STATIONS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mrs. CLINTON:

S. 2827. A bill to amend the Federal Rules of Evidence to create an explicit privilege to preserve medical privacy, to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mrs. CLINTON. Mr. President, today, I rise to introduce the Patients’ Privacy Protection Act, legislation that will close a loophole in the Federal Rules of Evidence and ensure that every American’s medical records remain confidential to again confirm to acknowledge my friend Congressman NADLER who is introducing the House companion to this bill today as well as Senators CORZINE, WDEN, LAUTENBERG, BOXER, JEFFORDS, and MIKULSKI who join me as original cosponsors of this critical legislation.

I began exploring this issue when I learned that Attorney General John Ashcroft had subpoenaed the confidential medical records from thousands of women around the country to defend the first-ever federal abortion ban in Federal court. The fact that the women in question were not a party to the lawsuits did not deter him.

Such a deliberate intrusion into people’s medical privacy record is deeply disturbing. Americans deserve full confidence that the government is not looking into their medical records. Without such an assurance, how will Americans trust their doctors? What will they avoid for fear that these records could shame them or adversely impact their future if unearthed?

At issue in this bill is what a reasonable person should expect when they walk into a doctor’s office. That person expects that what they say to her doctor stays with her doctor. Only because of that confidence are people able to be honest. And only through that honesty are people able to obtain the healthcare they need.

The right to medical records is an issue that, in rhetoric at least, has broad support on both sides of the partisan divide. In fact, it was President Bush himself who, as recently as 2001 during a statement on the Medical Privacy Rule said, “I believe that we must protect both vital health care services and the right of every American to have confidence that his or her personal medical records will remain private.”

Even Attorney General Ashcroft has made strong statements in support of the privacy of medical records. Back in 1998, in a press release put out by his Senate office in which he is referred to as a “consistent champion of privacy rights,” then-Senator Ashcroft says “We should guarantee that the federal government does not undermine an individual’s fundamental right to privacy . . . Without privacy protections in place, people may be discouraged from seeking help or taking advantage of the access to health care.”

I agree. But unlike Attorney General Ashcroft, I believe preserving patient privacy entails more than issuing a press release. Patient privacy doesn’t end when it conflicts with a political agenda, no matter how deeply felt that conviction.

Throughout this Administration we have seen Attorney General Ashcroft disregard civil liberties in the name of preventing terrorism. But through this action, we see him disregarding civil rights in the name of outlawing abortion. This is a very slippery slope that, if unlinked to privacy protections, just women seeking reproductive healthcare, but all Americans. Over the past few months, the Department of Justice has asserted that federal law does not recognize the doctor-patient privilege and those women will no longer have a reasonable expectation of medical privacy. These are alarming statements.

Thankfully, Attorney General Ashcroft is not being allowed to run roughshod over our right to privacy and medical confidentiality. On March 5, 2004, a San Francisco court ruled that the Department of Justice has no right to view the records in question in the Planned Parenthood Federation of America lawsuit against the abortion ban. The decision issued by Judge Phyllis Hamilton soundly affirmed women’s right to privacy. She said, “There is no question that the patient is entitled to privacy and protection . . . Women are entitled to not have the government looking at their records.”

Nevertheless, we cannot take a chance that once again, when it suits the political or ideological interests of the Administration, the federal government will intrude upon the most personal of information. That is why I stand before you today.

The Patient Privacy Protection Act of 2004 is very simple. It states that a patient’s medical records and any communication about their medical history are confidential unless a judge determines that the public interest in the records being made public significantly outweigh the patient’s privilege. In the cases where a judge orders the records to be disclosed, the court shall, to the extent practicable, eliminate any and all personally identifying information.

I am pleased to be introducing this simple, straightforward, common-sense piece of legislation. I do not believe there is a Member of either Chamber of Congress who in good faith could oppose this measure, and I look forward to working with my colleagues, Representative NADLER and others to see it enacted into law expediently.
By Mr. MCCAIN (for himself, Mr. FEINGOLD, Mr. LIEBERMAN, and Mr. SCHUMER):

S. 2828. A bill to amend the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971 to define political committees and clarify when organizations registered under section 527 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1968 must register as political committees, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Rules and Administration.

