

center to explore the moral and religious impact of the Holocaust for future generations. And, it will solidify and honor the memory of Sigi Zierling, who was a beloved philanthropist, entrepreneur, scientist and Holocaust survivor. Sigi is survived by a loving family who have also been instrumental in furthering the mission of the UJ.

Janet and Max have been leaders in philanthropy for as long as we can remember. They are patron members of the UJ and for more than ten years they hosted parties for Jewish singles affiliated with the UJ.

They are also patron members of the Los Angeles County Museum of Art, Museum of Contemporary Art and Platinum Members for the Center Theater Group. They are avid supporters of the Beverly Hills Education Foundation, the Maple Center, the Venice Family Clinic and Happy Trails. Their tireless dedication to the arts and education has made them integral members of Los Angeles, civic community.

Janet is a multi-talented published cartoonist who also coproduced, co-wrote and directed two major musicals for the City of Beverly Hills. She was awarded the first Golda Meir Award in 1978 by the State of Israel Bonds. She has served as a board member and chair of the Beverly Hills Fine Art Commission for nine years. She currently serves as president of the Beverly Hills Theatre Guild and is on the board of the Greystone Foundation.

Max served two years as mayor of Beverly Hills during his eight year tenure on the City Council. He is the chairman of Beno's, a downtown Los Angeles apparel company, chairman of the Fashion District Business Improvement Board and member of the board of directors of Diagnostic Products. He is also on the advisory board of the Jewish Community Foundation and past president of Temple Beth Am. Like Janet, Max's influence is felt wherever he dedicates his talents.

Janet and Max have lived in Beverly Hills for over 40 years. They have three wonderful children, all graduates of either Berkeley or UCLA, and twelve grandchildren, six of whom were at Berkeley at the same time.

We are delighted to honor our dear friends as they receive a much-deserved honor from the University of Judaism and ask our colleagues to join us in wishing them all the best for the future.

BIPARTISAN TRADE PROMOTION
AUTHORITY ACT OF 2001

SPEECH OF

HON. PATRICK J. KENNEDY

OF RHODE ISLAND

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 6, 2001

Mr. KENNEDY of Rhode Island. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to H.R. 3005, the Trade Promotion Authority Act. I believe in free trade that is also fair trade, and this bill does not ensure that our future trade agreements will fit that description.

I strongly feel that we have to learn from the experience of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), which has been a failure. Since NAFTA our trade deficit with Mexico has increased, the environment along the US/Mexico border has gravely suffered, consumer safety has been put at risk due to the importation of goods that are poorly inspected, and manufacturing jobs in states like Rhode Island have been put at risk as employers leave for Mexico and other countries.

I also am concerned about the role that international organizations such as the World Trade Organization have on our national sovereignty. Our hard-fought federal, state, and local regulations that protect our consumers and environment will be put at risk by H.R. 3005. The bill would allow our environmental agreements that safeguard biodiversity, control the use of particular pollutants, and preserve our most endangered species, to be challenged as unacceptable barriers to trade.

Another major problem with the bill is its failure to learn from NAFTA's mistakes when it comes to corporate investment. Foreign corporations are using NAFTA's Chapter 11 on investment to challenge core governmental functions. Rhode Islanders need to be particularly concerned about this. We need to learn from the experience of the State of California which has been sued by the Canadian company, Methanex, because of California's ban on MTBE, a gasoline additive. This example is particularly pertinent to Rhode Island, because the Pascoag water district of Burrillville, Rhode Island has a contaminated water supply from MTBE. If we pass The Trade Promotion Authority Act, we need to be aware that we open the door to place Rhode Island laws and regulations at the mercy of foreign firms.

For all of these reasons, I urge my colleagues to vote against H.R. 3005 and in support of the Levin-Rangel substitute.

CDC RETIREE AND CONSTITUENT
GARY CONRAD

HON. JOHNNY ISAKSON

OF GEORGIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 13, 2001

Mr. ISAKSON. Mr. Speaker, it is my distinct pleasure to recognize the distinguished career of Mr. Gary Conrad, who is a member of my constituency in Georgia's Sixth District and has provided countless hours of assistance to the Congress as an employee of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Atlanta, Georgia where he has served as the Chief of the Congressional and Legislative Branch in the Financial Management Office.

Mr. Conrad is retiring from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention after 34 years of service to the agency. His service record with CDC spans his entire career and it is a career that demonstrates loyalty, dedication, quality, and selfless acts to the people of Georgia, the United States and in fact the world. Mr. Conrad has worked tirelessly to provide Congress information about the agency, its mission, and its programs. His work has contributed significantly to our understanding of the agency's mission and the nation's public health needs.

Mr. Conrad has had several notable assignments and he can truly be recognized as an individual in the forefront of the public health service. During his career with CDC, Mr. Conrad worked directly with the World Health Organization, Smallpox Eradication Programme in Bangladesh where he investigated potential smallpox cases and implemented disease containment procedures in areas with confirmed cases. His efforts contributed to the worldwide eradication of the disease.

For nearly eleven years, Mr. Conrad served as the Director for Sexually Transmitted Disease Control Programs in Atlanta, Nashville, Salt Lake City, and San Juan. In addition he has served CDC as the Deputy Director for the Public Health Service—Region IV, Division of Preventive Health Services.

When the CDC began to recognize the cases of the HIV virus early in the epidemic it was Mr. Conrad the agency called upon to serve as the Desk Officer for the Department of Health and Human Services newly designated National AIDS Program Office. During his career, Gary has also represented CDC as an advisor to the Socialist Republic of Vietnam, the International Organization on Migration, and the U.S. State Department on refugee-based health screening. He also served CDC in Miami on an emergency Cuban refugee screening project during the Mariel Cuban Boatlift.

Mr. Conrad's career is truly noteworthy and represents the excellence that exists within the citizens of our community and the nation. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention will surely miss the perennial contributions to public health of Mr. Conrad as he retires and it is my pleasure to recognize his efforts today in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

TRIBUTE TO JANE ROBERTS

HON. JOSEPH M. HOFFEL

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 13, 2001

Mr. HOFFEL. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Jane Roberts who will retire in December as Commissioner of Springfield Township in Montgomery County, Pennsylvania. She has served her community for many years with distinction.

Jane is a dedicated public servant. Upon arriving in Montgomery County, she became active with the Schuylkill Valley Center for Environmental Education and became interested in politics through the League of Women Voters where she served as President.

Jane, a Democrat, was elected a Commissioner of Springfield Township in 1994. She served as Vice President of the Board of Commissioners in 1996 and 1997. For the past seven years, she has been active in promoting recycling and other environmental causes as the Chairwoman of the Cultural and Environmental Resources Committee. In addition, she has served as the Commissioner Liaison to the Board of Directors of the Free Library of Springfield Township.

Jane and her husband Roy are the proud parents of two sons and one granddaughter.

I am pleased to honor Jane Roberts on her retirement from the Board of Commissioners. She has made significant contributions to her community that will leave a lasting mark. Her dedication to her community truly is commendable. I join Springfield Township in congratulating Jane on her many years of exemplary service.
