AIRPORT AND AIRWAY EXTENSION ACT OF 2008

Mrs. MURRAY. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of H.R. 5270, which was received from the House.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the bill by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (H.R. 5270) to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to extend the funding and expenditure authority of the Airport and Airway Trust Fund, and for other purposes.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill.

Mr. ROCKEFELLER. Madam President, I rise today to support a short-term extension of the Federal Aviation Administration's contract authority and its collection and expenditure authority through to June 30, 2008. Because of the urgent need to extend the current aviation taxes and related budget provisions, I am supporting this legislation.

But I am becoming convinced that Congress cannot pass S. 1300, the Aviation Investment and Modernization Act, authored by then-Senator Lott and myself. I believe that Congress should pass a long-term extension of the existing aviation taxes in order to give the FAA the funding stability it needs while Congress moves forward with a comprehensive review of how the agency is funded. I cannot support the current funding regime, as it will not provide the agency with the resources it needs to build the Next Generation Air Traffic Control System. In lieu of a long-term extension, I would have preferred an extension until the end of this fiscal year, September 30, 2008, as it would have given the FAA and our Nation's airports a greater degree of reassurance that they will receive the full $3.5 billion in airport funding that Congress approved last year.

The short-term extension before us today is not only crucial to the ongoing functioning of the FAA, it is necessary because without it the agency faces a potential crisis. Without adopting this legislation, the FAA would not be able to pay 4,000 employees after February 29, 2008. And that is an unacceptable action. The last thing the agency needs right now is to endure a potentially debilitating staffing crisis. To preserve these jobs this short-term extension must be passed today.

This country's aviation system is the safest in the world. However, in remaining vigilant to maintain this standard we must ensure the FAA has the resources to continue its efforts in modernizing our air traffic control system and in updating the more antiquated parts of our aviation infrastructure. The passing of this extension today will allow these vital investments to continue.

I look forward to working with my friend and distinguished colleague, Senator KAY BAILEY HUTCHISON, and members of the Senate's Finance and