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I am pleased to be joined by my good friend and colleague from Wisconsin, Senator FEINGOLD, and our good friends who lead the campaign finance reform fight in the House, Representatives SHAYS and MZAHAN, in introducing a bill to end the illegal practice of 527 groups spending soft money on ads and other activities to influence Federal elections.

As my colleagues know, a number of 527 groups have been raising and spending substantial amounts of soft money in a blatant effort to influence the outcome of this year’s Presidential election. These activities are illegal under existing laws, and yet once again, the Federal Election Commission has failed to do its job and has refused to do anything to stop these illegal activities. Therefore, we must pursue all possible steps to overturn the FEC’s misinterpretation of the campaign finance laws, which is improperly allowing 527 groups whose purpose is to influence Federal elections to spend soft money on these efforts.

Last week, we filed a lawsuit to overturn the FEC’s failure to issue regulations to stop these illegal practices by 527 groups. President Bush and his campaign filed a similar lawsuit against the FEC last week as well, and I also appreciate President Bush’s support for the legislative effort we begin today on 527s. We are introducing legislation that will accomplish the same result. We are going to follow every possible avenue to stop 527s from effectively breaking the law, and doing what the FEC has already prohibited from doing by longstanding laws.

The bill we introduce today is simply. It would require that all 527s register as political committees and comply with Federal campaign finance laws, including Federal limits on the contributions they receive, unless the money they raise and spend is only in connection with non-Federal candidate elections, State or local ballot initiatives, or the nomination or confirmation of individuals to non-elected offices.

Additionally, this legislation would set new rules for Federal political committees that spend funds on voter mobilization activities: both Federal and local races and, therefore, use both a federal and a non-Federal account under FEC regulations. The new rules would prevent unlimited soft money from being channeled into Federal election activities by these Federal political committees.

Under the new rules, at least half of the funds spent on these voter mobilization activities by Federal political committees would have to be hard money from their Federal account. More importantly, the funds raised for their non-Federal account would have to come from individuals and would be limited to no more than $25,000 per year per donor. Corporations and labor unions could not contribute to these non-Federal accounts. To put it in simple terms, a George Soros could give $25,000 per year as opposed to $10 million to financially support these groups.

Let me be perfectly clear on one point here. Our proposal will not shut down 527s, it will simply require them to abide by the same Federal regulations every other Federal political committee must abide by in spending money to influence Federal elections.

It is unfortunate that we even need to be here introducing this bill today. This legislation would not be necessary if it weren’t for the abject failure of the FEC to enforce existing laws. As my colleagues well know, some organizations, registered under section 527 of the Internal Revenue Code, have had a major impact on this year’s Presidential election by raising and spending limited amounts of money attacking both President Bush and Senator KERRY. The use of soft money to finance these activities is clearly illegal under current statute, and the fact that they have been allowed to continue undermines our system.

The blame for this lack of enforcement does not lie with the Congress, nor with the Administration. The blame for this continuing illegal activity lies squarely with the FEC. This agency has a duty to issue regulations to properly implement and enforce the nation’s campaign laws—and the FEC has failed, and it has failed miserably to carry out that responsibility. The Supreme Court found that to be the case in its McConnell decision and Judge Bellail found that to be the case in her recent decision overturning 15 regulations incorrectly adopted by the FEC to implement the new BCRA law. That is why a Los Angeles Times editorial today stated that, ‘‘her decision would make a fitting obituary for an agency that deserves to die.’’

It should be clear by now why we have introduced legislation to abolish the FEC and replace it with a new enforcement agency that can conduct a major effort starting at the beginning of next year to enact our bill to get a new, true enforcement agency and to pass the 527 reform act we are introducing today. We are not going to allow the destructive FEC to continue to undermine the nation’s campaign finance laws as it has been consistently doing for the past two decades. In the mean time, given the unmitigated failure of this agency, I believe that its Chair, Bradley Smith and its Vice Chair, Eleanor Weintraub should resign and recognize that they have failed to carry out their responsibilities as public officials.

Opponents of campaign reform like to point out that the activities of these 527s serve as proof that the Bipartisan Campaign Finance Reform Act of 2002 (BCRA) has failed in its stated purpose to eliminate the corrupting influence of soft money in our campaigns.

