protect our security interests around the globe. They and their families deserve our deepest respect and gratitude. But we should not expect the military to shoulder the entire burden.

The State Department and our other civilian foreign affairs agencies have a critical role to play in protecting U.S. national security. Diplomacy, development, and defense are the three key pillars of our U.S. national security policy. By wisely investing resources to strengthen our diplomatic capabilities, both at home and abroad, we can therefore start and head off conditions that lead to failed states.

For years we have failed to provide the State Department with the resources it desperately needs to pursue its core missions. With the expansion of U.S. diplomatic responsibilities in the 1990s, and the more recent demands of Iraq and Afghanistan, the Foreign Service has been strained to the breaking point. Sixteen percent of all positions are unfilled. One in nine positions overseas is vacant.

As Secretary of Defense Robert Gates recently stated: “It has become clear that America’s civilian institutions of diplomacy and development have been chronically undermanned and underfunded for far too long.”

The legislation before us today, Mr.
Chairman, takes an important first step in correcting that situation. It supports President Obama’s request for funding 1,000 new staff, including at least 750 Foreign Service of-cers; 332 of these positions will be used to immediately expand our diplomatic presence in Afghanistan, Pakitan and other strategic areas. A further 213 positions will be dedicated to improving and expanding training in critical needs languages such as Arabic, Chinese, Hindi, and Urdu.

The bill also provides resources requested by the administration for sigificant improvements in public diplomacy offices, arms control experts, counterterrorism specialists.

And the bill has important provisions to promote more strategic thinking in the State Department and help the Foreign Service transition from traditional diplomatic framework to a more expansive one.

To help ensure the Department can continue to attract the best and brightest and retain these professionals over
H.R. 2410 cleans the pay gap that currently results in a 21 percent pay cut when junior Foreign Service officers leave Washington on assignment.

The bill also authorizes funds to pay our full dues and all recognized arrearages to the United Nations.

The legislation supports a significant expansion of the Peace Corps, an increase in international broadcasting activities, a vigorous public diplomacy effort, and a strengthened arms control and nonproliferation bureau at the State Department, which will soon be under the head of our dear colleague,
Mrs. Tauscher.

In addition, the bill creates a new foundation to significantly increase the number of American students studying abroad, enhances U.S. efforts to help Mexico and other Latin American countries reduce drug violence, and addresses a number of key human rights and democracy issues around the world.

H.R. 2410 also reforms our system of export controls for military techology, improves oversight of U.S. security assistance, and requires a report to Congress by the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Defense, and the Secretary of Health and Human Services to

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Chairman,
I would like to take our time in opposition to this bill.

And, Mr. Chairman, some Dear Colleague letters sent out by a few Members earlier this week. Mr. Chairman, in order to express their support for this bill, tended to focus on the few attractive features of the bill, such as the improvements that it would make on the Merida Initiative, our vital effort to assist Mexico and other Central American countries to fight the dangerous drug cartels.

Unfortunately, supporters of this bill have remained silent or ignored its funamental problems. And the fundamental problems on this bill are that the bill calls for exorbitant spending in the absence of true reform, and that the bill does not take the difficult but necessary step of setting priorities, either for foreign assistance spending or with important international issues that are facing our country.

By our best estimate, the bill before us represents an estimated 12 percent increase in planned expenditures above the levels of fiscal year 2009. It creates 20 new government entities, offices, foundations, programs and the like.
These new programs, and these new initiatives that are funded in this bill constitute expenditures that go beyond even this 12 percent increase to accounts previously funded in fiscal year 2009.

The bill also represents a 35 percent increase in State Department main salary and operating accounts. We have to ask ourselves, where is the money coming from to support the additional funding?

In the coming fiscal year alone, Mr.
Chairman, fiscal year 2010, we are expected to have to deal with a record bill, that’s billion with a B, in interest costs, just interest, not payment on the debt itself. By fiscal year 2014, our cost for interest on the debt will likely have risen to about $560 billion, again, that’s billion with a B. In that year alone, again, for interest payments alone, not for the debt payments that will have to be made.

Our deficit in the coming fiscal year, 2010, is now projected to total an esti-ated $1.3 trillion. Yet the funding levels proposed by this bill seem oddly detached from the reality that our families are facing today and that our Nation is facing.

Both in committee markup and at the Rules Committee, I offered amendments that would have capped increases for next year at 3.7 percent, a 2008 annual rate of inflation. This amendment would have saved taxpayer dollars, more than $1 billion, in authorized funds. That amendment, again, would have saved American tax-makers more than $2.8 billion, with a B, in authorized funds.

Unfortunately, this measured, calibrated approach was rejected twice in favor of the largesse in this spending bill.

In trying to justify the enormous spending increases in this bill, supporters paint a picture of a hollowed-out shell of a State Department suf-ferring from years of neglect. Yet, according to the Congressional Research Service and the State Department’s own data, funding for the State Department and related agencies doubled from fiscal year 2000 through 2008. This cost of a B, in that year alone, again, for interest payments alone, not for the
made.

Unfortunately, supporters of this bill
have remained silent or ignored its funamental problems. And the fundamental problems on this bill are that

Department employees are hard-working patriots, they are the ones who should be upset about absenteeism in others. The bill before us today does not address such questions, nor does it build on earlier inquiries such as the ones I have mentioned. Instead, supporters of the bill found an argument of unfilled State Department vacancies. And these arguments, too, Mr. Chairman, do not bare careful scrutiny. Most of the so-called “vacancies” are the result of shifting personnel to high-priority posts rather than cuts in funding.

Furthermore, the State Department always shows unfilled positions on their books because those numbers are the result of our overseas posts' self-identified needs rather than being a budget-driven number. It’s a way of saying that they would like more employees and more funding. What agency wouldn’t? I expect that all Americans would identify very significant unfunded needs in our own homes and our families and our budgets.

Moreover, at a time when we need to cut the deficit, in just one little-noticed instance, this bill bypasses an opportunity to transfer several hundred million in unfulfilled needs in our own homes and our families and our budgets. The result of our overseas posts' self-identified needs rather than being a budget-driven number. It’s a way of saying that they would like more employees and more funding. What agency wouldn’t? I expect that all Americans would identify very significant unfunded needs in our own homes and our families and our budgets.

The bill also fails to take any action to address endemic corruption at the United Nations. In fact, not only does the underlying bill and the manager’s amendment remain silent on the U.N.’s misuse of American taxpayer funds for activities not in line with American interests, but an amendment offered by the gentleman from Indiana—again, Mr. BURTON—which sought to prevent U.S. taxpayer dollars from paying for the legal fees of corrupt U.N. officials was rejected by the conference committee. I don’t see any evil, no attempt to protect taxpayer dollars from bankrolling and rewarding corruption at the U.N.

The underlying bill also helps foster the culture of corruption at the United Nations by failing to leverage U.S. contributions to the U.N. Development Program (UNDP) to promote the U.S. self-interests in the jurisdiction of the U.N. Ethics Office.

The UNDP, to which the U.S. contributes $100 million or more per year, continues to be the poster child for mismanagement, corruption, and waste. In the past two years, UNDP has spent $7 million to move money from Zimbabwe to Uganda to Burma to North Korea. In fact, the United Nations Development Program had to pull out of North Korea after reports emerged that development aid was being diverted to the North Korean dictatorship. Now, unbelievably, UNDP is returning to North Korea with essentially no meaningful protections to prevent U.S. taxpayer dollars from again benefiting Kim Jong II and his corrupt cronies. Our Treasury Department and the U.S. Government to collect the $7 million in U.S. taxpayer dollars mismanaged by UNDP in Afghanistan.

We might never know about UNDP’s corruption and mismanagement without the help of brave whistleblowers. Unfortunately, whistleblowers have few protections at the U.N., and the UNDP has reportedly retaliated against a number of them, including the one who exposed their operations in North Korea.

Mr. Chairman, this bill should do more in safeguarding our constituents’ hard-earned dollars. Nowhere are U.N. failures which undermine U.S. interests clearer than with respect to the United Nations Relief and Works Agency, UNRWA. UNRWA has a strictly humanitarian mandate to provide aid to Palestinian refugees, but it continues to compromise its mandate and our U.S. taxpayer dollars. It does so by emitting propaganda against Israel in and around its offices and by engaging in business with banks targeted by our government for terror financing and money laundering, and by refusing to vet its employees and aid recipients for ties to Palestinian militant groups like Hamas.

UNRWA’s Commissioner-General says she doesn’t even consider Hamas to be a foreign terrorist organization. And her predecessor admitted that members of Hamas were on UNRWA’s payroll, saying, I don’t see that as a crime. No one can guarantee that over hundreds of millions of dollars sent to UNRWA will not end up in the hands of Hamas. Yet, this bill ensures a see no evil, hear no evil, speak no evil approach, refusing to demand accountability and transparency for our investments.

Supporters of this bill will claim that it strengthens nonproliferation activities at the Department of State. However, the pertinent section of the bill contains contradictory statements regarding the Department’s nonproliferation and arms control infrastructure, for possible dissolution, the bureau at State that was instrumental in the dismantlement of Libya’s nuclear, chemical, and biological weapons program. This is also the one bureau that has consistently pressed for greater disclosure by the North Koreans on the totality of its nuclear activities.

And on the issue of North Korea, Mr. Chairman, this bill and our Congress have remained largely silent on this, one of the most grave foreign policy crises currently confronting our Nation. North Korea’s leadership is preparing to test yet another long-range missile which could reach Alaska, Hawaii, and the west coast possibly as early as next week. Yet, an amendment I offered in Rules to address the escalating crisis in North Korea’s nuclear brinkmanship was rejected.

This amendment would have re-listed North Korea as a state sponsor of terrorism and nuclear and missile tests, but never fully enforced. It contains consequences as called for by the administration’s North Korean Special Envoy after Pyongyang’s April 5 missile test. This amendment raised great concern about Pyongyang’s defiant, continuing proliferation of weapons of mass destruction to Iran, to Syria, and other rogue regimes. It also pointed to the North Korean regime’s horrific record on human rights abuses. Pyongyang made a provocative and reprehensible decision just a few days ago in a secretive kangaroo court to sentence U.S. citizen journalists Laura Ling and Euna Lee to 12 years of hard labor in the North Korean gulag. This amendment demanded the immediate and unconditional release of our two U.S. citizens before the lifting of any U.S. sanctions or granting of diplomatic recognition.

Much of the language of my amendment had been accepted by the chairman last year and incorporated into the Security Assistance and Arms Export Control Reform Act of 2008. The Foreign Affairs Committee unanimously adopted the agreed-upon North Korea language during a markup held last May. Yet the amendment I offered to address this threat to U.S. national security interests and to our allies in the region was rejected yesterday by the Rules Committee.

In conclusion, Mr. Chairman, at a time when our country faces a range of threats in our own hemisphere, this bill does not set out a comprehensive approach to those threats. The bill also displays a willingness to put our national security interests in the hands of the vaguely defined “international community.”

Mr. Chairman, because of the fundamental weaknesses and the core problems with this bill that have not been addressed, I will not be able to support this bill. I urge my colleagues to also oppose H.R. 2410 and vote “no” on final passage.

With that, Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I am very pleased to yield to the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. BURTON), the ranking member on the Sub-committee on the Middle East and South Asia, Mr. ACKERMAN.

(Mr. ACKERMAN asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ACKERMAN. I rise in strong support of H.R. 2410, the Foreign Relations Authorization Act. And I want to commend our chairman, the gentleman from Indiana, for his commitment to this legislation, which I believe is a reflection of the gentleman’s enormous dedication to this institution and its role under the Constitution.

For many years, the Foreign Relations Authorization Act has been held hostage to debates about abortion and family planning, to the inability of the other body to get 60 of their Members to agree to anything, and to a general feeling that it just wasn’t essential to do. There has been an insidious decay of the effectiveness of our diplomatic capabilities and our capacity to influence events around the world.

Some might ask, what does this have to do with my constituents? Isn’t that why we have a strong military to protect us? Isn’t that their role? The simple answer is that our diplomats and our development professionals are not a luxury, nor a fancy affectation of power. These are the aristocrats sipping tea while wearing striped pants and ascots. These are people who are on the front line of our defense. Not the Army, not the Navy, not the Air Force, the Marines, or the Coast Guard; it is those who will have the lives of the people for whom they are responsible. It will allow the Armed Forces to avoid conflict. It will shorten conflicts by allowing our military to focus on security, not negotiations, not governance.

In this respect, the title of the bill may mislead some. The bill is not about foreign relations; it’s really about our national security. Our national security. It’s about the safety of this Nation and our ability to protect and advance our interests around the world. Military power is essential. The United States would not be the country that it is if we did not have such an extraordinary military. But our Armed Forces exist chiefly to deter and defend. Whenever years may have suggested, we are not a Nation that believes in starting wars to solve problems nor in the use of force to resolve political conflicts. A strong State Department and revitalized U.S. Agency for International Development are not favors that we do for others. These are institutions that are essential to our national security and our national interests. The bill is, in fact, merely a downpayment on a process of rebuilding that should have begun years ago.

So if you want to bring our troops home from Iraq, then you know that Iraqis have to improve their own internal cooperation and performance in their government. Who is supposed to help them with that? If you want to help Afghanistan, you get our troops home from there, then you know that that problem is about poppy farming and police corruption that have to be addressed. Who is supposed to help them with that development? If you want to prevent Iran’s nuclear program from setting off a chain reaction of proliferation, then you know that we’re going to need a broad international coalition to stop them. Who’s supposed to put it together and keep it together?

We can no afford a second-rate diplomatic corps any more than we can tolerate troops who are untrained, ships that are rusting or aircraft that are unmaintained. Our national security is a whole. We can’t succeed with our military and fail with our diplomacy and development, and then hope to be safe. It doesn’t work.

That’s what this bill is about: keeping our nation safe. And it deserves the support of every Member.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Chairman, I am very pleased to yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. BURTON), the ranking member on the Subcommittee on the Middle East and South Asia, who had very good amendments to offer yesterday.

Mr. BURTON of Indiana. I want to thank the ranking member on her opening statement.

My goodness, I think you covered just about everything and you did it very well. And I want to compliment your staff for working so hard on that statement.

I am perplexed on this bill because there is some language in there that I like. For instance, the commitment to Israel, giving them support for their missile defense system, I think that’s a positive. But there are so many negatives in this bill that it’s going to make it very difficult for those who would like to support it to not be able to. Let me just give you a couple of examples, and the ranking member just mentioned that.

North Korea should be called a terrorist state. They’re launching missiles and threatening the security of the entire region as well as giving nuclear technology to other countries. In addition to that, there’s money in here, our tax dollars, that are going to defend Mr. Sevan, who is hiding out in Cyprus right now because he’s been indicted and the U.N., using our tax dollars, is going to pay for his defense, which I think is absolutely ridiculous. I just don’t get that. Maybe a pay raise of some size should be realized, but 23 percent when this country is really suffering economically makes no sense.

It also creates an office for Global Women’s Issues. And it’s highly likely that this office will include, in its mission, the advancement of abortion advocacy abroad. And I don’t think this body ought to be doing that, especially those who believe so strongly in the right-to-life problems that we have supported in the past.

The CHAIR. The time of the gentleman has expired.
Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. I yield an additional 30 seconds to the gentleman.

Mr. BURTON of Indiana. I thank the gentlewoman for yielding.

And then, of course, it has a sexual orientation amount of language in it which would require the tracking of discrimination related to sexual orientation for actual or perceived sexual orientation and gender identity violations. And then, finally, it increases the U.N. spending by so much and the contributions we would have to give by 32 percent over the 2009 levels.

This is not a good part of the bill. We would like to support the bill, but unfortunately, there is too much junk in it. Mr. Chairman. I wish we didn't have to say “no” to this.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I am very pleased to yield 1 minute to one of the new members of the committee who has been of tremendous assistance on a variety of issues, the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. CONNOLLY).

Mr. BLUNT. Mr. Chairman, I thank the illustrious chairman of our committee, who has done so much hard work in moving forward U.S. foreign policy.

Mr. Chairman, I, of course, rise in support of the Foreign Relations Authorization Act.

President Obama has redefined the playbook and raised expectations for America’s engagement in the global stage. As we all know too well, the U.S. is involved in two theaters of war in Iraq and Afghanistan. Defeating extremist militants will require the proper diplomatic resources, and as Secretary Gates has stated in both the Bush and Obama administrations, we cannot win these wars by sheer force alone.

To this end, the bill authorizes funding for 1,500 new Foreign Service officers. It strengthens the Peace Corps by authorizing $450 million in fiscal year 2011. It requires that the President conduct an authorization of defense strategy and requires a combination of several important efforts, and as my colleague the great gentleman from Virginia, GERALD C. CONNOLLY, Secretary of Defense Gates himself has said, “Long-term security challenges require our government to operate with unity, agility, and creativity, and will require devoting considerably more resources to nonmilitary instruments of national power.”

Mr. Chairman, the United States must be more serious about its diplomatic commitments, responsibilities, and presence overseas to ensure a more secure future for our citizens. I hope that all of my colleagues will join with us today in supporting this important legislation and send an important message that will be heard loud and clear around the world.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Chairman, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I am now pleased to yield 1 minute to a good friend from California who has been on the committee and has returned, the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. WOOLSEY).

Ms. WOOLSEY. Mr. Chairman, as a member of the committee, I thank our chairman for all he has done to make sure that this is a Foreign Relations Authorization Act that we can be truly proud of.

I’m pleased that this bill moves our foreign policy away from intimidation and preemption to a policy based on diplomacy and smart security. This bill invests in our dedicated Foreign Service officers, increases funding for international student exchanges, doubles the number of Peace Corps volunteers.

We must send a clear message to the world community that we are recommitting ourselves as a Nation to diplomacy, and H.R. 2410 actually absolutely helps. With it, military might will no longer be our sole representative overseas.

So I urge my colleagues to support smart security, which is supporting education, infrastructure, diplomacy, agriculture, and we can do that by voting in favor of this legislation.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Chairman, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I am very pleased to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. MILLER), the chairman of the Science and Technology Subcommittee on Investigations and Oversight and a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee.

Mr. MILLER. North Carolina. Mr. Chairman, I also rise in support of this legislation, which takes major steps to rebuild the capacity of our civilian foreign affairs agencies. It will strengthen diplomacy and development, two neglected pillars of our national security. Most important, this bill strengthens our capacity to prevent genocide and meet the needs of peacekeeping missions in the Democratic Republic of Congo and elsewhere in the world. This bill will provide funds to refurbish helicopters needed for peacekeeping missions.

More than 5 million people have died in the conflict in the Democratic Republic of Congo, the deadliest conflict since the Second World War, and violence continues in Darfur and Chad. The people of Darfur are still waiting, as are those of the Democratic Republic of Congo and Chad, where shortages of helicopters are crippling the work of U.N. peacekeepers. If we are to regain our moral authority in the world, we must continue to lead against genocide and champion the protection of innocent civilians. This bill will help.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Chairman, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I am very pleased to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. JACKSON), a member of the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of H.R. 2410. I want to thank Chairman BERMAN for including H.R. 2828, a bill that Congressman BLUNT and I cosponsored in the last Congress that passed the House 409–12, in the manager’s amendment. H.R. 2828 compensates relatives of U.S. citizens killed in the 1998 embassy bombings in Kenya and Tanzania.

On August 7, 1998, al Qaeda truck bombs exploded simultaneously at the embassies in Dar es Salaam, Tanzania, and Nairobi, Kenya. The embassy bombing in Nairobi killed 12 Americans serving the American people. They were: Sergeant Nathan Aliganga; Consul General Julian Bartley and his son, Jay Bartley; Jean Rose Dalizu; Molly Huckaby Hardy; Staff Sergeant Kenneth Hobson II; Prabhi Kavaler; Arlene Kirk; Dr. Louise Martin; Michelle O’Connor; Master Sergeant Sherry Lynn Oids; and Tom Shah. H.R. 2828, therefore H.R. 2410, remembers their sacrifice and provides respite for the loved ones they left behind.

Mr. Chairman, this provision is the very least that a grateful nation can do. I urge an “aye” vote on H.R. 2410, and I want to thank Chairman BERMAN, Ranking Member ROS-LEHTINEN, and Mr. BLUNT for their support.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chair, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to my colleague from California (Mr. SCHIFF), a former member of the Foreign Affairs Committee and a member of the Appropriations Committee.
Mr. SCHIFF. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to commend the Foreign Affairs Committee staff for all the hard work on the Foreign Relations Authorization Act and thank Chairman BERNMAN for his support and his staff for working with me to include the Daniel Pearl Act as a part of this legislation. By incorporating the Daniel Pearl Freedom of the Press Act, the committee brings much-needed attention to a critical human rights issue.

This legislation calls upon the Secretary of State to greatly expand its examination of the status of freedom in the press worldwide in the State Department’s Annual Country Reports on Human Rights Practices. The Daniel Pearl Act requires the State Department to identify countries in which there were violations of freedom of the press and whether the government of those countries participate in, facilitate, or condone the violations. This report will spotlight those governments which seek to silence media opposition.

The Daniel Pearl Freedom of the Press Act also establishes a grant program aimed at broadening and strengthening media independence internationally. Grant recipients will provide regionally and culturally relevant training to journalists and media organizations to help them meet international standards. Again, I thank the chairman for his leadership on human rights issues and his support of the Daniel Pearl Freedom of the Press Act.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. FORTENBERRY).

Mr. FORTENBERRY. Mr. Chairman, I believe that it is critical for us to provide a clear vision for U.S. foreign policy to represent the best of the United States of America. I want to thank Chairman BERNMAN and Ranking Member ROS-LEHTINEN for their efforts to bring this important measure to the floor today.

Mr. Chairman, a Muslim cleric once whispered to me. Do not forget the goodness of America. America is justice.

While much has changed in the world in recent years, the core ideals that made the United States a generous, principled and prosperous Nation—the commitment to justice for all—remain unchanged. We are now entwined in a more interdependent world, which entails the potential for great good or for great harm. We can innovate to build sustainable capacities to help all persons achieve their full potential, or we can find ourselves in a race against time in seeking to prevent advanced technological capacities, such as nuclear weapons development, from serving tyrannical purposes that aim to destroy and to subjugate free people to coercive ideologies.

While not always popular, I believe that it is essential to engage other nations in the promotion of freedom around the world by maintaining a robust and effective diplomatic and assistance framework. This is why I do support some of the more aggressive proposals contained in this measure, such as the augmentation of Foreign Service officers at the Department of State and at the United States Agency for International Development.

We simply cannot respond to monumental changes in the world with an overextended workforce and with diminished capacities to accomplish complex and difficult assignments. However, it does concern me that many people throughout the world hold a dualistic view toward our country. Given the nature of the system of government we have been fortunate to inherit, they look to us in hope, and they see the United States as a force for great good. However, on the other hand, they are wary of the imposition of controversial Western-style notions upon them.

For instance, pursuant to Secretary Clinton’s recent testimony before the House Foreign Affairs Committee, we are now faced with a policy that equates abortion advocacy with health care advocacy, a policy that is very divisive in our own country and is one that many nations around the world ridicule. It is not consistent with internationally accepted notions of human rights. Such a policy will undermine the very relationships we are seeking to strengthen through this measure.

While I see great value in strengthening our foreign relations overall, I remain deeply concerned that the bill before us today provides a framework for injectingarring and disorderly notes from divisive and unresolved domestic disputes here in our country into U.S. foreign policy. We should be using this process to find our common ground, to develop the tools that actually bind the human family, that lift weary human hearts around the world, that provide justice for all, especially for vulnerable persons, including the elderly, the mother and her unborn child, the father seeking to provide protection for his family, and the tribe and culture seeking recognition, dignity and freedom from tyranny and twisted ideologies.

In good conscience I cannot support this legislation as it stands because it risks subordinating U.S. foreign policy to highly-charged domestic social controversies and imposing controversial Western social paradigms on cultures that should have the freedom to preserve their most cherished traditions for the well being of men and women, families and children.

The approach before us risks politicizing our foreign service at a time when a strong, united, bipartisan approach to the myriad security and diplomatic challenges we face is vital. Our foreign policy should reflect our shared values as a nation, and I stand ready to work with my colleagues on that which unites us. With that said, I regret that I must urge my colleagues to vote no on this measure.

Mr. BERNMAN. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 1½ minutes to the very active and distinguished member of the committee, the gentleman from Texas, Ms. SHEILA JACKSON-LEE.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Thank you very much to both the chairman and the ranking member of the full committee, Chairman BERNMAN and Ranking Member INGLIS.

Mr. Chairman, it is too short a time to talk about the catastrophic positive effect that this will have on the American people—on their security and on their position in the world. We have already seen in the Northwest Province of Tanzania, the importance of minding our own business but, frankly, that also understands the importance of being a good friend.

I rise to support H.R. 2410 because this legislation authorizes the hiring of 1,500 additional Foreign Service officers over the next 2 years. If you have visited these embassies, as I have, you know that they are the positive face of America. They work hard. They engage in negotiations. More importantly, they solve problems. We also put forward the necessary resources for the U.N. peacekeeping missions in Darfur, in the Republic of Congo and in Chad.

Because of the section 1127 Sense of Congress, I am delighted that my legislation on ensuring that we continue to push for the comprehensive peace agreement is in this legislation.

Then I am extremely delighted and pleased that section 104 has placed my strong measure bill into this legislation, which dictates that it is the purpose of this section to increase global stability and security for the United States and for the international community and to decrease trafficking and discrimination by reducing the number of individuals who are de jure or de facto stateless. This will help women and children, those who have been dispossessed and those who have been victims of human tracking. Some of those cases have found themselves into my own community in Texas.

So let me again, Mr. Chairman, say that I rise to support H.R. 2410.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. INGLIS), a member of our Foreign Affairs Committee.

Mr. INGLIS. I thank the gentlewoman from yielding.

Mr. Chairman, there was an exchange in the Foreign Affairs Committee that was very instructive when it came to abortion and to this bill. Our colleague Chris Smith, the tireless advocate for the unborn, was asking questions of Secretary Clinton. Secretary Clinton said these words to our friend Chris Smith:

So we have a very fundamental disagreement, she said, and it is my strongly held view that you, Chris Smith, are entitled to advocate, and every member of this committee, and every member of the House of Representatives is entitled to advocate, to everyone who agrees with you should be free to do so anywhere in the world, and so are we.

So who is the "we"? If that "we" means the Federal Government, the United States of America through its State Department, in the Secretary of State's speaking "we," then there is a real concern about whether this would then become the policy of the United States to advocate abortion overseas.

So our friend Chris Smith proposed an amendment that was rejected by the Rules Committee that would have clarified this issue by saying that the U.S. will not lobby countries to legalize, fund or promote abortion except in the cases of forcible rape, incest or to save the life of the mother.

That language was rejected by the Rules Committee, which means, in the "we" that Secretary Clinton was talking about, it may be that the United States Department of State is going to be doing exactly what she was talking about: advocating the opposite position of what Chris Smith was talking about.

Then the majority has inserted some language that is completely meaningless in this bill that was made in order at the Rules Committee. I hesitate to read it because it really is rather convoluted; but it says that the bill does not affect existing statutory prohibitions on the use of funds to engage in any activity or effort to alter the laws or policies in effect in any foreign country concerning the circumstances under which abortion is permitted, regulated or prohibited.

Well, that sounds sort of interesting, but the problem is it's a complete sham because Secretary Clinton has already said it doesn't exist. Therefore, there is no prohibition, so the language is meaningless. We don't have the protection that our friend Chris Smith was urging prohibition, so the problem is it's a complete sham. Therefore, there is no prohibition.

Mr. Berman. Mr. Chairman, I am very pleased to yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. Carnahan).

Mr. Carnahan. Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to this bill. Some are hopeful that this will be a less militaristic approach to our foreign policy. Quite frankly, I don't see any changes. I wish it were something that would represent a humble foreign policy, but when you put an extra $100 million into the military operations of the United Nations, I hardly think this is a change in direction.

Actually, it's $18 billion that is going into more meddling, and we don't have $18 billion.

The President has now asked us here in the Congress to follow the PAYGO rules. Well, that might be a good idea if we had set aside the idea of what we would raise taxes, but we're not going to cut any domestic spending for this foreign spending, so the odds of this following the PAYGO rule are essentially nil.

I want to call attention to one provision in this that is rather disturbing to me, and that is the Civilian Stabilization Initiative. This is new. It was not invented by this administration. It was invented by the last administration. This is to set up a permanent standing, nation-building office with an employ- ment of or with the use of nearly 5,000 in five years.

So what is the goal of this new initiative going to be? It will facilitate democratic and political transitions in various countries.

Now, if you want to talk about interfering in the internal affairs of other nations, that is exactly what this is all about. Facilitating democratic and political transitions? Well, of course. We've been doing that for a long time, but we've gotten out of that trouble doing it. We did it in 1953, and we're still suffering the consequences. This initiative is a little more honest. It's up front. We're actually supporting and funding a facility that would be involved in political transitions. The mandate in this is to "reconstruct" societies. That sounds wonderful. There are a lot of societies that need reconstruction, but so many of the societies that we have to reconstruct we helped destroy or to disrupt. Think of what our troops and our money have done in Afghanistan as well as in Iraq. I think this provision, itself, is enough reason to vote against this authorization.

Mr. Berman. Mr. Chairman, I am very pleased to yield 2 minutes to the very distinguished chairman of the Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on the Western Hemisphere, my friend, the gentleman from New York (Mr. Engel).

Mr. Engel. Well, I thank the chairman, and I especially want to thank him for his great leadership as chairman of our Foreign Affairs Committee.

Mr. Chairman, I certainly support this legislation. This legislation reinvigorates the Foreign Affairs Committee, and it provides a needed shot in the arm to American diplomacy. For too long, we have not given our diplomats the resources they require, and this bill provides a much-needed boost to those serving on the front lines around the world for our country.

Specifically, H.R. 2410 authorizes 1,500 additional Foreign Service officers, and it doubles the size of the Peace Corps.

As chair of the Subcommittee on the Western Hemisphere, I would also like to thank Chairman Berman for including several sections I developed to promote good relations with our partners in the Americas.

First, the bill incorporates the countries of the Caribbean into the Merida Initiative, a U.S.-Mexico-Central America security partnership.
Finally, the bill creates an interagency task force on the prevention of small-arms trafficking in the Western Hemisphere.

While recent media attention has focused on the high number of guns—90 percent from crime scenes in Mexico that are originally from the United States, this is not just a Mexico issue. Jamaican Prime Minister Golding told me that 90 percent of the guns recovered in Jamaica also originate in the U.S., so I'm glad we're doing something about that in this bill.

So again, Mr. Chairman, thank you again for your excellent work on this bill and for including these important sections that I urged, and I look forward to voting on this bill.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Chairman, we seek to reserve at this time.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I am very pleased to yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from American Samoa. He's chairman of the Subcommittee on Asia, the Pacific and the Global Environment, my friend, ENI FALEOMAVAEGA.

(Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of the bill, H.R. 2410, and thank the gentleman from California, our distinguished chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs. He was a voice for Pacific Island populations, and the people of the Pacific are especially grateful for what he has done for us. Congressman Burton, as Chairman of the Subcommittee on Territories and Insular Affairs in the U.S. Congress from 1964 to 1983, worked every day of his life to ensure social justice and human dignity for all people, and the people of the Pacific are especially grateful for what he has done for us. Congressman Burton's service as Chairman of the Subcommittee on Territories and Insular Affairs included a pivotal role whereby as a result of these consultations, the Congress adopted legislation on August 2, 1978 to provide that the Territory of American Samoa be represented by a nonvoting Delegate to the U.S. House of Representatives. I also was tasked with drafting this legislation which became Public Law 95–556 and was made effective October 31, 1978.

Beyond American Samoa, the late Congressman Phillip Burton, who served in the U.S. Congress from 1964 to 1983, worked every day of his life to ensure social justice and human dignity for all people, and the people of the Pacific are especially grateful for what he has done for us. Congressman Burton's service as Chairman of the Subcommittee on Territories and Insular Affairs included a pivotal role whereby as a result of these consultations, the Congress adopted legislation on August 2, 1978 to provide that the Territory of American Samoa be represented by a nonvoting Delegate to the U.S. House of Representatives. I also was tasked with drafting this legislation which became Public Law 95–556 and was made effective October 31, 1978.

Mr. Chair, I rise today to commend the gentleman from California, the Honorable HOWARD BERMAN, Chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, for his leadership in offering H.R. 2410, the State Department Authorization bill, and I thank the gentleman for including a number of my provisions in the base text. I am especially appreciative for the inclusion of my provision to rename the United States-South Pacific Scholarship Program (USSP) in honor of my mentor, the late Congressman Phillip Burton who, as Chairman of the Subcommittee on Territories and Insular Affairs was a voice for Island populations, and made it possible for American Samoa's Governor and Lieutenant Governor to be popularly elected rather than appointed by the Secretary of the Interior.

In 1967, President Harry S. Truman issued Executive Order 10264 which transferred administrative responsibility for the islands of American Samoa from the Secretary of the Navy to the U.S. Secretary of the Interior. The Secretary of the Interior, in turn, appointed our Governors. In 1966, the people of American Samoa adopted a Constitution. The Constitution was revised in 1966 and was approved by the Secretary of the Interior on June 2, 1967. In 1967, the Revised Constitution of American Samoa provided for an elected Legislature, or Fono, consisting of a Senate and a House of Representatives. However, it did not provide our people with the right to elect our Governor and Lieutenant Governor and, at the time, American Samoa was the only remaining offshore area of the United States which did not have a popularly elected Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

On June 10, 1976, Congressman Phillip Burton took notice of American Samoa's situation and introduced a bill to make it possible for our Governor and Lieutenant Governor to be popularly elected rather than appointed by the Secretary of the Interior. As staff counsel the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, Congressman Burton instructed me to draft this legislation which the U.S. House of Representatives overwhelmingly passed by a landslide vote of 377 to 1.

Instead of sending his bill to the Senate, Congressman Burton decided to consult further with the Secretary of the Interior, Rogers C.B. Morton, about American Samoa's unique political status as an unincorporated and unorganized territory which was and is unlike the organizational structure of the States including the Cook Islands, Fiji, Kiribati, Marshall Islands, Nauru, Palau, Papua New Guinea, Solomon Islands, Tonga, Tuvalu, and Vanuatu.

