WASHINGTON, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 2002

Vol. 148

WASHINGTON, DC,
September 12, 2002.

I hereby appoint the Honorable Lee Terry to act as Speaker pro tempore on this day.

J. DENNIS HASTERT.
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

PRAYER

The Most Reverend John R. Gaydos, Bishop of Jefferson City, Missouri, offered the following prayer:

From the eighteenth psalm of King David we read: “The breakers of death surged round about me; the menacing floods terrified me. The cords of Sheol tightened; the snares of death lay in wait for me. In my distress I called out: Lord! I cried out to my God. From his temple he heard my voice; my cry to him reached his ears.”

Amen.

Mr. SKELETON. Mr. Speaker, it is my pleasure to welcome our guest chaplain, the Most Reverend John Raymond Gaydos, bishop of Jefferson City, Missouri. Knowing of his higher calling since he was a young man, Bishop Gaydos has dedicated his life to serving his church and his community.

Born in St. Louis, Missouri, he attended the St. Agnes School of St. Louis, which is the St. Louis Preparatory Seminary; cardinal Glennon College of St. Louis; and the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome, Italy. Bishop Gaydos was ordained on December 29, 1968 at St. Peter’s Basilica in Vatican City.

Bishop Gaydos has been a pastor at several parishes in the St. Louis area, in addition to being secretary to the archbishop and vicar general of the St. Louis archdiocese. He was appointed bishop of Jefferson City, Missouri, in 1997, where he presently serves. He is well known for his leadership within the Church, serving as chairman and member of various archdiocese and national committees.

I welcome Bishop Gaydos to the House of Representatives and thank him for his opening prayer this morning.

MOTION TO GO TO CONFERENCE

ON H.R. 1646, FOREIGN RELATIONS AUTHORIZATION ACT, FISCAL YEARS 2002 AND 2003

Mr. HYDE, Mr. Speaker, in accordance with rule XXII of the rules of the House, and by direction of the Committee on International Relations, I move to take from the Speaker’s table the bill (H.R. 1646) to authorize appropriations for the Department of State for fiscal years 2002 and 2003, and for other purposes, with the Senate amendments thereto, disagree to the Senate amendments, and agree to the conference asked by the Senate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. DAVIS). The ayes have it.

Mr. SKELETON. Mr. Speaker, it is my pleasure to welcome our guest chaplain, the Most Reverend John Raymond Gaydos, bishop of Jefferson City, Missouri. Knowing of his higher calling since he was a young man, Bishop Gaydos has dedicated his life to serving his church and his community.

Born in St. Louis, Missouri, he attended the St. Agnes School of St. Louis, which is the St. Louis Preparatory Seminary; cardinal Glennon College of St. Louis; and the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome, Italy. Bishop Gaydos was ordained on December 29, 1968 at St. Peter’s Basilica in Vatican City.

Bishop Gaydos has been a pastor at several parishes in the St. Louis area, in addition to being secretary to the archbishop and vicar general of the St. Louis archdiocese. He was appointed bishop of Jefferson City, Missouri, in 1997, where he presently serves. He is well known for his leadership within the Church, serving as chairman and member of various archdiocese and national committees.

I welcome Bishop Gaydos to the House of Representatives and thank him for his opening prayer this morning.

MOTION TO GO TO CONFERENCE

ON H.R. 1646, FOREIGN RELATIONS AUTHORIZATION ACT, FISCAL YEARS 2002 AND 2003

Mr. HYDE, Mr. Speaker, in accordance with rule XXII of the rules of the House, and by direction of the Committee on International Relations, I move to take from the Speaker’s table the bill (H.R. 1646) to authorize appropriations for the Department of State for fiscal years 2002 and 2003, and for other purposes, with the Senate amendments thereto, disagree to the Senate amendments, and agree to the conference asked by the Senate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. DAVIS). The ayes have it.

Mr. SKELETON. Mr. Speaker, it is my pleasure to welcome our guest chaplain, the Most Reverend John Raymond Gaydos, bishop of Jefferson City, Missouri. Knowing of his higher calling since he was a young man, Bishop Gaydos has dedicated his life to serving his church and his community.

Born in St. Louis, Missouri, he attended the St. Agnes School of St. Louis, which is the St. Louis Preparatory Seminary; cardinal Glennon College of St. Louis; and the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome, Italy. Bishop Gaydos was ordained on December 29, 1968 at St. Peter’s Basilica in Vatican City.

Bishop Gaydos has been a pastor at several parishes in the St. Louis area, in addition to being secretary to the archbishop and vicar general of the St. Louis archdiocese. He was appointed bishop of Jefferson City, Missouri, in 1997, where he presently serves. He is well known for his leadership within the Church, serving as chairman and member of various archdiocese and national committees.

I welcome Bishop Gaydos to the House of Representatives and thank him for his opening prayer this morning.

MOTION TO GO TO CONFERENCE

ON H.R. 1646, FOREIGN RELATIONS AUTHORIZATION ACT, FISCAL YEARS 2002 AND 2003

Mr. HYDE, Mr. Speaker, in accordance with rule XXII of the rules of the House, and by direction of the Committee on International Relations, I move to take from the Speaker’s table the bill (H.R. 1646) to authorize appropriations for the Department of State for fiscal years 2002 and 2003, and for other purposes, with the Senate amendments thereto, disagree to the Senate amendments, and agree to the conference asked by the Senate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. DAVIS). The ayes have it.

Mr. SKELETON. Mr. Speaker, it is my pleasure to welcome our guest chaplain, the Most Reverend John Raymond Gaydos, bishop of Jefferson City, Missouri. Knowing of his higher calling since he was a young man, Bishop Gaydos has dedicated his life to serving his church and his community.

Born in St. Louis, Missouri, he attended the St. Agnes School of St. Louis, which is the St. Louis Preparatory Seminary; cardinal Glennon College of St. Louis; and the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome, Italy. Bishop Gaydos was ordained on December 29, 1968 at St. Peter’s Basilica in Vatican City.

Bishop Gaydos has been a pastor at several parishes in the St. Louis area, in addition to being secretary to the archbishop and vicar general of the St. Louis archdiocese. He was appointed bishop of Jefferson City, Missouri, in 1997, where he presently serves. He is well known for his leadership within the Church, serving as chairman and member of various archdiocese and national committees.

I welcome Bishop Gaydos to the House of Representatives and thank him for his opening prayer this morning.

MOTION TO GO TO CONFERENCE

ON H.R. 1646, FOREIGN RELATIONS AUTHORIZATION ACT, FISCAL YEARS 2002 AND 2003

Mr. HYDE, Mr. Speaker, in accordance with rule XXII of the rules of the House, and by direction of the Committee on International Relations, I move to take from the Speaker’s table the bill (H.R. 1646) to authorize appropriations for the Department of State for fiscal years 2002 and 2003, and for other purposes, with the Senate amendments thereto, disagree to the Senate amendments, and agree to the conference asked by the Senate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by Mr. TANCREDO changed his vote from "nay" to "yea."

So the motion was agreed to.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Stated for:

Mr. FORD. Mr. Speaker, with regard to rollcall vote 385 on the motion to go to conference on H.R. 1646, the State Department authorization, I missed that vote en route back to the Capitol. Had I been present, I would have voted "yea."

Mr. STUPAK. Mr. Speaker, this morning, September 12, my plane back to Washington was delayed and I missed rollcall vote number 385 on the motion to go to conference on the State Department authorization, H.R.
The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from New York (Mr. REYNOLDS) is recognized for 1 hour.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of debate only, I yield the customary 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from New York (Ms. SOUTHWEST), pending which I yield myself back as soon as I may consume. During consideration of this resolution, all time yielded is for the purpose of debate only.

Mr. REYNOLDS asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker, House Resolution 521 is a standard closed rule providing for the consideration of H.R. 5193, the Back to School Tax Relief Act of 2002. The rule waives all points of order against consideration of the bill and provides one motion to recommit, with or without instructions.

Mr. Speaker, one of the great successes of this Congress and this administration was the No Child Left Behind Act. Legislation to amend and extend the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Containing some of the most sweeping education reforms in decades, the act incorporates four key principles: (1) stronger accountability for results; (2) increased flexibility and local control that sends dollars and decisions directly to the classroom; (3) expanded options for parents; and (4) an emphasis on teaching methods that have proven effective in the classroom, allowing parents the flexibility to tailor their education. According to the National Center for Education Statistics, student enrollment at public and private elementary and secondary schools peaked to a record level of 53.2 million in the fall of 2000, a 14 percent increase since 1990. In my home State of New York, enrollment in grades K through 12 increased more than 4 percent from 1994 to 2000, and in many parts of the country, enrollments are expected to continue increasing through at least 2005.

As more and more students hit the books, more and more parents are straining the family finances trying to make ends meet as they put their kids through school. Unfortunately, a report from the Committee on Ways and Means shows the above-the-line deductions are allowed only to the family finances trying to make ends meet as they put their kids through school. Unfortunately, the House bill includes only $2,500 for elementary and $3,000 for secondary expenses for higher education only. The above-the-line deductions are allowed only to the family finances trying to make ends meet as they put their kids through school. Unfortunately, the House bill includes only $2,500 for elementary and $3,000 for secondary education expenses. The bill shall be considered as read for amendment. The amendment recommended by the Committee on Ways and Means now printed in the bill shall be considered as adopted. The previous question shall be considered as ordered on the bill, as amended, to final passage without intervening motion except: (1) one hour of debate on the bill, as amended, equally divided and controlled by the chairman and ranking minority member of the Committee on Ways and Means; and (2) one motion to recommit with or without instructions.

Resolved, That upon the adoption of this resolution, shall be in order without intervention of any point of order to consider in the House the bill (H.R. 5193) to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to allow a deduction to certain taxpayers for elementary and secondary education expenses. The bill shall be considered as read for amendment. The amendment recommended by the Committee on Ways and Means now printed in the bill shall be considered as adopted. The previous question shall be considered as ordered on the bill, as amended, to final passage without intervening motion except: (1) one hour of debate on the bill, as amended, equally divided and controlled by the chairman and ranking minority member of the Committee on Ways and Means; and (2) one motion to recommit with or without instructions.
Quality education should be available and affordable to all parents.

Mr. Speaker, I commend my colleagues on the Committee on Ways and Means, especially the gentleman from California (Chairman Thomas), for advancing this legislation through conference and bringing it to the House floor. With our children now back in school, there is no better time for this body to consider and pass legislation that will help families offset the cost of education.

Mr. Speaker, I strongly urge my colleagues to support this rule and the underlying legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. Slaughter. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

(Ms. Slaughter asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. Slaughter. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague from New York for yielding me the customary 30 minutes.

Mr. Speaker, anyone who plays popular sheet music knows that at the beginning of a piece there is always a vamp until ready time. When we are ready for the main act when the singer comes on, I think this bill comes into the category of vamp until ready.

Obviously, we all understand, those of us who serve in Congress and all of the wonderful staff here, the need for the appropriations bills on the floor of the House to be passed by October 1 to keep the government running. I am beginning to think we are not going to do that this year and expect we will probably come up with a giant continuing resolution.

But this is certainly a vamp until ready bill, and I certainly rise in opposition to it, because, in addition to everything else, it has a closed rule. The underlying bill is part of a continuing wave of election year gimmicks that the majority knows will never be signed into law.

At a time when the body is woefully behind in the most basic task of passing bills funding the Nation’s priorities, we should be using our time more constructively; but, instead, we are considering a resolution that shuts out consideration of a meaningful bipartisan substitute that would improve schools across the country.

It does not have to be this way. Mr. Speaker. Surely expanding educational opportunities for our children would be an issue where this Congress could set aside its differences and work together. Education remains at the top of everyone’s priority list, for rich and poor, Democrat and Republican, and any other category of persons. Instead, we have before us today a purely partisan bill, a bill that the minority leadership on the Committee on Ways and Means dubs a “vamp until ready,” and not a single member of the majority of the Committee on Ways and Means defended the substance of this bill when the gentleman from New York (Mr. Rangel) and others raised concerns about its uncertain and likely overly broad definition of eligible expenses.

This measure will not improve the education of a single child, because it is designed to raise a political point and not to become law. The problems with the bill are numerous.

First, the legislation is the first step towards shifting funds away from public schools and into private and religious schools at a time when States are reeling from lost revenue and being forced to cut everything from teachers’ salaries to laying off firefighters and policemen. We do not need to utilize the limited time of this body before adjournment debating another scheme to get the Federal Government to pay for private school tuition.

Ninety percent of our children are in public schools, and those schools need help drastically, now more than ever. I would note that the $20,000 limit for singles and $40,000 limit for couples will not be enough to take advantage of the tax deduction, which is not refundable. Therefore, we are giving them absolutely nothing.

Several months ago we recall we passed the No Child Left Behind Act that reauthorized the elementary and secondary education programs, and the congressional leadership and the President pointed with pride the enhanced levels of education spending that were authorized in the legislation, and it was a fine bipartisan bill. But now the administration and leadership have allocated funds for that program for the next fiscal year, and they are $7 billion short. In other words, Mr. Speaker, many children will be left behind. And while they are supporting this bill, which is estimated to cost $5 billion, it seems to me that it would have been much better to have put this money where it is needed.

The substitute that the Democrats have hoped to have would go a long way toward addressing the reversals.

Mr. Speaker, we cannot expect our children to learn and our teachers to teach unless they are provided with safe and modern school buildings. Forcing students to go to school in trailers or dilapidated school buildings is a clear message to them that they do not matter, and surely we can do better.

Currently our public school system has extraordinary unmet needs for funds to construct and modernize our schools. The new estimates based on data collected by the State departments of education indicate that more than $300 billion will be needed to repair or replace existing public school facilities. That $300 billion cannot be met without significant commitment of funds from all levels of government, including the Federal Government.

The substitute that the Democrats have in order would provide a meaningful down payment for school construction and modernization. In my home State of New York, it would have meant an infusion of close to $2.5 billion, incredibly needed money for school construction and rehabilitation.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Reynolds. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, listening to my colleague’s remarks, I must just say in our research of the bill that 90 percent of the families that have children in public schools, and $3 out of every $4 of the tax benefits would be spent on public school education.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from California (Mr. Dreier), the distinguished chairman of the Committee on Rules.

(Mr. Dreier asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. Dreier. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of this rule and of the underlying legislation.

We marked the tragic first anniversary of September 11 yesterday; and I think, as we focus on our priorities, clearly national security, winning the war on terrorism, dealing with the threats that exist from tyrants around the world is our number one priority.

But it is important to note the very key distinction that exists between those evil-doers, as the President calls them, and those here in the United States. It is clear that before September 11 of last year, education was our top priority. It was the issue that both Al Gore and George Bush agreed on in the election; not exactly how to do it, but they all agreed.

As my friend, the gentleman from Rochester, New York (Mr. Reynolds), has just said so well, Democrats and Republicans, rich and poor, all agree that it is very important for us to focus on the importance of education. That is why this House, in a bipartisan way, did pass the No Child Left Behind Act. It saw broad bipartisan support, won the war on terrorism, and President Bush was able to sign it.

In the tax measure, we were able to focus attention on that very important group of Americans who have to deal with the challenge of paying for higher education. So what is it that we did? We were able to provide tax incentives for people to deal with the horrendous costs that exist today for higher education. So now we have moved ahead with this legislation to deal with those at the lower end of the economic spectrum, those who are trying to focus on the very important primary and secondary education challenges that we have.

Now, it has been labeled “nothing but politics,” and it cannot be signed into law. I will tell the Members, we can look at a wide range of legislation that began in this House with Members saying it would not become public law that in fact did become public law. I think all the way back to welfare reform measures in the middle part of the last decade.
I look at this tax measure that dealt with the issue of providing incentives for people to move with higher education costs. That measure, as Members will recall, we tried to move it. People said it would never be signed into law, but, in fact, as we repeatedly have said, when we dealt with measures that this House, we have been able to see them become public law.

Similarly, this Republican majority is saying to those who are at the lower end of the economic spectrum, we want to make sure that they can get into that first rung of the ladder. We know that $3,000 would go a long way towards dealing with the challenge of making sure that books are available; and tuition, any tuition costs for those on the private side, although, as my friend, the gentleman from New York, has just said, 90 percent of those benefiting from this are in public schools; dealing with the issue of transportation; dealing with computer technology.

These kinds of costs that families face today, and we believe that single parents earning less than $20,000, married couples with incomes of $40,000 or less, they should be able to specifically benefit from this package. It is a program that is focused on ensuring that those who are not in the upper income brackets have an equal opportunity to get the best quality education possible.

That is why this is a very good piece of legislation. I commend my colleagues on the Committee on Ways and Means for proceeding with this. I believe that it specifically geared towards that. That is why we should keep it on that issue, so we should vote against a motion to recommit that my colleagues want to move on that issue, so we should vote for this rule and an agreement to the amendment.

Mr. Speaker, I have to say that there are so many reasons why we should vote "no" on this rule that it is really hard in the period of 4 minutes to really compress it, but I am going to do the very best I can.

First of all, this will cost $5 billion over the next 3 years. The reason it is only for the next 3 years is because it expires at the end of 3 years. As we know, without any other education appropriations bills to the President's desk, even though the fiscal year will end in about 3 weeks.

The reason for it is because, rightfully, the appropriators are having a very difficult time trying to come up with bills that would stay within at least some reasonable budget confines. That is because the tax bill that was passed last year, which incidentally was about $1.4 trillion, and 40 percent of it goes to the top 1 percent of the taxpayers, which basically makes about $1.1 billion a year on their tax returns; but the fact of the matter is that the Administration has a bill that will cost $5 billion over the next 3 years, and we cannot move appropriation bills. That is somewhat odd, obviously.

But more importantly, this $5 billion will invade the Social Security trust fund. As we are getting close to the election on November 5, I think the American public is entitled to know who really cares about Social Security, to go for education. They can even purchase a car if they say they need a car in order to take the child to school in the morning, up to $3,000, of course.

This tax bill is ridiculous. It makes no sense at all. It is only a political piece of legislation, and opposition to any measure which would jeopardize the potential success of it.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. MATSUI), a valued member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman from New York for yielding me the 4 minutes.

Mr. Speaker, I have to say that there are so many reasons why we should vote "no" on this rule that it is really hard in the period of 4 minutes to really compress it, but I am going to do the very best I can.

First of all, this will cost $5 billion over the next 3 years. The reason it is only for the next 3 years is because it expires at the end of 3 years. As we know, without any other education appropriation bills to the President's desk, even though the fiscal year will end in about 3 weeks.

The reason for it is because, rightfully, the appropriators are having a very difficult time trying to come up with bills that would stay within at least some reasonable budget confines. That is because the tax bill that was passed last year, which incidentally was about $1.4 trillion, and 40 percent of it goes to the top 1 percent of the taxpayers, which basically makes about $1.1 billion a year on their tax returns; but the fact of the matter is that the Administration has a bill that will cost $5 billion over the next 3 years, and we cannot move appropriation bills. That is somewhat odd, obviously.

But more importantly, this $5 billion will invade the Social Security trust fund. As we are getting close to the election on November 5, I think the American public is entitled to know who really cares about Social Security, to go for education. They can even purchase a car if they say they need a car in order to take the child to school in the morning, up to $3,000, of course.

This tax bill is ridiculous. It makes no sense at all. It is only a political piece of legislation, and opposition to any measure which would jeopardize the potential success of it.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. THOMAS) and I said, how are you going to make this fit within the budget, he said, it is a number that is going to be certified first that it is a bad legislation we have been moving out of the House.

Obviously, I think, the Chair and the leadership is probably very happy about that. In fact, when I asked the gentleman from California (Mr. THOMAS) and I said, how are you going to make this fit within the budget, he said, it is a number that is going to be certified first that it is a bad legislation we have been moving out of the House.

We should also vote against this because there is one very important piece of legislation that should pass this year, in spite of the fact that we have Social Security problems, and others. That is school construction. We estimated that it would cost $127 billion over the next decade, $127 billion over the next decade just to repair and modernize the public schools throughout the United States. $127 billion.
and we are talking about families who make less than $40,000, and to at least move the process forward, so hopefully, and whether or not the Senate acts, I do not know if the Senate is going to act, but I know education is important. So I would say, let us move forward and let us determine upon the legislation. And if necessary, instead of minimizing it like we are hearing with the opposition, this is a good bill. I commend the gentleman from Florida (Mr. Hastings) for it.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. I think we do realize that $40,000 is the limit on that. What we are saying is that is not an income that one would be paying taxes on and would allow them to get this refund.

Mr. Speaker, I am happy to yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. Hastings).

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I thank my distinguished colleague on the Committee on Rules for yielding time to me. I was hoping the gentleman from Florida (Mr. DIAZ-BALART) would stay so I could help to educate the gentleman from Florida. Perhaps he will hear it back in his office.

He began his remarks by indicating he does not understand. What part of, if you have no tax liability, this bill provides no relief, does the gentleman not understand, I say to the gentleman, or any of the other Members that rise in support of this measure?

I am in opposition to the closed rule for the so-called Back to School Tax Relief Act. As soon as I hear that the teachers in my district, along with parents throughout the country, are voicing strong opposition to an education bill, that bill gets my full attention.

The children of America have good reason, as do parents, to be wary of this particular measure. Under the pretense of offering tax benefits to low-income families, this charade, I repeat, charade, and footnote right there, this is not going to be the law this year, and if it is, that my colleagues on the other side are setting the stage for something that is going to pass at some point in the future, then say that; but do not give the impression here on this floor that this measure is about to become the law. It is not going anywhere.

As matters go, this tax relief bill could cost the American taxpayer close to $5 billion over the next 5 years. That said, what happens when we take that out of the Federal Treasury is there is no additional money for States and localities, so some of the same parents and some of the other parents who have no relief here at all are going to wind up paying more real estate taxes.

To add insult to injury, the actual educational benefits are negligible, and the actual number of families who might benefit is amazingly small. This bill will allow two-parent families with incomes of $40,000 or less and one-parent families with incomes of $20,000 or less, almost all of whom have no tax liability, to claim deductions for educational expenses in public, private, religious, or home schools. The fact is that most families in this tax bracket clearly do not have a tax liability and would not benefit from this bill. I know that supporters of this bill claim that it provides educational tax benefits to all low-income families. The truth is that this bill would provide educational tax benefits to a few families in America who choose to send their children to private school. Make no mistake, this bill allows tuition deductions; and it is little more than a private school voucher bill. They can put a diamond tiara and a ball gown on an elephant; but when all is said and done, it is still an elephant.

The gentleman from New York (Ms. Slaughter) and the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. SCHAFER) pointed to a measure that would help these parents. That is the measure offered by the gentleman from Connecticut (Mrs. Johnson) and the ranking member, the gentleman from New York (Mr. Rangel), that would add to renovation and modification and new school construction.

If that is not something that is important, I do not know what is. I urge my colleagues to reject this rule.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I would just point out as I am managing this rule that the discussion is on tax deductions, and my understanding, looking at Committee on Ways and Means, is that even the parliamentarian ruled that the school construction portion was not germane to the legislation that was brought forth out of the Committee on Ways and Means and to the Committee on Rules.

So while there may be great merit on school construction, and some of my colleagues here are saying that we cannot afford and should not do the tax deductions and yet have advocated school construction, there ought to be another place and time in the Committee on Ways and Means or some other vehicle in the body to bring forth the discussion about that.

This legislation before us is a rule bringing forth consideration by the entire body of the legislation introduced by the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. Schaffer) which deals with a tax deduction for K through 12.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 3½ minutes to the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. Schaffer), the sponsor of the legislation.

Mr. SCHAFER. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the gentleman yielding me time.

Mr. Speaker, this rule is important. It is important because by its passage it will bring the underlying legislation to the floor. This is a bill that is about rich versus poor. And it is surprising to me to hear the opponents of the rule and the bill speak so viciously against the poor in America because that is what they are doing. See, if one is wealthy in America today, one gets a deduction for every penny sent to a school whether it is public or private. But if one is poor, one does not get that deduction. Since most poor people do not itemize, they do not take the deduction.

This is an above-the-line deduction that we are proposing in the legislation which means poor families, those earning $20,000 or less on an individual return, 40,000 for a joint return, would receive a deduction on money they spend on education of their children which is a benefit they do not get today. It is a benefit that will amount to about $475 for a family in America. It is a benefit they do not have today. And the cost of educating their children is not a cost to them which is an unfair government. It is a cost that is borne by families as well when they buy uniforms, when they buy band equipment, when they buy computers, books, school supplies, transportation; and, yes, for maybe 10 percent of the families, who are part of the beneficiaries of this bill, maybe tuition, maybe, at a private school.

Ninety percent of the benefit of this bill will result in more money being available for public schools, not private schools. And this is a benefit that occurs to poor families with children in schools and these families want to invest more money in their child's education. Those who say that $5 billion is too much to spend on the poor children of America, I say shame on you. We are going to squander more than that on every agency, department we can name, A, B, C, D departments down the street here.

But all we are talking about doing has saving getting $5 billion over 10 years so that poor families can afford to spend more money on their child's education, not on bridges, not on post offices in all our districts, not on new university projects, not on water projects, not on dams, not on agriculture research, but on education. I believe it is important. I believe it is one of our highest priorities, and I regret that there are people here who cannot agree with that. In fact, we agreed when we passed the budget because we built this budget we $5 billion right into our own budget. And we have accommodated the spending that we are contemplating here. Let us just do it. Let us pass the resolution.

Ms. Slaughter. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. Wynn).

Mr. Wynn. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding me time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong opposition to this rule as well as to the underlying legislation. I listened to the bill and we listened to the gentleman who just spoke, this bill sounds appealing. It is aimed at the working
Mr. TANCREDO. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for the opportunity to speak on behalf of this bill and to once again state the obvious, and that is, in fact, the poor will benefit.

I do not know how many ways we can put this. This is an above-the-line deduction that we are proposing. It does not matter about the deductions that they have. It is above-the-line. It will come to them regardless. It will, in fact, help the poor. I do not know how we can put it many ways in order to, in fact, get people to understand the nature of an above-the-line deduction which is being proposed here.

Let us also talk about the possibility that this thing may not become law. Well, I do not know what will happen from this point on with this bill. My only responsibility is to determine how I should vote on this bill before me at this time and why. And I recognize that it may not become law. I recognize that it will be opposed by forces that are arrayed against it, mostly the forces of monopoly education, those people who say there is only one way to educate a child. It is our way or the highway; that the only money that can be possibly be spent on education is in the system we, the government, can control.

We know that that is where the real opposition is in this bill. It has nothing to do with the amount of money being spent or the number of schools and who is on the Committee on Ways and Means, Democratic Members of the Committee on Ways and Means have introduced 6 bills that I have in front of me that take an awful lot more money away from education than this even purports to, and this, of course, puts it into education. It is just not their kind of education. Not the education system that is run by the government that gets all of the money. It will get 90 percent of it. But a tiny little trickle may end up going to a school and God knows we cannot have that. Why? Because we do not have control over that process.

Well, I tell you we should not. The only people that should have control over that process are the parents of the kids that are being sent to those schools. They are the ones who should make this determination as to where their kids are going to be educated, where the best educational experience can be obtained. We do not need having that happen for people who are rich, for people who can any single day stand up and say I want my child in this district or in this school and I am willing and able to pay for it. We do not do that. Why do we do it to the poor?

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from Washington State (Mr. McDermott).

Mr. McDermott. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the rule and to the bill which underlies it. I just came from the Committee on the Budget, on which I sit, and listened to Mr. Greenspan tell us about the chaos in our economy, and he is talking about a Congress that has abandoned fiscal discipline. Essentially what he said was that the Republican Congress in the 40th act of the fiscal follies of 2001 and 2002 has absolutely decided to eat their dessert before they eat their vegetables. You have been doing it for 2 solid years. You passed the tax cuts, but you have yet to pass a budget. You have given all the goodies away and you cannot pass the budget. That is why we are not anywhere near completion here.

This private school voucher is just one more example of the same stuff. The President has clamped himself on the back, and all the Members have, about “we passed No Child Left Behind,” and that promised an increase of 15 percent funding in education, but the President’s budget only had 2.8 percent increase in spending. So do not believe that they have the requisite income levels, many ways there are to say that in fact most of those people will not be eligible because this is a deduction, and if they have other deductions that do not have the requisite income levels, they will not get the benefit of this deduction. So do not believe that they are really helping the poor. This is basically a gimmick bill.

Second, the bill is very contradictory. In the No Child Left Behind bill, the appropriation, they have underfunded education by $7.2 billion. They are indeed leaving children behind.

Let us be specific at special education. We made a commitment several years ago to fund 40 percent of special education costs for local school districts. We are only funding 18 percent. Yet you have a new gimmick bill while they are not fulfilling the commitments they already made in the area of special education. I find that very disturbing.

They want to talk about the poor. Title I is specifically the program designed to help the poor. The No Child Left Behind bill calls for $16 billion in funding. But they actually only appropriate $11.3 billion. We are short $4.7 billion. About the same amount that they want to claim they can give back in their bill. Remember, most of the poor will not be eligible, but they will be shortchanged because we underfunded Title I.

After-school programs, certainly low income residents and students need after-school programs. They underfund after-school programs by half a billion dollars, but yet they come up with an election year gimmick bill.

As we will hear from the Democratic side, what we really need in poor communities is school modernization, technology, improved roofing, air conditioning. Young people come to me and say, We need air conditioning. It is 90 degrees and our building is not air-conditioned. That would really help the poor.

But at the end of the day what we find is this is a gimmick bill. They do not expect it to be signed into law. It is disingenuous. It suggests that people will get benefits when they are really not eligible. It is fiscally irresponsible. And it contricts promises they have already made. There are abundant reasons why we should reject this bill and I urge my colleagues to do so.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. Tancredo).
We are trying to help families, and we are not trying to help rich families. This is targeted for the $20,000 to $40,000 range. We are specifically trying to help working families that have kids and have struggled making ends meet. Why should they send 30 cents to Washington, when 70 cents they spend on their kids’ education? Give them the whole dollar to spend on their kids’ education.

Mrs. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentlewoman from Florida (Mrs. THURMAN).

Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman from New York (Mr. REYNOLDS) for yielding.

I rise in support of this underlying rule and in support of the underlying bill. This is the first full week of school in many areas of our country. In Florida, where I come from, they went back to school last week. This is the first full week of school underway right now and they are being faced with the huge expense.

Particularly I want to address the people who have their children in public school. Many of these families have to buy gym clothes, as the gentleman from Florida (Mr. WELDON) mentioned. Some of them have to pay yearbook fees, they have to pay for computer software, lots of additional fees. I had one parent with two kids in public school tell me that they were out several hundred dollars in cheerleading fees and other fees. Obviously for people who have their children in private school, this is a much greater expense.

This body spoke and this body voted, and the Senate approved it and it was signed into law; and we allowed a tax deduction of $3,000 for higher education.

What this debate is really about is do we want to allow the same thing for K through 12 and why not? Why not? The gentleman from Washington State talked about putting more money into education for Washington. I have been here for 8 years now. When I got here, the education budget was $30 billion. What is it now? $8 billion or something like that?

I want to address this issue of school construction. We could probably get a bill out of this body, but one of the things that holds this issue up is there are a lot of folks on that side of the aisle that want to mandate that any school construction funds adhere to Davis-Bacon union work requirements; and in the State of Florida, this is going to drive up school construction costs by 30 percent. Frankly, for us in Florida, we do not want Federal money if it has those kinds of strings attached; and that gets me to what really is the issue here.
Mr. REYNOLDS. I yield to the gentleman from Florida.

Mrs. THURMAN. Mr. Speaker, let me ask this in the form of a question. It is my understanding, and I would like to be corrected if not, that in fact there was a substitute, that was brought to the committee. My understanding is that it was out of order. But is it not customary, on occasion, that we have the opportunity to waive the rules?

Mr. REYNOLDS. Number one, it is my understanding that the substitute was not germane. Number two, we usually do not waive the rules on germaneness.

Mrs. THURMAN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman would continue to yield, is it my understanding that the rules were waived on this bill?

Mr. REYNOLDS. We waived points of order for technical reasons.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to gentleman from Florida (Mrs. THURMAN).

Mrs. THURMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would just say to the gentleman, the number he has read back to me of the children and those who would have been affected by this piece of legislation, let me just say also to him that under America’s Better Classroom Act, quite frankly, the State of Florida would have received $1.1 billion in new additional dollars for classrooms. This could have given us some ideas of what we could have done with classroom size.

I would also say I watched after this body, and I thought we have a very good debate. We talked about education; we did a bipartisan bill. We all believed that the President was right in putting this bill of Leave No Child Behind. It was historic across the Nation. We watched people go around in a bipartisan way. I mean, we had the bipartisan way. I mean, we had the good debate. We talked about education, let me just say also to him that I also remember the day that the debate took place, and the debate went in varied directions.

Mr. SCHAFER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time, and I thank him for putting the final discussion here in the right context because the debate has drifted far away from the intended subject, and that subject is America’s children who are in schools and primarily those who are poor.

I have always appreciated the gentleman from Florida for her candor, and I appreciate it again today because she really revealed the motivation behind many of the votes that will take place today. It is motivated by unrelated issues, about school construction, other bills; and unfortunately, if they succeed, the casualty in the outcome of that debate would be poor children in America.

The bill that precipitated the debate and brought the rule here is all about focusing on families that earn $20,000 per individual, $40,000 per married couple, and allowing them to deduct from their taxable income up to $3,000 of expenditures for costs associated with educating their children, for books, supplies, materials, tuition, transportation, those items that those families believe to be in the best interests of their child’s education.

I understand there are many here who have opposed and been in opposition of this idea because they do not trust these parents. They think they might buy flat screen TVs. Guess what, the Department of Education buys flat screen TVs. In fact, the Department of Education has a very bad record over the last several years when it comes to waste, fraud and abuse. We have investigated it. I did not see anybody over there on that side of the aisle stand up saying, wait a minute, since they spent money on Cadillacs, flat screen TVs, have lost cash, hundreds of millions of dollars, let us not give them anymore. Nobody raised that argument. In fact, my colleagues’ argument then was let us give them more money so they do not waste as much.

I tend to trust families and individuals to spend money right when it comes to their children, and I trust them more than I do government. That is just what I believe, and that is really what this debate is all about.

For those who believe that there is not really an appreciable benefit for families, they should just vote for it, because we are going to cut out this costs $5 billion. That is $5 billion of children who stand to benefit from this legislation. Let us spend it on them rather on the bureaucracy, and let us vote for the rule.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I would like to make two points. One is that we do trust American families on this side of the aisle. We trust them enough that we do not want to perpetrate a hoax on them this morning, which we think is exactly what is happening here, and to point out that had the gentleman from New York’s (Mr. RANGE) substitute been allowed and passed, that our State of New York would receive $2.5 billion in much needed construction money.

Mr. Speaker, I yield balance of the time, and I move the previous question on the resolution.

The previous question was ordered. The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. LAHOOD). The question is on the resolution.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Evidently a quorum is not present.

The Sergeant at Arms will notify absent Members.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 208, nays 201, not voting 23, as follows:

[Roll No. 387]

YEAS—208

Aderholt
Akin
Amen
Armey
Bachus
Ballegren
Barr
Bartlett Barton
Bass Bereuter
Bingaman
Bilirakis
Binken
Boehlert
Boehner Bono Boozman
Brady (TX)
Brown (SC)
Bryant
Burr
Burton
Buyer
Callahan
Calvert
Camp
Cammen
Cantor
Capito
Chabot
Chambliss
Coble
Collins
Cox
Crane
Crescenz
Cubin
Culberson
Cummins
Davis, Jo Ann
Davis, Tom DeLay
DeMint
Diaz-Balart
Dolehuie
Dreier
Duncan
Dunn
Ehlers
Emerson
Esh
Everett Ferguson

Plake
Fletcher
Foley
Forbes
Fuerstenberg
Ganske
Gekas
Gibbons
Gillibrand
Gillum
Gillmor
Goode
Goorjian
Graham
Granger
Graves
Green (WI)
Greenwood Grucci
Gutknecht
Hansen
Harley
Hefley
Heller
Hill
Hoekstra
Pitts
Horn
Hostettler
Hunter
Hyde
Isakson
Iseman
Jenkins
Johnson (CT)
Johnson (IL)
Johnson, Sam
Jones (NC)
Kelly
Kelly
Kennedy (NY)
King (NY)
Kingston
Kirk
Knollenberg
Kolbe
Kол
Emerick
Leach
Lewis (CA)

Linder
Lofgren
Lucas (OK)
Massey
McCready
Mcloughlin
McCulley
McKinney
McKeon
Mica
Miller, Dan
Miller, Jeff Mills
Nethercutt
Newt Northup
Norwood
Nussle
Osborne
Peterson (PA)
Petri
Poe
Pickering
Pinetta
Platts
Pombo
Putnam
Quinn
Radanovich
Ramstad Regula Rehberg
Reid
Reynolds
Rogers (KJ)
Rogers (MI)
Rohrabacher
Ros-Lehtinen
Royce
Ryan (WV)
Ryan (KS)
Saxton
Schaaffer
Schrock
Sensenbrenner Sessions
Shadegg
Shaw
Shays

[End of roll call]
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — HOUSE

September 12, 2002

PAGE 1212

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

The President today transmitted to the House a message in writing from the President of the United States:

A message in writing from the President of the United States was transmitted to the House by Ms. Wanda G. V. Evans, one of his secretaries.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Ms. PELOSI asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for the inquiry.

As we look forward to that bill coming to the floor, we look forward to that bill cutting the investment in education, reducing the deficit, seeking to authorize and what in fact is the House’s concern on that bill.

Mr. ARNEY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman from Texas for her inquiry.

Mr. Speaker, the House has completed its legislative business for the week. The House will next meet for legislative business on Tuesday, September 17, at 12:30 p.m. for morning hour and 2 o’clock p.m. for legislative business. I will schedule a number of votes today. So we continue to have great emphasis on that bill. Indeed, we have more than doubled spending on that bill since 1996, going from $67 billion at that time, the first year in which we had majority jurisdiction, to $130 billion today. So we continue to have great emphasis on that bill. Indeed, we plan a 5.3 percent increase over the previous year; a 3.7 percent increase over last year for education bills. I am particularly interested in the Labor, Health, Human Services bills. Mr. Speaker, this bill that this side of the aisle, the Republican majority, has given special attention to, indeed, Mr. Speaker, we have more than doubled spending on that bill since 1996, going from $67 billion at that time, the first year in which we had majority jurisdiction, to $130 billion today. So we continue to have great emphasis on that bill. Indeed, we plan a 5.3 percent increase over the previous year; a 3.7 percent increase over last year; a 12.2 percent increase over last year for title I. So we continue to work with a sense of priority for that.

Obviously, we always understand that the very definition of “under-funded” in this town is the difference between what a bill’s original sponsor seeks to authorize and what in fact is indeed appropriated. But we are continuing, as we have done, to increase appropriations in this bill and its jurisdiction more than other appropriations bills.

Ms. PELOSI. Reclaiming my time, I am glad the gentlewoman ended on that note, because further to remind our colleagues, the President’s Leave No Child Behind bill, H.R. 1, the flagship bill on education that was passed by this body, had $7 billion in the President’s bill for education, but in this bill cutting the investment in education leaves millions of children behind. It is a high priority for us, and we look forward to that bill coming to the floor.
Would the distinguished majority leader tell us when the bankruptcy conference report would be scheduled?

Mr. ARMEY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for her inquiry.

It is timely to talk about bankruptcy within the context where 3.7 percent increase and a 14.2 percent increase is considered a cut. That is the kind of thinking that leads to bankruptcy dilemmas across the country. The bankruptcy bill, too, is an extremely important bill. We intend to do so.

Unfortunately, the bill is inflicted by a totally extraneous provision having to do with abortion put in by the other body. That has made it very difficult for Members who have a commitment on both of these two very important moral issues to reconcile their conflicts between that.

Unfortunately, we risk this bill’s passage by virtue of the kind of extraneous riders that are all too commonplace in the other body. This body, being the more disciplined and responsible body, will, as it many times must do, come to terms with that irresponsibility in the legislative process, and as soon as we have found that way, I promise we will bring that bill to the floor.

Ms. PELOSI. Is the gentleman referring to the provision in the bill that was put in by the gentleman from Illinois (Chairman HYDE), from the gentleman’s own party?

Mr. ARMEY. I appreciate the gentlewoman’s understanding.

The gentlewoman also understands it is contrary to the rules of the House for me to mention Senator SCHUMER by name, and I would never do that.

Ms. PELOSI. And the gentleman from Illinois (Chairman HYDE).

Mr. Leader, can we assume that since here we are, it is 20 after 12 on Thursday, we are in the middle of a great economic uncertainty in our country. American workers are clamoring for prescription drug benefits, we need to invest more in education, we have a list of priorities that the American people are concerned about, including their pension security, we came in just the other night, we are going out at 20 after 12 on Thursday and there will be no votes tomorrow, is that our understanding? We finished our business for the week?

Mr. ARMEY. Again, if the gentlewoman will yield, I appreciate so much the gentlewoman’s frustration. We passed investment security over to the other body in August. We passed the education bill. We passed the prescription drug bill. We passed the homeland security bill.

We in this body are stuck with watching these bills languish in the other body as we await any kind of competent action from the other body. As soon as they can manage to pass any of these bills and get to conference on them, we would be willing to sit down and work on these bills, and I promise you we will bring them back for completion.

The gentlewoman is absolutely correct. All of this is too important to the people of this Nation for the other body to continue to dillydally.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, reclaiming my time, I think that if there is a person out there who has lost their pension or a senior making a decision about how much of a dosage you are able to afford to take or whether you can even afford to take any prescription drug over purchasing food, or if your child is going to a substandard school and you want a better investment, and the list goes on and on, you would think that what we were doing here is irrelevant, especially when we are not even here. We are missing-in-action on some of the struggles of the American people.

Will the gentleman inform us whether we will have votes next Friday?

Mr. ARMEY. Mr. Speaker, I do appreciate the gentlewoman’s inquiry.

Of course, all of these concerns are exactly why our pension bill was passed out of this body, as I said, last April.

Whether or not we are able to have votes on Friday will depend upon the appropriators, particularly those appropriators that must reconcile themselves against the excesses of the other body. But we will try to get these bills to the floor, and I will announce as early as I can whether or not there will be votes on Friday.

Ms. PELOSI. So it is our understanding that we are leaving at 20 after 12 on Thursday, coming back at 6:30 on Tuesday, and we may be out next Friday?

Mr. ARMEY. If the gentlewoman will yield, I appreciate the gentlewoman’s understanding.

We are in the middle of a great day, we are in the middle of a great education bill. We passed the homeland security bill, the list goes on and on, you can even afford to take or whether you can to continue to dillydally.

It is particularly timely to talk about bankruptcy by reason of certain terrorist attacks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following message from the President of the United States (H. Doc. No. 107-261)

CONTINUATION OF NATIONAL EMERGENCY WITH RESPECT TO CERTAIN TERRORIST ATTACKS—MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES (H. Doc. No. 107-261)

The Speaker pro tempore laid before the House the following message from the President of the United States, which was read and, together with the accompanying papers, without objection, referred to the Committee on International Relations and ordered to be printed:

To the Congress of the United States:

Section 202(d) of the National Emergency Procedures Act, 50 U.S.C. 202(d), provides for the automatic termination of a national emergency unless, prior to the anniversary date of its declaration, the President publishes in the Federal Register and transmits to the Congress a notice stating that the emergency is to continue in effect beyond the anniversary date. In accordance with this provision, I have sent to the Federal Register the enclosed notice, stating that the emergency declared with respect to the terrorist attacks on the United States of September 11, 2001, is to continue in effect for 1 year. Proclamation 7463, Declaration of National Emergency by Reason of Certain Terrorist Attacks, was published in the Federal Register on September 18, 2001 (66 Fed. Reg. 48199).

The terrorist threat that led to the declaration on September 14, 2001, of a national emergency continues. For this reason, I have determined that it is necessary continuing in effect, after September 14, 2002, the national emergency with respect to the terrorist threat.

GEORGE W. BUSH.

THE WHITE HOUSE, September 12, 2002.

WELCOMING BULGARIAN PRESIDENT GEORGI PAVRANOVA TO AMERICA

(Mr. WILSON of South Carolina asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Mr. Speaker, on Tuesday, I welcomed Bulgarian President Georgi Pavranov to Capitol Hill, along with Ambassador Elena Poptodorova and Foreign Minister Solomon Passy. Joining me in this meeting were the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. SCHAFFER) and the gentleman from California (Mr. HORNS), who are two members of the newly formed Bulgaria Caucus, also cochaired by the gentlewoman from California (Mrs. TAUSCHER).

The Bulgarian caucus was created to spread awareness in America about Bulgaria’s strategic location and critical assistance in the war on terrorism. Members of the Bulgaria Caucus are also strongly committed to helping Bulgaria gain admittance to NATO this November.

President Pavranov presented proclamations to the gentlewoman from California (Mrs. TAUSCHER) and I to honor the creation of the Bulgaria Caucus. The presidential proclamation affirms “Bulgaria is committed to standing by the United States in the war on terrorism for the long haul,” and that the leaders of Bulgaria are looking forward to working with members of the Bulgaria Caucus to further interest and awareness in America about Bulgaria.

SPECIAL ORDERS

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. WISE of South Carolina). Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 3, 2001, and under a previous order of the House, the following Members will be recognized for 5 minutes each.

SADDAM’S VIOLATION OF U.N. RESOLUTIONS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. PENCE) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. PENCE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in the wake of the remarks by the President of the United States before the United Nations, words that resoof Indian army officials and innocent civilians. This leads me to believe that there is very little possibility that infiltration by Islamic militants at the Kashmir line of control has subsided, even though President Musharraf of Pakistan pledged that infiltration would decrease several months ago. Mr. Speaker, increased cross-border activity, augmented by targeted attacks against those running in the elections, and President Musharraf's calling the elections a sham, are cause for serious alarm.

Just yesterday, it was reported that a candidate, a Kashmii state government minister, along with seven others, was killed by militants. This was the second murder of a candidate in less than a week and is the most recent addition to a string of murders by militants who have killed 40 political workers in the past several weeks. Militants have vowed to escalate violence prior to the election in an effort to disrupt the elections, and they go so far as to say that they will attempt to kill anyone who participates.

Mr. Speaker, unless there is a clear directive from the Pakistani President to the militants to end this violence surrounding the elections, and an acknowledgment from President Musharraf that these elections are not to be interfered with, and that they should proceed free and fair, it is unclear to me what type of outcome there will be between now and the conclusion of the elections. The elections go, Mr. Speaker, from September 16 until sometime in October. I would urge President Musharraf of Pakistan to take a leadership role and to ensure India that the elections can take place without any threat of violence. We need it.

Mr. Speaker, the elections in Kashmir are not interfered with. But, of course, the concern is whether Musharraf is going to carry through. He has to be made to uphold his commitment to ending terrorism, and the first step he can take is to do everything in his power to ensure that cross-border terrorism into Kashmir ceases and that the elections in Kashmir take place freely and fairly, without the threat of violence to the candidates or Kashmiri voters.

A TRIBUTE TO CONNELLY SPRINGS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. BALLENGER) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. BALLENGER. Mr. Speaker, let me just say, nestled halfway between Raleigh and Asheville in North Carolina is a little town called Connelly Springs. It is a small town built around an old stagecoach stop which now serves railroad passengers. Named for its healthful spring waters, Connelly Springs was incorporated in 1855 due to taxes, licenses, fines, and other onerous government impositions, residents decided to repeal the town charter in 1933.

As time passed, residents needed a water supply system as local wells became less productive. Residential roads needed paving, and the State only paved highways. To address these community needs, a group of citizens petitioned the State legislative bodies to allow a vote on reincorporation; and in 1989, 266 out of the 400 town voters approved the effort.

Amazingly, the first government decided a nickel per hundred dollar property tax would cover the cost of government services, and those services were established in the old filling station with a volunteer clerk to handle the details. In addition, six volunteer council members set town policy.

The council did an outstanding job meeting the community's needs. When two larger towns on either side of Connelly Springs decided to run a large water line through these two, the town of Connelly Springs' council realized the lines would pass near the northern boundary of the new town. They decided to go into the deal for $200,000 paid over 20 years.

The plan worked beautifully. With several backhoes and other equipment to aid in the installation, Connelly Springs installed the lines and became the first North Carolina self-help program member whose local residents provided the time and the resources to install their own water lines.

With the aid from their Rensselaerville Institute and the Appalachian Regional Commission, a $60,000 loan from the Ford Foundation, and local funds, the town reached the necessary projected cost of $282,000. Three years ago, I shoveled a little dirt to prepare the land for a new town hall. This September 7, I helped cut the ribbon to open the finished town hall. The upper floors contain offices and the council chamber, offices were on the lower floor will be a community center for all local groups to use whenever they need it.

We ate hot dogs and hamburgers to celebrate the grand opening. It is all paid for, and they have money in the bank. In all my life, I have never seen a more dedicated group of citizens who manage their efforts and money so carefully. I only wish I had some of that dedication in Raleigh, North Carolina, and also in Washington, D.C.
VERDATE Sep 04 2002 02:09 Sep 13, 2002 Jkt 099060 PO 00000 Frm 00014 Fmt 4634 Sfmt 0634 E:\CR\FM\K12SE7.037 H12PT1

on September 9, 2002 is vacated.

thanks for a job well done.

cial tribute to Officer Crystal Sheftype of person Officer Sheffield was.

That was the type of officer and the be her last call, but she lost her life did not know that her next call would simply doing her job. Officer Sheffield lives at risk for all of us. Like all po-and encouraging him to excel.

Sheffield could often be found at her able and a great police officer who wonderful reputation of being depend-she wanted to be a role model for her sons and her son, Darian. It was said that

Sheffield, a Baltimore City firefighter, wept. Not only was Officer Sheffield a note that when told of her tragic showed how much she was loved and stories of how Officer Sheffield helped fighters from Baltimore, the State of ices a few weeks ago. It was a moving mony with more than 300 people in enjoying a remarkable career.

He and she worked with one another on

Sheffield was a Baltimore City firefig-and her son, Darian. It was said that wanted to be a role model for her son so she worked hard, building a western district, which was near my house, and I got a note to tell of her tragic delivered, some of my neighbors simply

Not only was Officer Sheffield a dedicated police officer, she was also a dedicated wife and mother. She is survived by her husband, Lt. William

Sheffield, a Baltimore City firefighter,

and her son, Darian. It was said that wanted to be a role model for her

Some of those crops have experienced drought aid through the

FARM BILL

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. OSBORNE) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. OSBORNE. Mr. Speaker, I come to

to a very pressing and most distressing issue in the Great Plains States and much of the mountain West; and as can be seen by the map here, the drought map, we are currently experiencing a drought

that affects approximately roughly 45 percent of the land mass

of the country.

In a normal year we can expect drought in maybe 10 percent or 15 percent of the country. And you can see by the severe brown marks and the red marks that the drought is not only extensive, it is extreme.

These are areas where essentially all the pastures are gone. The cattlemen have no feed left for the winter. They have had to send in many cases because there is no way that they can feed their cattle. And as we have had the glut on the cattle markets,

prices have declined and a great many cattlemen have taken huge losses, so we are seeing real distress in the livestock industry, particularly in the cattle industry.

Also, what we have found is those who have raised crops have experienced a similar difficulty. The dry land crops are totally gone in all of those areas that are red and brown. And, of course, this has caused huge economic distress.

Even those areas that are irrigated have lost substantially because one cannot run a center pivot fast enough to keep up with the drought. In many areas they have lost their ditch water.

the water has been cut off because the rivers are dry. There is no water available. So even irrigated crops are severely impacted.

So some have said, well, what we have to do is take the money out of the new farm bill because there is a huge amount of money in there and just take it out of there. We have not been able to figure out how we can get enough money out of the farm bill

without destroying the farm bill that will undo this huge problem. So as a result, the gentleman from South Dakota

(Mr. THUNE), the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. MORAN) and myself have introduced legislation that we think address this problem.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. OSBORNE) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. OSBORNE. Mr. Speaker, I come to a very pressing and most distressing issue in the Great Plains States and much of the mountain West; and as can be seen

by the map here, the drought map, we are currently experiencing a drought

that affects approximately

roughly 45 percent of the land mass

of the country.

In a normal year we can expect drought in maybe 10 percent or 15 percent of the country. And you can see by the severe brown marks and the red

marks that the drought is not only extensive, it is extreme.

These are areas where essentially all

the pastures are gone. The cattlemen

have no feed left for the winter. They have had to send in many cases because

there is no way that they can feed their cattle. And as we have had the glut on the cattle markets,

prices have declined and a great many cattlemen have taken huge losses, so we are seeing real distress in the

livestock industry, particularly in the cattle industry.

Also, what we have found is those who have raised crops have experienced

a similar difficulty. The dry land crops

are totally gone in all of those areas

that are red and brown. And, of course,

this has caused huge economic distress.

Even those areas that are irrigated

have lost substantially because one

cannot run a center pivot fast enough to keep up with the drought. In many areas they have lost their ditch water.

the water has been cut off because the rivers are dry. There is no water available. So even irrigated crops are severely impacted.

So some have said, well, what we have to do is take the money out of the new farm bill because there is a huge amount of money in there and just take it out of there. We have not been able to figure out how we can get

enough money out of the farm bill

without destroying the farm bill that will undo this huge problem. So as a result, the gentleman from South Dakota

(Mr. THUNE), the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. MORAN) and myself have introduced legislation that we think address this problem.

At the present time we are estimated to lose $1.4 billion in the State of Nebraska alone. Kansas also is roughly

$1.4 billion and the other States that we see here will have similar losses, so it is a huge loss. The thing that we are concerned about is if there were a hurricane that affected that amount of land mass in the United States, or if we had a wildfire that burned up that much area in the United States, or if there was a drought that affected that much, or a flood or whatever, we would immediately have assistance. But a drought occurs slowly over time and it is not quite as visible, but the economic devastation is every bit as great as what these other disasters might have.

So we need help and we need it now.

We cannot take the money out of the farm bill because there simply is not that much money. So what we have proposed is another solution, and that is that we look at this, at the spending currently in the farm bill.

We will see in the heavy blue line here what has been budgeted for the farm bill in the year 2002. Here is $19 billion. Yet, recent projections by CBO indicate that roughly $13 billion will be spent this year. So it is a $6 billion shortfall.

And, you say, why is that? Well, the reason is because the drought, the drought has reduced production of corn, soybeans, milo, sorghum, rye, many other crops by 10 to 15 percent.

Therefore, the price has risen.

So as the price has risen, there is no need for government payments, no countercyclical payment, no loan deficials payments. So as a result, we will see a savings, so to speak, of roughly $6 billion, and the reason for the saving, if you want to call it that, is simply because we have had a drought. And those people who have been affected mostly by the drought, who have been hurt by the drought, will not receive any payments.

What we are proposing is we take this shortfall, this $5 billion or whatever, and allocate it to emergency spending. It does not break the budget.

It falls within what has already been budgeted.

This contrasts sharply with what the other body has proposed. They want to add roughly $6 billion of new spending. We think this is fiscally responsible. We think it certainly addresses the issue that is going on in the West and other parts of the country, even in the southeastern part of the country. But the main thing we are trying to drive home is this is critical and this is not emergency spending. It is not because of low prices. It is because of natural disaster. It is disaster spending which we need badly.

Mr. Speaker, I urge careful consideration of my colleagues to this dilemma that we are now facing.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from California (Mr. FILNER) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. FILNER. Mr. Speaker, I urge careful consideration of my colleagues to this dilemma

that we are now facing.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Florida (Mr. FOLEY) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. FOLEY. Mr. Speaker, as we continue our reflection on September 11, I wanted to take a moment to enter into the RECORD a piece written by the

""
Speaker Pro-tempore of the Florida House of Representatives, Sandra Murman from Tampa, Florida, and it goes like this:

“When I hear the date September 11, images immediately flood my mind. I see the second tower fall, I see the Pentagon on fire and I can hear the sickening crunch as the towers fall while throngs of people run to escape the thick gray cloud. I also remember the utter horror I felt when I realized this was not simply one plane off course, but it was a planned attack. This was our generation’s Pearl Harbor. But unlike Pearl Harbor, terrorists hijacked planes full of innocent civilians and crashed those planes into buildings filled with more innocent civilians. On that day we saw the face and felt the hand of evil, but we also saw extraordinary goodness through the lives of heroic Americans in Washington, New York, and a Pennsylvania field.

“As we gather here to mark the one-year anniversary of the attack, I would like to share my thoughts on what I have learned since last September,” she writes.

“Lesson one: I have been reminded that life is short and precious. That argument with a spouse, the concern over which car to purchase on September 10, suddenly seemed so petty after the attacks. As I evaluated my own life, I realized what mattered most was my relationship with God, my family, loved ones and community. Everything I do now needs to have meaning, purpose, and positively impact those around me.

“Lesson two: Before September 11 we knew we had enemies and lived in a dangerous world, but September 11 we discovered that organized groups of terrorists had both the desire and the ability to create devastation within our country. We can no longer take this security for granted. There is our country. We can no longer take this security for granted.

“Lesson three: On September 11 America showed that we are still a nation of heroes. Incredible courage was shown by the New York City firefighters who slapped on their gear and charged into the burning buildings to help victims escape. New York lost 343 of its finest that day. Hundreds of workers in the World Trade Center helped one another escape. I remembered hearing the story of one man who, instead of escaping Tower Two, chose to remain behind with a disabled colleague who could not make it down the stairs. They both perished that day. And, of course, we all heard the story of Flight 93, those extraordinary men and women who said their goodbyes to loved ones, prayed the Lord’s Prayer, and with the words of ‘Let’s roll,’ charged the cockpit to save countless lives in Washington, D.C.

“In an instant these ordinary Americans became legends. All the sacrifices on September 11 have left us speechless with gratitude.

“Lesson four: We have the responsibility to ensure that the lives lost on September 11 were not in vain. We were attacked because of who we are. The principles on which our country was founded, freedom, equality and the dignity of the individual, are a threat to Islamic extremists. They view open, democratic societies as the enemy and want to create a society where there is no religious freedom and no civil liberty. As defenders of liberty we stand in their way.

“At this very moment our service- men and women are defending the cause of freedom throughout the world. Here on the home front we, too, have a responsibility. Our defense involves upholding the values of America. We have a civic duty to participate in our democratic institutions. We have a responsibility to instill in our children a love of liberty, a love of country, the difference between right and wrong and the willingness to make sacrifices in this ongoing struggle between freedom and tyranny.

“Let me close by reading President Bush’s September 20th speech to the Nation:

“Great harm has been done to us. We have suffered great loss. And in our grief and anger we have found our mission and our moment. Freedom and fear are at war. The advance of human freedom, the great achievement of our time, and the great hope of every time, now depends on us. Our Nation, this generation, will lift the dark threat of violence from our people and our future. We will rally the world to this cause by our efforts, by our courage. We will not tire. We will not falter. We will not fail.

“Thank you. May God bless you all.”

Sandra Murman, majority leader of the Florida House of Representatives. said to Jerry Schill, “Jerry, I cannot do that. If I do, I might be violating the 501(c)(3) status of this church and we would lose that status.”

Mr. Speaker, I decided that, working with other Members, including the Chair and others, I introduce the legislation to return the first amendment right to our churches and synagogues and mosques in this country. That was taken away primarily by one man who, in his arrogance being Senator Johnson, wanted to stifle the speech of opposition.

I must tell my colleagues, with a great deal of humility, that we have 130 cosponsors of this legislation. We have recently picked up three or four from the Democratic side, which I am very grateful for. In addition, we recently have received a letter of support from a former Member of the House who is a Democrat, and the former Member’s name is Reverend Floyd Flake.

I met term with Dr. Flake, and he was a man that we all respected for his integrity and his honesty, and Dr. Flake decided to leave the House and go back to his church. It is the Greater Allen Cathedral of New York: and quite frankly, I found out after I introduce our legislation that Reverend Flake had received a letter of reprimand from the IRS, Internal Revenue Service. They have the authority because the Johnson amendment went on the revenue bill, and Reverend Flake had a time with Reverend Al Gore in his church and after Presidential candidate Gore was speaking, Reverend Flake got up behind him and said to his congregation that, “I think this is the right man to lead this Nation.” That was a violation. So, therefore, instead of losing the status, he was given a warning.

I contacted Reverend Flake, and he wrote me a letter that I want to submit for the RECORD, but I want to read just one paragraph. It says: “I praise God for the stand you have taken to protect the freedom of speech.”

Mr. Speaker, I want to read a couple more letters that we have received in support of this legislation. One is from Rabbi Daniel Lapin. He heads a group called Toward Tradition. He is a wonderful man of God. I have heard him on the radio several times, and I am going to submit his letter for the RECORD with the Chair’s permission. I will read just two paragraphs: “I hope that Congress and the President would join your campaign to revive one of the most basic principles of the American founding, the freedom of unhindered political speech.” That is Rabbi Lapin.

In addition, a letter from D. James Dobson, he is the Greater Allen Cathedral of New York, Virgin Hope is more important than ever before. Yet the current law enacted by Lyndon Johnson has effectively silenced the church. We are a poorer Nation for it.”

Chairman Flake had received a letter of support from a former ambassador to the Vatican, Ray Flynn, also former mayor of Boston, Massachusetts.

The last letter I want to read is from the Southern Baptist Convention. Dr. Richard Land; and Mr. Speaker, I would also with the Chair’s permission like to submit the entirety of this letter for the record, also. The paragraph I want to read, Mr. Speaker, is this: “We endorse your bill because we believe it provides an appropriate barrier to hinder the government from seeking to define the mission of the church. If it should become law, we will encourage Baptist churches to speak freely on the issues of the day as we believe they should already but to refrain from formally endorsing candidates.”

The reason I wanted to close with that letter is because this legislation that we have is not anything more or less but to return the freedom of speech to the churches, the synagogues, the church and her message of reconciliation. virgin hope is more important than ever before. Yet the current law enacted by Lyndon Johnson has effectively silenced the church. We are a poorer Nation for it.

I include those letters for the RECORD at this point.

Hon. WALTER JONES, House of Representatives, Cannon House Office Building, Washington, DC.

Dear Congressman Jones: I am grateful for the use of taxation to influence religious activity. As you know, I feel this legislation is a very important step in reversing a longstanding injustice, whereby free speech seems to be protected everywhere, except in the pulpits of our churches and other houses of worship. In culture like ours, which sometimes seems on moral-life support, the voice of the church and her message of reconciliation, virtue, and hope is more important now than ever before. Yet the current law (enacted by Lyndon Johnson) has effectively silenced the church. We are a poorer nation for it. I strongly encourage our friends in the House leadership and Chairman Thomas to schedule early hearings on this important piece of legislation. I hope you will communicate these sentiments to them on my behalf.

Walter, I commend you for your forthright and courageous stance in taking on this issue. When this bill becomes law, future generations of Americans may view it—rightly so—as an important milestone in the reformation of our culture.

Sincerely, D. James Kennedy, Ph.D.

Dear Representative Jones: It was a pleasure to talk with you over the phone recently. I was encouraged by your work on HR 2357, for I’ve been troubled by the increased pressure on churches and other religious organizations to desist from speaking out on the moral issues of our day. It’s heartening to know that the Lord has raised up those who, like yourself, are willing to take a stand and defend our rights. Our prayers will be with you and your staff as you attempt to move this important bill through the House of Representatives. I was pleased to hear that you’ve already received a promising response from many of your fellow congressmen. That again is the time to discuss this issue with me. It was an honor to become acquainted with you—I commend you for your effort to the Lord and dedication to your family. All the best as you persevere in the vital role in which God has placed you. Blessings!

Sincerely,

JAMES C. DOBSON, Ph.D.,
President.

RAYMOND L. FLYNN,
South Boston, MA, October 12, 2001.

Congressman WALTER B. JONES,
Congress of the United States, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

CONGRESSMAN WALTER B. JONES: Thank you for introducing H.R. 2357, legislation guaranteeing the right of free speech to everyone. This proposed legislation is timely and appropriate. Since the events of September 11th, our country has been brought together by President Bush and many religious leaders in a public manifestation of patriotism and civic unity never experienced before in my many years in public service. I feel honored to be here today in supporting this legislation and would urge members of Congress to do likewise. God bless you, Mr. Jones, and thank you for your courageous political and moral leadership.

Sincerely,

RAYMOND L. FLYNN,
National President of Catholic Alliance, Former United States Ambassador to the Vatican, and Mayor of Boston.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION, ETHICS & RELIGIOUS LIBERTY COMMISSION

Hon. WALTER JONES,
U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR CONGRESSMAN JONES: Thank you for your leadership in introducing H.R. 2357, the “Houses of Worship Political Speech Protection Act. This bill is critical to the free exercise of religion in the United States. H.R. 2357 is consistent with the Constitutional principle that the church should be separate from the state. The government should not have the power to define what the church believes or practices in principle or in effect. Moreover, the IRS agent said to the Internal Revenue Service to selectively target those it wishes to silence or threaten, this principle is not currently being protected.

Your bill will restore the proper balance by providing a “substantiality” test similar to that already applied in the area of legislation or lobbying.

The Ethics & Religious Liberty Commission believes that while the government should not restrict the activities of the church to define its mission, the church should restrict its own activities consistent with its mission. We believe that the church should speak to the current issues of the day consistent with its own doctrine and teachings. Nothing in the law or practice of government should be the cause for this legislation. However, we do not believe it is wise, prudent or appropriate for Baptist churches to endorse candidates.

We endorse your bill because we believe it provides an appropriate barrier to hinder the government from seeking to define the mission of the church. If it should become law, we will encourage Baptist churches to speak freely on the issues of the day (as we believe they should already) but to refrain from formally endorsing candidates. Because not all churches hold the particular constraints of a Baptist doctrine and history, we do not expect others to apply this particular bill in the same way. However, consistent with Baptist and Constitutional principles, the church should be free to be the church in the way their own doctrine dictates.

Once again, thank you for your leadership.

Sincerely,

RICHARD D. LAND, D.Phil.,
Ethics & Religious Liberty Commission, Southern Baptist Convention.

Let me go back to the Catholic priest in the 3rd District of North Carolina. Why should a preacher or priest or rabbi not be able to believe that the Lord has talked to them in their heart and say that I want your sermon today to be about protecting life or it could be the other side of the issue, where the preacher maybe feels that it is a pro-choice candidate that he or she feels is the right person? Whether they are pro or con on the issue, they should have the right to talk about the issue; but because this law is so vague, and I want to talk about a modification, Mr. Speaker, this law is so vague that half the churches do not know what they can and cannot do when it comes to giving sermons on the biblical issues to a congregation.

On the 14th of May of this year, I want to thank the gentleman from New York (Mr. HOUGHTON) and the Subcommittee on Oversight. They held a hearing on this issue, as well as the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE) has always been very interested in this issue, also. He has just taken a different approach from this bill, but what I wanted to say was that the test of this bill or the law or this bill to change the law, we had Dr. D. James Kennedy fly up from Florida to speak in behalf of this bill. Then a former Member of the House, and a Democrat, who also at one time was the vice mayor of Washington, D.C., Pastor Walter Fauntroy, spoke in behalf of this legislation; and then the attorney for the American Center for Law and Justice who helped me draft this legislation, Colby May, was also one of the witnesses in behalf of this legislation.

At a later time I am going to bring to the floor testimony of two of the IRS representatives, a Mr. Miller and a Mr. Hopkins, who appeared before the Subcommittee on Oversight on that day, and I am going to just paraphrase a couple of statements that they made, but I am going to have to leave next week and submit for the RECORD a couple of statements that they made.

First of all, they acknowledged that this was very vague, difficult to enforce, when they were asked by the chairman, “How do you enforce this law?” They said that it was very difficult to do.

Secondly, what really, really got my attention is that they acknowledged that they were dependent on a third party to report the church or synagogue. Mr. Speaker, that reminds me of my days of studying the history of the forties, when the government is looking for a third party to report a violation of a law, that really, being a man of faith that I am, and a man that believes strongly in the Constitution, that really gives me trouble, to be very honest about it.

In addition, what the IRS agent said was that possibly the legislation that we have introduced would help them better understand the vagueness of the Johnson amendment. So I am very hopeful that sometime this year that we as a House will take this bill up for a debate and a discussion and a vote.

I want to, as I begin to start towards my closing, I am going to take maybe 5 or 6 more minutes, I would like to read a quote by a former Congressman, George Hansen. I believe and I stand to be corrected, he is from the State of Idaho, but he served years ago, but this is what I want to say today and to get in the RECORD. This is what Congressman Hansen said: “It is impossible to have religious freedom in any Nation where churches are licensed to the government.” I am going to repeat that, Mr. Speaker, because I think what Mr. HANSEN said is absolutely correct: “It is impossible to have religious freedom in any Nation where churches are licensed to the government.”

For those again, let me remind the House that if this was 1953, I would not be on this floor because, Mr. Speaker, there would not be any restrictions of speech on the churches. I have done the research, and I have found that when the churches and synagogues in this country qualified for the 501(c)(3) status, there was no restrictions at all in the speech of those churches or synagogues or mosques in this country. It is the Johnson amendment that was never debated that put the government into the churches and synagogues of this Nation, and I again believe so much in the first amendment right of every American to the church that certainly our spiritual leaders, should they choose to talk about the issues of the day, whether they be political issues of the day or moral issues of the day, should have the right to do so.

Let me also use another quote, if I may, from Martin Luther. Martin Luther said: “The church must be reminded that it is neither the master nor the servant of the State but, rather, the conscience of the State.” Mr. Speaker, what he is saying is that the church should not be the servant of the State. It should be the conscience of the State. How can it be the conscience of the State if the Federal Government, through the IRS, is trying to intimidate what they say?
Mr. Speaker, I am going to close in just about 2 or 3 minutes and yield back my time to the Chair, but I want to close this way by saying that I am a person who believes that this country’s strength is the fact that we are a Nation under God, and those people who are our legislators, in my opinion, do not either understand the history of America and the history of the Johnson amendment, or they are for whatever reason concerned about the churches and the synagogues having the freedom, the total freedom—speech that they enjoyed in 1953, that was taken away from them in 1954.

1315

Mr. Speaker, with the help of my colleagues, and I thank the Democrats who have joined me in this effort, we will continue to fight this battle for returning the First Amendment to our churches and synagogues. I want to close by a certain way I close in my district every time I speak, and that is to ask God to please bless our men and women in uniform. I ask God to please bless the families of our men and women in uniform. I ask God to please bless Members of Congress, both House and Senate, and their families. I ask God to please bless the President of the United States as he has some very difficult decisions in the days ahead of him, as we do. And I always close by saying three times, I ask God, please, God, please, to continue to bless America.

HONORING GENERAL BERNARD A. SCHRIEVER

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. PENCE). Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 3, 2001, the gentleman from Florida (Mr. STEARNS) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. STEARNS. Mr. Speaker, I want to commend the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. JONES) for his courageous stand, and his desire to ask for the Almighty’s blessings on this country again and again.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Bernard A. Schriever, United States Air Force (retired), for his dedication and service to the United States Air Force, for his essential service in the development of the United States ballistic missile program, and for his lifetime of work to enhance the security of the United States of America.

He was born in Bremen, Germany in 1910. Bernard Schriever came to America in 1917 and became a naturalized citizen in 1923. After graduating from Texas A&M, he began his military career in 1931 as an Army artillery officer, later transferring to the Army Air Corps for flight school and flying 36 combat missions during World War II. In 1943, General Schriever became chief of the Strategic Materiel, Army Air Force headquarter, and while in that position, he developed planning documents that linked ongoing research and development efforts with long-range military planning.

In 1954, the Air Force’s highest priority was the development of the first intercontinental ballistic missile, the Atlas, and soon thereafter development of that missile became a top national priority under the Eisenhower administration to counter the Soviet nuclear threat. At that time the Soviet Union had produced nuclear and thermo-nuclear bombs and was pursuing an aggressive rocket technology program culminating in the October 1957 launch and orbit of the Sputnik satellite.

General Schriever’s development of the new United States ballistic missile program and headed the Western Development Division, later called the Ballistic Missile Division, which was solely responsible for planning, programming and developing the intercontinental ballistic missile. In fact, the size and funding of the Western Development Division was actually larger than the Manhattan Project.