Let me be perfectly clear on this. The 527 issue has nothing to do with BCRA, it has everything to do with the 194 law and the failure of the FEC to do its job and properly regulate the activities of these groups.

As further evidence of the FEC’s lack of capability, let me quote from a couple of recent court decisions which highlight this agency’s shortcomings. First, in its decision upholding the constitutionality of FECA’s limits on contributions. Additionally, just this past Saturday, a federal district court judge threw out 15 of the FEC’s regulations implementing BCRA. Among the reasons for her actions were that one provision ‘‘misinterpreted the statute,’’ and ‘‘invited widespread circumvention of FECA’s intent on contributions. The track record of the FEC is clear, and by their continued stonewalling, the Commission has proven itself to be nothing more than a bureaucratic nightmare, and the time has come to put an end to its destructive tactics. The FEC has had ample, and well documented, opportunities to address the issue of the 527s illegal activities, and each time they have taken a pass, choosing instead to delay, postpone, and refuse to act.

Enough is enough. It is time to stop wasting taxpayer’s dollars on an agency that runs roughshod over the will of the Congress, the Supreme Court, the American people, and the Constitution. We have fought too long and too hard to sit back and allow this worthless agency to undermine the law.

So, here is the bottom line: if the FEC won’t do its job, and its commissioners have proven time and time again that they won’t, then we’ll do it for them. The bill Senator FEINGOLD and I introduce today will put an end to the abusive, illegal practices of these 527s. And we will fight beginning next year to replace this rogue agency with a real enforcement agency.

I urge my colleagues to support swift passage of these bills and put an end to this problem once and for all.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

‘‘(B) FEDERAL ACCOUNT.—The term ‘Federal account’ means an account which consists...’

SEC. 5. CONSTRUCTION.

No action taken under this Act, or amendment made by this Act, shall be construed—

(1) as approving, ratifying, or endorsing a regulation promulgated by the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (52 U.S.C. 30101 et seq.);

(2) in establishing, modifying, or otherwise affecting the definition of political organization for purposes of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

SEC. 6. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This subsection provides that contributions to or expenditures by any organization that makes a disbursement for a public communication that promotes, supports, attacks, or opposes a clearly identified candidate for Federal office during the two-year election cycle of that candidate cannot qualify for exceptions (2)–(7) above.

Section 3. Certain Expenses by Major Purposes of Political Organizations. This section supplements the definition of "expenditure" for any organization whose "major purpose" is the nomination or election of one or more candidates to the other portion of the test for "political committee" status: whether a group with a "major purpose" to influence federal elections spends $1,000 in "expenditures" in a year.

Payments for the following activities by "major purpose" organizations, which under Section 2 include 527 organizations involved in Federal elections, will be considered expenditures:

(1) public communications that promote, support, attack, or oppose a clearly identified Federal candidate or a political party;

(2) voter registration activity, voter identification activity, get-out-the-vote efforts in the Presidential campaign;

(3) drives, events, public communications, and voter drive activities, which are defined in this section as voter registration, voter identification, get-out-the-vote, and generic campaign activities.

The section also provides that contributions to "qualified non-Federal accounts" under the non-Federal portion of expenses that are allocated under this section must come only from individuals and may not exceed $25,000 per donor per year. $25,000 per donor is the same amount that applies to contributions by individuals to national party committees. Individuals can contribute $5,000 per year to the Federal account of political committees.

Section 5. Construction. This section provides that the 527 Reform Act shall not be construed as approving, ratifying, or endorsing any regulation issued by the FEC. It therefore will have no effect on pending litigation concerning regulations issued by the FEC to implement the Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act of 2002. The Act also shall not be construed to establish, modify, or otherwise affect the definition of political organization for purposes of the Internal Revenue Code.

Section 6. Effective Date. The amendments made by the 527 Reform Act shall take effect... to close the loophole that threatens the health of our Federal elections by allowing unlimited amounts of soft money to dictate the terms of debate in defiance of the letter and spirit of the McCain-Feingold Bipartisan Campaign Finance Reform Act.

