

Among the staff of the House are leading experts in their fields, prize winners, men and women noted in their own right for achievements both professional and prosaic. Many know far more in their fields of expertise than any Member of Congress ever will. And yet they bite their lips and say "Yes, sir," when we hear their counsel yet choose to go another way.

Perhaps the greatest tribute to the selflessness of the staff is the fact that almost any one of them could leave this place tomorrow for jobs with better pay, better recognition, and much better hours, yet their dedication to the common weal binds them to this House. And we Members all wind up looking the better for it.

Fortunately, while we may not say "thank you" often enough, others sometimes take up the slack. And so it is with Debra Wada, a member of the Armed Services Committee staff.

Debra handles matters concerning military personnel for the committee, and does so with zeal and knowledge and grace. She is always looking out for the common soldier. Millions of Americans in uniform owe the improvement of their pay and benefits to Debra and her foresight and dedication. I trust her guidance, and even more admire the energy with which she works and lives.

I am not alone in that sentiment. Not long ago, Debra was recognized by the National Guard Association of the United States, who presented her with their Militia Award. In their words, she was selected "for her exceptional dedication and effort to improve the status, welfare and professionalism of the enlisted members of the National Guard of the United States." That is indeed an honorable achievement, particularly at a time when military personnel are working so hard on our behalf.

While the Association did not formally recognize the effervescent personality that suffuses her work and brings joy to those around her, I have no doubt that those qualities played a role in her selection as well.

Debra has overcome a great obstacle to get where she is today; she was formerly employed in the other body of Congress. I compliment her on surmounting this challenge.

Mr. Speaker, people wonder how Members of Congress can vote one minute on education, the next on health, the next on defense, and understand so many issues in enough depth to make good decisions. The answer is that we are all fortunate to be surrounded by an ocean of talent. People like Debra Wada make our job possible. I salute her not only for her award, but for the unrecognized work that she and other staff professionals perform all year round.

AN APPRECIATION AND TRIBUTE TO NANCY WILSON

HON. JOHN LEWIS

OF GEORGIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 7, 2004

Mr. LEWIS of Georgia, Mr. Speaker, I join my fellow colleagues in the Congressional Black Caucus to salute and pay tribute to Nancy Wilson, a living American legend. When one thinks of Nancy Wilson, the word that immediately comes to mind is sophistication. She is one of the last in line of elegant entertainers who performed naturally onstage exuding refinement, poise and grace.

For years her style has blurred the lines between jazz, R&B and pop, redefining the essence of good music. With a career that has transformed, been translated, and ultimately survived over forty years in the music industry, Nancy Wilson has proven herself as more than merely an entertainer—she is a world-class interpreter of everything from blues and gospel to Broadway showtunes. She is just as at home in front of a full orchestra as she is in front of a jazz quartet. Her multifaceted stage presence has undoubtedly contributed to her staying power.

Born in Chillicothe, Ohio in 1937, Nancy Wilson came of age to the sounds of Nat "King" Cole, Louis Jordan, Dinah Washington, Jimmy Scott, Bull Moose Jackson, Ruth Brown, Billy Eckstein, and LaVern Baker. At age 15 she entered a voice contest with other high school students and so impressed the judges that she won her own television show, Skyline Melodies. Later in her career, Ms. Wilson was a popular guest of TV variety shows from Johnny Carson and Andy Williams to Flip Wilson and Arsenio Hall. Her series' appearances include I Spy, Room 222, Hawaii Five-O, The Cosby Show, New York Undercover, and the films The Big Score and Meteor Man. Noting Wilson's versatility as an artist, her acting talent should be no surprise. As she once said: "Each song is a little play; a little vignette." Her acting simply turned an outstanding career to a stellar one.

Since her beginnings, Nancy Wilson has given voice to those ineffable feelings of heartache, heartbreak, and those first soul-stirring moments when one falls in love. Songs like "Guess Who I Saw Today," "Save Your Love For Me" and "Like in Love" sung in that sultry signature tenor, have given the world a soundtrack for the love experience. Her songs have personified love; but more than that her songs have given us the assurance that someone else has experienced love deeply.

Nancy Wilson has without question served us all well from the stage and on the airwaves—her voice a soothing balm to life's multiple wounds. But her service extends beyond the entertainment realm. Over the years she has contributed her time and energy to causes such as the Martin Luther King Center for Social Change, the Cancer Society, and the National Heart Association. She has been the recipient of numerous awards from the United Negro College Fund, CORE, and the NAACP including the NAACP Image Award. She is an Essence Award winner and has been honored with the Paul Robeson Humanitarian Award. She has received honorary degrees from the Berkeley School of Music and Columbus Central State College.

