or in part on an uninsured consumer debt, or is based in whole or in part upon a debt for an item of personality the value of which at the point of purchase was $250 or less, and in which the creditor asserts a purchase money security interest, the court, in its discretion, may agree to the following:

“(A) in the best interest of the debtor in light of the debtor’s income and expenses;

“(B) not imposing an undue hardship on the debtor, if the ability of the debtor to pay for the needs of children and other dependents (including court ordered support);

“(C) not requiring the debtor to pay the creditor’s attorney’s fees, expenses or other costs relating to the collection of the debt;

“(D) not entered into to protect property that is necessary for the care and maintenance of children or other dependents that would have nominal value on repossession;

“(E) not entered into after coercive threats or actions by the creditor in the creditor’s course of dealings with the debtor;

“(F) unfair because excessive in amount based upon the value of the collateral;

(3) in subsection (d)(2) by striking “subsections (c)(6) and inserting “subsections (c)(6) and (c)(7)”’; and after “of this section,” by striking “if the consideration for such agreement is based in whole or in part on a consumer debt that is not secured by real property of the debtor” and adding at the end: “as applicable”.

SEC. 212. SENSE OF THE SENATE REGARDING THE HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION.

(a) FINDINGS. — The Senate finds that—

(1) one of the most flagrant abuses of the bankruptcy system involves misuse of the homestead exemption, which allows a debtor to exempt his or her home, up to a certain value, as established by state law, from being sold off to satisfy debts;

(2) while the vast majority of States responsibly cap the exemption at not more than $50,000, 5 States exempt homes regardless of their value;

(3) in the few States with unlimited homestead exemptions, debtors can shield their assets in luxury homes while legitimate creditors get little or nothing;

(4) beneficiaries of the homestead exemption include convicts insider traders and saving for a while, and the elderly; and non-exchanged creditors include children, spouses, governments, and banks;

(5) the homestead exemption should be capped at $50,000 to prevent such high-profile abuses.

(b) SENSE OF THE SENATE. — It is the sense of the Senate that—

(1) a uniform bankruptcy reform cannot be achieved without capping the homestead exemption; and

(2) bankruptcy reform legislation should include a cap of $100,000 on the homestead exemption to the bankruptcy laws.

SEC. 213. ENCOURAGING CREDIBILITY. —

(a) SENSE OF THE CONGRESS. — It is the sense of the Congress that—

(1) certain lenders may sometimes offer credit to consumers indiscriminately, without taking steps to ensure that consumers can or will be able to pay the resulting debt, and in a manner which may encourage certain consumers to accumulate additional debt; and

(2) resulting consumer debt may increasingly be a major contributing factor to consumer insolvency.

(b) STATEMENT OF THE SENATE. — The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (hereafter in this section referred to as the “Board”) shall conduct a study of—

(1) consumer credit industry practices of collecting and extending credit—

(A) indiscriminately;

(B) without taking steps to ensure that consumers are capable of repaying the resulting debt; and

(C) in a manner that encourages consumers to accumulate additional debt; and

(2) the effects of such practices on consumer debt and insolvency.

(c) REPORT AND REGULATIONS. — Not later than 24 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Board shall—

(1) make public a report on its findings with respect to the credit industry’s indiscriminate solicitation and extension of credit;

(2) may issue regulations that would require additional disclosures to consumers; and

(3) may take any other actions, consistent with its existing statutory authority, that the Board finds necessary to ensure responsible industry-wide practices and to prevent resulting consumer debt and insolvency.

SEC. 214. TREASURY DEPARTMENT STUDY REGARDING SECURITY INTERESTS UNDER AN OPEN END CREDIT PLAN.

(a) STUDY. — Within 180 days of the enactment of this Act, the Federal Reserve Board in consultation with the Treasury Department, the general credit industry, and consumer groups shall conduct a study regarding the adequacy of information received by consumers regarding the creation of security interests under open end credit plans.

(b) FURTHER REQUIREMENTS. — The Board shall include the Board’s findings regarding—

(1) whether consumers understand at the time of purchase of property under an open end credit plan that such property may serve as collateral under that credit plan;

(2) whether consumers understand at the time of purchase the legal consequences of disposing of or transferring property that is purchased under an open end credit plan and is subject to a security interest under that plan; and

(3) whether creditors holding security interests in open end credit plans use such security interests to coerce reaffirmations of existing debts under section 524 of the United States Bankruptcy Code.

In formulating these findings, the Board shall consider, among other factors it deems relevant, prevailing industry practices in this area.

(c) DISCLOSURE RECOMMENDATIONS. — This study shall also include the Board’s recommendations regarding the utility and anticipated disclosures by credit card issuers at the time of purchase regarding security interests under open end credit plans, including, but not limited to—

(1) disclosures of the consequences of non-payment of the card balance, including how the security interest may be enforced; and

(2) disclosures of the process by which payments made on the card are credited with respect to the lien created by the security contract and other debts on the card.

(d) SUBMISSION OF REPORT. — The Board shall submit this report to the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs, the House Committee on Banking, and the House Committee on Financial Services within the time allotted by this section.

TITLE III—IMPROVED PROCEDURES FOR EFFICIENT ADMINISTRATION OF THE BANKRUPTCY SYSTEM

SEC. 301. NOTICE OF ALTERNATIVES.

(a) IN GENERAL. — Section 322 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking subsection (b) and inserting the following:

“(b) BEFORE THE COMMENCEMENT OF A CASE UNDER THIS TITLE BY AN INDIVIDUAL WHOSE DEBTS ARE PRIMARILY CONSUMER DEBTS, THAT INDIVIDUAL SHALL BE NOTIFIED IN WRITING—

(1) by inserting “(a)” before “The debtor shall”—

(2) by striking paragraph (1) and inserting the following:

(1) A brief description of chapters 7, 11, 12, and 13 and the general purpose, benefits, and costs of proceeding under each of those chapters;

(2) A brief description of services that may be available to that individual from a credit counseling service that is approved by the United States trustee or the bankruptcy administrator for that district.

(b) DEBTOR’S DUTIES. — Section 322 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by inserting “(a)” before “The debtor shall”—

(2) by striking paragraph (1) and inserting the following:

(1) A list of creditors; and

(2) unless the court orders otherwise—

(A) a schedule of assets and liabilities;

(B) a statement of current income and current expenditures;

(C) a statement of the debtor’s financial affairs and, if applicable, a certificate—

(i) of an attorney whose name is on the petition as the attorney for the debtor or any bankruptcy petition preparer signing the petition pursuant to section 110(b)(1) indicating that such attorney or bankruptcy petition preparer delivered to the debtor any notice required by section 342(b); or

(ii) if no attorney for the debtor is indicated and no bankruptcy petition preparer signed the petition, of the debtor that such notice was obtained and read by the debtor;

(D) copies of any Federal tax returns, including any schedules or attachments, filed by the debtor for the 3-year period preceding the order for relief;

(E) copies of all payment advices or other evidence of payment, if any, received by the debtor from any employer of the debtor in the period 60 days prior to the filing of the petition;

(F) a statement of the amount of projected monthly net income, itemized to show how calculated; and

(G) a statement disclosing any anticipated increase in income or expenditures over the 12-month period following the date of filing.”;

and

(3) by adding at the end the following:

(3) at any time, in the case of an individual under chapter 7 or 13, may file with the court notice that the creditor.
requests the petition, schedules, and a statement of affairs filed by the debtor in the case and the court shall make those documents available to the creditor who requests those documents.

"(2) At any time under chapter 13, may file with the court notice that the creditor requests the plan filed by the debtor in the case, and the court shall make that plan available to the creditor who requests that plan.

"(c) In a case under chapter 13, a statement referred to in subsection (a) shall be available to —

"(1) at the time filed with the taxing authority, all tax returns, including any schedules of income and expenses, or attachments, that were not filed with the taxing authority when the schedules of income and expenses were filed by the debtor in the case, and the court shall make those documents available to the court.

"(2) at the time filed with the taxing authority, all tax returns, including any schedules of income and expenses, or attachments, that were not filed with the taxing authority when the schedules of income and expenses were filed by the debtor in the case, and the court shall make those documents available to the court.

"(3) an individual debtor in a case under chapter 13 or 7, 11, or 13, if, as of the date of dismissal of that case, the individual was a debtor in a case under chapter 13 or 7, 11, or 13, and the case was pending during the period described in paragraph (1); if

"(ii) more than 1 previous case under any of chapters 7, 11, or 13 in which the individual was a debtor was pending during the 1-year period described in paragraph (1); and

"(ii) a previous case under any of chapters 7, 11, or 13 in which the individual was a debtor was dismissed within the period specified in paragraph (2) after

"(1) the debtor, after having received from the court a request to do so, failed to file or respond to the request or to file or respond to any other request as required by this title; or

"(II) the debtor, without substantial excuse, failed to perform the terms of a plan that was confirmed by the court.

"(ii) if the case is a chapter 7 case, there is no other reason to conclude that the case is not one in which the debtor is a person in financial or personal affairs of the debtor;

"(II) if the case is a chapter 11 or 13 case, there is not a confirmed plan that will be fully performed; and

"(III) with respect to any creditor that commenced an action under subsection (d) in a previous case in which the individual was a debtor, if, as of the date of dismissal of that case, the individual was a debtor in a case under chapter 13 or 7, 11, or 13, if

"(B)(i) After an order is issued under subparagraph (A) so provides, the stay shall, in

"(2) at the time filed with the taxing authority, all tax returns, including any schedules of income and expenses, or attachments, that were not filed with the taxing authority when the schedules of income and expenses were filed by the debtor in the case, and the court shall make those documents available to the court.

"(3) by adding at the end the following:

"(7) on or before January 1 of each calendar year, and also not later than 30 days after any change in the nonprofit debt counseling agency or the bankruptcy court, prescribe and make available on request the notice described in section 342(b)(3) of title 11 for each district included in the region.

"(2) SEC. 302. FAIR TREATMENT OF SECURED CREDITORS UNDER CHAPTER 13.

(a) RESTORING THE FOUNDATION FOR SECURED CREDITORS — Section 1325(a) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (5), by striking "and" at the end; and

(2) in paragraph (6), by striking the period at the end and inserting "and"; and

(3) by adding at the end the following:

"(7) with respect to an secured claim provided for by the plan that is secured under applicable nonbankruptcy law by reason of a lien on property that is retained by the debtor, if, as of the date of filing the petition.

(2) SEC. 303. DISCOURAGEMENT OF BAD FAITH REPEAT FILING.

Section 362(a) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by inserting "(1) before "Except as";

(2) by striking "(1) the stay" and inserting "(A) the stay";

(3) by striking "(2) the stay" and inserting "(B) the stay";

(4) by striking "(A) the time" and inserting "(i) the time";

(5) by striking "(2) the time" and inserting "(ii) the time"; and

(6) by adding at the end the following:

"(ii) Except as provided in subsections (d) through (f), the stay under subsection (a) with respect to any action taken with respect to a debt or property securing such debt or with respect to any lease shall terminate with respect to the debtor on the 30th day after the filing of the later case if—

"(A) a single or joint case is filed by or against an individual debtor under chapter 7, 11, or 13; and

"(B) a single or joint case of that debtor (other than a case refiled under a chapter other than chapter 7 or 9) shall not be pending under this title if

"(i) the entity was notified of the commencement of the proceeding for relief from the stay, and at the time of the notification, the court was in possession of information that the entity was a person in financial or personal affairs of the debtor;

"(ii) in a case pending during the period beginning with the date of the order of relief at such time as the case is involved, and

"(III) if the case is a chapter 11 or 13 case, there is not a confirmed plan that will be fully performed; and

"(III) with respect to any creditor that commenced an action under subsection (d) in a previous case in which the individual was a debtor, if, as of the date of dismissal of that case, the individual was a debtor in a case under chapter 13 or 7, 11, or 13, if

"(ii) if the case is a chapter 7 case, there is no other reason to conclude that the case is not one in which the debtor is a person in financial or personal affairs of the debtor;
The debtor shall file a plan not later than 90 days after the order for relief under this chapter, except that the court may extend such period if the need for an extension is attributable to circumstances for which the debtor should not justly be held accountable.

(b) CONFIRMATION OF PROCEEDING.—Section 1324 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(2) A hearing shall be held not later than 45 days after the filing of the plan, unless the court, after providing notice and a hearing, orders otherwise."

SEC. 305. APPLICATION OF THE CODISPLAYPROTECTION OF THE DEBTOR

Section 1301(b) of title 11, United States Code, is amended

(1) by inserting "(1)" after "(b)"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(2) the creditor proceeds against

(a) after providing notice and a hearing, orders

(b) after the filing of the plan, unless the court, after the consideration for the claim held by a creditor, the stay provided by subsection (a) shall apply to that creditor for a period not exceeding 30 days beginning on the date of

(c) the consideration for the claim held by a creditor, the stay provided by subsection (a)

(d) the average period of time between

(e) the reporting period—

(i) the number of cases in which a reaffirmation was filed; and

(ii) the total number of reaffirmations filed;

(ii) those cases in which the reaffirmation was approved by the court;

(iii) with respect to cases filed under chapter 13 of title 11, the reporting period—

(i) the number of cases in which a final order was entered determining the value of property securing a claim in an amount less than the amount of the claim; and

(ii) the number of final orders determined that the value of property securing a claim was less than the amount of the claim;

(b) C LERICAL AMENDMENT.

The table of the chapter of the Code required to provide under sections 521 and 1322 and other information which the debtor is required to provide under sections 522 and 1322 of title 11, and, if applicable, section 111 of title 11, in the cases filed under chapter 7 or 13 of such title.

(b) Those procedures shall

(1) establish a method of selecting

(2) establish a method of randomly selecting

(c) The compilation referred to in subsection (b) shall—

(1) be itemized, by chapter, with respect to

(2) be presented in the aggregate and for each district; and

(3) include information concerning—

(A) the total assets and total liabilities of

(B) the current total monthly income,

(C) the aggregate amount of debt
discharged in the reporting period,

(D) the average period of time between

(e) the reporting period—

(i) the number of cases in which a reaffirmation was filed; and

(ii) the total number of reaffirmations filed;

(ii) those cases in which the reaffirmation was approved by the court;

(f) with respect to cases filed under chapter

(i) the number of cases in which a final order was entered determining the value of property securing a claim in an amount less than the amount of the claim; and

(ii) the number of final orders
determined that the value of property securing a claim was less than the amount of the claim;

(b) C LERICAL AMENDMENT.

The table of

(1) by deleting "or" at the end of paragraph (2); and

(2) by substituting "or" for the period at the end of paragraph (3); and

(3) by adding the following at the end of paragraph (3)—

"(4) the debtor has failed to explain satisfactorily—

(A) a material misstatement in an audit performed pursuant to section 586(f) of title 28, United States Code; or

(B) a failure to make available for inspection all necessary accounts, papers, documents, financial records, files and all other papers, things, or property belonging to the debtor that are requested for an audit conducted pursuant to section 727(d) of title 11, United States Code."

(b) AMENDMENTS TO SECTION 521 OF TITLE 11, U.S.C.—Section 521 of title 11, United States Code, is amended in paragraphs (3) and (4) by adding "or an auditor appointed pursuant to section 586 of title 28, United States Code" after "serving in the case".

(c) AMENDMENTS TO SECTION 727 OF TITLE 11, U.S.C.—Section 727(d) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by deleting "or" at the end of paragraph (2); and

(2) by substituting "or" for the period at the end of paragraph (3); and

(3) by adding the following at the end of paragraph (3)—

"(4) the debtor has failed to explain satisfactorily—

(A) a material misstatement in an audit performed pursuant to section 586(f) of title 28, United States Code; or

(B) a failure to make available for inspection all necessary accounts, papers, documents, financial records, files and all other papers, things, or property belonging to the debtor that are requested for an audit conducted pursuant to section 727(d) of title 28, United States Code."

(d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall take effect 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act.

SEC. 307. AUDIT PROCEDURES.

(a) AMENDMENTS.—Section 586 of title 28, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subsection (a), as amended by section 301 of this Act, by striking paragraph (6) and inserting the following:

"(6) make such reports as the Attorney General directs, including the results of audits performed under subsection (f); and"

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(f)(1)(A) The Attorney General shall establish procedures to determine the accuracy and completeness of petitions, schedules, and other information which the debtor is required to provide under sections 521 and 1322 of title 11, and, if applicable, section 111 of title 11, in the cases filed under chapter 7 or 13 of such title.

(B) Those procedures shall—

(i) establish a method of selecting

(ii) establish a method of randomly selecting

(c) The compilation referred to in subsection (b) shall—

(1) be itemized, by chapter, with respect to

(2) be presented in the aggregate and for each district; and

(3) include information concerning—

(A) the total assets and total liabilities of the debtors described in subsection (a), and in each category of assets and liabilities, as reported in the schedules prescribed pursuant to section 2075 of this title and filed by those debtors;

(B) the current total monthly income,

(C) the aggregate amount of debt

(d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall take effect 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act.

SEC. 308. CREDITOR REPRESENTATION AT FIRST MEETING OF CREDITORS.

Section 341(c) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by inserting after the first sentence the following: "Notwithstanding any local court rule, provision of State constitution, any other Federal or State law that is not a bankruptcy law, or other requirement that representation at the meeting of creditors under section 341(a) be by an attorney, a creditor holding a consumer debt or any representative of the creditor (which may include an entity or an employee of an entity) that is a creditor other than the creditor shall be permitted to appear at and participate in the meeting of

"(ii) the total number of reaffirmations filed;

(ii) those cases in which the reaffirmation was approved by the court;

(f) with respect to cases filed under chapter

(i) the number of cases in which a final order was entered determining the value of property securing a claim in an amount less than the amount of the claim; and

(ii) the number of final orders
determined that the value of property securing a claim was less than the amount of the claim;

(b) C LERICAL AMENDMENT.

The table of

(1) by deleting "or" at the end of paragraph (2); and

(2) by substituting "or" for the period at the end of paragraph (3); and

(3) by adding the following at the end of paragraph (3)—

"(4) the debtor has failed to explain satisfactorily—

(A) a material misstatement in an audit performed pursuant to section 586(f) of title 28, United States Code; or

(B) a failure to make available for inspection all necessary accounts, papers, documents, financial records, files and all other papers, things, or property belonging to the debtor that are requested for an audit conducted pursuant to section 727(d) of title 28, United States Code."

(d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall take effect 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act.

SEC. 308. CREDITOR REPRESENTATION AT FIRST MEETING OF CREDITORS.

Section 341(c) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by inserting after the first sentence the following: "Notwithstanding any local court rule, provision of State constitution, any other Federal or State law that is not a bankruptcy law, or other requirement that representation at the meeting of creditors under section 341(a) be by an attorney, a creditor holding a consumer debt or any representative of the creditor (which may include an entity or an employee of an entity) that is a creditor other than the creditor shall be permitted to appear at and participate in the meeting of creditors in a case under chapter 7 or 13, either alone or in conjunction with an attorney for the creditor. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to require any creditor to be represented by an attorney at any meeting of creditors.’.’

SEC. 309. FAIR NOTICE FOR CREDITORS IN CHAPTER 7 AND 13 CASES.

Section 312 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subsection (c), by striking ‘‘, but the failure of such notice to contain such information shall not invalidate the legal effect of such notice’’; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(d) If the credit agreement between the debtor and the creditor was entered into by the last communication before the filing of the petition in a voluntary case from the creditor to a debtor who is an individual states an account number of the debtor that is the current account number of the debtor with respect to any debt held by the creditor against the debtor, the creditor shall include that account number in any notice to the creditor required to be given under this title.

‘‘(2) If the creditor has specified to the debtor, in the last communication before the filing of the petition, an address at which the creditor wishes to receive correspondence regarding the debtor’s account, any notice to the creditor required to be given by the debtor under this title shall be given at such address.

‘‘(3) For purposes of this section, the term ‘notice’ shall include—

(A) a correspondence from the debtor to the creditor after the commencement of the case;

(B) any statement of the debtor’s intention under section 522 of title 11, or

(C) notice of the commencement of any proceeding in the case to which the creditor is a party; and

(D) any notice of a hearing under section 1324.

‘‘(e)(1) At any time, a creditor, in a case of an individual under chapter 7 or 13, may file with the court and serve on the debtor a notice of the address to be used to notify the creditor in that case.

‘‘(2) If the court or the debtor is required to give a creditor a notice after a meeting of creditors, such notice shall be given not later than 5 days after receipt of the notice under paragraph (1), that notice shall be given at that address.

‘‘(f) If an entity may file with the court a notice stating its address for notice in cases under chapter 7 or 13. After the date that is 30 days following the filing of that notice, any notice given to a creditor in any case filed under chapter 7 or 13 given by the court shall be to that address unless specific notice is given under subsection (e) with respect to a particular case.

‘‘(g)(1) Notice given to a creditor other than as provided in this section shall not be effective notice until that notice has been brought to the attention of the creditor.

‘‘(2) If the creditor has designated a person or department to be responsible for receiving notices concerning bankruptcy cases and has established reasonable procedures so that bankruptcy notices received by the creditor will be delivered to that department or person, notice shall not be brought to the attention of the creditor unless that notice is received by that person or department.’’

SEC. 310. STOPPING ABUSIVE CONVERSIONS FROM CHAPTER 13.

Section 330 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subparagraph (A), by striking ‘‘and’’ at the end;

(2) in subparagraph (B)—

(A) by striking ‘‘in the converted case, with allowed secured claims’’ and inserting ‘‘only in a case converted to chapter 11 or 12 but not in a case converted to chapter 7, with allowed secured claims in cases under chapters 11 and 12’’; and

(B) by striking the period and inserting ‘‘; and’’;

and

(3) by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(C) with respect to cases converted from chapter 13, the creditor holding security as of the date of the petition shall continue to be secured by that security unless the full amount of that claim determined under applicable nonbankruptcy law has been paid in full as of the date of conversion, notwithstanding any valuation or determination of the amount of an allowed secured claim required for the purposes of the chapter 13 proceeding.’’

SEC. 311. PROMPT RELIEF FROM STAY IN INDIVIDUAL CASES.

Section 362(e) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by inserting ‘‘(1)’’ after ‘‘(e)’’; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(2) Notwithstanding paragraph (1), in the case of a case under chapter 7, 11, or 13, the stay under subsection (a) shall terminate on the date that is 60 days after a request is made by a party in interest under subsection (d) unless

(A) a final decision is rendered by the court during the 60-day period beginning on the date of the request; or

(B) that 60-day period is extended—

(i) by agreement of all parties in interest; or

(ii) by the court for such specific period of time as the court finds is required for good cause.’’

SEC. 312. DISMISSAL FOR FAILURE TO TIMELY FILE SCHEDULES OR PROVIDE REQUIRED INFORMATION.

Section 707 of title 11, United States Code, as amended by section 102 of this Act, is amended by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(c)(1) Notwithstanding subsection (a), and subject to paragraph (2), if an individual debtor in a voluntary case under chapter 7 or 13 fails to file all of the information required under section 521(a)(1) within 45 days after the filing of the petition under section 1327(a)(1) of this title, the case shall be automatically dismissed effective on the 46th day after the filing of the petition.

‘‘(2) With respect to a case described in paragraph (1), any party in interest may request the court to enter an order dismissing the case. The court shall, if so requested, enter an order dismissing the case not later than 5 days after that request.

‘‘(3) Upon request of the debtor made within 45 days after the filing of the petition under section 1327(a)(1), the court may allow the debtor an additional period of time not exceeding 50 days to file the information required under section 521(a)(1) if the court determines that the failure to file the information was due to circumstances beyond the control of the debtor and is not attributable to willful failure on the part of the debtor to file the information. If the court determines that the failure to file the information was due to circumstances beyond the control of the debtor and is not attributable to willful failure on the part of the debtor, the court may grant an additional period of time not exceeding 120 days for the filing of the information.

SEC. 313. ADEQUATE TIME FOR PREPARATION FOR A HEARING ON CONFIRMATION OF THE PLAN.

Section 1324 of title 11, United States Code, as amended by section 304 of this Act, is amended—

(1) by striking ‘‘After’’ and inserting the following:

‘‘(a) Except as provided in subsection (b) and after;’’ and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(b)(1) If the debtor timely submits an order for a hearing on confirmation of the plan, the creditor objects to the confirmation of the plan, the hearing on confirmation of the plan shall be held no earlier than 20 days after the first meeting of creditors under section 341(a).’’

SEC. 314. DISCHARGE UNDER CHAPTER 13.

Section 1328(a) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking paragraphs (1) through (3) and inserting the following:

‘‘(1)(A) in paragraph (1) of section 523(a), ‘‘(2) of the kind specified in paragraph (2), (4), (5), (8), or (9) of section 523(a);’’

‘‘(2) for restitution, or a criminal fine, included in a sentence on the debtor’s conviction of a crime; or

‘‘(4) for restitution, or damages, awarded in a civil action against the debtor as a result of willful or malicious injury by the debtor that caused personal injury to an individual or the death of an individual.’’

SEC. 315. NONDISCHARGEABLE DEBTS.

Section 523(a)(2) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by section 202 of this Act, is amended—

(1) in subparagraph (A), by striking the semicolon at the end and inserting the following:

‘‘(A) and

—and inserting

‘‘(B) that 60-day period is extended—

(i) by agreement of all parties in interest; or

(ii) by the court for such specific period of time as the court finds is required for good cause.’’

SEC. 316. CREDIT EXTENSIONS ON THE EVE OF BANKRUPTCY ARE PRESUMED NONDISCHARGEABLE.

