MCDONALD'S NAMED RECYCLING LEADER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 3, 2001, the gentlewoman from Illinois (Mrs. BIGGERT) is recognized during morning hour debates for 5 minutes.

Mrs. BIGGERT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to commend the McDonald's Corporation, which is headquartered in my district, for its continued leadership in environmental conservation. For over a decade, McDonald's has set the standard for corporate social responsibility. It has been a pioneer in a range of initiatives to reduce solid waste, conserve energy, and promote environmental awareness and conservation here in the United States and around the world.

For its good work, McDonald's has been honored by many, including Keep America Beautiful, the National Audubon Society and Conservation International. It also has received awards from the President's Council on Environmental Quality and the Environmental Protection Agency.

Now adding to its long track record of achievements, McDonald's has been selected by the National Recycling Coalition for another important environmental award. This award recognizes the company's vision and leadership in proving that recycling really does work.

Back in 1989, McDonald's formed a partnership with the Environmental Defense Fund or EDF, to develop a comprehensive plan for reducing waste. This cooperative effort sparked a kind of revolution in the restaurant industry. In fact, it laid the foundation for a new approach to solving environmental problems: Working partnerships between businesses and environmental organizations.

With EDF's help, McDonald's set out to assess every aspect of its business, looking for opportunities to conserve. In 1990, McDonald's established one of the first corporate "buy recycle" programs. It also initiated an ongoing series of environmentally friendly changes in packaging designs and materials. Two years later, McDonald's became a founding member of the Buy Recycled Business Alliance, a group of businesses dedicated to purchasing recycled products.

The impact of these efforts has been extraordinary. Since 1990, McDonald's has purchased, in the United States, over $3 billion worth of products made from recycled materials, eliminated 150,000 tons of packaging, and recycled 1 million tons of corrugated cardboard.

Recycling is not the only significant conservation efforts undertaken by McDonald's over the years. This company has expanded its environmental programs to include water conservation, air pollution reduction, rain forest preservation and restoration, protection of domestic natural habitats, and litter reduction. Through partnerships with its suppliers and environmental organizations, it has fostered new conservation technologies, influenced business practices, and supported environmental education in classrooms, communities, and McDonald's restaurants in the U.S. and abroad.