Recognizing that simple, relatively low-cost means already exist to reduce the incidence of diabetes significantly through appropriate prevention and treatment programs, these programs have not as yet reached the Pacific Islands so as to effect a major reduction in the incidence of diabetes. In order to contribute to the improvement of health conditions, the authorization I requested will provide assistance for health services needed to prevent and treat diabetes in the Pacific Islands, and also for safe water and sanitation.

I also thank the Committee for including language which I offered regarding West Papua. I continue to believe it is necessary for the Secretary of State to determine whether to request for the Secretary of State to determine whether to request the 1969 Act of ‘Free’ Choice, the current political status of West Papua, and the extent to which the Government of Indonesia has implemented and included the leadership and the people of West Papua in the development and administration of Special Autonomy. I also believe it is necessary for the Administration to report to the appropriate Congressional committees the extent to which the Government of Indonesia... has certified that it has halted human rights abuses in West Papua.

However, in consideration of Indonesia’s presidential elections scheduled for July 8, 2009, I asked Chairman Berman to pull the West Papua language from the bill so as not to influence the outcome of the elections. I thank Chairman Berman for giving me this request to remove this language, and I am hopeful that once elections are finalized that Indonesia will renew its commitment to implementing Special Autonomy.

Again, I thank Chairman Berman for his leadership and support in moving this legislation forward, and I urge my colleagues to vote in favor of H.R. 2410.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Chairman, I continue to reserve our time.

Mr. Berman. Mr. Chairman, for purposes of a colloquy, I’m pleased to yield 1 minute to a former member of the committee, a member of the Budget Committee and the Ways and Means Committee, the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. BLUMENAUER).

Mr. BLUMENAUER. I rise, Mr. Chairman, and urge that clean water and sanitation be addressed at the highest level at the State Department and USAID. The lack of safe water and sanitation is an ongoing threat to global security and remains the world’s most preventable health problem, accounting for 2 million deaths a year, a child dying every 15 seconds and half the illness in the developing world.

We simply cannot meet our goals to deal with poverty, health and development without addressing this crisis. On Earth Day, I introduced the bipartisan Paul Simon Water For the World Act with the goal to provide a hundred billion of the world’s poorest with first-time access to safe drinking water and sanitation.

I would like to work with you, Mr. Chairman, to assure that clean water and sanitation are adequately funded and represented at the highest level of our diplomatic and development efforts.

Mr. Berman. Mr. Chairman, I want to manifest very clearly my intention to take up a major rewrite of foreign assistance legislation later this year, and we will address the issues raised in the Water For the World Act as part of that effort.

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Thank you, Mr. Chairman, I appreciate your attention to this critical issue and am looking forward to working with you under your leadership.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. I continue to reserve.

Mr. Berman. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to a friend of a very, very long time, a member of the committee as well as the Agriculture Committee, the gentleman from California (Mr. COSTA).

Mr. COSTA. Mr. Chairman, I want to thank Chairman Berman for the hard work that he and the committee staff have done on reauthorization of this bill. A lot of work has been put into it, and I think all of us, as we look upon the challenges we face around the world, understand that there has to be a utilization of all of the tools in our foreign policy toolbox to ensure that we take care of America’s interests and that we gain greater support in our interests abroad.

Smart Power is a part of that effort. Smart Power allows us to reenergize diplomacy and development around the globe. Specifically, the reauthorization of this bill allows the State Department to do work that the Department of Defense is doing, more appropriately under the Department of State: international programming through the Peace Corps, focusing on drug trafficking and violence along our southern borders. There are so many good things that this does.

Smart Power is often overlooked, but it’s a vital tool in this foreign policy toolbox. We’ve seen the benefits of American Smart Power in Afghanistan and Iraq, and we need to continue to do that good work.

I thank the chairman and his staff for their leadership and support of the reauthorization. I urge all of the Members to vote for this bill.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. I continue to reserve.

Mr. Berman. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee—she was, then she wasn’t, and now she is—and my friend from Nevada (Ms. BERKLEY).

Ms. BERKLEY. I thank the gentleman from California for yielding and for his extraordinary leadership not only for this bill but on our committee.

I rise today in support of this important bill. It contains a number of important elements that all of my colleagues should support. It increases our diplomatic corps dramatically, allowing the hiring of 1,500 additional Foreign Service officers over the next 2 years; it increases our financing of peacekeeping missions in Darfur and Chad; it doubles the size of the Peace Corps and sets out a plan for better response to humanitarian needs worldwide.

The bill also contains a sense of Congress calling for the release of captive Israeli soldier Gilad Shalit. He has been held hostage for nearly 3 years, and it’s time that he be brought home to his family and his loved ones. If there is ever to be a Palestinian state, returning Gilad Shalit would be a true demonstration that the Palestinians are capable of self-governance and humanitarian behavior.

With that, I call on my colleagues to support this bill.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. I continue to reserve.

Mr. Berman. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to a great member of our committee, also a member of the Science and Technology Committee, the gentlelady from Arizona (Ms. GIFFORDS).

Ms. GIFFORDS. Thank you, Chairman Berman, for your leadership, and Ranking Member Ros-Lehtinen as well.

I want to let you know that it’s important that this provision on U.S. export controls that is now going to be entered into the manager’s amendment with support is important to the fundamental job that we have as a Member of Congress, which is our U.S. national security. National security and economic prosperity depends on full engagement in science, technology, and commerce. However, some of the unintended consequences of our current export control system have contributed to a situation in which the U.S. is now among leaders in science and technology areas but no longer dominates.

As Chair of the Science and Technology Committee Subcommittee on Space and Aeronautics, I’m especially concerned about our leadership in space, especially as more nations seek to increase their space activities. This provision directs the President to take into account the space security implications of scientific and technological cooperation and provides a framework for the U.S. to streamline U.S. export controls and processes to better serve the United States. We can’t afford to undercut our scientific and technological competitiveness.

I urge Members to support the legislation.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. I continue to reserve.

Mr. Berman. Mr. Chairman, I am now pleased to yield to another excellent member of the committee, former colleague in the legislature in California, the gentlelady from California (Ms. WATSON), 1 minute.

Ms. WATSON. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I rise today in support of H.R. 2410, particularly the section that authorizes a way to enhance our public diplomacy efforts worldwide by ensuring that American libraries and resource centers open to the public to show American-made films that promote American culture, principles, and values.

Also, there is another provision in section 214, public diplomacy resource centers, and it amends the State Department’s Basic Authorities Act of 1956 to direct the Secretary of State to ensure that diplomatic and consular mission libraries and resource centers are open to the general public to the extent permitted, and extend the goal to schedule public showings of American films that showcase American culture, principles, values, and history.

The CHAIR. The time of the gentlelady has expired.

Mr. Berman. I am pleased to yield an additional 15 seconds.

Ms. WATSON. Thank you. I rise today in support of this important bill. It provides a way to enhance our public diplomacy efforts worldwide by ensuring that American libraries and resource centers open to the public to show American-made films that promote American culture, principles, values, and history.

The bill allows the State Department to do work that the Department of Defense is doing, more appropriately under the Department of State: international programming through the Peace Corps, focusing on drug trafficking and violence along our southern borders. There are so many good things that this does.

Smart Power is often overlooked, but it’s a vital tool in this foreign policy toolbox. We’ve seen the benefits of American Smart Power in Afghanistan and Iraq, and we need to continue to do that good work.

I thank the chairman and his staff for their leadership and support of the reauthorization. I urge all of the Members to vote for this bill.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. I continue to reserve.

Mr. Berman. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield to another excellent member of the committee, former colleague in the legislature in California, the gentlelady from California (Ms. WATSON), 1 minute.

Ms. WATSON. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I rise today in support of H.R. 2410, particularly the section that authorizes a way to enhance our public diplomacy efforts worldwide by ensuring that American libraries and resource centers open to the public to show American-made films that promote American culture, principles, and values.

Also, there is another provision in section 214, public diplomacy resource centers, and it amends the State Department’s Basic Authorities Act of 1956 to direct the Secretary of State to ensure that diplomatic and consular mission libraries and resource centers are open to the general public to the extent permitted, and extend the goal to schedule public showings of American films that showcase American culture, principles, values, and history.

The CHAIR. The time of the gentlelady has expired.

Mr. Berman. I am pleased to yield an additional 15 seconds.

Ms. WATSON. Thank you. I rise today in support of this important bill. It provides a way to enhance our public diplomacy efforts worldwide by ensuring that American libraries and resource centers open to the public to show American-made films that promote American culture, principles, values, and history.

The bill allows the State Department to do work that the Department of Defense is doing, more appropriately under the Department of State: international programming through the Peace Corps, focusing on drug trafficking and violence along our southern borders. There are so many good things that this does.

Smart Power is often overlooked, but it’s a vital tool in this foreign policy toolbox. We’ve seen the benefits of American Smart Power in Afghanistan and Iraq, and we need to continue to do that good work.

I thank the chairman and his staff for their leadership and support of the reauthorization. I urge all of the Members to vote for this bill.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. I continue to reserve.

Mr. Berman. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield to another excellent member of the committee, former colleague in the legislature in California, the gentlelady from California (Ms. WATSON), 1 minute.

Ms. WATSON. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

abroad and a better understanding of global perspectives of other countries in the United States. I urge your support.

Mr. Chair, I rise today in support of H.R. 2410, the Foreign Relations Authorization Act of 2009, and commend Chairman Berman for his leadership in support of a new direction in our foreign policy. This bill will authorize the State Department from 2010 thru 2011, build capacity to the Department by adding fifteen hundred (1,500) new Foreign Service Officers, and enhance our Public Diplomacy efforts worldwide.

Section 214, Public Diplomacy Resources Center amends the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 to direct the Secretary of State to ensure that diplomatic and consular mission libraries and resource centers are open to the general public to the greatest extent practicable to schedule public showings of American films that showcase American culture, principles, values, and history.

Section 215, Introduction of International Documentary Exchange Programs authorizes the Secretary of State to make grants to U.S. nongovernmental organizations that use independently produced documentary films to promote a better understanding of the United States and a better understanding of global perspectives of other countries in the United States.

Section 330, Department of State Employment Composition amends the Foreign Relations Authorizations Act of 2003 to direct the Secretary of State to report on efforts to develop a uniform definition of diversity that is congruent with core values and vision of the Department, and to evaluate the diversity plans specifically relating to the Foreign Service, including numbers and composition of women and minority groups.

As many of my colleagues may know the State Department has some of the worst diversity rates among its Foreign Service Officers. If you look at the top levels of the Foreign Service regarding diversity you will find there is basically none.

Mr. Chair, I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 2410, a bill which will enhance our Public Diplomacy efforts worldwide, diversify our Foreign Service, and give the State Department the tools necessary to meet our foreign policy goals.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. I continue to reserve my time.

Mr. Berman. Mr. Chairman, I am now pleased to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. Holt) for purposes of a colloquy.

Mr. Holt. Mr. Chairman, I appreciate the hard work of Chairman Berman on this bill, and I would like to enter into a colloquy with the gentleman on the issue of science and diplomacy.

Mr. Chairman, I’m very pleased to support H.R. 2410. It’s a strong bill that accomplishes many good things. There is one area that it does not address explicitly, and that is the role that science can play in our diplomatic portfolio.

In his recent speech in Cairo, the President reminded us all that the great ideas that have shaped our world have sprung up from every corner of the planet. Science provides a common language through which individuals from different nations and distinct cultures can communicate, cooperate, and work together toward common goals. Scientific and diplomatic relationships enable science and diplomacy to advance science for the public good.

I am aware that the chairman is working on legislation related to enhancing science as a tool for diplomacy, and I look forward to working with the chairman on this effort.

I yield to the chairman.

Mr. Berman. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I thank him for his suggestion. I agree completely that science constitutes an untapped and undertapped resource in America’s diplomatic toolbox, and I can assure the gentleman that I am committed to enhancing our capacity in this area, collaborating with him and others in the Foreign Service, in considering further legislation as well as a role in the foreign assistance reform process that we are working on.

Mr. Holt. I thank the chairman.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Chairman, I would like to have the 2 minutes that the committee has to the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. Pence), our Republican Conference Chair and a member of our Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Mr. Pence. Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to the Foreign Relations Authorization Act.

The American people deserve a foreign relations bill that respects our Nation’s budget and our Nation’s values. Sadly, H.R. 2410 does neither. At a time when our country is struggling to make ends meet, this legislation would add billions of dollars in new funding to our foreign and State Department operations. Expanding taxpayer funding of Peace Corps and the U.N. regular budget by one-third in a single year without any U.N. reform is extraordinarily frustrating to many of us who have been fighting to use the power of the purse here in Washington, D.C., to drive fundamental reform in that body.

But beyond these extraordinary increases—a single-year increase of 35 percent in the State Department’s basic salary and operations—this legislation does a disservice to the values of millions of Americans who cherish the sanctity of life and the sanctity of marriage. This legislation creates a new office and ambassador for global women’s issues for women’s empowerment internationally. Secretary Clinton testified before our committee that it would be the policy of this administration to prohibit any transfers to or launches by China, no satellite or related component shall directly, be transferred to, or launched into space by the People’s Republic of China.

Do you agree with me that the intent of paragraph (b) is that, with respect to any transfers to or launches by China, no satellite or related component shall be removed from the United States Munitions List?

Mr. Berman. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. Rohrabacher. I yield to the gentleman from California.

Mr. Berman. I agree with the gentleman.

The answer is, I certainly do agree. In the case of China, under our legislation, all satellites and related components must remain on the United States Munitions list.

Mr. Rohrabacher. Thank you very much, Mr. Chairman. I thank you and the ranking member.

Mr. Chairman, section 226 of our bill has been carefully crafted to protect our national security interests. Subsection (b) of that section provides that the President’s authority in paragraph (a) to remove satellites and related components from the United States Munitions list may not be exercised with respect to any satellite or related component that may, directly or indirectly, be transferred to, or launched into space by the People’s Republic of China.

Do you agree with me that the intent of paragraph (b) is that, with respect to any transfers to or launches by China, no satellite or related component shall be removed from the United States Munitions List?

Mr. Berman. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. Rohrabacher. I yield to the gentleman from California.

Mr. Berman. I agree with the gentleman.

The answer is, I certainly do agree. In the case of China, under our legislation, all satellites and related components must remain on the United States Munitions list.

Mr. Rohrabacher. Thank you very much, Mr. Chairman. I thank you and the ranking member.

Mr. Chairman, this is a vitally important clarification for our aerospace industry. While at the same time opening up better trade and technology with friendly countries, it ensures that we do not send technology to the Chinese.

Mr. Berman. Will the gentleman yield further?
Mr. ROHRABACHER. I certainly would. Yes, sir.

Mr. BERNER. The gentleman’s remarks are worth elaborating on. The whole notion of a domestic commercial satellite industry is very much at stake if we can’t, in appropriate situations, arrange for those kinds of transfers, and I think it is part of what the gentleman pointed out. That is why both the Satellite Industry Association and the Aerospace Industries Association support this legislation.

Mr. ROHRABACHER. Thank you very much. Again, thank you to the ranking member as well.

The CHAIR. The time of the gentlewoman from Florida has expired. The gentleman from California has 1 1/2 minutes remaining.

Mr. BERNER. Mr. Chairman, I would like to include in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD an exchange of letters between the Committee on Foreign Affairs and the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, COMMITTEE ON OVERSIGHT AND GOVERNMENT REFORM.

Washington, DC, June 9, 2009.

Hon. Howard L. Berman, Chairman, Committee on Foreign Affairs, Washington, DC.

Dear Chairman Berman:

I am writing about H.R. 2410, the “Foreign Relations Authorization Act for Fiscal Years 2010 and 2011.” The Committee on Foreign Affairs reported this legislation to the House on June 4, 2009.

I appreciate your effort to consult with the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform regarding those provisions of H.R. 2410 that fall within the Oversight Committee’s jurisdiction. These provisions address issues related to the federal civil service and government contractors.

In the interest of expediting consideration of H.R. 2410, the Oversight Committee will not request a sequential referral of this bill. I would request your support for the appointment of conferees from the Oversight Committee, H.R. 2410 or a similar Senate bill be considered in conference on the bill, I understand that your Committee reserves the right to seek the appointment of conferees for consideration of portions of the bill that are within the Committee’s jurisdiction, and I agree to support a request by the Committee with respect to serving as conferees on the bill, consistent with the Speaker’s practice in this regard.

I will ensure that our exchange of letters is included in the Congressional Record and I look forward to working with you on this important legislation.

Sincerely,

Howard L. Berman, Chairman.

Mr. SIRES. Mr. Chair, today I rise to give my full support for the passage of H.R. 2410, the Foreign Relations Authorization Act. I believe defense, diplomacy and development are the three key components of our national security strategy. This bill will give the Department of State and Peace Corps the tools necessary to ensure that diplomacy plays an integral role in furthering our foreign policy goals.

Mr. Chair, H.R. 2410 strengthens the diplomatic corps by giving the Department of State the authority to hire over 1,500 new foreign service officers and improve their language capabilities. The bill also seeks to double the number of Peace Corps volunteers in the field. Peace Corps volunteers are vital to our efforts, and they are often the only American faces in some of the world’s most remote places. Finally, this legislation establishes the Senator Paul Simon Study Abroad Foundation to expand the number of U.S. students studying abroad, learning new languages and fostering cultural understanding.

Mr. Chair, H.R. 2410 puts us one step closer to developing a global security strategy that uses diplomacy as a crucial tool to help ensure our safety at home and abroad. I would urge all my colleagues to support this important legislation.

Ms. Lorettta Sanchez of California. Mr. Chair, I rise in support of H.R. 2401, the Foreign Relations Authorization Act. This legislation will enhance our national security by providing adequate resources to the State Department, which has been underfunded for the last 8 years. Diplomacy and international development are key components to any national security agenda.

I was also pleased to see that title nine of the bill, which enhances the Merida Initiative, includes provisions to combat gun trafficking and drug cartels. However, I was greatly disappointed that the House Homeland Security Committee was not included in the development of this title or the previous Merida Initiative legislation. The Department of Homeland Security plays a significant role in the Merida Initiative by coordinating through its agencies that are assisting Mexico and other foreign governments address issues surrounding smuggling, trafficking and violence at our borders and internationally. Thus, I firmly believe this committee should have been allowed to play a more active role in the legislation.

As Chairwoman of the Homeland Security Subcommittee on Border, Maritime and Global Counter Terrorism, I have held several hearings on issues affecting the Merida initiative. These hearings focused on the ongoing violence along our southern border, drug trafficking, weapon trafficking and cash trafficking. My subcommittee and the full committee on Homeland Security have been at the forefront of addressing the threats posed by drug trafficking organizations, and other international crime syndicates. Many of these recommendations made during our recent hearings, including southbound border check points for cash and guns going into Mexico, have been implemented along the border.

The hearings also emphasized that many agencies—including the Department of Homeland Security—will need to work together closely to stop these growing transnational crime networks. The Merida Initiative would not be as effective without the constant and tireless work of the brave men and women at the Department of Homeland Security. I hope that in the future more consideration will be given to the role the Department of Homeland Security plays implementing critical security initiatives like the Merida Initiative.

My colleagues on the Committee on Homeland Security look forward to working with our friends on the other relevant committees to continue to develop, implement and improve initiatives such as the Merida Initiative.

I ask my colleagues to support the underlaying legislation.

Ms. Matsui. Mr. Chair, I thank my colleagues on the Rules Committee, Mr. Hastings, for yielding time. I commend him for his hard work on foreign relations issues.

Mr. Chair, today this Congress takes action to support our country’s interests around the world.

A strong foreign service and a healthy State Department are not luxuries. They are absolute necessities in today’s foreign policy climate.

Our country has historically shoulderied great responsibilities on the international stage. From combating nuclear proliferation, to spurring international development, to protecting and advancing human rights around the world, the challenges we face as a country are greater.

Two of these challenges particularly hit home for me, Mr. Chair.

As most of us know, two American journalists were sentenced to 12 years of hard labor in North Korea this week after an abrupt and questionable trial.

One of these reporters grew up in my hometown of Sacramento. Her family continues to maintain ties to the Sacramento community.

I know that the State Department is doing everything in its power to secure the release of Laura Ling and Euna Lee. I commend and support our government’s efforts to bring these brave and courageous two women back home.

Mr. Chair, today’s bill is Congress doing its part to ensure that Americans in similar situations around the world know that their country will never abandon them.

Our responsibility as a nation is not only to those fortunate to call themselves “Americans,” though. Another issue of urgent importance is the plight of about 5,000 Hmong refugees in Thailand.

These refugees, including many women and children, have fled persecution in their home country of Laos based on historical grievances dating back to the Vietnam War era. They now live in unspeakably harsh conditions in a refugee camp in the Petchabun province of Thailand, and are under constant threat of being forcibly repatriated back to Laos to face certain persecution.

Our State Department has been working tirelessly to save the Hmong from this near-certain death sentence, and I have supported these efforts in every way that I can. I have written letters to the Thai government and to our own foreign policy leadership, asking them to spare the Hmong from any further suffering.

We have a responsibility to protect innocent people, Mr. Chair, just as we have a responsibility to protect our own in countries like North Korea.

Today's legislation gives our government the tools it needs to carry out this essential mission. It helps us strengthen our role in influencing world affairs so that we can work toward a future where basic human rights and dignity are respected the world over.

For this reason, I strongly support the bill before the House today, Mr. Chair. I urge my colleagues to do the same.

Mr. FARR. Mr. Chair, Chairman BERMAN and the entire Foreign Affairs committee are to be commended for bringing an excellent bill to the floor.

These much needed reforms reflect Congress' strong support for strengthening U.S. diplomacy and are consistent with the new vision for global engagement championed by President Obama.

As a former Peace Corps volunteer, I am very pleased that H.R. 2410 authorizes $450 million for Peace Corps.

I'd like to express my appreciation to Chairman BERMAN and Ranking Member ILEANA ROS-LEHTINEN for including Peace Corps in the bill and for supporting a substantial increase that will help send volunteers to the 20 countries that have already requested Peace Corps volunteers.

Recently, the Chicago Council on Global Affairs called for 300 to 600 new volunteers in Sub-Saharan Africa to work on agriculture as a step toward America reasserting global leadership in the fight against hunger and food insecurity.

The Chicago Council notes that “The Peace Corps’ presence goes a long way toward convincing people that America knows about their circumstances, is committed to partnership to lift them out of poverty and is willing to send hard-working Americans, experienced in agriculture, to live and work with them for an extended period.”

Rwanda’s President recently wrote, “We view the Peace Corps as a significant event in Rwanda’s recovery. These young men and women represent what is good about America; I have met former volunteers who have run major aid programs here, invested in our businesses, and I even count them among my friends and close advisors.” Peace Corps volunteers live and work in the poorest communities in countries around the world. The work that they do day in and day out is the finest expression of American generosity and solidarity that our government has to offer.

I enthusiastically support H.R. 2410 and urge my colleagues to vote for the bill.

Mr. POSEY. Mr. Chair, as every Member of the House knows, our country is confronted with an enormous deficit of almost $2 trillion this year alone, which is in addition to the existing mountain of national debt and a projected debt of $1.3 trillion for next year. At some point, this Congress needs to face the reality that you cannot continue to spend as though the government was in the habit of borrowing the U.N. with more money than they asked for.

Mr. LEE of California. Mr. Chair, I rise in strong support of H.R. 2410, the Foreign Relations Authorization Act and want to thank our Chairman for his outstanding leadership and work on this major legislation.

In the words of President Obama, “America is a friend of each nation and every man, woman and child who seeks a future of peace and dignity,” and this legislation rightfully commits the resources necessary to uphold that promise.

I urge my colleagues to vote against this legislation and work for the good of those whom we represent by reining in the spending. Congress should authorize and appropriate funding sufficient for conducting a strong foreign policy, rather than increasing government salaries, expanding the size of government, or rewarding the U.N. with more money than they asked for.

In addition to problems with what the bill includes, many deserving Republican amendments were excluded from the reported version.

One of those was a funding amendment I have offered which caps any account increases at 3.7 percent over current year levels.

This reasonable 3.7 percent increase is the average rate of inflation for 2008.

By taking this measured, responsible approach, my funding amendment would produce a single-year cost savings of 2.82 billion dollars in 2010, as compared to the Majority's bill.

In short, H.R. 2410 is an irresponsible bill on policy and funding levels.

Mr. BERMAN. I yield back the balance of my time.

The CHAIR. All time for general debate has expired.

Pursuant to the rule, the amendment in the nature of a substitute printed in the bill shall be considered as an original bill for the purpose of amendment under the 5-minute rule and shall be considered read.

“(B) INFORMATION SHARING.—The President shall establish a Secretary of State Public Diplomacy Reporting Committee consisting of the heads of Federal agencies referred to in subsection (b)(1) to ensure that each report submitted pursuant to subparagraph (A) is submitted pursuant to paragraph (4).
“(C) INITIAL SUBMISSIONS.—The first annual reports required under subparagraph (A) shall be submitted not later than the date that is one year after the date of the enactment of this subsection.
“(D) LIMITATION.—Subparagraph (A) shall not apply to agencies or instrumentality of the United States referred to in section 167 of title 10, United States Code.”.

SEC. 212. ESTABLISHMENT OF PUBLIC DIPLOMACY RESERVE CORPS.

(a) FINDING.—Congress finds that currently a shortage of trained public diplomacy Foreign Service officers at the mid-career level threatens the effectiveness of United States outreach to publics abroad.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the Department of State should recruit individuals with professional experience relevant to public diplomacy, and provide training and mentoring to cultivate their skills in order to build the corps of professionals in the public diplomacy cone; and

(2) apart from the public diplomacy cone, training of all Foreign Service officers should include more information on techniques of public diplomacy.

(c) ESTABLISHMENT OF PUBLIC DIPLOMACY RESERVE CORPS.—Section 301 of the Foreign Service Act of 1944 (22 U.S.C. 2651(a)) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

“(e) ESTABLISHMENT OF PUBLIC DIPLOMACY RESERVE CORPS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of State is authorized to establish in the Foreign Service a Public Diplomacy Reserve Corps consisting of mid- and senior-level former Foreign Service officers and other individuals with experience in the private or public sector relevant to public diplomacy, to serve for a period of six months to two years in postings abroad.

“(2) CERTAIN ACTIVITIES.—While actively serving with the Reserve Corps, individuals may not engage in activities directly or indirectly intended to influence public opinion within the United States in the same manner and to the same extent that employees of the Department of State engaged in public diplomacy are so prohibited.”.

SEC. 213. ENHANCING UNITED STATES PUBLIC DIPLOMACY OUTREACH.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) The platform strategy for United States public diplomacy programs has changed dramatically with events of the past decade. The United States Government used to operate hundreds of free-standing facilities around the world, known as “American Houses”, that offered venues for cultural life of the cities in which such facilities are located, and help build a growing constituency for United States culture and diplomacy with the authority given to the Secretary under section 606(a)(2)(B) of the Secure Embassy Construction and Counterterrorism Act of 1999 (22 U.S.C. 4885(b)) to waive certain requirements of that Act with respect to the location of certain United States diplomatic facilities in foreign countries.

(2) SHORTAGE OF TRAINED PUBLIC DIPLOMACY PERSONNEL.—The effectiveness of the United States has grown abroad, even as many Americans struggle to understand the increasingly complex world beyond the borders of the United States.

(3) PUBLIC DIPLOMACY RESOURCE CENTERS.—Not later than one year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall submit to Congress a report that contains a detailed description of the implementation of this section by the Department of State, including the results of the Department’s efforts to provide public diplomacy outreach at the Embassy of the United States in Jakarta.

(4) POLICY TO COUNTER TERRORISM.—The Secretary shall ensure that such libraries and resource centers are so prohibited.’’.

(b) PARTNERSHIP ARRANGEMENTS TO FURTHER UNITED STATES CULTURAL AND EDUCATIONAL OUTREACH.—Recognizing the security challenges of maintaining free-standing public diplomacy facilities outside of embassy compounds, the Secretary of State shall consider new partnership arrangements with local or regional entities in foreign countries that can operate free-standing American Centers in areas well-trafficked by a cross-section of the American public, including in downtown storefronts, health care clinics, and other locations that reach beyond library patrons and university students. Where such partnership arrangements currently exist, the Secretary shall evaluate the efficacy of such partnership arrangements and determine whether such partnerships can provide a model for public diplomacy facilities outside of embassy and consulate compounds elsewhere. Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall brief the appropriate Committee on the evaluation and determinations described in the preceding sentence.

(c) ESTABLISHMENT OF CERTAIN PUBLIC DIPLOMACY FACILITIES.—After taking into account relevant security needs, the Secretary of State shall consider placing United States public diplomacy facilities abroad to maximize the role of such facilities in the educational and cultural life of the cities in which such facilities are located, and help build a growing constituency for United States culture and diplomacy with the authority given to the Secretary under section 606(a)(2)(B) of the Secure Embassy Construction and Counterterrorism Act of 1999 (22 U.S.C. 4885(b)) to waive certain requirements of that Act with respect to the location of certain United States diplomatic facilities in foreign countries.

SEC. 214. PUBLIC DIPLOMACY RESOURCE CENTERS.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT AND MAINTENANCE OF LIBRARIES.—Section 1(b)(3) of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (22 U.S.C. 2651a(b)(3)) is amended—

(1) by striking “at the end” and inserting “at the end of”; and

(2) by striking “(E),” and inserting “(E), (F),”;

(b) OPERATIONS OF LIBRARIES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of State shall ensure that such libraries and resource centers are established and maintained in accordance with subparagraph (F) of section 1(b)(3) of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (as amended by section 10111(A) of the Diplomatic and Consular Programs Act of 1980 (22 U.S.C. 6553)) to ensure that such libraries and resource centers are so prohibited.’’.

(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—Of the amounts authorized to be appropriated for the Diplomatic and Consular Programs pursuant to section 10111(A), there is authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary of State $5,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2010 and 2011 to carry out this section.

SEC. 215. GRANTS FOR INTERNATIONAL DOCUMENTARY EXCHANGE PROGRAMS.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Since September 11, 2001, a distorted perception of the United States has grown abroad, even as many Americans struggle to understand the increasingly complex world beyond the borders of the United States.

(2) This public diplomacy crisis poses an ongoing threat to United States security, diplomatic relations, commerce, and citizen-to-citizen relationships between the United States and other countries.

(3) Independently produced documentary films have proven to be an effective means of communicating United States ideas and values to populations of other countries.

(4) It is in the interest of the United States to use the independent media to foster better understanding of the United States abroad and better understanding of American perspectives and other countries in the United States.

(b) ASSISTANCE.—The Secretary of State is authorized to make grants, on such terms and conditions as the Secretary may determine, to United States nongovernmental organizations that use independently produced documentary films to promote better understanding of the United States abroad and better understanding of American perspectives and other countries in the United States.

(c) ACTIVITIES SUPPORTED.—Grants provided under section (b) shall, to the maximum extent practicable, be used to carry out the following activities:

(1) Fund, distribute, and promote documentary films that convey a diversity of views about life in the United States to foreign audiences and bring insightful foreign perspectives to United States audiences.

(2) Support documentary films described in paragraph (1) that are made by independent foreign and domestic producers, selected through a peer review process.

(3) Develop a network of overseas partners to produce, distribute, and broadcast such documentary films.

(d) SPECIAL FACTORS.—In making the grants described in subsection (b), the Secretary shall give preference to nongovernmental organizations that—

(1) provide at least 35 percent of the total project cost in matching funds from non-Federal sources; and

(2) have prior experience supporting independently produced documentary films that have been broadcast on public television in the United States.

(e) REPORT.—Not later than two years after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall submit to Congress a report that contains a detailed description of the implementation of this section for the prior year.

(f) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—Of the amounts authorized to be appropriated for Educational and Cultural Exchange Programs pursuant to section 10111(A), there is authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary of State $5,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2010 and 2011 to carry out this section.

SEC. 216. UNITED STATES ADVISORY COMMISSION ON PUBLIC DIPLOMACY.

(a) REAUTHORIZATION OF UNITED STATES ADVISORY COMMISSION ON PUBLIC DIPLOMACY.—

SEC. 218. EXPANSION OF PROGRAM TO PROVIDE GRANTS TO AMERICAN-SPIROONED SCHOOLS IN PREDOMINANTLY MUS- LIM COUNTRIES TO PROVIDE SCHOLARSHIPS.

Section 7113 of the Intelligence Reform and Terrorism Prevention Act of 2004 (Public Law 108–458; 22 U.S.C. 1469(c)(2)) is amended to read as follows:

“(1) Not less than once every two years, the Commission shall undertake an in-depth review of United States public diplomacy programs, policies, and activities. Each study shall evaluate the effectiveness of the various mechanisms of United States public diplomacy in light of several factors, including public and media attitudes around the world toward the United States, United States citizens and United States foreign policy, and make appropriate recommendations.

“(B) The Commission shall submit to the Secretary and the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate a comprehensive report of each study required under subparagraph (A). At the discretion of the Commission, any report under this subsection may be submitted in classified form or with a classified appendix.

“(C) Upon request of the Commission, the Secretary, the Chair of the Broadcasting Board of Governors, and the head of any other Federal agency that conducts public diplomacy or strategic communications activities shall provide to the Commission information to assist the Commission in carrying out its responsibilities under this paragraph.

“(D) EXPANDING THE EXPERTISE OF THE UNITED STATES ADVISORY COMMISSION ON PUBLIC DIPLOMACY.—

(1) QUALIFICATIONS OF MEMBERS.—Section 604(a)(2) of the United States Information and Educational Exchange Act of 1948 (22 U.S.C. 1469(a)(2)) is amended by adding at the end the following new sentences: “At least four members shall be from the public-private sector in the conduct of public diplomacy or comparable activities in the private sector. No member may be an officer or employee of the United States.”

(2) APPLICATION OF AMENDMENT.—The amendment made by paragraph (1) shall not apply to individuals who are members of the United States Advisory Commission on Public Diplomacy on the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 217. SPECIAL OLYMPICS.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Special Olympics International has been recognized since the mid-1960s as one of the world leader in providing life-changing sports training and competition experiences for persons with intellectual disabilities at all levels of severity.

(2) While Special Olympics sports programming is widely respected around the world, less well-known are a number of supporting initiatives targeted to changing attitudes toward people with intellectual disabilities, developing leaders among the intellectual disability population, supporting families of people with these disabilities to lead healthier and enhancing government policies and programs for people with intellectual disabilities.