On December 17, 1957, the Air Force conducted the first successful test launch of an Atlas missile, and by 1963 the Strategic Air Command had deployed 13 Atlas missile squadrons, with nearly 120 missiles on alert to meet the contemporary Soviet Union threat. General Schriever oversaw the simultaneous development of the Titan missile and the intermediate-range ballistic missile, Thor, which achieved an initial operating capability in 1959. Furthermore, the more advanced Titan intercontinental ballistic missile reached initial operating capability by April 1962. And by October of 1962, 10 Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles were placed in service in response to the Cuban missile crisis.

Mr. Speaker, it is nothing short of amazing that General Schriever’s efforts produced, within only 8 years, four complete missile systems for the United States, each system being more advanced and more complicated than its predecessor. Both the Atlas and the Titan intercontinental missiles were based and became the workhorse for America’s space program, and the Atlas missile is still used as a satellite launch vehicle today.

General Schriever retired in 1966 as a four star general, and continued his service as the United States as a member of the President’s Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board, the Defense Science Board, and the Ballistic Missile Defense Organization Advisory Committee. His expertise is still sought in the continuous development of America’s space systems.

Walter J. Boyne, former director of the National Air and Space Museum of the Smithsonian Institution, wrote, “Today, the technological, technical, intelligence, and communication satellites owe their existence to the work of Schriever and his team.” Furthermore, the Air Force in its official biography of General Schriever recognizes him as the “father of the Air Force’s ballistic missile and military space program.”

Furthermore, the Falcon Air Force base outside of Colorado Springs was renamed the Schriever Air Force Base.

Mr. Speaker, during my service in the United States Air Force, I had the opportunity to work on many of the systems that General Schriever and his team pioneered. His name was spoken with an air of reverence, and the enormity of his accomplishments in developing a viable deterrent to the Soviet threat and ensuring American predominance in space was not lost on all of the Air Force personnel. I remember an article in Air Force News back in 1999 where General Schriever stated, “We envisioned that space would become critical to our warfighters. Even back in the 1950s when we were talking about deterrent capabilities, we believed space would become an important factor. Nowadays, thanks to space, in the first few days of a conflict, we can shut their eyes, ears and their ability to talk. Then you can apply your forces with much less risk. Just look at what happened in the Persian Gulf and the Balkans, entirely different from Korea and Vietnam, Space had everything to do with that.”

General Schriever continues to uphold that premise, as he recently stated at a ceremony last month honoring space and missile pioneers when he said, “We have to have the ability in space. We need to keep that position to deter that kind of capabilities to make war.”

Mr. Speaker, America’s dominance in space today is due in large part to the leadership, talent, and selfless service of General Bernard A. Schriever. I stand here today to state that Congress recognizes and honors him for his dedication and service to the United States Air Force, for his essential service in the development of the United States ballistic missile program, and for his lifetime of work to enhance the security of the United States.

Thank you, General Schriever. God bless you, and God bless America.

HONORING JOHNNY UNITAS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. CARDIN) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the untimely death... of Johnny Unitas, whom I think everyone would agree is the greatest football quarterback of all time.

The Baltimore Sun described Johnny’s death as a shock. “Baltimoreans fell in love with a plain-spoken, rough-hewn hero who epitomized their city of steelworkers and longshoremen.” Unitas retired in 1973, holding 22 NFL records. He completed at least one touchdown pass in 47 straight games, a record that no one has even come close to matching. He did that during the years from 1956 through 1960. He led the Baltimore Colts to the NFL championship in 1958 and 1959, and the Super Bowl in 1970. Johnny Unitas was inducted into the Football Hall of Fame in 1979.

On the NFL’s 50th anniversary, Johnny was voted the greatest quarterback of all times. With the aid of national television, Johnny catalyzed the NFL into the public’s eyes every day, driving the growing popularity of professional football.

Mr. Speaker, he was responsible for developing the national phenomenon of enjoying football the way we do today.

Johnny’s trademark hunched shoulders, crew cut, black high-top cleats and stern look found a home in the heart of every Baltimorean. I was a teenage boy by Unitas’ TV periphery for the Colts. I remember fondly the days of his 18-year NFL career. More than a football player, Johnny touched the community with his devoted service to charitable causes; he was kind, warmhearted and affable.

This past week I had the opportunity to be with him at Towson University. He was continuing his community service. He never denied a person an autograph, not because he thought he was a hunk hero who epitomized their city of steelworkers and longshoremen.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in remembering Johnny Unitas, a legacy not only in Baltimore, but across the Nation. On the field, he will always be known as No. 19, but he will surely remain number one in our hearts. We offer our condolences to his family. We will always remember what he has meant to professional football, and what he has meant to Baltimore.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent, leave of absence was granted to:

Mr. ACKERMAN (at the request of Mr. GEPhardt) for September 11 and 12 on account of official business.

Mr. BONILLA (at the request of Mr. ARMEY) for today on account of family medical reasons.

Mr. ARMEY (at the request of Mr. ARMEY) for today on account of attending President Bush’s address to the opening of the U.N. General Assembly.

Mr. MCGRATH (at the request of Mr. ARMEY) for today until 11:00 a.m. on account of meetings at the White House.

SPECIAL ORDERS GRANTED

By unanimous consent, permission to address the House, following the legislative program and any special orders herebefore entered, was granted to:

The following Members (at the request of Mr. PALLONE) to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material:

Mr. NORTON, for 5 minutes, today.
Mr. FULNER, for 5 minutes, today.
Mr. DEFAZIO, for 5 minutes, today.
Mr. MCGOVERN, for 5 minutes, today.
Mr. BROWN of Ohio, for 5 minutes, today.
Mr. BAIRD, for 5 minutes, today.
Mr. PALLONE, for 5 minutes, today.

The following Members (at their own request) to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material:

Mr. FENCE, for 5 minutes, today.
Mr. BALLenger, for 5 minutes, today.
Mr. CUMMINGS, for 5 minutes, today.
Mr. CARDIN, for 5 minutes, today.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to; accordingly (at 1 o’clock and 27 minutes p.m.), under its previous order, the House adjourned until tomorrow, Friday, September 13, 2002, at 10 a.m.

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS, ETC.

Under clause 8 of rule XII, executive communications were taken from the Speaker’s table and referred as follows:

9082. A letter from the Administrator, Department of Agriculture, transmitting the Department’s final rule — Cherries Grown in the States of Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wisconsin; Order Amending Marketing Agreement and Order No. 930 [Docket Nos. AO-370-A7; FV00-930-1] received September 6, 2002, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Agriculture.

9083. A letter from the Administrator, Department of Agriculture, transmitting the Department’s final rule — Domestic Dates Produced or Packed in Riverside County, California; Increased Assessment Rate [Docket No. FW02-967-FR] received August 29, 2002, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Agriculture.

9084. A letter from the Administrator, Department of Agriculture, transmitting the Department’s final rule — Celery Grown in Florida; Termination of Marketing Order No. 967 [Docket No. 02-0120] received August 29, 2002, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Agriculture.

9085. A letter from the Administrator, Department of Agriculture, transmitting the Department’s final rule — Nectarines and Peaches Grown in California; Revision of Handling Requirements for Fresh Nectarines and Peaches [Docket No. FW02-916-1 FIR] received August 29, 2002, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Agriculture.
Congressional Record — House

September 12, 2002

H6250

State Munitions List, Categories II, III, VII, XVI and XVIII; and Section 123.7 — received September 6, 2002, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on International Relations.

9097. A letter from the Director, Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce, transmitting the Department’s final rule on Bureau of Labor Statistics Certification Programs (Docket No. 020590117-2195-02) (RIN: 0607-AA36) received September 6, 2002, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Government Reform.

9098. A letter from the Employee Benefits Preservation Manager, Department of Defense, transmitting the annual report of the Retirement Fund Act of 1963 (as amended) and the Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 9503(a)(1)(B); to the Committee on Government Reform.

9099. A letter from the Assistant Administrator for Human Resources and Education, National Aeronautics and Space Administration, transmitting a report pursuant to the Federal Vacancies Reform Act of 1998; to the Committee on Government Reform.

9100. A letter from the Secretary, Postal Rate Commission, transmitting a report pursuant to the Postal Rate Fund Act of 1998; to the Committee on Government Reform.

9101. A letter from the Acting Assistant Administrator for National Ocean Service, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, transmitting the Administration’s final rule — Graduate Research Fellowships in the National Environmental Research Reserve System for FY03 (RIN: 0648-2136) received September 6, 2002, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Resources.

9103. A letter from the Clerk, United States Court of Appeals, transmitting an opinion of the Court for the District of Columbia Circuit, to the Committee on the Judiciary.

9104. A letter from the Chairman, Surface Transportation Board, transmitting the Board’s final rule — Removal and Revision of Regulations — received September 6, 2002, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

9105. A letter from the Assistant Administrator for Procurement, National Aeronautics and Space Administration, transmitting the Administrator’s final rule — Small Business Competitiveness Demonstration Program (DBA 27-99-07) (RIN: 0826-AC89) received September 6, 2002, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Science.

9106. A letter from the Chief, Regulations Unit, National Aeronautics and Space Administration, transmitting the Service’s final rule — Weighted Average Interest Rate Update [Notice 2002-61] received August 14, 2002, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Ways and Means.

9107. A letter from the Assistant Secretary, Department of Defense, transmitting the Department’s report on Options for Assisting Russia in the Development of Alternative Energy Sources for Seversk and Zheleznogorsk to Facilitate the Conversion of Weapons-Grade Plutonium Production; jointly to the Committees on International Relations and Armed Services.

9108. A letter from the Congressional Liaison Officer, United States Trade and Development Agency, transmitting notification of prospective funding obligations requiring special notification for Serbia under Section 520 of the Kenneth M. Ludden Foreign Operations, Export Financing, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, Fiscal Year 2002; jointly to the Committees on International Relations and Appropriations.

9109. A letter from the Congressional Liaison Officer, United States Trade and Development Agency, transmitting notification of prospective funding obligations requiring special notification for Colombia under Section 520 of the Kenneth M. Ludden Foreign Operations, Export Financing, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, Fiscal Year 2002, jointly to the Committees on International Relations and Appropriations.

9110. A letter from the Assistant Secretary for Economic Development, Department of Commerce, transmitting the annual report on the activities of the Economic Development Administration for Fiscal Year 2000, pursuant to 32 U.S.C. 3217; jointly to the Committees on Transportation and Infrastructure and Financial Services.

Reports of Committees on Public Bills and Resolutions

Under clause 2 of rule XIII, reports of committees were delivered to the Clerk for printing and reference to the proper calendar, as follows:

Mr. BOEHNER: Committee on Education and the Workforce.

Mr. JOHNSON of Texas (for himself, Mr. BALLenger, and Mr. NORWOOD):

H. R. 5373. A bill to enhance notification to union members of their rights under the Federal Arbitration Act, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Education and the Workforce.

Mr. JOHNSON of Texas (for himself, Mr. BALLenger, and Mr. NORWOOD):

H. R. 5374. A bill to amend the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959 to provide for the enforcement of the reporting and dissemination of the safety of child restraints in passenger motor vehicles, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce, and in addition to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

Mr. TURNER:

H. R. 5382. A bill to provide for the liquidation or reliquidation of certain entries of percutaneous isotopic transport, and in addition to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. RANGEL:

H. Con. Res. 467. Concurrent resolution expressing the sense of Congress that Lionel Hampton should be honored for his contributions to American music; to the Committee on Education and the Workforce.

Private Bills and Resolutions

Under clause 2 of rule XII, public bills and resolutions were introduced and severally referred, as follows:

By Mr. SAM JOHNSON of Texas (for himself, Mr. BALLenger, and Mr. NORWOOD):

H. R. 5373. A bill to enhance notification to union members of their rights under the Federal Arbitration Act, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Education and the Workforce.

Mr. JOHNSON of Texas (for himself, Mr. BALLenger, and Mr. NORWOOD):

H. R. 5374. A bill to amend the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959 to provide for the enforcement of the safety of child restraints in passenger motor vehicles, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce, and in addition to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. MARTIN:

H. R. 5382. A bill to provide for the liquidation or reliquidation of certain entries of percutaneous isotopic transport, and in addition to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. RANGEL:

H. Con. Res. 467. Concurrent resolution expressing the sense of Congress that Lionel Hampton should be honored for his contributions to American music; to the Committee on Education and the Workforce.

Additional sponsors

Under clause 7 of rule XII, sponsors were added to public bills and resolutions as follows:

H. R. 267: Mr. WEINER.

H. R. 449: Mr. TIARter and Ms. VELAZQUEZ.

H. R. 638: Ms. DELAURO and Ms. ROYBAL-ALARD.

H. R. 854: Mr. BURTON of Indiana and Mr. FRONT.

H. R. 951: Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas, Mr. BOEHNER, Mr. COLLINS, Mr. WEXLER, and Mr. LATHAM.

H. R. 1257: Mr. WAMP.

H. R. 1232: Mrs. CAPPS and Ms. ROYBAL-ALARD.

H. R. 1385: Mrs. MYRICK.

H. R. 1581: Ms. MCINNIS.

H. R. 1586: Ms. DELAURO.

H. R. 1918: Mr. MOORE and Mr. HOLT.
H.R. 2073: Mr. Carson of Oklahoma and Ms. Lofgren.
H.R. 2088: Mr. Baldacci.
H.R. 2207: Mr. Clyburn, Mr. King, and Mr. Otter.
H.R. 2329: Mr. Larson of Connecticut.
H.R. 2592: Ms. Eshoo.
H.R. 2723: Mrs. Jo Ann Davis of Virginia.
H.R. 2933: Mr. Engel.
H.R. 3183: Mr. Sandlin.
H.R. 3409: Mr. Grucci.
H.R. 3521: Mr. Hyde.
H.R. 3612: Mr. Walsh, Mr. Acevedo-Vila, and Mr. Larson of Connecticut.
H.R. 3710: Mr. Cooksey, Ms. Rivers, Mr. Crank, and Mr. Lantos.
H.R. 3897: Mr. Thune.
H.R. 3930: Mr. Rehberg, Mr. Sanders, Mr. Ehrlich, Ms. Slaughter, Mr. Watkins, Mr. Kind, Mr. Castle, Mr. Allen, Mr. McNulty, Mr. Kennedy of Rhode Island, Ms. Hooley of Oregon, Mr. Payne, Mr. Dingell, Mrs. Davis of California, Mr. Wu, Ms. McCarthy of Missouri, Mr. Hoeppel, Ms. Baldwin, and Mr. Blagojevich.
H.R. 3990: Mr. Watts of Oklahoma.
H.R. 3992: Mr. Lucas of Kentucky and Mr. Sullivan.
H.R. 4025: Mr. Price of North Carolina.
H.R. 4546: Mr. Israel, Mr. Pastor, Mr. George Miller of California, Mr. Wynn, Mr. Ehrlich, Mr. Baldacci, Mr. McGovern, Mr. Shimkus, and Mr. Carson of Oklahoma.
H.R. 4561: Mr. Honda.
H.R. 4594: Mr. Thompson of California.
H.R. 4596: Mr. Putnam, Mr. Gillmor, and Mr. Riley.
H.R. 4604: Mrs. Northup.
H.R. 4691: Mr. Fletcher, Mr. Lucas of Kentucky, Mr. Tiahrt, Mr. Boozman, and Mr. LaHood.
H.R. 4803: Ms. Sanchez, Mr. Deutch, and Mr. Shays.
H.R. 4814: Ms. Harman, Mr. Kildee, and Mr. Luther.
H.R. 4883: Mr. Strickland, Mr. Kanjorski, and Ms. Eddie Bernice Johnson of Texas.
H.R. 5073: Mr. Payne.
H.R. 5250: Mr. Platt, Mr. Baldacci, and Mr. McGovern.
H.R. 5274: Ms. Slaughter, Ms. Watson, and Mr. Bonior.
H.R. 5296: Ms. Woolsey, Mr. Bentsen, Ms. Watson, Mr. Filner, Ms. Velazquez, Mr. Brown of Ohio, Mr. Larsen of Washington, Mr. Wexler, Mr. Baldwin, Ms. Rivers, Mr. Holum, Ms. Lofgren, Mr. Inslaw, Mr. Markey, and Mr. Frank.
H.R. 5294: Mr. Kucinich.
H.R. 5312: Ms. Sanchez.
H.R. 5340: Ms. Harman, Ms. Lee, Ms. Tauscher, Mr. Thomas, and Mr. Gary G. Miller of California.
H. Res. 499: Mr. Payne.
The Senate met at 9:45 a.m. and was called to order by the Honorable Jack Reed, a Senator from the State of Rhode Island.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The prayer today will be offered by the guest Chaplain, the Reverend F. Kenneth Hoffer, Mount Culmen Evangelical Congregational Church, East Earl, PA.

PRAYER

The guest Chaplain offered the following prayer:

Please join me in prayer.

Almighty God, we lift our thanks for Your guidance which has preserved our Nation, a nation “under God,” and for the peaceful continuity of government in America.

We look gratefully to the past, thanking You that from the foundations of America, You granted our forefathers courage and wisdom, as they trusted in You.

By their example to lead, guide, and direct, inspire the women and men of this Senate whom You have entrusted leadership to serve and wage the struggle to find peace and justice in our world. May they see Your vision and wisdom for the problems of this hour that we face as a nation.

Bless the Senators as they render dynamic leadership and thank You for all our leaders, diplomats, and military personnel. Let our resources be a strength to all, regardless of race, creed, faith, age, sex, or national origin.

May we work together toward peace, righteousness, and goodness for all peoples of all nations. We pray to You, O God. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The Honorable Jack Reed led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

APPPOINTMENT OF ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The clerk will please read a communication to the Senate from the President pro tempore (Mr. Byrd).

The legislative clerk read the following letter:

U.S. Senate,
President pro tempore,

To the Senate:

Under claus. sections 1, 3, of the Standing Rules of the Senate, I hereby appoint the Honorable Jack Reed, a Senator from the State of Rhode Island, to perform the duties of the Chair.

Robert C. Byrd,
President pro tempore.

Mr. Reed thereupon assumed the Chair as Acting President pro tempore.

RECOGNITION OF THE ACTING MAJORITY LEADER

The Acting President pro tempore. The Senator from Nevada is recognized.

SCHEDULE

Mr. Reid. The Senate is going to vote on Timothy Corrigan to be a district judge for the middle district of Florida. Following disposition of that nomination, we will go to the Interior bill; that is, the pending Craig amendment. The Dodd amendment also has been offered. We hope there can be some resolution of the forest amendment. If we could do something about the fire suppression amendments that are around, the Craig amendment and there is another to be offered, we could resolve this bill quickly. It appears at this stage that has not been done yet. After 2 o’clock, we hope there will be a couple of back-to-back votes. They have been cleared on the other side to vote on the Thompson amendment and also on the Hollings amendment. That has not quite been done yet, but Members should understand there very possibly could be votes at 2 o’clock today.

Mr. Craig. Mr. President, will the Senator yield?

Mr. Reed. I am happy to yield.

Mr. Craig. I think the leader has certainly appropriately explained where we are with the Craig-Domenici amendment and our efforts. We have met consistently over the last several days with colleagues on both sides of the aisle to see if we could strike a bipartisan agreement. At this time we are working with Senator Feinstein and Senator Wyden to see if we can come together so they can come to your caucusc to determine whether we can pick up support in a bipartisan way.

We would like to have the remainder of the day to work. At the same time, I recognize the frustration holding up the Interior appropriations bill for this purpose. I think both the Senator and I recognize the critical character of what we are trying to do here—or the nature of it—in resolving this issue. If you can give us a little more flexibility, I think at some point—probably by the end of the day—we will know whether we can or cannot go any further.

Mr. Reid. Mr. President, it is really a waste of the Senate’s time to debate his amendment today and, further, we pretty well know the respective positions. Senator Byrd will be here to manage the bill this morning. I know he has an amendment to offer, as others do. Maybe there could be an agreement made to set aside the Senator’s amendment, recognizing that it would be the matter before the Senate at any time you call it. We will try to work on something like that.

Mr. Craig. I appreciate the Senator saying that. I am certainly willing to look at that and allow other amendments that the chairman would think are appropriate to move on this amendment—to move without it being an obstruction.
The Senator is right, this issue is defining it. I will probably want to speak on it, and others may want to do the same. We have at least a 2-hour timeframe to get some work done. I hope we can do it.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I didn’t mean to say that anybody speaking on the amendment is a waste of time. I meant to say there is no need to be speaking unnecessarily when we can do other things. If the Senator or people who oppose his amendment want to speak, that will be helpful to the Senator from Idaho is, you don’t need to maintain the floor to protect your rights, nor do we, I have received calls, as has the majority leader, from some Democratic Senators who believe there may be some ability to work out a compromise.

Mr. CRAIG. Good. I thank the Senator for saying that. I did not take that characterization in any critical way.

RESERVATION OF LEADER TIME

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, leadership time is reserved.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

NOMINATION OF TIMOTHY J. CORRIGAN, OF FLORIDA, TO BE UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE FOR THE MIDDLE DISTRICT OF FLORIDA

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, the Senate will go into executive session to proceed to the consideration of Calendar No. 900, which the clerk will report.

The legislative clerk read the nomination of Timothy J. Corrigan, of Florida, to be United States District Judge for the Middle District of Florida.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, the time until 10 a.m. shall be equally divided between the chairman and ranking member of the Judiciary Committee.

The Senator from Vermont is recognized.

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, how much time is available to the Senator from Vermont in his capacity as chairman of the Judiciary Committee?

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Three minutes 40 seconds.

Mr. LEAHY. I thank the distinguished Presiding Officer.

Yesterday marked the first anniversary of the September 11 terrorist attacks on the United States. America, very appropriately, honored the memory of the brave men and women who died in that terrible time. Our thoughts were and are with those who perished that day, the loved ones they left behind, and the heroes who acted with fearlessness, bravery and hope.

The world has changed during the last year, but, fortunately, the principles on which this country was founded have not changed. I want to especially commend Chief Judge William Sessions of the U.S. District Court for the District of Vermont for proceeding with an immigration and naturalization hearing in Vermont yesterday. What a wonderful help to fill the spaces in the court’s schedule and to help fill the need to grant citizenship to a new group of Americans and reminding us that we are a nation of immigrants and that our borders are open to immigrants who come to the United States to offer opportunity and a better life for their children. Whether our relatives came here for religious or political freedom in the 17th or 18th centuries, or to escape famine and persecution in the 19th and 20th centuries, many of us are descendents of those immigrants. Senator Kennedy reminded us all earlier this year that immigrants are not the problem, terrorists are the problem. When the President appeared last night on Ellis Island, framed against the backdrop of the Statue of Liberty, that setting likewise reminds us that we are a nation of immigrants. Let this country, and what it stands for, always be a beacon of hope and freedom for the oppressed and downtrodden.

I am glad to see the President before the U.N. today. When our President speaks before the United Nations, we should not be looking at it as Democrats or Republicans, but as Americans. We want him, in his representation of the chief spokesperson on foreign policy, to be successful, and I wish him that success. I also appreciate his invitation to be there for the speech. Of course, our Senate votes will keep me here.

The Judiciary Committee continues working hard to make progress on judicial nominations and on legislation to respond to the new challenges that face our great nation. The Senate met on September 12 last year, and the Judiciary Committee held a business meeting on September 13. I kept the agenda that day to consensus items and bipartisan legislation. I felt strongly that we did not need partisan bickering but that we needed to come together and show that we can unite and that there is much that unites us all. We were able to report the first United States Attorneys nominated by President Bush. We worked on our bill to authorize the activities of the Department of Justice, a bipartisan drug use prevention, treatment and rehabilitation bill and the bipartisan Drug Competition Act.

That same afternoon we held a confirmation hearing for judicial nominations, including a judicial nominee from Mississippi. Just as we continued to meet and work in the immediate aftermath of the attacks on September 11, we also proceeded with hearings through and in the immediate aftermath of the receipt of the anthrax letters sent to Majority Leader Daschle and to me.

We worked hard to improve what became the USA PATRIOT Act with bipartisan support in the weeks that followed in September and into late October. In addition to our work on this landmark legislation, as well as continued oversight of the Justice Department, the FBI and the INS, we continued to hold judicial nominations hearings.

We have now reported 80 judicial nominees out of committee. With today’s confirmation of Judge Corrigan for the Middle District of Florida, we will confirm our 75th judicial nomination from President George W. Bush. We have confirmed more of President Bush’s nominees in less than 15 months—75—than were confirmed in the last 30 months that a Republican majority controlled the Senate and the pace of judicial confirmations—73. We have now confirmed more of President George W. Bush’s judicial nominations since July, 2001—75—than were confirmed in all of 1989 and 1990, the first 2 years of the term of his father President George H.W. Bush—73.

As I have noted through the year, we could have accomplished even more with a modicum of cooperation from the White House. I regret that the administration and some Republicans have been unwilling to acknowledge what we have accomplished in this regard but have, instead, chosen a strident posture and rejected our efforts toward bipartisan cooperation. The Senate Republicans have continued to force the White House, rather than consensus with respect to its selection of Federal judges, which is unfortunate and unnecessary. The White House has insisted on sending forth a number of nominees who are divisive. Their records evidence judicial activism to reach ultra-conservative outcomes. Thus, in addition to reporting favorably 80 judicial nominees since the change in majority, the Judiciary Committee has, after a hearing and careful consideration, voted against reporting two nominees. I regret that with respect to the important matter of our independent Federal judiciary, a matter that affects all Americans, the White House has chosen the path of partisanship. I regret that some in the White House and among Republicans would rather raise campaign funds and stir up their most extreme supporters than fill judicial vacancies quickly with consensus nominees.

Senate Republicans are running away from their own record. It is revealing that they refuse to make a fair comparison to the actual results during their most recent period of Senate control, which shows starkly how far we have come and how far they were in the Senate majority, acted as fairly and as quickly on President Clinton and President Bush’s judicial nominees as we have, we would have far fewer vacancies.

That path is one that we have done about twice as much as they. With today’s vote, the Democratic-led Senate will confirm its 75th judge—exceeding the number of circuit and district court nominees the Republican Senate majority was willing to confirm in the last 30 months of their control of the process. Democrats have done more than Republicans did in less than half the time in less than 15 months of Democratic control of the committee, we have held more hearings, for more nominees, and voted on more nominees in committee, and the Senate has confirmed more nominees, than what was done in their first 15 months of control of the committee in 1995 and 1996.
September 12, 2002

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE

S8511

That today the Senate will confirm the 56th judge since July, 2001, is indication both of what we have been able to accomplish and what could be accomplished with some cooperation from the White House and Senate Republicans. I have noted how simple procedural accommodations that I suggested would have already resulted in another 10 to 15 fewer vacancies and more confirmations.

Unfortunately, my efforts to increase cooperation with the White House have been one-sided in continuing to get the least cooperation from any White House I can recall during my 26 years in the Senate. This is not the way to get judges through the Senate. Rather, with cooperation, with work, with something more than just words, nominees get through.

A New York Times editorial this week, on September 10, noted: “We must fight the enemies of freedom abroad, including the terrorists, to bring them home.” We know that the terrorists are our enemy; they attacked all of us last September 11 and in the attacks that preceded it on U.S. embassies and the USS Cole and the 1993 World Trade Center attack. Republicans are wrong to try to make Democrats or the Judiciary Committee the enemy. We all want to ensure an independent and impartial Federal judiciary as a protector of our constitutional rights, ends-day-by-day, ideologically driven nominees selected to push the circuit courts and the law in a rightward direction are going to be scrutinized and may well be rejected.

I hope that, as we did in the days immediately following September 11, 2001 last year, we can come together and demonstrate unity. Since last July, we have greatly reformed the confirmation process and brought it out of the shadows and into the light of day. We now hold more hearings, debate nominations, cast our votes, and abide by those votes. That was not the committee practice in the recent past, when secret holds and anonymous objections stalled scores of nominees by President Clinton, debate nominations, cast our votes, and abide by those votes. That was not the committee practice in the recent past, when secret holds and anonymous objections stalled scores of nominees by President Clinton.

We have resolved the Democratic tradition of regularly holding hearings, every few weeks, rather than going for months without a single hearing. In fact, we have already held 23 judicial nominations hearings, including one the week of September 11, 2001, holding the only day on which committee offices and hearing rooms were closed because of the anthrax letters.

Yesterday I noticed our 24th hearing to be held next week. I intend to call Professor Michael McConnell of Utah as a nominee at that hearing. Despite the fact that the committee has already acted upon and the Senate has already confirmed Judge Harris Hartz last Wednesday, I note that Professor McConnell, who appeared before the committee in April, will be confirmed by the Senate.

In the 11th Circuit, the first new 10th Circuit judges in 7 years, I will proceed with a third hearing on a 10th Circuit nominee at the request of Senator Hatch. The other circuit court nominees I have heard on have been confirmed.

In addition, at the nominations hearing next week we will hear from District Court nominees from California, Delaware, New Jersey, Tennessee, and Texas. By proceeding next week we are able to proceed with a full complement of District Court nominees. That leaves only one District Court nominee with the support of home-State Senators and an ABA peer review who has not yet been scheduled for a hearing.

Today’s vote is on the nomination of Judge Corrigan to the United States District Court for the Middle District of Florida. Judge Corrigan has an extensive career, serving as a general litigator in private practice for over 14 years and as a U.S. Magistrate Judge for the Middle District of Florida since 1996. He received the “Well-Qualified” rating from the ABA and has strong bipartisan support. While so many nominees of President Clinton had that rating but were never given a vote by the Republican majority, Judge Corrigan received a hearing and a vote within days of his file being complete in July.

The confirmation of Judge Corrigan today will bring additional resources to the U.S. District Court for the Middle District of Florida. Judge Corrigan was nominated to fill a new position Congress created by statute in 1999 to address the large caseload facing the federal courts in Florida. He makes the second Florida district court nominee that we will have confirmed in one week. I congratulate Judge Corrigan and his family.

During the Clinton administration, we all worked very hard in cooperation with Senators Graham and Mack to end the backlog of Florida circuit judges. Florida had its vacancies filled promptly with consensus nominees and had the judicial resources it needed to handle its caseload. Due to bipartisan cooperation among the Senators and with the White House, during the Clinton administration, the Senate was able to confirm 22 judicial nominees from Florida, including 3 nominees to the 11th Circuit. It is most unfortunate that such tradition of cooperation, coordination and consultation has not been continued by the current administration.

My recollection is that the only Florida nomination that generated any controversy or opposition was that of Judge Rosemary Barkett of the Florida Supreme Court to the 11th Circuit. I do recall that Judge Barkett was strongly and vociferously opposed by a number of Republican Senators because of what they viewed as a judicial philosophy that they did not share. Those who voted against her confirmation include Senators Hatch, Grassley, McConnell, Specter, and Thurmond, all of whom are now on the Judiciary Committee, as well Senators Lott, Nunn, and Nickles, and Hutchison. Those who voted against her confirmation include Senators Hatch, Grassley, McConnell, Specter, and Thurmond, all of whom are now on the Judiciary Committee, as well Senators Lott, Nunn, and Nickles, and Hutchison. Those who voted against her confirmation include Senators Hatch, Grassley, McConnell, Specter, and Thurmond, all of whom are now on the Judiciary Committee, as well Senators Lott, Nunn, and Nickles, and Hutchison.

Unfortunately, the cooperation, coordination and consultation that Senator Mack and Senator Graham shared with the White House did not seem to be the model for the way this White House has chosen to communicate with Senator Graham and Senator Nelson. That is most unfortunate. It is a tribute to Senator Graham and to Senator Nelson that we have made the progress that we have. I know that it has not been easy. They have been more than gracious in their willingness to support these nominees. We urge the White House to work with these Senators to nominate qualified, consensus nominees for the remaining vacancies in the courts.

With today’s vote, the Democratic majority in the Senate has demonstrated once again how it is fairly and expeditiously considering President Bush’s judicial nominees. We have already had bipartisan support for the White House’s nominations in spite of its lack of willingness to work with us in partnership.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I rise in support of the confirmation of Tim Corrigan to the U.S. District Court for the Middle District of Florida.

I have had the pleasure to review Judge Corrigan’s distinguished career and I can say, without hesitation, that his confirmation will bring to the federal bench, not just a legal scholar with impeccable credentials, but a caring individual who used his many skills and talents to serve his community and his less fortunate fellow citizens.

Tim Corrigan graduated with distinction from Duke University in 1981, where he was a member of the editorial board of the Duke Law Journal. After graduation, he served as a law clerk to the Honorable Gerald B. Tjoflat of the United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit.

Following his clerkship, Judge Corrigan spent 14 years in private practice. He is a partner in a prominent Jacksonville law firm, where he focused on civil litigation. He also engaged in a substantial appellate practice, including preparing
This is not a record to promote.

Mr. President, I wish to respond to some of the remarks of my colleague from Vermont about the Judiciary Committee’s treatment of President Bush’s judicial nominees.

My colleague from Vermont says that the Judiciary Committee has moved nominees and only voted against two. This, he says, is a record which hasn’t been equaled in years and years, certainly not during President Clinton’s administration. I am frankly amazed by this assertion. In fact, under my chairmanship the Judiciary Committee did not vote against a single nominee. Not a single nominee in the span of six years of Republican control of the Senate. Even when one of President Clinton’s nominees was voted down, the majority on the committee under my chairmanship permitted the nomination to go to the floor for a full Senate vote. My colleague from Vermont certainly cannot say the same. In the last fifteen months, the Democrat-controlled Judiciary Committee has already voted against two nominees in committee and voted against allowing their nominations to go to the floor for a vote. This is not a record to promote.

The real story is the Senate’s Democratic leadership is treating President Bush unfairly when it comes to judicial nominees. Some would justify this unfair treatment of President Bush as tit for tat, or business as usual, but the American people should not accept such a smokescreen. What the Senate leadership is doing is unprecedented. Historically, a President can count on seeing all of his first 11 circuit court nominees confirmed. Presidents Reagan and Bush, and Clinton all enjoyed a 100-percent confirmation rate on their first 11 circuit court nominees. In stark contrast, seven of President Bush’s first 11 nominations are still pending now for almost a year and a half since they were nominated. History also shows Presidents can expect almost all of their first 100 nominees to be confirmed swiftly. Presidents Reagan, Bush, and Clinton got 97, 95, and 97, respectively, of their first 100 judicial nominations confirmed. I know that is true. I helped to get President Clinton’s 97 of his first 100 judicial nominations confirmed. In this case, the Senate has confirmed only 73 of President Bush’s nominees.

Some try to blame Republicans for the current vacancy crisis, and that is pure bunk. In fact, the number of judicial vacancies decreased by three during the 6 years of Republican leadership of the Senate. There were 70 vacancies left by the Democrats when I became chairman of the Judiciary Committee in January 1995, and there were 67 at the time the Republicans left. I might add again—I have said it many times, but it needs to be said—President Reagan was the all-time judicial confirmation champion with 382 judges confirmed. He had 6 years of a Republican Party—Senate helping him. President Clinton had virtually the same number confirmed, 377, and he had 6 years of the opposition party, meaning the Republican Party, to assist him, and he got basically just as many as President Reagan. He was treated very fairly, and I know because I was the Judiciary Committee chairman for those 6 years.

Some have tried to blame the White House for the committee’s sluggish pace on nominees, and that again is pure bunk.

Specifically, I want to respond to the unbelievable allegations that the White House has failed to consult with home State Senators about judicial nominations.

In contrast to the claims of the distinguished Senator from Vermont, there has been an abundance of consultation by the White House with home State Senators. By early May, 2002, I have not seen anything like it. The White House has risen above and beyond the call of duty insofar as consultation is concerned.

My colleagues who complain about the lack of consultation from the White House really want something else altogether. What they want is for the President to defer to them 100 percent on judicial nominations. They want to be the one to nominate judges with only minimal, if any, input from the White House.

This, of course, would turn the Constitution on its head. The Constitution plainly gives the President the power to nominate Federal judges. The Senator’s role is only that of advice and consent. It is an important role, but it is certainly not as important as the right to nominate judges.

The bottom line is that President Bush will continue to consult in good faith with home State Senators about judicial nominations. He deserves the same courtesy of good faith in return, not the partisan rejection of qualified nominees that the committee Democrats have handed him.

Mr. President, last week in the Judiciary Committee, one of my colleagues appeared to partially justify his vote against Justice Priscilla Owen by appealing to the Supreme Court. I was directed to consult him on the nomination of Judge Reena Raggi from his home State of New York.

I ask unanimous consent to print in the Record a letter from Judge Raggi to counsel detailing the number of consultations that were made with the distinguished Senator. I think the record needs to be made clear.

There being no objection, the letter was ordered to be printed in the Record, as follows:

Hon. Charles E. Schumer,

Secretary of the Senate, Washington, D.C.

DEAR SENATOR SCHUMER: I write in response to your statement this morning during a Senate Judiciary Committee meeting that you were not consulted by the White House prior to the nomination of Judge Reena Raggi to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. I was surprised and very disappointed to hear of your comments, given the extensive consultation that took place between us prior to President Bush’s nomination of Judge Raggi in early May, 2002.

Our records reflect that beginning in early September, 2001—months before Judge Raggi’s nomination was submitted to the Senate—my staff called your office numerous times to seek your input on prospective candidates for the Second Circuit vacancy to which Judge Raggi was ultimately nominated. By early November, 2001, my staff had provided your office with a list of the names of candidates, including Judge Raggi, who we planned to interview for the vacancy.

In mid-November, I advised you that we were prepared to submit Judge Raggi’s names to the President in advance of commencing an FBI background investigation, only after he received the President’s approval. My staff informed yours that Judge Raggi’s names had indeed been submitted to the FBI. At that time, we invited you to contact us with any questions or concerns as you reviewed Judge Raggi’s qualifications. No such questions or concerns were ever raised.

Late April, 2002, upon completion of the FBI background investigation, my staff informed yours of the President’s intention to nominate Judge Raggi. Following the nomination, you returned your “blue slip” reflecting your support for Judge Raggi’s nomination. Today, you joined your colleagues... on the Judiciary Committee in unanimously voting to approve the nomination.

In my view, the extensive consultation that took place between us concerning Judge Raggi reflects the commitment we have followed to date regarding federal judicial nominations in New York and elsewhere. In light of this record, I find your concern regarding Judge Raggi’s nomination to be unfounded. I trust that you share my desire to continue the same extensive practice of consultation on federal judicial nominations in New York that has been in place since the President took office. In light of that past practice and the history of Judge Raggi’s nomination, I know that you will want to issue a public correction of your statements this morning.

Sincerely,

ALBERTO R. GONZALEZ, Counsel to the President.

Mr. HATCH. Finally, some might suggest that the Republicans left an undue number of nominees pending in committee without hearings at the end of the Clinton administration. We did leave 41, which is 13 less than the number of nominees now with hearings, because the Senate Democrats left without hearings in 1992 at the end of the Bush administration. In fact, a number of the nominees now under consideration were submitted by Bush 1 back to the Clinton administration. We did leave 41, which is 13 less than the number of nominees pending in committees without hearings at the end of the Clinton administration. We did not agree with the Committee on the Judiciary.

President Bush deserves to be treated at least as well as the last three President. Instead of thinking up new ways to rewrite history, the Senate Democratic leadership of the committee should begin confirming President Bush’s first 11 and first 100 judicial nominations at a pace that matches or exceeds the rate we reached for President Reagan, President George Herbert Walker Bush, and President Clinton.

I think the fair, and I do hope we can some day in the future work it out where both sides on the Judiciary Committee will work together to see that these nominations are brought to the floor where, in an expeditious fashion, the Senate as a whole can decide whether or not to confirm them. We have to work towards that end. I am going to be dedicated towards working toward that end.

I know there are colleagues on the other side of the Judiciary Committee who believe that, that as well, I believe it will end a lot of this partisan confusion. Frankly, I hope we can see that the Constitution will be implemented and that the Senate as a whole will decide whether or not to confirm these people. If that were the case, I have no doubt that Judge Pickering would have been confirmed to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, and I think there is no question that Justice Priscilla Owen would have been confirmed to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals. I have high hopes that will be confirmed in the future anyway.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. President, I would like to thank the Judiciary Committee for recognizing the needs of Florida and favorably reporting the nomination of Judge Timothy Corrigan. Tim Corrigan, an experienced Judge in Florida’s Middle District, has been nominated to serve as a Federal Judge in the Middle District.

Tim Corrigan’s qualifications make him an excellent candidate for service on the Federal bench. Prior to his appointment as a Magistrate Judge, Judge Corrigan spent 14 years in private practice with a Jacksonville law firm of Bedell, Dittmar, De Vault, Pillans and Coxe, P.A. As a Magistrate Judge since 1996, he has considerable experience conducting numerous evidentiary hearings and misdemeanor trials.

Judge Corrigan received his law degree, with distinction, in 1981 from Duke University School of Law, where he served as a member of the editorial board of the Duke Law Journal. He received his undergraduate degree with honors, from the University of Notre Dame in 1978.

Mr. Corrigan is a member of the Florida Bar, the Jacksonville Bar Association, the Federal Bar Association and the American Bar Association. The Jacksonville Bar Association recognized Judge Corrigan in 1991 for his pro bono services. From 1987-1989, Judge Corrigan served on the board of Jacksonville Legal Aid and was honored for his efforts.

I thank my colleagues for considering this nominee. I am confident that they will agree that Judge Timothy Corrigan possesses the qualities needed to effectively serve on the Federal Bench.

Mr. D’WINE. Mr. President, as Senator HATCH just mentioned, last Thursday, on September 5, 2002, the Judiciary Committee met in an executive business meeting and considered the nomination of Texas Supreme Court Justice Priscilla Owen to be a Federal Court of Appeals Judge for the 5th Circuit. As a member of the Judiciary Committee, I participated in the debate on her nomination and then cast my vote in Owen’s favor. Unfortunately, Owen’s nomination was rejected on a straight party-line vote of nine in favor and ten against. I thought that the issues that had been raised against Justice Owen were unfounded. I won’t go into Justice Owen’s excellent qualifications here today, but I will address objections that have been raised regarding her nomination.

However, had the full Senate engaged in a debate on Justice Owen, and I think she deserved such a debate, I would have pointed out significant mischaracterizations that have been made about her decisions in a series of parental notification cases before the Texas Supreme Court. I discussed this issue in the Judiciary Committee debate, so I will not repeat all of the information, although I would like to follow up on a comment made by Senator Feinstein in regard to the closeness of the last election. I would simply say that the view that the winner of a few votes or whether it is a landslide, the President still has the constitutional duty that is prescribed in the Constitution and the Senate. That constitutional duty can be done in good faith and can be done without the intention of driving a wedge between the President and the Senate. I do not think that the President intended to create a wedge between the President and the Senate.

For example, concerning the issue in the Roe cases that Senator Feinstein was talking about, I think we need to put this in its proper perspective. First of all, these are not abortion cases. These are parental notification bypass cases.

As we all know, these were a series of Texas Supreme Court cases interpreting a Texas statute that required that the minor and the minor’s parents be notified 24 hours before the minor could have an abortion. None of these cases had anything to do with a woman’s ability to have an abortion. That was not the issue. In Texas, as in the rest of the country, women may legally get abortions.

The question of a right to abortion is not what these cases were about. The only question in any of these Doe cases was whether a minor could avoid the requirement of the Texas law to get parental consent to have an abortion. If a minor could demonstrate one of the following, Senator Feinstein has outlined these, but I am going to read them again because I think it is important to understand the context of these decisions.

One, the minor is mature and sufficiently well informed to make the decision to have an abortion performed without notification; or, two, if the minor could demonstrate that the notification would be in the best interests of the minor; or, three, if the minor could demonstrate that the notification may lead to physical, sexual, or emotional abuse of the minor.

Now, while these exceptions appear straightforward, as with all statutes in a common law system—and that is what we are dealing with—the terms are, of course, subject to interpretation by the courts. And I would submit that what we see in the Texas Supreme Court is that we are seeing the interpretation; that when you look at both the majority and minority opinions in each of the cases, you will see interpretation. That is not the case in other circuits. In those circuits, the legal analysis is in the minority opinion. In the Texas Supreme Court, all of the cases have the same result.

Many, many, many statutes every single day are construed by our courts, and the Senator FEINSTEIN and others at the hearing raised the issue of statutory construction, and basically the charge was that Justice Owen had become a judicial activist. Let me talk, if I could, about some question I did of Justice Owen at the hearing on three separate issues.

I asked Justice Owen about her analysis of the Texas parental notification statute. She made these three points about decision making in state courts of appeals, and although I think these points are obvious, I would like to repeat them because I think it gives us a better understanding of what the issues are in front of us.

I think that it is particularly important for the Committee to consider how the Texas Supreme Court analyzed the Doe cases and whether that analysis was consistent with standard appellate review.

First, Justice Owen told me that the Texas Supreme Court applied the standard pre-sumption, that all courts must apply, that a state legislature is aware of U.S. Supreme Court precedent on an issue on which it is legislating. So in interpreting the statute, both the majority and, in a dissent, Justice Owen applied this rule of construction.

The language of the Texas statute tracks closely with language in Supreme Court precedent on the issue. It therefore was simply stare decisis for the judge, and I look to the U.S. Supreme Court case law to interpret the Texas law. You can’t interpret one without the other. It was not an act of original interpretation. It was merely standard appellate procedure to look at Supreme Court precedent. The only difference in the outcome of the majority opinion and Justice Owen was whether one of them of particular cases to do with a nay nuanced application of the precedent to the facts of the case.

Second, another important point Justice Owen made in response to my questions was that appellate courts almost always defer to trial courts on issues of fact. That was Justice Owen’s position in the Doe cases and that is the standard applied to fact issues in a vast majority of cases in our country’s courts of appeals.

The deference is necessary because the trial courts are in a much better position to judge factual issues. The trial courts get to see the witnesses firsthand and to judge their demeanor. The Doe cases, of course, hinge on that analysis, the analysis by the trial court, the trial court’s ability to judge the demeanor of the witnesses, the trial court’s determination of the facts. The trial court, for example, had the advantage of actually listening to the teenager’s testimony to determine whether she was “mature” or not.

Now, in all the cases before Judge Owen—I think we need to keep this in mind—in all the cases, when we think about the factual determination, the teenager has met the requirements for a judicial bypass. The trier of fact had already made that determination.

The final point, again to state the obvious, that was brought out in my discussion with Justice Owen was that before the Texas Supreme Court ever heard a parental notification case, a bypass case, a number of judges had already denied the bypass.

First, the trial judge would have ruled against the teenager, not just once, but really on all three of the ways that she could achieve the bypass. The judge would have had to have said that she had not proven her case by a preponderance.

Next, a three-judge court of appeals would have ruled against the teenager on these same issues. So before this case ever reached the Texas Supreme Court, the case had already been decided once at the lower court and already decided at the appellate court.

I believe these are important points, all of them, all three, about how Justice Owen analyzed the Doe cases. And I think it may be constructive to put these cases in the context of bypass cases requested by teenage girls in Texas.

We don’t know the total number and I am not sure really what great significance it has, but we do know that at least 65 bypass petitions were filed between January 1, 2000 and March 8, 2002. This is the number of bypasses that the State of Texas paid some of the expenses for filling the petition. So it is the minimum number of cases that were just filled.

Of all these cases, we ended up with 10, 12 cases that got to the Supreme Court, depending on how you calculate them. Some came up for the second time on review. Of these ten cases, Justice Owen thought the majority of the Texas Supreme Court got it wrong three times. So she is in the minority three times in the Texas Supreme Court, and in those cases, in that court, in the lower courts. I think these are things that we need to keep in mind to put this in its proper perspective.

What we are really talking about here is a small handful of cases. A handful of cases in which a minor was required under Texas law to have the approval of her parents to have an abortion. Justice Owen conducted a bypass case. She told one of her parents that she wanted to have an abortion, which a minor was required under Texas law to have. It would simply require each of these cases to do with a pretty nuanced application of the precedent to the facts of the case.

Am I understand the vote is to occur at 10 o’clock? The PRESIDING OFFICER (Ms. Stabenow). The Senator is correct.

Mr. REID. Madam President, I do not want to cut Senator HATCH off from speaking. I acknowledge that this judge will be approved by, I think, a unanimous vote. Unless Senator BURNS feels strongly to the contrary, we should go ahead with the vote. If Senator HATCH has something to say, he can speak after the vote. If Senator BURNS wants him to speak, I will be happy to do that. Senators are waiting around to vote. Schedules have to be met.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT AGREEMENT—H.R. 5005

Mr. REID. Madam President, while the Senator is speaking, I ask unanimous consent that at noon today, when the Senate resumes consideration of H. R. 5005, the homeland security legislation, the Thompson amendment be set aside and Senator Hollings be recognized to offer a first degree amendment to maintain national security; that the Hollings and Thompson amendments be debated concurrently for a total of 2 hours, prior to a vote in relation to each amendment, which I hour equally divided and controlled between the proponents and opponents of each amendment, with no second-degree amendments in order to either amendment prior to a vote in relation to each amendment; that upon their yielding to the amendment, Senator Byrd be recognized to offer a first degree amendment, as provided for under a previous order; provided further, that following a vote in relation to the Thompson amendment, regardless of the outcome, the Senate vote in relation to the Hollings amendment; that if neither amendment is disposed of, then the amendments remain debatable and amendable.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. REID. Madam President, the only caution I will make is that this order does not provide for who is for and against these amendments. We really do not know at this stage. When the time of votes are to be called, the Chair will have to make some ruling as to who is going to control the time in opposition to these amendments, if, in fact, there is anyone opposed to them.

Has the Senator made a decision? Mr. BURNS. Madam President, I suggest to the chairman of the committee that we move forward on this vote. I know Senators have made their schedules around the vote that was determined to happen at 10 o’clock this morning. We have other business to do on the Interior appropriations bill and a short time within which to do it. I suggest to the chairman that we move forward.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate from Vermont.

Mr. LEAHY. I suggest we go ahead with the vote. I will ask for the yeas and nays once it is reported.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The yeas and nays have previously been ordered. Mr. LEAHY. I understand.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the question is, Will the Senate advise and consent to the nomination of Timothy J. Corrigan, of Florida, to be United States District Judge for the Middle District of Florida? The yeas and nays have been ordered, and the clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk called the roll.

Mr. REID. I announce that the Senator from Wyoming (Mr. Enzi), the Senator from New York (Mr. Clinton), the Senator from Connecticut (Mr. Dodd), the Senator from New Jersey (Mr. Torricelli), and the Senator from Minnesota (Mr. Wellstone), are not in the Chamber.

Mr. NICKLES. I announce that the Senator from New Hampshire (Mr. Wyden), the Senator from New Mexico (Mr. Bingaman), the Senator from South Dakota (Mr. Thune), the Senator from Vermont (Mr. Leahy), the Senator from Washington (Mr. Murray), and the Senator from Wisconsin (Mr. Johnson), are not in the Chamber.

Mr. LEAHY. I announce that the Senator from New York (Mr. Clinton), the Senator from New Jersey (Mr. Torricelli), and the Senator from New Hampshire (Mr. Inouye), are not in the Chamber.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the question is, Will the Senate advise and consent to the nomination of Timothy J. Corrigan, of Florida, to be United States District Judge for the Middle District of Florida? The yeas and nays have been ordered, and the clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk called the roll.

Mr. REID. I announce that the Senator from Georgia (Mr. Akaka), the Senator from Delaware (Mr. Carper), the Senator from New York (Mrs. Clinton), the Senator from Connecticut (Mr. Dodd), the Senator from New Jersey (Mr. Torricelli), and the Senator from Minnesota (Mr. Wellstone), are not in the Chamber.
GREGG), the Senator from North Carolina (Mr. HELMS), the Senator from Arkansas (Mr. HUTCHINSON), the Senator from Alabama (Mr. SESSIONS), and the Senator from New Hampshire (Mr. SMITH) are necessarily absent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any other Senators in the Chamber desiring to vote?

The result was announced—yeas 88, nays 0, as follows:

[Roll Call Vote No. 213 Ex.]

YEAS — 88

Allard  Durbin  McCain
Allen  Edwards  McConnell
Baucus  Ensign  Mikulski
Bayh  Feingold  Miller
Bennett  Feinstein  Murkowski
Biden  Fitzgerald  Murray
Bingaman  Frist  Nelson (FL)
Bond  Graham  Nelson (NE)
Boxer  Gramm  Nickles
Breaux  Grassley  Reed
Brownacker  Hagel  Reid
Bunning  Harkin  Reid
Burns  Hatch  Roberts
Byrd  Hollings  Rockefeller
Campbell  Hutchison  Santorum
Cantwell  Inhofe  Sarbanes
Carnahan  Inouye  Schumer
Chafee  Jeffords  Shelby
Clay  Johnson  Smith (OR)
Cochran  Kennedy  Snowe
Collins  Kerry  Specter
Conrad  Kohl  Stabenow
Corzine  Kyl  Stevens
Craig  Landrieu  Thomas
Crapo  Leahy  Thompson
Daschle  Levin  Thurmond
Dayton  Lieberman  Voinovich
DeWine  Lincoln  Voinovich
Domenci  Lott  Warner
Dorgan  Logar  Wyden

NOT VOTING — 12

Akaka  Ratzlaff  Sessions
Capito  Geithner  Smith (NH)
Clinton  Holms  Torricelli
Dodd  Hutchinson  Weill

The nomination was confirmed.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the President will be immediately notified of the Senate’s action.

LEGISLATIVE SESSION

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate will return to legislative session.

ORDER OF PROCEDURE

Mr. DASCHLE. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senator from Pennsylvania, Mr. SPECTER, be recognized a period not to exceed 5 minutes, and that following the remarks of the distinguished Senator from Pennsylvania, the Senate stand in recess subject to the call of the Chair to accommodate Senators who wish to watch the President’s speech.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered. The Senator from Pennsylvania.

MEASURE PLACED ON THE CALENDAR—S. 2924

Mr. SPECTER. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent to proceed as in morning business to allow for the second reading of a bill. I understand there will be objection. However, this relates to the award of the special Congressional Gold Medal to the crew and passengers on flight 93.

I had said on Wednesday and Tuesday, yesterday and the day before, that I intended to do this. Since making that announcement, I have discussed the matter with the Senator from New York, who is in the Chamber, and also the Senator from Texas, who is the ranking member of the Banking Committee. I asked the chairman to be present, but he had other business to which he had to attend.

This unanimous consent request is to proceed to the second reading of the bill, which I will object to, and then to ask unanimous consent that S. 2924, which was previously introduced as S. 1434, be taken up, and the Senator from New York will object to that. I said that if he was absent I would object on his behalf.

I am doing this so it will be known that every effort is being made by this Senator to get a resolution of S. 2924, which seeks to give gold medals, special Congressional Gold Medals, to all those who were on flight 93.

There are others, including the Senator from New York, who would like to include other people. The Banking Committee ranking member wants to sit down—which we are committed to do early next week—to try to get it resolved. However, for purposes of the record, I would like to proceed now with the second reading.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will read the title of the bill for the second time.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (S. 2924) to authorize the President to award posthumously the Congressional Gold Medal to the passengers and crew of flight 93 in the aftermath of the terrorist attack on the United States on September 11, 2001.

Mr. SPECTER. Madam President, I will now ask the Senate proceed to the second reading of the bill, and I object to my own request.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard. The bill will be placed on the calendar.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST—S. 2924

Mr. SPECTER. I ask unanimous consent—and I understand there is an objection, but for the record I ask unanimous consent to take up S. 2924.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Senator from New York.

Mr. SCHUMER. Reserving the right to object, and I will object, the intentions of the Senator from Pennsylvania are good and noble and I am supportive of them, but there are people in New York who should be taken into account as well. We have been negotiating for a little while. We will continue to negotiate and hopefully come to a happy resolution. That is why I object. I have no objection to the Pennsylvanian people being included, but certainly I have objection to leaving out some of the heroes in New York who were not police and firefighters—they were included—but we have lots of people who tried to carry people downstairs and everything else. That is what we have to work out. So I will reluctantly object and hopefully we can resolve this shortly.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard. The Senator from Pennsylvania.

Mr. SPECTER. I thank the Senator from New York for his comments. As I said, I anticipated the objection. I am willing to work with the Senator from New York to give recognition to the many heroes who were involved in the rescue effort in the World Trade Center towers. There is no doubt about that. However, I do want to get it moved along. I think this is something that would have been better had we been able to finish it before September 11, 2002. However, since we did not do that, since it is September 12, we now have a calendar to move it ahead.

I thank the Chair and my colleague from New York for yielding the floor.

RECESS SUBJECT TO THE CALL OF THE CHAIR

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the President of the Senate stands in recess, subject to the call of the Chair.

Thereupon, the Senate, at 10:33 a.m., recessed until 11:09 a.m. and reconvened when called to order by the President of the Senate (Mr. EDWARDS).

LEGISLATIVE SESSION

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR AND RELATED AGENCIES APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2003

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will resume consideration of H.R. 5093, which the clerk will report.

A bill (H.R. 5093) making appropriations for the Department of the Interior and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2003, and for other purposes.

Pending:

Byrd Amendment No. 4472, in the nature of a substitute.

Byrd Amendment No. 4480 (to Amendment No. 4472), to provide funds to repay accounts from which funds were borrowed for emergency wildfire suppression.

Craig/Domenci Amendment No. 4518 (to Amendment No. 4468), to reduce hazardous fuels on our national forests.

Dodd Amendment No. 4522 (to Amendment No. 4472), to prohibit the expenditure of funds to recognize Indian tribes and tribal nations until the date of implementation of certain administrative procedures.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Missouri is recognized.

AMENDMENT NO. 4518

Mr. BONNIE. Mr. President, I rise to support the Craig second degree amendment. This amendment will address the continuing problem of hazardous fuels buildup in our Nation's forests. Unfortunately, the excessive buildup of these fire producing fuels has reached a crisis stage.

Nowhere is this fact more evident than what is happening in our forests this year. Currently, conditions in our Nation's forests are terrible. The fire risks as a result of the buildup of these fuels are extremely high. According to the Society of American Foresters, 73 million of the Nation's forests are at risk from catastrophic wildfire.

For many of the states, the damage is already done. As you all know, many western states have experienced devastating wildfires that not only destroyed homes and property, but vast acres of trees and wildlife as well. As of late August, more than 6.3 million acres of land have burned this fire season—more than double the 10-year average in this fire season—leading us to have seen devastating fires in Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Alaska, and Oregon.

Mr. President, these fires not only clean out and tear down living trees, they kill the wildlife, they threaten homes, they threaten lives; most of all, they scorch the Earth, subjecting it to disastrous soil runoff into our Nation's rivers, streams, and lakes, and knocking out the potential of forest regrowth for decades.

The time for addressing the problem of excessive fuels buildup in our forests is long overdue. Current efforts to reduce fuel loads are taking far too long due to senseless bureaucratic delays. According to the U.S. Forest Service, it can take up to 8 years to plan and execute a relatively routine fuels re-duction project. We simply cannot afford to wait this long.

We are talking about good science-based forest management here. In a letter to the St. Louis Post Dispatch, Dr. Gene Garrett of the University of Missouri School of Natural Resources, who has studied and taught forestry for over 32 years, indicates that “in many forests in the west, trees become susceptible to insects and disease, die off, and add their wood mass to an already excessive fuel load on the forest floor. Studies have shown that fuel loads are 5-10 times higher per acre in the pine and mixed conifer types in the west than during pre-settlement times. Forest scientists across the country believe that reduction of these excessive fuel loads is the necessary and prudent action to take to restore the health of our forests, to protect our environment, to protect our wildlife.

If we do not address this problem now, we risk losing many of America's most pristine forests due to wildfire devastation. Congress needs to expedite legislation to streamline and expedite the clearing of these fire producing fuels.

I believe that the Craig hazardous fuels reduction amendment will accomplish this goal. This amendment is designed to cut through bureaucratic red tape and speed up the review and approval process for fuels reduction efforts.

Specifically, this amendment limits projects to areas that qualify as Condition Class 3 or high fire risk areas with priority placed on wildlife urban interface zones, municipal watersheds, dis- eased, dying, insect-infected or wind-thrown trees and areas susceptible to reburn. Proposed projects must also be consistent with the applicable forest plan, resource management plan, or other applicable agency plan. Furthermore, this amendment limits the aggregate treatment area to 10 million acres of Federal land or roughly 6 percent of the 190 million acres of Federal lands that are at high risk of wildfire.

Finally, the Craig amendment allows parties to seek judicial review in Federal district court.

This amendment is important to Missouri because it addresses most of the causes of excessive fuels buildup in Missouri.

No. 1, there has been a significant increase in fuels in the Mark Twain National Forest as a result of a serious tornado that occurred in Southeast Missouri on 4/24/02. According to the U.S. Forest Service's Tornado Fuels Assessment for the Mark Twain, heavy winds from the tornado caused tops of trees to be broken off, stems splintered and whole trees to be uprooted. Because of this damage, fuels in this region of the forest have increased by anywhere from 5-25 times pre-tornado conditions.

Fuels in the tornado-affected areas are now classified under two levels: “very high to extreme fire danger” and “high fire danger.” Currently, over 470,000 acres of valuable timber within this damaged area are endangered by this fuels buildup.

No. 2, Missouri has a significant number of wildlife urban interface areas. These are areas in and around forests that have a high population with a significant number of private structures. Some of these areas include individual residences, numerous rural subdivisions and small towns. These areas are particularly prevalent in the Southeast Missouri.

No. 3, in additional to the tornado, several years of drought, oak decline and oak mortality have accelerated the process of fuels buildup in other areas of the Mark Twain. The USFS has prepared an Environmental Impact Statement for oak decline and forest health for a 192,000 acre area of the Mark Twain where trees are dying from a combination of age, drought and insect infestation red oak—bores and two line chestnut. The first of Missouri's two fire sea-sons starts next month. The most recent high wildfire season in Missouri occurred in 2000 when over 8,700 acres of wooded lands burned—more than 3,000 acres over the ten year average. The time for this body to act on this problem is now.

As stated earlier, I believe that the Craig amendment will address most of the issues in Missouri's forests, and prioritize them for expedited cleanup. In closing, I urge you to vote in favor of this amendment. By expediting the cleanup or clearing of these fuels, Missouri and the rest of the Nation can expect to see the risks of catastrophic wildfires reduced. I yield the floor.
chunk of my waking hours in the last few months, both out in Oregon and here in DC, trying to find the common ground that would allow us to deal with the risk of fire on the millions of acres of national forest land that are fire prone and at the same time be sensitive to environmental values and legal processes.

It saddens me to rise today in opposition to this amendment because I had hoped by this morning to be able to come to the Chamber and talk about how the Senate had found common ground. I know the distinguished Senator from California, Mrs. Feinstein, is very much committed to this as well.

I agree that hazardous fuels reduction on our national forests must be pursued aggressively. I strongly believe in the concept of expedited treatment for fire-prone areas, but I simply cannot agree to the excessively broad slashes that this amendment takes at our environmental laws.

I am open to spend a moment talking about some of the provisions with respect to access to the courts that are in the amendment that is before the Senate this morning.

First, I feel strongly that citizens have a constitutional right to access the courts with respect to concerns over the management of our national forests, but I also believe they do not have a constitutional right to a 5-year delay. So, I have made it clear I support reforms that address these questions and expedite the critical work that needs to be done. But, I want my colleagues to understand this amendment before us today goes too far and that is why I oppose it.

This amendment strips away a plaintiff’s right to a temporary restraining order and a preliminary injunction. This means, essentially, that the plaintiff’s case will be heard on its merits, but while he is waiting to be heard, the agency is spared the need to wait to complete the project over which the suit was filed. In effect, people are going to be suing over stumps.

I do not think that is what the Senate wants. I do not think that is what makes sense.

They are going to say this keeps the courthouse door open. I want my colleagues to know that though the courthouse door may be open, the effect of this provision is the plaintiff never makes the case close the courthouse. This is not a meaningful and balanced approach to forestry. Justice is not going to be found with respect to the provisions as written.

This issue is fundamentally about trust. Certainly, there are many good people at the federal land management agencies. But suffice it to say there are many in the environmental community that do not trust the natural resources leadership of these agencies. There are many on the other side and many people in the guns who believe there are some in the environmental community that simply are committed to delay.

So what I have tried to do, along with Senator Feinstein, Senator Bingaman, and others who spent many hours with us, is to come up with a reasonable, mainline proposal to reduce hazardous fuels, improve the environment and protect communities.

For example, we have said there ought to be a categorical exclusion from required NEPA analysis of the hazardous fuels reduction projects that produce a significant amount of green timber and salvage when accompanied by environmental safeguards protecting big old trees and the assurance that the building of new roads will not waste the limited resources we have for such projects. This provision that we have talked about could save between 1 and 3 years of work.

Going even further, we said—and this can only be done by statute—there should be no administrative appeals on these projects.

Senator Bingaman, Senator Feinstein, myself, and others, have said these are the kinds of ideas and approaches that help to bring the Senate together to try to find the common ground in this area. Unfortunately, that has been unacceptable to my colleagues. They have raised a red flag about this to the point that is why I believe the Craig-Domenici language that overreaches will polarize, in my view, this very contentious debate even further.

I would like to see the Senate make a very real and meaningful effort to address the important forest management issues and reduce the risk of wildfire. I would like to see expedited treatment for key areas. My sense is there is broad agreement now that on 5 million acres, even 6 million acres—I have heard colleagues talk about 7 million acres—if we could address the questions of a fair and open process with respect to the courts, the Senate could come together.

I am going to work with my colleagues to do that. But given the contentiousness of this issue, I think the amendment before us now so strains people who would like to bring legitimate questions of forest policy to the courts, that provision is going to be viewed as an overreach to the Senate as to set back the effort to try to find common ground.

What I want to do is work on a bipartisan basis to implement the National Fire Plan. That is a collaborative effort. That is the kind of effort that would bring the Senate together. That is what we were able to do in the county payments law and I hope we can do it again.

We have to put firefighting dollars where they can best be used in a strategic way to reduce hazardous fuels, to start in the places where treatment would be most effective, the wild and urban interface ecosystems and municipal watersheds where fire can cause the most damage.

Senator Bingaman has worked with Senator Feinstein and others on that. I think this is the kind of approach that brings people together. Certainly there is a commitment to cut these never-never land legal processes down in a significant way, but they have to maintain the integrity of the system.

Already I mentioned the prospect of being able to save 1 to 3 years of work when we are talking about the categorical exclusions from required NEPA analysis on hazardous fuels that myself and Senator Bingaman and others have supported. That is a significant step towards reducing the time line so many folks are upset about in reducing hazardous fuels reduction projects.

I am open to other ideas and suggestions but I hope the Senate will not support the amendment that is before us now. I do believe what will happen if this amendment passes is that plaintiffs will be suing over stumps. People will not be able to have the issues addressed, in effect, while it is appropriate, while the case is moving forward. That is why I think the amendment is an overreach.

I hope my colleagues will continue to work with Senator Bingaman, Senator Feinstein and me, and the many colleagues who would like to find common ground come forward to work with us to support a package that would allow us to get expedited treatment for important projects while at the same time be sensitive to fair access to the courts and to environmental values.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from California.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I truly believe we have a real fire emergency in America’s forests. It is precipitated somewhat by drought, but it is precipitated by a very flawed forest policy, a forest policy that has practiced fire suppression and spent over a billion dollars this year in suppressing the largest number of acres burned in the history of our Nation—6 million acres burned, 200 homes lost, millions of dollars of property lost, and a major concern of the American people. All the money cannot be spent suppressing fires. We have to begin to spend the money grooming forests so they are more fire resistant.

Over the past 100 years, there has been a buildup of underbrush, a buildup of dead, dying, and downed trees, a buildup of infested trees, and a buildup of nonindigenous species trees which become fire ladders. All of this presents fire ladders. So a fire begins, and it “ladders” up into the crowns of old growth, and there is a fire conflagration. I watched that happen in Colorado. I flew over the fires in Arizona. We watched it happen in New Mexico. Yes, it is happening in California, and we are not through with our fire season yet.

There is a true bona fide message. It needs to be met. I have been trying to work with Senator Wyden, Senator Craig, Senator Kyl, Senators Domenici, Senator Burns. We have spent hours trying to come up with a bipartisan amendment which could get 60 votes on this floor, I believe we are relatively close to those 60 votes. Senator Wyden has indicated some of the parameters in which we have been negotiating.

We have 74 million acres of forests in the highest risk of catastrophic fire; 24 million acres are Federal lands. We took the Federal lands—California alone has 7 million acres of the 24 million acres in what is called class 3, highest risk of catastrophic fire—to see if we could create for 1 year, as an expedited program, to address those areas, making 70 percent of the effort in urban interface areas where we find property, and people, where fire is devastating. Also, in some of the watershed areas, the areas of heaviest pest infestation, windthrow, as well as those acres which are apt to burn—highly catastrophic.

We are very close. We can agree on the number of acres which, after all, will be funded. And higher is not necessarily the amount of money. We have agreed to truncate the administrative process. We concentrate on the areas I have mentioned.

But on this side of the aisle, there are votes which we should not change the judicial review process. We are trying to come to grips with the Republicans on this issue. I am hopeful we can. Those on the Energy and Water Development Subcommittee who are negotiating hopefully will be on the Senate tomorrow morning, and hopefully be able to get through the impasse we are in at the moment—or even to next week. This bill will not be included. I believe it is important we try to move more rapidly this year with hazardous fuels mitigation. In what is Bingaman 3 or Feinstein Modified—whatever anyone wants to call it—we have a very good first start.

We would like to hear from the other side of the aisle. We would like to continue these negotiations. I am hopeful there is not a vote at this time, that we can still come to an agreement, and we are able to continue to negotiate. I was present at meetings for 3 hours yesterday. I was in a conference call on it for an hour and a half last night. I want the Senate to know our efforts are sincere, they are earnest, that we would like to find an accommodation.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Montana.

Mr. Burns. Mr. President, I thank Senator Wyden and Senator Feinstein. There is no one better to work with as we have moved through the negotiations to change the way we look at management areas with regard to reduction of the fuel load on the floors of our forests and dealing with diseased forests.

It is most troubling to me that we are seeing the results of 20 years of frivolous appeals and putting the U.S. Forest Service and the Bureau of Land Management under such review that they cannot manage with any common sense; 20 years' experience, with a lot of folks on the ground who probably do not have 2 days' of education in their whole life, but they have been in the forest all their life, saying we are going in exactly the wrong direction and this will lead to disaster. But because they do not have a certain standing in the process to get their voice heard, their warning goes unheeded.

So we come to the years of 2000, 2002, even 1998. My State of Montana is just completing its fifth year in drought and also in low snowpack. We had devastating fires in 2000, with a lesser number this year because we got a little rain: but not when the rains come. Some of the slides, devastating mud slides that take streams out, destroy water quality, damage watersheds. I have heard people give endless speeches on watersheds. They have been damaged beyond repair. It will take years and years for them to be restored. It impacts municipalities and also impacts wildlife—fish.

How much do we have to show America, America, the past 20 years a mitigation disaster, an unmitigated disaster? This policy was recommended by groups who, at times you have to believe on the management of forests—there is an old saying that says they don't know the difference between "come" and "come here." Hocus-pocus science—anxiety. Feel good, warm and fuzzy—but it burns. That is what we are talking about here and that is what should be at the crux of our discussions with one another in this Senate.

How do we avoid continuing this in a commonsense way, where if you want to debate the science or the decision made by an agency or a person with regard to the management of that land, you cannot take all cards off the table? That is what we are looking at here.

So I am going to work with my chairmen, Mr. Byrd, as we try to move this legislation. I am not going to tell you, I have never seen more earnest and dedicated people, people dedicated to solving a problem, than those in this debate, in the private meetings, the endless hours that negotiation have gone on. I appreciate that because basically I think we are driven to take care of our forests. But past practices have not given us much help.

Mr. President, I now yield time to my good friend from Colorado.

Mr. Allard. Mr. President, I thank the Senator from Colorado for yielding some of his time to me. I thank him for his leadership, trying to bring some common sense to the way we manage our forests. It is a pleasure for me to be on the Senate floor with my western colleagues who face a lot of problems similar to those I am facing in the State of Colorado.

The citizens of Colorado and the west are facing a challenging time. Faced with drought and fires across the state, our response to the test of mother nature is being measured, and will continue to be measured with the passage of time. Yet the message I want to send home today, and one that my colleagues rising in support of forest health also wish to convey, is that we must not fiddle while our forests burn.

