

IN OPPOSITION TO H.R. 2804 AND
H.R. 899

HON. CHRIS VAN HOLLEN

OF MARYLAND

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, March 12, 2014

Mr. VAN HOLLEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to H.R. 2804, the so-called “All Economic Regulations are Transparent (ALERT) Act and H.R. 899, the so-called “Unfunded Mandates Information and Transparency Act.”

This week, the House took up a series of rehashed bills—under the guise of the “Stop Government Abuse Week”—that would limit the ability of federal agencies to enforce commonsense rules and regulations. While supporters of H.R. 2804 and H.R. 899 claim they are needed to curb overregulation, in reality, they would prevent federal agencies from doing their jobs and working to ensure there are safeguards in place to protect consumer health and safety.

My Republican colleagues contend that the two bills before us are a response to the “tsunami” of regulations under the Obama Administration. However, this is simply not true. In fact, federal agencies under President Obama have issued significantly less rules during his first four years in office when compared to President Bush’s first term. Moreover, the ALERT Act would actually create more red tape by imposing unnecessary new procedures on agencies and adding over 60 new barriers in the federal rulemaking process.

Much like the ALERT Act, H.R. 899 would also introduce uncertainty into agency decision-making and undermine the ability of agencies to provide critical public health and safety protections. It would also weaken our democracy by giving powerful special interests and private industry an unfair advantage in the rulemaking process. Specifically, it would require agencies to consult with private industry—but not most other stakeholders, such as public health or food safety experts—before proposing rules.

I was disappointed that amendments offered by Representative CUMMINGS and Representative CONNOLLY were not adopted. Rep. CUMMINGS’ amendment would have overturned a provision in the bill that directly compromises the autonomy of independent regulatory agencies—including the CFPB, SEC, and CPSC—by requiring that they report proposed rules to the OMB. Rep. CONNOLLY’s amendment would have simply evened the playing field and ensured that public interest organizations and other stakeholders are provided the same opportunity for consultation afforded to special interest groups and private industry under this bill.

Over the last four years, President Obama has implemented significant reforms to the rulemaking process. In January 2010, the President signed an Executive Order that required agencies to determine if the benefits of proposed rules are justified considering their cost to society. He required an interagency review of overlapping rules and regulation between agencies that may prevent innovation in the private sector and instituted a policy to allow agencies to consider input from affected public and private stakeholders and experts when developing rules and regulations.

There is also a mechanism in place that already requires agencies to adhere to specific requirements of Federal law before issuing a rule or regulation. The Administrative Procedure Act, the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA), the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995 (UMRA), the Paperwork Reduction Act (PRA), and the Congressional Review Act all serve the purpose of making sure that agencies are not overstepping their bounds when issuing rules and enforcing existing regulations.

At a time when Congress should be doing everything it can to create jobs and improve the economy, these bills are nothing but a distraction. They are unnecessary and potentially harmful to the public health and safety. I urge my colleagues to oppose each of them.

CONDEMNING VIOLATION OF UKRAINIAN SOVEREIGNTY, INDEPENDENCE AND TERRITORIAL INTEGRITY

SPEECH OF

HON. RUSH HOLT

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, March 11, 2014

Mr. HOLT. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this resolution.

Just today, a CNN camera crew reported evidence that Russian troops are literally digging in on the Crimean peninsula, including the installation of minefields along the new, illegal border they have created with the Ukraine. The world community cannot stand idly by in the face of this unprovoked Russian aggression against another sovereign member of the United Nations. The House, by passing this resolution, will be taking an important step towards that end.

There are several provisions in this resolution calling on the new Ukrainian government to implement measures to end political corruption, respect the human rights and civil liberties of ethnic minorities in the Ukraine, and so on. These and other reforms are essential for Ukraine to truly consolidate its revolution and ensure a transition to a truly open, democratic society.

But the people of the Ukraine will find it difficult to maintain their freedom and independence if their largest neighbor continues its illegal occupation of the Crimea, threatens additional areas of eastern Ukraine with invasion, and takes steps—overt and covert—to undermine the new Ukrainian government. The resolution before the House today calls upon the Obama administration to boycott the upcoming G8 summit and work with our partners to expel Russia from the G8. Given that the Russian government refuses to recognize Ukraine’s new government and is proceeding with a sham “referendum” on Crimea’s future, I believe the Administration must take the steps called for in this resolution. I also call upon the Administration to keep the Congress fully and currently informed on any indications that further Russian aggression may be attempted elsewhere in the Ukraine.

There is one amendment to this resolution that the committee adopted that concerns me, and it involves a call to increase U.S. natural gas exports. Simply, the U.S. does not currently possess the ability to export LNG to Ukraine or other European allies, and export facilities currently under construction will not be operational until late 2015, at the earliest. It is opportunistic and frankly not based in fact, to have natural gas companies and their allies in Congress using this crisis as a catalyst for increased LNG exports.

Further, the U.S. does not have a state run energy conglomerate like Russia, and we cannot simply turn our energy exports up or down following a single executive decree. LNG export terminals cost billions and the companies making these investments will not proceed with their construction unless they have already secured LNG supply contracts, typically with Asian countries, like Japan, China, and India, where high natural gas prices will result in the greatest profits. If our concern is ensuring Ukraine has reliable energy sources, we should be talking to our European partners about how best to accomplish that goal.

Again, I encourage my colleagues to join me in supporting this legislation.

HONORING THE MEMBERS OF STILLWATER TRINITY LU-THERAN CHURCH

HON. BETTY McCOLLUM

OF MINNESOTA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, March 12, 2014

Ms. McCOLLUM. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor members of Stillwater Trinity Lutheran Church and acknowledge their recent efforts to feed more than half a million people in a community food drive called “Meals from the Heart.” This ambitious initiative will provide nutritious meals to be distributed through a variety of organizations from the Saint Croix Valley all the way to Tanzania.