(3) Special Olympics has documented the challenge of ignorance and poor attitudes toward intellectual disability worldwide and its capacity to change discriminatory attitudes to understanding, acceptance, and advocacy for people with intellectual disabilities. It does so through an array of educational and attitude change activities that affect multiple levels of society. These activities have received financial support from non-governmental, educational, and cultural affairs of the Department of State, among other sources.

(b) ADMINISTRATION OF PROGRAM.—Section 607(c) of the Special Olympics Sports and Empowerment Act of 2004 (Public Law 108–406) is amended, in the matter preceding paragraph (1) by striking “Secretary of State” and inserting “Secretary of State, acting through the Assistant Secretary of State for Educational and Cultural Affairs”.

SEC. 219. CENTRAL ASIA SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM FOR PUBLIC POLICY INTERNSHIPS.

(a) PILOT PROGRAM ESTABLISHED.—As part of the educational and cultural exchange programs of the Department of State, the Secretary of State shall establish a pilot program for fiscal years 2010 and 2011 to award academic scholarships to undergraduate and graduate students from Central Asia for public policy internships in the United States. Subject to the availability of appropriations, for each fiscal year not more than 50 students may participate in the program established under this section.

(b) GENERAL PROVISIONS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as otherwise provided in this section, the program established pursuant to subsection (a) shall be carried out under applicable provisions of the United States Information and Educational Exchange Act of 1948 (22 U.S.C. 1431 et seq.) and the Mutual Educational and Cultural Exchange Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2451 et seq.)—also referred to as the “ Fulbright-Hays Act”).

(2) SCHOLARSHIP ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS.—In addition to such other requirements as may be established by the Secretary of State, a scholarship recipient under this section—

(A) shall be proficient in the English language;

(B) shall be a student at an undergraduate or graduate school level at an accredited institution of higher education with a record of outstanding academic achievement and demonstrated intellectual capabilities;

(C) may not have received an academic scholarship or grant from the United States Government in the three years preceding the award of a scholarship under this section;

(D) may not be or have been a member of a foreign terrorist organization (as designated by the Secretary of State in accordance with section 219(a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1189(a))) or involved in organized crime.

(3) INTERNSHIPS.—Internships under this section shall be for periods of not more than six months.

(4) PRIORITY CONSIDERATION.—In the award of internships under this section, the Secretary of State shall give priority consideration to students who are underprivileged or members of ethnic, religious, or cultural minorities.

(c) FUNDING.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—For the purposes of this section, the term “Central Asia” means the countries of Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, and Uzbekistan.

(2) APPROPRIATIONS.—If the amounts authorized to be appropriated pursuant to section 101(4), $759,000 is authorized to be appropriated for each of fiscal years 2010 and 2011 to make available for the Central Asia Scholarship Program.

(d) REPORTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The report required by section 221 shall include a detailed report on the activities of the Program and may include recommendations for future actions.

(2) COMPTROLLER GENERAL.—The Comptroller General of the United States shall conduct a study of the effectiveness of the Program.

SEC. 221. SCHOLARSHIPS FOR INDIGENOUS PEOPLES OF MEXICO AND CENTRAL AND SOUTH AMERICA.

zations with direct ties to the United States refugee resettlement program; and
(2) nongovernmental or international organizations with appropriate expertise in developing curriculum and teaching English as a second language.
(e) STATEMENT OF POLICY REGARDING ENcouraging Volunteer Returns.—It shall be the policy of the United States to encourage Iraqi refugees to return to Iraq only when conditions permit safe, sustainable returns on a voluntary basis with the coordination of UNHCR and the Government of Iraq.
(f) INTERNATIONAL CooperATION.—The Secretary of State shall work with the international community, including governments hosting the refugees, UNHCR, nongovernmental organizations, and donors, to develop a long-term, comprehensive international strategy for assistance and solutions for Iraqi refugees and IDPs, and to provide—
(1) a comprehensive assessment of the needs of Iraqi refugees and IDPs, and the needs of the populations that host such refugees and IDPs;
(2) assistance to international organizations working for the protection, resettlement, and assistance for Iraqi refugees and IDPs.

SEC. 238. PROCESSING OF CERTAIN VISA APPLICATIONS.

(a) POLICY.—It shall be the policy of the Department of State to process immigrant visa applications and nonimmigrant K-1 visa applications for fiancées of United States citizens in all interstate and interdepartmental offices of the Department of Homeland Security. In the case of a visa application where the sponsor of such applicant is a relative other than an immediate relative, it should be expedited by the Department of State to process such an application within 60 days of the receipt of all necessary documents from the applicant and the Department of Homeland Security.

(b) REVIEW BY HEAD OF CONSULAR SECTION.—For any visa application described in subsection (a), it shall be the policy of the Department of State to require the head of the consular section (or designee) of any United States diplomatic or consular post to review any such application before the specified time period in such subsection by more than five days, and, as appropriate, provide for expedited processing of such application.

Subtitle B—Strengthening Arms Control and Non-Proliferation Activities at the Department of State

SEC. 241. FINDINGS AND SENSE OF CONGRESS ON THE NEED TO STRENGTHEN UNITED STATES ARMS CONTROL AND NON-PROLIFERATION CAPABILITIES.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) International security relies upon collective security arrangements and alliances, as unilateral actions by one country, no matter how powerful, are insufficient to cope effectively with security threats.

(2) In the same manner, collective arrangements, conventions, and alliances devoted to halting the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction, their means of production and delivery, frequently within the multilateral treaties and conventions, are critical to effective collective global action.

(3) In order to advance United States national security, the Department of State must have the structural and human resources necessary to lead and participate in all international negotiations, conventions, organizations, arrangements, and implementations, and to act as a focal point in the field of nonproliferation and arms control.

(4) North Korea and Iran present fundamental challenges to the global nonproliferation regime, challenges that can only be met by active, committed, and long-term multilateral engagement, participation, and leadership by the United States.

(5) Further, the United States has outlined an ambitious agenda in arms control and nonproliferation for the coming years, including—

(A) the conclusion of a strategic arms reduction treaty with Russia that establishes the benchmarks of START 1 treaty and makes further progress toward limitation of nuclear warheads in both countries, consistent with their national security needs;

(B) United States ratification of the Comprehensive Test Ban Treaty (CTBT); considered a foundational treaty by the global nonproliferation community for further advances toward greater stability and the reduction of role of nuclear weapons;

(C) the creation of a Fissile Material Cutoff Treaty (FMCT) to reduce the rate of production and ultimately halt the production of militarily useful fissile material;

(D) the securing of vulnerable nuclear material worldwide that could be stolen and utilized by terrorist groups and rogue countries for nuclear and radiological weapons;

(E) the reinvigoration of the Treaty on the Nonproliferation of Nuclear Weapons (NPT), cornerstone of the global nuclear nonproliferation regime, especially at the 2010 Review Conference;

(F) the expansion and greater development of the Proliferation Security Initiative (PSI) and International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) and its international nuclear safeguards system; and

(I) engaging multiple international conventions and negotiations on restriction on conventional arms of various types.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the Secretary of State should immediately develop a plan to strengthen the capabilities of the Department of State to lead and participate effectively in all international negotiations, and implementation fora in the field of nonproliferation and arms control, especially to increase the human, organizational, and financial resources available to the Undersecretary of State for Arms Control and International Security;

(2) such plan should—

(A) focus especially on the recruitment and professional development of civilian and Foreign Service officers in the areas of arms control and nonproliferation within the Department of State, especially to increase the number of personnel assigned to arms control and nonproliferation, and enhance recruitment of technical specialists, as well as provide for the long-term sustainability of personnel and resources; and

(B) identify measures to make service in arms control and nonproliferation offices, bureaus, and foreign postings an attractive path for further promotion within the Foreign Service;

(3) the Secretary of State should regularly keep Congress informed as to the measures taken to strengthen the arms control and nonproliferation capabilities of the Department of State, including what additional legal authority or appropriations are needed.

SEC. 242. AUTHORIZATION OF ADDITIONAL ARMS CONTROL AND NONPROLIFERATION POSITIONS.

Of the amounts authorized to be appropriated under section 101, $3,000,000 is authorized to be appropriated for an additional 25 positions at the Department of State for arms control and nonproliferation functions over the number of such positions in existence as of the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 243. ADDITIONAL AUTHORITY OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

Section 401(d) of the Arms Control and Disarmament Act (Public Law 87–297; 22 U.S.C. 2581) is amended, in the first proviso, by striking “the President” and inserting “the Secretary of State”.

SEC. 244. ADDITIONAL FLEXIBILITY FOR RIGHTSIZING ARMS CONTROL AND NONPROLIFERATION FUNCTIONS.

(a) REPEAL.—Section 1112 of the Admiral James W. Nance and Meg Donovan Foreign Re-authorization Act of 2001 and 2002 (Public Law 106–113) is repealed.

(b) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of contents in section 2(b) of such Act is amended by striking the item relating to section 1112.

SEC. 245. ARMS CONTROL AND NONPROLIFERATION ROTATION PROGRAM.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of State (in this section referred to as the “Secretary”), in consultation with the heads of other Federal departments and agencies that are involved in United States arms control and nonproliferation activities, shall establish the Arms Control and Nonproliferation Rotation Program (in this section referred to as the “Rotation Program”) for employees of the Department of State (in this section referred to as the “Department”) and such other Federal departments and agencies.

The Rotation Program shall be used applicable best practices, including those prescribed by the Chief Human Capital Officers Council. Employees of the Department and any other Federal departments or agencies that are participating in the Rotation Program may be detailed among the Department or such department or agency on a non-reimbursable basis.

(2) The Rotation Program shall—

(A) be established in accordance with the human capital strategic plan of the Department;
(B) provide midlevel Foreign Service officers and employees of the Department, and employees of other Federal departments and agencies concerned with arms control and nonproliferation, and the opportunity to broaden a their knowledge through exposure to other areas of the Department and such other Federal departments and agencies;

(C) extend the eligible base of the Department by providing for rotational assignments of employees to such other Federal departments and agencies;

(D) operate the Department’s arms control and nonproliferation workforce with professionally rewarding opportunities; and

(E) incorporate human capital strategic plans and development of the Department, and address critical human capital deficiencies, professional development, recruitment and retention efforts, and succession planning within the Federal workforce of the Department.

(3) RESPONSIBILITIES.—The Secretary shall—

(A) provide oversight of the establishment and implementation of the Rotation Program;

(B) establish a framework that supports the goals of the Rotation Program and promotes cross-disciplinary rotational opportunities;

(C) establish eligibility for employees of other Federal departments and agencies identified with national security responsibilities to participate in the Rotation Program and select participants from such employees who apply;

(D) establish procedures for such employees to participate in the Rotation Program, including promotions and employment preferences;

(E) ensure that the Rotation Program provides professional education and training;

(F) ensure that the Rotation Program develops qualified employees and future leaders with broad experience throughout the Department; and

(G) provide for greater interaction among employees in such Federal departments and agencies, including the Agency.

(4) ALLOWANCES, PRIVILEGES, AND BENEFITS.—All allowances, privileges, rights, seniority, and other benefits of employees participating in the Rotation Program shall be preserved.

(5) REPORTING.—Not later than one year after the date of the establishment of the Rotation Program, the Secretary shall submit to the appropriate committees a description of the status of the Rotation Program, including a description of the Rotation Program, the number of individuals participating, and how the Rotation Program will further the Department’s success planning and leadership development.

SEC. 246. ARMS CONTROL AND NONPROLIFERATION SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of State (in this section referred to as the “Secretary”) shall establish a scholarship program (to be known as the “Arms Control and Nonproliferation Scholarship Program”) to award scholarships for the purpose of recruiting and preparing students for civilian careers in the fields of nonproliferation, arms control, and international security, and meet the critical needs of the Department of State (in this section referred to as the “Department”).

(2) SELECTION OF RECIPIENTS.—

(A) MERIT AND AGENCY NEEDS.—Individuals shall be selected to receive scholarships under this section through a competitive process primarily on the basis of academic achievement and the arms control and nonproliferation needs of the Department.

(B) DEMONSTRATED COMMITMENT.—Individuals selected under this section shall have a demonstrated interest in public service and a commitment to the field of study for which the scholarship is awarded.

(3) SCHOLARSHIP AMOUNTS.—In order to carry out the scholarship program, the Secretary shall enter into contractual agreements with individuals selected under paragraph (2) pursuant to which such individuals agree to serve as full-time employees of the Department, for a period to be determined by the Secretary, as determined by the Secretary, not to exceed the nonproliferation positions needed by the Department and for which the individuals are qualified, in exchange for receiving a scholarship.

(b) ELIGIBILITY.—Except as provided in subsection (f), in order to be eligible to participate in the scholarship program, an individual shall be enrolled or accepted full-time as a full-time student at an institution of higher education and be pursuing or intend to pursue undergraduate or graduate education in an academic field specified in the list made available under subsection (d) and be a United States citizen.

(c) APPLICATION.—An individual seeking a scholarship under this section shall submit to the Secretary an application at such time, in such manner, and containing such information, agreements, or assurances as the Secretary may require.

(d) PROGRAMS AND FIELDS OF STUDY.—The Secretary shall make publicly available a list of academic programs and fields of study for which scholarships under this section may be awarded.

(e) SCHOLARSHIPS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may award a scholarship under this section for an academic year if the individual applying for the scholarship submitted to the Secretary, as part of the application required under subsection (c), a proposal for a specified academic program leading to a degree in a program or field of study specified on the list made available under subsection (d).

(2) LIMITATION ON YEARS.—An individual may not receive a scholarship under this section for more than four academic years, unless the Secretary grants a waiver.

(f) STUDY ABROAD.—Scholarship recipients shall maintain satisfactory academic progress.

(4) AMOUNT.—The dollar amount of a scholarship awarded under this section for an academic year shall be determined under regulations issued by the Secretary, but shall in no case exceed the cost of tuition, fees, and other authorized expenses as determined by the Secretary.

(g) USE OF SCHOLARSHIPS.—A scholarship awarded under this section may be expended for tuition, fees, and other authorized expenses as established by the Secretary.

(h) PAYMENT TO INSTITUTION OF HIGHER EDUCATION.—(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may enter into a contract agreement with an institution of higher education under which the amount provided for a scholarship under this section for tuition, fees, and other authorized expenses are paid directly to the institution with respect to which the scholarship was awarded.

(2) SPECIAL CONSIDERATION FOR CURRENT EMPLOYEES.—Notwithstanding subsection (b), up to one-fifth of the scholarships awarded under this section may be set aside for individuals who are Federal employees on the date of enactment of this Act to enhance the educational and professional development, recruitment and retention efforts, and policies affecting arms control and nonproliferation.

(i) REPAYMENT.—(1) IN GENERAL.—A scholarship recipient who, during the period in which the scholarship was awarded, fails to maintain a high level of academic standing, as defined by the Secretary, who is dismissed for disciplinary reasons from the educational institution to which the scholarship was awarded, or who voluntarily terminates academic training before graduation from the educational program for which the scholarship was awarded shall be in breach of the contractual agreement under subsection (a)(5) and, in lieu of any service obligation to which such recipient is subject under such agreement, shall be liable to the United States for repayment within one year after the date of such default of all scholarship funds paid to such recipient and to the institution of higher education on the behalf of such recipient under such agreement. The repayment period may be extended by the Secretary in accordance with paragraph (2).

(2) LIABILITY.—A scholarship recipient who, for any reason, fails to begin or complete the service obligation under the contractual agreement, as determined under subsection (a)(5), shall be liable to the United States for an amount equal to—

(A) the total amount of the scholarship received by such recipient under this section; and

(B) the interest on such amounts which would be payable if at the time the scholarship was received such scholarship was a loan bearing interest at the maximum legally prevailing rate.

(h) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary shall prescribe regulations necessary to carry out this section.

(i) INSTITUTION OF HIGHER EDUCATION DEFINED.—In this section, the term “institution of higher education” has the meaning given such term under section 101 of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 1001).

(j) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—Of the amounts authorized to be appropriated under section 101, such sums as may be necessary are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section.

SEC. 247. SCIENTIFIC ADVISORY COMMITTEE.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The President may establish a Scientific Advisory Committee (hereinafter referred to as the “Committee”) of not to exceed ten members, not fewer than eight of whom shall be scientists.

(2) APPOINTMENT.—If the Committee is established in accordance with paragraph (1), the members of the Committee shall be appointed by the President, as follows:

(A) One member, who shall be a person of special scientific distinction, shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, as Chairman of the Committee.

(B) Nine other members shall be appointed by the President.

(3) MEETINGS.—If the Committee is established in accordance with paragraph (1), the Committee shall meet not less often than twice per year.

(b) FUNCTION.—If the Committee is established in accordance with subsection (a)(1), the Committee shall advise the President, the Secretary of State, and the Undersecretary for Arms Control and International Security regarding scientific, technical, and policy matters affecting arms control and nonproliferation.

(c) REIMBURSEMENT OF EXPENSES.—If the Committee is established in accordance with subsection (a)(1), the members of the Committee may receive reimbursement of expenses only in accordance with the provisions applicable to the reimbursement of expenses under section 401(d) of the Arms Control and Disarmament Act (Public Law 87–297; 22 U.S.C. 2581(d)).

(d) SCIENTIST DEFINED.—In this section, the term “scientist” means an individual who has demonstrated knowledge and technical expertise with respect to arms control, nonproliferation, and disarmament matters and who has distinguished himself or herself in any of the fields of physics, chemistry, mathematics, biology, or engineering, including weapons engineering.
TITLE III—ORGANIZATION AND PERSONNEL AUTHORITIES

Subtitle A—Towards Modernizing the Department of State

SEC. 301. TOWARDS A MORE MODERN AND EFFECTIVE FOREIGN SERVICE.

(a) TARGETED EXPANSION OF FOREIGN SERVICE.—The Secretary of State shall expand the Foreign Service to—

(1) vacate, particularly those vacancies overseas that are critical to key United States foreign policy and national security interests, and, in particular, to prevent crises before they emerge;

(2) increase the capacity of the Department of State to assign and deploy Foreign Service officers and other personnel to prevent, mitigate, and respond to crises and instability in foreign countries that threaten key United States foreign policy and national security interests; and

(3) ensure that, before being assigned to assignments requiring new or improved skills, members of the Foreign Service, other than foreign national employees and consular agents (as such terms are defined in section 103 of the Foreign Service Act of 1980 (22 U.S.C. 3903)), as appropriate, receive language, security, area, and other training that is necessary to successfully execute their assignments. The Secretary shall establish mechanisms for obtaining advanced and other education that will increase the capacity of the Foreign Service to complete its mission.

(b) AUTHORIZED INCREASES.—

(1) AT THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE.—The Secretary of State is authorized to hire an additional 750 members of the Foreign Service (above attrition) in fiscal year 2010 over the number of such members employed as of September 30, 2009, and an additional 750 members of the Foreign Service (above attrition) in fiscal year 2011 over the number of such members employed as of September 30, 2010.

(2) AT USAID.—The Administrator of the United States Agency for International Development is authorized to hire an additional 350 members of the Foreign Service (above attrition) in fiscal year 2010 over the number of such members employed as of September 30, 2009, and an additional 350 members of the Foreign Service (above attrition) in fiscal year 2011 over the number of such members employed as of September 30, 2010.

(c) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed as limiting the authority of the Secretary of State or the Administrator of the United States Agency for International Development to hire personnel.

(d) EXPANSION OF FUNCTIONS OF THE FOREIGN SERVICE.—Section 104 of the Foreign Service Act of 1980 (22 U.S.C. 3904) is amended—

(1) by redesignating paragraphs (2) and (3) as paragraphs (3) and (4), respectively; and

(2) by inserting after paragraph (1) the following new paragraph:

“(2) work actively to prevent, mitigate, and respond in a timely manner to international crises and instability in foreign countries that threaten key United States foreign policy and national security interests;”;

(e) WORLDWIDE AVAILABILITY.—Section 301(b) of the Foreign Service Act of 1980 (22 U.S.C. 3904b) is amended—

(1) by inserting “(1)” before “The Secretary”;

(2) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

“(2)(A) Except as provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C), at the time of entry into the Service, each member of the Service shall be available to serve worldwide.

“(B) With respect to the medical eligibility of any applicant for appointment as a Foreign Service officer candidate, the Secretary of State shall establish an internal administrative review process for medical ineligibility determinations.

“(C) The Secretary may also waive or reduce the worldwide availability requirement under subparagraph (A) if the Secretary determines, in the Secretary’s discretion, that such waiver or reduction is warranted.”;

(f) RECRUITING CANDIDATES WHO HAVE EXPERIENCE IN UNSTABLE SITUATIONS.—Section 301 of the Foreign Service Act of 1980 (22 U.S.C. 3901), as amended by section 212(c) of this Act, is further amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

“(1) EXPANDING ACCESS TO UNSTABLE SITUATIONS. The fact that an applicant for appointment as a Foreign Service officer candidate has the experience of working in situations where public order has been undermined by instability, or where there is no civil authority that can effectively provide public safety, may be considered an affirmative factor in making such appointments.”;

(g) TRAINING.—Section 708 of the Foreign Service Act of 1980 (22 U.S.C. 4028) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

“(2) EXPERIENCE IN UNSTABLE SITUATIONS. The Secretary of State shall ensure that members of the Service, other than foreign national employees and consular agents, as appropriate, have opportunities during their careers to obtain advanced education and training in. . .”

SEC. 302. QUADRENNIAL REVIEW OF DIPLOMACY AND DEVELOPMENT.

(a) DEVELOPMENT OF NATIONAL STRATEGY ON DIPLOMACY AND DEVELOPMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 60 days after the enactment of this Act, the President shall transmit to the appropriate congressional committees a national strategy for United States diplomacy and development. The strategy shall include the following:

(A) An identification of key objectives and missions for United States foreign policy and foreign assistance policies and programs, including a clear statement of United States objectives for development assistance.

(B) A description of the roles of civilian agencies and mechanisms for implementing such strategy, including interagency coordination.

(C) The requirements for overseas infrastructure necessary to carry out such strategy.

(D) Plans to analyze and mechanisms to changing circumstances and the role of international institutions in such strategy.

(E) Budget requirements to carry out such strategy.

(F) Other elements of United States foreign policy and foreign assistance policies and programs with a more than a cursory statement of the strategy of the United States and expressing the strategy of the United States and establishing a diplomacy and development program for the next ten years.

(2) RELATIONSHIP TO NATIONAL SECURITY STRATEGY.—The strategy described in paragraph (1) shall be consistent with any National Security Strategy prescribed by the President pursuant to section 404a of the National Security Act of 1947 (50 U.S.C. 404a) that has been issued after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(b) FY 2011 FUNDING.—(1) IN GENERAL.—Beginning in 2013, the President shall every four years, during a year following the year in which such a Quadrennial Review is conducted, but not later than the date on which the President submits the budget for the next fiscal year to Congress, provide for the submission of a strategy to Congress by the President pursuant to section 404a of the National Security Act of 1947 (50 U.S.C. 404a) that has been issued after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(2) REPORT.—The President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report on such Quadrennial Review of Diplomacy and Development. The report shall be submitted not later than 45 days following the year in which such a Quadrennial Review is conducted.
guidance for civilian agencies and mechanisms in implementing such strategy, the requirements for overseas infrastructure necessary to carry out such strategy, plans to adapt such agencies and mechanisms to changing circumstances, and the role of international institutions in such strategy.

(B) The assumed or defined objectives and missions that inform the national strategy for United States foreign policy and foreign assistance policies and programs.

(C) The threats to the assumed or defined objectives and missions of the United States that were examined for the purposes of such a Quadrennial Review.

(D) The assumptions used in such a Quadrennial Review, including assumptions relating to—

(i) the capacity of United States diplomatic and development personnel to respond to such threats;

(ii) the cooperation and capacity of allies, other friendly countries, and international institutions in addressing such threats;

(iii) levels of investment in operations other than war and smaller-scale contingencies and withdrawal from such operations and contingencies; and

(iv) the intensity, duration, and military and political end-states of conflicts and smaller-scale contingencies that arise in the diplomatic and development context.

(E) The assumed or defined roles and missions of the reserve components available to civilian agencies, including capabilities and resources necessary to ensure that such reserve components can capably discharge such roles and missions.

(F) The extent to which diplomatic and development personnel need to be shifted to different regions to carry out the national strategy under subsection (a).

(G) Any other matter the Secretary considers appropriate.

(b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of the LLC is to—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than six months before the date on which the report on a Quadrennial Review of Diplomacy and Development is to be transmitted under subsection (d), the President shall establish a panel to conduct an assessment of such a Quadrennial Review.

(2) The locally employed staff is the backbone of diplomatic operations, providing management, programmatic, security, maintenance, custodial, and other services wherever the Department of State and USAID is a mix of senior and junior staff of the Foreign Service and Foreign Service Information Technology staff in the Department of State and USAID.

(3) The Office of Management, Policy, Rightsizing and Innovation, and the regional bureaus, and the Bureau of Resource Management, should establish, maintain, and monitor a database that tracks information related to locally employed staff compensation reviews, including comprehensible salary survey analysis, explanations of salary survey changes, and if appropriate, copies of the off-the-shelf software used. This database should be documented and made a part of the periodic process.

(4) The Bureau of Human Resources, in coordination with the Office of Management, Policy, Rightsizing and Innovation, the regional bureaus, and the Bureau of Overseas Employment, should establish, maintain, and monitor a database that tracks information related to locally employed staff compensation reviews, including comprehensible salary survey analysis, explanations of salary survey changes, and if appropriate, copies of the off-the-shelf software used. This database should be documented and made a part of the periodic process.

(5) The Bureau of Human Resources, in coordination with the Office of Management, Policy, Rightsizing and Innovation, should establish, maintain, and monitor a database that tracks information related to locally employed staff compensation reviews, including comprehensible salary survey analysis, explanations of salary survey changes, and if appropriate, copies of the off-the-shelf software used. This database should be documented and made a part of the periodic process.

(6) The Bureau of Human Resources, in coordination with the Office of Management, Policy, Rightsizing and Innovation, should establish, maintain, and monitor a database that tracks information related to locally employed staff compensation reviews, including comprehensible salary survey analysis, explanations of salary survey changes, and if appropriate, copies of the off-the-shelf software used. This database should be documented and made a part of the periodic process.

(7) The Office of Management, Policy, Rightsizing and Innovation should ensure that the working group on locally employed staff compensation reviews the connectivity between the activities of the Office of Overseas Employment, the Bureau of Resource Management, and makes and distributes written, documented determinations as to the data used by the two offices to make estimates of locally employed staff compensation adjustments, the timing of these activities, and the responsibility each office has for tracking implementation of locally employed staff compensation adjustments.

(8) Any provision in this section excluding the definition or observation of negotiations, operations, training events, or other processes and experiences, particularly any correction or innovative techniques, that produced an improved performance or increased capability.

SEC. 304. LOCALLY EMPLOYED STAFF COMPENSATION.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) United States diplomatic and consular missions worldwide retain over 31,000 locally employed staff under Local Compensation Plans (LCP’s) in about 170 overseas missions.

(2) The locally employed staff is the backbone of diplomatic operations, providing management, programmatic, security, maintenance, custodial, and other services wherever the Department of State has an overseas post.

(3) Foreign Service and other United States officers who rotate in-and-out of such missions every two to three years are highly dependent on the local employees to bring them up to speed and develop their careers. Moreover, such missions do not falter in transitions during rotations.

(4) As the number of positions at such missions designated for United States officers that are not filled continues to increase, locally employed staff are called upon to assume many of the responsibilities that United States staff have carried in the past.

(5) Based on a survey conducted by the Office of the Inspector General (OIG) Department of State, the United States is failing to provide a competitive compensation package for locally employed staff that is commensurate with their experience, technical skills, and responsibilities.

(6) The survey data show that the United States Government is providing salary increases that are approximately 60 percent of what is the prevailing practice of the local labor market.

(7) The Department of State OIG has found numerous cases in which such missions are losing staff to other employers. The OIG has also found cases where it is difficult to replace employees who left to take other jobs, particularly in countries with low unemployment rates.

(b) POLICY REVIEW.—The Secretary of State shall direct a policy review to assess the adequacy of locally employed staff compensation.

(c) REPORT.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State shall submit to the appropriate committees of both Houses of Congress, and the appropriate committees of both Houses of Congress a report on the status of efforts to establish the LLC. The report shall include recommendations—

(1) concerning the regulation and structure of the LLC, including—

(A) how to encourage service in the LLC;

(B) how to procure for the necessary academic freedom to provide innovative, critical analysis;

(C) how to ensure that the staffing of the LLC is a mix of senior and junior staff of the Foreign Service and Foreign Service Information Technology staff in the Department of State and USAID;

(D) the anticipated expenditures associated with the establishment of the LLC under subsection (d);

(E) physical structure of the LLC; and

(2) for any legislation necessary to establish the LLC.

(d) DEFINITIONS.—In this section:

(1) ACADEMIC FREEDOM.—The term "academic freedom" means the capability, capacity, and authorization to produce analysis and evaluation without concern for retaliation or other negative impact on the observer's career.

(2) LESSONS LEARNED.—The term "lessons learned" means any information resulting from evaluation or observation of negotiations, operations, exercises, training events, or other processes and experiences, particularly any corrective or innovative techniques, that produced an improved performance or increased capability.

SEC. 305. IMPLEMENTATION OF THE LESSONS LEARNED CENTER.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Secretary of State, in consultation with the Undersecretary for Management, the Bureau of Resource Management, the Office of Management, Policy, Rightsizing and Innovation, and the human capital officers in the Department of State and USAID, is authorized to establish in the Department of State and under the authority of the Undersecretary for Management a Lessons Learned Center (referred to in this section as "LLC") which will serve as a central organization for collection, analysis, archiving, and dissemination of observations, best practices, and lessons learned by, from, and to Foreign Service officers and support personnel in the Department of State and USAID.

(b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of the LLC is to increase, enhance, and sustain the ability of the Department of State and USAID to effectively carry out their missions by devising a system for the collection, archiving, and dissemination of lessons learned, improving information sharing and learning capacity, and enabling, encouraging, and rewarding critical, innovative analysis.

(c) REPORT.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State shall submit to the appropriate committees of both Houses of Congress, and the appropriate committees of both Houses of Congress a report on the status of efforts to establish the LLC. The report shall include recommendations—

(1) concerning the regulation and structure of the LLC, including—

(A) how to encourage service in the LLC;

(B) how to procure for the necessary academic freedom to provide innovative, critical analysis;

(C) how to ensure that the staffing of the LLC is a mix of senior and junior staff of the Foreign Service and Foreign Service Information Technology staff in the Department of State and USAID;

(D) the anticipated expenditures associated with the establishment of the LLC under subsection (d);

(E) physical structure of the LLC; and

(2) for any legislation necessary to establish the LLC.

(2) The report submitted by the Secretary under paragraph (1) shall include recommendations concerning the regulation and structure of the LLC.
(8) The Office of Management, Policy, Rightsizing and Innovation should ensure that the working group on locally employed staff compensation considers the possibility of centralizing decision making for locally employed staff salaries and, whether such is eventually implemented or not, make a determination as to its value, document the decision in writing, and distribute the decision widely in the Department of State.

(9) The Bureau of Human Resources, in cooperation with Resource Management International Cooperative Administrative Support Services and a senior level interagency locally employed staff board of governors to set overall locally employed staff policy.

(10) The Bureau of Human Resources should send the cable announcing the proposed salary increases to the working group on locally employed staff.

(11) The Bureau of Human Resources should request a list of position titles and grades from all positions with exception rate ranges and details of the exception rate ranges in the 2010 Locally Employed Staff Compensation Questionnaire.

(c) REPORTING REQUIREMENTS.—Not later than 90 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State shall submit to the appropriate committees a report on the implementation of this section, including an assessment of efforts to implement the recommendations of the Office of the Inspector General of the Department of State specified in subsection (b).

Subtitle B—Foreign Service Pay Equity and Death Gratuity

(3) ENTITLEMENT TO ANNUITY.—Section 855(a)(3) of such Act (22 U.S.C. 4071d(a)(3)) is amended by striking ‘‘term ‘designated country’ means a member country of—’’ and inserting ‘‘term ‘designated country’ means a member country of—’’.

(4) DEDUCTIONS AND WITHHOLDINGS FROM PAY.—Section 856(a)(2) of such Act (22 U.S.C. 4071a(2)) is amended to read as follows:

‘‘(1) The term ‘designated country’ means a member country of—

(A) the North Atlantic Treaty Organization;

(b) the European Union;

(c) the term ‘designated entity’ means—

(A) the North Atlantic Treaty Organization;

(b) the European Union;

(d) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to—

(1) authorize the appointment as an officer or employee of the United States of—

(A) an individual whose allegiance is to any country, government, or foreign or international entity other than to the United States;

(B) an individual who has not met the requirements of sections 3331, 3332, 3333, and 3731 of title 5, United States Code, and any other test of law containing eligibility for appointment as, and continuation of employment as, an officer or employee of the United States;

(2) authorize the Secretary to assign a member of the Service to a position with any foreign country whose laws, or foreign or international entity whose rules, require such member to give allegiance or loyalty to such country or entity while assigned to such position.”

(b) TECHNICAL AND CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Section 305 of the Foreign Service Act of 1980 is amended—

(1) in section 503 (22 U.S.C. 3982)—

(A) in the heading, by striking “and inserting “FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS, or”;

and

(B) in subsection (a)(1), by inserting before the semicolon at the end the following: “; or with a foreign government under sections 506 or 507;” and

(2) in section 2, in the table of contents—

(A) in the entry relating to section 503 and inserting the following new item:

(B) by adding after the item relating to section 503 the following new item:

“Sec. 506. Transatlantic diplomatic fellowship program.”

SEC. 322. SECURITY OFFICERS EXCHANGE PROGRAM.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Chapter 5 of title 1 of the Foreign Service Act of 1980 (22 U.S.C. 4010 et seq.) is amended by adding after section 506 (as added by section 321(a) of this Act) the following new section:

“Sec. 507. SECURITY OFFICERS EXCHANGE PROGRAM.

“(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary is authorized to establish the Security Officers Exchange Program. Under the program, the Secretary may assign a member of the Service, for not more than a total of three years, to a position with any country or international organization designated by the Secretary pursuant to subsection (c) that permits an employee to be assigned to a position within the Department.

(b) SALARY AND BENEFITS.—The salary and benefits of the members of the Service shall be paid as described in subsection (b) of section 503 during a period in which such officer is participating in the Security Officers Exchange Program. The salary and benefits of an employee of a designated country or international organization participating in such program shall be paid by such country or international organization during a period in which such employee is participating in the program.

