

any part of the government. That means when you buy a transit vehicle, it's going to be made in America. That's manufacturing, that's software, that's engineering, design. It goes all across the economy. It's small business suppliers, minority suppliers under the laws. We could put millions to work and stimulate our economy if that money were spent here.

Last week, I confronted the President's deputy economic adviser, Mr. Furman, over these issues; and he did admit that instead of more tax cuts, which isn't putting anybody back to work—that's their one nostrum which seems to have been adopted by the Obama administration—hasn't worked for a decade, but if we cut them even more, that will then. It doesn't work. Investment works. We know it works. Let's invest. But the President's deputy economic adviser said we can't do that, we can't get the money to do that, but we can do a Social Security tax holiday and borrow $200 billion more and not put people back to work.

Come on. Let's follow up on what the President said last night. Let's get serious about it, and let's make the investments here. America, it is time to focus on nation-building here at home and put our people back to work and ensure prosperity for future generations.

JOB CREATORS IN TEXAS "JUST SAY NO" TO MORE GOVERNMENT HELP

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Texas (Mr. BRADY) for 5 minutes.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Good morning, America. President Reagan once said the nine most terrifying words in the English language were: I'm from the government and I'm here to help.

Recently, I met with job creators, small businesses and mid-size businesses in my east Texas district to talk about jobs, and I wish the President would have been with me to listen to the men and women who create jobs in my district, and they're like the men and women who create jobs across America. In meeting after meeting, job creators in my district made their voices heard loud and clear. They don't want another Washington jobs bill. They don't want government that taxes more, spends more, regulates more, and borrows more. They aren't looking to Washington for more incentives or tools to start hiring.

Want more jobs, they ask? Then get your finances in order and get Washington out of the way of our economic recovery. They want this Congress to cut now and cut deep, and when this Congress thinks it's cut enough wasteful and nonessential government spending, they want this Congress to cut more. In other words, they want their lawmakers to do what it takes to get our Nation back on sound footing.

In Willis, city council member Anna Ross asked, We're making the tough choices in our city budget. When will the Federal Government do the same?

At the Conroe Rotary Club, Angela Allen told me she wants Washington to pay down the debt, go after fraud in Medicare, and above all, get out of the way of our job creators.

In Orange, Texas, small businesspeople flat out rejected more borrowed stimulus. They insist Congress not raise the debt ceiling unless we begin cutting up Washington's credit cards.

And local hospital administrator Jarren Garrett said it as bluntly as can be: Control spending.

In Huntsville, Texas, I heard how concerned people over our huge job-killing Tax Code. Sandra Sherman not only wants us to stop the spending. She wants government out of so many areas of our lives from housing, and banking, and medicine, and energy, insurance, and other sectors.

E.V. Blissard sent a loud message that we should not give in to the big spenders. E.V. is right. We can't give up the fight for a fair tax or to save Medicare and Social Security for our young people.

I heard that same message in Livingston, Texas, and New Caney, Texas, where they said forcing fewer and fewer taxpayers to carry more and more of the Federal Government burden is a sure way to kill the golden goose of prosperity.

Fear and uncertainty of what's coming next from Washington, including higher taxes, higher health care costs, higher energy costs is keeping these employers from putting out that "Help Wanted" sign we're all looking for.

In every town hall, roundtable, and civic club in my district the four letter word on the lips of everyone's tongue was "debt." Mr. President, in Texas the businesses that can help America pull out of its economic slump say it's time to cut up America's credit cards and end the spending spree in Washington. They will tell you if Washington doesn't back away from the cliff of more debt, more spending, more regulation, and more taxes, they fear we might cease to recognize our great Nation in the future.

Today, 2 years after that economic recovery supposedly started years after we spent $820 billion against our Republican objections, that stimulus, we have fewer Americans working today than when the stimulus began, one-half million fewer people working than when all that stimulus was supposed to jump-start the economy. Manufacturing is down, factory orders are down, consumer confidence is down. We were promised our unemployment rate right now would be 6½ percent. Well, it is almost 9 percent. We have the largest number of people out of work, unemployed. It's almost at historic levels. We have fewer people working today than almost a quarter of a century ago, fewer people in the workforce in almost a generation.

The stimulus failed. It is time for a new approach. It's time to listen to the job creators. What they really did like, by the way, was the Republican plan for America's job creators to get the Tax Code out of the way of our small business people, to get higher energy and health care costs out of the way of our job creators. They want to lower the barriers so America competes and finds new customers around the world, get those barriers out of the way, and they want a better business climate, more patent reform, more lawsuit reform, get those extra costs out of the way of our small businesses, and they want us to get our financial house in order.

□ 1100

Mr. President, get out of the White House, listen to our job creators. They don't want more government jobs bills. They want you and this Congress out of the way of what they know they want to do. And with that, we will bring jobs, bring the unemployment rate down, and bring us back to the strongest economy in the world, not just for a few years but for the entire century.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will remind Members that remarks in debate must be addressed to the Chair.

THANKING THE NATIONAL LABOR RELATIONS BOARD FOR ITS LEADERSHIP

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. RYAN) for 5 minutes.

Mr. RYAN of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to thank the National Labor Relations Board for moving in a direction with a recent proposed change that will actually strengthen a worker's ability in the United States to unite, to work within a system that has more transparency, that is fairer, that is streamlined so that we can return a little bit more power here in the United States of America to the worker.

Representing a district in northeast Ohio and cities like Akron and Youngstown, and in a region that includes Cleveland and Canton and is not too far from Pittsburgh, we have had a long, proud history in our region of a strong middle class that, in many ways, was provided by union representation, to bring some balance to an economic system, quite frankly, right now that is run by major global multinational interests that will do whatever is necessary to drive down wages for average workers.

I love this economic theory that we hear many times from our friends on the other side that if the minimum wage just wasn't so high, if workers just weren't making as much money, that maybe the economy would start humming. Let's reduce taxes on the wealthiest people in the United States
