

human rights abuses taking place in Iran today and support the efforts of the Iranian people to enact peaceful, democratic reforms.

While we have been focusing on the nuclear weapon development by the Iranians and on their support for terrorism, we should not forget about the plight of the Iranian people and their difficulties under this regime. The bill creates a special envoy to focus on human rights abuses in Iraq and to work with groups who support human rights and democracy in Iran.

The bill provides financial supports to these groups supporting human rights and that are working toward democracy in Iran. Finally, it ensures that the United States broadcast into Iran emphasize U.S. support for the rights and well-being of the Iranian people. We need to focus on the nuclear weapons, and we also need to focus on the rights of the Iranian people being abused by this regime. It is also my hope that we will grant visas to this country to professors being kicked out of universities in Iran because they don't tow the line of the ruling clerics in that country. Currently, the universities are being purged in Iran of the dissident voices of these professors.

We stand with the Iranian people. We stand against this Iranian tyrannical regime. I hope we can move this legislation forward to show our support for the suffering people. I ask the people who go to the meetings where President Khatami is speaking to ask these questions:

Why did he support terrorism? Why did the human rights record get worse under his 8 years of leadership in Iran? Why do they persecute religious minorities and women? Why do they persecute those who have peaceful protests inside Iran? Why does Iran need to enrich uranium when they have plentiful oil and gas supplies? These are serious questions in serious times.

I hope that as we consider this Department of Defense bill, we will consider what the words of those who have vowed to destroy us are and that we take appropriate action against them.

I yield the floor.

lution on the budget for fiscal year 2007, as made applicable in the Senate by section 7035 of Public Law 109-234."

Mr. CONRAD. The amendment is on behalf of myself and Senators DORGAN, SALAZAR, and MENENDEZ.

Five years ago, our Nation was viciously attacked by al-Qaida. We all remember the horrific images from that fateful day. I remember so well arriving at the Capitol building for early morning meetings and, as we entered, security personnel ordered an evacuation. Those of us who were evacuated from this building went back to our offices and were again evacuated there, as there was a belief that there was a potential threat to the Capitol complex. Later on, we saw the results of the attack. We saw people jumping from the World Trade Center. We saw the attack on the Pentagon. We did not know, in the early hours, who was responsible, but we knew the world had changed.

I remember very well that night, as Members of Congress stood on the steps of the Capitol showing that we were shoulder to shoulder in defense of America. That night, there were no Republicans, there were no Democrats; there were just proud Americans on the steps of this Capitol, men and women elected to represent our individual States here in this Capitol. In the 20 years I have been in this Chamber, I never saw such unity, such a sense of purpose that we would not let these acts stand and that those who were responsible would be held to account.

We need to renew that spirit. We need Democrats and Republicans standing together to bring to justice those who were responsible for these horrific acts. In this photo is the man who planned, financed, and organized those operations, Osama bin Laden, the head of al-Qaida. It has now been over 1,800 days since those attacks, and this man is still on the loose. This man has still not been brought to justice. I believe it is one of our Nation's highest priorities that he and the other top leadership of al-Qaida be brought to justice. I include Mr. al-Zawahiri. I think we also know that Mullah Omar, the leader of the Taliban in Afghanistan, has not been apprehended and brought to justice either.

To me, this is centrally important to the war on terrorism. We have to get the terrorist leaders who designed the attack on our country. I say to my colleagues that I graduated from high school from an American military base in Tripoli, Libya, North Africa, Willis Air Force Base. I had relatives who were in the intelligence service of the United States who served in that part of the world as well. One thing I learned when I was in that part of the world is that if a fight started, you better get the leaders and you better get them quick; otherwise, it mushroomed and escalated. My experience was very minor. It was on the basketball court, where we would have shepherds periodically come and start throwing