“(c) DESIGNATION.—The Secretary may designate a country or international organization to participate in this program if the Secretary determines that such participation is in the national security interests of the United States.

(d) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to—

“(A) an individual whose allegiance is to any country or foreign or international entity other than to the United States; or

“(B) an individual who has not met the requirements of sections 3331, 3332, 3333, and 7311 of title 5, United States Code, and any other provision of law concerning eligibility for appointment as, and continuation of employment as, an officer or employee of the United States;

“(2) authorize the Secretary to assign a member of the Service to a position with any foreign country whose laws, or foreign or international entity whose rules, require such member to give allegiance or loyalty to such country or entity while assigned to such position.

(b) TECHNICAL AND CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Section 2 of the Foreign Service Act of 1980 is amended, in the table of contents, by adding after the item relating to section 506 (as added by section 321(b)(2)(B) of this Act) the following new item:

“Sec. 507. Security officers exchange program.”

SEC. 323. SUSPENSION OF FOREIGN SERVICE MEMBERS WITHOUT PAY.

(a) SUSPENSION.—Section 610 of the Foreign Service Act of 1980 (22 U.S.C. 4010) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

“(c)(1) In order to promote the efficiency of the Service, the Secretary may suspend a member of the Foreign Service without pay when the member’s clearance is suspended or when there is reasonable cause to believe that the member has committed a crime for which a sentence of imprisonment may be imposed.

“(2) Any member of the Foreign Service for whom a suspension is proposed shall be entitled to—

“(A) written notice stating the specific reasons for the proposed suspension;

“(B) a reasonable time to respond orally and in writing to the proposed suspension;

“(C) representation by an attorney or other representative; and “(D) a final written decision, including the specific reasons for such decision, as soon as practicable.

“(3) Any member suspended under this section may file a grievance in accordance with the procedure applicable to grievances under chapter 111 of this title.

“(4) In the case of a grievance filed under paragraph (3)—

(A) the review by the Foreign Service Grievance Board shall be limited to a determination of whether the provisions of paragraphs (1) and (2) have been fulfilled; and

(B) the Foreign Service Grievance Board may not exercise the authority provided under section 1106.

“(5) In this subsection—

“(A) The term ‘reasonable time’ means—

“(i) with respect to a member of the Foreign Service assigned to duty in the United States, 15 days after receiving notice of the proposed suspension; and “(ii) with respect to a member of the Foreign Service assigned to duty outside the United States, 30 days after receiving notice of the proposed suspension.

“(B) The term ‘suspend’ or ‘suspension’ means the placing of a member of the Foreign Service in a temporary status without duties and pay.

(c) CONFORMING AND CLERICAL AMENDMENTS.—

(1) AMENDMENT OF SECTION HEADING.—Such section, as amended by subsection (a) of this section, is further amended in the section heading—

(A) by inserting “F OREIGN GOVERNMENTS, OR’’;

(B) in subsection (a), by striking “subsection” and inserting “paragraph (2);” and

(C) in paragraph (5), by striking the period at the end.

(2) TECHNICAL AND CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(A) in subsection (a), by striking “subsection” and inserting “paragraph (2);” and

(B) by striking paragraph (2) and (3) and redesignating paragraph (3) as paragraph (2).

SEC. 324. PERSONAL SERVICES CONTRACTORS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—In addition to other authorities that may be available, the Secretary of State may establish a pilot program (in this section referred to as the “program”) for the purpose of hiring United States citizens or aliens as personal services contractors, for service in the United States, or for service both in the United States and abroad, to respond to new or emerging needs or to augment current services.

(b) CONDITIONS.—The Secretary is authorized to use the authority of subsection (a), subject to the following conditions:

(1) The Secretary determines that existing personal resources are insufficient.

(2) The contractor is not including options, may not exceed two years, unless the Secretary makes a finding that exceptional circumstances justify an extension of up to one additional year.

(3) Not more than a total of 200 United States citizens or aliens are employed at any one time as personal services contractors under this section.

(4) This authority may only be used to obtain specialized skills or experience to respond to urgent needs.

(c) STATUS OF PERSONAL SERVICE CONTRACTORS.—

(1) In general.—An individual hired as a personal service contractor pursuant to this section shall not, by virtue of such hiring, be considered to be an employee of the United States Government for purposes of any law administered by the Office of Personnel Management.

(2) APPLICABLE LAWS.—An individual hired as a personal service contractor pursuant to this section shall be covered, in the same manner as a similarly-situated employee, by—

(A) the Ethics in Government Act of 1978; and

(B) section 27 of the Office of Federal Procurement Policy Act.

(c) chapter 73 of title 5, sections 201, 203, 205, 207, 208, and 209 of title 18, and section 1346 and chapter 171 of title 28, United States Code.

(d) EXCEPTION.—This section shall not affect the determination as to whether an individual hired as a personal service contractor... pursuant to this section is an employee of the United States Government for purposes of any Federal law not specified in paragraphs (1) and (2).

(d) TERMINATION OF AUTHORITY.—The authority to award personal services contracts under the program authorized by this section shall terminate on September 30, 2011. A contract entered into on or before the termination date under this subsection may remain in effect until expiration.

SEC. 329. PROTECTION OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS.

(a) RESOURCES TO PROTECT INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS.—The Secretary of State shall ensure that the protection in foreign countries of the intellectual property rights of United States persons in other countries is a significant component of United States foreign policy in general and in relations with individual countries. The Secretary of State, in consultation with the Director General of the United States and Foreign Commercial Service and other agencies as appropriate, shall ensure that adequate resources are available to diplomatic missions in any country that is identified under section 182(a)(1) of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2242(a)(1)).

(b) NEW APPOINTMENTS.—The Secretary of State, in consultation with the Director General of the United States and Foreign Commercial Service, shall appoint 10 intellectual property attaches to serve in United States embassies or other diplomatic missions. The 10 appointments shall be in addition to personnel serving, on the date of this Act, in the capacity of intellectual property attaches from any department or agency of the United States at United States embassies or other diplomatic missions.

(c) PRIORITY ASSIGNMENTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraph (2), in designating the embassies or other missions to which attaches are assigned under subsection (b), the Secretary of State shall give priority to those countries where the activities of an attaché or attaché with the government to reform its applicable laws, regulations, practices, and agencies to enable that government to fulfill its international and bilateral obligations with respect to intellectual property rights.

(2) CONSIDERATION OF FACTORS.—The Secretary of State shall consider the following factors in making such designations:

(A) The need for increased United States bilateral and multilateral efforts to enhance the protection of intellectual property rights.

(B) The degree of respect for intellectual property rights.

(C) The presence of intellectual property attaches assigned to other countries.

(D) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and the host country.

(K) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and international organizations.

(L) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and other countries.

(M) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and international organizations.

(N) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and other countries.

(O) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and international organizations.

(P) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and other countries.

(Q) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and international organizations.

(R) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and other countries.

(S) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and international organizations.

(T) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and other countries.

(U) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and international organizations.

(V) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and other countries.

(W) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and international organizations.

(X) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and other countries.

(Y) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and international organizations.

(Z) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and other countries.

(aa) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and international organizations.

(bb) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and other countries.

(cc) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and international organizations.

(dd) The potential for increased cooperation between the United States and other countries.

(3) The existence of other countries to which attaches are assigned under subsection (a) that are serving at United States embassies in other countries.

(d) DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY ATTACHES.—The intellectual property attaches appointed under subparagraph (a) shall coordinate training and technical assistance programs of the United States Government with the intellectual property attaches appointed under subsection (a) in their efforts to combat and piracy.

(e) TRAINING.—The Secretary of State shall ensure that each attaché appointed under subsection (a) is fully trained for the responsibilities of the attaché’s duties at the United States embassy or other mission in question.

(g) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of State shall submit to the Congress, not later than December 31 of each year, a report on the appointment, designation for assignment, and activities of all intellectual property attaches of any Federal department or agency who are serving at United States embassies or other diplomatic missions.

(2) CONTENTS.—Each report under paragraph (1) shall include the following:

(A) A description of the progress, or lack thereof, in the preceding year regarding the resolution of general and specific intellectual property property problems.

(B) An assessment of the obstacles preventing the host government of each country described in subparagraph (A) from implementing adequate measures to fulfill its international and bilateral obligations with respect to intellectual property rights.

(C) An assessment of the adequacy of the resources of the Department of State employed to carry out subparagraphs (A) and (B) and, if necessary, an assessment of the need for additional resources for such purposes.

(h) DEVELOPMENT OF TALENT.—

(1) COUNTERFEITING; COUNTERFEIT GOODS.—

TITLE IV—INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

Subtitle A—International Leadership

SEC. 401. SHORT TITLE.
This subtitle may be cited as the “United States International Women's Rights Act of 2009”.

SEC. 402. PROMOTING ASSIGNMENTS TO INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS.

(a) PROMOTIONS.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 603(b) of the Foreign Service Act of 1980 (22 U.S.C. 4063) is amended, in the second sentence, by inserting before the period the following: “,” and shall consider whether the member of the Service has served in a position whose primary responsibility is to formulate policy toward, or represent the United States at, an international organization or a bilateral or multilateral institution that is engaged in international negotiations.

(2) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by paragraph (1) shall be in effect at the date of the enactment of this Act and shall apply to members of the Foreign Service beginning on January 1, 2015.

(b) ESTABLISHMENT OF A MULTILATERAL DIPLOMACY CONE IN THE FOREIGN SERVICE.—
(1) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(II) The Department of State maintains a number of United States missions both within the United States and abroad that are dedicated to representing the United States to international organizations and institutions, including missions in New York, Brussels, Geneva, Rome, Montreal, Nairobi, Vienna, and Paris.

(III) In the offices at the Harry S. Truman Building, the Department maintains a significant number of positions in bureaus that are either dedicated, or whose primary responsibility is to represent the United States at, an international organization or a bilateral or multilateral entity.

(2) REPORT.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary... of State shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report—

(A) evaluating whether a new cone should be established for the Foreign Service that concentrates on the service of the United States at international organizations and multilateral institutions or are primarily responsible for participation in broad-based multilateral negotiations of international instruments; and

(B) alternative mechanisms for achieving the objective of developing a core group of United States diplomats and other Government employees who have expertise and broad experience in conducting multilateral diplomacy.

SEC. 403. IMPLEMENTATION AND ESTABLISHMENT OF OFFICE ON MULTILATERAL NEGOTIATIONS.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT OF OFFICE.—The Secretary of State is authorized to establish, within the Bureau of International Organization Affairs, an Office on Multilateral Negotiations, to be headed by a Special Representative for Multilateral Negotiations (in this section referred to as the ‘‘Special Representative’’).

(b) APPOINTMENT.—If the office referred to in subsection (a) is established, the Special Representative shall be appointed by the President by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and shall have the rank of Ambassador-at-Large.

(c) STAFFING.—The Special Representative shall have a staff of Foreign Service officers skilled in multilateral diplomacy.

(d) DUTIES.—The Special Representative shall have the following responsibilities:

(1) IN GENERAL.—The primary responsibility of the Special Representative shall be to assist in the overall preparation for, and the advocacy efforts undertaken by the Department of State and other United States agencies, in the United States participation in multilateral negotiations, including negotiations that will have the following purposes:

A. effective strategies and tactics to achieve United States policy objectives at multilateral negotiations;

B. the need for and timing of high level intervention by the President, the Secretary of State, the Deputy Secretary of State, and other United States officials to support and ensure that United States officials are actively engaged; and

C. the composition of United States delegations to multilateral conferences and organizations;

D. liaison with Congress, international organizations, non-governmental organizations and the private sector on matters affecting multilateral negotiations.

(2) LEADERSHIP AND MEMBERSHIP OF INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS.—The Special Representative, in coordination with the Assistant Secretary for International Organization Affairs, shall direct the efforts of the United States Government to reform the criteria for leadership and membership of international organizations.

(3) PARTICIPATION IN MULTILATERAL NEGOTIATIONS.—The Special Representative, or members of the Special Representative’s staff, may, as required by the President or the Secretary of State, serve on a United States delegation to any multilateral negotiation.

SEC. 404. SYNCHRONIZATION OF UNITED STATES CONTRIBUTIONS TO INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS.

Not later than the date of the enactment of this Act, the President shall transmit to the appropriate congressional committees a plan on the implementation of section 404 of the Foreign Relations Authorization Act, Public Law 107–228; relating to a resumption by the United States of the payment of its full contributions to certain international organizations at the beginning of each fiscal year.

SEC. 405. UNITED STATES ARREARAGES TO THE UNITED NATIONS.

In addition to amounts otherwise available for the payment of contributions to International Organizations and Contributions for International Peacekeeping Activities, there is authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to repay all United States arrearages in payments to the United Nations recognized by the United States.

Subtitle B—General Provisions

SEC. 411. ORGANIZATION OF AMERICAN STATES.

(a) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) multilateral diplomacy in the context of the Americas has suffered considerably in the past decade, to the detriment of the national interest of the United States in the region;

(2) given the recent proliferation of multilateral groupings in the Americas region in which the United States is no longer a member, it is imperative to focus on and promote United States diplomatic efforts in the Organization of American States (OAS), where the United States is a founding member and whose central tenets include democratic values considered vital for this region;

(3) it is critical for the United States to immediately re-establish its unique leadership voice in this region and specifically in the OAS setting; and

(4) an effective way to achieve this short term objective is to establish a fund to promote multilateral interests of the United States in the region.

(b) MULTILATERAL FUND.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—There is hereby established in the Department of State a Fund to Promote Multilateralism in the Americas (referred to in this section as the ‘‘Fund’’).

(2) ACTIVITIES SUPPORTED.—The Fund shall support activities that promote the multilateral interests of the United States in the Americas region, including—

A. United States diplomatic activities within and related to the OAS;

B. voluntary contributions to entities and organs of the OAS to carry out programs and activities that support the interests of the United States;

C. outreach and cultural activities; and

D. conferences and general advocacy for United States interests.

(c) ADMINISTRATION.—The Fund shall be administered by the United States Mission to the Organization of American States (as directed by the United States Permanent Representative to the OAS, for use on matters that arise in the context of the OAS).

(d) AUTHORIZATION.—Of the amounts authorized to be appropriated for the Administration of Foreign Affairs pursuant to section 101, there is authorized to be appropriated $2,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2010 and 2011 only to carry out this section.

SEC. 412. PEACEKEEPING OPERATIONS CONTRIBUTIONS.

Section 404(b)(2)(B) of the Foreign Relations Authorization Act, Fiscal Years 1994 and 1995 (Public Law 103–266) (22 U.S.C. 267 note) is amended at the end by adding the following new clause:

“(9) For amounts made available during calendar years 2009, 2010, and 2011, 27.1 percent.”.

SEC. 413. PACIFIC ISLANDS FORUM.

It is the sense of Congress that the Secretary of State should work with the Pacific Islands Forum to find appropriate affiliations for repatriated nuclear weapons from American Samoa and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands.

SEC. 414. REVIEW OF ACTIVITIES OF INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Not later than one year after the date of the enactment of this Act and two years thereafter, the Secretary of State shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report on the activities of each of the commissions specified in paragraphs (1), (2), and (3) of section 403.

(b) REPORT ELEMENTS.—The reports required under subsection (a) shall include information concerning the following:

1. amounts obligated and expended during the two previous fiscal years by each of such commissions.

2. A description of the projects carried out during such years by each of such commissions and a description of the management and implementation of such projects, including the use of private contractors.

3. Projects anticipated during the next two fiscal years related to the activities of each of such commissions because of obligations that the United States has entered into based on any agreements or arrangements between the United States and another country.

(c) SUBMISSION OF THE REPORTS.—The reports required under subsection (a) shall be submitted by the President in accordance with section 410(a) of title 31, United States Code.

SEC. 415. ENHANCING NUCLEAR SAFEGUARDS.

(a) AUTHORIZATION.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons, done at Washington, London, and Moscow July 1, 1968, entered into force March 5, 1970 (commonly known as the ‘‘Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty’’ or ‘‘NPT’’) and the safeguards system of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) are indispensable to international peace and security.

(2) Congress has long supported efforts aimed at effective and efficient assurances of nuclear fuel supply, the strengthening of IAEA safeguards, and assistance to the developing world for nuclear and non-nuclear energy sources, as mandated in the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Act of 1978 (22 U.S.C. 2301 et seq.).

(3) According to some experts, global energy demand will grow by 35 percent in the next 20 years, predominantly in developing countries.

(4) The Government Accountability Office (GAO) stated in testimony before Congress in September 2008 that ‘‘while IAEA is increasingly relying on the analytical skills of its staff to detect countries’ undeclared nuclear activities, the agency is facing a looming human capital crisis.’’

(5) The Director General of the IAEA told the Board of Governors of the IAEA in March 2009 that the ‘‘deteriorating conditions in our laboratories, for example, threaten both our ability to deliver programmed services as well as our independent analytical capability’’.

(6) Considerable investment is needed for the IAEA’s Safeguards Analytical Laboratory (SAL), to meet future IAEA requirements as its workload is growing, the laboratory’s infrastructure is aging, and IAEA requirements have become more demanding, and while initial plans have been made for laboratory enhancement and are currently pending budgetary approval (sometime in 2009), the simple fact is that, as more countries implement safeguards, many more nuclear samples come to SAL for analysis.

(7) The existing funding, planning, and execution of IAEA safeguards in the United States is important to meet the predicted growth in the future of civilian nuclear power, and therefore any growth in civillian nuclear power must be evaluated against the challenges it poses to verification of the assurances of peace and security provided by the IAEA safeguards system.

SEC. 416. IMPLEMENTATION OF RECOMMENDATIONS OF COMMISSION ON THE PREVENTION OF WEAPONS OF MASS DESTRUCTION PROLIFERATION AND TERRORISM.

(a) AUTHORITY OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary for each of the fiscal years 2010 and 2011 to implement the following recommendations of the Report of the Commission on the Prevention of Weapons of Mass Destruction Proliferation and Terrorism regarding the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) and nuclear nonproliferation:

(1) The United States should work with the IAEA Director General to consider establishing a safeguards user fee, whereby countries with inspected facilities will be assessed a fee to help defray the costs of IAEA inspections.

(2) The United States should work with the IAEA Director General and other interested parties to routinely (at least every two years) assess whether the IAEA can meet its own inspection goals, whether those goals afford timely warning of an ability to account for a bomb’s worth of nuclear material, and to recommend any necessary measures, including what corrective actions, if any, might help the IAEA to achieve its inspection goals. This assessment should also clarify those instances in which achieving the goals is not possible.

(3) The United States should work with the IAEA Director General to provide for the acquisition and implementation of near-real-time surveillance equipment at a number of sites where nuclear fuel rods are located and where such equipment must be installed so that the IAEA can conduct continuous monitoring of the fresh and spent fuel rods and to install wide-area surveillance needed to monitor activities under the Additional Protocol.

(4) The United States should work with the IAEA Director General to promote much-needed transparency at suspect sites, to help deter transfers of nuclear fuel and nuclear weapons technology, and to encourage IAEA member states to maintain a registry of all foreign visitors to safeguarded sites. This registry should be made available to other IAEA members upon request.

(5) The United States should work with the IAEA Director General to establish a complete count of categories of nuclear materials that could be used to make nuclear bombs. The information should be shared, as appropriate, with individual IAEA member states and the public so that it can be used effectively in developing the plan for IAEA safeguards. The IAEA should update the database regularly.

(6) The United States should work with the IAEA Director General to require that the transfer of all items on the Nuclear Suppliers Group dual-use and trigger lists be reported to the IAEA or relevant authority and assist in developing a system to process and analyze the information gathered, making unreported transfers illegal and subject to seizure.

(b) REPORT.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State shall submit to the appropriate congres-

(c) CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—There shall be in the Foundation a Chief Executive Officer who shall be responsible for the management of the Foundation.

(2) APPOINTMENT.—The Chief Executive Officer shall be appointed by the Board and shall be a recognized leader in higher education, business, or foreign policy, chosen on the basis of a rigorous search.

(3) RELATIONSHIP TO BOARD.—The Chief Executive Officer shall report to and be under the direct authority of the Board.

(4) COMPENSATION AND PERK.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The Chief Executive Officer shall be compensated at the rate provided for level IV of the Executive Schedule under section 5315 of title 5, United States Code.

(B) AMENDMENT.—Section 5315 of title 5, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"Chief Executive Officer, Senator Paul Simon Study Abroad Foundation."
(ii) TRAVEL EXPENSES.—Each such member of the Board shall receive travel expenses, including per diem in lieu of subsistence, in accordance with applicable provisions under subchapter I of chapter 57 of title 5, United States Code.

(B) OTHER MEMBERS.—(i) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in clause (ii), a board member described in paragraph (3)(B) while away from the member’s home or regular place of business on necessary travel to carry out the functions of the Foundation shall be paid per diem, travel, and transportation expenses in the same manner as is provided under subchapter I of chapter 57 of title 5, United States Code.

(ii) PROHIBITION.—(A) The member of the Board may not be paid per diem compensation under clause (i) for more than 90 days in any calendar year.

SEC. 706. ESTABLISHMENT AND OPERATION OF PROGRAM.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT OF THE PROGRAM.—There is hereby established a program, which shall—

(1) be administered by the Foundation; and

(2) award grants to—

(A) United States students for study abroad;

(B) nongovernmental institutions that provide and promote study abroad opportunities for United States students, in consortium with institutions described in subparagraph (C); and

(C) institutions of higher education, individually or in consortia, in order to accomplish the objectives set forth in subsection (b).

(b) OBJECTIVES.—The objectives of the program established under subsection (a) are that, within ten years of the date of the enactment of this Act—

(1) not less than 1,000,000 undergraduate and graduate students shall study abroad annually for credit;

(2) the demographics of study-abroad participants will reflect the demographics of the United States student population, including students enrolled in community colleges, minority-serving institutions, and institutions serving large numbers of low-income and first-generation students;

(3) an increasing portion of study abroad will take place in nontraditional study abroad destinations, with a substantial portion of such increases taking place in developing countries;

(c) MANDATE OF THE PROGRAM.—In order to accomplish the objectives set forth in subsection (b), the Foundation shall, in administering the program established under subsection (a), take fully into account the recommendations of the Commission on the Abraham Lincoln Study Abroad Fellowship Program (established pursuant to section 711(a) of title 31, United States Code, as added by the American Competitiveness in the Twenty-first Century Act of 2000) and other advice of appropriate experts and institutions.

(d) STRUCTURE OF GRANTS.—In accordance with the recommendations of the Commission on the Abraham Lincoln Study Abroad Fellowship Program, grants awarded under the program established by this section shall be structured to the maximum extent practicable to promote appropriate reforms in institutions of higher education in order to remove barriers to participation of students studying abroad.

(e) GRANTS TO INDIVIDUALS AND INSTITUTIONS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(A) the Foundation should award not more than 25 percent of the funds awarded as grants to individuals described in subparagraph (A) of subsection (a)(2) and not less than 75 percent of such proceeds to institutions described in subparagraphs (B) and (C) of such subsection; and

(B) the Foundation should ensure that not less than 85 percent of the amount awarded to such institutions is used to award scholarships to students.

(f) BALANCE OF LONG-TERM AND SHORT-TERM STUDY ABROAD PROGRAMS.—In administering the program established under subsection (a), the Foundation shall seek an appropriate balance between—

(1) longer-term study abroad programs, which maximize foreign-language learning and intercultural understanding; and

(2) shorter-term study abroad programs, which maximize the diversity of study abroad to nontraditional students.

(1) QUALITY AND SAFETY IN STUDY ABROAD.—In administering the program established under subsection (a), the Foundation shall require that institutions receiving grants demonstrate that—

(1) the study abroad programs for which students receive grant funds are for academic credit; and

(2) the programs have established health and safety guidelines and procedures.

SEC. 707. POWERS OF THE FOUNDATION; REIMBURSEMENT AND AUTHORIZATION OF SERVICES.

(a) POWERS.—The Foundation—

(1) may determine and prescribe the manner in which its obligations shall be incurred and its services or of property (real, personal, or mixed), including real property, wherever situated, as may be necessary for carrying out the functions of the Foundation;

(2) may adopt, alter, and use a seal, which may be sold or otherwise disposed of at any time; and

(3) in any lawful manner may accept, receive, purchase, receive, sell, lease, exchange, improve, and use such real property wherever situated, as may be necessary for carrying out the functions of the Foundation;

(4) may determine and prescribe the manner in which its obligations shall be incurred and its services or of property (real, personal, or mixed), including real property, wherever situated, as may be necessary for carrying out the functions of the Foundation;

(5) may lease, purchase, or otherwise acquire, improve, and use such real property wherever situated, as may be necessary for carrying out the functions of the Foundation;

(6) may accept cash gifts or donations of services or of property (real, personal, or mixed), including real property, wherever situated, as may be necessary for carrying out the provisions of this title;

(7) may use the United States mails in the same manner and on the same conditions as the executive departments;

(8) may contract with individuals for personal services, who shall not be considered Federal employees, for any provision of law administered by the Office of Personnel Management;

(9) may hire or obtain passenger motor vehicles; and

(10) shall have such other powers as may be necessary for carrying out this title.

(b) PRINCIPAL OFFICE.—The Foundation shall maintain its principal office in the metropolitan area of Washington, District of Columbia.

(c) APPLICABILITY OF GOVERNMENT CORPORATION CONTROL ACT.—(1) IN GENERAL.—The Foundation shall be subject to chapter 94 of subtitle VI of title 31, United States Code, except that the Foundation shall not be authorized to issue obligations or offer obligations to the public.

(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 9013 of the Defense Reform Initiative Act of 2004 (Public Law 107-36) is amended by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

"(5) the Senator Paul Simon Study Abroad Foundation.".

(d) INSPECTOR GENERAL.—(1) IN GENERAL.—The Inspector General of the Department of State shall serve as Inspector General of the Foundation, and, in acting in such capacity, may conduct reviews, investigations, and inspections of all aspects of the operations and activities of the Foundation.

(2) AUTHORIZATION OF SERVICES.—The Inspector General of the Foundation may carry out the responsibilities under this subsection, the Inspector General shall report to and be under the general supervision of the Board.

(3) REIMBURSEMENT AND AUTHORIZATION OF SERVICES.—(A) REIMBURSEMENT.—The Foundation shall reimburse the Department of State for all expenses incurred by the Inspector General in connection with the Inspector General's responsibilities under this subsection.

(4) AUTHORIZATION OF SERVICES.—Of the amount authorized to be appropriated under section 711(a) for a fiscal year, up to $2,000,000 is authorized to be made available to the Inspector General of the Department of State to conduct reviews, investigations, and inspections of operations and activities of the Foundation.

SEC. 709. GENERAL PERSONNEL AUTHORITIES.

(a) DETAIL OF PERSONNEL.—Upon request of the Chief Executive Officer of an agency, any employee of an agency may detail any employee of such agency to the Foundation on a reimbursable basis. Any employee so detailed remains, for the purpose of preserving such employee's allowances, privileges, rights, seniority, and other benefits, an employee of the agency from which detailed.

(b) REEMPLOYMENT RIGHTS.—(1) IN GENERAL.—An employee of an agency who is serving under a career or career conditional appointment (or the equivalent), and who, with the consent of the head of such agency, transfers to the Foundation, is entitled to be reemployed in such employee's former position or a position of like seniority, status, and pay in such agency, if such employee—

(A) is separated from the Foundation for any reason, other than misconduct, neglect of duty, or malfeasance; and

(B) applies for reemployment not later than 90 days after the date of separation from the Foundation.

(2) SPECIFIC RIGHTS.—An employee who satisfies paragraph (1) is entitled to be reemployed under such circumstances within 30 days after applying for reemployment and, on reemployment, is entitled to at least the rate of basic pay to which such employee would have been entitled had such employee never transferred.

(c) Hiring Authority.—Of persons employed by the Foundation, not to exceed 20 persons may be appointed, compensated, or removed without regard to the civil service laws and regulations.

(d) Basic Pay.—The Chief Executive Officer may fix the rate of basic pay of employees of the Foundation without regard to the provisions of chapter 35 of title 5, United States Code (relating to the compensation of persons employed by the Government of the United States). The basic pay shall be nonexclusive.

(e) Definitions.—In this section:

(I) the term ‘agency’ means an executive agency, as defined by section 105 of title 5, United States Code; and

(II) the term ‘Department’ means the Department of State.

SEC. 710. GOAL REVIEW.

(a) Review Required.—Not later than two years after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Comptroller General of the United States shall commence a review of the operations of the Foundation.

(b) Content.—In conducting the review required under subsection (a), the Comptroller General shall analyze:

(1) whether the Foundation is organized and operating in a manner that will permit it to fulfill the purposes of this section, as set forth in section 603;

(2) whether the number of employees and the rate of activity of the Foundation is consistent with the requirements of paragraphs (4) and (5) of section 605(b);

(3) the extent to which the Foundation is being undertaken in a manner consistent with subsections (d), (e), and (f) of section 606;

(4) the extent to which the Foundation is using best practices in the implementation of this Act and the administration of the program described in section 606; and

(5) other relevant matters, as determined by the Comptroller General, after consultation with the appropriate congressional committees.

(c) Report Required.—The Comptroller General shall submit a report on the results of the review required by subsection (a) to the Secretary of State (in the capacity of the Secretary as Chairperson of the Board of the Foundation) and to the appropriate congressional committees.

SEC. 711. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

(a) Authorization of Appropriations.—

(1) In General.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this title $40,000,000 for fiscal year 2010 and $80,000,000 for fiscal year 2011.

(2) Amounts in addition to other available amounts authorized to be appropriated by paragraph (1) are in addition to amounts authorized to be appropriated or otherwise made available for educational exchange programs, including the J. William Fulbright Educational Exchange Program and the Benjamin A. Gilman International Scholarship Program, administered by the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the Department of State.

(b) Allocation of Funds.—

(1) In General.—The Foundation may allocate the amount of the funds made available to the Department of State by the United States Government any of the funds available for carrying out this Act. Such funds shall be available for obligation and expenditure for the purposes for which the funds were authorized, in accordance with authority granted in this Act or under authority governing the activities of the United States Government agency to which such funds are allocated or transferred.

(2) Notification.—The Foundation shall notify the appropriate congressional committees not less than 15 days prior to an allocation or transfer of funds pursuant to paragraph (1).

TITLE VIII—EXPORT CONTROL REFORM AND SECURITY ASSISTANCE

Subtitle A—Defense Trade Controls Performance Improvement Act of 2009

SEC. 801. SHORT TITLE.

This subtitle may be cited as the ‘‘Defense Trade Controls Performance Improvement Act of 2009’’.

SEC. 802. FINDINGS.

Congress finds the following:

(1) In a time of international terrorist threats and a dynamic and changing world environment, United States policy with regard to export controls is in urgent need of a comprehensive review in order to ensure such controls are consistent with national security and foreign policy interests of the United States.

(2) In January 2007, the Government Accountability Office designated the effective identification and protection of critical technologies as a government-wide, high-risk area, warranting a strategic reexamination of existing programs, including programs relating to arms export controls.

(3) Federal Government agencies must review licenses for export of munitions in a thorough manner. For example, the United States is able to assist United States allies and to prevent nuclear and conventional weapons from getting into the hands of enemies of the United States.

(4) Both staffing and funding that relate to the Department of State’s arms control and nonproliferation responsibilities have not kept pace with the increased workload relating to such responsibilities, especially during the current decade.

(5) Outsourcing and off-shoring of defense production and the growth of subcontracting, overseas investment and joint ventures in defense and commercial industries. Federal Government agencies must develop new and effective processes for using export control systems address these problems and the threat they pose to national security.

(6) Export control policies can have a negative impact on United States employment, nonproliferation goals, and the health of the defense industrial base.

(7) Export control policies can have a negative impact on United States employment, nonproliferation goals, and the health of the defense industrial base, particularly when facilitating the overseas transfer of technology or production and other forms of outsourcing, such as offshore (indirect), co-production, subcontracts, overseas investment and joint ventures in defense and commercial industries. Federal Government agencies must develop new and effective processes for using export control systems address these problems and the threat they pose to national security.

(A) defense trade licensing has become much more complex in recent years as a consequence of the increasing globalization of the defense industry;

(B) the most important challenge to the Department of State’s licensing process has been the sheer growth in volume of applicants for licenses and agreements, without the corresponding increase in licensing officers; and

(C) the increase in licensing volume without a corresponding increase in licensing officers and experienced personnel has resulted in delays and increased processing times.

(9) In 2007 the Department of State processed over three times as many licensing applications as the Department of Commerce with about a fifth of the staff of the Department of Commerce.

(10) On July 27, 2007, in testimony delivered to the Subcommittee on Terrorism, Nonproliferation and Trade of the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives to examine the effectiveness of the United States export control regime, the Government Accountability Office stated that—

(A) the United States Government needs to conduct assessments to determine its overall effectiveness in the area of arms export control; and

(B) the processing times of the Department of State doubled over the period from 2002 to 2006.

(11) Allowing a contractee status quo in resources for defense trade licensing could ultimately harm the United States defense industrial base. The 2007 Institute for Defense Analysis report entitled ‘‘The United States and the U.S. Defense Industrial Base’’ found that the large backlog and long processing times by the Department of State for applications for licenses to export defense items led to an impairment of United States firms in some sectors to conduct global business relative to foreign competitors.

(12) Additionally, the report found that United States commercial firms have been reluctant to engage in research and development activities for the Department of Defense because this raises the future prospects that the products based on this research and development, even if intrinsically commercial, will be saddled by Department of State munitions controls due to the link to that research.

(13) According to the Department of State’s fiscal year 2006 budget proposal to Congress, United States commercial exporters licensed or approved under the Arms Export Control Act exceeded $39,000,000,000, with nearly eighty percent of these items exported to United States NATO allies and other major non-NATO allies.

(14) A Government Accountability Office report of September 9, 2001 (GAO–02–120), documented the uncoordinated export licensing affecting 25 percent of the items that the United States Government agreed to control as part of its 2000 commitment to the Missile Technology Control Regime. The United States Government yet has not clearly determined which department has jurisdiction over these items, which increases the risk that these items will fall into the wrong hands. During both the 199th, 199th, and 110th Congresses, the House of Representatives passed legislation mandating that the Administration clarify this issue.

