

I would hope that with this reporting requirement, administrations of both political parties will be deterred from improper use of intelligence.

In addition to stemming the politicization of intelligence, the bill I introduce today also notes the importance of keeping the full intelligence community informed of declassifications. If the President chooses, for whatever reason, to declassify information, the intelligence agency that had been responsible for those secrets has to take steps to protect intelligence sources and methods.

Similarly, the National Archives are to be informed upon a Presidential declassification so the Nation's records can be appropriately maintained. As has been highlighted again today with the release of the Archives audit over the reclassification of intelligence, the Archives play an important role in providing declassified intelligence to the public. To do so, it must be informed when information enters the public domain.

It should be made clear that there are more traditional procedures by which individual intelligence agencies declassify information on a regular basis, when the release of that information is seen as no longer damaging the national security. This is done thousands of times a week throughout the intelligence community.

It is important that the public have access to as much information on its government's activities as possible. To that end, I look forward, through this legislation and otherwise, to working with my colleagues and the executive branch to ensure that declassification is done as extensively and as quickly as possible without risking our national security.

There being no objection, the text of the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 2660

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. NOTICE TO CONGRESS OF CERTAIN DECLASSIFICATIONS OF INTELLIGENCE INFORMATION.

(2) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of contents for that Act is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 507 the following new item:

“Sec. 508. Notice to Congress on certain declassifications of intelligence.”

(b) REPORTS TO CONGRESS ON CERTAIN OFFICIALS AUTHORIZED TO DECLASSIFY INFORMATION.—

(1) INITIAL REPORT.—Not later than 15 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the President shall submit to the congressional intelligence committees a report setting forth a current list of each official of the Executive Office of the President, other than the President, who is authorized to declassify information other than information originally classified by such official.

(2) UPDATES.—Not later than 15 days after adding or removing an official from the list required by paragraph (1), the President shall submit to the congressional intelligence committees an update of the list and a notice of the addition or removal of such official from the list.

(3) CONGRESSIONAL INTELLIGENCE COMMITTEES DEFINED.—In this subsection, the term “congressional intelligence committees” means—

(A) the Select Committee on Intelligence of the Senate; and

(B) the Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence of the House of Representatives.
