(a) IN GENERAL.—Congress finds that—

(1) the safety and integrity of the United States food supply is vital to the public health, to public confidence in the food supply, and to the success of the food sector of the Nation’s economy;
(2) illnesses and deaths of individuals and companion pets caused by contaminated food—

(A) have contributed to a loss of public confidence in food safety; and
(B) have caused significant economic losses to manufacturers and producers not responsible for contaminated food items;
(3) the task of preserving the safety of the food supply of the United States faces tremendous pressures with regard to—

(A) emerging pathogens and other contaminants and the ability to detect all forms of contamination; and
(B) the need to balance the volume of imported food, without adequate monitoring and inspection; and
(4) the United States is increasing the amount of food that it imports such that—

(A) the increased prevalence of non-compliant foods and (B) the need to balance the volume of imported food, without adequate monitoring and inspection; and

(1) it is vital for Congress to provide the Food and Drug Administration with additional resources, authorities, and direction with respect to ensuring the safety of the food supply of the United States;
(2) additional Food and Drug Administration inspectors are required if we are to improve Food and Drug Administration’s ability to safeguard the food supply of the United States; and