Section 522(c)(2) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by section 202 of this Act, is amended—

(1) by deleting the reference to section 707 of title 11, United States Code, and inserting

‘‘(2) Provided for or incurred by subsection (a) or (b), or subsection (b), or any other provision of this subsection, where the debtor incurred the debt to pay such a nondischargeable debt with the intent to discharge in bankruptcy the newly-created debt.’’

SEC. 317. DEFINITION OF HOUSEHOLD GOODS AND ANTIQUES.

Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Federal Trade Commission shall promulgate regulations defining ‘‘household goods under section 522(a)’’ appropriate for cases under title 11 of the United States Code. If new regulations are not effective within 180 days of enactment of this Act, then ‘‘household goods under section 522(a)’’ shall have the meaning given that term in section 444.1(1) of title 16, of the Code of Federal Regulations, except that the term shall also mean anything of lasting value or of sentimental value or of personal property reasonably necessary for the maintenance or support of a dependent child.

SEC. 318. RELIEF FROM THE DEBTOR WHOSE DEBTS DOES NOT COMPLETE INTENDED SURRENDER OF CONSUMER DEBT COLLATERAL.

(a) AUTOMATIC STAY.—Section 362 of title 11, United States Code, as amended by section 303, is amended—

(1) in subsection (c)(1), in the matter preceding subparagraph (A), by striking ‘‘(e) and (f)’’ and inserting ‘‘(e), (f), and (h)’’;

(2) by redesignating subparagraph (b) as subsection (i); and

(3) by inserting after subsection (g) the following:

‘‘(b) In an individual case under chapter 7, 11, or 13 the stay provided for by subsection (a) is terminated with respect to property of the estate securing in whole or in part a claim that is in an amount greater than $50,000, or subject to an unexpired lease with a remaining term of at least 1 year (in any case in which the debtor owes at least $5,000 for a 1-year period), if within the period of 1 year following the expiration of the applicable period under section 522(a)(2)—

March 13, 2001

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE

S2521
review that determination not later than one year after the date of that determination, and not less frequently than every year thereafter.

(i) Subject to subparagraph (B), the requirements of paragraph (1) shall not apply with respect to a debtor who submits to the court a certification that describes existing circumstances that merit a waiver of the requirements of paragraph (1);

(ii) states that the debtor requested credit counseling services in an approved credit counseling service, but was unable to obtain the services referred to in paragraph (1) during the 5-day period beginning on the 5th day after the date on which the debtor made that request; and

(iii) is satisfactory to the court.

(B) With respect to a debtor, an exemption under subparagraph (A) shall cease to apply to that debtor on the date on which the debtor meets the requirements of paragraph (1), but in no case may the exemption apply to that debtor after the date that is 30 days after the debtor files a petition.

(c) CHAPTER 7 DISCHARGE.—Section 727(a) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (9), by striking “or” at the end;

(2) in paragraph (10), by striking the period at the end and inserting “; and”;

(3) by adding at the end the following:

“(11) after the filing of the petition, the debtor failed to complete an instructional course concerning personal financial management described in section 111 that was administered or approved by—

(A) the United States trustee; or

(B) the bankruptcy administrator for the district in which the petition is filed.”

(c) CHAPTER 13 DISCHARGE.—Section 1328 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(1) The court shall not grant a discharge under this section to a debtor, unless after filing a petition the debtor has completed an instructional course concerning personal financial management described in section 111 that was administered or approved by—

(1) the United States trustee; or

(2) the bankruptcy administrator for the district in which the petition is filed.”

(d) DEBTOR’S DUTIES.—Section 521 of title 11, United States Code, as amended by sections 362, 542, and 543, a lessor or creditor described in subsection (a) of section 365, if the request is granted, may in possession of property described in that subsection that was obtained in accordance with applicable law before the date of filing of the petition until the first payment under subsection (a)(1) is received by the lessor or creditor.

(b) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of sections at the beginning of chapter 13 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 1307 the following:

“1307A. Adequate protection in chapter 13 cases.”

SEC. 220. LIMITATION.

Section 522 of title 11, United States Code, as amended by section 207(a), is amended—

(1) in subsection (b)(2)(A), by striking “subject to subsection (n)” before “any property”; and

(2) in paragraph (10), by striking the period at the end and inserting “; and”.

SEC. 319. ADEQUATE PROTECTION OF LESSORS AND PURCHASE MONEY SECURED CREDITORS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Chapter 13 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding after section 1307 the following:

“§ 1307A. Adequate protection in chapter 13 cases

“(a)(1)(A) On or before the date that is 30 days after the filing of a case under this chapter, the debtor shall make cash payments in an amount determined under paragraph (A)(i) from property to the extent that the lessor may in possession of property referred to in paragraph (1)(A) (as amended, if that statement is amended before expiration of the period for taking action), unless—

(i) the statement of intention specifies reaffirmation; and

(ii) the creditor refuses to reaffirm the debt on the original contract terms for the debt.

(b) DEBTOR’S DUTIES.—Section 321(a)(2) of title 11, United States Code, as redesignated by section 301(b) of this Act, is amended—

(1) in the matter preceding subparagraph (A), by striking “consumer”; and

(2) in subparagraph (B)—

(A) by striking “forty-five days after the filing of a case under this section” and inserting “30 days after the first meeting of creditors under section 341(a)(1)”;

(B) by striking “forty-five-day period” and inserting “30-day period”; and

(C) in subparagraph (C), by inserting “, except as provided in section 362(h)” before the semicolon.

SEC. 321. MISCELLANEOUS IMPROVEMENTS.

(a) WHO MAY BE A DEBTOR.—Section 109 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(h) A debtor that was a consumer debtor under section 109(h) through a management instructional course that provided the debtor services that described in section 111(a) that has been approved by—

(1) the United States trustee; or

(2) the bankruptcy administrator for the district in which the petition is filed;”

(b) EXCEPTIONS TO DISCHARGE.—Section 523(d) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by section 202 of this Act, is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(g) A copy of the debt repayment plan, if any, developed under section 109(h) through the credit counseling service referred to in paragraph (1);”

(e) E XCEPTIONS TO DISCHARGE.—Section 522 of title 11, United States Code, as amended by section 207(a), is amended by adding after the following:

“(A) the United States trustee; or

(B) the bankruptcy administrator for the district in which the petition is filed.”

(f) GENERAL PROVISIONS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Chapter 1 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

“§ 111. Credit counseling services; financial management instructional courses

“(a) The clerk of each district shall maintain a list of credit counseling services that provide 1 or more programs described in section 109(h) and that have been approved by—

(1) the United States trustee; or

(2) the bankruptcy administrator for the district in which the petition is filed.”

SEC. 322. MISCELLANEOUS IMPROVEMENTS.

SEC. 323. MISCELLANEOUS IMPROVEMENTS.
(ii) the payment for the travel expenses is paid by such bankruptcy judge from the personal funds of such bankruptcy judge; and
(iii) such bankruptcy judge does not receive funds (including reimbursement) from the United States or any other person or entity for the payment of such travel expenses.

(b) VACANCIES.—The first vacancy occurring in any bankruptcy judge to whom the travel expenses apply; and
(c) APPLICABILITY OF OTHER PROVISIONS.—All other provisions of section 3 of the Bankruptcy Judges Act of 1992 remain applicable to such temporary judgeship position.

(2) TECHNICAL AMENDMENT.—The first sentence of section 152(a)(1) of title 28, United States Code, is amended to read as follows: “Each bankruptcy judge appointed for a district as provided in paragraph (2) shall annually submit an annual report to the Director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts on the travel expenses of each bankruptcy judge in the applicable district resulting from the death, retirement, resignation, or removal of a bankruptcy judge and occurring—

(1) 5 years or more after November 8, 1993, with respect to the northern district of Alabama; and

(2) 5 years or more after October 28, 1993, with respect to the district of Delaware; and

(iii) a determination made in accordance with section 321(g) of this Act, is amended to read as follows:—

(g)(1) In this subsection, the term ‘bankruptcy administrator’ means—

(A) a bankruptcy trustee; and

(B) a bankruptcy examiner for the district in which the bankruptcy judge is assigned.

SEC. 323. PRIORITIES FOR CLAIMS FOR DOMESTIC SUPPORT OBLIGATIONS.

Section 507(a) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by striking paragraph (7); and

(2) redesignating paragraphs (1) through (6) as paragraphs (2) through (7), respectively.

(3) in paragraph (2), as redesignated, by striking “First” and inserting “Second”; and

(4) in paragraph (3), as redesignated, by striking “Second” and inserting “Third”; and

(5) in paragraph (4), as redesignated, by striking “Third” and inserting “Fourth”; and

(6) in paragraph (5), as redesignated, by striking “Fourth” and inserting “Fifth”; and

(7) in paragraph (6), as redesignated, by striking “Fifth” and inserting “Sixth”; and

(8) in paragraph (7), as redesignated, by striking “Sixth” and inserting “Seventh”; and

(9) by inserting before paragraph (2), as redesignated, the following:

“(i) First, allowed claims for domestic support obligations to be paid in the following order on the condition that funds received under this paragraph by a governmental unit in a case under this title be applied—

(A) Claims that, as of the date of entry of the order for relief, are owed directly to a spouse, former spouse, or child of the debtor, or the parent of such child, without regard to whether the claim is filed by the spouse, former spouse, child, or parent, or whether the claim is filed by a governmental unit on behalf of that person;
(B) Claims that, as of the date of entry of the order for relief, are assigned by a spouse, former spouse, child of the debtor, or the parent of that child to a governmental unit or are owed to any consumer reporting agency under applicable nonbankruptcy law.

SEC. 235. REQUIREMENTS TO OBTAIN CONFIRMATION AND DISCHARGE IN CASES IN WHICH DOMESTIC SUPPORT OBLIGATIONS.

Title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in section 1122(a), by adding at the end the following:

“(14) If the debtor is required by a judicial or administrative order to pay a domestic support obligation, the debtor has paid all amounts payable under such order for such obligation that become payable after the date on which the petition is filed.”

(2) in section 1325(a)—

(A) in paragraph (5), by striking “and” and inserting “and”; and

(B) in paragraph (6), by striking the period at the end and inserting “; and”;

(C) by adding at the end the following:

“(7) If the debtor is required by a judicial or administrative order or statute to pay a domestic support obligation, the creditor has paid all amounts payable under such order for such obligation that become payable after the date on which the petition is filed.”

(3) in section 332(a), as amended by section 314 of this Act, in the matter preceding paragraph (1), by inserting “, and” and with respect to a debtor who is required by a judicial or administrative order to pay a domestic support obligation, certifies that all amounts payable under such order or statute that are due or that become due after the date of the certification (including amounts due before or after the petition was filed) have been paid after completion of the debtor’s plan, as the case may be.”

SEC. 236. EXCEPTIONS TO AUTOMATIC STAY IN DOMESTIC SUPPORT OBLIGATION PROCEEDINGS.

Section 362(b) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by striking paragraph (2) and inserting the following:

“(2) Pursuant to subsection (a)—

“(A) the commencement or continuation of an action or proceeding for—

“(i) the establishment of paternity as a part of an effort to collect domestic support obligations; or

“(ii) the establishment or modification of an order for domestic support obligations; or

“(B) in the case of a loan from a thrift savings plan (as defined in section 403(b)(9) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986), the establishment or modification of an order for domestic support obligations.”

SEC. 330. PROTECTION OF RETIREMENT SAVINGS IN BANKRUPTCY.

(a) In General—

Section 522 of title 11, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

“(1) Property listed in this paragraph is—

“(A) any property,

“(B) in subparagraph (A), by striking “and” at the end; and “(iii) paragraph (2), by striking the period at the end and inserting “; and”;

“(iv) by adding at the end the following:

“(C) retirement funds to the extent that those funds are in a fund or account that is exempt from taxation under section 401, 403, 408, 408A, 414, 457, or 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986; and

“(D) in subsection (1)(a)(2)(A), by inserting “or” at the end; and “(E) in subsection (1)(a)(2)(B), by striking “or” at the end;

“(F) in paragraph (15), by striking “or” at the end; and “(G) in subsection (2), by striking the period at the end and inserting “; and”;

“(H) by adding at the end the following:

“(i) Retirement funds to the extent that those funds are in a fund or account that is exempt from taxation under section 401, 403, 408, 408A, 414, 457, or 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.”

(b) Automatic Stay.—Section 362(b) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (17), by striking “or” at the end;

(2) in paragraph (18), by striking the period and inserting “; or”;

(3) by inserting after paragraph (18) the following:

“(19) under subsection (a), of withholding of income from a debtor’s wages and collection of amounts withheld, pursuant to the debtor’s agreement authorizing that withholding and collection for the benefit of a pension, profit-sharing, stock bonus, or other plan established under section 401, 403, 406, 408A, 414, 457, or 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 that is sponsored by the employer of a debtor, or an affiliate, successor, or predecessor of such employer—

“(A) ‘the extent that the amounts withheld and collected are used solely for payments of contributions to that plan satisfying the requirements of section 401(b)(1) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (29 U.S.C. 1106(b)(1)); or

“(B) in the case of a plan from a thrift savings plan described in subchapter III of title 5, that satisfies the requirements of section 8333(g) of that title.”

SEC. 329. PROTECTION OF DOMESTIC SUPPORT AND DISCHARGE IN CASES IN WHICH THE DEBTOR → SEC. 329. PROTECTION OF DOMESTIC SUPPORT AND DISCHARGE IN CASES IN WHICH THE DEBTOR "FEE" CLAIMS AGAINST PREFERENTIAL TRANSFERS AND DISCHARGE IN CASES IN WHICH THE DEBTOR..."
may be construed to provide that any loan made under a governmental plan under section 414(d) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 constitutes a claim or a debt under this title.

(b) Section 1229 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(d) A modification of the plan under this section may not increase the amount of payments that were due prior to the date of the order modifying the plan.

(2) A modification of a plan under this section to increase payments based on an increase in the debtor’s disposable income may not require payments to unsecured creditors in any particular month greater than the debtor’s disposable income for that month unless the debtor proposes such a modification.

(3) A modification of the plan in the last year of the plan shall not require payments that would leave the debtor with insufficient funds to carry on the farming operation after the plan is completed unless the debtor proposes such a modification.

(c) Section 332 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by inserting after "plan or agreement under which the debt is secured by property of the kind described in subparagraph (A), (B), or (C); or":

"(D) a simultaneous agreement by a transferee or other credit enhancement related to any agreement or transaction referred to in subparagraph only with respect to each such agreement;"

SEC. 334. PROHIBITION OF RETROACTIVE ASSESSMENT OF DISPOSABLE INCOME.

(a) Section 1225(b) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking "the taxable year preceding the taxable year" and inserting "at least one of the three calendar years preceding the plan year or the calendar year preceding the order for relief; or"

(b) Section 1225(b) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(E) a security agreement or arrangement or other credit enhancement related to any agreement or transaction referred to in subparagraph (A), (B), (C), or (D);"

(c) By amending paragraph (47) to read as follows:

"(47) the term ‘sale or repurchase agreement’ (which definition also applies to a reverse repurchase agreement)—"

"(A) means—"

"(i) an agreement, including related terms, which provides for the transfer of 1 or more certificates of deposit, mortgage-related securities (as such term is defined in the Securities Exchange Act of 1934), mortgage loans, interests in mortgage-related securities or mortgage loans, eligible bankers’ acceptances, or securities (as such term is defined in the Securities Act of 1933) or other credit enhancement related to any agreement or transaction that are direct obligations of, or that are fully guaranteed as to principal and interest by, the United States or any agency of the United States against the transfer of funds by the transferee of such certificates of deposit, eligible bankers’ acceptances, securities, loans or interests with a simultaneous agreement by such transferee to transfer to the transferor thereof certificates of deposit, eligible bankers’ acceptances, securities, loans, or interests as described above, at a price that is not less than 1 year after such transfer or on demand, against the transfer of funds; or any other agreement or arrangement and

(ii) any combination of agreements or transactions referred to in clauses (i) and (iii); or

(iii) any option to enter into any agreement or transaction referred to in clause (i) or (ii);"

(iv) a master agreement that provides for an agreement or transaction referred to in clauses (i), (ii), (iii) or (iv); and

(v) any other agreement or transaction under a participation in a commercial mortgage loan, and, for purposes of this paragraph, the term ‘qualified foreign government security’ means a security that is a direct obligation of, or that is fully guaranteed by, the central government of a member of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development; and

(C) by amending paragraph (53B) to read as follows:

"(53B) the term ‘swap agreement’—"

"(A) means—"

"(i) any agreement, including the terms and conditions incorporated by reference in such agreement, such as a swap agreement, interest rate swap, option, future, or forward agreement, including a rate floor, rate cap, rate collar, currency swap, or other agreement; an equity swap, or other agreement; or an index or commodity swap, or other agreement;"

SEC. 335. AMENDMENT TO SECTION 1232 OF TITLE 11, UNITED STATES CODE.

Section 1232(b)(2) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by inserting after "re-ceived by the debtor");

"(other than child support payments, foster care payments, or disability payments for a dependent child made in accordance with applicable non- bankruptcy law and which is reasonably neces-sary to be expended)"

SEC. 336. PROTECTION OF SAVINGS EARMARKED FOR THE POSTSECONDARY EDUCATION OF CHILDREN.

Section 541(b) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by section 404 of this Act, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (6), by striking the period at the end and inserting a semicolon; and

(2) by inserting after paragraph (6) the following:

"(7) except as otherwise provided under applicable State law, any funds placed in a qualified State tuition program (as described in section 529(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986) at least 180 days before the date of entry of the order for relief; or

(8) any funds placed in an education individual retirement account (as defined in section 530(b)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986) at least 180 days before the date of entry of the order for relief."
‘‘(ii) any agreement similar to any other agreement or transaction referred to in this subparagraph that—

‘‘(I) is presently, or in the future becomes, regularly entered into in the swap market (including terms and conditions incorporated by reference therein); and

‘‘(II) is a forward, swap, future, or option on a commodity or currencies, securities, equity securities or other equity instruments, debt securities or other debt instruments, or economic indices or measures of economic indices or measures of value;

‘‘(iii) any combination of agreements or transactions referred to in this subparagraph—

‘‘(A) by entering into any agreement or transaction referred to in this subparagraph;

‘‘(B) by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

‘‘(v) any other agreement or transaction that is similar to any agreement or transaction referred to in this paragraph;

‘‘(C) by amending paragraph (2) to read as follows:

‘‘(2) by inserting after paragraph (22) the following new paragraph:

‘‘(22) the term ‘financial institution’ means a Federal reserve bank, or a person that is a commercial bank, industrial savings bank, savings and loan association, trust company, or receiver or conservator for such person and, when any such Federal reserve bank, commercial bank, industrial savings bank, savings and loan association, trust company, or receiver or conservator for such person is acting as agent or custodian for a customer in connection with a securities contract, as defined in section 741(7) of this title, such customer;

‘‘(iii) the guarantee by or to any securities clearing agency of any settlement of cash, securities, derivatives, swaps agreements, options, certificates of deposit, mortgage loans or interests therein, or group or index of securities, certificates of deposit, mortgage loans or interests therein (including any interest therein or based on the value thereof) or option on any of the foregoing, including any option to purchase or sell any security, certificate of deposit, loan, interest, group or index or option;

‘‘(iv) any agreement or transaction that is similar to any agreement or transaction referred to in this subparagraph that—

‘‘(i) is presently, or in the future becomes, regularly entered into in the swap market (including terms and conditions incorporated by reference therein); and

‘‘(ii) is a forward, swap, future, or option on a commodity or currencies, securities, equity securities or other equity instruments, debt securities or other debt instruments, or economic indices or measures of economic indices or measures of value;
(2) LIMITATION.—Section 362 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

“(l) LIMITATION.—The exercise of rights of a party to a master netting agreement under subsection (a) pursuant to paragraph (6), (7), (17), or (22) of subsection (b) shall not be stayed by any order of a court or administrative agency in any proceeding under this title.

(e) LIMITATION OF AVOIDANCE POWERS UNDER MASTER NETTING AGREEMENT.—Section 546 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subsection (g) (as added by section 103 of Public Law 101–311)—

(A) by striking “under a swap agreement”; and

(B) in clause (2) by inserting “or in connection with any swap agreement”;

(2) by redesignating subsection (g) (as added by section 222(a) of Public Law 103–384) as subsection (i); and

(3) by inserting before subsection (i) (as redesignated the following new subsection:

“(h) Notwithstanding sections 544, 545, 547, 548(a)(2), and 548(b) of this title, to the extent that under subsection (e), (f), or (g), the trustee may not avoid a transfer made by or to a master netting agreement participant under or in connection with each individual contract covered by any master netting agreement that is made before the commencement of the case, the trustee may avoid a transfer made by or to such master netting agreement participant under or in connection with the master netting agreement in issue, except under section 548(a)(1) of this title.”.

(f) FRAUDULENT TRANSFERS OF MASTER NETTING AGREEMENTS.—Section 548(d)(2) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (C), by striking “and”;

(2) in paragraph (D), by striking the period and inserting “; and”;

(3) in subsection (d), by inserting “at the end the following new subparagraph:

“(E) a master netting agreement participant that receives a transfer in connection with a master netting agreement takes value for the extent of such transfer, but only to the extent that such participant would have taken value under paragraph (B), (C), or (D) for such contract covered by the master netting agreement in issue.”.

(g) TERMINATION OR ACCELERATION OF SECURITIES CONTRACTS.—Section 555 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by amending the section heading to read “Contractual right to liquidate, terminate, or accelerate a securities contract”;

(2) by striking “liquidation, or accelerate, or offset under a master netting agreement and across contracts” and inserting “liquidate, or accelerate, or offset under a master netting agreement and across contracts”;

(3) by striking paragraph (a)(1) and inserting—

“(a) the exercise of any contractual right, because of a condition of the kind specified in section 365(e)(1), to cause the termination, liquidation, or acceleration of or to offset, or to net termination values, payment amounts or other transfer obligations arising under or in connection with the termination, liquidation, or acceleration of obligations arising under, or in connection with, a swap agreement or a master netting agreement participant under or in connection with the master netting agreement in issue, except under section 548(a)(1) of this title.”;

(h) TERMINATION OR ACCELERATION OF FINANCIAL PARTICIPATION.—Section 556 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by amending the section heading to read “Contractual right to liquidate, terminate, or accelerate a financial participant or forward contract”;

(2) by striking “liquidation, or accelerate, or offset under a master netting agreement and across contracts” and inserting “offset or to net obligations arising under, or in connection with, a commodity contract against obligations arising under, in connection with, any instrument listed in subsection (a) that the obligations are not mutual.”;

(3) by amending the section heading to read “Contractual right to liquidate, terminate, or accelerate a financial participant or forward contract”;

(i) TERMINATION OR ACCELERATION OF REPURCHASE AGREEMENTS.—Section 559 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by amending the section heading to read “Contractual right to liquidate, terminate, or accelerate a repurchase agreement”;

(2) by striking “liquidation, or accelerate, or offset under a master netting agreement and across contracts” and inserting “offset or to net obligations arising under, or in connection with, a repurchase agreement or a master netting agreement participant under or in connection with the master netting agreement in issue”.

(j) TERMINATION OR ACCELERATION OF FORWARD CONTRACTS.—Section 560 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by amending the section heading to read “Contractual right to liquidate, terminate, or accelerate a forward contract”;

(2) by striking “liquidation, or accelerate, or offset under a master netting agreement and across contracts” and inserting “offset or to net obligations arising under, or in connection with, a forward contract or a master netting agreement participant under or in connection with the master netting agreement in issue”;

(k) TERMINATION OR ACCELERATION OF SECURITIES CONTRACTS.—Section 561 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by amending the section heading to read “Contractual right to liquidate, terminate, or accelerate a swap agreement”;

(2) by striking “liquidation, or accelerate, or offset under a master netting agreement and across contracts” and inserting “offset or to net obligations arising under, or in connection with, a swap agreement or a master netting agreement participant under or in connection with the master netting agreement in issue”;

(l) TERMINATION OR ACCELERATION OF REPOSSESSIONS AGREEMENTS.—Section 562 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by amending the section heading to read “Contractual right to liquidate, terminate, or accelerate a repossession agreement”;

(2) by striking “liquidation, or accelerate, or offset under a master netting agreement and across contracts” and inserting “offset or to net obligations arising under, or in connection with, a repossession agreement or a master netting agreement participant under or in connection with the master netting agreement in issue”;

(m) TANGIBLE PROPERTY SECURITY AGREEMENTS.—Section 563 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by amending the section heading to read “Contractual right to liquidate, terminate, or accelerate a tangible property security agreement”;

(2) by striking “liquidation, or accelerate, or offset under a master netting agreement and across contracts” and inserting “offset or to net obligations arising under, or in connection with, a tangible property security agreement or a master netting agreement participant under or in connection with the master netting agreement in issue”;

(n) SECURITIES CONTRACTS, COMMODITY CONTRACTS, AND FORWARD CONTRACTS.—Title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in section 362(b)(6), by striking “financial institution” and inserting “financial institution, financial participant, or financial participant or master netting agreement participant under this title shall not affect the priority of any unsecured claim it may have after the exercise of such rights or affect the provisions of this subchapter IV regarding customer property or distributions.”;

(2) in section 753, by striking “financial participant” and inserting “financial participant or master netting agreement participant under this title shall not affect the priority of any unsecured claim it may have after the exercise of such rights or affect the provisions of this subchapter IV regarding customer property or distributions.”;

(p) SECURITIES CONTRACTS, COMMODITY CONTRACTS, AND FORWARD CONTRACTS.—Title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by amending the section heading to read “Contractual right to liquidate, terminate, or accelerate a securities contract or commodity contract or forward contract”;

(2) by striking “liquidation, or accelerate, or offset under a master netting agreement and across contracts” and inserting “offset or to net obligations arising under, or in connection with, a commodities contract or swap agreement or a master netting agreement participant under or in connection with the master netting agreement in issue”;

(q) SECURITIES CONTRACTS, COMMODITY CONTRACTS, AND FORWARD CONTRACTS.—Title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by amending the section heading to read “Contractual right to liquidate, terminate, or accelerate a securities contract or commodity contract or forward contract”;

(2) by striking “liquidation, or accelerate, or offset under a master netting agreement and across contracts” and inserting “offset or to net obligations arising under, or in connection with, a commodities contract or swap agreement or a master netting agreement participant under or in connection with the master netting agreement in issue”.

