MONDAY, JANUARY 5, 1801.

A motion was made that the following rule be adopted, to wit:

Resolved, (as a standing rule,) That whenever a treaty shall be laid before the Senate for ratification, it shall be read a first time, for information only; when no motion to reject, ratify, or modify, the whole, or any part, shall be received.

That its second reading shall be for consideration, and on a subsequent day, when it shall be taken up, as in a committee of the whole, and every one shall be free to move a question on any particular article, in this form—"Will the Senate advise and consent to the ratification of this article?" or to propose amendments thereto, either by inserting or by leaving out words; in which last case, the question shall be, "Shall the words stand part of the article?" And in every of the said cases, the concurrence of two-thirds of the Senators present shall be requisite to decide affirmatively. And when through the whole, the proceedings shall be stated to the House, and questions be again severally put thereon for confirmation, or new ones proposed, requiring, in like manner, a concurrence of two-thirds for whatever is retained or inserted.

That the votes so confirmed shall, by the House, or a committee thereof, be reduced into the form of a ratification, with or without modifications, as may have been decided, and shall be proposed on a subsequent day, when every one shall again be free to move amendments, either by inserting or leaving out words; in which last case, the question shall be, "Shall the words stand part of the resolution?" And in both cases the concurrence of two-thirds shall be requisite to carry the affirmative; as well as on the final question to advise and consent to the ratification, in the form agreed to.

It was agreed that the motion should lie for consideration.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1801.

The Senate resumed the motion, made yesterday, for an additional rule in the consideration of treaties; and the motion was agreed to, and the rule adopted accordingly.

The Senate proceeded to consider the convention made on behalf of the United States with the Republic of France;

Gentlemen of the Senate:

I nominate Marmaduke Wait, of Vermont, Thomas W. Hooper, of Boston, and Presley N. O'Bannon, of Virginia, to be Second Lieutenants in the Marine corps.

JOHN ADAMS.

UNITED STATES, January 13th, 1801.

Gentlemen of the Senate :

I nominate Lucius Horatio Stockton, Esq. of New Jersey, to be Secretary of War, in the place of the Hon. Samuel Dexter, promoted to be Secretary of the Treasury.

JOHN ADAMS.

UNITED STATES, January 14th, 1801.

The messages were read.

Ordered, That they severally lie for consideration.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the convention made on behalf of the United States with the Republic of France. Whereupon,

The Vice-President reported to the House, that the Senate, as in a Committee of the Whole, had had under their consideration the convention, and had gone through the same, and had agreed to sundry modifications, which he proceeded to state to the House, and again to put questions thereon, severally, for confirmation, as follows:

On the question, whether the Senate would advise and consent to the ratification of the second article of the convention?

It passed in the negative, { Yeas, 10,
 { Nays, 15.

The yeas and nays being taken,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are—Messrs. Anderson, Baldwin, Bloodworth, Cocke, T. Foster, Franklin, Langdon, Marshall, Nicholas, and Paine.

Those who voted in the negative, are—Messrs. Bingham, Chipman, Dayton, D. Foster, Hillhouse, Howard, Latimer, Livermore, J. Mason, Morris, Read, Ross, Schureman, Tracy, and Wells.

On the question, whether the Senate would advise and consent to the ratification of the third article of the convention? A motion was made to amend the article, by adding to the end thereof, these words, “or paid for.” Whereupon,

A motion was made to amend the amendment by adding thereto the following words: “And so likewise, the merchant ships and vessels which have been taken, and definitively condemned on the one part and the other, shall be restored or paid for.”

On the question to agree to the amendment to the amendment,

It passed in the negative, { Yeas, 8,
 { Nays, 20.

The yeas and nays being taken,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are—Messrs. D. Foster, Hillhouse, Howard, Latimer, Livermore, Read, Tracy, and Wells.

Those who voted in the negative, are—Messrs. Anderson, Armstrong, Baldwin, Bingham, Bloodworth, Brown, Chipman, Cocke, Dayton, T. Foster, Franklin, Langdon, Marshall, S. T. Mason, J. Mason, Morris, Nicholas, Paine, Ross, and Schureman.

So the amendment to the amendment was lost.

On the question to agree to the original amendment, to wit: to add the words “or paid for;”

It passed in the negative, { Yeas, 7,
 { Nays, 21.