“Meals from the Heart” is a community-led, full-scale mission to address hunger—both here at home and around the world. Beginning in 2008, Trinity Lutheran Church, located in Stillwater, Minnesota, has partnered with churches, schools, nonprofits, and local businesses, including Andersen Windows, to provide meals for those in need. Working together, their benevolent efforts have produced impressive results. During the past five years, 10,500 volunteers have packed more than 3 million meals that have been delivered to diverse locations, ranging from a church in Saint Paul to an orphanage in Haiti.

Access to affordable, nutritious food is fundamental to the health and economic success of communities. Unfortunately, for far too many, access to nutritious food is not dependable. Food insecurity is rising at an alarming rate, causing regional conflicts and forcing 1 billion people worldwide to struggle with chronic hunger and disease. In America, economic strain from the Great Recession continues to place significant financial hardships on families looking to put food on the table.

Just last month, our nation celebrated the 50th Anniversary of President Johnson’s “War on Poverty.” While President Johnson’s call to action has resulted in profound change for a generation of Americans, our nation still must confront the stark reality that poverty, hunger, and income inequality persist today. To be successful in the fight against hunger, it will take collective action between public, private, and community forces—just as we have seen with the “Meals from the Heart” program.

Mr. Speaker, it is with great pride I submit this statement for the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, recognizing the benevolent actions of local volunteers and businesses who have collaborated to make a difference in combating hunger across the globe and in our own neighborhoods in the United States.

WOMEN’S HISTORY MONTH

HON. ALAN GRAYSON

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, March 12, 2014

RECOGNIZING THE CONTRIBUTIONS OF DOMINIQUE GELIN

Mr. GRAYSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today, in honor of Women’s History Month, to recognize Dominique Gelin. Born and raised in Miami, Florida, Dominique is the proud daughter of immigrant parents. She has worked to shape policy and mobilize members of her community.

Dominique moved to Orlando to attend the University of Central Florida in the fall of 2008. It was there that she got her first taste of organizing her peers, encouraging them to vote and become a part of the process. After receiving her Bachelor’s degree, she continued her community service, becoming a Youth Outreach Director and extending her work to high school students and young professionals.

Over the years, Dominique has had the opportunity to work with organizations like Ruth’s List Florida, the National Congress of Black Women, and most recently, as an Aide at the Florida House of Representatives. In 2011, Dominique was awarded the Achievement Award by the Florida Commission on the Status of Women.

She looks forward to continuing her work by advocating for those with the most urgent needs through compassionate leadership.

I am happy to honor Dominique Gelin, during Women’s History Month, for her contributions to her community.

RECOGNIZING THE LEADERSHIP OF SENATOR GERALDINE F. THOMPSON

Mr. Speaker, I rise today, in honor of Women’s History Month, to recognize Florida Senator Geraldine Thompson. Senator Thompson began serving the people of Florida in 1970 when she worked as a Secretary for State Representative Gwendolyn Sawyer Cherry, the first African American female to serve in the Florida House of Representatives. During her time with Representative Cherry, she learned that conditions could be changed and lives improved through the enactment of legislation.

After working for several years, Senator Thompson enrolled at Florida State University from which she received a M.S. in Communication in 1973. She and her husband moved to Orlando and immediately became active in the Central Florida community. She later became the Assistant to the President at Valencia Community College where she served for 24 years. Among her many accomplishments was the establishment of the “College Reach Out Program.” The program enabled thousands of low income and disadvantaged students to fulfill their dream of going to college.

As a public historian, Senator Thompson’s passion for history led her to conduct research and compile documents which resulted in the publication of a book, Black America Series: Orlando, Florida, in 2003. She is also credited with preserving one of Orlando’s unique landmarks, The Wells’ Built Hotel, which housed some of America’s most prominent citizens, including Justice Thurgood Marshall, Ray Charles, Ella Fitzgerald, Jackie Robinson and many more. She helped secure funds to convert the hotel into a museum which is known today as The Wells’ Built Museum of African American History and Culture.

In November 2006, Thompson was elected to serve as the first African American female to represent District 39 in the Florida House of Representatives. As a state representative, she worked to bring about change, including sponsoring legislation to give pregnant women protection under the Florida Civil Rights Act, and establishing a lottery Ticket for the Cure to benefit breast cancer victims. On November 18, 2008, she was unanimously selected by her legislative colleagues to serve as the Democratic Leader Pro Tempore, the second highest ranking Democrat in the Florida House of Representatives. In November 2012, Thompson was elected to the Florida Senate. In December 2012, Senator Thompson was elected Chairman of the Orange County Legislative Delegation. She is the first female and African-American to hold the position of Chair.

Senator Thompson has been recognized with numerous awards. She received the Florida Education Association’s Mary McLeod Bethune Humanitarian Award and the National Education Association’s prestigious Mary Hatwood Futrell Award for her outstanding human rights work toward the advancement and education of women and girls. She is also a recipient of the Executive Women Award, the Legislative Award from the American Cancer Society, and the Martin Luther King Award from the Greater Orlando Alliance of Black School Education. She is also an Executive Board Member of the National Black Caucus of State Legislators.

Senator Thompson enjoys every opportunity to give back, such as arranging to have 40 students from Jones High School in Orlando attend the inaugurations of President Barack Obama in 2009 and 2013. She is married to the Honorable Emerson R. Thompson, Jr. She has three children, Laurise, Emerson III, and Elizabeth, and is the proud grandmother of four.

I am happy to honor Senator Geraldine Thompson, during Women’s History Month, for her leadership and service to the Central Florida community.