(3) by adding at the end the following new subsection:

“§561. Contractual right to liquidate, terminate, or accelerate a swap agreement

(1) by amending the section heading to read “Contractual right to liquidate, terminate, or accelerate a swap agreement”;

(2) in the first sentence, by striking “terminals in connection with any swap agreement” and inserting “termination, liquidation, or acceleration of obligations arising under, or in connection with, a swap agreement”;

(3) by striking “in connection with any swap agreement and across contracts” and inserting “in connection with the termination, liquidation, or acceleration of obligations arising under, or in connection with, a swap agreement or a master netting agreement participant under or in connection with the master netting agreement in issue”;

(4) in connection with, a commodity contract against obligations arising under, or in connection with, any instrument listed in subsection (a) that the obligations are not mutual.”;

(5) by amending the section heading to read “Contractual right to liquidate, terminate, or accelerate a commodities contract or swap agreement”;

(6) by striking “in connection with, a commodity contract against obligations arising under, or in connection with, any instrument listed in subsection (a) that the party has a net positive net equity in the commodity account at the debtor, as calculated under subsection (f)”.

(c) DEFINITION.—As used in this section, the term ‘contractual right’ includes a right set forth in a rule or bylaw of a national securities exchange or securities association, or a securities clearing agency, a right set forth in a bylaw of a clearing organization or contract market or in a resolution of the governing board thereof, and a right whether or not evidenced in writing arising under common law, under law merchant, or by reason of normal business practice.”.

(i) MUNICIPAL BANKRUPTCY.—Section 901 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by striking “559, 556,” after “553;” and

(2) by striking “561, 559, 556,” after “557.”

(m) ANCILLARY PROCEEDINGS.—Section 904 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by inserting “§ 559, 556,” after “§ 553;” and