These 527 groups have been growing since the mid-1990s thanks to loopholes resulting in part from puzzling decisions by the Internal Revenue Service and the Federal Election Commission. The 527 groups would get tax-exempt status from the IRS by claiming they existed to influence elections. But then they would avoid election disclosure laws by filing under the Federal Election Commission they were trying to influence elections because they did not use the magic words like “vote for” or “vote against.”

The result was a tax exemption for groups influencing Federal campaigns, but a lack of disclosure so voters did not know who the groups were, who they gave their money to and where they got their money from.

Congress partially closed this loophole in June 2000, by passing the first significant campaign finance reform measure in a quarter century. This legislation was passed out of the Government Affairs Committee, of which I was chairman at the time, and signed into law later that year by President Clinton.

The new law required 527 groups to give notice of their intent to claim tax-exempt status; to disclose information about their donors and contributors and expenditures; and to file annual informational returns along the lines of those filed by virtually all other tax-exempt organizations.

But this only partially closed this loophole. Despite the McCain-Feingold campaign finance reforms, 527s can still raise unlimited amounts of cash from just a few wealthy individuals or groups whose interests and motivations are likely unknown to the American people. If the Federal Election Commission could have closed this loophole but has failed to act despite massive evidence that 527s are skirting Federal election law.

This is both an end-run around our campaign finance laws as well as a direct assault on our democracy. Elections should be determined by millions of individual voters who cast their ballots uninfluenced by the millions of dollars of advertising paid for by a few key individuals or groups with special interests.

Reform of the 527 loophole does not mean silencing these groups or taking away their right to put their message on the air. All this reform would require from 527s is to follow the same rules as other political advocacy groups when it comes to raising and spending money on federal elections. The money must come from individuals in amounts no larger than $5,000, with no contributions from corporations or unions allowed.

If the 527 groups’ support is as widespread as they claim, they will have no problem getting their message out.

We started the job in 2000. We knew it was not enough. Now it’s time to finish the job and get unlimited soft money out of the system.

The voices of millions of average Americans should not be reduced to a whisper because they can’t afford the price of the pulpit.

And the voices of a few should not shout like thunder because they have the money to command the air waves.

By Mr. ALLARD (for himself and Mrs. DOLE):

S. 2829. To establish a grant program administered under an agreement among the Secretaries of Housing and Urban Development, Health and Human Services, and Veterans Affairs, in consultation with the U.S. Interagency Council on Homelessness, to address the goal of ending chronic homelessness through coordinated provision of housing, health care, mental health and substance abuse treatment, and supportive and other services, including homeless-specific benefits and services, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.

Mr. ALLARD. Mr. President, I rise today to introduce the Samaritan Initiative Act of 2004, and I am pleased to have Senator Dole join me in this effort. The Samaritan Initiative would mark the beginning of a new, collaborative approach to the Federal effort to end chronic homelessness.

The Initiative would create a groundbreaking joint effort between the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Department of Health and Human Resources, and the Department of Veterans Affairs. Each department would contribute money to a joint fund and would coordinate in the effort to end chronic homelessness.

This coordinated approach will streamline the grant application process that will ensure consistent standards. It will also ensure that each department continues to provide its own particular expertise. I am hopeful that other Federal agencies will join in the effort as well.

Homeless individuals often have needs far beyond simple shelter; they may need assistance with healthcare, substance abuse, mental illness, job training, or other basics of life. Providing shelter without any supportive services may fall to address some of the underlying problems that can cause an individual to become, and remain, homeless.

By addressing the comprehensive needs of homeless individuals, the Samaritan Initiative will help reduce incidents of chronic homelessness. According to the Interagency Council on Homelessness, this 10 percent of the homeless population consumes more than 50 percent of the resources. The Samaritan Initiative will help provide the flexible resources necessary to move chronically homeless individuals into stable, permanent, supportive housing, which will in turn free up other resources.

For many years now I have been a strong advocate for the Government Performance and Results Act, which requires a focus on outcomes through clear, measurable goals. I am pleased to say that the Samaritan Initiative embodies this outcome-based focus and requires visible, measurable, quantifiable performance outcomes in reducing and ending homelessness. A focus on outcomes, rather than case management process, allows for new, innovative solutions to chronic homelessness. This will ensure that taxpayer dollars are spent in a responsible, effective manner.