As we honor this great entertainer, this great artist, and this great American, we give thanks for the inspiration future artists will find in her voice, her life, and in Nancy. Although we know no one will ever fill the shoes of Nancy Wilson, we already find traces of her—the voice of pure velvet, the self-assured performance, and the entrancing gaze—in the burgeoning songstresses of today. We only find traces—bits and pieces of her and never the whole because there will only ever be one Nancy Wilson.

TRIBUTE TO LUCIOUS WOOTEN,
ROSIE BRAISHER, IRENE CHAR-LOTTE SMITH, ELSIE LOUISE
LAROY AND BESSIE GILMORE

HON. FRED UPTON

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 7, 2004

Mr. UPTON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to five residents of the South Haven Nursing and Rehabilitation Community, in southwest Michigan who have achieved the great milestone of 100 years of life. This grand feat is especially important today, since these very special individuals have lived for a century or more and in two different millenniums.

The vast experiences and accomplishments of these five people is awe-inspiring. I can only imagine the wonder and amazement of watching our country progress and grow through two world wars, international flight, the Internet, cell-phones, and the many other advances that have occurred over the last century.

It is my fortunate honor to extend my very best wishes to Lucious Wooten who became 107 years old on February 6, 2004, Roxie Braisher who became 100 years old on February 22, 2004, Irene Charlotte Smith who became 100 years old on June 1, 2004, Elsie Louise LaRoy who became 100 years old on June 29, 2004, and Bessie Gilmore who became 102 years old on July 16, 2004.

Along with the entire Sixth District of Michigan, it gives me great pleasure to send wishes for much love, health, and happiness to each in the years ahead.

TRIBUTE TO YU-AI-KAI'S 30TH ANNIVERSARY

HON. ZOE LOFGREN

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 7, 2004

Ms. LOFGREN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to acknowledge and commend Yu-Ai-Kai, a Japanese American Community Senior Service, based in the San Jose enclave of Japantown on their 30th anniversary of providing services to the senior citizen community.

Yu-Ai-Kai's mission is to advance the health, education and well being of older adults in the community. Yu-Ai-Kai does this by developing cultural programs, providing educational resources about ailments affecting older adults, and making all of its services available in various languages. These services are open to all. No one is excluded.

The activities hosted by Yu-Ai-Kai are as varied and diverse as the community they serve. Activities such as their annual crab and spaghetti feed and springtime walk/run race help fund Yu-Ai-Kai's efforts to provide a healthy and supportive environment for senior citizens.

In addition, Yu-Ai-Kai's volunteers assist in outreach to homebound seniors and provide invaluable services such as transportation to doctor appointments, shopping, and regular visits just to make sure no one is too isolated.

My district office is located within a few blocks of Yu-Ai-Kai, and I can tell you from first-hand experience that I am proud of the leadership, volunteers and network of supporters whose dedication has built Yu-Ai-Kai into an integral part of the fabric of our local community.

SALUTING THE LAMAR LITTLE LEAGUE ALL-STARS

HON. TOM DeLAY

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 7, 2004

Mr. DELAY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate the Lamar National Little League All-Stars of Richmond, Texas, on their magnificent performance in the Little League World Series this year.

I want to thank Jim Michalek, the team's manager, not only for leading the Lamar All-Stars to Williamsport for the second straight year, but for doing it the right way—by teaching his players the fundamentals of baseball and of teamwork and sportsmanship.

If he keeps this up, I wouldn't be surprised to hear the Astros want him in their dugout next year.

Mr. Michalek and his coaches—Tommy Abraham and Bobby Murski—gave more than their time and energy to this team. They gave themselves to it, and the character the boys displayed during their tournament run showed the Houston community and our nation once again that there is no substitute in a boy's life for the strong influence of good men. I want to thank them for their dedication and example.

As for the players—Joey Scheurich, Dustin Moehlig, Chance Murski, Stephen Michalek, Tyler Ford, Steven Crawford, Cody Abraham, Ray Cervenka, Randal Grichuk, Christian DeLeon, Matt Daniels, and Daniel Homann—well, I'm certainly glad these young men are from my district. They did Richmond and Fort Bend County proud this year, and I'm honored to represent them and their families here in Washington.

It is often said that sports teach kids important lessons about life. Well, Mr. Speaker, I think the Lamar All-Stars taught us a thing or two this year.

Throughout their season, they modeled the virtues of hard work, perseverance, courage, and determination. Their amazing performance this summer is a testament to their talent, certainly, but most of all a testament to their character.

I offer every player, coach, parent, and friend who followed the Lamar All-Stars this year my congratulations for their success, but more importantly, my thanks for their example.

THE EUGENE O'NEILL FOUNDATION
30TH ANNIVERSARY RECOGNITION

HON. GEORGE MILLER

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 7, 2004

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the 30th anniversary of The Eugene O'Neill Foundation, Tao House, in Danville (Contra Costa County), California, and the unrelenting work this organization has accomplished in realizing its mission of celebrating the life and works of the only American playwright to receive the Nobel Prize and four Pulitzer Prizes.