The yeas and nays being taken,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are—Messrs. Anderson, Armstrong, Baldwin, Brown, Cocke, S. T. Mason, and Nicholas.

Those who voted in the negative, are—Messrs. Bingham, Bloodworth, Chipman, Dayton, T. Foster, D. Foster, Franklin, Hillhouse, Howard, Langdon, Latimer, Livermore, Marshall, J. Mason, Morris, Paine, Read, Ross, Schureman, Tracy, and Wells.

So the amendment was lost.

On the question, whether the Senate would advise and consent to the ratification of the third article?

It passed in the negative, { Yeas, 13,
 { Nays, 16.

The yeas and nays being taken,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are—Messrs. Anderson, Armstrong, Baldwin, Bloodworth, Brown, Cocke, T. Foster, Franklin, Greene, Langdon, Marshall, S. T. Mason, and Nicholas.

Those who voted in the negative, are—Messrs. Bingham, Chipman, Dayton, D. Foster, Hillhouse, Howard, Latimer, Livermore, J. Mason, Morris, Paine, Read, Ross, Schureman, Tracy, and Wells.

On the question, whether the Senate would advise and consent to the adoption of the first additional article, agreed to as in Committee of the Whole, on the 9th instant?

It passed unanimously in the affirmative: Yeas, 28.

The yeas and nays being taken,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are—Messrs. Anderson, Armstrong, Baldwin, Bingham, Bloodworth, Brown, Chipman, Cocke, Dayton, T. Foster, D. Foster, Franklin, Greene, Hillhouse, Howard, Langdon, Latimer, Livermore, S. T. Mason, J. Mason, Morris, Nicholas, Paine, Read, Ross, Schureman, Tracy, and Wells.

On motion to fill the blank in the second additional article, agreed to as in Committee of the Whole, with the words, “ten years;”

It passed in the negative, { Yeas, 9,
 { Nays, 19.

The yeas and nays being taken,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are—Messrs. Baldwin, Bloodworth, Brown, Cocke, T. Foster, Franklin, Langdon, S. T. Mason, and Nicholas.

Those who voted in the negative, are—Messrs. Anderson, Armstrong, Bingham, Chipman, Dayton, D. Foster, Greene, Hillhouse, Howard, Latimer, Livermore, J. Mason, Morris, Paine, Read, Ross, Schureman, Tracy, and Wells.

On motion to fill the blank with the words “eight years;”

It passed unanimously in the affirmative: Yeas, 28.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1801.

The following written message was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. Shaw, his Secretary:

Gentlemen of the Senate:

I nominate John Marshall, Secretary of State, to be a Chief Justice of the United States, in the place of John Jay, who has declined his appointment.
JOHN ADAMS.

UNITED STATES, January 20th, 1801.

The message was read.

Ordered, That it lie for consideration.

The Senate proceeded to consider the report of the committee appointed to reduce the several votes on the convention made on behalf of the United States with the Republic of France, into the form of a ratification.

On motion to amend the proviso, by inserting after the word "third," the words "and nineteenth:"

It was agreed that the further consideration of the convention, and report thereon, be postponed until to-morrow.

On motion,

Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to communicate to the Senate such information, (if any such there be,) as may have been received respecting the convention with France, and may, in his opinion, be proper to be so communicated.

Ordered, That the Secretary lay this resolution before the President of the United States.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21, 1801.

The following written message was received from the President of the United States by Mr. Shaw, his Secretary:

Gentlemen of the Senate:

In compliance with your request, signified in your resolution of the twentieth day of this month, I transmit you a report, made to me by the Secretary of State, on the same day, a letter of our late Envoys to him of the 4th of October last—an extract of a letter from our Minister Plenipotentiary in London, to him, of the 22d of November last, and an extract of another letter from the Minister to the Secretary, of the 31st of October last.

The reasoning in the letter of our late Envoys to France is so fully supported by the writers on the law of nations, particularly by Vattel, as well as by his great masters, Grotius and Puffendorf, that nothing is left to be desired to settle the point, that if there be a collision between two treaties, made with two different powers, the more ancient has the advantage; for no engagement contrary to it can be entered into in the treaty afterwards made; and if this last be found, in any case, incompatible with the more ancient one, its execution is considered as impossible, because the person promising had not the power of acting contrary to his antecedent engagement. Although our right is very clear to negotiate treaties according to our own ideas of right and justice, honor and good faith, yet it must always be a satisfaction to know that the judgment of other nations, with whom we have connexion, coincide with ours, and that we have no reason to apprehend that any disagreeable questions and discussions are likely to arise. The letters from Mr. King will, therefore, be laid before the Senate, with particular satisfaction.