(15) During 2007 and 2008, the management and staff of the Directorate of Defense Trade Controls of the Department of State have identified that the uncoordinated export control system eliminated the large backlog of open applications and have reduced average processing times for license applications; however, the Directorates understanding of the large backlog and long delays remains for complicated cases.

SEC. 803. STRATEGIC REVIEW AND ASSESSMENT OF THE UNITED STATES EXPORT CONTROL SYSTEM.

(a) Review and Assessment.—

(1) In General.—Not later than March 31, 2010, the President shall conduct a comprehensive and systematic review and assessment of the United States arms export controls system in the context of the national security interests and strategic foreign policy objectives of the United States.

(2) Elements.—The review and assessment required under paragraph (1) shall include—

(a) a determination of the overall effectiveness of the United States arms export controls system in order to, where appropriate, strengthen controls and to provide for necessary redundancies across Federal Government agencies, through administrative actions, including regulations, and to formulate legislative proposals for new authorities;

(b) develop processes to ensure better coordination of arms export control activities of the Department of State with activities of other Federal Government agencies and States that are responsible for enforcing United States arms export control laws;
(C) ensure that weapons-related nuclear techology, other technology related to weapons of mass destruction, and all items on the Missile Technology Control Regime Annex are subject to stringent control by the United States Government;
(D) determine the overall effect of arms export controls on counterterrorism, law enforcement, and international cooperation missions of the Department of Homeland Security;
(E) determine the effects of export controls policies and the practices of the export control agencies on the United States defense industrial base on United States employment in the industries affected by export controls;
(F) contain a detailed summary of known atttempts by unauthorized end-users (such as international terrorist organizations, foreign intelligence agencies, and foreign terrorist organizations) to acquire items on the United States Munitions List and related technical data, including—
(i) data on—
(1) commodities sought, such as M-4 rifles, night vision devices, F-14 spare parts;
(2) parties involved, such as the intended end-users, and shipping addresses;
(III) acquisition of technology and techtical data critical to manufacture items on the United States Munic-itions List;
(IV) destination countries and transit countries;
(V) modes of transport;
(VI) trafficking methods, such as use of false documentation and front companies registered under false names;
(VII) whether the attempted illicit transfer was successful; and (VIII) any administrative or criminal enforcement actions taken by the United States and any countries in relation to the attempts illicit transfer;
(ii) a thorough evaluation of the Blue Lanter-Program, including the adequacy of current staffing and funding levels;
(iii) a detailed analysis of licensing exemptions and their successful exploitation by unauthorized end-users; and
(iv) an examination of the extent to which the increased tendency toward outsourcing and offshoring of defense production harm United States national security and weaken the defense industrial base, including direct and indirect impact on the American workforce. This subsection shall describe the effects as well as the policy of some United States trading partners to require offsets for major sales of defense articles; and (G) assess the extent to which export control policies and, as they apply under the Arms Export Control Act promote the protection of basic human rights.
(b) CONGRESSIONAL BRIEFINGS.—The President shall provide periodic briefings to the appropriate congressional committees on the progress of the review and assessment conducted under subsection (a). The requirement to provide congressional briefings under this subsection shall terminate on the date on which the President transmits to the appropriate congressional committees the report required under subsection (c).
(c) REPORT.—Not later than 18 months after the date of the enactment of this Act, the President shall transmit to the appropriate congressional committees and the Committee on Armed Services and the Appropriations Committee on Armed Services of the Senate a report that contains the results of the review and assessment conducted under subsection (a). The report required by this subsection shall contain a certification that the requirement of subsection (a)(2)(C) has been met, or if the requirement has not been met, the reasons therefor.
The report required by this subsection shall be submitted in unclassified form, but may contain a classified annex, if necessary.

SEC. 804. PERFORMANCE GOALS FOR PROC-ESSING OF APPLICATIONS FOR LI-CENSES TO EXPORT ITEMS ON UNITED STATES MUNITIONS LIST.
(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of State, acting through the head of the Directorate of Defense Trade Controls of the Department of State, shall establish and maintain the following goals:
(1) The processing time for review of each application for a license to export items on the United States Munitions List (other than Manufacturing License Agreement) shall be not more than 60 days from the date of receipt of the application;
(2) The processing time for review of each application for a commodity jurisdiction determination shall be not more than 60 days from the date of receipt of the application;
(3) The total number of applications described in paragraph (1) that are unprocessed shall be not more than 7 percent of the total number of such applications submitted in the preceding calendar year.
(b) ADDITIONAL REVIEW.—(1) If an application is not processed within the time period described in the respective paragraph of such subsection, then the Managing Director of the Directorate of Defense Trade Controls or the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Defense Trade and Regional Security of the Department of State, as appropriate, shall review the status of the application and determine if further action is required or if further action should be delayed or terminated.
(2) If an application described in paragraph
(1) or (2) of subsection (a) is not processed within 90 days from the date of receipt of the application, then the Assistant Secretary for Political-Military Affairs of the Department of State shall—
(A) review the status of the application to determine if further action is required to process the application;
(B) submit to the appropriate congressional committees a notification of the review conducted under subparagraph (A), including a description of the application, the reason for delay in processing the application, and a proposal for further action to process the application;
(3) For each calendar year, the Managing Director of the Directorate of Defense Trade Con-tral shall review not less than 2 percent of the number of applications described in paragraph (1) or (2) of subsection (a) for further action to ensure that the processing of such applications, including decisions to approve, deny, or return without action, is consistent with both policy and regulatory requirements of the Department of State.
(c) STATEMENTS OF POLICY.—
(1) UNITED STATES ALLIES.—Congress states that—
(A) it shall be the policy of the Directorate of Defense Trade Controls of the Department of State to ensure that, to the maximum extent practicable, the processing time for review of applications described in subsection (a)(1) to export items that are not subject to the requirements of section 38(b) or (c) of the Arms Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2776 (b) or (c)) to United States allies in direct support of combat operations or peacekeeping or humanitarian operations conducted by the United States Armed Forces is not more than 7 days from the date of receipt of the application; and
(B) it shall be the goal, as appropriate, of the Directorate of Defense Trade Controls to ensure that, to the maximum extent practicable, the processing time for review of applications described in subsection (a)(1) to export items that are making a commodity jurisdiction decision under section 36
(b) or (c) of the Arms Export Control Act to government security agencies of United States
NATO allies, Australia, New Zealand, Japan, South Korea, or Israel; and
(ii) any advances in technology that will allow the time-frames described in subsection (a)(1) to be substantially reduced.
(d) CONGRESSIONAL BRIEFINGS.—If, at the end of any month beginning after the date of the enactment of this Act, the total number of applications described in subsection (a)(1) that are unprocessed is not more than 7 percent of the total number of such applications submitted in the preceding calendar year, then the Secretary of State, acting through the Under Secretary for Arms Control and International Security, the Assistant Secretary for Defense Trade, the Regional Security of the Department of State, the Assistant Secretary for Political-Military Affairs, or the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Defense Trade and Regional Security of the Department of State, as appropriate, shall brief the appropriate congressional committees on such matters and the corrective measures that the Directorate of Defense Trade Controls will take to comply with the requirements of subsection (a).
(e) TRANSPARENCY OF COMMODITY JURISDICT-ION DETERMINATIONS.—
(1) DECLARATION OF POLICY.—Congress declares that the complete confidentiality surrounding the making of several hundred federal jurisdiction determinations made each year by the Department of State pursuant to the International Traffic in Arms Regulations is not necessary to protect proprietary interests of persons or their prices and customers, is not in the best security and foreign policy interests of the United States, is inconsistent with the need to ensure a level playing field for United States exporters, and detracts from United States efforts to promote greater transparency and responsibility by other countries in their export control systems.
(2) PUBLICATION ON INTERNET.—The Secretary of State shall—
(a) in a manner consistent with the purposes of this section, make a commodity jurisdiction determination referred to in paragraph (1) publish on the Internet website of the Department of State not later than 30 days after the date of the determination—
(i) the name of the manufacturer of the item;
(ii) a brief general description of the item;
(iii) the model or part number of the item; and
(iv) the United States Munitions List designation under which the item has been designated, except that—
(I) the name of the person or business organization that sought the commodity jurisdiction determination shall not be published if the person or business organization is not the manufacturer of the item; and
(II) the names of the customers, the price of the item, and any proprietary information relating to the item indicated by the person or business organization that sought the commodity jurisdiction determination shall not be published;

(b) maintain on the Internet website of the Department of State an archive, that is accessible to the general public and other departments and agencies of the United States, of the information published under subparagraph (A).

(g) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION—Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the President or Congress from undertaking a thorough review of the national security and foreign policy implications of a proposed export of items on the United States Munitions List.

SEC. 805. REQUIREMENT TO ENSURE ADEQUATE STAFF AND RESOURCES FOR THE DIRECTORATE OF DEFENSE TRADE CONTROLS OF THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

(a) REQUIREMENT.—The Secretary of State shall ensure that the Directorate of Defense Trade Controls of the Department of State has the necessary staff and resources to carry out this subtitle and the amendments made by this subtitle.

(b) MINIMUM NUMBER OF LICENSING OFFICERS.—For fiscal year 2011 and each subsequent fiscal year, the Secretary of State shall ensure that the Directorate of Defense Trade Controls has at least 250 full-time officers for every 250 applications for licenses and other authorizations to export items on the United States Munitions List by not later than the third quarter of such fiscal year, based on the number of licenses and other authorizations expected to be received during such fiscal year. The Secretary shall ensure that in meeting the requirement of this subsection, the necessary staff and resources to support the processing of applications for licenses and other authorizations to export items on the United States Munitions List are maintained and adequate staff is provided for those functions.

(c) MINIMUM NUMBER OF STAFF FOR COMMODITY JURISDICTION DETERMINATIONS.—For each of the fiscal years 2010 through 2012, the Secretary of State shall ensure that the Directorate of Defense Trade Controls has, in the aggregate, at least 100 full-time officers for every 250 applications for licenses and other authorizations to export items on the United States Munitions List by not later than the third quarter of such fiscal year, based on the number of licenses and other authorizations expected to be received during such fiscal year. The Secretary shall ensure that in meeting the requirement of this subsection, the necessary staff and resources to support the processing of applications for licenses and other authorizations to export items on the United States Munitions List are maintained and adequate staff is provided for those functions.

(d) ENFORCEMENT RESOURCES.—In accordance with section 707(a)(4) of title 22, Code of Federal Regulations, U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement is authorized to investigate violations of the International Traffic in Arms Regulations on behalf of the Directorate of Defense Trade Controls of the Department of State. The Secretary of State shall ensure that the Directorate of Defense Trade Controls has adequate staffing for enforcement of the International Traffic in Arms Regulations.

SEC. 806. AUDIT BY INSPECTOR GENERAL OF THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

(a) AUDIT.—Not later than the end of each of the fiscal years 2011 and 2012, the Inspector General of the Department of State shall conduct an independent audit to determine the extent to which the Department of State is meeting the requirements of sections 804 and 805.

(b) REPORT.—The Inspector General shall submit a report to the appropriate congressional committees that contains the results of each audit conducted under subsection (a).

SEC. 807. INCREASED FLEXIBILITY FOR USE OF DEFENSE TRADE CONTROLS REGISTRATION FEES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 45 of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (22 U.S.C. 2171) is amended—

(1) in the first sentence—

(A) by striking ‘‘For’’ and inserting ‘‘(a) In General.—For’’; and

(B) by striking ‘‘Office’’ and inserting ‘‘Directorate’’;

(2) by amending the second sentence to read as follows:

(b) AVAILABILITY OF FEES.—Fees credited to the account referred to in subsection (a) shall be available only for payment of expenses incurred for—

(1) management,

(2) (licensing in order to meet the requirements of section 804 of the Defense Trade Controls Performance Improvement Act of 2009 (relating to adequate staff and resources of the Directorate of Defense Trade Controls),

(3) compliance,

(4) policy activities, and

(5) facilities, of defense trade controls functions.’’;

and (3) by adding at the end the following:

(c) ALLOCATION OF FEES.—In allocating fees for payment of expenses described in subsection (b), the Secretary shall accord the highest priority to payment of expenses incurred for personnel and equipment of the Directorate of Defense Trade Controls, including payment of expenses incurred to meet the requirements of section 805 of the Defense Trade Controls Performance Improvement Act of 2009.’’.

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 38(b) of the Arms Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2776(b)) is amended by striking paragraph (3).

SEC. 808. REVIEW OF INTERNATIONAL TRAFFIC IN ARMS REGULATIONS AND UNITED STATES MUNITIONS LIST.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of State, in coordination with the heads of other relevant departments and agencies of the United States Government, shall review, with the assistance of United States manufacturers and other interested parties described in section 811(2) of this Act, the International Traffic in Arms Regulations and the United States Munitions List to determine those technologies and goods that warrant different or additional controls.

(b) CONDUCT OF REVIEW.—In carrying out the review required under subsection (a), the Secretary shall review not less than 20 percent of the technologies and goods on the International Traffic in Arms Regulations and the United States Munitions List in each calendar year so that for the 5-year period beginning with calendar year 2010, and for each subsequent 5-year period, the International Traffic in Arms Regulations and the United States Munitions List will be reviewed in their entirety.

(c) REPORT.—The Secretary of State shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees and the Committee on Armed Services of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Armed Services of the Senate an annual report on the results of the review carried out under this section.

TITLE IX—ACTIONS TO ENHANCE THE MERIDA INITIATIVE

Subtitle A—General Provisions

SEC. 901. COORDINATOR OF UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT ACTIVITIES TO IMPLEMENT THE MERIDA INITIATIVE.

(a) DECLARATION OF POLICY.—Congress declares that the Merida Initiative is a Department of State-led initiative which combines the programs of numerous United States Government departments and agencies and therefore requires a single individual to coordinate and track all Merida Initiative-related efforts government-wide to avoid duplication, coordinate and manage efforts, and facilitate accountability and communication with Congress.

(b) DESIGNATION OF HIGH-LEVEL COORDINATOR.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The President shall designate, within the Department of State, a Coordinator of United States Government Activities to Implement the Merida Initiative (hereafter in this section referred to as the “Coordinator”) who shall be responsible for—

(A) designing and shaping an overall strategy for the Merida Initiative;

(B) ensuring program and policy coordination among United States Government departments and agencies in carrying out the Merida Initiative, including avoiding duplication among programs and ensuring that a consistent message emanates from the United States Government;

(C) ensuring that efforts of the United States Government are in full consonance with the efforts of the countries within the Merida Initiative;

(D) tracking, in coordination with the relevant officials of the Department of Defense and other departments and agencies, United States assistance programs that fulfill the goals of the Merida Initiative or are closely related to the goals of the Merida Initiative;

(E) to the extent possible, tracking information required under the second section 620J of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2378d) (as added by section 631 of division J of Public Law 110–161) with respect to countries participating in the Merida Initiative; and

(F) consulting with the Attorney General and the Secretary of Homeland Security with respect to the activities of Foreign Affairs State, and local law enforcement authorities in the United States relating to the goals of the Merida Initiative, particularly along the United States-Mexico border.

(2) RANK AND STATUS OF THE COORDINATOR.—

The Coordinator shall have the rank and status of ambassador.

(3) COUNTRIES WITHIN THE MERIDA INITIATIVE DEFINED.—The term “countries within the Merida Initiative” means Belize, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua, and Panama and includes Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

SEC. 902. ADDING THE CARIBBEAN TO THE MERIDA INITIATIVE.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) The illicit drug trade—which has taken a toll on the small countries of the Caribbean Community (CARICOM) for many years—is now moving even more aggressively into these countries.

(2) A March 2007 joint report by the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) and the World Bank noted that murder rates in the Caribbean—at 30 per 100,000 population annually—are higher than for any other region of the world and have risen in recent years for many of the region’s countries. The report also noted that the strongest correlation for the high crime and violence rates in the Caribbean and their rise in recent years is drug trafficking.

(b) the Committee on Foreign Relations and the Committee on Armed Services in the Senate.
(3) If the United States does not move quickly to provide Merida Initiative assistance to the CARICOM countries, the positive results of the Merida Initiative in Mexico and Central America will be diluted into the Caribbean and multiply the already alarming rates of violence.

(b) EVALUATIONS.—Not later than 30 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State is authorized to consult with the countries of the Caribbean Community (CARICOM) in preparation for their inclusion into the Merida Initiative.

(c) INCORPORATION OF CARICOM COUNTRIES INTO THE MERIDA INITIATIVE.—The President is authorized to incorporate CARICOM countries into the Merida Initiative.

SEC. 903. MERIDA INITIATIVE MONITORING AND EVALUATION MECHANISM

(a) DEFINITIONS.—In this section:

(1) IMPACT EVALUATION RESEARCH.—The term "impact evaluation research" means the application of social science research methods, statistical analysis, and other appropriate scientific methods to judge, compare, and improve policies and program outcomes, from the earliest stages of designing and implementing through evaluation and implementation, with the objective of the rapid dissemination of conclusions and concrete impact on programming.

(2) OPERATIONS RESEARCH.—The term ‘operations research’ means the application of social science research methods, statistical analysis, and other appropriate scientific methods to judge, compare, and improve policies and program outcomes, from the earliest stages of designing and implementing through evaluation and implementation, with the objective of the rapid dissemination of conclusions and concrete impact on programming.

(3) PROGRAM MONITORING.—The term "program monitoring" means the collection, analysis, and use of routine program data to determine how well a program is carried out and how much it costs.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) to successfully support building the capacity of recipient countries’ civilian security institutions, enhance the rule of law in recipient countries, and ensure the protection of human rights, the President should establish a program to conduct impact evaluation research, operations research, and program monitoring to ensure effectiveness of assistance provided under the Merida Initiative;

(2) long-term solutions to the security problems of Merida recipient countries depend on increasing the effectiveness and responsiveness of their civilian institutions, including their judicial system;

(3) a specific program of impact evaluation research, operations research, and program monitoring, should be developed into the Merida Initiative; and

(4) the President, in developing performance measurement methods under the impact evaluation research, operations research, and program monitoring, should consult with the appropriate congressional committees as well as the governments of Merida recipient countries.

(c) IMPACT EVALUATION RESEARCH, OPERATIONS RESEARCH, AND PROGRAM MONITORING.—The President shall establish and implement a program to assess the effectiveness of assistance provided under the Merida Initiative through impact evaluation research on a selected set of programmatic interventions, operations research in areas to ensure efficiency and effectiveness of program implementation, and monitoring to ensure timely and transparent delivery of assistance.

(d) REQUIREMENTS.—The program required under subsection (c) shall include—

(1) an examination of impact evaluation research and operations research questions for main components of assistance provided under the Merida Initiative;

(2) an identification of measurable performance goals for each of the main components of assistance provided under the Merida Initiative, to be expressed in an objective and quantifiable form at the inception of the program;

(3) the use of appropriate methods, based on rigorous social science tools, to measure program impact and operation efficiency; and

(4) adherence to a high standard of evidence in development, forming, and use of impact evaluation research to enhance the impact of such assistance.

(e) CONSULTATION WITH CONGRESS.—Not later than 60 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the President shall brief and consult with the appropriate congressional committees regarding the progress in establishing and implementing the program required under subsection (c).

(f) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—Of the amounts appropriated for the Merida Initiative, up to five percent of such amounts is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section.

(g) REPORT.—

(I) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this section and not later than December 1 of each year thereafter, the President shall transmit to the appropriate congressional committees a report regarding programs and activities carried out under the Merida Initiative during the preceding fiscal year.

(2) MATTERS TO BE INCLUDED.—The reports required under subsection (g) shall include the following:

(A) FINDINGS.—Findings related to the impact evaluation research, operations research, and program monitoring to establish under subsection (c).

(B) COORDINATION.—Efforts of the United States Government to coordinate its activities, including—

(i) a description of all counternarcotics and organized crime assistance provided to Merida Initiative recipient countries in the previous fiscal year;

(ii) an assessment of how such assistance was coordinated; and

(iii) recommendations for improving coordination.

(C) TRANSFER OF EQUIPMENT.—A description of the transfer of equipment, including—

(i) a description of the progress of each recipient country toward the transfer of equipment, if any, from its armed forces to law enforcement agencies;

(1) any successor or related entity to the Southern Africa Enterprise Development Fund that is approved the United States Government;

(2) any organization, corporation, limited-liability partnership, foundation, or other corporate structure that receives, or is authorized by the United States Government to manage, any or all of the remaining funds or assets of the Southern Africa Enterprise Development Fund.

SEC. 1103. DIABETES TREATMENT AND PREVENTION: WATER AND SANITATION FOR PACIFIC ISLAND COUNTRIES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—There is authorized to be appropriated $2,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2010 and 2011 to establish a diabetes prevention and treatment program for Pacific Island countries and for safe water and sanitation.

(b) PACIFIC ISLAND COUNTRIES DEFINED.—In this section, the term “Pacific Island countries” means Fiji, Kiribati, the Marshall Islands, the Federated States of Micronesia, Nauru, Niue, Palau, Papua New Guinea, Samoa, Solomon Islands, Tonga, Tuvalu, and Vanuatu.

SEC. 1104. STATELESSNESS.

(a) PURPOSE.—It is the purpose of this section to increase global stability and security for the United States and the international community and decrease trafficking and discrimination by reducing the number of individuals who are de jure or de facto stateless, and as a consequence of being stateless, are unable to avail themselves of their right to a nationality and its concomitant rights and obligations and are excluded from full participation in civil society.

(b) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) The right to a nationality is a foundation of human rights, and determinant of human rights and development. The State is the primary vehicle through which individuals are guaranteed their inalienable rights and are made subject to the rule of law. Regional stability and security are undermined when individuals cannot avail themselves of their right to a nationality and its concomitant rights and obligations and are excluded from full participation in civil society.

(2) The right to a nationality and citizenship is therefore specifically protected in international declarations, including Article 13 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the 1954 Convention Relating to the Status of Stateless Persons, the 1961 Convention on the Reduction of Statelessness, the 1966 International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, and Article 1(2) of the Convention on the Elimination of Racial Discrimination.

(c) IN GENERAL.—Given the importance of preventing new instances of de jure or de facto statelessness and disseminating best practices for remedying de jure and de facto statelessness;

(d) increase the United Nations educational and technical assistance activities under their jurisdictions and the conditions and consequences of such de jure or de facto statelessness of such individuals.

(2) STATEMENT OF POLICY.—It shall be the policy of the United States to comply with the principles and provisions of the 1954 Convention Relating to the Status of Stateless Persons and the 1961 Convention on the Reduction of Statelessness to the fullest extent possible and to encourage other States to do so as well.

(C) ACTIONS BY SECRETARY OF STATE.—

(i) INCREASE IN RESOURCES AND STAFF.—The Secretary of State shall permanently increase in the Bureau of Population, Refugees and Migration in the Department of State the resources dedicated to and staff assigned to work toward the prevention and resolution of de jure and de facto statelessness and the protection of de jure or de facto stateless individuals.

(ii) COORDINATION.—To coordinate United States efforts toward combating de jure and de facto statelessness, the Secretary of State shall establish an Interagency Working Group to Combat Statelessness. This working group should include representatives of the Bureau of Population, Refugees and Migration, the Bureau of International Organizations, the Bureau of Democracy, Human Rights and Labor, the Office of Trafficking in Persons, the Department of State, and the United States Agency for International Development, as well as representatives from relevant offices of the Department of State, relevant offices of the Department of Homeland Security.

(D) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this subsection.

SEC. 1105. STATEMENT OF POLICY REGARDING THE ECUMENICAL PATRIARCHATE.

It shall be the policy of the United States to urge Turkey to—

(1) respect property rights and religious rights of the Ecumenical Patriarchate;

(2) grant the Ecumenical Patriarchate appropriate international recognition and ecclesiastical succession; and

(3) grant the Ecumenical Patriarchate the right to train clergy of all nationalities, not just Turkish nationals.

SEC. 1106. LIMITATION ON ASSISTANCE FOR WEATHER COOPERATION ACTIVITIES TO COUNTRIES IN THE AMERICAS.

(a) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that the United States should facilitate international cooperation on hurricane preparedness because—

(1) hundreds of millions of people in the Americas live in coastal communities and are susceptible to the damages caused by hurricanes;

(2) the need for hurricane tracking overflights and other weather cooperation activities to track and monitor hurricanes in the Americas is acute;

(3) accurate hurricane forecasts can help prevent the loss of life and injury and reduce property loss and economic disruption.

(b) REPORT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State shall transmit to the appropriate congressional committees a report on the status of United States cooperation with other countries in the Americas on hurricane preparedness and other weather cooperation activities.

(2) MATTERS TO BE INCLUDED.—The report required under paragraph (1) shall include—

(A) a list of countries in the Americas that do not cooperate with the United States on hurricane preparedness and other weather cooperation activities; and

(B) the status of any negotiations regarding hurricane preparedness and other weather cooperation activities between the United States and countries listed in subparagraph (A).

(c) LIMITATION ON ASSISTANCE.—The Secretary of State shall not provide assistance relative to weather cooperation activities to countries listed in the report under subsection (b)(2)(A).

(d) WAIVER.—The Secretary of State may waive the prohibition on assistance relative to weather cooperation activities under subsection (c) if the Secretary of State certifies to the appropriate congressional commi-mittees that the waiver is in the national interest of the United States.

SEC. 1107. STATEMENT OF CONGRESS REGARDING AFGHAN WOMEN:

Congress—

(1) supports the decision by President Hamid Karzai of Afghanistan to submit for revocation the Shi’e Personal Status Law and strongly urges the Afghan government to consider amending that law so that such law violates the basic human rights of women and is inconsistent with the Constitution of Afghanistan;

(2) urges President Karzai, the Ministry of Justice, and other parties involved in reviewing the law to formally declare as unconstitutional the provisions of such law regarding marital rape and restrictions on women’s freedom of movement;

(3) reiterates its strong sense that the provisions in such law which restrict the rights of women should be removed, and that an amended draft of the Shi’e Personal Status Law should be submitted for parliamentary review;

(4) encourages the Secretary of State, the Special Representative for Afghanistan and Pakistan, the Ambassador-at-Large for Global Women’s Issues, and the United States Ambassador to Afghanistan to consider and address the status of women’s rights in Afghanistan to ensure that such rights are not being eroded through unjust laws, policies, or institutions; and

(5) encourages the Government of Afghanistan to solicit information and advice from the Ministry of Justice, the Ministry for Women’s Affairs, the Afghanistan Independent Human Rights Commission, and women-led nongovernmental organizations to ensure that current and future legislation and official policies protect and uphold the equal rights of women, including through national and public discourse on the importance of women’s status and rights to the overall stability of Afghanistan.

SEC. 1108. GLOBAL PEACE OPERATIONS INITIATIVE PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) Over 100,000 military and civilian personnel are engaged in 18 United Nations peacekeeping operations around the world. Peacekeeping operations are critical to maintaining a peaceful and stable environment.

(2) The United States has a vital interest in ensuring that United Nations peacekeeping operations are successful. Countries undergoing conflict experience social and economic instability; the United States, risk becoming safe havens for terrorist organizations, and often feature levels of human rights abuses and human deprivation that are an affront to the values of the American people.

(3) Over the years, United Nations peacekeeping has evolved to meet the demands of different conflicts and a changing political landscape. Today’s peacekeeping mission is most often “multidimensional” and includes a wide variety of complex tasks such as civilian protection, protecting and sustaining institutions of governance, human rights monitoring, security sector reform, facilitating delivery of humanitarian relief and disarmament, demobilization and reintegration of former combatants.

(4) United Nations peacekeeping operations allow the United States to respond to global crises within a multilateral framework with costs shared among nations. A 2007 Government Accountability Office report found that in general United States peacekeeping operations is likely to be “much more expensive” than a United Nations peacekeeping operation, regardless of location.

(5) In many missions due to vast swaths of terrain and limited infrastructure, ongoing low-intensity conflicts in “peace spoilers”, United Nations peacekeepers cannot carry out the complex tasks with which they are charged without critical enablers, and in particular air assets.

(6) The United Nations Secretaries-General has repeatedly noted the deleterious impact of insufficient helicopters for peace missions in Darfur and the Democratic Republic of the Congo. History has shown that under-resourced peacekeeping troops are not only unable to carry out their mandates, but also do not enjoy the credibility of the United Nations and are themselves likely to come under attack.

(7) Senate Resolution 42 and House Resolution 5 of the 110th Congress—

(A) urged members of the international community, including the United States, that possible United States and other assistance needed for the United Nations-African Union Mission in Darfur (UNAMID) to do so as soon as possible; and

(B) urged the President personally by contacting other heads of state and asking them to contribute the aircraft and crews to the Darfur mission.

(8) The current framework of relying on member countries to provide air assets on a volunteer basis has not yielded sufficient results. The United Nations still faces a shortfall of over 50 helicopters for UNAMID, the Democratic Republic of Congo (MONUC), and the Republic of Chad (MINURCAT). A review of trend lines suggests that any new United Nations peacekeeping missions authorization lasting five to seven years would face similar shortfalls.

(9) Numerous studies and reports have determined that there is no global shortage of air assets. It is infeasible for the United Nations peacekeeping missions to fund them personally, and it is infeasible for the United Nations peacekeeping missions to fund them personally, and it is infeasible for the United Nations peacekeeping missions to fund them personally, and it is infeasible for the United Nations peacekeeping missions to fund them personally, and it is infeasible for the United Nations peacekeeping missions to fund them personally, and it is infeasible for the United Nations peacekeeping missions to fund them personally, and it is infeasible for the United Nations peacekeeping missions to fund them personally, and it is infeasible for the United Nations peacekeeping missions to fund them personally.

(b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of assistance authorized by this section is to help project civilians by training and equipping peacekeepers worldwide, to include financing the refurbishment of helicopters.

(c) USE OF FUNDS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of State is authorized to use amounts authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section to provide funding to carry out and expand Global Peace Operations Initiative programs and activities. Such programs and activities shall include—

(A) training and equipping peacekeepers worldwide, with a particular focus on Africa;

(B) enhancing the capacity of regional and sub-regional organizations to plan, train, and deploy peacekeeping troops;

(C) providing transportation and logistics support for deploying peacekeepers;

(D) providing peacekeeping and support for deploying peacekeepers;

(E) developing a cached equipment program to procure and warehouse equipment for use in peace operations globally;

(F) providing support to the international Center of Excellence for Stability Police Units (COESP) in Italy to increase the capabilities and interoperability of stability police to participate in peace operations;

(G) facilitating sustainment and self-sufficiency activities in support of the objectives described in subparagraphs (A) through (F) with a focus on assisting partners to sustain proficien-cies gained in training programs; and

(H) financing the refurbishment of helicopters in preparation for their deployment to United Nations peacekeeping operations or to regional peacekeeping operations which have been approved by the United Nations Security Council.

(2) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that failure on the part of the international community to help project security force members to deploy and maintain fully capacitated United Nations peacekeeping operations will result in continued loss of life and human suffering.

(3) FUNDING.—For fiscal years 2009 through 2014, Congress—

(A) authorizes the Secretary of State to use from any amounts available to the Department of State for foreign military sales, foreign military construction, and foreign military financing—

(i) up to $300 million to provide sustainment and sustenability activities in support of the objectives described in subparagraphs (A) through (F) above

(ii) not to exceed 50% of the amounts authorized to be appropriated for the Global Peace Operations Initiative programs and activities each fiscal year

(iii) not to exceed $250 million of the amounts authorized to be appropriated for the Global Peace Operations Initiative programs and activities each fiscal year

(4) AUTHORIZATION.—The Secretary of State may authorize assistance to the United Nations and other peacekeeping forces to be used by the Secretary of State for the purpose of financing or facilitating the refurbishment or repair of helicopters for Peacekeeping Operations. in the financing of no fewer than three helicopter refubishments by the end of fiscal year 2011.

(3) Support from other countries.—In providing, under paragraph (1), the Secretary of State shall to the greatest extent possible seek to leverage such funding with financing from other countries.

(a) General.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act and one year thereafter, the Secretary of State shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report on the activities of the United States Government to carry out the provisions of this section.

(b) Contents.—The report required under paragraph (a) shall include—

(1) a description of the Global Peace Operations Initiative (GPOI) programs and activities undertaken, by country;

(2) a description of the funds obligated and expended in each country, by program and fiscal year;

(3) a description of the coordination of these efforts within the United States Government interagency process and with other nations along with any recommendations for improvements;

(4) a description of the GPOI’s activities concerning the reimbursement of assets for United Nations peacekeeping operations and regional peacemaking operations that have been approved by the United Nations Security Council;

(5) data measuring the quality of the training and proficiency of the trainees program-wide;

(6) data on the training and deployment activities of graduates of the International Center of Excellence for Stability Police Units (COESPU) in their home countries;

(7) a description of setting activities for all GPOI-provided equipment contribute to improved civilian protection in peace operations.

(c) Authorization of Appropriations.—There is authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary for each of fiscal years 2010, 2011, and 2012, and it shall be available for the purposes authorized in this paragraph. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to affect the authority of any Federal entity to provide such assistance, including—

(A) any actions undertaken by the government of such country to promote a healthy business and investment climate that is also conducive to the United States business community and United States investors, including, as appropriate, steps taken in international fora;

(B) the response of the judicial and local arbitration systems of each such country that is the subject of such detailed assessment with respect to matters relating to the business and investment climates affecting United States citizens and entities, or that have, in the opinion of the Director General of the Foreign Commercial Service, a significant impact on United States business and investment efforts; and

(C) each such country’s access to the United States market;

(2) with respect to paragraph (2) of such subsection—

(A) any actions undertaken by the government of each foreign country that prevent United States citizens and businesses from receiving equitable treatment;

(B) actions taken by private businesses and citizens of each such country against members of the United States business community and United States investors;

(C) unfair decisions rendered by the legal systems of each such country that clearly benefit the United States market;

and

(3) information on—

(A) the extent to which the government of each country is working to prevent unfair business and investment practices; and

(B) the extent of United States Government action to prevent unfair business and investment practices or other actions that harm United States business or investment interests in relevant cases in such country;

(d) Additional Provisions to be Included.—The information required under subsection (a) should, to the extent feasible, include—

(1) with respect to paragraph (1) of such subsection—

(A) a review of the efforts undertaken by each foreign country to promote a healthy business and investment climate that is also conducive to the United States business community and United States investors, including, as appropriate, steps taken in international fora;

(B) the response of the judicial and local arbitration systems of each such country that is the subject of such detailed assessment with respect to matters relating to the business and investment climates affecting United States citizens and entities, or that have, in the opinion of the Director General of the Foreign Commercial Service, a significant impact on United States business and investment efforts; and

(C) each such country’s access to the United States market;

(2) with respect to paragraph (2) of such subsection—

(A) any actions undertaken by the government of each foreign country that prevent United States citizens and businesses from receiving equitable treatment; and subsection (a), and relevant nongovernmental organizations.