The all-volunteer foundation is headquartered at Tao House, which was the residence where O'Neill and his wife Carlotta lived from 1937 to 1944. It is here that O'Neill wrote his last six plays, including the classics "A Moon for the Misbegotten," "A Long Day's Journey into Night," and "The Iceman Cometh." O'Neill's works helped shape American theater as we enjoy and appreciate it today.

I am honored to have played a role three decades ago in helping the foundation realize its goal of preserving Tao House, which is on a 158-acre ranch bordering the Las Trampas open space in the rolling hills west of Danville, with a commanding view of the San Ramon Valley and Mt. Diablo. Our collective efforts resulted in the house and property achieving designation as a National Historic Site under management of the National Park Service. It has also become a valuable resource center that is shared and enjoyed by hundreds of scholars and visitors today and for future generations.

The foundation has brought worldwide attention to Contra Costa County and its cultural activities through development of Tao House into a center for literary, performing, and visual arts and a resource center for scholars studying O'Neill and the American theater, as well as historians and producers of film and television documentaries on O'Neill.

The library at Tao House houses a rare collection of O'Neill memorabilia that has been amassed through the efforts of individual board members and donations from close friends of Eugene and Carlotta Monterey O'Neill. The priceless collection includes photographs, letters, signed and annotated editions of O'Neill's plays, and personal clothing.

In 1991, the foundation established a program for encouraging creative expression in talented high school students. Through the program, students learn about O'Neill and are given an opportunity to spend time in the environment that O'Neill found so inspiring. Instruction in art, photography/video, writing and drama is provided by college professors and actors.

Five years later, the foundation initiated the Playwrights' Theatre in the Old Barn on the Tao House estate, where staged readings of plays are presented on Sunday afternoons. Prominent Bay Area directors and actors take part. The name of the series honors O'Neill's Playwrights' Theatre, formed in 1916 in New York City by the Provincetown Players who committed themselves to fostering American playwrights.

Each year, Bay Area artists are selected to create new works in the natural setting of the Tao House estate. Works are displayed during the O'Neill Festival in the Danville Fine Arts Gallery.

This month September 2004, the foundation will present its fifth annual Eugene O'Neill Festival, a community celebration that includes performances of O'Neill works, lectures and seminars by authorities on O'Neill, discussions with prominent actors, authors and O'Neill scholars, and exhibits.

While a tribute to the great literary genius O'Neill, the festival is also a fitting tribute to the Eugene O'Neill Foundation and its 30th anniversary. The foundation represents not only a significant resource and asset in the cultural life of America, but for actors, artists, authors, playwrights, scholars and visitors from throughout the world.

I invite my colleagues to join me in congratulating the foundation staff on its 30th anniversary.

THE JOSHUA FOUNDATION

HON. EDOLPHUS TOWNS

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 7, 2004

Mr. TOWNS. Mr. Speaker, I rise this morning in recognition of the tireless work of the Joshua Foundation, operating out of our capital city of Albany, New York, to bring much needed life-saving medicines to the poor regions of Africa. I want to especially applaud the work of Mr. Lorenzo Hodges, founder of the Joshua Foundation, for his vision and determination in his efforts to help save the lives of adults and children in Africa by providing medicines to treat HIV/AIDS, malaria, diphtheria and other debilitating diseases.

Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, the Joshua Foundation has served to provide humanitarian aid in the form of medicines and clinical support facilities in Kenya and most recently in Tanzania to ensure that deprived areas in these countries receive the medical supplies they need. My further understanding is that the Joshua Foundation has plans underway for additional deliveries of medicines to Liberia, Mozambique and a second delivery to Tanzania. It is well known, Mr. Speaker, that while health care is often available to those who can afford it, the challenge is to provide these basic medicines to those who can't. To this end, the humanitarian efforts of Mr. Hodges and the Joshua Foundation must not go unrecognized.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to join me in this expression of recognition and support for the continuing humanitarian work of the Joshua Foundation in Africa.

IN RECOGNITION OF AMELIA DODY

HON. ROY BLUNT

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 7, 2004

Mr. BLUNT. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a Southwest Missouri educator who each day stands before a class of fourth graders in a 110-year-old building to teach math, science, social studies and English. For Amelia "Mamie" Dody it has been a routine that began its 58th year on August 19.

Forty years earlier, Ms. Dody agreed to be a substitute teacher for two weeks and ended up staying to teach in the same classroom at Rocky Comfort, Missouri. "I only came for two weeks, to help out while they found somebody else. They haven't found anybody yet," she told me with a smile when I visited her classroom in Rocky Comfort on August 25th to wish Ms. Dody well and congratulate her on a lifetime of achievement.

Ms. Dody began her teaching career at age 16 to save enough money to buy her first car. She told me, "My dad asked 'How are you going to buy gas?' so I kept teaching. I guess