The inconveniences to public officers, and the mischiefs to the public, arising from the publication of the despatches of Ministers abroad, are so numerous, and so obvious, that I request of the Senate, that these papers, especially the letters from Mr. King, be considered in close confidence.

JOHN ADAMS.

UNITED STATES, January 21st, 1801.

The message and papers were read.

Ordered, That they lie for consideration.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the report of the committee appointed to reduce the several votes on the convention made on behalf of the United States with the Republic of France, into the form of a ratification, together with the motion made yesterday thereon, to wit: to amend the proviso, by inserting after the word "third," the words "and nineteenth." And, on the question to agree to the insertion of the words,

It was determined in the negative, { Yeas, 6,
Nays, 22.

The yeas and nays being taken,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are—Messrs. Bingham, Hillhouse, Read, Ross, Tracy, and Wells.

Those who voted in the negative, are—Messrs. Anderson, Armstrong, Baldwin, Bloodworth, Brown, Chipman, Cocke, Dayton, T. Foster, D. Foster, Franklin, Greene, Howard, Langdon, Latimer, Livermore, S. T. Mason, J. Mason, Morris, Nicholas, Payne, and Schureman.

On motion,

Ordered, That the further consideration of the convention, and the report of the committee thereon, be postponed until Friday next.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 23, 1801.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the report of the committee appointed to reduce the several votes on the convention made on behalf of the United States with the Republic of France, into the form of a ratification, which report is as follows: "Resolved, by the Senate of the United States, (two-thirds of the Senators present concurring therein,) That they do consent to and advise the ratification of the convention between the French Republic and the United States of America, made at Paris the eighth day of Vendemaire, of the ninth year of the French Republic, the thirtieth day of September, anno Domini eighteen hundred: Provided, the second and third articles be expunged, and that the following articles be added or inserted:

1st. It is understood that nothing in this convention shall be so construed as to operate contrary to any former and existing treaties between either of the parties and any other state or sovereign.

2d. It is agreed that the present convention shall be in force for the term of eight years from the time of the exchange of the ratifications."

Whereupon,

A motion was made to strike out the whole of the proviso; on which it was agreed to divide the question into four parts, viz:

1st. Whether so much as provides that the second article shall be expunged, shall stand?

2d. Whether so much as provides that the third article shall be expunged, shall stand?

3d. Whether that part shall stand which restrains it from operating against former treaties?

4th. Whether that part shall stand which provides a limitation of time to its duration?

And, on the question on the first division, to wit: Whether so much as provides that the second article shall be expunged, shall stand?

It passed in the negative, two-thirds of the Senators present not agreeing thereto: Yeas, 17; Nays, 13.

The yeas and nays being taken,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are—Messrs. Armstrong, Bingham, Chipman, Dayton, D. Foster, Hillhouse, Hindman, Howard, Latimer, J. Mason, Morris, Paine, Read, Ross, Schureman, Tracy, and Wells.

Those who voted in the negative, are—Messrs. Anderson, Baldwin, Bloodworth, Brown, Cocke, T. Foster, Franklin, Greene, Langdon, Livermore, Marshall, S. T. Mason, and Nicholas.

And, on the question on the second division, to wit: Whether so much as provides that the third article shall be expunged, shall stand?

It passed in the negative, two-thirds of the Senators present not agreeing thereto: Yeas, 16; Nays, 17.

The yeas and nays being taken,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are—Messrs. Bingham, Chipman, Dayton, D. Foster, Hillhouse, Hindman, Howard, Latimer, J. Mason, Morris, Paine, Read, Ross, Schureman, Tracy, and Wells.

Those who voted in the negative, are—Messrs. Anderson, Armstrong, Baldwin, Bloodworth, Brown, Cocke, T. Foster, Franklin, Greene, Langdon, Livermore, Marshall, S. T. Mason, and Nicholas.

And, on the question on the third division, to wit: Whether that part shall stand which restrains it from operating against former treaties?