(2) by inserting “§ 559, 558, 562,” after “§ 556.”
the governing board thereof, and a right, whether or not in writing, arising under common law, under law merchant, or by reason of normal business practice; and
(6) the United States shall preside at the conclusion of the "commodity participant" after "commodity broker".
(f) TECHNICAL AND CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 104 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:
```````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````````
608. Interpretation

In interpreting this chapter, the court shall consider its international origin, and the need to promote an application of this chapter that is consistent with the application of similar statutes adopted by foreign jurisdictions.

SUBCHAPTER II—ACCESS OF FOREIGN REPRESENTATIVES AND CREDITORS TO THE COURT

§ 609. Right of direct access

(a) A foreign representative is entitled to commence a case under section 604 by filing a petition for recognition under section 615, and upon recognition to proceed directly to other Federal and State courts for appropriate relief in those courts.

(b) Upon recognition, and subject to section 615, a foreign representative has the capacity to sue and be sued.

(c) Recognition under this chapter is prerequisite to the granting of comity or cooperation to a foreign proceeding in any State or Federal court in the United States. Any request for comity or cooperation in any court shall be accompanied by a sworn statement setting forth whether recognition under section 615 has been sought and the status of any such petition.

(d) Upon denial of recognition under this chapter, the court may make the appropriate orders necessary to prevent an attempt to obtain comity or cooperation from courts in the United States without such recognition.

§ 610. Limited jurisdiction

The sole fact that a foreign representative files a petition under sections 604 and 615 does not subject the foreign representative to the jurisdiction of any court in the United States for any purpose.

§ 611. Commencement of bankruptcy case under section 301 or 303

(a) Upon filing a petition for recognition, a foreign representative may commence—

(1) an involuntary case under section 303; or

(2) a voluntary case under section 301 or 302, if the foreign proceeding is a foreign main proceeding.

(b) The petition commencing a case under subsection (a) of this section must be accompanied by a statement describing the petition for recognition and its current status. The court where the petition for recognition has been filed shall be advised of the foreign representative’s intent to commence a case under subsection (a) of this section prior to such commencement.

(c) A case under subsection (a) shall be dismissed unless recognition is granted.

§ 612. Participation of a foreign representative in a case under this title

Upon recognition of a foreign proceeding, the foreign representative in that proceeding is entitled to participate as a party in interest in a case regarding the debtor under this title.

§ 613. Access of foreign creditors to a case under this title

(a) Foreign creditors have the same rights regarding the commencement of, and participation in, a case under this title as domestic creditors.

(b) (1) Subsection (a) of this section does not change or codify law in effect on the date of enactment of this chapter as to the priority of claims under section 507 or 726, except that the claim of a foreign creditor under those sections shall not be given a lower priority than the class of general unsecured claims without priority solely because the holder of such claim is a foreign creditor.

(2) Subsection (a) of this section and paragraph (1) of this subsection do not change or codify law in effect on the date of enactment of this chapter as to the allowance of foreign or other foreign public law claims in a proceeding under this title.
§614. Notification to foreign creditors concerning a case under this title

(a) Whenever in a case under this title, notice is to be given to creditors generally or to any category of creditors, such notice shall also be given to the known creditors generally, or to creditors in the notified class or category, that do not have addresses in the United States. The court may order that appropriate steps be taken with a view to notifying any creditor whose address is not yet known.

(b) The notification to creditors with foreign addresses described in subsection (a) shall be given individually, unless the court considers that, under the circumstances, some other form of notification would be more appropriate. No letters rogatory or other similar formalities are required.

(c) If a notification of commencement of a case is to be given to foreign creditors, the notification shall—

(1) indicate the time period for filing proofs of claim and specify the place for their filing;

(2) indicate whether secured creditors need to file their proofs of claim; and

(3) contain such other information required to be included in such a notification to creditors pursuant to this title and the orders of the court.

(d) Any rule of procedure or order of the court as to notice or the filing of a claim shall provide such additional time for creditors with foreign addresses as is reasonable under the circumstances.

SUBCHAPTER III—RECOGNITION OF A FOREIGN PROCEEDING AND RELIEF

§615. Application for recognition of a foreign proceeding

(a) A foreign representative applies to the court for recognition of the foreign proceeding in which the foreign representative has been appointed by filing a petition for recognition.

(b) A petition for recognition shall be accompanied by—

(1) the certified copy of the decision commencing the foreign proceeding and appointing the foreign representative;

(2) a certificate from the foreign court affirming the contents of the petition, the foreign proceeding and of the appointment of the foreign representative; or

(3) in the absence of evidence referred to in paragraphs (1) and (2), any other evidence acceptable to the court of the existence of the foreign proceeding and of the appointment of the foreign representative.

(c) A petition for recognition shall also be accompanied by a statement identifying all foreign proceedings with respect to the debtor that are known to the foreign representative.

(d) The documents referred to in paragraphs (1) and (2) of subsection (b) must be translated into English. The court may require a translation into English of additional documents.

§616. Presumptions concerning recognition

(a) If the decision or certificate referred to in section 615(b) indicates that the foreign proceeding is a foreign proceeding within the meaning of section 101(23) and that the person or body is a foreign representative within the meaning of section 101(24), the court is entitled to so presume.

(b) The court is entitled to presume that documents submitted in support of the petition for recognition, whether translated or not, and the documents the courts have been subjected to legal processing under applicable law, and the documents to which the foreign representative refers, are acceptable to the court.

(c) In the absence of evidence to the contrary, the debtor’s registered office, or habitual residence in the case of an individual, is presumed to be the center of the debtor’s main interests.

(d) The court may not enjoin a police or regulatory act of a governmental unit, including a criminal action or proceeding, under this section.

§617. Order recognizing a foreign proceeding

(a) Subject to section 606, an order recognizing a foreign proceeding shall be entered if—

(1) the foreign proceeding is a foreign main proceeding or foreign nonmain proceeding within the meaning of section 602 and is a foreign proceeding within the meaning of section 101(23);

(2) the person or body applying for recognition is a foreign representative within the meaning of section 101(23); and

(3) the petition meets the requirements of section 615.

(b) The foreign proceeding shall be recognized—

(1) as a foreign main proceeding if it is taking place in the country where the debtor has the center of its main interests; or

(2) as a foreign nonmain proceeding if the debtor has an establishment within the meaning of section 602 in the foreign country where the proceeding is taking place.

(c) A petition for recognition of a foreign proceeding shall be declared upon at the earliest possible time. Entry of an order recognizing a foreign proceeding shall constitute recognition under this chapter.

(d) The provisions of this subchapter do not govern the recognition of a foreign proceeding if it is shown that the grounds for granting it were fully or partially lacking or have ceased to exist, but in considering the necessity of the recognition until the petition is decided.

§618. Subsequent information

From the time of filing the petition for recognition of the foreign proceeding, the foreign representative shall file with the court promptly a notice of change of status concerning—

(1) any substantial change in the status of the foreign representative’s appointment; and

(2) any other foreign proceeding regarding the debtor that becomes known to the foreign representative.

§619. Relief that may be granted upon petition for recognition of a foreign proceeding

(a) If the decision or certificate referred to in section 615(b) indicates that the foreign proceeding is a foreign nonmain proceeding within the meaning of section 101(23) and that the person or body is a foreign representative within the meaning of section 101(24), the court is entitled to so presume.

(b) Unextended under section 621(a), the relief granted under this section terminates when the petition for recognition is denied.

(c) It is a ground for denial of relief under subsection (a) if the relief granted under this section would interfere with the administration of a foreign main proceeding.

(d) The court may not enjoin a police or regulatory act of a governmental unit, including a criminal action or proceeding, under this section.

§620. Effects of recognition of a foreign main proceeding

(a) If the court has granted recognition of a foreign proceeding that is a foreign main proceeding—

(1) section 362 applies with respect to the debtor and that property of the debtor that was within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States; and

(2) transfer, encumbrance, or any other disposition of an interest in the debtor in the foreign main proceeding is subject to the exceptions and limitations applicable to an injunction shall apply to relief under this section.

Unless the court orders otherwise, the foreign proceeding, whether main or nonmain, where necessary to effectuate the purpose of this chapter and to protect the assets of the debtor, or any other entity that becomes known to the court, may, at the request of the foreign representative, grant any appropriate relief, including—

(1) staying the commencement or continuation of individual actions or proceedings concerning the debtor’s assets, rights, obligations or liabilities to the extent these have not been stayed under section 629(a);

(2) staying execution against the debtor’s assets to the extent it has not been stayed under section 629(a); and

(3) suspending the right to transfer, encumber or otherwise dispose of any assets of the debtor to the extent this right has not been suspended under section 629(a).

(4) providing for the examination of witnesses, the taking of evidence or the delivery of information concerning the debtor’s assets, affairs, rights, obligations or liabilities;

(5) entrusting the administration or realization of all or part of the debtor’s assets located in the United States to the foreign representative or another person designated by the court, including an examiner, in order to protect the interests of the creditors, the court may, at the request of the foreign representative, grant relief of a provisional nature, including—

(a) suspending the right to transfer, encumber or otherwise dispose of any assets of the debtor to the extent this right has not been suspended under section 629(a);

(b) suspending the right to transfer, encumber or otherwise dispose of any assets of the debtor to the extent this right has not been suspended under section 629(a);

(c) providing for the examination of witnesses, the taking of evidence or the delivery of information concerning the debtor’s assets, affairs, rights, obligations or liabilities;

(6) extending relief granted under section 629(a); and

(7) granting any additional relief that may be available to a trustee, except for relief available under sections 522, 544, 545, 547, 548, 105(a), and 724(a).

(b) Upon recognition of a foreign proceeding, whether main or nonmain, the court may, at the request of the foreign representative, entrust the distribution of all or part of the debtor’s assets located in the United States to the foreign representative or another person, including an examiner, designated by the court, provided that the court is satisfied that the interests of creditors in the United States are sufficiently protected.

(4) In determining whether section 621 applies to a representative of a foreign nonmain proceeding, the court must be satisfied that the relief relates to assets that, under the law of the United States, would be administered in the foreign nonmain proceeding or concerns information required in that proceeding.

(d) The court may not enjoin a police or regulatory governmental unit, or any person, including a criminal action or proceeding, under this section.

§ 622. Protection of creditors and other interested persons

(a) In granting or denying relief under section 619 or 621, or in modifying or terminating relief under subsection (c) of this section, the court must find that the interests of the creditors and other interested persons or entities, including the debtor, are sufficiently protected.

(b) The court may subject relief granted under sections 619 or 621 to conditions it considers appropriate.

(c) The court may, at the request of the foreign representative or an entity affected by relief granted under section 619 or 621, or at its own motion, modify or terminate such relief.

§ 623. Actions to avoid acts detrimental to creditors

(a) Upon recognition of a foreign proceeding, the foreign representative has standing in a pending case under another chapter of this title to initiate actions under sections 505, 506, 544, and 548.

(b) When the foreign proceeding is a foreign nonmain proceeding, the court must be satisfied that an action under subsection (a) of this section relates to assets that, under United States law, should be administered in the foreign nonmain proceeding.

§ 624. Intervention by a foreign representative

Upon recognition of a foreign proceeding, the foreign representative may intervene in any proceedings in a State or Federal court in the United States in which the debtor is a party.

SUBCHAPTER IV—COOPERATION WITH FOREIGN COURTS AND FOREIGN REPRESENTATIVES

§ 625. Cooperation and direct communication between the court and foreign courts or foreign representatives

(a) In all matters included within section 601, the court shall cooperate to the maximum extent possible with foreign courts or foreign representatives, either directly or through the trustee.

(b) The court is entitled to communicate directly with, or to request information or assistance from, foreign courts or foreign representatives, subject to the rights of parties in interest to notice and participation.

§ 626. Cooperation and direct communication between the trustee and foreign courts or foreign representatives

(a) In all matters included in section 601, the trustee or other person, including an examiner, designated by the court, is entitled, subject to the supervision of the court, to communicate directly with foreign courts or foreign representatives.

(b) In achieving cooperation and coordination under sections 625, 626, and 627, to other assets of the debtor that are within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States and, to the extent necessary to implement cooperation and coordination under sections 625, 626, and 627, to other assets of the debtor that are outside the United States and that have been or may become the subject of a proceeding under section 626.

§ 628. Commencement of a case under this title after recognition of a foreign main proceeding

(1) When the case in the United States is taking place concurrently regarding the same assets and affairs; and

(2) When a case in the United States under this title commences after recognition of a foreign main proceeding.

§ 629. Coordination of a case under this title and a foreign proceeding

Where a foreign proceeding and a case under another chapter of this title are taking place concurrently regarding the same assets and affairs, the court shall seek cooperation and coordination under sections 625, 626, and 627, and the following shall apply:

(1) The foreign proceeding is a Foreign main proceeding or a representative of a foreign nonmain proceeding.

(2) The case in the United States under this title commences after recognition, or after the filing of the petition for recognition, of the foreign proceeding.

(3) The foreign representative is a representative of a foreign nonmain proceeding.

(4) The case in the United States is for the purpose of facilitating coordination of the proceedings.

§ 630. Coordination of more than one foreign proceeding

In matters referred to in section 601, with respect to more than one foreign proceeding, any relief granted under section 620 shall be coordinated under sections 625, 626, and 627.

§ 631. Cooperation and coordination with foreign courts or foreign representatives

(a) In granting, extending, or modifying relief under section 620, the court shall consider the interests of the creditors and other interested persons or entities, including the debtor, are sufficiently protected.

(b) The court may subject relief granted under sections 619 or 621 to conditions it considers appropriate.

(c) The court may, at the request of the foreign representative or an entity affected by relief granted under section 619 or 621, or at its own motion, modify or terminate such relief.

§ 632. Rule of payment in concurrent proceedings

Without prejudice to secured claims or rights in rem, a creditor who has received payment with respect to its claim in a foreign proceeding pursuant to a law relating to insolvency may not receive a payment for its claim in a case under any other chapter of this title regarding the same assets and affairs, including a criminal action or proceeding, under this section.

SUBCHAPTER V—CONCURRENT PROCEEDINGS

§ 633. Cooperation and coordination with foreign courts or foreign representatives

(a) In granting or denying relief under section 619 or 621, or in modifying or terminating relief under subsection (c) of this section, the court must find that the interests of the creditors and other interested persons or entities, including the debtor, are sufficiently protected.

(b) The court may subject relief granted under sections 619 or 621 to conditions it considers appropriate.

(c) The court may, at the request of the foreign representative or an entity affected by relief granted under section 619 or 621, or at its own motion, modify or terminate such relief.

§ 634. Actions to avoid acts detrimental to creditors

(a) Upon recognition of a foreign proceeding, the foreign representative has standing in a pending case under another chapter of this title to initiate actions under sections 505, 506, 544, and 548.

(b) When the foreign proceeding is a foreign nonmain proceeding, the court must be satisfied that an action under subsection (a) of this section relates to assets that, under United States law, should be administered in the foreign nonmain proceeding.

§ 635. Intervention by a foreign representative

Upon recognition of a foreign proceeding, the foreign representative may intervene in any proceedings in a State or Federal court in the United States in which the debtor is a party.
the liquidation of the debtor’s assets or affairs or to act as a representative of the foreign proceeding.”.

(c) AMENDMENTS TO TITLE 28, UNITED STATES CODE—

(1) PROCEDURES.—Section 157(b)(2) of title 28, United States Code, is amended—

(A) in subparagraph (N), by striking “and” at the end; and

(B) in subparagraph (O), by striking the period at the end and inserting “; and”; and

(C) by adding at the end the following:

“(P) recognition of foreign proceedings and other matters under chapter 6.”.

(2) BANKRUPTCY CASES AND PROCEEDINGS.—

Section 1334(c) of title 28, United States Code, is amended by inserting “lending, ‘Nothing in and inserting “Except with respect to a case under chapter 6 of title 11, nothing in”.

(3) DUTIES OF TRUSTEES.—Section 586(a)(3) of title 28, United States Code, is amended by inserting “6,” after “chapter”.

TITLE VI—MISCELLANEOUS

SEC. 601. EXECUTORY CONTRACTS AND UNEXPIRED LEASES.

Section 365(d)(4) of title 11, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

“(4)(A) Subject to subparagraph (B), in any case under any chapter of this title, an unexpired executory contract or unexpired real property interest under which the debtor is the lessee shall be deemed rejected and the trustee shall immediately surrender that nonresidential real property if the trustee does not assume or reject the unexpired lease by the earlier of—

(i) the date that is 120 days after the date of the order for relief; or

(ii) the date of the entry of an order confirming a plan.

(B) The court may extend the period determined under subparagraph (A) only upon a motion of the lessor.”.

SEC. 602. EXPEDITED APPEALS OF BANKRUPTCY CASES TO COURTS OF APPEALS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 158 of title 28, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by redesignating subsection (d) as subsection (e); and

(2) by inserting after subsection (c) the following new subsection:

“(d)(1) Any final judgment, decision, order, or decree entered by a bankruptcy judge for a case in accordance with section 157 may be appealed by any party in such case to the appropriate court of appeals if—

(A) the appeal is from a final judgment, decision, order, or decree of the district court from which the appeal is filed. Such order shall direct the clerk to enter the final judgment, decision, order, or decree of the bankruptcy judge as the final judgment, decision, order, or decree of the district court.”; and

(3) by redesignating subsection (e)(1) of section 158, United States Code, as subsection (d), and inserting “sections (a) and (b)” and “inserting “sections (a), (b), and (d)”.

(b) TECHNICAL AND CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(1) Section 305(c) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking “section 158(d)” and inserting “section 158(e)”. SEC. 603. CREDITORs AND EQUITY SECURITY HOLDERS—

(a) In general.—Section 1102(a)(2) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by inserting before the first sentence the following: “On its own motion or on the motion of the lessor.”.

(b) In section 542(d), by striking “; after notice and hearing, the court may order a change in the membership of a committee appointed under this subsection, if the court determines that the change is necessary to ensure adequate representation of creditors or equity security holders.”.

SEC. 604. REPEAL OF SUNSET PROVISION.

SEC. 605. CREDITS AS ATTACHMENT TO FOREIGN PROCEEDINGS.

Section 304 of title 11, United States Code, as amended by section 410 of this Act, is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(e)(1) In this subsection—

“(A) the term ‘domestic insurance company’ means a domestic insurance company, as that term is used in section 109(b)(1);

“(B) the term ‘foreign insurance company’ means a foreign insurance company, as that term is used in section 109(b)(3); and

“(C) the term ‘United States claimant’ means a beneficiary of any deposit referred to in paragraph (2)(A) or any multibeneficiary trust referred to in subparagraph (B) or (C) of paragraph (2);

“(D) the term ‘United States creditor’ means, with respect to a foreign insurance company—

“(i) a United States claimant; or

“(ii) any business entity that operates in the United States and that is a creditor; and “(E) the term ‘United States policyholder’ means a holder of an insurance policy issued in the United States.

“(2) Notwithstanding subsections (b) and (c), the court may not grant relief under subsection (b) to a foreign insurance company that is not engaged in the business of insurance or reinsurance in the United States with respect to any claim made by a United States creditor.

“(A) A deposit required by an applicable State insurance law;

“(B) a multibeneficiary trust required by an applicable insurance law to protect United States policyholders or claimants against a foreign insurance company; or

“(C) a multibeneficiary trust authorized under an applicable insurance law to allow a domestic insurance company that cedes reinsurance to the debtor to reflect the reinsurance as an asset or deduction from liabili ity in the ceding insurer’s financial statements.”.”.

SEC. 606. LIMITATION.

Section 546(c)(1)(B) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking “20” and inserting “45”.

SEC. 607. AMENDMENT TO SECTION 546 OF TITLE 11, UNITED STATES CODE.

Section 546 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by inserting at the end thereof:

“(1) Notwithstanding section 545 (2) and (3) of this title, the trustee may not avoid a warehouseman’s lien for storage, transportation or other costs incidental to the storage and handling of goods, as provided by section 7-209 of the Uniform Commercial Code.”.

SEC. 608. AMENDMENT TO SECTION 320A OF TITLE 11, UNITED STATES CODE.

Section 320A of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subsection (3)(A) after the word “awarded”, by inserting “to an examiner, chapter 11 trustee, or professional person”;

(2) by adding at the end of subsection (3)(A) the following:

“(b) in determining the amount of reasonable compensation to be awarded a trustee, the court shall treat such compensation as a commission based on the results achieved.”.

TITLE VII—TECHNICAL CORRECTIONS

SEC. 701. DEFINITIONS.

Section 101 of title 11, United States Code, as amended by section 317, is amended—

(1) by striking “In this title”— and inserting “In this title”;

(2) in each paragraph, by inserting “The” term after the paragraph designation;

(3) in paragraph (35)(B), by striking “paragraphs (21B) and (33)(A)” and inserting “paragraphs (23) and (35)”; and

(4) in each of paragraphs (35A) and (3B), by striking “; and” at the end and inserting a period;

(5) in paragraph (51B)—

(A) by inserting “who is not a family farmer” after “debtor” the first place it appears; and

(B) by striking “thereto having aggregate” and all that follows through the end of the paragraph;

(6) by amending paragraph (54) to read as follows:

“(54) The term ‘transfer’ means—

“(A) the creation of a lien;

“(B) the retention of title as a security interest;

“(C) the foreclosure of a debtor’s equity of redemption; or “(D) each mode, direct or indirect, absolute or conditional, voluntary or involuntary, of disposing of or parting with—

“(i) property; or

“(ii) an interest in property;”;

(7) in each of paragraphs (1) through (35), in each of paragraphs (36) and (37), and in each of paragraphs (40) through (56A) (including paragraph (54), as amended by paragraph (6) of this section), by striking the semicolon at the end and inserting a period; and

(8) by redesignating paragraphs (4) through (56A) in entirely numerical sequence, so as to result in numerical paragraph designations of (4) through (71), respectively.

SEC. 702. ADJUSTMENT OF DOLLAR AMOUNTS.

Section 104 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by inserting “522(c)(3), 707(b)(5),” after “522(d),” each place it appears.

SEC. 703. EXTENSION.

Section 108(b)(2) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking “922” and all that follows through “or”, and inserting “922, 1301, or”.

SEC. 704. WHO MAY BE A DEBTOR.

Section 109(b)(2) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking “subsection (c) or (d)”.

SEC. 705. PENALTY FOR PERSONS WHO NEGLECTILY OR FRAUDULENTLY PREPARE BANKRUPTCY PETITIONS.

Section 110(c)(3) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking “attorney’s” and inserting “attorneys”.

SEC. 706. LIMITATION ON COMPENSATION OF PROFESSIONAL PERSONS.

Section 326(a) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by inserting “on a fixed or percentage fee basis,” after “hourly basis,”.

SEC. 707. SPECIAL TAX PROVISIONS.

Section 349(b)(1)(C) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking “property” the first place it appears.
SEC. 709. AUTOMATIC STAY.
Section 362(b) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by sections 326 and 401 of this Act, is amended—
(1) in paragraph (21), by striking “or” at the end;
(2) in paragraph (22), by striking the period at the end and inserting a semicolon; and
(3) by inserting after paragraph (22) the following:
“(23) under subsection (a) of this section of any transfer that is not avoidable under section 541, and that is not avoidable under section 549;”;
“(24) under subsection (a)(3) of this section, of the commencement or continuation of any eviction, unlawful detainer action, or similar proceeding by a lessor against a debtor involving residential real property in which the debtor resides as a tenant under a rental agreement and the lessor has not paid rent to the lessor pursuant to the terms of the lease agreement or applicable State law after the commencement and during the course of the case;”;
“(25) under subsection (a)(4) of this section, of the commencement or continuation of any eviction, unlawful detainer action, or similar proceeding by a lessor against a debtor involving residential real property in which the debtor resides as a tenant under a rental agreement that has terminated pursuant to the lease, and that is not avoidable under section 549;”;
“(26) under subsection (a)(5) of this section, of any eviction, unlawful detainer action, or similar proceeding, if the debtor has previously been convicted in the last year and failed to pay post-petition rent during the course of that case; or “(27) under subsection (a)(6) of this section, of evasion actions based on endangerment to property or person or the use of illegal drugs.”.
SEC. 710. AMENDMENT TO TABLE OF SECTIONS.
The following sections for chapters 1 through 11, United States Code, is amended by striking the item relating to section 556 and inserting the following:
“556. Contractual right to liquidate a commercial or forward contract.”.
SEC. 711. ALLOWANCE OF ADMINISTRATIVE EX-PENSES.
Section 503(b)(4) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by inserting subparagraph (A), (B), (C), (D), or (E) of “before paragraph (3)”.
SEC. 712. PRIORITIES.
Section 507(a) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by section 323 of this Act, is amended—
(1) in paragraph (3)(B), by striking the semicolon at the end and inserting a period; and
(2) in paragraph (7), by inserting “unsecured” after “allowed”.
SEC. 713. EXEMPTIONS.
Section 522 of title 11, United States Code, as amended by section 329 of this Act, is amended—
(1) in subsection (f)(1)(A)(ii)(II)—
(A) by striking “including a liability designated as” and inserting “is for a liability that is designated as, and is actually in the nature of,”; and
(B) by striking “; unless” and all that follows through “support”;
and
(2) in subsection (f)(2) and inserting “subsection (f)(1)(B)”.
SEC. 714. EXCEPTIONS TO DISCHARGE.
Section 726 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—
(1) in subsection (a)(3), by striking “or” (6) each place it appears and inserting “(6), or (15)”;
and
(2) as amended by section 304(e) of Public Law 103–394 (108 Stat. 4133), in paragraph (15), by transferring such paragraph so as to insert it after paragraph (14) of subsection (a); and
(3) in subsection (a)(9), by inserting “; watercraft, or aircraft” after “motor vehicle”; and
(4) in subsection (a)(15), as so redesignated by paragraph (2) of this subsection, by inserting “to a spouse, former spouse, or child of the debtor (17);”;
and
(5) in subsection (a)(17)—
(A) by striking “by a court” and inserting “on a person by any court”;
(B) by striking section 1915 (b) or (f)” and inserting “section 1915(b) or (f)2 of section 1915;”;
and
(C) by inserting “(or a similar non-Federal law)” after “section 26” each place it appears; and
(6) in subsection (e), by striking “a insured” and inserting “an insured.”
SEC. 715. EFFECT OF DISCHARGE.
Section 524(a)(3) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking “section 523” and all that follows through “that” and inserting all that follows through “that”.
SEC. 716. PROTECTION AGAINST DISCRIMINATORY TREATMENT.
Section 524(a) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—
(1) in paragraph (1), by inserting “student” before “grant” the second place it appears; and
(2) in paragraph (2), by striking “the program operated under part B, D, or E of” and inserting “any program operated under”.
SEC. 717. PROPERTY OF THE ESTATE.
Section 541(a)(6)(I) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by inserting “§565” and after “542.”
SEC. 718. PREFERENCES.
Section 541 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—
(1) in subsection (b), by striking “subsection (c)” and inserting “ subsections (c) and (b)”;
and
(2) by adding at the end the following:
“(c) If the trustee avoids under subsection (b) a security interest given between 90 days and 1 year before the date of the filing of the petition, by the debtor to an entity that is not an insider for the benefit of a creditor that is not an insider in the section only with respect to the creditor that is an insider.”.
SEC. 719. POSTPETITION TRANSACTIONS.
Section 547 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking “§565 or” and after “542.”
SEC. 720. TECHNICAL AMENDMENT.
Section 552(b)(2)(I) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking “ producer” each place it appears and inserting “products.”
SEC. 721. DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY OF THE ESTATE.
Section 726(b) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking “1009.”.
SEC. 722. GENERAL PROVISIONS.
Section 3601(a) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by section 408, is amended by inserting “1123(d)” after “1123(b).”.
SEC. 723. APPOINTMENT OF ELECTED TRUSTEE.
Section 1104(b)(1) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—
(1) by inserting “(1)” after “(b)”;
and
(2) by adding at the end the following:
“(2)(A) If an eligible, disinterested trustee is elected by a majority of the creditors under paragraph (1), the United States trustee shall file a report certifying that election.
Upon the filing of a report under the preceding sentence—
“(i) the trustee elected under paragraph (1) shall be considered to have been selected and appointed for purposes of this title, and
“(ii) the service of any trustee appointed under subsection (d) shall terminate.”
If in the case of any dispute arising out of an election under subparagraph (A), the court shall resolve the dispute.”.
SEC. 724. ABANDONMENT OF RAILROAD LINES.
Section 1176(e)(1) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by striking “section 1194” and inserting “section 1194(a)”.;
SEC. 725. CONTENTS OF PLAN.
Section 1123(c)(1) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by striking “section 1194” and inserting “section 1194(a)”.
SEC. 726. DISCHARGE UNDER CHAPTER 12.
Subsections (a) and (c) of section 1228 of title 11, United States Code, are amended by striking “1222(b)(9)”.
SEC. 727. EXTENSIONS.
Section 302(d)(3) of the Bankruptcy, Judges, United States Trustees, and Family-Owned Bankruptcy Act of 1996 (28 U.S.C. 561) is amended—
(1) in paragraph (A), in the matter following clause (II), by striking “or October 1, 2002, whichever occurs first”; and
(2) in paragraph (F)—
(A) in clause (I), by striking “or October 1, 2002, whichever occurs first”; and
(B) in the matter following clause (II), by striking “October 1, 2003, or” and
(C) by striking “this clause (II)” and inserting “this clause (II)”.
SEC. 728. BANKRUPTCY CASES AND PROCEEDINGS.
Section 1334(d) of title 28, United States Code, is amended—
(1) by striking “made under this subsection” and inserting “made under subsection (c)”;
and
(2) by striking “This subsection” and inserting “Subsection (c) and this subsection”.
SEC. 729. KNOWING DISREGARD OF BANKRUPTCY LAW OR RULE.
Section 1168(a) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—
(1) in the first undesignated paragraph—
(A) by inserting “(1) the term” before “bankruptcy”;
and
(B) by striking the period and inserting “; and”;
and
(2) in the second undesignated paragraph—
(A) by inserting “(2) the term” before “document”;
and
(B) by striking “this” and inserting “title II”.
SEC. 730. ROLLING STOCK EQUIPMENT.
(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 1168 of title 11, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:
“(1168. Rolling stock equipment.