We have studied forest fires, forest health and forest management. We have studied while our forests burn and while our critical habitat turns to ash. Yet we continue to imperil life, property and nature with catastrophic wildfires.

I want to thank the rescue workers, fire fighters, police, sheriffs offices, aid workers, and the thousands of volunteers who have battled the blazes all summer long. I hope these brave fire fighters realize that their efforts are not in vain, and that new policies will restore sound forest health and revitalize our management of our great forestlands.
Unfortunately, today there is an increasing threat of fire in millions of acres of forestlands and rangelands throughout the United States. This threat is especially great in the interior States of the western United States. Forest Service estimates that 29,000,000 acres of National Forest System lands are at high risk of catastrophic wildfire.

Today's forestlands and rangelands are the consequences of land management practices that emphasized the control of fire—rupturing the occurrence of frequent low-intensity fires that periodically remove flammable undergrowth. As a result of these management practices, forestlands and rangelands in the United States are no longer naturally functioning ecosystems, and drought cycles and the invasion of insects and disease have resulted in vast areas of dead or dying trees, overstocked stands and the invasion of undesirable species.

Population movement into wildland-urban interface areas exacerbate the fire danger, and the increasing number of larger, more intense fires pose grave hazards to human health, safety, property and infrastructure in these areas. In addition smoke from wildfires, which contain fine particulate matter and other hazardous pollutants, pose substantial health risks to people living in the wildland-urban interface.

The budgets and resources of local, State, and Federal entities supporting firefighting efforts have been stretched to their limits. In addition, diminishing Federal resources—including personnel—have limited the ability of Federal fire researchers to respond to management needs, and to utilize technological advancements for analyzing fire management costs.

Now, I would like to share with my colleagues a little about Colorado's devestation. Several months ago, one third of the State was blanketed in smoke from forest fires, blocking the sun, the mountain view, and creating major pollution problems, and asthma related deaths. Over 500,000 acres of Colorado has burned this year. The normal is 70,000 acres.

Over the course of the wildfires, safety and emergency personnel have had to evacuate 142 subdivisions, 85,000 people, and ended up spending more money on suppression because of the interface complexity. It is critical for life and property protection to mitigate this problem.

The result of the catastrophic fires is a hardened surface that is impermeable by water. When the ground can't absorb the water, not only is the drought prolonged, but the water has to go somewhere. So it goes downhill. As the volume of the water increases, it picks up rocks, additional—possibly undamaged—soil and other debris.

The spread water and debris does not discriminate. It enters water-sheds and people's homes. Right now in southwestern Colorado roads are closed, homes are damaged and people are trying to dig their yards out of up to ten feet of mud.

In the past six years, six major forest fires have affected the mainstem of the South Platte river; a major source of water for water treatment plants for the Denver metropolitan area. The Hayman fire this summer was the first of these fires to destroy Denver Water property.

However, all of these fires have caused problems with the watershed which has negatively affected the quality of the water delivered to the two largest water treatment plants for Denver Water.

The Hayman fire completely consumed the trees on the acreage surrounding Denver Water's Cheesman Reservoir, except where Denver had applied Forest Service procedures of thinning and brush removal. As a result of the fire and the emulsified granular asphalt, the burned trees and ash has been washed into the Reservoir as well as into the mainstem of the South Platte along the burn area. About 90 percent of Denver Water's property was burned. At Cheesman Reservoir Denver Water used Forest Service-type techniques, fire intensity was diminished and the fire did not destroy the entire forest. Therefore erosion and attendant water quality degradation will be minimized. One of the Forest Service mandates in its enabling legislation was protection of municipal water supplies. It is imperative that the Forest Service limit fire damage in municipal watershed areas.

This will take money, personnel, quick response and long-term dedication of public resources. In order to protect and preserve watersheds as public purpose resources, the Forest Service will need money and Congressional support to reverse policies that limit sound forest management.

It is estimated that damage to Denver Water facilities from sediment deposits and degraded water quality will occur for the next thirty years. To date, Denver Water's cost to try to mitigate some of the Hayman fire damage is over $500,000 for erosion prevention and protection of facilities.

It is estimated the cost for the next 8 weeks will be $100,000/week. Additionally, the life of our reservoirs impacted by the fire will be reduced by about 40 years due to increased sediment. Dredging of the reservoir will solve some problems, but will not prevent the continued inflow of sediment. It is conceivable the total cost of dredging Cheesman Reservoir will exceed $20 million.

These examples are just a few of the tragedies created by the fires. Glenwood Springs, Durango, Steamboat and many more, have suffered as well. Yet the quiet tragedy of the fires will not be revealed for years—what have we done to the ecosystem, to habitat, and the wildlife? Only after thousands of hours of human capital investment and millions of dollars in rehabilitation will we know.

We all value protection of our forests and the natural beauty of our land. But we can no longer respond and react—we must take the steps to achieve a healthy balance and return our forests to a state of good health to guard against serious problems.

My feeling on this is that the forest managers themselves—they are scientists—know how to best manage our environment. I think we need to give them some more latitude in practicing good science and protecting forest health.

I will elaborate on this a little later. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from West Virginia.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that I may proceed for not to exceed 2 minutes before the Senate reverts to the homeland security bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, recognizing the right to object—I will not object—I wonder if we could agree that the time would not go against either side with regard to the debate of this amendment. I ask unanimous consent it not go against either side.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from West Virginia.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I seek the floor at this time to ask unanimous consent that I may offer this amendment to the Senator from New Mexico. I think we need to give them some more latitude in practicing good science and protecting forest health. I wonder if we could agree that the amendment to the Senator from New Mexico.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, preserving the right to object, is it my understanding that we would still allow the Craig-Domenici amendment to be in place when we return?

Mr. BYRD. Absolutely.

Mr. CRAIG. I will not object.

Mr. DOMENICI. I would like to know what it is.

Mr. BYRD. It will take me a little longer than 2 minutes.

Mr. DOMENICI. Let me ask if it has to do with the budget or is in any way trying to perfect the budget.

Mr. BYRD. No. I think the Senator from New Mexico will embrace the amendment.

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from West Virginia has the floor.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the 2 minutes I asked for be extended to 4 minutes so that we would have two additional amendments and I may show this amendment to the Senator from New Mexico.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DOMENICI. I thank the Senator.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, if the Chair will withhold temporarily until the distinguished Senator from New Mexico has looked at the amendment. Mr. President, I renew my request.
Mr. DOMENICI. I have no objection. I have looked at it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, the pending amendment is set aside.

AMENDMENT NO. 4527 TO AMENDMENT NO. 4727
Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I send an amendment to the desk.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senator from West Virginia (Mr. BYRD), proposes an amendment numbered 4527 to amendment No. 4727.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

(Purpose: To provide critical emergency supplemental appropriations)

At the appropriate place in Byrd Amendment No. 4472 insert the following:

TITLE II: IMPELLMENT APPROPRIATIONS
That the following sums are appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2002, and for other purposes, namely:

CHAPTER 1
DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY
(Including Transfers of Funds)
For an additional amount for “Office of the Secretary”, $18,000,000, to remain available until expended: Provided, That the Secretary shall transfer these funds to the Agricultural Research Service, the Economic Research Service, the National Institute of Food and Agriculture, the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, the Agricultural Marketing Service, and/or the Food Safety and Inspection Service: Provided further, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

CHAPTER 2
DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE
OFFICE OF JUSTICE PROGRAMS
COMMUNITY ORIENTED POLICING SERVICES
For an additional amount for “Community Oriented Policing Services’ Interoperable Communications Technology Program in consultation with the Office of Science and Technology within the National Institute of Justice, and the Bureau of Justice Assistance, for emergency expenses for activities related to combating terrorism by providing grants to States and localities to improve communications within, and among, law enforcement agencies, $50,000,000, to remain available until expended: Provided, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
EMBASSY SECURITY, CONSTRUCTION, AND MAINTENANCE
For an additional amount for “Embassy Security, Construction, and Maintenance,” for emergency expenses for activities related to combating international terrorism, $10,000,000, to remain available until expended: Provided, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

CHAPTER 3
DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
FEDERAL FUNDS
FEDERAL PAYMENT TO THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
For a Federal payment to the District of Columbia for public safety expenses related to security requirements imposed on the District of Columbia, $12,000,000, to remain available until December 1, 2003: Provided, That the Chief Financial Officer of the District of Columbia shall provide a report, not less than 15 days of an expenditure, to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and Senate, detailing any expenditure of these funds: Provided further, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

CHAPTER 4
DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY
ENERGY PROGRAMS
SCIENCE
For an additional amount for “Science” for emergency expenses in support of safeguards and security activities, $11,350,000: Provided, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

NATIONAL ENERGY DEFENSE ACTIVITIES WEAPONS ACTIVITIES
For an additional amount for “Weapons Activities” for emergency expenses, $138,456,000: Provided, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

CHAPTER 5
BILATERAL ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE
FUNDS APPROPRIATED TO THE PRESIDENT
UNITED STATES AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT CHILD SURVIVAL AND HEALTH PROGRAMS FUND
For an additional amount for “Child Survival and Health Programs Fund” for emergency expenses for activities related to combating HIV/AIDS, tuberculosis, and malaria, $200,000,000, to remain available until expended: Provided, That such activities should include maternal health and related assistance in communities heavily impacted by HIV/AIDS and malaria: Provided further, That additional assistance should be provided to prevent transmission, of HIV/AIDS from mother to child: Provided further, That of the funds appropriated under this heading, up to $6,000,000 may be transferred to and used for emergency expenses for activities related to combating tuberculosis and malaria: Provided further, That funds appropriated by this Act under the heading “Operating Expenses of the United States Agency for International Development” for costs directly related to combating HIV/AIDS and malaria: Provided further, That funds appropriated by this paragraph shall be appropriated to the United States Agency for International Development, and the authority of sections 632(a) or 632(b) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, or any similar provision of law, may not be used to transfer or allocate part of such funds to any agency of the United States Government: Provided further, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

CHAPTER 6
DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR
NATIONAL PARK SERVICE
CONSTRUCTION
For an additional amount for “Construction”, $17,651,000, to remain available until expended: Provided, That the Congress designates the entire amount as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

CHAPTER 7
DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY
PUBLIC HEALTH AND SOCIAL SERVICES
EMERGENCY FUND
For emergency expenses to respond to the September 11, 2001, terrorist attacks on the United States for “Public Health and Social Services Emergency Fund” for baseline and follow-up screening and clinical examination, long term health monitoring and analysis for the emergency personnel, rescue and recovery personnel, $9,000,000, to remain available until expended, of which no less than $25,000,000 shall be available for current and retired firefighters: Provided, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

CHAPTER 8
DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION
FEDERAL AVIATION ADMINISTRATION
GRANTS-IN-AID FOR AIRPORTS
( AIRPORT AND AIRWAY TRUST FUND )
For an additional amount to enable the Federal Aviation Administrator to compensate airports for the direct costs associated with new, additional, or revised security requirements imposed on airport operators by the Administrator on or after September 11, 2001, notwithstanding any other provisions of law, $50,000,000, to be derived from the Airport and Airway Trust Fund and to remain available until expended: Provided, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

CHAPTER 9
DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
UNITED STATES CUSTOMS SERVICE
SALARIES AND EXPENSES
For an additional amount for “Salaries and Expenses,” $39,000,000, to remain available until expended: Provided, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.
For an additional amount for “Emergency management planning and assistance” for emergency expenses to respond to the September 11, 2001, terrorist attacks on the United States, $200,000,000, to remain available until September 30, 2002, of which $150,000,000 is for programs as authorized by section 33 of the Federal Fire Prevention and Control Act of 1974, as amended (15 U.S.C. 2281 et seq.); and $50,000,000 is for interoperable communications grants program: Provided, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, on Tuesday, September 10, 2002, the Attorney General announced an increase in the national threat level to the “High Risk” level. The President approved the recommendation based on what the Attorney General described as specific intelligence received and analyzed by the full intelligence community and corroborated by multiple intelligence sources.

The Attorney General indicated that the likely targets include the transportation and energy sectors and symbols of American power such as U.S. embassies, U.S. military facilities and national monuments.

I intend to offer an amendment to the Interior bill for $937 million of supplemental funding. The package includes $647 million of homeland security funding that draws from the $5.1 billion emergency contingency fund that the President rejected those items that are most directly related to the increased threat. In addition, the amendment includes $200 million for international AIDS programs as was approved by the Senate 79-14 when Senator Frist offered the amendment last June. The amendment also includes $90 million that the Congress had previously approved for providing long-term health screening and examinations for the emergency personnel who responded to the attack at the World Trade Center.

The Office of Management and Budget currently estimates that there is $940 million available under the discretionary caps for fiscal year 2002 budget authority. Therefore, this amendment does not require an emergency designation by the President. If the President signs the bill, the funds will be made available.

Highlights of the $937 million package include $30 million for security at our nuclear plants and labs, $150 million for the direct costs of new security requirements for our Nation’s airports, $150 million to equip and train our Nation’s firefighters for dealing with weapons of mass destruction and other threats, $100 million for grants to the first and police departments to improve the interoperability of their communications equipment, $39 million for the Customs Service for improved border security, $17.7 million for increased security at the Washington Monument and Jefferson Memorial, $18 million for USDA for securing biohazardous materials, $12 million for DC for law enforcement, $15 million for September 28 IMF conference and other national security events, $10 million for embassy security, $200 million for international AIDS, tuberculosis and malaria services, and $90 million for long-term health monitoring of World Trade Center first responders.

I thank the Chair, and I thank all Senators.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Nevada.

ORDER OF PROCEDURE

Mr. REID. Mr. President, the Chair will shortly report H.R. 5005. This morning when the order was entered, we did not know if anyone would oppose either amendment. I have been advised that the chairman of this legislation is going to oppose the Hollings amendment. I, therefore, ask the Chair to designate Senator Hollings of Tennessee as the person controlling the time against the Hollings amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair will do so.

HOMELAND SECURITY ACT OF 2002

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the hour of 12 noon having arrived, the Senate will now resume consideration of H.R. 5005, which the clerk will report by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (H.R. 5005) to establish the Department of Homeland Security, and for other purposes.

Pending:

Lieberman Amendment No. 471, in the nature of a substitute.

Thompson/Warner Amendment No. 4513 (to Amendment No. 471), to strike title II, establishing the National Office for Combating Terrorism, and title III, developing the National Strategy for Combating Terrorism, and Homeland Security for detection, prevention, protection, response, and recovery to counter terrorist threats.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senator from South Carolina is recognized to participate in meetings of the National Security Council so as to include the Attorney General as a member of the Council.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, will the Senator withhold for a parliamentary inquiry?

Mr. HOLLINGS. Yes.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I have been speaking to the manager of the bill, Senator LIEBERMAN. We have two amendments pending. Senator THOMPSON opposes the Hollings amendment. It would seem that the Senator from Tennessee should have one-half hour in opposition to that amendment. Senator LIEBERMAN opposes the Thompson amendment. He should have one-half hour in opposition to that. If the two managers agree with that, we should have that in the form of an order so somebody can designate the time on it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is the understanding of the Chair.

The Senator from South Carolina.

Mr. HOLLINGS. Mr. President, I ask for the yeas and nays on the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There is a sufficient second.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. HOLLINGS. Mr. President, I thank the distinguished Chair.

This amendment is so simple that it becomes suspicious, in a sense. All I am asking is that the managers of the National Security Council so as to include the Attorney General, the future Secretary of Homeland Security, and the Director of the...
FBI in an advisory position similar to the CIA as presently included in the 1947 law. The reason for this, of course, is to get not only the responsibility of the Council fixed, but more particularly to realize now that domestic threats are far greater than any international threat. I don’t believe China is going to attack us. I don’t think Saddam, after all he has heard about us attacking him, is going to attack us, except perhaps maybe overseas but domestically. But homeland security must be emphasized.

Let me refer immediately to that section of the 1947 act signed by President Harry Truman on July 26, 1947. I quote:

"...the function of the Council shall be to advise the President with respect to the integration of domestic, foreign, and military policies. The function of the Council is to enable the military services and the other departments and agencies of the Government to cooperate more effectively in matters involving national security."

In other words, the function of joining all the dots is with the National Security Council.

You have all these entities now, here with a new one, to take certain analyses: the Department of Homeland Security. But you still have the CIA, the FBI, the National Security Agency. You have intelligence sections of the State Department. They are all over the Government; Intelligence Committees within the Congress, and everything else like that. Wherein is the responsibility fixed to join the dots?

Harry Truman said it best in 1947. He said: "The buck stops here." So my particular amendment is to fix that responsibility, and assist the President, so there would be no misunderstanding.

Incidentally, only the President of the United States can change this culture. As I said, I speak advisedly. I was in the intelligence game back in the 1950s. I was a member of the Hoover Commission. We investigated the CIA, the FBI, the Army, Navy, Air Force intelligence, the Defense Department, the Secret Service, the Q clearance, the atomic energy intelligence, and all the other functions.

I will never forget. In October of 1962. I got a call from my friend who would later operate this desk as a Senator, Bob Dole. He said: "I would like to get that report from you with respect to this Cuban missile crisis, and the background on it. I turned over my report, my particular one. I never have gotten it back.

But, in any event, the glaring error that persists this minute is that there are no joining of the dots, people are not talking to each other. Intelligence has gone like economics and trade—globalization, globalization. I cannot emphasize that too much in the little bit of the time I have been given. Immediately after 9/11 the CIA, the FBI, the various intelligence agencies said: Oh, this was a surprise. They could know nothing about a plane going into a building.

Let me talk about terrorism and give you a dateline:

The bombing of the U.S. Embassy in Beirut in April 1983 by the Islamic Jihad was no surprise; the bombings of the Marine barracks in Beirut in October 1983, also by the Islamic Jihad; the Hezbollah restaurant bombing in April 1984; the attempted Iraqi attacks on U.S. posts on January 18 and 19 of 1991; the World Trade Center bombing in February 1993; the attempted assassination of President Bush by Iraqi agents in April of 1993; the attack on U.S. diplomats in Pakistan in March of 1995; the Khobar Towers bombing in June of 1996; the U.S. Embassy bombings in Nairobi, Kenya, and Dar es Salaam, Tanzania, in 1998; the attack on the U.S.S. Cole in October of 2000; and the terrorist attacks on, of course, September 11. And they have not stopped. We have the car bombing outside the U.S. consulate in Karachi, Pakistan, in June of 2002.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent this document be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

TERRORISM TIMELINE

Bombing of U.S. Embassy in Beirut, April 18, 1983: Thirty-six people, including the CIA’s Middle East director, were killed, and 120 were wounded in a suicide truck bomb attack on the U.S. Embassy in Beirut, Lebanon. The Islamic Jihad claimed responsibility.

Bombing of Marine Barracks, Beirut, October 23, 1983: Simultaneous suicide truck-bomb attacks were made on American and French compounds in Beirut, Lebanon. A 12,000-pound bomb destroyed the U.S. compound, killing 242 Americans, while 58 French troops were killed when a 400-pound device destroyed a French base. Islamic Jihad claimed responsibility.

Hizballah Restaurant Bombing, April 12, 1984: Eighteen U.S. servicemen were killed, and 83 people were injured in a bomb attack on a restaurant near U.S. Air Force Base in Torrejón, Spain. Responsibility was claimed by Hizballah.

Naples USO Attack, April 14, 1988: The Organization of Jihad Brigades exploded a car bomb outside a USO Club in Naples, Italy, killing one U.S. sailor.

Attempted Iraqi Attacks on U.S. Posts, January 18-19, 1991: Iraqi agents planted bombs at the U.S. Ambassador to Indonesia’s home residence at the USIS library in Manila.

World Trade Center Bombing, February 26, 1993: The World Trade Center in New York City was badly damaged when a car bomb exploded under Piers 92 and 93 of the Marquet Marine terminal, killing 21 people and injuring 1,100. The bomb left six people dead and 1,000 injured. The men carrying out the attack were followers of Umar and Abd al-Rahman, an Egyptian cleric who preached in the New York City area.

Attempted Assassination of President Bush by Iraqi Agents, April 14, 1993: The Iraqi intelligence agency tried to assassinate former U.S. President George Bush during a visit to Kuwait. In retaliation, the U.S. launched a cruise missile attack 2 months later in Karbala and Basrah.

Attack on U.S. Diplomats in Pakistan, March 8, 1995: Two unidentified gunmen killed two U.S. diplomats and wounded a third in Karachi, Pakistan.

Khobar Towers Bombing, June 25, 1996: A fuel truck carrying a bomb exploded outside the U.S. military’s Riyadh personnel facility in Dhahran, killing 19 U.S. military personnel and wounding 515 persons, including 240 U.S. personnel. Several groups claimed responsibility.

U.S. Embassy Bombings in East Africa, August 7, 1998: A bomb exploded at the rear entrance of the U.S. embassy in Nairobi, Kenya, killing 12 and injuring foreign Service Nationals (FSNs), and 272 Kenyan citizens. About 5,000 Kenyans, six U.S. citizens, and 10 Tanzanians, including three Tanzanian citizens, were killed and injured.

U.S. Embassies in Tanzania and Kenya, August 7, 1998: A bomb exploded at the rear entrance of the U.S. embassy in Dar es Salaam, Tanzania, killing seven FSNs and three Tanzanian citizens, and injuring one U.S. citizen and 76 Tanzanians. The explosion caused major structural damage to the U.S. embassy facility.

September 20, 2001: Globally, more than 190 people were killed in Afghanistan, and U.S. fatalities were 45.

Terrorism Against U.S. Diplomats, September 23, 2001: U.S. diplomats and their families were attacked in Yemen.

Terrorist Attacks on U.S. Homeland, September 27, 2001: Two hijacked planes crashed into the twin towers of the World Trade Center, Soon thereafter, the Pentagon was struck by a third hijacked plane. A fourth hijacked plane, supposed for a high-profile target in Washington, crashed into a field in southern Pennsylvania. More than 5,000 U.S. citizens and over nationals were killed as a result of these acts. President Bush and Cabinet officials indicated that Usama Bin Laden was the prime suspect and that they considered the United States at risk with international terrorism. In the aftermath of the attacks, the United States formed the Global Coalition Against Terrorism.

Car Bombing outside U.S. Consulate, June 14, 2002: A suicide bomber drives a car filled with explosives into a guard post outside the U.S. Consulate in Karachi, Pakistan, killing 11 Pakistanis and injuring at least 45 people, including one U.S. Marine who is slightly wounded by flying debris.

Mr. HOLLINGS. Now, they say: Well, Senator, you point all those things out. But after all, we did nothing about a plane going into a building.

Well, in December 1994, the al-Qaida hijacked an Air France plane that was headed into the Eiffel Tower. Who has not heard of flying a plane into a structure?

In 1995, the CIA was hot on the Philippines and thwarted the blowup or the crashing of eight planes at one particular time. They learned of the plan to what? To crash a plane into the CIA building. That was back 6 years before 9/11.

And then, in January of 2000, in Malaysia, there was an article with respect to al-Qaida. Let me read from the article. I quote:... the most puzzling, and devastating, intelligence in the critical months before September 11. A few days after the Kuala Lumpur meeting...the CIA tracked two suspected terrorists to a Qaeda summit in Malaysia in January 2000, then looked on as they re-entered America and began preparations for the September 11 terrorist attack.

A few days earlier, U.S. intelligence had gotten wind of the Qaeda gathering, Special Branch, Malaysia’s security service, agreed to follow and photograph the suspected terrorists. They snapped pictures of the men sight-seeing and ducking into cybercafes to check Arabic Web sites. What happened next, some U.S. counterterrorism officials say, may be the most puzzling, and devastating, intelligence in the critical months before September 11. A few days after the Kuala Lumpur meeting, Newsweek has learned, the CIA tracked one of the terrorists, Nawaf Alhazmi, who had been let in to Los Angeles. Agents discovered that another of the men, Khalid Almihdhar, had already obtained a multiple-entry visa that allowed him to enter and leave the United States as he pleased. (They later learned that he had in fact arrived in the United States on the same flight as Alhazmi.)

Yet astonishingly, the CIA did nothing with this information. Agency officials didn’t even notify the FBI, which could have covertly tracked them to find out their mission. Instead, during the year and nine months after the CIA identified them as terrorists, Alhazmi and Almihdhar lived openly in the United States, using their real names, obtaining driver’s licenses, opening bank accounts and enrolling in flight schools—until the morning of September 11, when they walked aboard American Airlines Flight 77 and crashed it into the Pentagon.

Until now, the many questions about intelligence shortcomings leading up to the attacks have focused on the CIA’s failure to connect various vague clues that might have pointed them toward the terrorists. Last week, in the aftermath of Minnesota agent Coleen Rowley’s scathing letter ripping the FBI for ignoring warnings from the field, Director Robert Mueller announced a series of reforms aimed at modernizing the bureau.

All along, however, the CIA’s Counterterrorism Center—base camp for the agency’s war on bin Laden—was sitting on information that could have led right to the terrorists’ doorstep. Almihdhar and Alhazmi, parading across America in plain sight, could not have been easier to find. Newsweek has learned that Almihdhar’s visa expired, the State Department, not knowing any better, simply issued him a new one in June 2001—even though by then the CIA had linked him to one of the suspected bombers of the USS Cole in October 2000. The two terrorists’ frequent meetings with the other September 11 perpetrators could have provided federal agents with a road map to the entire cast of 9/11 hijackers. But the FBI didn’t know it was supposed to be looking for them until three weeks before the strikes, when CIA Director George Tenet, worried an attack was imminent, or­dered agency analysts to review their files. It was only then, on Aug. 23, 2001, that the agency sent a warning bulletin, launching law-enforcement agents on a frantic and futile search for the two men.

Why didn’t the CIA share its information sooner? ‘‘We could have had a head start for sure,’’ one top intelligence official told Newsweek.

The CIA’s related and reluctant admission now makes it impossible to avoid the question that law-enforcement officials have tried to duck for weeks: could we have stopped the Qaeda? In fact, the CIA has vigorously defended his agency’s performance in the months before the attacks. In February he told a Senate panel that he was ‘‘proud’’ of the CIA’s record. He was forced to retract his statement because he was not aware of the warnings to the FBI. He also had to admit that the CIA was not aware of the attacks until they happened. ‘‘I don’t think the CIA knew Alhazmi was in the country, and that Alhazmi could enter at will,’’ that ‘‘was unforgivable,’’ said one senior FBI official who added to a series of angry encounters among U.S. officials in the weeks after September 11. At one White House meeting last fall, Wayne Griffith, a top State Department consular official, was so furious that his office hadn’t been told about the two men that he blew up at a CIA agent. (Griffith declined to comment.)

It was old-fashioned interrogation and embarrassing that there are so few intelligence agents to the Qaeda plotters. In the summer of 1998, only a couple of weeks after bin Laden operatives truck-bombed two U.S. Embassies in Africa, the FBI got a break: one of the Nairobi bombers had been caught. Muhammad Rashed Daoud al-Owhali, a young Saudi from a wealthy family who became a radical bin Laden supporter, had been supposed to have killed himself in the blast. Instead, he got out of the truck at the last moment and fled. He was arrested in a seedy Nairobi hotel, where he told federal agents he had been stopped by his father-in-law, an American diplomat.

But the FBI did nothing to chase their case. FBI officials have now prepared a detailed chart showing how agents could have uncovered the terrorist group had they had learned about Almihdhar and Alhazmi sooner, given their frequent contact with at least five of the other hijackers. ‘‘There’s no question we could have had the other 19 hijackers together,’’ the official said.

U.S. intelligence began listening in on the telephone line of the Yemeni house, described in intelligence documents as a ‘‘counterterrorism logistics center,’’ where terrorist strikes—including the Africa bombings and later the Cole attack in Yemen—were planned. Operatives and weapons and financial information, which was then relayed to bin Laden in the Afghan mountains.

In late December 1999, intercepted conversations on the Yemen phone tipped off agents to the January 2000 Kuala Lumpur summit, and to the names of at least two of the participants: Almihdhar and Alhazmi. The condo where the meeting took place was a weekend getaway owned by Yazid Sufaat, a U.S.-educated microbiologist who had been a leading model of the Qaeda. He was arrested in December 2001 when he returned from Afghanistan, where he had served as a field medic for the Taliban. Sufaat’s lawyer said his client’s stay at his place because ‘‘he believes in allowing his property to be used for charitable purposes.’’ But he claims Sufaat had no idea that the men were terrorists.

After the meeting, Malaysian intelligence continued to watch the condo at the CIA’s request, but after a while the agency lost interest. Had agents kept up the surveillance, they might have observed another beneficiary of Sufaat’s charity: Zacarias Moussaoui, who stayed at the condo was the United States later that year. The Malaysians say they were surprised by the CIA’s... had law-enforcement agents been looking for Alhazmi and Almihdhar at the time, they could have easily tracked them through bank records. In September 2000, Alhazmi and Almihdhar opened a $3,000 checking account at a Bank of America branch. They also used their real names on driver’s licenses, Social Security cards and credit cards. When Almihdhar was arrested in early April 2001, the Miami-Dade County police seized $3,000 cash, he registered it in his name. (He later signed the registration over to Alhazmi, whose name was stamped on the page of the photo book.)

Page 13 of the 2000-2001 Pacific Bell White Pages contains a listing for “alhazmi Nawaf M 6401 Mount Ada Rd 858-278-5919.” By then, the agents seem to have gotten lost deep in the CIA’s files. But Almihdhar’s name and face surfaced yet again, in the aftermath of the October 2000 bombing of the Cole. Within days of the attack, a team of FBI agents flew to Yemen to investigate. They soon began closing in on suspects. One was a man called Tawfiq bin Attash, a Qaeda fighter. When analysts at the CIA’s Counterterrorism Center in Langley, Va., pulled out the file on Khalid, they discovered pictures of him at the Kuala Lumpur meeting. In one of the shots, he is standing next to Almihdhar.

If, as the CIA now claims, it wasn’t certain that Tawfiq bin Attash was a Qaeda suspect, it certainly knew it now. And yet the agency still did nothing and notified no one. In mid- to late 2000, Almihdhar left San Diego for good. It appears that he spent the next several months bounding around the Middle East and Southeast Asia. While he was away, his visa expired. Whether the CIA was on red alert, certain that a bin Laden strike might occur any day, is unclear. But it sent its Franklin attorney, told Newsweek.

Immediately after the meeting, Alhazmi boarded a plane to Bangkok, where he met a connect arranged for him by the Los Angeles charity workers. When Almihdhar set off for the airport in America, Almihdhar was also on the plane, though CIA agents did not know it at the time.

They were later seen from on high inside the United States. Had it followed standard procedure and passed the baton to the FBI once they crossed the border, agents would have discovered that Almihdhar and Alhazmi weren’t just visiting California, they were already living there. The men had moved into an apartment in San Diego two months before the Kuala Lumpur meeting.

The CIA’s reluctance to divulge what it knew is especially odd because, as 2000 dawned, U.S. law-enforcement agencies were on red alert that a bin Laden strike might occur any day. How is it possible that somewhere in the world could come at any moment. There was certainly reason to believe that Al Qaeda was planning men to fly big jets, and Almihdhar was away, his visa expired. Yet it wasn’t until after 9

July 4, 2001, flying into New York. He spent at least some of the time leading up to September traveling around the East Coast and, at least once, meeting with Mohamed Atta and other September 11 plotters in Las Vegas.

Meanwhile, Almihdhar, having flunked out of two California flight schools, decided to try his luck in Phoenix in early 2001. There he purchased a car. He later accused in toxing in training, Hani Hanjour, who eventually piloted Flight 77. In April 2001 Almihdhar headed east, and was pulled over for speeding. Oklahoma State Trooper C. L. Parkins ran Almihdhar’s California driver’s license through the computer, checked to see if the car was stolen, and noticed that Almihdhar was out from under Alhazmi’s arrest. When nothing came up, he issued the terrorist two tickets, totaling $338, and sent him on his way. (The tickets were voided; Almihdhar was soon back on the street.)

Like Almihdhar, Alhazmi eventually went east, spending time in New Jersey and Maryland. On Aug. 23, he used his credit card to purchase two tickets for Flight 77.

Two days earlier, CIA officials finally, and frantically, awoke to their mistake. That summer, as U.S. intelligence picked up repeated signals that bin Laden was about to launch a major assault, Tenen ordered his staff to scrub the agency’s files, looking for anything that might help them thwart whatever came next. But it was too late. They had long since uncovered the file on Almihdhar and Alhazmi. CIA officials checked with the INS, only to discover that Almihdhar had traveled out of the country at least twice, passed along his visa. On Aug. 23, the CIA sent out an urgent cable, labeled immediate, to the State Department, Customs, INS and FBI, telling them to put the two men on the terrorism watch list.

The FBI began an aggressive, “full field” investigation. Agents searched all nine Marriott hotels in New York City, the place Almihdhar had listed as his “destination” on his flight registration form. The FBI also searched hotels in Los Angeles, where the two men originally entered the country back in 1999. But it’s unclear whether agents had records for phone numbers or tried to track plane-ticket purchases. In preparation for their mission, the men had gone to ground. Almihdhar, a member of the CIA’s elite counterterrorism unit, was on the watch list the day that the FBI’s claim that it could have unveiled the plot by watching Alhazmi and Almihdhar, and connecting the dots between them and the other terrorists, seems compelling.

The links would not have been difficult to make. Almihdhar and Alhazmi were roommates in 2000, when the two Saudi nationals showed up Los Angeles airport. Perhaps agency officials let down their guard after warnings about a Millennium Eve attack never materialized. Whatever the reason, Alhazmi and Almihdhar fell off their radar screen.

Free to do as they pleased, the 25-year-old Alhazmi and Almihdhar started asking questions about their terrorist training in southern California. They told people they were bus- P 6401 Mount Ada Rd 858-278-5919.

While Tawfiq bin Attash was a Qaeda suspect, the CIA was not even sure he existed next to Almihdhar. In one of the shots, he is standing next to Almihdhar.

had law-enforcement agents been looking for Alhazmi and Almihdhar at the time, they could have easily tracked them through bank records. In September 2000, Alhazmi and Almihdhar opened a $3,000 checking account at a Bank of America branch. They also used their real names on driver’s licenses, Social Secu- rity cards and credit cards. When Almihdhar was arrested in early April 2001, the Miami-Dade County police seized $3,000 cash, he registered it in his name. (He later signed the registration over to Alhazmi, whose name was stamped on the page of the photo book.)

Page 13 of the 2000-2001 Pacific Bell White Pages contains a listing for “alhazmi Nawaf M 6401 Mount Ada Rd 858-278-5919.” By then, the agents seem to have gotten lost deep in the CIA’s files. But Almihdhar’s name and face surfaced yet again, in the aftermath of the October 2000 bombing of the Cole. Within days of the attack, a team of FBI agents flew to Yemen to investigate. They soon began closing in on suspects. One was a man called Tawfiq bin Attash, a Qaeda fighter. When analysts at the CIA’s Counterterrorism Center in Langley, Va., pulled out the file on Khalid, they discover- ed pictures of him at the Kuala Lumpur meeting. In one of the shots, he is standing next to Almihdhar.

If, as the CIA now claims, it wasn’t certain that Almihdhar was a Qaeda suspect, it certainly knew it now. And yet the agency still did nothing and notified no one. In mid- to late 2000, Almihdhar left San Diego for good. It appears that he spent the next several months bouncing around the Middle East and Southeast Asia. While he was away, his visa expired. Yet it wasn’t until after 9

July 4, 2001, flying into New York. He spent at least some of the time leading up to September traveling around the East Coast and, at least once, meeting with Mohamed Atta and other September 11 plotters in Las Vegas.

Meanwhile, Almihdhar, having flunked out of two California flight schools, decided to try his luck in Phoenix in early 2001. There he purchased a car. He later accused in toxing in training, Hani Hanjour, who eventually piloted Flight 77. In April 2001 Almihdhar headed east, and was pulled over for speeding. Oklahoma State Trooper C. L. Parkins ran Almihdhar’s California driver’s license through the computer, checked to see if the car was stolen, and noticed that Almihdhar was out from under Alhazmi’s arrest. When nothing came up, he issued the terrorist two tickets, totaling $338, and sent him on his way. (The tickets were voided; Almihdhar was soon back on the street.)

Like Almihdhar, Alhazmi eventually went east, spending time in New Jersey and Maryland. On Aug. 23, he used his credit card to purchase two tickets for Flight 77.

Two days earlier, CIA officials finally, and frantically, awoke to their mistake. That summer, as U.S. intelligence picked up repeated signals that bin Laden was about to launch a major assault, Tenen ordered his staff to scrub the agency’s files, looking for anything that might help them thwart whatever came next. But it was too late. They had long since uncovered the file on Almihdhar and Alhazmi. CIA officials checked with the INS, only to discover that Almihdhar had traveled out of the country at least twice, passed along his visa. On Aug. 23, the CIA sent out an urgent cable, labeled immediate, to the State Department, Customs, INS and FBI, telling them to put the two men on the terrorism watch list.

The FBI began an aggressive, “full field” investigation. Agents searched all nine Marriott hotels in New York City, the place Almihdhar had listed as his “destination” on his flight registration form. The FBI also searched hotels in Los Angeles, where the two men originally entered the country back in 1999. But it’s unclear whether agents had records for phone numbers or tried to track plane-ticket purchases. In preparation for their mission, the men had gone to ground. Almihdhar, a member of the CIA’s elite counterterrorism unit, was on the watch list the day that the FBI’s claim that it could have unveiled the plot by watching Alhazmi and Almihdhar, and connecting the dots between them and the other terrorists, seems compelling.

The links would not have been difficult to make. Almihdhar and Alhazmi were roommates in 2000, when the two Saudi nationals showed up Los Angeles airport. Perhaps agency officials let down their guard after warnings about a Millennium Eve attack never materialized. Whatever the reason, Alhazmi and Almihdhar fell off their radar screen.

Free to do as they pleased, the 25-year-old Alhazmi and Almihdhar started asking questions about their terrorist training in southern California. They told people they were bus-
But both agencies can share in the blame. Upon leaving Malaysia, Almihdhar and Alhazmi went to San Diego, where they took flight-school lessons. In September 2000, the two were called a Muslim couple who befriended them at the local Islamic Center. The landlord regularly prayed with them and even helped one open a bank account. A fellow Neighbors’ “tested” undercover “asset” who had been working closely with the FBI office in San Diego on terrorism cases related to Hamas. A second FBI official told the Neighbors that he had never communicated to the White House, Almihdhar and Alhazmi.

But it was present at the Boeing office. A memo was sent to the FBI by phone, but Almihdhar, Alhazmi never joined the dots, I can tell you that right here and now.

Here is a news story from July 21, 2001, but it is not the last year, in the Iraqi News. The name of that particular newspaper is Al-Nasiriyah.

From quoting:

Bin Ladin has become a puzzle and a proof also, of the inability of the American federalism and the CIA to uncover the man and uncover his nest. The most advanced organizations of the world cannot find the man and continues to go in cycles in illusion and presuppositions.

It refers to an exercise called “How Do You Bomb the White House.” They were planning it.

Let me read this to all the colleagues here:

The phenomenon of Bin Ladin is a healthy phenomenon in the Arab spirit. It is a decision and a determination that the Stolen Arab self has come to realize after it got bored with promises of its rulers; After it disgusted itself from its abomination and their corruption, the man had to carry the book of God . . . and write on some white paper “If you are unable to drive off the Malians, you can kill them yourself.” It seems that they will be going away because the revolutionary Bin Ladin is insisting very convincingly that he will strike America on the arm that is already hurting.

In other words, the World Trade Towers. Here, over a year ahead of time in the open press in Iraq, they are writing that this man is planning not only to bomb the White House, but where they are already hurting, the World Trade Towers.

I ask unanimous consent to print this article in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

From Al-Nasiriyah, July 21, 2001

AMERICA, AN OBSESSION CALLED OSAMA BIN LADIN

(Al-Jazeera)

Osama Bin Ladin says that he took from the desert its silence and its anger at the same time. He has learned how to harm America and has been able to do it, for he gave a bad reputation to the Pentagon as being weakened in more than one spot in the world. In order to follow him, the Pentagon has tried to marry the book of God and the Kalashnikov and write on some off-white paper “If you are unable to drive off the Marines from the Kaaba, I will kill them themselves.”

The phenomenon of Bin Ladin is a healthy phenomenon in the Arab spirit. It is a decision and a determination that the Stolen Arab self has come to realize after it got bored with promises of its rulers: After it disgusted itself from its abomination and their corruption, the man had to carry the book of God . . . and write on some white paper “If you are unable to drive off the Malians, you can kill them yourself.” It seems that they will be going away because the revolutionary Bin Ladin is insisting very convincingly that he will strike America on the arm that is already hurting.

The fearful series of events continues for America and the terror within America gets to the point that the Governor of Texas in- creases the amount of money he has put to work all its apparatus, its federalism and the C.I.A. to uncover the man and uncover his nest. The most advanced organizations of the world cannot find the man and continues to go in cycles in illusion and presuppositions. They still hope that he can come out from his nest one day, they hope that he would come out from his hiding hole and one day they will point at him their missiles and he will join Guevara, Hassan Abu Salama, Kamal Nasser, Kanafani and others. The man responds with a thin smile and replies to the correspondent from Al Jazeera that he will continue to be the obsession and worry of America and the Jews, and that even that night he will practice and write an exercise called “How Do You Bomb the White House.” And because they know that he can get there, they have started to go through their nightmares on their beds and the leaders have had to wear their bulletproof vests.

Meanwhile America has started to pressure the Taliban movement so that it will hand them Bin Ladin, while he continues to smile and still thinks seriously, with the seriousness of the Bedouin of the desert about the way he will try to marry the Pentagon after he destroys the White House.

The phenomenon of Bin Ladin is a healthy phenomenon in the Arab spirit. It is a decision and a determination that the Stolen Arab self has come to realize after it got bored with promises of its rulers: After it disgusted itself from their abomination and their corruption, the man had to carry the book of God and the Kalashnikov and write on some off-white paper “If you are unable to drive off the Marines from the Kaaba, I will kill them themselves.”

The fearful series of events continues for America and the terror within America gets to the point that the Governor of Texas increases the amount of money he has put to work all its apparatus, its federalism and the C.I.A. to uncover the man and uncover his nest. The most advanced organizations of the world cannot find the man and continues to go in cycles in illusion and presuppositions. They still hope that he can come out from his nest one day, they hope that he would come out from his hiding hole and one day they will point at him their missiles and he will join Guevara, Hassan Abu Salama, Kamal Nasser, Kanafani and others. The man responds with a thin smile and replies to the correspondent from Al Jazeera that he will continue to be the obsession and worry of America and the Jews, and that even that night he will practice and write an exercise called “How Do You Bomb the White House.” And because they know that he can get there, they have started to go through their nightmares on their beds and the leaders have had to wear their bulletproof vests.

Meanwhile America has started to pressure the Taliban movement so that it will hand them Bin Ladin, while he continues to smile and still thinks seriously, with the seriousness of the Bedouin of the desert about the way he will try to marry the Pentagon after he destroys the White House.

The phenomenon of Bin Ladin is a healthy phenomenon in the Arab spirit. It is a decision and a determination that the Stolen Arab self has come to realize after it got bored with promises of its rulers: After it disgusted itself from their abomination and their corruption, the man had to carry the book of God and the Kalashnikov and write on some off-white paper “If you are unable to drive off the Marines from the Kaaba, I will kill them themselves.”

The fearful series of events continues for America and the terror within America gets to the point that the Governor of Texas increases the amount of money he has put to work all its apparatus, its federalism and the C.I.A. to uncover the man and uncover his nest. The most advanced organizations of the world cannot find the man and continues to go in cycles in illusion and presuppositions. They still hope that he can come out from his nest one day, they hope that he would come out from his hiding hole and one day they will point at him their missiles and he will join Guevara, Hassan Abu Salama, Kamal Nasser, Kanafani and others. The man responds with a thin smile and replies to the correspondent from Al Jazeera that he will continue to be the obsession and worry of America and the Jews, and that even that night he will practice and write an exercise called “How Do You Bomb the White House.” And because they know that he can get there, they have started to go through their nightmares on their beds and the leaders have had to wear their bulletproof vests.

Meanwhile America has started to pressure the Taliban movement so that it will hand them Bin Ladin, while he continues to smile and still thinks seriously, with the seriousness of the Bedouin of the desert about the way he will try to marry the Pentagon after he destroys the White House.
memory of Frank Sinatra every time he hears his songs. This new awareness of the image that Bin Laden has become gives shape to the rest of the text and stops for every Arab plane. In the same way, Colin L. Powell and Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld have their own stories. We hail his stories as we see the planes of the Western world taking revenge against his heroic operations by bombing the cities of Iraq.

To the extent that revolution, the wings of a dove and the bullet are all but one and the same thing in the heart of a believer.

Mr. HOLLINGS. Then on August 15, just prior to September 11 of last year, we had Moussaoui arrested in Minnesota. He wanted to know how to fly a plane, but not how to take off in a plane. And the FBI’s Coleen Rowley, from Minnesota, testified before the Congress that she had written a memo, and the way she summed it up, they could crash the plane into the World Trade Towers.

Again, Mr. President, I could continue to go down the list, but we have this USA Today article of September 2 of this year that describes the hijacker allegedly bragged when they were going to do on September 11. The year before the attacks, the Germans reported the particular terrorist saying that was exactly what they were going to do.

And there is a Time magazine article of May 27 of this year that sums up how the United States missed all of the clues. We have seen all the particular articles, and now we have the amendment in to fix the problem.

Let me just say a word about, and not in any criticism of our distinguished Director of the National Security Council, but Condoleezza Rice is about as steeped in domestic security as I am in foreign policy.

You can’t find anyone more qualified in foreign security. This young lady graduated at 20 years of age Phi Beta Kappa from the University of Denver. Then she earned her master’s at the University of Notre Dame a year later, when she was 21. At the age of 27, she received her doctorate at the School of International Studies at the University of Denver, and then in 1981 became a faculty member of Stanford University in foreign policy.

So she has been steeped in that particular discipline all her life. Let me quote from her particular biography:

The Bush administration has substantially restructured the National Security Council during its first three weeks in office, providing a new indication of how the new White House plans to handle foreign policy.

She cut the NSC staff by a third, re-organized it to emphasize defense strategy, national missile defense, and international economics.

In a White House first, Rice has expanded her role to meet twice a week with Secretary of State Colin L. Powell and Defense Secretary Donald H. Rumsfeld to include Treasury Secretary Paul O’Neill.

It also is indicated:

But the President’s desire to decrease U.S. involvement in the Balkans and signal to Russia—‘‘that this administration is not going to

...
September 12, 2002

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE

S8527

this council was established for the specific reason of being advisory to him. It is thought of as his means of establishing an infrastructure, as all Presidents have done, that best serves the method by which they wish to govern and discharge their responsibilities as President. My committee, Armed Services, the Foreign Relations Committee, the Committee on Governmental Affairs, and others that possibly have some oversight on this type of amendment seems to me, could quickly gather the views and, in all probability, we may end up with our colleague’s amendment. But at least afford the courtesy to the President to share with the Congress—and most specifically the Senate—the views before they act on such a dramatic piece of legislation as this.

Mr. HOLLINGS. Of course, we have the President’s views. He submitted a bill. In my view, this intelligence, I will before the Senate in the form of the House bill. While we have our own views—and that is our responsibility—this is not to preempt the President. In all fairness, when you see the distinguished chairman of Armed Services, he is who is disturbed. Talk about turf—not of the Senator from Virginia, but the Pentagon, the Department of State. Calls went out to the Department of State on this particular amendment. They don’t want that FBI. They don’t want the domestic intelligence. They don’t want that Secretary of Homeland Security. They want their National Security Council to be involved in foreign policy and foreign and international threats, not domestic.

So no siree, that would be a put off, as it would be for the Pentagon crowd. We worked very closely with the Army and the intelligence. That still has to be a group of us from the House and Senate. We have the greatest admiration for Secretary Rumsfeld. But they have to report in, too, to this domestic intelligence. That still has to be—the intelligence—fused with CIA foreign intelligence, at the level of the National Security Council. There is no substitute for it.

If the President doesn’t like it, he will say so to the House and it will be knocked out in conference. So don’t worry about it. I am not worried about it. I want everybody to know here and now this bill does nothing to avoid and prevent another 9/11. All the agencies that, on 9/11, performed admirably was doing this job. FEMA was doing its job, and they got the agriculture people who were doing their job—they are the ones being included. Some 110,000 of the 170,000 people to be in this proposed department to protect, with respect to seaport security, airline security, and rail security are already together in the Department of Transportation. We have been working on that. We have instituted an Office of Domestic Preparedness within the Justice Department. We have all of that going.

But the ones that failed are totally left out of the Department of Homeland Security—the ones that failed us on 9/11 go untouched. Please, let’s distinguished colleague, don’t come up and say let’s find out what he thinks and put this off. We know what he thinks. Vote for this amendment and send it to the House. If they knock it out, it will be lost.

For one, I go along with Senator THOMPSON. We don’t need to confirm Dr. Rice at the National Security Council. Generally speaking, we don’t have her name over on her budget. We talk about that on the Appropriations Committee level—if there is an Office of Homeland Security there. I go along with the Senator from Tennessee not to require that office be confirmed over here, because, as President, I know good and well I would not depend on the legislative branch’s intelligence. I can tell you that right now.

With any Department they would institute, I have a mammoth responsibility. The buck stops here, and I cannot explain another 9/11 by going along with this bill and saying the problem is solved. It is not solved at all. Don’t delay me, Senator. You know and I know it will be taken out if the President opposes it.

Mr. WARNER. I thank my colleague, the PRESIDING OFFICER. The time for the Senator from South Carolina has expired.

Mr. HOLLINGS. I thank the Chair, the PRESIDING OFFICER, who yields the floor to the Senator from Tennessee.

The Senator from Tennessee is recognized.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senator from Virginia be yielded 10 minutes to address the Senate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Virginia is recognized.

Mr. WARNER. Mr. President, I thank the Senator from Tennessee. I wish to commend the Senator from Connecticut, Mr. LIEBERMAN, and our very dear, soon-departing friend from Tennessee for their very important work on this bill, homeland security.

AMENDMENT NO. 4513

Mr. WARNER. Mr. President, I will now turn. I say to the Senator from South Carolina, my remarks to the question of the pending amendment by the Senator from Tennessee, and I thank my good friend for his reply to my question.

Mr. HOLLINGS. I thank the Senator. Mr. WARNER. Mr. President, we were, as a body in recess—fortunately, the leadership decided this body should go into recess so we could watch the President of the United States deliver a speech which, in my judgment, is one of the most unimportant echoes ever delivered before the United Nations.

He laid out with specific clarity the threats to the world posed by Saddam Hussein, the threats to the world of inaction at this time, and that those who say to him, there is concern this Nation is acting unilaterally—echoes very clearly gave the United Nations a clear and respectful mandate to act now in the face of unfettered facts that in 16 instances, Saddam Hussein has defied the United Nations and the Security Council. What better evidence?

He alluded to the fact that Saddam Hussein has provided evidence—clear evidence of his commission of terrorist acts and delivery of weapons of mass destruction, weapons which in no way are needed for the rightful defense of the sovereign Nation of Iraq, weapons that could only have been manufactured and deployed for offensive actions against other nations.

This is not a war, which we are alluding to, between Iraq and the United States. This is a war of free nations—many free nations—free people, innocent people whose lives are at risk in the same way the lives were risked on 9/11 a year ago in New York, in my State of Virginia, and in Pennsylvania. I commend the President.

It is interesting, against his speech is the background of Mr. President, President Clinton, who in February 1998, referring to his own perspective on terrorism, said, referring to the terrorists:

They actually take advantage of the freer movement of people, ideas, and ideas, and they will be all the more lethal if we allow them to build arsenals of nuclear, chemical, and biological weapons and the missiles to deliver them. We simply cannot allow this to happen. There is no more clear example of this threat than Saddam Hussein’s Iraq. His regime threatens the safety of many people, the stability of the region, and the security of all the rest of us.

Our President built on that foundation in this historic speech that was delivered today. It is my fervent hope that the Congress of the United States, hopefully led by the Senate, will adhere to the President’s request made to a group of us from the House and Senator who were in his office just weeks ago, when he called on the Congress, to act with respect to this situation such the executive branch, led by President Bush, and the Congress are in arm in arm as we carry forward our war against terrorism and, most specifically, the threats posed by Iraq.

We are here on the issue of homeland defense, the issue of a new Department. We have had a good debate. We have our differences of view but, nevertheless, I see the momentum, I hope, in this body to move forward with this legislation.

I support the overall intent of this legislation. I strongly agree with the need to better organize our Government to protect our homeland, but I do not support all the provisions of this bill.

Two such provisions are addressed by the pending Thompson amendment, which I strongly support, which would strike titles II and III of the underlying legislation. These titles have been of concern to me for some time, and in a letter dated July 17 of this year, which I seek now unanimous consent to print in the RECORD at the conclusion of my remarks, I so expressed my concerns to the managers of this legislation.
Mr. WARNER. Mr. President, title II mandates the establishment of a National Office for Combating Terrorism, and title III mandates the development of a national strategy for combating terrorism and homeland security response. I note that the administration is strongly opposed to both of these titles.

The arguments against title II are not unlike the questions I posed to the distinguished Senator from South Carolina regarding his measure, which is also pending before the Senate. And that is, we should accord, as a legislative body, the Congress, the maximum flexibility to our President, be he Democrat or Republican, in establishing that structure he deems necessary in his Department to best serve his style of discharging the obligations of the Office of President.

Our President respectfully says to the Congress: I do not need what is proposed in title II.

Again, on October 8, 2001, following the tragic events of September 11, President Bush formed the Office of Homeland Security in the Executive Office of the President to oversee immediate homeland security concerns and to propose long-term solutions.

Governor Ridge has discharged with great distinction the responsibilities of that Office. They worked hard under the President’s guidance to produce a comprehensive plan that now deserves our serious consideration and support.

Again, the mandate to establish an Office for Combating Terrorism within the Executive Office of the President of the United States, in my judgment, would be redundant to the structure currently in place, particularly since the President has already stated his intention to retain the position of Assistant to the President for Homeland Security. I urge the Senate to respect the right of the President under the Constitution to establish his office, his infrastructure, which best serves his style of management.

Turning to a second concern, and that is budget review and certification authority provided for in this legislation to the proposed Director of the National Office for Combating Terrorism, in my view, such authority will undermine the authority of several Cabinet-level officials, most notably the Secretary of Defense, Secretary of State, Attorney General, and the Director of Central Intelligence, as well as the new Secretary of Homeland Security, assuming the Senate and the House act, to carry out their primary responsibilities.

In the case of the Department of Defense, the Secretary of Defense—and I have had the privilege in my 24 years in the Senate of working with a succession of those Secretaries—the Secretary of Defense has a wide-ranging responsibility to protect the vital U.S. interests and to protect against the threats that are ever mounting against our Nation.

The Department, under the leadership of Secretary Rumsfeld, is currently engaged in an all-out global war against terrorism designed to bring to justice those responsible for the September 11 attacks on our Nation and to deter would-be terrorists and those who harbor them from further attacks. The Secretary of Defense must ensure that the Department is adequately and properly funded to carry out its many missions.

Pending before the Congress is the largest increase in defense spending in many years, decades, but it is necessary. Our committee, the authorization committee, together with the Appropriations Committee, will soon bring their respective conference reports to this body for approval, and I anticipate rapid approval by both Houses of Congress.

It would be unwise to subject portions of the budget of these respective Cabinet officers to a veto in many respects.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator's time has expired.

Mr. THOMPSON. Would the Senator like additional time?

Mr. WARNER. I ask for an additional 2 minutes.

Mr. THOMPSON. I yield 2 additional minutes to the Senator from Virginia.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Virginia.

Mr. WARNER. I turn now to title III.

The pending legislation requires the development of a national strategy for combating terrorism and homeland security response. I have been the author, with colleagues on the other side of the aisle, Senator Nunn, who was chairman of our Committee on Armed Services, and Chairman Levin, the current chairman, and urged that these recommendations be enacted and that the Department be brought by the administration to the Congress in a timely manner so we can make our appropriate decisions on the budget.

Time and again, our committees have done that. Frankly speaking, a good response by successive administrations on this subject.

When the President established the Office of Homeland Security, he directed Governor Ridge to develop a comprehensive strategy to protect the United States from attack, which is right here. Therefore, I think it is again redundant for this specific section in title III to be enacted which more or less formalizes, again, the necessity for producing this report which the President has voluntarily done.

I see the distinguished Senator from Connecticut in the Chamber. I commend him for the hard work he has done, and I strongly urge that this body be given the opportunity soon to make its final deliberations and that this important legislation be adopted in whatever form is the will of the Senate.

I congratulate the Senator from Connecticut, as well as the Senator from Tennessee.
unwise to subject the budget carefully prepared by the Secretary of Defense to a "de-certification"—in essence, a veto—by an official who does not have to balance the many competing needs of the Department of Defense and the men and women of the Armed Forces.

I also note that Title III of S. 2452 requires the development of a National Strategy for Combating Terrorism and the Homeland Security Response. When the President established the Office of Homeland Security, he directed Governor Ridge to develop a comprehensive strategy to protect the United States from terrorist attacks. President Bush unveiled his Homeland Security Strategy early this week, precluding the need for legislation anything other than a periodic review and update of this strategy would be burdensome and would divert attention and resources away from the Administration’s focus on homeland defense and the global war on terrorism. As the President stated in releasing the Homeland Security Strategy on July 16, “The U.S. Government has no more important mission than protecting the homeland from future terrorist attacks.”

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Connecticut.

Mr. LIEBERMAN. I am proud of the work of the Governmental Affairs Committee has done. It was a very open process. We included provisions recommended by members of both parties. I think it is a strong proposal. Obviously, there is some disagreement with the White House about parts of it, but we are in agreement on: First, the basic necessity to better organize our homeland defenses, because this disorganization which exists now is dangerous. Second, there is a broad bipartisan need for this bill. We reported out of our committee and the White House about what I have estimated to be 90 percent of the components of the bill. We are having a series of tussles about the remaining 10 percent. The sooner we resolve them, the better. The sooner we get this bill passed and on the way to a conference committee with the House and authorize the administration to set up this new Department, the safer the American people will be.

I appreciate the Senator’s call for expedited action, and I hope and pray that others in the Senate heed that call.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Pennsylvania.

Mr. THOMPSON. I yield 10 minutes to the Senator from Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Pennsylvania.

Mr. SPECTER. Mr. President, I have sought recognition to speak in connection with the National Strategy for Combating Terrorism, which would be a position confirmed by the Senate, because I believe the responsibilities which are enumerated in the bill can be handled by the Secretary for Homeland Security so that it is not necessary to have another position of Director for the National Office for Combating Terrorism.

As the responsibilities are set forth in section 201(c), first to develop national objectives and policies for combating terrorism, that is a core function for the Secretary of Homeland Security. Second, to directly review the development of the National assessment of terrorist threats, again, I believe is something which can be handled by the Secretary of Homeland Security, which is a position to be confirmed.

Another responsibility enumerated in the statute is to coordinate the implementation of the strategy by agencies with responsibilities for combating terrorism, and there again it is my view that that can be handled by the Secretary of Homeland Security.

Another responsibility is to work with agencies, including the Environmental Protection Agency, to address vulnerabilities identified by the Director of National Intelligence under the National Office of Combating terrorism prevention and response agencies, again, that is a matter which can be handled by the Secretary of Homeland Security.

Another responsibility is to coordinate, with the advice of the Secretary, the development of a comprehensive annual budget for the program and activities under the strategy, including the budgets of the military departments and agencies within the national strategy, and do not apply to making the Director for the National Office of Combating Terrorism a confirmed position. The analogy to the National Security Council position now held by Dr. Condoleezza Rice, I think, is inappropriate and does not apply to making the Director for the National Office of Combating Terrorism a confirmed position.

The intent of the drafter of these provisions is correct in seeking to provide the coordination, but to have another officeholder confirmed by the Senate and in the West Wing is not advisable. The National Security Council position now held by Dr. Condoleezza Rice, I think, is inappropriate and does not apply to making the Director for the National Office of Combating Terrorism a confirmed position.

As the other responsibilities are enumerated, to have the exercise, function, and authority for Federal terrorist prevention and response agencies, again, these are matters for the Secretary of Homeland Security.

The intent of the drafters of these provisions is correct in seeking to provide the coordination, but to have another officeholder confirmed by the Senate and in the West Wing is not advisable. The National Security Council position now held by Dr. Condoleezza Rice, I think, is inappropriate and does not apply to making the Director for the National Office of Combating Terrorism a confirmed position.

The intent of the drafters of these provisions is correct in seeking to provide the coordination, but to have another officeholder confirmed by the Senate and in the West Wing is not advisable. The National Security Council position now held by Dr. Condoleezza Rice, I think, is inappropriate and does not apply to making the Director for the National Office of Combating Terrorism a confirmed position.

The intent of the drafters of these provisions is correct in seeking to provide the coordination, but to have another officeholder confirmed by the Senate and in the West Wing is not advisable. The National Security Council position now held by Dr. Condoleezza Rice, I think, is inappropriate and does not apply to making the Director for the National Office of Combating Terrorism a confirmed position.
the wrong standard had been applied, but says they have corrected it with examples. We are waiting to see the specifics.

The impact of this is that there ought to be one umbrella under which the analysis of all of the intelligence agencies occurs. The amendment which has been offered here, the provision of section 201, which the pending amendment seeks to strike, has a laudable purpose. It is seeking that kind of coordination of all of the intelligence agencies to supply his Department with the requisite intelligence data.

As I said in the meeting in the Cabinet Room yesterday, I think that had all of the intelligence information known prior to September 11th been under one umbrella, the terrorist attacks of September 11th might have been prevented.

Senator Thompson, as I understand him, did not disagree with that ultimate approach except to express the view that he thought that changes in the structure of the intelligence community should await further studies. My own strongly held view is that we have a unique opportunity to make these changes in the intelligence community now because of the imminent terrorist threats; and, if we don’t act now, we will be back to business as usual.

As you and I discussed in our meeting of July 29, 2002, there have been many proposals to place the intelligence agencies under one umbrella, including legislation which I introduced in 1996 when I chaired the Intelligence Committee, and the current proposals which have been made by General Scowcroft.

I suggest that Section 132(b) of the bill reported by the Governmental Affairs Committee be modified by adding at the beginning of new paragraph as follow:

(b) Responsibilities.—The Directorate of Intelligence shall be responsible for the following:

(1) On behalf of the Secretary, subject to disapproval by the President, directing the agencies described under subsection (a)(1)(B) to provide intelligence information, analyses of intelligence information and such other intelligence-related information as the Director of Intelligence deems necessary.

The thrust of this language would give the Secretary the authority to coordinate and direct the analyses unless the President disapproves. However, the language to have the President direct the Secretary to have this oversight responsibility is unworkable because you cannot take it to the President to ask for his authority on each occasion. However, if there is strong reason to disallow the Secretary’s authority in a specific case, then it is subject to disapproval of the President. I do not think that is necessary, but in order to avoid ambiguity, the language ought to be included in the statute.

Although I have already put this letter in the Record before, I think it is worth including at this stage of the debate, so I ask unanimous consent that the letter be printed in the Congressional Record.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the Record, as follows:

Sincerely,

ARLEN SPECTER.

Mr. SPECTER. I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. MILER). The Senator from Pennsylvania is recognized.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I thank my colleague from Pennsylvania for his remarks and his support of the Thompson amendment. I thank the Senator from Virginia for the same. I think both of these Senators, without dispute, would be recognized as people who have been students and have been leaders in the areas we are dealing with today. I think their support on this important amendment is crucial.

I was pleased to receive the comments of Senator WARNER as he related his thoughts listening to the President a little while ago before the United Nations. I had the same thoughts. The President made a magnificent speech. In part, it was a legal brief, where he outlined ad seriatim the various instances where Saddam Hussein had rejected the sanctions that had been placed on him by the United Nations, rejected the resolutions that had been passed by the Security Council at that time and then, rejected inspectors, rejected sanctions, basically rendering what the United Nations and the international community as a whole and specifically the Secretary of Defense, what they had done, rendering it a nullity.

I thought it was a very effective walk through history. There was no secret information disclosed. It was a review of what we all should have known. The people who were listening to him today were taken on that walk down memory lane of all the things that have happened since 1990 and the way in which the United Nations have made, the attempts the Security Council have made, all thwarted by this one country, as he continued to oppress his own people, as he continued to either attack or plan attacks for others, as he continued to develop his weapons of mass destruction, as he finally acknowledged, yes, he did have chemical and biological weapons after lying about it for all those years and our inspectors telling us he had a virtual country such as this, last time we went in there. And now he has closed us out and we are wringing our hands over what we know and what we do not know.

This is our position. Internationally, the entire world is, because he has put us in that position, once again, and deprived us of any knowledge of exactly what he is doing, although we know he has the intelligence, he has the scientists, he has the infrastructure, the capability, the know-how, the desire, everything, except possibly enriched uranium with which to make a nuclear weapon. Unfortunately, there is a lot of that in the world. We do not know whether he has it.

Part of it was an effective legal brief. Part of it was inspirational. It was an appeal to the United Nations for it not to become irrelevant in terms of world peace. If the U.N. and the Security Council allow a country such as this, a regime such as this, to thwart the very purpose of the creation of the United Nations, then what authority, what standing, what moral suasion is it going to have in the future when the new horn of dictators hunkers down and takes a little bombing and goes on with his suppression of people and killing of innocents and using weapons of mass destruction on his own people as he prepares for the next attack. I thought it was very effective.

And what is the relationship between Saddam Hussein and terrorism? The President pointed out one of the most damaging circumstances we can contemplate is having a regime such as his with the ability to transfer his capabilities over to terrorists.

We know he has a long history of relationships with various terrorist organizations, organizations such as al-Qaida. Are we to assume he would not ever use as a surrogate someone to do his dirty work? It is extremely relevant to the battle on terrorism. I think those who urge that we totally clean up the battle on terrorism over here, because it is a distinct problem, before we address the situation in Iraq are missing that point.
Which brings us to the bill we are considering today. It is very relevant. It is a homeland security bill. This is where all the chickens come home to roost in regard to our Nation’s security.

What concerns me about this bill is that in more than one instance there is an attempt to diminish the President’s authority. This bill would not give the President the authority that other Presidents have had. Most all of the Members of us today served under President Clinton. It would take away authority President Clinton had with regard to national security. This bill would lessen—give less authority, in terms of the management of this monolithic new Department we are about to create, than the head of the FAA has to manage the FAA.

With regard to the subject matter that is addressed by the Thompson amendment, we would not give the President the right to have his own advisor. The White House has to deal with all these issues. That concerns me. I do not think that is going in the right direction.

We are not going to do anything in this Congress to diminish Congress’s traditional role of setting up our national strategy and having the ability to account for our expenditures. Senator Stevens have made it clear that they are not going to stand back and let the traditional appropriations authority of the Congress be set aside. Senator Lieberman has made that clear. We are going to accomplish what I am sure we will be able to work out something along those lines that does not diminish our authority in any way. We have the power of the purse. We have the power of the purse.

This bill creates many positions, including the new Secretary, that will be Senate confirmed. He will have to come before this body. So we are not diminishing the authority of the Congress. What we are doing is establishing an important Department that we are going to have to approach in a bit of a different way than we have approached other Departments at other times because we have not been very successful with other Departments at other times. This Government is rife with Departments and governmental agencies that have waste and fraud and abuse, sending out checks for billions of dollars to people who are not even alive; losing large pieces of equipment, at least on the amount of dollars and accountabilities that are not in the new Department.

We have had it since July. I don’t know what to call up to the Hill at any time and challenge that we face, and we not restrict the President within his own office in terms of whom he wants to bring in and have confidential conversations with, who cannot be called up to the Hill at any time. I said early on in this discussion before these bills were presented that ultimately it was clear Congress was going to have somebody’s leg to chew on. Congress needed to have somebody who is accountable to come up here and testify. I didn’t particularly welcome this back and forth as to who was going to talk and what office they would talk in and have confidential conversations with, who cannot be called up to the Hill at any time.

So I urge not to do that. I urge we maintain the status quo there; that we not take another step to restrict this new fellow an office down at the other end of the hall or that the President is not going to know that in more than one instance there is a new Secretary, or homeland security, entities that are not in the new Department. Coordination is needed.

We have that coordinated. The President established an Office of Homeland Security. The President established an Office of Combating Terrorism within the NSC. Those are already there. You say we need them Senate confirmed. NSC is not Senate confirmed. We have a Senate-confirmed position we are creating in the new Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security. This bill, as it is drafted now, mandates the development of a national strategy. We have a national strategy. We have had it since July. I don’t know what to call up to the Hill at any time and challenge that we face, and we not restrict the President within his own office in terms of whom he wants to bring in and have confidential conversations with, who cannot be called up to the Hill at any time.

We are pulling 22 of these agencies into a new Department. We cannot approach it the same old way. We have to have a 21st century paradigm in order to address a 21st century problem.

Most of the rules we are operating under now were created in the 1950s when we had a paperwork Government. People came into Government at this position, worked for 20 years, and were promoted in lockstep in these 15 steps, with 10 steps within each of the 15, totally unable to address modern-day problems.

As the GAO tells us we cannot handle the information technology challenge that faces our Government, private industry has been able to. We have been trying to incorporate information technology capability in the IRS for years. It has cost billions of dollars and although the computers will not talk to each other—and they are not the only ones. We have human capital problems. We have financial management problems—year after year.

So that is all the background for considering an amendment such as this, which addresses the bill where it creates a new Office of Combating Terrorism.

We are suggesting the President ought to have a little flexibility, a little traditional flexibility to have, in the White House—not over at the new Department but in the White House—a person he chooses to coordinate not only what is going on in the new Department but in the new homeland security. This is the idea back several months ago. Time has passed by.

The suggestion is made that this new fellow an office down at the other end of the hall or that the President is not going to know that in more than one instance there is a new Secretary, or homeland security, entities that are not in the new Department. Coordination is needed.

We have that coordinated. The President established an Office of Homeland Security. The President established an Office of Combating Terrorism within the NSC. Those are already there. You say we need them Senate confirmed. NSC is not Senate confirmed. We have a Senate-confirmed position we are creating in the new Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security. This bill, as it is drafted now, mandates the development of a national strategy. We have a national strategy. We have had it since July. I don’t know what to call up to the Hill at any time and challenge that we face, and we not restrict the President within his own office in terms of whom he wants to bring in and have confidential conversations with, who cannot be called up to the Hill at any time.

I said early on in this discussion before these bills were presented that ultimately it was clear Congress was going to have somebody’s leg to chew on. Congress needed to have somebody who is accountable to come up here and testify. I didn’t particularly welcome this back and forth as to who was going to talk and what office they would talk in and have confidential conversations with, who cannot be called up to the Hill at any time.

Some say the President has said he is going to keep Governor Ridge. I don’t know what the idea is. This new fellow an office down at the other end of the hall or that the President is not going to know that ultimately somebody was accountable to come up here and testify. I didn’t particularly welcome this back and forth as to who was going to talk and what office they would talk in and what other office they would not talk in. I don’t think that would do any of us any good. I knew that ultimately somebody was going to have to come up and challenge this national security authority that Presidents traditionally have, restrict the new Secretary’s authority to manage the Department, in the new age and time and challenge that we face, and we not restrict the President within his own office in terms of whom he wants to bring in and have confidential conversations with, who cannot be called up to the Hill at any time.

I said early on in this discussion before these bills were presented that ultimately it was clear Congress was going to have somebody’s leg to chew on. Congress needed to have somebody who is accountable to come up here and testify. I didn’t particularly welcome this back and forth as to who was going to talk and what office they would talk in and what other office they would not talk in. I don’t think that would do any of us any good. I knew that ultimately somebody was going to have to come up and challenge this national security authority that Presidents traditionally have, restrict the new Secretary’s authority to manage the Department, in the new age and time and challenge that we face, and we not restrict the President within his own office in terms of whom he wants to bring in and have confidential conversations with, who cannot be called up to the Hill at any time.

