

of North Korea, China, or states of the former Soviet Union who differs delivers a living American prisoner of war from the Korean War. Information regarding the act is broadcast by the International Broadcasting Bureau over the Voice of America and other broadcast services.

The Bring Them Home Alive Act signals our continuing dedication to all the Americans who served in the Vietnam and Korean wars. It shall be needed until all of our soldiers are accounted for. This bill amends the Bring Them Home Alive Act to broaden its coverage for the Persian Gulf War and any future hostilities in Iraq. There have been recent reports that Michael Speicher, a Navy pilot shot down over Iraq in 1991, may still be in Iraqi hands. We owe it to him and to all those who may be called to serve in the coming months to pass this bill.

The bill provides refugee status to a national of Iraq or a nation in the greater Middle East who personally delivers into the custody of the United States Government a living American prisoner of war from the Persian Gulf War or any successor conflict. To receive refugee status, the alien cannot be eligible for asylum on account of being a criminal, a terrorist, or a danger to the security of the United States. I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself as much time as I might consume.

Mr. Speaker, in light of the climate that we now face, calling upon our men and women in the United States military once again to defend our freedom and in the backdrop of the motion to instruct last week that recognized the importance of allowing our veterans to receive both their retirement benefits and other benefits simultaneously, there is no doubt that this Congress believes strongly in the fighting men and women of this Nation, and so I rise with enthusiastic support for this bill which will encourage the safe return of Navy pilot Captain Scott Speicher, the only person classified as a POW/MIA from the Gulf War of the early 1990's.

His status was changed from dead to MIA, and as well it was based upon last year's intelligence information that he survived his plane crash and is in prison in Bagdad, Iraq. Recently, he was reclassified as missing and captured. The amendment could also be used to encourage a return of POWs and MIAs if President Bush initiates a war against Iraq, as he currently plans to do.

A few years ago as a member of the Houston City Council, I was very proud to raise the first flag above Houston City Hall to recognize POWs and MIAs. This is an important component to recognizing but also dealing specifically with an individual now still lost. This bill will provide refugee status to the United States to any national of Iraq or certain other Middle Eastern countries if they safely return an American POW/MIA from the Gulf War into the custody of the U.S. Government. The bill amends the Bring Them Home Alive Act of 2000, which provides the same benefits to citizens of Asian and former Soviet countries who safely return POW/MIAs from the Vietnam and Korean wars. The Senate Judiciary Committee already made an important amendment to the original language offered by Senator BEN NIGHTHORSE CAMPBELL to exempt alien terrorists, persecutors, and people who have been convicted of a serious offense and people who present a danger to the security of the United States from these benefits.

I know many Korean War veterans, including the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CONYERS), the ranking member of this particular committee; and I want to commend Senator CAMPBELL, a fellow veteran of the Korean War, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CONYERS), fellow veteran and ranking member, for his initiative to ensure that our POW/MIAs come home.

Let me conclude by saying that we enthusiastically offer our support for this legislation initiative, and I ask my colleagues to support this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. SENSENBRENNER) that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 1339.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.
