

price and in a pre-determined amount. The company is given notice of the terms of the sale before it commences the research. Sales to this fund may be made by any company irrespective of its paid-in capital; five, Intellectual Property Incentives: The legislation provides that a company that successfully develops a countermeasure is eligible to elect one of two patent incentives. The two alternatives are as follows: a. The company is eligible to receive a patent for its invention with a term as long as the term of the patent when it was issued by the Patent and Trademark Office, without any erosion due to delays in the FDA approval process. This alternative is available to any company that successfully develops a countermeasure irrespective of its paid-in capital; b. The company is eligible to extend the term of any patent owned by the company for two years. The patent may not be one that is acquired by the company from a third party. This is included as a capital formation incentive for small biotechnology companies with less than $750,000 in paid-in capital.

Six, Liability Protections: The legislation provides for protections against liability for the company that successfully develops a countermeasure. This option is available to any company that successfully develops a countermeasure irrespective of its paid-in capital; and seven, Strengthening of Biomedical Research Infrastructure: Authorizes appropriations for grants to construct specialized biosafety containment facilities where biological agents can be handled safely without exposing researchers and the public to danger. Also reauthorizes a successful NIH-industry partnership challenge grants to promote joint ventures between NIH and its grantees and for-profit biotechnology, pharmaceutical and medical device industries with regard to the development of countermeasures and research tools.