I am proud to say that the Samaritan Initiative is supported by The U.S. Conference of Mayors, The National Association of Counties, The National League of Cities, The Enterprise Foundation, The National Alliance for the Mentally Ill, the National AIDS Housing Coalition, The National Alliance to End Homelessness, The Corporation for Supportive Housing, The Association for Service Disabled Veterans, The National Coalition for Homeless Veterans, and many other groups. I look forward to working with them, along with my colleagues in the Senate, to end chronic homelessness in America.

I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

SEC. 495F. AUTHORITY OF OTHER FEDERAL AGENCIES TO PARTICIPATE UNDER GOVERNMENTAL PLAN.

"Federal agencies other than the participating Federal agencies may participate in the grant program established under this subtitle to the extent that funds are appropriated for such purpose to each agency."

By Mr. SMITH (for himself, Mr. BINGAMAN, Mr. CONRAD, Mr. DASCHLE, Mr. HATCH, and Mr. THOMAS):

S. 2831. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 and the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 to clarify that federally recognized Indian tribal governments are to be regulated under the same government employer rules and procedures that apply to Federal, State, and local government employers with regard to the establishment and maintenance of employee benefit plans; to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. President, I rise today to speak about the need to clarify the legal status of employee benefit plans offered by Indian tribal governments.

In the past, the pension and welfare benefit plans of Indian tribal governments enjoyed the same status as granted to State and local government employees. However, in recent years, a legal cloud has developed over the status of these plans. Confusion has arisen regarding whether or not the existing definition of a governmental plan includes plans sponsored by Indian tribal governments. In part, this has been a result of the Internal Revenue Service’s lack of guidance to tribal governments on this issue; the inconsistent practice of granting governmental plan status to plans sponsored by Indian tribal governments; and finally a January “no ruling” position by the Internal Revenue Service that places many plans in the status of operating without a current determination letter recognizing the legality of their plan. As a result, many tribal governments have limited their offering of such welfare and retirement benefits to employees.

Today, I am introducing legislation—the Government Pensions Equalization Act—to remove this legal uncertainty by amending the definition of a governmental plan to explicitly include plans offered by Indian tribal governments. Indian tribes, like all employers, require legal certainty regarding the status of their employee benefit under the Internal Revenue Code and ERISA. Moreover, Indian tribes should be afforded the same sovereignty status given state and local governments.

Governmental plans are relieved from many of the requirements governing the operation of tax qualified pension plans. There are several reasons for this relief. Governments exist for the benefit of their citizens and are not subject to the profit and loss pressures affecting the private sector. Governments offer redress for grievances under their own judicial systems. Elected officials who are responsible for government benefit programs are directly accountable to their constituents via the ballot box. Governments often offer more generous benefit plans for key officers, such as judges, legislators, and key executive personnel as a means to gain the valuable services of these skilled individuals. They also offer special pensions to public safety officers who retire at a relatively young age and short period of service. This flexibility is impossible without the special relief provided governmental plans.

Indian tribal governments meet all the special protections, conditions, and needs I have described. This legislation clarifies once and for all that they should be afforded the same treatment as their state and local government counterparts. Passing this legislation is an important step in the fight to protect the sovereignty of Indian country and to foster the ability of tribal governments to provide retirement security to their employees and nation. I look forward to President Bush signing this legislation into law. I ask unanimous consent that the text of the legislation be printed in the Record.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the Record, as follows:

S. 2831

SUBMITTED RESOLUTIONS

SENATE RESOLUTION 432—EX-PRESSING THE SENSE OF THE SENATE THAT CONGRESS SHOULD REJECT SOCIAL SECURITY PRIVATIZATION PROPOSALS, INCLUDING THOSE THAT REQUIRE DEEP CUTS IN SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS, SUCH AS THE PROPOSALS OF PRESIDENT BUSH’S SOCIAL SECURITY COMMISSION

Mr. CORZINE (for himself, Mr. BACUS, Mr. DURBIN, and Mr. DASCHEL) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Finance:

S. Res. 432

Whereas Social Security is based on a promise to the American people: if you work hard and contribute to Social Security, you will be able to retire and live in dignity;

Whereas Social Security is the primary source of income for two-thirds of American seniors;