It passed in the negative, two-thirds of the Senators present not agreeing thereto: Yeas, 17; Nays, 13.

The yeas and nays being taken,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are—Messrs. Bingham, Chipman, Dayton, D. Foster, Greene, Hillhouse, Hindman, Howard, Latimer, J. Mason, Morris, Paine, Read, Ross, Schureman, Tracy, and Wells.

Those who voted in the negative, are—Messrs. Anderson, Armstrong, Baldwin, Bloodworth, Brown, Cocke, T. Foster, Franklin, Langdon, Livermore, Marshall, S. T. Mason, and Nicholas.

And, on the question on the fourth division, to wit: Whether that part shall stand which provides a limitation of time to its duration?

It was determined in the affirmative, { Yeas, 24,
Nays, 6.

The yeas and nays being taken,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are—Messrs. Anderson, Armstrong, Bingham, Bloodworth, Chipman, Cocke, Dayton, D. Foster, Franklin, Greene, Hillhouse, Hindman, Howard, Langdon, Latimer, Livermore, J. Mason, Morris, Paine, Read, Ross, Schureman, Tracy, and Wells.

Those who voted in the negative, are—Messrs. Baldwin, Brown, T. Foster, Marshall, S. T. Mason, and Nicholas.

And, on the question to agree to the report of the committee, as amended, It was determined in the negative, two-thirds of the Senators present not agreeing thereto: Yeas, 16; Nays, 14.

The yeas and nays being taken,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are—Messrs. Anderson, Armstrong, Baldwin, Bloodworth, Brown, Chipman, Cocke, T. Foster, Franklin, Greene, Langdon, Livermore, Marshall, S. T. Mason, Nicholas, and Paine.

Those who voted in the negative, are—Messrs. Bingham, Dayton, D. Foster, Hillhouse, Hindman, Howard, Latimer, J. Mason, Morris, Read, Ross, Schureman, Tracy, and Wells.

MONDAY, JANUARY 26, 1801.

On motion, that it be

Resolved, That, whensoever a question on the ratification of a treaty, with modifications, shall have been negatived, a question may be proposed for a simple and unmodified ratification.

It was agreed that this motion should lie until to-morrow.

On motion, to correct the Executive Journal of the 23d instant, (to wit, the last question on which the yeas and nays were called,) to read as follows:

“And, on the question, to agree to the resolution as amended:” And to add, after the yeas and nays, these words: “So this resolution was not agreed to; and, therefore, it was “Resolved, That the Senate do not consent to, and advise the President of the United States to ratify said convention between the French Republic and the United States.

“Ordered, That the Secretary lay this resolution before the President of the United States.”

And it was agreed that this motion should lie until to-morrow.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1801.

The Senate proceeded to consider the message of the President of the United States, of the 20th instant, and the nomination contained therein, of John Marshall, to office. Whereupon,

Resolved, That they do advise and consent to the appointment, agreeably to the nomination.

Ordered, That the Secretary lay this resolution before the President of the United States.

The Senate took into consideration the motion made yesterday, for an additional rule in the conduct of the Executive business; and

It was agreed that this motion, the motion made yesterday for correcting the Executive Journal, of the 23d instant, together with the convention made with the French Republic, should be postponed to Monday next.

On motion, that it be

Resolved, That, when any question may have been decided by the Senate, in which two-thirds of the members present are necessary to carry the affirmative, any member who voted on that side which prevailed in the question, may be at liberty to move for a reconsideration; and a motion for reconsideration shall be decided by a majority of votes.

And it was agreed that the consideration of this motion should be postponed until Monday next.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 29, 1801.

The following written messages were received from the President of the United States, by Mr. Shaw, his Secretary:

Gentlemen of the Senate:

In consequence of a letter, a copy of which I now enclose to the Senate, from Lucius Horatio Stockton, of New Jersey, I withdraw the nomination of that gentleman to be Secretary of War.

JOHN ADAMS.

UNITED STATES, January 29, 1801.

Gentlemen of the Senate:

I nominate Roger Griswold, Esquire, member of the House of Representatives, from Connecticut, to be Secretary of War, in the place of Samuel Dexter, Esquire.

JOHN ADAMS.

UNITED STATES, January 29, 1801.

The messages were read.

Ordered, That they severally lie for consideration.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 30, 1801.

