

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

HONORING JIM LEHENY UPON HIS RETIREMENT FROM A DISTINGUISHED CAREER AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS

HON. RICHARD E. NEAL

OF MASSACHUSETTS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, May 2, 2005

Mr. NEAL of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Professor Jim Leheny on his retirement from the position of Associate Chancellor of the University of Massachusetts, Amherst. This is a position he held at the University for the past twenty two years.

Jim Leheny will certainly be missed. In addition to his many academic and administrative duties, Jim has served as the University's federal lobbyist for many years. After retiring from his current position, Jim will continue to consult part-time for the University and direct its English Department's Oxford Summer Seminar.

Jim earned his M.A. from Washington University in St. Louis and his Ph.D. at Washington University. Jim's interest was specifically in "Politics and the Arts."

The University of Massachusetts in Amherst, the flagship campus of the state's system of public higher education, has at the helm, Chancellor John Lombardi. Under his guidance, and to the benefit of many of my constituents, the University has prospered immensely. Jim Leheny has been part of that important success. I wish him health and happiness in his retirement.

CONFERENCE REPORT ON H. CON. RES. 95, CONCURRENT RESOLUTION ON THE BUDGET FOR FISCAL YEAR 2006

SPEECH OF

HON. JOE BACA

OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, April 28, 2005

Mr. BACA. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the budget before us today.

In a time when our schools are struggling to keep up with increasing Federal standards, this budget actually cuts funding to our schools.

It cuts funding for programs that promote equal education opportunities for low-income students, such as programs in my district in California.

It also eliminates funding for school violence and drug prevention programs.

It freezes bilingual education funding. Twenty-four percent of the students in my county of San Bernardino are English learners and depend on these programs. We should not hold back children by preventing them from learning English.

The budget will endanger the health of millions of Americans, by cutting funding to food stamps, the nation's number one investment in nutrition and defense against hunger.

Families will be forced to make hard choices between buying groceries and paying their bills.

It will also cut funding to Medicaid by $10 billion.

These cuts will be devastating to low-income families.

This budget also falls millions short of what is needed for Veterans' medical care. Veterans hospitals will either have to cut health care services or require local veterans to pay more for services.

Our men and women in uniform are dying in Iraq and Afghanistan to protect us, and we aren't providing the funding to protect them when they come home!

This budget also slashes funding to COPS program. The program has funded 15,801 additional police officers and 504 school resource officers in California.

It completely eliminates funding for the $301 million State Criminal Alien Assistance Program, leaving state and local governments to pay for the jailing of undocumented immigrants convicted of crimes. San Bernardino County received more than $1 million in these funds in 2003.

The President and Republicans in Congress talk about conservative compassion, but where's the compassion in this budget?

Instead of funding the programs that working families depend on, the President has offered tax cuts totaling over $100 billion over five years. Most of these cuts will benefit the richest one percent of all Americans.

This budget also spends every last penny in the Social Security trust fund, $2.6 trillion over the next 10 years.

The President entered his term with a budget surplus he inherited from President Clinton, and now he has created the largest deficit in our nation's history.

My colleagues, I urge you to vote "no" on this resolution.

RECOGNIZING SARAH GORODEZKY OF NAPA, CALIFORNIA

HON. MIKE THOMPSON

OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, May 2, 2005

Mr. THOMPSON of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Sarah Gorodezky of Napa, California as she retires from 22 years of distinguished public service.

Since 1983, Sarah has selflessly dedicated her life to improving the lives of others through her work at various Hospices and organizations throughout Northern California. She began her career as the Executive Director for the Northern California Hospice Association. From 1985 until 1991 she directed the Oakland Hospice Program at Kaiser Permanente. In 1991 she joined Alive Hospice as the Executive Director where she worked for the next six years.

Mr. Speaker, Sarah has served the past 8 years as Executive Director for the Hospice of Napa Valley, commonly referred to as HNV. Under her leadership, the HNV earned independent non-profit status and established the Adult Day Services of Napa Valley. She also helped spearhead the campaign to raise $7 million for a new HNV facility.