The President has said he is going to keep Governor Ridge. I don’t know what the idea is. This new fellow an office down at the other end of the hall or that the President is not going to know that ultimately somebody was accountable to come up here and testify. I didn’t particularly welcome this back and forth as to who was going to talk and what office they would talk in and what other office they would not talk in. I don’t think that would do any of us any good. I knew that ultimately somebody was going to have to come up and challenge this national security authority that Presidents traditionally have, restrict the new Secretary’s authority to manage the Department, in the new age and time and challenge that we face, and we not restrict the President within his own office in terms of whom he wants to bring in and have confidential conversations with, who cannot be called up to the Hill at any time.

The President has said he is going to keep Governor Ridge. I don’t know what the idea is. This new fellow an office down at the other end of the hall or that the President is not going to know that ultimately somebody was accountable to come up here and testify. I didn’t particularly welcome this back and forth as to who was going to talk and what office they would talk in and what other office they would not talk in. I don’t think that would do any of us any good. I knew that ultimately somebody was going to have to come up and challenge this national security authority that Presidents traditionally have, restrict the new Secretary’s authority to manage the Department, in the new age and time and challenge that we face, and we not restrict the President within his own office in terms of whom he wants to bring in and have confidential conversations with, who cannot be called up to the Hill at any time.

The President has said he is going to keep Governor Ridge. I don’t know what the idea is. This new fellow an office down at the other end of the hall or that the President is not going to know that ultimately somebody was accountable to come up here and testify. I didn’t particularly welcome this back and forth as to who was going to talk and what office they would talk in and what other office they would not talk in. I don’t think that would do any of us any good. I knew that ultimately somebody was going to have to come up and challenge this national security authority that Presidents traditionally have, restrict the new Secretary’s authority to manage the Department, in the new age and time and challenge that we face, and we not restrict the President within his own office in terms of whom he wants to bring in and have confidential conversations with, who cannot be called up to the Hill at any time.

The President has said he is going to keep Governor Ridge. I don’t know what the idea is. This new fellow an office down at the other end of the hall or that the President is not going to know that ultimately somebody was accountable to come up here and testify. I didn’t particularly welcome this back and forth as to who was going to talk and what office they would talk in and what other office they would not talk in. I don’t think that would do any of us any good. I knew that ultimately somebody was going to have to come up and challenge this national security authority that Presidents traditionally have, restrict the new Secretary’s authority to manage the Department, in the new age and time and challenge that we face, and we not restrict the President within his own office in terms of whom he wants to bring in and have confidential conversations with, who cannot be called up to the Hill at any time.

The President has said he is going to keep Governor Ridge. I don’t know what the idea is. This new fellow an office down at the other end of the hall or that the President is not going to know that ultimately somebody was accountable to come up here and testify. I didn’t particularly welcome this back and forth as to who was going to talk and what office they would talk in and what other office they would not talk in. I don’t think that would do any of us any good. I knew that ultimately somebody was going to have to come up and challenge this national security authority that Presidents traditionally have, restrict the new Secretary’s authority to manage the Department, in the new age and time and challenge that we face, and we not restrict the President within his own office in terms of whom he wants to bring in and have confidential conversations with, who cannot be called up to the Hill at any time.
ears of the entire world were trained upon him. That is not anything to do with him personally. That is the position of the President of the United States.

In times such as these, if you can comprehend them. They are rare—especially in times of war, especially in times of issues of war and peace—whoever is President of the United States is the leader of the free world and is the leader in espousing those values that we hold dear, knowing as the entire world that we are on the front lines of any enforcement action the world demands necessary for the cause of freedom and democracy.

That is not a hokie sentiment. That is not Democrat-Republican. That is just reality.

I hope as we consider these issues that my colleagues will give balance to the call for a bit of flexibility, at least as much as we have given prior Presidents, and at least as much as we have given the other agencies when facing challenges that are much less than what we are facing today.

I urge my colleagues to vote for the Thompson amendment.

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. President, I stand in strong support of the Craig-Domenici amendment to improve the tragic health of our Nation’s forests.

Years of complete fire suppression has resulted in unnaturally dense forests. In many west where nature would have 50 trees per acre, there are 500 trees per acre, this tremendous build-up in hazardous fuels significantly increases fire danger and makes trees more prone to insect infestations.

The facts are clear: Unnaturally dense forests result in unnaturally hot burning and fast moving fires. The Forest Service and other land management agencies have known the facts for many years but have been hamstrung, in large part due to shifting political winds.

And here is the dilemma: interest groups and agencies argue about what needs to be done while forests go up in flames, endangered species are destroyed, and human life and property are jeopardized.

The amendment that we are proposing does not point the finger at any one group or agency. Rather, this amendment moves beyond the politics and places one of these other agencies, when facing challenges that are much less than what we are facing today.

I urge my colleagues to support this amendment to reduce the threat unhealthy forests pose nationwide.

Mr. LIEBERMAN. I thank the Chair. Mr. President, yesterday, being obviously the first anniversary of the horrific attacks against us on September 11 of last year, we commemorated with very moving—and I thought unifying—purpose at events here in the Capitol in Washington, at the Pentagon, in New York, and Pennsylvania—and really throughout America and so many places around the world that the country will never forget.

I urge my colleagues to vote for the Thompson amendment to the urgency of the challenges we face.

I will state again what I have said on the floor before. I am not one who believes that another September 11 type of attack against America is inevitable. It is not inevitable if we are aggressive in searching out and destroying the remaining al Qaeda terrorists, if we are wise and strong in marshalling the entire nation and the entire world, the entire American and world. We are able to organize our homeland defenses. Of course, that is what this bill is about.

I think the President’s statement, as regards the Department of Homeland Security, that is not only about the United Nations, but it is also about the responsibility of the United Nations to deal with terrorism.

I urge my colleagues to support this amendment to reduce the threat unhealthy forests pose nationwide.

I want to say parenthetically that I thought the speech the President gave at the United Nations today was a powerful and convincing indictment of Saddam Hussein and the grave threat he poses—not just to the United States and to his neighbors in a most critical region of the world, but to the legitimacy and the authority of the United Nations in the world community. A United Nations which Saddam has outrageously and consistently defied and deceived for more than a decade.

I fully support the President’s call to action by the United Nations. I hope the nations of the world will take a look at the record. I think my friend from Tennessee said it was in some sense a lawyerly statement. It really was an indictment of the United Nations that Saddam Hussein has ignored, and he has defied and thumbed his nose at every one of them. How can the United Nations be the institution we want it to be—bringer of peace and resolving conflicts—if one rogue leader of one nation treats its orders and resolutions with such disrespect?

This is a moment of decision for the United Nations. I hope they rise to the challenge that President Bush has quite correctly put before them today.

This does bring us back to where we are on this amendment and Senator Thompson’s motion to strike titles 2 and 3 of this amendment which is before the Senate and which was reported out of the Governmental Affairs Committee. These were authored largely by Senator Graham of Florida, who has spoken on them. They are part of an attempt in this bill to deal not just with homeland security, but to deal with the problem of terrorism that the President spoke about so eloquently and convincingly today at the United Nations.

Homeland security is just one part of the battle against terrorism. We obviously have other parts that are critical. The President’s speech today spoke of the importance of our intelligence community, the State Department, the Treasury, and various foreign aid and public diplomacy programs, and law enforcement agencies, a lot of which will not in any sense come under the purview of the new Department of Homeland Security.

That is why it was the wisdom of the committee—I believe it was certainly the judgment of the committee—that in addition to creating the Department of Homeland Security, we would guarantee the kind of aggressive antiterrorism effort that the country needs now and in the years ahead by creating in the White House an office to combat terrorism, to coordinate not just the Homeland Security Department but the other agencies of our Government that are involved in the fight against terrorism.

It is my understanding that many have spoken in support of Senator Thompson’s amendment to strike these sections. Perhaps some at the White House agree that there will be an office in the White House, but they object to the confirmation requirement in our proposal that the director of that office be confirmed by the Senate. There was also objection to the budget certification authority that we give the director of the office.
Senator GRAHAM is a practical and realistic man on matters of this kind. We know there is concern in the Senate about the requirement of confirmation of the director of this office and the budget certification authority. We are consulting with our colleagues to see if they will support a proposal that would modify these titles by simply removing the Senate's authority to confirm and the budget authority given to the director and leave an office of counterterrorism. This office would be appointed by the President without confirmation by the Senate, but with a guarantee that the broader counterterrorism war that we will be fighting for years will have in the White House, close to the President, an adviser for whom that is his or her only responsibility.

We think this proposal is a way that Congress, respecting the President and his authority—this President and Presidents to follow—can guarantee as much as possible that the law that is in a quieter time further from the pain and shock of September 11, 2001; that America will not fall into a slumber and allow itself to be vulnerable once again as we were a year ago yesterday to terrorism's awful sword.

I report that to my colleagues. I hope members of both parties and our friends at the White House will consider that as a good-faith possibility and see whether we can build a consensus to go forward on it.

I thank the Chair. I yield the floor. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. LIEBERMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. LIEBERMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the time consumed by the quorum calls be taken equally from both sides on the time remaining.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. LIEBERMAN. I thank the Chair and, again, suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I also yield myself 10 minutes on the side of Senator LIEBERMAN in opposition to the Thompson amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, President Bush could not have made a better choice for Director of the White House Office on Homeland Security than Gov. Tom Ridge. We served together in the House of Representatives. We are personal friends. And I hold him in the highest regard. He is clearly the right person for this extremely difficult task and assignment and has done a great job under trying circumstances and in a very brief period of time.

However, I believe we must keep title II in the bill, which establishes a National Office for Combating Terrorism in the White House. The President, after consultation with the Senate, would establish this office and appoint the Director, not as any rebuke to the President or Governor Ridge, but to give Governor Ridge the tools he needs to be even more effective.

I cosponsored Senator GRAHAM's bill S. 1449, to establish this office and supported its inclusion in Senator LIEBERMAN's original bill to establish a Department of Homeland Security, which I also favor.

I refer my colleagues to testimony given by Retired General Barry McCaffrey, before the Governmental Affairs Committee, on October 12 of last year. He spoke about organizing our Government to protect America. Here is what he said:

Our government does best when it establishes institutions for the long haul that are based on rationality, not personality. . . . The terms of this office—how its leadership is appointed, where its monies come from, who appoints it as well as how it is run—these are ingredients that will make the difference between whether or not we succeed in this endeavor.

In the White House, with a Presiding Officer that would be able to coordinate this strategy so that the President who is willing to rip through the bureaucracy and to establish the standards and procedures to make sure that America is safe, unless you have someone at that high level, who has his trust and must put aside turf wars.

Title III, which the Thompson amendment would strike, gives the job of establishing a single strategy to combat terrorism and a comprehensive antiterrorism budget to the National Office for Combating Terrorism.

Having clout in the budget process is essential. President Bush says Cabinet Secretaries know that Governor Ridge has his trust and must put aside turf wars. But what we are setting up here are institutional structures.

Government officials come and go. Not all will have the close personal relationship that Governor Ridge enjoys with President Bush. The President certainly has the right to structure his staff and his advisors as he pleases, but we have the responsibility in Congress to make sure that the new Department is a lasting one.

Let me say this as a parenthetical observation: One of the things I added to this bill—and in which I have particular pride—is an effort to establish some sort of architecture for computers and information technology in this new Department. I could go on for some time about the dismal state of computers at the premier law enforcement agency of the United States, the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It is a fact, if you look at the various agencies, we will count on to protect America, that in terms of computer capability, it is almost as if you were traveling across the world and you picked up the most archaic computer that was available, and asked them to communicate with those that were the most sophisticated.

That is what we have in the Federal Government.

What I tried to do with this bill is to establish a standard for coordinating computer architecture, a Manhattan project. I put it in the Office of Management and Budget, frankly, because I couldn't assign it to a higher level and get it passed by committee. That is a fact. It is a fact where we are trying to establish in this bill is to make sure that within the White House there will be someone always close to the President who is willing to rip through the bureaucracy and to establish the standards and procedures to make sure that America is safe.

I hope my colleagues in the Senate will support the language put in this bill by Senator LIEBERMAN after deliberation in committee and oppose the Thompson amendments.
The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. President, I speak in opposition to the amendment, which would strike titles II and III from this legislation.

These two titles together will provide within the community concerned about securing the homeland, the direction and capacity to develop a comprehensive strategic plan of how to accomplish that very difficult objective, and then to place within the White House an officer who is responsible for the specific function of combating terrorism. The subfunctions of that office will be to coordinate the variety of agencies that will have some responsibility for implementing the strategic plan.

Some have thought that no office such as this is necessary because we are about to bring a whole Department of Homeland Security. We have a Department of Defense, but we also have within the White House a national security council job that is to coordinate national security issues. The reason is because, as broad as the Defense Department is, it does not contain all of the activities of the Federal Government that relate to national security. It does not include the State Department, which has our diplomatic and foreign relations function. It does not include the Department of Treasury, which has some important national security responsibilities as it relates to economic issues. It does not include the Department of Energy, where most of our nuclear development responsibility is placed.

So we have an agency in the White House to bring all those Departments that have some national security function behind a common strategy. This is exactly the purpose of this office within the White House, and that would be deleted if this amendment were to be adopted. There will be no entity that has statutory status that will be responsible, or capable, of trying to bring all of these agencies together. That is the most fundamental reason.

But there is another reason why I think this office is very important. In my judgment, the threats the United States will be facing in our homeland and abroad are likely to escalate over the next period of time. No. 2, it is exactly during this period of time that this new Department of Homeland Security is going to be trying to integrate thousands of agencies that have had their homes elsewhere—in some cases, for a century or more.

It is at this very time that there is likely—I suggest not likely, but there almost certainly will be considerable resistance to achieving the cohesion that is going to be necessary to accomplish this objective. I suggest that it will not be long before we have a debate on the floor about why did a certain misstep occur or why was a gap allowed to go unfilled, as we try to put together a structure to protect our homeland.

I suggest that an answer to those questions must be there was so much support for the status quo and resistance to the sort of change that could not be overcome sufficiently and in time to avoid an unnecessary vulnerability. That is my prediction. I don’t believe there is any suggestion that will give absolute certainty that my prediction will prove to be false. But I believe that having this office within the White House, where there is somebody who wakes up every morning thinking about fighting terrorism, and who is in an office within walking distance of the President of the United States, will give us a greater opportunity to achieve the speedy, expeditious, and effective coordination activities that will be necessary to protect our homeland.

This office has some considerable powers. For instance, it has the power to certify budgets. Why does it have that power? Because I can tell you that there is going to be a tendency of an agency that has been doing all set of functions for a long time, and now they suddenly have a homeland security function, and when that new function is battling inside the agency with all of those that have had a long history and a continuing support base, any new function is not likely to do very well. We learned that lesson in the war against drugs. The very fact that Congress made this a priority didn’t result in it being a priority in the agencies that had their operational responsibility. I suggest the same thing is likely to occur here.

Unless you have somebody to tell that agency that unless you put an additional $15 million into carrying out your portion of the strategic plan of homeland security, we are going to de-certify that part of your budget—that is the kind of clout it is going to take—if we don’t feel that this issue is worthy of giving this office that kind of responsibility, then I am afraid we are going to be co-conspirators in a plot which is going to have a bad conclusion.

So I urge that if, as I anticipate, there will be a motion to table the Thompson amendment, that motion be supported so we can retain this important position within the White House, recognizing that its ultimate power is going to come from the President himself, but it will give the President, who wants to have the most effective homeland security, an agency that the Congress has established and, therefore, has invested our confidence in, which he appoints, and which will have the capability to give us the best hope that we can accomplish our objective of defending the homeland against terror.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Connecticut is recognized.

Mr. LIEBERMAN. Mr. President, very briefly. I thank the Senator from Florida, Mr. GRAHAM, for his hard work on this part of our bill. It is work that really goes back to last fall. I think he is absolutely right. I appreciate his accomodation to the view that there may be Members of the Senate who support the basic idea of an office in the White House to coordinate our antiterrorism efforts in various agencies but are concerned about the power the current language gives the Senate to confirm the nomination to that position. Therefore, we will offer a motion to table at the time the vote on Senator THOMPSON’s motion to strike comes up, with the intention of offering a second-degree amendment to give Members the opportunity to vote on the concept of an office of counterterrorism in the White House, to coordinate our antiterrorism efforts, without the necessity for Senate confirmation, which the President, we know, opposes.

I yield the floor.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I am pleased to yield back the remainder of our time. It is imperative that we have a vote in 2 minutes. The Senator from Utah wanted a moment. From looking at the clock, we have 2 minutes until 2 o’clock; is that right?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator is correct.

Mr. THOMPSON. How much time does each side have remaining?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Tennessee has 2 minutes. The Senator from Connecticut has 28 seconds.

Mr. THOMPSON. The Senator from Connecticut has how much?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. He has 28 seconds.

The Senator from Utah is recognized.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I strongly support Senator THOMPSON’s amendment to strike the portions of Senator LIEBERMAN’s substitute amendment that would create a National Office for Combating Terrorism in the White House. Senator LIEBERMAN’s substitute would create this Office in the White House in addition to creating the Department of Homeland Security. I initially questioned the wisdom of creating two separate offices with identical goals and overlapping jurisdiction, when the entire point of creating a single Department of Homeland Security is to oversee and coordinate the efforts of many different agencies in this immensely important area. But I have another, more pressing concern: encouraging good decision-making.

Senator LIEBERMAN’s bill would make the heads of both the National Office for Combating Terrorism and the Secretary of Homeland Security subject to confirmation by the Senate and congressional oversight hearings. So far as the office in the White House is concerned, I disagree with such an
The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk called the roll.

Mr. REID. I announce that the Senator from Hawaii (Mr. AKAKA) and the Senator from New Jersey (Mr. TORRICELLI) are necessarily absent.

Mr. NICKLES. I announce that the Senator from Alabama (Mr. SHELBY) and the Senator from New Hampshire (Mr. SMITH) are necessarily absent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mrs. CLINTON). Are there any other Senators in the Chamber desiring to vote?

The result was announced—yeas 41, nays 55, as follows:

YEAS—41

Baucus
Biden
Boxer
Byrd
Carnahan
Carper
Cleland
Conrad
Corzine
Daschle
Dayton
Dodd
Dorgan
Durbin
Edwards
Feingold
Graham
Holliings
Inouye
Johnson
Kennedy
Kerry
Kohl
Landrieu
Leahy
Levin
Lieberman
Lincoln
Mikulski
Murray
Nelson (FL)
Reed
Reid
Rockefeller
Santarsiero
Schumer
Stabenow
Wells
Wyden

NAYS—55

Allen
Bayh
Bennett
Bond
Brownback
Bunning
Burns
Byrd
Chafee
Chrorhan
Collins
Cran
Crapo
DeWine
Domenici
Ensign
Enzi
Ensyn
Ewart Fitzgerald
First Gramm
Grassley
Gregg
Hagel
Harkin
Helms
Inhofe
Inouye
Jeffords
Johnson
Kennedy
Kerry
Kohl
Landrieu
Leahy
Levin
McConnell
Miller
Murkowski
Nelson (NE)
Nixon
Roberts
Santorum Sessions
Shelby
Smith (OR)
Snowe
Specter
Stevens
Thomas
Thompson
Thurmond
Voinovich
Warner

Motion to reconsider the vote—4

The motion was rejected.

Mr. LOTT. Madam President, I move to reconsider the vote.

Mr. GRAMM. I move to lay that motion on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

VOTE ON AMENDMENT NO. 453

Mr. REID. I announce that the Senator from Hawaii (Mr. AKAKA) and the Senator from New Jersey (Mr. TORRICELLI) are necessarily absent.

Mr. NICKLES. I announce that the Senator from New Hampshire (Mr. SMITH) is necessarily absent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any other Senators in the Chamber desiring to vote?

The result was announced—yeas 48, nays 49, as follows:

YEAS—48

Baucus
Bayh
Biden
Boxer
Breaux
Campbell
Cantwell
Chambliss
Conrad
Corzine
Daschle
Dayton
Dodd
Dorgan
Durbin
Edwards
Feingold
Feinstein
Graham
Holliings
Inouye
Johnson
Kennedy
Kerry
Kohl
Landrieu
Leahy
Levin
Lieberman
Lincoln
Mikulski
Murray
Nelson (FL)
Reed
Reid
Rockefeller
Santarsiero
Schumer
Stabenow
Wells
Wyden

NAYS—49

Allard
Allen
Bennett
Bond
Brownback
Bunning
Burns
Byrd
Chafee
Chrorhan
Collins
Cran
Crapo
DeWine
Domenici
Ensign
Enzi

Motion to reconsider the vote—3

The motion was rejected.

Mr. THOMPSON. I move to reconsider the vote.

Mr. LIEBERMAN. I move to lay that motion on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Connecticut.

ORDER OF PROCEDURE

Mr. LIEBERMAN. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate go into morning business for up to 10 minutes, allocated to the Senator from Vermont for the purpose of introducing legislation, and that when the Senator is done, I be recognized for the purpose of offering an amendment to the pending matter.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from Vermont.

(The remarks of Mr. JEFFORDS and Mrs. CLINTON pertaining to the introduction of S. 2928 are printed in today’s RECORD under “Statements on Introduced Bills and Joint Resolutions.”)

Mr. LIEBERMAN. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senator from North Carolina be recognized to speak for up to 10 minutes in morning business, and that immediately after his remarks, the Senator from Connecticut be recognized for the purpose of offering an amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. NELSON of Nebraska). Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from North Carolina.

(The remarks of Mr. EDWARDS are printed in today’s RECORD under “Morning Business.”)
The PRESIDING OFFICER. Who yields time?

The Senator from Connecticut.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment is adopted.

Mr. LIEBERMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that further reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment is printed in today’s Record under “Text of Amendments.”

Mr. LIEBERMAN. Mr. President, I yield now to the Senator from Florida, my cosponsor on this amendment.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. President, earlier today and, to a greater extent, at the end of last week, we had a debate on the issue of the establishment within the White House of an office to combat terrorism.

The rationale for that office is several-fold. One, not all of the agencies that will have responsibility for protecting the homeland against terrorism are in the Department of Homeland Security. There are a number of important functions—all of the intelligence agencies, the Department of Defense, the Department of Justice, to mention three, which clearly have a significant role in protecting the homeland—which are not within the Department of Homeland Security. So that creates the need for someone who is in a position of responsibility to coordinate their activities in order to achieve a cohesive, comprehensive plan to protect the people of the United States.

That also raises a second necessity, which is that there be a consistent strategic plan of action around which all of those agencies will organize their antiterrorism activities. That is title III of the legislation that has been introduced by our colleague from Connecticut. Mr. LIEBERMAN. I think that there should be such a comprehensive strategic vision of how we are going to protect this very open and free society of America against terrorist attacks.

A third reason why I think this office is important is because we know the resistance that is going to occur to the changes that we are now suggesting. We are asking agencies which, in some cases, are a hundred years or more old to change those old habits, to reprioritize, to put at the top of their list the protection of the homeland against terrorists. There will be, both within the agencies and among the agencies, some conflicts, inevitably. We need someone who has the voice, who has the ear, who has the appointment of the President of the United States to be able to moderate and resolve those conflicts, and to do so in a clear and expeditious manner so we do not exacerbate and further the vulnerability of the American people while agencies are engaged in bureaucratic catfights.

A final reason why I think this is important is that we need someone to perform a function that, frankly, has not been adequately performed in the last decade, vis-a-vis our intelligence agencies. That function is to constantly challenge the agencies that have homeland security responsibility as to their relevance.

There is a tendency for an agency that has been doing its business in a particular manner for a long time to be resistant to taking on new habits—maybe it is the governmental equivalent that it is hard to teach old dogs new tricks, that it is hard to teach old bureaucracies new activity. I use the intelligence community as an example of that truth. They grew up, beginning with the establishment in 1947, as agencies which had as their role of being to develop and analyze information. As the Soviet Union and its Warsaw Pact allies.

It has been largely since the end of the cold war that the intelligence community has broadened its focus on the rest of the world, where the United States has important interests that it wishes to know more about and to have a greater analytical capability to decide what we ought to do about it. The intelligence community, in my judgment, was slow to make that transition. Part of the reason is that they were not produced adequately. They were not asked with sufficient frequency and aggressiveness: Are you relevant to the kinds of challenges that you face today?

I believe that is part of the responsibility of Congress, part of our oversight. It also will be a responsibility of this new office within the office of the President to be asking these agencies that have homeland security responsibilities: Are you relevant to the kinds of challenges that we have facing our Nation today? So those are the essential rationales.

Now, the concern that was expressed last week was not that we were going to have another “281,” that point, the Senator from Tennessee and I, thought, had a common agreement that there was the need for an entity in the White House that could perform those functions. The question, then, became calibrating just how much influence and power should that Department have.

I personally was, and continue to be, an advocate for a strong, very robust office of counterterrorism in the White House because I think the challenges of inertia and resistance to change are going to be significant, and there will have to be an effective, even more assertive force in the other direction to get the kinds of changes the American people expect our Federal Government to make in order to give the priority that we expect to protect the homeland against terrorists.

But it is clear from the vote that we have just taken that the majority of the Members of the Senate feel that goes a little too far. So what Senator LIEBERMAN and I have been doing over the past several days is trying to think through what could be essentially justified from this legislation and it relates to the office within the White House that would still maintain the essential credibility of the office to perform its function but would make it acceptable to a majority of our colleagues.

The two issues that we have identified for such discharge are, first, the provision that the Presidential appointee to the office of antiterrorism be subject to Senate confirmation, and, second, the provision that gave this office the capacity to decertify budgets of the agencies which had some homeland security responsibility if it were determined that they were not allocating sufficient funds to that function within the agency, which creates that part of the comprehensive plan to fight terrorism in the homeland.

I offered this amendment with my colleague, Senator LIEBERMAN, with anguish because those two levels of accountability and capability are important to assure us that we can achieve what we must achieve in defending the homeland. But it is clear that we are, in order to be able to save the larger concept of such an office in the White House, which now will be almost a parallel to the office that is held by Dr. Condoleezza Rice, as the National Security Adviser—that office is a statutory office, appointed by the President, created by Congress, but not subject to confirmation. That office is not subject to Senate confirmation. It will be an office created by statute by the Congress, so it will have the legitimacy of law. The head of the office will be appointed by the President and not subject to Senate confirmation. That is the model we will have if this amendment is adopted.

What happens if we do not adopt this amendment and then proceed to adopt the Thompson amendment which will delete both title II and title III? There is no question that the congressional objective that it is important to have an agency to coordinate the multiple Departments of the Federal Government with homeland security responsibility. In fact, it could be interpreted as a congressional statement that we affirmatively do not want there to be a place in the Federal Government that can bring these Departments together; that, for some reason, the experience we learned since 1947 as to the importance of a National Security Adviser who can perform that function for national security is not relevant to the kind of challenges we are now going to face in terms of domestic security.
Second, with the elimination of title III, we will have no congressional directive to establish a strategic plan for homeland security and to have the strength of Congress in support of that plan. I think it is worth giving up the confirmation and the budget certification if we retain the fundamental principles of the importance of an agency that can achieve collaboration, can organize behind a strategic plan, will have the strength that comes from congressional creation and Presidential legitimation, and will be able to move us as rapidly as possible into the best posture to defend our homeland and be a constant product to see that these agencies are cognizant of the changes that will inevitably be occurring in the environmental threat in which they will be operating and that they are prepared to constantly be re-inventing themselves, adapting themselves to effectively respond to the challenges that will be different 10 years from now than they are today, and the different 30 years from now than they are today.

I urge the adoption of this amendment which I consider a compromise offered in good faith that meets the primary concerns that were expressed in this Chamber last week and again today but allows us to move forward with a totality of national policies, including Department of Homeland Security, the responsibilities that will continue to be vested in other agencies outside of the Department of Homeland Security, and an entity within the White House with the ear and the confidence of the President capable of seeing that the whole of these work together in a cohesive team for the defense and protection of the people of America.

I urge the adoption of this amendment and then the defeat of the underlying amendment.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from West Virginia is recognized.

Mr. LEAHY. I thank the Chair.

The remarks of Mr. LEAHY pertaining to the introduction of S. 2928 are printed in today's Record under "Statements on Introduced Bills and Joint Resolutions."

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I thank the distinguished leaders for allowing me this time. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. LIEBERMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. LIEBERMAN. Mr. President, I thank my friend and colleague from Florida, Mr. Graham, for not only his eloquent statement and his spirit of accommodation that leads him to offer this second-degree amendment, but also for the work he has put into this idea.

It is an excellent idea—I have said this before and I will say it again briefly—the pending amendment, which is to say the underlying amendment that came out of the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, is our best effort to respond to the events of September 11 and to protect the American people from anything like that ever happening again. That is done, first, with the creation of a Department of Homeland Security, and second, with, in the White House, a National Office for Combating Terrorism—one focused on homeland defenses and the other serving as an adviser to the President, coordinating all our antiterrorism activities and insures that beyond homeland security to defense, law enforcement, foreign policy, foreign aid, economic policy, et cetera.

Senator GRAHAM has worked hard on this issue, and I think presented a very good proposal. It was, as the last vote indicates, not the will of the Senate to accept it in its current form. Many of our colleagues indicated to Senator GRAHAM and me that they might be able to support it if there were no Senate confirmation. Senator GRAHAM has agreed by this amendment to remove that requirement.

What would be left then would be quite similar to what the National Security Adviser has been doing for some period of time since that statute was created, a statute which coordinates advice to the President in a particular subject area. In this case, that subject area is terrorism, which according to most experts outside and inside the Congress, will likely be the dominant threat to our security in the next period of our history.

So the best proposal, which we had hoped would be accepted, would be to provide for Senate confirmation. The Senate has expressed its will there, and I think Senator GRAHAM has now offered the next best idea. I am privileged to be a cosponsor of this amendment which is in some cases much better, particularly because of the other section of this legislation which does create a Secretary of Homeland Security who, of course, is subject to Senate confirmation and is accountable to the Senate. So the concerns I had, the Senator had, and so many others had about the previous Office of Homeland Security being occupied by an individual not subject to Senate confirmation, and therefore not accountable to the Congress, has now been overcome with the creation of the Department of Homeland Security; that no matter what its shape, which I think we all agree will be created by the end of this session, now allows a step forward, not as large as the committee proposal would have taken but nonetheless a significant step forward in creating the office and thereby giving this President and future Presidents one individual who responds to the terrible events of September 11 and whose direct function is to coordinate the entire antiterrorism effort of the United States of America.

I support the amendment before the Senate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from West Virginia.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I am sorry I have not been in a position to be following the debate. Without losing my right to the floor, Mr. President, what is the parliamentary situation?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The pending question is on the Lieberman second-degree amendment to the Thompson first-degree amendment.

Mr. BYRD. When was this second-degree amendment introduced?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Within the last 15 minutes.

Mr. BYRD. I have not had an opportunity to study this amendment. I did hear, though, the distinguished manager of the bill say something to the effect that this amendment would eliminate many colleagues, particularly on the confirmation of the—is it the Director of Homeland Security?

I ask that I retain the right to the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. LIEBERMAN. Responding to the Senator from West Virginia, this amendment, which is suggested by Senator GRAHAM, who was the originator and implementer of the idea of a separate White House office on antiterrorism, would leave the Secretary of Homeland Security unchanged.

The Secretary would be nominated by the President and confirmed by and accountable to the Senate, and the new office on antiterrorism that would be created in the White House in our original proposal was subject to Senate confirmation, as well. We heard from many colleagues, particularly on our side of the aisle, who thought that since we were creating a Department of Homeland Security with a confirmable Secretary, it was a mistake to require confirmation of an office in the White House, and Senator GRAHAM responded to that and, as a result, offered this second-degree amendment to create the Director, who would be appointed by the President, without confirmation by the Senate.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I thank the distinguished manager of the bill. I strongly disagree with those who believe the Director within the White House need not be confirmed. I am very opposed to that idea. I am ready to go along some length on this. Do I have the floor?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from West Virginia has the floor.

Mr. BYRD. Very well. While I am speaking, I hope my staff will bring some of the materials I have prepared to use. I am not going to go along with an immediate vote on this, I can tell Senators that, I am sorry I had to get to the floor ahead of Mr. Thompson—I saw him standing—I was consoled. I will yield to the Senator if he has an amendment to beat this amendment, but I am not yielding the floor now.
Mr. THOMPSON. And I would not try to take it, even if I thought I could.

I respond to my friend from West Virginia by saying, I was simply going to address the issue very briefly and ask for the yeas and nays, frankly, on the second amendment.

I might add, I think the Senator is correct in the way he described it, but we had three basic concerns. One had to do with the Senate confirmation. The other one had to do with the fact that it put this person in a position of being a statutory strategy maker, when we already have a national strategy.

I have no objection to reporting to Congress periodically, but being in on the front end of that, I think that horse has already left the barn.

Mr. BYRD. When?

Mr. THOMPSON. In July.

Mr. BYRD. How?

Mr. THOMPSON. When the President presented the strategy.

Thirdly, the new Director is still a pretty big player as far as budget authority is concerned.

Mr. BYRD. Yes.

Mr. THOMPSON. Those were three things I was concerned about, and now it is down to two. I was going to make those points, move to table, and ask for the yeas and nays. That was my intention.

Mr. BYRD. I thank the Senator.

Mr. President, I have been saying to my Senate colleagues that we had better take some time and look at what we are doing. What was about to happen, in my judgment, would have borne out my concerns and my warnings. An amendment has been offered by the distinguished manager of the bill. He certainly has far more expertise with respect to this bill than I have. He has spent days, nights, and weeks, I would say, on it. So in taking the floor at this time, as far as I am concerned, it is a labor of love I am not on the committee, but this is a good example. Senators—at least one Senator—did not know what we were doing. An amendment was called up, I understand, 15 minutes ago. I do not think I have inaccurately stated what Senator Thompson had indicated with reference to when this amendment was called up. We will say within the last half hour. I suppose that is accurate.

The amendment comes from my side of the Senate, as I understand it, that would eliminate the requisite confirmation by the Senate of the Homeland Security Director, the individual who is in the White House, occupying a place which is now occupied by Mr. Ridge. It would seem to me we ought to require confirmation of that person.

I heard Mr. LIEBERMAN say that it is somewhat similar to the National Security Council. Well, it does not require confirmation. We have a State Department, Secretary of State and the Secretary of Defense we can call up at any time and find out what we want to know with respect to defense and international security matters. I make the same argument with respect to Condoleezza Rice back in the days when Senator STEVENS and I were trying hard to get the President to send Mr. Ridge before the Senate Appropriations Committee to answer questions with respect to the appropriations budget. There were those who said Dr. Rice does not have to come before the Congress and answer questions, and I said we can get the Secretary of Defense or Secretary of State. That is quite true.

However, Mr. President, the Homeland Security Department is going to be in a far different position than Dr. Rice is in. The Director of Homeland Security will be the person who knows what is going on with respect to homeland security. That person's powers will be far broader in many ways than Dr. Rice and her powers.

The first Secretary of State was appointed in the very early days of the Republic. Then there was the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Treasury. We have something before the Senate that is new, a situation that has never prevailed in this country, where it is attacked from within by terrorists and where the President has used an Executive order to create a homeland security agency. I don't think much of this Executive order, as a matter of fact. I am afraid we are seeing too many of them, too often. The position of Secretary was now held by a number of different persons. This is not just a little clerk down there in the bowels of the White House working. This is not just an ordinary adviser. This is a new type of war. This is a new type of agency, a new kind of department.

Yes, we need it. I have been in favor of creating a Department of Homeland Security. But having read the administration's proposal with respect to the new department, and having read the House bill, H.R. 5005, in regard to the creation of the Department, I have been more and more constrained to believe that we have a new "animal" in this Department of Homeland Security. It is not like the Department of Interior or the Department of Transportation. It is not like most of the Departments that have been with this Government for a long time, several of which have been created while I have been in Congress.

This is an entirely different breed of Department. This is a Department that is going to encompass many issues that are of interest to several of the Departments, the Secretaries of which were not even aware of when the President announced his intention to create a homeland security agency, and an agency answerable to him. Many of the Secretaries who are in the Department of the Treasury that were involved were not aware of this until the day the President announced it, I am told, or at least I read that in the newspaper. So this is a new animal.

And now the Senate bill, the House bill, they would get a reflection of the administration's wishes with respect to the Department of Homeland Security—not entirely. I believe the House bill is in some respects better than the administration's proposal, but the bill by Mr. LIEBERMAN's committee, as reported out of his committee, is better than the House bill.

However, we have had too much of this lately: An administration that wants a program run out of the White House and operates in secret does not want this position confirmed. Let me restate that. The administration does not want the Director to be confirmable by the Senate. That alone makes me very suspicious. We have an administration that is used to doing everything in secret, wants to operate even further in secret, wants to be more secretive.

It was very secretive about the so-called shadow government. I didn't know anything about it until I read about it in the newspaper until I read about it in the newspaper. The administration tried to claim that I had been told what that was. The administration was wrong 100 percent. I had never been told. Of course, after this appeared in the newspapers, the administration was willing to try to come up and explain what it is about. And we have seen this whole Executive order with respect to a Department of Homeland Security, to which that suddenly emerged from the dark mists of secrecy, we have seen the same path.

We have an administration that looks upon the Congress of the United States as a subordinate body. I am sure some of the administration officials look upon Congress with utter contempt. They don't want Congress in this position. The Senate, of course, is one-half of the Congress, being one of two branches. I don't want that. And I am not going to knuckle under to what they want. This Senate, which has suddenly emerged from the dark mists of secrecy, we have seen the same path.

We have an administration that looks upon Congress with utter contempt. They don't want Congress in this position. The Senate, of course, is one-half of the Congress, being one of two branches. I don't want that. And I am not going to knuckle under to what they want. This Senate, which has suddenly emerged from the dark mists of secrecy, we have seen the same path.

I may be overridden. The Senate, I said myself, is more than the 100 hearts, and the Senate will eventually work its will on this, I suppose. But it is not going to do so in the next 15 minutes. This is a position that ought to be confirmed. It doesn't make any difference what President Bush wants or what he doesn't want. The Congress is autonomous.

This Congress is unlike, perhaps, the State Legislature of West Virginia. The State Legislature of West Virginia may feel it has to go along with its Gov- or Republican? If former President ernor. I have been in the State Legis- Clinton were in the White House today, lature of West Virginia. I know a little I would take the very same position. It about how legislatures work and how is not because we have a Republican in is the state. Generally they are very Governor. I have been in the State Legis- the White House. It is because we have lature of West Virginia. I know a little an administration that is intent on being a about how legislatures work and how secret, has only a sneer, as it were, these Governors operate at the State level. officers, using that word. We are tied down by rules. They generally are very concerned about the Senate constitution, what it allow is the respect to the history learned so on, the State budgets. I have seen othersome other Governors come to Wash- them. I was here when the government of ington as President and they think Texas or Georgia. Well, things here are not done that, well, they did it this way in that they are done at the State level in the government of Georgia or they did it West Virginia.

Why should we bend to the administra- tion’s opposition to this point? Why shouldn’t this individual be confirmed? It is not enough to say: Well, the Na- tional Security Adviser doesn’t require confirmation.

It is not enough to say that. That does not win the jury; I would hope, in regard to a Homeland Security Direc- tor. Just because Dr. Rice isn’t re- quired to be confirmed is no good rea- son why the Director of Homeland Secu- rity—be it Mr. Ridge, eventually, or John Negroponte—there is no good argument as to why that person should not be confirmed.

Are we going to sheath our sword and leave the field on that flimsy argu- ment: Well, Dr. Rice is not confirmed so I see no harm in not having the Di- rector of Homeland Security confirmed.

It is an entirely different argument. It is as different as day and night. That is no argument. Why should I say I take my seat now and let this vote occur in the next 15 minutes—or the next 30? That is no argument. Who is here to hear the argument? There may be a good many Senators in their offices listening to it. That is how I kind of came about it.

I am prepared to speak for several hours, if I can get the materials I want that I have gone over during the recess. I don’t know how other Senators spent their time. I am sure they were very busy during the recess, but I spent most of the time during the recess studying the House bill and the Lieberman substitute. I had objected, as Senators will recall, to going to the bill before the recess. I had objected to taking up any substitute before the re- cess, but I think it was a matter worth of considerable time and debate.

I was here when we created the De- partment of Energy. I was here when we created the Department—today they call it Health and Welfare or something like that. Abe Ribicoff was the Secretary of that Department. He later came here as a U.S. Senator. I was here when the Department of Vet- erans Affairs was created. Thank God I am here now when we are discussing the changes in the Department. This is a far different kettle of fish.

Why should this Senate kowtow to any President, whether it be Democrat

I would like to have the Senator’s re- sponse. He is entitled to respond. I ask unanimous consent that I may retain the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. LIEBERMAN. Mr. President, re- siding to the Senator from West Vir- ginia, if need to say that I wouldn’t de- scribe it as running up a white flag. Senator Graham, who has constructed this section of the bill which I have suggested, felt in the exercise of prac- ticality but also because he feels so strongly about the importance of at least putting in law a requirement— again, exercising the power of Con- gress. There are some in the Chamber who believe Congress should never tell the President what to do about any- thing, and if the President wants to create an adviser on counterterrorism he should have the right to do that or not do that.

Mr. BYRD. Yes. There are monar- chists—not anarchists—in the Con- gress, I will admit.

Mr. LIEBERMAN. That is a word I would embrace. That is quite right. Our Framers did not create a mon- archy; they created a Republic with a President with substantial powers—ac- countable to the Congress with sub- stantial powers—and to the people we are all ultimately accountable. The Senator from West Virginia is not just a Senator but “the Senator.” He has been here over some years here. He knows, as we have all experienced these days, that sometimes we come to a moment where we can’t quite achieve—Senator Graham is at an Intelligence Committee meeting, so I am taking the liberty of speaking for him—the ideal that we aspire to be- cause the votes have been counted and we don’t have the votes. That was the clear message from the vote.

It was important, nonetheless, to take a significant step forward and cre- ate the office, with a law to guarantee that there would be somebody in the White House whose sole responsibility is to coordinate our government-wide antiterrorism program. I must say that I am quite personal about this issue.

I said to the Senator from Florida when we talked about introducing the second-degree amendment that we may not have the votes for this, either. I understand the Senator from West Vir- ginia has a different view on what has been done. But Senator Graham feels so strongly about the impor- tance of at least creating the office, even if we can’t achieve the ideal of Senate confirmation, that he wanted to offer this amendment notwithstanding the possibility that the White House is not negotiating very much at this point. They are just wanting it their way or no way. But he wanted to give this option to the various Members of the Senate, particularly on this side of the aisle, to say, well, Mr. Senator LIEBERMAN, I like your idea but I don’t like the idea of Senate con- firmation.
That is the purpose of this amendment. I know how strongly the Senator from West Virginia feels about the prerogatives of the Senate. I agree with him in this case. It is just that we haven’t been able to achieve what we wanted here. So I appreciate that we did achieve a good part of it.

I thank the Senator for giving me the opportunity to respond. It is not my nature to settle for less than the ideal, but, as the Senator knows, sometimes in our democratic system we have to do it anyway to make progress.

I thank the Senator.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I thank my dear friend, the distinguished junior Senator from Connecticut, and the standard bearer for the Democratic Party in the last election, and a man whom I greatly respect for other reasons. He and I have many kindred feelings when it comes to the discussion of religion. I admire him for many, many things in that regard. If we wanted to get into a cosmological discussion, I can understand that. I know how strongly the Senator of West Virginia. I can understand that. I sometimes try to remember that I have had experiences as Governor of some kind.

I understand Senator GRAHAM. He is a former Governor. There is nothing wrong with being a former Governor. But you cannot have a way of looking at things a little differently than those lowly peons like myself who served in the House of Delegates and the State Senate of West Virginia. I can understand how a Governor sees things—even at the Federal level—because sometimes they see things through the lens of their experiences as Governor dealing with State matters and State constitutions. I can understand that. I wish I had been a Governor of the State of West Virginia at some point. I would like to have that kind of experience.

But I cannot yield without more than just a clash of sword against a shield, even to Senator GRAHAM. I have great respect for him, but he is wrong in this instance. When he gets to the floor, I will tell him I said that. I say that out of respect for him. We can all disagree. I sometimes try to remember that I can be wrong, and often am. But this is wrong.

I would be happy to debate this with Senator GRAHAM until the cows come home, if he wishes. He feels strongly, as Senator LIEBERMAN says. I take that exactly the way Senator LIEBERMAN says it. Senator GRAHAM feels strongly. Well, so do I.

I am going to see that there is some debate on this matter before we vote on it. I am not as young as I once was. I once spoke 14 hours—or something like 14 hours—on this floor. I once sat in that chair for 22 hours. I sat in the chair 22 hours, and I would still have been here. And I told the Vice President, not come to the Senate Chamber. He naturally had the right to the gavel. I had been a Senator a while, but I had not been a Senator a long time. But I knew who the President of the Senate was.

Incidently, the President of the Senate can’t address the Senate without unanimous consent of the Senate. That is my objection. The other day in New York. I saw what was going on on television. I saw that he spoke at that meeting in New York when the two Houses convened up there. Of course, when they first convened the Old Adams was Vice President, and he talked at length. He was quite a gregarious person in that respect, somewhat unlike the current Vice President. He is not gregarious, and neither am I, for that matter. But the Vice President doesn’t speak these days—I have an audience of one here, but even one individual is of great importance. So I want my friend from Connecticut to hear what I had to say here, not that it will be read even as a footnote.

But at some time, the Vice President cannot address the Senate except by unanimous consent of the Senate. At the time of the beginning of the Republic, the Vice President was John Adams. And he was one who would speak at a drop of a hat. He spoke quite at length.

That is a little bit besides the point here, but I just have to say that I cannot—I suppose the Senator will win over my objection because not many people here seem to be paying much attention to what is being said at the moment. I think they take for granted it is a bill like other bills that come here that have come through the committee, and: “I am going to vote with my party,” or “I am going to vote against the party,” or whatever.

But I have been trying to get their attention. And if it had not been for my objections, this bill would have probably been passed already. But Senator STEVENS and I thought we had it in our control or whatever.

On the business of having the Director of Homeland Security confirmed, Senator STEVENS and I had our experience—and it was not a very happy experience—with this administration when it came to the hearings that both Senator STEVENS and I thought we ought to have on appropriations. That was the supplemental appropriations bill, and I believe we were in the very early part of this year. And at that point the memories of September 11 of last year were almost as vivid—in January and February of this year—as they were the day after the event.

But Senator STEVENS and I joined in asking Governor Ridge to come up before our Appropriations Committee and testify on the budget for homeland security. Oh, he didn’t want to come up. He was just a staff person at the White House. I believe I was the President, Mr. Bush, on television, on one occasion, saying: He doesn’t have to go up there. He doesn’t have to go. He’s a staff person.

And so I said, at the time, probably in a low voice: Well, technically speaking, the President has a point. The person, Mr. Ridge, is on the President’s staff.

So far so good. But Mr. Ridge is far different from the ordinary staff person. He is so far different from the ordinary adviser to the President. The President has lots of advisers. He has the Secretaries of all the Cabinets. They are his advisers. And a confirmed Democrat of the Old School. Security can still be an adviser to the President. He still would be, and he certainly would carry more weight than he carries as an adviser incognito.

Those are my words.

But keep in mind that this so-called staff person, this person on the President’s staff, is running all over the country speaking to chambers of commerce, going down to Mexico and meeting with the authorities there, going up to Canada, meeting with those authorities there. Ordinary staff people do not do that. This is more than just an ordinary staff person. This is more than just an ordinary adviser to the President.

And he was quite willing to come up and “brief” Members of Congress. Well, that doesn’t fill the bill as far as I am concerned. I am chairman of the Appropriations Committee. I don’t know how long I will be chairman, but as long as I am chairman of the Appropriations Committee, that doesn’t fill the bill.

We have brieﬁngs, if we want them. But when we want to spread the Record for the American people to see, and for the American people to hear what is said by witnesses and by Senators who are asking questions, it should be done in formal hearings—hearings, not brieﬁngs behind closed doors.

I think there was some offer, even, to have a brieﬁng with the doors open, but that still does not—still does not—meet the bill. Here is a committee of the Congress, the Appropriations Committee created in Lee’s work, doing its duty, as we have always done it. When we have had Republican chairmen of the committee and when we have had Democratic chairmen of the committee, the committee has always had hearings. And they have been public hearings.

If we want closed hearings, we can vote to have a closed hearing. And then we might vote to have the Record closed up a little bit as the Republic. But ordinarily when we are hearing testimony on the budget, the Federal budget—the people’s money, and the way the taxpayers’ money is to be spent—the taxpayers are entitled to hear what the administration person says.

What was it that had to be secret? There was nothing. There was nothing about the testimony that he would give on these budget matters, on the appropriations for the next year—nothing—that it needed to be secret.

If we had had brieﬁngs, they would not have been kept secret. Ten minutes
September 12, 2002

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—SENATE

S8541

later, those who would be in the briefings would go out and tell what was said because it was not classified. That was a sham. That was a charade on the part of the administration to try to make it appear that the administration was trying to be reasonable. Yes, they would have a briefing with Mr. Ridge. Everybody on the Appropriations Committee. Why? What is that? Why do you have have him up and brief Members of Congress? Why is that laughable?

When I came to this Congress, John Taber was chairman of the Appropriations Committee. John Taber has agreed to have an administration person in the position of Homeland Security come before the Appropriations Committee. Would John Taber have agreed to have an administration person in the position of Homeland Security come before the Appropriations Committee—would John Taber have agreed to have the administration witness come up and just give the Appropriations Committee a briefing? Heavens, no.

And so I feel the same way about it. Why would the Appropriations Committee of the Senate, after 135 years—after 135 years—through all administrations, Republican and Democrat—settle for having a briefing, letting the administration’s point man on homeland security come up and have an administration briefing? Why, the American people are entitled to more than that. The American people are entitled to more than that. That is trivializing the appropriations process. No, I would not agree to that.

That is what we are about to do here. We are about to say, yes, we will have a Secretary of the Department. I am for a Department of Homeland Security. And in my amendment, I certainly subscribe to Senator Lieberman’s committee proposal in having a Department, having a Secretary of the Department. I go along with that. Yes, let’s have a Secretary. But in my amendment, I am still proceeding with my pending amendment that the Director of Homeland Security within the White House will also be confirmed.

In an appropriations bill which Senator Stevens and I brought to the floor several months ago, we had language requiring the confirmation of the Director of Homeland Security. It was in the appropriations bill. We tried and we tried—Senator Stevens and I tried more than once—to have the Director of Homeland Security come before the Appropriations Committee in the Senate and testify.

I assured those from the administration who talked with me about that, we were not interested in knowing anything about Mr. Ridge’s secret conversations or private conversations with the President; we were not interested in any of that stuff. We are not interested in that Dick Tracy stuff. We only want to know the facts concerning the appropriations. We are not going to ask him questions like that. It is not going to be classified.

If Mr. Ridge wants the committee to hear him in secret, we will vote on that in the committee. And if the committee wants to close the door for an hour to hear what he has to say that is so secretive and so demands secrecy, we will vote on that. But we are not interested in embarrassing Mr. Ridge. We are not interested in embarrassing Mr. Bush. We are not interested in embarrassing Mr. Ridge. We are only interested in the facts concerning the moneys that are going to be needed for homeland security.

No, they wouldn’t let him come up. The administration had its feet in concrete and was determined not to let Mr. Ridge come up and testify before the Senate Appropriations Committee. The President said he was going to change the tone in Washington. Well, as far as I was concerned, that was not changing the tone in the right direction. That was a sour note, and I am sorry the administration ever took that position. But here we are today and the administration still doesn’t want it. Why?

Why did they have their feet in concrete a few months ago with respect to Governor Ridge? We could have gotten off on a much better footing if Mr. Bush had said: Go on up there and answer their questions. If they are asking questions on dollars and cents, the taxpayers’ money, the appropriations needs, go on up there and answer those questions.

It would have struck a much sweeter note. But it kind of, in a way, poisoned the well. So that wasn’t changing the tone in the right direction. That made it worse. And to this day, the administration doesn’t want that position to be one that requires confirmation by the Senate.

Here we are, the loyal opposition when it comes to this bill. I guess, saying: We think that position ought to be confirmed. If we are going to create it, it is going to be confirmed. That is the way the Senate ought to look at this.

If there were a Democrat in the White House, I would say the same thing. It is the Senate’s will. Now, the President can veto the bill. He can do that if he wants. He can do that. I believe it is the seventh section of article I of the Constitution which lays out the veto power of the President—the seventh section, article I.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I am wondering if I could ask a question without the Senator losing his right to the floor.

Mr. BYRD. Absolutely.

Mr. REID. Would the Senator consent to my suggesting the absence of a quorum, with the order being that as soon as the quorum is called off, which would be very quickly—I want to visit with the Senator and the managers of the bill—the Senator from Virginia would retain the floor?

Mr. Byrd. I don’t know about the Senator from Virginia.

Mr. REID. I am sorry, West Virginia.

Mr. BYRD. Yes, that is perfectly OK.

Mr. REID. I ask unanimous consent that when the quorum call I will shortly suggest is called off, the Senator from West Virginia have the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mrs. Carnahan). Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. REID. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BYRD. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. Carper). Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from West Virginia is recognized.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, time being of the essence and realizing Senators want to get out of here and go home and how badly they want to get rid of the pending amendment, I will try to move on a little faster. My thanks to the pages for brining me a lectern.

Mr. President, I have heard the concerns of some of my colleagues about establishing a statutory office within the Executive Office of the President with a Director confirmed by the Senate. I have heard the arguments that Congress would be intruding upon the President’s right to executive confidential advice and it would tie his hands with regard to the internal management of the White House.

These arguments misrepresent the realities of coordinating the executive branch and the myriad challenges it will involve, even after this new Department is up and running.

The point has been made many times during the drafting of this legislation that the functions involved in homeland security are scattered throughout the Federal Government. That is an important point. Let me state it again: The point has been made many times during the drafting of this bill that the functions involved in homeland security are scattered throughout the Federal Government. That is not like the State Department. It is certainly not like the Defense Department.

We are talking about a Department with functions scattered throughout the Federal Government, the functions involved in homeland security. That does not stop just at the water’s edge. It goes on to the other side of the river. Many of those functions will not be transferred into the Department by this legislation.

The legislation before the Senate today and which the Senate will vote on—I suppose, eventually, if this legislation is passed—creates a Department of Homeland Security. I am for creating a Department of Homeland Security, but the bill creating a Department of Homeland Security is not the end. That is not the alpha and the omega. That is not the end-all. We really will not have done our work. We will have only begun.

Many of those functions, I say again, will not be transferred into the Department by this legislation. That is why I say we ought to stop, look, and listen... to what we are doing. The administration would like Congress to pass just a mere piece of paper, as it were, handing the Department of Homeland Security over to the administration, saying here, Mr. President, here it is. It is yours, lock, stock, and barrel. Take it. We are out of it. We will stand on the sidelines.

That is what we would do if we were to pass the legislation supported by the White House. If we were to pass the legislation that has been sent to us from the administration, I am not in favor of doing that. We would be passing a bill creating a Department of Homeland Security in the Lieberman bill, legislation that would say: A Department is created. Here it is, Mr. President. It is yours. Take it. Do what you want with it. You have the next 13 months in which to implement this legislation. It is yours.

I am not in favor of doing that. I am in favor of creating a Department of Homeland Security, but I am not in favor of Congress doing that and then walking away and saying: It is yours, Mr. President; for the next 13 months we will go to the sidelines. I am not in favor of that.

I am not even sure why some Senators seem not to be exercised about it, but my blood pressure has gone up a little bit about the very idea of handing this over to the President and to this administration and saying: Here it is. It is yours.

That legislation, when we send it to the President, will not be all; we will have created, under Mr. LIEBERMAN’s bill, we will have created a Department, we will have created six directorates, we will have created the superstructure of a Deputy Secretary, six Under Secretaries, five Assistant Secretaries, and so on.

That is OK with me. Let’s create that superstructure. That is fine. But when it comes to determining the directorates we will have to get into that Department, how many agencies are there? Some say 22. Some say 28. Some say 30. How many agencies are there? What agencies are they? By what criteria were those agencies selected? Who said that this agency ought to go in but not that one? And why should this agency go there and not that one? Why should that one go in? Why not this one?

So all that is going to be left up to the administration. We are going to leave it up to the administration as to the agencies that will go in, as to their functions, as to their objectives, as to their assignments. We are just going to turn it all over—lock, stock, and barrel—the administration.

That is the way it would be under the administration plan. That is the way it would be under the House plan. That is the way it would be under the Lieberman plan. I am trying to improve the Lieberman bill. I am saying, OK, let’s do the superstructure. Let’s have a Secretary. Let’s have a Department of Homeland Security. Let’s have a Secretary. Let’s have a Deputy Secretary. Let’s have six directorates, as Mr. LIEBERMAN proposes. Let’s have five Assistant Secretaries. I am in favor of that. That is all in title I.

But I am saying, whoa, whoa, whoa. Let’s not go too fast now. Let’s put it off for a while. For example, Mr. Secretary, you send up your proposals for those two directorates, the Directorate of Intelligence and the Directorate of Critical Infrastructure. Right. The Senate bill then, will send up his proposals for those two directorates. And as far as time is concerned, 120 days later, then—that would be June 3—120 days later would be something like October 1. All right.

Let’s have the Secretary send up his proposals for the fourth and fifth directorates. Here they are, the Directorate of Emergency Preparedness and the Directorate of Science and Technology. I don’t think it would be up, as we would these directorates to be created under Mr. LIEBERMAN’s bill, under his substitute for the House bill. I am taking his words for gospel, and I am saying: OK, let’s go along, let’s have those directorates. But I am saying on February 3 we will have the proposal for the first directorate; June 3, let’s have the proposals from the Secretary of Homeland Security for the next two directorates; then, on October 1, we say to the Secretary, now send up your recommendations to Congress concerning the last two directorates in title I: that is, the Directorate of Emergency Preparedness and the Directorate of Science and Technology.

So, there you are, we do it in a staged fashion. One directorate; 4 months later, two more directorates; 4 months later, two more directorates. By the end of that next 4 months, the 13 directorates will be up and will be within the same total timeframe as is envisioned by Mr. LIEBERMAN’s committee. It envisions all this being done within 13 months—13 months following the passage of the Act.

We are saying the same thing, but we are saying don’t do it all at once, and we are not going to give you authority, Mr. President, to do it all at once. We are saying do it, some here, some there, and some there, and let Congress be in on all this all the time—all the way.

How does that come about? All right, each set of proposals from the Secretary of Homeland Security will come to the Congress, and they will go to the committee, the Lieberman committee, and its counterpart in the other body. So both the House and Senate will be working on these sets of directorates in stages. Congress will be front and center. Congress will not hand this thing over and then abdicate its responsibility and walk away and stand over here on the sidelines. Congress is going to stay involved. That is what my amendment is about. Let’s keep Congress involved.

What happens then? All right, let’s take the first directorate. That is Border Transportation. The Secretary...
VerDate Sep 04 2002 02:21 Sep 13, 2002 Jkt 099060 PO 00000 Frm 00035 Fmt 4624 Sfmt 0634 E:\CR\FM\G12SE6.078 S12PT1

September 12, 2002

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE

 sends up his proposals to Congress. The proposals, as far as the Senate is concerned, go right straight to the Lieberman committee. Mr. LIEBERMAN and Mr. THOMPSON stay right front and center. They take these proposals in their committee, they amend them, they adopt them, or whatever. Whatever that committee wishes to make of the proposals that are sent to it by the Homeland Security Director, that committee reports that out as a bill. It comes to the Senate.

Oh, it is nice to delay. Oh, my goodness, you say, that committee is going to report out another bill and the Senate is going to have to work on it?

Yes, that is true. But we can prepare expedited procedures. So I say let's prepare expedited procedures. If we do it in that fashion, we can prepare expedited procedures where the bill is not delayed, where it is not filibustered—it can't be filibustered under expedited procedures—and the Senate will take that and under expedited procedures, will consider it. It is not going to be a—what is that infernal thing called?—fast track. That is right, fast track.

Under fast track, the Senate doesn't get a chance to amend, but under these expedited procedures, I am talking about, the Senate will be able to work its will and amend the bill that is reported out by Mr. LIEBERMAN and by his committee's counterpart on the other side, in the House of Representatives.

That committee would report the bill out to the Senate, the majority leader would call up the bill, and it would be acted upon under expedited procedures and disposed of.

Four months later, when the next item came up here, the Directorate of Intelligence and the Directorate of Critical Infrastructure, the same thing, same procedure would obtain. The Secretary of Homeland Security would send sending up to the Congress.

The reason I don't say the President is that if I did, I would make my amendment fall, if cloture were to be invoked on my amendment. If cloture were to be invoked, it would fall because it would not be germane. I have tried to construct this amendment so it would stand the test of Germaneness in the event cloture were invoked on this amendment.

So instead of the President sending it up, it would be his man—this is the man of the majority of the Department of Homeland Security. The Secretary would send the proposals to the committee, to Mr. LIEBERMAN's committee. Mr. LIEBERMAN's committee, under expedited procedures, would go over the recommendations from the Secretary and send them, in amended form perhaps, to the Senate floor to be taken up here and passed.

So the same thing, the same procedure, would obtain in each instance where a directorate or directorates were being fleshed out by agencies.

When we set up the next phase, the final two directorates we will have benefited by whatever mistakes or whatever shortcomings may have surfaced during the creation of the preceding directorates.

It seems to me this is much more logical. It is an orderly process. It keeps Congress—the elected representatives of the people—in the process. And it keeps Mr. LIEBERMAN's committee—which is the committee that has jurisdiction over the subject matter—front and center.

Why not do it that way? Why not do it in an orderly way rather than just turning the whole thing over all at once and just washing our hands of it, and saying, that is it, it is up to somebody else?

That is not the way to do it. I think the concept is one that is unassailable. That is the way it would work under more...

We think we are all in agreement. We are talking about at least two dozen agencies and 170,000 Federal employees. That is a big shakeup in our Government. There is virtually little debate going on here. There was a big rush to get this through in a hurry, pass it by September 11, or pass it before we go out for the August recess.

Norman Ornstein wrote an article in the Washington Post, several Sundays ago in which he pointed out the chaos. He referred to the chaos that will occur in this Government of ours if we go down the road meekly like lambs to the slaughter and pass this as the administration conceived it in the darkness of midnight in the subterranean caves of the White House; just go along like that with all of these agencies in turmoil, and we transfer 170,000 Federal workers.

Here they are—all moving their desks up Pennsylvania Avenue, and they are having to move the telephones and get new telephone numbers. They are having to move their computers, and they are having to do all this. And the people who work in those agencies are going to be shifted to another building with a new mailing address. All of that is going on at the same time. All of these agencies with 170,000 Federal employees all at once—all is going on in the 13-month period. They are going to be working in a different culture, in a different kind of atmosphere with different associations with different assignments than what they have been accustomed to—all of this at once.

What pandemonium will have taken over Pennsylvania Avenue. In "Paradise Lost," Milton wrote about the fall of some of the angels from heaven. He wrote about the rebellion against the Creator by these angels and how they conspired to take over. And they fell. They were run out of heaven. Satan and his angels of like mind fell with them. They fell like Lucifer from heaven, and they fell upon the boiling lake. Lucifer sat and built himself a palace there. That palace was called Pandemonium.
Do you remember that—those of you who have read Milton’s “Paradise Lost”? He created a palace called Pandemonium. That is exactly what will happen—pandemonium.

Go back and read Norman Ornstein. By the way, go back and read Milton’s “Paradise Lost.” But also go back and read Norman Ornstein’s article in the Washington Post of some several weeks ago. I will get it. We are going to be debating this bill today. I certainly won’t pass this bill today. I think we are sure of that.

So you have an opportunity to go back and read Ornstein’s very thoughtful and thought-provoking article about the pandemonium that will reign on Pennsylvania Avenue. He didn’t put it in those exact words, but that is what you will be reading about—the pandemonium that will reign and the chaos that will reign when all of these angels—22, 30 of them—saying that nobody knows exactly how many agencies—but 170,000 employees have to rip up their telephones and their computers and carry them off and up and down the avenue. What chaos that will be. Who is going to be minding the store when all of this chaotic exercise is being carried out?

Who is going to be minding the store? Who will be watching the terrorists? What will happen to those people right now and all the agencies in this Government right today? At 5:30, I suppose most of them are not still around; but certainly a lot of them are around, and will be around until midnight and after midnight. They will be out on the borders, securing the borders. They will be out there at the airports. They will be at the ports of entry to this country. They will be all along the border between Canada and the United States and the southern border between Mexico and the United States. They will be every hour of the 24 hours. They are out there right now, and they will be there tonight when Mr. President, you and I are sleeping. They are out there right now.

But will these people be at their posts of duty when all of this chaos reigns, when we are going through all this big uprooting of the Government here in Washington, the uprooting of men and women who are at their jobs, at their desks, at their telephones today and every day? The people in their desks securing our country, protecting our country, protecting you and me, and my grandchildren and yours. What will happen when all of this chaos reigns? These people will not know—"Let’s see, where am I supposed to go? What room am I in? What is the number and the place I am supposed to go in this new Government?"

They will be saying: "Where is my computer? Where is my laptop? Where is it? A new number? And, by the way, what is the name of my agency here? Who is in charge here?"

Imagine the chaos. But under my proposal, we will do this in an orderly fashion. We will do the same thing Mr. Lieberman does. In the end, we come out with the same Department, come out with the same directorates, the same Under Secretaries and Assistant Secretaries, the same thing. And we will do all that up front, the superstructure.

But the thing is, we are going out the directorates, determining what agencies go in—we want to know, Mr. Secretary, what are your recommendations with regard to the agencies that go in here. We will be doing all this in an orderly way. 120 days at a time: February 3, the first directorate; June 3, the second and third directorates; October 1, the fourth and fifth directorates. We do not deal with the sixth one because that is not like the Secretary of State. The Secretary of State only goes to title I because I did not want to go and get mixed up and have any problems with germaneness in the event that clouture is invoked on my amendment or on the bill. So that is it. Why the opposition to this?

So with Congress dumping the job of dealing with over two dozen agencies and 170,000 employees into the lap of the Secretary, he will no doubt be too busy trying to get his own house in order to spend his time worrying about what the rest of the Federal Government is doing. The Secretary of Homeland Security will not be in a position to coordinate agencies outside of his Department. Who will do it then? Who will be responsible for managing and overseeing homeland security functions and resources across the entire Federal Government?

That is not like Condoleezza Rice. That is not like the Secretary of State. That is not like the Department of State. Hear me now. That is not like Condoleezza Rice. That is not like the Department of State. They do not concern themselves with agencies all across the whole Federal Government. But this Department will. This Homeland Security Department will be concerned with functions and resources that cut across the whole Federal Government.

Who will be able to dedicate the time necessary to follow up on the operations of so many agencies in so many different Departments?

This is a brandnew Department. Let me tell you, this is a brandnew, shiny toy, unlike the State Department, unlike Condoleezza Rice’s Department. I say what I say with great respect to her. But you cannot equate Condoleezza Rice’s position with the position of the Director of Homeland Security. Why, her Department was created more than 20 years ago. But not this Department.

This is a brandnew Department. It cuts across virtually all agencies of Government; something new. Then how could we equate the National Security Adviser and her position with this new Department, this new Director of Homeland Security, who will be in the White House, untouched?

One of my favorite movies, in the old days, when we had black and white television—I can remember back in 1953, I believe it was, or 1954, when my wife and daughters went to one of the stores around here and bought a new television set. Yes, television had not been around long. It came upon the scene in 1926. I did not have a television set in my house.

One evening, I went home from my daily work in the office of mine representing the old Sixth Congressional District in West Virginia, where the current Presiding Officer was born, the distinguished junior Senator from Delaware, who sits in the chair today and presides over this body with such dignity and poise. He was born in that old Sixth Congressional District. That was the district that I represented. Well, that was back in the years 1953, 1954, 1955, 1956, 1957, and 1958.

And one day, when I went home for supper—we called it supper at our house. We are New Yorkers. I went home to supper. I had my supper. My wife and I and our two daughters walked into the living room and sat down. And she said: Do you see anything new? I looked around. She said: Do you see anything new in the living room today? I had not seen anything new, but as I looked around, there it was, a brand spanking new black and white television set—black and white.

Well, my favorite movies in those days were clean. And they were wholesome movies. There are a few of them left but not many in this day and age. We talk about other people being evil, about Saddam Hussein being evil; just take a look at the television programming in the evenings. I saw, on one of the evening shows—I turned the TV on the other night. I seldom turn it on, but you can’t help but see some of them. And I saw some beautiful young women on there, and they were saying words that I wouldn’t say, and I have said them all in my life. And I didn’t like that kind of language in the living rooms of the country.

How can we say somebody is evil? We need to take a look at our own self. I cannot look in the mirror and say I am not evil. Nor can any other man, truthfully. Because we have a little bit of Satan in us. We have a spark of the Divine in us. That is why there is an afterlife. And we will have to answer for what we have done in this life.

So there is that black and white television set over there. And I liked "Gunsmoke." I kind of liked old Matt Dillon in those days. And I liked "The Honeymooners," Jackie Gleason. And I liked the "Untouchables" in those days Elliott Lewis.

But here we have the untouched touches at the White House. Don’t touch them. Don’t have them come up here. Don’t have them come up here. They are the untouched. Don’t have them come up because they are untouched.

This administration thinks we should not have someone of that stature, the stature of Tom Ridge, come up before a committee of the Senate. Who will be responsible for managing and overseeing homeland security functions and resources across the entire Federal Government? Who will be able to dedicate the time necessary to follow up on the operations of so many agencies in so many different Departments?

Now, I don’t want Senators to go home yet. I have been trying to tell Senators that this is a very important step we are being asked to take, and we ought to be paying attention to it. I have a question to the administration. Don’t push it too fast.

Let’s don’t be stampeded by this administration. The President is out there with his backdrops saying: Contact Congress. Tell them to pass my bill, pass this bill on homeland security.

Well, let’s just slow down a little bit. So I say, I wouldn’t go home quite yet if I were Senators because there might be a vote here yet, or there may not. We need enough authority to twist the arms of bureaucrats when implementing homeland security policies in the field proves harder than dreaming them up in the basement of the White House.

Who will do all this? Tom Ridge, will he do it, the man who refused to testify before Congress when the Nation most needed to hear from him? No. He had time enough to run around all over the country and speak to chambers of commerce and speak to that organization and that organization about his Homeland Security Department and to say awful nice things about what he was going to do and all of that. He had time to go to Canada. He had time to go to Mexico and talk to the heads of state in some of those areas. He had time to do that, but he didn’t have time to come up here and talk with these peons who are sent here by the people out there on the prairies and on the plains and on the mountains and in the valleys and in the fields and in the mines and on the stormy deep. He didn’t have time to talk with us.

I think he would have come, but the President wouldn’t let him because of this misguided perception that, well, because Tom Ridge was an “adviser” to the President, he didn’t have to go up there; because he is on the President’s “staff,” he didn’t have to go there. This is a different kind of staff. This is a staff of adviser. He is a man who goes all over the country speaking about homeland security, about his plans, about what is going to be happening, what is going to be done, what are the concerns, what are the fears, what are the things we have to guard against. But don’t you go up there in that briar patch. Don’t go up there to Congress. Don’t go up there and talk to those people. They are the elected representatives of the people. Tom Ridge isn’t elected by anybody.

But they up there, those men and women up there in the halls of Congress, they are elected, and they have to go back at times and answer to the electorate for what they have done or not done. They have to cast votes. They have to show down, and they have to go back home and explain the votes to the people. No, don’t go up there to them.

And there is that fellow BYRD up there and that fellow STEVENS. One is a Democrat and the other one is a Republican. They want Tom Ridge to come up there. And those two guys—I will say “guys” because that is all right; that term is used a lot around here in the Senate. The President could even say: I have a letter on my desk written to me by TED STEVENS and by Senator BYRD asking me for an appointment. They want to make their case about having Tom Ridge come up there.

But the President of the United States didn’t show Senator STEVENS or me the courtesy of even writing a letter back to us or calling us on the telephone saying: I received your letter, Senator, Senator, but I don’t agree with your opinion. This is why I don’t want to send him up there.

No, the President didn’t show us that courtesy. He had some underling—and I say that with great respect—a person who writes letters, who thinks there were one or two of them down there who wrote letters back to me and to Senator STEVENS saying: The President has received your letter and this is why it can’t be done or won’t be done.