Mr. Livermore, from the committee to whom was referred the consideration of the nomination of Arthur St. Clair, together with the papers relating thereto, made report; which was read.

Ordered, That it lie for consideration.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1801.

On motion, it was agreed that the consideration of the motion made the 27th ultimo, relative to the proceedings in case of treaties, be postponed until to-morrow.

On motion, it was agreed that the consideration of Arthur St. Clair, be further postponed until to-morrow.

On motion, it was agreed that the consideration of the nomination of Roger Griswold be postponed until to-morrow.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1801.

The Senate proceeded to consider the message of the President of the United States, of the 29th of January last, and the nomination contained therein, of Roger Griswold, to office; and,

On the question, to advise and consent thereto,

It passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, 25,
Nays, 5.

The yeas and nays being required by one-fifth of the Senators present,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are—Messrs. Anderson, Baldwin, Bingham, Chipman, Dayton, T. Foster, D. Foster, Franklin, Gunn, Hillhouse, Hindman, Howard, Langdon, Latimer, Livermore, Marshall, J. Mason, Morris, Nicholas, Paine, Read, Ross, Schureman, Tracy, and Wells.

Those who voted in the negative, are—Messrs. Armstrong, Bloodworth, Brown, Cocke, and S. T. Mason.

So it was

Resolved, That the Senate advise and consent to the appointment, agreeably to the nomination.

Ordered, That the Secretary lay this resolution before the President of the United States.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the report of the committee to whom was referred the nomination of Arthur St. Clair, to be Governor of the Territory north-west of the river Ohio, and the papers communicated to the Senate therewith; which report is as follows:

“That the petitioners against the appointment have made various charges against said St. Clair; but have offered to the Senate no testimony in support of them.

“Your Committee find, that some laws have been selected by the Governor and Judges of said Territory, by which the Governor was entitled to fees for certain services, as stated by the petitioners. These laws have, however, been submitted to the consideration of Congress, and by Congress have been permitted to continue in force.

“Your Committee further find, that the Legislative Council and House of Representatives of said Territory, in answer to the Governor’s speech, addressed to them in November last, express their confidence in his administration, in terms highly honorable to him.

“Your Committee would therefore recommend to the Senate, to advise and consent to the appointment. Whereupon,

Resolved, That the Senate do advise and consent to the appointment, agreeably to the nomination.

Ordered, That the Secretary lay this resolution before the President of the United States.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the motion made the 26th of January last, respecting the proceedings in case of treaties, to wit:

Resolved, That, whenever a question on the ratification of a treaty, with modifications, shall have been negatived, a question may be proposed for a simple and unmodified ratification.

And it was agreed to postpone the consideration hereof, and to adopt the following rule:

Resolved, That when any question may have been decided by the Senate, in which two-thirds of the members present are necessary to carry the affirmative, any member who voted on that side which prevailed in the question, may be at liberty to move for a reconsideration; and a motion for reconsideration shall be decided by a majority of votes.

On motion, it was agreed to reconsider the vote passed the 23d of January, on the report of the committee appointed to reduce the several votes on the convention made on behalf of the United States with the French Republic, into the form of a ratification.

On motion, it was agreed to reconsider the first division of the report, to wit:

“Whether so much as provides that the second article shall be expunged, shall stand?

And, on the question to agree to this part of the report,

It passed in the affirmative, }	Yeas,	30,

JOHN ADAMS.

Mar 2d, 1801.

Gentlemen of the Senate:

I have considered the advice and consent of the Senate, to the ratification of the convention with France, under certain conditions. Although it would have been more conformable to my own judgment and inclination, to have agreed to that instrument unconditionally, yet, in this point, I found I had the misfortune to differ in opinion from so high a constitutional authority as the Senate, I judged it more consistent with the honor and interest of the United States to ratify it under the conditions prescribed, than not at all. I accordingly nominated Mr. Bayard, Minister Plenipotentiary to the French Republic, that he might proceed without delay to Paris, to negotiate the exchange of ratifications; but, as that gentleman has declined his appointment, for reasons equally applicable to every other person suitable for the service, I shall take no further measures relative to this business, and leave the convention, with all the documents, in the office of State, that my successor may proceed with them according to his wisdom.

JOHN ADAMS.

UNITED STATES, March 2d, 1801.