(d) BUSINESS AND INVESTMENT CLIMATE WARNINGS.—The Secretary of State, with the assistance of the Assistant Secretary of State for Economic, Energy and Business Affairs, as well as the Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Trade Promotion and the Director General of the Foreign Commercial Service, shall establish a warning system that effectively alerts United States businesses and investors of—

(1) the specific deficiency in the business and investment climate in a foreign country, including discriminatory treatment of United States businesses; or

(2) a foreseeable constraint on the ability of the United States Government to assist United States businesses and investors in a foreign country, such as to the closure of a United States business or consular mission, that is not explained in the most recent Country Commercial Guide for such country.

(e) DEFINITIONS.—In this section:

(1) CO-PRODUCTION AGREEMENT.—The term "co-production agreement" means a United States State Government or United States business working with a foreign government, foreign company, or an international organization to produce or manufacture an item.

(2) RULE OF LAW.—The term "rule of law" means a system under international law or the law of the foreign country taken by the government of such country or by businesses, citizens, or other entities of such country that have control over assets, contracts, or otherwise contributed to an inhumane business or investment climate.

(b) STRATEGY TO PREVENT CHILD MARRIAGE IN DEVELOPING COUNTRIES.

(1) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(a) child marriage is a violation of human rights and the prevention and elimination of child marriage should be a foreign policy goal of the United States.

(b) the practice of child marriage undermines United States investments in foreign assistance to promote education and skills building for girls, reduce maternal and child mortality, reduce gender-based violence, and poverty; and

(c) expanding educational opportunities for girls, economic opportunities for women, and reducing maternal and child mortality are critical to achieving the Millennium Development Goals and the Economic and Development Objectives of the United States, including efforts to prevent HIV/AIDS.

(b) STRATEGY TO PREVENT CHILD MARRIAGE IN DEVELOPING COUNTRIES.

(1) STRATEGY REQUIRED.—The President, acting through the Secretary of State, shall establish a multi-agency, multi-pronged strategy to prevent child marriage in developing countries and promote the empowerment of girls at risk of child marriage in developing countries, including by addressing the vulnerabilities and vulnerabilities of girls under 18 in developing countries.

(2) CONSULTATION.—In establishing the strategy required by paragraph (1), the President shall consult with Congress, relevant Federal departments and agencies, multilateral organizations, and representatives of civil society.

SEC. 1111. INTERNATIONAL PROTECTION OF VICTIMS BY PREVENTING CHILD MARRIAGE.

(a) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) child marriage is a violation of human rights and the prevention and elimination of child marriage should be a foreign policy goal of the United States.

(2) the practice of child marriage undermines United States investments in foreign assistance to promote education and skills building for girls, reduce maternal and child mortality, reduce gender-based violence, and poverty; and

(3) expanding educational opportunities for girls, economic opportunities for women, and reducing maternal and child mortality are critical to achieving the Millennium Development Goals and the Economic and Development Objectives of the United States, including efforts to prevent HIV/AIDS.

(b) STRATEGY TO PREVENT CHILD MARRIAGE IN DEVELOPING COUNTRIES.

(1) STRATEGY REQUIRED.—The President, acting through the Secretary of State, shall establish a multi-agency, multi-pronged strategy to prevent child marriage in developing countries and promote the empowerment of girls at risk of child marriage in developing countries, including by addressing the vulnerabilities and vulnerabilities of girls under 18 in developing countries.

(2) to provide assistance to the government of Somalia and nongovernmental organizations, including Somali-led nongovernmental organizations, and particularly women’s groups, as appropriate;

(3) to support efforts to establish democratic civil authorities and institutions in Somalia that reflect local and traditional structures, built on the rule of law and respect for human rights, and strengthen the security sector; and

(4) to support reconciliation efforts in Somalia in order to ensure lasting peace.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that the President, acting through the Secretary of State, should develop a comprehensive policy in coordination with the international community and the government of Somalia that aligns humanitarian, development, economic, political, counterterrorism, anti-terrorism, and regional strategies in order to bring about peace and stability in Somalia and the region.

Sec. 1112. PROMOTING DEMOCRACY AND HUMAN RIGHTS IN BELARUS.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Despite some modest improvements, notably the release of political prisoners, the Belarusian Government’s human rights and democracy programs are non-existent, as governmental authorities continue to commit frequent serious abuses.
(2) Since 1996, President Alexander Lukashenka has consolidated his power over all institutions and undermined the rule of law through authoritarian means.

(3) The United States supports civil liberties, including freedoms of press, speech, assembly, association, and religion. Nongovernmental organizations and political parties are subject to harassment, fines, and closure. The Belarusian Government maintains a virtual monopoly over the country’s information space.

(4) Belsat. Radio Liberty, European Radio for Belarus, and television, and internet broadcasting to the society; and

(5) leaders and members of the democratic forces in advanced professional training programs for including youth and student exchanges, as well as defenders;

(6) A durable and lasting peace will only be achieved through a political solution that addresses the legitimate aspirations of all Sri Lankan communities; and

(7) the Government of Sri Lanka should put forward a timely and credible proposal to engage its Tamil community who do not espouse violence or terrorism, and to develop power sharing arrangements so that lasting peace and reconciliation can be achieved.

SEC. 112. SENSE OF CONGRESS ON THE HUMANITARIAN SITUATION IN SRI LANKA.

It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) both the Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam (LTTE) and the Government of Sri Lanka must abide by their commitments to respect human life and cease offensive operations;

(2) the United States Government remains deeply concerned about the current danger to civilian lives and the dire humanitarian situation created by the fighting in the Mullaittivu area in Northern Sri Lanka.

(3) the United States should call upon the Government and military of Sri Lanka and the LTTE to allow a humanitarian pause sufficient for the delivery of essential supplies to thousands of civilians in the conflict area to escape the fighting;

(4) both sides must respect the right of free movement of those civilian men, women and children who wish to depart;

(5) the LTTE must immediately allow civilians to depart;

(a) FININGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) West Papua was a former Dutch colony just as East Timor was a former Portuguese colony just as Indonesia was a former colony of the Netherlands.

(2) In 1949, the Dutch granted independence to Indonesia and retained West Papua.

(3) In 1950, the Dutch prepared West Papua for independence.

(4) However, Indonesia, upon achieving independence, demanded the entire archipelago including the Dutch holding of West Papua and the Portuguese controlled territory of East Timor.

(5) In 1962, the United States mediated an agreement between the Dutch and Indonesia. Under terms of the agreement, the Dutch were to leave West Papua and transfer sovereignty to the United Nations after which time a national election would be held to determine whether West Papua's political status. But almost immediately after this agreement was reached, Indonesia violated the terms of the transfer and took over the administration of West Papua from the United Nations.

(b) REPORTS.—

(1) the people of Kazakhstan and its Government maintain a virtual monopoly over the country’s information space.

(2) the United States should call upon the Government and military of Sri Lanka and the LTTE to allow a humanitarian pause sufficient for the delivery of essential supplies to thousands of civilians in the conflict area to escape the fighting;

(3) the United States should call upon the Government and military of Sri Lanka and the LTTE to allow a humanitarian pause sufficient for the delivery of essential supplies to thousands of civilians in the conflict area to escape the fighting;

(4) the United States should impose sanctions against the LTTE leadership; and

(5) the United States should consider imposing sanctions against Indonesian Government officials who ordered the abuses.

(6) the LTTE should then lay down their arms to a neutral third party;

(7) the Government of Sri Lanka should allow the United Nations High Commission for Refugees (UNHCR) and the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) access to all sites where newly arrived displaced persons are being registered or being provided shelter, as well as to the areas where such persons are being forcibly removed from the camps for internally displaced persons;

(8) a durable and lasting peace will only be achieved through a political solution that addresses the legitimate aspirations of all Sri Lankan communities; and

(9) the LTTE should then lay down their arms to a neutral third party.

(8) The cumulative power of explosives from these tests, conducted above ground, on the ground, and underground is believed to be equal to the power of 20,000 explosions of the type being based on Hiroshima’s atomic bomb.

(9) More than 1,500,000 people in Kazakhstan suffered because of decades of Soviet nuclear weapons testing in the region.

(3) the United States should establish a United Nations Fact Finding Mission to determine the extent to which the actions of the former Soviet Union and at which more than 500 nuclear tests had been conducted from 1949 to 1991.

(4) A horrifying array of disease will continue to destroy the lives of hundreds of thousands and their descendants for many generations to come as a result of these tests.

(5) The United States should support the call for a complete ban on nuclear testing and urge the Government of Indonesia has certified that it contains a description of the extent to which the former Soviet Union and at which more than 500 nuclear tests had been conducted from 1949 to 1991.

(6) Because of the successful cooperation between the Governments of the United States and Kazakhstan, the last lethal weapon was removed from Kazakhstan transformed into a peaceful nuclear test site.

(7) Kazakhstan, a consistent ally of the United States in reducing nuclear weapons testing in the region.

(8) By its actions, Kazakhstan has proven itself not only as a universally recognized leader and one of the key members in the nonproliferation process, but also as a reliable and consistent ally of the United States in reducing nuclear threats and preventing lethal weapons from being acquired by terrorist organizations such as Al-Qaeda.

(9) Recently Kazakhstan has also offered to host an international nuclear fuel bank where low-enriched uranium would be stored in accordance with the highest international standards for safety, security, and safeguards.

(10) The Norwegian Defence Research Establishment is also working with Kazakhstan to safeguard nuclear security and nonproliferation.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) West Papuans are Melanesian and believed to be of African descent.

(2) SECRETARY OF STATE.—For fiscal year 2010, the Secretary of State shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report on the 1968 Act of Free Choice, the current political status of West Papua, and the extent to which the Government of Indonesia has certified that it contains a description of the extent to which the former Soviet Union and at which more than 500 nuclear tests had been conducted from 1949 to 1991.

(3) the United States should urge the United Nations to condemn the violence against civilians and press for a political solution to the Sri Lankan conflict.

(4) A horrifying array of disease will continue to destroy the lives of hundreds of thousands and their descendants for many generations to come as a result of these tests.

(5) The United States should support the call for a complete ban on nuclear testing and urge the Government of Indonesia has certified that it contains a description of the extent to which the former Soviet Union and at which more than 500 nuclear tests had been conducted from 1949 to 1991.

(6) Because of the successful cooperation between the Governments of the United States and Kazakhstan, the last lethal weapon was removed from Kazakhstan transformed into a peaceful nuclear test site.

(7) Kazakhstan, a consistent ally of the United States in reducing nuclear weapons testing in the region.

(8) By its actions, Kazakhstan has proven itself not only as a universally recognized leader and one of the key members in the nonproliferation process, but also as a reliable and consistent ally of the United States in reducing nuclear threats and preventing lethal weapons from being acquired by terrorist organizations such as Al-Qaeda.

(9) Recently Kazakhstan has also offered to host an international nuclear fuel bank where low-enriched uranium would be stored in accordance with the highest international standards for safety, security, and safeguards.

offering to host an international nuclear fuel bank; and
(2) the Secretary of State should work to establish a joint working group with the Governments of Chad and Nigeria to explore common challenges and opportunities on disarmament and non-proliferation, and to assist in assessing the environmental damage and health effects caused by Soviet nuclear testing in Sempolatinsk.

SEC. 1125. SENSE OF CONGRESS ON HOLOCAUST-ERA PROPERTY RESTITUTION AND COMPENSATION.

It is the sense of Congress that—
(1) countries in Central and Eastern Europe which have been or are currently in the process of returning looted and confiscated properties to their rightful owners or, where restitution is not possible, pay equitable compensation, in accordance with principles of juste retour and in an expeditious manner that is transparent and fair;
(2) countries in Central and Eastern Europe must enact and implement appropriate restitution and compensation legislation to facilitate private, communal, and religious property restitution; and
(3) countries in Central and Eastern Europe must ensure that such restitution and compensation legislation establishes a simple, transparent, and timely process, so that such process results in a real benefit to those individuals who suffer from the unjust confiscation of their property.

SEC. 1126. EFFORTS TO SECURE THE FREEDOM OF GILAD SHALIT.

It is the sense of Congress that—
(1) the Secretary of State should Vietnam should lift restrictions on religious freedom and implement necessary legal and political reforms to protect religious freedom.

(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 135 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2273) is amended by striking “section 135” and inserting “section 136”.

SEC. 1115. GLOBAL HUNGER AND FOOD SECURITY.

(a) Statement of Policy.—It shall be the policy of the United States to reduce global hunger, advance nutrition, increase food security, and ensure that relevant Federal policies and programs—

(1) provide emergency response and direct support to vulnerable populations in times of need, whether provoked by natural disaster, conflict, or acute economic difficulties;

(2) increase resilience to and reduce, limit, or mitigate the impact of shocks on vulnerable populations and reducing the need for emergency interventions;

(3) increase and build the capacity of people and governments to sustainably feed themselves;

(4) ensure adequate access for all individuals, especially mothers and children, to the required calories and nutrients needed to live healthy lives;

(5) strengthen the ability of small-scale farmers, especially women, to sustain and increase their livelihoods and;

(6) incorporate sustainable and environmentally sound agricultural methods and practices.

(b) Initiatives.—It is the sense of Congress that initiatives developed to carry out subsection (a) should—

(1) be guided by a comprehensive strategy under Presidential leadership that integrates the policies and programs of all Federal agencies;

(2) be balanced and flexible to allow for programs that meet emergency needs and increased investments in longer-term programs;

(3) develop mechanisms that allow cash and commodity-based resources to be effectively combined;

(4) define clear targets, benchmarks, and indicators of success, including gender analysis, in order to monitor implementation, guarantee accountability, and determine whether beneficiaries achieve increased and sustainable food security;

(5) employ the full range of diplomatic resources and provide incentives to other countries to help the United States to mitigate the impact of climate change on agriculture and food security; and

(6) work within a framework of multilateral commitments.

(c) Cooperative Strategy to Address Global Hunger and Food Security.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 30 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the President shall direct the Secretary of State to develop and implement a comprehensive strategy to address global hunger and food security with respect to international programs for—

(A) emergency response and management;

(B) safety nets, social protection, and disaster risk reduction;

(C) nutrition;

(D) market-based agriculture, the rehabilitation and expansion of rural agricultural infrastructure, and rural development;

(E) agricultural education, research and development, and extension services;

(F) government-to-government technical assistance programs;

(G) natural resource management, environmentally sound agriculture, and responses to the impact of climate change on agriculture and food production;

(H) monitoring and evaluation mechanisms; and

(I) provision of adequate and sustained resources, including multiyear funding, to ensure the scale and duration of programs required to carry out the United States commitment to alleviate global hunger and promote food security.

(2) Coordination with International Goals.—In accordance with applicable law, the Secretary of State shall ensure that the comprehensive strategy described in paragraph (1) contributes to achieving the Millennium Development Goal of reducing global hunger by half not later than 2015 and to advancing the United Nations Comprehensive Framework for Action with respect to global hunger and food security, including supporting the United Nations, international organizations, and other relevant organizations and entities in carrying out the Comprehensive Framework for Action.

(d) Reports.—

(1) In General.—The Secretary of State shall submit to the President and Congress, not later than March 31, 2010, and annually thereafter for the next two years, an annual report on implementation of the comprehensive strategy to address global hunger and food security required under subsection (c), including an assessment of agency innovations, achievements, and failures to perform, and policy and budget recommendations for changes to agency operations, programs, and funding.

(2) GAO.—Not later than two years after the date of the enactment of this Act and two years thereafter, the Comptroller General of the United States shall submit to Congress a report evaluating the design, implementation, and Federal Government coordination of a comprehensive strategy to address global hunger and food security required under subsection (c).

SEC. 1116. STATEMENT OF CONGRESS ON THE HUMANITARIAN SITUATION IN SRI LANKA.

Congress makes the following statements:

(1) The United States welcomes the end to the 26-year conflict in Sri Lanka between the Government of Sri Lanka and the Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam;

(2) A durable and lasting peace will only be achieved through a political solution that addresses the legitimate aspirations of all Sri Lankan communities, including the Tamils;

(3) The United States eagerly looks forward to the Government of Sri Lanka’s putting forward a timely and credible proposal to address the legitimate grievances of its Tamil citizens so that peace and reconciliation can be achieved and sustained;

(4) The United States supports the international community’s call for full and immediate access to humanitarian relief agencies to camps for internally displaced persons, and remains deeply concerned about the plight of the thousands of civilians affected by the civil war;

(5) The United States expects the Government of Sri Lanka to abide by its commitments to allow access for representatives of the responsible international organizations to visit the camps and ascertain the process for internally displaced persons; and

(6) The United States welcomes the Government of Sri Lanka’s commitment to place the camps under civilian control and ensure that such camps meet international humanitarian standards, including the right to freedom of movement, as well as Sri Lanka’s pledge to release captured and detainee citizens, and open prisons with separated family members and permit them to return to their homes at the earliest possible opportunity.

Strike section 1222. Strike section 1123.
Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I claim the time in opposition.

The CHAIR. The gentleman is recognized for 10 minutes.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. I yield myself as much time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, at precisely the same time as President Barack Obama continues to assiduously assure Americans, including graduates at Notre Dame University last month, that he wants to reduce abortion at home and abroad, his administration is aggressively seeking to topple pro-life laws in sovereign nations, a clear, deeply troubling contradiction.

First Mr. Obama rescinded the Mexico City policy, a pro-life Reagan-era executive order, that ensured that the $500 million in population control funds appropriated by Congress each year only went to foreign nongovernmental organizations, family planning organizations that did not promote, lobby or perform abortions as a method of family planning. As a result of Obama's new policy, pro-abortion organizations are now flush with cash and will continue to get hundreds of millions of dollars annually to push abortion around the world, all of it decoupled from pro-life safeguards.

I mentioned the Mexico City policy, which is not on the floor today, for context to underscore what is actually happening at the Obama administration. Add to this the fact that the administration has stuffed pro-abortion activists, a literal who's-who from the abortion rights organizations, in key gatekeeper positions, and you get the idea and see that abortion is a serious undertaking by this administration. Even the gatekeeper, the woman—and a fine woman—who heads up the U.S. Agency for International Development, Wendy Sherman, used to be the director of EMILY's List. So every dollar of foreign aid goes through the person who used to be the director of EMILY's List.

Yet Obama's international abortion agenda is unpopular and getting increasingly unpopular with the American public. The Gallup Poll found that by a margin of 65 percent to 35 percent, Americans opposed his rescission of the Mexico City policy. I would note parenthetically that the most recent Gallup Poll from May 15th indicates that Americans are clearly trending pro-life, with 51 percent calling themselves pro-life and 42 percent calling themselves pro-choice. The Gallup Poll found that Americans are clearly trending pro-life.

The Gallup Poll from May 15th indicates that Americans are clearly trending pro-life, with 51 percent calling themselves pro-life and 42 percent calling themselves pro-choice. The Gallup Poll found that Americans are clearly trending pro-life, with 51 percent calling themselves pro-life and 42 percent calling themselves pro-choice.

In late April, Mr. Chairman, we received our distinguished Secretary of State at the Foreign Affairs Committee and I raised some issues that concerned me with her. I noted that the American public has received the Margaret Sanger Award in Houston on March 27th, and then in her speech, which was on the U.S. Department of State's Web site, she quoted that she was “in awe of Margaret Sanger.” She said that “Margaret Sanger’s life and leadership was one of the most transformational in the entire history of the human race and that Sanger’s work both here and abroad saved lives.”

I pointed out that Sanger’s legacy was indeed transformational, but not for the better if one happens to be poor, disenfranchised, weak, disabled, a person of color, an unborn child, or among the many so-called undesirables, the disabled, the mentally ill, the elderly, the weak, and the perpetuation of defectives. In the light of the Secretary of State’s statement, that clearly means universal access to abortion on demand.

By foisting abortion on the developing world via a new government Office on Global Women’s Issues, the Obama administration is squandering America’s political capital to enable the purveyors of death to descend upon nation after nation to promote their deadly wares.

Section 334 of the underlying legislation establishes an Office for Global Women’s Issues, and I suggested that we limit it, that it not become a war room at the Department of State for the promotion of abortion. If so, the prediction is that we will have more dead children and more wounded women.

Even Planned Parenthood’s Guttmacher Institute has said that in most countries it is common, after abortion is legalized, for abortion to rise sharply for several years. Sharply. Contrary to what President Obama says about reduction, the numbers go up.

I would like to ask the distinguished chairman, you know I asked those questions of Secretary of State Clinton. Do you believe that such activity, promotion of abortion, is prohibited under current law as referenced by your amendment? Can this new office promote abortions in any way?

Mr. Berman. They cannot. If the gentleman is yielding on his time to me, they cannot. You know, Abe Lincoln used to tell this story: If you call a tail a leg, how many legs does a sheep have? And the answer is four, because calling a tail a leg doesn’t make it one.

No matter how many times the specter is raised, this office cannot do and has no intention and no plans of doing anything to promote abortions, coerce abortions, promulgate abortion laws or lobby for an abortion policy.

It is an office that is focused generally on the issues of women’s political empowerment: should women have the right to vote, should they be able to run for office, are they treated as equal citizens under the law. It serves as a promoter of better education for women and girls and a series of causes that you are known for caring about. And it does not. It does not.

Mr. Smith of New Jersey. Reclaiming my time on the floor of multilateral organizations like the Organization of American States, the African Union and others, the United Nations, what can the role of this new office be vis-à-vis the abortion issue and those multilateral organizations?

Mr. Berman. If the gentleman will continue to yield, my view is that that office cannot do through indirectness, that is by going through agencies, anything that it is not allowed to do on its own. And it is not allowed to do the things that you are concerned about. And the purpose of the manager’s amendment.

The Chair. The gentleman from New Jersey’s 10 minutes has expired.

Mr. Smith of New Jersey. Will the gentleman yield 1 minute on his time?

Mr. Berman. I will yield more time to discuss this, if you want, but first I am going to yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. Ruppersberger), who has been waiting patiently. Then, if you want, we can come back to this.

Mr. Ruppersberger. I am in support of H.R. 2410 and thank you for yielding, Mr. Chairman.

As chairman of the Technical Tactical Subcommittee of the House Intelligence Committee, I support a provision relative to the International Traffic in Arms Regulations.

ITAR is a set of regulations that control the import and export of defense-related technology and services on the U.S. Munitions List. In 1998, all commercial satellite components were added to the list of restricted munitions exports with licensing conditions. Our Intelligence TNT Subcommittee has investigated ITAR’s effect on our satellite program, and it has clearly affected it in a negative way.

Before the 1998 restrictions went into effect, 73 percent of the world market for commercial satellites went to U.S. companies. By the year 2000, that figure had dropped to 27 percent. There are no allegations that ITAR is harming our national security, but it is clear that we need ITAR to protect our commercial interests, and we are working to mitigate its effects.

Mr. Chairman, thank you for bringing this issue to the floor, and I look forward to working with you and your staff to ensure that U.S. companies can continue to compete in the global marketplace.

Mr. Berman. I yield myself 2 minutes, Mr. Chairman.

Let me just lay out this Office of Global Women’s Issues. First of all, by law, by virtue of the Helms amendment and the Lautenberg amendment, it cannot do, by practice, it does not and has no intention of serving as a vehicle for either abortion policy or coercive abortion.
What does it do? It is dedicated to ensuring that women around the world can realize their potential by fully participating in the political, economic and cultural lives of their societies.

Women around the globe, and the gentleman from New Jersey knows this, women are bought and sold like commodities and trafficked across international borders for sexual exploitation. Young children are married off to men old enough to be their grandfathers, their education and childhood abruptly ended. Girls have their bodies mutilated in the name of culture or tradition, leading to complications in childbirth and lifelong pain and incontinence. Young women are slain by their own families for perceived and sometimes fictitious infractions, simply because they are viewed less as human beings and as symbols of human honor.

Women who become infected with HIV, often because of the infidelity of their husbands, lose their livelihoods or do not have access to the medicines that could prolong their lives and prevent transmission of the virus to their children.

I say to the gentleman, these causes and consequences that I have mentioned have always been at the forefront of the gentleman’s own concerns, and to hold this entire bill and this office hostage to a desire to change abortion law I think is unfair.

I scrupulously avoided and the committee Democrats scrupulously avoided any effort to change that law in the other direction, and I think it is wrong to try to hijack this bill to hold it hostage for those purposes.

I yield back the balance of my time.

The CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. Berman).

The question was taken; and the Chair ordered that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chairman, I demand a recorded vote.

The CHAIR. Pursuant to clause 6 of rule XVIII, further proceedings on the amendment offered by the gentleman from California will be postponed.

AMENDMENT NO. 2 OFFERED BY MS. ROS-LEHTINEN

The CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 2 printed in part C of House Report 111–143.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. I have an amendment at the desk.

The CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 2 offered by Ms. Ros-Lehtinen:

At the end of subtitle B of title IV, add the following:

SEC. 418. WITHHOLDING OF CONTRIBUTIONS EQUAL TO NUCLEAR TECHNICAL CO-OPERATION PROGRAM PROVIDED TO SYRIA, SUDAN AND CUBA IN 2007.

The Secretary of State shall withhold $472,100 from the United States contribution made to the regularly assessed budget of the International Atomic Energy Agency.
Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume, up to 5 minutes.

I rise in opposition to the amendment. I share a lot of the ranking member’s concerns, fundamentally, about the amendments named in her amendment and about the limits of proliferation. But there are sort of three different levels on which I think her amendment raises serious doubts and causes me to want to oppose it.

The first is the assumption that withholding assessed contributions produces the actions we want. We’ve had test cases of this.

Wouldn’t it have been great if the money we withheld from the U.N. population planning account had stopped coercive abortions in China?

Wouldn’t it be great if the dues we are assessed to pay to the United Nations had resulted in the kinds of reforms that eliminated the questionable contact that the minority rightfully point to? And that’s a real challenge to this assumption that the withholding is what achieves the goal. We can wish it a lot, but it didn’t always happen.

Secondly, there are some specific categories of programs here that are involved in this provision that need to be mentioned because, in some cases, they make some sense. The technical assistance provided by IAEA is constructive and supportive of a number of humanitarian needs, such as the eradication of the tsetse fly in various African countries, the fruit fly in Panama, improving cancer diagnosis and treatment in Tanzania, Niger, Mali, Zambia and the Central African Republic, improvements in agriculture in groundwater tracing. These are the kinds of programs that are involved.

Once in a while there may be a project such as in Iran or Syria that may provide a small amount of useful experience in general nuclear science and technology, of course. The most important part is to the extent that some of these programs are about enhancing safety.

The U.S. is totally free on the board to vote against those projects at the Board of Governors, and does so. The U.S. already denies extra budgetary funding for technical cooperation projects for state sponsors of terrorism, which the countries the gentleman mentioned are.

However, the proposed amendment mandates the withholding, not of the voluntary contributions, not of the extra budgetary support, but of the U.S. regular dues to the IAEA.

So what does it do?

It hampers the Agency’s primary function, which is the inspecting and safeguarding of nuclear material in foreign countries. This is cutting off your nose to spite your face.

The IAEA’s technical assistance program is funded entirely from voluntary contributions. The program that, understandably, concerns the gentleman is not from the assessed contributions. It’s from the voluntary contributions. The amendment is not focused on the voluntary contributions. It’s focused on the assessed contributions.

So what will we do? We’ll end up cutting the funds that would otherwise be used by the IAEA to ensure that states are not diverting nuclear material from peaceful to military purposes—pretty enormous concerned inspections that are in the direct national security interest of the United States. That’s what we’re cutting.

So that’s why I think the amendment, not its intention, and even by its focus on these programs, we could live without those programs, but its focus on cutting the assessed dues to the most important functions for the United States of the IAEA makes no sense, and I urge a “no” vote.

The Acting CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentlewoman from Florida (Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN).

The question was taken; and the Acting Chair announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Chairman, I demand a recorded vote.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to clause 6 of rule XVIII, further proceedings on the amendment offered by the gentlewoman from Florida will be postponed.

AMENDMENT NO. 3 OFFERED BY MR. POLIS

The Acting CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 3 printed in part C of House Report 111-143.

The Acting CHAIR. Mr. POLIS has an amendment made in order by the rule, and I ask for its immediate consideration.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 3 offered by Mr. POLIS:

SEC. 9. — BROADENING EXPERIENCE WITHIN THE FOREIGN SERVICE.

Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State, acting through the Director of the Foreign Service, shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a detailed plan to increase the career incentives provided to Foreign Service Officers to serve in bureaus and offices of the Department of State not primarily focused on regional issues, including the Bureau of Democracy, Human Rights and Labor; the Bureau of Oceans and International Environmental and Scientific Affairs, and the Bureau of Population, Refugees and Migration. In formulating such plan, the Secretary shall consult with a broad range of active and retired Foreign Service officers and current and former officials of the Department to elicit proposals on how to provide increased flexibility and strong diplomacy as it sets forth to increase our number of Foreign Service officers, grow our Peace Corps mission, develop new educational and cultural exchange programs, and expand our public diplomacy efforts.

Mr. Chairman, my amendment calls on the Department, as part of the public diplomacy efforts, to make materials found in libraries, resource centers and film screenings available online to help showcase United States culture, society and values in history to as many individuals as possible. It also adds online outreach as an evaluation criteria for our public outreach efforts.

The Internet has made the world a smaller place, making it easier to share information globally in just a matter of seconds. It’s imperative that we utilize the Internet as a means of public diplomacy and continue to explore the effectiveness of online outreach.

My amendment also tasks the State Department with diversifying the experiences of Foreign Service officers. Through creative diplomacy and hard work in often harsh conditions, our Nation’s top diplomatic corps make an enormous contribution to global peace and stability and to the way in which our Nation is viewed overseas. However, many of the best and brightest Foreign Service officers feel forced to focus exclusively on a region or country, frequently avoiding critical assignments in nonregional bureaus, to the detriment of those offices and causes. They aren’t avoiding these assignments because they don’t care about these issues without borders, like human rights, the environment or refugees issues, but rather because the State Department’s promotion system strongly favors those Foreign Service officers who focus on country-specific or regional assignments.

My amendment is designed to correct this inequity and to pave the way for a more balanced and effective diplomatic personnel system. The Secretary of State, acting through the Director General of the Foreign Service, submit a detailed plan to Congress on how the Department will increase career incentives for Foreign Service officers to serve in bureaus and offices not primarily focused on regional issues.

We further ask that the Department consider requiring all Foreign Service officers to serve at least 2 years in a bureau or office that is not focused exclusively on a regional issue before joining the Senior Foreign Service.

The amendment also recommends that a composition of Foreign Service selection boards include the participation of permanent personnel with extensive experience in nonregional assignments. I believe this amendment will help shake up the current system of promotion in the Foreign Service, and result in a stronger and better diplomatic corps that’s able to apply lessons learned from throughout the globe with deep sector expertise when tackling issues such as human rights, the environment, population and refugees.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Chairman, the amendment by the gentleman from Colorado has three main components, none of which I find inherently objectionable.

Most significantly, it would require the State Department to report to Congress with a plan on providing appropriate career incentives for Foreign Service officers to serve in nonregional bureaus of the Department, such as the human rights and refugee-focused bureaus.

And, secondly, it would clarify that some of the new public diplomacy efforts required by the underlying bill also should make use of the Internet for outreach. And even with some question the fiscal wisdom of the underlying provisions, these changes do not exacerbate those flaws. I do not intend to oppose this amendment.

I yield back.

Mr. POLIS. Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, Mr. BERMAN of California.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman for yielding. I strongly support it because it basically works to encourage the development of the fundamental skills of the Foreign Service.

It seeks to broaden the skill set of the Foreign Service by requiring this plan to increase career incentives provided to Foreign Service officers to serve in the bureaus and offices of the Department not primarily focused on regional issues, including the Bureau of Democracy, Human Rights and Labor, Bureau of Oceans and International Environment, and the Bureau of Population, Refugees and Migration.

It asks the Secretary to consider requiring all Foreign Service officers to serve at least 2 years in a bureau office of the Department not primarily focused on regional issues. And it takes a step at the same time at changing the composition of the Selection and Promotion Board to increase the participation of those Foreign Service officers with extensive experience in the nonregional bureaus. Very important. That is something that gets entrenched that way you get ahead in the Foreign Service is you work in the regional bureaus, you work in the political or the economic aspect of that. And the result is that critical issues involving functional programs and these other bureaus are neglected. We want the best and the brightest in all these different areas, and we should look to remove any internal biases that disincentivize that activity.

I thank the gentleman. Mr. POLIS. Mr. Chairman, as the State Department attempts to restore its role as the face of the United States Government abroad, it is crucial that Congress provide our diplomats with the resources and the guidance they need to once again make American diplomacy a top priority.

This legislation is further strengthened by my amendment, which expands public outreach online and encourages the Foreign Service to promote a more diverse set of experiences for its officers, including its senior officers.

Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR. The amendment was agreed to.

AMENDMENT NO. 4 OFFERED BY MR. HUNTER

The Acting CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 4 printed in part C of House Report 111–143.

Mr. HUNTER. Mr. Chairman, I have an amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 4 offered by Mr. HUNTER:

In section 911(c) redesignate paragraphs (3) and (4) as paragraphs (4) and (5).

In section 911(c), insert after paragraph (2) the following:

(3) the Secretary of Defense;

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 522, the gentleman from California (Mr. HUNTER) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California.

Mr. HUNTER. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself as much time as I may consume. And I broke the podium.

The amendment I am offering today to H.R. 2410, the Foreign Relations Authorization Act, states forward. It simply adds the Secretary of Defense to the Task Force on Prevention of Illicit Small Arms Trafficking in the Western Hemisphere that is created under this legislation.

The stated purpose of this task force is to develop a strategy and integrated Federal policies to better control the export of small arms and light weapons in a manner that furthers the foreign policy and national security interests of the United States in the Western Hemisphere.

While this task force is comprised of the Secretaries of Homeland Security and the Attorney General, all of whom should be members of this task force, it does not include perhaps the most important player in global countertrafficking operations, the Secretary of Defense.