Now, I don’t think there is the President pro tempore of the Senate, the senior Democrat in the Senate of the United States who has written asking the President for an invitation, asking for an invitation to come to the White House to discuss having Mr. Ridge, come up before the Senate Appropriations Committee when it holds important hearings. Is that changing the tone in Washington? Is that changing the tone in Washington? Here is the pre pro tempore of the Senate, the senior Democrat in the Senate of the United States who has written asking the President for an invitation, asking for an invitation to come to the White House to discuss having Mr. Ridge come up before the Senate Appropriations Committee when it holds important hearings. Is that changing the tone in Washington? Is that changing the tone in Washington? Here is the ranking member on the Appropriations Committee, former chairman of the Appropriations Committee from the Republican side of the aisle, a man, who knows, who could be the next President pro tempore of the Senate, the man right here at this desk who sits in this chair on which I hold my hand at this moment. Here are two very senior Members. Not that all wisdom flows from the limbs and joints and brains of these two Senators, but they have been here a while. They are the chairman and the ranking member of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

We wanted an opportunity. We had been turned down in our letters. We had been rejected. We asked for an invitation. We asked for the President to give us an opportunity like that we come down and explain our case for having Tom Ridge come down.

Did the President ever invite us down? No. No. Was that changing the tone in Washington? That didn’t do anything. That didn’t help at all.

Here we are with the same thing. Here we have this administration wanting to turn hands down on the idea of having the Homeland Security Director come up to the Hill and testify on his confirmation and have the Senate vote to confirm. Why not? Why not?

This Constitution that I hold in my hands and that the Senate has confirmed or will confirm. Certain offices will be appointed by the President, by and with the consent of the Senate. And up until this point, I don’t remember Presidents dictating to the Senate as to what offices they may create and which will be confirmed and which will not. I don’t remember that happening. This is a new leaf in my book of 50 years here in Congress, the very idea.

And now we want to say, OK, Mr. President, we will do it your way. We will yield on this. You can appoint your man. We won’t require him to be confirmed.

So are we going to hand over this responsibility to Tom Ridge, to trust him with these important duties that extend far beyond the White House gates, after he has already clearly demonstrated an unwillingness to cooperate with Congress on a matter that directly affects the hearts and lives of every one of our constituents?

That is how important it is. This is a matter that affects the hearts and lives of every one of our constituents. Senator THOMPSON says we should. He trusts the President to command the secret war on terror, even while he is out of sight, out of mind—out of touch, out of Congress. I guess Senator THOMPSON—and I have great respect for him—he is confident that Tom Ridge has enough clout to do the job. But I am not sure that one man’s clout will be enough. On my side of the aisle there are Senators who are willing to say the same thing.

Well, they say that vote has been decided earlier today. I don’t believe that has been decided earlier today. The question we voted on earlier today went beyond that. John Dean, the former counsel to President Nixon, knows something about putting Executive power in the hands of White House advisers and beyond the reach of congressional oversight. This past April, Mr. John Dean wrote a column in which he expressed concerns about entrusting such responsibilities of coordinating homeland security to a White House aide with no statutory authority.

Where is the statutory authority for this White House aide? Oh, I know the President issued an Executive order, but where is the statutory authority for it? Somebody has to ask for money once in a while. Money doesn’t grow on trees. They have to come here at some point. This old Appropriations Committee is a waterhole. Out there in the great forest are a lot of animals. They roam around out there, and when the night comes and the shadows come, and you hear something rustling in the leaves and you hear a limb crack and a twig break. By golly, there are animals out in that forest. At some point, they all have to come to the waterholes, don’t they? The birds, the bees, and the animals on four legs—don’t they have to come to the waterhole at some point? Well, the Appropriations Committee is the one that says, yes, at some point, these people down at the other end of the avenue also have to come to the waterhole.

I know the President is Commander in Chief, whether he is a Democrat or a Republican. It is so stated by this Constitution, which I hold in my hand. But the Commander in Chief, the President, shall be the commander in chief of the Army and the Navy and the militia when called into service to the country. But suppose Congress doesn’t provide an Army and Navy for the President to command? Yes, he is the Commander in Chief.

Charles I of England, in 1639, I believe, was the first to use that term, “commander in chief.” That goes back a long ways, to 1639.

But in 1649, Charles I lost his head. His head was severed from his body. That was Charles I of England. Some Senators may have forgotten it, but the King of England and the King of England had a war. There was a war between the King and Parliament. Can you imagine a war in this country between the President of the United States and Congress? That is the way it was in England.

You can change history all you want and you can talk about political correctness all you want, but the people who wrote this Constitution were British subjects. Some had been born overseas. Alexander Hamilton, James Wilson, and several of them were first immigrant descendants. There was Franklin and there were others, and I believe James Morris may have been born in England. In any event, these were British. Some were Englishmen, some were Scots, but they were British. You can say all you want, and political correctness is not going to change that. This Constitution was written by men—not women. In that day they did not have women elected as delegates to the convention, but there were the men, British subjects. They knew about the history of Englishmen. They knew about the struggles of Englishmen. They knew about the Magna Carta, which was wrung from the Englishmen in 1215, along the banks of the Thames River. On June 15, 1215, they knew about that. They knew that the barons stood there with their swords in their scabbards. They knew that Englishmen, going back for many years under the Anglo Saxons, after William of Normandy came to England in 1066 and brought feudalism to England, they knew the Englishmen had fought and shed their blood for the concept that the people should be represented by elected representatives in the Commons. They knew the people who shed their blood—the power of the purse would be vested in the Commons, in Parliament.

Englishmen fought for centuries in order to win that battle over the power of the purse. They knew that in 1688, they go back to 1649 for just a minute. I was earlier talking about the war between King Charles I, who believed in the divine right of Kings, and his father, James I, of Scotland, who also was a devotee of the idea that the King was God’s immediate representative on Earth. So they believed in what is called “divine right of Kings.” James I had no idea that. His son, Charles I, was as much a devotee of that misguided idea—maybe more so—than James. But Charles I carried it a little bit too far. The High Court of Justice was created January 3, 1649; and on January 30 the following month—Charles I lost his head before perhaps 200,000 people. What followed that, in quick measure, was the Commons outlawed the Lords. There would be no more King, no more command. What so our forefathers knew all about this. They knew how Englishmen had shed their blood to wrest from tyrannical monarchs the power of the purse because the power of the purse is the greatest, new power that there is in government.

Cicero, that great Roman orator said, “There is no fortress so strong that money cannot take it.” So there you have it. The Englishmen knew that. Our forebears knew that. So the men who wrote the Constitution knew that. And they knew that this right that elected representatives of the people have control over the public purse had been assaulted, and that’s what the British Isles from which they—most of them or their forebears—had lately come.

So there you have it. That is history. There is more to it than that, but that is just a little history.

(Mr. DAYTON assumed the Chair.) Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, going back to the early days of this Republic. Would the departments and agencies fall into line when a senior White House aide so called? Could a senior White House aide resolve Department rivalries such as those between the CIA and the FBI? We have heard about that, haven’t we?

Can this White House aide crack the whip, and these heads of agencies, such as the CIA and the FBI? He says to attention, salute, and say, yes, sir; yes, sir; no, sir; yes, sir? Could the senior White House aide resolve long-time Department rivalries such as those between the CIA and the FBI, or Treasury and Justice, law enforcement responsibilities?

Could this White House aide get the Border Patrol, the Immigration and Naturalization Service, and Customs operating like they all belong in the same government?

What authority does he have? He is just the President’s man; that is it. He does not have any statutory authority. He is not certified by the Senate. How would you feel, Mr. President, if you were a Cabinet officer in this administration, and you heard that there was not a Cabinet officer, who had not been confirmed by the Senate, a new man on the job, a new office on the street; it is a brandnew office. It is a new office, what will be a new Department. But this fellow down here who really runs things does not have to go up before Congress. Here I am, a poor old Cabinet officer, and I lie awake at night worrying about how I will answer these questions when I am called up before the Committee tomorrow and all those kills lights will be on me, and they will ask me questions about money, how I have been spending it all. Here I have to go up there tomorrow. This man does not have to go up. All he has to is to go up to the Commander in Chief.”

By the way, the President, let me read from this book so people will know this is bona fide. If I had to, I could say it from memory. Here is the Commander in Chief. He is to the Commander in Chief of industry.

The President shall be Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, and of the Militia of the several States, when called into the actual Service of the United States. . . .

But he is not the Commander in Chief of industry. He is not the Commander in Chief of the Congress. But here I am, a Cabinet officer, and I have to go up there and listen to those people up there. I have to go up there and sit at a table, way past the lunch hour, and listen to those Senators, be critized here is this man. He is not confirmed by anybody. He just stands at the Commander in Chief’s desk and salutes and says: Yes, sir; no; nor; not my will but thine be done.

I do not believe a man or a woman who is thrust into that kind of a position is going to relish being in that position because he does not have any statutory authority behind him. It would seem to me a person in that position would want statutory authority behind him; get the statute behind him. He would want to be confirmed. Yes, he then has the authority, the authority of the legislative branch, as well as his own appointment by the Chief Executive behind him.

The next question:

Could an aide, such as the homeland security, director, get the Border Patrol, Immigration and Naturalization Service, and Customs operating like they all belong in the same Government?

I have been quoting Mr. John Dean.

Mr. President, Mr. Dean concluded that homeland security is too important an issue for a Nixon-style executive leadership.

Here is a man who was in the Nixon administration, the counsel to President Nixon, John Dean. Mr. Dean concluded that homeland security was too important an issue for a Nixon-style executive leadership and that congressional oversight and the collective wisdom of Congress are essential in dealing with a threat of such magnitude.

I agree we have to think, and fume and fight over whether or not this person should be confirmed? The President ought to say: Okay, let’s get on with it; let’s confirm him. I will name the person, and, with the advice and consent of the Senate, he will serve.

What is wrong with that? That has been the case for over 200 years. Some Presidents have suffered defeat when it came to their nominees. I can think of John Tyler, especially when he was furnished and fussing around with the Whig leaders in the Congress. What is so bad about that? After all, I would welcome that. Let him be confirmed by the Senators. That will give him more authority. It makes him more bona fide in the eyes of the people. He would stand as the American people with more authority. What is so bad about that? That is not anything damaging to the President. Requiring a person to be confirmed is not demeaning to the President. So why should we Democrats be willing to roll over and play dead on it?

They say: Oh, they have the votes on the other side.
Iraq as a sovereign State, I have as much fear and as much concern and as much contempt for Saddam Hussein as does any other man or woman. But it takes more than just legal authority.

These smart lawyers can line up on either side, hire a good lawyer on either side. You can hire a good lawyer to take this side of the case over here or you can hire that same good lawyer for this side of the case. A smart lawyer can come in with an almost impenetrable case.

But that is not the point. The Constitution is there. The Constitution is there. I hold a copy of that Constitution in my hand. It is, other than the Bible, my guiding light, this Constitution. Constitutional scholars in this land agree with me. Just legal authority is not enough. It is the Constitution. It is there. It is always there morning, noon, afternoon, night. The Constitution is always there. But not once, not once was this Constitution mentioned on any of the networks that I listened to last Sunday in the discussion about a possible war into which this country was being—at least in some quarters—stamped into. We were going to war. We were going to be in a war. We develop a shortsighted mind, Gentlemen. We were stampeded into. We are going to disregard them? And these people who sit up here on Jenkins Hill? How about those 535 Members who sit up there on Jenkins Hill? Are they going to disregard them? They have certificates showing that they were sent here by the people. Are they going to disregard them? Yes? We are going to disregard them? And that Constitution is still there. And there are at least six other wars to which statutes have been passed by Congress, dependent upon as authority. What has happened to us all when we just go forward blindly without looking to the left or the right, saying we will go to war. We will change this regime. We will do it, I will do it, or it will be done.

How about those 535 Members who sit up there on Jenkins Hill? How about them? They have certificates showing that they were duly elected by the people—not by an electoral college but they were sent here by the people. Are we going to disregard them? And these people who sit up here on Jenkins Hill ought to read this Constitution again. Many of them have, I am sure. But let us not disregard this Constitution.

The Constitution says the Congress shall have power to declare war. I know that only five wars have been declared, but that Constitution is still there. And there are at least six other wars to which statutes have been passed by Congress, dependent upon as authority. What has happened to us all when we just go forward blindly without looking to the left or the right, saying we will go to war. We will change this regime. We will do it, I will do it, or it will be done.

Anyhow, Daniel said: These are the words over there? And somebody said: Well, we can interpret these words for you, O King, and his name is Daniel. He is in prison. I believe he was still in prison. They said: This young man can interpret these words. The King said: Bring him to me. And the King said to Daniel—I hope I am not getting two of my Biblical stories crossed up, it is late in the day. I hadn’t counted on saying this. But I believe the King promised Daniel that he would have half the kingdom if he could interpret this dream. He would be clothed in the richest of garb and be made ruler of half the kingdom.

And that night, Belshazzar was slain and his kingdom was divided.

Why have I told this story? I told the story about Belshazzar, the handwriting on the wall. This administration saw the handwriting on the wall. They may have been reading about Belshazzar in the Book of Daniel.

Belshazzar had a great party, a great dinner thrown. And he had his soothsayers and his lords and his highfallutin officers and all. Belshazzar, King. He loved all this art and he invited a thousand of his lords. This was a great function there on the banks of the Euphrates River.

All the mirth was going on. Everybody was laughing, drinking, toasting, feasting. And all at once, there, over near the candlestick, appeared a man’s hand, and that man’s hand wrote something on the wall near the candlestick. And Belshazzar, the great King, wondered what it was, and he became obsessed with fear, and his knees buckled, and he brought forth his magicians, his medicine men, and his soothsayers, and he asked them: What is that saying? What are those words over there?

And somebody said: Well, we can’t answer that. We don’t know what those words are. But there is a man, a young man, who can interpret these words for you, O King, and his name is Daniel. He is in prison. I believe he was still in prison. They said: This young man can interpret these words.

The King said: Bring him to me. And the King said to Daniel—I hope I am not getting two of my Biblical stories crossed up, it is late in the day. I hadn’t counted on saying this. But I believe the King promised Daniel that he would have half the kingdom if he could interpret this dream. He would be clothed in the richest of garb and be made ruler of half the kingdom.

Anyhow, Daniel said: These are the words. Appropriations Committee brought an appropriations bill to the floor. This bill was the fiscal year 2002 supplemental that was brought before the Senate in the early part of the year, sometime around June or July. In that bill, as reported by the Senate Appropriations Committee, made up of 29 Senators, 15 Democrats and 14 Republicans, that bill had a provision that provided that the Director of Homeland Security must be someone confirmed by the Senate for the United States. That was in the bill.

It was brought here before this body, and it passed the Senate by a huge margin. I think there were more than 70 votes cast for that appropriations bill. That provision was in it. Senators knew it was in it because we brought it up in the Appropriations Committee of the Senate. It was there. There was never any attempt to strike it. There was no attempt to amend it. In that provision all Senators knew, they had the power to declare war. They had the power to declare war. And we have heard something done in secret. It was right there in the bill, and we had it in the Senate here, everybody knew about it, and not one, not a peep did we hear against that provision here in the Senate. It passed the Senate and went to conference.

Then the administration saw the handwriting on the wall. They must have been reading about Belshazzar in the Book of Daniel.

The administration saw that coming, and it was coming like a Mack truck. And it had in it the language that the Director of Homeland Security would be appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The administration saw that coming, and it was coming like a Mack truck. So the administration, as it sometimes does—and I don’t blame it for doing it—decided it would try to get ahead of this wave that was coming. The administration, lo and behold, came up with this grand idea of having this homeland security agency, and this was all cooked up and hatched down at the White House, down in there in the subterranean caverns.

I don’t think it would matter if electricity were cut off. If there had been a big storm and all the electricity cut off, it wouldn’t have mattered because they probably had lanterns, candles down in those subterranean, dark caverns where shadows can be seen flitting around—shadows in the cave. That brings up another story, but I won’t tell it right now.

In any event, here these people were, and they saw this Mack truck coming down the road, this bill that had been passed by the Senate, an appropriations bill saying that we are going to have the homeland security man answer to us up there.

You see, we had invited him, Ted Stevens and I invited him time and time again. He wouldn’t come. We had written to the President of the United States, thinking: Well, he will hear us, he will see us. He is a politician. He is a statesman. He said he wanted to change the tone in Washington. He will hear us: Mr. President, please let us come down and visit with you, and let us make our case for the Director of Homeland Security coming before the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Not a word did the President say, by telephone or by pen—not one. No. The President was going to change the tone. But here he wouldn’t let this man come up. Why not?

So here is this bill coming down here saying: Yes, he will come. He will have to be confirmed by the Senate or he won’t be the man in that position.

So the administration got busy and said: What will get ahead of that wave? And here came the President, come out with this and he unveiled this beautiful new toy. And, by the way, it just swept over the country, the media grabbed onto it, and here we are now. We have this bill up before the Senate. We have this hand-writing on the wall and got ahead of the truck.

But it is still the same question before the Senate. Are we going to have this position be filled by someone who will come up before the Senate, the committees in the Senate and the committees of the House and answer questions about the budget? So let us see that he does that, and we will make sure of that by making him confirmed by the Senate.

Oh, no. Now, that is going too far, says the administration and some of my friends on this side of the aisle and on that side of the aisle. They are perfectly willing out here today to accede to that and not contest that any longer. After all, Condoleezza Rice doesn’t come up there. She is the National Security Adviser. The Congress doesn’t require her to come up. Why should they require Tom Ridge to come up?

What kind of an argument is that? Where would that get you in law school? Where would that get you in your court? What kind of a lawyer is that? I would hate to have been that kind of a student down at American University and gone up before Dean Myers in moot court and said: Well, I will tell you now, Dean. Condoleezza Rice, the National Security Adviser, doesn’t require her to come up there and be confirmed. So why would we say that the head of the Homeland Security Department has to come up there?

What an argument. What kind of lawyer would make that argument? Yet Senators are willing to roll over and play dead with that argument. They don’t require Condoleezza Rice to come up?

Is that a case winner? My word, what kind of high-priced lawyer is that? Would that have won the case for William Jennings Bryan in Tennessee?

That great lawyer, that great orator, is the man who argued the case in the John T. Scopes trial, and his opponent. He is a great lawyer. But he did not have the votes. They would not have won the case just to say: Well, this fellow over here, say what you want to him about him. But over here, where we don’t require this person to go up there and be confirmed. So, let’s get him home early for supper. We don’t want to argue about that. They have the votes. Let us just give it to them. They have the votes. Why not give it to them?

I am talking about William Jennings Bryan in the John T. Scopes trial. That is not quite enough of a case, I don’t believe, to be persuasive. It might be persuasive among good lawyers, but it is not quite persuasive among Senators.

The Government’s fight against terrorism is bigger than a Department of Homeland Security, and it is too big. I say to Tom Ridge, or Tom, Dick, and Harry—nothing derogatory about the person. Oh, no, you are not going to hang me with that. I don’t mean that. But it is too important to the American people to have just an aide to the President doing it.

Only an office that can act with the authority of both the White House and the Congress can realistically guarantee that homeland security policy will be fully implemented in the farthest corners of the Federal Government.

That is a sound statement. It is based on specifics, and it is based on logic. It is based on common sense. I don’t have much of it anymore. I get tired early. I am quite tired now. My voice is getting faint, and my hands tremble and my hair is white. But I still believe the people back in West Virginia sent me here to use my best ability. I swore when I came here, before God and man, standing up before that desk there, that I would support and defend the Constitution against all enemies, foreign and domestic. I am not saying there are enemies in this body or in this country. No. I am not saying that at all. But there are some people who are willing to go the easy way and say there is no threat of lesser resistance on that Constitution. Oh, that Constitution is an old piece of paper. Those men back there in 1787 didn’t have any telephones. The telephone didn’t come along until 1875. No. Those people back then, at the time the Constitution was written, didn’t have the incandescent light. No. That just came along in 1878. No. Back in those days, they didn’t have automobiles. They had horses and buggies. They pulled the shades and drew the blinds so they couldn’t hear the wagons out there on the streets. The automobile didn’t come along until 1887 or 1888. They couldn’t tell what was going on outside the place. They did not have the cell phones. They didn’t have radios. They didn’t have television sets, and radios didn’t come along until the turn of the century.

There was Marconi, and wireless telegraph didn’t come along until 1848. The steam engine was invented back in 1769. That was just a few years before the convention met. You couldn’t expect those people back then to write a constitution that would endure for the ages. You can’t expect that.

The Constitution? What do you mean, Senator BYRD? The Constitution?

Well, the Constitution was written in 1787. There were not any women there. The youngest person there, I believe, was Johnathan Dayton. He may have been the youngest person there. Benjamin Franklin was 81.

They did not have television. Television didn’t come along until 1926. We are 60 some-odd years since people who should have written the Constitution in our age. We have the radio, and all of these things.

I know that Isaiah, of course, prophesied that certain things would happen. Isaiah said: Make straight the desert highway for our God. Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be laid low. The crooked places straight. And the rough places low. The glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together.

But Isaiah? That was a long time ago. Back in those days, how could he have foreseen? But he did.

Take these marvelous inventions I have been talking about—the telephone, the radio, television, the cable under the oceans, the jet-propelled plane, the automobile—they have exposed the valleys, have laid low the mountains and the hills, have made the rough places plain, have made a straight line in the desert.

Isaiah’s predictions have come true. And the glory of the Lord has been preached in all corners of the Earth, on every continent and every corner of the globe. The glory of the Lord has been revealed.
Those people weren’t old fogies. Isaiah knew what he was talking about. Here were the Kings with all of these marvelous inventions.

When Nathaniel Gorham and Rufus King and John Langdon and Roger Sherman and Edward Rutledge and Richard Henry Lee and Benjamin Franklin and Robert Morris and Gouverneur Morris and Elbridge Gerry were up there working, they did not have all these wonderful inventions; and they met behind closed doors. They didn’t let anybody know what was going on. Now, you wrote that little old book they called the Constitution of the United States? No. I took that oath. It was a sacred honor.

I held the Constitution of the United States in my hand. I put my hand on the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence. They are all saying: The President has legal authority. But back to the question at hand. If the President has legal authority, Congress has already authorized him. It authorized them in the 1991 resolution. It authorized them in the resolution last year. And he also has the robes of Commander in Chief wrapped around him. Oh, he has all the authority there.

No, he doesn’t. This says: Congress shall have the power to declare war. Now, you may argue all you want, but I took an oath. And I have taken it many times. I have stood at the desk up there, and I put my hand on the Bible, the King James version, which was published in 1611. And I have sworn before God and man to support and defend this, the Constitution of the United States, against all enemies, foreign and domestic. Here it is in my hand.

Have we grown so far, have we grown so big, have we come so far, have we gained so much power, so much wisdom, so much judgment, so much authority, that we can just nonchalantly push aside this dear old book that holds the Constitution of the United States? No. I took that oath. It was a serious oath. Every Senator in this body has taken that oath. Every Senator in this body has taken that oath.

Someday we will talk about the oath and how the ancient Romans revered their oath, the oath they took, the oath. But we just lightly cast this Constitution aside: This is an old piece of paper. Ha, that thing was written in 1787, and it was ratified by the few States that made up this people, as we have it. It only needed to be ratified by nine States. That was long before our time. When they were there, we were not. We know more now than they knew then. We are experienced. We are living in the real world. The Constitution was for yesterday. The Constitution was for yesteryear. The Constitution was for the 19th Century. It was all right, still, in the 19th century. And for the first half of the 20th century it was probably all right. But these are different times.

Is that what John Marshall said? Tell that to John Marshall. I will tell you, folks, the thing is much deeper than this. Senators have not seen, really, what events will follow—and I have not, either—from our creation of this Department. And I want to create a Department. And maybe just for once. Or some may be a little more lenient and liberal than that and say: Well, I have known a couple times he was right; but he was right. And those men who wrote the Constitution were right. They were writing a constitution that would protect the common people, the people of this country, against tyranny, against unlimited power, against a noose, protecting the liberties of the people.

There was no Democratic Party, there was no Republican Party when the Constitution was written. There were 39 signers of the Constitution of the United States, sat down on September 17, 1787, and wrote their names on the dotted line. Old Benjamin Franklin said: “We shall all hang separately or we shall hang together.” They pledged their fortunes, their lives—think of that—their sacred honor.

The men who signed this Declaration of Independence were committing treason—treason—when they signed that Declaration of Independence. They could have been taken to England, tried, and hanged, or gone to the guillotine, like Charles I. It may not have been a guillotine, but it was certainly an accurate axman.

But they wrote this Constitution to create limited government, divided government, with tensions separating the various Departments. Yes, they were written on parchment, these barriers to tyranny, to power. And there had to be jealousy among those three Departments. It was thought they would defend the prerogatives of that Department against the encroachments of another Department. That was the way it was meant to be.

And when I came here to this Senate, there were men and one woman. Margaret Chase Smith sat right over there, where my hand is pointing to that desk over there in the front row on the Republican side. Those men and one woman, what would they have said? Would they have said: “Let’s go home to supper early. Let’s just give it to them. They have the votes”? No, not those Senators; not Styles Bridges; not Senator Hickenlooper; not Senator Bennett of Utah; not Senator Davis of New York; not Senator George Allen of Virginia; not Mike Mansfield of Montana; not Richard B. Russell of Georgia who sat at this desk; not Willis Robertson of Virginia; not Harry Byrd, Sr., of Virginia; not Senator O’Mahoney of New York; not Senator Symington of Missouri; not John McClellan of Arkansas; not William Fulbright of Arkansas; not Everett Dirksen of Illinois, who wanted the marigold the national flower; not Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, who sat on this side of the aisle, my side; not Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina; not Samuel Ervin of North Carolina; not Norris Cotton of New Hampshire; no, not those men and that lady who wrote her declaration of conscience as she sat at that desk, Margaret Chase Smith.

Those Senators on both sides of the aisle would have had none of this. They wouldn’t have stood still for that kind of halter to be placed over their heads, for that kind of noose to be placed around their necks. They would not have stood for that.

We have great Senators today. I have always thought, as I have looked back and I have thought about the Senators we have today, how intellectually advanced they are. They are really smart. And a lot of their hearts are in the right place. But something happened to them. We are much smarter than they were, maybe. It is guided too much by partisan politics.

But back to the question at hand. There have been a lot of changes in the White House, too. I don’t believe that Dwight D. Eisenhower would have had all these men see this. Dwight Eisenhower was a President who prayed himself. He prayed in his first inaugural address. The President of the United States, Dwight Eisenhower, spoke the prayer and asked for divine guidance.

George Washington, the greatest of all, said, no, I can’t do this. This is something that Congress will have to decide, when it came to using the military.

Well, those days are gone. I say again that only an office that has the authority of both the White House and the Congress can act in a way that will realistically guarantee that homeland security policy will be fully implemented in the farthest corners of the Federal Government. That man who sits down there in the White House, who will be the new Homeland Security Director, needs the authority of the Senate behind him. He needs the formal authority of the confirmation by the Senate behind him.

Then he can go out and speak to the American people with the knowledge that he has the authority—not just the authority of someone who has been created by an Executive order but someone whose position has been created by the Congress of the United States, and he himself, as the person, has been confirmed by the Senate of the United States.

I should think that he would be viewed by the American people, if they stop and think, as having more real authority if he is confirmed by the Senate of the United States. I have a feeling that Congress would look upon him as somebody who is not a part of the White House. Even when the President’s advisers want to conceal agency mismanagement or shift public focus toward a war with Iraq, Congress can make sure that the Director’s job is getting done because Congress can ask him directly and say: All right, Mr. Director, we want to know about your stewardship. We are all going to have to answer for our stewardship—we Senators, who are voted in by many of the people in the administration, who have to be confirmed by Senators. We Senators have to answer for our stewardship. I have answered for my stewardship many times over a political career. I have been in the Senate in this instance, according to the Constitution.

By giving the new Director statutory authorities, statutory responsibilities, we will ensure that he will have independent authority to act from within the White House, without having to compete with other advisers to secure the President’s support for his coordination efforts. If he is not required to be confirmed by the Senate, he will have to compete with other advisers who don’t have to be confirmed by the Senate, other staff people who don’t have to be confirmed by the Senate.

He will have to compete with many others who require confirmation. He will have to compete with them to secure the President’s support for his coordination efforts because his coordination efforts, as they are carried out, are going to cut across a lot of lines of authority. They are going to cut across all levels of authority that run between and among two or more agencies, many agencies of the Government.

He is going to have to cut through that redtape. He is going to have to cut through it. What authority does he have? He is the President’s staff man. He is the President’s adviser. Who is the President’s adviser? Did he ever go before the people’s elected representatives in the Senate and get their confirmation? No.

We are all going to have to answer for our stewardship—we Senators, who are voted in by many of the people in the administration, who have to be confirmed by Senators. We Senators have to answer for our stewardship. We are all going to have to answer for our stewardship—we Senators, who are voted in by many of the people in the administration, who have to be confirmed by Senators. We Senators have to answer for our stewardship. I have answered for my stewardship many times over a political career.

Or, no, he is the President’s staff man. He is the President’s adviser. Well, he is an important adviser, and he certainly is an important staff man. He is above the grade level of ordinary staff people, ordinary advisers. He should be confirmed.

So we will not only allow the Director to act independently, we will require him to do so. The Director will have to follow up on the implementation of homeland security strategy because he will have to answer to Congress if he doesn’t.

I have only read three and a half pages thus far. I am a slow reader. How did I ever get through this? Talk about poor readers, my goodness. I have only read three and a half pages, and I have been talking—how long have I been talking, may I ask the clerk through the Chair? The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. WELLSSTONE). The Senator has been speaking for 2 hours 15 minutes.

Mr. BYRD. My lands, that is a lot of time. Was it 2 hours and a half? The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from West Virginia has been speaking for 2 hours 15 minutes.

Mr. BYRD. And I only just read three and a half pages. I am a slow reader. I had a feeling that Senators just wanted me to keep on. They don’t want to come over and hear this, I am trying to get their attention. Three and a half pages in 2 hours 15 minutes.

Mr. President, while I am speaking, it reminds me of Cicero, who was asked the question: “Which of Demosthenes’ speeches do you like best?” Cicero answered: “That is how good Demosthenes was.”

Mr. REID. Will the Senator yield for a question?

Mr. BYRD. Is it a question the Senator thinks I might be able to answer?

Mr. REID. Mr. BYRD. Then, yes, always.

Mr. REID. Is the Senator aware he has spoken 2 hours 15 minutes just this last round? Prior to that, he spoke for an hour. So this is actually 3 hours 15 minutes, other than the short quorum call after which I requested that the Senate have the floor. So, actually, it has been closer to 3 hours 15 minutes. Is the Senator aware of that?

Mr. BYRD. I wasn’t really aware of the passage of time. Along that line, may I say, let me see if I can quote a little verse by someone else:

The clock of life is wound but once.
And no man has the power to know just when the hand will strike, at late or early
Now is all the time we have, so live, love, and work with a will.

Take no thought of tomorrow, for the clock may then be still.

Mr. REID. May the Senator ask another question?

Mr. BYRD. Yes.

Mr. REID. Is the Senator aware that the majority leader has authorized me to announce that there will be no more rollcall votes today?

Mr. BYRD. I am not aware of that. That might change my outlook.

Mr. REID. That is what I was thinking might be the case.

Mr. BYRD. That might send me home to my dear wife of 65 years and 3 months and 14 days.

Mr. REID. May I ask one other question? It would also send me home to my wife. We were married 43 years ago today, September 12. So it is my anniversary today. But I don’t want the Senator to feel any compulsion that I should get home early.

Mr. BYRD. I really feel guilty in detaining the distinguished Senator, the very able Senator, my friend. He is one I have admired all the time I have known him. I am sorry I have detained him on his wedding anniversary. I wish the Senator would have let me know that a little earlier.

Mr. REID. If I may say one more thing. I was looking for an opportunity. In fact, I suggested it, but they said it would be very unsenatorial. I was considering waving a white flag because they surrendered some time ago and indicated that they had left. There was going to be a motion to table made when the Senator decided to sit down, but there wasn’t any. Maybe that might take a long time. So they decided to go home some time ago. I indicated it would be very unsenatorial to wave a white flag in the Senate, so I thought this would be a better way of telling you there is going to be no motion to table made tonight.

Mr. BYRD. I see a more colorful hue as I look for you here. My little dog’s name is Trouble. My wife named the dog. Obviously, she was looking at me when she named the little dog Trouble. That little dog Trouble loves me, but he loves my wife more.

My wife is in the hospital right now. I should go over to visit her. I am a little too late already.

I am trying to remember what the great Englishman, Edmund Burke, said when he named the little dog Trouble. The “whipper-in” was the person who kept the horse running away from the field in the fox chase.

The English had the whip in the 14th century, certainly in the 17th century, the 1600s. The whip at that time would send a circular letter to the supporters of the King and tell them to come in and meet in Parliament at a certain day and a certain time about a certain business. That was the English whip. That is where the whip system started.

The House has a whip. The Senate has not had a whip as long as the other body has had a whip. The Senate has a great distinguished senior Senator from Nevada. I have been a whip, and before that I served under whips. I was a whip for 6 years, and I was a good whip. I stayed on the Senate floor all the time.

But I say right here and now, as far as I am concerned, Senator Reid of Nevada is the best whip the Senate has ever had, notwithstanding even that I was a Senate whip. I served as whip when Mr. Mansfield was majority leader. I put everything I had into being a whip, and then he has a delegation from Nevada that he has to go and see. But this whip is here at all times, or when he is here to protect me. If I leave the floor, he will protect me. I know he will. He is a good whip. He is a great whip.

I will take the last of that off day and say: Gunga Din, you are a better whip than I am. That is saying a lot. I don’t say that often. I was a good whip, but the Senator is a better whip than I was because he probably is more loyal to his party than I was and truly loyal to his majority leader than I was.

I stood on this floor offering an amendment during the Vietnam war to say the President of the United States—who happened to be Richard Nixon at the time—had a duty to do whatever it took. If it meant bombing the Vietcong across the lines in Cambodia, the President had a duty to do that to protect our American service men.

I offered that amendment, and my majority leader was opposed to it. I stood by it; I fought the fight and lost. Mr. Nixon called me on the telephone that same afternoon from Camp David. He said: “Bob, come down here.” I called him Bob. My wife does not call me Bob. She is kind enough to call me Robert. He said: “Bob, that’s a great thing you did. In his words, he said: You did a statesmanlike job. You stood for what you believed in, and you offered an amendment on behalf of the servicemen, the men in the field. You stood by what you thought, and you even stood against your own party, the leadership.

That was all right, and that was well and good for me because I have my own views of what is required of me. But the distinguished Senator from Nevada, he is not disloyal to his leader, not to the people over here who elected him. That is the Senator, not to the people back in Nevada who sent him here. I salute him.

I will quietly fold my tent and fade away from the Chamber if he is about to tell me that there will not be any more votes and that tomorrow, when we come back, I may have the floor again.

Mr. Reid. Will the Senator yield for a brief comment in response to the Senator?

Mr. BYRD. Yes.

Mr. REID. The plan tomorrow is to come in and we will be on the Interior appropriations bill until noon. Senator DASCHLE is planning on having a vote on a judge around 10 o’clock, and that will be by voice. Senator Dodd, and I think Senator Biden, or someone is opposing his legislation, will debate for a half hour, and that vote will occur at 10:15 tomorrow morning. Tomorrow morning, we will be on the Interior appropriations bill.

I, frankly, do not think we can work anything out on forest fire suppression. I will try, but I do not think it can be done. So the leader has to make a decision as to whether he is going to file cloture on the Craig amendment. We may have to do that tomorrow, when we come back. I may have the floor again.

Mr. REID. Will the Senator yield for the Senator?

Mr. BYRD. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. Reid. I am the only one in the Chamber and I certainly would not object to that. I do not think anyone from the minority is present, and they do not have any basis for objecting anyway. The Senator has the floor now.

We would attempt tomorrow morning—of course, the Senator is the manager of the other bill. We would attempt during that period of time to see what we can work out on this homeland security bill so we can attempt to move forward in some way, because certainly what we do not want, at least tomorrow, is to be in a position where we have to file cloture. I do not think that is necessary.

We will be happy to meet with the Senator tomorrow.

I ask unanimous consent that when the Senate next goes to S. 5005, the first recognition be given to the Senator from West Virginia.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the speech I have made not be counted as a speech under the two-speech rule.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BYRD. May I say to the distinguished Senator, I am quite happy to go home. These old legs of mine have been carrying me around now for a long time. I always had heard that when one gets to be up in years a little bit, the feet and the legs first start to trouble one. So I can bear witness to that.

In case there are any Senators who think the distinguished majority whip is done—well, we could go home if the Senator would take a seat, let me say I have only spoken 2 hours and 15 minutes—is that accurate?
Mr. REID. Three hours and 15 minutes. Now it is about 3 1/2 hours.

Mr. BYRD. And I am only on page 3 of page 4. Well, that is just a start. As John Paul Jones said, “We have just begun to fight.”

I have in my pocket the Constitution of the United States and the Declaration of Independence. Once I finished page 4 tonight, I intended to start reading the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States to follow.

Mr. REID. I say to my friend, I do not think he would have to read it, would he?

Mr. BYRD. I think reading it makes it better.

Mr. REID. Does not the Senate have that memorized anyway?

Mr. BYRD. I know something about the Constitution, but I will save that for another day. I have a number of poems which I would be glad to quote even though these old legs are getting tired. Shall I quote one?

Mr. REID. I personally would like to hear a poem.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I never was a show-off so I am not going to quote any poetry tonight. That would be showing off. I just wanted the Senator to know I could quote some poems. I can read the Constitution and comment on it as I go along. I can read the Declaration of Independence. I can read the Bible. I can read Milton’s “Paradise Lost.” I could read Carlyle’s “History of the French Revolution.” I could even read Daniel Defoe’s “Robinson Crusoe.” Just because my legs are hurting and I am growing quite frail and my voice is a little weak, I am not quite ready to say, well, they have the votes and let us quit.

I thank the distinguished Democratic whip. The Senator knows I am getting tired, which is why I am not saying things just right.

Let me see if there is anything else for which I need consent. I believe not, but it is my understanding that I will be recognized when the Senate next returns to the homeland security legislation. I thank the Chair and I thank the whip.

I yield the floor.

Mr. REID. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, my statement has to undergo some interruption because of the colloquy between Mr. Reid and myself. But the little remainder that I just read just now, I hope it will be understood from those who read the Record, that was the closing part of a previously prepared speech, and I hope they will keep that in mind when they read all parts of it in the Record. I would not ask it be joined directly with the first part, because of that colloquy.

I yield the floor and suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

MORNING BUSINESS

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate now proceed to a period of morning business, with Senators allowed to speak for a period not to exceed 5 minutes each.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

IRAQ

Mr. EDWARDS. Mr. President, as a member of the Senate Intelligence Committee, I firmly believe that the issue of Iraq is not about politics. It’s about national security. We know that for at least 20 years, Saddam Hussein has aggressively and obsessively sought weapons of mass destruction through every means available. We know that he has chemical and biological weapons today. He has used them in the past, and he is doing everything he can to build more. Each day he inches closer to his longtime goal of nuclear capability—a capability that could be less than a year away.

Saddam has proven his willingness to act irrationally and brutally against his neighbors and against his own people. Iraq’s destructive capacity has the potential to throw the entire Middle East into chaos, and poses a mortal threat to our vital ally, Israel.

What’s more, the terrorist threat against America is all too clear. Thousands of terrorist operatives around the world would pay anything to get their hands on Saddam’s arsenal, and there is every possibility that he could turn his weapons over to these terrorists. No one can doubt that if the terrorists of September 11 had had weapons of mass destruction, they would have used them. On September 12, 2002, we can hardly ignore the terrorist threat, and the serious danger that Saddam would allow his arsenal to be used in aid of terror.

Iraq has continued to develop its arsenal in defiance of the collective will of the international community, as expressed through the United Nations Security Council. It is violating the terms of the cease-fire that ended the Gulf War and ignoring as many as 16 U.N. Security Council resolutions—including 11 resolutions concerning Iraq’s efforts to develop weapons of mass destruction.

Those U.N. resolutions are not unilateral American demands. They involve obligations Iraq has undertaken to the international community. By ignoring them, Saddam Hussein is undermining the credibility of the United Nations and acting in defiance of international law, and making a mockery of the very idea of international collective action which is so important to the United States and our allies.

The time has come for decisive action. With our allies, we must do whatever is necessary to guard against the threat posed by an Iraq armed with weapons of mass destruction, and under the thumb of Saddam Hussein. The United States must lead an international effort to remove the regime of Saddam Hussein and to assure that Iraq fulfills its obligations to the international community.

This is not an easy decision, and it will carry costs, certainly in resources, and possibly in lives. After careful consideration, I believe that the risk of inaction is far greater than the risk of action.

As we set out on this course, we must be as conscious of our special responsibility as we are confident in the righteousness of our cause.

The United States has a special role of leadership in the international community. As America and its allies move down this path, we must do so in a way that preserves the legitimacy of our actions, enhances international consensus, and strengthens our global leadership.

First, this means making the strongest possible case to the American people about the danger Saddam poses. Months of mixed messages, high-level speculation about possible military plans have caused widespread concern among many Americans and around the world.

I am encouraged that the President has overruled some of his advisors and decided to ask for the support of Congress. From the support of Congress, this effort will derive even greater and more enduring strength.

Second, the Administration must do as much as possible to rally global support of the international community under the mandate of the United Nations Security Council. We should tap into the strengths of existing alliances like NATO to enforce such a mandate. Saddam and his allies deserve more than just token consultation. The Bush administration must make a full-court press to rally global support, much like the impressive effort President Bush’s father made to rally the first international coalition against Saddam in the fall of 1990. If they do, I believe they will succeed.

If, however, the United Nations Security Council is prevented from supporting an international effort to remove Saddam, the United States must act with as many allies as possible to ensure that Iraq meets its obligations to existing Security Council resolutions. After all, that’s what the U.S. and its NATO allies did during the 1999 war in Kosovo, when a U.N. Security Council resolution was impossible.

Third, we must be honest with the American people about the extraordinary commitment this task entails. It is likely to cost us much in the short run. But it will command our attention and commitment for the long-haul. We have to show the world that we are prepared to do what it takes to help rebuild a post-Saddam Iraq and give the long-suffering Iraqi people the chance to live under freedom.

Working with our allies, we have to be prepared to deal with the consequences of success—helping to promote democracy throughout the world. We must lead an international effort to remove the regime of Saddam Hussein and to assure that Iraq fulfills its obligations to the international community.

Ensuring that Iraq complies with its commitments to the international community is the mission of the moment. Rebuilding Iraq and helping it evolve into a democracy at peace with itself and its neighbors will be the mission of many years.

Unfortunately, the administration’s record to date gives me cause for concern. They must not make the same mistakes in post-Saddam Iraq that they are making in post-Taliban Afghanistan, where they have been dangerously slow in meeting the real commitment necessary to help democracy take root and flourish.

Finally, the administration must show that its actions against Iraq are part of a broader strategy to strengthen American security around the world.

We must address the most insidious threat posed by weapons of mass destruction—the threat that comes from the ability of terrorists to obtain them. We must do much more to support the many disarmament programs already in place to dismantle weapons and prevent access to weapons-grade materials in Russia and the former Soviet states; and to fully fund the Nunn-Lugar program that supports the ability of terrorists to obtain them.

We must do much more to support the many disarmament programs already in place to dismantle weapons and prevent access to weapons-grade materials in Russia and the former Soviet states; and to fully fund the Nunn-Lugar program that supports the ability of terrorists to obtain them.

We must also have a national strategy for energy security, working to strengthen relationships with new suppliers and doing more to develop alternative sources of power.

And we must do far more to promote democracy throughout the world. We must lead an international effort to remove the regime of Saddam Hussein and to assure that Iraq fulfills its obligations to the international community.

The path of confronting Saddam is full of hazards. But the path of inaction is far more dangerous. This week, a week where we remember the sacrifice of Americans and our mothers and fathers, and our sons and daughters.

SEPTEMBER 11 REMEMBRANCE

Mr. ENZL. Mr. President, yesterday we marked the anniversary of one of the most horrific events in our Nation’s history. On September 11 of last year, without provocation or warning, extremists took control of four of our planes and used them as weapons of destruction against us to cowardly take from our lives our loved ones and friends. We remember the loss of the passengers and crew of those planes, the brave First Responders who gave their lives to help those who were injured, and the loved ones of the victims who are here today. One year ago this week, terrorists made a Applicants to Congress — Senate we saw more of our Nation’s brave men and women lose their lives in the support and defense of others. It was not only a terrible loss of life. It was a loss of our most vital and valuable resources, our Nation’s people and the potential they carried within them for greater challenges and endeavors of importance to them and to us.

As we watched the images broadcast around the world, we all made a decision in our hearts to do everything we could to protect the attack on our nation, our freedom, our liberty and our way of life. For each of us it meant something different, but for all of us, it helped to know there was something we could all do to help.

For Congress, that meant expressing our strongest support for the President and his ambitious and necessary plan to end the global network of terror that has sown the seeds of despair and hatred wherever it has found fertile ground. The President’s plan is to do more than defeat the forces of terror. It is to replace those seeds of anger and hatred with seeds of hope and peace.

For our Nation’s Armed Forces, it meant answering the call to duty and taking arms against an enemy who placed no value on human life.

The rules of war are not many, but one unavoidable one is that it takes the lives of our young men and women. One of those we lost in the early stages of the war on terror was our own, Jonn Edmunds, an Army Ranger from Cheyenne, who gave his life in Afghanistan as he fought and died for a cause that he believed in.

For all Americans, it meant an awakening of our sense of patriotism and our love of country, as we put aside our differences and unfurled our flags and proudly displayed them on our porches and windows. We came together as one, united in support of our leaders and our President.

We know from past experience that the effort to respond to challenges like this is not a quick or easy one. It takes a lengthy and determined commitment to principle if we are to succeed.

I have no doubt our resolve will remain strong and we will be united in purpose, as we have done before when called to respond to a threat to our way of life.

A little over fifty years ago, on a day that has been compared to this one, those who opposed us were heard to say after their attack that they may have done nothing more than awaken a sleeping giant. On that day in December and this one in September, we may have been a sleeping giant, but when the time came to respond, we rose to the challenge and by so doing, we changed the world.

We have to respond with strength and determination because those who attacked us chose their targets with such clear and evil intent. They attacked the World Trade Center, be- cause of its symbolic representation of our economic power. They attacked the Pentagon because of its symbolic re-presentation of the power of our military. And they sought to attack our Nation’s capital because it is the heart of our government and it represents our democracy and our way of life.

No one will ever forget where they were or what they were doing as they first learned of the terrorist attack on our Nation. We all sat and watched in stunned silence as events unfolded that are now forever etched in our mind.

In the days that have passed since then, we have kept alive the memory of those we lost, repaired and restored what we could, and made plans to recreate what could not be saved. It has been a difficult and daunting task.

Through it all the President has led a united Nation, committed to ending the threat of terrorism, not just for us, but for our children, and for all the children of the world who deserve to grow up and pursue a dream of peace, hope and opportunity.

When those terrorists struck at the heart of our Nation that day they took something more precious than our buildings, and the symbols of American pride and ingenuity we all hold dear. When they took our loved ones from us, they took the innocence of our children who had to learn quickly, and at a young and tender age, that there are bad people in the world who do bad things. And that all too often, bad things happen to good people.

But, when they looked at us with questioning eyes, did any of us have a good answer to the question they wanted asked, the most, “Why?” Fortunately, the President’s leadership has enabled him to put together an international coalition dedicated to dismantling the network of terror and to bringing those responsible to justice, wherever they may try to hide.

The conspiracy of terrorism can only survive in the darkness of hatred. It cannot survive if we learn the light of peace to bear on all the Nations of the world. That light is the symbol of freedom that our Statue of Liberty holds proudly and with purpose in the harbor of New York, not far from where the Twin Towers once stood. It is a light that will someday shine for everyone in every country in the world, and we will all live in peace and freedom.

We are, and always will be, a Nation of integrity. There is something more precious than our lives, our own goals and ambitions, and our own plans for our lives. But, when faced with a crisis, as we were last year, we come together as one united in our commitment that no one will ever have to endure a tragedy as terrible as the events that unfolded last year.

Yesterday was a day of remembrance. It will always be so. May it serve as a constant reminder that we are one Na- tion, under God, with liberty and jus- tice for all.

The lives of all those who were lost are like an unfinished symphony that has been left to us to continue and complete. We carry their dreams, their hopes, their ambitions, their challenges and their plans for the future with us. With God’s strength and the support of each of us we will complete the work they started and ensure the safety and security of all people, of all countries, and of all regions of the world for generations to come.

CBO ESTIMATES ON REPORTED BILLS

Mr. BIDEN. Mr. President, prior to the August recess, the Committee on Foreign Relations reported several bills without written report. At the time, the Congressional Budget Office, CBO, estimates on the bills were not available. I ask unanimous consent that the CBO estimates on these bills, S. 1777, H.R. 4558, and H.R. 2121, be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

U.S. CONGRESS,
CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE,
Washington, DC, August 1, 2002.

Hon. Joseph R. Biden, Jr.,
Chairman, Committee on Foreign Relations,
U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

Dear Mr. Chairman: The Congressional Budget Office has prepared the enclosed cost estimate for S. 1777, the International Disability and Victims of Landmines, Civil Strife, and Warfare Assistance Act of 2002. The CBO staff contacts for this estimate are Joseph C. Whitehill, who can be reached at 226-2841, and Jeanne M. DeSa, who can be reached at 226-9010.

Sincerely,

BARRY B. ANDERSON,
(For Dan L. Crippen, Director).

Enclosure.

S. 1777—International Disability and Victims of Landmines, Civil Strife, and Warfare Assistance Act of 2002

Summary: S. 1777 would authorize the President to furnish assistance to individuals with disabilities in foreign countries, including victims of landmines and other war injuries. The bill would authorize the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID), the CDC, and VA to provide some assistance in this area under more general authority. CBO estimates that implementing S. 1777 would cost about $1 million over the 2003-2005 period. CBO assumes that the legislation will be enacted near the beginning of fiscal year 2003, that the estimated amounts will be appropriated each year, and that outlays will follow historical spending patterns. The budgetary impact of S. 1777 would not affect the budgets of state, local, or tribal governments.

Estimated cost to the Federal Government: For this estimate, CBO assumes that the legislation will be enacted near the beginning of fiscal year 2003, that the estimated amounts will be appropriated each year, and that outlays will follow historical spending patterns. The costs of this legislation fall within budget. functions 550 (Health) and 700 (veterans benefits and services). By fiscal year, in millions of dollars—

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>2003</th>
<th>2004</th>
<th>2005</th>
<th>2006</th>
<th>2007</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| Lendemans, Civil Strife, and Warfare Assistance Act of 2001, as ordered reported by the House Committee on International Relations on November 1, 2001. That bill would authorize the appropriation of $10 million in 2002 and 2003 for programs to assist individuals with disabilities, including victims of landmines and other victims of warfare and civil strife. USAID currently provides such assistance, primarily through the Patrick Leahy War Victims Fund, with a funding level of $10 million each year. CBO estimates that under S. 1777, funding for individuals with disabilities would continue at that rate.

centers for Disease Control.—Section 3 would authorize assistance to individuals with disabilities, including victims of landmines and other victims of warfare and civil strife. USAID currently provides such assistance, primarily through the Patrick Leahy War Victims Fund, with a funding level of $10 million each year. CBO estimates that under S. 1777, funding for individuals with disabilities would continue at that rate.

Basis of estimate: S. 1777 would authorize the President to furnish assistance to individuals with disabilities, including victims of landmines and other victims of warfare and civil strife. USAID currently provides such assistance, primarily through the Patrick Leahy War Victims Fund, with a funding level of $10 million each year. CBO estimates that under S. 1777, funding for individuals with disabilities would continue at that rate.

U.S. Agency for International Development.—Section 3 would authorize assistance to individuals with disabilities, including victims of landmines and other victims of warfare and civil strife. USAID currently provides such assistance, primarily through the Patrick Leahy War Victims Fund, with a funding level of $10 million each year. CBO estimates that under S. 1777, funding for individuals with disabilities would continue at that rate.

CBO estimates that implementing the act would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.

pay-as-you-go considerations: None.

Intergovernmental and private-sector impact: H.R. 2121 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in UMRA and would not affect the budgets of state, local, or tribal governments.

Previous CBO estimate: On November 6, 2001, CBO prepared an estimate for H.R. 3169, the International Disability and Victims of Since the program’s inception, there have been about 250 participants each year. Thus, CBO estimates that any effects on fees collected by the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) or the State Department as a result of extending the program would be insignificant. INS fees are classified as offsetting receipts (a credit against direct spending), and the State Department’s fees are classified as governmental receipts (i.e., revenues).

Pay-as-you-go considerations: The Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act specifies pay-as-you-go procedures for legislation affecting direct spending and receipts. Those procedures would apply to H.R. 4558 because it would affect both direct spending and receipts, but CBO estimates that the annual amount of such changes would not be significant.

Intergovernmental and private-sector impact: H.R. 4558 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in UMRA and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.

Previous CBO estimate: On July 22, 2002, CBO transmitted a cost estimate for H.R. 4558 as ordered reported by the House Committee on July 17, 2002. The two versions of the legislation are identical, as are our cost estimates.

Estimate approved by: Peter H. Fontaine, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

VOTE EXPLANATION

Mr. WELLSTONE. Mr. President, I regret that I was necessarily absent for the vote on the confirmation of Timothy Corrigan to the United States District Court in Florida due to my attendance at Minnesota events commemorating the anniversary of the terrorist attacks of September 11. I would ask that the RECORD reflect that I would have voted yes on this nomination.

LOCAL LAW ENFORCEMENT ACT OF 2001

Mr. SMITH of Oregon. Mr. President, I rise today to speak about hate crimes legislation I introduced with Senator KENNEDY in March of last year. The Local Law Enforcement Act of 2001 would add new categories to current hate crimes legislation sending a signal that violence of any kind is unacceptable in our society.

I would like to describe a terrible crime that occurred in July 2000 in San Diego, CA. Four Mexican migrants were attacked and shot with pellet guns. The assailants, several neo-Nazi skinheads, encountered the victims, beat them, and shot them with high-powered pellet guns. Two of the victims had to have the pellets surgically removed. Police investigated the incident as a hate crime.

I believe that government’s first duty is to defend its citizens, to defend them against the harms that come out of hate. The Local Law Enforcement Enhancement Act of 2001 is now a symbol that can become substance. I believe that by passing this legislation and changing current law, we can change hearts and minds as well.

SPEECH OF YASSER ARAFAT

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, this week, Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat delivered a speech to the Palestinian Legislative Council that I found extremely disappointing.

The speech, which was given Monday, did not outline specific steps to end terrorism against the Israeli people and did not offer any new ideas on how to achieve peace in the Middle East. As one senior European diplomat said, “It was a very shallow speech, repeating the standard phrases he’s used for years now.”

Perhaps most disturbing of all was Yasser Arafat’s outright refusal to call for an end to the practice of suicide bombings, even after his own interior minister, Abdel Razak Yehiyeh, said that all Palestinians should abandon suicide attacks. The omission is especially glaring given that drafts of the speech made available to the media had forehand explicitly called for the parliament to outlaw suicide bombings against civilians. As someone who has continually worked to rally international support against this disgraceful practice, I am greatly saddened that the Palestinian Authority did not have the courage to call for a complete ban on suicide bombings.

Given this most recent failure of Yasser Arafat, I want to bring to the attention of my colleagues a report issued by Amnesty International titled “Without Distinction—Attacks on Civilians by Palestinian Armed Groups.” This report, which was released just weeks before the August recess, documents 128 attacks between September 29, 2000 and May 31, 2002 in which 338 civilians were killed. In the press release issued with the report, William Schultz, Executive Director of Amnesty International USA, says, “there is no justification for attacking civilians, and the authorities must clearly state that all such attacks must cease, whether they take place in Israel, the West Bank or Gaza.” I ask unanimous consent that the entire press release be printed in the RECORD. The full report can be found on the Internet at http://www.amnestyusa.org/countries/israel/occupiedterritories/palestinianauthority/index.html.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

(From Amnesty International, July 11, 2002)

ISRAELI OCCUPIED TERRITORIES/PALESTINIAN AUTHORITY

WASHINGTON, DC.—In a report released today, Amnesty International condemned attacks by Palestinian armed groups against civilians as crimes against humanity and possible war crimes, and called for the perpetrators to be prosecuted.

“There is no justification for attacking civilians, and Palestinian leaders must clearly state that all such attacks must cease, whether they take place in Israel, the West Bank or Gaza,” said William F. Schulz, Executive Director of Amnesty International USA (AIUSA). “Action must then follow words, with those responsible for these attacks arrested and brought to justice in line with international human rights standards.”

The report profiles the groups claiming responsibility for these attacks and reviews the statements of their leaders and officials. For example, the Al-Aqsa Martyrs Brigade, formed by Fatah members in 2000, has claimed responsibility for 40 attacks. Marwan Barghouti, Secretary General of Fatah, stated to Amnesty International that Fatah considers that Israelis in the West Bank and Gaza are “in an occupied country.” Amnesty International asserts that international law prohibits attacks on civilians wherever they are.

Despite an obligation to investigate and prosecute the perpetrators of attacks on civilians, many of the detentions of alleged members of armed groups by the Palestinian Authority are being used to intimidate, interrogate, or carry out such attacks are therefore guilty of crimes against humanity, and the attacks may constitute war crimes. Attacks on civilians are expressly prohibited by the Geneva Conventions and the principles of international humanitarian law.

The report profiles the groups claiming responsibility for these attacks and reviews the statements of their leaders and officials. For example, the Al-Aqsa Martyrs Brigade, formed by Fatah members in 2000, has claimed responsibility for 40 attacks. Marwan Barghouti, Secretary General of Fatah, stated to Amnesty International that Fatah considers that Israelis in the West Bank and Gaza are “in an occupied country.” Amnesty International asserts that international law prohibits attacks on civilians wherever they are.

Despite an obligation to investigate and prosecute the perpetrators of attacks on civilians, many of the detentions of alleged members of armed groups by the Palestinian Authority are being used to intimidate, interrogate, or carry out such attacks are therefore guilty of crimes against humanity, and the attacks may constitute war crimes. Attacks on civilians are expressly prohibited by the Geneva Conventions and the principles of international humanitarian law.

The report profiles the groups claiming responsibility for these attacks and reviews the statements of their leaders and officials. For example, the Al-Aqsa Martyrs Brigade, formed by Fatah members in 2000, has claimed responsibility for 40 attacks. Marwan Barghouti, Secretary General of Fatah, stated to Amnesty International that Fatah considers that Israelis in the West Bank and Gaza are “in an occupied country.” Amnesty International asserts that international law prohibits attacks on civilians wherever they are.

Despite an obligation to investigate and prosecute the perpetrators of attacks on civilians, many of the detentions of alleged members of armed groups by the Palestinian Authority are being used to intimidate, interrogate, or carry out such attacks are therefore guilty of crimes against humanity, and the attacks may constitute war crimes. Attacks on civilians are expressly prohibited by the Geneva Conventions and the principles of international humanitarian law.

The report profiles the groups claiming responsibility for these attacks and reviews the statements of their leaders and officials. For example, the Al-Aqsa Martyrs Brigade, formed by Fatah members in 2000, has claimed responsibility for 40 attacks. Marwan Barghouti, Secretary General of Fatah, stated to Amnesty International that Fatah considers that Israelis in the West Bank and Gaza are “in an occupied country.” Amnesty International asserts that international law prohibits attacks on civilians wherever they are.

Despite an obligation to investigate and prosecute the perpetrators of attacks on civilians, many of the detentions of alleged members of armed groups by the Palestinian Authority are being used to intimidate, interrogate, or carry out such attacks are therefore guilty of crimes against humanity, and the attacks may constitute war crimes. Attacks on civilians are expressly prohibited by the Geneva Conventions and the principles of international humanitarian law.
As we celebrate Hispanic Heritage Month, let us take the time to learn more about these and other Hispanic leaders. But let us also take a moment to recognize the many hardworking Hispanic members of our own communities as well. Let us welcome them when they arrive and ensure that our diversity remains one of our greatest strengths. Their contributions serve to enrich our common culture and we are all the better for it. The truest testimony of our greatness as a nation is that we have embraced the American Dream and the sacrifices people everywhere are willing to make to attain it.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION FOR INTERNATIONAL BROTHERHOOD OF ELECTRICAL WORKERS LOCAL 309

- MR. DURBIN. Mr. President, I rise today to celebrate the centennial of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 309 in Collinsville, IL. On September 11, 1902, eleven electrical workers from my hometown of East St. Louis, IL committed to support a united labor effort by forming their own local chapter. Despite the dangers in developing the electrical industry, the group continued its work and advanced to become highly trained and skilled journeymen.

The group has grown from its eleven original members to 1,100 and has helped shape the Metro-east and surrounding areas of southern Illinois. Local 309 has been a leader in the electrical industry, with advancements in training, organizing, market recovery, and member services. Its apprentice program has been registered in the United States Department of Labor Bureau of Apprenticeship and has been producing skilled and experienced workers for the past 100 years. It continues to show its commitment to the educational needs of its members in this, its centennial year.

Through their expertise and solidarity, today's members of Local 309 continue the legacy of their founders by uniting the electrical workers of southern Illinois under the common goals of fairness, justice, and leadership in their field.

Congratulations to the members of Local 309 on their centennial celebration. Best wishes for the next 100 years.

NATIONAL KIDS VOTING WEEK

- MR. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I wish to take this opportunity to recognize Kids Voting USA and its efforts to educate our children about civic participation, democracy, and the electoral process. Kids Voting USA is an organization that began in my State, but now reaches nearly five million students nationwide.

What began as a fishing trip to Costa Rica by three Arizona businessmen has blossomed into an organization that involves 9,000 schools, 200,000 teachers, 80,000 volunteers, and countless sponsors and donors. With 38 States and more than 140 communities across the Nation participating, Kids Voting USA teaches students from kindergarten through high school about the importance of civic participation and their rights and responsibilities as citizens. Through an acclaimed, interactive core of service-based curricula, young people gain the knowledge, skills, and motivation for democratic living.

This year, National Kids Voting Week is September 11–17, and will coincide with the inauguration of National Civic Participation Week. It will be a week that highlights programs and activities that lead to greater participation in elections and the political process. As we reflect on the events of the last year, National Kids Voting Week will celebrate the vibrant and important Kids Voting program by focusing on the hopes and dreams of young citizens. I would like to recognize Kids Voting USA and all it has done to promote the future of democracy by engaging families, schools, and communities in the election process.

MERCK MECTIZAN DONATION PROGRAM

- MR. CORZINE. Mr. President, I rise today to recognize the 15th anniversary of one of the largest and most successful public/private partnerships in health care in the developing world, the Merck MECTIZAN Donation Program. Today, this program provides hope to millions, and I am proud to pay tribute to Merck & Co., a leading New Jersey corporation, for its work on this critical issue.

On October 21, 1987, Merck & Co., Inc. announced plans to donate MECTIZAN,ivermectin, a medicine Merck discovered to combat river blindness, for as long as it might be needed, wherever needed. Onchocerciasis, “river blindness,” is a leading cause of blindness in the developing world. It is a debilitating and disfiguring disease, affecting millions in sub-Saharan Africa, parts of Central and South America and Yemen in the Middle East. The disease, which has infected 18 million people and has left an estimated one million people blind, is caused by parasitic worms that infiltrate, multiply, and spread throughout the human body.
TRIBUTE TO ALAN KRANOWITZ

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, today I pay tribute to a great friend and outstanding public servant. Alan Kranowitz, who passed away on June 3, 2002, following a long battle with cancer. Alan’s loss continues to reverberate throughout the Washington D.C. area, a testament to the enormous impact he had and the plethora of lasting friendships he made during his 25 years of service as a top advisor to Congressmen and Presidents.

Alan was born and raised in New Britain, CT, and educated at Yale. He first came to Washington in 1965 to serve as executive assistant, and later as chief of staff to my father, Senator Thomas Dodd. By the time Alan left my father’s office in 1971, he was one of my father’s most valued and trusted aides.

But Alan did not only add knowledge and outstanding political instincts to my father’s office. Alan’s wit, good nature, and personal appeal made him beloved beyond measure by everyone who was fortunate enough to have known him, or to have worked with him, in my father’s Senate office, and beyond.

After 1971, Alan moved easily between top congressional staff positions and key policy positions in the Nixon, Ford, and Reagan Administrations. Starting off as Senate liaison for the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development under President Nixon, Alan soon became the chief lobbyist for the Office of Management and Budget in the Nixon and Ford Administrations.

In the mid-1980s, Alan joined the Reagan White House as a chief legislative advisor and liaison, where his encyclopedic knowledge of policy and his personal ability to bridge differences between Democrats and Republicans made him a key player in shaping the legislative agenda of President Reagan’s second term.

Ken Duberstein, President Reagan’s Chief of Staff, told The Washington Post and The New York Times that Alan was an invaluable part of Reagan’s legislative team; that the White House “relied heavily on [Alan] in determining what was possible and doable” because Alan always offered “absolutely unbiased, straightforward advice.”

Aside from working in the White House, in the 1980s, Alan also served as chief of staff to former Representative Tom Loeffler of Texas, and as a senior advisor to House Republican leader Bob Michel.

In 1989, Ronald Reagan appointed Alan as an original council member of the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum in Washington, D.C.

For the past 12 years, Alan served as a senior vice president of the National Association of Wholesalers-Distributors.

I believe that Alan is best remembered in Washington as someone who brought integrity, wherever he went, and excelled at whatever he did. In a town where one’s political and institutional affiliations often define their career options, Alan moved easily from the Senate side, to the House, from Congress to the White House, and from Democratic to Republican positions.

That’s because it was Alan the man, not Alan the Democrat, or Alan the Republican, who lit up a room, who brought charm and grace along with him wherever he went, and who touched the hearts of everyone with whom he came in contact.

Alan’s was a life cut short, and he will be greatly missed. To Carol, his wife of 35 years, and to his sons, Jeremy and David, and everyone else in Alan’s family, I offer my most heartfelt condolences for your loss.

But I came to the floor of the Senate today not simply to mourn his loss. I came to the floor to celebrate a life. The life of Alan Kranowitz was truly a life well-lived. He touched so many and every one of us he touched is a better person because of it.

VANESSA SHORT BULL IS MISS SOUTH DAKOTA

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. President, today I publicly commend Vanessa Short Bull, a resident of Rapid City, South Dakota, on her selection to represent South Dakota in the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, NJ.

Vanessa Short Bull’s extraordinary dedication to educational excellence, to increasing women’s self-esteem, prodigious ballet talent, and years of dedicated practice helped her win the title of Miss South Dakota. Vanessa will now be traveling to Atlantic City to compete against other highly talented women from across our nation for the title of Miss America 2002.

Vanessa obtains the honor of being the first American Indian to be crowned Miss South Dakota. She was born on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation, and currently resides in Rapid City. She is an enrolled member of the Oglala Sioux Tribe, and a direct descendant of several great Lakota leaders. Thomas and Darlene Short Bull are Vanessa’s proud parents, and they deserve special recognition for their role in helping Vanessa obtain this prestigious honor.

“Political Awareness and Participation” is the center of Vanessa’s platform. She believes it is important for Americans, especially young people and minorities, to become more involved in the democratic process. She has been actively helping her cause by registering voters and encouraging them to get out and vote. Vanessa will perform the classical ballet piece ‘The Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy’ for the Miss America competition. She has danced for more than 15 years and has studied at the School of Cleveland Ballet, Ballet West Conservatory, and the University of Utah.

The Miss America Organization has maintained a tradition of empowering American women to achieve their personal and professional goals, while providing a forum for them to express their opinions, talents, and intelligence. Vanessa exemplifies this tradition and provides an excellent example for other gifted young women to emulate. All of South Dakota is proud to have her represent our great state.
Vanessa Short Bull is an extraordinary woman who richly deserves this distinguished recognition. I strongly commend her years of hard work and dedication, and I am very pleased that her substantial efforts are being publicly honored and celebrated. I wish her nothing but the best at the Miss America competition, and it is with great honor that I share her impressive accomplishments with my colleagues.

CHARACTER COUNTS AND ALBUQUERQUE’S SEPTEMBER 11 MEMORATION

- Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, I rise today to highlight the contributions of a community, dedicated to the spirit of the Character Counts education movement, in its commemoration of the first anniversary of the September 11 terrorist attacks on our Nation.

The Nation as a whole this week took time to honor the victims, salute our military men and women fighting the war on terrorism, and reaffirm our faith and belief in our great Nation. New Mexico communities joined in this effort, uniting among them our largest city, Albuquerque.

I rise today to highlight Albuquerque’s tribute because it fused the nearly decade-long effort to build character education into the day-to-day life of the city with the community’s desire to commemorate September 11.

This week, some 4,200 Albuquerque school children simultaneously released helium-filled balloons as part of a “Character Counts Soaring Spirits Salute” to commemorate September 11. This balloon launch gave the students a chance to honor the people who lost their lives in last year’s terrorist attacks.

But the Character Counts rally had a second purpose. We designed this balloon launch to lead into the celebration of National Character Week. Supporters of the Character Counts initiative hope that this will become a yearly observance built around September 11, and the purpose of the week is to celebrate the acts of kindness and courage we see in our communities every single day.

The Character Counts Soaring Spirits Salute involved some outstanding New Mexico community leaders and business owners who worked together to make this event happen, and serve as evidence of a community working together to create something by promoting the tenets of good character. I am proud to say these are people who I am very fortunate to represent a large city, Albuquerque.

A measure of gratitude is also owed to a number of individuals, including: Gabe Garcia and Chris Montaño of Duranews Elementary School; Judi Presston of Video Wizard; Eric Hampleman of Simmons Media; Steve Stucker of KOB-TV; Bill Wood of KRQE-TV; Terry Eisenbart of Southwest Airlines, who sponsored State Fair festivities for the day.

I am very fortunate to represent a community like Albuquerque where I know we can always count on daily acts of Respect, Responsibility, Trustworthiness, Citizenship, Fairness and Caring. Those are the pillars of Character Counts, and it’s why today I congratulate and I deeply thank my neighbors in New Mexico for their daily acts of kindness, courage, and character as we mark our progress as a nation and a united community a year after the terrible attacks on our Nation.

TRIBUTE TO JOHNNY UNITAS

- Ms. MIKULSKI. Mr. President, it is with sadness that I rise today to pay tribute to a great American football player and person who will be sorely missed, not just in Baltimore and Maryland, but across the country. My thoughts and prayers are with his family, his friends, and his many, many fans.

His toughness was legendary. Many times he played with broken bones, through unbearable pain. The words he said to his teammates before every game embodied his spirit: “Talk is cheap, let’s go play.”

His accomplishments are too numerous to mention, but among them are these: 3-time Player of the Year; 3-time NFL Champion; first quarterback to pass for over 40,000 yards; a touchdown pass in 47 consecutive games, a feat which is compared to Joe DiMaggio’s 56-game hitting streak; 10 Pro Bowl selections; Player of the Decade for the 1960’s; Greatest Player in the First 50 Years of the NFL; NFL 75th Anniversary Team; and Hall of Fame Inductee, 1979. When he retired in 1978, Johnny Unitas held 22 NFL records.

It is not just his accomplishments on the field that endeared him to the fans in Baltimore. He was an unassuming superstar, a reluctant hero, a regular guy who happened to be a phenomenal athlete. He understood that a smile or a handshake or an autograph could make a fan’s day.

He was generous with charities, too, even as he fell upon difficult financial times. He established the Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Educational Foundation, and supported various organizations dedicated to children’s causes, cancer research, and victims of sexual assault and domestic violence.

Johnny Unitas was the underdog who became the greatest quarterback in the history of the National Football League. Yet beyond that, he was a fine person who will be sorely missed, not only in Baltimore and Maryland, but across the country. My thoughts and prayers are with his family, his friends, and his many, many fans.

EXPULSION OF THE ACADIANS

- Mr. BREAUX. Mr. President, I rise today to address the injustices the British Crown inflicted upon the Acadian people over 200 years ago. Due to their refusal to take an oath of loyalty to the King of Great Britain that would require them to bear arms against their French ancestors, the British governor exiled them from their homes and confiscated their property in Eastern Canada beginning in 1755.