Mr. Speaker, Sarah, has played an active role on numerous boards and commissions throughout California including the California Hospice Foundation, the California Association of Adult Day Services, Napa County Coalition of Non-Profit Agencies, and the Napa County Commission on Aging. While working at the HNV, Sarah served on the Board of Directors and Council of State's Leaders for the National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization.

Throughout her career Sarah has been recognized for her compassion, devotion, and outstanding public service. The National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization awarded her with the 1995 Heart of the Hospice Award and the 2003 Founders Award. In 2000, she was the recipient of the California Hospice and Palliative Care Association's Pierce Salmon Award.

Sarah graduated from the University of California Berkeley with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Social Sciences and earned her Masters in Adult Continuing Education from the University of Michigan.

I am sure Sarah is looking forward to spending more time with her husband Michael, two daughters, and three grandchildren.

Mr. Speaker, Sarah Gorodezky's work has touched many lives throughout our community and it is appropriate that we take this time to thank Sarah for her 22 years of public service. I wish her the best as she begins her retirement.

HONORING THE LIFE OF
REVEREND ANGEL VILLARONGA

HON. ILEANA ROS-LEHTINEN

OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, May 2, 2005

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to honor the late Reverend Angel Villaronga.

A selfless leader in our South Florida community, Reverend Villaronga touched the lives of innumerable people through his service to the St. Robert Bellarmine, Centro Hispano Católico and Movimiento Familiar Cristiano.

Host of a daily radio program called Conflictos Humanos, Reverend Villaronga was one of the first religious leaders in the South Florida community to broadcast religious programming.

Those who were fortunate enough to know him will always remember his dedication to his work and passion for others.

Reverend Villaronga was a true and sincere symbol of generosity and compassion. I am certain that in his passing, he has left a legacy that will not be forgotten.

I urge my colleagues to join me as we remember and honor a man whose faith undoubtedly strengthened and empowered all who crossed his path.

May the memories of Reverend Villaronga serve to benefit others as his benevolence clearly did throughout his 80 years of life.

ENERGY POLICY ACT OF 2005

SPEECH OF

HON. SHEILA JACKSON-LEE

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, April 21, 2005

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 6) to ensure jobs for our future with secure, affordable, and reliable energy:

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I rise to explain the purpose of Section 924(c) of this bill, Standardization Report and Program, which originated as my amendment and was approved by the Committee on Science.

The purpose of the amendment is to transfer important knowledge related to energy conservation from the government to the private sector. The Department of Energy and other agencies involved in building research, development, and construction have acquired a wealth of knowledge on high performance buildings. These are buildings that are optimized over their life for energy conservation and other important values such as security and environmental quality. DOE and other agencies have worked with a government-chartered non-profit organization, the National Institute of Building Sciences (NIBS), to accumulate this knowledge on the Whole Building Design Guide website. In turn, these agencies require their contractors to use the information in the design, construction, operation, and up-grading of federal buildings.

The private sector construction industry can benefit greatly from this information but the companies involved are often too small to use the information in its current form. Therefore, in my amendment I have called on NIBS, under a DOE contract, to work with voluntary consensus standards organizations and other appropriate industry groups to examine voluntary consensus standards as a whole to see which ones need to be upgraded to take into account whole building values contained on the website on a building life cycle basis such as energy efficiency, environmental quality, sustainability, safety and security, and accessibility.

A goal is to look forward ten to twenty years and design buildings so that they can be retrofitted easily to remain state of the art structures. Another goal is to think through what standards are now in use and to work with the developers of those standards so that an easy-to-use set of procedures and standards can be put in place both for construction and for renovation. Once the study is complete, hopefully no longer than a year and a half from the date of enactment, the section directs the Secretary, in cooperation with NIBS as appropriate, to establish a program of technical assistance and grants to aid the affected standards development organizations and other appropriate industry groups in bringing to fruition the user friendly system this section envisions.

HONORING WANDA B. RYAN ON HER RETIREMENT

HON. ROBERT E. ANDREWS

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, May 2, 2005

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Wanda B. Ryan for her 41 years of outstanding service to the youth of Camden, New Jersey. She has shown tremendous dedication to our community, serving and living in Camden throughout her entire career.

