

those parents who have a desire to provide a secure academic education for their children but in a faith oriented setting.

It is my belief that the tuition tax credit should be available to all, no matter what their race, color or national origin. And make no mistake: the public school system will and must continue to remain the backbone of our nation's education system. However, we must never forget that the public school system was created to serve students—not the other way around. If a student is performing poorly in a school for one reason or another, parents should have the opportunity to move their child to what may be a better setting. And the federal government should help—not stand in the way.

To truly make good on our promise that “No Child is Left Behind,” ensuring that Catholic Schools are included in this national promise brings us closer to achieving this important goal. A child is a child, regardless of which school system they are enrolled. The children enrolled in Catholic, private and rabbinical schools deserve nothing less than our full support.

I urge my colleagues to support the Education, Achievement and Opportunity Act.

TRIBUTE TO MR. EDWARD MALCOLM CHAPMAN

HON. CHRISTOPHER SHAYS

OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 2, 2005

Mr. SHAYS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to mourn the death and celebrate the life of Mr. Edward Malcolm Chapman.

Edward Malcolm Chapman was born in Greenwich, Connecticut to Malcolm and Jessie Chapman on December 14, 1942.

While growing up in Greenwich, Ed attended the Greenwich school system. He was a member of the high school choir, played in the band where he was the first student to go Allstate in their freshman year. He attended Bethel A.M.E. Church where he sang in the choir. He graduated from Westchester Business School and graduated with a degree in Business and attended music school in Stamford, Connecticut.

Eddie entered the work force at a young age. He held several positions in the work force from the technological end to the consultive; Bunker Ramo; Perkin Elmer; and Digital Equipment Corporation. He spent the last nine years of his career at Drake Beam Morin, “DBM” becoming a very present part of the lives of many displaced individuals, consulting and encouraging them to be ever faithful in their present journey.

In keeping a rhythm with all life's great gifts, Ed was able to hit the golf course before photographing his five grandchildren, in the middle of preparing egg rolls in the wok to the melodious sounds of Stan Getz, all while hearing, listening, and understanding the problems of others.

He openly received the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ into his life in 1997 while attending Full Harvest International Church under Bishop Clarence E. McClendon. He was baptized in the summer of 2002, and excitedly proclaimed the Word of God with every opportunity. It is Ed's fondest wish that we continue to convey the Gospel throughout the world.

He is survived by his wife, Pamela Chapman; his parents, Malcolm and Jessie Chapman; his children, Darlene, Kimberly, Darrin, and Jamal; his brother, Arnold; his sisters, Deborah and Diane; his five grandchildren, Olivia, Austin, Karl, Lauryn, and Xavier; and a host of family and friends.

Ed's giving and loving spirit lives on through all who survive him and his presence though never forgotten will often be missed.

CONGRATULATIONS TO JOHN KNAPP

HON. SANDER M. LEVIN

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 2, 2005

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to offer congratulations to John Knapp on his retirement from the city of Roseville.

Occasionally, we hear of people who are described as “fixtures of their communities.” John Knapp is a good example of what is meant by this term. For all the years that I have had the pleasure of serving in Congress, John Knapp has been serving the people of Roseville, Michigan. Since I began representing the city of Roseville a few years ago, John Knapp and the city of Roseville have always seemed to be a perfect match—they both epitomize the best in the definition of “community.”

John Knapp has held the position of City Manager in Roseville since April 11, 2000. He came to Roseville in 1984, where he held the position of City Controller for over 15 years. Thereafter, John served as Interim City Manager, in addition to his duties as City Controller, from December 31, 1999, until his formal appointment in April, 2000. John's life of public service began long before this in the Wayne County Treasurer's Office, where he served for over 22 years.

During John's years as City Manager of Roseville, he oversaw the completion of the building addition to the Roseville Police and Court Building. He was also instrumental in the development of Veteran's Memorial Park.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in applauding John Knapp for his years of effective service to the city of Roseville and for his tireless commitment to the well-being of its citizens. My best wishes to John with whom I have been privileged to develop a personal friendship, and to his wife of 40 years, Karen, for a healthy and happy retirement.

THE SHUTTLE WILL FLY

HON. TOM DELAY

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 2, 2005

Mr. DELAY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to honor the victims of the space shuttle Columbia disaster, and also to honor the survivors here on the ground, who have worked without interruption for two years to see that the legacy of those seven explorers lives on.

Against a striking blue sky that Saturday morning, the shuttle burst like a star, and our friends, our astronauts—who, as President Bush said, faced their dangers willingly because they knew they had a “high and noble purpose in life”—were gone.

That day our Nation mourned their loss and gave thanks that such men and women lived.

And that day, our space program, brought low by tragedy, began a new ascent in the hard, hard work of discovery.

Because no organization works with higher stakes, no organization has ever had to be as good as NASA at recovering from mistakes and adapting to new and more dangerous challenges.

That is why, as we remember the Columbia seven, those of us still inspired by America's mission in space joined our sorrow with hope when we heard the news that the shuttle could soon return to flight.

NASA's “Return to Flight Task Force” reported this week that the space shuttle Discovery could be cleared to fly again as early as this summer.

This news is not only great, Mr. Speaker, but noble.

The legacy of the Columbia seven was a legacy of exploration and discovery not despite the risks, but, in a way, because of the risks—because knowledge has no price.

Every astronaut who has ever suited up for NASA is driven by the same spirit that drew early man out of his cave and into the light.

We crossed an ocean, then a continent, and walked the surface of the moon, not in search of profit but knowledge.

America's mission in space is nothing less than the answering of ancient questions, on behalf of all the nations and all people who have ever stared into the night sky and wondered.

Intrepid, wise, and good, the Columbia seven—sons and daughters, brothers and sisters, parents and friends—left us that day two years ago, but their souls echo still in the brave and brilliant they left behind at NASA.

The shuttle will fly, Mr. Speaker, and the Columbia seven wouldn't have it any other way.

So today, we remember, we mourn, and we hope, confident as Americans always are, that those who died in a quest to conquer ignorance can never die in vain.