“(a)(i) The right of a secured party with a security interest in equipment described in paragraph (2) to take possession of such equipment in compliance with an equipment security agreement under subparagraph (A) of this section and enforce such equipment security agreement, and to enforce any of its other rights or remedies under such security agreement, lease, or conditional sale contract, to sell, lease, or otherwise retain or dispose of such equipment, is not limited or otherwise affected by any other provision of this title or by any power of the court, except that those other rights and remedies shall be subject to section 362, if—
“(ii) the service of any trustee appointed under subsection (d) shall terminate.”
SEC. 740. SECURED LIENS.
“(A) before the date that is 60 days after the date of commencement of a case under this chapter, the trustee, subject to the court’s approval, agrees to perform all obligations under such security agreement, lease, or conditional sale contract; and

(B) any default, other than a default of a kind described in section 365(b)(2), under such security agreement, lease, or conditional sale contract—

(i) that occurs before the date of commencement of the case and is an event of default therewith is cured before the expiration of such 60-day period;

(ii) that occurs after the date of commencement of the case and before the expiration of such 60-day period is cured before the later of—

(I) 30 days after the date of the default or event of default; or

(II) the expiration of such 60-day period; and

(iii) that occurs on or after the expiration of such 60-day period is cured in accordance with the terms of such security agreement, lease, or conditional sale contract, if such cure is permissible under that agreement, lease, or conditional sale contract.

(2) The equipment described in this paragraph—

(A) is rolling stock equipment or accessories used on rolling stock equipment, including superstructures or racks, that is subject to the security interest granted by, leased to, or conditionally sold to a debtor; and

(B) includes all records and documents relating to such equipment that are required, under the terms of the security agreement, lease, or conditional sale contract, that is to be surrendered or returned by the debtor in connection with the surrender or return of such equipment.

(3) Paragraph (1) applies to a secured party, lessor, or conditional vendor acting in its own behalf or acting as trustee or otherwise in behalf of another party.

(b) The trustee and the secured party, lessor, or conditional vendor whose right to take possession is protected under subsection (a) may agree, subject to the court’s approval, to extend the 60-day period specified in subsection (a)(1).

(c) In any case under this chapter, the trustee shall immediately surrender and return to a secured party, lessor, or conditional vendor, described in subsection (a)(1), equipment described in subsection (a)(2), if at any time after the date of commencement of the case under this chapter such secured party, lessor, or conditional vendor is entitled pursuant to subsection (a)(1) to take possession of such equipment and makes a written demand for such possession of the trustee;

(2) At such time as the trustee is required under paragraph (1) to surrender and return equipment described in subsection (a)(2), any lease or conditional sale contract is an executory contract, shall be deemed rejected.

(d) With respect to equipment first placed in service on or before October 22, 1994, for purposes of this section, the term ‘rolling stock equipment’ includes rolling stock equipment that is substantially rebuilt and accessories used on such equipment;”

SEC. 7111. AIRCRAFT EQUIPMENT AND VESSELS.—Section 1110 of title 11, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1110. Aircraft equipment and vessels

(a)(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2) and subsection to subsection (b), the right of a secured party with a security interest in equipment described in paragraph (3), or of a lessor or conditional vendor of such equipment, to take possession of such equipment in compliance with a security agreement, lease, or conditional sale contract, and to enforce, sell, lease, or otherwise retain or dispose of such equipment, if a cure with the terms of such security agreement, lease, or conditional sale contract; and

(2) The term ‘security interest’ means a purchase-money equipment security interest;”

SEC. 7112. CURBING ABUSIVE FILINGS.—In general.—Section 362(b)(3) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (2), by striking ‘or’ at the end;

(2) in paragraph (3), by striking the period at the end and inserting ‘; and’;

(3) by adding at the end the following:

"(4) With respect to a stay of an act against real property under subsection (a), by a creditor whose claim is secured by an interest in such real estate, if the court finds that the filing of the bankruptcy petition was part of a scheme to delay, hinder, and defraud creditors that involved either—

(A) the transfer of all or part ownership of, or other interest in, the real property without the consent of the secured creditor or court approval; or

(B) multiple bankruptcy filings affecting the real property.

If the transfer is in compliance with applicable State laws governing notices of interests or liens in real property, an order entered pursuant to this subsection shall be binding in any other case under this title purporting to affect the real property filed not later than 2 years after that recording, except that a debtor in a subsequent case may move for relief from such order based upon changed circumstances or for good cause shown, after notice and a hearing.”

SEC. 7113. STRIPPING SECURITY INTERESTS.—Section 362(b) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by section 709, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (24), by striking ‘or’ at the end;

(2) in paragraph (25) by striking the period at the end and inserting ‘; or’;

(3) by adding at the end the following:

"(25) under subsection (a) of this section, of any act to enforce any lien against or security interest in real property following the entry of an order under section 362(d)(4) as to the property in any prior bankruptcy case for a period of 2 years after entry of such an order. The debtor in a subsequent case, however, may move the court for relief from such order based upon changed circumstances or for good cause shown, after notice and a hearing; or
‘‘(2)’’ under subsection (a) of this section, of any act to enforce any lien against or security interest in real property—

(A) if the debtor is ineligible under section 362(e) to be a debtor in a bankruptcy case; or—

(B) if the bankruptcy case was filed in violation of a bankruptcy court order in a prior case and the contempt is for noncompliance from being a debtor in another bankruptcy case.’’.—

SEC. 732. STUDY OF OPERATION OF TITLE 11 OF THE UNITED STATES CODE WITH RESPECT TO SMALL BUSINESSES.

Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator of the Small Business Administration, in consultation with the Attorney General, the Director of the Administrative Office of United States Trustees, and the Director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts, shall—

(1) conduct a study to determine—

(A) the internal and external factors that cause small businesses, especially sole proprietorships, to become debtors in cases under title 11 of the United States Code and that cause such small businesses to file bankruptcy, or to successfully complete cases under chapter 11 of such title; and—

(B) how Federal laws relating to bankruptcy can be reformed to be more effective and efficient in assisting small businesses to remain viable; and—

(2) submit to the President, pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives a report summarizing that study.

SEC. 733. TRANSFERS MADE BY NONPROFIT CHARITABLE CORPORATIONS.

(a) SALE OF PROPERTY OF ESTATE.—Section 363(d)(1) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by—

(1) by striking ‘‘only’’ and all that follows through the end of the subsection and inserting ‘‘only’’—

‘‘(1) in accordance with applicable nonbankruptcy law that governs the transfer of property by a corporation or trust that is not a moneyed, business, or commercial corporation or trust; and—

‘‘(2) to the extent not inconsistent with any relief granted under subsection (c), (d), (e), or (f) of section 362—

(b) CONFIRMATION OF PLAN FOR REORGANIZATION.—Section 1129(a) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(A) All transfers of property of the plan shall be made in accordance with any applicable provisions of nonbankruptcy law that govern the transfer of property by a corporation or trust that is not a moneyed, business, or commercial corporation or trust.’’.—

(c) TRANSFER OF PROPERTY.—Section 541 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

‘‘(e) Notwithstanding any other provision of this title, property that is held by a debtor or a corporation described in section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 and exempt from tax under section 501(a) of such Code may be transferred to an entity that is not a corporation, but only under the same conditions as would apply if the debtor had not filed a case under this title.’’.—

(d) APPLICABILITY.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to a case pending under title 11, United States Code, on the date of enactment of this Act, except that the confirmation of a plan under chapter 11 of title 11 of this title without considering whether this section would substantially affect the rights of a party in interest who first appeared with respect to the debtor after the date of the petition. The parties who may appear and be heard in a proceeding under this section include the attorney general of the State in which the debtor is incorporated, or does business.—

SEC. 734. EFFECTIVE DATE; APPLICATION OF AMENDMENTS.

(a) EFFECTIVE DATE.—Except as provided in subsection (b), the amendments made by this title shall take effect on the date of enactment of this Act.—

(b) APPLICATION OF AMENDMENTS.—The amendments made by this title shall apply only with respect to cases commenced under title 11, United States Code, on or after the date of enactment of this Act.—

SEC. 735. STUDY OF TRANSFERS MADE BY NONPROFIT CHARITABLE CORPORATION.—(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The National Academy of Sciences issued a report entitled ‘‘Musculoskeletal Disorders and Low Back and Upper Extremities’’ on January 18, 2001. The report was issued after the Occupational Safety and Health Administration promulgated a final rule relating to ergonomics (published at 65 Fed. Reg. 68261 (2000)).

(2) According to the National Academy of Sciences, musculoskeletal disorders of the lower back and upper extremities are an important and costly national health problem. An estimated 1,000,000 workers each year lose time from work as a result of work-related musculoskeletal disorders.

(3) Conservative estimates of the economic burden imposed by work-related musculoskeletal disorders, as measured by compensation costs, lost wages, and lost productivity, are between $45,000,000,000 and $54,000,000,000 annually.

(4) Congress charged the Secretary of Labor with implementing the Act to accomplish this purpose.

(5) Promotion of a standard on workplace ergonomics is needed to address a serious workplace safety and health problem and to protect working men and women from work-related musculoskeletal disorders. Any subsequent (A), this title and the amendments made by this title shall apply only with respect to cases commenced under title 11, United States Code, on or after the date of enactment of this Act.

SEC. 736. EFFECTIVE DATE; APPLICATION OF AMENDMENTS.

(a) EFFECTIVE DATE.—Except as provided in subsection (b), the amendments made by this title shall take effect on the date of enactment of this Act.—

(b) APPLICATION OF AMENDMENTS.—The amendments made by this title shall apply only with respect to cases commenced under title 11, United States Code, on or after the date of enactment of this Act.—

SEC. 737. STUDY OF TRANSFERS MADE BY NONPROFIT CHARITABLE CORPORATION.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The National Academy of Sciences issued a report entitled ‘‘Musculoskeletal Disorders and Low Back and Upper Extremities’’ on January 18, 2001. The report was issued after the Occupational Safety and Health Administration promulgated a final rule relating to ergonomics (published at 65 Fed. Reg. 68261 (2000)).

(2) According to the National Academy of Sciences, musculoskeletal disorders of the lower back and upper extremities are an important and costly national health problem. An estimated 1,000,000 workers each year lose time from work as a result of work-related musculoskeletal disorders.

(3) Conservative estimates of the economic burden imposed by work-related musculoskeletal disorders, as measured by compensation costs, lost wages, and lost productivity, are between $45,000,000,000 and $54,000,000,000 annually.

(4) Congress charged the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (29 U.S.C. 651 et seq.) to ‘‘assure so far as possible every working man and woman in the Nation safe and healthful working conditions and to safeguard his life from unauthorized hazards.’’ The Secretary of Labor was appointed by Congress in accordance with section 801(b)(2) of title 5, United States Code, with respect to the issuance of a new ergonomics rule.

SEC. 738. EFFECTIVE DATE; APPLICATION OF AMENDMENTS.

(a) EFFECTIVE DATE.—Except as provided in subsection (b), the amendments made by this title shall take effect on the date of enactment of this Act.—

(b) APPLICATION OF AMENDMENTS.—The amendments made by this title shall apply only with respect to cases commenced under title 11, United States Code, on or after the date of enactment of this Act.
NOTICES OF HEARINGS/MEETINGS
COMMITTEE ON INDIAN AFFAIRS

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. President, I would like to announce that the Committee on Indian Affairs will meet on Wednesday, March 14, 2001 at 9:30 a.m. in room 415 of the Russell Senate Office Building to conduct a business meeting to consider the committee’s views and estimates on the President’s FY 2002 Budget Request for Indian Programs to be followed immediately by a hearing on S. 311, the Native American Education Improvement Act of 2001.

Those wishing additional information may contact Committee staff at 202-224-2251.

AUTHORITY FOR COMMITTEES TO MEET

COMMITTEE ON COMMERCE, SCIENCE, AND TRANSPORTATION

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation be authorized to meet on Tuesday, March 13, 2001, at 9:30 a.m. on S. 415—Aviation Competition Restoration Act.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Finance be authorized to meet during the session of the Senate on Wednesday, March 14, 2001, at 2 p.m. on S. 361—Age 60 Rule.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on the Judiciary be authorized to meet to conduct a hearing on Tuesday, March 13, 2001, at 10 a.m., in Dirksen 226.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

APPOINTMENT

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair announces, on behalf of the Democratic Leader, pursuant to Public Law 101-509, the reappointment of Elizabeth Scott of South Dakota to the Advisory Committee on the Records of Congress.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of Senate Resolution 59 submitted earlier by Senator Hutchinson of Texas for herself and others.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the resolution by title.

The assistant legislative clerk read the resolution as follows:

A resolution (S. Res. 59) designating the week of March 11 through March 17, 2001, as “National Girl Scout Week.”

There being no objection, the Senate, proceeded to consider the resolution.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the resolution be agreed to, the preamble be agreed to, the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table, and, finally, any statements relating to the resolution be printed in the RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

ORDERS FOR WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 2001

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate complete its business today, adjourn until the hour of 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday, March 14. I further ask consent that on Wednesday, immediately following the prayer, the Journal of Proceedings be approved to date, the morning hour be deemed expired, the time for the two leaders be reserved for their use later in the day, and the Senate then begin a period of morning business until 10:30 a.m., with Senators speaking for up to 5 minutes each, with the following exceptions: Senator Thomas or his designee, 9:30 to 10 o’clock; Senator Feingold or his designee, 10 o’clock to 10:30.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

PROGRAM

Mr. GRASSLEY. For the information of all Senators, the Senate will be in a period of morning business until 10:30 a.m. Following morning business, the Senate will resume consideration of the bankruptcy reform legislation. Votes will occur on the following amendments in a stacked sequence at approximately 10:45 a.m.: the Carnahan amendment No. 40, the Smith of Oregon amendment No. 95, and the Wyden amendment No. 78. Following the votes, debate on the Wellstone amendment regarding debt collection will resume. Further amendments are expected to be offered, debated, and also voted on.

By previous consent, the cloture vote will occur at 4 p.m. Therefore, pursuant to rule XXII, second-degree amendments must be filed by 3 p.m.

ADJOURNMENT UNTIL 9:30 A.M. TOMORROW

Mr. GRASSLEY. If there is no further business to come before the Senate, I now ask unanimous consent that the Senate stand in adjournment under the previous order. There being no objection, the Senate, at 8:35 p.m., adjourned until March 14, 2001, at 9:30 a.m.

NOMINATIONS

Executive nominations received by the Senate March 13, 2001:

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

DIT S. ZAKHEIM, OF MARYLAND, TO BE UNDER SECRETARY OF DEFENSE (COMPTROLLER), VICE WILIAM J. LYNN, III.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

THEODORE KURT OLSON, OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, TO BE SOLICITOR GENERAL OF THE UNITED STATES, VICE SETH WAXMAN, RESIGNED.

FOREIGN SERVICE

THE FOLLOWING-NAMED PERSONS OF THE AGENCIES INDICATED FOR APPOINTMENT AS FOREIGN SERVICE OFFICERS OF THE CLASS STATED, AND ALSO FOR THE OTHER APPOINTMENTS INDICATED HEREBY:

FOR APPOINTMENT AS FOREIGN SERVICE OFFICER OF CLASS TWO, CONSULAR OFFICER AND SECRETARY IN THE DIPLOMATIC SERVICE OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA:

AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

E. CECILE ADAMS, OF TEXAS

WILLIAM HAMMOND, OF FLORIDA

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

FRANK J. MANGANIELLO, OF VIRGINIA

FOR APPOINTMENT AS FOREIGN SERVICE OFFICER OF CLASS THREE, CONSULAR OFFICER AND SECRETARY IN THE DIPLOMATIC SERVICE OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA:

AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

MATTHEW PHILIP RATHGEBER, OF TEXAS
EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

HONORING ORGANIZATION COMMUNITY SERVICE AWARD RECIPIENT, COURT APPOINTED SPECIAL ADVOCATES (CASA)

HON. TOM DAVIS
OF VIRGINIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. DAVIS of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity to honor an organization in Northern Virginia that has made serving neglected and abused children its priority. Court Appointed Special Advocates has been serving the community for over a decade, and its dedication throughout our region is being rewarded at the Springfield Inter-Service Award Ceremony on March 14, 2001.

Court Appointed Special Advocates, or CASA, is a national organization dedicated to ensuring that the best interests of abused and neglected children are represented in court. It was started in Washington State in 1976 by King County Superior Court Presiding Judge David W. Soukop. The court found that before the formation of CASA, attorneys did not spend the necessary time and did not have the adequate training to provide the thorough investigation needed in these cases. Judge Soukop decided to recruit volunteers to do the required research and stay with the children as their court cases unfolded.

There are programs in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the Virgin Islands. There are 25 CASA offices in Virginia, the largest of which is in Fairfax. The office in Fairfax was opened in 1989 and to date has helped over 3,000 children. With 150 volunteers, it is currently serving 400 children. Working with attorneys, school and medical officials, and social workers, CASA volunteers act on behalf of the children involved in cases so they do not become just another docket number.

CASA volunteers must complete hours of training and are then sworn in by a judge. Before taking on a case, volunteers work hard to attain knowledge of the case by sitting in on a day of proceedings on that particular case. The dedication of these volunteers to the children they are asked to represent helps these children through very traumatic times. The first priority of CASA is to help children. They do not investigate the abuse; they only look into information about the child and the family. Their mandate is “what is in the best interest of the child.”

Mr. Speaker, in closing, I wish the very best to CASA as it is honored at the Springfield Inter-Service Awards Banquet in Springfield, Virginia. The volunteers certainly have earned this recognition, and I call upon all of my colleagues to join me in applauding their remarkable achievement.

INTRODUCTION OF FLAG PROTECTION AMENDMENT

HON. RANDY “DUKE” CUNNINGHAM
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. CUNNINGHAM. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to reintroduce legislation which would amend the Constitution to prevent desecration of the American flag. This measure is identical to H.J. Res. 33, which I sponsored in the last session of Congress, and language previously adopted by the House. It is necessary to restore protections for the symbol of our nation and all its ruling, the House four times has acted on a Flag Protection Constitutional Amendment, passing it three times with well over the two-thirds majority required. The Senate has also acted, failing to achieve the two-thirds votes necessary to move the amendment forward to the states for ratification by a mere handful of votes. With the Senate coming just three votes shy of that goal last year, and a new administration which has expressed its support for the Flag Protection Amendment, we are now within reach of victory.

As a combat veteran who served 20 years in the Navy, there are almost no words adequate to convey the significance of the U.S. flag to me. But I can tell you that each color represents the United States and all its sacrifices that were made to sustain it at home and abroad, that decision was a horrible affair—and the call to action was immediate.

Inspired to preserve our national trademark and unalloyed symbol of unity, Congress quickly moved to pass a law restoring flag protections. But in its 5–4 ruling on United States v. Eichman in 1989, the Supreme Court once again found that flag protections were inconsistent with free expression rights accorded under the first amendment. That ruling made clear that restoration of flag protections would require a constitutional amendment. The sense that ratification lies just around the corner four times has acted as a steady symbol of the liberties we enjoy—a way of life that should be protected for future generations and defended for others who aspire to it. And for POWs who endured unthinkable torture and deprivation, it was a source of hope and strength that helped them persevere another day.

There have been several major incidents of flag burning since the Court ruling in 1990. These incidents tear at me, and represent a direct attack on all I hold dear about this country. The Constitution was not designed to protect actions which jeopordize our rights, and the government has long acted to restrict speech and conduct that could cause harm to others. Those who want to express their anger against this country have options that don’t involve destroying the sacred symbol that belongs to all citizens.

At a time when we are faced with increasing youth violence and cultural breakdown, restoring our most recognized sign of unity would be a positive step in the right direction—providing a steady reminder that living free comes with responsibility to respect others.

Mr. Speaker, the state of Israel has laws protecting not only its flag, but the flags of its allies as well. It is inexplicable to me that the United States is being told by its courts to tolerate such acts of hatred and violence against its flag when our allies go to such great lengths to protect it. Over 75 percent of Americans consistently agree: the time to restore protections for our flag is long overdue. I ask my colleagues to join me in support of this constitutional amendment and to move it back to the American people for speedy ratification.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. CASS BALLENGER
OF NORTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. BALLenger. Mr. Speaker, on Thursday, I regret that I missed rollcall votes 43, 44, and 45 on the Economic Growth and Tax Relief Act of 2001 (H.R. 3). Had I been present, I would have voted “Yes” to Table the Motion to Reconsider; “No” on the Motion to Recommit with Instructions; and “Yea” on Final Passage of H.R. 3. As Co-Chairman of the Interparliamentary Forum of the Americas, which met in Ottawa, Canada, last week, I had to leave the House chamber following my vote against the Rangel Substitute Amendment to H.R. 3 in order to make my flight to Canada.

My attendance at this forum is in furtherance of my official duties as Chairman of the International Relations Subcommittee on the Western Hemisphere. The Forum included representatives from 27 nations, and I was the sole representative of the U.S. Congress in attendance.

EXPRESSING SUPPORT FOR A NATIONAL REFLEX SYMPATHETIC DYSTROPHY (RSD) MONTH

HON. THOMAS M. BARRETT
OF WISCONSIN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. BARRETT of Wisconsin. Mr. Speaker, I rise in recognition of and support for people who suffer from reflex sympathetic dystrophy (RSD), a chronic pain disorder. RSD affects the body’s sensory and autonomic nervous systems, and can cause severe pain, swelling, and disfigurement. People with RSD may experience pain that is out of proportion to the injury or illness that caused it. This can make it difficult for people with RSD to function normally. I am committed to doing all I can to support research into RSD and to ensure that people with RSD have access to the care they need.

Matter set in this typeface indicates words inserted or appended, rather than spoken, by a Member of the House on the floor.
like Betsy Herman who suffer from an excruciatingly painful disease called Reflex Sympathetic Dystrophy (RSD). RSD is a port-tacular condition triggered by an injury, surgery, or infection. In simple terms, it is a malfunction of the nervous system in the body's attempt to heal. It may strike at any time, resulting in intense or disabling pain, stiffness, swelling, skin discoloration of the nerves, muscles, bones, skin and circulatory system.

Because RSD is a complex and little-known disease, Betsy, like scores of RSD sufferers, went for years without being diagnosed with this debilitating disorder. Instead of receiving prompt treatment for RSD after a sprained ankle and pulled muscle when she was 12 (which could have led to full recovery), Betsy was accused of faking and exaggerating her condition and was sent for psychological counseling.

Unfortunately, six years and several surgeries later, Betsy now walks with the help of an implanted device and must drive over 100 miles once a week for treatment. While other teenagers play sports and attend proms, Betsy must spend her time in session until she walks the halls of her high school to assure that she isn't bumped, since even the slightest touch can sometimes cause severe pain.

Despite the tremendous physical agony and emotional pain Betsy has suffered at the hands of RSD, she has worked diligently to educate the public about the condition. She recognizes that public education will help lead to correct diagnosis and increased investments in research and treatment for RSD. She also created an on-line support group for teens with RSD, providing a crucial lifeline to other young people afflicted with this incurable disease. In recognition of her efforts, the RSD Hope Group recently presented Betsy with its Humanitarian of the Year Award.

It is for Betsy Herman and other RSD sufferers that I introduce this Concurrent Resolution today expressing the sense of Congress that May should be named National Reflex Sympathetic Dystrophy Awareness Month." I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this effort to increase awareness, augment funding, and better diagnose and treat this horrible disease.

HONORING BOB WESTMORELAND AWARD RECIPIENT, JEANNE BURNS

HON. TOM DAVIS
OF VIRGINIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. TOM DAVIS of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity to honor a friend of Northern Virginia, Ms. Jeanne Burns, for her many years of service to the community. Her dedication throughout our region is being rewarded at the Springfield Inter-Service Award Ceremony on March 14, 2001.

Ms. Burns' outstanding contributions to Northern Virginia have paved the way for many tremendous achievements. She served on the PTA Board at Crestwood Elementary School, where she assisted in raising thousands of dollars last year alone. The money went to support after-school programs for at-risk children, fund school field trips, provide summer school tuition for children in need, and to promote art programs through a grant with the Virginia Fine Arts Commission.

Her time is split between her work at the elementary school PTA and the PTA Board at both Key Middle School and Lee High School. Ms. Burns is also active in the schools' booster clubs. Part of her time is spent raising money for graduation parties. Ms. Burns contributed to the planning of millennium activities in Fairfax County with the group "Celebrate Fairfax." One of her other community endeavors was the Fairfax Fall Festival, which is held every year in the downtown area of the City of Fairfax. She was active in securing health care exhibits for the festival, as well as for a community health fair held at Crestwood Elementary School.

She is currently doing volunteer work at Crestwood Elementary every Monday and Wednesday night, where she works with non-English-speaking adults in literacy classes. Ms. Burns volunteers earlier on those days to teach English to young, immigrant mothers. She provides the classes with supplements that she prepares herself.

Ms. Burns has worked diligently to actively support Crestwood Elementary School with fundraising efforts and fulfills her commitment to educate non-English-speaking residents. She reminds us that there are people who are willing to give so much and ask for so little in return.

Mr. Speaker, in closing, I wish the very best to Ms. Burns as she is honored at the Springfield Inter-Service Awards Banquet in Springfield, Virginia. She certainly has earned this recognition, and I call upon all of my colleagues to join me in applauding her remarkable achievements.

CONGRATULATING THE MONMOUTH "HAWKS"

HON. FRANK PALLONE, JR.
OF NEW JERSEY
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to draw the attention of my colleagues to Monmouth University in West Long Branch, NJ, which captured the Northeast Conference basketball championship Monday night. This gives Monmouth University a berth in the NCAA basketball tournament, the second time it has qualified for the national championships. Monmouth defeated St. Francis of New York 67-64 under the leadership of four-year head coach Dave Calloway. I congratulate Coach Calloway and his team for reaching this impressive milestone.

Monday night's achievement offers me the opportunity to highlight Monmouth University— an outstanding educational institution located near the seashore in Monmouth County, NJ. I have always been very proud of "Monmouth" which has educated thousands of my constituents over the years with the highest academic standards. In recent years, it has grown from a small college to a university. It now has a total student population of 5,635 and an outstanding faculty of 220. It features the only B.S. and M.S. program in Software Engineering in New Jersey, not to mention many other innovative, attractive programs.

Originally its only large campus building was Wilson Hall—the summer home of Woodrow Wilson when he was President. In 1961, Monmouth College was bequeathed the summer home of the wealthy Guggenheim family for use as library. Both structures are on the National Register of Historic Places. Since then, many impressive campus buildings have been constructed including one named after my predecessor, Representative James J. Howard.

The success of the Monmouth "Hawks" basketball team has in many ways paralleled the growth of Monmouth University as an educational institution. I congratulate them on their success and wish them the best of luck on their near and long-term endeavors.

WAIVING THE MEDICARE PART B PENALTY FOR MILITARY RETIREES WHO ENROLL IN TRICARE FOR LIFE

HON. PATSY T. MINK
OF HAWAII
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mrs. MINK of Hawaii. Mr. Speaker, I rise to introduce a bill to amend the portion of last year's Defense Authorization Act that extends health care benefits to military retirees.

Congress made great strides toward fulfilling its promise of health care for life for all members of the military when it extended TRICARE benefits to retired members of the military and their families. However, the legislation required that beneficiaries have Medicare Part B.

I have been contacted by several constituents who would like to take advantage of the new health benefits, but never enrolled in Medicare Part B. Current law states that if a person is not enrolled in Medicare Part B, their monthly premium is increased 10% for each year past the age of 65 that they have not been enrolled. For example, an 80-year-old individual enrolling in Medicare Part B for the first time would have a 150% penalty. Their monthly premium would be $125. The base premium for Medicare Part B is $50.

My bill waives the 10 percent penalty for enrolling in Medicare Part B. It also waives the Medicare Part B requirement for military retirees who are already enrolled in the Federal Employees Health Benefits Plan.

Military retirees should not be penalized for not having Medicare Part B. In addition, retirees should not be forced to enroll in Medicare Part B if they are already enrolled in the Federal Employees Health Benefits Plan.

I urge my colleagues to cosponsor this legislation.

HONORS ROSIE SORRENTINO ON HER 80TH BIRTHDAY

HON. ROSA L. DELAURO OF CONNECTICUT
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, it gives me great pleasure to rise today to honor one of New Haven, Connecticut's most treasured residents and my dear friend, Rosie Sorrentino, as she celebrates her 80th birthday. Throughout her life, Rose has been an inspiration to all of those who have known her.
I have often spoke of the importance of volunteer work and the tremendous impact volunteers have on our communities. When I speak of the time and dedication that they give, I often think of all the good work Rose has done. A founder and past editor of the Bella Vista Reporter, Rose continues to write for the residential publication, ensuring that residents and she continues to volunteer as a courtesy caller—making several calls each morning to check on her friends and neighbors.

For the past thirty years, Rose has dedicated her energy and enthusiasm to giving a strong voice to the residents of Bella Vista and the elderly. In addition to her work at Bella Vista, Rose has also given her time to numerous local and State committees and service organizations. She continues to be an active member of the Committee on Aging for the State of Connecticut, the Committee Supporters of Hospice, and the Committee of the Elderly for the City of New Haven. Over the course of three decades, Rose has established herself as one of the most vocal advocates for Connecticut’s elderly.

Rose is known throughout the City of New Haven for her work as Democratic Ward chair for New Haven’s 13th Ward. Her vibrancy and fervor is contagious—exhibiting the energy and tenacity one would see in someone more than half her age. Rose’s commitment to public service is undeniable and she has certainly left an indelible mark on the local political arena.

A mother of four, grandmother of three, and great-grandmother of three, I am continually in awe of the seemingly endless commitment and dedication Rose shows each day. I am proud to stand today and join her children, Penny, Peggy, Ernestine, and Susan, family, friends and community members in extending my sincere thanks and appreciation to Rose Sorrentino for her many contributions to our community. My warmest wishes for many more years of health and happiness. Happy birthday!