This action caused great suffering among the Acadians. The Acadians had struggled to find a new home. Forced from their homes, many left for the American colonies. Ultimately, a small group of Acadians found their way to the Spanish colony of Louisiana in 1764. In the next twenty-five years, over 40,000 made the journey to Louisiana.

These refugees ultimately settled in Louisiana and created the Cajun culture which has so richly influenced Louisiana since that time. While Louisana has greatly benefited from the Acadian expulsion, the suffering of the Acadian people must never be forgotten.
MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED

Under the authority of the Senate of January 3, 2001, the Secretary of the Senate, on September 11, 2002, during the recess of the Senate, received a message from the House of Representatives announcing that the Speaker has signed the following enrolled bills:

H.R. 5267. An act to redesignate the facility of the United States Postal Service located at 601 West Old Shakopee Road in Bloomington, Minnesota, as the “Thomas E. Burnett, Jr. Post Office Building”.

MEASURE PLACED ON THE CALENDAR

The following bill was read the second time, and placed on the calendar:

S. 204. A bill to authorize the President to award posthumously the Congressional Gold Medal to the passengers and crew of United Airlines Flight 93 in the aftermath of the terrorist attack on the United States on September 11, 2001.

EXECUTIVE AND OTHER COMMUNICATIONS

The following communications were laid before the Senate, together with accompanying papers, reports, and documents, which were referred as indicated:

EC-8910. A communication from the Assistant Secretary of Defense, Personnel and Readiness, transmitting, the report of a retirement, to the Committee on Armed Services.

EC-8911. A communication from the Under Secretary of Defense, Personnel and Readiness, transmitting, the report of a retirement, to the Committee on Armed Services.

EC-8912. A communication from the Secretary of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, a report covering defense articles and services that were licensed for export under section 38 of the Arms Export Control Act during Fiscal Year 2001; to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

EC-8913. A communication from the Secretary, Postal Rate Commission, transmitting, pursuant to law, a report covering defense articles and services that were licensed for export under section 38 of the Arms Export Control Act during Fiscal Year 2001; to the Committee on Governmental Affairs.

EC-8914. A communication from the Acting Assistant Attorney General for Administration, Justice Management Division, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a nomination confirmed for the position of Commissioner, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives, to the Committee on Governmental Affairs.

EC-8915. A communication from the Assistant Attorney General, Office of Legislative Affairs, Department of Justice, transmitting, pursuant to law, the Report on the Administration of the Foreign Agents Registration Act for the period July 1, 2001, through December 31, 2001; to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

EC-8916. A communication from the Deputy Administrator, Division of Finance, Securities and Exchange Commission, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Acceleration of Periodic Reports Filing Dates and Disclosure Concerning Website Access to Reports” (RIN 3235-A135) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.

EC-8918. A communication from the Railroad Retirement Board, transmitting, pursuant to law, the Budget Request for Fiscal Year 2004; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

EC-8919. A communication from the Chief, Regulations Division, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms, Department of the Treasury, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Addition of Tannat as a Grape Variety Name for American Wines” (RIN1512-AC50) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Finance.

EC-8920. A communication from the Chief, Regulations Division, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms, Department of the Treasury, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “T.D. ATF–482, Expansion of the Lodi Viticultural Area” (RIN1512-AC92) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Finance.

EC-8921. A communication from the Chief of the Regulations Unit, Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Weighted Average Interest Rate Update Notice” (Notice 2002–61) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Finance.

EC-8922. A communication from the Administrator, Dairy Programs, Agricultural Marketing Service, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Fluid Milk Promotion Order; Final Rule” (Doc. No. DA-92–62) received on August 15, 2002; to the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry.

EC-8923. A communication from the Administrator, Dairy Program Marketing Service, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Tart Cherries Grown in the States of Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wisconsin; Order Amending Marketing Agreement and Order No. 930” (Doc. No. AO–370–A7) received on August 15, 2002; to the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry.

EC-8924. A communication from the Administrator, Dairy Programs, Agricultural Marketing Service, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Oranges, Grapefruit, Tangerines, and Tangelos Grown in Florida; Change in the Minimum Maturity Requirements for Fresh Grapefruit” (Doc. No. FY02–095–2 IFR) received on August 15, 2002; to the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry.

EC-8925. A communication from the Administrator, Dairy Programs, Agricultural Marketing Service, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Market Access Program; Child Nutrition Program; Market Promotion Program; and Specialty Crop Block Grant Program” (Doc. No. FY02–091–1 IFR) received on August 15, 2002; to the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry.

The PRESIDING OFFICER laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, together with an accompanying paper, which was referred to the appropriate committees.

(The nominations received today are printed at the end of the Senate proceedings.)
Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Registration Enforcement” (RIN2126-A478) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8927. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Diamond Aircraft Industries GmbH Models D-366, HK 36 TT, HK 36 TS, HK TT, HK 36 TECO, HK 36 TECO-HK and HK TTS Sailplanes” (RIN2120-AA64) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8928. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: de Havilland Inc. Models DHC 2, MK 1, DHC 2 MK II, and DHC 2 MK III Airplanes” (RIN2120-AA64) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8929. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Cessna Model 650 Airplanes” (RIN2120-AA64) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8930. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: McDonnell Douglas Model MD 11 and 11F Airplanes” (RIN2120-AA64) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8932. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: McDonnell Douglas Model MD 11 and 11 F Airplanes” (RIN2120-AA64) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8933. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Turbomeca Makila 1 A, A1, and 1 A2 Turbo-shaft Engines” (RIN2120-AA64) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8934. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Bell Helicopter Textron Model 222, 222B, 222U, and 230 Helicopter” (RIN2120-AA64) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8935. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Model HH 1K, TH 1F, UH 1A, UH 1B, UH 1E, UH 1F, UH 1H, UH 1L, and UH 1P; and SW Florida Airways Model SW204, SW205, SW205A 1 Helicopters Manufactured by Bell Helicopter Textron” (RIN2120-AA64) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8936. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Eurocopter France Model DC120, EC 155B, SA 330F, SA 330G3, SA 330J, AS 332C, AS 332L, AS 332L1A, AS 332S1, AS 332S1B, AS 332S1B2, AS 335D1, AS 335D3, AS 335D5, AS 335F1, AS 335F2, AS 335N, AS 365N2, AS 365N3, SA 365N1 and SA 365N1 Helicopter” (RIN2120-AA64) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8937. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Amendment to Class E Airspace: Established” (RIN2120-AA64) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8938. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Revised Class D Airspace: Established” (RIN2120-AA64) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8939. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Revised Class E Airspace: Springhill, LA” (RIN2120-AA64) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8940. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Revised Class E Airspace: Established” (RIN2120-AA64) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8941. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Revised Class E Airspace: Established” (RIN2120-AA64) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8942. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Revised Class E Airspace: Established” (RIN2120-AA64) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8943. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “ Establishment of Class E Airspace: Aberdeen Field Airport, Smithﬁeld, NC” (RIN2120-AA64) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8944. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “ Establishment of Class E Airspace: Scott Field Airport, Mumang, OK” (RIN2120-AA66) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8945. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “ Establishment of Class E Airspace: Annapolis, MD” (RIN2120-AA66) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8946. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Modification of Class E Airspace: Cordova, AK” (RIN2120-AA66) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8947. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Establishment of Class E Airspace: Cold Bay, AK” (RIN2120-AA66) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8948. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Establishment of Class E Airspace: Buckland, AK” (RIN2120-AA66) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8949. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Establishment of Class E Airspace: Medford, OR” (RIN2120-AA66) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8950. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Establishment of Class E Airspace: Medford, OR” (RIN2120-AA66) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8951. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Establishment of Class E Airspace: Medford, OR” (RIN2120-AA66) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8952. A communication from the Program Analyst of the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Establishment of Class E Airspace: Medford, OR” (RIN2120-AA66) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.
transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Revision of Class E Airspace: Kodiak, AK” (RIN2120–AA66) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8955. A communication from the Chief of Regulations and Administrative Law, United States Coast Guard, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Safety/Security Zone Regulations; Oligir Construction Project Portland Harbor, Portland, ME” (RIN2115–AA97)(2002–0181) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8956. A communication from the Chief of Regulations and Administrative Law, United States Coast Guard, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Safety/Security Zone Regulations; East River, Manhattan, NY” ((RIN2115–AA97)(2002–0183)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8957. A communication from the Chief of Regulations and Administrative Law, United States Coast Guard, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Temporary Requirements for Notification of Arrival in U.S. Waters” (RIN2115–AA97)(2002–0184) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8958. A communication from the Chief of Regulations and Administrative Law, United States Coast Guard, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Regatta Regulations; St. Mary’s River, St. Mary’s City, MD” ((RIN2115–AE36)(2002–0030)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8959. A communication from the Chief of Regulations and Administrative Law, United States Coast Guard, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Regatta Regulations; San Diego Bay, CA” ((RIN2115–AA97)(2002–0179)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8960. A communication from the Chief of Regulations and Administrative Law, United States Coast Guard, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Regatta Regulations; High Intensity Transits, Narragansett Bay, Providence, RI” ((RIN2115–AA97)(2002–0180)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8961. A communication from the Chief of Regulations and Administrative Law, United States Coast Guard, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Safety/Security Zone Regulations; Ventura Offshore Gran Prix, Ventura, California” ((RIN2115–AA97)(2002–0182)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8962. A communication from the Chief of Regulations and Administrative Law, United States Coast Guard, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Safety/Security Zone Regulations; East River, Manhattan, NY” ((RIN2115–AA97)(2002–0182)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8963. A communication from the Chief of Regulations and Administrative Law, United States Coast Guard, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Safety/Security Zone Regulations; Portsmouth Harbor, Portsmouth, NH” ((RIN2115–AA97)(2002–0185)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8964. A communication from the Chief of Regulations and Administrative Law, United States Coast Guard, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Training and Qualifications for Personnel on Passenger Ships” (RIN2115–AF93)(2002–0183) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8965. A communication from the Chief of Regulations and Administrative Law, United States Coast Guard, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Drawbridge Regulations (2 regulations)” ((RIN2115–AE97)(2002–0181)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8966. A communication from the Chief of Regulations and Administrative Law, United States Coast Guard, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Drawbridge Regulations; Oilrig Construction Project Portland Harbor, Portland, ME” ((RIN2115–AE97)(2002–0080)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8967. A communication from the Federal Airworthiness Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Boeing Model 777 Series Airplanes” (RIN2120–AA64)(2002–0391) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8969. A communication from the Federal Airworthiness Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Dornier Model 328–100 and 328–300 Series Airplanes” (RIN2120–AA64)(2002–0393) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8970. A communication from the Federal Airworthiness Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Boeing Model 777 Series Airplanes” (RIN2120–AA64)(2002–0389) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8971. A communication from the Federal Airworthiness Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Boeing Model 777 Series Airplanes” (RIN2120–AA64)(2002–0389) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8972. A communication from the Federal Airworthiness Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Boeing Model DHC–8–100, 200, and 300 Series Airplanes” (RIN2120–AA64)(2002–0389) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC–8973. A communication from the Federal Airworthiness Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Boeing Model DH–8–100, 200, and 300 Series Airplanes” (RIN2120–AA64)(2002–0389) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.
EC-8982. A communication from the Paral-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Airbus Model A320 and A321 Series Airplanes” ((RIN2120-AA64)(2002-0397)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8983. A communication from the Paral-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Adminis-tration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “IFR Altitudes; Miscellaneous Amendments Amendment No. 3016” ((RIN2120-AA65)(2002-0146)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8984. A communication from the Para-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Adminis-tration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: McDonnell Douglas Model MD-11 Airplanes” ((RIN2120-AA64)(2002-0401)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8985. A communication from the Para-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Adminis-tration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Standard Instrument App-roach Procedures; Miscellaneous Amend-ments 5 Amendment No. 3020” ((RIN2120-AA65)(2002-0046)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8986. A communication from the Para-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Adminis-tration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Standard Instrument App-roach Procedures; Miscellaneous Amend-ments 5 Amendment No. 3020” ((RIN2120-AA65)(2002-0046)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8987. A communication from the Para-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Adminis-tration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Bell Helicopter Textron, a Division of Textron Canada, Model 407 Helicopters” ((RIN2120-AA64)(2002-0398)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8988. A communication from the Para-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Adminis-tration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Boeing Model 737-100, 200, 300, 400, and 500 Series” ((RIN2120-AA64)(2002-0399)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8989. A communication from the Para-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Adminis-tration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Standard Instrument App-roach Procedures; Miscellaneous Amend-ments 2 Amendment No. 3015” ((RIN2120-AA65)(2002-0048)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8990. A communication from the Para-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Adminis-tration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Standard Instrument App-roach Procedures; Miscellaneous Amend-ments 2 Amendment No. 3015” ((RIN2120-AA65)(2002-0048)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8991. A communication from the Paral-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Adminis-tration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Raytheon Model Bae.125 Series 100A Air-planes and Model Hawker 1000 Airplanes” ((RIN2120-AA64)(2002-0405)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8992. A communication from the Para-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Adminis-tration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Learjet Model 45 Airplanes” ((RIN2120-AA64)(2002-0406)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8993. A communication from the Para-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Adminis-tration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Boeing Model 727 Series Airplanes (Restricted Category), and HK 36 TTS Sail-planes” ((RIN2120-AA64)(2002-0407)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8994. A communication from the Para-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Adminis-tration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Class E Airspace: Seneca Falls, NY” ((RIN2120-AA65)(2002-0590)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8995. A communication from the Para-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Adminis-tration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Diamond Aircraft Industries GmbH Models HK 36R “Super Dimona”, HK 36TC, HK 36TS, HK 36 TTC, HK 36 TTC-Eco, HK 36 TTC-Eco (Restricted Category), and HK 36 TTS Sail-planes” ((RIN2120-AA64)(2002-0402)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8996. A communication from the Para-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Adminis-tration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Raytheon Model BAe.125 Series 100A Air-planes” ((RIN2120-AA64)(2002-0407)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8997. A communication from the Para-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Adminis-tration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Poplarville, MS” ((RIN2120-AA65)(2002-0146)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8998. A communication from the Para-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Adminis-tration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Rockwell International Model A/B/870/181stu Manne Free Gas Balloons” ((RIN2120-AA64)(2002-0803)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

EC-8999. A communication from the Para-legal Specialist, Federal Aviation Adminis-tration, Department of Transportation, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Airworthiness Directives: Boeing Model 727 Series Airplanes (Restricted Category)” ((RIN2120-AA64)(2002-0402)) received on September 9, 2002; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

The following reports of committees were submitted:

By Mr. BINGAMAN, from the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources, with amendments:

S. 1069: A bill to amend the National Trails System Act to clarify Federal authority relating to the purchase of land in a substitute of the Interior to grant to Deschutes and Crook Counties in the State of Oregon a right-of-way to West Butte Road. (Rept. No. 107-276).

By Mr. BINGAMAN, from the Committee on National Resources, with an amendment in the nature of a substitute:

S. 1277: A bill to direct the Secretary of the Interior to grant to Deschutes and Crook Counties in the State of Oregon a right-of-way to West Butte Road. (Rept. No. 107-277).
S. 2712: A bill to authorize economic and democratic development assistance for Afghanistan and to authorize military assistance for Afghanistan and certain other foreign countries (S. 3607); to the Committee on Armed Services.

By Mr. LEAHY, from the Committee on the Judiciary, with the report:

H. R. 669: A bill to make technical corrections to certain veterans' trust fund laws and to references to such laws.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

The following bills and joint resolutions were introduced, read the first and second times by unanimous consent, and referred as indicated:

By Mr. THOMPSON: S. 2925. A bill to provide that certain ceiling fans enter duty-free and without any quantitative limitations if the competitive need limitation had been waived with respect to the fans; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. SANTORUM: S. 2926. A bill to name the Department of Veterans Affairs Outpatient Clinic in Horsham, Pennsylvania, as the “Victor J. Saracini Department of Veterans Affairs Outpatient Clinic”; to the Committee on Veterans Affairs.

By Mr. SMITH of Oregon (for himself and Mr. WYDEN): S. 2927. A bill to extend the deadline for commencement of construction of a hydroelectric project in the State of Oregon; to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources.

By Mr. JEFFORDS (for himself, Mr. LEAHY, Mrs. CLINTON, and Mr. SCHUMER): S. 2928. A bill to amend the Federal Water Pollution Control Act and the Water Resources Development Act of 2000 to modify provisions relating to the Lake Champlain basin; to the Committee on Environment and Public Works.

By Mrs. FEINSTEIN (for herself and Mrs. BOXER): S. 2929. A bill to designate the facility of the United States Postal Service located at 265 South Western Avenue, Los Angeles, California, as the “Nat King Cole Post Office”; to the Committee on Governmental Affairs.

By Mr. BINGAMAN: S. 2930. A bill to amend the Secure Rural Schools and Community Self-Determination Act of 2000 to clarify the treatment of title III project funds reserved by countries under such Act for purposes of disbursements under chapter 69 of title 31, United States Code: to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources.

By Mrs. FEINSTEIN (for herself and Mrs. BOXER): S. 2931. A bill to designate the facility of the United States Postal Service located at 3868 W. Oak Avenue in Encino, California, as the “Francis Bayless Hearn Post Office”; to the Committee on Governmental Affairs.

By Mr. GREGG (for himself, Mr. ENZI, Ms. COLLINS, and Mr. COCHRAN): S. 2932. A bill to make technical amendments to the Higher Education Act of 1965, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

By Mr. BREAUX (for himself, Mr. HATCH, Mr. BAUCUS, Ms. COLLINS, Mrs. CARNAN, Mr. SMITH of Oregon, Mrs. LINCOLN, Mr. BOND, Mr. TORRICELLI, Mr. NELSON of Nebraska, and Ms. STABENOW): S. 2933. A bill to promote elder justice, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Finance.

SUBMISSION OF CONCURRENT AND SENATE RESOLUTIONS

The following concurrent resolutions and Senate resolutions were read, and referred (or acted upon), as indicated:

By Mr. SESSIONS (for himself, Mr. REID, Mr. CRAPO, Ms. LANDRIEU, Mr. MURKOWSKI, Mr. TORRICELLI, Mr. HAGEL, Mrs. LINCOLN, Mr. GRASSLEY, Mr. DORGAN, Mr. SHELEY, Mrs. FEINSTEIN, Mr. HELMS, Ms. CANTWELL, Mr. DEWINE, Mr. MILLER, Mr. INOUYE, Mr. BROWNBACK, Mr. CORZINE, Mr. CRAIO, Mr. JOHNSON, Mr. ROBERTS, Mr. EDWARDS, Mr. SMITH of Oregon, Mrs. CLINTON, Mr. CAMPBELL, Mr. FITZGERALD, Mr. LIEBERMAN, Mr. ENSIGN, Mr. KENNEDY, Ms. SNOWE, Mr. SARAHANS, Mr. HATCH, Mr. BREAUX, Mr. THURMOND, and Mrs. CARNAN): S. Res. 323. Resolution designating the month of September 2002 as “National Prostate Cancer Awareness Month”; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

By Mr. BIDEN (for himself, Mr. AKAKA, Mr. ALLEN, Mr. BAYH, Mr. BINGAMAN, Mrs. BOXER, Mr. BREAUX, Mr. BROWNBACK, Mr. BUNNING, Ms. CANTWELL, Mrs. CARNANAH, Mr. CARPER, Mr. CLELAND, Ms. COLLINS, Mr. CRAGUE, Mr. DODD, Mr. DOMENICI, Mr. DORGAN, Mr. DURBIN, Mr. FITZGERALD, Mr. GRAHAM, Mr. GRASSLEY, Mr. HAGEL, Mr. HATCH, Mr. HELMS, Mrs. HUTCHISON, Mr. INOUYE, Mr. JOHNSON, Mr. KENNEDY, Mr. KERRY, Ms. LANDRIEU, Mr. LIAHLY, Mr. LEVIN, Mr. LIEBERMAN, Mrs. LINCOLN, Mr. LUGAR, Ms. MIKUSKI, Mr. MILLER, Mr. MURKOWSKI, Mrs. MURRAY, Mr. NELSON of Nebraska, Mr. REID, Mr. ROCKFELLER, Mr. SARBANES, Mr. SMITH of Oregon, Ms. SNOWE, Mr. SPEICHER, Ms. STABENOW, Mr. THURMOND, Mr. TORRICELLI, Mr. VOGOVICH, Mr. WELLSTONE, Mr. WYDEN, and Mrs. CLINTON): S. Res. 326. A resolution designating October 18, 2002, as “National Mammography Day”; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

ADDITIONAL COSPONSORS

S. 354. At the request of Mr. MURRAY, the name of the Senator from Alaska (Mr. MURKOWSKI) was added as a cosponsor of S. 554, a bill to amend title XVIII of the Social Security Act to expand Medicare coverage of certain self-injected biologics.

S. 354. At the request of Mr. TORRICELLI, the name of the Senator from West Virginia (Mr. ROCKFELLER) was added as a cosponsor of S. 654, a bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to restore, increase, and make permanent the exclusion from income for amounts received under qualified group legal services plans.

S. 590. At the request of Mr. CHAFFE, the name of the Senator from Ohio (Mr. VOINOVICH) was added as a cosponsor of S. 933, a bill to amend the Public Health Service Act to authorize the Director of the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences to make grants for the development and operation of research centers regarding environmental factors that may be related to the etiology of breast cancer.

S. 933. At the request of Ms. SNOWE, the name of the Senator from Utah (Mr. HATCH) was added as a cosponsor of S. 1665, a bill to amend title XVIII of the Social Security Act to provide for coverage under the Medicare program of all oral anticancer drugs.

S. 1665. At the request of Mr. BIDEN, the name of the Senator from Wisconsin (Mr. FEINGOLD) was added as a cosponsor of S. 1655, a bill to amend title 18, United States Code, to prohibit certain interstate conduct relating to exotic animals.

S. 1655. At the request of Mr. KERRY, the name of the Senator from Arkansas (Mrs. LINCOLN) was added as a cosponsor of S. 1647, a bill to amend title XVIII of the Social Security Act to improve outpatient vision services under part B of the Medicare program.
Senator from Florida (Mr. GRAHAM), the Senator from Washington (Ms. CANTWELL), and the Senator from Nevada (Mr. REID) were added as cosponsors of S. 2328, a bill to amend the Public Health Service Act and the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act to ensure coverage for all women in the United States, to reduce the rate of maternal morbidity and mortality, to eliminate racial and ethnic disparities in maternal health outcomes, to reduce pre-term, labor, to examine the impact of pregnancy on the short and long term health of women, to expand knowledge about the safety and dosing of drugs to treat pregnant women with chronic conditions and women who become sick during pregnancy, to expand public health prevention, education and outreach, and to develop improved and more accurate data collection related to maternal morbidity and mortality.

S. 2340

At the request of Mr. LEAHY, the name of the Senator from Alabama (Mr. SHELBY) was added as a cosponsor of S. 2340, a bill to amend title 18, United States Code, to exempt qualified current and former law enforcement officers from state laws prohibiting the carrying of concealed handguns.

S. 2508

At the request of Mr. KENNEDY, the name of the Senator from Hawaii (Mr. INOUYE) was added as a cosponsor of S. 2508, a bill to preserve the effectiveness of medically important antibiotics by restricting their use as additives to animal feed.

S. 2513

At the request of Mr. TORRICELLI, his name was added as a cosponsor of S. 2513, a bill to assess the extent of, and to backdate analyses of, rape kit samples, and to improve investigation and prosecution of sexual assault cases with DNA evidence.

S. 2560

At the request of Mr. ALLARD, the name of the Senator from North Dakota (Mr. DORGAN) was added as a cosponsor of S. 2560, a bill to provide for a multi-agency cooperative effort to encourage further research regarding the causes of chronic wasting disease and methods to control the further spread of the disease in deer and elk herds, to monitor the incidence of the disease, to support State efforts to control the disease, and for other purposes.

S. 2577

At the request of Mr. FITZGERALD, the name of the Senator from California (Mrs. BOXER) was added as a cosponsor of S. 2577, a bill to repeal the sunset of the Economic Growth and Tax Relief Reconciliation Act of 2001 with respect to the modifications to education individual retirement accounts.

S. 2922

At the request of Ms. LANDRIEU, the name of the Senator from Texas (Mrs. HUTCHISON) was added as a cosponsor of S. 2922, a bill to facilitate the deployment of wireless telecommunications networks in order to further the availability of the Emergency Alert System, and for other purposes.

S. RES. 305

At the request of Mr. THURMOND, the names of the Senator from Kentucky (Mr. MCCONNELL) and the Senator from Ohio (Mr. VOINOVICH) were added as cosponsors of S. Res. 305, A resolution designating the week beginning September 15, 2002, as “National Historically Black Colleges and Universities Week”.

S. RES. 305

At the request of Mr. BIDEN, his name was added as a cosponsor of S. Res. 305, supra.

S. CON. RES. 129

At the request of Mr. CRAPO, the name of the Senator from South Dakota (Mr. JOHNSON) was added as a cosponsor of S. Con. Res. 129, A concurrent resolution expressing the sense of Congress regarding the establishment of the month of November each year as “Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease Awareness Month”.

S. CON. RES. 134

At the request of Mr. BAUCUS, the name of the Senator from Wisconsin (Mr. KOHL) was added as a cosponsor of S. Con. Res. 134, A concurrent resolution expressing the sense of Congress to designate the fourth Sunday of each September as “National Good Neighbor Day”.

AMENDMENT NO. 4480

At the request of Mr. JOHNSON, his name was added as a cosponsor of amendment No. 4480 proposed to H.R. 5093, a bill making appropriations for the Department of the Interior and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2003, and for other purposes.

AMENDMENT NO. 4510

At the request of Mr. BAYH, the name of the Senator from Kentucky (Mr. MCCONNELL) was added as a cosponsor of amendment No. 4510 intended to be proposed to H.R. 5093, a bill to establish the Department of Homeland Security, and for other purposes.

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. JEFFORDS (for himself, Mr. LEAHY, Mrs. CLINTON, and Mr. SCHUMER):

S. 2922. A bill to amend the Communications Act of 1934 to facilitate an increase in programming and content on radio that is locally and independently produced, to facilitate competition in radio programming, radio advertising, and concerts, and for other purposes.

At the request of Mrs. LINCOLN, the name of the Senator from North Dakota (Mr. CONRAD) was added as a cosponsor of S. 2700, a bill to amend titles II and XVI of the Social Security Act to limit the amount of attorney assessors and claimants and to extend the attorney fee payment system to claims under title XVI of that Act.

S. 2727

At the request of Mr. AKAKA, the name of the Senator from Montana (Mr. Baucus) was added as a cosponsor of S. 2727, a bill to provide for the protection of paleontological resources on Federal lands, and for other purposes.

S. 2742

At the request of Mrs. HUTCHISON, the name of the Senator from Washington (Mrs. MURkowski) was added as a cosponsor of S. 2742, a bill to establish new nonimmigrant classes for border commuter students.

S. 2763

At the request of Mrs. FEINSTEIN, the name of the Senator from Missouri (Mrs. CARNahan) was added as a cosponsor of S. 2763, a bill to provide for compensation to victims of terrorism.

S. 2869

At the request of Mr. BAUCUS, the names of the Senator from South Dakota (Mr. JOHNSON) and the Senator from Maine (Ms. COLLINS) were added as cosponsors of S. 2869, a bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to improve tax equity for military personnel, and for other purposes.

S. 2893

At the request of Mr. KERRY, the names of the Senator from Virginia (Mr. ALLEN) and the Senator from Florida (Mr. NELson) were added as cosponsors of S. 2893, a bill to provide economic security for America’s workers.

S. 2911

At the request of Mr. HUTCHISON, the names of the Senator from Mississippi (Mr. LOTT), the Senator from Colorado (Mr. CAMPBELL), the Senator from Virginia (Mr. ALLEN), and the Senator from Montana (Mr. BAUCUS) were added as cosponsors of S. 2911, a bill to repeal the sunset of the Economic Growth and Tax Relief Reconciliation Act of 2001 with respect to the modifications to education individual retirement accounts.
Mr. JEFFORDS. Mr. President, Members of the Senate, I rise on behalf of myself and Senators LEAHY, CLINTON, and SCHUMER to introduce the Daniel Patrick Moynihan Lake Champlain Basin Program Act of 2002.

The bill brings the Lake Champlain Basin Program into the 21st century.

In 1990, along with Senators LEAHY, MOYNIHAN, and D’AMATO, I introduced the Lake Champlain Special Designation Act, which designated Lake Champlain as a resource of national significance.

The program began as a management conference with a charter of developing a comprehensive pollution prevention, control, and restoration plan for Lake Champlain.

The management conference began work immediately after passage of the Lake Champlain Special Designation Act of 1990 and developed the Plan entitled, "Opportunities for Action.

The conference evolved into today’s Lake Champlain Basin Program which works cooperatively with partners throughout the region to protect and enhance the environmental integrity and the social and economic benefits of the Lake Champlain Basin.

A key element of the success of this program is the active participation of the local partners—State and local governments, non-profit entities, and the regional representatives of the Federal agencies involved in the Basin Program are the best fuel behind this program’s success.

It is their efforts that have made this program a model for similar programs throughout the globe.

The conference was convened in November 1991 by the Lake Champlain Basin Commission, a regional organization representing the best interests of Vermonters, New Yorkers, and Canadians.

It is a recreation mecca in the region with over 7,500 motorboats, more than 3,000 sailboats, and thousands of swimmers, windsurfers, kayakers, canoers, and scuba divers visiting Lake Champlain on a typical summer day.

Recreation generated $3.8 billion in the Basin in 2000. The population in the Basin has been steadily growing over the last 40 years.

Today, approximately one-third of the Basin’s over 600,000 residents use the lake as a source of drinking water.

It is also a key source of water for agriculture and industry. All of this human activity has taken a toll on Lake Champlain.

Although it remains a generally healthy lake today, it is plagued by excess phosphorous loadings, toxics such as mercury, and invasions of nonnative species such as the zebra mussel and sea lamprey.

We must take action to prevent future degradation.

The Lake Champlain Basin Program issued a revised Plan in January 2002, also entitled “Opportunities for Action,” that provides a path to protect the health of the lake well into the future.

The bill we introduce today, the Daniel Patrick Moynihan Lake Champlain Basin Program Act of 2002, authorizes the Federal side of the partnerships required to implement Opportunities for Action.

This legislation authorizes $5 million per year for 5 years for the Environmental Protection Agency to make grants to implement Opportunities for Action.

These funds will be coupled with a 25 percent local match as well as with $6 million per year for 5 years from the Department of the Interior, the Department of Commerce, and the Department of Agriculture.

This bill also revises an authorization that Congress passed in the Water Resources Development Act of 2000 for the Army Corps of Engineers to provide design and construction assistance of up to $30 million for implementation of Opportunities for Action to make it more usable for “Vermont-style” projects.

These funds will be used to protect and enhance the environmental integrity and social and economic benefits of the Lake Champlain basin and to achieve the environmental goals described in the plan, including: the reduction of phosphorous inputs; the reduction of toxic contamination; the control of the introduction, spread, and impacts of invasive substances and species; the minimization of risks to humans from water-related health hazards, and the protection of natural, recreation, and cultural heritage resources.

I look forward to working with my colleagues in Washington, in New York, and, most of all, in Vermont to pass this legislation and to implement this program that is so critical to the long-term health of Lake Champlain.

MRS. CLINTON. Mr. President, I join my colleague from Vermont in supporting this bill that is he is introducing today, the Daniel Patrick Moynihan Lake Champlain Basin Program Act of 2002.

I thank Chairman JEFFORDS, with whom I have the honor and pleasure of serving on the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee, for working on this legislation, for being devoted to Lake Champlain, and for giving my distinguished predecessor, Senator Moynihan, the honor of naming it after him.

Senator Moynihan was in my office on Tuesday. I told him of Senator JEFFORD’s plans, and he was surprised and delighted. But he certainly deserves this great honor because, along with Senator JEFFORDS, he has been a champion of this national natural resource that our States share: the Lake Champlain Basin and Champlain Valley.

We are joining with our colleagues—Senator LEAHY and Senator SCHUMER—in introducing this legislation because we know how significant this lake is. It is the sixth largest natural freshwater lake in the United States. Some of us consider it a “Great Lake.” It is home to an array of fish, birds, and other wildlife.

It also has significant historic, social, and economic consequences for our entire country. What we aim to do with this legislation is to give the Champlain Valley Basin the kind of support it needs to continue its recovery.

This is an area that Senator JEFFORDS and Senator Moynihan paid particular attention to worked very closely together over the last many years. And it builds on legislation that Senator Moynihan played a key role in during the 101st Congress, as well as a plan that came out of the 1990 legislation entitled “Opportunities for Action” that enabled the Lake Champlain Steering Committee to create the new guiding document on which our legislation, in great measure, draws.

This bill will provide new and important resources for counties in Vermont and also counties in New York, including Clinton, Essex, Franklin, Hamilton, Warren, and Washington Counties.

This is a very important environmental legislation and is equally important economic, social, and historic legislation. That is why I am very proud to sponsor this legislation with my chairman, Senator JEFFORDS, and to join him in naming this legislation after a dedicated colleague, Senator Patrick Moynihan.

There is no more fitting tribute to Senator Moynihan than to give him the recognition that he is due for the leadership role he played in bringing to national attention places of great national importance, such as Lake Champlain.

I thank Senator JEFFORDS.

Mr. LEAHY: President, my colleague, Senator JEFFORDS, introduced legislation, the Lake Champlain Basin Program Act of 2002, in honor of former Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan. With the forbearance of the distinguished Senator from Connecticut and the distinguished Senator from Tennessee, I will only speak for a couple minutes.

I, obviously, strongly support what Senator JEFFORDS has done and appreciate his work and the work of the members of his staff.

In Vermont, we are extremely pleased with the success of the Lake Champlain program to date. With the additional resources in this bill, we are confident that the problems that Lake Champlain has—the threats of pollution and of other matters—can be addressed.

Lake Champlain is a magnificent lake standing between Vermont and New York. It is a lake that is enjoyed by people on both sides of the border; it is involved in economic activities, and, of course, it has tremendous economic and historical value to this Nation, from the time of the Revolutionary War on.

The basin program shows what happens when two States, Vermont and New York, and one province, the Province of Quebec, get together and work on a common watershed and link their people, their governments—local, State, and Federal—together in almost unprecedented cooperation to save this great beautiful lake. It has been a model for watersheds throughout the Nation.

I am pleased to join in introducing this legislation. I believe it will ensure that our children and our grandchildren will enjoy this lake in the same way Senator JEFFORDS and I did when we were children.

I am very pleased to join with my colleagues from Vermont and New York as we introduce the Lake Champlain Basin Program Act of 2002 in honor of former Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan.

I was with Senator MOYNIHAN in 1990 that led to enactment of the first comprehensive piece of legislation to make Federal resources available to help our states address the challenges facing Lake Champlain.

I want to thank Senator JEFFORDS and his staff for all the work they have put into this effort. I know that many hours have gone into the research, discussion and editing to get where we are today.

I also want to thank Senators CLINTON and SCHUMER who are our valuable New York partners in all things related to Lake Champlain.

Our initial 1990 Lake Champlain legislation was very successful. It brought together various agencies, interest groups and government entities to develop a comprehensive pollution prevention and restoration management plan for the Lake.

Through long hours and a cooperative effort, the Vermonters and New Yorkers involved came up with a good plan which was signed by Governors Dean and Pataki in 1996.

While we have several priority action items ranging across a wide spectrum of Lake related issues, the Big three remain phosphorus reduction, toxic contaminant prevention and clean-up and management of aquatic nuisance species.

Our legislative proposal today rightfully moves from an emphasis on research and planning to one of clean-up implementation and, quite importantly, monitoring the progress of that clean-up.

We are very pleased with the success of the Lake Champlain Basin Program to date, and with the additional resources envisioned in this bill, we are confident that the problems Lake Champlain has in interfering can be addressed successfully.

The Basin Program stands as a fine example of how two States and one province can work together as a common watershed linking its citizens and their governments at all levels—local, State and Federal.

Indeed, the Lake Champlain model has been held up many times in recent years as an example for other watersheds and watersheds worldwide.

We are happy to share our successes, and even our failures, with conservation initiatives internationally.

I am excited about the prospects of this legislation and I hope the full Senate will give Vermont and New York its ringing endorsement once it has received committee review.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was received committee review.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

\[
\text{Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,}
\]

\text{SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.}

This Act may be cited as the “Daniel Patrick Moynihan Lake Champlain Basin Program Act of 2002”.

\text{SEC. 2. LAKE CHAMPLAIN BASIN PROGRAM.}

Title I of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, as amended section 120 (33 U.S.C. 1270) and inserting the following:

\text{SEC. 120. LAKE CHAMPLAIN BASIN PROGRAM.}

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Committee.—The term ‘Committee’ means the steering committee of the program comprised of representatives of Federal, State, and local governments and other persons specified in the Plan.

(2) Lake Champlain Basin.—

(A) In general.—The term ‘Lake Champlain basin’ means all water and land resources in the United States in the drainage basin of Lake Champlain.

(B) Inclusions.—The term ‘Lake Champlain Basin’ includes—

(1) Clinton, Essex, Franklin, Hamilton, Warren, and Washington counties in the State of New York; and

(2) Addison, Bennington, Caledonia, Chittenden, Franklin, Grand Isle, Lamoille, Orange, Orleans, Rutland, and Washington counties in the State of Vermont.

(3) Scope.—The term ‘plan’ means the plan entitled ‘Opportunities for Action: An Evolving Plan for the Future of the Lake Champlain Basin’, approved by Lake Champlain Basin Program on January 30, 2002, that describes the actions necessary to protect and enhance the environmental integrity and the social and economic benefits of the Lake Champlain basin.

(4) Program.—The term ‘program’ means the Lake Champlain Basin Program established by subsection (b).

(b) Establishment.—

(1) In general.—There is established a program to be known as the ‘Lake Champlain Basin Program’.

(2) Purposes.—The purposes of the program are:

(A) to protect and enhance the environmental integrity and social and economic benefits of the Lake Champlain basin; and

(B) to achieve the environmental goals described in the Plan, including—

(i) the reduction of phosphorous inputs to Lake Champlain from point sources and nonpoint sources so as to—

(I) promote a healthy and diverse ecosystem; and

(II) provide for sustainable human use and enjoyment of Lake Champlain;

(ii) the reduction of toxic contamination, such contamination as mercury and polychlorinated biphenyls, to protect public health and the ecosystem of the Lake Champlain basin;

(iii) the control of the introduction, spread, and impacts of nonnative nuisance species to preserve the integrity of the ecosystem of the Lake Champlain basin;

(iv) the minimization of exposure of persons and ecosystems to toxic substances such as contamination by mercury and polychlorinated biphenyls, to protect public health and the ecosystem of the Lake Champlain basin, including the protection of sources of drinking water in the Lake Champlain basin;

(v) the restoration and maintenance of a healthy and diverse community of fish and wildlife in the Lake Champlain basin;

(vi) the protection and restoration of wetland, stream, and riparian habitat in the Lake Champlain basin, including functions and values provided by these areas;

(vii) the management of Lake Champlain, including shorelines and tributaries of Lake Champlain, to achieve—

(I) the protection of natural and cultural resources of Lake Champlain; and

(II) the maintenance of recreational uses of Lake Champlain;

(viii) the protection of recreation and cultural heritage resources of the Lake Champlain basin;

(ix) the continuance of the Lake Champlain long-term water quality and biological monitoring program; and

(x) the promotion of healthy and diverse economic activity and sustainable development principles in the Lake Champlain basin.

(c) Implementation.—The Committee, in consultation with appropriate heads of Federal agencies, shall implement the program.

(d) Revision of Plan.—At least once every 5 years, the Committee shall review and, as necessary, revise the Plan.

(e) Grants.—

(1) In general.—Subject to paragraph (2), the Administrator may, in consultation with the Committee, for the purpose of implementing the management strategies contained in the Plan, to—

(A) State, interstate, and regional water pollution control agencies; and

(B) public or nonprofit agencies, institutions, and organizations.
“(2) COST SHARING.—The Federal share of the cost of any activity carried out using funds from a grant provided under this subsection shall not exceed 75 percent.

“(b) AGRICULTURAL DAMAGES.—The Administrator may establish such additional requirements for the administration of grants provided under this subsection as the Administrator determines to be appropriate.

“(1) COORDINATION OF FEDERAL PROGRAMS.—

“(1) GEOLLOGICAL SURVEY.—The Secretary of the Interior, acting through the United States Geological Survey, shall support the implementation of the program by providing financial, scientific, and technical assistance and applicable watershed research, such as—

(i) stream flow monitoring;

(ii) water monitoring;

(iii) evaluation of effectiveness of best management practices;

(iv) improved design and construction of control structures; and

(v) development of an integrated geographic information system of the Lake Champlain basin.

“(B) FISH AND WILDLIFE.—The Secretary of the Interior, acting through the Director of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service and in cooperation with the Committee, shall support the implementation of the program by—

(i) supporting the protection and restoration of wetland, streams, aquatic, and riparian habitat;

(ii) supporting restoration of interjurisdictional fisheries and declining aquatic species in the Lake Champlain watershed through—

(A) spawning in hatcheries; and

(B) stream技术支持; or

(C) related watershed programs; and

(D) other appropriate action to assist in implementation of the Project.

“(g) NO EFFECT ON OTHER AUTHORITY.—Nothing in this section affects the authority of—

(1) any Federal or State agency; or

(2) any international entity relating to Lake Champlain established by an international agreement to which the United States is a party.

“(h) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $11,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2003 through 2007, of which—

(1) $5,000,000 shall be made available to the Administrator;

(2) $3,000,000 shall be made available to the Secretary of the Interior;

(3) $1,000,000 shall be made available to the Secretary of Commerce; and

(4) $2,000,000 shall be made available to the Secretary of Agriculture.

SEC. 3. LAKE CHAMPLAIN WATERSHED, NEW YORK AND VERMONT.

Section 542 of the Water Resources Develop- ment Act of 2000 (114 Stat. 2671) is amended—

(B) in paragraph (1), by striking “(a)” and all that follows through “(the areas)” and inserting the following:

“(a) DEPARTMENT OF LAKE CHAMPLAIN WATERSHED.—In this section, the term ‘Lake Champlain watershed’ means—

(i) the land areas;

(B) by striking “(b)(1) the” and inserting the following:

(2)(A) the;”;

(C) by striking “(ii)” and inserting the following:

(II) the;”;

(D) in paragraph (2)(A) (as redesignated by subparagraph (B)), by inserting “Hamilton,” after “Franklin,”

(C) in paragraph (2)(B) (as redesignated by subparagraph (C)), by striking “clause (i)” and inserting “and inserting “(A)” and “and inserting “(B)”;

(D) in subsection (s) (b) (through), by striking “critical restoration” each place it appears and inserting “ecosystem restoration”;

(3) in subsection (c) (A) by striking “ Critical Restoration Projects” and inserting “Ecosystem Restoration Projects”;

(4) in subsection (c) (B) by striking “participate in” and inserting “design and construction assistance to non-Federal interests for”; and

(5) in subsection (c) (A) by striking “and” and inserting “or”;

(6) in subsection (c) (B) by striking “in the context of the Lake Champlain Basin as identified in the Plan.”

“(D) CHAINS OF PLANTS AND ANIMALS.—The Secretary of Commerce, acting through the Under Secretary for Oceans and Atmosphere, shall support the implementation of the program by providing financial and technical assistance through the national sea grant program of the Department of Commerce, for—

(A) research;

(B) management of fisheries and other aquatic resources;

(C) related watershed programs; and

(D) other appropriate action to assist in implementation of the Plan.

“(E) CRITERIA FOR ELIGIBILITY.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—

(A) “IN GENERAL.—” and inserting “Special.”; and

(B) by striking “special” and inserting “special.”

“(2) SPECIAL.—

(1) by striking “to a” and inserting “to an”; and

(2) by striking “agreement shall require the non-Federal interest and insert- ing “agreement shall require the non-Federal interest and insert- ing”; and

(3) in accordance with section 221 of the Flood Control Act of 1970 (42 U.S.C. 1962d–b) and under which the non-Federal interest agrees”.

By Mrs. FEINSTEIN (for herself and Mrs. BOXER): S. 2929. A bill to designate the facility of the United States Postal Service located at 265 South Western Avenue, Los Angeles, California, as the “Nat King Cole Post Office”; to the Committee on Governmental Affairs.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I rise today, along with Senator BOXER, to introduce legislation that would name a post office in Los Angeles, CA after Nathaniel Adams Coles, whom we all know as Nat “King” Cole.

Nat “King” Cole was a great American vocalist and entertainer, and the best selling African-American recording artist of his generation.

Born in 1919 in Montgomery, AL, Mr. Coles moved, at an early age, to be near his father and to be quite musically adept. At the age of four, he gave his first public performance playing the piano and singing at Chicago’s Regal Theater.

In 1937, as a struggling young musician, he moved to Southern California.

While in Los Angeles, Mr. Coles was asked to put together a small musical group which was to play at the Sewanee Inn, a Los Angeles nightclub. The owner of the Sewanee Inn is responsible for the nickname “King Cole” because he asked him to wear a golden paper crown. Though the crown was short lived, the nickname stuck and the musical group became known as the King Cole Trio.

In 1943, the King Cole Trio signed with a fledgling record company known as Capital Records. The next year, Capital Records released a song written by Nat “King” Cole and recorded by the King Cole Trio called “Straighten Up and Fly Right.”

The song became a huge hit due to its popularity with audiences of different races. The King Cole Trio was the first ever Black entertainer to perform a national hit and immediately, the King Cole Trio were asked to put together a small musical group which was to play at the Sewanee Inn, a Los Angeles nightclub. The owner of the Sewanee Inn is responsible for the nickname “King Cole” because he asked him to wear a golden paper crown. Though the crown was short lived, the nickname stuck and the musical group became known as the King Cole Trio.

In 1943, the King Cole Trio signed with a fledgling record company known as Capital Records. The next year, Capital Records released a song written by Nat “King” Cole and recorded by the King Cole Trio called “Straighten Up and Fly Right.”

The song became a huge hit due to its popularity with audiences of different races. The King Cole Trio was asked to put together a small musical group which was to play at the Sewanee Inn, a Los Angeles nightclub. The owner of the Sewanee Inn is responsible for the nickname “King Cole” because he asked him to wear a golden paper crown. Though the crown was short lived, the nickname stuck and the musical group became known as the King Cole Trio.

Nat “King” Cole went on to sell more records than any other Black entertainer. He also endured an attack from white supremacists while on stage in Birmingham, Alabama in 1956.

Mr. Coles held a special place in the hearts of Los Angeles residents, as a man who brought down racial barriers. In 1948, Mr. Coles and his family purchased a home in the exclusive Hancock Park section of Los Angeles. His would-be neighbors formed an association to prevent him from moving into the all-white community.
Overcoming these protests and threats, Mr. Cole moved in and became the first family to integrate the community.

In honor of this distinguished former resident, members of the community surrounding the Oakwood Station Post Office requested that the renamed office at 265 South Western Avenue in Los Angeles be named after Nat “King” Cole.

It is my pleasure to introduce such legislation, and I hope that my colleagues will support it.

By Mrs. FEINSTEIN (for herself and Mrs. BOXER): S. 2981. A bill to designate the facility of the United States Postal Service located at 5805 White Oak Avenue in Encino, California, as the “Francis Dayle ‘Chick’ Hearn Post Office”, to the Committee on Government Affairs.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I rise today, along with Senator BOXER, to introduce legislation that would name a postal facility in Los Angeles, California after the late Los Angeles Lakers’ announcer, Francis Dayle “Chick” Hearn.

Chick Hearn was born on November 27, 1916, in Buda, IL.

His interest in broadcasting began when he worked for the Armed Forces Radio, while he was stationed in the Philippines during World War II. Soon after he was discharged, he began announcing Bradley University basketball games for a radio station in Peoria, IL.

Mr. Hearn’s desire to work in radio broadcasting soon led him to Southern California, where he worked for CBS radio announcing University of Southern California football games.

Then, in 1961, Chick Hearn began announcing Lakers’ games when the franchise moved from Minnesota to Los Angeles.

His contributions to the game go far beyond giving the fans the play-by-play. Mr. Hearn pioneered basketball phrases, such as “airball” and “slam dunk” and “finger role” which are now well known and often used by Americans who participate or have an interest in basketball.

Perhaps the most distinguished characteristic of Chick Hearn’s career is his extraordinary dedication to his work. Beginning on November 21, 1965, Mr. Hearn announced a record 3,338 consecutive games for the Los Angeles Lakers.

This streak ended on December 16, 2001, three days before Mr. Hearn underwent heart surgery. Until his death on August 5, 2002, Hearn had been the only play-by-play announcer the Los Angeles Lakers had ever had.

During his distinguished career of more than 40 years with the Los Angeles Lakers, Mr. Hearn saw the Lakers capture nine NBA titles. He had the opportunity to watch the careers of basketball stars such as Jerry West, Wilt Chamberlain, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Magic Johnson, and he spread his love of basketball to all who listened.

He is a member of the Basketball Hall of Fame and the Sportscasters Hall of Fame.

In honor of Chick Hearn’s dedicated service, it is appropriate to introduce legislation to name the post office at 5805 White Oak Avenue in Encino, CA. It is my hope that the Senate will approve this legislation, and honor the memory of Chick Hearn.

By Mr. GREGG (for himself, Mr. ENZI, Ms. COLLINS, and Mr. COCHRAN): S. 2982. A bill to make technical amendments to the Higher Education Act of 1965, and for other purposes: to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

Mr. GREGG. Mr. President, today I am proud to introduce, along with my colleagues Senator ENZI, Senator COLLINS, and Senator COCHRAN, the Higher Education Technical Amendments of 2002. This legislation makes several technical and non-controversial changes to the Higher Education Act, HEA, and is designed to provide relief from burdensome requirements, improve the financial aid process, and bring greater clarity to the law.

Most importantly, it provides for a one-year extension of two provisions in the HEA that are of great importance to students, lenders, institutions, and schools. These provide schools having low student loan default rates with exemptions from the requirement that loan proceeds be disbursed in multiple installments, and the requirement that the disbursement of loan proceeds to first-time undergraduate borrowers be delayed for 30 days after classes start. Under current law, these provisions are set to expire at the end of this month.

Thousands of institutions of higher education across America count on these exemptions to save them time and money in the disbursement of their limited financial aid resources. These provisions also serve as an incentive for schools to keep their default rates low. Additionally, failing to act now means that students needing loan proceeds for books or living expenses could be seriously disadvantaged. At a time when both student and institutional budgets are being squeezed, we should do what we can to provide them with relief.

The bill makes a number of other beneficial changes to the HEA. Most notably, it: Helps protect home-schooled students by making it clear that institutions of higher education will not lose their institutional eligibility for Federal financial aid by admitting home-schooled students. Clarifies the Federal policy on the return of financial aid funds when students withdraw, to better protect students’ grant aid. Removes barriers for students seeking forbearance from lenders on student loan payments, by eliminating the requirement that new agreements between lenders and borrowers be in writing. Instead, the bill allows a lender to accept a request for forbearance over the telephone, as long as a confirmation notice of the agreement reached is provided to the borrower and the borrower’s file is updated. Makes clear that under the Thurgood Marshall Legal Educational Opportunity Program, the U.S. Department of Education can provide scholarship aid to low-income and minority students to prepare for and attend law school. Eases requirements for Hispanic-Serving Institutions, allowing them to apply for Federal HSI grants without waiting two years between applications. Corrects a drafting error in current law that mistakenly bars students attending certain nonprofit schools of veterinary medicine from eligibility for the Federal Family Education Loan Program. Allows financial aid administrators to use “professional judgment” to adjust a student’s financial need in cases where the student is a ward of the court. Expands the use of technology to provide voter registration material directly to students in a timely manner.

I am well aware that extending the two provisions set to expire on September 30 for another year will cost $10 million. However, we intend to find the necessary offsets to pay for these extensions as the bill progresses through the Senate. It is my sincere hope that we can all work together in these final weeks of the session to see that this legislation becomes law.

The Higher Education Technical Amendments of 2002 will improve the financial aid process for everyone involved, but most importantly, for our nation’s postsecondary students. I urge my colleagues to support this legislation.

STATEMENTS ON SUBMITTED RESOLUTIONS

SENATE RESOLUTION 253—RESOLUTION DESIGNATING THE MONTH OF SEPTEMBER 2002 AS THE NATIONAL PROSTATE CANCER AWARENESS MONTH

Mr. SESSIONS (for himself, Mr. REID, Mr. CRAPO, Ms. LANDRIEU, Mr. MURkowski, Mr. TORricelli, Mr. HAGEL, Mrs. LINCOLN, Mr. GRASSELEY, Mr. DORGAN, Mr. TREELBY, Mrs. FEINSTEIN, Mr. HELMS, Ms. CANTWELL, Mr. DeWINE, Mr. MILLER, Mr. INHOFE, Mr. INOUYE, Mr. BROWNACK, Mr. CORZINE, Mr. CRAIG, Mr. JOHNSON, Mr. ROBERTS, Mr. EDWARDS, Mr. SMITH of Oregon, Mr. CLINTON, Mr. CAMPBELL, Mr. KERRY, Mr. FITZGERALD, Mr. LIEBERMAN, Mr. ENSIGN, Mr. KENNEDY, Ms. SOWE, Mr. SARBANES, Mr. HATCH, Mr. Breaux, Mr. THURMOND, and Mrs. CARNAHAN) submitted the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

Whereas over 1,000,000 American families live with prostate cancer;
September 12, 2002

Congressional Record — Senate

S8571

Whereas 1 American man in 6 will be diagnosed with prostate cancer in his lifetime;

Whereas over the past decade prostate cancer has been the most commonly diagnosed nonskin cancer, and the second most common cancer killer of American men;

Whereas 189,000 American men will be diagnosed with prostate cancer and 30,200 American men will die of prostate cancer in 2002, according to American Cancer Society estimates;

Whereas fully ¾ of new cases of prostate cancer occur in men during their prime working years;

Whereas African-Americans have the highest incidence and mortality rates of prostate cancer in the world;

Whereas screening by both digital rectal examination and prostate-specific antigen blood test (PSA) can diagnose the disease in earlier and more treatable stages and has reduced prostate cancer mortality;

Whereas the research pipeline promises further improvements in prostate cancer prevention, early detection, and treatments; and

Whereas educating Americans, including health care providers, about prostate cancer and early detection strategies is crucial to saving the lives of men and preserving and protecting our families: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved: That the Senate

(1) designates the month of September 2002 as “National Prostate Cancer Awareness Month”; and

(2) declares that the Federal Government has a responsibility—

(A) to raise awareness about the importance of screening methods and treatment of prostate cancer;

(B) to increase research funding that is commensurate with the burden of the disease so that the causes of, and improved methods for, screening, treating, and curing prostate cancer can be discovered; and

(C) to continue to consider ways for improving access to, and the quality of, health care services for detecting and treating prostate cancer; and

(3) requests the President to issue a proclamation calling upon the people of the United States, interested groups, and affected persons to increase awareness of prostate cancer, to take an active role in the fight to end the devastating effects of prostate cancer on individuals and the economy, and to observe the month of September 2002 with appropriate ceremonies and activities.

Mr. Sessions. Mr. President, I rise today to submit, along with Senator Reid and 36 of our colleagues from both sides of the aisle, a resolution to designate September 2002 as National Prostate Cancer Awareness Month. As a prostate cancer survivor myself, I understand the importance of public awareness and early detection, and I hope that by having this month designated as National Prostate Cancer Awareness Month, we can help save lives.

Since the tragic events on September 11, 2001, Americans have continued to honor their heroes of that day with respect, gratitude and, too often, the memory of lives lost. The “first responders” protected our safety and well-being, not only in New York and Washington, but also in cities and towns across the country, where police, fire, emergency service, National Guard, and military personnel were laden with banners and bouquets of thanks, recognition and remembrance. September is also “Prostate Cancer Awareness Month”, PCAM, a time to remember those who have perished from the disease and to celebrate those who are surviving, and a time to work together to accelerate a cure. Along with The National Prostate Cancer Coalition, NPCC, I look forward to raising prostate cancer awareness in September with commemoration of “911” joining the NPCC’s special campaign, “Protecting Our Protectors” which encourages men in law enforcement, fire service, and current and former servicemen to get screened for prostate cancer.

This resolution is an effort to help increase awareness and educate American men and their families about prostate cancer and early detection, as well as emphasize the need for more prostate cancer research. It will designate September 2002 as National Prostate Cancer Awareness Month. Together, Senator Reid and I ask for your support and encourage all of our colleagues to join us in raising awareness. With your help, prostate cancer can be prevented, controllable, and curable.

Today prostate cancer remains the most commonly diagnosed nonskin cancer in America. According to estimates by the American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute, NCI, more than 189,000 American men will learn that they have the disease during 2002. Nearly 30,000 American men will lose their lives to prostate cancer this year, making it the second most common cause of cancer death among men.

These statistics translate into devastating realities for men and families across this country.

This disease will affect one in six men in the United States during his lifetime. More than 25 percent of those battling this disease are under the age of 65, prime years of productivity for families and for this nation. The number of Americans impacted by cancer, and prostate cancer, is also expected to double during the next decade. Age-related cancer incidence and mortality rates could increase by 25 percent-30 percent. In too many cases, prostate cancer remains undetected until advanced stages of the disease, when conventional therapies no longer work.

This makes it critical that all American families understand the risks of prostate cancer and take measures to ensure early detection.

If a man has one close relative with prostate cancer, his risk of the disease is double that of the average male. With two close relatives, his risk is fivefold. Should he have three close relatives with prostate cancer, his likelihood of a prostate cancer diagnosis is nearly 97 percent.

African American families are at particular risk. African American men have the highest incidence and mortality rates in the world. According to the National Prostate Cancer Coalition, we must raise public awareness about the impact of prostate cancer and emphasize early detection with the PSA, prostate specific antigen, blood test and DRE, digital rectal examination.

Over the last five years prostate cancer mortalities have decreased by 27 percent. This shows that, with the right investment in education and research, we are already saving lives.

Senate Resolution 326—Designating October 18, 2002, as “National Mammmography Day”

Mr. Biden (for himself, Mr. Akaka, Mr. Allen, Mr. Bayh, Mr. Bingaman, Mrs. Boxer, Mr. Breaux, Mr. Brownback, Mr. Bunning, Ms. Cantwell, Mrs. Carnahan, Mr. Carper, Mr. Cleland, Ms. Collins, Mr. Craig, Mr. DeWine, Mr. Dodd, Mr. Domenici, Mr. Dorgan, Mr. Durbin, Mr. Fitzgerald, Mr. Graham, Mr. Grassley, Mr. Hagel, Mr. Hatch, Mr. Helms, Mrs. Hutchinson, Mr. Inhofe, Mr. Inouye, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Kerry, Ms. Landrieu, Mr. Leahy, Mr. Levin, Mr. Lieberman, Mrs. Lincoln, Mr. Lugar, Ms. Mikulski, Mr. Miller, Mr. Murkowski, Mrs. Murray, Mr. Nelson of Nebraska, Mr. Reid, Mr. Rockefeller, Mr. Sarbanes, Mr. Smith of Oregon, Ms. Snowe, Mr. Specter, Ms. Stabenow, Mr. Thurmond, Mr. Torricelli, Mr. Voinovich, Mr. Wellstone, Mr. Wyden, and Mrs. Clinton) submitted the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) designates October 18, 2002, as “National Mammography Day”; and

(2) requests that the President issue a proclamation calling upon the people of the United States to observe the day with appropriate programs and activities.

Mr. Biden. Mr. President, today I am submitting a resolution designating October 18, 2002, as “National Mammography Day”. I am pleased that 54 of my colleagues have joined in support of this proposal by agreeing to be original cosponsors. I might note that I have introduced a similar resolution each year.
in general to discuss with their individual physicians whether this test is appropriate in their specific situations. So my message to women is: have a periodic mammogram, or at the very least discuss this option with your own physician.

I know that some women don’t have annual mammograms because of either fear or forgetfulness. It is only human nature for some women to avoid mammograms because they are afraid of what they will find. To those who are fearful, I would say that if you have periodic routine mammograms, and the latest one comes out positive, even before you have any symptoms or have found a lump on self-examination, you have reason to be optimistic, not pessimistic. Such early-detected breast cancers are highly treatable.

Then there is forgetfulness. I certainly understand how difficult it is to remember to do something that only comes around once each year. I would suggest that this is where “National Mammography Day” comes in. On that day, let’s make sure that each woman we know picks a specific date on which to get a mammogram each year, a date that she won’t forget: a child’s birthday, an anniversary, perhaps even the day her taxes are due. On National Mammography Day, let’s ask our loved ones: pick one of these dates, fix it in your mind along with a picture of your child, your wedding, or another symbol of that date, and promise yourself to get a mammogram on that date every year. Do it for yourself and for the others that love you and want you to be part of their lives for as long as possible.

And to those women who are reluctant to have a mammogram, I say let National Mammography Day serve as a reminder to discuss this question each year with your physician. New scientific studies published and new mammography techniques that are developed may affect your decision on this matter from one year to the next. I encourage you to keep an open mind and not to feel that a decision at one point in a woman’s life commits you irrevocably to a particular course of action for the indefinite future.

I urge my colleagues to join me in the ongoing fight against breast cancer by cosponsoring and voting for this resolution to designate October 18, 2002, as National Mammography Day.

AMENDMENTS SUBMITTED AND PROPOSED

SA 4532. Mr. BYRD (for himself and Mr. STEVENS) proposed an amendment to amendment SA 4472 proposed by Mr. BYRD to the bill H.R. 5093, making appropriations for the Department of the Interior and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2003, and for other purposes, as follows:

TITLE —SUPPLEMENTAL APPROPRIATIONS

That the following sums are appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2002, and for other purposes, namely:

CHAPTER 1 DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Office of the Secretary

(Including Transfers of Funds)

For an additional amount for ‘Office of the Secretary’, $18,000,000 to remain available until expended: Provided, That the Secretary shall transfer these funds to the Agricultural Research Service, the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, the Agricultural Marketing Service, the Food Safety and Inspection Service: Provided further, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

CHAPTER 2 DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

Offices of Justice Programs

COMMUNITY ORIENTED POLICING SERVICES

For an amount to establish the Community Oriented Policing Services, Interoperable Communications Technology Program in consultation with the Office of Science and Technology within the National Institute of Justice, and the Bureau of Justice Assistance, for emergency expenses for activities related to combating terrorism by providing grants to States and localities to improve communications within, and among, law enforcement agencies, $50,000,000, to remain available until expended: Provided, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

EMBASSY SECURITY, CONSTRUCTION, AND MAINTENANCE

For an additional amount for ‘Embassy Security, Construction, and Maintenance’ for emergency expenses for activities related to combating terrorism by providing grants to State and local governments, $10,000,000, to remain available until expended: Provided, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.
CHAPTER 3
DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
FEDERAL FUNDS
Federal Payment to the District of Columbia
For a Federal payment to the District of Columbia for public safety expenses related to security events in the District of Columbia, $12,000,000, to remain available until December 1, 2003: Provided, That the Chief Financial Officer of the District of Columbia shall provide a report, within 15 days of an expenditure, to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and Senate, detailing any expenditure of these funds: Provided further, That the entire amount designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

CHAPTER 4
DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY
ENERGY PROGRAMS
Science
For an additional amount for ‘Science’ for emergency expenses necessary to support safeguards and security activities, $11,350,000: Provided, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR
National Park Service
CONSTRUCTION
For an additional amount for ‘Construction’, $17,651,000, to remain available until expended: Provided, That the Congress designates the entire amount as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

CHAPTER 6
DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
Office of the Secretary
PUBLIC HEALTH AND SOCIAL SERVICES EMERGENCY FUND
For emergency expenses to respond to the September 11, 2001, terrorist attacks on the United States for ‘Public Health and Social Services Emergency Fund’ to include and follow-up screening and clinical examinations, long-term health monitoring and analysis for the emergency services personnel, rescue and recovery workers and their families, $25,000,000, to remain available until expended, of which no less than $25,000,000 shall be available for current and retired firefighters: Provided, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

CHAPTER 7
DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
United States Customs Service
SALARIES AND EXPENSES
For an additional amount for ‘Salaries and Expenses’ $39,000,000, to remain available until expended: Provided, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

CHAPTER 10
INDEPENDENT AGENCY
Federal Emergency Management Agency
EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT PLANNING AND ASSISTANCE
For an additional amount for ‘Emergency management planning and assistance’ for Federal Emergency Management Agency for emergency expenses to respond to the September 11, 2001, terrorist attacks on the United States, $200,000,000, to remain available until September 30, 2003, of which $150,000,000 is for programs as authorized by section 33 of the Federal Fire Prevention and Control Act of 1974, as amended (15 U.S.C. 2201 et seq.); and $50,000,000 for interoperable communications equipment and facilities: Provided, That the entire amount is designated by the Congress as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(A) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended.

SA 4533. Mr. HOLLINGS proposed an amendment to amendment SA 4471 proposed by Mr. LIEBERMAN to the bill H.R. 5005, to establish the Department of Homeland Security, and for other purposes; as follows:

SEC. 173. MODIFICATION OF MEMBERSHIP AND ADVISORS OF NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL.
(a) MEMBERS.—Subsection (a) of section 101 of the National Security Act of 1947 (50 U.S.C. 402) is amended—
(1) in the fourth undesignated paragraph, by redesignating clauses (1) through (6) as subparagraphs (A) through (G), respectively; and

(b) ADVISORS.—That section is further amended—
(1) by redesignating subsections (g) through (j) and inserting the following new subsections:

(2) by transferring subsection (l) (relating to the Agency for International Development) to the Department of State, and redesignating, as so redesignated, the following new subsections:

(3) by inserting after subsection (j) and redesignating subsection (k) as subsection (l); and

(4) by redesignating subsections (g) through (j) as subsections (l) through (m), respectively; and

(5) by redesignating subsections (g) through (k) as subsections (l) through (m), respectively; and

(6) by redesignating subsection (j) as subsection (k); and

(7) by redesignating subsection (i) as subsection (j); and

(8) by redesignating subsection (g) as subsection (i).
the bill H.R. 5005. to establish the Department of Homeland Security, and for other purposes; as follows:

On page 2, line 4, insert after the period the following:

TITLE II—NATIONAL OFFICE FOR COMBATING TERRORISM

SEC. 201. NATIONAL OFFICE FOR COMBATING TERRORISM.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—There is established within the Executive Office of the President the National Office for Combating Terrorism.

(1) DIRECTOR.—The head of the Office shall be the Director of the National Office for Combating Terrorism, who shall be appointed by the President.

(2) EXECUTIVE SCHEDULE LEVEL, I POSITION.—Section 5312 of title 5, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(8) To work with the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to ensure that—

(A) the Director of the National Office for Combating Terrorism receives the relevant information from the Federal Bureau of Investigation related to terrorism; and

(B) such information is made available to the appropriate agencies and to State and local law enforcement officials.

(3) OTHER OFFICERS.—The President shall assign to the Office such other officers as the President, in consultation with the Director, considers appropriate to discharge the responsibilities of the Office.

(c) RESPONSIBILITIES.—Subject to the direction and control of the President, the responsibilities of the Office shall include the following:

(1) To develop national objectives and policies for combating terrorism.

(2) To ensure that relevant agencies and entities conduct appropriate risk analysis and risk management activities and provide pertinent information derived such activities to the Office, and to review and integrate such information into the development of the Strategy.

(3) To develop, with the Secretary of Homeland Security, the Strategy under title III.

(4) To coordinate, oversee, and evaluate the implementation and execution of the Strategy by agencies with responsibilities for combating terrorism under the Strategy, particularly those involving military, intelligence, law enforcement, diplomatic, and scientific and technological assets.

(5) To work with agencies, including the Environmental Protection Agency, to ensure that agencies coordinate their efforts to address vulnerabilities identified by the Director of Critical Infrastructure Protection within the Department.

(6)(A) To coordinate, with the advice of the Secretary, the development of a comprehensive annual budget for the programs and activities under the Strategy, including the budgets of the military departments and agencies within the National Foreign Intelligence Program relating to international terrorism, but excluding military programs, projects, or activities relating to force protection.

(B) To have the lead responsibility for budget decisions relating to military, intelligence, law enforcement, and diplomatic assets in support of the Strategy.

(7) To serve as an advisor to the National Security Council.

(8) To work with the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to ensure that—

(A) the Director of the National Office for Combating Terrorism receives the relevant information from the Federal Bureau of Investigation related to terrorism; and

(B) such information is made available to the appropriate agencies and to State and local law enforcement officials.

(d) RESOURCES.—In consultation with the Director, the President shall assign or allocate to the appropriate agencies and to State and local law enforcement officials resources available to the President under appropriation Acts for fiscal year 2002 and fiscal year 2003 in the "Office of Administration" appropriation account or the "Office of Homeland Security" appropriation account. Any transfer or reprogramming of funds made under this section shall be subject to the reprogramming procedures in the Treasury and General Government Appropriations Act, 2002 (Public Law 107–67).

SEC. 202. DIRECTOR AND OFFICE.

(a) DEFINITIONS.—Unless the context clearly indicates otherwise, the following shall apply for purposes:

(1) DIRECTOR.—The term "Director" means the Director of the National Office for Combating Terrorism.

(2) OFFICE.—The term "Office" means the National Office for Combating Terrorism established under this title.

(b) DIRECTOR.—The Director shall—

(1) develop the strategy with the Secretary under section 192(d)(1); and

(2) carry out the functions under section 192(d)(1) and (2) with the Secretary.

(c) OFFICE.—

(1) RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT AGENDA. —The Under Secretary for Science and Technology shall coordinate the Office, the National Science Foundation, and other science and technology entities under section 135(c)(2)(A).

(2) TRANSFERS.—Section 189(a) shall apply with respect to transfers to the Office.

(3) GIFTS.—Gifts shall apply with respect to gifts to the Office.

(d) DEFINITIONS.—The definitions developed under section 192(d)(1) shall be considered in determining the functions of the Office.

TITLE III—NATIONAL STRATEGY FOR COMBATING TERRORISM AND THE HOMELAND SECURITY RESPONSE

SEC. 301. STRATEGY.

(a) DEVELOPMENT.—The Secretary and the Director shall develop the National Strategy for Combating Terrorism and the Homeland Security Response for detection, prevention, protection, response, and recovery to counter terrorist threats, including threat information and analysis, the planning, policies, training, exercises, evaluation, and interagency cooperation that address each such action relating to such threats.

(b) RESPONSIBILITIES.

(1) RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE SECRETARY.—The Secretary shall have responsibility for portions of the Strategy addressing border security, critical infrastructure protection, emergency preparedness and response, and integrating State and local efforts with activities of the Strategy.

(2) RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE DIRECTOR.—The Director shall have overall responsibility for development of the Strategy, and particularly for the Strategy addressing intelligence, military assets, law enforcement, and diplomacy.

(c) CONTENTS.—The contents of the Strategy shall include:

(1) a comprehensive statement of mission, goals, objectives, desired end-state, priorities and responsibilities;

(2) policies and procedures to maximize the collection, translation, analysis, exploitation, and dissemination of information relating to combating terrorism and the homeland security response throughout the Federal Government and with State and local authorities;

(3) plans for countering chemical, biological, radiological, nuclear, and explosives, and cyber threats;

(4) plans for integrating the capabilities and assets of the United States military into all aspects of the Strategy;

(5) plans for improving the resources of, coordination among, and effectiveness of health and medical sectors for detecting and responding to terrorist attacks on the homeland;

(6) specific measures to enhance cooperative efforts between the public and private sectors in protecting against terrorist attacks;

(7) a review of measures needed to enhance transportation security with respect to potential terrorist attacks;

(8) plans for identifying, prioritizing, and meeting research and development objectives to support homeland security needs; and

(9) other critical areas.

(d) IMPLEMENTATION.—The Secretary shall report to Congress on the request of the Secretary or Director, departments and agencies shall provide necessary information or plans documenting relating to the Strategy.

(e) INTERAGENCY COUNCIL.—

(1) ESTABLISHMENT.—There is established the National Combating Terrorism and Homeland Security Response Council to assist with preparation and implementation of the Strategy.