The Department of Defense plays an important role in U.S. security cooperation and assistance worldwide, particularly with governments and militaries throughout the Western Hemisphere. These operations are critical to our efforts to promote peace and stability in our region, and intelligence and operational support provided by our military are an integral part of this shared responsibility.

Given the Department of Defense’s role as an interagency partner in countertrafficking and U.S. export control activities, it should not be excluded. I don’t think, in any way from being a primary member of this task force. Whatever this task force puts forward in the way of policy recommendations will be closely evaluated by Congress as we work to address the serious problems of weapons trafficking in our hemisphere. It is important that these findings and recommendations fully represent the role and contributions of those departments primarily involved in combating arms trafficking, protecting U.S. exports, and advancing our foreign policy objectives. And I would like to add, Mr. Chairman, that the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for the Western Hemisphere, Secretary Mora, agrees with this amendment.

Mr. BERMAN. Would the gentleman yield?

Mr. HUNTER. Absolutely, I yield.

Mr. BERMAN. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

While the gentleman may have broken the podium, his amendment does not break the task force; it improves it. The Secretary of Defense should be a member of that task force, and this recommendation simplifies that rather than leave it to the Secretary of State’s discretion. That’s fine with me. I support the amendment and urge its adoption. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. ENGLE. Mr. Chair, I rise today in strong support of the amendment offered by the gentleman from California—Mr. HUNTER—to a provision that I authored in this bill creating a Task Force on the Prevention of Illicit Small Arms Trafficking in the Western Hemisphere.

While recent media attention has focused on the high number of guns—
Mr. Chairman, I have an amendment at the desk made in order by the rule.

Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of Congressman Nadler’s amendment, which, as he explained, expresses the sense of Congress that the United States should continue working with all former states of the Soviet Union to come to an agreement whereby each former state of the Soviet Union would pay the tens of thousands of beneficiaries who have emigrated to the United States the pensions for which they are eligible and entitled.

Over the past several decades, many of the tens of thousands of immigrants who had come to the U.S. from these former Soviet Union states had earlier earned pensions working in their former home countries; however, most often they have been unable to collect what was owed to them.

I support Congressman Nadler’s amendment to work with the government of the former Soviet states to come to agreements whereby these states would pay the pensions to those entitled beneficiaries who have emigrated to the United States. It’s the right thing to do. Further, Mr. Chairman, it would likely result in a lighter burden for U.S. taxpayers and the programs that their taxes fund to aid the elderly.

Mr. Nadler of New York. Mr. Chairman, I now yield 1 minute to the distinguished chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, Mr. Berman.

Mr. Berman. I thank the gentleman for yielding, and I thank him for his amendment. I strongly support it.

A number of immigrants to the United States from the former Soviet Union worked for decades in the Soviet-run industries, contributed to the state’s social security system, and expected to receive their pensions when they reached the requisite age. For a variety of reasons beyond their control, they haven’t received their pensions. And some of these workers were forced to renounce their citizenship when they moved to the United States.

As many of the former Soviet states refuse to pay pensions to those who are no longer citizens, these elderly individuals face a bureaucratic nightmare in seeking to reclaim their rights. This amendment expresses our sense of Congress that we should work with the former Soviet states to establish a workable system that enables the former citizens of those states, as we have with many other states, to receive their rightful pensions.

This should be a no-brainer. It simply urges the State Department to continue efforts to negotiate such arrangements with those states, as we have with many other states. I urge its adoption.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.
workers to claim pensions that are rightfully theirs. It is appropriate. It's right. And I support the amendment and urge its adoption.

Mr. NADLER of New York. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself the remaining time.

I simply want to thank the distinguished chairman of the committee, Mr. BERNSTEIN, and the ranking member, Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN, for supporting this amendment. I know of no opposition. I urge everyone to vote for it. It is the fair and right thing to do, so I hope everyone will vote for it.

Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER).

The amendment was agreed to.

AMENDMENT NO. 6 OFFERED BY MR. MCCAAUL.

The Acting CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 6 printed in part II, page 111-113.

Mr. MCCAAUL. Mr. Chairman, I have an amendment at the desk.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 6 offered by Mr. MCCAAUL: At the end of subtitle A of title XI, add the following:

SEC. 11. COMPREHENSIVE INTERAGENCY STRATEGY AND IMPLEMENTATION PLAN FOR SUDAN.

(a) STRATEGY AND PLAN.—Not later than 60 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the President shall develop and transmit to the appropriate congressional committees a comprehensive interagency strategy and implementation plan, which may include a classified annex, to address the ongoing and inter-related crises in Sudan and advance United States national security and humanitarian interests in Sudan, which shall include the elements specified in subsection (b).

(b) ELEMENTS.—The comprehensive interagency strategy and implementation plan required under subsection (a) shall contain at least the following elements:

(1) Strategy with respect to the Comprehensive Peace Agreement (CPA) and promoting peace and stability in Southern Sudan;

(2) An update with respect to section 1127, a description of a comprehensive policy toward Sudan which balances United States interests in—

(A) the conflict in Darfur;

(B) promoting the Comprehensive Peace Agreement (CPA) and supporting the Comprehensive Peace Agreement (CPA) and promoting peace and stability in Southern Sudan;

(C) resolving long-standing conflicts in Abyei, Blue Nile, and Southern Kordofan;

(D) advancing respect for democracy, human rights, and religious freedom throughout the country;

(E) addressing internal and regional security; and

(F) combating Islamist extremism.

(2) Progress toward achieving the policy objectives specified in paragraph (1), including—

(A) the facilitating the full deployment and freedom of movement of the hybrid United Nations-African Union Mission in Darfur;

(B) ensuring access and security for humanitarian organizations throughout the country including, as appropriate, those organizations that willingly have been expelled by the Sudanese regime;

(C) promoting reconciliation within and among disparate groups;

(D) preventing and countering threat posed by terrorist organizations and criminal organizations that have received support from Sudanese regime; and

(E) meeting the CPA benchmarks, including preparations for the conduct of national elections and referendum; and

(F) shutting down safe havens for extremists who pose a threat to national security of the United States and its allies.

(3) A description of how United States assistance will be used to achieve the objectives set forth in paragraph (1), including a financial plan and description of resources, programming, and management of United States foreign assistance to Sudan and the criteria used to determine their prioritization.

(4) An evaluation and description of additional measures that will be taken to advance United States policy, which may range from—

(A) application of multilateral sanctions by the United Nations or regional allies, or expansion of existing United States sanctions;

(B) imposition of a no-fly zone or other coercive measures or policies;

(C) rapprochement with the Sudanese regime or other diplomatic measures.

(5) A complete description of both the evaluation process for reviewing and adjusting the strategy and implementation as necessary, and measures of effectiveness for the implementation of the strategy.

(c) UPDATES.—The President shall transmit to the appropriate congressional committees any updates of the comprehensive interagency strategy and implementation plan required under subsection (b), as necessary.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 522, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. MCCAAUL) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Texas.

Mr. MCCAAUL. Mr. Chairman, as one of the Chairs of the Congressional Sudan Caucus, I am proud to offer this amendment to require the administration to, within 60 days, submit to Congress a comprehensive plan to address the ongoing atrocities in Sudan.

July 22, 2009, the 5-year anniversary of the declaration by the United States Congress that the atrocities occurring in the Darfur region of Sudan constitute genocide. It was an historic resolution because it represented the first time that Congress had made such a determination while the killings were actually taking place.

Today, innocent civilians in Darfur are still suffering from genocide directed by a callous regime determined to hang on to power at any cost. They are dying at the hands of the Janjaweed, also known as "the devil on horseback."

The United States for years has been seeking to help find ways to ease the suffering in Darfur and find a lasting political solution to the conflict in Darfur. We’ve passed resolutions, imposed economic and travel sanctions, frozen assets, and enabled divestment from companies linked to the Sudanese regime. The United States has led efforts at the United Nations and with bilateral partners to create a road map to resolve conflict, implement a peace agreement, and hold perpetrators of human rights abuses accountable, while closing down safe havens to protect civilians.

In addition to supporting efforts to negotiate and implement the Darfur Peace Agreement, the United States also was at the forefront of efforts to resolve the conflict in southern Sudan, a conflict which has left over 2 million people dead and another 4 million displaced.

Today, there is universal acknowledgment that if the comprehensive peace agreement between the north and south fails, there can be little hope for Darfur. Unfortunately, the terms of this peace agreement have not yet been fully implemented, and observers consistently warn that it could fail at any time.

With the national elections due this year, reports of deadly conflict within and among various armed groups on the rise, the stakes could not be higher. During the presidential campaign, each of the candidates assured voters that Sudan would be a major priority for their administrations and spoke of robust actions that would need to be taken in order to resolve Sudan’s multiple conflicts.

While serving in the United States Senate, President Barack Obama called for oil sanctions and the imposition of a no-fly zone over Darfur. While working for the Brookings Institution, U.S. Ambassador to the U.N. Susan Rice went so far as to call for military action against the Sudanese regime. But then on April 22, 2009, almost exactly 1 year after then-Senator Obama condemned the supposed efforts by the previous administration to normalize relations with Khartoum as a "reckless and cynical initiative," his Special Envoy for Sudan, Scott Gration, announced, "The United States and Sudan want to be partners, and so we are looking for opportunities for us to build a stronger bilateral relationship."

Obviously, this bold statement sent conflicting messages to observers and caused a great deal of confusion here in the Congress, where Sudan has such a high priority for Democrats and Republicans alike.

Implementing this comprehensive strategy will advance respect for democracy, human rights, and religious freedom throughout Southern Sudan. It will address internal regional security while combating Islamic extremism. And by advancing regional stability and cooperation, it will eliminate cross-border support for armed insurgents, and it will shut down safe havens for extremists who pose a threat to the national security of the United States and its allies.

During committee debate on an amendment offered by the gentleman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON-LEE) regarding Sudan, it became clear that there is universal agreement on both sides of the aisle that the United States needs a coordinated, comprehensive strategy for Sudan which balances the United States' imperatives in Darfur and in southern Sudan.
This amendment simply goes one step further by giving the current administration the opportunity to resolve any outstanding issues with regard to the United States’ policy towards Sudan by formulating such a strategy and implementing that strategy back to the United States Congress.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I rise to claim the time in opposition even though I don’t oppose the amendment.

The Acting CHAIR. Without objection, the gentleman from California is recognized for 5 minutes.

There was no objection.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, the gentleman’s amendment encourages the administration to create a Comprehensive Interagency Strategy and Implementation Plan for Sudan. I have spoken with Mr. McCaul about his proposal and agree that developing a coherent approach to the situation in Sudan is critical. The United States must make every effort to address the ongoing and interrelated crises in Sudan. The U.S. should work towards a stable and lasting peace in a region that has so many tragedies in recent years.

I have no objection to this amendment, and I look forward to working with Mr. McCaul on this provision as the bill moves through the process.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. McCaul. Mr. Chairman, I urge support for this amendment, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield the balance of my time to the gentleman from California (Mr. Farr).

Mr. Farr. Thank you, Chairman Berman, and thank you. Ranking Member Ileana Ros-Lehtinen.

I rise in amendment but just to make a comment on the Peace Corps because I was just thinking, as hearing about the amendment, that we should fulfill John F. Kennedy’s dream in the 1960s to have 100,000 Peace Corps volunteers serving overseas throughout the 1960s, 1970s, 1980s, 1990s, and this decade, we might have avoided the disaster in Sudan. And I want to commend the committee on behalf of the 50th anniversary of the Peace Corps, which is in 2011, we have now only 6,000 volunteers in 78 countries. And with that, we might have avoided the disaster in Sudan. And I want to commend the committee on and all of them is the strong support for strengthening U.S. diplomacy with a consistent new vision for a global engagement, and I think that’s the global engagement that President Obama has promised this country and is now seeing delivered. And with that, this bill authorizes an increase in Peace Corps funding and will allow the Peace Corps to build to the point where we have 20 countries that are asking for Peace Corps volunteers.

We have about 12,000 people a year that volunteer to go in the Peace Corps, that sign up, and we can only take about 1,000 on our own. So all of these 20 countries have been sitting in line and haven’t been able to get attention to adding Peace Corps. And what’s interesting is that, as I have sort of dealt with some other issues here, food hunger in sub-Saharan Africa. I just recently read a report by the Chicago Council on Global Affairs. It called for 300 to 600 new volunteers in sub-Saharan Africa to work on agriculture as a way of strengthening local food security. And with that, I want to commend the committee on and all of them is the strong support for strengthening U.S. diplomacy with a consistent new vision for a global engagement, and I think that’s the global engagement that President Obama has promised this country and is now seeing delivered.

It called for 300 to 600 new volunteers in sub-Saharan Africa to work on agriculture as a way of strengthening local food security. The point was that the only way you’re going to really deliver that effort is by getting people who are going to live in the community, who are going to live on the ground and work with people in the fields, and the only organization we have that does that in the Federal Government is the U.S. Peace Corps.

I don’t want to take more than my time today, but what the committee did in strengthening this provision of the bill, the new Rwandan President, Paul Kagame, who is the President of the Republic of Rwanda, wrote a letter, and I will just paraphrase part of his letter. We view the return of the Peace Corps as a significant event in Rwanda’s recovery. These young men and women represent what is good about America. I have met former volunteers who have run major aid programs here, invested in our businesses, and I even count them among my friends and close advisors.

He goes on to say, “While some corporate development mostly in terms of infusion of capital, budgets, and head counts, we in Rwanda place equal importance to relationships between people who have a passion to learn from one another, preparing the next generation of entrepreneurs? What is a cohesive society, and how can we strengthen it? How can we im-
Mr. LARSEN of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, this amendment will protect intellectual property rights, or IPR, for American businesses by ensuring robust compliance with international legal IPR requirements and the enforcement of those requirements related to energy and environmental technologies.

Congressman KIRK from Illinois and I recently returned from China where we met both with Chinese leadership and American companies doing business in China. Among a number of issues that we heard on the trip, two were consistent during our meetings with the American businesses. First, there is a great deal of enthusiasm regarding the interest in energy and climate change cooperation between the U.S. and China. Second, however, is a concern that the intellectual property rights owned by those companies selling their clean-energy technologies in China and other parts of the world will not be protected, and the green jobs that could be created here at home will be lost.

According to the International Energy Agency, the world needs to invest $45 trillion in energy in the coming decades to cut in half greenhouse gas emissions by 2050. To meet that goal, clean technology innovation must increase by 100 to 1,000 percent. The global market for environmental products and services is projected to double from $1.37 trillion per year at present to $2.74 trillion by 2020. And according to the American Solar Energy Society, by 2003, industries with green collar jobs could provide up to 40 million American jobs and generate up to $4.33 trillion in annual revenue.

IPR protection gives companies the confidence to invest in critical research and development efforts to meet the growing demand for clean-energy technology. Congress- man KIRK and I have offered this amendment to H.R. 2410 to protect the IPR of these clean technologies and ensure these green jobs stay right here in the United States. It is critical that the investments that American companies are making in clean technology are protected. Protecting individual property rights will help us reward innovation instead of penalizing it.

I ask my colleagues to support this amendment to H.R. 2410. Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. KIRK. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Illinois.

Mr. KIRK. Mr. Chairman, I claim the time in opposition to the amendment. The Acting CHAIR. The gentleman from Illinois is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. KIRK. Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to my colleague MARSHA Blackburn.

Mrs. Blackburn. I want to thank the gentleman and also Representative LARSEN for allowing me to work with them on this to help ensure that our American innovators’ intellectual property is protected as we move forward in this international community transition to green economics.

American innovators hold 50 percent of the world’s patents granted between 2002 and 2008 in the clean-energy field, and I will note that.

Tennessee alone hold 1 percent of those worldwide patents in the hybrid/electric vehicle market. It’s serious business for our American patent holders. They have invested a lot of time, passion, effort, energy, and economic capital in developing these technologies. It is therefore incumbent upon us in Congress to protect what they have created.

The draft U.N. Framework Convention on Climate Change, for example, includes language supported by extreme carbon-emitting nations like India and China calling for a multilateral technology climate fund housed inside the U.N. This new fund would require noncommercial transfers of patent-protected technologies as a price for developing nations’ participation in the new international agreement to reducing global emissions. These demands would lead to outright theft of our American intellectual property and indirectly benefit the world’s most prominent CO2 emitters.

Our amendment, which is supported by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the Emergency Committee for American Trade, would protect American intellectual property rights and help block any patent transfer to a new multilateral fund. In the context of any international framework that includes energy and environment technology, the amendment declares that it is official American policy to defend the rights of our creators.

Mr. LARSEN of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I would like to yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. Berman).

Mr. Berman. Mr. Chairman, I thank the sponsor of the amendment for yielding.

It’s really an excellent amendment. If we want to encourage the international cooperation that’s needed in this area, I’m telling you you’ve got to ensure that the entrepreneurs and the innovators know that their cutting-edge breakthroughs and innovations are protected. This isn’t even as much about fair return for the inventors as it is ensuring that people will keep innovating and researching and advancing the technologies because they know that ultimately they will be compensated. So it’s a symbiotic relationship. The more we ensure and protect intellectual property, the more we will be able to do in achieving our very important goals with respect to the development and deployment of new energy and environmental technologies.

Last year, the United Nations reported that the global value for environmental technologies could double to $2.74 trillion by 2020 from the $1.37 trillion today because of areas...

This is a very important amendment. Again, I think it is essential to the development and deployment of these new technologies, and I urge its adoption.

Mr. KIRK. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, on May 19, the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change released a draft negotiating text. The text, in part, calls for the removal of “barriers to development and transfer of technologies from developed to developing country Parties arising from the intellectual property rights protection including compulsory licensing for specific patented technologies.”

The American people need to know that those were code words, like “compulsory licensing” and “technology transfer,” that really mean allowing other countries to steal the American patents, copyrights, and trademarks for anything related to climate change, efficiency, or energy under the draft climate change treaty.

If the United States agrees to a climate change treaty that allows developing countries to seize U.S. intellectual property in this area, economic consequences for green-collar jobs would be devastated. American inventors now hold 50 percent of the world’s patents on clean energy, 52 percent of the patents on fuel cells, nearly half of the world’s wind patents, 40 percent of the world’s solar patents, and 40 percent of the world’s patents in the hybrid-electric vehicle market.

By 2030, industries with green-collar jobs could provide up to 40 million American jobs, and they could generate up to $4.5 trillion in annual revenue; but none of that would happen if a climate change treaty specifically allowed compulsory licensing so that Chinese competitors, for example, or European opposition could simply steal the intellectual property of a key U.S. green-collar manufacturer.

Now, one leading American innovator told me, if we lose intellectual property rights, capital markets die.

This industry needs all of the innovation we can muster to deliver on what the world and on what the U.S. needs. Shorting that will guarantee no more investments or breakthroughs for green-collar jobs.

Now, this innovator was none other than Gregg Patterson, the CEO of PV Power, a 400-employee manufacturer of solar power inverter technology. Many of us remember this photo when then President candidate, Senator Obama, visited Mr. Patterson last year, promising future green jobs and a green economy at his factory. These jobs cannot be created if we do not protect the intellectual property of American inventors and manufacturers. So far, the State Department has been very silent on this issue, but countries like China and India now put it at the top of their list of negotiations in Copenhagen to “relax intellectual property rights.” That means to steal the innovations of Americans in green-collar areas.

The Larsen-Kirk amendment is a common-sense piece of legislation. I yield back.

Mr. LARSEN of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I just would again ask my colleagues to support this important amendment to H.R. 2410. I appreciate everyone’s support in making it happen and for bringing it to the floor today.

Mr. MARKEY of Massachusetts. Mr. Chair, I rise in strong support of the Larsen-Kirk amendment, which will ensure that the intellectual property rights of American firms working to defeat the scourge of climate change will be protected.

We are now engaged in what could become the most difficult international negotiation in history: the painful and difficult construction of a binding, universal international agreement to reduce emissions of greenhouse gases in order to save the planet from a disastrous alteration of the climate. And here at home, we are racing to break our dependence on foreign oil and to create millions of new jobs all across the new energy economy. These two tremendous advancements are interdependent. By working together, we can slow global warming and develop the new energy economy for the twenty-first century, which are deeply interconnected.

The technological breakthroughs being created in American laboratories will not only lead our country into the renewable energy future, they will lead the whole world. And it is absolutely necessary that we do everything we can to encourage and enable our high-tech entrepreneurs to innovate. To do this, we must ensure that the intellectual property rights of these innovators are protected. The Larsen-Kirk amendment is a common-sense approach to this problem, and I commend both Members for their thoughtful amendment.

The Larsen-Kirk amendment will ensure that in the negotiation of an international climate change treaty, it will be the policy of the United States to prevent any weakening of, and ensure robust compliance with and enforcement of, existing legal protections of intellectual property rights as they relate to energy and environmental technologies. This amendment will help ensure that even as we work diligently to reduce global emissions, we are protecting the innovations that will keep our country on the cutting edge of the new energy economy.

I urge my colleagues to support the amendment, and to support the underlying bill, the State Department Authorization Act.

Mr. LARSEN of Washington. I yield back the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Washington (Mr. LARSEN).

The question was taken; and the Acting Chair announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. LARSEN of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I demand a recorded vote.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to clause 6 of rule XVIII, further proceedings on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Washington will be postponed.

AMENDMENT NO. 8 OFFERED BY MR. SESSIONS

The Acting CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 8 printed in part C of House Report 111-143.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. Chairman, I have an amendment at the desk.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 8 offered by Mr. SESSIONS:

Mr. SESSIONS of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I rise today in support of my amendment to the Foreign Relations Authorization Act, and to support the underlying bill, the Foreign Relations Authorization Act. My amendment would affirm the United States’ complete support for Israel’s absolute right to defend itself from an imminent military or nuclear threat from Iran, from terrorist organizations, and the countries that harbor them.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Texas.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. Chairman, I rise today in support of my amendment to the Foreign Relations Authorization Act. My amendment would affirm the United States’ complete support for Israel’s absolute right to defend itself from an imminent military or nuclear threat from Iran, from terrorist organizations, or from nations that harbor them.

Israel is currently being threatened on three fronts—by Hamas in the south, by Hezbollah in the north and by Iran. Iran provides financial and material support to both of these terrorist organizations. This threat culminated on May 20 when Iran successfully tested a surface-to-surface missile with a range of 1,500 miles. Iranian leaders continue to express their hatred for Israel, and they refuse to acknowledge its right to exist. Their incendiary words and actions threaten an existential threat to Israel and to the entire region.

No nation should be subjected to these continued threats. Israel has demonstrated tremendous restraint in the face of these dangers despite being surrounded by countries that are hostile to it and to the United States. It is imperative that we support Israel’s right to self-defense.

I urge my colleagues to support the amendment.
Israel has been and remains one of the United States of America's strongest allies. Israel seeks only peace with its neighbors and a homeland secure for its people; but if an attack from Iran or from a terrorist organization becomes imminent, this Congress should declare that Israel, like the United States, should reserve for itself the inalienable right to defend itself and to protect its people.

I encourage my colleagues to demonstrate their strong support for Israel by supporting this amendment. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to claim time in opposition to this amendment, although I am not opposed to this amendment.

The Acting CHAIRMAN. Without objection, the gentleman from California is recognized for 5 minutes.

There was no objection.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume. I don't know that we needed to say this, but I'm glad we are saying it. It goes almost without saying that any sovereign country has an inalienable right to defend itself in the face of an imminent nuclear or military attack or threat. Nothing in this amendment prohibits or constrains Israel or the United States from discussing the nature of a threat, the logic of the timing or the nature of the response. So I find this amendment a useful contribution. In fact, sometimes stating the obvious is worth doing. I plan to support the amendment.

I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. Chairman, I want to thank the gentleman, the chairman of the committee, Mr. BERMAN, for his words of support.

In fact, this Member sees the need to make this only the policy of Israel but the people of our country understand it should be the express purpose and policy of the United States of America to yield to other nations—yes, those who are dear friends—to make sure that they very clearly understand our support for them. They should reserve the same right that we do to protect this country. Notwithstanding that, we've had a change of administrations. Notwithstanding that, we've had many, many, many people who are supportive of Israel come and speak to me, personally, about just the question as it might occur.

Where does the United States stand in its support of Israel?

Today is a great day. Today is the bill that's very appropriate to make sure that we understand that the United States' support of Israel is strong and that we stand behind Israel and that we understand that it is they, Mr. Chairman, who are just miles away from imminent threat through missile attack. I believe it is the right thing to do.

I appreciate the gentleman's feedback. I hope we vote for this. I hope it's accepted.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to reclaim the remainder of my time.

The Acting CHAIR. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 2 minutes to a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, my friend, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. B. Lee).

Ms. LEE of California. Thank you very much, Mr. Chairman, for offering. Let me just rise to oppose this amendment and just very briefly say why.

Every country has a right under international law and under their own laws to defend their own sovereignty, their own country, to protect their country from attacks. Israel certainly has that right already, and it should exercise that right. We all recognize the security of Israel in terms of its being essential in any foreign policy that we develop as it relates to a peace process that is really so critical to the security of Israel.

I just have to say, with regard to this amendment, however, I am very reluctant to support it, and I'll just say why very briefly.

If you will remember, right after the horrific attacks of 9/11, we passed a resolution that I opposed, and I opposed it for many, many reasons, one of which was that the resolution was, in essence, a blank check to use force against any nation that harbored—and this is in this language here—terrorist organizations. I'll tell you that I believe that that casts a blank check once again in terms of allowing for an attack against any country. It could be Pakistan or any country which harbors terrorists, terrorists who may or may not be responsible for any unfortunate attacks. So, frankly, I think this amendment is not necessary. Israel and other countries have a right and should defend themselves from any threat from Iran, from terrorist organizations or from any country. As to any country that harbors terrorists or those who want to do harm to Israel, to me, this provides for an opening, which, unfortunately, I did not believe was correct for our own country nor do I believe we should give that authority, or that rubric, to allow for an attack. It's just a broad blank check. For those reasons, I oppose this.

Mr. SESSIONS. I appreciate the gentleman, the chairman of the committee, Mr. BERMAN, and the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Lee) for speaking.

Mr. Chairman, we live in a dangerous world, and there are some of our friends and allies who live in, perhaps, a more dangerous neighborhood than we do here in the United States. I believe that this amendment is one we should support because it makes sure, unequivocally, that the world understands where the United States of America is in our support of not only a friendly nation but of a democracy, one of the few democracies in the region.

United States policy in the United States and in this House of Representatives should be to support it openly and to make sure that we understand, not merely, Oh, I thought we had done that, and I know that's what both of my colleagues are saying. I thought we were there; we don't really need to do this. We need to do it. We need to do it. It's the right thing to do.

Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. BERMAN. I am pleased to yield the remainder of my time to the gentle lady from Nevada (Ms. BERKLEY).

Ms. BERKLEY. Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I hope that I do not take the remainder of your time.

I am here to speak in strong support of this resolution. I think it's a very important one and one that needs to be stated in this legislation and stated far more often. The fact of the matter is it is that Iran poses an existential threat to the entire civilized world. It is as much a threat to the United States as it is to Israel. A nuclear Iran cannot be allowed to happen. The only difference is that the President of Iran, Ahmadinejad, has singled out Israel for particular hatred and contempt and has threatened to wipe Israel off the map.

We have learned after Adolf Hitler that when the leader of a country threatens to exterminate you or wipe you off the map, you ought to take them seriously. So you have a President of Iran that is desperately attempting and rapidly attempting to acquire nuclear capability, not necessarily for peaceful means but for military means and a threat to Israel to wipe it off the map.

I suggest to you that this is a very dangerous combination, and that is why this resolution is important. And I thank the gentleman very much for introducing this amendment. I urge all of my colleagues to support it.

Ms. LEE of California. Mr. Chair, I rise in opposition to the gentleman's amendment.

Mr. Chair, I want to be clear that I agree with the fundamental principle that every nation, including Israel, has the right to defend itself against an imminent military threat. Unfortunately, this amendment goes far, far beyond that bedrock principle.

Nearly 8 years ago, I stood on this House floor and confronted a very similar issue. On that day, September 14, 2001, I voted against the authorization of use of United States forces against Afghanistan because it granted the US a blank check to wage war any place and any time against any enemy. It went far beyond any authority granted for international war making.

Today this amendment raises the same issue and I am compelled to draw the same conclusion.

I was unable to support US government broad blank check power, in good conscience
I am not able to support that type of excessive authority for any other nation.

Mr. BERMAN. I yield back my time.

The Acting CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Texas (Mr. SESSIONS).

The amendment was agreed to.

AMENDMENT NO. 9 OFFERED BY MRS. DAVIS OF CALIFORNIA

The Acting CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 9 printed in part C of House Report 111-145.

Mrs. DAVIS of California, I have an amendment made in order in many by the rule, and I ask for its immediate consideration.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 9 offered by Mrs. Davis of California:

At the end of subtitle A of title XI, add the following:

(a) AUDIT REQUIREMENTS.—The Inspectors General of the Department of State, the Department of Defense, and the United States Agency for International Development, and the Special Inspector General for Afghanistan Reconstruction shall address, as appropriate, in their auditing and assessment protocols for Afghanistan, the impact United States development assistance has on the social, economic, and political empowerment of Afghan women, including the extent to which such assistance helps to carry out the following:

(1) Section 103(a)(7) of the Afghan Freedom Support Act (Public Law 107-327).

(2) The goal expressed in section 102(4) of the Afghan Freedom Support Act (Public Law 107-327).

(b) REPORT.—Not later than one year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Inspector General of the Department of State, the Department of Defense, and the United States Agency for International Development, and the Special Inspector General for Afghanistan Reconstruction shall submit to Congress a report on the implementation of this section.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 522 the gentlewoman from California (Mrs. Davis) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from California.

Mrs. DAVIS of California. Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consumers. If we are a number of individuals who want to speak, and he's going to do that first.

Mr. GRAYSON. Mr. Chairman, I had the experience of going to a couple of years ago.

"The bill has to do with whether we should try to keep track of our policies in Afghanistan on Afghan women. And when I went to Afghanistan 2 years ago before I was elected here to Congress, I saw some interesting things.

One thing is if you're on the street of Afghanistan, everywhere you look there are children—because hardly any of them are in school any time of the year—and as a result of that, you see more children on the streets of an Afghan city or town than you would almost anywhere else in the world. And I noticed something interesting about the girls. If you see an 8-year-old Afghan girl, she looks just like an 8-year-old boy. In a dress, playing the same way with the same friends. If you see a 9-year-old Afghan girl, her arms are covered. If you see a 10-year-old Afghan girl, her arms and her head are covered. And you don't see 12-year-old Afghan girls or 13- or 14- or 15- or 16- or 17-year-old Afghan girls. They're just not there.

And if you look around the streets at the adults, you'll see maybe 10 men for every woman that you will see on the streets. And the reason for that is that in Afghanistan, women are forbidden to leave their homes unless they're accompanied by a husband, a brother, a father, or a son. And the women who do leave their homes in Afghanistan are covered and you can barely see you because their faces are covered and eyes covered with a grill like this, so they can just barely see out. They're covered from head to toe, and all you can see of their bodies are their shoes, nothing else.

That is the life of women in Afghanistan. It is a living hell. And I think it's fitting and appropriate that we who have occupied the country militarily for years now should take a look at the effect of our policies on Afghan women. I'm very much in favor of this amendment because it's a matter of human rights.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. I ask unanimous consent to claim time in opposition even though I do not oppose the substance of the amendment because it's a matter of human rights.

I support this amendment. I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. Chairman, I recently returned from a congressional visit to Kabul and Kandahar where we met with women from all walks of Afghan life. Unfortunately, the roles and experiences of women are not always considered in wartime or during stabilization and reconstruction operations.

These women want to contribute to the stabilization and reconstruction of their nation. That is what we heard from not just a few Afghan women who are in political or professional positions but from the women who simply want the ability to care for their families, access education and health care, and feel safe and secure in their communities. If we don't include women, we are ignoring 50 percent of the population and have the desire and capacity to be agents of change.

Ultimately, it is in the interests of the national security of the United States to promote the empowerment of a terrorist safe haven in Afghanistan. The kind of instability women in Afghanistan are submitted to has a direct and a negative correlation to their ability to help stabilize their communities.

The situation for women has been made worse by a lack of security, corruption in Kabul, and passage of oppressive measures such as the Shia personal status law. Every conversation that we have had makes clear that these are important issues. But I, including on our recent trip, assures me that the kind of gender apartheid that is occurring in Afghanistan undermines our national security. So we cannot sit idly by and do nothing about it.

During a recent House Armed Services Committee hearing on the effectiveness of U.S. assistance and counter-insurgency operations, the GAO highlighted the importance of empowerment women but noted that her agency had not focused on the advance-
Ms. GINNY BROWN-WAITE of Florida. Mr. Chairman, we have a problem. As every American in this Chamber knows, America is facing unprecedented $1-trillion deficits, a ballooning national debt and steady-growing entitlement obligations. Yet, each and every time the House comes together to consider spending bills, evidence abounds that very few tough choices are being made.

As I’m sure my colleagues will readily agree, never in the history of Congress has there been a line item that at least one Member did not support. There has not been a single program that somebody didn’t think was worthy of the taxpayer dollars. In a perfect world where the United States is flush with money, very few spending ideas don’t hold some merit. But simply having merit does not mean the American people have enough money to pay for it, nor do they have enough money around to fund this.

It is not our job to come to Washington and put together a Middle East peace package and present it to the world as an exhaustive list of worthy causes, Mr. Chairman. It is our job to make the tough choices. And that means denying resources to something that somebody somewhere thinks is a good idea.

Frankly, if, as a body, we are unable to recognize that spending taxpayer dollars for the domestic distribution of a documentary film in a foreign affairs bill is not what the taxpayers need most at this time, if this is truly a choice that’s too hard for us to make, then I think we owe it to our constituents to take a good long look in the mirror and decide what we are here to do.

Some will probably point out that striking the authorization for this film is not important. Well, I would say to those colleagues it is important that we watch every single appropriation that comes before us. That is precisely what we are doing.

And this amendment is not just about striking a provision to authorize funding for the distribution of a documentary film. If it were, I would take time to point out that this is a domestic distribution in a foreign affairs bill. I would also point out that laws have been on the books for 60 years that prohibit the executive branch from distributing government-sponsored information campaigns domestically. I might even point out that the film is available already for every man, woman, and child in this country to see right now. I am not kidding. It is actually on YouTube, and yet we have this in the appropriations bill.