BOROUGH OF BUTLER CELEBRATES CENTENNIAL

HON. RODNEY P. FRELINGHUYSEN
OF NEW JERSEY
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN. Mr. Speaker, I am proud to offer congratulations to the Borough of Butler, of Morris County, New Jersey, which celebrates its centennial anniversary today.

Although known as Butler today, this community was originally called West Bloomingdale. Nestled in the foothills of the Ramapo Mountains in New Jersey, West Bloomingdale was still a village until, in 1879, land speculators realized the economic opportunities that could come to this area along the banks of the Kakeout Brook and Pequanock River.

The growth of the community is directly linked to the development of the rubber industry in the area. In fact, the community honored the president of the American Rubber Company, Richard Butler, by naming its post office after him in 1881.

Through the efforts of Mr. Butler, the land was surveyed and the village streets were laid out. Mr. Butler also donated land for the early school and the churches within the community.

As an industrial community, Butler experienced extensive growth, both economically and physically. Factories were built, the population grew, freight and passenger train service thrived.

By an act of the New Jersey Legislature, Butler became incorporated on March 13, 1901.

Prominent in the continued development of the borough was the American Hard Rubber Company and the Pequanock Rubber Company, which employed over 1,000 people. The relatively stable employment picture of these two plants contributed to the economic welfare of the community. The Borough of Butler owned municipal services not possessed by many other towns of a like size in the country. The Butler Water Company and The Butler Electric Company have serviced Butler and surrounding communities since the early 1900’s. In 1902 the Butler Volunteer Fire Department was formed.

Law enforcement was handled under the Marshall system from 1901 until March 13, 1939 when the Butler Police Department was started. The borough has graciously funded the Butler Museum since 1976 so that its history can be retained.

A fire at the Pequanoc River Company in 1957 and the closure of the Amerace Corporation (American Hard Rubber Company) in 1974 brought an end to the heyday of the factories in Butler and the beginnings of the lovely town one sees today.

Butler’s Centennial Celebration has its 7,200 residents remembering about its rich history and it has them looking forward to retaining Butler’s “small town” quality, which serves as an attraction for small business and industries.

The mayor and town council are beginning the next 100 years by revitalizing the borough with an attractive downtown area, by its continuing support of its schools, and by ongoing beautification programs for the borough park.

Mr. Speaker, I urge you and my colleagues to join me in congratulating the Borough of Butler on its 100th anniversary.

IN MEMORY OF SHERIFF GENE DARNELL

HON. IKE SKELTON
OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. SKELTON. Mr. Speaker, it is with deep sadness that I inform the House of Representatives of the passing of my good friend Gene Darnell, a resident of Lexington, Missouri. He was 68.

Gene, a son of the late Ennis Mark and Hannah K. Elkins Darnell, was born in Dover, Missouri, on June 12, 1932. He married Leona “Onie” Clouse on March 6, 1954. Gene then served honorably and successfully in the United States Army. He was very proud of his service as a soldier.

Gene was a deputy sheriff for Lafayette County from 1959 to 1964. In 1964, he was elected Sheriff of Lafayette County, and he was reelected six additional times. Gene was truly a unique and highly respected politician, a brilliant investigator, a masterful interrogator and a believable witness. He was founding member of the Missouri Rural Major Case Squad, and was Missouri Sheriff Pension Board Director. He was also a graduate of the Federal Bureau of Investigation National Academy.

Mr. Speaker, Gene Darnell will be greatly missed by all who knew him. I know the Members of the House will join in extending heart-felt condolences to his family his wife Onie and his siblings Fred Darnell, Kathryn Hayes and Mary Ann Maiz.

INTRODUCTION OF THE TELEWORK TAX INCENTIVE ACT

HON. FRANK R. WOLF
OF VIRGINIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. WOLF. Mr. Speaker, today I am introducing a bill to provide a $500 tax credit for telework. The purpose of my legislation is to provide an incentive to encourage more employers to consider telework for their employees. Telework should be a regular part of the 21st century workplace. The best part of telework is that it improves the quality of life for all.

Nearly 20 million Americans telework today, and according to experts, 40 percent of American jobs are compatible with telework. Telework reduces traffic congestion and air pollution. It reduces gas consumption and our dependency on foreign oil. Telework is good for families—working flexibility to meet everyday demands. Telework provides people with disabilities greater job opportunities. Telework helps fill our nation’s labor market shortage. It is also a good way for retirees to pick up part-time work.

Companies have significantly when they have a strong telecommuting program. At one national telecommunications company, nearly 25 percent of its employees work from home at least one day per week. The company found positive results in the way of fewer days of sick leave, better worker retention, higher productivity, and increased morale.

According to a George Mason University (Fairfax, VA) study, for every 1 percent of the Washington metropolitan region workforce that telecommutes, there is a 3 percent reduction in traffic delays. George Mason University completed another study which suggests that on Friday mornings there is a 2- to 4-percent drop in traffic volume in the Washington metro region, a so-called "Friday effect." It is promising news because it means that with just a 1- to 2-percent increase in the number of commuters who leave their cars parked and instead telework just one or two days per week, we could get to the so-called "Friday effect" all week long.

Two years ago, I participated in Virginia’s task force made a number of recommendations to encourage more companies to establish a tax credit toward the purchase and installation of electronic and computer equipment that allow an employee to telework. For example, the cost of a computer, fax machine, modem, phone, printer, software, copier, and other expenses necessary to enable telework could count toward a tax credit, provided the person worked at home a minimum number of days per year.

My legislation today would provide a $500 tax credit “for expenses paid or incurred under a teleworking arrangement for furnishings and electronic information equipment which are used to enable an individual to telework.” For example, the cost of a computer, fax machine, modem, software, etc., as well as home office furnishings. To be eligible for the credit, an employee must telework a minimum of 75 days per year to qualify for the tax credit. Both the employer and employee are eligible for the tax credit, but the tax credit goes to whomever absorbs the expense for setting up the at-home workspace.

I have stated before that work is something you do, not somewhere you go. Hopefully we can make telework a commonplace as the morning traffic report. There is nothing magical about strapping ourselves into a car and driving some time in the morning and then, arriving at a workplace and sitting before a computer. We can access the same information from a computer in our living rooms. Wouldn’t it be great if we could replace the evening rush hour commute with time spent with the family, or coaching little league or other important qualities of life?

Mr. Speaker, I hope our colleagues will consider signing on as a cosponsor of this proposal to promote telework and provide choices for employees in the workplace.

H.R. —
Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.
This Act may be cited as the “Telework Tax Incentive Act”.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.
The Congress finds as follows:
(1) Federal, State, and local governments spend billions of dollars annually on the Nation’s transit and transportation systems.
(2) Congestion on the Nation’s roads costs over $74,000,000,000 annually in lost work time, fuel consumption, and costs of infrastructure repair.
(3) On average on-road-vehicles contribute 30 percent of nitrogen oxides emissions.
(4) It is estimated that staying at home to work requires 3 times less energy consumption than commuting to work.
(5) It was recently reported that if an identified 10 to 20 percent of commuters switched to teleworking, 1,800,000 tons of regulated pollutants would be eliminated, 3,500,000 gallons of gas would be saved, 3,100,000,000 hours of idling would be freed up, and maintenance and infrastructure costs would decrease by $500,000,000 annually because of reduced congestion and reduced vehicle miles traveled.
(6) The average American daily commute is 62 minutes for a 44-mile round-trip (a total of 6 days per year and 5,088 miles per year).
(7) The increase in work from 1989 to 1996, the increase in hours spent in paid work, combined with a shift toward single-parent families resulted in families on average experiencing a decrease of 22 hours a week (14 percent) in parental time available outside of paid work they could spend with their children.
(8) Numerous studies with teleworking programs have found that teleworking can boost employee productivity 5 percent to 20 percent.
(9) Today 60 percent of the workforce is involved in information work (an increase of 43 percent since 1990) allowing and encouraging decentralization of paid work to occur.
(10) In recent studies performed in the United States have shown a marked expansion of teleworking, with an estimate of 19,000,000 Americans teleworking by the year 2002, 3,500,000,000 miles traveled.

SEC. 3. CREDIT FOR TELEWORKING.
(a) IN GENERAL.—Subpart B of part IV of chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to foreign tax credit, etc.) is amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 30B. TELEWORKING CREDIT.
(a) ALLOWANCE OF CREDIT.—In the case of an eligible taxpayer shall be allowed as a credit against the tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year an amount equal to the qualified teleworking expenses paid or incurred by the taxpayer during such year.

(b) MAXIMUM CREDIT.—
(1) PER TELEWORKER LIMITATION.—The credit allowed by subsection (a) for a taxable year with respect to qualified teleworking expenses paid or incurred by or on behalf of an individual teleworker shall not exceed $500.

(2) REDUCTION FOR TELEWORKING LESS THAN FULL YEAR.—In the case of an individual who is in a teleworking arrangement for less than the full taxable year, the amount referred to paragraph (1) shall be reduced by an amount which bears the same ratio to $500 as the number of months in which such individual is not in a teleworking arrangement bears to 12. For purposes of the preceeding sentence, an individual shall be treated as being in a teleworking arrangement for a month if the individual is subject to such arrangement for any day of such month.

(c) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section:
(1) ELIGIBLE TAXPAYER.—The term ‘eligible taxpayer’ means—
(A) in the case of an individual, an individual who performs services for an employer under a teleworking arrangement, and

(B) in the case of an employer, an employer for whom employees perform services under a teleworking arrangement.

(2) TELEWORKING ARRANGEMENT.—The term ‘teleworking arrangement’ means an arrangement under which an employee teleworks for an employer not less than 75 days per year.

(3) QUALIFIED TELEWORKING EXPENSES.—The term ‘qualified teleworking expenses’ means expenses paid or incurred under a teleworking arrangement for furnishings and electronic information equipment which are used to enable an individual to telework.

(4) TELEWORK.—The term ‘telework’ means to perform work functions, using electronic information and communication technologies, by physically commuting to and from the traditional worksite.

(5) LIMITATION BASED ON AMOUNT OF TAX.—
(1) LIABILITY FOR TAX.—The credit allowable under subsection (a) for any taxable year shall not exceed the excess (if any) of—
(A) the amount of tax under section 1, reduced by the sum of the credits allowable under subpart A and the preceding sections of this part, over

(B) the tentative minimum tax for the taxable year.

(2) CARRYFORWARD OF UNUSED CREDIT.—If the amount of the credit allowable under subsection (a) for any taxable year exceeds the limitation under paragraph (1) for the taxable year, the excess shall be carried to the succeeding taxable year and added to the amount allowable as a credit under subsection (a) for such succeeding taxable year.

(e) SPECIAL RULES.—
"(1) BASIS OF REDEMPTION.—The basis of any property for which a credit is allowable under subsection (a) shall be reduced by the amount of such credit determined without regard to subsection (d).

(2) RECAPTURE.—The Secretary shall, by regulations, provide for recapturing the benefit of any credit allowable under subsection (a) with respect to any property which ceases to be property eligible for such credit.

(3) PROPERTY USED OUTSIDE UNITED STATES, ETC.—No credit shall be allowed under subsection (a) with respect to any property referred to in section 50(b) or with respect to the portion of the cost of any property taken into account under section 179.

(4) ELECTION NOT TO TAKE CREDIT.—No credit shall be allowed under subsection (a) for any expense if the taxpayer elects to have this section not apply with respect to such expense.

(5) DENIAL OF DOUBLE BENEFIT.—No deduction or credit (other than under this section) shall be allowed under this chapter with respect to any expense which is taken into account in determining the credit under this section.

(b) TECHNICAL AMENDMENT.—Subsection (a) of section 1016 of such Code is amended by—
(b1) In the case of amounts with respect to which the term ‘electronic means’ includes a telecommunications facility, inserting ‘; or’, and, by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(b) to the extent provided in section 30B(e), in the case of amounts with respect to which a credit has been allowed under section 30B.
"

(c) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of sections for subpart B of part IV of subchapter A of chapter 1 of such Code is amended by adding at the end the following new item:

"Sec. 30B. Teleworking credit."

(d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to amounts paid or incurred after the date of the enactment of this Act, in taxable years ending after such date.

A TRIBUTE TO ROGER CARAS
HON. TON LANTOS
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. LANTOS. Mr. Speaker, all of us who are active in the movement to protect Animals recently lost a compassionate and articulate colleague. It is with a heavy heart that I rise today and pay tribute to a true friend of the animal welfare movement and a dear friend of mine, Roger Caras.

Mr. Speaker, Roger began his career in the film industry, but after 15 years as a motion picture executive, he left to follow his true calling, the study of animals in their natural habitat. This led him to a take position as the ‘Nature Journalist’ on NBC Today Show and later as a special correspondent covering animals and the environment for ABC. From these important and highly visible positions, Roger was able to share his passion for animals with millions of Americans.

Later in life, Roger became the President of the American Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (ASPCA). This is the oldest humane organization in the United States, and Roger served as its fourteenth President from 1991 to 1999. During his tenure, he was credited with transforming the ASPCA through the expansion of its national animal protection programs. Roger also played an integral role in strengthening the Society’s public education programs and increasing public awareness and support for animal welfare issues. His writings cover a wide range of topics, from pet care to children’s books. His fictionalized biographies of individual animals in their natural habitats were loved by children around the world. And to millions of dog lovers, Roger will always be remembered as the distinctive voice announcing the Westminster Dog Show at Madison Square Garden each February.

Mr. Speaker, Roger Caras was an extraordinary man who devoted his life to ensuring that animals are treated with the respect and care they deserve. I am sure I speak for all friends of animals when I say that Roger will be truly missed. I invite my colleagues to join me in mourning the passing of this outstanding leader.

LUCIE RETIRES AFTER 30 YEARS IN EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING FIELD

HON. PAUL E. KANJORSKI
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. KANJORSKI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Charles Luce, the executive director of the Luzerne County Human Resources Development Department. Charlie is retiring after 30 years in the employment and training field and will be honored with a testimonial dinner on March 14.

Charlie is the lead staff member for the Workforce Investment Board for Luzerne and Schuylkill counties, which receives federal and state funding to provide employment and training opportunities in Luzerne and Schuylkill counties. The board also oversees the one-stop CareerLink centers in both counties.

Under his leadership, the Luzerne/Schuylkill Workforce Investment Area is considered one of the best in the state.

He graduated from King’s College with a bachelor of arts in psychology and sociology and the University of Scranton with a master’s of science in human resources administration.

Mr. Speaker, in addition to serving the people of Northeastern Pennsylvania for the past 30 years by helping them train for the workplace, Charlie has long served his country. He is a Vietnam combat veteran as well as a veteran of the Persian Gulf War, and he is a colonel in the U.S. Army Reserve. He currently commands the 367th Military Police Group located in Ashland, Pennsylvania, where he is responsible for 10 subordinate M.P. units stationed throughout Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Charlie is also a community volunteer and active in many organizations. He is a member of the Economic Development Council of Northeastern Pennsylvania, King’s College Act 101, Catholic Social Services, Wilkes-Barre Area School District Strategic Planning Committee, the Reserve Officers Association, of which he is currently chairman of the Wilkes-Barre Industrial Development Authority and the Economic Development Corporation.

He is married to the former Antoinette Pucylowski, with whom he has two children. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to call to the attention of the House of Representatives the good works and distinguished career of Charles Luce, and I join the community he serves in wishing him all the best in retirement.

IN HONOR OF JUDGE JOSEPH BATTLE

HON. CURT WELDON
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. WELDON of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Judge Joseph Battle, Jr., a loyal public servant and a close person of mine, who passed away on March 11, 2001. Joseph Battle was a man who led by example and was a true bright spot in his hometown of Chester.

Joseph is the grandson of immigrants and son of a roofer. Joseph Battle was a lifelong resident of the City of Chester. Joseph graduated from Notre Dame with honors and received his law degree in 1962 from the University of Pennsylvania, where he was the recipient of the prestigious American Jurisprudence Award for Excellence in Local Government.

Joseph served his country bravely as an officer in the U.S. Army in Korea. Joseph’s outstanding duty was recognized when he was awarded the Commendation Medal for Meritorious Service.

With strong academic record and proven service to his country, Joseph could have taken his life experiences anywhere he wanted to. However, Joseph returned home to the City of Chester where he continued to serve his community. In 1986, Joseph was elected Mayor of Chester, a position he held until 1998.

An honest and caring man, Judge Battle had a joke and made everyone feel at ease. As Mayor of Chester, he helped clean up a city that was marred with a reputation of corruption. Today, Chester is undergoing a renaissance after years of hard times. Many of the improvements we see today can be traced back to changes he made two decades ago. Joe worked tirelessly to repair the name of the city he loved to serve.

Joe did not stop there. He continued to serve his community and Delaware County. Joe ran for county sheriff in 1985 and won by a huge margin. He served in that office until 1997 when he was appointed to the Common Pleas Court port by the late Gov. Robert Casey.

Judge Battle leaves us at the young age of 63. At the time of his passing, he was serving as the President Judge of Delaware County, a port he held with pride and honor.

Joseph was a kind and compassionate man, he as also a man of his word. One example makes the point. As a young man, Joseph promised to take care of his mother, a promise that he kept long after the death of his father.

This Weekend, My Congressional District lost a leader. The City of Chester lost a loyal champion. I lost a friend. Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in a tribute to Joseph Battle for his selfless dedication to his community and his country.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE CITY OF OAK CREEK WATER AND SEWER UTILITY

HON. GERALD D. KLECZKA
OF WISCONSIN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. KLECZKA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the City of Oak Creek, located in my district, for the outstanding work the city’s Water and Sewer Utility has done on the Oak Creek Aquifer Storage and Recovery Project. The city, along with the Milwaukee office of CH2M Hill, Inc., is being honored by the American Consulting Engineers Council at its 2001 Engineering Excellence Awards here in Washington, D.C. tonight.

Using Aquifer Storage and Recovery technology pioneered by CH2M Hill, Inc., the Oak Creek Water and Sewer Utility will store treated surface water in deep wells in the Sandstone Aquifer, where it will be available in the summer to meet seasonal demands. Use of this technology will allow the utility to cut its annual costs in half.

Oak Creek is on the cutting edge. Mr. Speaker. This new well is the first of its kind in the state, and by all accounts it’s been a rousing success, and I’m pleased to be able to commend them today for receiving this honor.

I’m also very proud to announce that the city’s water was recently named the best tasting purified water in the world by the judges at the 11th Annual Berkeley Springs International Water Testing Contest. I want to recognize the hard work of all the staff at Oak Creek Water and Sewer Utility, especially Dan Duchniak, Assistant Manager of the Utility, and former Manager Don Ashbaugh, who are in Washington tonight to receive the award. Kudos as well to Oak Creek Mayor Dale Richards for his leadership in this project.

TRIBUTE TO THE CARROLLTON LADY HAWKS

HON. JOHN SHIMKUS
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the Carrollton Lady Hawks who recently won the Illinois High School Association Class A basketball tournament. The Lady Hawks swept the tournament, winning all three games, and brought back their first state championship.

It was a great finish to a near perfect season. The Lady Hawks went an amazing 34–1 this year. They brought a lot of excitement and joy to all those that followed the team. Basketball great Michael Jordan once said, "Talent wins games, but teamwork and intelligence win championships." Every championship is the cumulative effort of each individual player and coach—each striving to be the best they can be—any given day.

I would like to personally thank everyone on a job well done. To the players: Karen Braninan, Laura Moss, Kaci Graham, Justine Tucker, Kara Gillingham, Katie Nolan, Alicia DeShasier, Emily Pohlman, Dana Carter, Molly Reed, Lauren Shneckel, Amber Shelton and Nicole Meyer, I couldn’t be more proud of you. I would also like to congratulate the coaches Lori Blade and Donna Farley on a great season. To everyone behind the scenes—the scorer, Elissa Settles; team manager, Courtney Symes; Athletic Director, Greg Pohlman; Principal, Terry Dillard and Superintendent Mike Barry—thanks for your hard work and support of the team.

HELPING SMALL BUSINESS CLEANERS ADOPT SAFER TECHNOLOGIES

HON. DONALD A. MANZULLO
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. MANZULLO. Mr. Speaker, today I am pleased to introduce—with my colleagues DAVE CAMP of Michigan and DAVID PRICE of North Carolina—a bipartisan legislative approach to pollution prevention for an industry that is struggling to maintain its prosperity in the face of very limited options for environmentally friendly, but costly, cleaning technologies.

The legislation we introduced today, The Small Business Pollution Prevention Opportunity Act of 2001, offers a positive alternative for owners of cleaning establishments, workers handling potentially hazardous solvents, as well as dry cleaning consumers. Our public health, the business community and our environment are the eventual winners.

To expedite the adoption of available and viable pollution prevention technologies by new and existing cleaners, we are proposing tax incentives. New and safer cleaning solvents, including but not limited to liquid carbon dioxide, water-based wet cleaning and even ozone, are available to the dry- and wet-cleaners. However, without a tax credit, these newer technologies are out of the financial reach for the tens of thousands of cleaning establishments across the country.

Last Congress, I worked diligently trying to enact similar legislation, and I held a hearing on July 20, 2000 in the House Small Business Committee to explore tax incentives to help small business cleaners adopt safer technologies. It was only last week, I co-sponsored the legislation, then offered by Representative DAVE CAMP. This year, as Chairman of the Small Business Committee, I was asked to take the lead on this important legislation. I am pleased that in addition to Representatives DAVE CAMP and PRICE, many other representatives, including ROB BOSWORTH, TAMMY BALDWIN, RICHARD BURR, RON PAUL, MARK UDALL, JOHN SHIMKUS, DIANA DEGETTE, and JERRY WELLER have joined us in supporting this important bill, that would provide cleaners with a 40-percent tax credit against the cost of pollution prevention cleaning equipment in empowerment zones, enterprise communities, or renewal communities and a 20-percent credit elsewhere.

The 35,000 dry and wet cleaners in this nation are one of the largest independent small business segments in this country. Almost everyone relies on their services from one time or another, and these businesses are centrally located in our communities. Many of us, including myself, did not realize the hazardous and flammable nature of the solvents used to clean our garments. These chemicals can pollute our air and groundwater and, when this happens, it costs millions of dollars to remedi ate the contaminated sites left behind. In fact, because of the liability attached to the expensive clean-up costs, many banks across the country are reluctant to make loans to cleaning businesses or unrelated businesses located nearby or in the same shopping center.

Many of us have read about or seen contaminated sites that have affected the drinking water of unsuspecting citizens and cost the government hundreds of thousands of dollars to clean it up. The U.S. Marines announced last November one of the worst cases of contami nated water supplies ever—caused potentially by a dry cleaner using perchloroethylene (PERC)—that caused unknown diseases to afflict Marines and their families for over two decades. The television station in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, that broke this sad story did a follow-up investigative report on the dry cleaning industry in Wisconsin and reported cause for concern. While the Camp Lejeune situation is reason enough for concern, we in the Congress need to help the military adopt environmentally-friendly cleaning processes and to help commercially available safe systems become more affordable and more accepted.

The small business cleaners in this nation are seeking a path to continue performing a valuable service, making a reasonable profit, and maintaining the public health and safety. Those cleaners who want to switch to safer cleaning systems face financial hurdles and need our help. Their availability of financing for new equipment is limited and their cash flow is not sufficient to spend unwisely. That is why this tax credit is needed and must be enacted.

I encourage my colleagues to join us in this win-win legislative effort where incentives are certain to change behavior faster and more efficiently than regulations, which seek to punish certain to change behavior faster and more efficiently than regulations, which seek to punish.

HONORING CHARLES P. SEXTON FOR HIS SERVICE TO COMMUNITY

HON. CURT WELDON
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. WELDON of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay special recognition to my friend and constituent Charles P. Sexton Jr. Charlie Sexton is celebrating his 25th year as an outstanding community leader in Spring field, Pennsylvania.

Charlie Sexton, son of Bernice and Charles Sr., was born March 1st in Ardmore, Pennsylvania. After serving his country valiantly in the United States Marine Corps, Charlie Sexton Jr. followed in his father’s footsteps served for seven years as a police officer with the Lower Merion Police Department. Always a strong law and order man, he served with distinction and honor as a uniformed police officer.

As a police officer, Charlie gained experience in surveillance, investigation and personal and professional property. In 1975 he took this knowledge to the private sector and founded a family-run business. Since its founding, Foulk Associates has expanded its facilities and clients with outstanding service and a clear commitment to quality. Today it is one of Delaware County’s finest family businesses.

While building his business and raising his family, Charlie found it difficult to ignore his strong political convictions. Tapped early on as a rising star, Charlie was hired as an Administrative Assistant to one of my predecessors, Congressman Larry Williams. While serving with Congressman Williams, Charlie developed a keen sense of the local political process. He learned the issues that impact our local communities, and he learned how to communicate our vision and ideals to middle-class working families. After gaining the respect of his neighbors and friends, he was chosen to lead the Republican Party in Springfield Township, a position that he holds to this day. Today, Charlie is one of the most respected political minds in our great state.

Much of what I have learned in my career in public life, I learned from Charlie Sexton. As a breeder of Champion Bloodhounds, Charlie has always maintained an incredible level of commitment and passion. Clearly, a quality that has filtered down to every endeavor he has undertaken.

Charlie Sexton’s commitment to his community is not only felt in political circles, but also at two important institutions in my district. For the last 8 years, Charlie has been an outspoken member of the Delaware County Prison Board. He also sits on the Board of Directors at one of the premier hospitals in Pennsylvania, Riddle Memorial Hospital in Media. Both of these institutions are better—and life in our community has improved—because of Charlie’s involvement.

Charlie resides in Springfield with his wife Inger. He is father to Annette and Kenneth, and he is a caring grandfather of five grandchildren—Kenneth, Michelle, Sean, Matthew and Christine.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in honoring a man who has always stood up for what he believes in. Let us applaud this dedicated, passionate and hard working American, Charles P. Sexton Jr.

HONORING RICHARD COSGROVE HONORED AS MAN OF THE YEAR

HON. PAUL E. KANJORSKI
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. KANJORSKI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Richard Bernard Cosgrove of Pittston Township, Pennsylvania, who will be honored as the Man of the Year by the Great Falls of Pittston Friendly Sons of St. Patrick on March 17.

Mr. Cosgrove has a long history of involvement in the community. He is a member and... past president of the Wyoming Valley Serra Club of Wilkes-Barre and a past district governor of District 80 of Serra International. He is also a member and past grand knight of President John F. Kennedy Council 372 of the Knights of Columbus in Pittston and a member of the council’s Fourth Degree Assembly.

In addition, he is a member of the parish community of St. Casimir, St. John the Evangelist and St. Joseph churches in Pittston, where he serves as a Eucharistic minister, an altar server and a member of the parish liturgy committee. He is also a past president of the parish Holy Name Society.

Mr. Speaker, Mr. Cosgrove is an institution in Northeastern Pennsylvania newspapers. After graduating from St. John the Evangelist High School in Pittston in 1941, his introduction to the business came in January, 1943, with the Times Leader in Wilkes-Barre. He joined the staff of the Sunday Dispatch in Pittston for the publication of its very first edition on February 9, 1947. He continued in various capacities with the Dispatch until the summer of 2000, when he affiliated with the Citizens’ Voice in Wilkes-Barre as a writer, a position he continues to hold today. He also served for several years as a local correspondent for the Scranton Tribune.

Mr. Cosgrove is a son of the late George and Elizabeth Healy Cosgrove. His wife, the former Mary Neary, passed away in April 1981. Their union was blessed with two sons, George B., principal of Pittston Area Middle School, and Joseph M., a practicing attorney.

Your unwavering support made this truly a team effort. It is my privilege to call to the attention of the House of Representatives the good works and distinguished career of Richard Cosgrove, and I join the Friendly Sons in congratulating him on this well-deserved honor.

A SALUTE TO THE PIRATES

HON. MIKE MCINTYRE
OF NORTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. Speaker. I rise today to honor the Lumberton High School women’s basketball team for their tremendous accomplishment this week. Their spirit and determination throughout the 29–1 season has been an inspiration to us all.

On Saturday, March 10, the Lady Pirates defeated East Wake High School 69–45 to win the North Carolina state 4A girls’ basketball title for the first time in school history. This is truly an amazing achievement for Coach Danny Graham, his coaching staff, and the entire Pirate team. It was the first state championship won by Lumberton’s girls in any sport. Lumberton’s only other state crown was a 2–A football title won in 1951.

Throughout the year, the Lady Pirates have represented the students and faculty of Lumberton High School well by sticking together and demonstrating the values of good sportsmanship. Coach Graham has instilled in his players the ethic of dedication, sacrifice, and teamwork in the pursuit of excellence, and instilled in the rest of us a renewed appreciation of what it means to win with dignity and integrity. Indeed, it was my distinct privilege to have personally experienced Coach Graham’s excellence in both instruction and inspiration when I had the opportunity to coach our sons’ basketball team together in the Lumberton Recreation Department’s basketball program several years ago.

I also salute the many students, teachers, coaches, administrators, friends and fans of Lumberton High School who cheered our Lady Pirates throughout the season and through the playoffs to the state title victory in Chapel Hill. Your unswerving support made this truly a family affair and an opportunity for unity in our community!

My fellow colleagues, please join me in congratulating this extraordinary group of players and their coaches, parents and classmates who cheered them on and made this year’s basketball season one to remember. Congratulations, Lady Pirates!

The 2000–2001 Lumberton High School Lady Pirates (listed alphabetically): Sheena Bell; Kanita Bivins; Jachuhaun Cogdell; Anna Evans; Jennifer Hammond; Letecia Hardin; Alicia Hunt; Jessica Hunt; Missy Jones; Cheryl Locklear; Shakwonda McNam; Billie McDowell; and LaTonya Washington.

INTRODUCING THE MEDIACAID ESTATE RECOVERY AMENDMENT

HON. NICK J. RAHALL II
OF WEST VIRGINIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Speaker, today I introduce an amendment to the Medicaid Estate Recovery Act, that would give the discretion of the states to decline to participate in the Medicaid Estate Recovery Program.

