

farm where he lived and worked as a young man. Over the years, from his time with the Farmers Union to his leadership in the State agriculture department, Lynn became the “go to” person in North Dakota for any farm-related concern. Whether it was helping one farmer cut through the bureaucratic red tape, or helping organize a massive farm rally, Lynn showed patience, persistence, and skill.

Farmers and Native Americans shared that special place in Lynn’s heart with one more thing—Marketplace for Entrepreneurs. Never was Lynn’s passion, creativity, and dedication more evident than with Marketplace.

Today, Marketplace is North Dakota’s signature initiative to develop the State’s economy—the largest and longest running business development effort in North Dakota. But in 1988, it had much humbler origins. North Dakota farmers were suffering through a searing drought. The auction barns were buzzing while the grain silos went silent. Nothing was in as short a supply in North Dakota as hope.

Lynn gave our farmers hope. Lynn was the force behind making Marketplace possible year after year, creating an opportunity for farmers and others from around the State to gather and think of new ways to update their operations to reach new markets—and ultimately stay in business and stay on the land. Lynn’s vision and determination were vital to the eventual recovery of many farmers and to making Marketplace the enormous success that it is today. That first Marketplace drew about 800 people. Today, thanks to Lynn, we draw more than 10,000 people. It is a tremendous success.

Hearing all this may lead you to ask how a man could devote so much of his life to service. The answer is that Lynn has faith. It is central to his life. He serves as an ordained Catholic deacon in the Bismarck parish. In March, he was appointed to the Rural Life Committee of the North Dakota Conference of Churches. And even in retirement, Lynn and his wife, Janice, are working long hours as volunteers.

In both his public life and his personal friendships, Lynn’s fellowship, devotion, and loyalty set examples for us all. Whenever I needed him, he was there. Whenever North Dakota needed him, he was there. He lives his life in service, making other people’s lives better.

WRITING CHALLENGE 2007

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. President, the Do the Write Thing Challenge, or DtWT, is a national program designed to give middle school students an opportunity to examine both the causes and the effects of youth violence. In this program, students work together through classroom discussion and writing to evaluate what preventative measures should be taken with an emphasis on personal responsibility. Since the program’s founding in 1994, more than 350,000 students have participated within 28 different jurisdictions, including Detroit.

In 2006, more than 40,000 students submitted their essays, poems, plays, or songs to be considered in the DtWT writing contest. These students wrote about how violence impacts their lives and what they could do to prevent its reoccurrence. Students are also asked to make a personal commitment to carry out their ideas in their daily lives.

Each year, a DtWT committee made up of business, community, and government leaders from each participating jurisdiction reviews the writing samples and selects two national finalists, one boy and one girl from their area. I am pleased to recognize this year’s national finalists from Detroit, Marcelle Walker and Brandi Baldwin-Gat, for their outstanding work and dedication to the prevention of youth violence.

Marcelle and Brandi have written very passionate literary pieces about how both gang violence and domestic violence have affected their lives and have influenced them to think practically about what could and should be done. They have conveyed a deep understanding of youth violence, and I am impressed by the maturity they have shown in their work and congratulate them on being selected as national finalists.

In July, Marcelle and Brandi will join the other DtWT national finalists in Washington, DC, for National Recognition Week. They will attend a recognition ceremony and have their work permanently placed in the Library of Congress. Also, they will have the opportunity to share their thoughts on youth violence with Members of Congress and other policymakers.

I know my colleagues join me in celebrating the work of all of the DtWT participants from around the country. I would also like to thank the DtWT organizers who make a commitment to facilitating open discussions about youth violence. Their work is an essential means to the development of local solutions to the youth violence problem in our nation.

With the tragedy of Virginia Tech fresh in our minds, I believe it is important we recognize the efforts of DtWT participants and organizers to help prevent such acts of violence. It is also important that we, as Members of Congress, support their efforts through our actions. I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting legislation that would help prevent youth violence by increasing police patrol on our streets, by increasing resources for school and community violence prevention programs, and by making it more difficult for children and criminals to acquire dangerous firearms.

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the New Jerusalem Full Gospel Baptist Church on its Founders Day. As the largest church in Genesee County, the NJFGBC has contributed over 43 years of committed service to the southeastern Michigan community.

In 1965, the New Jerusalem Full Gospel Baptist Church was founded as the Rose Hill Baptist Mission by a small group of Genesee County citizens at the home of Rev. L.W. Owens in Flint, MI. Seven days later, the mission was renamed New Jerusalem Missionary Baptist Church. The church grew steadily, and in 1968 a new and larger edifice was acquired to better accommodate the growing membership. While the congregation has undergone many changes and expansions throughout the years, it remained enthusiastically devoted to its activities and its service to the City of Flint. By the early 1990s membership had grown to more than 2,100, and the church was renamed the New Jerusalem Full Gospel Baptist Church.