Ms. Ryan has an amazing track record at the Washington School: she has not missed a day of school in her entire 41 year career! Since September of 1964, she has been there every day for her elementary school students, who have certainly benefited from Ms. Ryan's lessons, and have gone on to live more enlightened, fruitful lives. Her efforts have certainly benefited not only the students, but all those involved in the Washington School and its community.

Mr. Speaker, I celebrate the outstanding career of Wanda Ryan. She has certainly accomplished much throughout her time at the Washington School, and I applaud her steadfast commitment to her community and students. I wish her all the best in her retirement.

HONORING FATHER ART

HON. JANE HARMAN

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, May 2, 2005

Ms. HARMAN. Mr. Speaker, there are those who make their mark on the community with great fanfare, a need for recognition, or in service of a particular agenda. And there are those who serve the community quietly, with grace and humility—like Reverend Arthur R. Bartlett, a man whose life has been marked by love for his country and remarkable concern for others.

Most in the sea-side community of San Pedro, in the southern part of my Congressional district, know him as "Father Art," a testament to the Reverend's lifelong dedication to a community that is a gateway to the Pacific, home to generations of seafarers, and has twice been the hub of a world-wide war effort. As a young man, Father Art built ships, worked the docks, supplied countless Navy sailors and taught U.S. Army soldiers to fly B-17 bombers.

But Father Art is best known for the aid and support he has given to merchant seafarers of all nations, creeds and faiths. As Program Director for the Seamen's Center in San Pedro for the past 47 years, he has provided the stabilizing influences of church, home and community to many who passed through San Pedro Harbor. Through training programs, counseling and hospital visits, he has provided hope to those who had none or nowhere else to turn.

Father Art has also touched the lives of many who settled in San Pedro and fell victim to the ravages of alcoholism. He is the founder of Beacon House, the only recovery facility for male alcoholics in San Pedro and a true ray of hope for the entire community.

The respect and admiration that he earned from local residents and the concern that he demonstrated for San Pedro Harbor led Mayor Tom Bradley to appoint Father Art to the Los Angeles Board of Harbor Commissioners in 1981.

Mr. Speaker, it is with enormous pride and gratitude that I recognize The Reverend Arthur R. Bartlett's life achievements and commend him on receiving the Seamen's Church Institute's 2005 Guiding Angel Award.

S. 256, THE BANKRUPTCY ABUSE PREVENTION AND CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT OF 2005

HON. LUCILLE ROYBAL-ALLARD

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, May 2, 2005

Ms. ROYBAL-ALLARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to S. 256, the Bankruptcy Abuse Prevention and Consumer Protection Act of 2005. This bill would negatively affect millions of hard-working Americans, particularly veterans and victims of identity theft.

The Bankruptcy Abuse Prevention and Consumer Protection Act of 2005 is a bad bill because it favors credit card companies at the expense of hard-working Americans, veterans, and victims of identity theft. It creates a means test which would make it impossible for families to be protected even when they have suffered debt due to illness or unemployment, preventing them from being able to start over in life. While the bill makes it harder for these individuals to eliminate their debt, it unnecessarily strengthens the hands of creditors. For example, this bill does not guarantee that hard-working parents can make child support payments over credit card debt payments.

Another concern is that this bill would leave veterans and victims of identity theft vulnerable to credit card companies.

An example is our brave citizen soldiers of the National Guard and the Reserve who are serving our country in Iraq and Afghanistan. Having left their civilian jobs to serve and protect our great Nation for extended periods of time, many will return to face significant debt, because their military wages are less than their regular wages. Yet this bill does not spare them from the means test, leaving them vulnerable to credit card companies.

Furthermore, many brave men and women return from duty with injuries that alter their lives, often resulting in debt. Although there are some exemptions, this bill still leaves some of those disabled veterans subject to the means test, even when their debt resulted from a disability acquired from their service to our country.

I am disappointed that efforts made by my Democratic colleagues to better protect our veterans were rejected by the majority. The Republicans defeated an amendment that would have provided complimentary credit counseling to those veterans of our armed forces who found themselves with credit problems.

Finally Mr. Speaker, in its current form, this bill leaves our Nation's victims of identity theft