More than three decades ago, the Medicaid program was enacted and implemented throughout the States with a mission of bringing relief to the poor, with an emphasis on children and the frail elderly, which included long-term or nursing home care for those who could not afford it.

When the Estate Recovery program was instituted, it was at the discretion of the states as to whether they would participate in the recovery of Medicaid costs for the care of indigent elderly and disabled persons through the sale of their homes.

Among others, the State of West Virginia had declined to participate in a program that would take the homes of persons, just because they were extremely ill and unable to care for themselves or too poor to pay the costs of long-term or nursing home care. But in 1993 that discretion among the states was taken away, and in its place there was a statute mandating that states must participate in Medicaid estate recovery efforts as a condition of federal Medicaid funding. West Virginia reluctantly enacted a State law that would permit the selling of the homes for elderly victims who died while in the care of Medicaid-funded nursing care. The State did so only after HCFA advised them in no uncertain terms that if they did not, they would lose part or all of the State’s Medicaid funding.

As a result of the government’s mandate, my State enacted the law that would allow the State to practice estate recovery against helpless home owners who happened to be too poor to pay for their own end-of-life care. In protest, the State law as enacted directed West Virginia’s State Attorney General to file a lawsuit in federal court, claiming that the mandatory selling of people’s homes was a violation of the 10th Amendment of the Constitution. The State’s lawsuit is still pending.

That was eight years ago, and no relief is in sight. That is why I have introduced my bill today, that would restore to the states their own discretion as to whether they will participate in estate recovery. Under my legislation, there were states that wish to continue to sell the homes of the elderly in order to recover the Medicaid costs of their end-of-life care, may continue to do so. But for West Virginia (and three other states who have steadfastly declined to ever implement an estate recovery program: Michigan, Georgia and Texas), it will have the discretion it had prior to the 1993 amendment to the Medicaid Act not to do so.

As stated above, the original purpose of the Medicaid program was to provide funding to the states to furnish medical assistance to vulnerable populations with inadequate resources. There was no indication then that states would later be required to collect monies from the estates of the very same persons who were deemed by federal law to be vulnerable as to require medical assistance.

I would like to give my colleagues one example of the disparity between poor and more affluent states when it comes to winning or losing under the estate recovery program.

Estate recovery in a State which has a 50 percent federal matching share of Medicaid funds (FMAP), and which state recovered $2.5 million in a given year, that state would be able to keep $1.075 million in estate recovery funds for its own use. In a poorer state, like West Virginia, with a federal matching share of Medicaid funding (FMAP) of 75 percent, it would have been able to retain no more than $425,000 in estate recovery monies for its own use (West Virginia returns 75 percent of recovered funds to the Federal treasury, and pays 19.6 percent to a collection agency to carry out the estate recovery actions against the estates of persons who died while receiving Medicaid funded long term care. In other words the poorest states receiving the highest Federal matching shares under Medicaid receive the least benefit from estate recovery, and they return the most money to the Federal treasury. This disparity results in the reversal of the direction of transfer payments on which the Medicaid program is based. In simpler terms, estate recovery subsidizes the better-off state with the assets of those residing in the poorer states.

I urge my colleagues to support this legislation restoring to the states the discretion to implement and carry out an estate recovery program, in lieu of the current mandate. In this manner Congress will have allowed those states who desire to continue estate recovery activities to do so, while giving states that do not wish to participate in estate recovery the right to withdraw.
TRIBUTE TO LIEUTENANT JUNIOR GRAGE JOHN G. ROTHROCK

HON. GARY G. MILLER
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. GARY MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise to commend Lieutenant Junior Grade John G. Rothrock as he receives the Navy and Marine Corps Achievement Medal.

As a United States Navy Recruiting Liaison Officer, Rothrock is responsible for recruiting Naval Reserve Intelligence Officers. His hard work and dedication has been cited as contributing to the selection of his area as the “Area of the Year for FY 2000.” In addition, his peers consider him to be a true team player who leads by example.

In addition to his Naval Reserve responsibilities, Lieutenant Junior Grade Rothrock serves as my Chief of Staff. His leadership abilities are evident in the management of both my DC and district offices. Lieutenant Junior Grade Rothrock cares for the professional performance of the staff members he directs, but also their personal well-being. This concern has contributed greatly to the stability of my highly motivated staff.

Lieutenant Junior Grade Rothrock, despite his youthful age, has already achieved a distinguished career on Capitol Hill. He has served Congressmen BALLINGER, GUTKNECHT, and PICKERING, as well as the House Committee on Science. Prior to moving to Washington, DC, his budding political expertise was utilized by several campaigns in his home state of North Carolina.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that this 107th Congress join me in congratulating Lieutenant Junior Grade John Rothrock as he receives the Navy and Marine Corps Achievement Medal.

A TRIBUTE TO MRS. JOAN P. ALTMAN

HON. MIKE McINTYRE
OF NORTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. McINTYRE. Mr. Speaker, today I want to extend my warmest thanks and my most sincere best wishes to Mayor Joan P. Altman who will be leaving southeastern North Carolina after many years of service to the citizens of Oak Island, Brunswick County, and the State of North Carolina.

Currently serving her fifth term as Mayor of Oak Island, Joan has been an instrumental leader and good steward of the public’s interest in a variety of capacities. Mayor Altman currently serves as Chairman of the North Carolina League of Municipalities Energy, Environment, and Natural Resources Committee. She is a member of the N.C. General Assembly Legislative Research Commission Committee on Beach Issues and was a member of the N.C. Estuarine Water Quality Stakeholder Group. In addition to her public service, Joan serves her community in a variety of other ways, including being a member of the Brunswick County Board of Trustees, Cape Fear Area United Way Board of Directors, and Cape Fear Council Boy Scouts Board of Directors.

When I think of Joan’s commitment to the public good, the words “spirit, sacrifice, and service” come to mind. Joan’s positive spirit has always been to do the task at hand—a spirit that inspires others to achieve. Joan’s sacrifice in time and commitment has been to make southeastern North Carolina a better place to live and work—a sacrifice that meant doing the right thing and not being concerned with who gets the credit.

Pearl S. Buck once said, “To serve is beautiful, but only if it is done with joy and a whole heart and free mind.” Joan, there is no question that your years of service have been the epitome of this statement. Service to others has been the embodiment of your life—service that sets a path for others to follow and that we all should emulate.

As you enter this next stage of your life, I am confident that your talents and energy will continue to be of benefit to many. Through your commitment to your family, and your community, a shining jewel you will continue to be.

Bart Giamatti, the former President of Yale University, said it well in 1987, “Be mindful of what we share and must share: not the least of which is that each of our hopes for a full and decent life depends upon others hoping the same and all of us sustaining each other’s hopes.” “If there is no striving for the good life for any of us, there cannot be a good life for any of us.”

Joan, on behalf of the citizens of the Seventh Congressional District of North Carolina, thank you so much for the good life you have given to so many. Now, you enjoy the same, and may God’s strength, peace and joy be with you always.

TRIBUTE TO JACKIE STILES

HON. ROY BLUNT
OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. BLUNT. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a young lady who has brought praise and honor to the sport of basketball and to Southwest Missouri State University by becoming the nation’s all-time leading scorer in women’s NCAA Division I basketball.

Jackie Stiles has been among the leading scorers in women’s college basketball for four years. Her 31 points per game average is the best in the nation this year. She was the leading women’s scorer last year and ranked second in the nation in her sophomore year. She was also the country’s top scoring freshman in her first year of collegiate competition.

Stiles has scored 20 or more points in college games 86 times, 30-plus points 35 times, 40-plus points 10 times and in two games she broke the 50 point mark. She is one of only two players in NCAA women’s basketball history to break the 50 point mark twice.

Stiles broke the 12 year old NCAA Division I career scoring mark of 3,103 points during a contest at Southwest Missouri State University when her Lady Bears squad beat Creighton University Thursday night. Needing only 20 points to eclipse the old mark set by Missouri Valley State’s Patricia Haskins, Stiles finished the Creighton game by netting 30 in laying claim to the title of “Women’s Collegiate Basketball Scoring Champ.”
The SMSU Lady Bears squad has one more conference game and perhaps as many as three tournament games left in their season that will allow Stiles to raise the new bar even higher.

The accomplishments of Jackie Stiles have been noticed by her coaches, players and peers who have lauded her with two and sometimes three awards. She is the first player in the history of the Missouri Valley Conference to earn back-to-back "Player of the Year" honors and the first sophomore to earn that title. She has made the first team All-Missouri Valley Conference in each of her first three years on the court at SMSU.

Jackie Stiles grew up playing basketball in Clifton, Kansas where she was highly recruited by colleges and universities nationwide as a perimeter shooting guard. Today, her 58 percent field goal percentage ranks among the 20 best in the nation.

Jackie Stiles is an All American both on the court and off. She is as good a student as an athlete. Majoring in physical education, Stiles has maintained a sparkling 3.45 grade point average over her senior year and has been named to the Missouri Valley Conference Scholar-Athlete first team every year in her career.

Stiles has become an icon on the basketball court in Springfield, Missouri. She is a role model for younger women who would like to follow in the footsteps of good students, good athletes. Jackie Stiles is blazing. She is a key reason that while some women's basketball games around the country drew crowds numbered in the hundreds, the Lady Bears' games often draw larger crowds than the men at Southwest Missouri State University. Thursday night's game at Hammons Student Center at SMSU drew the second biggest crowd in school history with more than 9,100 fans there to witness history.

Fans in Southwest Missouri believe Jackie Stiles stands a lot taller than her five-foot, eight-inch frame.

I'd like to wish Jackie Stiles and her teammates good shooting in their pursuit of a crown in the Missouri Valley Conference and in the women's NCAA tournament later this month.

TRIBUTE TO POET LAUREATE STANLEY KUNITZ

HON. JAMES P. MCGOVERN OF MASSACHUSETTS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, it is with great pride that I rose today to pay special tribute to Stanley Kunitz, who was born in my hometown in Worcester, Massachusetts. Stanley Kunitz is an outstanding poet who began his career in 1930 when he wrote his first book of poems titled "Intellectual Things". Prior to this book, Stanley Kunitz studied at Harvard College where he received his BA in 1926 and his MA in 1927. It was after his years of study that he began writing his first book of poems. Unfortunately his first book was barely recognized and he did not publish his second book, "Passport to War" in another country. The Second World War interrupted his career, and after returning from the war he joined the faculty of Bennington College. Although Stanley Kunitz was years removed from poetry he persevered to eventually win the Pulitzer Prize for Poetry in 1958 for his first "Selected Poems". For a writer whose working life spans thirteen Presidents, Kunitz's commitment to the arts is all the more amazing. Stanley Kunitz is realistic and simple, the furthest from extravagant, which at the time seemed to be evident in his opposition to the long epic poem, which was popular in American Poetry during the first half of the twentieth century. What Kunitz's work lacks in glamour it compensates for in serious and influential purpose.

The popularity of Stanley Kunitz's work is evident in his many awards and accomplishments. In addition to his Pulitzer Prize he received the Bollingen Prize, a Ford Foundation grant, the Levinson Prize, and the Shelley Memorial Award to name a few. In 2000 he was named United States Poet Laureate. Stanley Kunitz is the founder of the Fine Arts Center in Provincetown, Massachusetts and Poets House in New York City. Stanley Kunitz has also worked as a translator, creating English versions of Russian Poems.

Mr. Speaker, please join me in honoring Mr. Kunitz for his enthusiasm and commitment to his poetry and society. He truly exemplifies that ability is never ending.

COMMENDING MERKAZ BNOS HIGH SCHOOL ON ITS SELECTION AS A BLUE RIBBON SCHOOL BY THE UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

HON. JERROLD NADLER
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Merkaz Bnos High School, in Brooklyn, NY on its selection as a Blue Ribbon School by the United States Department of Education. Merkaz Bnos High School is an all-girls academic institution comprising grades nine through twelve. Its current director, Rabbi Chaim A. Waldman, founded the yeshiva in 1990 under the guiding principle of giving "every girl the chance to maximize her potential within a nurturing and supportive environment." In awarding the Blue Ribbon, the Department of Education recognizes that the yeshiva has succeeded tremendously in carrying out its mission.

The Blue Ribbon School Program was established in 1982 by the U.S. Secretary of Education with three goals in mind. To identify and recognize outstanding public and private schools across the United States, to offer a comprehensive framework of key criteria for school effectiveness, and to facilitate the sharing of best practices among schools. Schools selected for recognition have conducted a thorough self-evaluation, involving administrators, teachers, students and community representatives in the completion of their nomination forms. This process included assessing their strengths and weaknesses and developing strategic plans for the future.

Merkaz Bnos High School is one of only seventeen private schools selected nationally and the only Yeshiva to be honored with the Blue Ribbon Award, one of the most prestigious awards in the country. In awarding this honor the Department of Education stated the "yeshiva presents a picture of a school completely focused on helping students achieve high academic standards while developing a strong sense and knowledge base on their Jewish heritage."

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in congratulating Merkaz Bnos High School on its Blue Ribbon Award and wishing the entire school community—students, teachers, staff and parents—continued success and many great simchas in the future.

A SALUTE TO THE BRONCOS

HON. MIKE McINTYRE
OF NORTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. McINTYRE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the Fayetteville State University women's basketball team for their tremendous accomplishment this week. Their spirit and determination throughout the season has been an inspiration to us all.

On Saturday, March 3, the FSU Broncos defeated North Carolina Central University 63–59 to win the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association Tournament for the first time in twenty-two years. This is truly an amazing achievement for Coach Eric Tucker and the entire Bronco team. The Broncos will now embark on a new journey, playing in the NCAA Division II tournament for the first time since 1995.

Throughout the year, the women Broncos have represented the students and faculty of FSU well by sticking together and demonstrating good sportsmanship. Coach Tucker has instilled in his players the ethic of dedication, sacrifice, and teamwork in the pursuit of excellence, and instilled in the rest of us a renewed appreciation of what it means to win with dignity and integrity. I am sure that the Broncos will demonstrate these important characteristics on the national stage during the NCAA tournament.

My fellow colleagues, please join me in congratulating this extraordinary group of women and their coaches, parents and classmates who cheered them on and made this year's CIAA tournament one to remember. Congratulations, Broncos! We will be watching you in the NCAA tournament, and we wish you the very best.

ADDRESS BY DR. JOHN DUKE ANTHONY ON VIOLENCE IN AMERICA AND KUWAIT

HON. JOHN D. DINGELL OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I submit the following for the RECORD.

ON VIOLENCE IN AMERICA AND KUWAIT: THE KUWAIT-AMERICA FOUNDATION

By John Duke Anthony

This past week's tragic incident in California in which yet another student at an American school killed his classmates was as senseless as all the similar acts that went before. It is no less true that, short of effective remedies, the phenomenon is destined to recur in the future.
As with the earlier school killings, there will be much wringing of hands and soul searching among pundits and politicians in search of ways to cope with this ongoing blight on a segment of American society. In the debates that will ensue, much can be learned from a hitherto little known effort by the Kuwait-America Foundation that is helping to address this problem. By its very nature, most Kuwaitis know and regularly come into contact with an average of forty other Kuwaitis who long for the return of those whose names they cherish and others related to the violence that persists in the lives of Americans and Kuwaitis.

Two weeks ago, the nonprofit and non-governmental Kuwait-America Foundation (KAF) administered a multifaceted program to commemorate both the fortieth anniversary of Kuwait’s independence and the tenth year since liberation from Iraq’s aggression. Over a period of several days, KAF manifested a growing phenomenon in international relations: the efficacy of having such civic, religious, and professional leaders in matters of global importance.

Like innumerable other Arab and Islamic philanthropic associations, KAF has yet to become hi-tech. To be sure, in America’s information age, however, the day is fast approaching when it will be recognized as having become a respected albeit low-key activist in support of laudable objectives in American national life.

Until ten days ago, KAF was not as well known in Kuwait as one might have thought. Many of its recent prominent and vocal critics have mistakenly, that Kuwait’s government and private sector must have held annual commemorative events to honor the country’s liberation from aggression ten years ago.

Not so. The commemorative activities were the first of their kind. The previous national decision to forgo any annual outpouring of joy at the return of the country’s international government, and with it, the restoration of freedom and safety to the Kuwaiti people, was deliberate.

The decision not to celebrate was, in essence, reflective of a people’s collective preference instead for wearing a yellow ribbon in memory of hundreds of missing Kuwaiti and other nationals who have yet to return from the ruthless and unbridled aggression to Baghdad in the waning days of the war that have yet to be accounted for by Iraq.

The Number of Numbers. In Kuwait as elsewhere, the presence of coming events with the impact of an adversary’s aggression and violence against it is considered by most of its citizens a symbol of that war’s on-going danger and uncertainty. It was overshadowed by the ongoing grief over the country’s hostages, its missing in action, and the exorbitant nationalities that had been brought to Baghdad in the waning days of the war that have yet to be accounted for by Iraq.

The Number of Numbers. In Kuwait as elsewhere, the presence of coming events with the impact of an adversary’s aggression and violence against it is considered by most of its citizens a symbol of that war’s on-going danger and uncertainty. It was overshadowed by the ongoing grief over the country’s hostages, its missing in action, and the exorbitant nationalities that had been brought to Baghdad in the waning days of the war that have yet to be accounted for by Iraq.

The Number of Numbers. In Kuwait as elsewhere, the presence of coming events with the impact of an adversary’s aggression and violence against it is considered by most of its citizens a symbol of that war’s on-going danger and uncertainty. It was overshadowed by the ongoing grief over the country’s hostages, its missing in action, and the exorbitant nationalities that had been brought to Baghdad in the waning days of the war that have yet to be accounted for by Iraq.

In so doing, KAF joined forces with national and local humanitarian and nonprofit associations, including the National Urban League, the National Council on U.S.-Arab Relations, the U.S.-GCC Corporate Cooperation Committee, and several other civic and professional organizations. Ever since, KAF has been working with leaders in America’s urban centers in a way that, thus far, is unparalleled among non-governmental and nonprofit groups in other countries.

Of direct relevance to what transpired in a Canadian school last week is a U.S. law targeted a core constituency within which the incidence of acts of violence per capita in the United States remains all too frequent: intermediate and secondary school students.

Working with school superintendents, principals, guidance counselors, and teachers, KAF several years ago initiated a bold and innovative program that has met with increasing widespread appeal among American leaders concerned with curbing the incidence of crimes against youth. The program has enabled thousands of students to write essays about the effect of violence on their lives and what they propose to do to bring about its end in their community.

Preliminary judges read the essays and select the finalists. The winners, together with their parents or teacher, get to visit Washington, D.C. There they are recognized in an awards ceremony attended by national dignitaries, meet their Congressional representatives and officials at the Department of Justice, and the Office of the Attorney General to tour the cultural and civic highlights of the nation’s capital.

In arriving to this way of contributing something of meaning and value to the United States, the citizens of Kuwait, through KAF, have unlocked a powerful positive force for good. The beneficiaries are numerous American metropolitan areas previously in a quandary as to how best to begin to loosen the grip of violence upon their communities.

KAF, in essence, has provided hope for countless American youth who had all but given up hope that there was a reason to believe that they could continue to live unscathed by the infliction of physical pain upon them or a loved one by someone in their community. It provides them a ticket to non-violence.

A Recipe for Responsible Citizenship. Participation in KAF’s Do the Write Thing Program offers American students a sure-fire recipe for instilling a significant measure of personal responsibility, accountability, leadership skills, and the means to responsible civic action. And it directly connects association with the students’ parents, teachers, schools, and a plethora of civic and professional associations within their community.

A student’s right of entry to the DTW Program is completion of a three-part essay.
Students write about how violence has affected their lives. They suggest ways for ending this scourge upon the quality of life in many of America’s inner cities. They express their hope that Do The Write Thing Program will help them or others, and the difference by having nothing to do with this phenomenon that, left unchecked, will continue to rob their community and country of a productive future.

Sound schmaltzy? Not to the survivors of thousands of those gunned down in the prime of their life, like those in California, Colorado, and Illinois. They have no tolerance for rhetorical excesses that plague its society, it is incumbent upon its leaders to look first and foremost to their own country’s own resources for solutions. This, to be sure, has been and will continue to be done by America’s national, state, and local leaders. But here is a moment of ending the continuing pattern of violence in the lives of America’s inner-city students and children.

A Symphony and Two American Teenagers. One of the many highlights of the several days’ festivities in which this writer was a participant was a specially-produced symphony and film premiere, with the strains of “America the Beautiful” being performed by an ensemble of Kuwaiti musicians. At the end of the concert, young Rominna Vellasenor, a 13-year-old student from an inner city school in Chicago, took the stage to read her essay. One could barely see her head behind the podium as she buried her face in the growing crowd and burst into tears of insight about the phenomenon of violence in America. She was followed by John Bonham, now in university but earlier a student and resident of a crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

At the end of the concert, young Rominna Vellasenor, a 13-year-old student from an inner city school in Chicago, took the stage to read her essay. One could barely see her head behind the podium as she buried her face in the growing crowd and burst into tears of insight about the phenomenon of violence in America. She was followed by John Bonham, now in university but earlier a student and resident of a crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

Rominna, one of this past year’s Do The Write Thing Program winners, was there with her mother. John was a prize-winner several years ago. Rominna’s essay was cast in the immediacy of the here-and-now of a life that has been so far scarred by crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

Rominna, one of this past year’s Do The Write Thing Program winners, was there with her mother. John was a prize-winner several years ago. Rominna’s essay was cast in the immediacy of the here-and-now of a life that has been so far scarred by crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

John Bonham, now in university but earlier a student resident of a crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

Rominna, one of this past year’s Do The Write Thing Program winners, was there with her mother. John was a prize-winner several years ago. Rominna’s essay was cast in the immediacy of the here-and-now of a life that has been so far scarred by crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

John Bonham, now in university but earlier a student resident of a crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

Rominna, one of this past year’s Do The Write Thing Program winners, was there with her mother. John was a prize-winner several years ago. Rominna’s essay was cast in the immediacy of the here-and-now of a life that has been so far scarred by crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

John Bonham, now in university but earlier a student resident of a crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

Rominna, one of this past year’s Do The Write Thing Program winners, was there with her mother. John was a prize-winner several years ago. Rominna’s essay was cast in the immediacy of the here-and-now of a life that has been so far scarred by crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

John Bonham, now in university but earlier a student resident of a crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

Rominna, one of this past year’s Do The Write Thing Program winners, was there with her mother. John was a prize-winner several years ago. Rominna’s essay was cast in the immediacy of the here-and-now of a life that has been so far scarred by crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

John Bonham, now in university but earlier a student resident of a crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

Rominna, one of this past year’s Do The Write Thing Program winners, was there with her mother. John was a prize-winner several years ago. Rominna’s essay was cast in the immediacy of the here-and-now of a life that has been so far scarred by crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

John Bonham, now in university but earlier a student resident of a crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

Rominna, one of this past year’s Do The Write Thing Program winners, was there with her mother. John was a prize-winner several years ago. Rominna’s essay was cast in the immediacy of the here-and-now of a life that has been so far scarred by crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

John Bonham, now in university but earlier a student resident of a crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

Rominna, one of this past year’s Do The Write Thing Program winners, was there with her mother. John was a prize-winner several years ago. Rominna’s essay was cast in the immediacy of the here-and-now of a life that has been so far scarred by crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

John Bonham, now in university but earlier a student resident of a crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

Rominna, one of this past year’s Do The Write Thing Program winners, was there with her mother. John was a prize-winner several years ago. Rominna’s essay was cast in the immediacy of the here-and-now of a life that has been so far scarred by crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

John Bonham, now in university but earlier a student resident of a crime-plagued neighborhood in Washington, D.C.
country and people. They are committed to doing something positive and lasting about it, both here and in Kuwait, in the course of working side by side with their counterparts in the United States.

The efforts of the Kuwait-America Foundation to help American youth expand their horizons and break the barriers of violence have to be commended. The efforts of the U.S.-Kuwait friendship spurred by Kuwait’s liberation ten years ago. The spirit of understanding and reciprocal respect that these efforts represent are a testimonial to the wisdom, necessity, and mutuality of benefit that flow from closer U.S.-Arab relations.

ECONOMIC GROWTH AND TAX RELIEF ACT OF 2001

SPEECH OF

HON. NITA M. LOWEY
OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, March 8, 2001

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, this massive tax plan is not balanced, not fair, not honest, not bipartisan, and not responsible.

It will spend down every penny of our hard-earned surplus before we have ensured the future of Social Security and Medicare. It will deprive working Americans of the help they need and deserve. It will imperil our capacity to improve education, health care, and the environment. It relies on accounting gimmicks and rosy forecasts. And it places at risk a decade of unprecedented prosperity.

Apparently, the Republican leadership knows it. Why else would they ram through this tax plan before we even have a budget in place, and without the serious analysis the American people expect and deserve? Frankly, this is the administration’s first big test of its stated commitment to bring about a new, bipartisan tone in Washington, and, as one who believes in bipartisanship, I am sorry to say that it has failed that test completely.

Instead of rewarding a select few at the expense of others, let’s give generous tax cuts to the families who need it most, while paying down the debt and investing in our future. That’s the right approach. I urge my colleagues to vote no on this massive giveaway, and vote yes on the Democratic alternative.

INTRODUCTION OF THE RAIL MERGER REFORM AND CUSTOMER PROTECTION ACT

SPEECH OF

HON. EARL POMEROY OF NORTH DAKOTA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased today to introduce the Rail Merger Reform and Customer Protection Act. This legislation would extend the reach of the antitrust laws to the railroad industry while providing the Surface Transportation Board (STB) with additional criteria on which to evaluate future railroad mergers.

For virtually every business in the United States, mergers and acquisitions in excess of $10 million are subject to antitrust review by the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice. Railroads, however, are treated differently. Under current law, the STB has exclusive jurisdiction over most matters concerning rail transportation including mergers and acquisitions. In exercising that authority, the STB has approved a series of mergers over the past 20 years since passage of the Staggers Rail Act in 1980 resulting in widespread consolidation in the rail industry. This consolidation has reduced the number of rail carriers from 63 Class I railroads to just 7, resulting in significant service disruptions, negative impacts on shippers and a reduction in competition.

Mr. Speaker, believe it or not, the railroad industry is the only industry, except for America’s favorite pastime, baseball, that is almost entirely exempt from the substance of the antitrust laws. With the rail industry now consolidated to seven major railroads, and the stage set for a possible final consolidation, there is an increased potential for the rail industry to exercise market power and monopsony abuse against shippers. In order to protect shippers and promote true competition, it makes sense to treat the railroad industries and subject them to the jurisdiction of the Department of Transportation and full application of antitrust laws.

Currently, the Department of Justice can only comment on proposed mergers. In previous mergers, the Department of Justice, the Department of Transportation, the STB, customers, organized labor, and the United States Department of Agriculture. I believe that the Department of Justice, an agency that can objectively evaluate the impact of mergers and protect shippers from the continual decrease in competition, needs to have a strong voice in mergers reviewed by the Surface Transportation Board.

My legislation would require both the Department of Justice and the STB to review and approve future railroad mergers. Under this proposal, regulatory forums would be required to approve a merger unless it substantially restrains commerce in any section of the country or tends to create a monopoly in any line of commerce. The STB would still be required to review and approve a merger under a similar standard but it would also judge the proposed merger by a broader public interest standard. However, my legislation would not allow a merger to move forward without approval from both the Department of Justice and Surface Transportation Board.

In this day and age, there is no public policy reason to justify the industry’s special treatment, particularly since the railroads have enjoyed considerable deregulation under the Staggers Act and the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) Termination Act. The passage of these laws which reduced the scope and effectiveness of the regulatory agency, makes it more necessary than ever for shippers to have the full panoply of remedies available against monopolistic activities.

Under my legislation, the STB would also be required to examine several additional criteria before approving a merger. Future mergers and consolidations would not be approved unless it was shown that the merger: (1) provides additional rail to rail competition and competitive options for rail customers; (2) improves service to customers; and (3) will not reduce competitive rail routes available to current railroad customers. Additionally, the legislation ensures that relief can be sought under the current regulatory framework or through the antitrust laws.