(2) MEMBERSHIP.—The members of the Council shall be the heads of the Federal Government and with State and local agencies or their designees. The Secretary and Director shall designate such agencies.

(3) CO-CHAIRS AND MEETINGS.—The Secretary and Director shall co-chair the Council, which shall meet at their direction.

(f) PROGRESS REPORTS.—Not later than December 1, 2003, and each year thereafter, the Secretary and Director may submit to Congress a report that—

(1) describes the progress on implementation of the Strategy;

(2) provides recommendations for improvement of the Strategy and the implementation of the Strategy.

SEC. 302. MANAGEMENT GUIDANCE FOR STRATEGY IMPLEMENTATION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—In consultation with the Director and the Secretary, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget shall provide management guidance for agencies to successfully implement and execute the Strategy.

(b) OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET REPORT.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the submission of the report referred to under section 301, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget shall—

(1) submit to Congress a report describing agency progress under subsection (a); and

(2) provide a copy of the report to the Comptroller General of the United States.

(c) GENERAL ACCOUNTING OFFICE REPORT.—Not later than 90 days after the date of the submission of the report referred to under subsection (b), the Comptroller General of the United States shall submit a report to the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives, the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives, evaluating—
(1) the management guidance identified under subsection (a); and

(2) Federal agency performance in implementing and executing the Strategy.

SEC. 300. NATIONAL COMBATING TERRORISM STRATEGY PANEL.

(a) Establishment.—The Secretary and the Director shall establish a nonpartisan, independent panel to be known as the National Combating Terrorism Strategy Panel (in this section referred to as the “Panel”).

(b) Membership.

(1) Appointment.—The Panel shall be composed of a chairperson and 8 other individuals appointed by the Secretary and the Director in consultation with the chairperson and ranking member of the Committee on Governmental Affairs of the Senate and the chairman and ranking member of the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate, from among individuals in the private sector who are recognized experts in matters relating to combating terrorism and the homeland security of the United States.

(2) Terms.—

(A) In general.—An individual shall be appointed and serve for an 18-month period.

(B) Terms.—Terms on the Panel shall not be continuous. All terms shall be for the 18-month period which begins 12 months before each date a report is required to be submitted under subsection (l)(2)(A).

(c) Multiple Terms.—An individual may serve more than 1 term.

(d) Alternative Assessment.—The Panel shall—

(1) conduct and submit to the Secretary the assessment of the Strategy; and

(2) conduct the independent, alternative assessment of homeland security measures required under this section.

(e) Alternative Assessment.—The Panel shall submit the alternative independent assessment of the optimal policies and programs to combat terrorism, including homeland security measures. As part of the assessment, the Panel shall, to the extent practicable, estimate the funding required by fiscal year to achieve these optimal approaches.

(f) Information from Federal Agencies.—

(1) In General.—Subject to paragraph (2), the Panel may secure directly from any agency, or to the extent the Panel considers necessary to carry out this section.

(2) Intelligence Information.—The provision of information under this paragraph related to intelligence shall be provided in accordance with procedures established by the Director of Central Intelligence and in accordance with section 103(d)(3) of the National Security Act of 1947 (50 U.S.C. 403–3(d)(3)).

(g) Compensation of Members.—Each member of the Panel shall be compensated at a rate equal to the daily equivalent of the annualized rate of basic pay prescribed for level V of the Executive Schedule under section 5315 of title 5, United States Code, for each day (including travel time) during which such member is engaged in the performance of the duties of the Panel.

(h) Travel Expenses.—The members of the Panel shall be allowed travel expenses, including per diem in lieu of subsistence, at a rate authorized for employees of agencies under subchapter I of chapter 57 of title 5, United States Code, while away from their homes or regular places of business in the performance of services for the Panel.

(i) Staff.

(1) In General.—The Chairperson of the Panel may, without regard to the civil service laws and regulations, appoint and termi-
S. 2640 and H.R. 3421, to provide for adequate school facilities in Yosemite National Park, and for other purposes;
S. 2776, to provide for the protection of archaeological sites in the Galisteo Basin in New Mexico, and for other purposes;
S. 2786, to revise the boundary of the Wind Cave National Park in the State of South Dakota;
S. 3880, to designate Fort Bayard Historic District in the State of New Mexico as a National Historic Landmark, and for other purposes;
H.R. 3786, to revise the boundary of the Glen Canyon National Recreation Area in the States of Utah and Arizona; and H.R. 3858, to modify the boundaries of the New River Gorge National River, West Virginia.

Because of the limited time available for the hearing, witnesses may testify by invitation only. However, those wishing to submit written testimony for the hearing record should send two copies and the testimony to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources, United States Senate, 312 Dirksen Senate Office Building, Washington, DC 20510.

For further information, please contact David Brooks of the Committee staff at (202) 224-9863.

AUTHORITY FOR COMMITTEES TO MEET

COMMITTEE ON BANKING, HOUSING, AND URBAN AFFAIRS

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs be authorized to meet during the session of the Senate on Thursday, September 12, 2002, at 2:00 p.m., to conduct a hearing and mark-up for the nomination of Wayne A. Abernathy, of Virginia, to be Assistant Secretary of the Treasury for Financial Institutions; a mark-up of S. 2239, the FHA Downpayment Mortgage Insurance Improvement Act of 2002; a mark-up of S. 1210, Reauthorizing the Native American Housing and Self-Determination Act of 1996.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Finance be authorized to meet during the session of the Senate on Thursday, September 12, 2002, to consider favorably reporting H.R. 5063, the Armed Forces Tax Fairness Act of 2002.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

COMMITTEE ON INDIAN AFFAIRS

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Indian Affairs be authorized to meet on Thursday, September 12, 2002, at 10:15 a.m. to hold a hearing on the World Bank’s International Development Association.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

COMMITTEE ON FOREIGN RELATIONS

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Foreign Relations be authorized to meet during the session of the Senate on Thursday, September 12, 2002, at 10:15 a.m. to hold a hearing on the World Bank’s International Development Association.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

COMMITTEE ON THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on the District of Columbia be authorized to meet during the session of the Senate on Thursday, September 12, 2002, at 10:15 a.m. to hold a hearing on the District of Columbia.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

COMMITTEE ON COMPETITION POLICY

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Competition Policy be authorized to meet during the session of the Senate on Thursday, September 12, 2002, at 10:15 a.m. to hold a hearing on the World Bank’s International Development Association.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

COMMITTEE ON BANKING, HOUSING, AND URBAN AFFAIRS

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs be authorized to meet on Thursday, September 12, 2002, at 10:15 a.m. to hold a hearing on the World Bank’s International Development Association.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

COMMITTEE ON THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on the District of Columbia be authorized to meet on Thursday, September 12, 2002, at 10:15 a.m. to hold a hearing on the World Bank’s International Development Association.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

COMMITTEE ON COMPETITION POLICY

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Competition Policy be authorized to meet on Thursday, September 12, 2002, at 10:15 a.m. to hold a hearing on the World Bank’s International Development Association.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT AGREEMENT—H.R. 5093

Mr. REID. I ask unanimous consent that on Friday, September 13, 2002, the Senate resumes consideration of H.R. 5093, the Department of the Interior appropriations bill, and the Dodd amendment No. 4522, the time until 10:15 be
DNA SEXUAL ASSAULT JUSTICE ACT OF 2002

Mr. REID. I ask unanimous consent to have the Senate now proceed to the consideration of Calendar No. 501, S. 2513.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

[45x346]ø italic.

brackets and insert the part printed in and inserting in lieu thereof the follation of sexual assault cases with DNA evidence.

and to improve investigation and prosecution of sexual assault cases with DNA evidence.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill, which had been reported from the Committee on the Judiciary, with an amendment to strike all after the enacting clause and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

[Delete the part printed in black brackets and insert the part printed in italic.]

[SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.]

This Act may be cited as the “DNA Sexual Assault Justice Act of 2002.”

[SECTION 2. ASSESSMENT ON BACKLOG IN DNA ANALYSIS

OF SAMPLES.]

(a) ASSESSMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Attorney General shall survey each law enforcement jurisdiction to assess the extent of the backlog in DNA analysis of rape kit samples, and to improve investigation and prosecution of sexual assault cases with

DNA evidence.

(2) DETERMINATIONS.—The Attorney

General, acting through the Director of the National Institute of Justice, shall carry out an assessment of Federal, State, local, and tri-bital territories law enforcement jurisdictions to determine the amount of—

(A) evidence contained in rape kits that has not been subjected to DNA testing and analysis; and

(B) evidence from sexual assault crimes that has not been subjected to DNA testing and analysis.

(b) REPORT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Attorney General shall submit to Congress a report on the assessment carried out under subsection (a).

(2) CONTENTS.—The report submitted under paragraph (1) shall include—

(A) the results of the assessment carried out under subsection (a);

(B) a plan for carrying out additional assessments and reports to continue until all law enforcement jurisdictions report no backlog in crime scene DNA testing and analysis.

(2) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—

There is authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out this section.

[SECTION 3. GRANTS FOR DNA SAM-

PLIES FROM RAPE KITS.]

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Attorney General shall submit to Congress a report on the assessment carried out under subsection (a), and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

[Delete the part printed in black brackets and insert the part printed

in italic.]

[SECTION 4. INCREASED GRANTS FOR DNA ANALYSIS.]

(a) AUTHORIZATION OF GRANTS.—The Attorney General shall make grants to eligible entities to carry out sexual assault examiner training and certification;

(2) develop sexual assault examiner programs;

(3) acquire or improve forensic equipment;

(4) train law enforcement personnel in the handling of sexual assault cases and the collection and use of DNA samples for use as forensic evidence; and

(5) train law enforcement personnel to recognize, detect, report, and respond to drug-facilitated sexual assaults.

(b) ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA.—In awarding grants

under this section, the Attorney General shall give priority to a State or unit of local government that has a significant rape kit or non-suspect case backlog as compared to other applicants.

[SECTION 7. AUTHORIZATION FOR GRANTS FOR IM-

PROVED RESPONSIBILITIES TO INVESTIGATE SEXUAL ASSAULT CASES.]

(a) AUTHORIZATION OF GRANTS.—The Attorney General shall make grants to eligible entities to

(1) acquire or improve forensic equipment;

(2) train law enforcement personnel to recognize, detect, report, and respond to drug-facilitated sexual assaults.

(b) ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA.—In awarding grants

under this section, the term “eligible entity” means—

(1) a State;

(2) a unit of local government;

(3) a college, university, or other institute of higher learning;

(4) sexual assault examination programs, including sexual assault forensic examiner

(SAFE) programs, sexual assault nurse examiner (SANE) programs, and sexual assault response team (SART) programs; and

(5) a State sexual assault coalition.

(c) APPLICATION.—An application for a grant under this section—

(1) the chief executive officer of a State, unit of local government, or entity that desires a grant under this section shall submit to the Attorney General—

(A) an application in such form and containing such information as the Attorney

General may require;

(B) certification that the testing will be done in a laboratory that complies with the quality assurance and proficiency testing standards for collecting and processing DNA samples issued by the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation under section 210303 of the DNA Identification Act of 1994 (42

U.S.C. 14131);

(C) notice that the applicant is aware of, and utilizing, uniform protocols and standards issued by the Department of Justice on the collection and processing of DNA evidence at crime scenes; and

(D) if the applicant is a unit of local government, certification that the applicant participates in a State laboratory system;

and

(2) an existing or proposed sexual assault examination program shall submit to the Attorney General—

(A) an application in such form and containing such information as the Attorney

General may require;

(B) certification that the program complies with the standards and recommended for debate prior to the vote in relation to the amendment, with no second-degree amendment in order prior to a vote in relation to the amendment, with the time equally divided and controlled as follows: Senator DODD controlling time in support of the amendment, and the time in opposition controlled equally between Senators

NOYEE and CAMPELL; that at 10:15

a.m., without further intervening action or debate, the Senate proceed to vote in relation to the amendment; that the amendment is not tabled, it remain debatable and amendable.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

for debate prior to the vote in relation to the amendment, with no second-degree amendment in order prior to a vote in relation to the amendment, with the time equally divided and controlled as follows: Senator DODD con-rolling time in support of the amendment, and the time in opposition con-rolled equally between Senators

NOYEE and CAMPELL; that at 10:15
protocol developed by the Attorney General pursuant to section 1405 of the Victims of Trafficking and Violence Protection Act of 2000 (42 U.S.C. 7379g note); and [C] notice that the applicant is aware of, and utilizing, uniform protocols and standards issued by the Department of Justice on the collection and processing of DNA evidence.

[d] Priority.—In awarding grants under this section, the Attorney General shall give priority to proposed or existing sexual assault examination programs that are serving, or will serve, populations currently underserved by existing sexual assault examination programs.

(e) Restrictions on Use of Funds.—

(1) SUPPLEMENTAL FUNDS.—Funds made available under this section shall not be used to supplant State funds, but shall be used to increase the amount of funds that would, in the absence of Federal funds, be made available from State sources for the purposes of this section.

(2) ADMINISTRATIVE COSTS.—An eligible entity may not use more than 3 percent of the funds it receives under this section for administrative expenses.

(3) NONEXCLUSIVITY.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit or restrict the ability of proposed or existing sexual assault examination programs to apply for and obtain Federal funding from any other agency or of any other Federal Grant program.

(f) Authorization of Appropriations.—

There are authorized to be appropriated to the Department of Justice $15,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2003 through 2006 to carry out this section.

SEC. 8. AUTHORIZING JOHN DOE DNA INDICTMENT.

(a) LIMITATIONS.—Section 3282 of title 18, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by striking “Except” and inserting the following:

“(a) LIMITATION.—Except”;

(2) by adding at the end the following:

“(b) DNA PROFILE INDICTMENT.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—In any indictment found for an offense under chapter 109A, the indictment shall be filed in the name of the person whose name is unknown, but who has a particular DNA profile.

“(2) EXCEPTION.—Any indictment described in paragraph (1), which is found within 5 years after the offense under chapter 109A has been committed, shall not be subject to—

“(A) the limitations period described in subsection (a); and

“(B) the provisions of chapter 208 until the individual is arraigned or served with a summons in connection with the charges contained in the indictment.

“(c) PRIVACY PROTECTION STANDARD.—Section 3282(a) of the DNA Analysis Backlog Elimination Act of 2000 (42 U.S.C. 14138a(a)) is amended by inserting before the period at the end the following: “or in section 3282(b) of title 18, United States Code.”

(c) PRIVACY PROTECTION.—Section 9 of the DNA Analysis Backlog Elimination Act of 2000 (42 U.S.C. 14138) is amended by Amendment 2 by adding at the end the following:

“(1) by striking “and” and inserting “and” at the end;

“(B) by striking subparagraph (C) and inserting the following:

“(C) $15,000,000 for fiscal year 2003;

“(D) $15,000,000 for fiscal year 2004;
(1) in subsection (b)—

(1) (A) in paragraph (4), by striking “and” after the semicolon;
(2) in paragraph (5), by striking the period at the end and inserting “and”;
(3) by adding at the end the following:

“(6) PRIORITY.—In awarding grants under this section, the Attorney General shall give priority to a State or unit of local government that has a significant rape kit or nonsuspect case backlog per capita as compared with other applicants.”;

SECTION 7. QUALITY ASSURANCE STANDARDS FOR COLLECTION AND HANDLING OF DNA EVIDENCE.

(a) NATIONAL PROTOCOL.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Attorney General shall review national, State, local, and tribal government plans on or before the date of enactment of this Act, on the collection and processing of DNA evidence at crime scenes.

(2) RECOMMENDED PROTOCOL.—Based upon the review described in paragraph (1), the Attorney General shall develop a national protocol for the collection of DNA evidence at crime scenes, including crimes of rape and other sexual assaults.

(b) STANDARDS, PRACTICE, AND TRAINING FOR SEXUAL ASSAULT FORENSIC EXAMINATIONS.—

Section 1405(a) of the Victims of Trafficking and Violence Protection Act of 2000 (42 U.S.C. 3796gg note) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (2), by inserting “and emergency response personnel” after “health care students”; and

(2) in paragraph (3), by inserting “and DNA evidence collection” after “sexual assault forensic examinations”.

SECTION 8. SEXUAL ASSAULT FORENSIC EXAM GRANTS.

(a) AUTHORIZATION OF GRANTS.—The Attorney General shall make grants to eligible entities to—

(1) establish and maintain sexual assault examiner programs;

(2) carry out sexual assault examiner training and certification; and

(3) acquire or improve forensic equipment.

(b) ELIGIBLE ENTITY.—For purposes of this section, the term “eligible entity” means—

(1) a State;

(2) a unit of local government;

(3) a college, university, or other institute of higher learning;

(4) an Indian tribe;

(5) sexual assault examination programs, including sexual assault nurse examiner (SANE) programs, sexual assault forensic examiner (SAFE) programs, and sexual assault response team (SART) programs; and

(6) a State sexual assault coalition.

(c) APPLICATION.—To receive a grant under this section—

(1) an eligible entity shall submit to the Attorney General a grant application which contains such information as the Attorney General may require; and

(2) an existing or proposed sexual assault examination program may also—

(A) certify that the program complies with the standards and recommended protocol developed by the Attorney General pursuant to section 1405 of the Victims of Trafficking and Violence Protection Act of 2000 (42 U.S.C. 3796gg note); and

(B) certify that the applicant is aware of, and utilizing, uniform protocols and standards issued by the Department of Justice on the collection and processing of DNA evidence at crime scenes.

(d) PRIORITY.—In awarding grants under this section, the Attorney General shall give priority to proposed or existing sexual assault examination programs that are serving, or will serve, populations currently underserved by existing sexual assault examination programs.

(e) RESTRICTIONS ON USE OF FUNDS.—

(1) SUPPLEMENTAL FUNDS.—Funds made available under this section shall not be used to supplement State funds, but shall be used to increase the amount of funds that would, in the absence of Federal funds, be made available from State sources for the purposes of this section.

(2) ADMINISTRATIVE COSTS.—An eligible entity may not use more than 5 percent of the funds it receives under this section for administrative expenses.

(3) NONEXCLUSIVITY.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit or restrict the ability of an eligible entity to obtain Federal funding from any other agency or department or any other Federal grant program.

(f) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—

There are authorized to be appropriated to the Department of Justice $10,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2003 through 2007 to carry out this section.

SECTION 9. DNA EVIDENCE TRAINING GRANTS.

(a) AUTHORIZATION OF GRANTS.—The Attorney General shall make grants to eligible entities to—

(1) train law enforcement personnel and other first responders at crime scenes, including investigators, in the handling of sexual assault cases and the collection and use of DNA samples for use as forensic evidence;

(2) train State and local prosecutors on the training referred to in section 3282 of title 18,

(3) train law enforcement personnel to recognize, detect, report, and respond to drug-facilitated sexual assaults;

(4) provide DNA profile training.

(b) ELIGIBLE ENTITY.—For purposes of this section, the term “eligible entity” means—

(1) a State;

(2) a unit of local government;

(3) a college, university, or other institute of higher learning; and

(4) an Indian tribe.

(c) APPLICATION.—To receive a grant under this section, an eligible entity shall submit to the Attorney General a grant application, which contains such information as the Attorney General may require;

(1) in such form and containing such information as the Attorney General may require;

(2) certification that the applicant is aware of, and utilizing, uniform protocols and standards issued by the Department of Justice on the collection and processing of DNA evidence at crime scenes;

(3) certification that the applicant is aware of, and utilizing, the national sexual assault forensic examination training protocols developed under section 1405(a) of the Victims of Trafficking and Violence Protection Act of 2000 (42 U.S.C. 3796gg note); and

(4) if the applicant is a unit of local government, certification that the applicant participates in a State laboratory system.

(d) RESTRICTIONS ON USE OF FUNDS.—

(1) SUPPLEMENTAL FUNDS.—Funds made available under this section shall not be used to supplement State funds, but shall be used to increase the amount of funds that would, in the absence of Federal funds, be made available from State sources for the purposes of this section.

(2) ADMINISTRATIVE COSTS.—An eligible entity may not use more than 5 percent of the funds it receives under this section for administrative expenses.

(3) NONEXCLUSIVITY.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit or restrict the ability of an eligible entity to obtain Federal funding from any other agency or department or any other Federal grant program.

(4) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—

There are authorized to be appropriated to the Department of Justice $10,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2003 through 2007 to carry out this section.

SECTION 10. AUTHORIZING JOHN DOE DNA INDICTMENTS.

(a) LIMITATIONS.—Section 3282 of title 18, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by striking “Except” and inserting the following:

“(a) LIMITATION.—Except”; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

“(b) DNA PROFILE INDICTMENT.

(1) IN GENERAL.—In any indictment found for an offense under chapter 109A, if the identity of the accused is unknown, it shall be sufficient to describe the accused as an individual whose name is unknown, but who has a particular DNA profile.

(2) EXCEPTION.—Any indictment described in paragraph (1), which has been filed before 5 years after the offense under chapter 109A have been committed, shall not be subject to—

(A) the limitations period described in subsection (a); and

(B) the provisions of chapter 208 until the individual is arrested or served with a summons in connection with the charges contained in the indictment.

(c) DEFINITION.—For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘DNA profile’ means a set of DNA identification characteristics.

(b) RULES OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE.—Rule 7 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure is amended in subdivision (c)(1) by adding at the end the following: “For purposes of an indictment referred to in section 3282 of title 18, United States Code, if the identity of the defendant is unknown, it shall be sufficient to describe the defendant, in an individual whose name is unknown, but who has a particular DNA profile, as defined in that section 2328.”.

SECTION 11. INCREASED GRANTS FOR COMBINED DNA INDEX PROGRAMS.

Section 210306 of the DNA Identification Act of 1994 (42 U.S.C. 14134) is amended—

(1) in General.—There shall be increased grants for the Combined DNA Index System (CODIS) $9,700,000 for fiscal year 2003.

SECTION 12. INCREASED GRANTS FOR FEDERAL CONVICTED OFFENDER PROGRAM (FCOP).

Section 3 of the DNA Analysis Backlog Elimination Act of 2000 (42 U.S.C. 14135e) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(q) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to the Federal Bureau of Investigation to carry out upgrades to the Combined DNA Index System (CODIS) $9,700,000 for fiscal year 2003.”.

SECTION 13. PRIVACY REQUIREMENTS FOR HANDLING DNA EVIDENCE AND DNA ANALYSES.

(a) PRIVACY PROTECTION STANDARD.—Section 10(a) of the DNA Analysis Backlog Elimination Act of 2000 (42 U.S.C. 14135e) is amended by inserting before the period at the end the following: “or in section 3282(b) of title 18, United States Code”.
(b) LIMITATION ON ACCESS TO DNA INFORMATION.—Section 10 of the DNA Analysis Backlog Elimination Act of 2000 (42 U.S.C. 14135e) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(d) LIMITATION ON ACCESS TO DNA INFORMATION.—

"(1) In general.—The Attorney General shall establish, by regulation, procedures to limit access to, or use of, stored DNA samples or DNA analyses.

"(2) Regulations.—The regulations established under paragraph (1) shall establish conditions for using DNA information to—

"(A) limit the use and dissemination of such information, as provided under subparagraphs (A), (B), and (C) of section 2103(b)(3) of the Violent Crime Control and Law Enforcement Act of 1994 (42 U.S.C. 14132(b)(3));

"(B) limit the redissemination of such information;

"(C) ensure the accuracy, security, and confidentiality of such information;

"(D) protect any privacy rights of individuals who are the subject of such information; and

"(E) provide for the timely removal and destruction of obsolete or inaccurate information, or information required to be expunged.

"(c) CRIMINAL PENALTY.—Section 10(c) of the DNA Analysis Backlog Elimination Act of 2000 (42 U.S.C. 14135e) is amended—

"(1) in paragraph (1), by striking "discloses a sample or result" and inserting "discloses or uses a DNA sample or DNA analysis"; and

"(2) in paragraph (2), by inserting "per offense" after "$100,000.

Mr. REID. I ask unanimous consent that the committee substitute amendment be agreed to, the bill, as amended, be read the third time, and passed, the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table, and any statements relating thereto be printed in the RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The committee amendment in the nature of a substitute was agreed to.

The bill (S. 2513), as amended, was read the third time and passed.

DESIGNATING “YEAR OF THE BLUES”

Mr. REID. I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to Calendar No. 567, S. Res. 316.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the resolution by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A resolution (S. Res. 316) designating the year beginning February 1, 2002, as the Year of the Blues.

Whereas the achievements and goals of American roots music, with its various forms, which today has its roots and traditions in the United States, which led to him being named Father of the Blues: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) designates the year beginning February 1, 2003, as the “Year of the Blues”; and

(2) requests that the President issue a proclamation calling on the people of the United States to observe the “Year of the Blues” with appropriate ceremonies, activities, and educational programs.

Whereas blues music is the most influential form of American roots music, with its impact heard around the world in rock and roll, jazz, rhythm and blues, country, and even classical music:

Whereas the blues is a national historic treasure, which needs to be preserved, identified, and documented for future generations:

Whereas the blues is an important documentation of African-American culture in the twentieth century:

Whereas the various forms of the blues document twentieth-century American history during the Great Depression and in the areas of race relations, popular culture, and the migration of the United States from a rural, agricultural society to an urban, industrialized Nation;

Whereas the year 2003 is the centennial anniversary of when W.C. Handy, a classically-trained musician, heard the blues for the first time, in a train station in Mississippi, thus enabling him to compose the first blues music to distribute throughout the United States, which led to him being named “Father of the Blues”:

Whereas there are 105 historically black colleges and universities in the United States, which need to be recognized and revered for their story captured and preserved for future generations; and

Whereas the year 2003 is the centennial anniversary of when W.C. Handy, a classically-trained musician, heard the blues for the first time, in a train station in Mississippi, thus enabling him to compose the first blues music to distribute throughout the United States, which led to him being named “Father of the Blues”:

Whereas the various forms of the blues document twentieth-century American history during the Great Depression and in the areas of race relations, popular culture, and the migration of the United States from a rural, agricultural society to an urban, industrialized Nation;

Whereas the blues is a national historic treasure, which needs to be preserved, identified, and documented for future generations:

Whereas the year 2003 is the centennial anniversary of when W.C. Handy, a classically-trained musician, heard the blues for the first time, in a train station in Mississippi, thus enabling him to compose the first blues music to distribute throughout the United States, which led to him being named “Father of the Blues”:

Whereas there are 105 historically black colleges and universities in the United States, which need to be recognized and revered for their story captured and preserved for future generations; and

WHEREAS BLUES MUSIC IS THE MOST INFLUENTIAL FORM OF AMERICAN ROOTS MUSIC, WITH ITS IMPACT HEARD AROUND THE WORLD IN ROCK AND ROLL, JAZZ, RHYTHM AND BLUES, COUNTRY, AND EVEN CLASSICAL MUSIC;

WHEREAS THE BLUES IS A NATIONAL HISTORIC TREASURE, WHICH NEEDS TO BE PRESERVED, IDENTIFIED, AND DOCUMENTED FOR FUTURE GENERATIONS;

WHEREAS THE BLUES IS AN IMPORTANT DOCUMENTATION OF AFRICAN-AMERICAN CULTURE IN THE TWENTIETH CENTURY;

WHEREAS THE VARIOUS FORMS OF THE BLUES DOCUMENT TWENTIETH-CENTURY AMERICAN HISTORY DURING THE GREAT DEPRESSION AND IN THE AREAS OF RACE RELATIONS, POPULAR CULTURE, AND THE MIGRATION OF THE UNITED STATES FROM A RURAL, AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY TO AN URBAN, INDUSTRIALIZED NATION;

WHEREAS THE YEAR 2003 IS THE CENTENNIAL ANNIVERSARY OF WHEN W.C. HANDBY, A CLASSICALLY-TRAINED MUSICIAN, HEARD THE BLUES FOR THE FIRST TIME, IN A TRAIN STATION IN MISSISSIPPI, THUS ENABLING HIM TO COMPOSE THE FIRST BLUES MUSIC TO DISTRIBUTE THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES, WHICH LED TO HIM BEING NAMED “FATHER OF THE BLUES”: NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT

RESOLVED, THAT THE SENATE—

(1) DESIGNATES THE YEAR BEGINNING JANUARY 1, 2003, AS THE “YEAR OF THE BLUES”; AND

(2) REQUESTS THAT THE PRESIDENT ISSUE A PROCLAMATION CALLING ON THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES TO OBSERVE THE “YEAR OF THE BLUES” WITH APPROPRIATE CEREMONIES, ACTIVITIES, AND EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS.

EXPRESSING THE SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING THE UNITED STATES CONGRESSIONAL PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to consider the concurrent resolution.

Mr. REID. I ask unanimous consent that the resolution and the preamble be agreed to, the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table, and any statements relating thereto be printed in the RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered. The clerk will report the resolution by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A resolution (S. Res. 305) designating the week beginning September 15, 2002, as “National Historically Black Colleges and Universities Week.”

WHEREAS THE VARIOUS FORMS OF THE BLUES DOCUMENT TWENTIETH-CENTURY AMERICAN HISTORY DURING THE GREAT DEPRESSION AND IN THE AREAS OF RACE RELATIONS, POPULAR CULTURE, AND THE MIGRATION OF THE UNITED STATES FROM A RURAL, AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY TO AN URBAN, INDUSTRIALIZED NATION;

WHEREAS THE BLUES IS A NATIONAL HISTORIC TREASURE, WHICH NEEDS TO BE PRESERVED, IDENTIFIED, AND DOCUMENTED FOR FUTURE GENERATIONS;

WHEREAS THE BLUES IS AN IMPORTANT DOCUMENTATION OF AFRICAN-AMERICAN CULTURE IN THE TWENTIETH CENTURY;

WHEREAS THE VARIOUS FORMS OF THE BLUES DOCUMENT TWENTIETH-CENTURY AMERICAN HISTORY DURING THE GREAT DEPRESSION AND IN THE AREAS OF RACE RELATIONS, POPULAR CULTURE, AND THE MIGRATION OF THE UNITED STATES FROM A RURAL, AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY TO AN URBAN, INDUSTRIALIZED NATION;

WHEREAS THE YEAR 2003 IS THE CENTENNIAL ANNIVERSARY OF WHEN W.C. HANDBY, A CLASSICALLY-TRAINED MUSICIAN, HEARD THE BLUES FOR THE FIRST TIME, IN A TRAIN STATION IN MISSISSIPPI, THUS ENABLING HIM TO COMPOSE THE FIRST BLUES MUSIC TO DISTRIBUTE THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES, WHICH LED TO HIM BEING NAMED “FATHER OF THE BLUES”:

WHEREAS THERE ARE 105 HISTORICALLY BLACK COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES IN THE UNITED STATES;

WHEREAS BLACK COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES PROVIDE THE QUALITY EDUCATION SO ESSENTIAL TO FULL PARTICIPATION IN A COMPLEX, HIGHLY TECHNICAL SOCIETY;

WHEREAS BLACK COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES HAVE A RICH HERITAGE AND HAVE PLAYED A PROMINENT ROLE IN AMERICAN HISTORY;

WHEREAS BLACK COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES HAVE ALLOWED MANY UNDERPRIVILEGED STUDENTS TO ATTAIN THEIR POTENTIAL THROUGH HIGHER EDUCATION;

WHEREAS THE ACHIEVEMENTS AND GOALS OF HISTORICALLY BLACK COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES ARE DESERVING OF NATIONAL RECOGNITION: Now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED, THAT THE SENATE—

(1) DESIGNATES THE WEEK BEGINNING SEPTEMBER 15, 2002, AS “NATIONAL HISTORICALLY BLACK COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES WEEK”; AND

(2) REQUESTS THAT THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES ISSUE A PROCLAMATION CALLING ON THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES AND INTERESTED GROUPS TO OBSERVE THE WEEK WITH APPROPRIATE CEREMONIES, ACTIVITIES, AND PROGRAMS TO DEMONSTRATE SUPPORT FOR HISTORICALLY BLACK COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES IN THE UNITED STATES.

Whereas blues music is the most influential form of American roots music, with its impact heard around the world in rock and roll, jazz, rhythm and blues, country, and even classical music;
CONGRATULATING THE NATIONAL FARMERS UNION FOR 100 YEARS OF SERVICE TO FAMILY FARMERS, RANCHERS, AND RURAL COMMUNITIES

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Agriculture Committee be discharged from further consideration of S. Res. 324, and the Senate now proceed to its immediate consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered. The clerk will report the resolution by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A resolution (S. Res. 324) congratulating the National Farmers Union for 100 years of service to family farmers, ranchers, and rural communities.

There being no objection the Senate proceeded to consider the resolution.

Mr. REID. I ask unanimous consent that the resolution and the preamble be agreed to en bloc, the motion to reconsider be laid on the table with no intervening action or debate, and any statements relating thereto be printed in the RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The resolution (S. Res. 324) was agreed to.

The preamble was agreed to.

The resolution, with its preamble, reads as follows:

S. Res. 324
Whereas the National Farmers Union celebrates its centennial anniversary in 2002;
Whereas during its 100 years of service to rural America, the National Farmers Union has faithfully promoted the organization’s mission of education, legislation, and cooperation as identified by its founders and proclaimed in its triangular symbol;
Whereas the National Farmers Union epitomizes the spirit and energy of hundreds of thousands of family farmers, ranchers, rural advocates, and communities;
Whereas the National Farmers Union remains dedicated to protecting and enhancing the quality of life for rural America;
Whereas the National Farmers Union has been instrumental in the establishment and progress of the farmer-owned cooperative movement;
Whereas the National Farmers Union strives to improve rural America through proactive support and proposals to enhance rural economic development, educational opportunities, resource conservation, market competition, domestic farm income, and international cooperation; Now, therefore, be it
Resolved, That the Senate commends and congratulates the National Farmers Union for a century of dedicated service to the farmers, ranchers, and rural communities of the United States.

PROVIDING A TEMPORARY WAIVER UNDER THE CLEAN AIR ACT

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of H.R. 3880, which has just been received from the House.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the bill by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (H.R. 3880) to provide a temporary waiver from certain transportation conformity requirements and metropolitan transportation planning requirements under the Clean Air Act and under other laws for certain areas in New York where the planning offices and resources have been destroyed by acts of terrorism, and for other purposes.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill.

Mr. REID. I ask unanimous consent the bill be read three times, passed, the motion to reconsider be laid on the table, and any statements relating thereto be printed in the RECORD, without any intervening action or debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The bill (H.R. 3880) was read the third time and passed.

ORDERS FOR FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 2002

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that when the Senate completes its business today, it adjourn until 9:45 a.m. tomorrow, Friday, September 13, that following the prayer and the Pledge, the Journal of proceedings be approved to date, the morning hour be deemed expired, the time for the two leaders be reserved for their use later in the day, and the Senate proceed to executive session to consider Executive Calendar No. 961 and the motion to reconsider be laid on the table with no intervening action or debate; that following the disposition of the nomination, the motion to reconsider be laid on the table, any statements thereon be printed in the RECORD, the President be immediately notified, and the Senate return to legislative session and resume consideration of the Interior Appropriations Act.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.
Supporters of this legislation will tell you it shows their support for the education of our children. I believe that if Congress is serious about supporting elementary and secondary education, we should fully fund the provisions of the No Child Left Behind Act passed overwhelmingly last year. The President’s budget not only fails to provide all the funding authorized for this legislation, it actually cuts funding for these programs by $90 million from the 2002 enacted level, to $22.1 billion for 2003. This is $4.2 billion below the $26.3 billion authorized for 2002.

Mr. Speaker, every member of the House has heard from their local school districts how the unfunded mandate of the special education law leaves them struggling to balance the books. I voted for the No Child Left Behind Act and I made a commitment to my local school districts that I would do everything in my power to ensure that this new law is fully funded.

Unfortunately, the bill before us today will divert funds from the commitments we made when passing the No Child Left Behind Act in favor of initiatives for which there is no strong commitment. For example, the Coverdell Savings Accounts provision of this bill could divert scarce resources from our public school system, a system that serves over 90% of our nation’s kids. These Education Savings Accounts (ESA) provide tax breaks, equivalent to vouchers, for private schools. ESA’s drain funds (ESA) provide tax breaks, equivalent to vouchers, for private schools. ESA’s drain funds that could be used for other purposes—including full funding of the No Child Left Behind Act. Further, ESAs offer no real choice to low-income families, who do not have the funds to put aside for private school, or families with disabled kids, who can still be turned down by private schools.

Mr. Speaker, while I am concerned with the afford certain provisions of this bill will have on scarce public school funds, I do support several provisions in this bill. I have long supported efforts to expand the student loan interest deduction. This policy affirms my belief in the importance of higher education to our nation’s future and my hope that the opportunities of college can be made more affordable to more individuals. I also support legislation that would help local communities with school construction and renovation needs. The average age of school buildings in my congressional district is 30 years, and 25% of my schools use portable classrooms. The need is great in both areas, and during my time in office I have actively worked to address these problems. It is regrettable that I was unable to support this bill due to the unfortunate legislative vehicle chosen and that it was brought to the floor by the majority in their zeal to vote yet again for school vouchers.

Finally, I am opposing this bill because it was brought to the floor under an unfair procedure that prevents the consideration of any amendments and even a motion to recommit. Perhaps if the majority had utilized the regular procedures within the committee process, members like me would have had an opportunity to have our concerns addressed and this legislation, stripped of its controversial elements, could have passed the House overwhelmingly.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO JOHN A.F. WENDT

HON. SCOTT MCNINIS
OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. McNinis. Mr. Speaker, it is with great sadness that I take this opportunity to recognize the life and accomplishments of John A.F. Wendt, Jr., of Delta, Colorado, before this body of Congress. Mr. Wendt has just recently passed away and as his family mourns their loss, I would like to pay tribute to the extraordinary contributions he made to his community and to his country. Throughout his life, Mr. Wendt embodied the unrelenting principles of honor, character, and sincerity that we, as Americans, should always strive to emulate.

Mr. Wendt was a World War II and Korean War veteran who courageously served his country in the Army’s elite 11th Airborne unit in the Pacific. His resolute character and principled demeanor won him the approval and respect of his fellow servicemen who viewed him as a dedicated soldier and a loyal comrade. In fact, Mr. Wendt’s courage was so commendable that he was awarded the prestigious Silver Star, Bronze Star, and Purple Heart medals for his military service.

After graduating from University of Colorado in 1951, Mr. Wendt became a very successful and distinguished lawyer. He was a practicing attorney his entire life; he served as a judge and a district attorney and was on the Board of Directors of the Colorado Bar Association for many years. Mr. Wendt loved the law profession and the genuine interest and enthusiasm that he brought to his work won him the esteem and admiration of his colleagues.

Mr. Wendt’s commanding career, Mr. Wendt found the time to make significant contributions within his community. Mr. Wendt was a committed member of the Pony Club, a horsemanship education program for children. Mr. Wendt served on the Board of the Pony Club but also took the time to participate directly with the children within the organization. Mr. Wendt was also a sportsman and founded the Roaring Fork Hounds Club, where he eagerly participated in the organization’s events.

Mr. Speaker, it is with profound sorrow that I recognize Mr. John A.F. Wendt before this body of Congress and this nation for the outstanding service and commitment he made to his country. My condolences go out to his brother Allan and his children John, Eric, Wendy, and Hilary. Mr. Wendt lived his life with courage and with honor and I commend him for his conduct. His loss will be deeply felt and a grateful nation will be forever in his debt.
which our nation may deal with international disputes and/or coalition building. Trade’s national security component cannot be understated. Mr. Speaker, on December 6, 2001, I voted for TPA because I believe trade expansion is necessary to achieve continued economic growth and protect our vital national security interests. House approval of this legislation in December helped move the process forward on this legislation and made possible a stronger bill from the Senate and a conference report that contained many of the important provisions of the Senate bill.

The TPA conference report contained strong trade adjustment assistance (TAA) provisions that improved and expanded the current program. Indeed, the conference report nearly tripled the existing TAA program and set important new precedents regarding coverage for displaced workers and health care assistance for the unemployed. This bill will, for the first time, allow displaced workers to receive assistance in purchasing qualified group health plans and makes them eligible for a benefit to pay 65 percent of their health care costs. This bill also expands the universe of individuals eligible for assistance to include secondary workers and farmers. Finally, the bill doubles the amount to be used to retrain displaced workers in new and better paying jobs, while creating wage insurance for older employees.

With specific regard to trade, the conference report improves upon the House-passed version by requiring, for the first time, that labor and environment issues are “on par” with, or given the same consideration as, other trade-related issues. These labor and environment issues are fully enforceable through dispute resolution mechanisms under current law and the bill contains provisions to ensure that our U.S. trade laws are protected.

The conference report also fully addresses investor-state disputes, or so-called Chapter 11 issues not contained in the original House-passed bill. The legislation will (1) ensure that foreign investors in the U.S. are not accorded greater rights than U.S. investors; (2) establish standards for “fair and equitable treatment” consistent with U.S. legal principles and practice; (3) set up mechanisms to deter and eliminate frivolous claims; (4) provide for public input into the formulation of government positions in investor-state dispute settlements; and (5) create an appellate body to review these disputes.

Finally, this agreement will make the process of foreign trade agreements more efficient and diplomatic. Although the President will form our nation’s official policy on trade, Congress will have considerable influence over the extent to which U.S. participation in policy is determined by the creation of a new Congressional Oversight Committee. Ultimately, Congress will also have the authority to check the Administration’s power by accepting or rejecting the policy.

TPA is critical for removing remaining trade barriers to exports of Kansas’ goods and services. Kansas exporters still face major trade barriers in sectors like civil aircraft and parts, agricultural equipment, industrial machinery and auto parts. With the United States on the sidelines, foreign competitors are forging ahead and pursuing their own market-opening agendas. Kansas is export-dependent, with export sales of $1,879 for every state resident. More than 68,000 Kansas jobs depend on exports of manufactured goods. I believe that this agreement strikes a good balance to protect these export-dependent jobs, preserve our values with regard to labor and the environment, protect our trade laws, and provide unprecedented assistance for displaced workers to receive new, and better jobs.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO JESS J. CAMPBELL

HON. SCOTT McINNIS
OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. McINNIS. Mr. Speaker, it is with great sadness and respect that I recognize the life and passing of Mr. Jess J. Campbell of Orchard Mesa, Colorado. Mr. Campbell, a resident of Colorado for over a hundred years, witnessed the state’s changes and transformations over the course of a century. His loss will be felt by many in his community and I am honored to tell his story before this body of Congress today.

Jess Campbell was born in Steamboat Springs on July 16, 1901. He grew up in the Montrose and Hotchkiss areas of Colorado and lived his entire life on the Western Slope. Mr. Campbell worked as a rancher, a miner, and in real estate and then in 1921, he began working for the Rio Grande Railroad and retired as an engineer after 52 years of service. Mr. Campbell was also a lifetime member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Rio Grande Veterans.

Although Mr. Campbell had an interesting and eventful career, he was also a loving and devoted husband and father. Together, Mr. Campbell and his wife Blanché raised 10 children, 21 grandchildren, 30 great-grandchildren, and 6 great-great-grandchildren. During his free time, Mr. Campbell enjoyed gardening, woodworking, camping, and fishing and enjoyed spending time with friends and family at his cabin on Poncha Pass.

Mr. Speaker, it is an honor to recognize Mr. Jess J. Campbell before this House of Representatives and this nation for the wonderful contributions he has made to the State of Colorado. Mr. Campbell was a pioneer of the state and has left an indelible impression upon its history. As his friends and family gather to mourn his loss, there is solace in knowing that the legacy of Jess J. Campbell will continue into the future generations of this country.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. FRANK MASCARA
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. MASCARA. Mr. Speaker, on September 9, 2002, I was absent for personal reasons and missed rollcall votes numbered 375, 376, and 377. For the record, had I been present I would have voted “yea” on all of these votes.
Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, on September 10, 2002 I was unable to vote on rollcall 378. Had I been present, I would have voted “aye.”

Mr. SHAW. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to my good friend Edith Lederberg, a woman who has served with distinction at the Area Agency on Aging of Broward County for twenty-five years. Born on October 26, 1929, Edith Lederberg is a native of Freeport, New York. There she attended Hofstra University and obtained a Baccalaureate degree in Spanish and a Master’s degree in Education. While residing in New York, Ms. Lederberg held teaching positions in the Freeport and Linderhurst Public School Systems, and Wantagh Union Free School District. In 1975, she became a Public Relations Consultant for the Wantagh Union Free School District. Moving to Broward County, Florida in 1977, Edith continued her public relations career when she became Director of Community Relations Advocacy as Community Coordinator for the Area Agency on Aging. In 1986, Ms. Lederberg was appointed Executive Director of the Area Agency on Aging of Broward County. As Executive Director of the Area Agency of Broward County she performs as the Project Director under the guidance of the Areawide Council on Aging; planning, coordinating, and directing the Area Agency on Aging Programs. She works with the State Department of Elder Affairs, as well as with public and private agencies at the local level. She sets policy for the Area Agencies administrative unit, advocates on behalf of senior concerns locally, statewide, and nationally, and raises financial resources to support programs for Older Americans residing in Broward County. Throughout the years, Ms. Lederberg’s remarkable service has been widely recognized. In 1995, Ms. Lederberg was appointed to serve as a Florida Delegate to the White House Conference on Aging. In 1996 and 1997, she served as President of the Florida Association of Area Agencies on Aging. Edith also is an active member of Broward’s Coordinating Board for Transportation Disadvantaged and the Coordinating Council of Broward. Additionally she has been inducted into Broward Women’s Hall of Fame and Broward Senior Hall of Fame. In 1999, she was selected as one of the Broward County Fair’s First Ladies of Broward and was the designer for the Florida Department of Elder’s Affairs’ Incredibeil Broward Ball. In 1997, she was appointed by Senator Bob Graham to serve on the Federal Judicial Nominating Commission, and I had the privilege of reappointing her in 2001. For the past twenty-five years Edith has found her calling as an advocate for the elderly, not only in Broward County, but throughout the state and the country, and what an advocate she is. This ‘Angel of the Aging’, as she is often called, is knowledgeable, articulate, persuasive and stubborn when fighting for what she feels is right. Many in Florida have seen the poster of this petite woman sitting on a Harris with the caption: ‘Fully Engaged in Positive Aging’. How appropriate, Edith Lederberg: mother, grandmother, poet, baker of cakes, and voice of the elderly.

Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to recognize Edith Lederberg today for all of her contributions, improving the quality of life for senior citizens of Broward County and for her 25 years of service to the Area Agency on Aging of Broward County.

Mr. MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize an important cultural organization that has played a vital role in my congressional district for the past 50 years. Radio station KANU–FM began broadcasting on September 15, 1952, in Lawrence, Kansas, when Harry Truman was serving as President. During the coming weekend, they are celebrating their 50th anniversary on the air. I would like to take this opportunity to thank them for their service.

Since 1952, KANU has informed, enlightened, educated, and amused the radio listeners of northeast Kansas. It is the flagship station of National Public Radio in our state and it is a cultural lifeline for Kansans and an example of public radio at its best.

At a time when radio programming is becoming more homogeneous, KANU continues to present classical music, jazz, opera, bluegrass and folk music. These genres have a wide audience, but listeners might not be able to hear them on the radio without the steadfast, continued support of KANU.

KANU is also a credit to its home institution, the University of Kansas, which has backed the institution from its beginning.

As a listener, supporter and occasional guest of KANU, I urge all Kansans, and indeed, all fans of good radio, to thank KANU for their 50 years of broadcasting and to wish them well for the next 50 years.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. MAJOR R. OWENS
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. OWENS. Mr. Speaker, on September 10 I was unavoidably absent and missed rollcall votes Nos. 378, 379, 380, 381, 382 and 383. If present I would have voted "aye."

PAYING TRIBUTE TO NICK PAPADAKIS

HON. SCOTT McINNIS
OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. McINNIS. Mr. Speaker, I stand before you and this body of Congress today to honor a remarkable veteran of the United States Navy who recently passed away. Nick Papadakis of Pueblo, Colorado contributed selflessly to our nation and I thank him for his commitment to this country. As a Navy veteran who served in time of war, Nick is an example of what is best about our country: the passion and valor of its citizens.

In 1959, after service in the Navy, Nick received an honorable discharge and started a career with the Prudential Insurance Company, which lasted for twenty-eight years. He moved to Colorado in 1971 and immediately found his calling. Nick and his wife dearly missed the deli specialties of San Francisco and opened their own restaurant, "The Deli." The Deli was a success because aside from good food, Nick provided a personal atmosphere where customers could discuss sports, politics and the Pueblo Community. Nick's deli has been a vital part of the Pueblo community since it opened.

Mr. Speaker, I ask you to join me today in celebrating the life of Nick Papadakis, who tragically lost his battle with cancer recently. Nick dutifully served our country and selflessly committed himself to the betterment of Pueblo. His legacy of love includes his wife, June; his two daughters, Michele and Alison; and their husbands; as well as three precious grandchildren who doted on their grandfather. Nick's remarkable spirit empowered all who knew him. I would like to express my deepest condolences to his friends and family as I pay tribute to the power of his life today before this body of Congress.

ALLEN SHUR: 2002 JOHNS LABOR LEADER OF THE YEAR

HON. BOB FILNER
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. FILNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to salute Allen Shur on receiving the 2002 Johns "Labor Leader of the Year" Award in recognition of his outstanding contributions to the working women and men of our community.

Allen was born in Los Angeles in May 1948. His father was a member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. Allen lost both of his parents at a young age. Overcoming his loss, he graduated from high school in Los Angeles County. Then he attended college in southern California and became active in the labor and political movements of the late 60s and early 70s.

Allen joined the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in 1967. He graduated from the then four-year IBEW/NECA Inside Apprenticeship program in 1971. Allen distinguished himself by his political involvement, which caught the attention of IBEW’s membership. He served on the Executive Board of Local 569 and as a Labor Trustee.

In 1995, the membership overwhelmingly elected him to the office of Business Manager, a position that he continues to hold. Allen has continued his support for organizing the electrical workers in San Diego and Imperial Counties, increasing Local 569’s membership rolls each year. In addition, Allen has directed his staff to organize both workers and contractors, providing all workers in the electrical industry the union choice.

Allen serves as the District I Vice President of the California Federation of Labor (AFL-CIO), Executive Board Member of the San Diego Labor Council, Vice President of the San Diego County Building and Construction Trades Council, and Secretary of the AFL-CIO Building Corporations. He also volunteers his time with Christmas in April and other community organizations.

Allen Shur exemplifies the high values, standards, and principles of the late John S. Lyons. I offer my congratulations to him on his receipt of the 2002 "Labor Leader of the Year Award."

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. STENY H. HOYER
OF MARYLAND
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, on September 10, 2002 I was unable to vote on rollcall 379. Had I been present, I would have voted "aye."

EXPRESSION OF CONGRESS ON THE ANNIVERSARY OF TERRORIST ATTACKS LAUNCHED AGAINST THE UNITED STATES ON SEPTEMBER 11, 2001

SPEECH OF
HON. DEBORAH PRYCE
OF OHIO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 11, 2002

Ms. PRYCE of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I rise today on the anniversary of the day our great nation was forever changed when terrorists attacked and killed thousands of Americans simply because they were American.

Today, first and foremost, our Nation pays respect to the victims and their families. We stand united and remind them that one year has passed and still, we will never forget September the 11th.

What happened to the United States on that infamous day brought out the best of the American spirit. The enemies who struck us grossly miscalculated the strength and resolve of the American people.

They didn’t know that our bonds of liberty, our bonds of freedom, and our bonds of democracy are stronger and run deeper than any individual, than any building, than any monument.

As President Bush said, "This country will define our times, not be defined by them. As long as the United States of America is determined and strong, this will not be an age of terror; this will be an age of liberty, here and across the world."

During this unprecedented time of great challenge, there will be no corner of the earth where the demons of September 11th will be safe from justice.

America will continue to fight for the security of our great nation, and for peace in the world.

We will never forget every firefighter, flight attendant, father and friend that died that infamous day. May God watch over their families and continue to bless America.

PITTSBURGH PIRATES ALL-STAR EMPLOYEES

HON. WILLIAM J. COYNE
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. COYNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to call the House’s attention to the recognition that the Pittsburgh Pirates have recently awarded a number of their employees for their outstanding work.

The Pittsburgh Pirates Baseball Club began playing its home games at PNC Park on Pittsburgh’s North Shore during the 2001 baseball season. The new baseball park is an impressive facility, and it has been well regarded by the many fans and visitors who have attended games there.

An important part of the positive experience visitors take away from PNC Park consists of the service they are provided with by the more than 2,500 employees who work at the Park on each game day. These workers take visitors’ tickets, staff the concession stands, keep the facility clean, and provide parking and security services. Their work does a great deal to make a visit to PNC Park such a rewarding experience.

As a way of rewarding and encouraging exemplary service, the Pittsburgh Pirates Baseball Club presented a number of "All-Star" employees each month. The All-Star employees for the month of August, 2002, were Bill Gray, De'Millies Jones, Keith Hall, Anna Eberhart, Chad Jordan, Tom Prendergast, Michelle Kimble, Phil Coyne, and Dan Felton. I would like to congratulate these individuals on their selection for recognition as exemplars of excellence on the job.

TRIBUTE TO RUDD MAGERs MAYER

HON. MARK UDALL
OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. UDALL of Colorado. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Rudd Mayer, a loving mother, tireless worker for the environment and passionate citizen of Boulder, Colorado, who tragically passed away on August 13, 2002.

Rudd spent most of her life raising a family, but in her late forties she became a member of the Boulder-based Land and Water Fund of the Rockies working primarily on energy efficiency and renewable energy issues. Her work was essential in getting Colorado's publicly owned energy utility to include wind power as part of its energy supply portfolio. The success of that program is direct proof that Rudd was on to something. She was instrumental in encouraging consumers to pay a little extra for "green energy" such as wind power. She was the main force behind the program to allow consumers the choice of acting on their beliefs of a cleaner environment by helping to implement and promote renewable energy options.

In addition to her important work, Rudd was someone who held friends and family close and instantly drew people in, constantly forming new friendships and acquaintances. Rudd's presence would lift up any room and her enthusiasm contributed greatly to gatherings of groups and individuals.

Rudd was first, and foremost, a mother. When her kids were growing up, she was always there after school, and set a table for six that do it with her spirit, her integrity, her commitment, her joy." Mayer was born Sept. 8, 1943, in Washington, D.C., to Dorothy and Rudyard K. Mayer. She spent most of her childhood in Evanston, Ill., and graduated from Smith College with a bachelor's degree in art history.

She married Richard Mayer, her high school sweetheart, said Brooks Mayer Larson, a daughter. The two later divorced but remained friends.

Mayer lived in Boulder for about a decade, and the West suited her, Larson said. "She's such a passionate person. She loved the mountains, the land, the desert." Mayer had had some health problems as a result of childhood illness but was one of the most enthusiastic and energetic people to have ever worked, said Larson, also of the Land and Water Fund. On Tuesday morning, a friend of Mayer's drove her to Boulder Community Hospital because she was having trouble breathing, said Larson.

Mayer is survived by four children—Larson, Alexandra Mayer Druker of Palo Alto, Calif., Taylor Mayer of Billings, Mont., and Campbell Mayer, who has been traveling around the world—and five grandchildren. The Mayer family is planning a "memorial celebration" at 10:30 a.m. Monday on the South Steps of the Chautauqua Assembly Hall in Boulder. In lieu of flowers, the family has asked donations be sent to the Land and Water Fund to support wind power.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. FRANK MASCARA
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. MASCARA. Mr. Speaker, on September 10, 2002, I was absent for personal reasons and missed rollcall votes numbered 378 through 383. For the record, had I been present I would have voted yea on all of these votes.

IN RECOGNITION OF STATE SENATOR DEBBY SANDERSON
HON. E. CLAY SHAW, JR.
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. SHAW. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize my good friend, Florida Senator Debbie Sanderson who has announced her retirement after 20 years of distinguished public service to the residents of Broward and Palm Beach counties.

In 1982, Senator Sanderson was the first female elected from Broward County to the Florida House of Representatives and served as the Freshman Minority Leader her first term. In 1988, Debbie was appointed by the Democratic Speaker of the House to the House Health and Human Services Appropriations Committee. It was this committee assignment early in her career which led to her interest in social services and shaped much of her future work in the Florida legislature. She was chairwoman of the Human Services Appropriations Subcommittee of the House until her election to the Senate in 2000.

During her years of service in the House and Senate, Debbie brought her low-key, principle driven agenda focusing on issues such as health care, children, education and a commitment to Florida's social services. Always accessible to her constituents, Debbie traveled her district listening to the needs and concerns of officials and citizens alike. Although the Florida legislature is only in session for two months out of the year, for Debbie it has been a full time job.

When Senator Debbie Sanderson recently announced her retirement, the room was filled with admirers from the social services community all of whom have benefitted from her hard work and dedication: PACE, a program for troubled teenage girls; Joe DiMaggio Children's Hospital; Autism Society of Florida; Area Agency on Aging; Special Olympics, to name just a few. Also present were representatives of Florida Breast Cancer Research Coalition whose cause will benefit from passage of the special license plate legislation sponsored by Senator Debbie Sanderson.

Mr. Speaker, Senator Debbie Sanderson has decided to retire from public life; however I am certain she will remain an active participant in her community, state, and country. During her 20 years of service, Debby and I have shared constituents and lived within each other’s district. She represented me in Tallahassee with honor and dignity and I am honored to represent her here in Washington.

IN REMEMBRANCE OF JAMES L. CHARLES

HON. ROB PORTMAN
OF OHIO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. PORTMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in remembrance of James L. Charles, a dear friend, constituent, community leader, and public servant who passed away on September 1, 2002.

Jim was born in Adams County, Ohio on August 21, 1922. He lived a full life, having proudly served his local community and nation. Early on, he served in the U.S. Marines in World War II. Most recently he was a member of the Ohio Education Association, the National Education Association, the Highland Chapter of Ohio Retired Teachers Association, the Brown County Shrine Club, Georgetown American Legion Post #180, Masonic Lodge #331 of Columbus, Scottish Rite Valley of Dayton, and the Syrian Temple of Cincinnati.

He earned a Bachelor of Education from the University of Dayton in 1953, and a Master of Education from Xavier University in 1967. For much of his life, his passion was helping others learn to read and further their education. For a number of years, he owned and operated a restaurant in Dayton, Ohio, which established a co-op program so employees could get a college education. In addition, he served as the State Director of The National Right to Read Foundation and also as President of the Ohio Reading Reform Foundation. In the 1980’s, he worked with the Ohio General Assembly on the issue of literacy, and he was the author of an Ohio State law, signed in 1989, which encourages the use of phonics to teach reading skills. Jim was a strong believer in the benefits of phonics, and through his personal efforts, he not only made a huge difference in the progress of phonics, but also in the reading skills of thousands of Ohioans.

Mr. Speaker, Jim Charles made a difference in the lives of others. His service to our country and to Southwestern Ohio are to be commended and remembered well. All of us in Southwestern Ohio offer condolences to his wife, Dr. Doris Charles, and are thankful for Jim’s many contributions to our community.

IN REMEMBRANCE OF MRS. WANDA FLOYD OF GOOSE CREEK, SOUTH CAROLINA

HON. HENRY E. BROWN, JR.
OF SOUTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. BROWN of South Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the memory of a great American and a close friend, Mrs. Wanda Floyd, of Goose Creek, South Carolina. Wanda was born on February 1, 1926 and died on September 5, 2002. She will be sorely missed by her family and host of friends.

Many politicians, including myself, owe much to the tireless work of this “Republican Woman”. Wanda served in various roles throughout the county. She was the President of the Berkeley County Republican Woman’s Club for many years and was a mainstay at the polls. In fact, she and her late husband, Bud Floyd, celebrated their 50th Wedding Anniversary working the polls at Goose Creek High School! Today, the county she loved, is much stronger, as is the Republican Party of the Low country. We, were blessed to have known and worked along side of this truly loved South Carolinian.

RECOGNIZING THE HISTORICAL SIGNIFICANCE AND TIMELINESS OF UNITED STATES-IRELAND BUSINESS SUMMIT

SPEECH OF
HON. ALCEE L. HASTINGS
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, September 10, 2002

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. Mr. Speaker, today I voice my full support for H. Res. 513. This Resolution is timely and presents an historic opportunity to recognize the long-standing and enduring relationship between Ireland and the United States of America. This Resolution serves as a reminder of the very strong bond that exists between our two peoples.

Our two governments have long recognized and supported a free, fair, market economy and the principles of open markets that are such an inherent part of our free enterprise system. These same principles served to maintain and strengthen our democratic form of government.

Ireland’s democratic government and market economy were rewarded with external investment from the United States, Europe, and Asia that flowed into her teeming high technology economy.

Since September 11, 2001, when the United States was attacked, it has been forced to assume a new role as it has engaged in a new war on terrorism. This is a war, which, as so many of us have previously stated, is dependent upon the support we receive in the international community.

This resolution also serves to recognize the importance of friends and allies such as Ireland, that share our beliefs in strong market economies and the role such economies play in our current war against terrorism.

As one of America’s great presidents, John F. Kennedy, said during a speech in Dublin in 1963, “We need men who can dream of things that never were.” These words serve as a call to us to face a new challenge in our time.

Mr. Speaker, in recognizing our relationship with Ireland, I believe that the economic and political success of Ireland and the Irish people combined with a longstanding relationship with the U.S. will serve as a model for peace and increased economic growth in a peaceful Northern Ireland. Private sector innovation and leadership will help to resolve conflict and increase understanding between all parties in the region.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. MAJOR R. OWENS
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. OWENS. Mr. Speaker, Monday, September 9th I was unavoidably absent and missed roll call votes No. 375, No. 376 and No. 377. If present I would have voted “yea.”

HONORING MR. ERIC MORELAND JONES

HON. BARBARA LEE
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Ms. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor and commend bravery and dedication demonstrated by my constituent, Mr. Jones who was a first responder at the attack on the Pentagon on September 11, 2001.

The memories of the horrific terrorist attacks will remain with us forever. Yet, through the pain and adversity of these tragedies, heroes were also born.

We witnessed the horrific attacks on the World Trade Centers in New York City, we learned of the terrible airline crash in the Pennsylvania countryside, and we witnessed what was once an unfathomable attack on our Nation’s center of defense, the Pentagon.

I have known Mr. Jones’ family for many years. In the footsteps of his parents, he carries on a legacy of commitment to humanity through public service. On September 11th, Eric was driving by the Pentagon when it was hit by American Airline flight #777. He immediately went to the Pentagon site and quickly began to aid in evacuating injured and dying personnel from the building; he carried and helped people to safety and medical triage. Eric remained at his volunteer post for more than 72 hours.

On July 15, 2002, Mr. Jones was one of two people to receive the Office of the Secretary of Defense Medal of Valor for his actions. As we commemorate the anniversary of the 9–11 attacks, we also pay tribute to thousands of first responders and volunteers like Mr. Jones who risked their own lives to ensure that others were saved.

I am deeply moved by Eric’s heroism and want to extend my sincere appreciation to him. As we take time to reflect on the events of 9–11 on this anniversary day, we must also resolve and re-commit ourselves to peace and security.
Mr. HOEFFEL. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of the resolution that Representative Greenwood and I introduced yesterday, which will name the new Veterans clinic in Horsham, Pennsylvania after Victor J. Saracini, a distinguished veteran and victim of the attacks on September 11.

Victor J. Saracini served his country with great pride as an exemplary technical coordinator aboard S-3A fighterjets on the U.S.S. Saratoga. He served in the Naval Reserve at the Naval Air Station Joint Reserve Base, Willow Grove, Pennsylvania, until his honorable discharge as lieutenant in 1985. Victor Saracini was the recipient of the National Defense Service Medal, the Navy E Ribbon, and the Expert Marksmanship Ribbon.

On the morning of September 11, 2001, terrorists hijacked the Los Angeles-bound airplane that Captain Saracini was piloting, and reset course for the South Tower of the World Trade Center, killing everyone on board and murdering hundreds of other innocent civilians inside the building. These innocent victims, Mr. Saracini, represent our nation’s first casualties in this war on terror.

To honor the life of Victor Saracini, devoted aviator, distinguished veteran, and proud defender of America’s freedom, is to honor all victims of September 11 and their families. I urge my colleagues to support this resolution, and I call on the House Veterans Affairs Committee to pass this resolution and bring it to the floor of the House of Representatives as soon as possible.

TRIBUTE TO BOB BRIGHAM

HON. JANE HARMAN
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Ms. HARMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to the distinguished career of a friend, Bob Brigham.

I met Bob during my first campaign for Congress and we have been friends ever since. Over the years, I have known Bob to be a savvy and affable man, who greatly cares about educating our children. In addition to his commitment to his students and to jogging, Bob has always found time to play an active role in his hometown of Manhattan Beach. He has participated in the Manhattan Beach Historical Society, the Centinela-Bay Human Relations Committee, PFLAG, the Beach Cities Symphony Association, and his congregation, the Manhattan Beach Community Church, where he has been a member since 1996.

On a personal note, from Day One, Bob has also been an invaluable member of Team Harn, volunteering in each of my campaigns. After stuffing envelopes and walking precincts together, I have come to trust Bob as another set of eyes and ears in the district, helping to keep me informed about the latest concerns of South Bay residents.

Mr. Speaker, Bob Brigham has been an asset to the South Bay for more than 60 years. And because of his devotion to Manhattan Beach and the South Bay, his retirement from the Manhattan Beach School District will not mean retiring from community involvement. And I know he will also find the time to stay fit, so he can keep up with me during our next race to the finish line.

Thank you, Bob, for your contributions and your friendship.

Michael D’Antuano, 2002 Johns Fellowship Award Winner

HON. BOB FILNER
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. FILNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to salute Michael D’Antuano on receiving the 2002 Johns “Fellowship Award” in recognition of his outstanding contributions to the working women and men of our community.

Michael has over 25 years of construction industry experience and is recognized throughout the country for his skills in labor relations, collective bargaining and negotiations. He joined the Parson Corporation in 1975 as a labor advisor on the massive Alaska Pipeline program. Working with Arco and Sohio on their oil and gas modular fabrication and construction projects, Michael was assigned to construction sites throughout Washington, Oregon, California and Prudhoe Bay, Alaska. In the late 1970s, he was assigned to Parson’s headquarters in Pasadena, California, and assumed the administration of labor relations activities throughout the United States on major company projects, emphasizing labor/management cooperation and safe working environments and conditions for craftsmen.

Michael was appointed the President of Parson Constructors, Inc. in April, 1994—the construction arm of The Parson Corporation. As President, he has been instrumental in establishing innovative approaches to labor/management relations. Parsons has negotiated and administered groundbreaking Project Labor Agreements for major infrastructure and government programs throughout the country. Locally, the San Diego County Water Authority Emergency Storage Project is under construction with a project labor agreement negotiated and administered by Michael and his staff.

He is on the Board of Directors of the North American Construction Association (NACA) and serves on numerous labor/management committees across the nation. He is also a trustee for the Laborers International Union Laborers- Employers Cooperation and Education Trust and a Southern California Regional Board Member of the American Cancer Society (ACS).

Michael D’Antuano exemplifies the high values, standards, and principles of the late John S. Lyons. I offer my congratulations to him on receipt of the 2002 Johns “Fellowship Award.”

Dingell-Lahood Steel Legacy Act Press Conference

HON. DENNIS J. KUCINICH
OF OHIO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. KUCINICH. Mr. Speaker, for the thousands of steelworker retirees who have lost or are at risk of losing their pension and health care benefits, help is needed immediately.

The bill we have introduced, the Dingell-Lahood Steel Legacy Relief Act, will ensure that all retirees of all troubled steel companies—companies that have closed, companies that are bankrupt, companies that are being acquired—will have for themselves and their families health benefits equivalent to what’s provided by Medicare, and a prescription drug benefit similar to the Blue Cross/Blue Shield program.

To do this, this bipartisan bill sets up a trust fund in the Treasury Department that taps steel import duty receipts, the assets of government-assumed retiree health care plans, and a portion of the profits made by healthy steel companies that benefit from this program.

We are saying that the United States will not stand by and watch while thousands and thousands of workers who helped build this country are left unable to take care of themselves and their families.

We are saying to all of our nation’s retired steelworkers: We have not forgotten, and we will not let you down.

This bipartisan legislation is a critical step in our ongoing efforts to help the steel industry and steelworkers.

We pushed a long time for the Administration to initiate a Section 201 steel investigation, and finally last year we got one.

We pushed the International Trade Commission to recognize the devastating effect of steel imports through a finding of injury, and we got it.

Many of us have spent countless hours trying to save steel companies in our districts that are on the brink. In my hometown of Cleveland, our entire community—steelworkers, local government, state government, businesses, churches, citizens—coalesced to keep LTV from shutting the doors on our steel mills forever. And we won—the mills remain, and a new owner will keep them running.

And now we are all stepping forward—the steelworkers, steel companies. Members of Congress—to ensure that men and women who have given 20, 30, even 40 years of their lives to the manufacture of steel are not left behind.

I want to tell all retired steelworkers—who I meet all the time and who ask me what we are doing to afford health insurance, how they are going to take care of their families— I want to tell all of you: We will not rest until this legislation is passed.
PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. BOB CLEMENT OF TENNESSEE
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. CLEMENT. Mr. Speaker, on rollcall Nos. 385, 384, 383, 382, 381, 380, 379, and 378, had I been present, I would have voted “aye.”

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. GERALD D. KLECZKA OF WISCONSIN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. KLECZKA. Mr. Speaker, on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, September 9, 10, and 11, I was unavoidably detained and there- by absent for votes on rollcall numbers 375 through 384. Had I been present, I would have voted “aye” on rollcall number 375, “yea” on rollcall number 376, “aye” on rollcall number 377, “aye” on rollcall number 378, “yea” on rollcall number 379, “aye” on rollcall number 380, “yea” on rollcall number 381, “aye” on rollcall number 382, “yea” on rollcall number 383, and “yea” on rollcall number 384.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. SANDER M. LEVIN
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, on rollcall No. 384, I was home in Michigan on Wednesday participating during the day and evening in ceme- monies commemorating September 11, 2001. As a result, I was not able to vote on H. Con. Resolution 464. Had I been present, I would have voted “aye”.

SUPPORT A DEMOCRACY AND OUR ALLY: TAIWAN DESERVES TO BE PART OF THE UNITED NATIONS

HON. DOUG OSE
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. OSE. Mr. Speaker, Taiwan is one of the few independent nations that has not been al- lowed to join the United Nations as a full member. And it looks like opposition to their bid is again forming among those who would keep Taiwan and its 23 million citizens from joining their rightful place among the commu- nity of nations.

Simply put, Taiwan’s 23 million people de- serve a voice and a seat in the United Na- tions. Taiwan’s population is larger than those of two thirds of the U.N. member states. Over the last 50 years Taiwan is the world’s 17th largest economy, with the 15th largest trading volume. Taiwan’s economic performance has contributed greatly to world prosperity. At a time when the U.N. continues to ask the United States to contribute more money to its budget, why is it turning away a willing, dues- paying member?

Perhaps the best reason the United States should continue to support Taiwan and its bid for U.N. membership is shared values. Taiwan is a vibrant democracy and endorses the ideals of peace, human rights, and develop- ment. More importantly, Taiwan is able and willing to carry out all U.N. Charter obligations.

Some have argued that granting Taiwan membership in the U.N. would be unaccept- able to the People’s Republic of China. How- ever, Taiwan has repeatedly stated its willing- ness to work with the Chinese mainland. Tai- wan leaders have repeatedly appealed to PRC leaders for peaceful settlement of political dis- agreements between the two sides. In addi- tion, Taiwan hopes that Taiwan and the PRC will work together to help maintain peace and stability in Asia and Pacific. The United Na- tions should encourage a dialogue between Taiwan and China—not ignore it. Granting Tai- wan U.N. membership is a positive first step to permanent peace and stability in the Taiwan Strait.

Finally, it is worth noting that Taiwan’s ex- clusion from the U.N. violates the U.N. prin- ciple of universality. It is important that the U.N. mission is to “reaffirm faith in fundamental human rights, in the dignity and worth of the human person, in the equal rights of men and women and of nations large and small.”

As President Bush addresses the U.N. on this very day, and talks about threats fac- ing the world and those nations truly fighting for peace, I urge him to remember our friend and ally who is not allowed to join him at the U.N.’s headquarters in New York. I urge him to remember Taiwan and to support them in their bid to join that great body of free nations.