Whereas Social Security benefits for retired workers average only about $900 per month;

Whereas $900 per month is insufficient to maintain a decent standard of living in many parts of the United States, especially for seniors with relatively high health care costs;

Whereas in 2001, President George W. Bush created the President’s Commission to Strengthen Social Security (referred to in this resolution as the ‘‘Bush Social Security Commission’’), naming as Commission members only those who advocated Social Security privatization, and mandating that the proposals put forward by the Commission include privatization of Social Security;

Whereas the Bush Social Security Commission proposed Social Security privatization proposals that required deep cuts in Social Security benefits;

Whereas the Bush Social Security Commission’s proposed changes could reduce Social Security benefits to future retirees by as much as 46 percent;

Whereas under the Bush Social Security Commission’s proposal, the cuts in Social Security benefits would apply to all seniors, not just those seniors who choose to participate in privatized accounts;

Whereas the cuts in Social Security benefits could be even deeper if individuals do shift funds to privatized accounts;

Whereas Bush Administration advocates attempt to justify cuts in Social Security benefits by pointing to future projected shortfalls in the Social Security trust fund, but diversion of payroll tax revenues from the trust fund into privatized accounts would substantially accelerate the date by which the Social Security trust fund becomes insolvent;

Whereas in order to avoid accelerating the insolvency of the Social Security trust fund, the Bush Social Security Commission was forced to propose that the Federal Government incur as much as $4,700,000,000,000 in Federal debt (in today’s dollars) by 2041;

Whereas in response to the Bush Social Security Commission’s report, 50 members of the Senate signed a letter to President Bush, urging him to reject the Commission’s proposed cuts in Social Security benefits; Whereas the President has not complied with the request of the Senators and instead has reiterated his intention to move toward the privatization of Social Security; and

Whereas the President’s Social Security benefits proposed by the Bush Social Security Commission could jeopardize the financial security of millions of Americans: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Senate that Congress should reject Social Security privatization proposals, including those that require deep cuts in Social Security benefits, such as the proposals of President Bush’s Social Security Commission.

Mr. CORZINE, Mr. President, today, along with Senator DASCHEL, Senator BACUS and Senator DURBIN, I am submitting a resolution that calls on the Congress to reject Social Security privatization plans, including those that require deep cuts in guaranteed benefits, such as the proposals by President Bush’s Social Security Commission.

For nearly 70 years, Social Security has reflected the best of America’s values. Social Security promises Americans that if you work hard, pay your taxes, and play by the rules, you will be able to retire and live in dignity.

Social Security benefits are far from lavish. The average worker receives only about $900 a month. That doesn’t go far in many parts of the country—certainly not in New Jersey. Unfortunately, even the benefits promised under current law are now at risk.

President Bush wants to move toward privatization. But what he does not say is that shifting funds from the Social Security Trust Fund into privatized accounts almost inevitably leads to deep cuts in guaranteed benefits.

To appreciate the depth of the cuts that flow from privatization, one need only consider the privatization plans developed by President Bush’s own Social Security Commission. That commission included only proponents of privatization selected by President Bush, and it developed privatization plans that call for deep benefits cuts. According to the nonpartisan actuaries at the Social Security Administration, those cuts would exceed 25 percent for some current workers. In the future, seniors could face a 45 percent cut in benefits.

The President likes to argue that privatization is about choice. But there would be no choice about these cuts—they would be automatic. In fact, those who chose to participate in privatized accounts would see their benefits cut even deeper.

That is why, in response to the Bush Commission’s report, 50 members of the Senate wrote to President Bush, urging him to reject the Commission’s proposed cuts in benefits. Unfortunately, we have yet to receive a response.

Privatization advocates try to justify cuts in Social Security by pointing to future projected shortfalls in the Social Security trust fund. But diverting payroll taxes from the Trust Fund only makes matters worse, and would substantially accelerate the date by which the Fund would become insolvent. That is why privatization almost inevitably leads to deep cuts in benefits.

It is critical that this issue be fully discussed now—before the election. So I will be looking for an opportunity to bring this resolution before the Senate before the end of the year. I hope we can kill this radical idea before it has a chance to get off the ground.

We must never accept any plan that takes the security out of Social Security.