I am pleased that the Alliance for Rail Competition, the Consumers United for Rail Equity, National Farmers Union, American Farm Bureau Federation, National Association of Wheat Growers, the American Forest and Paper Association, the Transportation Intermediaries Association, Minnesota Power, the National Association of Chemical Distributors, and the American Chemistry Council have endorsed this legislation.

I urge my colleagues to join me in this effort to ensure that the railroad industry is subject to the same laws as every other industry. It is in the public interest to raise the bar for review of the last few remaining mergers and to have oversight by the Department of Justice on the actions of the railroads.

REMEMBERING A GREAT MAN:

ABRAHAM QUEZADA AMADOR

SPEECH OF

HON. GEORGE MILLER
OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to remember a great man, Abraham Quezada Amador, who died one year ago at age 70. For 30 years Abraham was the founder and director of Comite Regional Campesino, a nonprofit organization that has assisted countless individuals and families become United States citizens.

Abraham made the measure of difference in the lives of countless people. Indeed, it was not unusual to see dozens of people lined up outside the door of his home office patiently waiting their turn to talk with Abraham. He was always willing to offer his help and advice regarding their citizenship applications. Immigration and Naturalization Service documents or letters they needed to have translated, as well as a myriad of other things. Abraham shared his knowledge and expertise with kindness, understanding, and a smile larger than life itself.

Abraham was a strong, tireless, and compassionate leader who dedicated his life to assisting those in need, and he has been sorely missed by all whose lives he touched. He devoted his life to helping others and was the most caring and unselfish person I have ever known. We miss his kind words, his sage advice, and his contagious smile. I feel fortunate to have known Abraham for so many years and I am proud to have been his friend.

Abraham is survived by his wife, Maria Guadalupe Aceves, his daughters Lupe Saldana, Blanca Amador, Anna Blevins and Gloria Amador, his sons of Antonio, Abraham Jr., Alphonso and Roy, and numerous grand-children and great-grand-children. I invite my colleagues to join me in remembering this great man who left a wonderful legacy and made the measure of difference in the lives of so many.
GOOD SAMARITAN HUNGER RELIEF TAX INCENTIVE ACT

HON. TONY P. HALL
OF OHIO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. HALL of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I rise to day to introduce the Good Samaritan Hunger Relief Tax Incentive Act. I am pleased to be joined by my colleague RICHARD BAKER from Louisiana in co-sponsoring this bill, especially given his concern for hungry Americans through his work with the Greater Baton Rouge Food Bank. We join with our esteemed colleagues in the Senate, Senators LUGAR and LEARNY, who have introduced companion legislation. They are longstanding champions of programs that help the hungry and our nation is enriched by their leadership on this forgotten issue.

Despite our economy’s strength, hunger still plagues our nation. It directly threatens 31 million Americans, many of them families and working people. Many of them are leaving welfare and need help along the path to self-sufficiency. Many of them are just like you and me, except that they are often hungry and must turn to community and faith-based hunger relief organizations to feed their families. Currently, more than 10 percent of our fellow citizens depend on nonprofit food distribution organizations for a major part of their nutritional needs.

I have been working on the issue of hunger for more than fifteen years. Now more than ever it is clear that we can cure hunger, that we know what to do. Working together, government, non-profit organizations, and the private sector can eliminate hunger, but any solution must be multi-faceted. Our government needs to improve and expand the Food Stamp Program, our nation’s front lien of defense against widespread hunger. Non-profit food banks need additional commodities, especially The emergency food Assistance Program, which also benefits our farmers and private donations. And we need to encourage the private sector to do their part by donating food and other resources.

Mr. Speaker, this bill focuses on this third facet by encouraging and assisting the private sector to donate to hunger relief organizations. It would expand the charitable tax deductions to farmers, restaurants and other businesses that are not just corporations. And it would clarify the treatment of donated food for tax purposes.

I have introduced a version of this bill for the past two sessions of Congress, and am encouraged that the Senate Finance Committee is conducting a hearing this week on encouraging charitable giving. I am thankful for colleagues on the Ways and Means Committee who are supporting this bill and have supported the concept in the past, especially JIM RAMSTAD, JOHN LEWIS, KAREN THURMAN and AMO HOUGHTON. I am hopeful that after years of trying we can pass this bill this year.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Americans waste 96 billion pounds of food every year. That amounts to more than $3 billion worth of food that is thrown away, or $1,000 worth of food for every one of the 31 million people are hungry or at risk of hunger. Dumping or plowing under this uneaten food costs our local communities more than $1 billion a year in waste management costs. If we could recover just 5 percent of the food wasted, we could feed four million people. If 10 percent was recovered, 8 million more people would be fed and with 25 percent recovered, we would have food for 20 million people.

Giving food to charities makes good sense, and removing the tax disincentives to the private sector contributions is a key part of that effort. If they help, I am happy to provide a benefit to businesses like Pizza Hut, the largest prepared-food donor in the country; or Potato Management Company (PMC), a farmer’s co-operative that just donated 20 million pounds of potatoes to America’s Second Harvest; and Kraft Foods, one of the largest overall donors to hunger relief efforts. The private sector needs to do even more to help us wipe out hunger and this bill will assist them with that task.

I am even happier to help the groups that are on the front line of the struggle to end hunger. The Emergency Food Bank in my district of Dayton, Ohio does a terrific job in feeding the hungry. They simply need some help, and this bill is one way we in Congress can help our local food banks. Of course, this bill alone is not sufficient, but it is a step in the right direction. This bill represents the second generation of Good Samaritan legislation. When cleaning and food recovery began to expand two decades ago, farmers and businesses needed to know that they were protected from liability in acting as Good Samaritans. I was able to encourage the state of Ohio to pass liability protection for those who open their fields to gleaners or who donate food in good faith. Then, in 1996, we were able to enact the Bill Emerson Good Samaritan Food Donation Act, which created liability protection nationwide.

I hope this Congress and President Bush will turn this new legislation into law. It enjoys the support and endorsement of America’s Second Harvest, the National Council of Chain Restaurants, Grocery Manufacturers of America, American Farm Bureau Federation, National Restaurant Association, National Farmers Union, National Cattlemen’s Beef Association, National Fisheries Association and the National Milk Producers Federation.

I look forward to the day when I no longer hear the stories about senior citizens skipping meals to pay for their prescriptions, or parents cutting way back to make sure their kids have enough to eat, or veterans lining up at community kitchens for a hot meal. But before that time comes, we have to do everything we can to meet the needs of those who are hungry. Alone, this bill will not solve the problem of hunger, but it will give us another arrow in our quiver. I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this important piece of legislation and bringing us significantly closer to ending hunger.

HONORING THE 50TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OF J.B. AND GERRY AMBURGEY

HON. ERNIE FLETCHER OF KENTUCKY
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, March 13, 2001

Mr. FLETCHER. Mr. Speaker, it is my honor to recognize J.B. and Gerry Amburgey on their 50th Wedding Anniversary. They have been a vital team in Montgomery County since they were married in Camargo on March 13, 1951.

The Amburgey’s have served the Jeffersonville/Means community for over 50 years through their family business, civic duties and church-related activities. For the majority of their 50 years together, J.B. and Gerry worked side by side at W.J. Amburgey & Sons. With the local Post Office housed at the same location as the family business, Gerry also dedicated 27 years to the community as its Post-Master.

It is a great honor to provide a tribute for a couple who have committed themselves to each other for so many ears. That is why it is a privilege for me to rise today and honor J.B. and Gerry’s 50th Wedding Anniversary. I wish them many more years of happiness together.
Daily Digest

Senate

Chamber Action

Routine Proceedings, pages S2169–S2267

Measures Introduced: Nine bills and four resolutions, were introduced, as follows: S. 518–526, S. Res. 59, S.J. Res. 7, and S. Con. Res. 23–24.

Pages S2169–S2267

Measures Passed:

National Girl Scout Week: Senate agreed to S. Res. 59, designating the week of March 11 through March 17, 2001, as "National Girl Scout Week."

Page S2169

Bankruptcy Reform: Senate continued consideration of S. 420, to amend title 11, United States Code, taking action on the following amendments proposed thereto:

Adopted:
- Schumer/Sarbanes Modified Amendment No. 25, to provide for the preservation of claims and defenses upon the sale of certain predatory loans. (By 44 yeas to 55 nays, 1 responding present (Vote No. 24), Senate earlier failed to table the amendment.)

Pages S2172–S2214

Rejected:
- Feinstein Modified Amendment No. 27, to place a $2,500 cap on any credit card issued to a minor, unless the minor submits an application with the signature of his parents or guardian indicating joint liability for debt or the minor submits financial information indicating an independent means or an ability to repay the debt that the card accrues. (By 55 yeas to 42 nays, 1 responding present (Vote No. 24), Senate earlier failed to table the amendment.)

Pages S2172, S2178–S2196

Kennedy Amendment No. 39, to remove the dollar limitation on retirement savings protected in bankruptcy. (By 61 yeas to 37 nays, 1 responding present (Vote No. 21), Senate tabled the amendment.)

Pages S2172, S2178, S2179

Pending:
- Leahy Amendment No. 20, to resolve an ambiguity relating to the definition of current monthly income.

Page S2172

Wellstone Amendment No. 35, to clarify the duties of a debtor who is the plan administrator of an employee benefit plan.

Page S2172

Wellstone Modified Amendment No. 36, to disallow certain claims and prohibit coercive debt collection practices.

Pages S2172, S2209

Wellstone Amendment No. 37, to provide that imports of semifinished steel slabs shall be considered to be articles like or directly competitive with taconite pellets for purposes of determining the eligibility of certain workers for trade adjustment assistance under the Trade Act of 1974.

Page S2172

Kennedy Amendment No. 38, to allow for reasonable medical expenses.

Page S2173

Collins Amendment No. 16, to provide family fishermen with the same kind of protections and terms as granted to family farmers under chapter 12 of the bankruptcy laws.

Page S2173

Leahy Amendment No. 41, to protect the identity of minor children in bankruptcy proceedings.

Page S2173

Wyden Amendment No. 78, to provide for the nondischargeability of debts arising from the exchange of electric energy.

Pages S2196–S2198, S2199, S2209–S2212

Carnahan Amendment No. 40, to ensure additional expenses associated with home energy costs are included in the debtor’s monthly expenses.

Pages S2198–S2199

Smith (OR) Amendment No. 95 (to Amendment No. 78), of a perfecting nature.

Pages S2199–S2208

Reid (for Durbin) Amendment No. 93, in the nature of a substitute.

Page S2208

Reid (for Breaux) Amendment No. 94, to provide for the reissuance of a rule relating to ergonomics.

Pages S2208–S2209

D202
During consideration of this measure today, Senate also took the following actions:

By 53 yeas to 47 nays (Vote No. 22), three-fifths of those Senators duly chosen and sworn, not having voted in the affirmative, Senate rejected a motion to waive the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 with respect to consideration of Conrad Modified Amendment No. 29, to establish an off-budget lockbox to strengthen Social Security and Medicare. Subsequently, a point of order that the amendment violates section 306 of the Congressional Budget Act was sustained, and the amendment thus fell.

Pages S2172–78, S2184–87, S2188

By 52 yeas to 48 nays (Vote No. 23), three-fifths of those Senators duly chosen and sworn, not having voted in the affirmative, Senate rejected a motion to waive the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 with respect to consideration of Sessions Amendment No. 32, to establish a procedure to safeguard the surpluses of the Social Security and Medicare hospital insurance trust funds. Subsequently, a point of order that the amendment violates section 306 of the Congressional Budget Act was sustained, and the amendment thus fell.

Pages S2172, S2187–88

A unanimous-consent agreement was reached providing for votes to occur with respect to Carnahan Amendment No. 40, Smith (OR) Amendment No. 95 (to Amendment No. 78), and Wyden Amendment No. 78 (all listed above), beginning at approximately 10:45 a.m., on Wednesday, March 14, 2001. Further, that following the votes, the Senate resume consideration of Wellstone Modified Amendment No. 36, and that the cloture vote be postponed to occur at 4 p.m.

Page S2201

Appointment:

Advisory Committee on the Records of Congress:
The Chair announced, on behalf of the Democratic Leader, pursuant to Public Law 101–509, the reappointment of Elizabeth Scott of South Dakota to the Advisory Committee on the Records of Congress.

Page S2266

Messages From the President: Senate received the following messages from the President of the United States:

Transmitting, pursuant to law, a report concerning the continuation of the Iran Emergency; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs. (PM–12)

Pages S2218

Transmitting, pursuant to law, a report on the National Emergency with respect to Iran; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs. (PM–13)

Pages S2218

Nominations Received: Senate received the following nominations:

Dov S. Zakheim, of Maryland, to be Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller).

Theodore Bevry Olson, of the District of Columbia, to be Solicitor General of the United States.

A routine list in the Foreign Service.

Pages S2266–67

Messages From the President:

Statements on Introduced Bills:

Additional Cosponsors:

Amendments Submitted:

Additional Statements:

Notices of Hearings/Meetings:

Authority for Committees:

Record Votes: Six record votes were taken today. (Total—25) Pages S2179, S2180, S2187, S2188, S2196

Adjournment: Senate met at 9:33 a.m., and adjourned at 8:35 p.m., on Wednesday, March 14, 2001. (For Senate's program, see the remarks of the Acting Majority Leader in today's Record on page S2266.)

Committee Meetings

NATIONAL NUCLEAR SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

Committee on Appropriations: Subcommittee on Energy and Water Development concluded oversight hearings to examine issues related to the National Nuclear Security Administration, Department of Energy, including the condition of the facilities and infrastructure of vital nuclear weapons complex, safety and reliability of the U.S. nuclear stockpile in the absence of nuclear testing, and infrastructure needs at Los Alamos National Laboratory, after receiving testimony from John A. Gordon, Under Secretary of Energy for Nuclear Security; and James R. Schlesinger, Georgetown University School of Foreign Service, Washington, D.C., former Secretary of Energy, on behalf of the Panel to Assess the Reliability, Safety, and Security of the U.S. Nuclear Stockpile.

AVIATION COMPETITION

Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation: Committee held hearings on S. 415 to amend title 49, United States Code, to require that air carriers meet public convenience and necessity requirements by ensuring competitive access by commercial air carriers to major cities, receiving testimony from JayEtta Z. Hecker, Director, Physical Infrastructure Issues, General Accounting Office; Iowa Attorney General Thomas J. Miller, Des Moines; David...
Neeleman, JetBlue Airways Corporation, Kew Gardens, New York; Mark Kahan, Spirit Air Lines, Miramar, Florida; and Glen W. Hauenstein, Continental Airlines Inc., and Mark N. Cooper, Consumer Federation of America, both of Washington D.C.

Hearings recessed subject to call.

AIRMEN AGE LIMITATION

Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation: Committee concluded hearings on S. 361, to establish age limitations for airmen, after receiving testimony from Senator Murkowski; L. Nicholas Lacey, Director, Flight Standards Service, Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation; Duane E. Woerth, Air Line Pilots Association, International, Washington, D.C.; Paul Emens, Pilots Against Age Discrimination, Annapolis, Maryland; and Robin Wilkening, Johns Hopkins University School of Hygiene and Public Health, Baltimore, Maryland.

BUSINESS MEETING

Committee on Finance: Committee ordered favorably reported an original bill entitled Affordable Education Act of 2001.

HEALTH CARE COVERAGE

Committee on Finance: Committee held hearings on issues relative to living without health insurance and identifying populations that make up the uninsured and their unique characteristics, including age, ethnicity, employment status, and geographic location, that cause them to go without health coverage, receiving testimony from Kathryn G. Allen, Director, Health Care—Medicaid and Private Health Insurance Issues, General Accounting Office; and Diane Rowland, Henry J. Kaiser Family Foundation, Mary R. Grealy, Healthcare Leadership Council, Richard W. Johnson, Urban Institute, and Leighton Ku, Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, all of Washington, D.C.

Hearings continue Thursday, March 15.

TECHNOLOGY EDUCATION AND COPYRIGHT HARMONIZATION

Committee on the Judiciary: Committee concluded hearings on S. 487, to amend chapter 1 of title 17, United States Code, relating to the exemption of certain performances or displays for educational uses from copyright infringement provisions, to provide that the making of a single copy of such performances or displays is not an infringement, after receiving testimony from Marybeth Peters, Register of Copyrights, Library of Congress; Gerald A. Heeger, University of Maryland University College, College Park, on behalf of the Association of American Universities, American Council on Education, National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, and Association of Research Libraries; Allan R. Adler, Association of American Publishers, and Gary Carpentier, American University Washington College of Law, both of Washington, D.C.; Richard M. Siddoway, Electronic High School, Salt Lake City, Utah; and Paul LeBlanc, Marlboro College, Marlboro, Vermont.

VETERANS’ PROGRAMS

Committee on Veterans’ Affairs: Committee concluded hearings to examine the Administration’s proposed budget for veterans’ programs for fiscal year 2002, after receiving testimony from Anthony J. Principi, Secretary, Thomas Garthwaite, Under Secretary, Veterans Health Administration, Roger Rapp, Acting Under Secretary, National Cemetery Administration, Joseph Thompson, Under Secretary for Benefits, and Mark Catlett, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Budget, all of the Department of Veterans Affairs; James R. Fischl, American Legion, Rick Surratt, Disabled American Veterans, Harley Thomas, Paralyzed Veterans of America, and Dennis M. Cullinan, Veterans of Foreign Wars, all of Washington, D.C.; and Howie DeWolf, AMVETS, Lanham, Maryland.

House of Representatives

Chamber Action

Bills Introduced: 40 public bills, H.R. 973–1012; 4 resolutions, H.J. Res. 36–37; H. Con. Res. 61, and H. Res. 87, were introduced. Pages H874–77

Reports Filed: Reports were filed today as follows:

H.R. 741, to amend the Trademark Act of 1946 to provide for the registration and protection of trademarks used in commerce, in order to carry out provisions of certain international conventions (H. Rept. 107–19);

H.R. 496, to amend the Communications Act of 1934 to promote deployment of advanced services and foster the development of competition for the benefit of consumers in all regions of the Nation by relieving unnecessary burdens on the Nation’s two percent local exchange telecommunications carriers, with an amendment (H. Rept. 107-20); and H.R. 725, to establish a toll free number under the Federal Trade Commission to assist consumers in determining if products are American-made (H. Rept. 107-21).

Speaker Pro Tempore: Read a letter from the Speaker wherein he appointed Representative Ballenger to act as Speaker pro tempore for today.

Recess: The House recessed at 1:05 p.m. and reconvened at 2 p.m.

James Madison Commemoration Commission: Read letters from the Minority Leader wherein he announced his appointment of Representative Rick Boucher of Virginia, Representative Jim Moran of Virginia, Dr. James Billington of Virginia, and Mr. Theodore A. McKee of Pennsylvania to the James Madison Commemoration Commission.

Condemning the Atrocities at Santana High School in Santee, California: H. Con. Res. 57, amended, condemning the heinous atrocities that occurred on March 5, 2001, at Santana High School in Santee, California;

National Trails System Willing Seller Act: H.R. 834, to amend the National Trails System Act to clarify Federal authority relating to land acquisition from willing sellers for the majority of the trails in the System (passed by a yea and nay vote of 409 yeas to 3 nays, Roll No. 46);

Washington County, Utah Property Acquisition for Desert Tortoise Habitat Conservation: H.R. 880, to provide for the acquisition of property in Washington County, Utah, for implementation of a desert tortoise habitat conservation plan;

Guam War Claims Review Commission: H.R. 308, amended, to establish the Guam War Claims Review Commission; and Clear Creek County, Colorado Land Disposition Extension: H.R. 223, to amend the Clear Creek County, Colorado, Public Lands Transfer Act of 1993 to provide additional time for Clear Creek County to dispose of certain lands transferred to the county under the Act (passed by a yea and nay vote of 413 yeas with none voting “nay”, Roll No. 47).

Presidential Messages: Read the following messages from the President:

Periodic Report on the National Emergency re Iran: Message wherein he transmitted the 6-month periodic report on the national emergency with respect to Iran that was declared in Executive Order 12957 of March 15, 1995—referred to the Committee on International Relations and ordered printed (H. Doc. 107-50); and Extension of National Emergency Declared re Iran: Message wherein he transmitted a notice stating that the emergency declared with respect to Iran is to continue in effect beyond March 15, 2001—referred to the Committee on International Relations and ordered printed (H. Doc. 107-51).

Recess: The House recessed at 3:36 p.m. and reconvened at 6 p.m.

Coordinating Council on Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention: The Chair announced the Speaker’s appointment of Mr. Michael J. Mahoney of Chicago, Illinois to the Coordinating Council on Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

United States Capitol Preservation Commission: Read a letter from the Minority Leader wherein he announced his appointment of Representative Moran of Virginia to the United States Capitol Preservation Commission.

Consideration of Suspensions on Wednesday, March 14: Agreed that it be in order at any time on the legislative day of Wednesday, March 14, 2001, for the Speaker to entertain motions to suspend the rules relating to the following measures: H.R. 725, Made in America Information; H.R. 809, Antitrust Technical Corrections; H.R. 860, Multidistrict, Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction; H.R. 861, Domestic and International Arbitration Technical Amendments; S. 320, Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments; H.R. 802, Public Safety Officer Medal of Valor; H.R. 741, Madrid Protocol Implementation; H.R. 821, Designation of the W. Joe Trogdon Post Office Building in Asheboro, North Carolina; and H.R. 364, Designation of the Marjory Williams Scrivens Post Office in Miami, Florida.

Amendments: Amendment ordered printed pursuant to the rule appears on pages H878-79.

Quorum Calls—Votes: Two yea-and-nay votes developed during the proceedings of the House today and appear on pages H853 and H853–54. There were no quorum calls or recorded votes developed during the proceedings of the House today.

Adjournment: The House met at 12:30 p.m. and adjourned at 9:52 p.m.
Committee Meetings

LABOR, HHS AND EDUCATION APPROPRIATIONS

Committee on Appropriations: Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services and Education began appropriation hearings. Testimony was heard from public witnesses. Hearings continue tomorrow.

BUDGET PRIORITIES—DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Committee on the Budget: Held a hearing on Department of Education Budget Priorities Fiscal Year 2002. Testimony was heard from Representative George Miller of California and Roderick R. Paige, Secretary of Education; and public witnesses.

PROPOSALS TO PERMIT PAYMENT OF INTEREST ON BUSINESS CHECKING ACCOUNTS

Committee on Financial Services: Subcommittee on Financial Institutions and Consumer Credit held a hearing on proposals to permit payment of interest on business checking accounts and sterile reserves maintained at Federal Reserve Banks. Testimony was heard from Laurence H. Meyer, member, Board of Governors, Federal Reserve System; Donald V. Hammond, Acting Under Secretary, Domestic Finance, Department of the Treasury; and public witnesses.

MISCELLANEOUS MEASURES

Committee on Resources, Subcommittee on National Parks, Recreation and Public Lands held a hearing on the following bills: H.R. 146, Great Falls Historic District Study Act of 2001; H.R. 182, Eight Mile River Wild and Scenic River Study Act of 2001; and H.R. 601, to ensure the continued access of hunters to those Federal lands included within the boundaries of the Craters of the Moon National Monument in the State of Idaho pursuant to the Presidential Proclamation 7373 of November 9, 2000, and to continue the applicability of the Taylor Grazing Act to the disposition of grazing fees arising from the use of such lands. Testimony was heard from Representatives Simmons and Pascrell; Joseph E. Dodridge, Acting Assistant Secretary, Fish and Wildlife and Parks, Department of the Interior; and public witnesses.

VETERANS’ HOSPITAL EMERGENCY REPAIR ACT

Committee on Veterans’ Affairs: Held a hearing on H.R. 811, Veterans’ Hospital Emergency Repair Act. Testimony was heard from Thomas L. Garthwaite, M.D., Under Secretary, Department of Veterans Affairs; and representatives of veterans organizations.

BRIEFING—WORLD TRADE THREATS

Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence: Met in executive session to receive a briefing on World Trade Threats. The Committee was briefed by departmental witnesses.

BRIEFING—KHOBAR TOWERS

Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence: Terrorism Working Group met in executive session to receive a briefing on Khobar Towers. The Group was briefed by departmental witnesses.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS FOR WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 2001

(Committee meetings are open unless otherwise indicated)

Senate

Committee on Appropriations: Subcommittee on Defense, to hold closed hearings to review intelligence programs, 10 a.m., S–407, Capitol. Subcommittee on Interior, to hold joint hearings with the House Committee on Appropriations’ Subcommittee on the Interior on issues dealing with the wildfire program, 10 a.m., 2359 Rayburn Building.

Committee on the Budget: to resume hearings to examine the President’s proposed budget request for fiscal year 2002, 10 a.m., SD–608.

Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation: to hold hearings on whether Congress should allow states to require all remote sellers to collect and remit sales taxes on deliveries into that state, provided that states and localities dramatically simplify their sales and use tax systems, 9:30 a.m., SR–253.

Committee on Energy and Natural Resources: business meeting to consider their fiscal year 2002 budgetary views and estimates on programs which fall within the jurisdiction of the committee and agree on recommendations it will make thereon to the Committee on the Budget; S. 230, to direct the Secretary of the Interior to convey a former Bureau of Land Management administrative site to the City of Carson City, Nevada, for use as a senior center; S. 254, to provide further protections for the watershed of the Little Sandy River as part of the Bull Run Watershed Management Unit, Oregon; S. 329, to require the Secretary of the Interior to conduct a theme study on the populating of America; S. 498, entitled “National Discovery Trails Act of 2001”; S. 506, to amend the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act, to provide for a land exchange between the Secretary of Agriculture and the Huna Totem Corporation; S. 507, to implement further the Act (Public Law 94–241) approving the covenant to establish a commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands in Political Union with the United States of America; and S. 509, to establish the Kenai Mountains-Turnagain Arm National Heritage Area in the State of Alaska, 9:30 a.m., SD–628.
Committee on Finance: to hold hearings on issues relating to encouraging charitable giving, 10 a.m., SD–215.
Committee on Indian Affairs: business meeting to consider committee’s budgetary views and estimates on the President’s fiscal year 2002 budget request for Indian programs; to be followed by hearings on S. 211, to amend the Education Amendments of 1978 and the Tribally Controlled Schools Act of 1988 to improve education for Indians, Native Hawaiians, and Alaskan Natives, 9:30 a.m., SR–485.
Select Committee on Intelligence: to hold closed hearings on intelligence matters, 2 p.m., SH–219.
Committee on the Judiciary: to hold hearings to examine drug treatment, education, and prevention programs, 10 a.m., SD–226.
Committee on Rules and Administration: to hold hearings on election reform issues, 9:30 a.m., SR–301.
Committee on Veterans’ Affairs: to hold joint hearings with the House Committee on Veterans’ Affairs to examine the legislative recommendations of the Disabled American Veterans, 10 a.m., 345 Cannon Building.

House
Committee on Agriculture, to continue hearings on federal farm commodity programs, 9:30 a.m., Longworth.
Committee on Appropriations, Subcommittee on Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug and Related Agencies, on Inspector General, USDA, 9:30 a.m., 2362A Rayburn.
Subcommittee on Defense, executive, on U.S. Space Command, 9:30 a.m., and executive, on U.S. European Command, 1:30 p.m., H–140 Capitol.
Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services and Education, to continue on public witnesses, 10 a.m., 2358 Rayburn.
Subcommittee on Military Construction, on European Military Construction, 9:30 a.m., B–300 Rayburn.
Subcommittee on Transportation, on Members of Congress, 10 a.m., 2358 Rayburn.
Committee on Armed Services, Subcommittee on Military Personnel, hearing on implementation of TRICARE benefits for Medicare-eligible military retirees, 2 p.m., 2118 Rayburn.
Committee on the Budget, hearing on the Department of Agriculture Budget Priorities for Fiscal Year 2002, 1 p.m., 210 Cannon.
Committee on Education and the Workforce, Subcommittee on Education Reform, hearing on Empowering Success: Flexibility and School Choice, 10:30 a.m., 2175 Rayburn.
Committee on Energy and Commerce, Subcommittee on Energy and Air Quality, oversight hearing on National Energy Policy: Coal, 1 p.m., 2322 Rayburn.
Committee on International Relations, Subcommittee on Africa, hearing on Confronting Liberia, 2 p.m., 2172 Rayburn.
Subcommittee on Western Hemisphere, to mark up H. Con. Res. 41, expressing sympathy for the victims of the devastating earthquakes that struck El Salvador on January 13, and February 13, 2001, and supporting ongoing aid efforts; followed by a hearing on Prospects for Free and Fair Elections in Peru, 2 p.m., 2200 Rayburn.
Committee on the Judiciary, Subcommittee on Immigration and Claims, to consider Rules of Procedure for Private Immigration Bills and Private Claims Bills and Policy on Federal Charters and to act on Private Bills, 10 a.m., 2141 Rayburn.
Committee on Rules, to consider the following: Committee Budget Views and Estimates for Fiscal Year 2002 for submission to the Committee on the Budget; and H.R. 327, Small Business Paperwork Relief Act, 2 p.m., H–313 Capitol.
Committee on Small Business, to consider Committee Budget Views and Estimates for Fiscal Year 2002 for submission to the Committee on the Budget, 10 a.m., 2360 Rayburn.
Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure, Subcommittee on Aviation hearing on the FAA’s efforts to modernize the Air Traffic Control system, with emphasis on the Standard Terminal Automation Replacement System (STARS), 1:30 p.m., 2167 Rayburn.
Committee on Ways and Means, to consider Committee Budget Views and Estimates for Fiscal Year 2002 for submission to the Committee on the Budget; followed by hearing on the Administration’s Health and Welfare Priorities, 10 a.m., 1100 Longworth.
Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence. Subcommittee on International Policy and National Security and the Subcommittee on Human Intelligence, Analysis and Counterintelligence, executive, joint briefing on Covert Action Capabilities, 10 a.m., H–405 Capitol.

Joint Meetings
Joint Meetings: Senate Committee on Appropriations, Subcommittee on Interior, to hold joint hearings with the House Committee on Appropriations’ Subcommittee on the Interior on issues dealing with the wildfire program, 10 a.m., 2359 Rayburn Building.
Joint Meetings: Senate Committee on Veterans’ Affairs, to hold joint hearings with the House Committee on Veterans’ Affairs to examine the legislative recommendations of the Disabled American Veterans, 10 a.m., 345 Cannon Building.
Next Meeting of the SENATE
9:30 a.m., Wednesday, March 14

Senate Chamber

Program for Wednesday: After the recognition of two Senators for speeches and the transaction of any morning business (not to extend beyond 10:30 a.m.), Senate will continue consideration of S. 420, Bankruptcy Reform, with votes to occur on certain amendments beginning at approximately 10:45 a.m., and a vote to occur on the motion to close further debate on the bill at 4 p.m.

Next Meeting of the HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
10 a.m., Wednesday, March 14

House Chamber

Program for Wednesday: Consideration of Suspensions:
(1) H.R. 725, Made in America Information;
(2) H.R. 809, Antitrust Technical Corrections;
(3) H.R. 860, Multidistrict, Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction;
(4) H.R. 861, Domestic and International Arbitration Technical Amendments;
(5) S. 320, Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments;
(6) H.R. 802, Public Safety Officer Medal of Valor;
(7) H.R. 741, Madrid Protocol Implementation;
(8) H.R. 821, Designation of the W. Joe Trogdon Post Office Building in Asheboro, North Carolina; and
(9) H.R. 364, Designation of the Marjory Williams Scrivens Post Office in Miami, Florida.

Extensions of Remarks, as inserted in this issue

HOUSE

Ballenger, Cass, N.C., E339
Barrett, Thomas M., Wisc., E339
Blunt, Roy, Mo., E346
Cunningham, Randy "Duke", Calif., E338
Davis, Tom, Va., E346, E349
DeLauro, Rosa L., Conn., E340
Dingell, John D., Mich., E347
Fletcher, Ernie, Ky., E351
Frelinghuysen, Rodney P., N.J., E341
Hall, Tony P., Ohio, E351
Kanjorski, Paul E., Pa., E343, E344
Kleczka, Gerald D., Wisc., E343
Lantos, Tom, Calif., E342
Lowey, Nita M., N.Y., E350
McGovern, James M., Mass., E347
McIntyre, Mike, N.C., E340, E346, E347
Manzullo, Donald A., Ill., E344
Miller, Gary G., Calif., E346
Miller, George, Calif., E350
Mink, Patsy T., Hawaii, E340
Nadler, Jerrold, N.Y., E347
Pallone, Frank, Jr., N.J., E340
Pomeroy, Earl, N.D., E350
Rahall, Nick J., II, W.Va., E345
Shimkus, John, Ill., E343
Skelton, Ike, Mo., E341
Stapak, Bart, Mich., E346
Weldon, Curt, Pa., E343, E344
Wolf, Frank R., Va., E341