

Yet here we are, just a couple of months from those fiscal policy decisions, and we are going to have a midsession review by the Office of Management and Budget which is what I would like to ask the chairman of the Budget Committee about. That midsession review almost certainly will tell us this economy is much softer than anticipated and we will not have the surpluses we expected. Things might get better, but they might not. And if they don't, we might very well head back into very significant deficit problems.

I ask my colleague, when does the Office of Management and Budget give us their midsession review? Is that supposed to be in July?

Mr. CONRAD. Typically, we would get it in July or August. We are hearing already from the Congressional Budget Office that they anticipate that the forecast will be somewhat reduced because economic growth is not as strong as was anticipated. That means we will have less revenue than was in the forecast.

My colleague and I warned repeatedly that these 10-year forecasts are uncertain. Nobody should be counting on every penny to actually be realized.

Some said to us in rejoinder: There is going to even be more money. I remember some of my colleagues on the Budget Committee saying they think the forecast is too low.

I hope over time that will be the case. I hope the economy strongly recovers. I hope we have even more revenue. That would be terrific. But I don't think we can base Government policy on that. We certainly can't bet on every dime of the revenue that is in a 10-year forecast.

The reason it matters so much is because if we look ahead—these are the years of surpluses we are in now—but, according to the Social Security, what happens, starting in the year 2016, we start to run into deficits in both Medicare and Social Security. Medicare is the yellow part of the bars; Social Security is the red. These surpluses that we now enjoy turn to massive deficits.

That is why some of us think we have to save the Social Security trust fund for Social Security and the Medicare trust fund for Medicare, and that while that is necessary, it is not sufficient. We need to do even more than that to prepare for what is to come because we have a demographic tidal wave called the baby boom generation. They are going to turn these surpluses we have now into deficits. And if we start, at a time of surpluses, by raiding the trust funds, this situation becomes much worse, far more serious.

I don't think name calling is going to carry the question here. They can accuse me of medieval economics or antique fiscal conservatism. I don't think it is either one to say you ought to reserve the trust funds of Medicare and Social Security for the purposes intended. You ought not to use the money to finance the other functions of Government, however worthy the other functions are. I don't think we should use the money at a time of economic growth, which is what the administration is projecting for next year and beyond. Yet we see, according to the most recent numbers, that we are already into the trust funds. That is before a single appropriations bill has passed the Senate, before a single one has passed.

The question is, Are we going to dig the hole deeper? What are we going to do about the President's defense request? He wants $18 billion next year. The effect over 10 years is in the range of $200 billion from a request like that. That is not in the budget. Since we are already into the trust funds, it simply means that if we were to approve such a request, we would go deeper into the trust funds and Medicare and Social Security to defend or to finance that defense buildup.

How are we going to pay for natural disasters? At a time of economic growth, should we be funding natural disasters out of the trust funds of Medicare and Social Security? I don't think so. Should we fund the tax extenders by taking the money out of the trust funds of Social Security and Medicare? I don't think so.

They may call that antique fiscal conservatism. I will wear that as a badge of honor, that policy of protecting the trust funds of Medicare and Social Security. Call me any name you want. That is exactly the right thing to do. Certainly in a time of economic growth, you should not be using trust fund money to fund the other needs of Government. That is shortsighted. It is irresponsible. It is wrong. I am not going to support it.

I believe at the end of the day the American people will not support it because they have common sense. They know this doesn't add up. They know if you have already got a problem, you don't dig the hole deeper before you start filling it in. That is just common sense.

I yield the floor and suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. NELSON of Nebraska). The clerk will call the roll.

The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

RECESS

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate stand in recess until the hour of 5 p.m. today.

Mr. STEVENS. Reserving the right to object, Mr. President, will the Senator indicate whether we can get some time limit to make sure people understand the time limit of submission of amendments today? Parliamentary inquiry, Mr. President, if the Senator will yield for a moment.

Mr. BYRD. Yes, I yield for that purpose.

Mr. STEVENS. Is it not the case that all amendments to this bill must be filed and presented by 6 p.m. today?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator is correct; all amendments must be offered.

Mr. STEVENS. Offered on the floor of the Senate or they will not be eligible for consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. First-degree amendments must be offered by 6 p.m. today.

The Senator from West Virginia.

Mr. BYRD. I renew my request.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Thereupon, the Senate, at 4:31 p.m., recessed until 5 p.m. and reassembled when called to order by the Presiding Officer (Mr. DAYTON).

SUPPLEMENTAL APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2001—Continued

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Ohio.

AMENDMENT NO. 865

Mr. VOINOVICH. I send an amendment to the desk and ask for its immediate consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The pending amendment is laid aside. The clerk will report the amendment.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Ohio [Mr. VOINOVICH], for himself, Mr. HELMS, Mr. SESSIONS, and Mr. CRAPO, proposes an amendment numbered 865.

Mr. VOINOVICH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

(Purpose: To protect the social security surpluses by preventing on-budget deficits)

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. —. PROTECT SOCIAL SECURITY SURPLUSES ACT OF 2001.

(a) SHORT TITLE.—This section may be cited as the "Protect Social Security Surpluses Act of 2001".

(b) REVISION OF ENFORCING DEFICIT TARGETS.—Section 253 of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 (2 U.S.C. 903) is amended—

(1) by striking subsection (b) and inserting the following:

“(b) EXCESS DEFICIT; MARGIN.—The excess deficit is, if greater than zero, the estimated deficit for the budget year, minus the margin for that year. In this subsection, the margin for each fiscal year is 0.5 percent of estimated total outlays for that fiscal year.”;

(2) by striking subsection (c) and inserting the following:

“(c) ELIMINATING EXCESS DEFICIT.—Each non-exempt account shall be reduced by a dollar amount calculated by multiplying the baseline level of sequesterable budgetary resources in that account at that time by the uniform percentage necessary to eliminate an excess deficit.”; and

(3) by striking subsections (g) and (h).

(c) ECONOMIC AND TECHNICAL ASSUMPTIONS.—Notwithstanding section 254(j) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit
