The Senate met at 10 a.m. and was called to order by the President pro tempore (Mr. HATCH).

PRAYER
The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:
Let us pray.
Eternal God, the fountain of wisdom, You are more majestic than the mountains. Give our lawmakers the reverence for You that will motivate them to do Your will. May they labor to enhance Your glory, striving to make our Nation and world stronger and better. Lord, help them to honor Your Name, cherishing the fact that they belong to You. Show them how to use today’s fleeting moments to accomplish Your purposes. Sanctify their thoughts, words, and deeds. May they set You always before them as their guide, keeping You close so that they will not be shaken.
We pray in Your sacred Name. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE
The President pro tempore led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:
I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

RECOGNITION OF THE MAJORITY LEADER
The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. Sasse). The majority leader is recognized.

HEALTHCARE LEGISLATION
Mr. McConnell. Mr. President, every week, it seems we hear more news about the failures of ObamaCare. For instance, 2 weeks ago, we learned that nearly 70,000 people in parts of Missouri and Kansas will lose their last insurance provider on the ObamaCare exchanges in 2018. From rural towns to Kansas City, these Americans are being left without options. Last week, we learned that thousands of ObamaCare customers in Nebraska will be left with only one provider on the exchanges and that the remaining insurer hasn’t even decided if it is going to stay through 2018. This week, we learned that the number of health insurers participating in ObamaCare exchanges had declined by nearly one-quarter from 2016 to 2017. It has become painfully clear that ObamaCare is failing to live up to its promises and is collapsing right in front of our eyes. If this failed ObamaCare status quo continues, more Americans are likely to lose their insurance options, more Americans are likely to continue seeing their premiums rise, and more Americans are likely to get caught in the downward spiral of ObamaCare.
It is time for our friends on the other side of the aisle to get serious about moving beyond the problems of this law. They spent years defending the system, promising it will get better over time and claiming others were exaggerating ObamaCare’s flaws, but here is the reality our Democratic colleagues seem to be missing: ObamaCare did not get better. The problems are real and have continued to get worse.
Now Democrats are trying to blame the failures of ObamaCare on anything but—anything but—the broken healthcare law itself. They can try to shift the blame, but the American people are not going to fall for it.
Many Kentuckians have called for us to move away from ObamaCare to bring relief to families. An official report released last month showed that since ObamaCare’s full enactment in 2013, average premiums in Kentucky have skyrocketed by 75 percent.
A woman from Lancaster, KY, wrote to my office recently to express her frustration. With high premiums and a staggering deductible, she asked:
Why is there a law forcing me to pay for something I can’t afford? Either I can eat and pay my mortgage, or pay for insurance.
Far too many Americans face these painful choices every day because of ObamaCare. As the system continues to collapse around us, this Kentuckian and many more like her are left to deal with the consequences.
The ObamaCare status quo is unsustainable and unacceptable. Our country can do better, and our country really must do better. I hope Senate Democrats will join us as we move beyond the system’s failures. They can either continue to defend this broken system with its higher costs and diminishing choices, or they can work with us to move beyond ObamaCare toward smarter healthcare solutions. What is clear is that we have to act. Otherwise, more Americans will be stuck paying the price of ObamaCare’s continuing failures.

DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS ACCOUNTABILITY AND WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTION BILL
Mr. McConnell. Now, Mr. President, on another matter, like those who have called for relief from ObamaCare, many Americans across the Nation are counting on us to ensure better quality healthcare for our veterans. This is a critical issue for each of us no matter what State we come from, no matter what party we represent. Our veterans have sacrificed too much. In return, they deserve our support. We must keep the commitment we have to them when it comes to ensuring that the VA is providing the quality healthcare they rely on.
Unfortunately, as we all know, many VA facilities across the Nation have long failed to provide our Nation’s heroes with the timely and effective medical attention they need. Already, Congress has taken a number of steps to improve these facilities for our veterans and to keep the faith for those who have willingly and courageously fought on our behalf.

Now we can build on those efforts by passing the Department of Veterans Affairs Accountability and Whistleblower Protection Act. As the name implies, this legislation will enhance accountability measures at the VA and better enable the Department to remove—to remove—employees who are failing to meet the standards expected of them.

This bill, in conjunction with the continued administration efforts like those Secretary Shulkin announced yesterday, will further improve medical services offered to our veterans at VA facilities all across our country. It was unfortunate to see this legislation held up in a previous Congress, but I am proud that the Republican Senate has made its passage among our top priorities.

I once again recognize Veterans’ Affairs Committee chairman JOHNNY ISAKSON and Senator RUBIO for the part they played in moving this very important bill forward and remaining vigilant on behalf of America’s veterans. I know we are all eager to advance it today and send it on down to the White House for the President’s signature.

NOMINATION OF COURTNEY ELWOOD

Mr. MCCONNELL. Now, Mr. President, one final matter, today we will confirm Courtney Elwood, the nominee for general counsel at the Central Intelligence Agency. As Chairman BURR pointed out at her hearing, Ms. Elwood has an impressive legal background.

She graduated from Yale Law School before clerking under Chief Justice William Rehnquist on the Supreme Court, and she served as a former advisor to both Vice President Cheney and President Bush, as well as to the Attorney General.

In her role at the CIA, Ms. Elwood will be providing sound legal advice to Directortennis, ensuring accountability at the Agency as a whole, and overseeing a number of priorities that are key to supporting our Nation’s intelligence community. Her nomination has already earned bipartisan support.

I am sure that once she is confirmed, she will serve our country well in this new role.

RECOGNITION OF THE MINORITY LEADER

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Democratic leader is recognized.

INFRASTRUCTURE

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, first I want to talk about infrastructure. This week, the administration is laying out a few key infrastructure proposals. So far, it has been a major disappointment. President Trump pitched a trillion-dollar infrastructure plan in his campaign and continued to mention it in the days after the election. We Democrats welcomed the idea.

One of my first conversations with the President after he was elected was about infrastructure.

I said: You need a trillion-dollar infrastructure program.

He said to me: At least that.

I said: Sounds good to me. Let’s work on it.

We have made overtures to the White House saying we would be willing to work with the President on infrastructure. I said it to the President directly several times. Democrats have been pushing for new money for infrastructure for a very long time. We even put out our own proposal, a trillion-dollar infrastructure plan, hoping it would spark a discussion.

We Democrats continue to welcome a serious and constructive dialogue on this issue, but unfortunately the President continues to disappoint. We sent our plan several months ago, and we have heard nothing for those months.

Now the President seems to be intent on pushing forward an infrastructure plan on his own, one with few details, that is mostly private sector driven—that means with minimum investment, and that would ignore a huge section of our infrastructure. The President doesn’t seem to be talking to anyone but a few people in his inner circle. Some of them are financiers. Of course, of course, there will be private sector infrastructure for a long time, but that is not the way we have worked in America since Henry Clay, a former—not quite a Republican. We didn’t have any then, but he was a Whig—the predecessor party—and he came up with this idea of internal improvements. I remind my dear friend, the majority leader, Mr. CLAY was from Kentucky.

Internal improvements were supposed to connect what was then the east coast with the far West—Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio—with roads over Appalachia, and ever since, we have had bipartisan support on the Federal Government building infrastructure and putting in the dollars for it but not from President Trump, at least thus far.

The President’s plan is a recipe for Trump tolls from one end of America to the other. That is not what the American people are crying out for. They don’t want more tolls. They want us to rebuild our crumbling water systems, bridges, schools, roads, broadband, not finance new tollroads.

Unfortunately, the President surrounds himself with bankers and financiers. These are folks who used to work at investment banks. They look at infrastructure as an investment to be made by corporations in the private sector, but infrastructure has never been a business investment.

Infrastructure has been something the government has invested in for decades and even centuries because the benefits of infrastructure have great—what the economists call externalities. The benefits for having a good highway is not just for the people who use the highway, but if a factory locates nearby because it can get its goods there more frequently and quickly, that is a benefit. A road itself might not generate short-term profit but our rural people are entitled to high-speed internet as our people in urban areas and, I might add, there are large parts of my city, New York City, where that last mile isn’t done because there are poorer residents and it is less profitable.

That is why there has always been the role of government to stimulate infrastructure investment, to provide support for necessary maintenance and construction which the private sector won’t do on its own. To have at the end of the road if there isn’t a profit even but our rural people are entitled to high-speed internet as our people in urban areas and, I might add, there are large parts of my city, New York City, where that last mile isn’t done because there are poorer residents and it is less profitable.

The bottom line is, if the President wants to sit down with Democrats, of course we want to do it, but if he continues to take this path with a plan cooked up by Wall Street advisers, it will not succeed or it will result in such a small measure that it will not be effective.

Again, I say to the President—there is talk, I read in the newspapers—they want to do this by reconciliation, no Democratic votes, just 52 Republican votes in the Senate. The same problem they have with the tax reform, the same problem they are having with tax reform, will repeat itself with infrastructure if you don’t do it in a bipartisan way.

Our colleagues constantly remind us that ObamaCare didn’t work because it was done by one party, but now they are letting Trump lead them to do the same thing on just about every major issue. It is a formula for failure President Trump is advocating. He hasn’t been down here in Washington that long with how the former—he, the same problem they are having with tax reform, will repeat itself with infrastructure if you don’t do it in a bipartisan way. The bottom line is, if the President wants to sit down with Democrats, of course we want to do it but if he continues to take this path with a plan cooked up by Wall Street advisers, it will not succeed or it will result in such a small measure that it will not be effective.

So my view is, we need bipartisan support, but the President might not get just to number that many Republicans are very negative, initially at least, with a private sector-driven infrastructure bill because they represent rural areas.

Here’s what is a Republican Senator from Wyoming, Mr. BARRASSO—fine man—said: “Funding solutions that involve public-private partnerships do not work for rural areas.”
My friend, the Republican Senator from West Virginia, has said: “As a person who represents an almost all-rural State . . . I’m concerned about how we are going to be able to incent the private dollars to go to the less-populated, less-economically developed areas here, because the investments are just as important.”

The bottom line is this, an investment bank infrastructure plan like the one the President is proposing is a sure loser. The Musikant Foundation infrastructure plan just will not work, except for a few. It would turn over a public good to the whims of private finance, who will not build infrastructure where America needs it. They will build it where they can make a buck, and that means tolls paid by working Americans and middle-class Americans. That means rural areas will not get the support they need. That means any project that can’t generate user fees or taxes—like repairing our schools or water sewer systems—will not get done.

There is no free lunch. When the private sector wants to finance infrastructure, they naturally—that is our free enterprise system—want to get repaid, but who is going to repay them? The average American: the truckdriver who is scratching out a living, the salesman or saleswoman who is scratching out a living, the family who is going on vacation and has to stop every 30 miles for another toll, the small business that depends on roads to get the goods to and from that business location.

If the President truly wants to rebuild our Nation’s infrastructure, he has to approach this issue in a bipartisan way. There are several Republicans who don’t want the Federal Government to spend any more money on infrastructure, but the majority of Senators of both parties probably do. The President needs to sit down with Democrats and work something out. He hasn’t sat down with Democrats. He hasn’t even tried to get something done. He hasn’t even tried.

We stand ready and willing to work with the President on that plan or something similar that actually achieves what he promised on the campaign trail.

HEALTHCARE LEGISLATION

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, another matter: healthcare. According to reports, Republican Senators were planning to use the State work period last week to rewrite their healthcare bill. Well, now we are back in session, and unfortunately my friends on the other side of the aisle don’t seem to be any closer to having a bill. If they do have one, they are hiding it and going down the same path as House Republicans—drafting a bill that will impact tens of millions in secret, no transparency, no committee hearings, no debate.

Even with all this secrecy, more and more Republicans seem increasingly pessimistic about finding a Republican-only bill that can get 50 votes in the Senate. Over the weekend, the senior Republican Senator from North Carolina, Mr. Burr, said: “I don’t see a comprehensive health-care plan this year.”

Just yesterday, Senator THUNE, a member of the Republican leadership, said the Republicans may rush a healthcare bill to the floor before they know if it has the support of their caucus.

Well, my friends on the other side of the aisle are learning how difficult it is to refigure our healthcare system under a process with only votes from one party—the so-called reconciliation process—and do it in a way that actually improves our healthcare, not devestate it, as the House bill would.

I hope my Republican friends will realize the only way we will get votes necessary to pass a healthcare bill is to drop repeal and work with Democrats to improve our healthcare system, not to sabotage it. We stand ready and willing to work with our Republican colleagues to further stabilize the insurance markets, build on the progress we have made in healthcare. In fact, we are running out of time before the 2018 rates are locked in.

Most insurance companies are saying they are raising rates because of the uncertainty Republicans continue to inject into the market. The President has not come out permanently for cost-sharing, which would reduce premiums and keep people in the market. They just sort of do it one at a time, and that is going to make the markets worse.

The public already unfortunately will blame those in charge—our Republican friends and the President—for the mess, as much as they would like to look past—as much of our colleagues on the other side of the aisle want to point fingers. People want something done now. They don’t want fingers of blame pointed back at what happened 5 years ago or 8 years ago.

We Democrats don’t want to tear everything down and start over again. Let’s keep all the progress—the 20 million more Americans insured, the kids who can stay on their parents’ plan, the protections for existing conditions—and find ways to make even more progress on bringing down costs for consumers and improving the quality of care.

I yield the floor.

EXECUTIVE CALENDAR

The senior assistant legislative clerk read the nomination of Courtney Elwood, of Virginia, to be General Counsel of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority whip.

HEALTHCARE LEGISLATION

Mr. CORNYN. Mr. President, I came to the floor to talk about other matters, and I will get to those in a moment. I can’t help but be struck by the Democratic leader’s sudden interest in addressing healthcare reform.

It is a fact that even if Hillary Clinton were elected President of the United States, we would be revisiting the failed promises of the Affordable Care Act. For example, premiums, since 2013, have gone up 165 percent in the individual market. Those are people who don’t have employer-provided coverage or aren’t on Medicare or Medicaid.

Small businesses and individuals who have to go out and purchase their healthcare have seen premiums go up 105 percent.

We hear stories every day—and I will recount some of those from Texas—where people say they have zero choices. For example, in Iowa, we learned that no insurance companies that are willing to sell health insurance on the individual market. That isn’t because of anything that President Trump or the Republican majority have done. These are the failures of Obamacare.

President Obama made extravagant promises about Obamacare, none of which has really proven to be true. He said he would bring down premiums $2,500 for a family of four. Well, these folks in the individual market have seen their premiums go up 105 percent since 2013. He said that if you like your policy, you could keep your policy. That proved not to be true because unless you bought the government-approved policy, insurance companies couldn’t sell it on the exchanges. He said: If you like your doctor, you can keep your doctor.

But as people found out when their policies were renewed, the doctors in the network they could see changed. People saw premiums go up. They lost coverage they liked, and they lost the doctor they had confidence in.

So the suggestion of the Democratic leader that somehow this current situation is a result of President Trump or congressional action is ludicrous. I think people understand that, but I just want to point in the direction that sometimes when people don’t respond they assume there isn’t a response, and clearly there is.

TRIBUTE TO TEXAS MILITARY ACADEMY APPOINTEES

Mr. President, it is good to be back at work here in Washington after a work week at home. I had the honor, starting on Memorial Day, of spending some time with Texas’s newest recruits to our military academies.

Every year, now for the 11th year, I have had the privilege of hosting an academy sendoff ceremony in “Military City U.S.A.”, my hometown of San Antonio. This annual gathering recognizes the bright young Texans who have accepted an appointment to one of the premier military academies that serve our Armed Forces, and I am always proud to celebrate the incredible achievement they have made so far in their young lives and encourage them as they begin a life of public service. It is truly inspirational, and it is my favorite event of the year.

This year about 272 young Texans have accepted appointments to get a service academy education and a career in military service. It is a good deal if you can qualify for it because basically you get a free ride to one of these premier service academies, and we train the next generation of military leaders, which is good for all of us.

My wife Sandy and I look forward to this event each year, and we find that Memorial Day is a fitting time to send off these young men and women, while we at the same time remembering the ultimate sacrifice made by those who gave their lives answering that same call to service.

I try to recruit a top-tier speaker to these events, somebody who will challenge and inspire these young men and women, and this year was no exception. ADM William McRaven, the Chancellor of the University of Texas System, spoke to these incoming midshipmen about becoming public service and his 37 years in the U.S. Navy as a Navy SEAL.

He spoke candidly that this would be the greatest challenge of their young lives but also the most rewarding. He said it would be a decision they would never regret. He also spent some time—appropriately, on Memorial Day—talking about the heroes who have sacrificed all to serve the military in the greatest country in the world. So all in all, Memorial Day, and it was a great event for these young men and women.

DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS ACCOUNTABILITY AND WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTION BILL

Mr. President, as we come back the week after Memorial Day, I know I am not the only one encouraged to find better and more effective ways to serve our country. Fortunately, this Chamber in the Senate will have a chance to do that. Some time ago, I sponsored a bill that will reform the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, a Department riddled with inefficiencies and marked too often by scandal and corruption.

This is a huge government department. At last count, some 330,000 people worked for the Veterans’ Administration and, unfortunately, we have all become familiar with the horror stories of fake scheduling, indicating that people actually were being seen who were not seen, hours of wait times, and people literally dying as a result of not getting the treatment they earned by virtue of their service in the military through the Department of Veterans Affairs.

The legislation we will vote on is called the Department of Veterans Affairs Accountability and Whistleblower Protection Act. It will protect the Veterans’ Administration employees who care deeply for veterans by protecting them from retaliation. It also provides managers with the tools they need to address poor performance and misconduct. To sum it up, this bill will make it easier for VA employees to be held accountable, and that is something that the Veterans’ Administration and our veterans desperately need, and it has for some time. It will make the VA work better for the men and women who have served us so well.

I should point out that at a time when I suspect people doubt whether there is any bipartisanship in the Congress or in Washington, this is a bipartisan piece of legislation. It was voted out of the Veterans’ Affairs Committee by a voice vote 2 weeks ago, which essentially is by unanimous consent.

It has growing support among groups focused on helping our returning warriors to get the treatment, care, and support they need. That is because the VA bill will do what it is supposed to do and, unfortunately, hasn’t always been done well, which is to serve our veterans.

Like all of us, I have had the honor of meeting with our veterans regularly and working with them to help them succeed after giving so much of themselves to keep our country safe.

One other example of bipartisan legislation that was signed into law by the President of the United States is a bill called the American Law Enforcement Heroes Act, a bill that I introduced to help connect veterans to opportunities in law enforcement in their local communities. So it is another example of what can work.

There is not a big partisan food fight over it. So maybe many people are not aware of it. But I think it is important to remind people that, amid all of the distractions they see in Washington these days, there is important work being done to benefit people who certainly deserve it, and that would be the case for our veterans.

I am thankful for the work of the chairmen of the Senate Veterans Affairs Committee, Senator Isakson, as well as the diligent and thoughtful work of the Senator from Florida, Mr. RUDIO, on this important veterans bill.

I look forward to passing this bill soon. Mr. President, I also look forward this afternoon to confirming the nominee for general counsel of the Central Intelligence Agency. Director Pompeo has been there for some time now, having been nominated by President Trump—and confirmed. He is an outstanding choice to be the Director of the Central Intelligence Agency. Like every organization, it seems these days, the CIA needs a good lawyer to lead them through the mess that it conducts itself precisely in accordance with the rule of law.

Ms. Elwood is extraordinarily qualified. She served during the administration of President George W. Bush as Counselor to the Attorney General, Deputy Counsel to the Vice President, and Associate Counsel to the President. I am confident that she will serve as a sharp, independent mind to the CIA. I hope we will confirm Courtney Elwood soon, and I will close on that.

HEALTHCARE LEGISLATION

Finally, Mr. President, as we redouble our work on the failed ObamaCare law and seek to replace it with market-driven solutions so people can actually get insurance, the way at a price they can afford, I want to briefly remind my colleagues why we are fixing it. I alluded to that at the beginning, and I will close with a few more reminders.

It was last week it was reported that only three insurance companies that offered plans on the ObamaCare exchanges will return to the Houston area in 2018. In 2016, just last year, there was more than twice that number. So we see that the pool of available choices for Americans on the exchanges has shrunk and continues to shrink in places such as Iowa, where it has already happened elsewhere. Right now there is no insurance company willing to sell insurance on the ObamaCare exchanges. Houston, after all, is the nation’s fourth most populous city. So if you see that sort of trend there, it can and will happen everywhere.

ObamaCare continues to fail the American people by not delivering on its promises. I have said before that in my previous life I was attorney general of the State of Texas. One of the most important jobs the attorney general’s office does is consumer protection, protecting consumers from fraudsters and those who would try to deceive them and cheat them out of their hard-earned money. I have said, because I believe it to be true, that ObamaCare represents one of the largest cases of consumer fraud I have ever seen. When President Obama made the extravagant promises he made and yet we have the evidence of its failure, it is clear that the American people were misled when it came to ObamaCare.

Many people aren’t getting the access to healthcare they thought, and those who are using ObamaCare exchanges are finding it increasingly expensive. As I indicated earlier, have gone up 105 percent in 39 States with ObamaCare exchanges, since 2013 alone. Then, with the deductible, most people find that their out-of-pocket costs before the insurance actually kicks in keeps going up and up and up, to the extent that many people essentially find themselves without the benefit of the insurance they are paying so much for because the deductible is so high. We know the insurers on the exchanges just keep passing the cost on to their customers with rate increases up to almost 50 percent in many cases. That is just in the Houston area, which I am talking about. Obviously, the 105 percent in 2016 is a nationwide number. We know that nationwide, as well, only one in three counties has only one insurer on the ObamaCare exchange as of 2017. This is just simply unsustainable, and it is irresponsible.

That is why my colleagues and I are committed to doing something about it. One Democratic leader was in here claiming that the instability in the market and the fact that premiums are so high and insurance companies are leaving are as a result of the instability created by political uncertainty. Well, that is clearly not the case. ObamaCare has been with us since 2016, and it has been a terrible failure for the people who buy their insurance on the individual markets. That is why we are committed to doing everything we can to replacing it with policies that actually work to help people get the type of coverage they want at a price they can afford.

I yield the floor. I suggest the absence of a quorum. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll. The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President, today the Senate will vote on the nomination of Courtney Elwood to be CIA general counsel. This is an important job that got even more important in the past week. As I will explain, this position may play a crucial role in determining whether history is erased or preserved for generations of Americans to come.

As Senators know, last week the current chair of the Senate Intelligence Committee demanded that several key government agencies get rid of their copies of the torture report prepared by Senator Feinstein and her colleagues. I am going to take a few minutes to describe what this has to do with Court- ney Elwood. In short, it starts with the CIA’s history of torture, which was carefully documented and sourced by the Intelligence Committee under Senator FEINSTEIN’s leadership. This is the issue that is being debated—the CIA’s history of torture. That is why it is critically important that the CIA get back its copy of the report. If Courtney Elwood is confirmed, the decision on whether to do so may be up to her. Here is why: The CIA Director, Mr. Pompeo, who said at his confirmation hearing that he would read the report, has gotten rid of the CIA’s copy. He did so despite the fact that the current chair of the Intelligence Committee had no authority to demand that of him. Mr. Pompeo got rid of the report despite a personal promise to read it, and he did this even though it may have violated the law. It certainly violated a fundamental principle important to the American people that in this country, we don’t erase history.

Now, this can be fixed. The CIA can get the report back. It can do what Senator FEINSTEIN told the government to do back in 2014, which is to distribute this report, read it, and learn from it. Will Director Pompeo get the report? The answer is no. There is no reason to think so. But if there is one thing Director Pompeo said again and again in his remarks during the confirmation process, it is that he told the Senate Intelligence Committee repeatedly that he is going to rely on the advice of his generals. That is exactly where Courtney Elwood comes in. What will her advice be to Director Pompeo? What will she advise him about whether to allow this attempt to erase history to stand or whether to get fixed and the report is going to be brought back? The Senate doesn’t have any idea this morning. We do know that Ms. Elwood’s responses to questions on the torture issue were troubling and that we need to look at those responses in a whole new light based on what happened last week.

Ms. Elwood said that she read the unclassified executive summary of the torture report, but based on her responses to questions, the 500-page executive summary was not adequate for her. It was not sufficient for her to conclude whether the CIA’s interrogation techniques violate clear- ly, she needed to read the classified report. Ms. Elwood, in both her written answers and at her hearing, said that she would read the classified report. But now, because of what the current chair of the Intelligence Committee and the Director of the CIA have done, it is not going to be available. It is not going to be available for her to read.

Many Members of this body have spoken out about the torture report and the need for its lessons to be learned so that the country never again engages in the kind of illegal, damaging program that Senator FEINSTEIN has documented. But now there is an issue that goes beyond what the Senate has thought this was all about. Now there is an individual who nominated for this job whose answers are critical. This nominee told our committee that she had not yet studied whether the CIA’s torture techniques were legal. She told us she would read the report, and now the report is gone. What could be more troubling than that?

What is at issue here is one of the most disturbing and undemocratic events ever to take place in the U.S. Senate. The current chair of the Senate Intelligence Committee has told the executive branch to get rid of its copies of the report, and at least some of the agencies have sent their only copies to the committee. I am going to be clear: The current chair does not have the authority to do this. First, in December of 2014, the full, final, classified report was filed as a Senate report. It is therefore not a committee document. Second, no one can retroactively change the status of a historical Senate report. The report was finalized, filed, and transmitted to the executive branch during the 113th Congress. Only in the 114th Congress did the current chair assume the chairmanship and begin to assert control over the report.

Think about the implications here. How can this body allow Members of Congress who don’t like what a previous Congress has done to unilaterally try to erase history? How many other congressional reports would be at risk? There are other reports that have not yet been fully declassified. Should the Senate worry about whether or not they will be protected? Should Americans be concerned that the country’s historical records are going to be erased before the public ever sees them?

My view is that this effort by the current chair of the committee is an assault on one of the fundamental values of our democracy. In this country, we don’t eradicate the historical record just because we find it uncomfortable. There is a reason insecure dictators do it, and there is a reason this kind of thing has never happened here. It is because the citizenry of a democratic country that has always looked to our own history and all our flaws as we seek to build a better Nation.

We are better than this. I urge my colleagues to defend these principles. I urge them to vote against this nomination.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arkansas.

Mr. COTTON. Mr. President, I wish to add my support this morning for Courtney Elwood as the next general counsel of the CIA—not that she really needs it. In her many years of public service and private practice, Courtney has earned the esteem of her colleagues across the United States, and two administrations. David Kris, an Obama appointee, calls her “a first-class lawyer.” Ben Powell, a Bush appointee, calls her “one of the finest lawyers of her generation.” Caroline Krass, anothernite, calls her “an excellent choice.” And Wan Kim, another Bush appointee, says she is “careful, brilliant, and highly accomplished.”

In other words, you don’t need me to tell you Courtney Elwood is a first-rate attorney. In fact, you don’t need anyone to tell you that because her accomplishments speak for themselves.

She graduated from Yale Law School in 1994 and went on to clerk for both Judge Mike Luttig on the Fourth Circuit and then-Chief Justice William Rehnquist at the Supreme Court. After spending some time in private practice, she worked for 6 years in the George W. Bush administration, rising from associate counsel to the President, to deputy counsel to the Vice President, to Deputy Chief of Staff and Counselor to the Attorney General.

We are not talking about a rookie lawyer who is inexperienced in the ways of Washington or in the corridors of power. Her commitment to the law is unquestioned and unquestionable. She is just the person we need for this position.

The general counsel of the CIA will help Director Pompeo navigate the many twists and turns of the thorny legal terrain as our intelligence community defends our country against a wide range of threats: terrorism, cyber warfare, and Good, old-fashioned Espionage. We need people of the highest caliber serving at our national security agencies, and there is broad agreement that Courtney Elwood fits the bill.

I am happy to support her nomination, and I thank her and her family for answering the call to serve once again.

(The remarks of Mr. COTTON pertaining to the introduction of S. 1297 are printed in today’s RECORD under “Statements on Introduced Bills and Joint Resolutions.”)

Mr. VAN HOLLEN. Mr. President, in the critical debate about the balance between national security and rights to privacy, the truth must be paramount. Time and again, Trump has misled the American public about national security matters, including torture, surveillance, and intelligence. Trump has claimed that “torture works” and that “we should go much stronger than waterboarding.” Despite widespread evidence that enhanced interrogation techniques are not effective in acquiring intelligence or gaining cooperation from detainees. Without any evidence, President Trump alleged that President Obama illegally wiretapped the phones of Trump Towers. Former FBI Director James Comey soundly rejected this conspiracy theory, a statement that likely played a role in his firing. President Trump repeatedly dismissed intelligence that the Bush administration disclosed in 2016. He dismissed the assessments and derided our intelligence community for its assessments. His rejection of truth, to stoke fear and resentment in the American public, is unethical and dangerous. It is a threat to American freedom.

In this extraordinary environment, the CIA’s leadership must not only provide objective and sound intelligence assessments to the President, it must faithfully ensure that the President is adhering to the law. The role of the General Counsel is particularly critical at this moment, when our sitting President has openly denounced or displayed alarming ignorance of existing laws on intelligence matters. As the CIA General Counsel’s guidance is provided entirely in secret, with no public transparency, it is imperative that the American public have as clear an understanding as possible of the nominee’s prior record of legal interpretation.

On this point, Courtney Elwood’s history under President George W. Bush is troubling. At the Department of Justice, Ms. Elwood was involved in discussions regarding the legal justification for the “warrantless wiretapping program,” in which the Bush administration collected telephonic and email communications of U.S. persons on U.S. soil without a court order. The Bush administration, in memos that are now declassified, argued that the President has inherent constitutional power to monitor Americans’ communications without a warrant in a time of war. Given the perennial nature of America’s war footing, this argument is troubling. At the Department of Justice, Ms. Elwood asserted that the program was “carefully reasoned” and that the legal opinion was “thorough in its analysis.”

Ms. Elwood’s record on torture is also cause for concern. While I was pleased with Ms. Elwood’s testimony that the reinstatement of torture would be illegal under existing law, I am concerned with her prior work on cases involving the detention of enemy combatants, military commissions, and the constitutionality of national security programs as President Bush. For these reasons, I cannot support her nomination.

Mr. COTTON. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

Mr. CASSIDY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. CASSIDY. Mr. President, I am here to speak about a topic which, wherever I go, people speak about—the replacement of the Affordable Care Act or ObamaCare, as people call it. Clearly, we need action.

I had a Facebook post maybe a week or two ago from Brian in Covington, LA. He said: My family plan is $1,700. The president goes on to say how his family cannot afford that $1,700.

Rates are going up, which I have said time and time again. My friend back in Baton Rouge, he and his wife are 60, 61. The quote for their insurance for the next year is $39,000—for 1 year. That is clearly not affordable. This is not just in Louisiana; it is in Washington, DC, it is in California, it is across our Nation where individual market quotes are going up that they cannot support.

Most recently, Connecticut insurers—there are two—are proposing rate increases that are 15.2 percent and 33.8 percent, on average, respectively. They are quoting 22 percent over 2017. In Maryland, some insurers are going to raise rates as much as 59 percent for those individual plans.

I am a physician. I learned a couple of things in my 20 or 30 years of practice. One, to lower costs, the patient must have the power; and, two, the insurance must be affordable; and, three, that the insurance they receive must be adequate. President Trump totally got this. On the campaign trail, President Trump said time and again—what I call his contract with the voter. He went where the folks go and said: You have a choice: do you want to go back to insurance you can’t afford because you are taking care of other people. With preexisting conditions, and eliminating mandates. I think President Trump just knew it. I shorthand this, if you will, saying, if we focus on lowering premiums and making sure it passes the Jimmy Kimmel test. The late-night comedian, when his child was born with a terrible heart problem, immediately got the care that child needed. So if we can have insurance that passes the Jimmy Kimmel test—rates as much as 22 percent over the last two years—then we can accomplish it. We need to talk to experts, actuaries, those who design insurance plans, to make sure we come up with something.

There is something else the President said that I want to focus on. This is just before he took the oath of office. He said people covered under the law—meaning the Republican replacement plan—we can expect to have great healthcare. “It will be much simplified.” One of the complaints about the Affordable Care Act is it is so complicated. Even online, 16 pages online, with your W–2, if you don’t get it, you get hounded out. The President said we must have a much simpler way of going about this—much less expensive and much better.

What could this look like? Let me propose some conservative solutions that could be in a Republican plan that would achieve the President’s goal. First, the patient has to have the power. In my 30 years of practice, I found that if the patient has the power, the system lines up to serve her. One example is price transparency. If we can put in that a provider has to publish the provider’s price, so the patient getting the blood test knows the cost of the blood test at that moment and can compare it to someone down the street, it will lower cost.

One example just came up in a newspaper out of New Orleans. Nola.com is their website. A woman went in and got blood tests. She received a bill weeks later and her bill was for $324. She should have gotten the same blood test for $34 right down the street. A woman from Texas came up. She said she heard me speak of price transparency—the power of negotiating, if you will. The doctor ordered an MRI on her son’s shoulder. She called up the different places where she could have it done and she got a price of $667. On her Facebook page is a little video of her speaking: I got it for $667. Then I remembered what you said: if you pay cash, you get a discount. I called the hospital and said, if I pay cash, will you give me a lower price? They said: Pay us cash, we will cut that $667 to $400. The patient had the power. So she ended up paying far less for the procedure the doctor ordered. That is one conservative solution, give the patient the power.

Secondly, let States innovate. We need to take all of this power that ObamaCare brought to Washington, DC, and push it back out to the States. If we are going to accomplish something. Let’s just acknowledge that there are 700,000 people or so in Alaska. If you took a map of the State of Alaska and put it over the lower 48, it would stretch from roughly Georgia to the Pacific Ocean. Washington, DC, has almost the same population as Alaska, and you can walk across the city in a morning. Clearly, you need different solutions for an area you can walk across and an area you cannot fly across. In the same time that you can walk across Washington, DC, we have to return power back to the patients. We have to engage doctors and patients so those patients with complex conditions get their healthcare managed. I use the example of a diabetic. She perhaps developed childhood diabetes, and now she is 35 years old. If a doctor is managing her condition, she works, stays at home, her complications are minimal, and her condition is not managed, she comes to the emergency room three times a month with diabetes out of control. That just shoots a hole in the bucket of fiscal responsibility and also in her health. In order of work or family, she is coming to the hospital, getting care through the emergency room, which she cannot afford to pay for, and that cost is shifted to everyone else. That is not the way to manage that. We need to engage doctors with patients. Another conservative solution is we need more competition between insurers so there is not just one insurance company in the market that can therefore set prices but rather we have multiple. We can put the power by giving the patient a tax credit that she can use to purchase the insurance she wishes to have, that will create competition as more insurers enter the market. If we have that competition—those market forces—prices come down.

When the President said we have to make things simpler, I think that also includes how we enroll people in insurance. We figured that out on Medicare. Under Medicare we have 65, they are on Medicare. It could not be simpler. They get a letter. They are on Medicare. If they don’t want to, they can call: Hey, I don’t want to be on Medicare. But as a rule, they are on Medicare.

Fortune 500 companies have figured out the same thing. In order to enroll people into retirement plans they say: Listen, you are in the 40(k) plan unless you choose not to be. That makes it simple. They want to enroll people in retirement plans. Now, you could say: Hey, listen, you have to fill out a bunch of forms. If you don’t fill out these forms, you are not going to be enrolled. But that would not work for Medicare. It would not work for 401(k). It has not worked under ObamaCare.

We need to take those same sort of solutions we have found for both Medicare and enrolling people in their retirement and do it for the Republican alternative.

The Republican alternative would say: We make it easy to enroll. You are in unless you are out. So if you are eligible for a tax credit, you would receive it. You could then have the insurance. If you were passive about it, you would have a default policy. But if you are active, you could do more with it. But by doing so, you actually increase the number of people insured.

Now, when you increase the pool of those working, keeping premiums. We had Blue Cross look at our proposal to make it easy to enroll: You are in unless you are out. That would lower premiums by 20 percent, just by expanding the number of those who are insured—20 percent.

So when President Trump says he wants to continue coverage, caring for those with preexisting conditions without mandates and lowering premiums, doing this feature where you are in unless you call us and tell us you don’t want to be and making it simple achieves all four goals.

We would increase coverage. By that, we would lower premiums, taking care of those with preexisting conditions. Now, again, it is using the mechanism that is already used in Medicare and in Fortune 500 companies, making it easy to enroll. They don’t want to give States the options. They don’t want to give patients the options. They want to make it simple to enroll. They want to replace, if you will, the tyranny of ObamaCare—where 20 percent this year is taken off. Washington, DC, and States and people were told what they had to do—with a different sort of tyranny, telling States what they can’t do.

I think we ought to give as much power to the States as much latitude to the patients to come up with the solutions that work for them. That is the conservative way to go.

But I will say, in speaking with conservatives, that I vừa đ                                           }
So why are we waiting until today to honor these 1,184 brave Americans? Because until recently the Ghost Army's mission was classified. It was top secret. Nobody except the members of the Ghost Army knew anything about it. This has finally changed. That is one of the reasons I am here today. I am proud to be a cosponsor of the bill. It was a bipartisan effort led by Senators Markey, Collins, and King. This long overdue legislation will award a Congressional Gold Medal for the Headquarters Special Troops and the 3133rd Signal Service Company.

It is a privilege to share with you, in my home State of Louisiana, the Ghost Army being recognized at the New Orleans Museum of Art. Soldier's art is on display depicting many watercolor portraits, as well as graphite portraits, of civilians, soldiers, and refugees during World War II. It is a legacy that our great State now gets to honor.

Specifically, I want to recognize six brave men from Louisiana, my State, who were members of the Ghost Army. Hilton Howell Railey of New Orleans is a prominent journalist and the author of "Touch with Madness." He recruited and deployed the 23rd. Mr. Railey trained and deployed the 3133rd Signal Service Company, which served in Italy.

There is Jim Stegg of New Orleans, a longtime faculty member at Tulane University. He was an artist; in fact, there is a retrospective of his work at the New Orleans Museum of Art's Ghost Army exhibit.

Also, there is Mr. Murphy F. Martin, of St. Martinville, LA; Mr. Thomas L. Raggio, of Lake Charles, LA; Mr. Roy L. Ravia, of Calcasieu Parish, in my State; Mr. Alvin J. Picard, of Vermilion Parish; and last but certainly not least, Mr. Anderson B. Wilson, of Slidell, LA.

Unfortunately, Mr. Wilson is the only Ghost Army soldier still alive in Louisiana. I had the rare privilege and the rare honor of speaking with Mr. Wilson this morning. In December of 1943, President Roosevelt authorized the Ghost Army unit. Only 2 weeks later, in January 1944, Mr. Wilson was on his way to Camp Mack Morris, Tennessee, to join the Ghost Army. Who says the Federal Government can't move quickly when it wants to?

Mr. Wilson trained there until May, when his unit was shipped out of New York to Liverpool, England. It was the largest convoy that at the time had ever crossed the Atlantic Ocean. From there, Mr. Wilson and his team traveled more than any other unit. From England they went to France. They went to Belgium. They went to Holland. They went to Luxembourg, and they went to Germany.

Mr. Wilson and his comrades fought fearlessly throughout the war's end as members of the Ghost Army. In July 1945, Mr. Wilson finally came home. However, while he came home safely, he could not even talk about—even to his own family—the honorable service unit he was a part of. Now, it is humbling to me to hear a man's sacrifice, to go through what he went through and not even be able to talk about it with his family, but he kept his word out of honor to his country.

The willfulness of Mr. Wilson and his fellow soldiers to risk their own lives to defend the freedom we have today—well, it, too, is humbling.

Mr. Wilson returned home in 1945. And I hope he is listening right now. He has been a little under the weather. He was in the hospital when I spoke to him today. It wasn't until the 1990s, when Mr. Wilson was married with two grown children, that he could ever talk about his service to this great country, share his stories, share his experiences, share his fight to keep the freedoms all of us take for granted every day.

Mr. Wilson's story only gives a snapshot of the sacrifices and honorable work these men of the Ghost Army gave to the Allied forces. And I, for one—and I know all Americans join me—thank them for their service and for the freedoms they protected.

I am proud of this Ghost Army legislation, and I hope to see it move forward and pass so that these fine Americans can receive the recognition they have long deserved.

God bless the members of the Ghost Army. And if you are listening, Mr. Wilson, God bless you.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the committee-reported substitute amendment to S. 1094 is agreed to.

Under the previous order, there will now be 3 hours of debate, equally divided in the usual form.

The Senator from Georgia.

Mr. ISAKSON. Mr. President, I am pleased to rise today on the 73rd anniversary of the invasion of Normandy, Omaha Beach, and Sword Beach by 156,000 brave Americans who saved our freedom and liberty, for the American people as well as all of Europe, who put an end to the reign of Adolph Hitler, who freed the millions of Americans and veterans of the Veterans’ Committee why I am here in the U.S. Senate—and that is to see to it that we take care of those who have taken care of us.

Somebody asked me this morning: Is it coincidence that D-Day was 73 years ago today? I said: It is Divine providence that we are on the floor today paying back those brave 156,000 who invaded those beaches to make the Veterans’ Administration a more favorable agency than it is already.

I am proud to be on the floor to lead a part of the debate with Senator TESTER—my ranking member on the committee and who did such great work for us on the VA today—about this.

We have had a great committee meeting with Senator Tester—my ranking member on the committee—and we are doing it in a bipartisan fashion together, Democrats and Republicans alike.

We have had a great committee meeting with Senator Tester—my ranking member on the committee—and we are doing it in a bipartisan fashion together, Democrats and Republicans alike.

As I have said very often, there aren’t Republican casualties and Democratic casualties on the battlefield. They are American citizens who have fought and died for this country. So there is no room for partisanship when it comes to providing them with the benefits that are necessary and seeing to it that they get what they deserve.

I thank all the members of the committee; in particular, Ranking Member Tester for his work; Senator Moran, who did such great work for us on the accountability measure; Senator Rubio, who is not a member of the committee but did a great job in terms of accountability, and he will speak later on the floor—as I am sure others will—about this.

We have had a great committee working for a long period of time. We passed a bill—almost—last year and then failed at the last few moments of the session to get it done. So we are back a second time, but we are back with a bill that has come unanimously from the Committee on Veterans' Affairs and I hope will leave this Senate floor unanimously so we send a clear signal to our veterans: We will hold ourselves accountable to you. What does the legislation do that is important? One, it makes what President Trump referred to in an Executive order about 3 weeks ago, the whistleblowers protection act, a reality and codifies it into law. Second, it removes many of the bureaucratic hurdles currently in place, making it easier for the VA Secretary to remove employees of all departments in the VA who are found guilty of wrongdoing or misconduct, and I underscored found guilty of wrongdoing or misconduct.

The bill shortens the removal process for employees of the VA and ensures an individual appealing removal from the VA is not kept on VA's payroll indefinitely while they appeal. The Department of Veterans Affairs Accountability and Whistleblower Protection Act also prohibits the VA from awarding bonuses to employees found guilty of misconduct. The bill would remove the bureaucratic Merit System Protection Act in terms of appointments by the lower management—top management—of the Veterans' Administration. The Department of Veterans Affairs Accountability and Whistleblower Protection Act establishes the Office of Accountability and Whistleblower Protection to make it permanent in the United States of America.

In essence, and very simply, this bill ensures and codifies into law the accountability of this agency and its operation to the American people and to the veterans of the United States of America for all they have done for each and every one of us.

It is very important to appreciate that we have working with Senator or some Representative coming up with a bunch of crazy ideas at the last minute. This is a response to what we have seen happen over and over again over the past few years. Most, if not all, of the employees in the Veterans' Administration are hardworking, dedicated, committed individuals, but there have been, from time to time, questions that have arisen about the handling of certain situations: the situation that took place in Phoenix, AZ, in terms of appointments; the rash number of suicides and mishandling of pharmaceuticals in the Atlanta office of Clairmont, near where I am in my office in Atlanta, GA; the situation of transfers in Philadelphia, PA, where people were transferred rather than disciplined and were paid their moving expenses and cost-of-living adjustments upward—all to get rid of somebody in one office but move them to another, instead of handling them in the way in which they should have been handled rather than making sure they work somewhere else. We took instances where people themselves were breaking the law and violating the law, and we are now holding them accountable because of what is written into the VA accountability and whistleblower act.

Simply put, we have taken the worst performance, in isolated cases in the past few years, and are righting it. We have corrected it where it needed to be corrected, we have eliminated it where it needed to be eliminated, and we have given the authority to the Secretary of Veterans Affairs and employees under the Secretary of Veterans Affairs to work for them and hold them accountable for doing the wrong thing and encourage them to do the right thing.

I reiterate, though, that we are not singling out an agency which has a large number of people who are not performing. We are singling out an agency which has had some situations where a few employees have done some egregious things that need to be addressed. They were addressed but could not be addressed under the current status of the law, which now will be able to be addressed under the status of the new law and held accountable for their actions.

Nothing happens when one person does not do the right thing happens when people come together as a team. It has been a pleasure for me to have a great teammate in this effort; that is, Jon Tester from Montana. I have been on the committee 12 years, and I think Jon has been on the committee 8 or 9 years.

You are on the Veterans' Affairs Committee, first of all, because you want to be on it. It is what we refer to as a B committee, which means it is a second tier. A lot of times it is a fill-in committee for Members of the Senate or the House, but for me and for Jon, it is our principal and primary responsibility. We know to whom we owe everything, and that is our veterans to whom we owe everything.

Jon Tester has been a great teammate. He has been great to work with. He has helped us get through some times of difficulty and some good times of common understanding and settlement, and I appreciate that very much.

I want Jon to tell me what the good and And if we have the authority to make it all it can be? I think this bill is going to help with that, too, by making sure we have the best of the best there, by making sure we have training for our hospital administrators and being able to hire hospital administrators—that is part of this bill, too—while holding the VA accountable when folks screw up in areas of misconduct.

So there is a bunch in this bill. I think this bill will fit the needs, not only of veterans in a rural or frontier State like Montana but in more populated areas like Atlanta, GA. I think it gives the Secretary of the VA the tools at his disposal to be able to make the VA as strong as it can possibly be.

I will say that this bill would not have happened without the good work of Jon Tester and a lot of folks coming together and getting stuff done. I think this is one of the days in the Senate where we can look back and say that folks came together as Democrats and Republicans and did the right thing for the veterans of this country.

JOHNNY, I am curious to know from you what kind of stuff you are hearing in Georgia about this bill and bringing accountability to the VA.

Mr. ISAKSON. Senator TESTER, like you, I get my best information at the Legion, the IAVA, and from folks around my State. I am a member of the American Legion post at Loganville, GA, and in a while to bill bar and get a drink just to find out what is going on. I find out more there in an hour socializing than I find out by reading every newspaper in the United States of America.

Let me tell you what some of the organizations are saying—because these veterans service organizations are the voice of the American people who served in our military, and they are the people who communicate to us in committees.

The VFW wants the Secretary to weed out misperformers and especially the criminals, regardless of whether the crime was committed on or off duty.

The VFW wants a bill passed because maintaining the status quo does not work for those who have borne the battle and borne the fight.

They want to make sure the VA holds their employees to the standards the veterans of America feel they have commited themselves to as veterans serving in our military.

The American Legion applauds the bipartisan effort to provide Secretary Shulkin the additional tools to increase accountability and address poor performance within the Department of Veterans Affairs.

I underscore this, because in the bill JOX and I ensure we motivate managetment to understand it is their job to seek out nonperformance and correct it before it escalates. So this bill incentivizes management of the Veterans’ Administration to find those employees who are not performing well and turn them around and reward those employees who are turned around to be an example they set for all the rest of the employees.

The Department of Veterans Affairs Accountability and Whistleblower Protection Act will give Secretary Shulkin the authority he needs to hold employees responsible for their actions. “We strongly agree with the Senate to take the bill immediately and pass it,” said Dan Caldwell of Concerned Veterans of America.

So, once and for all, around our State our VSO organizations are geting a response to the questions they have asked of all of us, and that is what this bill does.

There is misinformation out there.
There are rumors flying around in Montana, some flying around in Georgia. Can the Senator help clear up some of the errors?

Mr. TESTER. There is a lot of misin-formation about this bill. I will tell you what this bill does not do. It does not trample on workers’ rights. This bill maintains bargaining rights of union workers at the VA. One of the problems we had with the House-passed bill was it did away with the ability of union workers to be heard in the appeal process. This does not. It maintains it. It does not gut due process protections. It keeps all the existing due process protections under current law. Unlike the House bill, it doesn’t shorten or elimiate the appeals process for employees who unfairly provide a judicial review to employees who are directed to repay a bonus and other protection. Finally, this bill does not allow VA supervisors to get away with firing anyone who just challenges them. Evidence is still required in order to take action, and that evidence must go through general counsel for review before an action is proposed.

This is all critically important, as we go forth, to give accountability and yet be able to fire those of the workers who are doing the job. I think we found the sweet spot there.

More important than anything else in this bill—and it does a lot of things—it is really about a culture of accountability.

Can the Senator tell us here in the Senate what else this bill does for veterans?

Mr. ISAKSON. I want to talk about the culture the Senator just mentioned. He is totally right. The main thing the American people are going to see from the Veterans’ Administration now is a culture throughout that organization of excellence to serve the veterans the way they should be served.
And where there might be an isolated problem, make sure it is sought out, rooted out, and corrected within the agency. Our veterans deserve the highest quality care.

Secretary Shulkin has asked for more authority to hold accountable those who are not meeting standards.
He wants to recognize those who have not only met but exceeded standards as well.

This bill gives VA the authority to expedite the removal of a bad employee, but it doesn’t motivate them to get rid of people, it gives them the parameters by which people should be dealt with if, in fact, they are behaving poorly. It shortens the process for removal of an employee to 15 days. That doesn’t mean you act recklessly or quickly, it means you act expeditiously to see to it that if you have a problem, it is addressed quickly for the benefit of all the agencies.

It removes the Merit Systems Protection Board from the appeal process for senior executives. There is some bad talk out there about removing the Merit Systems Protection Board for all employees. It doesn’t do that at all.
But the most senior employees of the Veterans’ Administration deserve to be held accountable without lots of hoops you have to go through before ever getting to them. So by taking the Merit Systems Protection Board away from those senior executives, you are holding them totally accountable in the bright light of day for their own ac-ctions, without some hoop to go through for the agency trying to remove them.

It prohibits bonuses and relocation expenses for employees guilty of wrongdoing. I mentioned this in my earlier remarks, and I will reiterate.
This deals with things like what happened in Pennsylvania, where two employees were reassigned for discipline, yet they were given bonuses cost-of-living adjustments in their pay upward for doing something wrong.

That sends exactly the wrong signal to any employee in the Veterans’ Administration.

For anyone doing a good job, it pats them on the back and lets them know they can do an even better job.

It expedites the hiring of VA medical officers—something the Senate overwhelmingly passed. This is something the American people are going to really care about the VA is hiring enough people, and this legislation helps us get those people.

In 2009, Mason High School started having a distinguished alumni graduation speaker every year. For all the reasons I talked about a moment ago, a few years ago, in 2013, I wrote a letter and recommended that they honor Les Spaeth. They agreed with me. That spring of 2013, it was time to receive his award. He gave a beautiful speech. He talked about his love for this country and counting our blessings as Americans. He received an ovation from the graduating class. I know that meant a lot to him. That ovation shows the respect and esteem people in Warren County have for Les Spaeth across generations.

On behalf of Ohio, I want to express my condolences to the family of Les Spaeth. I also want to thank them for sharing Les with the rest of us in Ohio for these past 92 years. He was a dedicated servant to the people of Warren County, an American hero for his military service, and a good friend to so many.

73RD ANNIVERSARY OF D-DAY

As was noted, as we talk about World War II, today is also the 73rd anniversary of D-Day. As Chairman Isakson just said, it was really the beginning of the end of that war. And 73 years ago this morning, Les Spaeth was in the theater in the Pacific, as I said, risking his life for all of us. But in Europe on that same morning, the largest amphibious invasion force of the war was taking place. Men as young as 18 years old were crossing the channel, carrying packs weighing 80 pounds. More than 160,000 Allied soldiers—mostly Americans—and more than 5,000 ships backed by more than 10,000 aircraft were fighting to liberate Europe from Hitler. The outcome was far from certain. The Nazis had spent 2 years fortifying the coast to prepare for this moment. It was Hitler’s so-called Atlantic Wall. The beautiful coastline of France was guarded in barbed wire, land mines, and bunkers. A little more than a month before D-day, by the way, the Allies had conduct a trial run. They practiced on beaches in western England that were most like those of Normandy. The practice run was a disaster. In fact, Germans spotted the Allied ships and attacked them. Hundreds of American troops died in that practice session.

On this special day, we honor those who served America 73 years ago by the beginning of the end of World War II, thank them for their service, and thank all veterans who provide service to the people of the United States of America.

I want to end by noting that we have 32 sponsors of this legislation, which is almost exactly one-third of the Senate, Republican and Democrat alike. That sends the proper signal that this is the right bill at the right time for the right people—veterans of the United States of America.

I yield to the PRESIDING OFFICER. (Mr. Hoven). The Senator from Ohio.

Mr. PORTMAN. Mr. President, I want to start by commending my colleagues from Georgia and Montana for their compassion and care for our veterans and specifically for their continued efforts to ensure we have accountability at the VA. They worked hard on this legislation. I hope the Senate moves expeditiously to vote for it and to help our veterans to be able to have the kind of responsibility and accountability they deserve.

REMEMBERING LES SPAETH

Mr. President, I also rise today to talk about veterans. I am going to focus on World War II veterans. Last Memorial Day, I was in Mason, OH. I was in Warren County, OH. My mom grew up there, and my family still has a lot of ties there. I was there at a ceremony for the veterans memorial, one of the most beautiful monuments in the State of Ohio. I happened to be there about 15 years ago when it was first began, and it was great to be back. At the ceremony, I got to see a World War II buddy of mine. His name is Les Spaeth. He is also a friend of my father’s and grandfather’s. As always, seeing him brought back great memories, and I was able to speak about him during my remarks.

Two days later—a few days ago—we got word that Les Spaeth died at age 92. I want to take a moment to pay tribute to this man who gave so much to his country and to his community.

Les was a marine corporal during World War II. He signed up after graduating Mason High School in 1942. He served in the Pacific, including the occupation of Japan after the war, helping that country make a difficult transition to democracy. Thanks in large part to American soldiers like him, the way the transition worked, Japan has become one of our greatest allies.

Les came back to Mason, OH, and started a small business called Spaeth Brothers Cleaners. He had that optimism so many of the World War II generation had. He recognized that the country was going through a difficult time and he took a risk and help build jobs and help the economy of his hometown. My dad did the same thing after World War II.

Les was a businessman, but he was also a public servant for more than half a century. He served six terms as Warren County auditor. He served on the Board of Elections for 25 years. He chaired the Warren County Republican Party for 17 years.

He was very active in the community in so many other ways too. He was one of the very first volunteer firefighters in Mason, OH, starting way back in 1948. He was also at his church, Herit-tough stuff. They had an enormous task, and the stakes could not have been higher.

Erwin Rommel—and Rommel was leading the Nazi defense at that time—said at that time: “The fate of Germany can be decided in the next 24 hours of this invasion.” He was right.

Well-known historian Douglas Brinkley said that D-day was “the single most important moment in the 20th Century.” It was one of the bloodiest too. It was the beginning of the end of the most difficult war in human history, and the lives of millions of people depended on the outcome.

They depended on the success of brave, young Americans like Eugene Lyons of University Heights, OH. Eugene Lyons was a medic. His ship hit a mine in the English Channel and sank off the coast. He swam to shore while German planes shot him, missing him by a matter of inches. Or the Napier brothers of Elyria, OH, like Les Spaeth. Five brothers all served during World War II. Two of them were there on the beaches that day; one died. Or Jim “Pee Wee” Martin from Dayton, OH, who served in the 506th Parachute Infantry Regiment and parachuted behind enemy lines before dinnertime that day. Jim received both the Purple Heart and the Bronze Star for his service that day. Or Sigmund Czeluśniak of North Royalton, OH, who was wounded by a mortar shell on Omaha Beach. Sigmund was wounded. He said as he lay wounded: “In my heart, I didn’t think I’d ever come back.”

More than 10,000 Allied troops did not come back.

While those brave men and hundreds of thousands of others were fighting, President Franklin D. Roosevelt took to the airwaves, as you would expect a President to do. As you know, he was known for what were called fireside chats. These were informal speeches he would give to the Nation during difficult times. But on that day, he did something very different. Instead of giving a speech, he was called to lead the Nation in prayer. This prayer brought our country together. It strengthened our resolve. It comforted gene was a medic. clean energy and local regulations that require it, the demand for clean energy will continue to grow here in the United States and around the world.

While pulling out of the Paris Agreement might seem like a way to protect jobs, for example, in the coal industry, the truth is that when these jobs do go away, it is mostly due to other things: market forces and automation.

I have been down in the coal mines of Southern Illinois and Central Illinois. I have seen the way they mine coal today. For those who have not been there and paid close attention, it may come as a surprise. It is largely automated. Massive machinery, known as continuous miners, literally chew away at the walls of coal, transporting it back up to the surface for transport.

Back in the day, hundreds, if not thousands, of coal miners would head for their jobs with little more than a pick or an ax or a shovel or some drill. Today, it is an automated industry, and fewer jobs are creating more and more coal opportunities because automation is a big part.

In addition, there is a change in the global energy market. Because of fracking in States like North Dakota and South Dakota, we have seen an increase in the availability of natural gas at lower prices. Last year, for the first time in modern history, we had more electricity generated in 1 month in America from natural gas sources than from coal sources.

We have turned a corner when it comes to the availability of alternative energy. We have seen how workers who want access to clean energy and local regulations that require it, clean energy is going to continue to grow in demand.

Meanwhile, even in my own home State of Illinois, which is the fourth largest coal-producing State in the Nation, we already have thousands more workers in the solar industry than in the coal industry.

Clean energy jobs are growing. Remaining engaged on climate change spurs new investment and strengthens American competitiveness for jobs in the future. These jobs include designing more efficient solar panels, wind turbines, batteries, and manufacturing the components for export all over the world. Why should other nations get to lead this growing industry of clean energy and the United States step away?

We can create those jobs right here in America. We can provide American workers in clean energy opportunities. We should lead the world in the creation of clean energy jobs.

This decision by the Trump administration to turn its back on this revolution, where leaders, access to global markets, and reduced financial risk for our citizens and businesses associated with changing climate.

By walking away from the agreement, America is not just giving up an environmental commitment, but it is giving up economic opportunity. We have given away our leadership, isolated ourselves from the rest of the world, and they are not going to wait for us; they are going to move forward and look for other leaders than the United States. This President talked about making America first. His decision to walk away from the Paris Agreement puts America first when it comes to energy in the 21st century.

Climate change is a dire threat to the global economy and global stability. It will cause catastrophic consequences for global health, food security, and many other important areas.

My constituents in Illinois are already experiencing the adverse effects of changing climate.

In recent years, our State—and, I might add, many other places around the world—have experienced more extreme weather. We have seen historic storms, floods, and droughts, causing millions of dollars in damage.

Climate models suggest that if current global warming trends continue, Illinois will have a climate similar to the Mediterranean climate of Texas in the middle of this century.

For Illinois farmers, these changes to the environment have a direct effect on their livelihood and for all of us, a direct impact on our food supply.

Climate change also has significant national security implications that affect our shores—ones we simply can’t ignore. The crisis in Syria, the flow of refugees from unstable parts of the world, is an early warning of the link to climate change and how humanitarian crises, particularly from less stable parts of our shared planet, are going to get worse if we continue to let climate change go unaddressed.

Back in 2011, when pro-democracy protests began in Syria, many of those joining were displaced farmers who had suffered 4 years of drought, made worse by the effects of climate change. The National Academy of Sciences published findings last year showing that extreme drought in Syria between 2006 and 2009 was more likely due to climate change than the drought was a factor in the uprisings in 2011.

Last year, Pulitzer Prize-winning New York Times columnist Tom Friedman wrote about massive migration out of parts of West Africa through the Sahara Desert to Libya, where people were hoping to eventually cross the dangerous trip across the Mediterranean Sea to Europe. He wrote: ‘Just as Syria’s revolution was set off in part by the worst-four-year drought in the country’s modern history—plus overpopulation, climate stresses and the Internet, the same is true of this African migration.’

Former CIA Acting Director Mike Morell recently called President Trump’s decision to pull the United States from the Paris climate agreement the worst decision made by this President so far.

Mr. Morell pointed out that pulling out not only cedes American leadership in the world, but it harms our own national security by ignoring the impact of climate change on failed and fragile states that are homes to instability and violence. He further noted that we face three possible threats to our existence: nuclear war, a natural or man-made ecological disaster, and climate change. President Trump’s dangerous decision, if not reversed, will contribute to that threat.

Anyone in this Chamber claiming to be serious about national security simply must not be credited with addressing the long-term threats posed by weak states and climate change in the decades to come.

It is amazing to me that people around the world have come together to recognize the danger and the urgent need to act on climate change everywhere in the world except right here in the United States of America.

I don’t understand the other political party. I can remember a time when we would have a debate on change on the floor. We would be talking about the Environmental Protection Agency, created by a Republican President, Richard Nixon, and we would have Senators from both sides of the aisle actively debating clearly realizing that it is a threat to our future.

Those days have changed.

Any debate now about environment is strictly one-sided. Was the science changed when it comes to global warming and climate change? Not at all. Ninety-eight percent of scientists agree that we have global warming, and the reasons for it relate directly to greenhouse gas emissions.

So what has changed? Why isn’t this a bipartisan debate anymore? The politics have changed. They have changed dramatically with the way we finance political campaigns in this country. Groups have emerged—one in particular, the Koch brothers, who have made their fortune in carbon industries and who have promised any Republican who steps out of line on climate change this: You are in for a fight; you are going to face a primary. Don’t you dare stand up and talk about climate change here on the floor of the Senate.

That is where we are today. We have come to a standstill, and now we have a President who has decided to walk away from this issue. This President has chosen politics over science and greed over responsibility. His decision is a fateful decision for our children, our grandchildren, and generations to come.

There may be some momentary applause in some places because President Trump has walked away from this global agreement to deal with this global challenge, but I could tell you the cheers are short-lived. When we see the price that we are going to pay—and that our kids will pay—for this gross irresponsibility, there will not be a lot of cheering.

I have said this on the floor before, and I will say it again because I am waiting for someone on the other side
Mr. President, earlier today, Majority Leader MCCONNELL came to the Senate floor to, once again, be critical of the Affordable Care Act, a law that has resulted in more than 20 million Americans gaining health insurance. The law has lowered the uninsured rate to the lowest in American history. This law has put an end to insurance discrimination based on preexisting conditions or gender. It is a law that has made sure that Americans suffering from heart disease or substance abuse addiction can get treatment. It is a law that extended the solvency of Medicare by a decade and decreased prescription drug costs for seniors by more than $1,000 for each senior in America. It is a law that has helped to reduce—cut in half—the number of bankruptcies filed in America because so many were the result of medical bills that people just couldn’t pay. I was proud to vote for this law.

Is it perfect? Of course not. Can it be improved and strengthened? Yes, it should be. Improvements can be made the same way we have made improvements in Medicare, Social Security, and in so many other programs over the years, but not by repealing Social Security, but by sitting down on a bipartisan basis to try to find a way to make sure that we don’t deny health insurance coverage to 23 million people in America because of the repeal of the Affordable Care Act. But by finding a way to make this law better for people living in rural America.

My hometown is in downstate Illinois. I, as a Congressman and Senator, have represented a lot of small towns in sparsely populated counties. They value many things. They value their schools, their basketball teams and football teams. I will tell you what they value as much, if not more, than anything else—their local hospital.

The local hospital makes such a difference to smalltown America. It is not only a lifesaver—it is the result from driving another 50 or 100 miles for quality care—but it is also a source of great employment. Probably the best paying jobs in town are at the local hospital. If you want to keep a business or attract one, a local hospital is a good selling point.

Do you know what the bill that passed the House of Representatives will do to the rural and smalltown hospitals in Illinois? Don’t take my word for it. Ask the Illinois Health and Hospital Association. They anticipate losing 60,000 jobs in Illinois because of the healthcare repeal bill that passed the House of Representatives, and they know that many hospitals downtown in the inner city are going to be forced to cut back in services, if not close, as a result of it.

What can we do to make this a better bill, to make the Affordable Care Act work more effectively? Let me give you a couple of ideas. First, we don’t have anything in the law today that deals with prescription drug prices. We are at the mercy of people—pharmaceutical companies, investment banks, and others—who come and control these pharmaceutical patents. They can literally raise the cost of these drugs beyond the reach of many families.

I had a young man come see me. He is in high school. He has been fighting diabetes since he was a little boy. He and his mother talked about the dramatic increase in the cost of insulin that he has faced over the last several years. Insulin has been around a long time. This is not a new wonder drug. It is a critical, lifesaving drug, but the prices and costs of insulin are going through the roof, and there is no way under current law for us to deal with it. Should we take that up? Of course, we should.

Blue Cross Blue Shield in Illinois told me recently that they spent more money last year on pharmaceutical costs than they did on inpatient hospital care, and the costs continue to go up. We need good, lifesaving drugs. We need to reward the companies that find them with a profit. But as to those who want to gouge prices and take advantage of people of modest income or folks who don’t have insurance, there has to be a way to answer that and to deal with it one point. In fact, if this leadership in the world when it comes to medical research and pharmaceuticals.

The individual market on health insurance is one that troubles us because it is the area where people who don’t have health insurance through their place of employment or don’t qualify for a government health insurance plan—like Medicare, Medicaid, veterans care, or the like—go to buy insurance on the insurance exchange. This is where the premiums have gone up. Now, why have the premiums gone up in that one sector? Because when it comes to individuals, those who are older and sicker are the first to sign up, but the healthier, younger ones are the last.

We can sit down on a bipartisan basis and find ways to create an incentive so that we can increase the participation in this insurance pool and bring down the premium costs for those who are paying.

The third thing we need to do is to make sure that no matter where you live in the United States, there is an option to choose when it comes to buying your health insurance. One of the things we can do is to take one of the most popular medical care programs in history—the Medicare Program itself—and duplicate it in a public option available to people across the United States. Do you want to buy a health insurance program that looks like Medicare, a not-for-profit program? This would be your chance.

So those are three ideas that I think we could bring forward in an effort to make the Affordable Care Act even more responsive.

Senator MCCONNELL, the Republican Leader, comes to the floor frequently to talk about the choice to expand the Medicaid Program, as allowed under law in many States. I would welcome the opportunity to expand that program.

I know some people do not understand the Medicaid Program. Oh, that is health insurance for poor people. Well, in a way, it is, but it is so much more. For example, one out of every two births in the premier medical research facility in the world. We are lucky to have it right here in the United States.

Time and again they told us about breakthrough drugs that were making a big difference that started with research at the National Institutes of Health. They asked at NIH too much to ask the pharmaceutical companies that take your basic research idea and turn it into a profitable product to give some of those profits back to the NIH to continue their research? That is where the pharmaceutical companies walk away. They don’t want to give us a penny for our future research.

Well, that is wrong. We ought to be investing in that research, rewarding the pharmaceutical companies for their development of these products, as well, but making certain we continue this leadership in the world when it comes to medical research and pharmaceuticals.

The Paris Agreement is not the path that should be. It is the area where people who don’t have health insurance through their place of employment or don’t qualify for a government health insurance plan—like Medicare, Medicaid, veterans care, or the like—go to buy insurance on the insurance exchange.

We can sit down on a bipartisan basis and find ways to create an incentive so that we can increase the participation in this insurance pool and bring down the premium costs for those who are paying.
Illinois is paid for by the Medicaid Program to keep mom healthy so she delivers a healthy baby and to keep that baby healthy as soon as it is born. It is paid for by Medicaid in 50 percent of the cases of new births. But that is not the most expensive thing.

The most expensive thing under Medicaid is for your mom and your grandmother who is in a nursing home, living on Social Security and Medicare, and they need help. So they qualify for Medicaid to pay for the medical care they need so they can continue to live wholesome lives.

The third area, of course, is medical insurance for the disabled who have ongoing needs. Those three areas make up Medicaid. When the Republican proposal that came out of the House wanted to cut $600 or $700 billion and give tax cuts to wealthy people, they took it out of Medicaid.

So I find the groups that I just described to you would you take health insurance away from—mothers with new babies, elderly folks in nursing homes with no resources, or the disabled who live in our communities?

I yield a step in the wrong direction to hit any of these groups. That is why Medicaid was expanded in so many States and why we should continue to find ways to expand it in a responsible fashion.

As I go back home and talk to people about this Republican alternative that passed the House of Representatives, it is very clear they oppose it.

I have challenged those Congressmen who oppose it. Can the Republican repeal bill to find one medical advocacy group in my State that supports their effort. There are none. The Illinois Health and Hospital Association, the Illinois Medical Association, the Illinois Nurses Association, and the Illinois pediatricians all oppose it.

The AARP, or American Association of Retired Persons, opposes it because the bill removed the protection for elderly folks at the same time the impact of premiums. The AARP believes—and I am afraid the facts bear it out—that what passed the House of Representatives will dramatically increase health insurance premiums for people between the ages of 50 and 64. We can do better, but we need to do it on a bipartisan basis.

I yield the floor.

Mr. MEEKLEY. Mr. President, just a little less than 2 weeks ago, President Trump released his proposed budget for fiscal year 2018, which would begin October 1. He named his plan ‘A New Foundation for American Greatness.’

While unveiling this budget, Director Mulvaney, the OMB Director, declared that ‘We are no longer going to measure compassion by the number of programs or the number of people on those programs, but by the number of people we help get off of those programs.’

When I read this and looked at the budget, I was reminded of the story of the two hikers who got to the top of a mountain. They stood near a big cliff and one hiker said: It is a beautiful vista.

The other hiker said: I am so exhausted from hiking all the way up; I wish I could get down quickly.

The first hiker then said: Let me help you with that. And he shoved him off the cliff.

That is what this budget does. It doesn’t help people get off programs through education and training; it shuts down the programs. It shoves people off the cliff.

In this budget, millions of struggling, rural, middle-class, low-income, and working Americans are thrown off the cliff. They are thrown out of these programs as these programs are just struck down, not because programs have served their purpose and are no longer needed but because the President wants to do two things. He wants to build a new army of the military, and he wants to give a tax giveaway of some $6 trillion in the budget, with most of it going to the very richest Americans. This is not an ‘America first’ budget; this is a ‘billionaires first’ and a ‘rural and working Americans last’ budget.

We see this vision implemented through dramatic cuts to food stamps, children’s healthcare, job training, after-school programs, scientific research, and other anti-poverty programs. In another design to help American families who are devastated will be eliminated, all in the name of building a wall, building more missiles and more bombs, and giving this massive, massive giveaway of the Treasury to the privileged and powerful.

Now there is good news. The good news is that I think we are going to have a bipartisan coalition because we can build to defeat this budget. Even some of our colleagues in the House Freedom Caucus, who often talk about slashing government spending and eliminating programs, are saying that this proposal and its impact on rural Americans and rural America is draconian and unacceptable. It is not often that you hear folks throughout the entire political spectrum come together to say the same thing—that this budget is short-sighted and ill-conceived—but that is where we are now.

This budget tells us a lot because a budget is an expression of values. When President Trump placed this budget before us, we gained insight into his values. What we quickly learned is that President Trump doesn’t place value on struggling and working American families, helping them climb a ladder to a better point. What this budget does tell us is that our President is all about raiding the National Treasury for the privileged and the powerful—quite the opposite of what we heard when he was campaigning.

Franklin Roosevelt once said that, as a nation, “The test of our progress is not whether we add more to the abundance of those who have much; it is whether we provide enough for those who have little.” By “enough” he meant, do we provide a ladder of opportunity for families to get their economic footing, to be able to buy a house, to be able to find a job, to be able to educate their children?

In this budget, President Trump puts out a different test. With this budget, he is saying that the test of our progress is whether we destroy programs that are providing people in order to fund a $6 trillion giveaway to the privileged and powerful. That is Donald Trump’s test of progress, and I think we find very few in the country who might agree with that vision of making economic and educational progress for working Americans much more difficult. It is not an ‘America first’ budget. It is not a foundation for American greatness. It is more akin to a great train robbery, a great raid on the National Treasury to benefit those who are already at the top.

It is a budget that hurts children. It is a budget that hurts struggling, hard-working Americans. It cuts 20 percent from the Children’s Health Insurance Program, critical for the health of our children. Should children in America have access to affordable healthcare? That is a value I can get behind. But slashing healthcare for children and making it harder for them to succeed in life—I can’t agree with that.

Let’s make children hungrier by cutting the basic food stamp program or school programs that 44 million Americans rely on, cutting it by $193 billion. Making children hungrier doesn’t help them learn. Helping children learn is a value I can get behind. Making it harder for them to succeed in school may be a Trump value, but it is not mine, and I don’t think it is shared by many Members of this Chamber.

I believe that he plans to get rid of the subsidization of interest on student loans, making the cost of college even more unaffordable for low-income and working graduates. He freezes the Pell grants that already have not kept pace with inflation. He proceeds to wipe out the Public Service Loan Forgiveness Program that erases student loans after a decade of service to the public. All of this is about making college more expensive. I can get behind the value of making higher education more affordable, whether it is apprenticeship training, career technical education, or a 4-year college program. I can get behind making those programs more affordable, making community college programs more affordable because some forms of education, whether it is in the technical education world or community college world or a 4-year program—some aspect of that is important to virtually every job in America.

Making it more affordable is what virtually every other developed country has done. In Germany, going to a public university is free in terms of tuition—not so here in the United States.
States of America. Our students are burdened by massive, massive debt. It is growing and growing and growing. I can get behind the value of saying we shouldn’t make college a financial gauntlet because it is so essential to the success of our children. But Trump has a different value. He makes it harder. Let’s make it more difficult. Let’s put students further into debt. Those are not values I can support.

Again, I think very few in this Chamber would share in that value.

The problem is, this isn’t just an attack on the ladder of opportunity for working Americans; this is an attack on rural America. During the last couple of years, I served as the ranking member of the Appropriations Subcommittee on Agriculture and Rural Development and FDA, and in that time I have seen the tremendous impact many of these programs have had in providing opportunity and strengthening the economy in rural America. Making rural America stronger, but that is not the value Trump put into his budget. He put into this budget: Let’s undercut, let’s undermine, let’s make it more difficult for rural America. This is truly a “rural America last” budget.

It eliminates funding for Essential Air Service. The Essential Air Service is essential to key small towns across our Nation, including one in my home State. If the Essential Air Service is wiped out, the economy of that town, Pendleton, would be dramatically impacted.

It slashes the Contract Tower Program that supports even more airports—six of them in my State—rural airports that need that contract tower support to be able to remain open. Small towns from Aurora to Klamath Falls would be dramatically impacted.

How about rural infrastructure? He takes out the rural water and wastewater programs. As I have said at townhalls around my State—and I go to every county every year, all 36. Before I hold a public townhall where people can ask any question they want, I meet with the local county commissioners, city commissioners, and all the locally elected. In virtually every county, every year, I hear about the challenge of water infrastructure, expanding the clean water supply or waste water treatment. These two challenges are enormous. Yet here is President Trump wiping out the rural water and wastewater programs.

How about critical housing programs? Well, here is the issue. In our rural communities, often the economy is hindered by the lack of availability of affordable housing. I have been in town after town after town saying: We have interest by a company to move here because of some of the key assets we have. Then they decide not to because they don’t have affordable housing locally for them to be able to hire the staff they need. So we have these programs at the Federal level—direct single-family housing loans, direct multifamily housing loans, low-income housing repair loans, farm labor housing loans, self-help housing grants. Here again, the Trump budget wipes them out.

The Community Development Block Grant is flexible, giving strength for rural communities to address local problems. We talk a lot about flexibility in the Senate, enabling local areas to decide how best to use funds. The CDBG, the Community Development Block Grant, does exactly that. That is why every year for President, who probably doesn’t even know what the program is, but he wiped it out.

How about the Rural Business-Cooperative Service that offers programs to support business development and job training? It is gone too. His budget slashes USDA’s rural development programs by about $1 billion, a little less than $1 billion. This is a part of the agency where programs focus on support for economic development, housing, and infrastructure in rural communities.

Then we have the impact on rural healthcare. This budget impacts rural healthcare in several different ways. It eliminates the Rural Health Outreach Grant Program that helps small rural hospitals get resources to create collaboratives for long-term care facilities or with ambulance services. It eliminates the State offices of rural health.

In addition, this budget destroys healthcare for 23 million Americans, and many of those live in rural America. In fact, in Oregon, about one out of three individuals, almost one out of three in our small towns, find healthcare through the Oregon Health Plan, the Oregon Health Plan funded by Medicaid. Rolling back Medicaid would throw some 400,000 people off of healthcare in Oregon just by itself, and that would make a huge impact in rural Oregon.

I have been holding a lot of townhalls in rural Oregon. This year I have had over 12 in what you would see on a map pretty red counties, and people are coming up to me at townhalls and saying that they are scared to death about this budget’s impact on healthcare. They are not just scared; they are terrified. And they are not just terrified; they are angry because they finally have the peace of mind that if a loved one gets sick, that loved one will get the care they need, that loved one will not end up bankrupt. That is a huge improvement in quality of life, but this budget from the President destroys that peace of mind.

It is not just impacting those who directly benefit from the Oregon Health Plan; it also impacts everybody else in the rural communities because the health plan has enabled our rural clinics and hospitals to do much better financially.

Out in the northeast corner of my State—it is a very remote and beautiful place—a person told me that his local clinic had gone from 20-some employees to about 50 employees, roughly doubling the healthcare provided. Why were they able to do that? Because they had had so much uncompensated care before people had access to insurance. But now that has changed dramatically, and their finances are much better. So they are able to hire a lot more people and provide a lot more healthcare to this rural part of the State. But that changes with this Trump budget.

Let me list a few more details about some of these areas, starting with the USDA Rural Development Water Programs.

Last year, 14 projects in my State received $10.7 million in loans and $6.5 million in grants in order to provide reliable, clean drinking water and waste disposal, affecting 12,000 folks in rural Oregon. Vernonia, which is in northwestern Oregon, relies on these programs so as to finally improve the town’s wastewater system—a project almost 20 years in the making. I have visited Vernonia a number of times. In 1996 it suffered a terrible flood, and then, again, in 2007, that town had its major flood. The floods overwhelmed Vernonia’s wastewater treatment systems and lagoons and caused overflows on public and private properties as well as into the nearby Nehalem River. Thanks to loans and grants from the USDA’s rural water programs, the town of Vernonia was able to purchase new equipment, upgrade its wastewater systems, and protect the water for its residents. That is just one community that has benefited.

Let’s talk a little bit more about housing. The budget singles out many housing programs to cut.

It eliminates the USDA Rural Development’s direct housing loan programs and most of the housing grant programs and community facilities programs, which include programs like the rural Single Family Housing Direct Loans, the rural Multi-Family Housing Direct Loans, the direct housing repair program, housing repair loans, and the Farm Labor Housing Program.

With so many States and so many communities across our Nation suffering from a shortage of affordable and available housing, how can we consider it a positive thing to slice and dice these programs?

Last year, 6,000 rural Oregonian families were living in 211 affordable apartment complexes thanks to USDA financing. But keeping these programs and strengthening our housing initiatives isn’t just good for our Nation’s families. It is also critical for the economic development of rural towns and communities. At one of my townhalls so often, I have heard from town leaders that they have a potential deal within the next year, and it falls out of their grasp because of the shortage of housing. We need to do better in this area, not worse.

Let’s talk about another program—the Forest Service Collaborative Forest Landscape Restoration Program.
This program is an all-lands approach to collaboratively encouraging science-based ecosystem restoration of priority forest landscapes.

Let me put it more simply. Often, in terms of forest health, we have seen the work in the woods can be quite expensive to improve forest health, and, often, you have disputes between the environmental community and the timber community on just how this should be done. A collaborative brings together these elements—the environmental side and the timber side—with the goal of both making the forest healthier and providing a steady supply of sawlogs to the mill.

This is something that happened in the Fremont-Winema National Forest, and it has given environmental and conservation groups confidence that Fremont-Winema is on a track to having a healthier ecosystem. At the same time, it helped to ensure that there is a balance between the timber industry and environmental protection, which means that timber is still coming and will keep coming to the local mill, which will help to create local jobs, like at the Collins Mill in Klamath Falls. That mill is able to continue employing more than 80 workers because of the steady supply of logs that makes its way from Fremont-Winema due to the eco-friendly forest management practices.

The concept of a “first” and “rural America and workers last” budget is going to die here in the Senate because there is going to be a bipartisan coalition of Democrats and Republicans who say that undermining the success of our families in order to provide a massive giveaway—a raid, if you will, on the National Treasury—and a handout to the privileged and powerful is, simply, the wrong way to go. This is, really, Robin Hood in reverse. This is a situation where the working families are undermined to provide a $6 trillion raid on the Treasury, with most being given away to our richest American families.

I do not know that there is anyone in this Chamber who is not already aware that we have massive income inequality here in the United States of America. I do not think there is any Senator among the 100 Senators of the Senate who is unaware that we have a massive welfare America. It has gotten larger and larger and larger until it has become equal to that level or near that level at which it was before the Great Depression. That is not a way for America to thrive—raid working families in order to provide even more giveaways to those who have the most.

I must say that this budget does not surprise me. It does not surprise me that the President submitted this. The President himself is a billionaire. The President lives in that world of billionaires, and he was persuaded to think that helping the billionaires to have even millions more would, somehow, be good for America.

I would like to take the President to real working America so that he may see the real impact on the ground of destroying rural health clinics, see the real impact on the ground of destroying rural water systems, and see the real impact on the ground of destroying rural home programming. We need to get the President outside of his billionaire bubble and seeing the impact so that, somehow, he gets a grip on what it means to guide this country in education policy and economic policy and, I think that we need a leader of opportunity rather than destroy it.

I thank the Presiding Officer.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. STRANGE). The Senator from South Dakota.

HEALTHCARE LEGISLATION

Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, everyone remembers President Obama’s famous—or perhaps infamous—promise that he would sign a healthcare bill that would “cut the cost of a family’s healthcare to just $500 per year.” Well, as everyone knows, that didn’t happen. Between 2009 and 2016, the average family with employersponsored health insurance saw its premiums rise by $4,767. That is just the beginning.

Two weeks ago, the Department of Health and Human Services released a report comparing the average individual market insurance premium in 2013—the year when most of ObamaCare’s regulations and mandates were implemented—with the average individual market exchange premium in 2017 in the 39 States that used healthcare.gov—so 2013 to 2017 individual market premiums. Here is what they found. Between 2013 and 2017, the average individual market monthly premium in the healthcare.gov States increased by 105 percent. In other words, on average, individual market premiums more than doubled in just 5 years.

In my home State of South Dakota, premiums increased by 124 percent or $3,588 over 5 years. As I said, that is according to HHS reporting on the premiums in the individual market exchanges over the course of the past 5 years. So $3,588 in South Dakota is money that South Dakota families had to take from other priorities, like saving for retirement or investing in their children’s education.

Three South Dakotans have seen their premiums triple over those 5 years. The average monthly premium in Alaska went from $344 to $1,041. That is an increase of $697 per month or more than $8,300 a year. Think about that. Over the past 5 years, the average individual market yearly premium has increased by $4,800 in Arizona, by $3,648 in Louisiana, by $5,064 in North Carolina, by $4,488 in Tennessee, and by $5,292 in West Virginia. Those kinds of premium increases are just not sustainable.

Some low-income people have used tax credits to help offset their premium payments, but many others are left to face these massive premium hikes by themselves. And most people do not have the money to easily absorb a 105-percent premium increase or more in many States, as I pointed out, over 5 years.

Of course, premium increases show no signs of slowing down. Numbers for 2018 are emerging, and they are not looking good. Insurers on the New York exchange are requesting double-digit rate hikes. A Connecticut insurer filed an average rate hike of 33.8 percent. One Virginia insurer requested an average rate increase of 38 percent. Another has requested an average 45-percent rate hike. In Oregon, the average rate hike requested is 17.2 percent.

Companies offering plans on the exchange here in Washington, DC, are requesting average rate hikes ranging from 13 percent to nearly 40 percent. In Maryland, average increases range from 18 percent to almost 59 percent. One insurer in Maryland has requested a rate increase of up to 150 percent—150 percent for just one year.

As if the premium hikes aren’t bad enough, many Americans don’t have an option to choose. In 2017, roughly one-third of U.S. counties have just one choice of insurer on their ObamaCare exchange—one choice in one-third of all the counties in America. So you pretty much have to take whatever rate they are going to quote you when that is the only option in town. Talk about a lack of competition.

Several States, including Alabama, Oklahoma, Alaska, and Wyoming, have just one choice of insurer on the entire State. The entire State—in those States that I just mentioned—has one choice of insurer. Things are only getting worse.

In 2018, a number of counties may lack any ObamaCare insurer at all. On Friday, the Omaha World-Herald announced that 100,000 Nebraskans could end up with zero options for individual market coverage in 2018. Iowa is facing a similar situation. They are trying to, you know, Blue Cross and Blue Shield announced that it will withdraw from the individual market in Iowa in 2018. Days later, Aetna announced that it would pull out of the Iowa exchange. In the wake of these announcements, Medicaid, the last ObamaCare insurer for most of Iowa, announced that it will likely leave the State in 2018. That would leave 94 of the 99 Iowa counties with no ObamaCare insurer next year.

Republicans in this Chamber are currently working on legislation to repeal and replace ObamaCare. Why? Because, as I just pointed out, ObamaCare is broken. This law is not working. This law has never worked. It shows absolutely no sign that it is going to work. This law has never worked. It shows absolutely no sign that it is going to work.
Given all of this, it is hard to believe the Democrats are still defending this disastrous law. I sometimes wonder just what it will take for my Democrat colleagues in the Senate to accept the staggering amount of evidence that says that law has failed. Do premiums have to triple? Do they have to quadruple? Does every American on the exchange have to be reduced to just one choice of insurer or be without an insurer at all?

Obamacare was going to reduce premiums. It didn’t. People were going to be able to keep their healthcare plans. They regularly found out that they couldn’t. Buying insurance was going to be like shopping for a TV on Amazon—well, maybe if Amazon had only one brand of television.

The responsible thing to do when a government program has turned out to be a disaster is to repeal it. That is what Republicans are working to do with Obamacare. We are working to repeal and replace it with real healthcare reform. My colleagues in the House have made a good start. We are working to build on their bill in the U.S. Senate. Chairman Alexander, Enzi, and Hatch have been leading the charge on this. I am grateful to them and the staffs for all of their hard work.

Republicans are committed to restoring the millions of Americans trapped on the Obamacare exchanges and lifting the burdens that this law has foisted onto taxpayers. We are committed to addressing Obamacare’s skyrocketing premium increases. We are committed to preserving access to care for Americans with preexisting conditions. We are committed to making Medicaid more sustainable by giving States greater flexibility while insuring that those who rely on this program don’t have the rug pulled out from under them. We need to make healthcare more affordable, more personal, more flexible, and more pragmatic.

It would be wonderful if at least some Democrats would join us in this effort and stop prioritizing partisanship over the needs of the American people. Republicans know that the American people are suffering under Obamacare, and we are committed to bringing them relief. They are ready for healthcare reform that actually works, and that is what Republicans intend to deliver.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. NELSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. NELSON. Mr. President, it is fitting that today, June 6, the anniversary of D-Day in Europe and the Battle of Midway in the Pacific, we are talking about our country’s veterans in the debate that is going on in the Senate.
recognizes the enormous talent in our Federal workers, and I believe he should strive to create a stronger team by quickly filling the 45,000 vacant civil service positions currently at the VA and by building on the strong sense of purpose that motivated our VA Federal workforce and cares for our veterans.

Mr. NELSON. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. PERDUE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

THE BUDGET PROCESS

Mr. PERDUE. Mr. President, we have 50 workdays in the Senate before the end of this fiscal year—50 days. That does not include the 5 weeks we will be gone for the August State work weeks. I rise tonight to talk about what happens September 30. September is the end of the fiscal year. That means we have to have the Federal Government funded for fiscal year 2018, which starts October 1 of this year.

Like every year—as a matter of fact, like every year since 1980—the Federal Government will probably not be funded by the end of this fiscal year in the manner it was supposed to be, according to the law that was done in 1974, the Budget Act of 1974. In 23 of those years, the Federal Government has only been funded four times, according to that bill. We have used 178 continuing resolutions, and therefore ongoing omnibus and so forth, where six people get in a room, basically decide how we are going to spend $1 trillion.

This is the only enterprise I can find anywhere in the world that funds its operations this way. The problem is, we have a system that is absolutely totally broken. It is a fraud that is being perpetrated on the American people.

We have been asked, between now and September 30—this is the way the budget process works. By the way, we should have started this back in January, but we couldn’t do it because we were working on the fiscal year 2017 budget to do reconciliation so we could work on healthcare.

Now we are going to, when that gets done in August 2017, we will do a reconciliation and hopefully do a tax package behind that, but wrapped up in all of that, here comes September 30 and 50 workdays from today to fund the Federal Government. Between now and then, in 50 days, we are asked to do a budget for the fiscal year 2018, to do full authorizations for 16 different entities, committees, and then do appropriations for 12 committees.

By the way, over the last 43 years, you have to fund 12 appropriations bills to fund the Federal Government. It took 13 appropriations bills up until around 2000. Since then, it has been 12, but of those 12, the average number of appropriations bills this body has appropriated each year is 2½.

Now, by any measure, that is unacceptable, but we are now asked, between now and September 30, in a very truncated manner, to do the budget, do 12 appropriations and all 12 appropriations. Now, I am not a betting man, but I will go to Vegas and short that idea right now. There is no way we are going to fund this government according to that policy—no way. It will not happen. It cannot happen. It has not happened in 49 years that way except four times.

Every single year this process breaks down. Like I said, we have used 178 continuing resolutions. What does a CR do? It ties the hands of our military leaders, where they can’t move money from one bucket to the other to help accommodate it. So what we have right now is a process that just has not worked. Yet, because of that, the Federal Government has exploded in size.

In 2000, the Federal Government spent $2.4 trillion running the Federal Government. Last year, we spent $3.9 trillion. Those are constant 2016 dollars. Over the next 10 years, we are going to spend $53 trillion running the Federal Government. We are going to borrow a significant part of that—another $10 trillion.

The irony is, the debate we are having between now and September 30 is to fund the government, not on the full $4 trillion. If we are going to continue operating business as usual, we are going to borrow a significant part of that—another $10 trillion.

The difficulty comes in trying to align the prospects within the process itself or get to a determination. Right now, the budget process doesn’t work for this very reason: The budget itself is not a law. It is a resolution, which means the majority party can cram down the throat of the minority version of a political budget. That is all it is.

Then you go to an authorization process, and, in the authorization process today, we have over $310 billion of Federal expenditures that are not authorized, including the State Department. Last year, we didn’t even do an authorization for our military. Even then, after passing the appropriations bill in the Armed Services Committee well beyond what I think is called for on the floor of the Senate. We tried six times. So it was not authorized or appropriated last year, but it got wrapped up in an omnibus, and that same thing will more than likely happen this year. That can be fixed, but it is difficult.

Several of us have been working behind the scenes, looking at other best practices around the world—other countries, companies, and even States. We have looked at best practices. What we found was that nobody else tries to fund their government or their enterprise the way we try to fund the Federal Government. This goes back to article I and article II of our Constitution.

Article I says that funding the Federal Government is the responsibility of Congress. Yet we have abconded with that. The 1921 act that created the Office of Management and Budget went beyond what I think is called for in the original Constitution. So what we are looking at today is a legislative underreach and an executive overreach relative to funding government, out of necessity because of the dysfunction right here in the Senate relative to how we fund our government. There is no question that we will not fund this government without a continuing resolution and/or an omnibus come September 30.

The fix is not that unreasonable. All we need is a politically neutral platform that brings all expenses into the budget process—all $4 trillion today. That would include discretionary and mandatory and that the budget become a bipartisan process, which means that we have to get bipartisan support for the budget.

Then, lastly, if we don’t get the budget done by a certain date and we don’t fund the government by the end of the fiscal year, then consequences are borne by the people who have the responsibility to fund the government, and that is the Senate, the House of Representatives, and the people in the administration who are responsible for their part of it. It is not that complicated. Many other countries do it. Most other countries do it. In fact, in some countries, if they don’t fund the government by the end of their fiscal year, their constitutions actually say that the government gets disbanded and they have an election. Well, that is not what I am calling for here. I don’t think we have to do anything that severe.

There are colleagues of mine right here in this body, on both sides, who have contributed—Senators Whitehouse, Enzi, Corker, Lankford, Tillis, Ernst, Rounds, Sullivan, Daines, and others—and who are weighing in on the debt. Government has executive experience running large financial enterprises at the State level, have come into this body and bring enormous wealth of experience about how to get this done.

My argument is that right now, during this period of dysfunctionality when we see firsthand the reality of not being able to take care of domestic needs, military needs, or any other discretionary enterprises that we want to fund because we don’t have the appropriations to fund it, I can find no other time better than what we have right now to raise the question on both sides of the aisle. This is not a partisan conversation. Both sides are guilty, but let’s come to the table and find a politically neutral platform that would allow both sides, during the budget process, to talk about tax increases, tax expenditures, spending cuts, all the spending that we have, and all the responsibility we have in the executive branch or in the Congress of funding the Federal Government. Why not?

We have one suggestion that says: Pick a time in the future. Decide what percentage of your GDP should be covered by debt—no more than that—and to cause a dysfunction in this body and bring enormous wealth of experience about how to get this done.

My colleagues in here to be reminded of what we are going to have to do to fund the government come October 1. Please, let’s not get right up to September 30 with a gun to our head that says: Either do it this way, spend this money, or we will not fund the government tomorrow. That is total irresponsibility, just like I believe this budget process is a fraud perpetrated by Washington on the people of America and it is not honest relative to what we have to face up to in terms of our responsibilities.

We cannot afford to do all that we are doing. That is just pure fact. The world is no longer going to be able to loan us the money that we need over the next 10 years—another $10 trillion. There is some $200 trillion of total debt in the world. Only $60 trillion of the $200 trillion is sovereign debt, and we have one-third of that sovereign debt and, yes, I have colleagues—appropriations have curtailed their borrowing. We are one of the few that continue to just race along this path of borrowing money at this breakneck pace and adding another $10 trillion. We could, potentially, have the world’s sovereign debt in the next 10 years. That cannot happen. The world bond risk and the bond markets will not, potentially, allow that to happen.

So today is the day. As we go through the next 50 days, I believe we need to look for opportunities on both sides of the aisle to find a bipartisan way to stop this nonsense and to get to where we can fund the government in a responsible way, not just 1 year, and to get away from the past 43 years of total failure in terms of funding the Federal Government, such that when we get to September 30 of each year, we have already approved the budget. Only that way can we line up and funded for the needs that we have all agreed here in Congress need to be met.

I can think of no other call on this body higher than this right now because we are doing the things that we need to do; that is, to take care of our domestic needs, to take care of the people who need the safety net, to take care of these legacy programs of Social Security and Medicare, and yet defend our country. Because of this debt, we are limiting the opportunities that we have, and we will not solve that until we address this budget process.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Mr. PAUL. The Senator from Washington. TRUMPCARE

Mrs. MURRAY. Mr. President, I wish to take a few minutes this afternoon to talk specifically about what families back in my home State of Washington are saying about the harm that this bill will do and why, despite how often Republicans say they are struggling to find a way to jam Trumpcare through the Senate, now is the time to keep the pressure on.

I have had to say this far too often: Right now people across the country are scared, and they have a right to be. The policies in Trumpcare would turn our healthcare system into a minefield of higher costs and worse care for our families. If you are a young person who needs mental healthcare, you could pay thousands more a year on top of what you're already paying for insurance. If you are a senior, your premiums could increase by as much as 850 percent. If you need maternity care, the independent analysis by the Congressional Budget Office shows you could pay as much as $1,000 more a year for insurance.

Under Trumpcare, 23 million people across the country would lose coverage, and, because insurance companies would have far more power to lower their standards and offer skimpy, snake-oil plans, we would go back to the days when a trip to the emergency room could result in a truly devastating financial hit.

I have just described some of the biggest impacts Trumpcare would have. But you know who would benefit from Trumpcare? Special interests in the healthcare industry that would get a massive tax break and, of course, President Trump, who is desperate for a political win.

For these reasons and many more, people across our country are rejecting Trumpcare. They don’t want the dramatically higher healthcare costs. They don’t want to create even more chaos in our healthcare system than Republicans already have, and they certainly don’t think they should have to pay more, all to appease President Trump and those at the very top.

Senate Republican leaders have said they expect their final product will look a whole lot like the version of Trumpcare that passed in the House. In fact, some of them said they expect to cut as much as $10 trillion of the House-passed version of Trumpcare. So it is no wonder that they are now having trouble figuring out how to cobble together enough votes to jam this disastrous bill through the Senate. If that is truly the case, then, I would again encourage them to drop this reckless repeal effort, to stop creating chaos in our healthcare system, which is driving up our premiums, and to work with Democrats on real solutions.

Here ready, like we have always been, to find ways to bring down families’ healthcare costs while making sure they get the same quality of care and finding ways to get families more affordable coverage. Unfortunately, we have not heard from any Republicans who are willing to reverse course. That is why, despite how much trouble Republicans may be having with their disastrous policies, I am here today urging anyone who rejects Trumpcare and what it means for our families’ health and financial security to make it just as hard as they can against this bill. Keep making those calls, keep rallying, and keep sharing your stories.
Since the election, I have heard from family after family in Washington State about what the future holds for their healthcare. One of those is a constituent of mine named Marcy Jefferson. Her husband is a small business owner, and they purchase individual insurance.

Well, in 2014 Marcy was diagnosed with cancer. She has had to have not one but two stem cell transplants since then, and her chemotherapy costs are over $3,000 each month.

Before the Affordable Care Act, Marcy’s health insurance had no out-of-pocket limit. Without limits on how much insurance companies can charge patients—a protection that TrumpCare would take away—Marcy says she and her husband will most definitely face bankruptcy.

Marcy also says that the ACA “literally saved my life—and we could not afford the type of care I am receiving without it.”

There are stories like Marcy’s in literally every community in our country—in red States, in blue States, in purple States. It is appalling that instead of working with us to make healthcare more affordable and with higher quality and expanding coverage, instead of listening to people like Marcy and joining us at the table, Republicans are trying to jam through the Senate a plan that would do the opposite of what would threaten lives and devastate families financially.

So I am going to do everything I can to fight back, and I will keep working hard against the deeply harmful TrumpCare plan that Republicans are determined to get signed into law. Families like Marcy’s are bravely speaking up and making clear just how damaging TrumpCare would be, and that is exactly what Democrats here in the Senate are going to do as well.

The President’s Budget

Before the President, I want to take a couple of minutes to talk about President Trump’s latest budget proposal, because even after last week’s stunning move by President Trump to obstruct our fight against climate change and seeing another confirmation the week before that 23 million Americans would lose their healthcare coverage under TrumpCare, we cannot lose sight of the grand scope of President Trump’s cruel attack against working families. Nowhere has the President’s broken promises to working families been more evident than in his recent budget proposal.

President Trump spent his campaign promising workers he would stand with them, promising seniors he would protect their care, promising the middle class he would make the economy work for them. Then he came to Washington, DC, and crafted a budget that is a perfect summary of all the way those promises are broken.

In supporting the President’s budget director came up to Capitol Hill just 2 weeks ago to try to defend the budget, to try to explain how it didn’t break promises, but he couldn’t do it because it can’t be done.

From his promises not to cut Medicaid or Social Security to his promise to provide “insurance for everybody” that was better and at lower cost, promise after promise was not just broken but shattered—Democrats, Republicans, and Independents have been criticizing this budget here in DC and across the country. One senior Republican Senator called it “dead on arrival,” and he is exactly right.

The families we represent want us to work together, to invest in our workers and in our middle-class families, to protect patients, to stand with women, to grow our economy from the middle out, and not simply give more tax cuts to the already-wealthy. We of this party were able to do this before. Recently, Democrats and Republicans came together to pass a spending bill that rejected President Trump’s extreme agenda and worked for families and the middle class to come together on bipartisan budget deals that increased investments. So I am hopeful that Republicans will stand with us on the side of the people they represent, push aside this awful budget from the President, and work with us to do this again. I stand ready to do that.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

The Presiding Officer. The Senator from North Dakota.

Mr. Hoeven. Mr. President, I rise today to speak in support of the VA Accountability and Whistleblower Protection Act—bipartisan legislation that will help ensure that our veterans receive the care they deserve.

We owe our veterans more than we can ever repay for their dedicated service. Part of this debt is providing our veterans with timely, high-quality healthcare.

In my home State of North Dakota, our VA medical center is located in Fargo. It not only serves the veterans in North Dakota, but it also serves the western half of Minnesota as well. If there is one thing that our veterans have made very clear about the health center in Fargo—from both North Dakota and Minnesota—to me, and many of our veterans have made clear that it is an outstanding healthcare center that provides high-quality service. Our veterans love the Fargo VA. They do a great job.

It is important to note that the vast majority of VA employees are dedicated to serving our veterans and are working diligently to provide services to veterans in their communities. However, as recent events have shown, there are a number of instances where poor performance or misconduct by a VA employee has had tragic consequences.

In cases like these, the VA needs to have the ability to address these situations and to do it in a fair but expeditious manner. This bipartisan legislation will provide the VA Secretary with the necessary tools to do just that and ensure that VA employees are putting our veterans first. Specifically, this legislation establishes in law the Office of Accountability and Whistleblower Protection within the VA, a post which was created earlier this year through Executive order. It authorizes the Secretary of VA to reprimand, suspend, demote, or remove VA employees at the level and hasten the appeal and review process. Additionally, it establishes protections for whistleblowers.

These reforms are important for our veterans. That is why the legislation has garnered the support of many veteran organizations. It has garnered the support of our North Dakota VA Commissioner, as well as the veterans service organizations, including the American Legion, AMVETS, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Iraq and Afghanistan Veterans of America, the Military Officers Association of America, and others. It has also garnered the support of cosponsors on both sides of the aisle in this Chamber.

Nearly three years ago, over 160,000 brave Allied troops landed on the beaches of Normandy. I can think of no more an appropriate day to pass legislation that honors our commitment to our veterans and helps ensure they receive the care they have earned.

I thank the committee chair, Senator Isakson of Georgia, and also Senator Tester of Montana for their outstanding bipartisan leadership on this important legislation.

I particularly also want to thank Senator Marco Rubio of Florida, who is the primary sponsor of this legislation and has been a champion for veterans issues. I know this accountability issue is one he has spoken about consistently, often on behalf of our veterans. I thank him for his leadership on this very important legislation.

At this time, I yield to the prime sponsor of this bill, Senator Marco Rubio.

The Presiding Officer. The Senator from Florida.

Mr. Rubio. Mr. President, I want to thank the Senator for his kind comments. This issue is one that I think matters to all 100 Members of this Chamber and every American.

I, too, find it timely that here we are, 73 years to the day of the incredible sacrifices that were made on that beach in Normandy and that we have the opportunity to honor the men and women who have served for us, then and since then, particularly those who are now in need of services, with the passage of what is truly landmark legislation, and I will talk about that in a moment. It is the hope of all of us who are here today that it will help bring accountability for generations of those who have served and will serve to protect our great Nation.
We live in a time of an outrage culture, where in order to make the news every evening, you have to be involved in some controversy or say something over the top. That is just the way things are these days. So when something positive happens, it doesn't get a lot of coverage. It is my sense that while we are not doing this for purposes of getting coverage, many Americans, as they watch the news or go on the internet, will have no idea that this took place. I think that is unfortunate because in addition to the importance of this piece of legislation, it is a testament that despite all of the important issues, noise, and arguments, we hear every day on television, that our Republic still works and that men and women of good faith can come together across political ideology and partisan lines on an issue that wasn't easy to work with for a couple of years.

I hope there is an opportunity to point to this, and say that on something that was important—this is not a symbolic resolution; this is a change in the laws of our country that will bring accountability to one of the most important functions that our government provides and workers who serve uniform, and that is the Veterans' Administration. That is why I prefer my comments on all this and the fact that this is not getting a lot of attention because this is not controversial. If there were a big fight on the floor about this and people were bickering or arguing, it would get more coverage, but the fact that we were able to come together across party lines on this issue and get it done should not be a reason not to recognize its importance. That is not why we are doing it. We are doing it to make a change.

I think it is important to preface my remarks by saying that it has been an honor to work to work with Chairman ISSAKSON and with the ranking member, Senator TESTER, and all the members of the Senate Veterans' Affairs Committee on what is now truly bipartisan legislation that is before the Senate. I remain grateful to the committee for their efforts to help bring needed accountability reforms to the Department. This is an issue, as I said, that we have been working on for several years, and I am pleased that we are now on a path to enact real change. This spring marks 3 years since light was shed on the veterans who died while they were stuck on secret waiting lists at the Department of Veterans Affairs. After it was revealed that the Phoenix, AZ, VA facility had widespread mismanagement and malpractice by employees, Congress came together and acted promptly. In the wake of that deplorable situation, this Chamber responded in a bipartisan way by passing the Veterans Access, Choice, and Accountability Act.

While many of those reforms have begun to make a difference, we knew even then that it would not be enough. As reflected in the legislation that is now before us, in this law we are seeking to address those shortcomings and doing so in deference to what the courts have decided is consistent with the Constitution of the United States. As a member of this Chamber—if not everyone—has done, over the years I have met with veterans throughout my home State of Florida, and I have found that many share a common frustration and disappointment and often express resignation that accountability, meaningful consequences, has yet to come or occur at the VA. It is my hope that will begin to change with this vote today. These men and women, our veterans, have sacrificed much for our country, and it is our duty to take care of them when they come home after taking care of us. Sadly, for many, this solemn obligation and promise has not been kept.

Plain and simple, ineffective governance is unfair to our veterans and to the American taxpay. The VA must be properly managed so that it can provide timely, quality care to veterans and be held accountable to all Americans.

Let me follow up what I just said by making it abundantly clear that the overwhelming majority of the people who work at the VA are good, hardworking employees who serve our veterans well. Many of them are veterans themselves. This is not a punitive measure, but it is a tool to hold those who work for and for the VA's current broken civil service system. We are all grateful for their service, but because under the law they just become clear that under the current law, the VA often is unwilling or unable to hold individuals appropriately accountable for their actions and/or misdeeds—usually not because they don't want to but because under the law they just can't. Even in instances in which disciplinary action against an employee was attempted, the complexity and the lengthiness of the process prevented meaningful meaningful consequences.

The unfortunate reality is that those few but significant number of negligent employees often went unpunished. To shield such employees from the consequences brings down the entire Department, demoralizes the workforce, and undermines the core mission of the VA. That comes not from political talking points but from many of the men and women who themselves work at the VA.

We cannot and must not allow bureaucratic redtape to get in the way. Our VA is staffed by those who belong there and are willing to perform the important tasks of serving our heroes. It is our hope and my belief that this legislation provides overdue reforms to the VA's current broken civil service system. We are all grateful for their help, for their support, and for helping and informing us in tweaking this law so that it actually solves problems.

There are two more points that I want to make.

I am proud that we were able to come together as a unified body—Republicans and Democrats—to show the Nation that the Republic can still work and that we can work together to solve problems. That spirit will carry over into other issues that confront our Nation.

With today's vote, I think we move one step closer to achieving the worthy goal of bringing accountability and, as a result, an improvement in the VA. I thank my colleagues for joining this fight to better serve our Nation's veterans.
I close by thanking the people who worked day in and day out on this, including the staffs for Chairman Isakson and Ranking Member Tester. Adam Reece and Jorge Rueda worked tirelessly on the bill. I thank Hazen Marshall and Tom Halvins with Senator McConnell's office. I thank my cloakroom staff—Laura Dove, Chris Tuck, and Tony Hanagan—for their work in getting this bill here today.

On my own personal staff, I thank J.R. Sanchez, who has worked on this piece of legislation for 3 years. I don't know what he is going to do with his time now because he has spent so much time and passion on this, and he knows many of these veterans personally.

This is a good day, and I look forward to eventually getting this bill over to the President's office so that accountability and improvement in performance can finally come to the VA and so that the men and women who have taken care of us will finally be taken care of.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. Scott). The Senator from Georgia.

Mr. ISAKSON. Mr. President, I thank Senator Rubio, who has been a steadfast friend on this issue for years.

People have heard the term ‘years’ mentioned. It is plural. We have worked on this thing for a long time. It started coming together last year, but it fell apart at the last minute. Thanks to the work and the work of the committee and the staffs on both committees and the leadership on the Democratic side—Mr. Tester's and mine—we found a way to do what, as I said in my opening remarks earlier—3 hours ago—is an act of Divine Providence. None of us really ever planned that this bill would come to the floor on the 73rd anniversary of the invasion of Normandy.

It was a great day in American history on this day, a day that described what the evil German empire—Adolf Hitler—was destroyed by the Allied Forces and the United States of America. It is only appropriate that on the anniversary of that date 73 years later, we say to those who have worn the uniform and who wear the uniform, who represent us every day and fight for us and ask nothing in return: We will see to it that you get what you were promised in terms of healthcare and benefits, and we will work and the work of the committee and the staffs on both committees and the leadership to make this take place: Staff Director Tom Bowman, Amanda Mere-dith, Adam Reece, Gretchen Blum, Kristen Hine, Maureen O'Neill, Lesli Camblin, Dustin Shearman, Jillian Workman, Thomas Coleman, John Ash-ley, Mitchell Sylvest, and Heather Vachon.

We could not have done what we did nor would we have been here today without their help. Yet, as has always been true, we would not as a country have been here today nor would we have ever existed had it not been for the brave men and women who bore the battle—who fought the battle—who de-fended our country and made sure we had the opportunity to become what is now acknowledged around the world—the greatest government on the face of this Earth.

On this day, the anniversary of the invasion of Normandy on D-day, we are guaranteeing our veterans the type of service that they fought for and deserve. God bless America, and God bless the veterans who proudly serve America day in and day out in every uniform around the world.

In the absence of another speaker, I yield back the remaining time.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. All time is yielded back.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading and was read the third time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill having been read the third time, the question is, Shall it pass?

The bill (S. 1094), as amended, was passed.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Georgia.

MORNING BUSINESS

Mr. ISAKSON. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate be in a period of morning business, with Senators permitted to speak therein for up to 10 minutes each.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mrs. CAPITO). Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senate from Rhode Island.

GASPEE DAYS

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Madam Presi-dent, I come to the Senate floor every year around this time to discuss an important incident in the history of Rhode Island largely overlooked in the history books, certainly overlooked in consequence to its importance.

We have to understand that we Rhode Islanders have always had a pretty fierce independent streak. The Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations was founded by Roger Williams and others fleeing the harsh ideological con-cerns of the Massachusetts theocracy. Our 1633 charter, describing the colony as a “lively experiment,” is the first formal document in all of history granting to a political entity the separation of church and state, along with unprecedented freedoms of speech.

Rhode Island was the first colony to declare its independence from Britain, on the Fourth of May, 1776—2 months before the rest of the United States. On the Fourth of July—and we were the last colony to join the Union, waiting for an independent Bill of Rights. Like I said, an independent streak.

Colonial Rhode Islanders chafed at the inequities of British rule, especially the disruption of our liberty at sea. We are the Ocean State. Living and working on the water has always been a Rhode Island way of life. As tensions with the American Colonies grew, however, King George III stationed revenue cutters, armed Customs patrol vessels, in the waters of Narragansett Bay to prevent smuggling, enforce the payment of taxes, and impose British sovereignty.

In 1764, after a British ship called the HMS St. John stole goods from Newport merchants, a group of Rhode Islanders seized control of Fort George on Goat Island in Newport Harbor and fired cannons on the vessel.

In 1769, the HMS Liberty, a sloop commissioned for the Royal Navy from none other than John Hancock and repurposed as a Customs vessel, was boarded, scut-tled, and burned by a mob of angry Rhode Islanders.

On June 9, 1772, all this tension came to a head. On this day, Rhode Island Governor Joseph Wanton, in March 1772, that Lieutenant Dudingston had “no legal authority to justify his conduct, and his commis-sion . . . [was] more of a fiction than any-thing else.”

When British authorities assured Governor Wanton that Dudingston was there to protect the Rhode Island colony from pirates, the Governor replied that he didn’t know whether Dudingston was there to halt for inspection, whether he was a British officer, or was the pirate himself.

On June 9, 1772, all this tension came to a head. On this day, Rhode Island Captain Benjamin Lindsey was en route to Providence from Newport in his ship the Hannah. He was ordered by the hated Gaspee to halt for inspection. Captain Lindsey refused, and he raced up Narragansett Bay—despite warning shots fired at the Hannah. The Gaspee gave chase to the Hannah, and Captain Lindsey, who knew the waters of Narragansett Bay far better than Dudingston did, steered his ship north toward Pawtuxet Cove in Warwick, right over the shallows off of Namquid Point—known today as Gaspee Point. The lighter Hannah was able to shoot over those shallows, but the heavier Gaspee ran aground and stuck firm in a sandbar in a falling tide. The British ship and her crew were stranded and would have to spend many hours before a rising tide could free them.

Wasting no time, Captain Lindsey sailed up to Providence, and with the help of the respected merchant and statesman John Brown, rallied a group of Rhode Island patriots at Sabin's Tavern, in what is now the East Side of Providence. Together, after suitable refreshment, the group resolved to end the Gaspee's menace in Rhode Island waters.

That night, 80 or so men shoveled off from the wharf under a moonless sky, with their faces blackened and their oarlocks muffled, paddling eight longboats down Narragansett Bay toward the stranded Gaspee. The longboats silently surrounded the Gaspee, and the Rhode Islanders shouted for Lieutenant Dudingston to surrender his ship. As Daniel Harrington recounted in the Providence Journal, "Cap't Lindsey, with a vassal of his men, went to the Rhode Islanders, and spoke first, for the Rhode Islanders, summoning Dudingston: I am sheriff of Kent Country, [expletive]. I have a warrant to apprehend you, [expletive]; so surrender, [expletive]. It was a classic Rhode Island quip."

Surprised and enraged, Dudingston refused and ordered his men to fire upon anyone who attempted to board the Gaspee. Gunshots struck out in the night, and musket balls hit Lieutenant Dudingston in his groin and his arm. The Rhode Islanders, outnumbering the British, swarmed onto the deck and commandeered the ship. Brown ordered one of his Rhode Islanders, a physician named John Mawney, to tend to Lieutenant Dudingston's wounds.

After properly plundering the lieutenant's quarters, the patriots removed the British crew to land and returned to torch the Gaspee. Ultimately, the flames reached the powder magazine, and the resulting blast echoed across Narragansett Bay, and watch the resulting blast echoed across the waters.

When word got back to the King, he was furious, and he offered huge royal rewards for the capture of the renegade who had done this deed, but, strangely enough, no Rhode Islander would step forward to finger the perpetrators. You have to admire, under that kind of pressure, that with 80 people who had gone ashore in eight longboats, not one Rhode Islander would spill the beans.

Word spread throughout the Colonies of this incident and of the Crown's brand of justice. Samuel Adams wrote a letter in the Providence Gazette on December 26, 1772, that read, in part:

A court of inquisition, more horrid than that of Spain or Portugal, is established within this colony, to inquire into the circumstances of destroying the Gaspee schooner; and the persons who are the commissioners of this new-fangled court, are vested with more unconstitutional power. They are directed to summon witnesses, apprehend persons not only implicated, but even suspected! And . . . to deliver them to Admiral Montagu, who is ordered to have a ship in readiness to carry them to England, where they are to be tried.

The Reverend John Allen delivered at the Second Baptist Church in Boston a Thanksgiving sermon on the Gaspee Affair that was distributed in pamphlet form throughout the Colonies. His words helped rouse the spirit of independence of this fledgling Nation. He said:

Supposing . . . that the Rhode Islanders, for the sake of the blood-bought liberties of their forefathers, for the sake of the birthrights of their children, should show a spirit of resentment against a tyrannical arbitrary power that attempts to destroy their lives, liberties and property, would it not be insufferably cruel (this which the law of nature and nations teaches them to do) to be butchered, assassinated and slaughtered in their own streets by their own King?

Well, schoolchildren's history books tell a tale of Bostonians who dressed up in funny outfits and climbed onto a British boat and pushed bales of tea into the harbor, but not enough schoolchildren know of the bravery of the Rhode Islanders who, more than a year earlier, fired the first shots and drew the first blood in the quest for American independence. It is a fine thing, I am sure, to push tea bales off a boat. We blew the boat up, and we did it more than a century earlier.

Rhode Islanders are justifiably proud of our role in our rebellion. We have made a tradition of celebrating the Gaspee incident with the annual Gaspee Days celebration and parade through Warwick. An independent study group at Brown University is adapting the tale of the Gaspee into a virtual reality educational experience so you can put on the goggles and reenact the experience of the Gaspee. The Rhode Island history with cutting-edge technology to engage middle and high school students in this history.

Someday soon, children across the country may be able to join Captain Whipple and John Brown and step into a virtual longboat, coast down a virtual Narragansett Bay, and watch the sky over a virtual Rhode Island, alight with the fire of revolution. I thank the President Officer. I yield the floor. I suggest the absence of a quorum. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll. The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll. Mr. McCONNELL. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the further consideration of the bill be dispensed with. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

50TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE REUNIFICATION OF JERUSALEM

Mr. CARDIN. Madam President, this June marks the 50th anniversary of the reunification of Jerusalem. I am honored to have supported S. Res. 176, which commemorates the 50th anniversary of the reunification of Jerusalem.

This resolution reaffirms the Holy City of Jerusalem's central role for the Christian, Jewish, and Muslim faiths. Since 1967, all people of all religious faiths are able to visit and worship at the holy sites of Jerusalem. I will always stand with Israel as it ensures that all individuals enjoy opportunities to visit and worship at Jerusalem's holy sites.

The United States has stood with Israel for the past 50 years and will continue to do so. The intervening 50 years have included momentous changes in Israel and throughout the region, including peace treaties with Egypt and Jordan that stand to this day. These events give me hope for a future in which Israel and all of its neighbors together benefit from a comprehensive, warm peace.

CHILD PROTECTION AND FAMILY SUPPORT ACT

Mr. DAINES. Madam President, I am honored today to announce legislation that Senator PERRIN and I have introduced that provides another option for children in the foster care system in Montana and across the country.

I worked with a host of Montana groups to develop the Child Protection and Family Support Act of 2017, including a handful of nonprofit organizations focused on foster youth, the Montana attorney general, Indian Tribes, and individual constituents. I am pleased to have their support on this legislation.

Montana is in the midst of a child welfare crisis. We have a record 3,400 children in foster care, and about a third of those children are there because of methamphetamine use by their parents.

Montana state law requires the Office of the Child and Family Ombudsman to investigate circumstances surrounding child fatalities when the child was involved with the Montana Department of Public Health and Human Services Child and Family Services Division within 12 months of the date of the child's death.

Last December, the Montana Department of Justice issued a report and the findings were devastating. It detailed 14 child deaths that met these parameters.

Of the 14 cases reviewed, 11 involved children 2 years old or younger. In nine of those cases, the children were 1 year old or younger. Eleven cases included allegations of drug use, four of which indicated methamphetamine use. Six cases indicated issues of domestic violence, and eight cases involved parents who received child protective services in Montana when they themselves were children. I have been told that at least seven children have met a similar fate in the first 5 months of 2017 alone. The death of one child is too many.
Under current Federal policy, a child must be removed from the home of a parent and, after removal, cannot be living with the parent, in order to be eligible for a title IV–E foster care maintenance payment. My bill would permit title IV–E foster care maintenance payments to continue for 12 months, for a child in foster care who is placed with a parent in a licensed residential family-based treatment facility. This would allow the parent to get the help they need while keeping the family intact.

Secondly, the bill would reauthorize the Administration for Children and Families' Regional Partnership Grant, RPG, Program. These competitive grants reduce the risk of foster care due to parental substance abuse, an issue of utmost importance to Montana. Since their inception in 2006, two Montana grantees have utilized and benefited from RPGs: the Center for Children and Families in Billings, MT, and the Fort Peck Nation Housing Authority in Crow Agency.

My bill reauthorizes and strengthens this grant program with modest improvements. For example, it encourages the use of RPGs to address the needs of children and families affected by methamphetamine, heroin, and opioid substance use disorders, help implement effective title IV–E prevention services, and focus on improved outcomes for families, including children and their parents. The bill further requires that in order to be eligible for funding, partnership must include the State agency that administers the Federal substance abuse prevention and treatment block grant and, if the partnership intends to serve children placed in out-of-home care, the court that handles child abuse and neglect proceedings in the region.

Among the long list of eligible grant applicants and partners, Native American tribal consortiums, and Tribal organizations are all eligible grantees, and I hope they will increasingly utilize RPGs, especially given the unique foster care challenges in Indian communities.

As a U.S. Senator, as a person of faith, as a father, and as an American, I believe in helping the most vulnerable in our society—in this case, innocent children. I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this legislation.

100TH BIRTHDAY OF THE 34TH AND 37TH BOMB SQUADRONS

Mr. THUNE. Madam President, today I would like to recognize the 100th birthday of the Air Force’s 34th and 37th Bomb Squadrons.

Two of the oldest active squadrons in the U.S. Air Force, the 34th and 37th Bomb Squadrons first served our Nation during World War II, when our allies in Europe and in the Pacific called for help, the brave airmen of these units answered the call. They served with distinction during the historic Doolittle Raid, a daring mission that tested the limits of the B-25 bombers that had been designed to strike a blow to the heart of the Japanese empire. While their bombers delivered pay- loads, their courage delivered hope to a world that longed for peace.

The 34th and 37th Bomb Squadrons went on to provide interdiction and support missions during the Korean War, deployed during Operation Desert Storm, and fought in Kosovo and Serbia. When terrorists attacked our homeland in 2001, both squadrons took action in Operations Enduring Freedom and Iraqi Freedom. In 2011, the 34th and 37th joined forces to launch the first ever B-1 combat mission launched from the continental United States, flying from Ellsworth and Joint Base Malmstrom to hit enemy targets in Libya during Operation Odyssey Dawn. During their 100 years of service, the airmen of the 34th and 37th Bomb Squadrons have assisted allies around the globe and represented the very best of who we are as a nation. I have full faith they will continue their distinguished service in defense of our country, our allies, and our freedoms.

So many times throughout the history of our republic, we have called upon the men and women to become extraordinary heroes. Today we honor the legacy of the heroes of the 34th and 37th Bomb Squadrons, and I thank you for joining me in wishing them the best as they celebrate a century of service.

TRIBUTE TO VICE ADMIRAL JAMES D. SYRING

Mr. SHELBY. Madam President, today I wish to mark the retirement of VADM James D. Syring from the U.S. Navy following more than three decades of military service to this great Nation.

In his last post, he served as the Director of the United States Missile Defense Agency, MDA. As Director, Admi ral Syring made enormous contributions to the successful development and fielding of the Ballistic Missile Defense System, BMD, in the face of emerging threats and emerging ballistic missile threats of all ranges. The progress he made is even more remarkable considering the budget cuts sustained during that time.

In response to the growing North Korean ICBM threat, Admiral Syring implemented a program to expand the capacity of homeland defense modernization, a robust ground-based interceptor—GBI—Reliability Program, as well as the Rede signed Kill Vehicle Program.

Under Admiral Syring’s steady hand, the Agency successfully fielded a new data terminal at Port Drum, NY, providing the warfighter the capability to improve communication with homeland defense interceptors.

He also oversaw a strategy to improve the overall sensor and discrimination capability of the nation’s ballistic missile defense system—THAAD—interceptors and Standard Missile-3—SM-3—Block IBs for use on Aegis Ballistic Missile Defense ships and at Aegis Ashore sites. His leadership during this time was critical because the United States remained committed to the planned European phased adaptive approach—EPAA—deployments.

Admiral Syring was also responsible for major BMDs asset deployments around the globe. He strengthened regional defenses by authorizing deliveries of terminal high altitude area defense—THAAD—interceptors and Standard Missile-3—SM-3—Block IBs for use on Aegis Ballistic Missile Defense ships and at Aegis Ashore sites.

His intellect, work ethic, and ability to deliver complex weapons systems resulted in his being nominated and confirmed as the ninth Director of MDA in November 2012, the first naval officer to assume the directorship of this multimillion-dollar program. Admiral oversaw MDA’s worldwide mission to develop and deliver to the warfighter a capability to defend the United States against ballistic missile attacks. He has done an outstanding job during his time as the Agency and the Department of Defense made significant progress in addressing current and emerging ballistic missile threats of all ranges. The progress he made is even more remarkable considering the budget cuts sustained during that time.

In response to the growing North Korean ICBM threat, Admiral Syring implemented a program to expand the capacity of homeland defense—THAAD—interceptors and Standard Missile-3—SM-3—Block IBs for use on Aegis Ballistic Missile Defense ships and at Aegis Ashore sites. His leadership during this time was critical because the United States remained committed to the planned European phased adaptive approach—EPAA—deployments.

He oversaw the delivery of the Aegis Ashore system in Romania in support of EPAA Phase 2, which was accepted for operations by the warfighter in May 2016. In addition, under his leadership, construction of the Aegis Ashore site in Poland commenced to improve European NATO defenses against medium- and intermediate-range ballistic missiles. He kept the Agency on track to deliver by the end of 2018 the initial SM-3 Block IIA missiles developed in coordination with Japan to support EPAA Phase 3.

Additionally, Admiral Syring supported successful negotiations between the United States and the Republic of Korea, ROK, on the deployment of a THAAD battery to the ROK, shoring up defenses against the growing threat from North Korean ballistic missiles.

In order to deal with future missile threats, Admiral Syring pursued an advanced technology program with the goal of reducing the cost of engaging increasing and complex ballistic missile threats.

Finally, Admiral Syring successfully initiated the development of an experimental space-based sensor layer for the BMDS, a new, low-cost program called Space-Based Kill Assessment, SKA. This program will increase the performance of the BMDS by collecting data on missile intercepts, a critical capability of which the significance cannot be overstated.

Our Nation has long hoped and, indeed, expected that we will always be able to recruit and retain capable individuals with a strong sense of patriotism, who will spend their careers ensuring that our country is safe in peacetime and capable in time of war.

Thank you for your service and contribution to our Nation’s defense goals and objectives.

The American people rely upon civilian and uniformed Federal employees to protect and advance their interests. Our country has been fortunate to have had Ms. Nancy DiCarlo’s dedication and contribution to our Nation’s defense for nearly three decades. I hope my colleagues in the Senate will join me in recognizing Ms. Nancy DiCarlo for her work and thanking all of the men and women of the Missile Defense Agency for their service to our Nation.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

REMEMBERING DR. ALBERT H. OWENS, JR.

Mr. CARDIN. Madam President, this Thursday, the Sydney Kimmel Comprehensive Cancer Center at Johns Hopkins is hosting an event that includes a memorial cancer research symposium and a dinner in honor of the late Dr. Albert H. Owens, Jr., who died this past January at the age of 90. Dr. Owens had a long career in our nation’s health care.

In this capacity, Ms. DiCarlo served as the Director for International Affairs for the U.S. Missile Defense Agency. In this capacity, Ms. DiCarlo led negotiations with Israel on range ballistic missile threats. Ms. DiCarlo led negotiations with Israel on coproduction agreements for Iron Dome and David’s Sling Weapon Systems.

Dr. Albert H. Owens, Jr., was a dentist; his mother, Grace Masters, was a head surgical administrator. His enthusiasm about cancer research was limitless. He was interrupted by his service as a medical officer in the Navy during the Korean war. He subsequently earned his bachelor’s and medical degrees from the Johns Hopkins University and the school of medicine, respectively. He joined the faculty in 1956. A. McGehee Harvey, who was head of the school of medicine’s department of medicine, established a cancer research and treatment division within the department. He asked Al to head the new division. There was a slight problem: The Johns Hopkins Hospital did not have available space. So Al moved inpatient, clinical, and research oncology activities to Baltimore City Hospitals, now Johns Hopkins Bayview Medical Center. In 1969, Johns Hopkins Oncology—Dr. Albert Owens' first cancer chemotherapy unit at Baltimore City Hospitals in 1961, making it one of the first university-based centers of its kind nationwide. In 1973, Al was named the first director of the Hopkins Oncology Center, which had won Federal designation as one of the Nation’s first comprehensive cancer centers. In 1977, he moved the center from Baltimore City Hospitals back to the main campus, where it was housed in a brand new facility, named the Oncology Center. Over the next decade, the Hopkins Oncology Center—now named the Hopkins Kimmel Cancer Center—became one of the most prestigious cancer centers in the country.

Al was named president of the Johns Hopkins Hospital in 1987, but he relinquished the presidency after only 18 months so that he could devote all of his time to developing a new oncology center for the hospital during his brief tenure as president, he decreed that the hospital would become smoke-free. We take smoke-free buildings for granted now; 30 years ago, it was a revolutionary move.

Thanks to Al’s tireless devotion, the Harry and Jeanette Weinberg Building was completed in January 2000, followed shortly thereafter by the opening of the Bunting Family and Jacob and Hilda Blaustein Family Cancer Research Building. Indeed, H. Koch Cancer Research Building opened. These two research buildings are connected by the Albert H. Owens Auditorium, which was named in his honor.

Al was a beloved teacher and mentor, as well as a superb doctor, researcher, and administrator. His enthusiasm about cancer research was limitless. He frequently would visit young faculty members—unannounced—asking them to describe the most exciting research project they were working on that day.

It is fitting to pay tribute to Al Owens, a Johns Hopkins alumnus and a member of the Class of 1953. A. Tribute to Nancy E. DiCarlo

Mr. Shelby. Madam President, today I wish to pay tribute to the work and 37-year career of Ms. Nancy E. DiCarlo on the occasion of her retirement from the Department of Defense.

Since January 2007, Ms. DiCarlo has served as the Director for International Affairs for the U.S. Missile Defense Agency, the U.S. Navy, and the national security of the United States of America over his career have again shown our Nation’s hopes are not too great to be met. As he retires after more than three decades of military service, I wish him and his family well, and I hope he has a deep appreciation of his legacy to this Nation and of the gratitude of his fellow citizens.

Ms. DiCarlo’s career has been marked by increasing responsibility across a number of departments and programs important to the national security of the United States. Beginning her career in the Department of the U.S. Navy, Ms. DiCarlo contributed to the cost, schedule, and performance of the Navy’s F/A-18 international programs, underscoring surveillance programs, electronic hardware programs, and logistics programs.

Her performance caught the attention of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Research, Development & Acquisition, who selected Ms. DiCarlo to join the Navy acquisition team. In this role, she worked on a strategic implementation plan and performance measures across the Navy acquisition enterprise.

Ms. DiCarlo went on to join the U.S. Defense Security Cooperation Agency and led both military and civilian staff in the management of Asian, European, NATO, and African security cooperation strategy, programs, and engagement. She was later selected for the Senior Executive Service and named as MDA’s Director for International Affairs for MDA, where she diligently promoted U.S. national security goals and objectives.

Her service has assisted the sale of U.S. missile defense assets which has strengthened the cooperation of our international partners, thereby expanding the capabilities and effectiveness of U.S. systems.

Additionally, Ms. DiCarlo’s efforts have enhanced the U.S. partnership with the Government of Israel on missile defense programs. As the lead U.S. negotiator, she instituted codevelopment programs for the David’s Sling Weapon System to defend Israel against long-range rockets and short-range ballistic missile threats and for the Upper Tier Interceptor Program as part of the Arrow Weapon System designed to defend Israel against long-range ballistic missile threats. Ms. DiCarlo led negotiations with Israel on coproduction agreements for Iron Dome and David’s Sling Weapon System.

The American people rely upon civilian and uniformed Federal employees to protect and advance their interests. Our country has been fortunate to have had Ms. Nancy DiCarlo’s dedication and contribution to our Nation’s defense for nearly three decades. I hope my colleagues in the Senate will join me in recognizing Ms. Nancy DiCarlo for her work and thanking all of the men and women of the Missile Defense Agency for their service to our Nation.

Mr. GARDNER. Madam President, I ask that the record be printed in the Congressional Record.

TRIBUTE TO MAJOR GENERAL H. MICHAEL EDWARDS

Mr. GARDNER. Madam President, today I wish to recognize and commend MG H. Michael Edwards, who retired on March 31, 2017, after 43 years of exceptional leadership and service to our country, including 36 years in the Colorado Air National Guard.

Major General Edwards has served in numerous assignments in flying and operations, as well as command positions at squadron, group, and wing levels—culminating as the Adjutant General for Colorado, General Edwards was responsible for the command administration of over 5,300 Army and Air National Guard members. He also served as the Executive Director of the Department of Military and Veterans Affairs and was a member of the Governor’s cabinet. He had responsibility for the Colorado National Guard’s primary missions of national defense and State emergency response. In addition, he was responsible for supporting the missions of the Civil Air Patrol’s Colorado wing.

General Edwards received his commission in 1973, after graduating from the U.S. Air Force Academy, and earned his pilot wings in 1974 at Reese Air Force Base, TX. He served as an F-4 pilot and AT-38 fighter lead-in instructor pilot at Osan Air Base, Korea, and Holloman Air Force Base, NM, respectively.

In 1987, General Edwards was assigned to the Colorado Air National Guard in August 1980. He has served in numerous assignments in flying and operations, as well as command positions at squadron, group, and wing levels—culminating as the Adjutant General for Colorado. During his tenure as Adjutant General, more than 6,000 Colorado National Guard citizens-soldiers and citizen-airmen have mobilized in support of overseas contingency operations.

He also oversaw the Colorado National Guard’s record-setting response to some of the worst natural disasters impacting Colorado, including the High Park Fire and the Waldo Canyon Fire during 2012, followed by the Black Forest Fire and historic flooding along the Colorado Front Range in 2013.

Furthermore, General Edwards was instrumental in bringing a new National Guard cyber protection team to Colorado, bolstering the state’s cyber defenses. He also diversified the Colorado National Guard through the appointment of its first female general officer.

Over a period of 10 years, General Edwards significantly grew the Colorado National Guard’s connectivity with the Republic of Slovenia and the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan under the National Guard State Partnership Program. These military-to-military exchanges have supported combatant command security cooperation objectives, promoted regional stability, and increased partner capacity and interoperability.

General Edwards has also overseen the missions of the Civil Air Patrol’s Colorado wing, consisting of more than a thousand volunteers. Under his leadership, the Civil Air Patrol took on a bigger role in State response, flying fire watch and conducting flood damage surveys. Colorado’s Civil Air Patrol was first to fly support of the U.S. Army’s on-base unmanned aerial systems operations.

General Edwards has flown over 4,600 mishap-free flight hours in a variety of aircraft to include the AT-38, A-7, C-21, F-4, F-16, T-37, and T-38. Of note, he has received the distinction of the Wing’s Top Gun award on five separate occasions in his decorated flying career. Major Edwards has received numerous military decorations, including two Legion of Merit awards and three Meritorious Service medal awards, along with many others from the State of Colorado.

General Edwards’ operational experience, charismatic leadership, and unyielding patriotism have served him well in a lifetime of military service, but more importantly, his service to our Nation as one of the most accomplished Adjutant Generals in Colorado history. We offer our heartfelt appreciation to his family for their countless sacrifices and selfless support to our country spanning over four decades.

On behalf of the Senate and a grateful nation, I congratulate MC 2nd Lt Michael Edwards on a job well done and wish him the very best as he begins a hard-earned retirement in the great State of Colorado.

18TH NORTHERN HONOR FLIGHT

Mr. GARDNER. Madam President, today I wish to honor the veterans of the Northern Colorado Honor Flight and the organization’s 18th trip to Washington, DC. More than 120 veterans from various wars and generations participated in this flight.

The Northern Colorado Honor Flight recognizes and celebrates the bravery, fortitude, and selflessness of our Nation’s veterans twice a year, as veterans are able to travel to Washington, DC, and visit the war memorials that stand in their honor, free of charge. We are eternally indebted to those who have served in our Armed Forces and have protected our United States. These veterans have preserved our rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

Few words are sufficient to show the gratitude and respect we all have for the courageous men and women who have fought for our country. Of the 123 veterans who participated in the most recent honor flight, 11 served in WWII, 24 served in the Korean war, and 88 served in the Vietnam wars.

STATMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. Cotton (for himself, Mr. Burr, Mr. Risch, Mr. Rubio, Ms. Collins, Mr. Blunt, Mr. Lankford, Mr. Cornyn, Mr. McCain, Mr. Tillis, Mr. Roberts, Mr. Graham, Mr. Thune, and Mr. Cruz), a bill to make title VII of the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act of 1978 permanent, and for other purposes; to create the Intelligence Accountability Board to ensure the intelligence agencies and intelligence community are held accountable for their actions; to require the Director of National Intelligence to provide the Intelligence Accountability Board with an annual report on the Intelligence Community's performance, including descriptions of the Intelligence Community's activities, intelligence reports, and the results of the Intelligence Community's activities; and for other purposes.

By Mr. Cotton. Mr. President, the attacks in London last weekend exposed in a matter of minutes just how vulnerable free societies truly are. All it takes is a van or a knife and an unsuspecting bystander to turn a fun night out on the town into a horrific nightmare.

Of course, we shouldn't need any reminders, but let me give one yet again: We are at war with Islamic extremists. We have been for years, and I am sorry to say that there is no end in sight. It is easy to forget this as we go about our daily lives, but our enemies have not, and they will not. They have never taken their eyes off the ultimate target, either—the United States.

Yes, we are at war with a vicious and unforgiving foe, and just as our enemy can attack us with the simplest of everyday tools, the strongest shield we have in our defense is just as basic: It is the intelligence—information—of knowing who is talking to whom about what, where, when, and why.

After the 9/11 attacks, our national security agencies developed cutting-edge programs that allow us to figure out what the bad guys are up to and stop them before they can perpetrate such heinous attacks. Very often, the intelligence they have collected has made the difference between life and death for American citizens. But one of those programs is going to sunset later this year. I am talking about section 702 of the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act. This is a program that collects information about foreign persons on foreign soil and, as a result, saves American lives.

Unfortunately, this and other programs were distorted in the public debate by a traitor, a disgruntled ex-NSA contractor, Edward Snowden, who now sits in the warm embrace of Russian intelligence services. Ever since his damaging leak of classified material many years back, many Americans have grown doubtful about these programs and about section 702 in particular, which is why it bears repeating just what section 702 does. It allows our national security agencies to collect internet or phone communications from a source within the United States, like an internet service provider, but only under a very specific set of conditions. It cannot target American citizens—not even lawful permanent residents. It can't even target foreigners communicating on U.S. soil. It can target only people discussing a specific list of topics preapproved by the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act. This list is under oath to be reviewed by Federal judges with life tenure. We are not talking about what they are picking up at the grocery store or when they are checking in on the kids. We are talking about things like weapons of mass destruction.

It is true that this program occasionally does collect information about American citizens. That will be true of any attempt to stop any kind of home-grown terrorism. But if you are concerned about protecting Americans' privacy rights, then you should support extending 702. It puts in place a host of privacy protections to scrub raw intelligence of any unnecessary identifying information. To allow this program to expire on December 31 would hurt both our national security and our privacy rights.

That is why today I am introducing a bill that would reauthorize section 702 permanently, as is with no changes. We can't tie the hands of our national security officials at the precise moment that our enemies are taking the gloves off around the world. Terrorists don't plan to synchronize us threats to our way of life, so why should our important counterterrorism tools sunset? I am glad to say that my legislation has the support of every Republican Senator on the Intelligence Committee, and I look forward to expanding the support of my colleagues in the weeks ahead because we can't afford to let this program expire. It is not too much and it is not an exaggeration to say that American lives depend on section 702.