In 1969, the Reverend Odis A. Floyd was unanimously elected pastor of the NJFGBC. As the grandson of the founder, Reverend Owens, Reverend Floyd has proven to be a charismatic leader of this passionate church community. In his many years of faithful service to the church, he has overseen numerous outreach programs, including Operation Blessing. This vital program is designed to provide food and clothing to those in need in the Flint community. Reverend Floyd also manages the New Jerusalem Intervention Ministry Team, which provides counseling and social work services to the less fortunate. Under Reverend Floyd’s capable leadership, the New Jerusalem Full Gospel Baptist Church has become a powerful force for change in the Flint community. With over 30 years of dedicated leadership, Reverend Floyd has shown steadfast resolve and determination in his role as pastor of the New Jerusalem Full Gospel Baptist Church.

During its 43 years of existence, the New Jerusalem Full Gospel Baptist Church has made many important contributions to its community and has a rich tradition of serving Flint area residents, which is evidenced by programs such as Operation Blessing and the Intervention Ministry Team. I know my colleagues join me in commending the work of The New Jerusalem Full Gospel Baptist Church and Reverend Floyd for their many years of excellent work in the Flint community.

HONORING SMALL BUSINESS ACCOMPLISHMENTS IN VERMONT

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I would like to share with my colleagues in the Senate the accomplishments of several Vermont entrepreneurs.

Each June, the Small Business Administration honors the best and brightest of each State’s small business community. The entrepreneurial spirit in Vermont breeds many successful small businesses, and today I would like to congratulate the 2007 Vermont Small Business Person of the Year, Jack Glaser, president and cofounder of MBF Bioscience in Williston. Jack is one of the Green Mountain State's wonderful success stories, a University of Vermont graduate who worked with his family, especially his father, Dr. Edmund M. Glaser, to create and grow a successful business in Vermont.

It gives me great pleasure to congratulate Jack and everyone at MBF Bioscience. I ask unanimous consent that a Burlington Free Press article about Jack and the other 2007 Small Business Champions of the Year in Vermont be printed in the RECORD to commemorate their achievements.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD.

WILLISTON DEVELOPER OF BIOSCIENCE
SOFTWARE WINS BUSINESS AWARD

Jack Glaser, president and co-founder of Williston-based MBF Bioscience, is the 2007 Vermont Small Business Person of the Year, the state's top Small Business Administration award.

Glaser, 45 of Williston, will be honored June 6.

Established in 1987, MBF Bioscience develops analytical software for biological research, including scientific software for performing brain mapping, neuron tracing and anatomical mapping. The company's software is used to research brain development and aging as well as Alzheimer's, Parkinson's, and Huntington's diseases.

The local business has grown from a home-based operation to a multinational company that employs 26 people. The company has satellite sales offices in Germany and Japan.

"It is very gratifying to be recognized for all of MBF's hard work and effort over the past 20 years. Our company is dedicated to helping researchers in their pursuit of understanding how the brain functions," Glaser said.

Joining Glaser at the Burlington waterfront ceremony will be eight winners of the Vermont Small Business Champion Awards: Carl, Michael and John Beauregard of Beauregard Equipment Inc.; Don Kelpinski, former director of the Vermont Small Business Development Center; Mark Blanchard of the Vermont Small Business Development Center; Mary Claire Carroll of Carroll Photos; Bruce Edwards of the Rutland Herald; and Janice Scruton of Cheap Kids II/Trendy Threads.

Beauregard Equipment is also the regional and state winner of the Jeffrey Butland Family-Owned Business Award.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

RECOGNIZING IPSWICH HIGH SCHOOL

• Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, today I wish to recognize the Ipswich High School class of 1957 as they celebrate their 50-year class reunion.

The class of 1957 will celebrate this milestone occasion on June 8 to 10, 2007, in Ipswich, SD. Approximately 42 classmates plus spouses and guests are expected to attend the main banquet on June 9. This event is an important time to reflect on the many wonderful memories that the classmates have shared with one another over the years and to look forward to many more happy memories that they will create in the future.

It gives me great pleasure to rise with the Ipswich High School class of 1957 and to congratulate them on the celebration of this milestone anniversary. •

BORDEN'S 150TH ANNIVERSARY

• Mr. BOND. Mr. President, tomorrow at the Smithsonian National Museum of American History, Elsie the Cow will be present to celebrate the 150th anniversary of Borden Cheese.

Borden Cheese started in 1857, when Gail Borden began selling his patented condensed milk that allowed milk to last much longer than the 3 days it would currently hold in its natural state. This condensed milk was used in large ration amounts by the Union Army during the Civil War. Gail Borden's modernization of dairy practices in the "Dairyman's Ten Commandments" created a model for modern health department regulations.

Elsie the Cow entered the picture for Borden almost 90 years ago. Not only has she represented the face of Borden, but she also toured the Nation to support purchasing U.S. war bonds during World War II. Her support sold $10 million in war bonds.

Today, Borden is a member of Missouri-based Dairy Farmers of America, a 22,000-member farm cooperative. I am pleased to honor Borden and Elsie on their important anniversary. •