TRIBUTE TO SISTER LORRAINE BIEBEL

HON. ROY BLUNT OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. BLUNT. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to praise the work and amazing accomplishment of a Franciscan nun who has left a lasting mark on Springfield, Missouri. She has over- come adversity and criticism to win the re- spect of many of her peers by creating impor- tant social services that have helped the less fortunate people of Springfield, Missouri.

In 1983, Sister Lorraine Biebel took on the temporary assignment of opening a soup kitchen in Springfield. Since then, Sister Lor- raine has remained at the helm of what has become known as the Kitchen Ministry. Today the ministry that Sister Lorraine started has a $3.5 million budget, nine buildings, a small army of volunteers and a reputation for helping anyone with a legitimate need.

Sister Lorraine has been a vigilant visionary and leader to meet the demands of those less fortunate. It has been a labor of love and faith. Biebel’s holistic approach has seen the con- version of an old hotel into a 90-room shelter with three dormitories and transitional housing. The Family Nurturing Center offers childcare for infants and pre-schoolers, as well as after school programs. There are also counseling services, walk-in medical services, dental clinics, and mental health counseling. In addition, it offers referral services, job programs, out- reach programs for at-risk youth, literacy and GED training. Sister Lorraine helped to create a free store for residents and a thrift store for the community that offers free household items, clothing, and food for those people trying to improve their family unit or get back on their feet.

In praise of the God she serves, Sister Lorraine’s faith is what has driven her to these accomplishments. Sister Lorraine has been a tireless servant of God’s compassion for the disadvantaged, the homeless, and the count- less volunteers who have rallied to support the programs.

With the naming of her successor, Tobias Meeker, Sister Lorraine is retiring but her work will not end. She hopes to reactivate the Little Portion Retreat Center where she lives in Re- public, Missouri. There she promises to con- tinue to nurture the spiritual health of others in a less stressful environment.

Sister Lorraine Biebel and the Kitchen Min- istry are a wonderful example of the substan- tial social changes faith based initiatives can bring to a community’s less fortunate popu- lation. Working with the federal and state gov- ernment, local charities, churches of many de- nominations, and generous donors, Sister Lor- raine has molded a multifaceted ministry that provides shelter, clothing, health care, coun- seling, education, on the job training, and spir- itual guidance. The Kitchen Ministries have professionally and cost-effectively provided these services and care in a manner in which the federal government could not. The ministry is the work of many caring people, led by a woman of great faith whose work has touched thousands of lives.

We wish Sister Lorraine good health and best wishes in her retirement.

H. CON. RES. 401, RECOGNIZING THE HEROISM AND COURAGE DISPLAYED BY AIRLINE FLIGHT ATTENDANTS EACH DAY

HON. NANCY PELOSI
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 12, 2002

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H. Con. Res. 401, a resolution to recognize the heroism and courage displayed by airline flight attendants each day.

The anniversary of the September 11 ter- rorist hijackings and attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon is just two days away. All Americans remember and mourn the lives lost that tragic day.

The world has changed for all of us. Before that time, flight attendants and their families and loved ones lived and worked with the knowledge that rare instances of mechanical failure or hijackers could endanger their lives. But no one imagined the dreadful assault of September 11, when terrorists turned four air- borne planes into missiles used to attack thou- sands of Americans.

That day, flight attendants again demon- strated their courage in the face of extreme danger. From all that we know of the final min- utes on those flights, flight attendants worked to communicate with the ground, and in all likelihood helped prevent Flight 93, which crashed in rural Pennsylvania, from taking many more lives.

I would like to bring my colleagues’ attention to the heroism of Betty Ong, a flight attendant on American Airlines Flight 11, whose family lives in my district of San Francisco. On September 11, Betty called the airline reservations center from the plane to sound the alarm and provide information about the terrorists who had taken over the plane. I am aware of the enormous pain and suffering her family has been experiencing and extend them my deepest sympathy. It is an honor to pay tribute to Betty and express my appreciation for her life and bravery in the face of enormous danger.

Now, even stepping onto an airplane is an act requiring willpower and courage for many Americans. Yet flight attendants do it every day. Flight attendants deserve our respect, cooperation, courtesy, and commendation for their hard work and courage their hard work.

I urge my colleagues to vote for this resolution.

HONORING BONNIE ELOISE RUSH MILAM

HON. NICK LAMPSON OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. LAMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in honor of Bonnie Eloise Rush Milam. It is fitting that today we honor this great lady, a proud American who gave so much to her country and its military by founding the Melody Maids.

Eloise Milam was born in a house on the bay shore of Anahuac, Texas. Her family moved there when she was five, and she eventually settled in Beaumont. She began to take piano lessons at age five and loved singing and dancing. She started winning local programs, eventually becoming a member of the chorus at Beaumont High School.

After graduation, she continued through college and later as a member of numerous music and drama organizations. She sang in church and community concerts and with the Beaumont Light Opera Company.

By 1942, Eloise Milam had a very large group of private voice students. She was frequently asked to arrange programs for community events, and she was asked to assist with a bond rally at the Jefferson Theater. She presented her students as a choral group. Because the newspaper insisted on having a name for the group, they quickly decided on the Melody Maids. A new career was born.

The Melody Maids traveled countless times from coast to coast, singing for conventions and programs of all sorts, but primarily for military installations and especially veteran’s hospitals. They made four tours of Europe, several more to England, three to the Far East, seven to the Far North, four to the Caribbean, five to Mexico, seven to Hawaii and four to Bermuda, Iceland, and the Azores.

Many of the tours were financed by the girls themselves with money made from musicals, style shows, cake and pie sales and other benefits. The tours after 1956 were sponsored by the Entertainment Branch of the Dept. of Defense. They were the most frequently requested of all the performers who traveled with the Department of Defense’s Professional Entertainment Branch. She led her group into numerous hospital wards all over the country and performed for individual convalescents, with wounded, injured, or ill military personnel proved to be a bright spot for them and a personal privilege for group members.

Her influence has been felt by hundreds of Texas high-school and college-age Melody Maids and by thousands of military personnel around the world. Her talent and spirit represented by this group in their performances before civic organizations and in hospitals and military installations have brought significant goodwill to Texas.

Her leadership was characterized by a combination of kindness and emphasis on excellence. The standards she set for the group are many that we should set for ourselves today. Eloise stressed the value of serving our fellow human beings, the rewards of helping one another in group activities, and a respect for different cultures and religions.

Every August, women from all over the country head toward Beaumont. They come to spend a weekend reminiscing about their Melody Maid experiences, exchange family news, and mostly to be with Eloise and recognize her tireless work and passionate dedication to service and country.

Mr. Speaker, it is truly an honor to stand here tonight representing such an amazing lady. Eloise Milam’s commitment to her community and country is an inspiration to us all.

CONTINUING CRISIS IN FOSTER CARE

HON. GEORGE MILLER OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, in 1986 Congress made a commitment to improve the lives of abused and neglected children. However, lack of federal oversight and accountability has undercut that commitment. In fact, in far too many instances we have had devastating results.

Mr. Speaker, I’d like to share a personal story about the need for greater accountability in the foster care system.

In Milwaukee, 48 percent of families investigated for abuse had prior involvement with the child welfare system; in Washington, DC, 32 percent of such families had been previously served; and in New York City, in 43 percent of families that had been the subject of an abuse/maltreatment complaint, children were abused or maltreated again while under city supervision.

These sobering statistics are made worse when you consider that this state-sanctioned abuse and neglect occurs despite federally mandated procedural safeguards, including individualized case planning, case management and case reviews.

Federal law requires that children have a safe environment consistent with their special needs. Yet year after year, many states have consistently failed to meet even the basic needs of foster care children. This continued failure raises serious questions about the adequacy of federal oversight of state child welfare programs, which the federal government largely funds.

In yet another tragic example of our failure to provide for and protect foster children, a 9-year-old boy died of an asthma attack six weeks after being placed in foster care. According to the following article in the Los Angeles Times, Los Angeles county officials admit that social workers failed to inform medical workers of the child’s severe asthma.

[From The Los Angeles Times, July 31, 2002]

TRADITIONAL APOLOGY IN BOY’S DEATH: COUNTY: A $1-MILION PAYOUT IS OKD. MOLINA, MOVED BY A MOTHER’S PLEA, VOWS ANSWERS IN FOSTER CARE CASE.

(BY GARRETT THEROLF)

A mother’s plea for a criminal investigation into the death of her son—whose life ended while he was in the Los Angeles County foster care system—Tuesday elicited a touching and tearful apology from county Supervisor Gloria Molina, who pledged to demand answers from county officials about what happened.

Hours later, Molina and her colleagues approved a $1-million settlement in the lawsuit brought over the boy’s death.

Molina’s remarks and the board action followed an emotional appeal by the boy’s mother.

Debra Reid, 44, entered the hearing room grim-faced, flanked by eight family members dressed in black. At her side was her son Debrin, who was placed in foster care for 15 months in 1997. His older brother, Jonathan, was taken away at the same time. The children were taken from their mother after social workers concluded that she was unstable and not tending properly to their medical needs.

But Jonathan died six weeks after being placed in foster care, where social workers, by the county’s admission, failed to inform medical workers of his severe asthma. Reid has been fighting the county in the courts ever since.

“This is five years in coming,” Reid began. “Racked with sobs, Reid recalled how she begged social workers to treat Jonathan’s asthma. Social workers had dismissed Reid’s account of the severity of the child’s asthma, county officials acknowledge.

“They said my child was healthy,” Reid told the board. “Well, that child now lies in an Ingwelloyd cemetery.”

None of the social workers has been disciplined in the case, county officials said. Reid begged supervisors to launch a criminal investigation, alleging that social workers had falsified reports to take the boy from her.

“We have sought true justice and we have not received it until someone sends this case for a criminal investigation,” Reid said. “All we have received is a payoff, and we’re not satisfied with a payoff.”

“Not one person from the county,” Reid said, “has bothered to apologize.”

Reid’s appeal to the board is one of many that the supervisors have heard involving the foster care system.

Virtually every week, a parade of parents come before the supervisors, pleading for help in getting their children out of that system. Most weeks, they leave empty-handed, as supervisors insist that they cannot involve themselves in matters that are before the courts. The pleas often meet with indifference from county officials, who typically talk among themselves as parents address the supervisors.

Tuesday was different.

As Reid spoke, the hearing room went silent. Aides and department heads dabbed at tears. In an adjacent chamber where county administrators eat snacks and drink coffee, all movement ceased.

Supervisor Yvonne Brathwaite Burke asked Reid whether she was satisfied with the settlement. After conferring with her attorney, Reid said she was, but reiterated her call for justice.

Then Molina spoke, her voice trembling, her eyes watering.

She recalled how supervisors routinely rebuff requests for help in foster care cases, and how she had told a congresswoman...
pleading on Reid's behalf that she had to trust the courts to do the right thing.

"I don't know that my apology to you will help you at all," Molina said. "I can only say I apologize for not being more attentive.

Promising to personally pursue the issue, Molina said, "We've got to really take the gloves off on this thing, because this is a real battle that we put forward [the Department of Children and Family Services] could not protect those children, then we should not be empowering that department to carry out this work."

Supervisor Mike Antonovich quickly added his apology. Supervisor Zev Yaroslavsky said the whole board apologized for what happened to Jonathan.

After the meeting, Reid said Molina's apology "meant a lot. She was sincere. That is the first sign of remorse I have seen in the county.

Reid said Tuesday's hearing and the conclusion of two civil cases filed over Jonathan's death and Debbie's placement in foster care were gratifying milestones in her family's quest for justice.

The determination to press for further action on Jonathan's death has occupied Reid and her family for years, she said Tuesday. At each step of the way, nine family members have gathered to vote on strategic decisions about how to pursue the case, she said.

Along the way, the family has turned to one lawyer after another—seven in all.

"Every time a lawyer didn't believe in me or in my family, I went to the next," Reid said. "Jonathan is still very much a part of this family."

VICTORVILLE, CALIFORNIA CELEBRATES 40 YEARS OF CITYHOOD

HON. JERRY LEWIS
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. LEWIS of California. Mr. Speaker, I would like today to congratulate the citizens and civic leaders of Victorville, California on the 40th anniversary of cityhood for the Mojave Desert community. The history of this rapidly growing city is a fascinating glimpse of the growth of the inland areas of California.

Like many of the towns of the Southwest, Victorville began its existence as a railroad stop. Around 1885, a station was established at the Mojave River crossing on what ultimately became the Santa Fe Railway's on its Mojave Desert. It was named for Jacob Nash Victor, a railroad construction superintendent who was a pioneer in the early development of the expansion of the railroad to the west. In 1901 the US Postal Service renamed the city to Victorville to avoid a name duplication problem with Victor, Colorado.

When it was incorporated on Sept. 21, 1962, the city of Victorville had grown to just over 8,000 residences; by 1995 the city boomed to a bustling population of 60,649 and had increased its size to 67.68 sq. miles, an increase of over 58 sq. miles. Rich soil and an abundance of water encouraged the development of the agricultural community. Large deposits of limestone and granite led to the cement manufacturing industry, which has emerged as the most important sector of commerce locally.

With the historic Route 66 running through Victorville and heading on up to Chicago, the town has always provided numerous activities for tourists, included a Route 66 museum and the San Bernardino County Fair. The city has become the commercial hub of the Victor Valley, which includes more than 300,000 people in a wide range of communities.

One of the most important national connections with Victorville began in 1941 with the construction of the Victorville Army Airfield. Later renamed George Air Force Base, the base construction was completed on May 18, 1943. When fully activated, the base housed a C-1 acid fighter wings of the Tactical Air Command whose primary aircraft was the F-4 phantom Wild Weasel, which provided vital electronic reconnaissance from the Vietnam War through the Persian Gulf War. The base also employed over 8,000 military and civilian personnel. In January 1989 the Secretary of Defense announced the closure of the base. In the past decade since the closure, Victorville annexed the base, renamed it the Southern California Logistics Airport, and has turned it into a booming new commercial center and international cargo airport that is expected to serve the entire Southwest region.

Mr. Speaker, I have proudly represented the City of Victorville for more than two decades, in Congress, and I have watched it grow into a dynamic city that is well-governed and fiscally sound. The City Council now oversees a budget of $77.6 million for 69,298 citizens who are known for their friendliness, self-sufficiency and optimism. Please join me in congratulating the city leaders and the community for their 40 years of cityhood, and wishing them continued success in the future.

RECOGNIZING CHIEF TIM HOLMAN,
GERMAN TWP. FIRE AND EMS

HON. DAVID L. HOBSON
OF OHIO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. HOBSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the accomplishments of Tim Holman, who is the chief of the German Township Volunteer Fire Department and EMS. Chief Holman was recently named "Volunteer Fire Chief of the Year" at the 2002 International Association of Fire Chiefs Conference in Kansas City.

Tim has volunteered for the German Township Fire Department for 27 years, and he has served as chief since 1991. By incorporating his private sector business experience into the management of the fire department, Chief Holman successfully consolidated two township fire departments, while also implementing an officer development program, a quality improvement process, and a team building process.

Chief Holman has been essential in the streamlining of his fire department, allowing the brave volunteers of the German Township Fire Department to better serve their community. I applaud Chief Holman, and the men and women of the volunteer fire departments throughout my district, for the dedication, sacrifice and commitment that exemplifies volunteer fire departments.

AMENDING THE SECURE RURAL SCHOOLS AND COMMUNITY SELF-DETERMINATION ACT

HON. GEORGE R. NETHERCUTT, JR.
OF WASHINGTON
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. NETHERCUTT. Mr. Speaker, I rise before you today, along with my colleague in the Senate from New Mexico [Senator Bingaman], who serves as Chairman of the Senate Energy and Environment Committee, to introduce this important legislation. The bill we introduced today will amend PL 106–393, the Secure Rural Schools and Community Self-Determination Act of 2000, to clarify the treatment of Title III funds reserved by counties under such Act.

Since 1908, Congress recognized that federal land deprived counties of revenues they would have otherwise received and therefore accorded a measure of compensation counties by sharing revenues derived from National Forest System lands. Further, Congress annually appropriates funds for counties that are considered payments in lieu of taxes (PILT), an amount that is based upon a formula derived from the amount of federal land and revenue sharing receipts.

In recent years, counties have increasingly suffered hardship due to the severe fluctuation of shared federal receipts. Local education and road maintenance programs have been the most affected by the declines. PL 106–393, the Secure Rural Schools and Community Self-Determination Act of 2000, was borne as a result. The intent of the bill was to address the fluctuation of shared federal receipts, restore stability and predictability to the annual payments made to States and counties containing National Forest System lands and public domain lands managed by the Bureau of Land Management for use by the counties for the benefit of public schools, roads, and other purposes. Congress further created opportunities within this Act to enhance the restoration, maintenance and stewardship of Federal lands. For example, under Title II of this Act, eligible counties have the opportunity to place a percentage of their payments toward cooperative projects on federal lands.

PL 106–393, originally introduced by Representative Nathan Deal and Senator Ron Wyden, enjoyed bi-partisan support in both Houses of Congress and was ultimately signed into law on October 30, 2000. It set forth three categories by which eligible counties could elect to receive their stabilized payments under Title I, II, or III, or a combination thereof. Eligible counties receive Title I and Title III funding directly while Title II funding is directly held by the federal government and allocated toward cooperative federal projects that I briefly mentioned above.

As it stands however, PL 106–393 under mines the stability and predictability of payments it purports to provide the counties. To understand the enormity of impact, it is critical to remember that PILT is the only form of federal payment that a county can use for its day-to-day operations. While appropriated PILT funds have always been impacted by shared federal receipts, the Act kept Title I consistent with the shared revenue relationship with PILT payments. However, the intent of the Act was that Title I and Title III would not impact PILT.
Yet, in fact, the Department of Interior and the United States Department of Agriculture have determined otherwise in that Title III payments will affect an eligible county's PILT payments because the funding is directly received and spent by them. I have been told that the margin of impact could be anywhere from fifty cents to $100 per dollar reduction in PILT depending upon the amount the county could elect to receive under Title III. For example, Ferry County, located in northeastern Washington, received a PILT payment in 2001 of approximately $200,000. The county elected to receive $91,000 under Title III for fiscal year 2002. Conservatively, an estimate of fifty ($.50) cents on the dollar would equate to a $91,000 reduction in PILT. Further, eligible counties are required to specify their allocations under PL 106-393 prior to the PILT calculations, so they have no way of knowing the impact their allocations may have on their PILT payments from year to year. It is also important to note that no other source of federal funding could replenish the PILT funding lost. Although Title III funding is received directly, specific parameters are set to its spending. Bluntly put, PL 106-393 pits a county's potential desire and need for reimbursement for the emergency services it renders on federal land against its need for PILT funding for general operations. This is contrary to the intent of PL 106-393.

The legislation I introduce today is narrow in scope. It will amend PL 106-393 to re-establish the stability and predictability of payments by directing that Title III funds not be considered when PILT payments are calculated.

Time is of the essence. It is imperative Congress adjourns this session. Please join me in cosponsoring this most important measure.

HONORING VERLYAN RUTH BYRD
HON. JERRY F. COSTELLO
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. COSTELLO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to ask my colleagues to join me in recognizing Mrs. Verlyan Ruth Byrd, an honorable federal employee who loyally served her country throughout her life.

During World War II, Mrs. Byrd was recruited by the United States Army as a typist at the Granite City Army Depot in Granite City, Illinois. She worked part time at the depot as a high school student, and upon graduation she got a job as a full-time clerk typist. She continued to serve her country with the Department of Defense through 1978, when she suffered a severe heart attack. Mrs. Byrd was forced into early retirement in 1979.

Upon her retirement, the Social Security Administration told Mrs. Byrd that she could file for social security based upon her 65th birthday. However, when she entered the office after she reached the age of 65, she was told that due to the Government Pension Offset (GPO) law she was not eligible to receive Social Security.

This law, which went into effect after she was forced to retire, reduces pension funds for spouses for work that was not covered by Social Security. While the law was originally intended to prevent “double dipping” into social security funds by government workers who receive substantial pensions, many seniors have been forced by the law to live in poverty while being denied the money they paid into the system.

Mrs. Byrd spent the latter years of her life living in an old house that was desperately in need of repairs. She also had substantial medical bills and used as many as 15 prescription drugs on any given day. Despite her life as a loyal government employee, Mrs. Byrd was forced to live in poverty in the waning years of her life.

Mrs. Byrd was loved by her friends to be a considerate, generous, family oriented woman with a kind disposition. She wrote to government officials to have the GPO law repealed, but action was not taken quickly enough. Mrs. Byrd died on Sunday, July 28, 2002 at 7:20 p.m. She was not alone in her struggle with the GPO law. Many other government employees, particularly in the teaching community, are ill-served by this law.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in recognizing Mrs. Ruth Byrd and wishing the best for her family, and urge immediate action by the House of Representatives to pass H.R. 664, legislation I have cosponsored to address the GPO problem.

ACT NOW
HON. TOM LANTOS
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. LANTOS. Mr. Speaker, last Friday (September 6, 2002), an outstanding article by our distinguished former Secretary of State, George P. Shultz, was published in a number of major newspapers. Secretary Shultz eloquently explained why he believes we must act decisively against Iraqi dictator Saddam Hussein.

As Secretary of State for President Ronald Reagan, George Schultz exhibited remarkable experience in foreign affairs. Since leaving the Department of State, Secretary Shultz has continued to deal with international relations as a Distinguished Fellow at Stanford University’s Hoover Institution, an institution dedicated to public policy analysis of international and domestic questions. In recognition of Secretary Shultz’s outstanding commitment to education and public service, the Hoover Institution’s Foreign Service Institute was recently renamed in his honor.

Mr. Speaker, I believe that all of our colleagues in the United States Congress would be well advised to read his fascinating and excel- lent analysis on the issue of Iraq, and I ask that it be placed in the RECORD.

ACT NOW—THE DANGER IS IMMEDIATE SADDAM HUSSEIN MUST BE REMOVED
(HY GEORGE P. SHULZ)

Are we to be the Hamlet of nations, debating endlessly over when and how to act? Saddam Hussein’s performance as ruler of Iraq is a matter of grave concern not just for the United States but for the international community as a whole. The major debate going on in the media, in Congress and with our friends and allies is necessary. But it is also necessary to move beyond debate and create the clarity that is now needed.

The world now has entered the third decade of crises and dangers to international peace and security created by Saddam Hussein. In 1980 he launched an eight-year war against Iran. Chemical weapons were used, and at least 1.5 million people were killed or seriously wounded. In 1990 he invaded Kuwait in a war aimed at eradicating another state’s legitimate sovereign existence. As he was forced out, he deliberately created environmental degradation of tragic proportions.

He has used chemical weapons against the Kurdish people in an attack on a genocidal scale, and he has sent his forces into Pakistan to conduct widespread terror. He has relentlessly amassed weapons of mass destruction and continues their development. He has turned Iraq into a state that formally supports terrorism.

No other dictator today matches his record for war, oppression, use of weapons of mass destruction and continuing contemptuous violation of international law, as set out by unanimous actions of the United Nations.

Against this background, much of the current debate ignores the facts of the United Nations’ long series of steps to rein in Saddam Hussein and authorize action against his regime. A strong foundation exists for the United States to act decisively and for a multilateral effort to rebuild Iraq after he is gone.

A remarkable series of U.N. Security Council resolutions in 1990 and 1991 authorized war to oust Hussein’s forces from Kuwait. This was the basis for the Desert Storm campaign that won the Gulf War in 1991. With that military victory, a Security Council resolution declared the “suspension” of offensive operations, deliberately leaving intact the original authorization to use force.

The Security Council did impose a series of demands upon Iraq with the objective of restoring peace and security in the area. This carried the case against Hussein beyond the main issue of Kuwait to focus on the elimination, under international inspection, of his weapons of mass destruction. In other words, the threat to the region and the world of a decisively armed Iraq was fully recognized and declared unacceptable.

In the first years after Desert Storm, U.N. inspectors uncovered Iraq’s facilities to manufacture weapons of mass destruction. They dismantled uranium-enrichment and other nuclear weapons installations and destroyed a chemical weapons program that had hundreds of missile warheads armed with poison gas. Threats of Iraq’s noncooperation were countered by U.S. airstrikes. But even limited Iraqi compliance decreased sharply over time.

The U.N. inspectors did what they could. They found a lot, but they missed even more. In 1995 Lt. Gen. Hussein Kamal, Saddam Hussein’s son-in-law and a major general, defected and revealed that Hussein had weapons of mass destruction. They produced 33,000 liters of biological agents, including anthrax and botulinum toxins, was destroyed, but the inadmissibility of inspections in Iraq was demonstrated.

In 1997 Saddam Hussein escalated his campaign of harassment, obstruction and threats against the inspection effort. He activated ground-to-air missile systems to deter inspection flights. He expelled all American members of the inspection teams. In early 1998 Hussein refused access to “presidential sites” that had been the subject of numerous UNSCOM inspections. They had built for themselves around Iraq. The United States responded with a military buildup, including ground troops deployed to Kuwait. In a speech at the Pentagon on October 15, 1998, President Clinton gave details of Iraq’s violations and declared that Hussein must grant
Following the end of the current Iraqi regime, a new Iraq can emerge as a territorially integral sovereign state with a federal-style form that respects the Kurdish, Sunni and Shia communities. A set of phased transitional steps, including referendums and elections, can be carried out and involve the range of Iraqi political parties, factions and groups in exile and internally opposed to the Hussein regime.

For the Middle East, a major source of and support for terror and instability will have ended. Those who argue that the Iraq crisis should be deferred until progress is achieved between Israelis and Palestinians are proposing an impossible task. For the Arab world as a whole, it offers the opportunity to start a reversal of the stagnation detailed in the "Arab Human Development Report 2002" recently released by the United Nations. The report describes how Arab societies are being crippled by a lack of political freedom, repression of women and isolation from the world of ideas that stifles creativity.

The history of Iraq, the achievements of its peoples, its high civilization of the past, and its extensive natural resources all point to the possibility of a positive transformation once Hussein’s yoke is lifted. In the process, a model can emerge that other Arab societies may look to and emulate for their own transformation and that of the entire region. The challenge of Iraq offers an opportunity for a historic turning point that can lead us from the present to a more peaceful, free and prosperous future.

This is a defining moment in international affairs. Authorization for action is clear. We have made endless efforts to bring Saddam Hussein into line with the duly considered judgments of a unanimous U.N. Security Council. Let us go to the Security Council and assert this case with the care of a country determined to take decisive action. And this powerful case for action now must be made. Our nation has an interest at stake. Its membership will have to stand up and be counted. Then let’s get on with the job.

The writer was secretary of state from 1982 to 1989, and has been a positive and energetic personal explanation

HON. VITO FOSSELLA
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. FOSSELLA. Mr. Speaker, I am not recorded on rollcall No. 394, Expressing the Sense of the Congress on the anniversary of the terrorist attacks launched against the United States on September 11, 2001. I was with my constituents of Staten Island and Brooklyn on this sad anniversary. Had I been present, I would have voted "aye."

For the past 365 days, the nation has grieved over the loss of nearly 3,000 brave men and women who were cruelly and unfairly taken from God’s earth much too soon. These past 365 days have been a time of immense sadness for our nation. We have buried too many innocent souls—too many mothers, too many fathers, too many sons and too many daughters.

Today is officially known as Patriot’s Day as a result of legislation that I passed in Congress. I chose this name because I thought it appropriate. On September 11th—men and women who loved their country and who died in its name. While they were not soldiers, they certainly were patriots. Indeed, no one among us will ever forget the indelible images of brave firefighters, police officers and other emergency services personnel entering the burning towers bound by honor, duty and courage. Or the pictures of ordinary Americans leading their friends, coworkers and even strangers out of the rubble because they wanted to help those in need. In an age when the word heroism is bandied about much too often, we watched true heroes in action.

And so today, we remember these patriots—to recall their smile, their laugh, their kindness. Their loss is our loss. Their courage and bravery is our courage and bravery. And while they can never be replaced, they must be remembered and honored for making the greatest of all sacrifices.

The American story is far from finished. Indeed, the best chapters are yet to come. We must believe that, for I know in my heart that it is our destiny.

We also must believe that there is a just God directing our people in a just cause of liberty. That cause, like others before, which crushed fascism and communism, is now to forever seek the tyranny of Saddam Hussein. The terrorists sought to destroy America by crushing brick and twisting steel. They didn’t understand that the source of America’s strength is its people, and that its people embody a spirit of optimism and hope that can never be destroyed. Our hearts may still be heavy, but our soul is strong and more vibrant than ever. The values of America will forever stand firm and resolute.

My prayers go out to every family that lost a loved one on September 11th. My words cannot ease your suffering, so I simply tell you that you remain in my thoughts. God Bless you and God Bless America.

I ask unanimous consent that this statement be printed in the appropriate part of the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

Tribute to Rev. John a. Toth

HON. NICK SMITH
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. SMITH of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, all over the United States we are blessed with a wonderful sense of community, where neighbor helps neighbor. One important reason for this great blessing is the inspired guidance of our religious leaders.

In my home state of Michigan, one of those leaders has been bringing God’s word for over 30 years. The Rev. John A. Toth, of the First Presbyterian Church in Dimondale, has been a beacon of faith and prayer, of hope and service, and of charity and outreach to the less fortunate. His life’s work has been devoted to the service of others—his faith, his family, his community and his country.

John has been supported in his ministry by his remarkable wife Joanne. Thanks to their work, Dimondale is a better place to live and raise a family.

I am honored today to rise in recognition of the steadfast service and commitment of this fine American and a principled man of God, Reverend Toth.

Reverend Toth pastored the First Presbyterian Church in Dimondale, Michigan for 30 years and has been a positive and energetic force for the community outside of his ministry. He has served as precinct delegate, on the Eaton County Courthouse Square board, on the state Boundary Commission, village appeals board and Eaton County’s Solid Waste Planning Commission. The fruits of his work know no bounds and one stand, who started as a church youth paper drive for camp scholars developed into the Dimondale recycling center, which recycles over 1.8 million pounds of materials a year.

On Sunday, September 15, 2002, Rev. Toth will give his last sermon as the church’s minister and he will be honored for his hard work and dedication at a special dinner. John Toth’s significant contribution to not only those his ministry touched, but also the entire State of Michigan, in no way goes unnoticed. I would like to express my sincere gratitude for the efforts of Rev. Toth to improve the lives of those around him. The people of Michigan are truly grateful for his service.

DEDICATION OF THE SEPTEMBER 11 MEMORIAL IN ORADELL, NEW JERSEY AND PRESENTATION TO MRS. TRACY WOODALL

HON. MARGE ROUKEMA
OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mrs. ROUKEMA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to call to the attention of my colleagues the dedication of a memorial in Oradell, New Jersey to honor and commemorate those who lost their lives in the tragic events of September 11, 2001.

Let me say first, Mr. Speaker, that I have been deeply moved by the outpouring of support and dedication that we all have seen throughout our Nation over the past year. In the days and weeks after the tragic events of September 11, we heard and read the stories of countless family members, neighbors, and friends who went to work on that day and never came home.

In my own district, our Bergen County community was particularly hard-hit. We all know that the support of extended family, friends, community, and the Nation, are with them now and always.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in asking that God bless Tracy Woodall, the rest of their family, and all those who lost friends, family, or loved ones in this national tragedy. And, as Brent Woodall would have wanted, we ask that God bless the United States of America.

EXPRESSING THE SENSE OF CONGRESS ON THE ANNIVERSARY OF TERRORIST ATTACKS LAUNCHED AGAINST THE UNITED STATES ON SEPTEMBER 11, 2001

SPEECH OF HON. WILLIAM O. LIPINSKI
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, September 11, 2002

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, December 7, 1941 is the worst day in the history of our Republic in the 20th Century, and September 11, 2001 is the worst day in the history of our land of liberty in the 21st Century. Both days cost this nation thousands of lives; mothers, fathers, daughters, sons, grandparents, grandfathers, aunts, and uncles and perished on these days because they were Americans. Their families and friends left behind have never been the same—nor will they ever be the same—and the same can be said for our nation.

On both occasions these victims were victims because of what America stands for: liberty, freedom, justice, human rights, opportunity and, above all, a faith in a caring and loving God. But out of this criminal act perpetrated upon the citizens of this nation and on this fortress of freedom that we call the United States of America, a fierce determination arose to destroy those forces of evil that without cause or provocation attacked the U.S. We broke free from those that attacked us on December 7, 1941 to justice, and we are well on our way to bringing those who attacked us a year ago to the same fate. But today, September 11, 2002, we stop to remember in a formal way the victims and their families who perished on these very, very dark days in our nation’s history. Today we stop to honor them, remember them, pray for them, and re dedicate ourselves to seeing to it that this never happens again in America or any place else in the world.

HONORING BILL CARR
HON. KEN BENTSEN
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. BENTSEN. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of myself and my colleague Gene Green, I rise to honor the memory of an extraordinary woman, Billie Carr, known far and wide as the “Godmother of Texas Liberals,” who passed away on September 9, 2002, at the age of 74.

Her death is a tremendous loss not only for her family, but for Texas and the nation. Ms. Carr will be long remembered as an unapologetic partisan, a champion of civil rights, a challenger of the status quo and a visionary who fought to forward the goals of the Democratic Party of the local, state, and national level.

Billie Carr was an exceptional individual whose life underscored what it meant to be an American. Known as a hard driving Democrat, revered by many, reviled and intimidated by none, Billie Carr was a kind and caring human being whose commitment to the American democratic experiment made our state and nation a better place. She once told me that political parties did not exist for the benefit of the politicians, but rather the politicians existed for the benefit of the parties and their volunteers. And she never let me or any other elected official forget it. She understood not only the function of politics better than most, but the purpose as well.

Billie Carr, was first exposed to politics as a 26-day-old infant when her parents took her to a session of the 1928 Democratic National Convention, held that year in her native Houston. At the age of 18, Billie discovered what would become the true loves of her life, David Carr and politics. In the early 1950’s, David was elected president of the United Steelworkers Union at the plant where he worked, and together, Billie and he learned the political ropes by working with union officials and labor organizations. In what would be a key to her political education, Billie volunteered for the Truman campaign in 1948, establishing herself as a tough political insider.

In 1953, in what would serve as the beginnings of the liberal movement within the Texas Democratic Party, Billie along with the legendary Frankie Randolph, enraged at local and state Democrats who had endorsed Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower for president, took action. On Texas Independence Day of that year, they formed the Harris County Democrats, a liberal arm of the party that eventually became a powerful voice in the Harris County and Texas Democratic Parties.

Billie Carr was not only instrumental in the development and success of the Texas Democratic Party, but she was also influential on the national level, having attended every national convention since 1952. In 1968, infuriated by the direction of the state party, Billie led a challenge to the entire Texas Delegation, along with a busload of over 100 people, some of whom went on to become members of Congress, to protest the selection of delegates. As a testament to her tenacity and resolve, in 1972, she was elected as a national Democratic Committeewoman from Texas and later was a member of the Democratic National Committee’s Executive Committee.

During her more than fifty years of political involvement, many turned to Bill Carr for wisdom and guidance, including former President Bill Clinton who came under Billie’s tutelage when he worked in Texas for the McGovern campaign in 1972. Billie Carr, a woman of irreproachable integrity, never used her status for personal gain, instead she believed the way to expand her movement was to bring people together under a unified front. Her unfailing drive and passion for each of her causes, has had a profound impact on the politics of Texas.

Throughout her tenure, Billie Carr sought to reinforce the tried and true notion that politics are best influenced, and best practiced, when done so at the grassroots level. She came of age simultaneous with the outgrown influence of money and media in politics. And she fought to the very end to ensure that volunteers and old-fashioned shoe leather remained influential in elections as they did in the policy effected. Few would realize that the volunteer fire service is influenced as much as it is by policy, as it is by the community that has a vested interest in the fire service.

Mr. Speaker, today I rise to acknowledge Dale A. Callaway, President of the Delaware Volunteer Firemen’s Association (DVFA) and Shirley Lea Joseph, President of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Delaware Volunteer Firemen’s Association for their hard work and continued dedication to the fire service and our State. Mr. Speaker, I am proud of the volunteer fire service in Delaware. These men and women protect their communities, our State, and our Nation—and do so selflessly. On behalf of my fellow Delawarans, I would like to commend and salute DVFA President Dale Callaway and Ladies Auxiliary President Shirley Joseph, not only for their tireless efforts on behalf of the citizens of the First State, but for their many years of contributions to fire and emergency services.

Dale Callaway has been a vital and active member of the fire services community for years. Mr. Callaway has worked diligently for the Milton Fire Company and served as past President of the Sussex County Firemen’s Association. Shirley Joseph, too, has played an extremely critical role in keeping the Ladies Auxiliary of the DVFA a vital part of our communities. Her 42 years of dedication to the fire service as a charter member of Ellendale Station 75 serves as a model of service for us all. The Ladies Auxiliary has a long rich history and their commitment to the community is to be commended.

It is a tradition in the volunteer fire service for these men and women to not seek praise for what they do as volunteer firefighters, but today I offer my thanks on behalf of all Delawareans. Dale Callaway and Shirley Joseph are both exemplary models of commitment and excellence. Vvhy they will continue to serve as valuable members of the Delaware fire service community. Their selfless commitment contributes every day to the quality of life at home in their community as well as throughout the entire State. This is why they will have a permanent place in Delaware’s volunteer fire service history, and why, today, we say thank you.

Mr. Speaker, many in Texas and across America mourn the loss of Billie Carr but rejoice in her memory and the contributions she has made to the betterment of our nation.

IN HONOR OF THE DEDICATED WORK OF DALE A. CALLAWAY AND SHIRLEY LEA JOSEPH FOR THE DELAWARE VOLUNTEER FIRE SERVICE COMMUNITY

HON. MICHAEL N. CASTLE OF DELAWARE
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2002

Mr. CASTLE. Mr. Speaker, today I rise to recognize Dale A. Callaway, President of the Delaware Volunteer Firemen’s Association (DVFA) and Shirley Lea Joseph, President of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Delaware Volunteer Firemen’s Association for their hard work and continued dedication to the fire service and our State.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud of the volunteer fire service in Delaware. These men and women protect their communities, our State, and our Nation—and do so selflessly. On behalf of my fellow Delawarans, I would like to commend and salute DVFA President Dale Callaway and Ladies Auxiliary President Shirley Joseph, not only for their tireless efforts on behalf of the citizens of the First State, but for their many years of contributions to fire and emergency services.

Dale Callaway has been a vital and active member of the fire services community for years. Mr. Callaway has worked diligently for the Milton Fire Company and served as past President of the Sussex County Firemen’s Association. Shirley Joseph, too, has played an extremely critical role in keeping the Ladies Auxiliary of the DVFA a vital part of our communities. Her 42 years of dedication to the fire service as a charter member of Ellendale Station 75 serves as a model of service for us all. The Ladies Auxiliary has a long rich history and their commitment to the community is to be commended.

It is a tradition in the volunteer fire service for these men and women to not seek praise for what they do as volunteer firefighters, but today I offer my thanks on behalf of all Delawareans. Dale Callaway and Shirley Joseph are both exemplary models of commitment and excellence. Vvhy they will continue to serve as valuable members of the Delaware fire service community. Their selfless commitment contributes every day to the quality of life at home in their community as well as throughout the entire State. This is why they will have a permanent place in Delaware’s volunteer fire service history, and why, today, we say thank you.

TRIBUTE TO BAYMEC

HON. ZOE LOFGREN
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, September 12, 2002

Ms. LOFGREN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to commend BAYMEC, the Bay Area Municipal Elections Committee, as they celebrate 18 years of advocating for lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender (LGBT) rights in Santa Clara Valley and in communities along the central coast of California.

BAYMEC was founded in 1984 by local activists Ken Yeager and Wiggsy Sivertsen. At that time, the Santa Clara Valley region was still reeling from the repeal of city and county ordinances which would have given gays and lesbians protection in housing and employment. BAYMEC was formed to organize the local gay and lesbian community, reverse the political tide, and advance the civil rights of LGBT individuals.

The past 18 years has produced a legacy of successes for BAYMEC and for the citizens of Santa Clara Valley. BAYMEC stands as a united front to fight for civil rights and end discrimination, to educate public officials, and to provide a voice for the LGBT community.

I am proud of the leadership, volunteers and network of supporters whose dedication has built BAYMEC into an integral part of the fabric of our local communities. And, in so doing, BAYMEC is contributing to making Santa Clara Valley and the Central Coast a place where all people can expect to be treated with justice, dignity and respect.
CONGRATULATING H. BYRON MASTERSON ELEMENTARY SCHOOL OF KENNETT, MISSOURI ON WINNING THE KIDS ARE AUTHORS CONTEST FOR “SEPTEMBER 12TH... WE KNEW EVERYTHING WOULD BE ALL RIGHT”

HON. JO ANN EMERSON
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mrs. EMERSON. Mr. Speaker, I come to the House floor today with the memories of September 11th forever etched on my mind. I remember thinking that the world would never be the same again after that fateful day. I was right. Now, one year later, I am encouraged and moved by the courage, compassion and character that people across our nation have shown in the days and months since the attack on America.

I am nearly moved beyond words by the ways our children have responded to the new challenges we face immediately following September 11th. I visited classrooms all over the Eighth Congressional district. I listened and spoke with students, teachers and parents and felt—for the first time—I can remember—a bond and sense of purpose that was somehow missing in the days before. I have never been as proud to be an American as when I visited with the children at those schools in my district. To be honest, I wasn’t sure exactly how to talk about the tragic events of September 11th, because I wasn’t entirely understood why this tragedy happened to us. Instead of comforting them, they comforted me. Instead of me telling them what happened, through their patriotic songs, intelligent questions, cheers of pride, patriotic bulletin boards, and their hugs and tears, they shared what they had learned and seen.

One of those schools was H. Byron Masterson Elementary School in Kennett, Missouri. The students shared their feelings, but they did more than that. They took action. And this week, a year later, the results of their actions and the War on Terrorism show that the students were right.

My favorite quote from the books is one that I used recently in my weekly column about September 11th. The children wrote, “We knew everything would be all right because the stars and moon came out and America went to sleep. And the next morning the sun came up again.”

The students, together with their parents, were recognized for their achievement. They along with Mr. and Mrs. Masterson and her husband, Dennis, and Masterson Principal Elsieie Heller, left for New York City early Monday morning, September 9th.

The group of 50 spent three days in the Big Apple including the one year anniversary of September 11th. The trip, sponsored by NASDAQ, ended with the group taking part in the ringing of the bell at the NASDAQ market on September 11th. During their stay in NYC, the group visited various sights including the Empire State Building and the New York Public Library.

The students were recognized for their achievement. The students were presented with medals. The school also will receive 100 copies of the book and an autographed copy of the book will be sent to the President.

As their teacher Mrs. Robertson said, “We’re just a little small town of 11,000 in the state of Missouri but here we are... It is an honor to be chosen.”

It is an honor for me to represent these children and their families in Congress. Congratulations on this remarkable and special milestone in your lives. You children have inspired me. You have shown your compassion for others. You have displayed the true character of America. You have shown me and other parents and adults your maturity and depth of understanding about our great nation’s worth and future. You have given us courage. And you will help us show the world that no act of terror will ever bring us to our knees. We will be stronger than ever in the face of adversity. We will be one. We will be teacher. We will prevail.

CONGRATULATING TO LEAH A. CUNNINGHAM

HON. ROB SIMMONS OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 12, 2002

Mr. SIMMONS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Leah A. Cunningham of Niantic, CT. Leah Cunningham was named a national winner in the 2002 Voice of Democracy Program and received the $1,500 Department of Colorado and Auxiliary Award. Leah was sponsored by VFW Post 5849 and its Ladies Auxiliary in East Lyme, Connecticut.

I applaud the achievement of Leah Cunningham and applaud that her award-winning essay be submitted to the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

[From the 2001–2002 VFW Voice of Democracy Scholarship Contest]

REACHING OUT TO AMERICA’S FUTURE

(By Leah Cunningham of Connecticut)

Yiyia, what is your advice for me and my role in helping America to have a better future?

“I came to this country at only 12 years old, alone and frightened of the unraveling journey ahead. I immigrated from Greece, but I soon became a loving citizen of this great land called America. I have learned that for America to have a better future, we must trust and learn from the issues of the past.”

And then, my Yiyia (which is Greek for grandma) would smile in her strong oak rocking chair, gazing out of her apartment. Yiyia would have faith in the youth of America and their love for a country. She had seen the beginning stages of World War II as a young girl at her boat; she had watched America slowly enter World War Two, and thankfully, she died before her eyes would witness the devastation of the worst terrorist act on our assualt American soil: The destruction of the New York trade center towers by two hijacked airplanes.

These horrific events of September 11th have sparked a new found interest in our past and pride. Have we perhaps become more aware of our duty to create a peaceful life for our youth? The idea is to reach out to America’s future, enabling our children to create a better world, providing them with knowledge, insight. Someday as a grandmother, I hope to share with my grandchildren the knowledge a nation has touched my existence with. I will reach out to America’s youth—empowered in good faith to help America’s future.

Our nation has indeed suffered tragedy but at the same time, we have been blessed by devoted American citizens towards a common goal: to make America a peaceful nation. Firemen, Red Cross volunteers, policemen, and average American citizens are working diligently working today to defy evil and restore the site of utter devastation. We have refocused our priorities, acknowledging kindness, not only to our friends and relatives, but a rejuvenated sense of benevolence towards strangers and fellow Americans. I see a confidant nation, converging together, providing a nation that will not fall, we will not fail in a time of unforeseen cruelty towards our freedom land. We are reaching out to America’s future in quiet and bold assertion of the worst terrorist attacks of Sep-being of active American citizens. Simply requiring a civics or history course for high-school graduation is not enough. We should urge our youth to become involved in the social fabric of the community. The little things truly aide in reaching out to America’s future: encouraging youth to register for voting, involving teenagers in mock political systems, having children understand the American flag, and ensuring appreciation towards war veterans and their roles in providing long-standing freedom in America.

I have come to think of it as my responsibility, my mission, to in some way reach out to America’s future. My grandparents remember where they were when Pearl Harbor was attacked by the Japanese. My parents remember where they were when John F. Kennedy was assassinated. And, I will forever remember exactly where I was on September 11th, 2001, when terrorists attacked our nation, killing thousands. My greatest achievement will be if a defining moment of my grandchildren’s life is not a catastrophic pre-empt to war, or a brutal disheartening assassination of a loved president, or an act of horrific human destruction. But rather, their moment of true American unity and love for a nation will be when their grandmother reaches out to their curious eyes and big hearts, and tells them of her experiences as an American and what they must do to hopefully following her patriotic footsteps.

As Thomas Jefferson suggested in his first Inaugural Speech, our principles for peace in the future depends on the ability to historically, look back, in order to look forward. Jefferson states, “... Let us hasten to retrace our steps and to regain the road which alone leads to peace, liberty, and safety.” The youth of America will bloom with bright hearts and clear visions if they are mindful of America’s pursuits and “retrace their footsteps” of answers.

America is living and breathing, and within this country there is embedded a recipe for survival and for peace. Our youth needs the support and encouragement of patriotic citizens. We must trust in the goodness of people, and work towards a humane world, with the youth of America as leaders towards peace and justice. We must start with the seeds of tomorrow, the children of America’s future, to not only establish a long-term remedy for terrorism, but to maintain strength, pursue unity, and forever sustain national loyalty.
HIGHLIGHTS
House Committees ordered reported 42 sundry measures, including the Foreign Operations, Export Financing and Related Programs Appropriations for fiscal year 2003.

Senate

Chamber Action
Routine Proceedings, pages S8509–S8581

Measures Introduced: Nine bills and two resolutions were introduced, as follows: S. 2925–2933, and S. Res. 325–326.

Measures Reported:
- S. 1069, to amend the National Trails System Act to clarify Federal authority relating to land acquisition from willing sellers for the majority of the trails in the System, with amendments. (S. Rept. No. 107–276)
- S. 2482, to direct the Secretary of the Interior to grant to Deschutes and Crook Counties in the State of Oregon a right-of-way to West Butte Road, with an amendment in the nature of a substitute. (S. Rept. No. 107–277)
- S. 2712, to authorize economic and democratic development assistance for Afghanistan and to authorize military assistance for Afghanistan and certain other foreign countries, with an amendment in the nature of a substitute. (S. Rept. No. 107–278)
- H.R. 809, to make technical corrections to various antitrust laws and to references to such laws, with an amendment.

Measures Passed:

DNA Sexual Assault Justice Act: Senate passed S. 2513, to assess the extent of the backlog in DNA analysis of rape kit samples, and to improve investigation and prosecution of sexual assault cases with DNA evidence, after agreeing to a committee amendment in the nature of a substitute.

Year of the Blues: Senate agreed to S. Res. 316, designating the year beginning February 1, 2003, as the "Year of the Blues".

U.S. Congressional Philharmonic Society: Committee on the Judiciary was discharged from further consideration of H. Con. Res. 183, expressing the sense of Congress regarding the United States Congressional Philharmonic Society and its mission of promoting musical excellence throughout the educational system and encouraging people of all ages to commit to the love and expression of musical performance, and the resolution was then agreed to.

National Historically Black Colleges and Universities Week: Committee on the Judiciary was discharged from further consideration of S. Res. 305, designating the week beginning September 15, 2002, as "National Historically Black Colleges and Universities Week", and the resolution was then agreed to.

Congratulating National Farmers Union: Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry was discharged from further consideration of S. Res. 324, congratulating the National Farmers Union for 100 years of service to family farmers, ranchers, and rural communities, and the resolution was then agreed to.

New York Transportation Conformity Requirements Waiver: Senate passed H.R. 3880, to provide a temporary waiver from certain transportation conformity requirements and metropolitan transportation planning requirements under the Clean Air Act and under other laws for certain areas in New York where the planning offices and resources have been destroyed by acts of terrorism, clearing the measure for the President.

Department of the Interior Appropriations: Senate resumed consideration of H.R.5093, making appropriations for the Department of the Interior and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2003, taking action on the following amendments proposed thereto:
Pending:

Byrd Amendment No. 4472, in the nature of a substitute.  Pages S8515–21

Byrd Amendment No. 4480 (to Amendment No. 4472), to provide funds to repay accounts from which funds were borrowed for emergency wildfire suppression.  Page S8515

Craig/Domenici Amendment No. 4518 (to Amendment No. 4480), to reduce hazardous fuels on our national forests.  Page S8515

Dodd Amendment No. 4522 (to Amendment No. 4472), to prohibit the expenditure of funds to recognize Indian tribes and tribal nations until the date of implementation of certain administrative procedures.  Page S8515

Byrd/Stevens Amendment No. 4532 (to Amendment No. 4472), to provide for critical emergency supplemental appropriations.  Pages S8520–21

A unanimous-consent agreement was reached providing for further consideration of the bill on Friday, September 13, 2002, with a vote in relation to Dodd Amendment No. 4522 (to Amendment No. 4472), listed above, to occur at 10:15 a.m.  Page S8581

Homeland Security Act: Senate resumed consideration of H.R. 5005, to establish the Department of Homeland Security, taking action on the following amendments proposed thereto:

Rejected:

By 48 yeas to 49 nays (Vote No. 215), Hollings Amendment No. 4533 (to Amendment No. 4471), to modify the membership and advisors of the National Security Council.  Pages S8521–27, S8535

Pending:

Lieberman Amendment No. 4471, in the nature of a substitute.  Pages S8521–53

Thompson/ Warner Amendment No. 4513 (to Amendment No. 4471), to strike title II, establishing the National Office for Combating Terrorism, and title III, developing the National Strategy for Combating Terrorism and Homeland Security Response for detection, prevention, protection, response, and recovery to counter terrorist threats. (By 41 yeas to 55 nays (Vote No. 214), Senate failed to table the amendment.)  Pages S8527–35

Lieberman Amendment No. 4534 (to Amendment No. 4513), to provide for a National Office for Combating Terrorism, and a National Strategy for Combating Terrorism and the Homeland Security Response.  Pages S8536–53

A unanimous-consent agreement was reached providing for further consideration of the bill at 12 noon, on Friday, September 13, 2002.  Page S8552

Nomination—Agreement: A unanimous-consent agreement was reached providing for the consideration and confirmation of the nomination of Jose E. Martinez, to be United States District Judge for the Southern District of Florida, at 9:45 a.m., on Friday, September 13, 2002.  Page S8581

Messages From the President: Senate received the following message from the President of the United States:

Transmitting, pursuant to law, a notice stating that the continuation of the national emergency with respect to the terrorist attacks on the United States of September 11, 2001 is to continue in effect beyond September 14, 2002; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs. (PM–107)  Page S8561

Nominations Confirmed: Senate confirmed the following nomination:

By unanimous vote of 88 yeas (Vote No. EX. 213), Timothy J. Corrigan, of Florida, to be United States District Judge for the Middle District of Florida.  Pages S8510–15, S8581

Nominations Received: Senate received the following nominations:

Maura Ann Harty, of Florida, to be an Assistant Secretary of State (Consular Affairs).

Ralph R. Erickson, of North Dakota, to be United States District Judge for the District of North Dakota.

S. Maurice Hicks, Jr., of Louisiana, to be United States District Judge for the Western District of Louisiana.

Thomas L. Ludington, of Michigan, to be United States District Judge for the Eastern District of Michigan.

William D. Quarles, Jr., of Maryland, to be United States District Judge for the District of Maryland.

Victor J. Wolski, of Virginia, to be a Judge of the United States Court of Federal Claims for a term of fifteen years.

Glen L. Bower, of Illinois, to be a Judge of the United States Tax Court for a term of fifteen years after he takes office.  Page S8581

Messages From the House:

Measures Placed on Calendar:

Executive Communications:

Pages S8561–64

Additional Cosponsors:

Pages S8565–66

Statements on Introduced Bills/Resolutions:

Pages S8566–72

Additional Statements:

Pages S8557–61

Amendments Submitted:

Pages S8572–75

Notices of Hearings/Meetings:

Pages S8575–76

Authority for Committees to Meet:
Privilege of the Floor: Page S8576

Record Votes: Three record votes were taken today. (Total—215) Page S8515, S8535

Adjournment: Senate met at 9:45 a.m., and adjourned at 7:53 p.m., until 9:45 a.m., on Friday, September 13, 2002. (For Senate’s program, see the remarks of the Acting Majority Leader in today’s Record on page S8581).

Committee Meetings
(Committees not listed did not meet)

BUSINESS MEETING
Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs: Committee ordered favorably reported the following business items:

S. 1210, to reauthorize the Native American Housing Assistance and Self-Determination Act of 1996, with an amendment in the nature of a substitute;

S. 2239, to amend the National Housing Act to simplify the downpayment requirements for FHA mortgage insurance for single family homebuyers, with amendments; and

The nomination of Wayne Abernathy, of Virginia, to be Assistant Secretary of the Treasury for Financial Institutions.

Prior to this action, Committee concluded hearings on the nomination of Wayne Abernathy (listed above), after the nominee testified and answered questions in his own behalf.

INTERNET AND CHILDREN
Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation: Subcommittee on Science, Technology, and Space concluded hearings on S. 2537/H.R. 3833, bills to facilitate the creation of a new, second-level Internet domain within the United States country code domain that will be a haven for material that promotes positive experiences for children and families using the Internet, provides a safe online environment for children, and helps to prevent children from being exposed to harmful material on the Internet, after receiving testimony from Representative Shimkus; Ann Brown, Safer America for Everyone, former Chairman, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, and James A. Casey, NeuStar, Inc., both of Washington, D.C.; Ruben Rodriguez, National Center For Missing and Exploited Children, Alexandria, Virginia; and Jan P. Whitley, Silver Spring, Maryland.

BUSINESS MEETING
Committee on Finance: Committee ordered favorably reported H.R. 5063, to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide a special rule for members of the uniformed services in determining the exclusion of gain from the sale of a principal residence and to restore the tax exempt status of death gratuity payments to members of the uniformed service, with an amendment in the nature of a substitute.

STRATEGIC OFFENSIVE REDUCTIONS

MULTILATERAL DEVELOPMENT BANK REFORM

UNEMPLOYMENT AND THE ECONOMY
Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions: Committee concluded hearings to examine unemployed Americans in the context of the current economic situation, focusing on Temporary Emergency Unemployment Compensation (TEUC) reform, after receiving testimony from Lawrence Mishel, Economic Policy Institute, and Wendell Primus, Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, both of Washington, D.C.; and Felix Batista, New York, New York, on behalf of New York Unemployment Project.
House of Representatives

Chamber Action

Measures Introduced: 9 public bills, H.R. 5373–5376; 5378–5382; 1 private bill, H.R. 5377; and 1 resolution, H. Con. Res. 467, were introduced.

Reports Filed: Reports were filed today as follows:

H.R. 5091, to increase the amount of student loan forgiveness available to qualified teachers, with an emphasis on special education teachers, amended (H. Rept. 107–655).

Speaker Pro Tempore: Read a letter from the Speaker wherein he appointed Representative Terry to act as Speaker pro tempore for today.

Guest Chaplain: The prayer was offered by the Most Reverend John R. Gaydos, Bishop of Jefferson City, Missouri.

Journal: Agreed to the Speaker’s approval of the Journal of Wednesday, September 11 by a recorded vote of 342 ayes to 42 noes with 1 voting “present”, Roll No. 386.

Security Assistance Act: The House disagreed with the Senate amendment to H.R. 1646, to authorize appropriations for the Department of State for fiscal years 2002 and 2003, and agreed to a conference. Agreed to the motion to go to conference by a yea-and-nay vote of 382 yeas with none voting “nay”, Roll No. 385. Appointed as conferees from the Committee on International Relations for consideration of the House bill and the Senate amendment, and modifications committed to conference: Chairman Hyde and Representatives Smith of New Jersey, Ros-Lehtinen, Lantos, and Berman. And from the Committee on the Judiciary for consideration of sections 234, 236, 709, 710, and 844 and section 404 of the Senate amendment, and modifications committed to conference: chairman Sensenbrenner, Smith of Texas, and Conyers.

Back to School Tax Relief Act: The House agreed to H. Res. 521, the rule that is providing for consideration of H.R. 5193, to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to allow a deduction to certain taxpayers for elementary and secondary education expenses by a yea-and-nay vote of 208 yeas to 201 nays, Roll No. 387.

Presidential Message National—Emergency re the Terrorist Threat: Read a message from the President wherein he transmitted a notice stating that the emergency declared with respect to the terrorist attacks on the United States of September 11, 2001, is to continue in effect after September 14, 2002—referred to the Committee on International Relations and ordered printed (H. Doc. 107–261).

Legislative Program:—The Majority Leader announced the legislative program for the week of Sept. 16.

Meeting Hour—Friday, Sept. 13: Agreed that when the House adjourns today, it adjourn to meet at 10 a.m. on Friday, Sept. 13.

Meeting Hour—Tuesday, Sept. 17: Agreed that when the House adjourns on Friday, Sept. 13, 2002, it adjourn to meet at 12:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 17 for morning-hour debate.

Calendar Wednesday: Agreed to dispense with the Calendar Wednesday business of Wednesday, Sept. 18.

Quorum Calls—Votes: Two yea-and-nay votes and one recorded vote developed during the proceedings of the House today and appear on pages H6232, H6232–33, H6239–40. There were no quorum calls.

Adjournment: The House met at 10 a.m. and adjourned at 1:27 p.m.

Committee Meetings

ADMINISTRATION’S HEALTHY FORESTS INITIATIVE

Committee on Agriculture: Subcommittee on Department Operations, Oversight, Nutrition and Forestry held a hearing on the Administration’s Healthy Forests Initiative. Testimony was heard from Mark E. Rey, Under Secretary, Natural Resources and the Environment, USDA; and Rebecca Watson, Assistant Secretary, Land and Minerals Management, Department of the Interior.
FOREIGN OPERATIONS, EXPORT FINANCING AND RELATED PROGRAMS APPROPRIATIONS

Committee on Appropriations: Ordered reported the Foreign Operations, Export Financing and Related Programs Appropriations for fiscal year 2003.

ECONOMIC OUTLOOK

Committee on the Budget: Held a hearing on Economic Outlook. Testimony was heard from Alan Greenspan, Chairman, Board of Governors, Federal Reserve System.

WORKFORCE INVESTMENT ACT IMPLEMENTATION

Committee on Education and the Workforce: Subcommittee on 21st Century Competitiveness held a hearing entitled “Implementation of the Workforce Investment Act: Promising Practices in Workforce Development.” Testimony was heard from public witnesses.

LEAKING UNDERGROUND STORAGE TANKS

Committee on Financial Services: Subcommittee on Housing and Community Opportunity held a hearing entitled “The Erosion of Communities and Home Values by Leaking Underground Storage Tanks.” Testimony was heard from Representative Kanjorski; Todd Eachus, Representative, State of Pennsylvania; and public witnesses.

CONFLICT WITH IRAQ

Committee on Government Reform: Held a hearing entitled “Conflict With Iraq—An Israeli Perspective.” Testimony was heard from Benjamin Netanyahu, former Prime Minister of Israel.

OVERSIGHT

Committee on the Judiciary: Subcommittee on the Constitution held an oversight hearing on Privacy Concerns Raised by the Collection and Use of Genetic Information by Employers and Insurers. Testimony was heard from public witnesses.

MISCELLANEOUS MEASURES

Committee on Resources: Ordered reported the following bills: H.R. 282, amended, to authorize the Pyramid of Remembrance Foundation to establish a memorial in the District of Columbia or its environs to soldiers who have lost their lives during peacekeeping operations, humanitarian efforts, training, terrorist attacks, or covert operations; H.R. 464, Kate Mullany National Historic Site Act; H.R. 635, amended, Steel Industry National Historic Park Act; H.R. 1811, PILT and Refuge Revenue Sharing Permanent Funding Act; H.R. 1946, Rocky Boy’s/ North Central Montana Regional Water System Act of 2001; H.R. 2386, Outfitter Policy Act of 2001; H.R. 2408, Yankton Sioux Tribe and Santee Sioux Tribe Equitable Compensation Act; H.R. 2826, amended, to increase the waiver requirement for certain local matching requirements for grants provided to American Samoa, Guam, the Virgin Islands, or the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands; H.R. 3148, amended, to amend the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act to provide equitable treatment of Alaska Native Vietnam Veterans; H.R. 3630, amended, to direct the Secretary of the Interior to conduct a special resource study to determine the national significance of the Miami Circle site in the State of Florida and the suitability and feasibility of its inclusion in the National Park System as part of Biscayne National Park; H.R. 3747, Bainbridge Island Japanese-American Memorial Study Act of 2002; H.R. 3765, John L. Burton Trail Act; H.R. 3802, to amend the Education Land Grant Act to require the Secretary of Agriculture to pay the costs of environmental reviews with respect to conveyances under that Act; H.R. 3896, to repeal the reservation of mineral rights made by the United States when certain lands in Livingston Parish, Louisiana were conveyed by Public Law 102–562; H.R. 4141, amended, Red Rock Canyon National Conservation Area Protection and Enhancement Act of 2002; H.R. 4692, to amend the Act entitled “An Act to authorize the Establishment of the Andersonville National Historic Site in the State of Georgia, and for other purposes”, to provide for the addition of certain donated lands to the Andersonville National Historic Site; H.R. 4734, amended, Alaska Federal Lands Management Demonstration Project Act; H.R. 4830, Southern Campaign of the Revolution Heritage Area Study Act; H.R. 4844, amended, Wild Sky Wilderness Act of 2002; H.R. 4853, amended, to provide that land which is owned by the Seminole Tribe of Florida but which is not held in trust by the United States for the Tribe may be mortgaged, leased, or transferred by the Tribe without further approval by the United States; H.R. 4874, to direct the Secretary of the Interior to disclaim any Federal interest in lands adjacent to Spirit Lake and Twin Lakes in the State of Idaho resulting from possible omission of lands from an 1880 survey; H.R. 4910, amended, to authorize the Secretary of the Interior to revise a repayment contract with the Tom Green County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1, San Angelo project, Texas; H.R. 4919, amended, Tonto and Coconino National Forests Land Exchange Act; H.R. 4944, amended, Cedar Creek Battlefield and Belle Grove Plantation National Historical Park Act;
H.R. 4966, amended, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration Act; H.R. 4968, amended, Federal-Utah State Trust Lands Consolidation Act;
H.R. 5032, amended, to authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to convey certain National Forest System lands in the Mendocino National Forest, California, to authorize the use of the proceeds from such convoyances for National Forest purposes; H.R. 5097, amended, to adjust the boundaries of the Salt River Bay National Historical Park and Ecological Preserve located in St. Croix, Virginia Islands; H.R. 5099, to extend the periods of authorization for the Secretary of the Interior to implement capital construction projects associated with the endangered fish recovery implementation programs for the Upper Colorado and San Juan River Basins; H.R. 5108, to authorize leases for terms not to exceed 99 years on lands held in trust for the Yurok Tribe and the Hopland Band of Pomo Indians; H.R. 5109, amended, to direct the Secretary of Energy to convey a parcel of land at the facility of the Southwestern Power Administration in Tupelo, Oklahoma; H.R. 5125, amended, Civil War Battlefield Preservation Act of 2002; H.R. 5180, amended, to direct the Secretary of Agriculture to convey certain real property in the Dixie National Forest in the State of Utah; S. 434, Yankton Sioux Tribe and Santee Sioux Equitable Compensation Act; S. 491, to authorize the Secretary of the Interior, pursuant to the provisions of the Reclamation
Wastewater and Groundwater Study and Facilities Act to participate in the design, planning, and construction of the Denver Water Reuse project; S. 691, to direct the Secretary of Agriculture to convey certain land in the Lake Tahoe Basin Management Unit, Nevada, to the Secretary of the Interior, in trust for the Washoe Indian Tribe of Nevada and California; S. 941, amended, Rancho Corral de Tierra
Golden Gate National Recreation Area Boundary Adjustment Act of 2001; S. 1227, Niagara Falls National Heritage Area Study Act; S. 1240, Timpanogos Interagency Land Exchange Act; S. 1907, to direct the Secretary of the Interior to convoy certain land to the city of Haines, Oregon; and

PROPOSED HOUSE RULES CHANGES
Committee on Rules: Held a hearing on proposed changes to House rules. Testimony was heard from Representatives Weldon of Pennsylvania, Rohr-abacher, Weldon of Florida, Frank and Norton.

REGIONAL DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITIES
PROGRESS AND PROSPECTS
Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure: Subcommittee on Economic Development, Public Buildings and Emergency Management held a hearing on Delta Regional Authority and Southeast Crescent Authority: Progress and Prospects for Regional Development Authorities. Testimony was heard from Representatives Hayes and McIntyre; Pete Johnson, Federal Co-Chairman, Delta Regional Authority; and public witnesses.

HOMELESS VETERANS PROGRAMS
Committee on Veterans’ Affairs: Held a hearing on the Department of Veterans Affairs homeless veterans programs. Testimony was heard from the following officials of the Department of Veterans Affairs: Anthony J. Principi, Secretary; and John Kuhn, Chief,
New Jersey Homeless Services; Raymond Boland,
Secretary, Department of Veterans Affairs, State of Wisconsin; representatives of veterans organizations; and public witnesses.

PATIENT SAFETY IMPROVEMENT ACT
Committee on Ways and Means: Subcommittee on Health approved for full Committee action, as amended, H.R. 4889, Patient Safety Improvement

Joint Meetings
9/11 INTELLIGENCE INVESTIGATION
Joint Hearing: Senate Select Committee on Intelligence held joint closed hearings with the House
Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence to ex-
Hearings continue on Tuesday, September 17.

NATIONAL DEFENSE AUTHORIZATION Conferences continued in evening session to resolve the differences between the Senate and House passed versions of H.R. 4546, to authorize appropriations for fiscal year 2003 for military activities of the Department of Defense, for military construction, and for defense activities of the Department of Energy, and to prescribe personnel strengths for such fiscal year for the Armed Forces, focusing on airland, emerging threats, personnel, and strategic provisions.

SECURING AMERICA'S FUTURE ENERGY ACT

Conferees met to resolve the difference between the Senate and House passed versions of H.R. 4, to enhance energy conservation, research and development and to provide for security and diversity in the energy supply for the American people, but did not complete action thereon, and recessed subject to the call.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS FOR FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 2002

(Committee meetings are open unless otherwise indicated)

Senate

Committee on Environment and Public Works: to hold oversight hearings to examine the implementation of the Comprehensive Everglades Restoration Plan, 9:30 a.m., SD–406.

House

No Committee meetings are scheduled.
Next Meeting of the SENATE
9:45 a.m., Friday, September 13

Senate Chamber

Program for Friday: Senate will consider and confirm the nomination of Jose E. Martinez, to be United States District Judge for the Southern District of Florida; following which, Senate will continue consideration of H.R. 5093, Department of the Interior and Related Agencies Appropriations Act.

At 12 noon, Senate will resume consideration of H.R. 5005, Homeland Security Act.

Next Meeting of the HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
10 a.m., Friday, September 13

House Chamber

Program for Friday: Pro forma session.

Extensions of Remarks, as inserted in this issue

HOUSE
Bentsen, Ken, Tex., E1573
Blunt, Roy, Mo., E1568
Brown, Henry E., Jr., S.C., E1566
Capuano, Michael E., Mass., E1574
Castle, Michael N., Del., E1574
Clement, Bob, Tenn., E1568
Costello, Jerry F., III., E1571
Coyne, William J., Pa., E1564
Davis, Tom Va., E1563
Emerson, Jo Ann, Mo., E1575
Fossella, Vito, N.Y., E1572
Harman, Jane, Calif., E1567
Hastings, Alice L., Fla., E1566
Hobson, David L., Ohio, E1570
Hoefel, Joseph M., Pa., E1567
Hoyer, Steny H., Md., E1562, E1563, E1564
Kennedy, Patrick J., R.I., E1562, E1563
Kerns, Brian D., Ind., E1561
Kleczka, Gerald D., Wisc., E1568
Kucinich, Dennis J., Ohio, E1567
Lampe, Nick, Tex., E1569
Lantos, Tom, Calif., E1571
Lee, Barbara, Calif., E1566
Levin, Sander M., Mich., E1568
Lewis, Jerry, Calif., E1570
Lipinski, William O., Ill., E1567
Lowry, Joe, Calif., E1574
McInnis, Scott, Colo., E1561, E1562, E1564
Mascara, Frank, Pa., E1562, E1569
Miller, George, Calif., E1569
Moore, Dennis, Kansas, E1561, E1562, E1563
Nethercutt, George R., Jr., Wash., E1570
Ose, Doug, Calif., E1568
Owens, Major R., N.Y., E1564, E1566
Pelosi, Nancy, Calif., E1568
Portman, Rob, Ohio, E1566
Pryce, Deborah, Ohio, E1564
Roukema, N.J., E1573
Shaw, E. Clay, Jr., Fla., E1563, E1565
Simmons, Rob, Conn., E1575
Skelton, Ike, Mo., E1574
Smith, Nick, Mich., E1572
Udall, Mark, Colo., E1565

The public proceedings of each House of Congress, as reported by the Official Reporters thereof, are printed pursuant to directions of the Joint Committee on Printing as authorized by appropriate provisions of Title 44, United States Code, and published for each day that one or both Houses are in session, excepting very infrequent instances when two or more unusually small consecutive issues are printed at one time. *Public access to the Congressional Record is available online through GPO Access, a service of the Government Printing Office, free of charge to the user. The online database is updated each day the Congressional Record is published. The database includes both text and graphics from the beginning of the 103rd Congress, 2d session (January 1994) forward. It is available through GPO Access at www.gpo.gov/gpoaccess. Customers can also access this information with WAIS client software, via telnet at swais.access.gpo.gov, or dial-in using communications software and a modem at (202) 512-1661. Questions or comments regarding this database or GPO Access can be directed to the GPO Access User Support Team at: E-Mail: gpoaccess@gpo.gov; Phone 1-888-293-6498 (toll-free), (202) 512-2250. Remit check or money order, made payable to the Superintendent of Documents, or use VISA, MasterCard, Discover, American Express, or GPO Deposit Account. Following each session of Congress, the daily Congressional Record is revised, printed, permanently bound and sold by the Superintendent of Documents in individual parts or by sets. *With the exception of copyrighted articles, there are no restrictions on the republication of material from the Congressional Record.