The point is, Mr. Chairman, that the American people, who those who voted for us and those who voted against us, all of them expect more from this body. I offer this amendment to my colleagues not to make a precision in an irresponsible spending bill. I offer this amendment to make a point about all of the absurd provisions in all of the bloated bills that this House has recently considered. The American people deserve better than this.

I would point out to my colleagues they need to learn this is a voting card; it is not a credit card. I urge my colleagues to support this amendment.

I yield back the balance of my time. Mr. SCOTT of Georgia. Mr. Chairman, I rise to claim the time in opposition to this amendment.

The Acting CHAIR. The gentleman from Georgia is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. SCOTT of Georgia. Mr. Chairman, this amendment, while I’m sure well-intended by the gentlelady, would strike a section of the bill waiving the ban against dissemination of public diplomatic materials within the United States to make the film, “A Fateful Harvest,” available for public viewing.

Mr. Chairman, the Voice of America’s Afghan service has produced this 52-minute documentary examining the narcotics industry in Afghanistan, including poppy growing, opium production, trafficking, law enforcement efforts, and the harmful health effects of drugs. It documents the challenges facing the Afghan Government as well as our own.

Amendment No. 10 offered by Ms. GINNY BROWN-WAITE of Florida.

The Acting CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 10 printed in part C of House Report 111–143.

Ms. GINNY BROWN-WAITE of Florida. I have an amendment at the desk.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 10 offered by Ms. GINNY BROWN-WAITE of Florida:

Striking section 205.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 532, the gentlewoman from Florida (Ms. GINNY BROWN-WAITE) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Florida.

Ms. GINNY BROWN-WAITE of Florida. Mr. Chairman, we have a problem. As every American in this Chamber knows, America is facing unprecedented $1-trillion deficits, a ballooning national debt and steady-growing entitlement obligations. Yet, each and every time the House comes together to consider spending bills, evidence abounds that very few tough choices are being made.

As I’m sure my colleagues will readily agree, never in the history of Congress has there been a line item that at least one Member did not support. There has not been a single program that somebody didn’t think was worthy of the taxpayer dollars. In a perfect world where the United States is flush with money, very few spending ideas don’t hold some merit. But simply having that current law forbids the Voice of America from releasing its products in the United States, and the original intention of that provision was that a U.S. Government agency should not be able to brainwash Americans or put thoughts out there that would not be considered effective information. Further, domestic companies were concerned. They didn’t want to have to compete with a not-for-profit government-funded entity. It does require an act of Congress to waive this law. But, let’s be clear, Brazil has waived this provision 101 times in the past number of years for domestic releases, including the award-winning “John F. Kennedy: Years of Lightning, Day of Drums” in 1965.

This particular movie, Fateful Harvest, is important for any American who’s concerned about our national security. In a time when some Americans question the presence of American troops in Afghanistan, this film makes the case that American efforts help the Afghan people transition away from poppies to other agriculture helps in our fight against the Taliban. I personally saw the efforts that our men and women on the ground are doing in Afghanistan, and I visited there number of months ago, in trying to switch from poppies to pomegranates, to wheat and other products.

As we help Afghanistan transition their economy, we will undermine the Taliban. Most Americans cannot see the potential changes in treaty language and related U.S. laws that would improve the efforts of countries that support The Hague Convention on International Child Abduction. Let me briefly explain why this amendment is necessary. In force since 1980, The Hague Convention on the Civil Aspects of International Child Abduction was created to ensure that if a child is wrongfully removed from his or her country of habitual residence by one parent against the will of the other parent, the aggrieved parent would have an internationally recognized means of recovering the abducted child. Unfortunately, one of my constituents has come face to face with the very real limitations of the current The Hague Convention in his efforts to recover his kidnapped son from Brazil, which, like the United States, is a signatory to The Hague Convention.

Mr. Chair, 5 years ago this month, Mr. David Goldman from central New Jersey began a long and painful odyssey to rescue his son from an international parental kidnapping. He had driven his wife and their 4-year-old son to the Newark Airport for a scheduled trip to visit her parents in Brazil. Mr. Goldman was to join them a few days later. But the trip never happened because he received a phone call saying two things: His wife said their marriage was over; and if he ever wanted to see their son again, he would have to sign over custody. To his credit, Mr. Goldman refused to be blackmailed. Instead, he began a long and relentless campaign to secure his son’s release.

Despite the clear legitimacy of Mr. Goldman’s claim, the case has crawled along in Brazil’s courts, bouncing back and forth for years. Mr. Goldman’s wife moved to Brazil and began a new relationship with a prominent lawyer. Unfortunately, Mr. Goldman’s former wife died, a fact that Mr. Goldman learned only some time later because the family had concealed that from the Brazilian courts.

After my intercession and that of Mr. SMITH, and with the help of the State Department, Brazilian authorities moved to have the case sent to Brazil’s federal courts to secure visitation rights for Mr. Goldman. That effort was successful. David Goldman was able to see his son for the first time in nearly 5 years, earlier this year. Now just this month, the Brazilian Supreme Court ordered Sean returned to Mr. Goldman. But amazingly, a Brazilian political party filed a motion with the Brazilian Supreme Court asserting that Brazil’s accession to The Hague Convention was unconstitutional.

I’m pleased that the Obama administration has filed a motion with the Brazilian Supreme Court seeking to have this frivolous motion dismissed, but we should do more. This outrageous delaying tactic, brought by an entity with no genuine standing in the case, has only underscored the need for the United States and other nations to examine potential changes to the convention necessary in order to prevent these kinds of cases from dragging on for years. The Hague Convention on parental child abduction should not be a justification for delay. I ask my colleagues to support my amendment so that we can receive, in a timely fashion, advice and recommendations from the Administration has filed a motion that may be taken to help speed the resolution of cases like that of David and Sean Goldman.

I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chair, I ask unanimous consent to claim the time in opposition, even though I do not oppose the substance of the amendment.

The Acting CHAIR. Without objection, the gentleman is recognized for 5 minutes.

There was no objection.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Chair, I rise in strong support of this amendment. I thank my friend and colleague for offering it.

Today David Goldman is once again back in Brazil. He is back at the Brazilian Supreme Court, which he and I visited together last February, trying to get the justice that the Brazilian courts keep delaying and denying. Today David Goldman is tenaciously trying to reclaim his son from a child abductor.

Mr. Chair, as many Members know, almost 5 years ago David Goldman’s 9-year-old son was abducted by his mother to Brazil. For 5 long years, David has sought relief in the Brazilian courts with the aid of an extraordinarily talented legal team and a local grassroots organization called Bring Sean Home. Mark DeAngeli is the co-founder, and he has the courage to encourage everyone to Google it. Go check it out. Look at the information that is contained in that Web site because it is... truly remarkable what this grassroots organization has done to provide support for David, to lift his often discouraged spirits as he’s gone through this Byzantine process in Brasilia and Rio de Janeiro.

It is particularly outrageous that since the death of Sean’s mother, Sean has been illegally held by her second husband, a man by the name of Lins e Silva, a wealthy and very well-connected lawyer who, by the way, does family law. If ever there was a case of abusing family law, the David Goldman case is it. Lins e Silva refuses to return Sean to his father David, but, heedless of the damage he does to Sean, endlessly delays, obstructs and abuses the judicial system.

Last Tuesday, after a court had ordered the abductor, Lins e Silva, to turn Sean over for immediate return to the United States, within 48 hours a member of the Brazilian Supreme Court, responding to an appeal by a Brazilian political party, suspended that order. I have read Judge Pinto’s return order—not all 82-pages, but the parts that were translated into English from Portuguese. It is a remarkable finding by a judge of a Brazilian Court. He did not just deny the first kidnapping by the mother, who sadly has passed away, but a second kidnapping, that occurred when a man who was not Sean’s father took custody of him, was not adopted, and just grabbed him as if he was some kind of commodity. It is outrageous. That judge recognized that. He also acknowledged the extreme emotional and psychological harm that is being done to Sean Goldman each and every day. Court-appointed psychiatrists did an extensive battery of tests and reviews of Sean Goldman and found that the continued absence of David, the real father, has caused incredible emotional harm, which is compounded each and every day.

Mr. Chair, David, again, is now before the Supreme Court; and this political party is actually questioning the constitutionality of The Hague Convention itself and its applicability to the laws of Brazil. To me, that seems as if—and it is—that Sean is being taken hostage. If they want to review whether or not that signing of The Hague Convention comport with their own domestic laws and their constitution, do so. But don’t take a 9-year-old American boy as hostage while you adjudicate that consideration.

Mr. Chair, we have to speak frankly about the situation in Brazil. I think this Congress has done so, as have our friends in the Senate, as has the White House. Generally speaking, the Brazilian judicial system enables international child abduction by Brazilian citizens. This is not an exaggeration. I invite you to read the State Department’s April 2009 Report on Compliance with the Hague Convention. It just came out, just off the presses. The report documents in detail what it describes as patterns of noncompliance for Brazil, as well as for other countries. Brazilian courts, it notes, have a disturbing pattern of legitimizing abductions by claiming the abducted child has become “adapted to Brazilian culture.” In other words, for many of Brazil’s courts, if you abduct a child and make it impossible for her in Brazil long enough, in defiance of The Hague Convention, he or she becomes yours.

And the administration of Brazilian President Lula connnives at this outrage. It is complicit. It has done precious little to mitigate the damage being done to American children, especially David Goldman’s son, Sean, in Brazil.

Again, I support this amendment strongly, and I urge my colleagues to stay tuned to this. We have to bring Sean home.

Mr. HOLT. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to recover any remaining time I have in order to yield to the gentleman from Georgia.

The Acting CHAIR. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New Jersey?

There was no objection.

Mr. HOLT. May I ask the remaining time?

The Acting CHAIR. The gentleman has 2 minutes remaining.

Mr. HOLT. I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. Scott).

Mr. SCOTT of Georgia. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from New Jersey for yielding.

Mr. Chairman, we strongly support the gentleman’s amendment that would require the Secretary of State to make recommendations to Congress on the kinds of change needed to The Hague Convention on the civil aspects of international child abduction and, where applicable, to United States law.

Mr. Chairman, the purpose of The Hague Convention is to ensure that in situations where a child was wrongfully removed from his or her country or habitual residence by one parent against the will of another parent, the aggrieved parent has an internationally recognized means of recovering his or her abducted child.

Unfortunately, many American families have come face to face with the very real limitations of the current Convention and the efforts to recover parentally kidnapped children taken to other countries.

Such was the high profile case involving Mr. David Goldman of Tinton Falls, New Jersey, whose son Sean was kidnapped by Mr. Goldman’s wife in 2004. This case has largely languished in Brazil’s court since that time, despite the fact that Brazil is a partner with the United States in the Convention’s enforcement. The legal process has only moved during periods of intense diplomatic activity on Mr. Goldman’s behalf.

Changes to U.S. law and the Convention appear to be warranted to ensure that children can be quickly returned to their left-behind parents and their homes. This report will help us identify legal changes Congress can consider on behalf of the over 1,000 American children who are currently living in other countries as a result of a parental abduction.

Mr. Chairman, this amendment is an important step in addressing a problem that will likely get worse in coming years in light of the growing number of international births and marriages. We must continue to use the legal tools at our disposal to prevent or resolve these childhood abduction cases.

I support the gentleman from New Jersey’s amendment.

The Acting CHAIR. All time has expired. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. Holt).

The amendment was agreed to.

AMENDMENT NO. 12 OFFERED BY MS. GINNY BROWN-WAITE OF FLORIDA

The Acting CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 12 printed in part C of House Report 111–143.

Ms. GINNY BROWN-WAITE of Florida. I have an amendment at the desk.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 12 offered by Ms. GINNY BROWN-WAITE of Florida: Strike section 303.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 522, the gentleman from Florida (Ms. GINNY BROWN-WAITE) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Florida.

Ms. GINNY BROWN-WAITE of Florida. Mr. Chairman, just a few moments ago, I rose to point out what I believe is unnecessary spending. I suppose it is not a coincidence that I rise again to point out what I believe is another unnecessary spending item.

Section 303 of the Foreign Relations Act before us authorizes funding for the establishment of a Lessons Learned Center. If money were no object, I think it may be a fine thing to do. In fact, it is hard to imagine that anything produced by the center would not be used.

However, as you can imagine, many of my colleagues are wondering, why would anyone oppose this center? They might even point out that those who do not learn from history are doomed to repeat it.

Mr. Chairman, in some ways, my colleagues may be right. But what is essential is that we do learn from our mistakes, and that is precisely why the State Department’s exam to become a Foreign Service officer is so rigorous. That is why the intelligence agencies seek the best and the brightest. And, frankly, Mr. Chairman, that is why the entire academic community going back thousands of years. Additionally, with 24-hour news events, we all become instantly knowledgeable. It is reviewed and reviewed.
Anything that happens, has happened, gets reviewed ad nauseam. Section 303 is unnecessary precisely because learning lessons from history is so important and so widely acknowledged as being important that we already have some of this wisdom in our academies that do that every single day. The proposed Lessons Learned Center has a great name, yet I think it will be simply one more example of spending money on things that we want and not limiting ourselves to those things that we need. Just listen. You can hear the giant sucking sound of Washington finding new and different ways to spend dollars; spend, spend. I don’t want to belabor the point, but Congress has already approved a $70 billion bailout package and an $800 billion stimulus package in just the last year alone. Meanwhile, our Medicare and Social Security trust funds that our constituents rely on will be exhausted sooner than we thought. And let me tell you, we are also fighting tough wars in two countries. And while my colleagues believe that a Lessons Learned Center might prevent such costly wars in the future, I would appeal to your intellect and your sense of fiduciary responsibility.

With all the massive charges already on the people’s tab, the American taxpayer tab, and with spending at government agencies going up dramatically this year across the board, I ask my colleagues to make tough choices that the American people expect us to make. All this portion of the bill does is create more government jobs. I urge adoption of this amendment. I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I rise to claim the time in opposition to this amendment.

The Acting CHAIR. The gentleman from California is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, for the life of me, I cannot understand why the gentleman from Florida is recognized for 1½ minutes. It is put out by the Special Inspector General for Iraq Reconstruction, Mr. Bowen, and it is a testimony about what happens if you do not have a test blueprint with the expenditure of dollars overseas. It is a remarkable piece of work. I want to make clear what this provision does. It begins the process of creating a Lessons Learned Center by authorizing its creation and requiring a report from the Department of State on how much it would cost to actually establish such a center. So if it is only calling, at this moment, for a report, and that report, itself, will detail the cost. I would be happy to work with the gentleman from Florida as this report is produced so that we can ensure that it details ways.

Please oppose this amendment. Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield the balance of my time to the gentleman from Florida.

The Acting CHAIR. The gentleman is recognized for 1½ minutes.

Mr. KLEIN of Florida. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I rise today to oppose the gentleman’s amendment. The underlying legislation contains commonsense provisions to ensure we are making the most use of our taxpayer funds in our diplomatic mission. There are a wide variety of opinions about how effective our diplomatic positions have been, and we appreciate the men and women in the diplomatic corps. But we can do better in terms of, as the gentleman said, getting a better bang for our buck. Creating a Lessons Learned Center will allow the State Department and USAID to be more efficient in their spending and reduce duplicative efforts. We have already identified mountains of duplicative efforts. The amendment is a larger strategy in the legislation to ensure accountability in our diplomatic efforts and on behalf of our taxpayers. It also includes a quadrennial review of our national plan for U.S. diplomacy and development programs, just like the Defense Department does every 4 years.

This, to me, is exactly what we should be doing in this bill as we are beginning a new way of looking at our diplomatic efforts.

So, again, I appreciate the gentleman’s effort, but I think this is fundamentally a crucial part of this piece of legislation. I urge my colleagues to oppose this amendment.

The Acting CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Florida (Ms. GINNY BROWN-WALTE).

The amendment was rejected.

The Acting CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 13 printed in part C of House Report 111–143.

Mr. BISHOP of New York. Mr. Chairman, I have an amendment at the desk, Amendment No. 13, and I ask for its immediate consideration.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 13 offered by Mr. Bishop of New York:

At the end of title X of the bill, add the following new section:

SEC. 1012. REPORT ON EFFECTS OF BUY AMERICA ACT WAIVERS UNDER THE PEFFAR PROGRAM.

(a) STUDY.—The Comptroller General of the United States shall conduct a study of the effects of the United States Agency for International Development’s use of waivers under the Buy America Act for HIV test kits and other products through the President’s Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief (PEPFAR) program on—

(1) United States-based manufacturers; and

(2) availability of and access to HIV testing for at-risk populations in low-income countries.

(b) REPORT.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Comptroller General shall submit to Congress a report on the results of the study required under subsection (a).

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 522, the gentleman from New York (Mr. Bishop) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York.

Mr. BISHOP of New York. I want to start by thanking Chairman Berman for his leadership on this very important legislation.

My amendment is very straightforward. It directs the Government Accountability Office to study the effects of USAID’s Buy America waiver on U.S.-based manufacturers and to provide the President’s Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief, PEPFAR, with HIV test kits. The study will also examine the waiver’s impact on the availability of HIV testing for at-risk populations in low-income countries. To be clear, this amendment does not propose any policy changes. This study will help us to examine the use of waivers and determine if hardworking American manufacturers of HIV test kits are being undercut by foreign competitors. It is important for the U.S. to lend a hand in fighting this deadly epidemic, but we should do everything possible to preserve American jobs in the process, particularly when spending taxpayer dollars.

When PEPFAR was created in 2003, it was believed that American companies did not have sufficient capacity to manufacture or supply the program with quality HIV test kits. To fill that void, a waiver of the longstanding Buy America policy was extended so that USAID could immediately provide testing, counseling and treatment assistance to countries in most dire need of help. American companies already producing HIV test kits and related products were able to step in and supply PEPFAR with the resources necessary to combat the spread of HIV/AIDS.

However, since 2003, American manufacturers have taken the initiative to play an active role in PEPFAR by developing high-quality HIV test kits that provide accurate results with minimal training. These products continue to be developed here in the U.S. with American hard work and ingenuity.

If more American companies are able to provide USAID products that meet the requirements of PEPFAR without reducing the effectiveness of the program, then we should rethink Buy America waivers for HIV testing.

When the requested study is complete, we should be able to draw conclusions on two important issues: One, whether or not the waiver puts American companies at a disadvantage when looking to supply their test kits to PEPFAR; and, two, if the Buy America waivers have an effect on access to HIV testing for at-risk populations in low-income countries.

Mr. BISHOP of New York. I yield the balance of my time, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. BISHOP of New York. I thank the chairman for his support. I thank the ranking member for her support, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from New York (Mr. BISHOP). The amendment was agreed to.

AMENDMENT NO. 14 OFFERED BY MS. MOORE OF WISCONSIN

The Acting CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 14 printed in part C of House Report 111–143.

Ms. MOORE of Wisconsin. Mr. Chairman, I have an amendment at the desk and I request its immediate consideration.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Amendment No. 14 offered by Ms. MOORE of Wisconsin:

In section 1107, redesignate paragraphs (4) and (5) as paragraphs (5) and (6), respectively.

In section 1107, insert after paragraph (3) the following:

(4) recognizes that actions limiting or suppressing the human rights of Afghan women and girls undermines the intent of the significant financial contributions that the United States and international community have provided to rebuild the country and to help establish institutions that protect and promote respect of basic and fundamental human rights to overcome the devastating damage to those rights from years of Taliban rule.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 522, the gentlewoman from Wisconsin (Ms. MOORE) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Wisconsin.

Ms. MOORE of Wisconsin. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself 3 minutes.

Mr. Chairman, I rise today to urge a "yes" vote on my amendment to the Foreign Relations Authorization Act. This is a time of unprecedented change in our outreach efforts to our global neighbors and will help guide that path for the upcoming year and, therefore, I would like to really thank the committee for their hard work. And I would also like to thank my very good friend, Congresswoman MALONEY of New York, for being a leader and steadfast advocate for the women of Afghanistan.

It is just so difficult to express the hurdles that face Afghan women and girls. There are just no words to describe the abhorrent conditions that assault these women and girls on a daily basis, and there are few experiences in our own lives that compare to their constant struggle for survival and freedom.

Afghanistan has one of the highest rates of maternal mortality in the world. One in eight Afghan women die due to pregnancy-related complications every year. That's one woman every 30 minutes.

After years of brutal Taliban rule that allowed few rights for women, approximately 90 percent of their female population is illiterate.

There are over 50,000 widows in the country, many of whom lack substantive means to support themselves or their female children, who lack access to health care, to education, to employment, to shelter, and on and on.

The United States and international aid organizations have provided billions of dollars to rebuild the country and to promote the basic and fundamental human rights of the Afghan people.

More importantly, though, we have asked our own people to sacrifice our sons and daughters, our citizens, for this cause. Our brave men and women serving in Afghanistan are there to protect the American people, but they are also there to reach out to the people in this war-torn country. And that is why, Mr. Chairman, I have offered this particular amendment.

Earlier this year the Afghan Government moved a measure that would severely suppress the rights of this country's Shiite women and girls. This measure would further restrict their free mobility and actually legalizes marital rape. It does not condemn the marrying of minors and, instead, it appears to promote it.

This legislation ties a woman's legal financial stability and well-being to a man, and demands that a woman submit sexually to her husband in order to be privy to any sort of protection.

I see proposals like this in-depth reporting on multiple news media outlets highlighting the struggles that single women, girls, widows, married women face in Afghanistan.

Now, I understand that there are cultural differences, and I understand that culture and society in the Middle East will never look like that in the United States.

The Acting CHAIR. The time of the gentlewoman has expired.

Ms. MOORE of Wisconsin. I yield myself 30 more seconds.

But I also understand what Secretary of State Hillary Clinton speaks of when she says that a woman's rights are human rights. And I understand that these actions prevent a nation from moving beyond an era still wounded by the scars and the fears of years of repressive Taliban rule.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. ROSE-LEHTINEN. Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of the amendment offered by the gentlelady from Wisconsin (Ms. MOORE).

Mr. Chairman, this amendment has a noble purpose, to draw attention to the potential erosion of the social and economic progress that has benefited women throughout Afghanistan since the fall of the Taliban.

Many of us in Congress have re-

in the Afghan National Development Strategy, the basis of the Afghanistan Compact, which are vital for building human capital and creating an enabling environment for promoting equal rights and opportunities for women in that country.

We have also focused on ensuring the development and application of sustainable strategies that invest in Afghanistan’s human capital, equipping both women and men with the skills, the support, and the resources needed to move their country forward into peace and stability.

Furthermore, we have repeatedly expressed our commitment to Afghan political, economic and social development and promoting the participation of women and, indeed, all Afghans in these processes.

I urge my colleagues to support this important amendment. I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. MOORE of Wisconsin. Mr. Chairman, I would now like to yield the balance of our time to the gentlelady from Illinois, who is the Co-Chair of the Women’s Caucus, Ms. SCHAKOWSKY.

Ms. SCHAKOWSKY. I rise in strong support of the amendment offered by Congresswoman GWEN MOORE and really applaud her for that and for her passionate remarks on behalf of this amendment.

In the years since the overthrow of the Taliban, women in Afghanistan have made major strides forward. Ninety-one of Afghanistan’s 351 parliamentarians are women, and two women have announced their intention to run for President this year.

However, many women in Afghanistan continue to fight for basic human rights. Violence against women, rape and forced marriages continue in the country’s most unstable regions. In April we saw images of stones being thrown at a woman protesting a law legalizing marital rape.

Afghanistan’s future will depend on its women building more stable and healthy and thriving communities. The women of Afghanistan have borne the brunt of years of warfare, but they will also form the underpinning of a peaceful Afghanistan.

This amendment recognizes that limiting violence is counterproductive to all of our efforts to help Afghanistan move forward from the devastating damage of Talibani rule.

I urge all of my colleagues, on both sides of the aisle, to stand up for the women—on and throughout Afghanistan—who are suffering, who deserve our help.

The Acting CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentlelady from Wisconsin (Ms. MOORE).

The amendment was agreed to.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows: Amendment No. 15 offered by Mr. ROYCE.

The Acting CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 15 printed in part C of House Report 111–143.

Mr. ROYCE. I have an amendment at the desk.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

SEC. 11. SENSE OF CONGRESS RELATING TO ERITREA.

(a) FINDINGS—Congress finds the following:

(1) Section 6(j) of the Export Administration Act of 1979, section 40 of the Arms Export Control Act, and section 648A of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 stipulate that a designated state sponsor of terrorism is one “that repeatedly provides support to acts of international terrorism.”

(2) Eritrea repeatedly has provided support for terrorists in Somalia, including the al-Shabaab insurgent group, which maintains links to the al-Qaeda network, and has been designated a Foreign Terrorist Organization by the Secretary of State pursuant to section 219 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA).

(3) The UN Sanctions Monitoring Group on Somalia, established by a committee of the United Nations Security Council pursuant to resolution 1904 of 2009, reported in July 2007 that “huge quantities of arms have been provided to the Shabaab by and through Eritrea,” and “the weapons in question include .30- and .50-caliber machine guns, PKM machine guns, RPG–2s, small mortars, UAVs, small arms, RPG–7s, RPG–1s, SAMs, rocket-propelled grenade launchers, RPG–7s, RPG–1s, and RPG–2s.

(4) On August 22, 2007, former Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs Jendayi Frazer stated, “Eritrea has played a key role in financing, funding and arming the terrorist organizations which are taking place in Somalia, and is the primary source of support for that insurgency and terror activity.”

(5) In September 2007, Eritrea hosted the Congress for Somali Liberation and Reconciliation conference, offering sanctuary to al-Qaeda-linked factions of the Somali opposition, including Sheik Hassan Dahir Aweys, who has been designated as a terrorist under Executive Order No. 13324 and United Nations Security Council Resolution 1267 for his association with al-Qaeda, and since has provided substantial political, diplomatic, financial and military support to the Asmarabased Alliance for the Reconstruction of Somalia (ARS).

(6) In April 2008, the UN Sanctions Monitoring Group on Somalia reported, “the Government of Eritrea continues to provide support to groups that oppose the Transitional Federal Government in the form of arms and military training for the Shabaa.

(7) In December 2008, a number of senior Al-Qaeda operatives have identified Eritrea as a ”principal violator” of the arms embargo on Somalia and asserted that “Eritrea arms embargo violations take place with the knowledge and authorization of senior officials within the Eritrean Government and the ruling People’s Front for Democracy and Justice (PFDJ).”.

(8) In testimony before the Senate PERMA-

Select Committee on February 12, 2009, Director of the Defense Intelligence Agency Lieutenant General Michael Maples stated that “al-Qaida in the East Africa-region has continued to receive substantial support from its group in Eritrea. As a result, the group has become more well

called on the UN Sanctions Monitoring Group to investigate”.

The Peace and Security Council of the African Union, at its 190th meeting held on May 22, 2009, issued a communique expressing its strong concerns over the violations of the United Nations arms embargo” and called on the UN Security Council to impose sanctions against Eritrea.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 522, the gentleman from California (Mr. ROYCE) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

Mr. ROYCE. I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, I currently serve as the ranking member of the Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on Terrorism. Previously, for 8 years, I served as the chairman of the Africa Subcommittee, so I long have followed the issues surrounding Eritrea and the Horn of Africa.

And this particular amendment calls on the Secretary of State to designate Eritrea as a “state sponsor of terrorism.” The Horn of Africa is a combustible mix. You have al Qaeda, you have piracy, a failed state in Somalia, border tensions, and a key instigator of this violence has been the government of Eritrea.

As the amendment indicates, U.N. report, this is the actual Shabaab fighter who shot down a cargo plane with that shoulder-fired missile supplied by Eritrea. And the reason that we know that is the propaganda footage used by this al Qaeda-linked organization. I have always tried to recruit fighters for their goal. And they showed the footage of the successful attack on the cargo plane.

Now, what if that had been a civilian jetliner? How many lives would have been lost?

Indeed, our FBI is greatly concerned about Somali Americans who have been lost?

The Royce amendment expresses the sense of Congress that the Secretary of State should designate Eritrea a state sponsor of terrorism and that the U.N. Security Council should impose sanctions against Eritrea. I urge you to vote against this amendment for the following reasons:

First, some of the assertions made in the amendment are factually wrong and dated.

Second, the geopolitical dynamics and interstate rivalries in the Horn of Africa cannot be fully understood without concerted diplomatic engagement. Declaring Eritrea a state sponsor of terrorism and imposing international sanctions would do nothing to further our diplomatic aims and would increase further hardship on people who are struggling to survive on a daily basis.

Thirdly, while Mr. ROYCE’s amendment lays out a long list of reasons why he feels Eritrea should be placed on a state sponsor of terrorism list, the proposed amendment does not recognize the diplomatic efforts currently underway by the State Department to address the complex issues surrounding the Horn of Africa. Just last month, President Obama sent a letter to President Obama expressing the desire to engage on these issues and is sending a high-level delegation to Washington. Additionally, a senior State Department official is expected to visit Asmara in a few weeks.

Moreover, the Somali Government has said they want to engage with Asmara.

Lastly, putting Eritrea on a sanctions list would have limited effect on our efforts to try to stabilize the region and build alliances with governments in the border battle against al Qaeda.

We should urge the administration to take careful note of the issues raised by Representative ROYCE, and I have written a letter to the President to that effect. The administration is engaging Asmara. We must allow these diplomatic discussions to continue.

In my last trip to Asmara 1 year ago, I met with the President and did indicate changes that would have to be made. The current President of Somalia, Sheikh Sharif Mohamed, was in Asmara and went back, and now is trying to lead a government which is fighting against al Shabaab and al...
Qaeda. And so at this time, I think that this amendment would disrupt sensitive diplomatic issues that are going on. I urge my colleagues to vote against the Royce amendment.

Madam Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. ROYCE. Let me respond. First, I think it is a great deal of respect for Chairman PAYNE. We have worked together for years on Africa issues. We worked together on Darfur, Sudan. But this is the very issue of why we disagree here, because all Members should know that it was Eritrea that was the first country to invite Sudan’s President, al-Bashir, to visit Eritrea following an arrest warrant for his crimes against humanity in Darfur.

Now, with respect to the issue, I can think of numerous issues and times when Congress has had to push—and we’ll take Sudan as an example, since the example I’m giving here is an example in which Eritrea has welcomed al-Bashir at a time when the international community is trying to get him to prevent the crimes that he has committed. We have had to push to take more assertive actions. We did that with genocide in Sudan. And in my view, there is nothing wrong now, especially with respect to a state sponsorship of terrorism. I think that the Assistant Secretary of State for Africa’s words speak for themselves. Again, this is Secretary Carson before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last month, in which he said, We have clear evidence that Eritrea is supporting these extremist elements, including credible reports that they continue to supply weapons and munitions to terrorist elements.

I ask for an “aye” vote.

The Acting CHAIR (Ms. DEGETTE). The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. ROYCE). The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. ROYCE).

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that during further consideration of H.R. 2410, pursuant to House Resolution 522, it may be in order to consider amendment No. 17 after amendment No. 27.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California? There was no objection.

FOREIGN RELATIONS AUTHORIZATION ACT, FISCAL YEARS 2010 AND 2011

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 522 and rule XVIII, the Chair declares the House in the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the further consideration of the bill, H.R. 2410.

IN THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

Accordingly, the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the further consideration of the bill (H.R. 2410) to authorize appropriations for the Department of State and the Peace Corps for fiscal years 2010 and 2011, to modernize the Foreign Service, and for other purposes, with Ms. DEGETTE (Acting Chair) in the chair.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The Acting CHAIR. When the Committee of the Whole rose earlier to order, a request for a recorded vote on amendment No. 15 by the gentleman from California (Mr. ROYCE) had been postponed.

AMENDMENT NO. 15 OFFERED BY MR. MEEKS OF NEW YORK

Amendment No. 16 offered by Mr. MEEKS of New York: At the end of title X, insert the following:

SEC. 10. REPORT ON UNITED STATES-BRAZIL JOINT ACTION PLAN TO ELIMINATE RACIAL DISCRIMINATION.

Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act and one year thereafter, the Secretary of State shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report detailing the status, efficacy, and coordination of the United States-Brazil Joint Action Plan to Eliminate Racial Discrimination, and a summary of short and long-term efforts to address the plight of Afro-Latinos and indigenous peoples in the Western Hemisphere through cooperation and bilateral efforts.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 522, the gentleman from New York (Mr. MEEKS) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

Mr. MEEKS of New York. Madam Chair, I rise today with an important amendment to H.R. 2410, the Foreign Relations Authorization Act for Fiscal Years 2010 and 2011.

We here in the United States understand all too well that taking more than just passing laws to ensure equal access to prosperity. It took decades of constant pressure and struggle to get the legal right to full participation of African Americans in our American democracy, yet we realize that our work is far from over in our great Nation.

Racial discrimination is a sobering reality, both here in the United States and in the rest of the world. We understand that we cannot throw stones from a glass house, but instead must work in tandem with our neighbors to ensure that all citizens in our hemisphere are unfettered by discriminatory practices now and the vestiges of those practices of the past.

It is in our interest to work toward a more equal hemisphere. And we are all at risk if our citizens do not have full faith in the strength of democracy to provide upward mobility. The Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., put it best when he said, Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere.

Afro-Latinos face a longstanding struggle against racial discrimination and a lack of opportunities. Afro-Latinos make up approximately 150 million of the region’s 540 million total population and, along with Afro-Latinos and indigenous populations, are among the poorest, most marginalized groups in the region.

People of African descent comprise a significant portion of the population in several Latin American countries and account for nearly 50 percent of the region’s poor. For many Afro-descendants, endemic poverty is exacerbated by isolation, exclusion, and racial discrimination.

In Brazil, Afro-Latinos represent 45 percent of the population but constitute 64 percent of the poor and 69 percent of the extremely poor. In Colombia, the plight of Afro-Colombians is perhaps harshest, as they are all too often caught in the crossfire of violent conflict.

Congress previously supported the United States-Brazil Joint Action Plan Against Racial Discrimination in House Resolution 1254 and called for both the United States and Brazil to promote equality and to continue to work toward eliminating racial discrimination. The joint action plan helps to facilitate the exchange of information on the best practices of antidiscrimination measures and development of ideas of how to bilaterally promote racial and ethnic equality.

With this amendment, we request that Secretary Clinton report on plans and efforts to address the plight of Afro-Latinos and indigenous peoples in the Western Hemisphere. And we also request a report on the status of the U.S.-Brazil joint action plan so we can gain a greater understanding of how to
